16. In March 2021, A.S.'s mother, who had been living in a single room elsewhere in Bound Brook, leased a three-bedroom, one-bathroom, two-floor single-family home at XX New Hampshire Lane, Bound Brook for $1,600 per month. (T:35, 49) A.S. said that "they all went together to the new residence." (T:37, 7) A.S. and the children appear on the lease as "tenants," but the lease was signed solely by A.S.'s mother.
17. The house has heat, electricity and running water, which are included in the base rent paid by A.S.'s mother. (T:42)
18. A.S. and her children moved into the New Hampshire Lane home leased by her mother. A.S.'s son had a bedroom of his own, and A.S. initially shared a bedroom with her mother and daughter. (T:38)
19. The lease ran from March 1, 2021, to February 28, 2022. Tenancy appears to continue on a month-to-month basis as no new lease was provided. A.S. continues to reside at the residence with her daughter. (T:37, 59)
20. A.S. gives her mother $400/month toward the rent and pays for internet service of $79 per month. (T:37)

June 2021

21. A.S.'s son, J.D.O., graduated from Piscataway High School in June 2021 and later moved out. His room is now occupied by A.S.'s brother, who moved into the home after A.D.O. left. He has lived there for a year and several months. (T:34)
22. A.S. and her daughter presently share a bedroom, sleeping together on a queen-size bed. (T:38)
21. A.S. buys her own food for herself and her daughter. (T:42)
23. At some point, A.S. started working at Tradiciones De Mi Pueblo, a Peruvian restaurant in Plainfield, where she was employed for "about six months" making $9/hour, working eight-hour days, 4-5 days/week. with very little tips. (T:22-23)
24. A.S. left that restaurant because "they were [sic] not a lot of people. I was afraid of taking the train late at night. I was paying a lot for a ride. The money hardly lasted." (T:24)
25. A.S. later began working at Guatelinda, another restaurant in Plainfield, where she was employed for "approximately like a year and two months. A year, three months," making $7/hour plus tips, working six hours a day, sometimes Wednesday to Sunday, sometimes Thursday to Sunday. (T:25-26)
26. In August 2022, A.S. found work as a housekeeper at CareOne, a senior living facility in Somerset, where she remains employed today. (T:27. 29)
27. At CareOne, A.S. earns $16/hour working eight hours/day. Sometimes she works five days/week, sometimes four days, but on average five. (T:28) The precise dates when A.S. moved from one job to the next were unclear from her testimony.
28. A.S. has a bank account and credit card associated with the New Hampshire Lane address.
29. A.S. would prefer to move to a home in Piscataway and has continued to look but believes the prevailing rents are too high for her income and more than she could afford, she has not submitted any applications.[7] (T:43) A.S.'s boyfriend also resides in Bound Brook and has provided her with a phone. (T:53-54)

[7] Piscataway BOE has presented census data indicating that the median gross rent in Bound Brook for 2017-2021 was $1,554 per month and $1,767 for Piscataway. Both are clearly not affordable solely on A.S.'s income.

30. J.D.O. has not lived with A.S. for about a year. A.D.O. is presently in sixth grade [at the time of her deposition in June 2023] at Schor Middle School in the Piscataway School District and has lived with A.S. consistently throughout.[8] (T:13-14)

LEGAL ANALYSIS

Summary Decision

It is well-established that if there is no genuine issue as to any material fact, a moving party is entitled to prevail as a matter of law. Brill v. The Guardian Life Insurance Co. of America, 142 N.J. 520, 540 (1995). The purpose of summary decision is to avoid unnecessary hearings and their concomitant burden on public resources. Under the Brill standard, a fact-finding hearing should be avoided "when the evidence is so one-sided that one party must prevail as a matter of law." Brill guides us thusly:

> [A] determination whether there exists a "genuine issue" of material fact that precludes summary judgment requires the motion judge to consider whether the competent evidential materials presented, when viewed in the light most favorable to the non-moving party, are sufficient to permit a rational factfinder to resolve the alleged disputed issue in favor of the non-moving party.

In explaining the standard to be applied in summary motion practice, the Brill Court explained:

> The same standard applies to determine whether a prima facie case has been established by the party bearing the burden of proof in a trial. . . . If a case involves no material factual disputes, the court disposes of it as a matter of law by rendering judgment in favor of the moving or non-moving party.

[8] Presumably, A.D.O. has now completed seventh grade and would be going into eighth grade in school year 2024-2025.

[Id. at 536-3.7.]

As the facts here are not in dispute, this matter is ripe for summary decision.

Whether A.S. is homeless

Piscataway BOE argues that it is entitled to summary decision that A.S. and her children were and are homeless and have never established a fixed domicile and remain with A.S.'s mother in Bound Brook out of necessity. It seeks a decision that Bound Brook BOE has been and remains financially responsible for the students' education in Piscataway since October 20, 2020, and seeks the dismissal of Bound Brook BOE's petition of appeal.

Bound Brook BOE argues that it is entitled to summary decision because A.S. is not presently homeless and has never been homeless at any time relevant to this matter; that Bound Brook BOE is not and was not financially responsible for the transportation cost or educational expenses in Piscataway at any time; that the children cannot continue attending school in Piscataway at Bound Brook BOE's expense; that A.S. has established a fixed and permanent abode in Bound Brook; and that the children (now child) should be enrolled in Bound Brook schools.

The issue presented here is whether A.S. was, is, and remains homeless such that the children may continue to attend schools in Piscataway at Bound Brook BOE's expense. An analysis of each relevant period of time is necessary to reach a conclusion. Simply stated, do the undisputed facts support the conclusion that the children are no longer homeless because they reside in a "fixed, regular and adequate" home in Bound Brook, and if they are not homeless, who is or was obligated to pay school tuition and transportation costs for the relevant school periods?

New Jersey statutes provide for the determination of homelessness and responsibility for school tuition:

> Pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:7B-12, "[t]he district of residence for children whose parent or guardian temporarily moves . . . as the result of being homeless shall be the district in which the parent or guardian last resided prior to becoming homeless."
> Pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:17-2.8. "[w]hen [a] homeless child or youth is enrolled in a school district other than the school district of residence, the school district of residence shall pay to the school district of enrollment the tuition costs pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:38-19 until the parent establishes a permanent residence or is deemed domiciled in another jurisdiction pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1.d. At that time, the school district of residence or the school district in which the parent has been deemed domiciled shall pay tuition to the school district of enrollment."
> Pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1, public school is free for "[a]ny person whose parent or guardian, even though not domiciled within the district, is residing temporarily therein, but any person who has had or shall have his all-year-round dwelling place within the district for one year or longer shall be deemed to be domiciled within the district for the purposes of this section."

The regulations provide additional guidance for the determination of homeless status and responsibility for tuition:

N.J.A.C. 6A:17-2.2 provides for the determination of homeless status:

> (a) The district board of education for the school district of residence shall determine that a child or youth is homeless for purposes of this subchapter when the child or youth resides in any of the following:
> 1. A publicly or privately operated shelter designed to provide temporary living accommodations, including:
> i. Hotels or motels;
> ii. Congregate shelters, including domestic violence and runaway shelters;
> iii. Transitional housing; and
> iv. Homes for adolescent mothers;
> 2. A public or private place not designated for, or ordinarily used as, a regular sleeping accommodation, including:
> i. Cars or other vehicles, including mobile homes;
> ii. Tents or other temporary shelters;
> iii. Parks;

> iv. Abandoned buildings;
> v. Bus or train stations; or
> vi. Temporary shelters provided to migrant workers and their children on farm sites;
> 3. The residence of relatives or friends where the homeless child or youth resides out of necessity because the child's or youth's family lacks a regular or permanent residence of its own; or
> 4. Substandard housing.

N.J.A.C. 6A:17-2.3 provides for the responsibilities of the school district of residence:

> (a) The school district of residence for a homeless child or youth shall be responsible for the education of the child and shall:
> 1. Determine the school district in which the child shall be enrolled after consulting with the parent pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:17-2.5;
> 2. Pay the cost of tuition pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:38-19 when the child attends school in another school district; and
> 3. Provide for transportation for the child pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:27-6.2.
> (b) The determination of a homeless child's or youth's school district of residence shall be made by the chief school administrator of the school district of residence, or the chief school administrator's designee, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:17-2.4 based upon information received from the parent, a shelter provider, another school district, or an involved agency.
> (c) The district identified in accordance with N.J.S.A. 18A:7B-12 as the school district of residence for a homeless child or youth shall be the school district of residence until the parent establishes a permanent residence. Financial responsibility will remain with the homeless child's school district of residence until the family is deemed domiciled in another jurisdiction, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1.d.

Children are homeless when they stay in the home of relatives or friends temporarily because the family lacks a regular or permanent residence of its own. N.J.A.C. 6A:17-2.2(a)(3). The McKinney-Vento Act describes homeless children as those "who lack a fixed, regular, and adequate nighttime residence . . ." including, "children and youths who are sharing the housing of other persons due to loss of housing, economic hardship, or a similar reason[.]" 42 U.S.C. 11434a(2)(A), (B)(i). "Thus, an evaluation of 'homelessness' cannot rest upon a simple calculation of the amount of time that children have spent in a particular location or municipality. The reasons for the children's homelessness, their living conditions, and the resources and intentions of the parents or custodians are relevant." M.O'K. and S.O'K. o/b/o K.O'K., A.O'K., and C.O'K. v. Bd. of Educ. of Borough of Cresskill, Bergen Cty. and Bd. of Educ. of Little Ferry, Bergen Cty., OAL Docket No. EDU 14830-13, Comm'r (Final Decision, Aug 12, 2014).

Here, it is clear that in May 2018, A.S. had established a valid residence in Piscataway entitling the children to be educated there at Piscataway's expense. While the living situation was not the best, it was where A.S. and the children had their permanent abode.

However, in October 2019, an emergency compelled A.S. to remove herself and the children from that domicile in Piscataway. Her next domicile was a seven-bedroom, two-bathroom residence at XX West Maple Avenue in Bound Brook, in which numerous other unrelated people resided. A.S. and the children lived in the attic; they had no beds and slept on a mattress for several months until they were provided with two beds for the three of them to use.

When A.S. was forced, out of necessity, to leave her Piscataway residence and move into this West Maple Avenue, Bound Brook, residence, the children were homeless as defined by the regulations. The living conditions for the family unit were substandard at best, and clearly did not represent a permanent situation. See, N.J.A.C. 6A:17-2.2(a)(3). Bound Brook BOE's contention that the children were not homeless during this period cannot be sustained: living in an attic with less than adequate bedding or utilities cannot be considered a fixed and permanent residence. Accordingly, the district of residence of the children remained in Piscataway, the district in which their mother resided prior to their becoming homeless, and Bound Brook BOE was obligated to pay for their education in Piscataway. N.J.S.A. 18A:7B-12(c).

This designation that Piscataway remained the district of residence could not be changed until the family was "deemed domiciled in another jurisdiction, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1.d," and had found a fixed and permanent residence there. N.J.A.C. 6A:17-2.3(c). Accordingly, the homeless situation continued, and the children were entitled to continue to attend school in Piscataway at Bound Brook BOE's expense.

Circumstances changed in the spring of 2021 when A.S.'s mother, moving from a one-room residence, leased a three-bedroom house in Bound Brook, clearly anticipating that A.S. and her two children would be residing with her. Their names (mother, A.S., and the two children) appear on the lease as permitted tenants of the home. A.S. and her mother went together to the landlord. A.S., her mother and her daughter have resided continuously in this Bound Brook residence since March 2021, a period now exceeding three years. The issue then becomes whether this residence has become A.S.'s permanent and fixed domicile, or whether she continues to be homeless.

In Board of Education, Township of Pennsauken, Camden County v. Lovell Pugh-Bassett, EDU 00744-21, initial decision, (March 24, 2022), modified on other grounds, (June 16, 2022), https://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/html/initial/edu00744-21_1.html, the ALJ reasoned that "[t]o determine which district is responsible to pay the tuition for a homeless student, they follow the domicile rule. The domicile rule is that the district where the child has been living for a year becomes the district of domicile and responsible for the education and transportation of the child." Although not explicitly cited, this "domicile rule" is a reference to N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1, which provides that for legal purposes, a family is domiciled if their "all-year-round dwelling place [is] within the district for one year or longer," even if they are still "homeless" under N.J.S.A. 18A:7B-12.

The same rule was followed in Board of Education of Egg Harbor, Atlantic County v. Board of Education of Mainland Regional, Atlantic County, EDU 6680-09, final decision, (Dec. 30, 2010), https://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/final/edu06680-09.pdf. There, the Commissioner reasoned that:

> N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(d) instructs that any student whose parent or guardian is not domiciled in a district (e.g. because he or she is homeless), but has had his or her all-year round dwelling place in the district for at least one year, shall be deemed domiciled in the district for the purpose of N.J.S.A.

> 18A:38-1, which entitles a student to a free public education in the district of domicile. N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(a). Thus, although a family may fall under the rubric of "homeless," it nonetheless achieves domicile for school law purposes after a year of residence in one district. With that designation of domicile in the district, comes the provision by the district of a public education to the minor children. [Id. at 3.]

In M.O'K v. Bd. of Educ. of Cresskill, 2016 N.J. Super. Unpub. LEXIS 2046 (App. Div. 2016), the court reasoned that "[u]nder the applicable statutes, if a child becomes homeless, the 'district of residence' is responsible for providing the child's education. N.J.S.A. 18A:7B-12(c). If homeless children reside in another district for more than one-year, financial responsibility for the children's education shifts to that school district. N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(d)." The court does not mention the establishment of a domicile as the trigger for the shift of financial responsibility. Rather, it is the time limit of "residing" in a different district for one year.

The facts that could point toward a finding of homelessness are that A.S. and her daughter share a room and a bed, her mother's name is on the lease, and that the family is living with A.S.'s mother and brother. With respect to sharing a room, the Commissioner has noted that "although . . . sleeping arrangements may be less than ideal, it is not uncommon for siblings to share the same room," and thus, siblings sharing a room does not lead to a homeless finding. State-Operated School District of the City of Camden v. Volk, EDU 4521-16, final decision, (June 20, 2017), https://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/final/edu04521-16_1_1.pdf. Further, in Board of Education of the Bordentown Regional School District v. Marini, et al., EDU 09659-22, final decision, (July 6, 2023), https://www.nj.gov/education/legal/commissioner/2023/202-23.pdf, the fact that an adult child was sharing a room with a parent was not enough to establish a finding of homelessness.

Although here A.S. and her daughter are sharing a room and a bed may be a "less than ideal" situation, the rest of the living situation appears adequate and not one borne of "necessity." The family intended to move in together after the mother left a single room residence and obtained housing that could accommodate the entire family. A shared room can be considered appropriate housing particularly where the family unit has continued to reside in this manner for an extended period.

While A.S. may have originally intended that the family's move to New Hampshire Lane in Bound Brook would be temporary until her finances improved and she was able to move back to Piscataway, by March 2022 her home in Bound Brook with her mother had become established as a "sufficiently fixed, regular and adequate" residence. Accordingly, A.S. can be considered to have established a fixed residence at the New Hampshire Lane address no later than the end of the school year in June 2022 and should no longer be considered homeless.[9] Effective with school year 2022-23, Bound Brook BOE would be responsible for the expense of educating the children at Bound Brook, not Piscataway, schools, and the children (now child) should be enrolled in the Bound Brook district and attend school there.

Accordingly, Piscataway BOE was responsible for the costs of educating the children from 2018 through October 2019 while they resided in Piscataway.

Bound Brook BOE was responsible for the tuition and transportation expenses for both children in Piscataway schools from October 2019 to June 2021 as they remained homeless without a fixed and permanent residence.[10] Bound Brook BOE was responsible for the younger child's education in Piscataway schools from September 2021 until June 2022 (school year 2021-2022) when A.S.'s residence had become her fixed and permanent abode.

Effective September 2022, after A.S.'s residence became permanent and fixed in Bound Brook, the younger child, A.D.O., should have been enrolled in the Bound Brook school district and attended school in Bound Brook at Bound Brook BOE's expense.

[9] It seems appropriate to conclude that the residence had become permanent for A.S. by the end of the school term as she did not seek to relocate during the summer of 2022.
[10] The older child graduated from high school in June 2021; any tuition responsibility for him ended upon his graduation.

ORDER

I hereby ORDER that the motions for summary decision are GRANTED in part and DENIED in part.

I ORDER that the Piscataway Board of Education was responsible for the costs of educating the children, J.D.O. and A.D.O. until October 2019.

I ORDER that the Piscataway Board of Education is entitled to summary decision that A.S. and her children were homeless and without a fixed and permanent abode from October 2019 to June 2022.

I ORDER that Bound Brook Board of Education was responsible for the costs of educating the children A.D.O. and J.D.O. in Piscataway from October 2019 to June 2022.

I ORDER that effective with school year 2022-2023, that A.S. and A.D.O. had established a fixed and permanent residence in Bound Brook requiring A.D.O. to be enrolled in the Bound Brook School District and to be educated there at Bound Brook's expense.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the ACTING COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified, or rejected by the ACTING COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Acting Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify, or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the ACTING COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION. Exceptions may be filed by email to ControversiesDisputesFilings@doe.nj.gov or by mail to Office of Controversies and Disputes, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500. A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

New Jersey Commissioner of Education

Final Decision

K.P., on behalf of minor child, I.M.,

Petitioner,

v.

Board of Education of the Pascack Valley Regional School District, Bergen County,

Respondent.

Synopsis

Pro se petitioner challenged the respondent Board's decision to deny her daughter I.M.'s enrollment as a student at Pascack Valley Regional High School (PVRHS) for the 2023-2024 school year. I.M. had attended PVRHS since January 2021 pursuant to a discretionary non-resident Special Education Tuition Contract Agreement (agreement) between the respondent and the Board of Education of Saddle Brook (Saddle Brook) where petitioner and her daughter had lived for many years. The respondent Board denied Saddle Brook's agreement for the 2023-2024 school year, citing numerous reasons, including petitioner's lack of civility and repeated belligerent behavior toward the school dance coach, guidance counselor, and other staff members, which created a substantial disruption at PVRHS. Petitioner subsequently sought enrollment for I.M. at PVRHS.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: petitioner and I.M. are not domiciled in Montvale and remain domiciled in Saddle Brook; because the Board declined to renew the tuition agreement with Saddle Brook for the 2023-2024 school year, petitioner applied for enrollment for I.M. at PVRHS as a resident of Montvale; and petitioner used a friend's Montvale address for the sole purpose of receiving a free education at PVRHS for I.M., in violation of law. The ALJ concluded that petitioner failed to meet her burden, by a preponderance of credible evidence, to demonstrate that she was domiciled in Montvale during the 2023-2024 school year. Accordingly, the ALJ determined that petitioner owes the Board tuition payments for I.M. for the 2023-2024 school year in the amount of $24,322.78.

Upon review, and finding the petitioner's exceptions to be without merit, the Commissioner adopted the ALJ's comprehensive Initial Decision as the final decision in this matter. The Board's claim for tuition payments was granted, and petitioner was ordered to pay the Board $24,322.78 as reimbursement for I.M.'s tuition costs for the 2023-2024 school year. The petition of appeal was dismissed.

This synopsis is not part of the Commissioner's decision. It has been prepared for the convenience of the reader. It has been neither reviewed nor approved by the Commissioner.

Final Decision

K.P., on behalf of minor child, I.M.,

Petitioner,

v.

Board of Education of the Pascack Valley Regional High School District, Bergen County,

Respondent.

The record of this matter, the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), the exceptions filed by petitioner pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4, and the Board's reply thereto, have been reviewed and considered.[1]

Petitioner and her daughter, I.M., have lived in the Township of Saddle Brook since at least 2011, in a home she owns. Beginning in January 2021, I.M. attended school in respondent's district as a non-resident student pursuant to a discretionary Special Education Tuition Contract Agreement (agreement) between respondent and the Saddle Brook Board of Education (Saddle Brook).[2] Per the agreement's terms, Saddle Brook agreed to reimburse the Board for educating I.M., a Saddle Brook resident, at Pascack Valley Regional High School (PVRHS) from January 11, [1] Petitioner's response to the Board's reply was not considered by the Commissioner because N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4 does not permit the filing of a response to a reply.

[2] Pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:38-3(a) and N.J.A.C. 6A:22-2.2, school districts have the discretion to admit nonresident students with consent of the board of education.

2021, through June 16, 2021. Saddle Brook and the Board entered into subsequent agreements for school years 2021-2022 and 2022-2023.

In July 2023, Saddle Brook submitted another agreement to the Board for the 2023-2024 school year, which was I.M.'s final year of high school. The related admission application, completed by petitioner and dated June 23, 2023, states that petitioner and I.M. reside in Saddle Brook as they had in prior years. On July 27, 2023, the Board informed Saddle Brook that it rejected the agreement for the 2023-2024 school year. Petitioner was informed of same in writing on August 4, 2023, and requested a statement of reasons for the Board's decision. On August 7, 2023, the Board provided a written statement to petitioner which cited numerous reasons for their decision to reject the agreement, including her lack of civility and repeated, belligerent behavior toward the school dance coach, guidance counselor, and other staff members which created a substantial disruption at PVRHS.

Two days later, on August 9, 2023, petitioner attempted to enroll I.M. at PVRHS as a resident of Montvale by claiming that she and I.M. lived in Montvale with Fatima Spiradinova in Spiradinova's home. In support of the application, petitioner submitted Residency Affidavit #1: Oath of Non-Support by Non-Resident Parent (petitioner's affidavit), which contained conflicting statements. Petitioner's affidavit states that she and I.M. had resided in Spiradinova's home since August 2023, and that she was not capable of caring for or supporting her child due to her health. Her affidavit states in one section that Spiradinova was supporting I.M. without any financial contributions from her, and yet, in the same affidavit, she also states that she was supporting I.M. and remained responsible for her. Spiradinova submitted Residency Affidavit #2: Oath of Support for Non-Resident Child by District Resident (Spiradinova's affidavit), which states that she was supporting I.M. due to financial hardship without any financial contribution from petitioner and that I.M. lived in her home.

On August 10, 2023, PVRHS notified petitioner in writing that they denied the enrollment application. Via letter dated August 22, 2023, PVRHS gave petitioner the opportunity to appear before the Board at an upcoming meeting to provide information to support her claim that she was now domiciled in Montvale. In that letter, PVRHS informed petitioner that "the timing of [her] alleged 'residency' in Montvale, being represented only three days after notification of the termination of the prior tuition contract relationship with the Saddle Brook School District, raises significant questions regarding [its] validity." Exhibit P-166.

On September 12, 2023, after considering additional information petitioner presented to the Board at its meeting, PVRHS issued petitioner a Notice of Final Ineligibility (Notice) regarding I.M. In the Notice, PVRHS concluded that: petitioner was not domiciled in Montvale; petitioner was domiciled in Saddle Brook; and—even assuming petitioner was temporarily living in Montvale, despite the Board's conclusion to the contrary—the reason for doing so was solely to receive a free public education at PVRHS, contrary to N.J.A.C. 6A:22-3.2(c)(1). Accordingly, I.M. was not entitled to a free public education at PVRHS. The Notice informed petitioner that tuition for I.M.'s period of ineligible attendance could be assessed against her by the Commissioner, to be calculated at the approximate rate of $134.38 per day.

Petitioner appealed, and the matter was transmitted to the OAL for a hearing which took place on May 14, May 21, and June 4, 2024. Petitioner submitted hundreds of pages of exhibits, called numerous witnesses, and also testified on her own behalf. As indicated in the Initial Decision, petitioner testified that she began living with Spiradinova in July 2023 because of her health and her inability to live alone.[3] Petitioner's testimony was contradicted by her therapist, who testified that petitioner has suffered from illness since at least 2006, does not need constant supervision by an adult, and can live alone. Petitioner further testified that she was living with Spiradinova because of financial issues. For her part, Spiradinova initially testified that she has helped three other family members who lived with her enroll at PVRHS and that she is very familiar with the required forms. However, she later testified that she is not very fluent in English, and that the forms were confusing to her. Spiradinova did not testify that she was supporting I.M. financially as if she were her own child, or that I.M. intended to live with her for any period longer than her final year of high school.

Ultimately, the ALJ held that petitioner failed to meet her burden, by a preponderance of credible evidence, to demonstrate that she was domiciled in Montvale. Specifically, the ALJ found that: (1) petitioner and I.M. are not domiciled in Montvale and remain domiciled in Saddle Brook; (2) because the Board declined to renew the tuition agreement with Saddle Brook for the 2023-2024 school year, petitioner applied for enrollment for I.M. at PVRHS as a resident of Montvale; and (3) petitioner used Spiradinova's Montvale address for the sole purpose of receiving a free education at PVRHS for I.M., in violation of law. Accordingly, the ALJ determined that petitioner owes the Board tuition payments for I.M. for the 2023-2024 school year in the amount of $24,322.78.

In her exceptions, petitioner expresses her strong disagreement with the ALJ's determination. She reiterates the arguments she made during the OAL hearing – primarily, that various documents in the record (including bank statements, motor vehicle licenses, and registrations) coupled with witness testimony establish that she and I.M. moved to Spiradinova's home in Montvale in August 2023 due to her financial and health issues. Petitioner's exceptions also include vitriol toward the ALJ.

In response, the Board argues that the ALJ's factual findings, credibility determinations, and conclusions are supported by the record and should be adopted. The Board reiterates its position that petitioner's purported temporary residence in Montvale with Spiradinova—which commenced just days after receiving notice that I.M.'s non-residency student application for the 2023-2024 school year was denied—was for the sole purpose of receiving a free education in the Pascack Valley Regional High School District in violation of N.J.A.C. 6A:22-3.2(c)(1).

Upon careful review, the Commissioner adopts the ALJ's comprehensive Initial Decision as the final decision in this matter. Under New Jersey law, I.M. is entitled to a free public education in the school district in which she is domiciled. N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(a). "A student is domiciled in the school district when he or she is the child of a parent or guardian whose domicile is located within the school district." N.J.A.C. 6A:22-3.1(a)(1). See Somerville Bd. of Educ. v. Manville Bd. of Educ., 332 N.J. Super. 6, 12 (App. Div. 2000) ("A child's domicile is normally that of his or her parents."), aff'd, 167 N.J. 55 (2001). "Domicile" in this context means a "true, fixed, permanent home." D.L. v. Bd. of Educ. of Princeton Reg'l Sch. Dist., 366 N.J. Super. 269, 273 (App. Div. 2004). "[A] person may have several residences or places of abode, but only one domicile at a time." Id. at 274. The parent "'shall have the burden of proof by a preponderance of the evidence' to prove domicile in the school district." Ibid. (quoting N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(b)(2)).

With respect to I.M.'s ineligibility under N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(a) to attend school free of charge at PVRHS, the Commissioner concurs with the ALJ that the documentary evidence in the record coupled with the hearing testimony confirms that petitioner remains domiciled in Saddle Brook, not in Montvale. Her true, fixed, and permanent home is in Saddle Brook. A temporary stay with Spiradinova in Montvale does not equate to a true, fixed, and permanent home in Montvale. Contrary to the assertions petitioner makes in her exceptions, nothing in the record supports a finding that petitioner relinquished her domicile in Saddle Brook at any point during the 2023-2024 school year.

More specifically, the fact that petitioner might have intended to list her home for sale in July 2024 fails to support her position that she was not domiciled in Saddle Brook during the 2023-2024 school year. Similarly, the fact that she might have leased certain rooms of her Saddle Brook home to other individuals fails to support her position that she was not domiciled in Saddle Brook. Additionally, having mail delivered to Spiradinova's Montvale address does not establish that petitioner is no longer domiciled in Saddle Brook. Furthermore, the fact that petitioner provided bank statements, motor vehicle licenses, and registrations listing the Montvale address as her own does not establish that she is no longer domiciled in Saddle Brook when considering the record as a whole. Accordingly, the Commissioner holds that I.M. was ineligible to attend school free of charge at PVRHS pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(a) because petitioner, with whom I.M. lives, was domiciled in Saddle Brook.

That said, relevant to the facts at issue herein, the Commissioner must consider two related exceptions to the general rule expressed in N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(a) that permit a student to attend school at a district in which they are not domiciled under certain circumstances. First, if the student is living with a person other than his parent or guardian, and that person is domiciled in the school district and is supporting the student "without renumeration as if the student were his or her own child," then the student is eligible to attend school in the district pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(b). N.J.A.C. 6A:22-3.2(a). However, N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(b) "requires a showing by the child's parent or guardian that he or she is incapable of caring for the child due to 'family or economic hardship' and that the child is not residing in the district solely for purposes of receiving a free public education in the district." P.B.K. v. Bd. of Educ. of Borough of Tenafly, 343 N.J. Super. 419, 428 (App. Div. 2001).

To satisfy the requirements of N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(b), the student's parent or guardian must file, "together with documentation to support its validity, a sworn statement that he or she is not capable of supporting or providing care for the student due to family or economic hardship and the student is not residing with the other person solely for the purpose of receiving a free public education," and the person who is providing care for the student must provide "[a] sworn statement that he or she is domiciled within the school district, is supporting the child without renumeration and intends to do so for a time longer than the school term, and will assume all personal obligations for the student pertaining to school requirements." N.J.A.C. 6A:22-3.2(a)(1)(ii)(1), (2).

Second, "[a] student is eligible to attend the school district pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(d) if the student's parent or guardian temporarily resides within the school district and elects to have the student attend the school district of temporary residence, notwithstanding the existence of a domicile elsewhere." N.J.A.C. 6A:22-3.2(c). However, "no student shall be eligible to attend school based upon a parent or guardian's temporary residence in a school district unless the parent demonstrates, if required by the district board of education, the temporary residence is not solely for purposes of a student's attending the school district." N.J.A.C. 6A:22-3.2(c)(1), (2).

The Commissioner concurs with the ALJ that I.M. is not entitled to attend PVRHS free of charge pursuant to either N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(b) or N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(d). Petitioner has failed to demonstrate that she is incapable of caring for I.M. due to a family or economic hardship, or that her temporary residence in Montvale with Spiradinova was not solely for purposes of I.M. attending PVRHS. Initially, the timing of the commencement of petitioner's temporary residency in Montvale cannot be overlooked. It occurred suddenly, just days after the Board rejected the tuition agreement with Saddle Brook for the 2023-2024 school year. And although petitioner claimed that she was living in Montvale with Spiradinova out of necessity due to her health and financial issues, the record as a whole lacks credible evidence to support those claims.

While petitioner's affidavit states that she was unable to provide care for I.M. due to her health, nothing in the record establishes that her health problems rendered her unable to provide care for I.M., a high school student. As for any alleged economic hardship, petitioner's financial situation is unclear at best. The extent of her income, assets, and liabilities is unknown. The record suggests that she might have been receiving unemployment benefits of unknown amounts at some point during 2023. However, she did not provide bank statements or other documents to demonstrate whether her income could support her expenses. The record lacks any documentation to suggest that she had fallen behind on her mortgage payments or other bills.

Moreover, petitioner has failed to establish that Spiradinova was supporting I.M. without renumeration, with the intent to do so for a time longer than the school term. As noted, petitioner's conflicting affidavit states both that Spiradinova was supporting I.M. without any financial contributions from her, and also that petitioner was supporting I.M. and remained responsible for her. While Spiradinova's affidavit states that she was supporting I.M. without any financial contribution from petitioner, she testified at the hearing that she is not very fluent in English, and that the forms were confusing to her. Neither petitioner nor Spiradinova produced any documentation to demonstrate that Spiradinova was supporting I.M. Petitioner also testified that I.M. would be leaving New Jersey for college at the conclusion of the school year, which undercuts any claim that Spiradinova intended to support I.M. for a time longer than the school term. Accordingly, the Commissioner holds that I.M. was not entitled to attend PVRHS pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(b) or N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(d), as she has not demonstrated that she is incapable of caring for I.M. due to a family or economic hardship, or that her temporary residence in Montvale with Spiradinova was not solely for purposes of I.M. attending PVRHS.

It is important to recognize that the ALJ's conclusions in this matter are intertwined with credibility determinations that are entitled to deference. Pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10(c), the Commissioner "may not reject or modify any findings of fact as to issues of credibility of lay witness testimony unless it is first determined from a review of the record that the findings are arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable or are not supported by sufficient, competent, and credible evidence in the record." "When such a record, involving lay witnesses, can support more than one factual finding, it is the ALJ's credibility findings that control, unless they are arbitrary or not based on sufficient credible evidence in the record as a whole." Cavalieri v. Bd. of Trs. of Pub. Empl. Ret. Sys., 368 N.J. Super. 527, 537 (App. Div. 2004). "[I]t is not for . . . the agency head to disturb [the ALJ's] credibility determination, made after due consideration of the witnesses' testimony and demeanor during the hearing." H.K. v. Dep't of Human Servs., 184 N.J. 367, 384 (2005).

The ALJ found that petitioner "was loud and belligerent, and many times during the hearing she would digress with long monologues, which would increase in volume, speaking over everyone else. Many times, she would make disparaging comments about the witnesses, including offensive comments about their appearance." Initial Decision, at 7. And although the record is replete with threatening emails sent by petitioner to various staff members at PVRHS, the ALJ found that petitioner "denies being threatening in her emails to Pascack and states that her language is not threatening—that it is just words." Ibid. The Commissioner also finds that petitioner's affidavit discussed herein, which contains conflicting information, is of questionable veracity. The Commissioner finds no reason to disturb the ALJ's assessment of petitioner's credibility.

Consequently, the Commissioner shall assess tuition against petitioner for the time period during which I.M. was ineligible to attend school at PVRHS. Pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:22-6.2(a), if "petitioner does not sustain the burden of demonstrating the student's right to attend the school district, . . . the Commissioner may assess tuition for the period during which the hearing and decision on appeal were pending, and for up to one year of a student's ineligible attendance in a school district prior to the appeal's filing and including the 21-day period to file an appeal." N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(b) provides that the Commissioner may order tuition "computed on the basis of 1/180 of the total annual per pupil cost to the local district multiplied by the number of days of ineligible attendance." As found by the ALJ, based upon a daily rate of $134.38 and 181 days of ineligible attendance, the total amount of tuition owed by petitioner to the Board is $24,322.78.

Accordingly, the Initial Decision is adopted as the final decision in this matter, and the petition of appeal is hereby dismissed. The Board's claim for tuition payments is granted. Petitioner shall pay the Board for I.M.'s tuition costs for the 2023-2024 school year in the amount of $24,322.78.

IT IS SO ORDERED.[4]

INITIAL DECISION
OAL DKT. NO. EDU 09166-23
AGENCY DKT. NO. 223-8/23

K.P. ON BEHALF OF MINOR CHILD I.M., Petitioner,
v.
BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE PASCACK VALLEY REGIONAL HIGH SCHOOL DISTRICT, BERGEN COUNTY,
Respondent.

K.P., petitioner, pro se

Rodney T. Hara, Esq., for respondent (Fogarty & Hara, attorneys)

Record Closed: June 4, 2024 Decided: July 16, 2024

BEFORE PATRICE E. HOBBS, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Petitioner, K.P., is domiciled in Saddle Brook, New Jersey. Her minor child, I.M., lives with her. Is I.M. entitled to free public education in Montvale, New Jersey? No. Under N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(a), a public education is free within a particular school district only to those who are domiciled in that school district.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On August 9, 2023, I.M. was denied enrollment at Pascack Valley Regional High School (Pascack or PVRHS). On August 16, 2023, petitioner filed her appeal with the Commissioner of Education. On September 14, 2023, this matter was transmitted from the New Jersey State Department of Education to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) for a hearing as a contested case under N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13.

On October 11, 2023, a prehearing conference was held. The petitioner was attempting to retain an attorney but refrained from doing so. On November 8, 2023, a second prehearing conference was held. Discovery was ordered to be completed by December 15, 2023, and hearing dates were scheduled for January 2024. The parties did not complete the discovery as ordered, and discovery motions were filed. On February 6, 2024, discovery motions were heard, and the parties were ordered to complete all discovery by March 25, 2024. The parties were still unable to complete discovery or complete their witness and exhibit list, and on April 1, 2024, a conference call was scheduled, and discovery was finalized.

The hearing dates were scheduled for April 8, April 9, April 10, and April 11, 2024. On April 8, 2024, petitioner sent an email stating that she was hospitalized and not expected to be discharged until later that day. On April 9, 2024, the petitioner sent an email stating that she would not be discharged until April 10, 2024. A telephone conference was scheduled for April 9, 2024, to discuss the adjournment request, and notices were sent to petitioner and respondent via email. On April 9, 2024, the petitioner failed to appear for the status conference. The hearing was rescheduled for May 14, 2024, and May 21, 2024. K.P. did not finish her case until May 21, 2024. An additional hearing date was scheduled for June 4, 2024, and the record was closed on that date.

FINDINGS OF FACT

Based upon the testimony the parties provided, and my assessment of its credibility, together with the documents the parties submitted, and my assessment of their sufficiency, I FIND the following FACTS:

In 2021, K.P. was listed as the registered owner of a home in Saddle Brook, New Jersey. (P-111.) At that time, K.P. lived in the home with her daughters, A.M. and I.M. A.M. is an adult student at Kent State University in Ohio. A.M. is the recipient of federal Pell Grants and financial aid. A.M.'s federal 1098 tax notifications for 2023 list her address as Saddle Brook, New Jersey. (P-96.)

In January 2021, the Saddle Brook School District Board of Education (Saddle Brook) entered into a special education tuition contract agreement (tuition agreement) with the respondent (PVRHS Board or Board). (P-264.) This agreement states that Saddle Brook would reimburse respondent for educating I.M., a Saddle Brook resident, at Pascack Valley Regional High School from January 11, 2021, through June 16, 2021. The tuition agreement must be agreed upon and approved by the respondent for each school year. On June 7, 2021, Saddle Brook entered into a second tuition agreement with respondent for I.M. for the school year commencing on September 21, 2021, and extending through June 16, 2022. The tuition agreement was approved by the respondent. (P-266.) On June 27, 2022, Saddle Brook entered into a third tuition agreement with respondent for I.M. for the school year commencing on August 31, 2022, and extending through June 15, 2023. The tuition agreement was approved by the respondent. (P-267.)

In July 2023, Saddle Brook submitted the request for the tuition agreement for I.M.'s final high school year, 2023–2024, to respondent, along with K.P.'s admission application for a non-resident student to Pascack. (R-7.) This admission application, dated June 23, 2023, stated that K.P. and I.M. reside in Saddle Brook and that Saddle Brook would be responsible for the tuition for I.M. to attend Pascack. On July 27, 2023, respondent notified Saddle Brook that they would not be entering into a tuition agreement with Saddle Brook for the 2023–2024 school year for I.M. (P-158; R-8.) On August 4, 2023, respondent notified K.P. that they denied Saddle Brook's request for a tuition agreement for the 2023 school year for I.M. (P-160; R-8.)

On August 7, 2023, respondent notified K.P. why they had denied the tuition agreement. (P-162; R-8.) Pascack stated that one of the reasons was K.P.'s belligerent behavior toward the dance coach, Dena Noone (Noone). Despite requests from the administration that K.P. discontinue her attacks on the dance staff, K.P. continued to be abusive, insulting, and demeaning towards Noone. Noone testified that she told the respondent that she would rather resign than be subjected to the continued vitriol from K.P. Noone testified that K.P. was loud and belligerent towards her during the school year. K.P. made several disparaging remarks about and towards Noone during the hearing, despite being asked to conduct herself in an appropriate manner.

K.P. was also verbally abusive towards the guidance counselor, Shelly Tobin (Tobin), at Pascack, which interfered with Pascack's ability to provide guidance counseling services to I.M. (P-162.) A sampling of the barrage of emails to Pascack from January 2023 through June 2023 (R-9) further supported respondent's refusal to enter into a tuition agreement for the 2023–2024 school year. K.P. demanded that Tobin not speak with I.M. and that all communications should be done through K.P. Tobin testified that it made her job as guidance counselor for students almost impossible. K.P. made several inappropriate and disparaging remarks to Tobin during the hearing, despite being asked again to conduct herself in an appropriate manner.

K.P.'s demeanor, attitude, and disparaging comments toward the witnesses from Saddle Brook and Pascack can be described as hostile at best and disrespectful and abusive at worst. K.P. was aggressive and rambunctious, and her behavior made it clear why both school boards and teachers had difficulty tolerating her behavior.

On August 8, 2023, K.P. submitted a student registration form as a resident of Montvale for Pascack. K.P. listed her address as Montvale, New Jersey, and included an affidavit from Fatima Spiradinova (Spiradinova) certifying that K.P. and I.M. reside in Montvale. (P-23; P-12.) The registration included a copy of Spiradinova's driver's license and the deed for her Montvale home. (P-17; P-13; R-3.) There is no dispute that Spiradinova is domiciled in Montvale. In support of the student registration form, K.P. submitted Residency Affidavit #1, Oath of Non-Support for Non-Resident (P-18), and Spiradinova submitted Residency Affidavit #2, Oath of Support for Non-Resident by Resident (P-20; R-3). The residency affidavits are inconsistent. In K.P.'s affidavit, she states that she intends to continue to support her child and will be assuming all the obligations of her child with Pascack. It also states that K.P. has read Residency Affidavit #2, submitted by K.P. Residency Affidavit #2 was submitted by Spiradinova. Spiradinova stated that she has helped three other family members who lived with her enroll at the PVRHS. She testified that she is very familiar with the forms, as she has submitted them to the other schools in Montvale and PVRHS. She later testified that she is not very fluent in English, and the forms were confusing to her.

On August 10, 2023, Pascack informed K.P. that her registration for I.M. at Pascack was denied. (P-165; R-4.) On August 10, 2023, K.P. requested a statement of reasons for the denial of her resident student application. (P-85; R-4.) On August 22, 2023, Pascack notified K.P. that her application for registration attesting to residency within the district was questionable and lacked sufficient supporting documentation. K.P. requested an appeal before respondent. (P-166.)

Since the denial on August 10, 2023, K.P. has submitted various documents showing her address to be in Montvale. She has submitted her driver's license dated August 26, 2023 (P-27), I.M.'s driver's license dated September 19, 2023 (P-150), various solicitation letters dated September 20, 2023 (P-130 through P-137), offer letters from various universities for I.M. (P-138; P-140), and various credit-card bills and bank statements from September 2023. (P-141 through P-149.) All the documents submitted are dated August 10, 2023, or later. However, some of her documents—notably, her health insurance records from Horizon dated October 20, 2023 (P-69), her 2023 W-2 form (P-100) and her 2022 W-2 form (P-1), and her federal tax transcripts for 2020–2022 (P-6 through P-11)—list her residence as Saddle Brook, NJ.

On August 11, 2023, K.P. entered into a one-year lease agreement with Crystal Mason (Mason) for the house in Saddle Brook. (P-106.) Mason testified that she visited the Saddle Brook residence in May 2023, and at that time, K.P. and I.M. were living in the Saddle Brook home. Mason testified that she moved to the Saddle Brook residence on August 11, 2023, and she rented a single room inside the three-bedroom residence. There is no language in the lease that precludes K.P. or I.M. from residing in the home. The lease expires in September 2024.

On August 23, 2023, Pascack sent an email to K.P. notifying her that I.M. had been enrolled at Pascack, pending the outcome of her appeal. However, because of her past behavior and threats to the staff at Pascack, K.P. was not allowed on the campus of the high school; all communication with Pascack would be via email, and should K.P. violate this policy, Pascack reserved the right to contact law enforcement. (P-170.)

On September 15, 2023, K.P. entered into a one-year lease agreement with Erna Xheraj. (P-107.) However, the section titled "Term" states that the lease began on August 2, 2023, and ended on September 2, 2024. K.P. testified that the lease expired on September 15, 2024. On October 7, 2023, K.P. entered into a one-year lease agreement with Diane Mistarka. (P-110.) In the section titled "Term," the dates for the commencement and termination of the lease are blank. The tenants were not produced to validate these leases. On October 5, 2023, K.P. signed a real-estate contract for the sale of the Saddle Brook residence. (P-32.) The contract lists the house as being available for sale on July 1, 2024. (P-111.)

K.P. testified on her own behalf. She stated that she has lived with Spiradinova since July 2023 because of her health and that she could not live alone. Fatima Ismali (Ismali) is a friend of K.P., and they have been friends for over twenty years. Ismali stated that K.P. was currently renting a room in an Airbnb. Ismali testified that K.P. has had some financial trouble and has been renting her house. Ismali testified that K.P. was so sick that she could not be left alone. This contradicted her earlier statement that K.P. was renting an Airbnb room. In addition, Sandra Gaulker (Gaulker), K.P.'s psychotherapist, testified that K.P. has suffered from these illnesses since at least 2006. Gaulker testified that K.P. does not need constant supervision by an adult and can live alone.

K.P. also stated that she was living with Spiradinova due to financial issues. She did not provide any documentary evidence of her financial issues. She is not working and has not worked for at least one year. She provided three leases renting rooms in the Saddle Brook residence for $1,000 each. She has not provided any bank statements showing the deposits for the rent she has received. She also did not provide her tax returns for 2023. She has not provided any mortgage statements for the Saddle Brook residence. She stated that she has at least three different signatures and could not be certain that the signatures on the non-residency application (R-7) were hers. However, when compared to her signature on the enrollment documents (R-3), they appear identical. Spiradinova did not provide any financial evidence or testimony to show that she was supporting I.M. as if she were her own child and that I.M. intended to live with her for any period longer than her final high school year. Spiradinova did not know where I.M. was attending college.

On August 3, 2023, five days before she submitted I.M.'s registration application to Pascack, K.P. submitted several Open Public Records Act (OPRA) requests to Pascack using her Saddle Brook address. (R-11.) She stated that she can use any address she likes on any form. She said she used her Saddle Brook residence because she wanted to surprise Pascack; she did not want them to know her true plans. On August 6, 2023, K.P. submitted a request for due process petition and used her Saddle Brook address. She stated that using the Saddle Brook address does not mean she lives there.

K.P. was loud and belligerent, and many times during the hearing she would digress with long monologues, which would increase in volume, speaking over everyone else. Many times, she would make disparaging comments about the witnesses, including offensive comments about their appearance. She denies being threatening in her emails to Pascack (R-4; R-9) and states that her language is not threatening—that it is just words. She stated that I.M. will be leaving for college and will be leaving New Jersey.

To be clear, I FIND that I.M. and K.P. reside in Saddle Brook. I further FIND that because PVRHS declined to renew the tuition agreement with Saddle Brook, I.M. applied for enrollment at Pascack as a resident. I further FIND that K.P. listed her address in Montvale with Spiradinova to obtain a free education at Pascack.

CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

The sole issue for determination in this case is whether I.M. is domiciled within the Pascack Valley Regional High School District. Any person between the ages of five and twenty years old is entitled to free public education in the district in which he or she is domiciled. N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(a); N.J.A.C. 6A:22-3.1(a). "A student is domiciled in the school district when he or she is the child of a parent or guardian whose domicile is located within the school district." N.J.A.C. 6A:22-3.1(a)(1). A student may attend school in a district in which he or she is a non-resident, with or without payment of tuition, only at the discretion of the school district. N.J.S.A. 18A:38-3(a); N.J.A.C. 6A:22-2.2.

Domicile has been defined as the place where a person has his true, fixed, permanent home and principal establishment and to which, whenever he is absent, he has the intention to return. State v. Benny, 20 N.J. 238, 250 (1955). The domicile of an unemancipated child is that of his or her parent, custodian, or guardian. P.B.K. ex rel. minor child E.Y. v. Board of Ed. of Tenafly, 343 N.J. Super. 419, 427 (App. Div. 2001). A child who is kept in the home of another person is domiciled in the district if the child is fully supported by that person gratis, as if they were her own child. N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(b)(1). The parent of the child must provide a sworn affidavit with documentary evidence to show that the parent is not capable of supporting or providing care for the child and that the child is not residing there solely for the purpose of a free education. Ibid. Where a local board determines that a child is not properly domiciled in its district, the parent has a right of appeal and bears the burden of proof by a preponderance of the credible evidence. N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(b)(2).

I.M. and K.P. resided in Saddle Brook from at least 2021 through 2023. Three days after Pascack declined to renew the tuition agreement with Saddle Brook, I.M. applied for enrollment at Pascack Valley Regional High School as a resident. K.P. listed her address in Montvale with Spiradinova. There was no evidence or testimony of any agreement between K.P. and Spiradinova for the support and care of I.M. There were no bank statements, mortgage statements, credit-card bills or tax returns provided for 2023. There was no documentary evidence or testimony provided that K.P. and I.M. intended to establish domicile at the address in Montvale. There was no evidence that K.P. had given up her domicile in Saddle Brook. The real-estate sales contract does not list the Saddle Brook residence for sale until after July 2024. The leases had dates that were inconsistent with K.P.'s testimony. There was also conflicting testimony from Ismali, who stated that K.P. was living in an Airbnb. Merely having documents or mail delivered to an address is not proof of domicile within the district. K.P. herself admitted that she uses different addresses on legal documents. K.P. testified that I.M. is leaving for college and leaving New Jersey. Spiradinova had no knowledge of where she was going to college. There is not a preponderance of evidence to support K.P.'s allegation that I.M. was domiciled within the Pascack school district as of July 2023. Rather, it appears to be an attempt to reside in the district for the sole purpose of receiving a free education at Pascack for I.M.'s last year of high school.

The statute provides affirmative obligations for both K.P. and Spiradinova to prove that I.M. was domiciled in the district. K.P. did not show by a preponderance of the credible evidence that I.M. is domiciled in the district.

Based on the record herein, I CONCLUDE that K.P. is not domiciled in Montvale. I CONCLUDE that I.M. is using the Montvale address of Spiradinova to receive a free public education from Pascack Valley Regional High School, in violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(b)(1), and I further CONCLUDE that K.P. and I.M. were not domiciled in the Pascack Valley Regional High School District for the 2023–2024 school year.

N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(b)(1) and N.J.A.C. 6A:22-6.3(a) provide that when the evidence does not support the claim of the resident, the resident shall be assessed tuition for the number of days of ineligible attendance for up to one year. Pascack has provided the per-student daily rate as $134.38 and the number of days of ineligible attendance for I.M. as 181. The individual student's record of daily attendance shall not affect the calculation. N.J.A.C. 6A:22-6.3(a). The total amount of tuition reimbursement owed is $24,322.78. Based on the facts and legal principles cited above, I CONCLUDE that the petitioner owes the respondent tuition for out-of-district students in the amount of $24,322.78 for the entire 2023–2024 school year.

ORDER

Based upon the foregoing, it is ORDERED that this residency appeal be DISMISSED. It is further ORDERED that the petitioner owes the respondent the cost of tuition for an out-of-district student, I.M., for her attendance at Pascack Valley Regional High School in the amount of $24,322.78.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the ACTING COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified, or rejected by the ACTING COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Acting Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify, or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision under N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the ACTING COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION. Exceptions may be filed by email to ControversiesDisputesFilings@doe.nj.gov or by mail to Office of Controversies and Disputes, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500. A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

New Jersey Commissioner of Education

Final Decision

Jennifer Ferrara,

Petitioner,

v.

Board of Education of the City of Newark,

Respondent.

The record of this matter, the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), the exceptions filed by the petitioner pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4, and the Board's reply thereto, have been reviewed and considered.

The threshold procedural issue in this case is whether the petition should be dismissed pursuant to the 90-day rule, N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(i). Kaprow v. Bd. of Educ. of Berkeley Twp., 131 N.J. 572, 582 (1993). Petitioner is a tenured schoolteacher, employed by respondent since November 14, 2014. On June 22, 2022, petitioner received written notice from respondent that her salary increment for the 2022-2023 school year would be withheld because she received a "partially effective" rating on two consecutive annual performance reviews. On July 29, 2022, Petitioner received written notice of a tenure charge for inefficiency from the Board. Petitioner timely challenged the tenure charge, and the parties proceeded to an arbitration hearing. On September 18, 2023, the arbitrator concluded that petitioner's ratings of "partially effective" were influenced by petitioner's union activity, were arbitrary and capricious, and failed to adhere to the prescribed evaluation process. On December 15, 2023, petitioner appealed the withholding of her 2022-2023 and 2023-2024 salary increments to the Commissioner of Education. After the matter was transmitted to the OAL, respondent filed a Motion for Summary Decision, and the petitioner filed opposition. The Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) requested supplemental briefs regarding relaxation of the 90-day rule.

After reviewing the written submissions and oral arguments, the ALJ granted the Board's motion for summary decision, concluding that the petition was untimely filed. The ALJ also rejected petitioner's assertion that her claim warranted relaxing of the 90-day rule, reasoning that petitioner has failed to raise a substantial constitutional issue, and that petitioner's claim has only personal significance.

In her exceptions, petitioner does not challenge the ALJ's factual findings or his legal conclusion that petitioner filed her petition well beyond the 90-day time limit. Instead, she disputes the ALJ's decision that the circumstances in the instant matter fail to warrant relaxation of the rule pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.16. Citing to the Arbitrator's Order, Petitioner reiterates that the 90-day rule should be relaxed because she has presented a substantial constitutional issue. She argues that the partially effective ratings, on which the increment withholding and tenure charge are predicated, were a result of anti-union animus, thus violating her First Amendment right to associate with a union without retaliation. In addition, petitioner asserts that relaxation of the rule is appropriate because her claim implicates a pattern of unconstitutional retaliation by the Board that extends beyond personal significance to similarly situated public employees. She cites two New Jersey Superior Court Orders to support her assertion.

In response, the Board reiterates that the 90-day rule should not be relaxed under the circumstances as petitioner failed to raise a constitutional violation in her petition. Further, petitioner's reliance on the Arbitrator's Opinion and Award is improper given that the Arbitrator was not tasked with deciding any issue regarding the merits of the increment withholding, nor did he make any finding regarding whether petitioner's constitutional rights had been violated. The Board also contends that no substantial constitutional issue exists regarding the increment withholding and reiterates that petitioner has failed to assert claims that are novel or have significance beyond her personal employment relationship. Lastly, Respondent objects to petitioner's submission of the Superior Court Orders because those items were not considered during the hearing.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurs with the ALJ's conclusion that the petition was untimely. N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(i) mandates that petitions shall be filed "no later than the 90th day from the date of receipt of the notice of a final . . . action by the district board of education." The 90-day limitation period "represents a fair and reasonably necessary requirement for the proper and efficient resolution of disputes under the school laws." Kaprow, 131 N.J. at 582. It "provides a measure of repose" and "gives school districts the security of knowing that administrative decisions regarding the operation of the school cannot be challenged after ninety days." Ibid.

Here, the ALJ correctly concluded that the 90-day period began on June 22, 2022 – when petitioner received notice of the increment withholding – and not from when the arbitrator concluded that petitioner's performance review was arbitrary and capricious. The filing period expired on September 22, 2022; however, the petition was not filed until December 15, 2023. To the extent petitioner postponed the filing of the petition in anticipation of the arbitration's outcome, the Commissioner still deems the petition untimely. The mandatory filing deadline is not subject to change based upon a petitioner's legal strategy; that would defeat the measure of repose to which school districts are entitled. See Nissman v. Bd. of Educ. of Twp. of Long Beach Island, Ocean Cnty., 272 N.J. Super. 373, 382 (App. Div. 1994) (affirming State Board decision to dismiss petition as time barred and explaining that while petitioner may have opted not to file a petition sooner for tactical reasons, the Board "was entitled to know within 90 days of its action whether its [decision] was going to be challenged").

Petitioner admits that she received written notice from the Board regarding the salary increment withholding on June 22, 2022. She does not take exception to the ALJ's conclusion regarding timeliness and instead focuses exclusively on the ALJ's decision to not relax the 90-day rule. However, the Commissioner does not find petitioner's exceptions to be persuasive. The Commissioner adopts the ALJ's conclusion that petitioner presents no compelling reason or exceptional circumstances warranting relaxation of the 90-day limitation period. Further, petitioner has presented no case law in which the 90-day limitation was relaxed under N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.16 in circumstances similar to those at issue here.[1]

Accordingly, respondent's motion for summary decision is granted, and the petition of appeal is hereby dismissed.

IT IS SO ORDERED.[2]

BEFORE DANIEL J. BROWN ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Petitioner has been employed as a schoolteacher by respondent since November 24, 2014. On December 15, 2023, petitioner filed a petition challenging the withholding of her salary increment for the 2022-2023 school year. On June 22, 2022, petitioner received written notice from respondent (Board) that her increment for the 2022- 2023 school year was going to be withheld by the Board. Is the claim time-barred? Yes. Under N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(i) absent exceptional circumstances, a petitioner must file an appeal no later than the ninetieth day from the date of receipt of the notice of a final order, ruling, or other action by the district board of education, individual party, or agency, that is the subject of the case.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On December 15, 2023, petitioner filed a Petition with the Commissioner of the Department of Education (Commissioner) contesting the withholding of her salary increment for the 2022-2023 school year by the Board. Petitioner alleged that the withholding of her salary increase was not based upon good cause. The withholding was based upon an annual evaluation which found that petitioner was only partially effective. Petitioner alleges that the evaluation was arbitrary and capricious.

In response to the Petition, the Board filed a Motion to Dismiss in place of an Answer on January 16, 2024, asserting that petitioner's appeal was untimely as the petitioner's challenge to the salary increment was not filed within ninety days from the date of receipt of the notice of a final order, ruling, or other action by the district board of education, individual party, or agency, that is the subject of the case as required by N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(i). The Board argued that the latest possible time that petitioner was on notice of the withholding was September 2022, the beginning of the 2022- 2023 school year.

The Commissioner did not address the Board's Motion to Dismiss and transmitted this case to the OAL. On January 18, 2024, 2024, the OAL filed the matter as a contested case under the Administrative Procedure Act, N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15, and the act establishing the OAL, N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13, for a hearing under the Uniform Administrative Procedure Rules, N.J.A.C. 1:1-1.1 to -21.6.

On April 12, 2024, the Board filed a Motion for Summary Disposition that relied upon the same timeliness argument as the Motion to Dismiss. On June 11, 2024, petitioner filed an opposition to the Motion for Summary Disposition which argued that the interest of justice required relaxation of the ninety-day filing requirement and that the instant appeal was timely because the ninety-day filing requirement did not start until petitioner received an arbitrator's decision dismissing related tenure charges. On May 17, 2024, the Board filed a reply brief arguing that petitioner was required to file the instant action within ninety days of June 22, 2022, the day petitioner received written notification from the Board about the increment withholding. Additionally, the Board argued that petitioner failed to establish a sufficient basis to relax the ninety-day filing requirement. Oral argument on the Motion for Summary Disposition occurred on June 11, 2024. At the conclusion of oral argument, I requested that the parties provide me with supplemental submissions regarding relaxation of the ninety-day filing requirement. On June 17, 2024, I received petitioner's submission which argued that the ninety-day filing rule should be relaxed because the Board withheld petitioner's salary increment as retaliation for petitioner's union activities. On June 24, 2024, I received the Board's submission which argued that petitioner had not established that the ninety-day filing requirement should be relaxed because petitioner had not asserted claims which are novel or compelling or that raise issues beyond those of personal significance to petitioner.

FINDINGS OF FACT

Based on the documents submitted in support of and in opposition to the Motion for Summary Decision, when viewed in the light most favorable to the non-moving party, I FIND the following as FACT for purposes of this Motion only:

Petitioner was hired as a teacher effective November 24, 2014. Between petitioner's date of hire and the withholding at issue, petitioner was given a salary increment every year on February 1. In May 2022, petitioner received a rating of partially effective on her yearly performance evaluation for the 2021- 2022 school year. This was the same rating petitioner received on her yearly evaluation for the 2020- 2021 school year. On June 22, 2022, petitioner received notice, in the form of an email and a letter from the Board that her salary increment for the 2022-2023 school year was being withheld. Petitioner's union was copied on the letter from the Board to petitioner advising that petitioner's 2022-2023 salary increment was being withheld. On July 29, 2022, petitioner received a notice of tenure charge for inefficiency from the Board. Petitioner challenged the tenure charge in a timely manner. She filed an answer and proceeded to an arbitration hearing. Following the hearing, the arbitrator concluded that petitioner's rating of partially effective was influenced by petitioner's union activity and was arbitrary and capricious. Petitioner did not challenge the withholding of her 2022-2023 salary increment until the filing of the instant petition on December 15, 2023, almost two years after receiving notice of the withholding from the Board.

DISCUSSION AND CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

Summary decision may be granted when "the papers and discovery which have been filed, together with the affidavits, if any, show that there is no genuine issue as to any material fact challenged and that the moving party is entitled to prevail as a matter of law." N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(b). The rule further provides that an adverse party must respond by affidavit setting forth specific facts showing that there is a genuine issue which can only be determined at an evidentiary hearing. Ibid. The OAL rule is modeled on New Jersey Court Rule 4:46-2. The New Jersey Supreme Court has explained that when deciding a motion for summary judgment under R. 4:46-2,

> . . . a determination whether there exists a 'genuine issue' of material fact that precludes summary judgment requires the motion judge to consider whether the competent evidential materials presented, when viewed in the light most favorable to the non-moving party, are sufficient to permit a rational factfinder to resolve the alleged disputed issue in favor of the non-moving party.
> [Brill v. Guardian Life Ins. Co. of Am., 142 N.J. 520, 540 (1995).]

Here, the parties have agreed on all the facts, although they dispute their legal significance. Therefore, I CONCLUDE that the matter is appropriate for summary decision.

The Board argues that petitioner failed to file the instant appeal in a timely manner, and the appeal must be dismissed.

Under N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(d), a party must file an appeal with the Commissioner of Education "no later than the ninetieth day from the date of receipt of the notice of a final order, ruling, or other action by the district board of education, individual party, or agency, that is the subject of the requested contested case hearing." This rule "provides a measure of repose, an essential element in the proper and efficient administration of the school laws," giving school districts the "security of knowing" that an aggrieved party cannot challenge its actions after ninety days. Kaprow v. Board of Educ. of Berkeley Twp., 131 N.J. 572, 582 (1993).

Courts strictly construe and consistently apply the ninety-day limitation period. Kaprow, 131 N.J. at 588-89; Nissman v. Bd. of Educ., 272 N.J. Super 373, 380-81, (App. Div. 1994); Riely v. Bd. of Educ., 173 N.J. Super. 109, 112-14, (App. Div. 1980). This period begins to run when the petitioner "learn[s] from the Local Board the existence of that state of facts that would enable him to file a timely claim." Kaprow, 131 N.J. at 588-89. Indeed, the "notice of a final order, ruling or other action" is "sufficient to inform an individual of some fact that he or she has a right to know and that the communicating party has a duty to communicate." Id. at 587. Notably, a petitioner need not receive official and formal notification that they may have a valid claim to begin the ninety days. Id. at 588.

The parties agree that petitioner received adequate written notice on June 22, 2022, in the form of an email and a letter from the Board, that her salary increment for the 2022-2023 school year was being withheld. Therefore, the Board argues, petitioner was required to file a petition of appeal on or before September 22, 2022, to meet the time requirements.

Petitioner contends that the time requirement in the instant appeal did not accrue until she knew or had reason to know that the withholding of her salary increment was arbitrary and capricious and was the product of retaliation for her union activity. Petitioner argues that this did not accrue until the arbitrator issued his decision on September 18, 2023. Petitioner filed the instant appeal on December 15, 2023. Petitioner argues as she filed the instant petition within ninety days of the arbitrator's decision that it was filed timely.

Here, petitioner received notice on June 22, 2022, in the form of an email and a letter from the Board, that her salary increment for the 2022-2023 school year was being withheld. The ninety-day filing requirement flows from that notice, not from when the arbitrator concluded that petitioner's performance evaluation was arbitrary and capricious and was retaliation for petitioner's union activities. Petitioner did not challenge the Board's withholding of the salary increment until the filing of this appeal on December 15, 2023.

Thus, I CONCLUDE that petitioner filed her petition well beyond the required time frame.

Next, petitioner argues that the ninety-day filing requirement should be relaxed pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.16 as "strict adherence thereto may be deemed inappropriate or unnecessary or may result in injustice." Relaxation of the ninety-day filing requirement is reserved only for situations where the party presents a substantial constitutional issue or a matter of significant public interest beyond concern only to the parties. Portee v. Bd. of Educ. of Newark, 94 N.J.A.R.2d (EDU) 381, 384; Wise v. Trenton Bd. of Educ., EDU 160-00, Initial Decision (July 25, 2000), adopted, Comm'r Decision (September 11, 2000), aff'd, St. Bd. (January 3, 2001), http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal. Petitioner asserts that this case presents the issue of the Constitutional right of a public employee to associate with a union based upon the arbitrator's conclusion that her substandard performance evaluation was in retaliation for her union activity. The Board argues that petitioner has failed to raise an issue of substantial Constitutional concern as the arbitrator did not conclude that petitioner's freedom to associate with her Union was violated. Additionally, the Board argues that petitioner has not raised a novel issue and that petitioner has raised an issue of only personal significance to her, making relaxation of the ninety-day rule inappropriate.

Here, petitioner has failed to assert a substantial Constitutional issue. Petitioner places a great deal of reliance on the arbitrator's conclusion that her performance evaluation was in retaliation for her union activity. However, the arbitrator did not conclude that petitioner raised a substantial Constitutional issue. Further, the arbitrator did not conclude that petitioner's Constitutional rights were violated. Petitioner's claim has only personal significance, making relaxation of the ninety-day rule unwarranted. If the Commissioner relaxed the filing timeframe for every harsh result, that action would nullify the rule's salutary public policy of encouraging prompt resolution of disputes. Pacio v. Bd. of Educ. of Lakeland Reg. High Sch. Dist., 1989 S.L.D. 2060 (Comm'r July 29, 1989). Thus, I CONCLUDE that petitioner does not present exceptional circumstances or a compelling reason which would warrant relaxation of the ninety-day rule.

ORDER

Given my findings of fact and conclusions of law, I ORDER that the Board be GRANTED summary decision. I further ORDER that petitioner's Petition of Appeal be DISMISSED.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

Board of Education of the Morris School District, Morris County.

Respondent.

The record of this matter, the proposed Settlement Agreement (Agreement), and the Initial Decision issued by the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1, have been reviewed. Upon such review, the Commissioner notes that paragraph 6 of the Agreement includes a confidentiality clause. The parties are reminded that the Board must comply with the requirements of New Jersey's Open Public Records Act, N.J.S.A. 47:1A-1 et seq. in regard to information concerning this matter, notwithstanding any agreement the parties may have between themselves to keep the terms of their settlement confidential.

In light of the foregoing, the Commissioner approves the terms of the Agreement and adopts the Initial Decision as the final decision in this matter. The case is hereby dismissed, subject to compliance with the terms of the Agreement.

SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT

This settlement agreement ("Agreement") made by and between

Morris School District Board of Education ("Board")

AND

Ms. S.W. o/b/o A.A.,

WHEREAS, the Board is duly organized as a public school district under the laws of the State of New Jersey; and

WHEREAS, the Board determined that A.A. is no longer entitled to a free education within the District pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1 et seq.; and

WHEREAS, Ms. W. appealed to the Commissioner of Education to overrule the Board's residency decision, and the District intends to seek an award of tuition from Ms. W. for January 1, 2024 through the last date of A.A.'s attendance in a District school in that pending proceeding; and

WHEREAS, in order to avoid the time and expense of further litigation of this matter before the Commissioner of Education, the Parties agreed to enter into a settlement agreement.

NOW, THEREFORE, in consideration of the mutual covenants and promises hereinafter set forth, the Board and Ms. W. (collectively "Parties" and each individually a "Party") desire to enter into the within Agreement as follows:

1. 2023-2024 School Year: A. A. shall be permitted to remain in the District for the remainder of the 2023-2024 school year.

2. Tuition Abeyance: Conditioned upon the fulfilment of the terms of this Agreement, the Board agrees not to seek an award of tuition for A.A. for attending school in the District as a non-resident student, from January 1, 2024 through June 30, 2024 school year.

3. 2024-2025 School Year: Following the completion of the 2023-2024 school year, the Parties agree that A.A. shall be removed from the District's enrollment and enrolled in the school district where the student then resides. Ms. W. shall provide the District with proof of enrollment in the resident district. The Parties further agree and acknowledge that the Board shall have no further financial obligation toward A.A.'s education, and Ms. W. shall not attempt to re-enroll A.A. in the District unless and until such time as Ms. W. and A.A. become full-time residents within the Morris School District.

4. Withdrawal and Release. In exchange for the consideration set forth herein, including, but not limited to the Board permitting A.A. to complete the 2023-2024 school year and holding its collection of tuition for A.A.'s attendance from January 1, 2024 through June 30, 2024, in abeyance subject to the terms of this Agreement, Ms. W. agrees to withdraw her appeal to the Commissioner of Education (OAL Docket NO. EDU 566-2024), and releases and gives up any and all claims and rights she may have against the Board for any damages or injuries to A.A. in connection with A.A.'s education, including any claim for compensatory education, compensatory damages, punitive damages, or any damages or injuries to A.A., arising out of alleged acts or omissions, whether known or unknown, that have taken place through the date of this Agreement.

5. Agreement Not to Sue. Ms. W. agrees not to file any lawsuit or claim against the Board, based on any events, whether known or unknown, occurring prior to the date of the execution of this Agreement, in any court or tribunal of the United States, New Jersey or any other state, city, county, or locality, for any claims released in this Agreement.

6. Confidentiality. Ms. W. specifically acknowledges and agrees that this Agreement was reached without any admission by the Board of any of the acts or omissions alleged or those that could have been alleged. Ms. W. agrees that they will keep the terms of this Agreement confidential, to the extent permitted by law. Ms. W. acknowledges that this confidentiality requirement is a material term to this Agreement.

7. Board Remedy for Breach of Agreement. The Parties acknowledge that under the terms of this Agreement, the Board has agreed to hold its demand and collection efforts for tuition payment in abeyance for the period A.A. attended a district school as a non-resident from January 1, 2024 through present. In the event Ms. W. does not abide by the terms of this Agreement and enrolls A.A. as a student in the 2024-2025 school year, and A.A. is subsequently found to be a non-resident of the District, as defined in this Agreement, the District will not be bound by this term, and specifically preserves its right to demand and seek collection remedies for all tuition owed for the 2023-2024 and 2024-2025 periods in which A.A. attended a District school as a non-resident.

8. No Precedent. The Parties agree that this Agreement may not be used to establish precedent in any future proceeding of any type whatsoever involving the Board and that it shall be inadmissible in any such proceeding, other than a proceeding to enforce or prove the existence of same.

9. Entire Agreement. This Agreement contains the sole and the entire agreement between Ms. W. and the Board, and fully supersedes any and all prior agreements and understandings between Ms. W. and the Board pertaining to the subject matter of this Agreement. Ms. W. represents and acknowledges that she has not relied upon any representation or statement by the Board, or its counsel or representatives, with regard to the subject matter of this Agreement, which is not set forth in this Agreement.

10. Counterparts. This Agreement may be executed in any number of counterparts, which, taken together, shall constitute but one instrument. It is not necessary that all parties sign all or any one of the counterparts, but each party must sign at least one counterpart for the Agreement to be effective.

11. Board Approval. This Agreement is subject to Board approval before taking effect.

BY SIGNING THIS AGREEMENT MS. W. STATES THAT:

A. SHE HAS READ IT;

B. SHE AGREES WITH EVERYTHING IN IT;

C. SHE HAS BEEN ADVISED TO CONSULT WITH AN ATTORNEY PRIOR TO EXECUTING THIS AGREEMENT AND HAD AN OPPORTUNITY TO DO SO;

D. SHE HAS SIGNED THIS AGREEMENT KNOWINGLY AND VOLUNTARILY.

Should the penalty be lifted? No. In order to obtain extraordinary settled legal emergent injunctive relief, a party must establish the following criteria: that petitioner suffered irreparable harm, the legal right underlying the claim is settled, there is a likelihood of success on the merits, and in weighing the equities of the parties and balancing their interests, the moving party will suffer greater harm. N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6(b); See Crowe v. De Gioia, 90 N.J. 126, 132–35 (1982).

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On July 18, 2024, respondent Hammonton Board of Education (the Board) upheld Hammonton High School's finding that D.C.'s harassment, intimidation and bullying (HIB) complaint was unfounded.[1] On August 21, 2024, petitioner parent A.C. filed an appeal challenging the Board's decision with the Department of Education, Controversies and Disputes Division (DOE). The DOE acknowledged receipt of the appeal on August 28, 2024.

On August 30, 2024, A.C. filed an emergent appeal with the DOE seeking to have a thirty-day NJSIAA transfer penalty on football participation imposed on D.C. lifted so he could play football at Williamstown High School. The DOE acknowledged receipt of the emergent application on August 30, 2024, and the matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) where it was received on September 3, 2024 as a contested emergent case. N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15; N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -23.

I heard oral argument from the parties on September 10, 2024.

FINDINGS OF FACT

Based on the documents the parties submitted and support of and in opposition to the application for emergent relief, I FIND the following as FACT:

Petitioner, A.C., is the father of D.C, a high school senior currently attending Williamstown High School. D.C. spent his freshman and sophomore years at [1] D.C.'s proper name is also A.C. and D.C. is the common shortened iteration. For purposes of efficiency and clarity, he is identified by D.C. as identified in the filing of this emergent application and the underlying appeal.

Williamstown High School where he participated in baseball and football during those school years. D.C. transferred to Hammonton High School in the summer of 2023, and played football there in the fall of his junior year. A.C. lives in the Monroe school district which includes Williamstown High School. In June 2023, D.C. and his mother, L.C., filed documents to establish their domicile in Waterford Township (Waterford). Waterford has a send-receive agreement with the Board, which allows students domiciled in Waterford to attend HHS.

In September 2023, an anonymous letter was received by Hammonton alleging that D.C. did not reside in Waterford but in Williamstown.

At some point prior to January 2024, Waterford conducted an investigation and sent a January 12, 2024 letter of Initial Determination of Eligibility for D.C. to attend school in the district to A.C. The January 12, 2024 letter concluded that D.C. was not domiciled in Waterford, but Williamstown and thus not eligible to attend school in the Waterford's district, meaning Hammonton High School. The January 12, 2024 letter advised that a hearing in the matter was scheduled on February 21, 2024, invited A.C. to attend, and notified him of his appeal rights of their finding.

During November 2023, a "hate page" consisting of a Snapchat story that was subsequently deleted was posted by an Hammonton High School student who D.C. had previously been dating. A.C. discovered that the student's mother also was a teacher at the same high school.

In December 2023, D.C. was advised by the baseball coach, Greg Silvesti (Coach Silvestri) that he would not be attending a Florida baseball training trip (the Florida trip) with other members of the team. Unlike the other team members, D.C. had not fundraised for the trip in the prior year.

On January 22, 2024, A.C. met with the Hammonton High School Athletic Director Chis Sacco and Coach Silvestri to discuss the Florida trip. A.C.'s request to pay in full for the trip was denied. Superintendent Thomas Ramsay (Superintendent Ramsay) also attended part of the meeting. A.C. advised that D.C. was being intimidated by letters suggesting he did not live in Waterford and informed them about the residency issue with Waterford. A.C. could fight the residency with Waterford or return to Williamstown.

The NJSIAA policy requires that if two school transfers occur, under certain timelines, the student is assessed a penalty from playing in a sport for thirty days.

On January 30, 2024, D.C. filed a HIB complaint. On February 2, 2024, before the resolution of the HIB issue, A.C. transferred D.C. to Williamstown High School. Due to the timing of the transfer and the fact that D.C. had not played baseball for Hammonton High School before the transfer, D.C. was able to participate in baseball at Williamstown High School without penalty. However, the transfer penalty did apply to football. Notably, it was Williamstown High School that applied the NJSIAA penalty.

The Board conducted an investigation of the HIB complaint and concluded the complaint was unfounded. A.C. has appealed that finding with the DOE. However, A.C. now seeks to have the thirty-day penalty prohibiting D.C. from playing football lifted through this emergent application.

CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

A.C. seeks to lift the NJSIAA thirty-day penalty Williamstown WHS imposed on D.C. Under Crowe v. De Gioia, 90 N.J. 126, 132–35 (1982), and N.J.A.C. 1:6A-12.1(e), emergency relief may be granted if the moving party meets a four part test and establishes that: it will suffer irreparable harm if the relief is not granted; that the legal right underlying the party's claim is settled; there is a likelihood of success on the merits, and in weighing the equities of the parties, the moving party will suffer greater harm. The moving party must satisfy all four prongs of this standard to establish an entitlement to emergent injunctive relief. See also N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6(b). Here, A.C. seeks to lift the thirty-day transfer penalty imposed on D.C. from playing football at Williamstown High School.

In this case, A.C. argues that D.C. will suffer irreparable harm because D.C. will miss potential football scholarship opportunities if he misses four of the season's nine games due to the penalty. However, A.C. has not set forth any evidence to support that claim. Notably, D.C. has played football for three out of his four high school years and would be eligible to continue playing after the thirty-day penalty expires. Thus, I CONCLUDE that A.C. has not established irreparable harm.

A.C. also has not established that the relief sought, the removal of the penalty, is a well settled legal right or that there is a likelihood of prevailing on the merits. Specifically, the penalty is required by NJSIAA rules and imposed by Williamstown High School, not by Hammonton High School or by respondent Board. The penalty only impacts current athletic participation at Williamstown High School. Thus, it is not a penalty that the Board has the ability to remove. Moreover, even if the Board's HIB finding below was found to be incorrect in the underlying appeal, it would not support a removal of the penalty on D.C. under the HIB transfer exception. This is because for that exception to apply, the Board would have needed to transfer D.C. to an alternate out-of-district or other school based on their substantiated HIB findings. In this instance, A.C. transferred D.C. to Williamstown of his own accord, before the HIB was resolved by the Board, and by his own admission, so D.C. could participate in baseball. I CONCLUDE that A.C. has not met his burden of establishing the required elements to support the grant of emergent relief and that the thirty-day penalty shall not be lifted.

Based upon the foregoing, I CONCLUDE that the petitioner has failed to meet all of the requirements set forth in N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6(b) warranting an order for emergent relief in this matter. However, further issues remain upon the resolution of this emergent matter relative to the underlying HIB appeal filed with DOE.

ORDER

For the reasons stated above, I ORDER that petitioner's application for emergent relief is DENIED and the thirty-day penalty on participation in football shall remain.

This order on application for emergency relief may be adopted, modified or rejected by COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who/which by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. The final decision shall be issued without undue delay, but no later than forty-five days following the entry of this order. If Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this order within forty-five days, this recommended order shall become a final decision on the issue of emergent relief in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Final Decision

D.F., on behalf of minor children, I.F. and D.F.,

Petitioner,

v.

Board of Education of the Borough of Roosevelt, Monmouth County,

Respondent.

Synopsis

Pro se petitioner filed a petition of appeal and a motion for emergent relief seeking an out-of-district placement for her two minor children for alleged violations of the respondent Board's harassment, intimidation, and bullying (HIB) policy after the Board's anti-bullying specialists determined that the student conduct petitioner reported in her complaint did not constitute HIB under New Jersey's Anti-Bullying Bill of Rights Act, N.J.S.A. 18A:37-14. Petitioner contended that the Roosevelt public school was not a safe environment for I.F. and D.F. because of the HIB that petitioner asserts was inflicted upon them during their time at the school; she therefore sought an out-of-district placement for the children to have them educated in either the Millstone Township Elementary School or an East Windsor Regional School District elementary school.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: in this case, petitioner failed to demonstrate entitlement to emergent relief pursuant to the standards enunciated in Crowe v. DeGioia, 90 N.J. 126 (1982), and codified at N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6; petitioner did not show a likelihood of obtaining the relief she sought, namely an out-of-district placement for I.F. and D.F., as neither the HIB statute nor case law authorizes an out-of-district placement as a form of relief for a HIB violation. The ALJ concluded that petitioner's request for emergent relief does not satisfy the applicable requirements; further, the parties agreed that there are no remaining issues to be determined. Accordingly, the ALJ denied petitioner's application for emergent relief.

Upon review, the Commissioner adopted the ALJ's recommended Order denying petitioner's application for emergent relief for the reasons stated therein. As the parties represented to the ALJ that there are no remaining issues to be resolved, the Commissioner dismissed the petition of appeal. In so doing, the Commissioner noted that if petitioner wishes to pursue an appeal of the Board's HIB determinations, she may file a separate petition of appeal as that issue is outside of the scope of the within petition.

This synopsis is not part of the Commissioner's decision. It has been prepared for the convenience of the reader. It has been neither reviewed nor approved by the Commissioner.

Final Decision

D.F., on behalf of minor children, D.F. and I.F.,

Petitioner,

v.

Board of Education of the Borough of Roosevelt, Monmouth County,

Respondent.

The record of this emergent matter, the sound recording of the hearing at the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), and the recommended Order of the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) have been reviewed. Upon such review, the Commissioner concurs with the ALJ that petitioner has failed to demonstrate entitlement to emergent relief pursuant to the standards enunciated in Crowe v. DeGioia, 90 N.J. 126 (1982), and codified at N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6.

Accordingly, the recommended Order denying petitioner's application for emergent relief is adopted for the reasons stated therein. As the parties represented to the ALJ that no issues remain to be resolved,[1] the petition of appeal is hereby dismissed.

[1] Petitioner indicated during oral argument that she is seeking reversal of the Roosevelt Board of Education's (Board) harassment, intimidation, and bullying (HIB) determinations. However, that issue is outside the scope of the petition filed in the matter, which is limited to petitioner's request for a transfer to an out-of-district placement for her children. To the extent that petitioner wishes to pursue an appeal of the Board's HIB determinations, she may file a separate petition of appeal. The Commissioner notes that any such petition will be subject to the filing timeline established by N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(i), as well as any other applicable statutes or regulations.

IT IS SO ORDERED. [2]

D.F. ON BEHALF OF MINOR CHILDREN D.F. AND I.F.,
Petitioner,
v.
BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE BOROUGH OF ROOSEVELT, MONMOUTH COUNTY,
Respondent.

D.F., on behalf of D.F. and I.F., petitioner, pro se

Bruce W. Padula, Esq. and Janice Arellano, Esq., for respondent (Cleary, Giacobbe, Alfieri, Jacobs, LLC, attorneys)

BEFORE MAMTA PATEL, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Petitioner D.F. seeks an out-of-district placement for her two minor children for alleged violations of respondent Board of Education of the Borough of Roosevelt's harassment, intimidation, or bullying (HIB) policy. Even if there were HIB violations, are D.F.'s children entitled to out-of-district placement? No. The Anti-Bullying Act does not authorize out-of-district placement for a HIB violation. See N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(b)(7).

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On August 22, 2024, the Board of Education of the Borough of Roosevelt (Board) denied D.F.'s request for out-of-district placement for D.F.'s two minor children, D.F. (her son) and I.F. (her daughter), based on her allegations that the school was not safe for her children to attend. On August 26, 2024, D.F. filed a pro se petition of appeal and a motion for emergent relief with the Office of Controversies and Disputes of the New Jersey Department of Education (DOE). On August 28, 2024, without a response from the Board the petition of appeal and motion for emergent relief were transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) under N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6(c)(3), where it was filed as a contested case N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15; N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13. On September 3, 2024, the DOE emailed its response to D.F.'s request for emergent relief. The appeal and motion for emergent relief were heard via Zoom Communications, Inc., on September 4, 2024, and I closed the record.

FINDINGS OF FACT

Based on the testimony the parties submitted and my assessment of its credibility, together with the documents the parties submitted and my assessment of their sufficiency, I FIND the following as FACT:

The Roosevelt Public School (the school) is a pre-kindergarten through fifth-grade school district. The class sizes are small, and the student-to-teacher ratio is approximately 12:1. D.F.'s son, D.F., and daughter, I.F., have attended the school since September 1, 2020. Both children identify as biracial, specifically African American and Caucasian. In the 2023–2024 school year, her son was in the third grade, and her daughter was in the second grade.

I.F. was the only African American student in her class during the 2023–2024 school year and has texturally different hair. In December 2022, D.F. sent several emails to Dr.

Karen Barry, superintendent of the Roosevelt Public School, who at the time was also the anti-bullying coordinator, complaining that students were inappropriately touching I.F.'s hair. In December 2023, with the assistance of Barry, D.F. filed six HIB complaints on behalf of her daughter, I.F., regarding incidents between November 2022 and December 2022. Five of the six HIB complaints involved students engaging in various forms of touching I.F.'s hair without her consent. The sixth complaint involved a student allegedly telling I.F. that "real people don't look like that" about an image of a person I.F. colored red.

The six HIB complaints were assigned to anti-bullying specialists Scot Gershman and Donna Gazzani for investigation. Gershman and Gazzani are also teachers at the school; Gazzani was I.F.'s second-grade teacher. All teachers at the school receive annual "anti-bullying" training. On January 27, 2023, the school sent D.F. six letters notifying her of the outcome of each HIB complaint. D.F. was advised that the investigations "did not find evidence of HIB." Although the allegations were unfounded, several students apologized to her daughter, and one student was required to sit in Barry's office for fifteen minutes at the end of the day. D.F. believes that touching her daughter's hair without her permission is a form of discrimination under the "Crown Act."[1]

None of the complained-about conduct resulted in the filing of formal charges by law-enforcement officials for the commission of a violent crime, nor was any student sanctioned by the district board of education's code of student conduct, nor was there a pre-existence of a restraining order against any of the student(s).

D.F. also complained to Barry about other students' treatment of her son. Specifically, D.F. complained that other students mispronounced her son's name. In October 2023, one student allegedly told her son that he would "make him and his family disappear." On or about October 12, 2023, D.F. met with Gina Morrone, principal of the school, regarding the treatment of her children. Although D.F. believes that her son was mistreated because of his race and disability, D.F. did not file any HIB complaints on his behalf. Following the meeting, on or about October 13, 2023, D.F. removed her children from school and homeschooled them for the remainder of the 2023–2024 school year.

On November 27, 2023, D.F. emailed Barry requesting an out-of-district placement for her children—either Millstone Township Elementary School or an East Windsor Regional School District elementary school. Barry advised that day that the school did not have the ability to transfer the children to either school.

On August 22, 2024, D.F. appeared before the Board Executive Committee and requested an out-of-district placement for her children. During the hearing, D.F. did not challenge the HIB findings but rather premised her request for out-of-district placement on the Unsafe School Choice Option. The Unsafe School Choice Option (section 9532 of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act (ESEA) of 1965, as amended by the No Child Left Behind Act of 2001). See 20 U.S.C. § 7912. Specifically Provision II, Victims of Violent Criminal Offenses.

CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

When the subject matter of a controversy is action by a board of education, the petitioner may file "a separate motion for emergent relief . . . pending the Commissioner's final decision in the contested case." N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6(a). Here, D.F. has initiated due-process proceedings to challenge the Board's denial of her request for out-of-district placement of her two children. Based on prior alleged HIB incidents, D.F. claims that the school is not safe for her children to attend. Although D.F. did not challenge the Board's HIB findings, even if the HIB rulings are overturned and affirmed by the DOE, the relief she requests—both on an emergent and permanent basis—may not be available under the HIB statute.

The standards for granting emergent relief are outlined in Crowe v. DeGioia, 90 N.J. 126 (1982), and are codified at N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6(b). The petitioner bears the burden of proving all four prongs of the Crowe test stated below:

1. Petitioner will suffer irreparable harm if the requested relief is not granted;

2. The legal right underlying the petitioner's claim is settled;

3. Petitioner has a likelihood of prevailing on the merits of the underlying claim; and

4. When the equities and the interests of the parties are balanced, the petitioner will suffer greater harm than the respondent will suffer if the requested relief is not granted.

D.F.'s emergent claim fails because she has not shown a likelihood of obtaining the relief she seeks, an out-of-district placement for I.F. and D.F. The HIB statute requires the school to adopt a policy that includes "consequences and appropriate remedial action for a person who commits an act of [HIB]." N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(b)(4). The law states that if a HIB violation is found, the school should implement support and remedial measures, including the following:

> [T]he range of ways in which a school will respond once an incident of harassment, intimidation or bullying is identified, which shall be defined by the principal in conjunction with the school anti-bullying specialist, but shall include an appropriate combination of services that are available within the district such as counseling, support services, intervention services, and other programs, as defined by the commissioner. In the event that the necessary programs and services are not available within the district, the district may apply to the Department of Education for a grant from the "Bullying Prevention Fund" established pursuant to section 25 of

> P.L.2010, c.122 (C.18A:37-28) to support the provision of out-of-district programs and services[.]

Neither the statute nor case law authorizes an out-of-district placement as a form of relief for a HIB violation.

Additionally, D.F.'s argument for out-of-district placement under the Unsafe School Choice Option provision (Title VIII, Part F, Subpart 2, SEC. 8532) under the federal Every Student Succeeds Act (ESSA) of 2015 is inapplicable because the ESSA does not authorize out-of-district placements either. It only authorizes placement in another school in the district when a student is a victim of a violent offense at school:

> [A] student . . . who becomes a victim of a violent criminal offense, as determined by State law, while in or on the grounds of a public elementary school or secondary school that the student attends, be allowed to attend a safe public elementary school or secondary school within the local educational agency, including a public charter school.

The ESSA specifically indicates the following criteria to determine whether a student is a victim under the Act: A student is considered a victim of a violent criminal offense when:

- A referral has been made to law enforcement officials for suspicion that one of the violent criminal offenses enumerated below has occurred; and
- One or more of the following applies:
  - Law enforcement officials have filed formal charges against the offender(s) for commission of the violent crime; or
  - The offender(s) has received sanctions in accordance with the district board of education's code of student conduct; or

- The offender(s) either has not been identified or is not an enrolled student(s), but it is clear that the student (victim) has become a victim of a violent criminal offense based on objective indicators such as physical evidence, eyewitness testimony, and/or circumstantial evidence; or
- The pre-existence of a restraining order against the offender(s).

Parenthetically, there are no facts supporting the application of ESSA in this case. None of the alleged conduct was deemed violent or resulted in the filing of criminal charges by law enforcement. The alleged HIB conduct, i.e., inappropriate hair touching or comments by second and third-graders in this instance, does not meet the criteria stated above for D.F. and I.F. to be considered victims under ESSA.

The second consideration of the Crowe test is whether the legal right underlying D.F.'s claim is settled, N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6(b)(2). Here, as stated above, I CONCLUDE that D.F. does not meet the second prong of the emergent-relief standard.

Since D.F. cannot meet all four prongs of the Crowe standard, this Order will not address the other three prongs.

I CONCLUDE that D.F.'s request for emergent relief does not satisfy the applicable requirements.

I further CONCLUDE upon agreement by the parties that there are no remaining issues.

ORDER

For the reasons stated above, I hereby ORDER that petitioner D.F.'s application for emergent relief on behalf of D.F. and I.F. is hereby DENIED.

This Order on application for emergency relief may be adopted, modified or rejected by COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who/which by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. The final decision shall be issued without undue delay, but no later than forty-five days following the entry of this order. If COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION does not adopt, modify or reject this order within forty-five days, this recommended order shall become a final decision on the issue of emergent relief in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

DECISION AND AWARD

Certified tenure charges having been filed by Petitioner, City of Trenton Board of Education, (sometimes herein "the Board") (P1), and Respondent, William Russell, having timely filed an Answer to those Charges, the undersigned arbitrator was appointed to determine the truth of the Charges, and, if some or all are found true, to determine whether or not Petitioner should be removed from his position or suffer some lesser penalty.

Following pre-hearing conference calls with counsel regarding procedural issues, hearings were conducted on February 9, 2024 at the Respondent's offices in Trenton, New Jersey, April 12, 2024 at the Jefferson Intermediate School, in Trenton, and May 20, 2023 at Respondent's offices in Trenton. At those times and places both parties had the opportunity to call and confront witnesses, present all relevant and admissible non-testimonial evidence, and make arguments in support of their respective positions. At the conclusion of the last hearing the parties agreed to submit briefs following the preparation of transcripts. Those briefs have been submitted to the undersigned, and, there being no unresolved procedural or evidentiary disputes, this matter is ready for adjudication on its merits.

Background:

Respondent, Willam Russell, was employed by Petitioner as a tenured computer teacher and working at Jefferson Intermediate School on November 18, 2022. On that date, according to the school's Principal, Nadia Ramcharan, he grabbed a student identified herein as TM by both her arms and pushed her against a wall, leaving her distraught and crying. Further, according to Ms. Ramcharan, he further antagonized the student by following her and yelled at the class that he was "tired of the bullshit." (Tenure Charges at Paras 4-5, 8). That act, in addition to other alleged behavior[1], led Petitioner to file timely Tenure Charges on September 12, 2023 seeking Petitioner's removal from his employment.[2] Petitioner filed a timely answer, and the undersigned was appointed to arbitrate the matter under the TEACHNJ law.

Relevant Factual Assertions of Petitioner:

The Petitioner presented Nadia Ramcharan, the Principal of Jefferson Intermediate School at all times material herein. Ms. Ramcharan testified that Respondent was a computer teacher at the school in 2022, the first year the school opened. It was her further testimony, taken as background information and not in support of Petitioner' position herein, that Respondent did not comply with several administrative requirements in the fall of that year and that he "struggled with classroom—with the students a lot." (Tr. 23).

[1] Allegations involving that other behavior cited in the Charges were excluded from the hearing on evidentiary grounds. Petitioner answered Respondent's Interrogatory asking Petitioner to "identify and set forth with specificity" "each and every act or omission" which Petitioner alleged constituted conduct unbecoming a teaching staff member. Petitioner responded by exclusively identifying the event of November 18, 2022. See, Tr. 24-27; RX 2, p. 4. Therefore, this case turns only on Petitioner's alleged conduct of November 18, 2022.

[2] Respondent has been on administrative leave since in or around the month of November 2022. The hearing in this matter was delayed for settlement discussions as well as a successful motion by Respondent for an in camera inspection of student statements and records relevant to the November 18, 2022 incident. Those statements, collected by Petitioner shortly after the incident and provided to the State's Department of Children and Families, were otherwise protected from discovery under New Jersey law.

Turning to the allegations deemed relevant to this matter, Ms. Ramcharan related that she was conducting a "walkthrough" of the building on November 18. She related that she observed Respondent through a window in the door of his classroom standing in front of a student—later identified as TM—whose back was against a wall, while manhandling her with both hands. (Tr. 29; 2 Tr. 17, 18-20, 22-24, 25-26, 31-32, 3941). Ms. Ramcharan recalled "a raucous going on" in the classroom and said that as she approached the door of the room Respondent and TM were making their way outside. (Tr. 123; 2Tr. 29-29). TM was crying hysterically at the time and asserted Respondent was roughly handling her (Tr. 29) although on cross-examination Ms. Ramcharan conceded she did not see Respondent push TM out the door. Ms. Ramcharan then said that Respondent told her he had asked TM to leave the classroom because of her behavior and to go to another room but that she was not listening and refused to do as he said. (Id.). Ms. Ramcharan explained it was a practice at the school for teachers to send pupils with whom they were having problems to a "buddy teacher" in order to de-escalate the situation. (Tr. 29-30). When Ms. Ramcharan asked TM to get her "stuff" and go to Ms. Ramcharan's office, she noticed TM had no shoes on (2Tr. 30) and that Respondent continued to, in Ms. Ramcharan's words, "antagonize [TM]." (Tr. 30). Ater closing the door of Respondent' classroom, Ms. Ramcharan heard him say "I'm tired of this bullshit" and then begin to interact with another student, whereupon Ms. Ramcharan asked him to leave the classroom, go to her office and contact his union representative. (Tr. 31). She said she then took TM to the school nurse because she complained of pain in her arms.(Id.). Upon meeting with Respondent and his union representative, Ms. Ramcharan stated, Respondent told her he was "going through some stuff," and she told him to leave the building and that Human Resources would contact him. (Tr. 32). She said that later the same day she filed a report with the appropriate state agency on institutional abuse. (Tr. 33). Subsequently, Ms. Ramcharan explained, she had students in the classroom at the time write accounts of the incident in the presence of a staff member. (Tr. 34-35, 76).

Ms. Ramcharan also introduced the District's Board Policy 3281 which addresses staff misconduct (PX 6; Tr. 36-37) and requires staff to protect the health safety, and welfare of students within the district. She opined that Respondent had not followed that policy. Similarly, she introduced Board Policy 3211 regarding staff ethics (PX 7) which requires staff to treat students with dignity. (Tr. 38). She expressed her belief that Respondent had violated it, as well as another Board policy, 3217 (PX 8) which prohibits use of physical force upon a student except in special situations such as to quell a disturbance or seize weapons. (Tr. 38-39, 42-43). In Ms. Ramcharan's opinion, Respondent was doing none of those things. (Tr. 43-44, 45). In addition, Ms. Ramcharan introduced a memorandum (PX 5) relating to a meeting in May 2022 in which Respondent was counseled about an incident at another school and the Petitioner's restrictions on staff making physical contact with students. (Tr. 46-48).[3]

Ms. Ramcharan said she had received some training in investigating staff conduct (Tr. 56-58). As to November 18, 2022, she said she was familiar with the building, having worked there since August 2022, and knew the location of Respondent's classroom. (Tr. 60-61). She also prepared a sketch of the area outside the classroom and her approach to it as she was walking through on November 18, 2022. (Tr. 63). She explained that she both heard and saw the commotion in Respondent's classroom around the same time and testified to the positions of TM and Respondent when she first spotted them through the window in the classroom door—which opens outward into the hallway (Tr. 70) at a distance of 3-5 feet. (Tr. 64-66, 72).[4] As to the number of students present at the time of the incident, Ms. Ramcharan said she did not know. (Tr. 80, 81). Nor was she sure of the staff member who collected student statements that day (Tr. 86-87) and conceded she did not know what instructions students present in the classroom were given other than they were told to write what happened. (NT 88). Nor did she know whether the students collaborated on their statement. (Id.). Despite having collected only seven statements, Ms. Ramcharan recalled there being 10-12 students in the room—more students than the number of statements that were collected. (2TR 46-47). Further, Ms. Ramcharan said she thought there were no cameras in the hallway outside in a position to record events in Respondent's classroom that day. (Tr. 91, 94, 95, 96). However, on cross-examination, Ms. Ramcharan said cameras could record TM leaving Respondent's classroom (2Tr. 37) but she had not taken steps to preserve that footage. (2Tr. 38).

[3] In accordance with the ruling above on the scope of evidence relevant to this case, that information was admitted solely to provide evidence Respondent was on notice to comply with Petitioner's policies.
[4] On re-direct examination, Ms. Ramcharan estimated the distance to be about ten feet. (Tr. 121).

Turning to her own response to the incident, Ms. Ramcharan said she had made notes (R 27, 2 Tr. 14, 43; 2 Tr. 57) but did not give those notes to anyone. (2Tr. 9-10).

Ms. Ramcharan agreed with Respondent's counsel there are times a student can be removed from a classroom, including occasions when a student is disruptive, not listening, or destroying property. (Tr. 98-99. If such a student refuses to leave the classroom, she said, a teacher can call the office or school security can remove the student. (Tr. 99-100). Although Ms. Ramcharan said she had never seen a situation where a security officer had to deal with a pupil who would not voluntarily leave a classroom, she opined that officers could get physically involved in breaking up a fight and that "it may have happened" in the District that a school security officer took hold of a student and forced the student from a classroom. (Tr. 103). On November 18, 2022, she recalled, there were three or four contracted security officers at Jefferson. (Tr. 104).

Ms. Ramcharan further stated there were occasions when she herself had "held a student's" hand" while walking him/her out of a classroom but said such an act would be to calm the student (Tr. 109) and conceded such a student may not have wanted handholding. (Tr. 111). Further, she conceded there may have been times when she put a hand on a student's shoulder when the student did not want her to. (Tr. 111-112, 114).

Turning to her report of the November 18, 2022 incident (RX 26), Ms. Ramcharan concurred that it omitted the use of profanity by the Respondent to which her earlier testimony referred. She credited that omission to the fact that the profanity was uttered after TM had left the classroom. (Tr. 119). As for the written student statements she had prompted (RX 25), Ms. Ramcharan testified that one female student who was returning from the bathroom when the incident occurred wrote she did not see anything between Respondent and TM. (Tr. 134-135); a second student wrote nothing about Respondent touching TM (Tr. 135); a third stated Respondent "kicked" TM from the classroom but said nothing about actual physical contact (Tr. 136); a fourth said Respondent grabbed TM's arm but not her shoulder nor did it mention profanity (Tr. 137); a fifth said Respondent used his body (rather than his hands) to push TM (Tr. 137); and, a sixth reported that Respondent pushed MT rather than grabbed her. Tr. 138).

Ms. Ramcharan conceded that none of the statement mentions a wall against which she had testified Respondent had pushed TM. Ms. Ramcharan further agreed she had no statement from MT herself and did not remember if she received one from her. (Tr.139-140). However,

Ms. Ramcharan said that the student statements corroborated elements of her testimony about seeing Respondent removing MT from the classroom, MT crying, MT being "manhandled" by Respondent (Tr. 145), and Respondent physically forcing MT from the classroom.

Also testifying for Petitioner was Cheryl Tolor, the District's Executive Director of Human Resources ("HR"). Ms. Tolor recalled first dealing with Respondent in the fall of 2022 when Ms. Ramcharan called her about the November 18, 2022 incident. According to Ms. Tolor, Ms. Ramcharan explained the incident and asked her to gather student statements. (Tr. 165-166, 203). Ms. Tolor further said she met with Respondent and his union representative sometime after November 18, 2022 but did not know exactly when. At that meeting, she recollected, she gave Respondent an opportunity to explain his version of what had happened, but he did not. (Tr. 170). Ms. Tolor said she did what she called a "secondary investigation" (Tr.172-173) which resulted in a March 27, 2023 report she authored for the Board's Superintendent. (PX 3). The report was admitted although, given the undersigned's ruling that specific references to incidents other than that of November 18, 2022 are not admitted, references to those other allegations are not being considered. (Tr. 176).

Ms. Tolor's recommendations to the Superintendent in that report included a recommendation for tenure charges "in alignment with" Board Policy 3217 (PX 8) as well as letter of reprimand from Ms. Ramcharan for violation of Board Policy 3281 (PX 6) which prohibits inappropriate comments to pupils or about pupils and Board Policy 3211 (PX 7) which prohibits "usage of corporal punishment." (PX 3, p. 5).

Recalled for further testimony at the May 20, 2024 hearing, Ms. Tolor testified that she had examined Board Policy 3217 which prohibits physical contact with students except in special circumstances which Ms. Tolar said were not present in this case.[5] (3Tr. 46-49). She further testified that she believed Respondent also violated Board Policy 3281 which prohibits staff from, inter alia, using "inappropriate language or comments." (PX 3Tr. 50-51).

[5] Policy 3217—Use of Corporal Punishment—states in pertinent part :The board of Education cannot condone an employee's resort to force or fear in the treatment of pupils, even those pupils whose conduct appear to be open defiance of authority. Each pupil is protected by law from bodily harm and from offensive bodily touching. Teaching staff members shall not use physical force or the threat of physical force to maintain discipline or compel obedience except as permitted by law....A teaching staff member who: uses force or fear to discipline a pupil except as such force or fear may be necessary to quell a disturbance threatening physical injury to others...[or] touched a pupil in an offensive way...will be subject to discipline by the Board and may be dismissed."(PX 8).

On cross-examination, Ms. Tolor testified that she held a teaching certificate in Legal Studies" and was a classroom teacher of college subjects in various high schools as part of a special program run through Essex County College. (Tr. 189-190) She also said she holds a certificate of eligibility for New Jersey public school superintendent certification. (Tr. 190-191). As to her report on the November 18, 2022 matter, she testified it was finalized on March 27, 2023 (Tr. 191, 195) after her meeting with Ms. Ramcharan on December 5, 2022. That memo does not refer to her meeting with Respondent, referenced above, which Ms. Tolor said occurred around November 18, 2022. (Tr. 193, 194). As to that meeting with Respondent, Ms. Tolor testified again that he chose not to make a statement to her, a refusal Ms. Tolor said did not influence her conviction that he had violated Board policies. (Tr. 199-201). When asked if she knew how many students were present in Respondent's class when the incident with TM occurred, Ms. Tolor said she did not know but that she received a total of seven student accounts from Ms. Ramcharan. (NT 205). She also said she did not recall whether or not she got a statement from TM. (Tr. 205) and said she had not spoken to any of the students. (Tr. 212). Ms. Tolar also denied recalling whether findings of the State's Institutional Abuse Investigative Unit ("IAIU") regarding this matter played a role in her March 27, 2023 report.

Further, at the May 20, 2024 hearing, Ms. Tolar testified to effective teaching ratings given to Respondent in the past (3Tr. 56) and acknowledged that none of the student statements taken about the November 18, 2022 incident mentioned Respondent's use of bad language which Board Policy prohibits. Further, like Ms. Ramcharan, Ms. Tolar agreed there are circumstances under which a security officer could forcibly remove students from a classroom (3Tr. 68-69) and further agreed a teacher could physically remove a student from a classroom. (Id.). However, she testified that Board Policy does not permit a teacher to use physical force against a pupil who is even extremely disruptive but conceded that a security officer could. (3Tr. 71-71 74-75).

Two student witnesses also testified on behalf of Petitioner and are identified herein as "AH" and "MM."

The first, AH, testified that she was a student at Jefferson Intermediate School and had Respondent as a teacher and TM as a classmate in Respondent's class. (3Tr. 7). She characterized Respondent as a "very kind and friendly and welcoming" teacher and said she had no recollection of him having "bad interactions with any students." (3Tr. 8). However, she recalled the incident in question here. According to her testimony (3Tr. 8-9), TM was "dancing and playing around" near the door of the room when Respondent asked her and others to sit down. When TM refused, AH stated, Respondent directed her to sit down, an order that she also refused. At that point, AH recalled, Respondent told her to leave the classroom, which she also declined to do. Respondent then "grabbed her hand and tried to lead her out the class, but she pulled against him...[and] they kept pulling back and forth" until Respondent dragged her out of the class causing TM to hold herself against the door so she could not be pulled further. At that time, AH said, Respondent grabbed TM and, AH thought, TM hurt her wrist. From AH's perspective, when Ms. Ramcharan appeared the Principal at first saw but then could not see what was happening because Respondent was standing in the doorway. (3Tr. 10-11, 20-21Meanwhile, AH recalled, TM had gotten loose and was "roaming the hallways" because she was upset. (3Tr. 23-24). Later, AH said, pupils were given paper to write down what happened. (3Tr. 10-11). AH then authenticated a writing she said was her statement of the matter given on November 18, 2022 (3Tr. 13-14) which was admitted as "BX 9"[6].

AH described TM as an associate but not a friend and said she had not spoken to TM about Respondent. (3Tr. 17-18). She estimated that Respondent had asked TM to take a seat about five to six times and that each time TM either ignored him or said "no." (3Tr. 18-19). Similarly, AH recalled, TM refused when Respondent asked her to leave the room, and he put his hand around her waist and started pulling her out. (3Tr. 19, 21-22).

MM testified that Respondent asked TM to either sit down or leave the room, but TM "wasn't paying him no mind." (3Tr. 27-28, 35). MM said that Respondent walked over to where TM was standing and told her to sit down or get out, and she ignored him again at which time "he put her to the wall." (3Tr. 28). In doing so, MM recalled, Respondent used both his hands and seemed to grab TM by the shoulders, and, although he did not push her to the wall, he "pinned" her there. (3Tr. 29-30, 37). MM also gave a written statement of the incident which was admitted as "B-10".[7] (3Tr. 31-32).

Relevant Factual Contentions of Respondent:

Respondent, William Russell, only offered testimony from himself. He stated he had taught in the District for about 24 years (3Tr. 78) and that his evaluations for school years going ack to 2002-2003 were all satisfactory. (3Tr. 81-82; RX 5-R 17).[8] Mr. Russell, describing himself as a trained "technology teacher" (3Tr. 106-107), explained that on November 18, 2022 he was teaching TM's class coding through the use of keyboards. (3Tr. 85-86). He said that on that day he was distributing candy to the class as a treat, something he said he had done in the District for 20 years. (3Tr. 87). TM, according to Mr. Russell, began dancing until he told her to stop and take her seat three or four times to no avail. (3Tr. 88). Mr. Russell said he then told her more loudly and said if she did not obey she would have to go to the class across the hallway where there was a music teacher who was his "buddy teacher, i.e., a fellow staff member who would take referred students who needed settling. (3Tr. 88-90; 117-119). Mr. Russell said TM still refused (3Tr. 114) and began screaming at him loudly, which quickly escalated the situation. (3Tr. 90). He said he then stood and approached her, telling her again to take her seat and work with her computer, but MT continued yelling at him defiantly and was extremely angry. He said at that point the door of him room opened and Ms. Ramcharan appeared.

At that instant, according to Mr. Russell, TM tried to go around him. He put his arm out to stop her and "kind of like, moved her, but not hard" as TM ran to Ms. Ramcharan crying, at which time, he said, the incident was over. (3Tr. 93-94). As for Ms. Ramcharan, he said she did not enter the room and denied that he and she had dialogue. TM then left the room with her belongings when Ms. Ramcharan told her to do so. (3Tr. 94-96). Mr. Russell said that TM came back to retrieve some other belongings, at which point he told her he needed a conference with her parents. He denied using the word "bullshit" (3Tr. 96, 141) and categorically denied putting his hands on MT's shoulders or waist, putting her against a wall, and touching her in any way during what he called an "engagement" (3Tr. 97, 98) other than when she came in contact with his arm which he said happened simultaneously with her walking into him. (3Tr. 103, 120; 3Tr. 142). He opined that had MT stayed in his classroom it would not have been possible for pupils to get any work done. (3Tr. 104).

[8] There was no evaluation in the COVID impacted year of 2019-2020. (3Tr. 80).

Respondent also testified to prior interactions with Ms. Ramcharan, starting with a time he attempted to help a new teacher who was having trouble controlling her class. (3Tr. 140-141). Eventually that teacher had to file a report but did not know how to do one. When he notified Ms. Ramcharan, he alleged, she refused to help. (3Tr. 99-100). He further asserted Ms. Ramcharan had a policy of not allowing students to be brought to the school's office. (3Tr. 100-101).

On cross-examination, Mr. Russell denied allowing MT to take off her shoes on November 18, 2022 or seeing her without shoes. (3Tr. 1114-115, 116-117) and said TM's anger was a threat to or disturbance of classroom order. (3Tr. 124).

Arguments of Petitioner:

Petitioner relies on the evidence to support its contention Respondent should be dismissed for "inefficiency, incapacity, unbecoming conduct, or other just cause" NJSA 18A:6-10. Citing Bound Brook Bd. of Ed. v. Ciripompa, 228 NJ 4 (2017), Petitioner notes that unbecoming conduct "need not be predicated upon the violation of any particular rule or regulation but may be based merely upon the violation of the implicit standard of good behavior due from one who stands in the public eye as an upholder of that which is morally and legally correct." (Id. at 13-14, quoting Karine v. City of Atlantic City, 152 NJ 523, 555 (1996). Simply put, Petitioner argues, unbecoming conduct involves acts that tend to harm morale or damage the public's image of a school system. In re Emmons, 63 NJ Super 136 (App. Div. 1960). As such, the concept of unbecoming conduct is variable or "elastic."

Petitioner next argues that evidence proving unbecoming conduct is not necessarily limited to the admissibility standards of a court proceeding. Rather, in an administrative setting such as the instant matter, the "residuum" rule applies, allowing the consideration of evidence otherwise inadmissible as long as the tribunal's decision is ultimately based on a preponderance of a "residuum" of judicially admissible evidence. Weston v. State, 60 NJ 36, 51 (1972); In re Tenure Hearing of Cowan, 224 NJ Super. 737 (App. Div. 1972); In Re Polk, 9 NJ 550 (1982). Given that principle, Petitioner says, the undersigned is obliged to consider any evidence material to the case. Manchester Twp. Bd. of Educ. v. Thomas P. Carney, Inc., 199 NJ Super 266

(App. Div. 1985); NJCAC 1:1-15.5., including hearsay evidence. Ruroede v. Borough of Hasbrouck Heights, 214 NJ 338 (2013).

Petitioner says it has presented four bases for a finding of unbecoming conduct. First, Petitioner cites the eyewitness testimony of the students who testified that Respondent was the aggressor in the confrontation between him and TM. That testimony is corroborated, Petitioner says, by Respondent himself who said he initiated contact with TM, approached her, and at least bumped her with part of his body. Three other witnesses, Petitioner says, testified they saw him put his hands on TM. Petitioner says none of this was necessary because Respondent could have called security or allowed TM to return to her seat. As such, Respondent's actions violated Petitioner's policy 3217 which prohibits an employee to resort to force or fear in treatment of pupils "even those whose conduct appears in open defiance of authority." Petitioner says that given Respondent's height and weight, it is unreasonable to assume he was not resorting to fear and the testimony proves he used force against TM.

On those facts, Petitioner urges, termination is the only appropriate response, citing In re Tenure Hearing of Fulcomer, 93 NJ Super. 404 (App. Div. 1967). There the Appellate Division observed three considerations regarding penalty: (1) nature and gravity of the offense; (2) the accused's attitude at the time of the conduct; (3) evidence of provocation, extenuation or aggravation. The Falconer court also noted mitigating factors: (1) ability, record and length of the accused's service; the accused's disciplinary record; and (3) the impact of penalty on the accused's career in obtaining a position in the State. Petitioner says an application of the Falconer principles mandates termination, especially given Respondent's responsibility to pupils, his clearly prohibited conduct, and his demonstrated lack of remorse at hearing.

Arguments of Respondent:

Like Petitioner, Respondent cites the "residuum rule" as the evidentiary framework for deciding this case. In the Matter of City of Camden, 429 NJ Super. 309 (App. Div.) cert. den, 215 NJ 485 (2013). As stated above in Petitioner's arguments, the residuum rule requires a decision in this case to be supported by some quantum of competent evidence, i.e., evidence that would be admissible in a court of law. Weston, supra; Ruroede, supra. As for the burden of proof, Respondent correctly argues it is on the Petitioner. Douglas E. Wicks v. Bd. of Ed. of Bernards Twp., OAL Dkt. No. EDU 4006-00, citing SSI Medical Serv. v. State Dept. of Human Serv., 146 NJ 614 (1996). Such a burden means, Respondent says, specificity as to the action or behavior underlying the charge against Petitioner. Daly v. Department of Corrections, 331 NJ Dept. 344, 351 (App. Div. 2000); NJAC 6A:3-5.1(b) (1).

Respondent points out that unbecoming conduct—i.e., that which would affect morale or efficiency or tends to destroy confidence in government service—requires more than just negligence or an unwise act. IMO Certificates of Featherson, OAL Dkt. No. EDE 05329-05; Agency Dkt. No. 0405-177; IMO Burlap, Camden County Dept. of Corr., OAL Dkt. No CSV 10834-12, Agency Dkt. No. 2013-231 NJ AGEN LEXIS 64. And, Respondent argues, even if his conduct met these standards and was therefore "unbecoming," it should not result in an automatic dismissal. Rather, Respondent says, the undersigned must examine a number of factors within the context of the event and Respondent's career using the Falconer criteria, above.

Conceding that a single, flagrant incident might justify termination, Respondent argues that progressive disciplinary steps should be considered, including prior infractions unless there is reason to the contrary, and that discipline should be consistent with the seriousness of the wrongful act, Elkouri & Elkouri, How Arbitration Work, 7th ed, 15-40. Consideration must be given, Respondent maintains,, where the employer has previously condoned such acts without giving warnings they will be punished.

Turning specifically to the case at bar, Respondent underscores the degree of restraint and self-control required of public school teachers in today's permissive environment. From there, he reasons, even unjustified physical contact with a student does not create grounds for removal. IMO Tenure Hearing of Eddie Lee Harrell, 1979 SLD 479; IMO Tenure Hearing of Ostergreen, 1966 SLD 185; IMO Tenure Hearing of Edith Craft, Commissioner of Ed. Dec. No. 366-11; Matter of Tenure Hearing of Boyd, 93 NJAR. 2d (EDU) 445 ; In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Barbara Emri, Comm. Of Ed. Dec. No. 371-02. Of special note is Respondent's claim that conduct that was not cruel or premeditated may not justify removal. Boyd, supra; Craft, supra. Respondent points out that in Craft, the Commissioner of Education did not impose removal even where a teacher had slapped an eight-year old special education student in the face. Similarly, Respondent looks to egregious conduct in other cases where removal was not imposed, such as where there was inappropriate physical contact or pupils were struck by teaching staff, Boyd, supra, (use of the "n word"); Emri, supra; in-class slurs about a student's mother, IMO the Tenure Hearing of Poston, Comm. Of Ed. Dec. No. 362-06; pushing a student into a seat; IMO Tenure Hearing of Adam Mierzwa, Comm. Of Ed. Dec. No. 283-08, and various instances of failure to supervise, IMO Tenure Hearing of Carmen Quinones, 1996 NJAR 2d (EDU) 649.

Moving from arguments on the penalty imposed here, Respondent argues against the credibility of Petitioner's witnesses, the assessment of which is for the undersigned with the condition that Petitioner must provide a preponderance of credible evidence. Freud v. Davis, 64 NJ Super 242 (App. Div. 1960). Such evidence must be drawn from credible witnesses whose credibility depends on an overall estimate of their accounts considering rationality, consistency and harmony with other evidence. Carbo v. United States, 314 F.2d 718 (1963); In re Perrone, 5 NJ 514 (1950).

Abiding by those principles, Respondent says, the undersigned must reject the testimony of Ms. Ramcharan and Ms. Tolor, calling their testimony obfuscatory, evasive, and cagey, while he touts his own testimony as candid, open, and transparent, even admitting at one point to using the "n word" in an event not material to this case. That admission, Respondent urges, is indicative of his candor at hearing.

Respondent next argues that his service entitles him to consideration as to penalty. His clear and unrebutted testimony was that he had worked with Petitioner full-time for 24 years and for several other years in a substitute capacity and had been rated as satisfactory or "effective" in many, many of those years.. (RX 4, 5, 7, 8, 9, 10, 13, 14, 15, 20). Respondent trumpets that Petitioner's disciplinary policy (RX 22) directs that discipline should be applied "wherever possible for progressive penalties."

According to Respondent, there was no appropriate investigation of any unbecoming conduct attributed to him. Such inquiries have been found essential to disciplinary measures. Enterprise Wire, Co, 46 LA 359 (1966). Among other things, Respondent underscores Petitioner's failure to ascertain there had been an interview of all of the pupils present in Respondent's classroom at the time of the incident, including TM, who was not interviewed at all. Further, Petitioner's witnesses, Ramcharan and Tolor, could not identify who was with the students whose statements of the incident were collected at the time they were, and no other investigation was done into the incident.

Respondent further charges that Petitioner did not establish a clear standard of conduct for him to follow, charging that Petitioner's witnesses could not articulate the circumstances under which a teacher is permitted to make physical contact when a disruptive student threatens the right of other students to receive an education which Respondent asserts is a property interest. , Hernandez v. Bosco Preparatory High, 322 N J Super 1 (App. Div. 1999). Given that interest, Respondent urges that the statute prohibiting corporal punishment, NJSA 18A: 6-1 may not be interpreted as disallowing the physical restraint Petitioner charges Respondent with imposing on TM. In fact, Respondent says, Ms. Ramcharan and Ms. Tolor conceded there were instances in which staff might physically interfere with a student even where that student is not fighting, bearing a weapon, or destroying school property.

Returning to Petitioner's witnesses, Respondent says their testimony was inconsistent internally and with other witnesses. For example, Respondent says that none of the student witnesses called by Petitioner said Respondent uttered a profane word at the end of the incident. However, Ms. Ramcharan claimed to recall him saying "I'm tired of this bullshit!"[9] Additionally, Respondent asserts that Ms. Ramcharan—who viewed much of the event through a classroom window, lacked a clear observation of the incident including important details of the allegedly forceful touching of TM by Respondent. (NT 1, 39-41). Respondent summarizes Ms. Ramcharan's testimony as inconsistent with the testimony of student witness MM and AH as to how exactly Respondent supposedly physically restrained or coerced TM.

To the contrary, Respondent touts his testimony as consistent and credible. In his account, he did not hold her by her waist, wrist or shoulders, instead telling the undersigned he said he wanted her to leave the room because of her disruptive outburst and merely put his arm out in a passive manner, causing the two to make contact as TM moved into him. That he swore, was the extent of physical contact between the two.

From the foregoing, Respondent says, the undersigned should credit his account over Ms. Ramcharan's and—to whatever extent their testimony inculpated him—the actions described by [9] Even if he had said that, Respondent claims, the profanity was so mild as to not justify even partial grounds for his dismissal under a "conduct unbecoming standard or any other standard.

the students. Alternatively he argues, even if Petitioner's witnesses' accounts are credited, they are insufficient to support his dismissal, and the tenure charges should be dismissed.

Opinion:

The parties agree that the statutory criteria for Respondent's removal is set forth in NJSA 18A:6-10 is "inefficiency, incapacity, unbecoming conduct, or other just cause" and that Petitioner's petition relies on "unbecoming conduct." Such conduct is not necessarily limited to the violation of any rule or regulation and can be based on a breach of any implicit standard expected of a person in the public eye who is to uphold morally and legally correct values. Ciripompa, supra, quoting Karins, supra.; Emmons, supra. Further, both parties recognize that evidence of such unbecoming conduct must be proven by a preponderance of legally admissible evidence. In other words, a decision must be based on a residuum of judicially admissible evidence which may be joined with otherwise inadmissible evidence such as hearsay which tends to support findings of fact. Ruroede, supra.; Weston, supra; City of Camden, supra. Ultimately Petitioner bears the overall burden of proving unbecoming conduct by a preponderance of the evidence which may include that which would be admissible at law or equity and that which, although bearing on the case, would not. However, the undersigned's decision must ultimately be predicated on a residuum of such judicially admissible evidence. Ciripompa, supra.

In this matter, Petitioner's factual averments are entirely based on evidence that would be admissible in a judicial proceeding, namely the testimony of Ms. Ramcharan and the two student witnesses AH and MM. Petitioner views that testimony as supporting its contention Respondent engaged in unbecoming conduct, both as it would be judged by the public and as it would specifically violate Petitioner's Policy 3217 prohibiting its employees from using force in the treatment of pupils even when pupils exhibit conduct that appears to be an open defiance of authority.

The question is whether or not that testimony is credible when examined in light of Respondent's sworn version of the November 18, 2022 incident.

I find that it is. Ms. Ramcharan, the Jefferson School Principal, presented as a wholly credible witness and testified in a guileless, candid, and straight-forward manner concerning what she observed. In her account, Respondent, seen through a window in his classroom's door, had both hands on TM as he had her against a wall—a violation of Petitioner's policy 3217—and after Ms. Ramcharan intervened, Respondent continued to "antagonize" TM. Moreover, I credit Ms. Ramcharan's testimony that after TM left the classroom as directed by her, Respondent expressed he was tired "of this bullshit" which itself was a violation of Petitioner's Policy 3281 proscribing Inappropriate Staff Conduct. Although it is true that neither student witness called by Petitioner reinforced Ms. Ramcharan's account in a precisely congruent manner, neither did they expressly contradict it. In fact, they supported it. Student witness AH, who described Respondent as a "very kind and friendly and welcoming teacher," told the undersigned that Respondent grabbed TM's hand and tried to lead her out of the room and that Respondent dragged her. MM testified that Respondent "put [TM] against the wall," used both and seemed to grab TM by the shoulders after which he "pinned" her there." Neither pupil appeared to have been coached or directed to testify from a script, and both impressed the undersigned with their desire to render an accurate account of the incident.

The above testimony contrasts strongly with the self-interested testimony offered by Respondent. In his version, there was no grabbing or holding or TM. Rather, he claimed TM walked into him as he merely put his arm out to stop her from going around him. In light of Ms. Ramcharan's version and that of the two students, I do not find Respondent's memory of the incident as accurate. I also do not find any basis for his assertion that Ms. Ramcharan was biased against him despite his allegation that she refused to help a new teacher file a report on student deportment in her classroom. As for the charge that he used a profanity, I note Respondent's denial but credit Ms. Ramcharan's account.

In sum, I find Respondent violated Petitioner's Policy 3217 pertaining to use of force against students and therefore a violation of NJSA 18A:6-10 against "unbecoming conduct." I also find he violated Policy 3281 which prohibits inappropriate staff conduct.

Having so determined, I turn to the last issue: the appropriateness of the penalty.

I am convinced that the 57-year old paradigm set forth in Falconer, supra applies. As stated above, the Falconer court described tests for penalties in New Jersey school tenure cases: the nature and gravity of the offense; the accused's attitude at the time; and, evidence of provocation, extenuation, or aggravation. In the case at bar, Respondent is not accused of purposeful infliction of pain on TM. Instead, he is guilty of using physical force to, in my judgment, restrain TM and coerce her out of his classroom. I find no evidence that Respondent's attitude was pre-formed or malignant. Rather, faced with a difficult classroom management situation, he reacted without malice but out of desperation, however unwise his actions were. I further conclude his attitude and actions were provoked by TM's failure to follow his original directions which escalated to an exasperated demand she leave the classroom. Most importantly, I find no proof of an intentional infliction of harm and find no evidence any real harm occurred to her.

I consider those factors together with his long career with Petitioner and his overall satisfactory teaching record. Even if his record of occasional missteps were to be considered, I am persuaded his overall record is sufficient to mitigate his penalty here to some degree. Therefore, I find Respondent's removal should be rescinded and his tenure maintained. However, his actions justify the elimination of any pay he has already been denied and further justify the withholding of any salary increment due him for school years, 2024-2025 and 2025-2026. Petitioner shall reinstate him with all deliberate speed and without imposing any conditions on his return that are not customarily placed on others who return after an absence equal in length to that of Respondent.

An Award will be entered accordingly.

Award:

Respondent's removal is reversed. He shall be returned to his former position forthwith, subject only to conditions customarily imposed on others who return after an absence equal in length to that of Respondent. Respondent's next two salary increments—for school years 2024-2025 and 2025-2026 shall be withheld.

New Jersey Commissioner of Education

Final Decision

Michael Skowronski,

Petitioner,

v.

Board of Education of the Township of East Greenwich, Gloucester County,

Respondent.

Synopsis

Following a decision from the Appellate Division upholding the Commissioner's prior determination that petitioner was entitled to indemnification pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:12-20 for costs and fees incurred while defending against an ethics complaint stemming from petitioner's service on the East Greenwich Township Board of Education (Board), this matter was remanded to the OAL for calculation of reasonable attorney fees and costs owed to petitioner. Petitioner filed a motion for summary decision, and petitioner's counsel submitted a certification of fees and costs with invoices attached. The Board opposed the motion for summary decision, challenging the reasonableness of the hourly rate and the hours reasonably expended in petitioner's defense over the multi-year pendency of this matter.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: in 2019, petitioner retained the law firm of Dilworth Paxon to represent him in this matter, at the reasonable reduced hourly rate of $240.00; as per detailed and itemized invoices, the time reasonably expended by petitioner's counsel in his defense was 285.3 hours through June 2024; Dilworth Paxon incurred expenses on petitioner's behalf totaling $674.93; the total requested award of attorney fees in the amount of $68,472 and costs in the amount of $674.93 was reasonable; the Board's arguments that the hourly rate should have been reduced from $240 to $165 per hour because that is the rate at which the Board pays its general counsel for legal services is without merit; and the Board had numerous opportunities over the long pendency of this case to cut its losses but chose instead to move forward with the litigation. The ALJ concluded that the fees and costs sought are reasonable and petitioner is entitled to indemnification for counsel fees in the amount of $68,472, plus expenses in the amount of $674.93, for a total amount of $69,146.93.

Upon review, the Commissioner, inter alia, concurred with the ALJ's findings and conclusions and adopted the Initial Decision of the OAL as the final decision in this matter. In so doing, the Commissioner found the Board's exceptions to be without merit and disagreed with the Board's newly raised contention that an evidentiary hearing was required to establish the reasonableness of petitioner's attorney fees. Accordingly, petitioner's appeal was granted, and the Board was ordered to pay petitioner's reasonable attorney fees and costs in the total amount of $69,146.93.

New Jersey Commissioner of Education

Final Decision

Michael Skowronski,

Petitioner,

v.

Board of Education of the Township of East Greenwich, Gloucester County,

Respondent.

The record of this matter, the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), the exceptions filed by respondent Board of Education of the Township of East Greenwich (Board) pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4, and petitioner's reply thereto, have been reviewed and considered.

Following the Appellate Division's decision in Skowronski v. Board of Education of the Township of East Greenwich, Dkt. No. A-3602-21, 2024 N.J. Super. Unpub. LEXIS 69 * (App. Div. Jan. 16, 2024), the Commissioner remanded this matter to the OAL for calculation of the reasonable attorney fees and costs owed to petitioner, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:12-20, incurred while defending an ethics complaint initiated by the Board's former superintendent. Petitioner moved for summary decision, and petitioner's counsel submitted a certification of fees and costs with invoices attached. The Board filed a certification in opposition to summary decision challenging the reasonableness of the hourly rate and the hours reasonably expended on the matter.

The Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) found and concluded that: (1) as an accommodation to petitioner, the law firm of Dilworth Paxon (retained in 2019) reduced its hourly rate for legal services from $490 to $240 per hour, a reasonable hourly rate; (2) no portion of the fee was contingent upon the matter's outcome; (3) the time reasonably expended by petitioner's counsel was 285.3 hours through June 2024, as per detailed, itemized invoices contained in the record for the work billed; (4) Dilworth Paxon incurred expenses on petitioner's behalf totaling $674.93, as per an itemized, detailed list contained in the record; and (5) the requested award of attorney fees in the amount of $68,472 and costs in the amount of $674.93 is reasonable.

The ALJ rejected the Board's arguments that the hourly rate should have been reduced from $240 per hour to $165 per hour because that is the rate at which the Board pays its general counsel for legal services, the district is relatively small, and the district has a fiduciary duty to taxpayers to minimize legal fees and expenses per N.J.A.C. 6A:23A-5.2. The ALJ was unpersuaded, reasoning that petitioner's counsel was not representing the Board but was retained by a private client in a matter that lasted almost five years, and finding that Dilworth Paxson charged petitioner less than its standard government hourly rate of $250. Moreover, the ALJ noted the Board had numerous opportunities to calculate the risk it undertook and to cut its losses; however, it decided to move forward with the litigation. The ALJ also rejected as speculative the Board's contention that petitioner's counsel could have achieved the same results in 177 hours versus 285.3 hours.

In its exceptions, the Board reiterates the arguments that were considered and rejected by the ALJ, including that the hours billed should be reduced to 177 because "it seems likely that the same result could have been achieved in fewer hours" and "since examining each entry" on the invoices "would be tedious and time-consuming." Exceptions, at 3. The Board also contends again that the hourly rate should be reduced to $165 because of the district's small size and its fiduciary duty to minimize legal expenses. Additionally, for the first time, the Board asserts that "an evidentiary hearing as to reasonableness should have been granted" if the fee "application was to be granted in full." Id. at 4.

In reply, petitioner argues that the Board's exceptions simply repeat the arguments it previously made that were properly rejected by the ALJ. He contends that the Board failed to dispute any of the underlying facts and failed to identify any sufficient reason for the Commissioner to reject the ALJ's legal conclusions. Because the ALJ's determination was rendered pursuant to the correct legal standard and supported by sufficient, undisputed evidence, petitioner requests that the Commissioner adopt the ALJ's Initial Decision.

When analyzing a fee application, it is necessary to begin with the calculation of the "lodestar," which is the number of hours reasonably expended on the litigation multiplied by a reasonable hourly rate. Rendine v. Pantzer, 141 N.J. 292, 334-35 (1995). "[T]he focus must be on 'the amount of time reasonably expended' rather than merely an acceptance of 'the amount of time actually expended.'" Walker v. Giuffre, 209 N.J. 124, 131 (2012) (quoting Rendine, 141 N.J. at 335). To complete the calculation, the reasonable hourly rate must be evaluated according to prevailing market rates in the relevant community. Rendine, 141 N.J. at 337. Although the determination "need not be unnecessarily complex or protracted," the court must ensure that the hourly rate is "fair, realistic, and accurate." Ibid.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurs with the ALJ's determination that Dilworth Paxon reasonably expended 285.3 hours on petitioner's case. The hours logged are not excessive. The record contains detailed and itemized invoices reflecting the time petitioner's counsel spent representing his interests for approximately five years. The representation included, but was not limited to, motion practice, discovery, hearings at the OAL, settlement discussions, and an appeal before the Appellate Division. The Board's contention that petitioner's counsel could have achieved the same results in 177 hours versus 285.3 hours is speculative, arbitrary, and unsupported by the record. Notably, the Board's objection is not based upon an analysis of the invoices' content, as their exceptions state that examining each entry on the invoices would take too much time. In sum, the Board has failed to establish that the 285.3 hours expended in this case were unreasonable.

The Commissioner also concurs with the ALJ that the hourly rate of $240 is reasonable. Contrary to the Board's contentions, "the hourly rate charged by the Board's attorney is not dispositive in determining whether [petitioner's counsel's] hourly rate was reasonable" in this matter. Castriotta v. Bd. of Educ. of Twp. of Roxbury, Commissioner Decision No. 108-13, at 4 (Mar. 21, 2013). That is because "board of education attorneys bill differently than private attorneys because they represent a public entity and benefit from a long-term contract and consistent billing." Ibid. The record in this matter lacks any evidence to establish that the $240 hourly rate—which is more than 50% less than what petitioner's attorney typically charges private clients—was unreasonable. It was only established that the Board attorney's hourly rate was $165, and that other school districts in Southern New Jersey paid similar rates to their general counsel. Moreover, the record does indicate that hourly rates charged by law firm partners at Dilworth Paxon to New Jersey governmental entities are typically $250 or higher. For these reasons, the Commissioner agrees with the ALJ that the fees should be calculated using $240 as the reasonable hourly rate.

Additionally, the Commissioner finds that the Board's reliance upon N.J.A.C. 6A:23A-5.2 is misplaced. While N.J.A.C. 6A:23A-5.2 requires boards of education to establish policies to minimize legal costs,[1] it does not address indemnification claims made pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:12-20. In fact, "[t]he only restriction the rule places on the type of legal service of which a district may avail itself involves any affirmative cause of action on behalf of individual board members in which damages would benefit the individual rather than the district." Princeton Int'l Acad. Charter Sch., Inc. v. Princeton Reg'l Schs. Bd. of Educ., OAL Dkt. No. EDU 9657-11, Initial Decision at 17 (Nov. 16, 2011), adopted, Commissioner Decision No. 124-12 (Apr. 2, 2012). Consequently, N.J.A.C. 6A:23A-5.2 does not affect the Board's responsibility to pay reasonable attorney fees and costs for indemnification claims made pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:12-20.

Finally, the Commissioner finds that the Board's newly raised contention that an evidentiary hearing should have been held regarding the reasonableness of the fees lacks merit. In most cases, a court can determine the lodestar and rule upon a request for legal fees "by a review of detailed certifications and argument by counsel, without the need to hear from witnesses." Furst v. Einstein Moomjy, Inc., 182 N.J. 1, 24 (2004). "[A] plenary hearing should be conducted only when the certifications of counsel raise material factual disputes that can be resolved solely by the taking of testimony." Ibid. The Supreme Court of New Jersey has "strongly discourage[d] the use of an attorney-fee application as an invitation to become mired in a second round of litigation." Ibid. Here, nothing in the Board's certification in opposition to summary decision raises a material factual dispute regarding petitioner's counsel's certification of fees and costs that can only be resolved via the taking of testimony. Therefore, the ALJ did not need to hold an evidentiary hearing prior to ruling upon the fee application.

Accordingly, the Initial Decision is adopted as the final decision in this matter. The petition of appeal is hereby granted. The Board is ordered to pay petitioner's reasonable attorney fees in the amount of $68,472 and costs in the amount of $674.93 for a total of $69,146.93.

BEFORE MARY ANN BOGAN, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

This matter comes before the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) by way of remand from the Appellate Division, for a determination as to the amount due petitioner, Michael Skowronski (Skowronski), for indemnification for legal fees and costs from respondent, the East Greenwich Board of Education (Board), under N.J.S.A. 18A:12-20. For the reasons set forth below, the costs and fees are awarded in its entirety.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

The underlying case in which petitioner seeks indemnification began when Dr. James J. Lynch, the Board superintendent, filed a three-count complaint (the Ethics Complaint) on behalf of the Board with the School Ethics Commission (Commission) alleging that Skowronski violated provisions of the School Ethics Code, as well as the New Jersey Open Public Meetings Act. On March 14, 2019, Skowronski filed a motion with the Commission to dismiss the Ethics Complaint filed by the Board in lieu of an answer. When Skowronski demanded indemnification from the Board, the Board advised Skowronski that it would not consider his claim for indemnification until the conclusion of the Ethics Complaint. In a decision dated June 20, 2019, the Commission granted Skowronski's motion in part, dismissing Counts 1 and 2 of the Ethics Complaint, but denied Skowronski's motion with respect to Count 3, which alleges a violation of the State Ethics Code, N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(g), for sending an email on January 22, 2019, to fellow members of the Board and copying a non-Board member. N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(g) pertains to the duty of the Board member to hold matters confidential that if disclosed would needlessly injure individuals or the schools. The remaining count of Skowronski's complaint was transmitted to the OAL, where it was filed on July 25, 2019, under docket number EEC 10213-19. In an initial decision dated February 2, 2020, the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) concluded that Dr. Lynch failed to prove that Skowronski had violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(g). In its May 19, 2020, decision, the Commission adopted the ALJ's factual findings but found that Skowronski had violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(g) and recommended a penalty of reprimand. The New Jersey Commissioner of Education determined that the Commission's decision was supported by sufficient credible evidence and that Skowronski had failed to establish that the decision was arbitrary, capricious, or contrary to law. Lynch v. Skowronski, East Greenwich Twp. Bd. of Educ., Gloucester Cnty., #284-20SEC, Comm'r Decision (December 15, 2020), https://www.nj.gov/education/legal/; N.J.A.C. 6A:4-1.1. Skowronski's request for reconsideration was denied by the Commissioner. Skowronski did not appeal the Commissioner's decision.

Thereafter, after the conclusion of the Ethics Complaint and subsequent appeals, Skowronski again demanded indemnification on February 25, 2021. On March 22, 2021, counsel for the Board advised that the demand for indemnification was denied.

On May 27, 2021, Skowronski filed a petition with the Commissioner of Education seeking indemnification pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:12-20. The matter was transmitted to the OAL, where it was received on July 2, 2021, and filed for determination as a contested case pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13. A prehearing conference was conducted, after which the parties agreed to and requested time to file motions for summary decision on the issue of whether the Board should indemnify petitioner for legal fees and costs incurred in defending this action. An initial decision for summary disposition was issued on May 5, 2022, granting summary decision in favor of Skowronski and finding the Board was required to indemnify him pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:12-20. On June 16, 2022, the Commissioner of Education issued a final decision affirming the decision and ordered the Board to pay Skowronski for reasonable legal fees and costs in connection with this matter.

On July 26, 2022, the Board filed a notice of appeal of the Commissioner's decision to the Appellate Division. The parties were directed to participate in the Civil Appeals Settlement Program and attend a settlement conference. No settlement was reached, and the appeal process continued after submission of written briefs, appendixes, and oral argument. On January 16, 2024, the Appellate Division issued a decision affirming the Commissioner of Education's decision to order indemnification of fees and costs. On the same day, Skowronski wrote to the Board seeking payment of the costs and fees. After the Board did not respond, Skowronski sent correspondence to the Commissioner of Education requesting a determination of the fees and costs owed, and the matter was transmitted on remand to the OAL for a determination regarding the amount of fees and costs following the Appellate Division decision.

FINDINGS OF FACT

The facts relevant to the legal fees charged by Skowronski's counsel, Dilworth Paxson, LLP, are not in dispute, and I FIND:

Skowronski initially retained Benjamin W. Spang, Esq. (Spang) with the firm of Dilworth Paxson, LLP (Dilworth Paxson) to represent him in connection with the Ethics Complaint brought against him by Dr. James Lynch before the Commission, and additionally for the indemnification claim against the Board. Spang has represented Skowronski on various matters since 2016. He is a partner with the firm and practices general litigation. (Exhibit P-A.) Spang has experience representing governmental entities and has knowledge of its billing practices. Spang previously charged governmental rates when he served as litigation counsel for the County of Cumberland, and pursuant to the agreement with the county, Dilworth Paxson charged $250 per hour for all attorneys working on those matters. Dilworth Paxson is currently retained by other governmental entities and charges $250 per hour for all attorneys working on those matters.

The standard hourly rate for services charged by Dilworth Paxson to its clients is currently $490 per hour. As an accommodation to Skowronski, Dilworth Paxson reduced its hourly rate in this case for charges for services to $240 since the firm was retained in 2019. No portion of the fee charge is or was contingent upon the outcome of the matter.

The time expended by Dilworth Paxson on behalf of Skowronski totaled 277 hours as of May 31, 2024. Dilworth Paxson has submitted itemized, detailed timesheets that delineate how the time was actually spent. (Exhibit P-B.) In June 2024, Spang also certified that he spent 8.3 hours on this matter to research and prepare for this motion for summary disposition. The total amount of time spent on this matter is 285.3 hours, resulting in fees to Skowronski of $68,472 (285.3 hours x $240 per hour). True copies of invoices for this work billed to Skowronski through June 2024 have been submitted and reviewed. Ibid.

The firm of Dilworth Paxson has also incurred expenses on Skowronski's behalf in the amount of $674.93. Dilworth Paxson has submitted an itemized, and detailed list of expenses in addition to the attorney fees which have also been reviewed. Ibid.

Together, Skowronski requests that he be awarded attorney fees in the amount of $68,472 and costs in the amount of $674.93 for a total award of $69,146.93.

LEGAL ANALYSIS AND CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

The Uniform Administrative Procedure Rules, N.J.A.C. 1:1-1.1 to -21.6, allow a party to "move for summary decision upon all or any of the substantive issues in a contested case." N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(a). Such a motion "shall be served with briefs and with or without supporting affidavits." N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(b). A judge may grant a motion for summary decision "if the papers and discovery which have been filed, together with the affidavits, if any, show that there is no genuine issue as to any material fact challenged and that the moving party is entitled to prevail as a matter of law." Ibid. If a motion is "made and supported, an adverse party in order to prevail must by responding affidavit set forth specific facts showing that there is a genuine issue which can only be determined in an evidentiary proceeding." Ibid.

N.J.S.A. 18A:12-20 provides in pertinent part:

> Whenever a civil, administrative, criminal or quasi-criminal action or other legal proceeding has been or shall be brought against any person for any act or omission arising out of and in the course of the performance of his duties as a member of a board of education . . . the board of education shall defray all costs of defending such action, including reasonable counsel fees and expenses, together with costs of appeal, if any, and shall save harmless and protect such person from any financial loss resulting therefrom . . . .

The amount of fees paid to indemnify Skowronski is based on the criteria set forth in Walker v. Giuffre, 209 N.J. 124; Rendine v. Pantzer, 141 N.J. 292; and R. 4:42-9. The Supreme Court in Walker reconfirmed that a fee award must start with a calculation of the "lodestar," derived by multiplying the number of hours reasonably expended on the litigation by a reasonable hourly rate. Walker, 209 N.J. at 130.

Our Supreme Court has directed that the fees sought should not be accepted "passively," but rather evaluated carefully and critically for reasonableness. Id. at 131. A fee application must be supported by "fairly definite information as to the hours devoted . . . and the hours spent by various classes of attorneys." Ibid. Moreover, a reduction may be appropriate if "the hours expended, taking into account the damages prospectively recoverable, the interests to be vindicated, and the underlying statutory objectives, exceed those that competent counsel reasonably would have expended." Rendine, 141 N.J. at 366.

Relative to the hourly rate charged, it must be calculated "'according to the prevailing market rate in the relevant community' and should include an assessment of the 'experience and skill of the prevailing party's attorney and [a] compar[ison] . . . to the rates prevailing in the community for similar services' by comparable attorneys." Walker, 209 N.J. at 132 (citing Rendine, 141 N.J. at 337). A reasonable hourly rate is one charged by "an adequately experienced attorney possessed of average skill and ordinary competence—not those that would be set by the most successful or highly specialized attorney in the context of private practice." Walker, 209 N.J. at 132–33 (citing Singer v. State, 95 N.J. 487, 500–01 (1984)).

Finally, the reasonableness of the fee must be informed by the criteria set forth in R.P.C. 1.5(a), which provides that:

> A lawyer's fee shall be reasonable. The factors to be considered in determining the reasonableness of a fee include the following:
> (1) the time and labor required, the novelty and difficulty of the questions involved, and the skill requisite to perform the legal service properly;
> (2) the likelihood, if apparent to the client, that the acceptance of the particular employment will preclude other employment by the lawyer;

(3) the fee customarily charged in the locality for similar legal services;
(4) the amount involved and the results obtained;
(5) the time limitations imposed by the client or by the circumstances;
(6) the nature and length of the professional relationship with the client;
(7) the experience, reputation, and ability of the lawyer or lawyers performing the services;
(8) whether the fee is fixed or contingent.

Petitioner asserts that the rate of $240 per hour is reasonable and almost fifty percent lower than Dilworth Paxson's standard hourly rate charged to private clients for his services and is less than the standard government hourly rate the firm charges when representing various state, county, and local governmental entities that typically begin at $250 per hour.

The Board urges that its attorneys bill $165 per hour for their services as general counsel and urges that a similar rate be applied here.

Rendine and its progeny require a reasonableness determination based on the "prevailing market rates in the relevant community . . . for similar services." Rendine, 141 N.J. at 337 (citation omitted). The Board urges that the relevant community is comprised of general counsel practitioners who focus on the representation of boards of education and bill $165 per hour. The Board also seeks consideration for the small size of the District, which has fewer students and an annual budget of about $24,000,000. The Board is seeking a fee from a public entity that pays its attorneys at a reduced rate because it has a fiduciary duty to the taxpayers to minimize legal fees and expenses. That fiduciary duty is memorialized in regulation. N.J.A.C. 6A:23A-5.2.

The Board's argument is unpersuasive. Spang did not represent the entity, does not base his business model on the fees that can be reasonably generated from such representation, and even so, in this matter, charged less than the standard government hourly rate of $250 that Dilworth Paxson charges for its litigation services when it represents governmental entities, to an individual who would typically pay the firm's $490 hourly rate. Although government agencies and public entities like the Board generally pay a lower rate than private individuals for legal services, here, this is a private client who after seeking indemnification from the Board, retained Dilworth Paxson for a lawsuit that lasted five years against a school district. This legal relationship differs from contracted work and consistent billing opportunity between the public entity and the firm it retains for services that undoubtedly are consistent and longer term. Furthermore, even though as the Board argues this client is a smaller school with a smaller budget, there were numerous opportunities to calculate the risk that it undertook that would require the smaller district to be forced to indemnify the Board member even if the petitioner did not win. Instead, even though the Board had many opportunities to cut its losses, it decided to move forward.

Accordingly, I CONCLUDE that the rate of $240 per hour agreed to between Dilworth Paxson and Skowronski is a reasonable hourly rate.

Spang certifies that he spent 285.3 hours in representing Skowronski relative to his claims against the Board. The Board concludes that the same result could have been achieved in fewer hours and seeks a reduction of the number of hours to 177 and points out that the ethics violation was not overturned. The Board maintains that if the award was calculated using the hours reduced to 177 and the rate reduced to $165, the total amount to be reimbursed would be $29,205, plus costs. As to the number of hours spent, petitioner submitted detailed, and itemized invoices reflecting the time spent and the costs incurred by the firm in the representation of Skowronski's interests, which have been reviewed, and I am unable to agree with the Board that the hours logged, or costs are excessive. This matter included two plenary hearings before the OAL; the filing of motions; the filing and perfecting of an appeal and representation of his client before the Appellate Division. Counsel needed to research the relevant law and, at each phase of the process, prepare and file briefs and affidavits. The work in question spanned the course of approximately five years.

Here the Board fails to particularize how the results could have been achieved in fewer hours in order to demonstrate that 285.3 hours was unreasonable and should then be reduced to 177 hours.

Indemnification may be granted to school board members regardless of the success of the case result. Petitioner took all appropriate steps to seek the Board's indemnification when the case began and was denied. Had the Board agreed to indemnify the petitioner at the inception of the case, it would likely have reduced the amount of its fees and costs.

Accordingly, I CONCLUDE that the firm of Dilworth Paxson reasonably expended 285.3 hours on this matter.

In summary, I CONCLUDE that the petitioner has demonstrated that the fees and costs sought are reasonable and petitioner is entitled to be indemnified for counsel fees in the amount of $68,472, plus expenses in the amount of $674.93, for a total amount of $69,146.93.

ORDER

Based on the foregoing, it is ORDERED that the Board shall defray the total cost of petitioner's legal fees and expenses in the amount of $69,146.93

I hereby FILE this Initial Decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, P.O. Final Decision

Board of Education of the Town of Princeton, Mercer County,

Petitioner,

v.

A.V. and R.C., on behalf of A.V.C. and D.V.C.,

Respondent.

Synopsis

The petitioning Board brought an action against respondents, the parents of minor children, A.V.C. and D.V.C., for reimbursement of tuition for a period of alleged ineligible attendance of their two children in the Princeton Township Public School District. The respondents contended that they were homeless, having been displaced from their Princeton home by storm damage from Hurricane Ida. The Board contends that petitioners lived in a fixed, regular, and adequate three-bedroom townhouse in Lawrenceville during the period in question, and could not be considered homeless; therefore, their children were ineligible to attend school in Princeton during the period in question. The Board filed a motion for summary decision which was not opposed by the respondents. A zoom hearing in the matter was held on July 15, 2024; neither respondents nor their counsel attended the hearing.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: there are no material facts at issue in this case, and the matter is ripe for summary decision; the minor children were not domiciled within the Princeton School District while attending school there during the period from October 8, 2021 to December 10, 2022; neither were the children homeless during this period, as they resided with their mother in a leased townhouse in Lawrenceville that provided a fixed and regular nighttime residence for the family; respondents lived in Lawrenceville for 63 days during the 2022-2023 school year and were ineligible to attend school in Princeton during that time. Accordingly, the ALJ assessed tuition reimbursement in the amount of $47,266.72.

Upon review, the Commissioner rejected the Initial Decision and remanded the matter to the OAL. In so doing, the Commissioner found that the respondents' exceptions indicate they did not know that their attorney was not filing on their behalf or appearing before the court in July. Accordingly, the matter was remanded to the OAL for further proceedings to provide respondents with an opportunity to oppose petitioner's motion for summary decision and to appear for oral argument.

This synopsis is not part of the Commissioner's decision. It has been prepared for the convenience of the reader. It has been neither reviewed nor approved by the Commissioner.

Final Decision

Board of Education of the Town of Princeton, Mercer County, Petitioner,

v.

A.V. and R.C., on behalf of A.V.C. and D.V.C.,

Respondents.

The record of this matter, the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), and the exceptions filed by the petitioner pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4 have been reviewed and considered. The Princeton Board of Education (Board) did not file a reply to petitioner's exceptions.

The Board filed the petition in this matter, seeking reimbursement of tuition for a period of alleged ineligible attendance by respondents' children in Princeton schools. Petitioner filed a motion for summary decision. Respondents did not file opposition, nor did their attorney appear for oral argument. The Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) found that respondents lived in Lawrenceville for 63 days during the 2022-2023 school year and were ineligible to attend school in Princeton during that time. Accordingly, the ALJ assessed tuition reimbursement in the amount of $47,266.72.

In their exceptions, respondents[1] indicate that they did not know that their attorney was not filing on their behalf or appearing before the court. They request that the case be remanded to the OAL so that they can respond to petitioner's motion.

Upon review, the Commissioner concludes that it is appropriate to remand this matter for further proceedings, including an opportunity for respondents to oppose petitioner's motion for summary decision and to appear for oral argument, consistent with any scheduling orders or other instructions given by the ALJ. If respondents wish to represent themselves moving forward, they should notify the OAL to communicate directly with them and to remove their attorney from all communications.

Accordingly, the Initial Decision is rejected, and this matter is remanded to the Office of Administrative Law for further proceedings.

IT IS SO ORDERED.

BEFORE CARL V. BUCK III, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Town of Princeton Board of Education (Princeton or Board or petitioner) brought an action against A.V. and R.C.[1] (A.V. or respondents), the parents of minor children, A.V.C. and D.V.C., for reimbursement of tuition for a period of alleged ineligible attendance of their two children in the Princeton Township Public School District (District)[2]. Respondents dispute the Board's claim. The Board brought an action against the parents for reimbursement of tuition for a period during which A.C. and D.V.C. were not domiciled within the District and that tuition reimbursement is required. The respondents allege that they, and the minor children, were displaced by damage to their residence. This damage was incurred as a result of Hurricane Ida. At issue is whether A.C. and D.V.C. were entitled to be enrolled in the District for purposes of receiving a thorough and efficient public education free of charge for the period in question, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

By letter, dated October 8, 2021, respondents informed the District that they had been rendered homeless by damage caused by Hurricane Ida and their children would need to be picked up and dropped off at an address in Lawrenceville, NJ (P-7). On November 15, 2022, the Executive County Superintendent sent the finding that the family is not homeless and has not been for more than a year to the District and respondents along with information on how to appeal the decision (R-1). Thereafter on December 10, 2022, the respondents secured a lease for a residence in Princeton which placed the family back in the District (P-2).

[1] A.V. is the mother and R.C. is the father. R.C. did not participate in initial matters and on two occasions made inquiries to the Tribunal as to the status of this matter.

[2] This action was filed by the Board subsequent to two actions filed by the parents captioned: A.V. and R.C. on behalf of A.V. v. Princeton Public Schools Board of Education (OAL Dkt. No. EDS 03637-22) and A.V. and R.C. on behalf of D.V.C. v. Princeton Public Schools Board of Education (OAL Dkt. No. EDS 03638-22).

Respondents did not file a challenge to that finding.

Several telephone conferences were conducted and a briefing schedule for a motion for summary decision was set. The petitioner filed a motion for summary decision on June 14, 2024. Respondents did not file opposition to the summary decision motion at the time it was due nor was anything sent up to the date of the July 15, 2024,oral argument on the motion.

FACTUAL DISCUSSIONS AND FINDINGS

The majority of the facts are not in dispute, and I FIND the following as FACT:

1. On October 8, 2021, the respondents informed the District that they had been rendered homeless by damage to their home in Princeton Boro which was caused by Hurricane Ida. As a result of this damage the children will need to be picked up and dropped off at 1---5 E--- R--- Drive in Lawrenceville, NJ (P-7).

2. On November 11, 2021, the District began transporting A.V.C. and D.V.C. from Lawrenceville to Princeton (P-7).

3. On October 25, 2022, the District wrote to respondents informing them that they are not homeless under the definition of homelessness and asking them to enroll in the Lawrenceville school district for the term commencing January 2023. This letter also informed respondents how to proceed if they disagreed with this determination stating, "If you dispute this determination, pursuant to N.J.A.C. §6A:17-2.7(a), please immediately notify the executive county superintendent (ECS), Daryl Minus-Vincent, at the Mercer County Office of Education, 1075 Old Trenton Road, Trenton, NJ 08690 or you can notify Micki Crisafulli who will notify Mr. Minus-Vincent on your behalf." (R-6).

4. On November 4, 2022, the respondents emailed the ECS, with Board members copied, stating that their home in Princeton was rendered uninhabitable and they were homeless. At this time respondent A.V. was living in a three-bedroom townhouse with her two children "As such, I continue to be a Princeton taxpayer, and my special needs children will continue to attend their school in Princeton, NJ. They also love their fantastic and caring teachers, case manager, and principal. It is beyond appalling that Ms. Crisafulli, the director of special services, would send a letter seeking my children with multiple needs and diagnoses, two of which are autism and anxiety, to be removed from the district mid-year. Especially the timing of which is right before a settlement hearing regarding a previous legal matter." (R-5).

5. On November 7, 2022, the District wrote to ECS explaining the facts that were revealed on its investigation of respondents' residency (R-4).

6. On November 15, 2022, the ECS sent to the District and the respondents their finding that the family is not homeless and has not been for more than a year. This included information on how to appeal the decision stating "The family has secured a housing lease in a neighboring town and has been residing there for more than a year. (N.J.A.C. 6A:17-2.2). The family is in a fixed, regular, and adequate nighttime residence. (42 U.S. Code § 11302). This determination may be appealed to the Commissioner of Education, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:17-2.7, Disputes and Appeals." (R-1).

7. On December 10, 2022. the respondents were able to secure a lease for residence in Princeton which began on December 10, 2022. Based on this action, the District did not seek to remove respondents' children from the District (R-2).

8. On February 28, 2023, the District wrote to respondents requesting tuition reimbursement for the time that respondents' children were attending the District while residing in a fixed, regular, and adequate three-bedroom townhouse in Lawrenceville (R-3).

9. On or about April 1, 2023, the District filed Bd. of Educ. of the Town of Princeton, Mercer Cnty. v. A.V. and R.C. obo A.V.C. and D.V.C., Agency Ref. No 71-3/23 to recover tuition.

10. As of May 25, 2024, no appeal of the November 15, 2022, ECS decision was filed with ECS or the District.

11. As of May 25, 2024, it has been 559 days and 379 business days since the ECS decision.

12. As of the date of the hearing respondents filed no written information to the Court refuting the position of the District.

13. Oral argument on the motion for summary decision was scheduled for July 15, 2024, at 4:00 p.m.

14. On the date of the hearing counsel for respondents did not appear for the scheduled zoom hearing. I personally sent an email to counsel for respondents at 4:07 p.m. stating that I was waiting for him to appear.

    a. At 4:20 p.m. I received the following message:

       On behalf of Mr. Kaplow:
       Mr. Kaplow is at the doctors.
       Thank you.
       Leslie Peckham
       Paralegal to Richard J. Kaplow, Esq.

    b. At 4:27 p.m. I received the following message from a judicial assistant:

> Petitioner (Ms. V.) just called to advise that her attorney (Mr. Kaplow) called to advise her that he was still at the doctors and not making the hearing today at 4:00 p.m.

15. I did not hear from him on that date, nor did I hear from him within several days after the scheduled hearing as to why he did not appear.

16. At no time subsequent to the hearing date did I receive any correspondence or documents regarding respondents' position on the motion.

It is unchallenged that during the 2022-2023 school year, A.V.C. and D.V.C. were attending Princeton Public Schools and living in Lawrenceville for a total of sixty-three ineligible days between September 6 (the first day of school) and December 10, 2022 (the day the lease in Princeton began). Tuition for elementary students is $22,570 per student which is just over $125.38 per day. For each student, Princeton Public Schools is owed $7,898.94 in tuition for a total of $15,797.88 for the 2022- 2023 school year. Additionally, A.V.C. and D.V.C. were attending Princeton Public Schools for a total of 146 ineligible days from October 28, 2021 (the day respondents informed the District they were living in Lawrenceville and would need transportation) to June 20, 2022 (the last day of school). During the 2021-2022 school year, tuition for elementary students was $19,400 per year or approximately $107.77/day. For each student, Princeton Public Schools is owed 15,734.42 for a total of $31,468.84 for the 2021-2022 school year. Altogether, the total amount due and owing is 47,266.72.

Additionally, I FIND as fact that A.V.C. and D.V.C. were not residents within the purview of the Princeton Boro Board of Education between the period October 8, 2021 to December 10, 2022.

I further FIND as fact that the tuition rate for the District is detailed above resulting in a total amount due and owing of $47,266.72.

LEGAL ANALYSIS AND CONCLUSIONS

A motion for summary decision shall be granted "if the papers and discovery which have been filed, together with the affidavits, if any, show that there is no genuine issue as to any material fact challenged and that the moving party is entitled to prevail as a matter of law." N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(b).

A determination whether a genuine issue of material fact exists that precludes summary decision requires the judge to consider whether the competent evidential materials presented, when viewed in the light most favorable to the non-moving party, are sufficient to permit a rational fact finder to resolve the alleged disputed issue in favor of the non-moving party. Brill v. Guardian Life Ins. Co. of Am., 142 N.J. 520, 540 (1995). The "judge's function is not himself [or herself] to weigh the evidence and determine the truth of the matter but to determine whether there is a genuine issue for trial." Id. (citing Anderson v. Liberty Lobby, 477 U.S. 242, 249 (1986)). When the evidence "is so one-sided that one party must prevail as a matter of law," the trial court should not hesitate to grant summary judgment. Liberty Lobby, 477 U.S. at 252. The evidence in this case is one-sided as counsel for respondents deemed not to submit any documentation challenging petitioner's position nor to appear at oral argument on the motion. As such I CONCLUDE that this matter is ripe for summary decision.

The issue in this appeal is whether A.V.C. and D.V.C. had been domiciled in the District during the period October 8, 2021 to December 10, 2022, and, if not, is tuition owed to petitioner for education expenses for that period?

Public schools are required to provide a free education to individuals between the ages of five and twenty years in certain circumstances, including individuals who are domiciled within the school district. N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(a). Domicile has been defined as the place where a person has his true, fixed, permanent home and principal establishment, and to which whenever he is absent, he has the intention of returning.

State v. Benny, 20 N.J. 238, 250 (1955). N.J.A.C. 6A:22-3.1(a)(1) provides: "A student is domiciled in the school district when he or she is the child of a parent or guardian whose domicile is located within the school district." See also P.B.K. ex rel. minor child E.Y. v. Bd. of Educ. of Tenafly, 343 N.J. Super. 419, 427 (App. Div. 2001). Thus, a child would routinely attend school in the district where his or her parents live. The petitioner has the burden of proof in a determination of residency eligibility. N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(b)(2). When a child is found to be ineligible to attend a school in its district, a school board is entitled to recover tuition from the parent or guardian of the child found ineligible to attend within the district. N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(b)(2).

A review of the record and undisputed (as unchallenged) facts reveals that A.V.C. and D.V.C. :

1. Were not domiciled within the District or living with a parent or guardian whose domicile was located within the District (while attending school there) during the period October 8, 2021 to December 10, 2022;

2. Were not eligible for a free education in the District during that period;

3. Were not eligible to attend the District pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(b)(1); and

4. Were not eligible for a free education in the District because they were not homeless having produced a lease for a residence in Lawrenceville.

Accordingly, respondents owe the District reimbursement of tuition for the period from October 8, 2021 to December 10, 2022.

Thus, it is unchallenged that respondents' family was domiciled outside of the District in Lawrenceville from October 8, 2021 to December 10, 2022. Accordingly, I CONCLUDE that the petitioner is entitled to summary decision and that A.V.C. and D.V.C.

were not entitled to attend school in the District and receive a free public education there pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(a) for the period October 8, 2021 to December 10, 2022.

I further CONCLUDE that because A.V.C. and D.V.C. were not entitled to receive a free public education in the District for the period October 8, 2021 to December 10, 2022, the petitioner is entitled to tuition reimbursement from respondents resulting in a total amount owed of $47,266.72. Therefore, I CONCLUDE that petitioner is entitled to summary decision on its motion for summary decision for tuition reimbursement from respondents for the cost of providing an education to A.V.C. and D.V.C. at the daily per pupil rate of $125.38 per day in the 2022-2023 school year and $107.77 in the 2021-2022 school year. For each student, Princeton Public Schools is owed 15,734.42 for a total of $31,468.84 for the 2021-2022 school year and the Board is owed $7,898.94 in tuition for a total of $15,797.88 for the 2022- 2023 school year. Altogether, the total amount due and owing is 47,266.72.

ORDER

Based upon the foregoing, it is hereby ORDERED that petitioner's motion for summary decision is GRANTED.

It is further ORDERED that the total amount due and owing to petitioner by respondents is $47,266.72 representing payment for educational services rendered from October 8, 2021 to December 10, 2022.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the ACTING COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified, or rejected by the ACTING COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Acting Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify, or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the ACTING COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION. Exceptions may be filed by email to ControversiesDisputesFilings@doe.nj.gov or by mail to Office of Controversies and Disputes, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500. ROBERT DONZA, Petitioner, v. JEFFERSON TOWNSHIP BOARD OF EDUCATION, Respondent.	STATE OF NEW JERSEY OFFICE OF CONTROVERSIES & DISPUTES OAL Dkt. No: EDU 05140-23 Agency Dkt. No. 119-5/23 GLOBAL SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT & MUTUAL RELEASE

This Global Settlement Agreement and Mutual Release ("Agreement") is entered into by and between Robert Donza ("Petitioner") and the Jefferson Township Board of Education ("Board" or "Respondent"), having principal offices at 31 NJ-181, Lake Hopatcong, NJ 07849 (the Board and Petitioner are collectively referred to as the "Parties").

WHEREAS, Petitioner was employed as a full-time bus driver for the Board on February 28, 2022; and

WHEREAS, a criminal complaint was filed against Petitioner for allegedly harassing a co-worker while at work on or about February 28, 2022; and

WHEREAS, the criminal complaint was dismissed by the Township of Jefferson Municipal Court on August 15, 2022; and

WHEREAS, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:16-6.1, whenever a criminal complaint is filed against an employee for any act or omission arising out of and in the course of the performance of the duties of such position and should such proceeding be dismissed or result in a final disposition in favor of the employee, the board shall reimburse the employee for the cost of defending such proceeding, including reasonable counsel fees and expenses of the original hearing or trial and all appeals; and

WHEREAS, after the dismissal of the criminal proceeding, the Petitioner filed a Petition seeking reimbursement of legal fees; and

WHEREAS, the Respondent has filed an Answer to Petition, denying the duty to reimburse Petitioner's legal fees on the basis that the criminal complaint filed against Petitioner was not for acts or omissions "arising out of and in the course of the performance of the duties" of his position; and

WHEREAS, without any admissions, the Parties have come to an amicable resolution for the dismissal with prejudice of all claims asserted in this matter and wish to set forth the terms of such agreement herein;

NOW, THEREFORE, in consideration of the mutual promises contained herein and for other good and valuable consideration, the receipt and sufficiency of which is hereby acknowledged, the Parties hereby memorialize the terms and conditions of their agreement in writing, subject to the approval of the Commissioner of Education, as follows:

1. In full and final resolution of all claims, Respondent will deliver the sum of Six Thousand, Five Hundred Dollars ($6,500.00) (hereinafter "Settlement Sum") by check made payable to "Caruso Smith Picini Attorney Trust Account" within thirty (30) days of the Commissioner of Education's approval of this Agreement. The Settlement Sum will be delivered to counsel for Petitioner, Annette Verdesco, Esq., Caruso Smith Picini, P.C., 60 Route 46 East, Fairfield, New Jersey 07004.

2. In consideration of the terms of this Agreement, Petitioner and the Board hereby waive, release and indemnify each other, including each other's respective agents, representatives, members, employees and volunteers, from all possible claims, that have or may have accrued against the other and which arose out of and/or relate to the Parties' employment relationship, status and/or cessation of the employment relationship. This Mutual Release includes, but is not limited to, claims arising under the New Jersey school laws, including but not limited to N.J.S.A. 18A:16-6 and 6.1, New Jersey Conscientious Employee Protection Act, New Jersey Law Against Discrimination, Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, the Civil Rights Act of 1866, the Civil Rights Act of 1991, the federal Age Discrimination in Employment Act of 1967 ("ADEA"), the Older Workers Benefit Protection Act ("OWBPA"), the federal Equal Pay Act, the New Jersey Wage & Hour Law, the United States Constitution, the New Jersey State Constitution, the federal Americans with Disabilities Act, the Families First Coronavirus Response Act, the Family and Medical Leave Act, New Jersey Family Leave Act, the New Jersey Earned Sick Leave Law, the Equal Pay Law, the Equal Rights Act, any other federal, state or local law or ordinances, and/or any common law claims under tort, contract (including any collective bargaining agreement she was subject to or part of) or any other theories now or hereafter recognized.

3. The Release recited in Paragraph 2 shall include any and all claims which Mr. Donza and the Board may have at the time of the execution of this Settlement Agreement and Mutual Release for any type of damages and/or relief cognizable under any of the laws referenced herein, including, but not limited to, any and all claims for wages, compensatory damages, punitive damages, and/or attorneys' fees.

4. Upon Commissioner of Education approval, this action shall be conclusively resolved and dismissed with prejudice. Approval of this Agreement and the dismissal of this action, shall not preclude Petitioner or Respondent from suing for enforcement or for a violation of this Agreement.

5. Petitioner acknowledges that he has had the opportunity to review this Agreement in detail with an Attorney. Petitioner fully understand its requirements and limitations. Petitioner hereby states that he is signing this Agreement voluntarily, of his own free will, and not under duress or coercion of any kind.

6. This Agreement shall be construed fairly according to the plain language of its terms and not for or against any party hereto.

7. All parties are bound by this Agreement and each of its provisions. Anyone who succeeds their rights and responsibilities, such as their successors and assigns are also bound. This Agreement is made for the benefit of all parties hereto and all who succeed to their rights and responsibilities, and expressly includes their officials, representatives, employees, agents, attorneys, successors or assigns.

8. This Agreement is to be kept confidential by both parties to the maximum extent permitted by Law.

9. This Agreement represents the entire Agreement between the Parties and will not be modified in whole or in part except by a mutual subsequent written and signed agreement.

10. This Agreement is governed by the laws of the State of New Jersey. The Parties agree that the courts of the State of New Jersey in Morris County or the Federal District Court of New Jersey in Newark, New Jersey shall be the sole forum in which any legal action concerning or relating to this Agreement shall be brought.

11. In the event that any provision of this Agreement is held to be void or unenforceable by any court or regulatory authority having jurisdiction thereof, such ruling will not affect the validity of this Agreement; the remaining provisions shall continue to be in full force and effect.

12. This Agreement may be executed in one or more original, emailed or telecopied counterparts, all of which together shall be one instrument, and all of which shall be considered duplicate originals.

13. This Agreement is conditioned upon and subject to the review and approval of an Administrative Law Judge, Commissioner of Education and the Jefferson Township Board of Education.

The parties hereby acknowledge their agreement to the terms set forth above by signing below.

New Jersey Commissioner of Education

Final Decision

R.F., on behalf of minor child, O.F.,

Petitioner,

v.

Board of Education of the Township of Montclair, Essex County,

Respondent.

Synopsis

Petitioner appealed the finding of the respondent Board that his son, O.F., was not the victim of harassment, intimidation, and bullying (HIB) pursuant to the Anti-Bullying Bill of Rights Act (Act), N.J.S.A. 18A:37-13 et seq. Petitioner alleged, inter alia, that his fifth-grade child had been the target of a series of incidents in which O.F. was taunted and kicked by classmates. The Board moved for summary decision, arguing that these incidents were unsubstantiated and did not constitute HIB as defined within the Act. The parties filed a Joint Stipulation of Facts and Joint Exhibits. The petitioner opposed the motion, asserting that the Board's determination that there was no HIB was arbitrary, capricious and unreasonable; further, the petitioner claimed that the Board's HIB investigation was not conducted in a timely manner.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: there are no material facts at issue in this case, and the matter is ripe for summary decision; none of the requisite statutory elements of HIB, codified at N.J.S.A. 18A:37-14, were satisfied in this matter because the alleged misconduct was unsubstantiated; the Board conducted a prompt and thorough investigation in compliance with the Act's procedural requirements; and petitioner's claims related to other HIB matters that occurred after the primary incident at issue in this case, as well as his related theories regarding retaliation by the Board, are beyond the scope of the matter herein. The ALJ concluded that the Board's determination that no HIB incident occurred was not arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable. Accordingly, the Board's motion for summary decision was granted and the petition was dismissed with prejudice.

Upon review, the Commissioner, inter alia, agreed with the ALJ that the Board's determination was not arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable. However, the Commissioner rejected the ALJ's finding that the Board fully complied with the Act's procedural requirements, as the evidence demonstrates that the statutory timeframes set forth at N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(b)(6) were not strictly adhered to by the Board. But both the petitioner and the Board contributed to the delays, which alone do not render the Board's determination arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable. Accordingly, the Initial Decision of the OAL was adopted as modified herein.

New Jersey Commissioner of Education

Final Decision

R.F., on behalf of minor child, O.F.,

Petitioner,

v.

Board of Education of the Township of Montclair, Essex County,

Respondent.

The record of this matter, the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), the exceptions filed by petitioner, R.F., pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4, and the reply filed by respondent, Board of Education of the Township of Montclair (Board), have been reviewed and considered.

Petitioner challenges the Board's determination that an alleged series of incidents during which his minor child was taunted and kicked in his private area was unsubstantiated and did not constitute harassment, intimidation, or bullying (HIB) as defined within the Anti-Bullying Bill of Rights Act (the Act), N.J.S.A. 18A:37-13 to -32. After the matter was transmitted to the OAL, the Board moved for summary decision. The parties filed a Joint Stipulation of Facts and Joint Exhibits. Petitioner opposed the motion for summary decision by expressing disagreement with the Board's conclusion that no HIB incident occurred and claiming that it was arbitrary and capricious. Petitioner also asserted that the Board's HIB investigation was not conducted in a timely manner. Additionally, petitioner argued that the ALJ should consider the Board's retaliatory and improper motives, raised in a separate HIB matter then pending before a different ALJ, and should allow that ALJ to determine the issue of retaliation prior to resolution of the instant matter.

Upon finding that the material facts were undisputed, the ALJ determined that the matter was ripe for summary decision. The ALJ concluded that the Board's determination that no HIB incident occurred was not arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable. In so doing, the ALJ agreed with the Board that none of the requisite statutory elements of HIB, codified at N.J.S.A. 18A:37-14, were satisfied because the alleged misconduct was unsubstantiated. The ALJ further found that the Board conducted a prompt and thorough investigation in compliance with the Act's procedural requirements. Finally, the ALJ rejected as beyond the scope of the record petitioner's claims related to other HIB matters that occurred after the incident at issue in this case and his related theories regarding retaliation by the Board.

In his exceptions, petitioner argues that all three elements of the HIB statute have been satisfied and that any credibility issues regarding the reported HIB incident should be resolved through a trial. He contends that the HIB incident in this case was motivated by O.F.'s perceived gender; that O.F.'s rights were substantially interfered with as he was physically assaulted at school, which impeded his ability to safely learn; and that a reasonable person should know that assaults on a child's genitals are physically or emotionally harmful to a student. He also asserts that the ALJ erred by ruling that the Board's determination is entitled to a presumption of correctness despite evidence demonstrating that he was subject to unlawful retaliation by the Board. In response, the Board requests that the Commissioner adopt the ALJ's Initial Decision and dismiss the petition. It argues that the ALJ's Initial Decision is supported by the appropriate record, which was agreed upon by the parties, and well-established case law.

Upon review, the Commissioner adopts the ALJ's Initial Decision as the final decision in this matter, as modified. While the Commissioner agrees that the Board's determination was not arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable, the Commissioner rejects the ALJ's finding that the Board fully complied with the Act's procedural requirements. The evidence in the record demonstrates that the statutory timeframes set forth at N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(b)(6) were not strictly adhered to by the Board. However, both petitioner and the Board contributed to the delays, and the delays alone do not render the Board's determination arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable, for the reasons explained herein. In addition, the Commissioner finds that the ALJ properly rejected as beyond the scope of this proceeding petitioner's claims related to other HIB matters that occurred after the incident at issue in this case and his related theories regarding retaliation by the Board.

When a local board of education acts within its discretionary authority, its decision is entitled to a presumption of correctness and will not be disturbed unless there is an affirmative showing that the decision was "patently arbitrary, without rational basis or induced by improper motives." Kopera v. Bd. of Educ. of W. Orange, 60 N.J. Super. 288, 294 (App. Div. 1960). Furthermore, "where there is room for two opinions, action is not arbitrary or capricious when exercised honestly and upon due consideration," and the Commissioner will not substitute his judgment for that of the board. Bayshore Sewerage Co. v. Dep't of Env't Prot., 122 N.J. Super. 184, 199 (Ch. Div. 1973), aff'd, 131 N.J. Super. 37 (App. Div. 1974). Regarding HIB determinations, this standard has been explained as requiring a petitioner to "demonstrate that the Board acted in bad faith, or in utter disregard of the circumstances before it." G.H. and E.H. o/b/o K.H. v. Bd. of Educ. of Borough of Franklin Lakes, Bergen Cnty., OAL Dkt. No. EDU 13204-13 (Initial Decision Feb. 24, 2014), adopted, Commissioner Decision No. 157-14 (Apr. 10, 2014).

As discussed in the ALJ's Initial Decision, the Act defines HIB as:

> [A]ny gesture, any written, verbal or physical act, or any electronic communication, whether it be a single incident or a series of incidents, that is reasonably perceived as being motivated either by any actual or perceived characteristic, such as race, color, religion, ancestry, national origin, gender, sexual orientation, gender identity and expression, or a mental, physical or sensory disability, or by any other distinguishing characteristic, that takes place on school property, at any school-sponsored function, on a school bus, or off school grounds as provided for in section 16 of P.L. 2010, c.122 (C.18A:37-15.3), that substantially disrupts or interferes with the orderly operation of the school or the rights of other students and that:
> a. a reasonable person should know, under the circumstances, will have the effect of physically or emotionally harming a student or damaging the student's property, or placing a student in reasonable fear of physical or emotional harm to his person or damage to his property;
>
> b. has the effect of insulting or demeaning any student or group of students; or
> c. creates a hostile educational environment for the student by interfering with a student's education or by severely or pervasively causing physical or emotional harm to the student.

In summary, once the alleged written, verbal, or physical act, or any electronic communication is substantiated, a finding of HIB requires that three elements under the Act be satisfied. First, the substantiated conduct must be reasonably perceived as being motivated by any actual or perceived characteristic expressly identified in the statute, or by any other distinguishing characteristic. Ibid. Second, the conduct must substantially disrupt or interfere with the rights of other students or the orderly operation of the school. Ibid. Third, one of the three conditions set forth in subsections (a), (b), and (c) must be satisfied. Ibid.; Wehbeh v. Bd. of Educ. of the Twp. of Verona, Essex Cnty., Commissioner Decision No. 510-20 (Feb. 4, 2020).

Here, the Board could not substantiate that any verbal or physical act occurred in the school bathroom, nor could it substantiate that O.F. was ever physically assaulted by the alleged offenders. Because the alleged acts could not be substantiated, it was not arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable for the Board to conclude that no HIB incident occurred. The record reflects that the Board's investigation was sufficiently thorough. The anti-bullying specialist (ABS) interviewed O.F. and the alleged offenders multiple times, and reopened the investigation after petitioner provided new information. The alleged offenders denied that they ever kicked O.F., and they denied playing a "husband and wife game" involving taunts or a song. The ABS determined that no one witnessed the alleged incidents. However, the ABS recognized that a social conflict existed between the boys—likely due to O.F. being new to the school. Administrators implemented mediation sessions and a safety plan so that O.F. could utilize a private bathroom near the nurse and main office.

Because the Board determined that the alleged acts could not be substantiated, it is not possible for any of the three requisite elements of the HIB statute to be satisfied. Even if the Commissioner would have decided the outcome differently, that is an insufficient reason to overturn the Board's decision so long as the Board has not acted dishonestly or in bad faith. Bayshore Sewerage Co., 122 N.J. Super. at 199. Here, the record fails to support the conclusion that the Board acted dishonestly or in bad faith. The Board was confronted with a difficult situation wherein the alleged offenders denied that the incidents took place and no witnesses were identified. Thus, the Commissioner finds no reason to substitute his judgment for the Board's and concurs with the ALJ that the Board's determination declining to find that a HIB incident occurred as defined under the Act was not arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable.

However, the Commissioner agrees with petitioner that the Board did not strictly adhere to the statutory timeframe mandated by the Act when conducting its HIB investigation. For instance, the Act requires that HIB investigations be completed within 10 school days of the initial HIB complaint. N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(b)(6)(a). The results of the investigation must be reported to the school superintendent within two school days thereafter, and then to the Board no later than the date of its next meeting. N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(b)(6)(b), (c). After the results of the investigation are reported to the Board, parents shall be notified in writing of the outcome within 5 school days. N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(b)(6)(d). If a parent requests a hearing before the Board upon receiving the results of the investigation, then that hearing must be held within 10 days of the request. Ibid.

In this case, petitioner reported the initial allegations to O.F.'s teacher on October 11, 2022, and the ABS began investigating the following day. Petitioner made additional reports on October 15, 2022, filed a formal HIB complaint on October 20, 2022, and the ABS continued investigating during this time. The ABS finalized the investigation on November 1, 2022, which was more than 10 school days following the initial report to O.F.'s teacher. However, the investigation was finalized within 10 school days of petitioner's filing of the formal HIB complaint. Because petitioner continued to email district staff about the allegations and criticized the nature of the Board's investigation, the Board appropriately reopened the investigation on November 22, 2022, and concluded it for the second time on November 28, 2022.

While the Board hearing was not held within 10 days of petitioner's request, both petitioner and the Board contributed to the delay. Petitioner retained counsel and requested discovery, which the Board provided. The Board retained an independent investigator and considered reopening the HIB investigation again, but ultimately declined to do so based upon petitioner's objection to same. These events resulted in adjournment of the hearing. The Commissioner finds that although the Board did not precisely adhere to the Act's mandated timeframes, it acted reasonably under the circumstances in the interest of conducting a thorough investigation and the delays did not interfere with the due process rights of O.F. or petitioner, who presented testimony and other evidence at the Board hearing. The Board is reminded to adhere to the Act's timeframes in the future.

Finally, the Commissioner agrees with the ALJ that petitioner's claims related to other HIB matters that occurred after the alleged conduct in this case, and his related theories regarding retaliation by the Board, were beyond the scope of this proceeding and properly rejected. The subsequent petitions of appeal filed and pending before other ALJs have no bearing upon the legal issue in this case, i.e., whether the Board's determination that no HIB occurred in relation to the incidents reported on October 11, 2022, and reiterated in the formal HIB complaint filed on October 20, 2022, was arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable. There was no need for the ALJ to delay adjudication of this matter until the other pending matters were decided.

Accordingly, the Initial Decision, as modified, is adopted as the Final Decision in this matter, and the petition of appeal is hereby dismissed.

IT IS SO ORDERED.[1]

BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE TOWNSHIP OF MONTCLAIR, ESSEX COUNTY,
Respondent.

R.F., on behalf of O.F. petitioner, pro se

Alexander L. D'Jamoos, Esq., for respondent (Flanagan, Barone & O'Brien, LLC., attorneys)

Record Closed: August 19, 2024 Decided: September 4, 2024

BEFORE THOMAS R. BETANCOURT, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Petitioner filed a pro se petition of appeal with the Office of Controversies and Disputes, New Jersey Department of Education (NJDOE) challenging a Harassment, Intimidation and Bullying (HIB) determination by the respondent District regarding O.F.

Said petition was dated May 30, 2023. Said petition seeks the reversal of a non-HIB finding by the Respondent District regarding Case No. 140-101122-012(A)(B).

Petitioner then submitted a supplemental filing on July 13, 2023, regarding another HIB matter involving O.M. (Case No. 066) which is not before the undersigned.

Petitioner submitted another supplemental filing on August 7, 2023, in response to Respondent's Answer.[1]

Respondent filed its Amended Answer with the Commissioner on September 14, 2023. Petitioner filed a response thereto dated the same date.

The Department of Education transmitted the contested case pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to 15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14f-1 TO 13, to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), where it was filed on September 18, 2023.

A prehearing conference was held on October 13, 2023, and a prehearing order was entered by the undersigned on October 16, 2023.

A motion to quash, dated March 20, 2024, was filed on behalf of a third party, J.K. on behalf of minor B.K. to quash a subpoena for B.K. to testify at the hearing for the within matter.

Respondent, who issued the subpoena to B.K., agreed by letter dated March 22, 2024, to accept the certification of B.K. in lieu of testimony.

Respondent, by motion dated April 12, 2024, sought to bar the testimony of Carlos Mora, M.D., or in the alternative to compel Dr. Mora to provide his medical records relative to O.F.

[1] Respondent's initial Answer to the Petition of Appeal was not included in the transmittal of this matter to the OAL.

Petitioner filed a reply letter brief, dated April 2, 2024, in opposition to Respondent's motion.

The genesis of the motion by Respondent to bar Dr. Mora's testimony, or in the alternative to compel Dr. Mora to produce his records, lies in a letter by Dr. Mora to Respondent's counsel, dated March 6, 2024, that he would not comply with a subpoena to produce his records.

By Order dated July 24, 2024, the motion to bar Dr. Mora's testimony was granted, and the motion to quash was deemed moot as the Respondent agreed to accept the affidavit of B.K. in lieu of testimony.

Respondent filed a motion for summary decision on July 19, 2024. Petitioner filed his response thereto on August 9, 2024. Respondent filed its reply thereto on August 19, 2024. Petitioner then submitted a sur reply and a brief filed in another HIB matter, EDU 01408-24, before the Honorable Patrice E. Hobbs, ALJ. Petitioner was advised that these additional filings would not be considered as they are not permitted pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5.

ISSUE

Petitioner seeks a reversal of a non-HIB finding by the Respondent Board regarding an allegation of HIB by R.F. on behalf of O.F. asserting that said decision was arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable.

JOINT STIPULATION OF FACTS

Introduction to the Parties and Witnesses

1. Respondent Montclair Board of Education is the public school district for the City of Montclair, New Jersey, with its central administrative offices located at 22 Valley Rd., Montclair, NJ, 07042.

14. O.F. was home schooled during the 2020 – 2022 period. (See Joint Ex. 3: 9/9/21 letter to R.F. from Asst. Superintendent of Montclair Public Schools confirming continued home schooling of O.F. for 2021-2022 school year.)

15. Petitioners R.F. and M.H.A. are O.F.'s parents/guardians, his father and mother, respectively.

16. During the 2022-2023 school year, B.K. and B.M., were also Fifth Grade students attending Northeast Elementary School and assigned to Ms. McCann's home room. Alleged Bullying Incident and Investigations

17. On October 11, 2022, R.F. sent an email to Ms. McCann to report that "O.F. had a problem today with Bodi and Benedict, who he said were looking at his private parts and taunting him when he was peeing in the bathroom causing him to rush to close his zipper and ended up peeing on his pants." "O.F. also said they kicked him from behind and said it was the second time this has happened." (Joint Ex. 5, 10/11/22 email exchange between R.F. and Ms. Kristen McCann.)

18. Ms. McCann forwarded this email to the school principal Dr. Somerville and responded to R.F. within 30 minutes of this report. (Joint Ex. 5).

19. On October 12, 2022, R.F. sent an email to Ms. Kupperman to follow up on the report to Ms. McCann. (Joint Ex. 6, 10/12/22 email exchange between R.F. and Ms. Danielle Kupperman re: "O.F. 5th Grade").

20. On October 12, Ms. Kupperman met with O.F. who advised her of playground incident with B.M. and bathroom incident with B.K., which he had not reported to an adult.

21. On October 14, Principal Somerville met with O.F., B.M. and B.K. to work on resolving the issue through mediation.

22. On Saturday, October 15, R.F. sent an email reporting an allegation that "these incidents with being beat up and kicked in his private parts happened, according to him, over 20 times." The allegations include other sexually explicit language, teasing and harassment. (Joint Ex. 8, 10/12/22 – 10/18/22 R.F. email exchange between R.F., Principal Terrance Somerville and Ms. Danielle Kupperman re: "O.F. 5th Grade").

23. On October 18 and 19, Ms. Kupperman met with O.F. to investigate the allegations made in R.F.'s October 15 email. (Ex. 9, 10/18/22 & 10/19/22 handwritten notes of Ms. Danielle Kupperman).

24. On October 19, Principal Somerville and R.F. spoke on the phone confirming that HIB procedures will be initiated and to discuss what is being done to keep O.F. safe at school. (Ex. 10, 10/19/22 R.F. email to Terence Somerville re: "Concern"; Ex. 11, 10/19/22 R.F. emails with T. Somerville & D. Kupperman re: "O.F. (bullying)").

25. On October 19 at approximately 10 PM, R.F. advises of O.F.'s stress, request that he not be pulled out of class, and demand that the accused students apologize. (Ex. 12, 10/20/22 R.F. emails with T. Somerville & D. Kupperman re: "O.F. (bullying)").

26. On October 20 at approximately 11:30 PM, R.F. files the HIB Form 338 on behalf of O.F. against 2-3 students alleging that O.F. has been tormented and assaulted since the first week of school because "they do not like it that he answers questions in class or is good at math and science and because they know he was National Math Kangaroo champion two years in a row." The allegations include other sexually explicit language, teasing and harassment. (Ex. 14, HIB 338 Form completed by D.Kupperman).

27. On Friday, October 21, Ms. Kupperman met with B.K. to investigate the allegations in the HIB complaint.

28. On Friday, October 21 at approximately 11 PM, R.F. sent an email reporting that O.F. broke down in frustration, a discussion between Ms. Kupperman and M.H.A. at pick up after school, and allegations that O.F. continues to be emotionally harmed through a hostile educational environment by unidentified boys in his class. (Ex. 15, 10/20/22 – 10/21/220 emails re: O.F. HIB Form 338).

29. On October 24, R.F. sent an email providing additional detail to the allegations of bullying during the first three weeks of school. (Ex. 20, 10/20/22 – 11/15/22 R.F. email exchange with T. Somerville & D. Kupperman re: "O.F. HIB Form 338 O.F.").

30. On Tuesday, October 25, Ms. Dock and Ms. Kupperman continued the investigation of the HIB complaint by interviewing B.K. and B.M. (Ex. 17, 10/21/22 – 11/22/22 Investigation Notes of D. Kupperman).

31. On October 26, R.F. sent an email demanding that the accused students apologize to O.F.. (Ex. 20, 10/20/22 – 11/15/22 R.F. email exchange with T. Somerville & D. Kupperman re: "O.F. HIB Form 338 O.F.").

32. On October 27, R.F. sent an email confirming that the accused students apologized to O.F. (Ex. 20, 10/20/22 – 11/15/22 R.F. email exchange with T. Somerville & D. Kupperman re: "O.F. HIB Form 338 O.F.").

33. On November 1, 2022, Ms. Kupperman had completed the HIB investigation report and it was signed by Dr. Somerville. (Ex. 19, 10/26/2022 Genesis Portal and 11/1/22 Confidential HIB Investigation Report).

34. On November 7, R.F. sent an email advising of O.F.'s limp, subjecting complaints of pain, and referral to a psychiatrist. (Ex. 20, 10/20/22 – 11/15/22 R.F. email exchange with T. Somerville & D. Kupperman re: "O.F. HIB Form 338 O.F.").

35. On November 7, R.F. sent an email reported another incident in the bathroom when a 4th Grade student peeped into the stall while O.F. was urinating. R.F. demanded another HIB investigation. (Ex. 20, 10/20/22 – 11/15/22 R.F. email exchange with T. Somerville & D. Kupperman re: "O.F. HIB Form 338 O.F.").

36. On November 7 and 14, R.F. and Dr. Somerville correspond to schedule an in person meeting. (Ex. 20, 10/20/22 – 11/15/22 R.F. email exchange with T. Somerville & D. Kupperman re: "O.F. HIB Form 338 O.F.").

37. On November 15, R.F. and M.H.A. meet with Dr. Somerville. (Ex. 20, 10/20/22 – 11/15/22 R.F. email exchange with T. Somerville & D. Kupperman re: "O.F. HIB Form 338 O.F.").

38. On November 15 at 9:24 PM, R.F. sends an email criticizing the investigation, attaching O.F.'s hand written notes, and demanding an appeal. (Ex. 20, 10/20/22 – 11/15/22 R.F. email exchange with T. Somerville & D. Kupperman re: "O.F. HIB Form 338 O.F.").

39. On November 15 and 16, R.F. exchanges emails with Ms. Dock demanding the results of the investigation. (Ex. 22, 11/15/22 email from Maggie Dock to T. Somerville re: "HIB IMPORTANT" and 11/15/22 – 11/16/22 email exchange between R.F., Maggie Dock, D. Kupperman, and T. Somerville re: "Northeast Meeting Questions.")

40. On November 17, R.F. participated in a phone call with Ms. Dock adding allegations of race and gender expression discrimination. (Ex. 23, 11/17/22 – M. Dock notes re: 012-Re-opened / phone contact to father R.F.).

41. On November 22, Ms. Kupperman and Ms. Dock interview O.F. to conduct the re-opened investigation. (Ex. 27, 11/22/22 – Investigation Notes of D. Kupperman).

42. On November 22, O.F. was seen at the Nurse's Office for evaluation of a purported injury to his wrist. (Ex 25, 11/22/22 Nurse visit, Nurse Turnstile Records, O.F. Attendance Calendar).

43. On November 22, R.F.'s email speculating about the potential discrimination theories under which O.F.'s alleged bullying could have been motivated. (Ex. 24, 11/15/22 – 11/22/22 email re: Case Reopened NE O.F.).

44. On November 28, 2022, Ms. Dock had completed the HIB Investigation Report of the re-opened allegations. The report was reviewed and signed by Dr. Somerville on November 30. (Ex. 39, Confidential HIB Investigation Report Case # 140-101122-012).

45. On December 5, 2022, Superintendent Ponds affirmed the HIB Investigation Report following the re-investigation of the re-opened allegations based on alternative theories of motivating characteristics. (Ex. 39, Confidential HIB Investigation Report Case # 140-101122- 012).

46. Ms. Dock and her supervisor Dr. David Goldblatt, Director of Pupil Services, reported the results of this investigation to the Board of Education on December 21, 2022.

47. On January 3, 2022, the district issues a letter to R.F. advising of that the investigation concluded and there was insufficient evidence to meet the criteria of HIB. (Ex. 29, 1/3/23 letter M. Dock to R.F. re: Notification of Alleged Incident Ruling NON-HIB). Petitioner's Appeal of HIB Ruling).

48. On January 10, 2023, R.F. sent an email submitting his appeal brief. (Ex. 30, 1/10/23 R.F. email to T. Somerville with O.F. handwritten notes).

49. On January 20, 2023, R.F. was sent a letter by the district scheduling the appeal hearing on January 31, 2023. (Ex. 34, 1/20/23 Dr. Jonathan Ponds letter to R.F. re: Appeal hearing).

50. On January 20, R.F. confirms attendance at the hearing and advising that O.F. and Dr. Mora may also attend. (Ex. 35, 1/20/23 R.F. email to Nina DeRosa re: "Northeast R.F. HIB hearing 2/1/23 and Mental Health Evaluation Matter").

51. R.F. advised the district of his new counsel attending the hearing, now scheduled for February 1, (Ex. 37, 1/26/22 - 1/28/23 email from R.F. to M. Dock re: O.F. (Board Appeal Meeting/Document Request/New Counsel).

52. The hearing was then adjourned to February 22, 2023.

53. On February 28, 2023, the district's attorney issued a letter advising R.F. of the appointment of an independent investigator and adjourning the hearing scheduled on February 22. (Ex. 39, 2/28/23 letter from Christine M. Martinez, Esq.re: Independent Investigator and redacted HIB documents and Confidential HIB Investigation Report Case # 140-101122-012).

54. On March 1, 2023, during Executive Session, the Montclair Board of Education heard Petitioner's appeal affirming that an HIB did not occur. (Ex. 40, 3/7/23 letter from Board Secretary re: Board Affirmed NON-HIB incident on 3/1/23).

55. On May 30, 2023, Petitioner filed the instant Petition of Appeal. (Ex. 41, 5/30/23 Pro Se Petition of Appeal re: Addendum to Case# 10122-012(A)(B)).

56. On February 7, 2024, Petitioner served its answers to Respondent's discovery demands. (Ex 42, 2/7/24 – Petitioner's Discovery Responses).

57. On January 23, 2024, Respondent served its answers to Petitioner's discovery demands. (Ex 43, 1/23/24 – Respondent's Discovery Responses)

FACTUAL DISCUSSION

The Joint Exhibits and Stipulated Facts clearly establish that the Respondent undertook an investigation into the allegations made by Petitioner that O.F. had been bullied in the bathroom on October 11, 2023. The email exchanges between Petitioner, Ms. McCann, Ms. Kuperman and Mr. Somerville during the month of October 2023 show that Respondent addressed the initial complaint set forth in the first R.F. email, and continued to follow up on the changing facts, as expressed by R.F., during the October email exchanges. (Joint Exhibits 5 through 15)

The result was that Respondent found the incident did not meet the criteria to be identified as an act of HIB. A review of Ms. Kupperman's investigative notes (Joint Exhibit 17) bear out this conclusion.

Petitioner alleged additional HIB violations, and the case was reopened in late November 2023. (Joint Exhibit 24)

Ms. Kupperman again investigated, and the matter was determined to not be a HIB violation. (Joint Exhibits 27 and 29)

Respondent responded to the allegations of R.F. on October 11, 2023, and the continued allegations set forth in the emails between the parties, in a prompt manner. Respondent reopened the matter based on more allegations in November 2023. In all instances Respondent concluded that there was not a HIB violation. Petitioner does not assert one material fact that alters the above. Petitioner merely disagrees with the finding.

There are no facts presented that would lead the undersigned to conclude that Respondent's decision was arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable.

LEGAL ANALYSIS AND CONCLUSION

A motion for summary decision may be granted if the papers and discovery presented, as well as any affidavits which may have been filed with the application, show that there is no genuine issue of material fact and the moving party is entitled to prevail as a matter of law. N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(b). If the motion is sufficiently supported, the non-moving party must demonstrate by affidavit that there is a genuine issue of fact which can only be determined in an evidentiary proceeding, in order to prevail in such an application. Ibid. These provisions mirror the summary judgment language of R. 4:46-2(c) of the New Jersey Court Rules.

The motion judge must "consider whether the competent evidential materials presented, when viewed in the light most favorable to the non-moving party . . . , are sufficient to permit a rational fact finder to resolve the alleged disputed issue in favor of the non-moving party." Brill v. Guardian Life Ins. Co. of Am., 142 N.J. 520, 523 (1995). And even if the non-moving party comes forward with some evidence, this forum must grant summary decision if the evidence is "so one-sided that [the moving party] must prevail as a matter of law." Id. at 536 (citation omitted).

The parties submitted a Joint Stipulation of Facts and Joint Exhibits. Those facts, as supported by the Joint Exhibits, demonstrate that no material fact is in dispute.

Having read the briefs and certification, and having reviewed the exhibits attached thereto, it is clear that there are no issues as to material fact and that the matter is ripe for summary decision.

The Anti-Bullying Bill of Rights Act ("Act"), N.J.S.A. 18A:37-13 et seq., is designed "to strengthen the standards and procedures for preventing, reporting, investigating, and responding to incidents of harassment, intimidation, and bullying of students that occur in school and off school premises." N.J.S.A. 18A:37-13.1.(f).

When a local board of education acts within its discretionary authority, its decision is entitled to a presumption of correctness and will not be disturbed unless there is an affirmative showing that the decision was "patently arbitrary, without rational basis or induced by improper motives." Kopera v. W. Orange Bd. of Educ., 60 N.J. Super. 288, 294 (App. Div. 1960). Furthermore, "where there is room for two opinions, action is not arbitrary or capricious when exercised honestly and upon due consideration[,]" and the Commissioner will not substitute his judgment for that of the board. Bayshore Sewerage Co. v. Dep't. of Envtl. Prot., 122 N.J. Super. 184, 199 (Ch. Div. 1973), aff'd, 131 N.J. Super. 37 (App. Div. 1974).

The Act defines HIB as follows:

> [A]ny gesture, any written, verbal or physical act, or any electronic communication, whether it be a single incident or a series of incidents, that is reasonably perceived as being motivated either by any actual or perceived characteristic, such as race, color, religion, ancestry, national origin, gender, sexual orientation, gender identity and expression, or a mental, physical or sensory disability, or by any other distinguishing characteristic, that takes place on school property, at any school-sponsored function, on a school bus, or off school grounds as provided for in section 16 of P.L. 2010, c.122 (C.18A:37-15.3), that substantially disrupts or interferes with the orderly operation of the school or the rights of other students and that:
>
> a. a reasonable person should know, under the circumstances, will have the effect of physically or emotionally harming a student or damaging the student's property, or placing a student in reasonable fear of physical or emotional harm to his person or damage to his property;
>
>
> c. creates a hostile educational environment for the student by interfering with a student's education or by severely or pervasively causing physical or emotional harm to the student.
> N.J.S.A. 18A:37-14.

Therefore, a finding of HIB requires three elements. First, the conduct must be reasonably perceived as being motivated by any actual or perceived enumerated characteristic or other distinguishing characteristic and, second, the conduct must substantially disrupt or interfere with the rights of other students or the orderly operation of the school. The third condition is that one of the three criteria enumerated in the Act regarding the effect of the conduct must also be satisfied. Wehbeh v. Bd. of Educ. of the Twp. of Verona, Essex County, Commissioner Decision No. 51-20 (decided February 4, 2020).

The conduct must also take place on school property, at a school-sponsored function, on a school bus, or off school grounds as provided for in N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15.3.

Regarding the first element, in defining HIB as an action "that is reasonably perceived as being motivated either by any actual or perceived characteristic . . .", N.J.S.A. 18A:37-14 (emphasis added), the statute requires an analysis of how the actor's motivation is perceived and whether that perception is reasonable. It does not require an analysis of the actual motivation of the actor. Wehbeh, supra. Certainly, evidence that the actor was motivated by a distinguishing characteristic would meet the standard of this section of the Act, but evidence that the actor was not so motivated does not end the analysis. Here, it was not arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable for the Board to conclude that this element was not found.

Regarding the second element, the investigation did not demonstrated the conduct substantially disrupt or interfere with the rights of other students or the orderly operation of the school. it was not arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable for the Board that this element also was not found.

Regarding the third element, an act of HIB is one that "a reasonable person should know, under the circumstances, will have the effect of physically or emotionally harming a student," "has the effect of insulting or demeaning a student," or "creates a hostile educational environment . . .". N.J.S.A. 18A:37-14(a) (emphasis added). None of these criteria require the actor to have actual knowledge of the effect that her actions will have, or to specifically intend to bring about that effect. The first requires only that a reasonable person should know there would be a harmful effect, not that the actor knows there would be such an effect. The second two criteria address only the actual effect of the act, without any reference to what either the actor or a reasonable person does or should know. Wehbeh, supra. As such, a board of education can find that an individual committed an act of HIB even if the individual did not intend to cause harm.

In the instant matter the investigation did not conclude that an act of HIB occurred. Accordingly, there could be no determination that the alleged act or acts, would have a harmful effect. It was not arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable for the Board to reach that conclusion.

Each school district must adopt a policy that prohibits HIB and provides for a prompt response to any alleged HIB incident. N.J.S.A 18A:37-15. Once an alleged HIB incident is reported to the school principal, the principal must initiate an investigation within one school day of the report. N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(b)(6). The investigation shall be conducted by a school anti-bullying specialist and shall take no longer than ten school days to be completed. The results of the investigation shall then be quickly reported to the superintendent of schools, who may take certain remedial action. The results shall also be reported to the board of education "no later than the date of the board of education meeting next following the completion of the investigation, along with information on any services provided, training established, discipline imposed, or other action taken or recommended by the superintendent." Ibid.

Pursuant to the Act, the parents of the students involved in any alleged HIB incident are entitled to receive information about the nature of the investigation and the result of the investigation. The parents may request a hearing before the board, and the hearing must be held within ten days of the request. Any hearing shall be held in executive session to protect the identity of any students involved. The board may hear from the anti-bullying specialist about the incident, recommendations for discipline or services, and any programs instituted to reduce such incidents. The board must issue a decision at the first meeting after its receipt of the investigation report. The board may affirm, reject, or modify the superintendent's decision. The board's decision may be appealed to the Commissioner of Education.

An action by a board of education "is entitled to a presumption of correctness and will not be upset unless there is an affirmative showing that such decision was arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable." Thomas v. Morris Twp. Bd. of Educ., 89 N.J. Super. 327, 332 (App. Div. 1965). Thus, in order to prevail, those challenging an HIB decision made by a board of education "must demonstrate that the Board acted in bad faith, or in utter disregard of the circumstances before it." G.H. & E.H. ex rel. K.H. v. Bd. of Educ. of the Bor. of Franklin Lakes, EDU 13204-13, Initial Decision (February 24, 2014) (citation omitted) <http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/>, adopted, Comm'r (April 10, 2014). Also, a board's decision may be overturned if its determination violates the legislative policies expressed or implied in the governing act. J.A.H. ex rel. C.H. v. Twp. of Pittsgrove Bd. of Educ., EDU 10826-12, Initial Decision (March 11, 2013) (citing Campbell v. Dep't of Civil Serv., 39 N.J. 556 (1963), 562 (1963)), adopted, Comm'r (April 25, 2013) <http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/>.

There are reported cases in which HIB determinations by boards of education have been both affirmed and overturned. In R.G.B. v. Vill. of Ridgewood Bd. of Educ., EDU 14213-12, Initial Decision (May 15, 2013) <http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/>, adopted, Comm'r (June 24, 2013), the ALJ found that the Board did not act in an arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable manner in determining that a student engaged in HIB when he repeatedly called a female student "fat," "fat ass," and "horse." According to the ALJ, such verbal statements satisfied all of the necessary elements under N.J.S.A. 18A:37-14. And, in G.H., supra, the ALJ also upheld a Board's finding that a white student who repeatedly called a black student "Kool-Aid" engaged in HIB. The ALJ found that the "use of the word 'kool-aid' was directed at [the other student] because of his race; insulted and demeaned [the other student]; and . . . interfered with [the other student's] education" because "[u]pset and embarrassed children are not fully available for learning." However, in J.A.H., supra, the Board's finding that an incident in which one student stuffed a crumbled piece of paper down the shirt of another student constituted an act of bullying was overturned as arbitrary, capricious, and unreasonable because the incident was merely a prank that was part of an ongoing, mutual conflict between the two boys and did not "contain the more serious and aggravating elements either 'expressed or implied' under [N.J.S.A. 18A:37-14.]" The ALJ found that the incident was not improperly motivated by a distinguishing characteristic and that the facts "only support[ed] a finding of ordinary student conflicts rather than the more serious behavior of bullying."

In the instant matter, the parties submitted a Joint Stipulation of Facts and Joint Exhibits supporting the stipulated facts. These facts are agreed upon and lead to the conclusion that the Respondent comported with the law, did a HIB investigation and concluded, twice, that an act of HIB was not substantiated.

Petitioner, in his reply brief, raises issues not before the undersigned. He refers to other HIB matters involving O.F. Indeed, most of Petitioner's argument is based upon other HIB matters. The basis of Petitioner's reference to other HIB matters involving O.F. is to raise the specter of retaliation. That argument fails as the matter before the undersigned predates the additional HIB matters. Further, there are no facts asserted by Petitioner that substantiate a claim of retaliation. None.

Petitioner asserts that Respondent's actions in the instant matter were arbitrary and capricious as it failed to conduct a prompt and thorough investigation and did not follow procedural and substantive HIB law. The Joint Stipulation of Facts and Joint Exhibits belie these assertions, as noted above.

Petitioner further argues that the undersigned should not decide this matter until a matter before ALJ Hobbs is resolved. That matter, while involving O.F., is not germane to the instant matter, notwithstanding Petitioner's repeated allegations of retaliation, none of which are supported by facts.

I agree with Respondent that Petitioner seeks to introduce matters not part of this case. Much of Petitioner's arguments, and statement of facts are not relevant to the instant matter. All that the undersigned need find is whether Respondent acted in an arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable manner. Respondent did not.

It is the obligation of Petitioner to assert a material fact in dispute that would require a hearing. This was not done.

Given the totality of the facts in the instant matter I cannot conclude that the Board acted in an arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable manner in determining that an HIB incident did occur. See In Thomas v. Morris Twp. Bd. of Educ., 89 N.J. Super. 327, 332 (App. Div. 1965); R.G.B. v. Vill. of Ridgewood Bd. of Educ., EDU 14213-12, Initial Decision (May 15, 2013) <http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/>, adopted, Comm'r (June 24, 2013); and, J.A.H. ex rel. C.H. v. Twp. of Pittsgrove Bd. of Educ., EDU 10826-12, Initial Decision (March 11, 2013) (citing Campbell v. Dep't of Civil Serv., 39 N.J. 556

While the undersigned may have come to a different conclusion than Respondent in the instant matter, that does not mean that the Board acted in an arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable manner.

Accordingly, I CONCLUDE that Respondent's motion for summary decision must be GRANTED.

ORDER

Based upon the foregoing, it is ORDERED as follows:

Respondent's motion for summary decision is GRANTED; and, Petitioner's petition is dismissed, with prejudice.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the ACTING COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified, or rejected by the ACTING COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Acting Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify, or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the ACTING COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION. Exceptions may be filed by email to ControversiesDisputesFilings@doe.nj.gov or by mail to Office of Controversies and Disputes, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton,

New Jersey 08625-0500. A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

Q. Respondent Answer to Petition in HIB matter pending before ALJ Hobbs

New Jersey Commissioner of Education

Final Decision

J.W., on behalf of minor child, J.W.,

Petitioner,

v.

Board of Education of the Borough of Upper Saddle River, Bergen County, Brad Siegal, and Dana Imbasciani, Respondents.

Synopsis

Petitioner appealed the finding of the respondent Board that his son was not the victim of harassment, intimidation, and bullying (HIB) pursuant to the Anti-Bullying Bill of Rights Act (Act), N.J.S.A. 18A:37-13 et seq. Petitioner alleged that J.W. was bullied on March 30, 2023 when classmate, I.T., told J.W. that his "skin looks like poop because of the color of it." Petitioner further alleged that J.W. has been a target of ongoing HIB by I.T., contending, inter alia, that I.T. had: rammed J.W., knocking him to the ground; tackled him without provocation; stabbed J.W. in the ribs with pencils; threatened to stab him in the eye with a sharpened pencil; and made a colorist comment to J.W. about having a black eye. The Board's HIB investigation yielded an inconclusive finding, as I.T. was absent from school on the date of the alleged incident and witnesses could not corroborate that J.W. was the victim of HIB on March 30, 2023. The Board filed a motion for summary decision. Petitioner filed a motion to dismiss.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: there are no material facts at issue in this case, and the matter is ripe for summary decision; petitioner's claims that the Board did not comply with the Act in regard to alleged HIB acts by I.T. against J.W. that predate the March 30, 2023 incident are precluded herein, since the Board did not investigate these earlier allegations, nor rule on them in the June 26, 2023 decision that forms the basis of the within appeal; the Board's argument that J.W. is precluded from alleging HIB acts by I.T. towards J.W. that predate March 30, 2023, is limited solely to the within petition and does not extend to other petitions petitioner may file; further, school attendance records show that I.T. was absent on March 30 and March 31, 2023. The ALJ concluded that it was not arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable for the Board to determine that the March 30th incident could not be considered an HIB qualifying event. Accordingly, the ALJ granted the Board's motion for summary decision and dismissed the petition.

Upon review, the Commissioner, inter alia, concurred with the ALJ that the Board did not act in an arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable manner in rendering its HIB determination, but found that the Board was not entitled to summary decision regarding the uninvestigated HIB allegations predating March 30, 2023, as disputed issues of fact remain about what occurred regarding the other alleged HIB incidents. Accordingly, the Commissioner remanded this matter to the OAL for additional proceedings to bring this matter to closure.

Final Decision

J.W., on behalf of minor child, J.W.,

Petitioner,

v.

Board of Education of the Borough of Upper Saddle River, Bergen County, Brad Siegal, and Dana Imbasciani,

Respondents.

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed and considered. The parties did not file exceptions.

Petitioner alleged that his child, J.W.,[1] was bullied when, on March 30, 2023, a fellow third grader, I.T., told J.W. that his "skin looks like poop because of the color of it." Petitioner further alleged that J.W. has been a target of ongoing harassment, intimidation, and bullying (HIB) by I.T., with incidents going back to 2019. Specifically, petitioner alleges that I.T.: lowered his shoulder and rammed into J.W., knocking him to the ground on his back; tackled J.W. without provocation; stabbed J.W. in the ribs with pencils; threatened to stab J.W. in the eye while holding a sharpened pencil near J.W.'s eye; verbally harassed J.W. during the after-school program; and made a colorist comment to J.W. about having a black eye. Respondent (Board) commenced an HIB investigation regarding the March 30 incident and referred the matter to the District's Anti-Bullying Specialist, Sara Senger.

[1] Because petitioner and his child share the same initials, petitioner will be referred to herein as "petitioner," and his child will be referred to herein as "J.W." However, the Commissioner notes that J.W. is referred to as "J.J." by parents and in the submitted exhibits.

In her investigative report, Senger notes that she met with and interviewed J.W. and I.T., as well as six staff witnesses and three student witnesses. The student witnesses were chosen because they were in J.W.'s After Care Experience (ACE) group; in addition, J.W. said that two of these students were present at his table after the alleged incident occurred. None of the student witnesses recalled the alleged incident. Further, the adult witnesses noted that no incident between J.W. and I.T. was reported, either by J.W. or by others, on March 30 or on the days prior or after. Upon reviewing attendance records, I.T. was shown to be absent on March 30, and Senger confirmed that I.T. was absent from school from March 29 to March 31, 2023. Senger's final investigation report notes that there have been documented reports from the victim's family since 2022 through ACE. The final report also lists the factors Senger considered in reaching her recommendation, such as J.W.'s report, I.T.'s report, petitioner's email, reports from the staff witnesses, the ACE attendance reports, and the social histories of I.T. and J.W.

Senger presented her final investigation report to the Superintendent, and the Board affirmed the Superintendent's determination that the incident is not an HIB qualifying event. Petitioner appealed to the Board, and a hearing was held on June 12, 2023. Both J.W.'s and I.T.'s families appeared. Petitioner explained his understanding of the Anti-Bullying Bill of Rights Act (the Act), discussed I.T.'s alleged HIB towards J.W., and shared how the alleged HIB is affecting J.W. I.T.'s family stated that the date of the alleged conduct occurred when I.T. was absent from school and out of the country from March 29 through April 10, 2023. The Board issued a determination on June 26, 2023, in a letter affirming the district's decision that the investigation yielded an inconclusive finding. Further, the letter notes that the decision came down to a review of the students' statements, as there was no direct evidence of I.T. making the statement to J.W., directly or in passing, on or near the supposed date of the alleged conduct.

On September 21, 2023, petitioner appealed the Board's decision to the Commissioner, claiming that the Board's determination regarding the alleged March 30 incident is incorrect and that the Board's reliance on I.T.'s absence on specific dates does not accurately reflect the broader context of persistent bullying and harassment J.W. has endured. The Board filed a response on October 6, 2023. After the matter was transmitted to the OAL, the Board filed a Motion for Summary Decision, and the petitioner filed opposition. The Board then filed its reply brief.

After reviewing the written submissions, the ALJ found that the Board's June 26, 2023 determination only addresses the March 30 incident. Accordingly, the ALJ concluded that petitioner is precluded from making any claims regarding earlier incidents as a part of this matter. However, the ALJ noted that this conclusion did not extend to other petitions petitioner may file. The ALJ rejected the Board's argument that claims regarding any earlier incidents are untimely, reasoning that the 90-day period to file a petition is triggered only after the Board issues a written decision; since the Board has not issued a written decision on the alleged HIB claims predating March 30, the 90-day countdown has not begun.

Next, the ALJ determined that the evidence[2] the Board submitted in support of its motion for summary decision dispels any factual dispute that J.W. has raised in support of its motion to dismiss regarding the March 30 incident. In addition, the ALJ concluded that the final investigation report contained sufficient evidence to support a finding that the Board's decision on the March 30 incident was not arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable. Lastly, the ALJ determined that the Board did not improperly rely on Senger's final investigation report and granted the Board's motion for summary decision.

Upon a comprehensive review of the record, the Commissioner agrees with the ALJ that petitioner did not establish that the Board's decision regarding the March 30 incident was arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable. When a local board of education acts within its discretionary authority, its decision is entitled to a presumption of correctness and will not be disturbed unless there is an affirmative showing that the decision was "patently arbitrary, without rational basis or induced by improper motives." Kopera v. W. Orange Bd. of Educ., 60 N.J. Super. 288, 294 (App. Div. 1960). Furthermore, "where there is room for two opinions, action is not arbitrary or capricious when exercised honestly and upon due consideration[,]" and the Commissioner will not substitute his judgment for that of the board. Bayshore Sewerage Co. v. Dep't. of Envtl. Prot., 122 N.J. Super. 184, 199 (Ch. Div. 1973), aff'd, 131 N.J. Super. 37 (App. Div. 1974).

The Act defines HIB as:

> school grounds as provided for in section 16 of P.L. 2010, c.122 (C.18A:37-15.3), that substantially disrupts or interferes with the orderly operation of the school or the rights of other students and that:
> a. a reasonable person should know, under the circumstances, will have the effect of physically or emotionally harming a student or damaging the student's property, or placing a student in reasonable fear of physical or emotional harm to his person or damage to his property;
>
> c. creates a hostile educational environment for the student by interfering with a student's education or by severely or pervasively causing physical or emotional harm to the student.

In summary, once the alleged written, verbal, or physical act, or any electronic communication is substantiated, a finding of HIB requires that three elements under the Act be satisfied. First, the substantiated conduct must be reasonably perceived as being motivated by any actual or perceived characteristic expressly identified in the statute, or by any other distinguishing characteristic. Ibid. Second, the conduct must substantially disrupt or interfere with the rights of other students or the orderly operation of the school. Ibid. Third, one of the three conditions set forth in subsections (a), (b), and (c) must be satisfied. Ibid.; Wehbeh v. Bd. of Educ. of the Twp. of Verona, Essex Cnty., Commissioner Decision No. 510-20 (Feb. 4, 2020).

Here, the Board commenced an HIB investigation regarding I.T.'s alleged comment on March 30, 2023, following petitioner's complaint on April 17, 2023. Senger's final investigation report indicates the methodology utilized in reaching her decision, including (1) listing her interview questions; (2) meeting with and interviewing J.W. twice and I.T. once; (3) meeting with and interviewing six adult witnesses and three student witnesses from J.W.'s ACE group, two of whom J.W. said were at his table after the alleged incident; and (4) considering petitioner's email, the social histories of I.T. and J.W., the ACE attendance reports, and the reports of J.W., I.T., and the adult witnesses. None of the witnesses recalled the incident, and the adult witnesses noted that no one made reports regarding I.T. on March 30, or in the days prior or after. Further, Senger's review of the attendance records showed that I.T. was absent from school from March 29 to March 31. Given the witness statements and the attendance report, the Commissioner concurs with the ALJ that the final investigation report contains sufficient evidence to support a finding that the Board's decision regarding the March 30 incident was not arbitrary, capricious, and unreasonable.

Petitioner argues that the Board failed to consider that although J.W. might have provided the incorrect date, J.W. and I.T. were both at school on March 27 and March 28 and, given I.T.'s past behavior towards J.W., the incident could have easily taken place on either of those dates. In addition, petitioner contends that the Board failed to consider the possibility that I.T. may have been in aftercare on March 30, despite being absent from school. However, these possibilities would – at most – balance the other evidence on the record that neither J.W., nor others, made reports regarding I.T. on March 30, or on the days prior. While the evidence may leave room for two opinions regarding whether I.T. made the statement, it is insufficient to overturn the Board's decision, since it does not demonstrate that the Board's decision was arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable.

Petitioner also contends that the Board's investigation was inadequate because they had access to video camera footage, which, if used, could have either captured more witnesses or captured the exchange between I.T. and J.W. Petitioner further argues that based on the seriousness of the HIB activity, the Board's failure to utilize information they had sole control over and access to led them to reach a decision that is arbitrary, capricious, and unreasonable.

However, for the Commissioner to hold that a review of the video evidence is more reasonable than the investigative steps the Board has taken would require the Commissioner to substitute his judgment for that of the Board's, which is impermissible. Thus, the Commissioner agrees with the ALJ that the Board did not improperly rely on Senger's final investigation report in reaching its decision regarding the March 30 incident. Accordingly, the ALJ correctly granted the Board's motion for summary decision with regard to the March 30, 2023 incident.

The Commissioner concurs with the ALJ in rejecting the Board's argument that J.W. is time-barred from making any HIB claims concerning incidents that predate March 30, 2023. A written board decision triggers the 90-day limit to file a petition under N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(b)(6)(e). The record indicates that the Board has not issued a written decision on petitioner's other HIB allegations. With no event triggering the start of the 90-day limit, any argument made by the Board as to lack of timeliness of these claims must fail.[3]

In contrast, however, the Commissioner disagrees with the ALJ that petitioner is precluded from making claims in this matter regarding the Board's handling of alleged HIB acts by I.T. against J.W. on dates other than March 30, 2023. The petition of appeal argues that the Board has ignored and failed to investigate prior complaints. Accordingly, the Commissioner concludes that the earlier incidents are within the scope of the petition filed in this matter, and petitioner is not precluded from making these additional HIB claims as part of the current petition.

[3] Alternatively, the Commissioner finds that the Board's June 26, 2023 letter would appropriately be considered as the triggering event for petitioner's time to appeal the Board's inaction regarding the other HIB complaints, as the letter functioned as the Board's notice to petitioner that no decision was being made regarding the other incidents. Accordingly, petitioner's appeal on September 21, 2023 was within 90 days of the decision and therefore timely.

The Commissioner concludes that the Board is not entitled to summary decision on petitioner's claims regarding the HIB allegations on dates other than March 30, 2023. Disputed issues of fact remain about what occurred regarding the other HIB incidents, and the record does not contain sufficient information to determine whether the Board's actions with regard to these complaints violate the Act as alleged by petitioner.

Accordingly, the Initial Decision is adopted in part and modified in part. This matter is remanded to the OAL for further proceedings consistent with this decision.

IT IS SO ORDERED.

Record Closed: July 15, 2024 Decided: August 27, 2024

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

The matter was referred to the school's Anti-Bullying Specialist after petitioner J.W. reported an incident of harassment, intimidation, and bullying (HIB) by student, I.T., who on March 30, 2023, allegedly told the minor child J.W. that his "skin looks like poop because of the color of it". Said incident prompted an HIB investigation by the Anti-Bullying Specialist, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15 and N.J.A.C. 6A:16-7.7, resulting in an inconclusive finding by the Board of Education. Did the Anti-Bullying Specialist properly investigate the HIB allegations in accordance with the procedural safeguards laid out the in the Anti-Bullying Bill of Rights Act, N.J.S.A. 18A:37-13 et seq., that resulted in the Board's determination that the incident not be considered an HIB qualifying event? Yes.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Petitioner, J.W. on behalf of the minor child , J.W., (referred to by the parents and in the submitted exhibits as "J.J.") a third grade student at Edith A. Bogert Elementary School (the School), which is part of Respondent Upper Saddle River Board of Education (the Board), reported an incident of harassment, intimidation, and bullying (HIB) to the School that allegedly occurred during the 2022-2023 school year. Specifically, J.W. alleges that on or about March 30, 2023, I.T. another student in J.J. 's third-grade class allegedly told J.J. that his "skin looks like poop because of the color of it." During the School's spring recess from April 3-April 7, 2023, the student told his parents what I.T. had told him about the color of his skin. On April 10, 2023, the School resumed classes.

On or about April 17, 2023, J.W. reported the incident to the School. Sara Senger (Senger) the School's Anti-Bullying Specialist, investigated the incident, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15 and N.J.A.C. 6A:16-7.7. Senger's Final Investigation Report was presented to Superintendent Brad Siegel, Ed. D., (Superintendent), on May 1, 2023, and the Board affirmed the Superintendent's recommendation that this incident not be considered an HIB qualifying event.

Thereafter, this matter was appealed to the Board for a hearing pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15 and N.J.A.C. 6A:16-7.7, which was held on June 12, 2023. Following the hearing, the Board affirmed that the alleged incident not be considered an HIB qualifying event and notified the parents of this action by way of letter from the Board Secretary/School Business Administrator dated June 26, 2023. In the June 26, 2023, letter, the Board concluded:

> After a careful and thorough deliberation, and application of the HIB definition to the information presented, [the Board] determined to affirm the district's determination that the investigation yielded an inconclusive finding. The decision came down to a review of the [students'] statements, as there was no direct evidence of the accused student making the statement to [J.W.], directly or in passing, on the date or near the dates surrounding the alleged conduct. . . a finding of HIB solely applies where the conduct matches the precise definition of HIB that the State created.

On September 21, 2023, J.W. filed an appeal of the Board's June 26, 2023 determinations of an "inconclusive" finding of HIB to the Commissioner of Education (Commissioner). In their appeal, petitioner requested the Commissioner (1) to perform "a comprehensive review of all incidents of harassment, intimidation, and bullying involving [J.W.]; (2) to reconsider HIB classification of the "skin looks like poop because of the color of it" verbal insult; (3) to hold accountable the Board's administrators for their failure to appropriately address petitioners' complaints; (4) to implement corrective measures to prevent future incidents of HIB; (5) to provide protection and support for [J.J.]; and (6) to implement a monitoring and reporting system to track respondent's progress in addressing HIB complaints.

The Board filed its response on October 6, 2023. This matter was then transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law as a contested matter on or about October 17, 2023.

On March 8, 202, the Board filed the within motion for summary decision. On April 8, 2024, petitioners filed its opposition to the MSD. On April 14, 2023, respondent filed its reply brief. I closed the record on July 15, 2024.

Issue

The issue before this tribunal is whether, based on the available evidence, the Board's reliance on the investigation into the alleged verbal incident on March 30, 2023, between J.J. and I.T. and the Board's determination that the investigation yielded a finding that there was no HIB violation was arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable.

Arguments

The Board:

The Board argues that as a board of education, its actions are "entitled to a presumption of correctness" and should not be upset unless there is an affirmative showing that the decision was arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable. The Board contends that this matter is limited to the appeal of the Board's June 26, 2023 determination. The Board further argues that its investigation of the incident between J.J. and I.T. was prompt and "appropriate." In that regard, the Board contends that Senger "identified all appropriate student and adult witnesses and none of [those] individuals were aware of any. . . incident." The Board also reiterates that I.T. was out of the country on the date of the alleged incident with J.J.

As for petitioners' allegations that the Board failed to address all the allegations of HIB between I.T. and J.J., the Board argues that J.W. is "conflating prior complaints/investigations" and those matters are time-barred pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(e).

J.W.

J.W. contends that the Board failed to investigate all the allegations of HIB they raised against I.T. J.W. asserts that the Board improperly conducted its investigation into the "skin looks like poop because of the color of it" verbal insult. First, J.W. argues that Senger failed to identify and interview all appropriate student and staff witnesses. Second, J.W. asserts the Board improperly relied "on a single date", ignoring a seven-year-old's limited grasp of time and days of the week. Third, J.W. states that the Board ignored all of J.W.'s other allegations of HIB by I.T. toward J.J. over the course of four years. Finally, J.W. argues the Board failed to access all available evidence, like video recordings. Based on the foregoing, J.W. posits that the Board's failure to investigate thoroughly all the HIB claims against I.T., is arbitrary, capricious, and unreasonable, and creates a genuine issue of material fact.

FINDINGS OF FACT

Based upon the documents submitted in support of and in opposition to the motion for summary decision, I FIND the following as FACT:

J.J., was a third-grade student attending the School in the Board's school system in the spring of the 2022-23 school year when he claimed to have been involved in an HIB incident. Specifically, that I.T. told J.J. that his "skin looks like poop because of the color of it." Although the incident allegedly occurred on March 30, 2023, it was not reported to school officials until on or about April 18, 2023, which prompted an HIB investigation, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15. The matter was referred to Senger, the District's Anti-Bullying Specialist, to conduct an investigation in accordance with N.J.A.C. 6A:16-7.7.

As part of her HIB investigation, Senger's investigation shows that she met with and interviewed J.J., I.T., six (6) staff witnesses and three (3) student witnesses. The student witnesses, including two students whom J.J. said were present at his table after the alleged incident occurred, were chosen because they were in the same After Care Experience group as J.J. Senger's investigation reveals that none of the student witnesses recalled the alleged incident. Further, the adult witnesses noted that neither J.J., nor others, made reports regarding I.T. on March 30, 2023, the date of the alleged incident, or the days prior or after. The adult witnesses also noted that an incident between J.J. and I.T. was never reported. Upon reviewing attendance records, I.T. was shown to be absent on March 30, 2023. Senger confirmed that I.T. was absent from school from March 29, 2023 to March 31, 2023.

Senger's final investigation discloses factors that she considered in considering the circumstances. Including prior documented reports, J.J. and I.T.'s prior relationship, and the facts that were relevant to her determination. See, Exhibit B, Certification of Sara Senger. Further at the HIB hearing before the Board, I.T.'s family appeared and stated that the date of the alleged conduct occurred when I.T. was absent from school, and also out of the country with the family from March 29 through April 10, 2023.

LEGAL ANALYSIS AND CONCLUSIONS

A party may move for summary decision upon any or all substantive issues in a contested case. N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(a). The motion for summary decision shall be served with briefs and may be served with supporting affidavits. Ibid. "The decision sought may be rendered if the papers and discovery which have been filed, together with the affidavits, if any, show that there is no genuine issue as to any material fact challenged and that the moving party is entitled to prevail as a matter of law." N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(b). As set forth more fully below, the Board's motion for summary decision establishes that there is no genuine issue of any material fact as to the Board's decision concerning the March 30, 2023 incident, and the Board is entitled to prevail as a matter of law because its investigation discloses that no violation of the Anti-Bullying Bill of Rights Act occurred on the date of the alleged incident on March 30, 2023.

In their petition of appeal, J.W. asks for a comprehensive review of all incidents of harassment, intimidation, and bullying involving J.J. and I.T. since 2022 through and including March 30, 2023, the date of the alleged incident herein. The record reveals that Senger's Final Investigation Report indicates that there were documented reports from J.J.'s family since 2022 through March 2023, regarding alleged HIB conduct by I.T. towards J.J., and that no prior actions were taken by the School. However, the record also reveals that the Board's decision of June 26, 2023, only addressed J.W.'s complaint made on April 18, 2023, concerning the March 2023 incident, which petitioner now appeals.

In response to J.W.'s petition and his arguments in defense of the underlying motion, the Board asserts that J.W. is precluded from making these additional claims herein as they have not complied with the ninety-day rule for filing an appeal before the Commissioner from a Board's action as set forth in N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(b)(6)(e). N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(b)(6)(e) provides, in relevant part, "the board's decision may be appealed to the Commissioner of Education, in accordance with the procedures set forth in law and regulation, no later than 90 days after the issuance of the board's decision. (emphasis added).

To the extent that J.W. argues that the Board is not in compliance with the requirements of the Anti-Bullying Act concerning any alleged HIB acts by I.T. toward J.J., that pre-date the March 30, 2023, incident, which were not investigated, I CONCLUDE that J.W. is precluded from making these additional claims herein, as they are claims that the Board did not rule upon on June 26, 2023, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(b)(6)(e) which forms the basis of J.W.'s petition herein.

I CONCLUDE that the Board's argument that J.W. is precluded from making any alleged HIB complaints by I.T. toward J.J. that predate March 30, 2023, under N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(e), is solely limited to the petition filed herein and no other petitions that maybe filed by J.W., as the ninety-day rule to file a petition under said statute is triggered after the Board has issued a written decision, which did not occur herein for the reasons stated.[1]

The Anti-Bullying Bill of Rights Act, N.J.S.A. 18A:37-13 to -32.1 and N.J.S.A. 37-37.1 to -37.5 (Anti-Bullying Act), is designed "to strengthen the standards and procedures for preventing, reporting, investigating, and responding to incidents of harassment, intimidation, and bullying of students that occur in school and off school premises." N.J.S.A. 18A:37-13.1(f). Under the act, HIB is defined as:

> [A]ny gesture, any written, verbal or physical act, or any electronic communication, whether it be a single incident or a series of incidents, that is reasonably perceived as being motivated either by any actual or perceived characteristic, such as race, color, religion, ancestry, national origin, gender, sexual orientation, gender identity and expression, or a mental, physical or sensory disability, or by any other distinguishing characteristic, that takes place on school property, at any school-sponsored function, on a school bus,

[1] If J.W. believes that the Board did not comply with the Anti-Bullying Act's provision regarding an investigation of an HIB allegation, they may consider filing their complaint(s) with the Executive County Superintendent of Schools, who is responsible for ensuring that districts within its county abide by the mandates of the Anti-Bullying Act under N.J.S.A. 18A:37-25.

> or off school grounds as provided for in section 16 of P.L.2010, c.122 (C.18A:37-15.3), that substantially disrupts or interferes with the orderly operation of the school or the rights of other students and that:
> a. a reasonable person should know, under the circumstances, will have the effect of physically or emotionally harming a student or damaging the student's property, or placing a student in reasonable fear of physical or emotional harm to his person or damage to his property;
>
>
> c. creates a hostile educational environment for the student by interfering with a student's education or by severely or pervasively causing physical or emotional harm to the student.
> [N.J.S.A. 18A:37-14].[2]

Under the Anti-Bullying Act, parents or guardians of a student who is the subject of a HIB investigation are "entitled to receive information about the investigation . . . including the nature of the investigation, whether the district found evidence of [HIB], or whether discipline was imposed or services provided to address the incident of [HIB]" and "may request a hearing before the [school] board after receiving the information, and the hearing shall be held within 10 days of the request." N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(b)(6)(d).

School administrators must investigate HIB allegations in accordance with the procedural safeguards laid out the Anti-Bullying Act. See N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(b)(6)(a) through (f) and 16.d. Under the 2022 amendments, school districts were permitted the use of a "preliminary determination" for reports of HIB. N.J.A.C. 6A:16-7.7(a)(2)(ix)(1).

It is well settled that an action by a local board of education "is entitled to a presumption of correctness and will not be upset unless there is an affirmative showing that such decision was arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable." Thomas v. Morris Twp. Bd. of Educ., 89 N.J. Super. 327, 332 (App.Div.1965). Thus, to prevail, those challenging a HIB decision made by a board of education "must demonstrate that the Board acted in bad faith, or in utter disregard of the circumstances before it." G.H. & E.H. ex rel. K.H. v. Bd. of Educ. of the Bor. of Franklin Lakes, EDU 13204-13, Initial Decision (February 24, 2014) (citation omitted), adopted, Comm'r (April 10, 2014), http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/. Also, a board's decision may be overturned if its determination violates the legislative policies expressed or implied in the governing act. J.A.H. ex rel. C.H. v. Twp. of Pittsgrove Bd. of Educ., EDU 10826-12, Initial Decision (March 11, 2013) (citing Campbell v. Dep't of Civil Serv., 39 N.J. 556, 562 (1963)), adopted, Comm'r (April 25, 2013), http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/.

[2] Although a school district has "local control over the content" of their HIB policy, the definition of HIB shall be "no less inclusive" than that set forth in N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15. Respondent's HIB policy, which was recently amended in January 2023 and appears on respondent's website, mirrors the language of the Anti-Bullying Act.

In the within matter, the Board determined that the comment to J.J. on March 30, 2023, that his "skin looks like poop because of the color of it" was not an HIB because there was not sufficient evidence, based on the investigation, to confirm whether incident occurred. The Board disqualified finding the incident occurred based on the required elements for an HIB. Currently, the issue before this tribunal is whether, based on the available evidence, the Board's reliance on the investigation into the verbal incident between J.J. and I.T. on or about March 30, 2023, was arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable. In support of its motion, the Board attached (1) The School's attendance calendar for the month of March 2023 for I.T., (2) Senger's final investigation report, and (3) a copy of the June 26, 2023, letter which determined that the HIB investigation yielded an inconclusive finding.

I CONCLUDE that the evidence the Board submitted in support of its motion dispels any factual disputes that J.W. has raised in support of its motion to dismiss the motion for summary decision as to the March 30, 2023, incident, in accordance with N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(b). First, the attendance record of I.T., shows when I.T. was present, absent, or tardy from school on the date of the incident. Moreover, the Board's submission of the attendance document further strengthens its decision. Second, Senger's final investigation report provides a methodology as to how she would conduct her investigation and the results of the same after she considered the documentary proofs and witness statements- essential information necessary for her to render a decision.

As a result, I CONCLUDE that the final investigation report contains sufficient evidence to support a finding that the board's determination of the March 30, 2023, incident, was not arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable. Further, I CONCLUDE that the Board did not improperly rely upon the Anti-Bullying Specialist's final investigation which did not find that an allegation of harassment, intimidation, or bullying occurred on March 30, 2023, in violation of the Anti-Bullying Act, and that the Board is entitled to summary decision as a matter of law.

ORDER

Given my findings of fact and conclusions of law, I ORDER that the Board's motion for summary decision is GRANTED, and J.W.'s petition be DISMISSED.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified, or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this case. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify, or reject this decision within forty-five days, and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision under N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

Final Decision

Terrell Gilkey,

Petitioner,

v.

Board of Trustees of the Queen City Academy Charter School, Union County,

Respondent.

Synopsis

Petitioner appealed the decision of respondent, Board of Trustees of the Queen City Academy Charter School (Board), denying him streamline tenure under N.J.A.C. 6A:11-6.2. The Board informed petitioner by letter dated March 26, 2024 that he would not be recommended for streamline tenure and that his employment would be terminated on May 30, 2024—about a month before the end of the 2023-2024 academic year. Petitioner asserted, inter alia, that he was employed by the Board for more than the required five consecutive full academic years and therefore had already obtained streamline tenure when the Board terminated him. The Board filed a motion to dismiss which was converted to a motion for summary decision. Petitioner opposed the motion.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: there are no material facts at issue, and the matter is ripe for summary decision; the acquisition of streamline tenure for charter school employees is governed by N.J.A.C. 6A:11-6.2, which provides "[a]ll teaching staff members, ... shall acquire streamline tenure in a charter school after five consecutive full academic years of effective employment..."; petitioner began his employment with the Board in January 2019, in the middle of the 2018-2019 academic year, and thereafter only worked for the Board for four consecutive full academic years, 2019-2020, 2020-2021, 2021-2022, and 2022-2023. The ALJ concluded that petitioner was not employed for five consecutive academic years with respondent from school year 2018-2019 through 2022-2023, as required under N.J.A.C. 6A:11-6.2, and therefore did not acquire streamline tenure. Accordingly, the ALJ granted the Board's motion for summary decision and dismissed petitioner's appeal.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurred with the ALJ that petitioner did not acquire streamline tenure because he was only employed for part of the 2018-2019 academic year, and for part of 2023-2024 academic year; as such, he could not have acquired streamline tenure prior to his termination on May 30, 2024. In so deciding, the Commissioner found petitioner's novel "semester theory" of acquisition of streamline tenure to be without merit. Accordingly, the Board's motion for summary decision was granted, and the petition of appeal was dismissed.

New Jersey Commissioner of Education

Final Decision

Terrell Gilkey,

Petitioner,

v.

Board of Trustees of the Queen City Academy Charter School, Union County,

Respondent.

The record of this matter, the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), the exceptions filed by petitioner and by respondent Board of Trustees (Board) pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4, and the Board's reply to petitioner's exceptions, have been reviewed and considered.

Petitioner challenges the Board's decision to deny him streamline tenure pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:11-6.2 on grounds that he was not employed by the Board for five consecutive full academic years. That regulation states, in relevant part:

> All teaching staff members . . . shall acquire streamline tenure in a charter school after five consecutive full academic years of effective employment as determined by the Department-approved educator evaluation system established by each charter school and in accordance with the charter school's uniform policies and procedures.

The relevant facts are uncontested. Petitioner began his employment with the Board in January 2019, in the middle of the 2018-2019 academic year. Thereafter, he worked for the Board for four consecutive full academic years: 2019-2020, 2020-2021, 2021-2022, and 2022-2023. Via letter dated March 26, 2024, the Board informed petitioner that he would not be recommended for tenure and that his employment would be terminated on May 30, 2024—about a month before the end of the 2023-2024 academic year.

The Board filed a motion to dismiss the petition, which the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) appropriately treated as a motion for summary decision. K.L. v. Bd. of Educ. of Borough of Kinnelon, Commissioner Decision No. 315-08 at 4 (July 23, 2008). Petitioner cross-moved for summary decision. The ALJ granted the Board's motion and dismissed the petition upon concluding that petitioner was not employed for five consecutive full academic years, as required by N.J.A.C. 6A:11-6.2, and therefore did not acquire streamline tenure.

In his exceptions, petitioner disputes the ALJ's legal conclusion that he did not acquire streamline tenure. He argues, as he did below, that because employment for 10 semesters is the functional equivalent of employment for five full consecutive academic years, and he was employed by the Board for more than 10 semesters, he achieved streamline tenure status. In response, the Board argues that petitioner's semester theory is unsupported by the regulation's plain language and regulatory history. The Board contends that had the Commissioner wanted eligibility for streamline tenure to be measured in semesters, the Commissioner would have stated so in the regulation.[1]

[1] Additionally, the Board takes exception to the ALJ's factual finding that petitioner's employment was "effective" as the record lacks evidence to support such a finding. The Board also maintains that petitioner's effectiveness is immaterial as he did not qualify for streamline tenure in the first instance because he was not employed by the Board for five consecutive full academic years. Because the parties did not present evidence to the ALJ regarding petitioner's "effective employment," the Commissioner agrees with the Board that the ALJ's finding is unsupported by the record and rejects it. Accordingly, the Commissioner makes no finding herein as to whether petitioner's employment was effective or not effective.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurs with the ALJ that petitioner is ineligible for streamline tenure because he was not employed by the Board for five consecutive full academic years as is required by N.J.A.C. 6A:11-6.2. Regulations are interpreted in the same manner as statutes, meaning that the paramount goal of determining the drafter's intent is achieved by studying the regulation's plain language. L.R. v. Camden City Pub. Sch. Dist., 238 N.J. 547, 558 (2019). One must not "presume that the drafter intended a meaning other than" that expressed by the regulation's plain language. U.S. Bank v. Hough, 210 N.J. 187, 199 (2012). Moreover, when interpreting statutes or regulations governing the same subject matter, they should be interpreted harmoniously. L.R., 238 N.J. at 558.

By way of background, Title 18A instructs that charter school employees acquire streamline tenure "pursuant to guidelines promulgated by the commissioner . . . ." N.J.S.A. 18A:36A-14(e). In re Susp. of Teaching Cert. of Van Pelt, 414 N.J. Super. 440, 449 (App. Div. 2010). Those guidelines appear in Title 6A, Chapter 11, Subchapter 6 of the Administrative Code. N.J.A.C. 6A:11-6.2(a) requires teaching staff members to be employed for "five consecutive full academic years" to acquire streamline tenure. Notably, the phrase "academic year" has a specific meaning in the public education context. Although not defined in Title 6A, Chapter 11, N.J.S.A. 18A:1-1 defines "academic year" as "the period between the time school opens in any school district or under any board of education after the general summer vacation until the next succeeding summer vacation."

The Commissioner finds that the plain language of N.J.A.C. 6A:11-6.2(a) is clear and unambiguous and should be interpreted as written. Applying the definition of "academic year" found at N.J.S.A. 18A:1-1 to the facts at issue, it is undisputed that petitioner worked for the Board for four consecutive full academic years: 2019-2020, 2020-2021, 2021-2022, and 2022-2023. Because petitioner was only employed for part of academic year 2018-2019, and for part of academic year 2023-2024, he could not have acquired streamline tenure prior to his termination on May 30, 2024. Petitioner's novel semester theory of acquisition of streamline tenure is neither supported by the regulation's plain language, the regulatory history, or case law. The Commissioner is not permitted to disregard the current regulation's plain meaning to align it with petitioner's unique circumstances.

Accordingly, the Initial Decision is adopted as the final decision in this matter, and the petition of appeal is hereby dismissed.

IT IS SO ORDERED.[2]

BEFORE JULIO C. MOREJON, ALJ:

SUMMARY OF THE CASE

Petitioner, Terrel Gilkey, appeals the decision of respondent, Board of Trustees of the Queen City Academy Charter School, denying him streamline tenure under N.J.A.C. 6A:11-6.2.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On April 24, 2024, petitioner, Terrel Gilkey, (petitioner) filed a Petition of Appeal with the Commissioner of the New Jersey Department of Education (Commissioner). The Petition of Appeal challenged the decision of respondent, Board of Trustees of the Queen City Academy Charter School, Union County (respondent), denying petitioner "streamline tenure."

Specifically, the Petition of Appeal states the following claim and relief sought:

1) Respondent did not comply with N.J.A.C. 6A:11-6.2 in denying petitioner tenure under the streamline tenure provision for Charter Schools, as petitioner has been employed by respondent for over five consecutive full academic years, and thus has acquired tenure.

2) Any attempt by respondent to terminate petitioner's employment without complying with the procedures set forth at N.J.A.C. 6A:11-6.2 is null and void and ultra vires as a matter of law.

3) Respondent's action in terminating him is motivated solely, not by any problem in his teaching performance or any other legitimate reason, but due his being the duly elected President of the Education Association at the School. [1]

4) Respondent's actions are violative of the PERC Act, and an Unfair Practice Charge is being filed at PERC concomitant with the filing of this Petition.

5) Petitioner requests that the Commissioner direct that he be rehired by the respondent forthwith, with tenure, and that he be awarded back pay and all other emoluments of employment for any time he has been wrongfully without pay. Petitioner also requests any other and further relief which the Commissioner deems just and equitable.

[1] The allegations contained in paragraphs 3 and 4 of the Petition of Appeal will not be addressed herein, as petitioner states that he has filed an Unfair Practice Charge with PERC.

On May 9, 2024, respondent filed a Notice of Motion to Dismiss with the Commissioner, as allowed by N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.5 and N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.10. Prior to ruling on respondent's motion for dismissal, on May 10, 2024, the Commissioner transmitted this matter to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) as a contested case. Respondent's Notice of Motion to Dismiss originally filed with the Commissioner was converted to a motion for summary decision under N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5. As a result of the same, on July 3, 2024, respondent filed an Answer and Affirmative Defenses.

On July 11, 2024, petitioner filed his opposition to respondent's motion, and a cross-motion for summary decision under N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5. On August 8, 2024, respondent filed a reply to petitioner's opposition and cross-motion for summary decision. On August 9, 2024, the record was closed.

FACTUAL DISCUSSION

The following facts are derived from the motion pleadings submitted herein, which are not in dispute and are therefore deemed FACT herein.

Petitioner began employment as a teacher with respondent on January 29, 2019, mid-way through the academic year of 2018-2019, and for the full following academic years: 2019-20, 2020-21, 2021-22, and 2022-23. By letter dated March 26, 2024, respondent notified petitioner that he would not be recommended for tenure and that his last day of work would be May 30, 2024, which was petitioner's last day of employment with respondent. Petitioner provided effective employment during his time of employment as teacher with respondent.

ANALYSIS AND CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

Respondent argues that petitioner has not acquired streamline tenure because he has not been employed by respondent for five full consecutive academic years. Respondent cites to N.J.A.C. 6A:11-6.2, which states that the acquisition of streamline tenure for charter school employees is regulated as follows:

> (a) All teaching staff members, janitors, and secretaries shall acquire streamline tenure in a charter school after five consecutive full academic years of effective employment as determined by the Department-approved educator evaluation system established by each charter school and in accordance with the charter school's uniform policies and procedures.

N.J.A.C. 6A:11-6.2 expressly requires "five consecutive full academic years" of employment to acquire streamline tenure. Respondent posits that the Petition of Appeal affirms that petitioner worked four full academic years, 2019-20, 2020-21, 2021-22, and 2022-23, and one-half an academic year commencing January 29, 2019. Consequently, respondent argues, petitioner has not satisfied the requirements of N.J.A.C. 6A:11-6.2, which provides that streamline tenure in a charter school is acquired "after five consecutive full academic years of effective employment". Respondent requests that the Petition of Appeal be dismissed.

Petitioner's principal argument is that N.J.A.C. 6A:11-6.2 does not specifically dictate "how" the five consecutive full academic years are achieved. Petitioner avers that respondent erroneously states there is "only one manner" to achieve the time requirement under the regulations that is necessary to acquire streamline tenure in proclaiming that petitioner failed to complete the time requirement because he began his employment half-way through the school year in 2019. Petitioner offers an alternative example on how to compute the streamline tenure by arguing that five academic years are the "functional equivalent of ten semesters". Therefore, petitioner states the he has satisfied the streamline tenure requirements because he was employed for eleven consecutive semesters (January 29, 2019 through May 30, 2023), which is more than the ten semesters required for five consecutive academic.

In its reply respondent provides an explanation of the legislative history concerning N.J.A.C. 6A:11-6.2, and in so doing, argues that petitioner's "attempt to insert imaginary language" into N.J.A.C. 6A:11-6.2 by advocating for an interpretation of the regulation is simply unsupported by the "clear and unambiguous regulatory text." Respondent further argues that petitioner's attempt to read language referencing the completion of "semesters," instead of the "five consecutive full academic years of effective employment" contained in N.J.A.C. 6A:11-6.2, is unsupported by the legislative history and actual language of said regulation.

A party may move for summary decision upon any or all substantive issues in a contested case. N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(a). The motion for summary decision shall be served with briefs and may be served with supporting affidavits. Ibid. "The decision sought may be rendered if the papers and discovery which have been filed, together with the affidavits, if any, show that there is no genuine issue as to any material fact challenged and that the moving party is entitled to prevail as a matter of law." N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(b).

As set forth more fully below, respondent's motion for summary decision and petitioner's cross- motion for summary decision establish no genuine issue of any material fact exists as to respondent's decision to deny petitioner tenure and terminate him on May 30, 2024. This matter is therefore ripe for summary decision.

The acquisition of streamline tenure for charter school employees is governed by N.J.A.C. 6A:11-6.2, as it provides "[a]ll teaching staff members, ... shall acquire streamline tenure in a charter school alter five consecutive full academic years of effective employment..." Respondent presents a discussion of the legislative history of N.J.A.C. 6A:11-6.2, which will be adopted herein.

The record reveals that petitioner was hired on January 29, 2019, and was terminated on May 30, 2023. Respondent argues that the 2018-2019 academic year does not count for purposes of acquiring streamline tenure because petitioner was not employed for a "full academic year." [2] Thereafter, petitioner was employed with respondent for full academic years in 2019-20, 2020-21, 2021-22, and 2022-23. As for petitioner providing "effective employment" during his term of employment with respondent, the record reflects that there were no negative evaluations of petitioner, as respondent did not present any evidence to the same, and respondent renewed petitioner's term of employment for the years at issue.

[2] Petitioner presents no pleadings or argument disputing that he was not employed for a full academic year in 2018-2019.

For the reasons stated herein, I CONCLUDE that respondent's motion for summary decision and petitioner's cross-motion for summary decision present no material issue of fact and this matter is ripe for summary decision under N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(a). I further CONCLUDE that petitioner was not employed for five consecutive academic years with respondent from school year 2018-2019 through 2022-2023, as required under N.J.A.C. 6A:11-6.2, and therefore did not acquire streamline tenure under said regulation. Consequently, I CONCLUDE that petitioner's Petition of Appeal is dismissed.

ORDER

IT IS ORDERED that respondent's motion for summary decision is GRANTED under N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(a), and that petitioner's Petition of Appeal is DISMISSED.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

Re: Israel Torres v. New Jersey Department of Education, Office of Student Protection, Agency Dkt. No. 90-4/24, Commissioner Decision No. 308-24

Dear Parties,

I have reviewed the materials filed in connection with petitioners' Motion for Reconsideration of the Commissioner's decision of August 23, 2024.

Pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.15(b)(2), a motion for reconsideration shall be determined based upon the following:

i. claim(s) of mistake, provided, however, that disagreement with the outcome of a decision, or with the analysis upon which it is based, shall not constitute "mistake" for purposes of this section;
ii. newly discovered evidence likely to alter the outcome of a matter, where such evidence could not have been previously discovered by due diligence;
iii. newly ascertained misrepresentation or other misconduct of an adverse party, where such misrepresentation could not have been previously known; or
iv. reversal of a prior judgment on which the present matter is based.

Upon review and consideration of the submissions, I find that petitioner has failed to satisfy the factors set forth in N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.15(b)(2). Petitioner argues that the unique circumstances of his bus route should warrant a different outcome. However, this argument was previously made by respondent and rejected. Respondent's disagreement with the outcome of the decision is not a sufficient basis for reconsideration.

Petitioner also requests leniency regarding the 6-month suspension of his "S" endorsement. Petitioner contends that he has not driven since April 3, 2024, when his employer informed him that he was suspended, effective immediately. Petitioner argues that the suspension was not his employer's decision, but the consequence imposed due to petitioner's violation. In addition, petitioner claims that he was told that he could not drive until either his suspension was completed, or his petition was heard and a decision rendered. Petitioner adds that both he and his employer expected the time that had passed since April to count towards his 6-month suspension. Given this, petitioner anticipated returning to work in October 2024, six months after the April 3rd conversation.

Petitioner misunderstands N.J.S.A. 18A:39-29(a). The statute reads, "[i]n the event that, after notice and opportunity to be heard, a school bus driver is found to have left a pupil on the school bus at the end of his route, his school bus endorsement shall be suspended for six months, for a first offense" (emphasis added). Further, N.J.A.C. 6A:3-12.1(c)1 dictates that "where a petitioner does not prevail before the Commissioner in demonstrating that the Department's determination was in error, the Department's Office of Student Protection will [n]otify the Motor Vehicle Commission of its obligation pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:39- 26 et seq., to suspend ... the driver's school bus endorsement." Both statutes indicate that petitioner's suspension begins once the Commissioner issues his decision.

Petitioner received notice and had an opportunity to be heard; he filed a petition challenging the Office of Student Protection's determination on April 4, 2024. The ALJ concluded that petitioner violated N.J.S.A. 18A:39-28, and the Commissioner upheld that determination in his August 23, 2024, decision. Therefore, petitioner's suspension began on August 23, 2024.

Accordingly, the Motion for Reconsideration is hereby DENIED.[1]

Sincerely,

Kevin Dehmer
Acting Commissioner

385-24L

[1] This decision may be appealed to the Appellate Division of the Superior Court pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-9.1. Under N.J.Ct.R. 2:4-1(b), a notice of appeal must be filed with the Appellate Division within 45 days from the date of mailing of this decision.

BEFORE JoAnn LaSala Candido, ALJ[1]:

On January 9, 2023, the matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law for determination as a contested case.

[1] Originally, this case was assigned to Gail M. Cookson, ALJ, she retired in April 2024.

The parties have agreed to an amicable resolution of the matter. The respondent's attorney sent signed Stipulation of Dismissal With Prejudice via e-mail on September 4, 2024, for petitioner, Patricia Iannacone and for petitioner, Margarita Medina on August 29, 2024.

Having reviewed the Dismissal terms, I FIND as follows:

1. The parties have voluntarily agreed to the terms of the Stipulation of Dismissal With Prejudice as evidenced by their signatures or the signatures of their representatives.

2. The settlement fully disposes of all issues in controversy and is consistent with the law.

Therefore, I CONCLUDE that the agreement meets the requirements of N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1 and that the settlement should be approved. Accordingly, it is ORDERED that the parties comply with the settlement terms, and it is FURTHER ORDERED that the proceedings in this matter be concluded.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the ACTING COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified, or rejected by the ACTING COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Acting Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify, or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Respondent.

The record of this matter, the proposed Settlement Agreement and Release (Agreement), and the Initial Decision issued by the Office of Administrative Law pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1, have been reviewed. Upon such review, the Commissioner notes that paragraph 1 of the Agreement references actions that preceded the consideration of the settlement by the Commissioner of Education. The parties are reminded that a settlement of litigation before the Commissioner is not binding until the Commissioner approves the settlement.

In light of the foregoing, the Commissioner adopts the Initial Decision as the final decision in this matter, provided that the parties have already implemented the settlement terms or have agreed upon mutually satisfactory alternate dates for the effectuation of the terms of the Agreement. SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT AND RELEASE

This Settlement Agreement and Release made this _____ day of June, 2024 between the Hawthorne Board of Education, which has offices located at 445 Lafayette Avenue, Hawthorne, New Jersey 07506 (hereinafter referred to as the "Board"), and GULSHAN ZEJNEL (hereinafter referred to as "Parent"), on behalf of her children, A.Z. and L.Z., (hereinafter collectively referred to as the "Parties") (hereinafter referred to as the "Agreement").

WHEREAS, A.Z. is a kindergarten student and L.Z. is a first-grade student attending the Washington Elementary School within the Hawthorne School District (hereinafter referred to as the "District"), a public school district operated by the Board; and

WHEREAS, the Board received information in September 2023 that revealed that the parent of A.Z. and L.Z. did not live within the District which prompted the Board's investigation into A.Z. and L.Z.'s residency;

WHEREAS, the Board's investigation determined that A.Z. and L.Z. were not domiciled in the District and did not meet the requirements for residency under N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1 and N.J.A.C. 6A:22-3.1; and

WHEREAS, the Board issued their notice of eligibility determination on October 31, 2023; and

WHEREAS, it is the Board's position that A.Z and L.Z. were not entitled to a free public education from the District because the parent whom the children resided with during the entire period of disputed residency, was domiciled at 111 N. 17th Street, Prospect Park, New Jersey; and

WHEREAS, Parent disputed the Board determination of eligibility and filed the action captioned G.Z. o/b/o A.Z. and L.Z. v. Borough of Hawthorne BOE, OAL Docket No. EDU 13280-2023, Agency Ref. No. 300-11/23 on November 2, 2023; and

WHEREAS, the Board filed a Counterclaim against Parent seeking tuition reimbursement for A.Z. and L.Z. for the 2023-2024 school year on November 21, 2023; and

WHEREAS, the Parties are desirous of resolving the issues in dispute thereby avoiding the time and expense associated with litigation.

NOW, THEREFORE, in consideration of the mutual promises and covenants set forth herein, the Parties agree as follows:

1. The Parent agrees to reimburse the Board in the amount of $5,133.30 equivalent to 19 days for September 2023, and 11 days for October 2023 of tuition reimbursement for A.Z. and L.Z.'s period of disputed residency pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:22-6.2. This amount shall be paid to the Board via certified check within 10 days of execution of this Settlement Agreement and Release. All payments shall be made via check payable to "Hawthorne Board of Education," and delivered to:

Hawthorne Board of Education
Attn: Ms. Jenine Murray
Business Administrator/Board Secretary
445 Lafayette Avenue
Hawthorne, New Jersey 07506

2. The Parent agrees that she will be in default of this Settlement Agreement and Release if payment is not received by the Board in the amount, and on or before the date specified herein. In the event of default, back tuition in the amount of $5,133.30, shall be due and payable, with credit given for any sums paid pursuant to the terms of this Settlement Agreement and Release. If the Parent fails to pay the back tuition within thirty (30) days of default, the Parent consents to the entry of default judgment, and agrees that the Board may proceed by summary action to execute on the judgment for the back tuition owed by the Parent, less credit for any sums paid to the Board pursuant to this Settlement Agreement and Release.

3. Upon receipt of payment in accordance with the terms of this Settlement Agreement and Release, the Parent shall be released from any and all claims, causes of action, suits, actions at law and in equity, administrative proceedings and judicial and quasi-judicial proceedings, which have been brought or could have been brought, relating to the payment of tuition for A.Z and L.Z. set forth in the Board's counterclaim.

4. It is expressly understood that the enrollment of A.Z. and L.Z. in the District is expressly conditioned upon A.Z. and L.Z. being domiciled in the District. In the future, if it is determined that A.Z. and L.Z. are not domiciled within the District, the Board will initiate disenrollment procedures in accordance with N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1.

5. The Parent and A.Z. and L.Z., or any persons or entity acting on their behalf, agree not to file any suit, or cause any suit, demand, administrative, judicial or other proceeding, claim, complaint or other action of any kind against the Board or its officers, agents, employees or assigns for so long as the Parties abide by the terms of this Settlement Agreement and Release. It is expressly understood, however, that either party may bring an action to enforce the terms of the within Settlement Agreement and Release. It is further understood and agreed that all parties shall bear their own attorneys fees and costs in connection with this matter, except that in the event an action is brought by the Board to enforce this Settlement Agreement and Release, the Board shall be entitled to attorneys' fees and costs in connection therewith.

6. The Parties' signature on this Agreement shall serve as their request to withdraw their claims with prejudice. Petitioner withdraws her Petition of Appeal to the Commissioner which was assigned Agency Reference No. 300-11/23 and OAL Docket No. EDU 13280-2023. Any Party may submit a fully executed copy of this Agreement to the Commissioner of Education and/or the Office of Administrative Law as notification in accordance with N.J.A.C. 1:1-10.2 that Petitioner withdrew with prejudice her petition of appeal. It is expressly understood, however, that the Parties retain the right to enforce any provision of this Agreement

7. The terms of this Settlement Agreement and Release represent the compromise of disputed claims between the Parties. This Settlement Agreement and Release shall not constitute, be interpreted, construed, or used as evidence of any admission of fact, law, responsibility, or liability on the part of any party.

8. The Parties may execute this Settlement Agreement and Release in counterparts, each of which is deemed an original and all of which only constitute one original.

9. This Settlement Agreement and Release constitutes the entire understanding of the Parties hereto and shall supersede any prior agreements between the Parties with respect to its subject matter. Further, there are no representations, warranties, covenants or undertakings other than those expressly set forth herein. The parties acknowledge and agree that they are not relying upon any oral statements, representations, promises, or expectations which are not expressly and explicitly set forth in this Settlement Agreement and Release, which alone fully and completely expresses all agreements between the Parties.

10. A modification or waiver of any of the provisions of this Settlement Agreement and Agreement shall be effective and enforceable, only if made in writing and executed by both Parties with the same formality as the Settlement Agreement and Release.

11. The terms and conditions set forth herein shall be deemed severable. If any clause or provision contained herein shall be held unenforceable by a court of competent jurisdiction, it shall not affect the validity of any other clause or provision, all of which shall continue in full force and effect.

12. The Parties have had the opportunity to be represented by an attorney of their own choice throughout this proceeding. Each party acknowledges that they have signed this Settlement Agreement and Release knowingly, voluntarily and of their own free will, with the full understanding of their duties and obligations contained therein.

13. This Settlement Agreement and Release shall be construed and enforced in accordance with the laws of the State of New Jersey.

14. The undersigned represent that they have the requisite authority to sign this Settlement Agreement and Release on behalf of the respective party.

SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT AND GENERAL RELEASE

WHEREAS, A.O. is a student that is enrolled in one of the high schools in the Freehold Regional High School District ("District");

WHEREAS, the Freehold Regional High School District Board of Education ("Board") is the local educational authority with the responsibility of providing a thorough and efficient public education to A.O.; and

WHEREAS, a Discipline Hearing was held before a Committee of the Board in connection with certain conduct by A.O.;

WHEREAS, the full Board adopted the recommendations of the Committee and Administration for A.O.;

WHEREAS, on February 24, 2024, Petitioner filed a Pro Se Petition of Appeal in connection with the Board's findings and determinations for A.O.;

WHEREAS, on March 21, 24, the Board filed its response to Petitioner's Pro Se Petition of Appeal;

WHEREAS, the Parties began negotiations towards a possible global resolution of the issues in this matter, as well as any other administrative or legal proceedings or challenges that Petitioner and/or A.O. could bring against the Board, its employees, staff, administrators, agents, contractors or assigns; and

WHEREAS, Petitioner agrees, in consideration of the Board providing the services identified herein, to withdraw its Petition of Appeal, and to withdraw A.O. from the District prior to the start of the 2024 – 2025 school year, as well as to waive and release all legal and/or equitable claims he has or may have against the Board under state and/or federal law now through and including end of the 2023 - 2024 school year, with the exception of any claims for enforcement of this Agreement; and

WHEREAS, the parties having a desire to settle the above matters in an amicable way, hereby agree in this Settlement Agreement and General Release ("Agreement") as follows:

1. In exchange for the mutual covenants set forth herein, Petitioner shall immediately take whatever action is required to withdraw its Petition of Appeal, and to cease any and all legal or administrative proceedings against the Board or any of its employees, agents, contractors, or assigns.

2. Petitioner further agrees that prior to the beginning of the 2024 - 2025 school year, A.O. shall be considered withdrawn from the District. Petitioner also agrees that they will execute and/or provide any other paperwork that the District deems necessary in order to finalize the withdrawal of A.O. from the District, as well as return any and all Board property, material or equipment (i.e., textbooks) that has been issued or provided to A.O.

3. Upon adoption and incorporation of this Agreement into a Final Order by the Office of Administrative Law, the Board agrees that it will amend the notation on A.O.'s discipline record for the incident that occurred on August 28, 2023 to only reflect a single instance of "Disrespect to a Student", and that it will provide a copy of any student records, including discipline records excluding the above referenced incident, of A.O. that are requested and disclosed to any third party in connection with any application for enrollment in another secondary institution (public or private). The Parties agree that A.O.'s student records shall be maintained in accordance with the law, including N.J.A.C. 6A:32-7.1, et. seq., 34 C.F.R. § 99, and 20 U.S.C. § 1232g (Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974).

4. In consideration of the Board's provision of services as noted herein, Petitioner and A.O. hereby forever waive and fully and completely releases the Board from any and all claims they have or may have, of any kind whether contractual, tort, common law or statutory, including, but not limited to, all claims for any alleged violations of Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, 29 U.S.C.§794(a), as well as recovery for damages, costs and attorneys fees under the Family Education Rights and Privacy Act, 20 U.S.C. §1232g, et seq., 29 U.S.C. §794(a), 42 U.S.C. §1983, 42 U.S.C. §1988, 29 U.S.C. §705(20), N.J.A.C. 6A:14-1.1 et seq., all as amended, any statutes of New Jersey including but not limited to the New Jersey Law Against Discrimination, N.J.S.A. 10:5-1 et seq., or any other claims which have been or could have been asserted by Petitioner and/or A.O. in any form arising out of or connected with A.O.'s education with the District, and from all liability whatsoever, whether known or unknown, or to the extent permitted by applicable law. Nothing in this Agreement shall preclude Petitioner and/or A.O., from asserting any claims against the Board that may arise in the future, after the date of this Agreement, as well as any claims to enforce the terms and conditions noted in this Agreement.

5. Each party shall be responsible for their own attorneys' fees and expert costs incurred in connection with the matter pending in the Office of Administrative Law, as well as any other administrative or legal proceeding previously brought by Petitioner against the Board.

6. The Board and Petitioner each hereby verify, affirm and represent that they have each had the opportunity to seek legal counsel to discuss the terms of this Agreement, that they understand its contents and are entering into this Agreement voluntarily and with a full understanding of its meaning.

7. The Parties agree and acknowledge that this Agreement is subject to approval by the Board during its next regularly scheduled meeting following the execution of this Agreement.

8. This Agreement contains the entire agreement between the Parties and is intended to resolve all disputes and issues between them as of the date of execution of this Agreement.

9. This Agreement may be signed in counterparts, and facsimile signatures shall be deemed effective for the purposes of this Agreement.

10. The parties agree that the terms and conditions of this Agreement shall remain confidential and that neither party may disclose its terms and conditions to a third party except to enforce this Agreement or if required to do so by court order issued from a court of competent jurisdiction.

THE PARTIES HEREBY AGREE WITH THE TERMS OF THIS AGREEMENT:

SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT

IN THE MATTER OF ANTHONY GAETANO
and
THE EATONTOWN BOARD OF EDUCATION

OAL Docket No.: EDU06751-2024S
Agency Reference Number: 120-4/24

The parties in this appeal have voluntarily resolved all disputed matters and enter into the following settlement, which fully disposes of all issues in controversy between them.

A. Re: HIB Incident # 2611299 MS 02202024:

1. During the 2024-2025 school year, Anthony Gaetano will seek additional training in Harassment, Intimidation and Bullying policy, procedures and interventions beyond the mandated District training offered each year.

2. A letter of apology signed by Anthony Gaetano is acknowledged and will be shared with the student and the student's parents.

B. Re: Classroom Instruction Incident, meeting with Building Principal, Thursday, March 21, 2024, display of inappropriate video during instructional period:

1. Letter of reprimand to be placed in Anthony Gaetano's personnel file.

C. With regard to each of the incidents described above, recommendation will be made to withhold Anthony Gaetano's employment and adjustment increment for the 2024-2025 school year:

1. The Board, upon recommendation of the Superintendent, will consider reinstatement of the employment and adjustment for the 2026-2027 school year provided there are no other disciplinary incidents and provided further the reinstatement will not result in repayment of the increment values withheld.

D. Eatontown Board of Education (Board) shall amend Anthony Gaetano's personnel records to conform to the terms of the settlement. All internal records of the Board will be kept intact.

E. Nothing herein shall preclude the Board from releasing information on this matter to anyone who has a release executed by Anthony Gaetano or as consistent with the law.

F. Any information regarding the underlying charges will be provided to the Public Employees Retirement System pursuant to N.J.S.A. 43:1-3.3, as amended effective April 14, 2007.

G. Appellant waives all other claims against Board with regard to this matter, including any award of back pay, counsel fees or other monetary relief, except as may otherwise be provided herein.

H. This agreement shall not constitute a precedent in matters involving other employees.

I. Appellant waives all claims, suits or actions, whether known, unknown, vested or contingent, civil, criminal or administrative, in law or equity against the Board, their employees, agents, or assigns, including, but not limited to, those which have been or could have been made or prosecuted on account of any conduct of any party occurring at any time with respect to the events, information or disputes giving rise to this action up to the date of this agreement, including, but not limited to, all claims under Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, the Civil Rights Act of 1991, the Americans with Disabilities Act, the Family Leave Act, the Family and Medical Leave Act, the New Jersey Law Against Discrimination, the Equal Pay Act, the Conscientious Employee Protection Act, the Age Discrimination in Employment Act, Title 11 A - the Civil Service Act, the Older Workers Benefits Protection Act, the Occupational Safety and Health Act, the Public Employee Occupational Safety and Health Act, the New Jersey Smoking Act, New Jersey wages and hours law, public works statutes, unemployment compensation laws, disability benefits laws, the United States Constitution, the New Jersey Constitution, any workers compensation or common law claims and any contract express or implied. This waiver includes all claims involving any continuing effects of actions or practices which arose prior to the date of this Settlement Agreement and bars the use in any way of any past action or practice in any subsequent claims, except pending workers compensation claims.

J. The parties agree that if any portion of this Settlement Agreement is deemed unenforceable, the remainder of this Settlement Agreement shall be fully enforceable.

K. This agreement will become effective only if approved by The Hon. Mamta Patel, A.L.J. and the Department of Education. Any disapproval by the Department of Education shall not interfere with the rights of either party to pursue the matter further.

New Jersey Commissioner of Education

Final Decision

C.W.,

Petitioner,

v.

New Jersey State Interscholastic Athletic Association,

Respondent.

Synopsis

Petitioner appealed the decision of the New Jersey State Interscholastic Athletic Association (NJSIAA) denying C.W.'s request for a waiver to allow him to participate in interscholastic sports at Hackettstown High School. C.W. is a sophomore at the Netherlands Reformed Christian School (NRCS), a nonpublic religious school that is not a member of the NJSIAA and does not provide an athletic program for its students; if C.W. attended public school, he would do so at Hackettstown High School, which is a member of the NJSIAA. The NJSIAA twice denied requests for a waiver in this case, explaining in both instances that its rules do not allow students who choose to attend a private school to participate in interscholastic sports at their local public high school, and that NJSIAA cannot grant a waiver or exception to the rule. C.W. subsequently filed a motion for emergent relief.

Upon careful review and consideration, the Commissioner upheld the NJSIAA's decision and dismissed the petition. In so doing, the Commissioner explained that he may not overturn an action by the NJSIAA in applying its rules, absent a demonstration by the petitioner that it applied such rules in a patently arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable manner. The Commissioner concluded, inter alia, that the NJSIAA's application of the Enrollment Rule to C.W. is neither arbitrary nor discriminatory; NJSIAA presented sound reasons for precluding students attending nonmember schools from participating in sports at their local public schools, even though homeschooled students are afforded that opportunity if local board of education policy provides for it; further, the Commissioner concluded that the Enrollment Rule is not discriminatory and does not infringe on C.W.'s religious freedom. Accordingly, the Commissioner affirmed the NJSIAA's decision. Petitioner's motion for emergent relief was denied, and the petition of appeal was dismissed.

New Jersey Commissioner of Education

Final Decision

A.W., on behalf of minor child, C.W.,

Petitioner,

v.

New Jersey State Interscholastic Athletic Association,

Respondent.

For Petitioner, Thomas J. Vargo, Esq.

For Respondent, Steven P. Goodell, Esq.

This case involves an appeal of a decision of the New Jersey State Interscholastic Athletic Association (NJSIAA) denying petitioner's request for a waiver to allow his child, C.W., to participate in interscholastic sports at Hackettstown High School.

Athletic competition in New Jersey's schools is overseen by respondent, NJSIAA, a voluntary association of public and nonpublic schools, organized – pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:11-3 – to oversee athletics for its member schools in accordance with a constitution, bylaws, rules, and regulations approved by the Commissioner of Education and adopted annually by member schools, for which they become school policy enforceable by the NJSIAA. The NJSIAA's Enrollment Rule requires that "a student, to be eligible for participation in the interscholastic athletic program of a member school, must be enrolled in that school."[1] NJSIAA Bylaws, Article V, Eligibility of Athletes.

The material facts in this case do not appear to be in dispute. C.W. is a sophomore at the Netherlands Reformed Christian School (NRCS), a nonpublic religious school. NRCS is not a member of the NJSIAA, and it does not provide any athletics. If C.W. attended public school, he would do so at Hackettstown High School, which is a member of the NJSIAA.

On July 25, 2024, petitioner wrote to NJSIAA Executive Director, Colleen Maguire, requesting that she use her authority to make an exception to the Enrollment Rule to allow C.W. to play basketball at Hackettstown High School. On July 29, 2024, Ms. Maguire denied petitioner's request, stating that the NJSIAA rules do not allow students who choose to attend a private school to participate in interscholastic sports at their local public high school, and that she does not have the authority to grant a waiver or exception to the rule. On August 24, 2024, petitioner again requested an authorization or waiver to allow C.W. to participate. On September 13, 2024, the NJSIAA issued a response, stating that the NJSIAA cannot grant the request for a waiver.

On September 23, 2024, petitioner filed an appeal with the Commissioner of Education challenging the decision of the NJSIAA. On September 30, 2024, petitioner filed an application for emergent relief. On October 4, 2024, the NJSIAA filed its answer and opposition to the application for emergent relief.

[1] The student must also meet all of the other eligibility requirements of the NJSIAA's Constitution, Bylaws, and Rules and Regulations.

Petitioner argues that the Equal Protection Clause of the Fourteenth Amendment of the United States Constitution requires similarly situated persons to be treated alike. According to petitioner, homeschooled students – who do not have access to interscholastic sports – are permitted to participate in interscholastic athletics at their local high school, and because C.W. likewise has no access to interscholastic athletic sports, there is no legitimate reason to deny him the same opportunity, when the only difference between C.W. and homeschooled students is C.W.'s choice to attend a religious school.

Petitioner asserts that he is likely to succeed on the merits of his claim for these reasons, and that he meets the other criteria for emergent relief because C.W. will miss out on the start of the basketball season if this matter is not resolved quickly, causing irreparable harm; C.W.'s right to religious freedom and the prohibition against disparate treatment are well-settled; and the equities are in C.W.'s favor because the NJSIAA has not shown it will be burdened by C.W.'s participation.

In reply, the NJSIAA argues that there is no law or NJSIAA rule that supports petitioner's request. The NJSIAA contends that although some of its eligibility rules can be waived, there is no such provision for a waiver of the Enrollment Rule; even if there were, C.W. has not been prevented from playing sports due to circumstances beyond his control – which is typically required for a waiver – as his choice to attend NRCS is a voluntary one. Additionally, the NJSIAA asserts that the Executive Director has no authority to dictate to a member school that it must allow a student who is not enrolled at the school to participate on its sports teams, when there is no rule allowing for same.

The NJSIAA argues that its rules are neutral on their face and do not prevent C.W. from playing basketball at Hackettstown based on his religion, noting that some religious schools are members of the NJSIAA and offer sports, and that any student who attends a non-religious nonmember school is also precluded from participating in sports at a member school. The NJSIAA also contends that while Department of Education policy allows homeschooled students to participate in extracurricular activities if the local board of education has a policy permitting it, the NJSIAA has no authority to extend that policy to students who are not homeschooled.

The NJSIAA contends that, for these reasons, petitioner has failed to establish a settled legal right or a likelihood of success on the merits. The NJSIAA also argues that petitioner has failed to satisfy the other requirements for emergent relief, because there is no fundamental right to participate in high school athletics and therefore C.W. will not suffer irreparable harm if he does not participate. The NJSIAA also claims that the equities are in its favor because of its interest in enforcing its rules for all member schools and students.

Upon careful review and consideration, the Commissioner determines to uphold the decision of the NJSIAA and dismiss petitioner's appeal. It is well-established that the Commissioner's scope of review in matters involving NJSIAA decisions is appellate in nature. N.J.S.A. 18A:11-3; Board of Education of the City of Camden v. NJSIAA, 92 N.J.A.R. 2d (EDU) 182, 188. That is, the Commissioner may not overturn an action by the NJSIAA in applying its rules, absent a demonstration by the petitioner that it applied such rules in a patently arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable manner. N.J.A.C. 6A:3-7.5(a)(2); B.C. v. Cumberland Regional School District, 220 N.J. Super. 214, 231-232 (App. Div. 1987); Kopera v. West Orange Board of Education, 60 N.J. Super. 288, 297 (App. Div. 1960).

The New Jersey courts have spoken as to the narrow scope of "arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable" in the context of challenges such as that of petitioner:

> In the law, "arbitrary" and "capricious" means having no rational basis.  Arbitrary and capricious action of administrative bodies means willful and unreasoning action, without consideration and in disregard of circumstances. Where there is room for two opinions, action is not arbitrary or capricious when exercised honestly and upon due consideration, even though it may be believed that an erroneous conclusion has been reached. (citations omitted) Bayshore Sew. Co. v. Dep't of Envt. Protection, 122 N.J. Super. 184, 199-200 (Ch. Div. 1973), aff'd 131 N.J. Super. 37 (App. Div. 1974).

Petitioners seeking to overturn decisions of the NJSIAA therefore bear a heavy burden, and – considering the record of this matter in light of the prescribed standard of review – the Commissioner cannot find that petitioner herein has met his burden so as to entitle him to prevail on appeal. More specifically, considering its duty to ensure fairness and integrity in athletic competition statewide, the Commissioner cannot find that the NJSIAA applied its rules in a patently arbitrary or unreasonable manner.

"It is well-settled that participation in interscholastic sports is a privilege, rather than a right. As such, participation may not be denied for arbitrary and capricious reasons, nor may any participant be discriminated against in his application for such privilege." E.L. and N.L., o/b/o R.L. v. NJSIAA, Commissioner Decision No. 382-98 (decided Aug. 31, 2008) (internal citation omitted). The Commissioner concludes that the NJSIAA's application of the Enrollment Rule to C.W. is neither arbitrary nor discriminatory. The NJSIAA has presented sound reasons for precluding students attending nonmember schools from participating in sports at their local public schools, even though homeschooled students are afforded that opportunity if local board of education policy provides for it. Additionally, the Commissioner concludes that the Enrollment Rule is not discriminatory and does not infringe on C.W.'s religious freedom. The Commissioner finds that

C.W., who has chosen to attend NRCS, is not similarly situated to homeschooled students for purposes of participating in sports. Furthermore, the Enrollment Rule is applied equally to all students who attend nonmember schools – religious and non-religious alike. Finally, C.W. and his family have made a voluntary choice for him to attend NRCS. This choice "does not elevate their claim to one of prejudicial or unjust treatment; indeed, many parents are similarly faced with having to weigh the varied components of a private or parochial education against those of a public school education." Ibid.

Because the Commissioner has determined to affirm the NJSIAA's decision on its merits, the request for emergent relief is moot.

Accordingly, the Commissioner affirms the NJSIAA's decision. Petitioner's motion for emergent relief is denied, and the petition of appeal is hereby dismissed.

New Jersey Commissioner of Education

Final Decision

Willingboro Education Association, individually and on behalf of member Sabrina Austin,

Petitioner,

v.

Board of Education of the Township of Willingboro, Burlington County,

Respondent.

Synopsis

Petitioner, a tenured teacher employed since 2004 by the Willingboro Board of Education (Board or respondent), asserted that the respondent abolished her position as Reading Specialist, created the substantially similar position of Literary Learning Specialist (LLS), and failed to appoint the petitioner to the newly created position in violation of her tenure and seniority rights. Petitioner holds a Teacher of the Handicapped certificate and earned a Master's degree in Curriculum and Instruction with an emphasis in Reading as well as a Master's degree in Special Education. The Board hired a non-tenured teacher for the LLS position, transferring petitioner to the position of Special Education Pre-K teacher—a transfer that did not result in a reduction of petitioner's salary or benefits. The respondent denied violating the petitioner's rights, contending that she was appropriately transferred when her position was abolished. Respondent further argued that petitioner is not qualified for the LLS position because she does not hold the necessary certifications. The parties filed cross motions for summary decision.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: there are no material facts at issue in this case and the matter is ripe for summary decision; the Board did not violate petitioner's tenure or seniority rights when it abolished the Reading Specialist position, declined to hire her for the substantially similar LLS position, and transferred her to a position within her certification that did not result in any reduction of her salary or benefits; petitioner does not meet the eligibility requirements for the LLS position, as she does not have a Reading Specialist, Teacher of Reading, or Teacher of Supplemental Reading and Math certificate; further, petitioner failed to present evidence that the Board acted in bad faith or for an unlawful purpose. Accordingly, the ALJ granted the Board's cross-motion for summary decision and dismissed the petition.

Upon review, the Commissioner, inter alia, rejected the ALJ's findings that the LLS position required dual certification, and that petitioner was not qualified for the position. However, the Commissioner noted that school boards have the managerial prerogative to transfer teaching staff members pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:25-1. Accordingly, the Commissioner adopted the Initial Decision of the OAL as modified and dismissed the petition.

New Jersey Commissioner of Education

Final Decision

Willingboro Education Association, individually and on behalf of member Sabrina Austin,

Petitioner,

v.

Board of Education of the Township of Willingboro, Burlington County,

Respondent.

The record of this matter, the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), and the exceptions filed by petitioner pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4, have been reviewed and considered. Respondent, Board of Education of the Township of Willingboro (Board), did not reply to petitioner's exceptions.

Petitioner, a tenured teacher who holds a Teacher of the Handicapped certificate, began working for the Board in 2004.[1] She earned a Master's degree in Curriculum and Instruction with an emphasis in Reading as well as a Master's degree in Special Education. During the 2021-2022 and 2022-2023 school years, she worked as a Reading Specialist. In April 2023, the Board abolished the Reading Specialist position effective June 30, 2023, along with ten other positions. The Board then created a new position, Literacy Learning Specialist (LLS), which petitioner applied for but did not obtain. The Board hired a non-tenured teacher for the LLS position and transferred petitioner to a different position, Special Education Pre-K teacher, effective September 1, 2023. The transfer did not result in a reduction of petitioner's salary or benefits, and she has remained continuously employed with the district. However, petitioner alleges that the Board violated her tenure and seniority rights when it hired a non-tenured teacher for the LLS position and bypassed her. She asserts that she was qualified for the LLS position, which is substantially similar to her prior position of Reading Specialist.

The parties cross-moved for summary decision. At oral argument on July 15, 2024, it appears that the ALJ sought clarification regarding the certification requirements for the LLS position, which resulted in the parties' submission of additional information. The Board submitted a certification dated July 22, 2024, from Dr. Malcolm X. Outlaw, Superintendent, stating that the LLS job description stipulated to in the record contained a typographical error. Outlaw's certification explains that the job description incorrectly stated that candidates must possess a "New Jersey Department of Education Permanent Teacher's Certificate," a "New Jersey Special Education Teaching Certificate and/or Reading Specialists Certificate, Teacher of Reading, or Teacher of Supplemental Reading and Math Certificate." According to Outlaw, the LLS position "requires dual certification, therefore possession of a New Jersey Special Education Teaching Certificate and an additional Certification is required," and because petitioner only possesses a Teacher of the Handicapped certificate, she is not qualified for the LLS position.

In response, petitioner submitted a certification also dated July 22, 2024, from Nadine Tribbett, Interim Superintendent, which was filed on behalf of the Board in a related PERC matter. There, Tribbett certified that the LLS job description was accurate and that candidates for the position must possess a "New Jersey Department of Education Permanent Teacher's Certificate," a "New Jersey Special Education Teaching Certificate and/or Reading Specialists Certificate, Teacher of Reading, or Teacher of Supplemental Reading and Math Certificate." According to Tribbett, petitioner is not qualified for the LLS position because she "does not possess a New Jersey Department of Education Permanent Teacher's Certificate."[2]

Relying primarily upon Carpenito v. Board of Education of the Borough of Rumson, 322 N.J. Super. 522, 529 (App. Div. 1999), the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) concluded that the Board did not violate petitioner's tenure or seniority rights when it abolished the Reading Specialist position, declined to hire her for the substantially similar LLS position, and transferred her to a position within her certification that did not result in any reduction of her salary or benefits. Citing Outlaw's certification, the ALJ further concluded that petitioner does not meet the eligibility requirements for the LLS position, as she does not have a Reading Specialist, Teacher of Reading, or Teacher of Supplemental Reading and Math certificate. The ALJ also concluded that petitioner failed to present evidence that the Board acted in bad faith or for an unlawful purpose. Thus, the ALJ granted the Board's cross-motion for summary decision and dismissed the petition.

[2] Petitioner disputes this. A "standard certificate" is a permanent certificate issued to a person who has met all certification requirements. N.J.A.C. 6A:9-3.1. "Provisional" and "emergency" certificates are temporary. Ibid.

Petitioner takes exception to the ALJ's finding that candidates for the LLS position must hold dual certification—i.e., a Teacher of the Handicapped certificate and a Reading Specialist, Teacher of Reading, or Teacher of Supplemental Reading and Math certificate—to qualify. She notes that the Board did not previously allege a typographical error in the LLS job description. She points out that Tribbett's certification, which is not mentioned in the ALJ's Initial Decision, makes no reference to a typographical error in the LLS job description and confusingly claims that petitioner is not permanently certified as a teacher. She contends that the Board's newly raised argument that she was not qualified further supports the conclusion that she was singled out for a transfer on a prohibited basis. Along those lines, petitioner also takes exception to the ALJ's conclusion that she failed to prove that she was qualified for the LLS position and failed to prove that the Board acted in bad faith, or arbitrarily or capriciously, when it bypassed her for the position.

Teaching staff members who have acquired tenure "shall not be dismissed or reduced in compensation except for inefficiency, incapacity, or conduct unbecoming such a teaching staff member or other just cause . . . ." N.J.S.A. 18A:28-5. However, "[a] school board has the managerial prerogative to transfer teaching staff members by a majority vote of the board." N.J.S.A. 18A:25-1. "Seniority is a by-product of tenure and comes into play only if tenure rights are reduced by way of dismissal or reduction in tangible employment benefits." Carpenito, 322 N.J. Super. at 531. "[A]bsent allegations of bad faith or unlawful purpose, a tenured teacher's seniority rights are not triggered when a school board abolishes the teacher's position and assigns the teacher to teach different subjects within his or her certification without reducing the teacher's salary or other employment benefit" so long as "the teacher is not singled out for the transfer on a prohibited basis." Id. at 528-29.

Upon review, the Commissioner adopts the ALJ's Initial Decision, as modified. The Commissioner concurs with the ALJ that Board did not violate petitioner's tenure or seniority rights when it abolished the Reading Specialist position, declined to hire her for the LLS position, and transferred her to a position within the scope of her certification that did not result in any reduction of her salary or benefits. Like the appellant in Carpenito, petitioner has not suffered a loss of employment. The Board was within its rights to transfer her to a different position, so long as it did not reduce her salary or benefits. Petitioner admits that she has remained continuously employed by the district and her salary and benefits have not decreased. The Commissioner also concurs with the ALJ that petitioner failed to demonstrate that the Board acted in bad faith or for an unlawful purpose. The record reflects that the Board eliminated ten other positions when it abolished the Reading Specialist position. Thus, the Board's apparent reorganization did not solely affect petitioner, and the evidence fails to establish that she was singled out for a transfer on a prohibited basis.

However, the Commissioner rejects the ALJ's finding that the LLS position requires dual certification, and that petitioner was not qualified for the LLS position. As petitioner explains in her exceptions, the current record contains conflicting evidence regarding the certification requirements for the LLS position. Tribbett's certification—which does not appear to have been considered by the ALJ—makes no reference to a typographical error and recites the certificate requirements for the LLS position exactly as they appear in the job description. Furthermore, Tribbett's certification and Outlaw's certification are both dated July 22, 2024, yet proffer two different reasons as to why petitioner is not qualified. In any event, the Commissioner holds that it is unnecessary to make findings regarding whether the LLS position requires dual certification, or whether petitioner was qualified for the LLS position, because petitioner's tenure and seniority rights were not violated by the Board. Although she may prefer the LLS position over a Pre-K position, an employee's desires for a particular position cannot "subvert a school board's managerial authority to lawfully assign and transfer its staff within the scope of their certification, absent disciplinary reasons or bad faith." Carpenito, 322 N.J. Super. at 534.

Additionally, the Commissioner rejects the ALJ's conclusion that the Reading Specialist and LLS positions are substantially similar because the ALJ did not render any findings regarding the duties of either position, whether they overlap, or whether they differ. Moreover, since petitioner's tenure and seniority rights were not violated, the Commissioner holds that it is unnecessary to determine whether the Reading Specialist and LLS positions are substantially similar and, therefore, makes no findings on that issue. This matter is distinguishable from Dennery v. Board of Education of Passaic County Regional High School District #1, 131 N.J. 626 (1993), where the Court analyzed whether the terminated employee's abolished position was substantially similar to a newly created position she sought. There, the employee's termination triggered the protections afforded by her tenure and seniority rights. See Dennery, 131 N.J. at 639-40 (holding that "[w]hen the duties of the position in which a teaching-staff member has acquired tenure are substantially identical to those of the position that the person seeks, a local school board may not sidestep an educator's tenure rights by simply renaming the position or taking on additional meaningless requirements" but "[i]f a newly-created position is similar to a tenure holder's abolished position but also requires additional duties or different responsibilities, then the newly-created position is not considered to be substantially similar to the former position"). In contrast, here, petitioner was not terminated and did not suffer a reduction in salary or compensation. Therefore, the "substantially similar" analysis is unnecessary.

Accordingly, the Initial Decision is adopted, as modified, the Board's motion for summary decision is granted, and the petition of appeal is dismissed.

IT IS SO ORDERED.[3]

WILLINGBORO EDUCATION ASSOCIATION, INDIVIDUALLY AND ON BEHALF OF MEMBER SABRINA AUSTIN,
Petitioner,
v.
TOWNSHIP OF WILLINGBORO, BOARD OF EDUCATION,
Respondent.

Amy L. Gillette, Esq., for petitioner (Zeller & Wieliczko, LLP, attorneys)

Record Closed: July 29, 2024 Decided: September 12, 2024

BEFORE NICOLE T. MINUTOLI, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

The petitioner, Sabrina Austin (Austin or petitioner), a tenured teacher employed by the respondent, Township of Willingboro Board of Education (respondent), asserts that the respondent abolished her position, created a substantially similar and newly titled position, and failed to appoint the petitioner to the newly created position in violation of her tenure and seniority rights. The respondent denies violating the petitioner's tenure or seniority rights, contending that after the petitioner's position was abolished, she was appropriately transferred with no reduction in salary or benefits. Additionally, the respondent argues that the petitioner is not qualified for the Literacy Learning Specialist position because she does not hold the necessary certifications.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On August 2, 2023, Austin filed a petition with the Department of Education, Office of Controversies and Disputes (DOE), alleging that the respondent violated her tenure and seniority rights by bypassing her for the newly created Literacy Learning Specialist position. The DOE transmitted this matter to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), where it was filed on August 29, 2023, for determination as a contested case. N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15; N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13. A prehearing conference was held on November 11, 2023; however, the respondent failed to appear. The parties appeared for prehearing conferences on December 11, 2023, and January 23, 2024. On April 22, 2024, the parties filed individual motions for summary decision. On May 6, 2024, the respondent filed a letter brief responding to the petitioner's motion for summary decision. On June 7, 2024, the parties appeared via Zoom for an oral argument on the motion. On July 23, 2024, the respondent submitted supplemental documentation; on July 29, 2024, the petitioner also submitted supplemental documentation. Upon receipt of all further submissions, the record closed on July 29, 2024.

FINDINGS OF FACT

The parties submitted a Joint Stipulation of Facts and Joint Exhibits. Based upon a review of the documentary evidence presented, I FIND the following undisputed FACTS:

The petitioner began employment with the respondent in April 2004. Petitioner holds a Special Education Teacher of the Handicapped Certification. Petitioner has a master's degree in curriculum and instruction with an emphasis in reading, a master's degree in special education, and is certified in the Wilson Reading Program. She obtained tenure with the respondent under her special education certification. Joint Stipulation of Facts and Exhibits (March 8, 2024) (Joint Stip) at 1.

During the 2021–2022 and 2022–2023 school years, the petitioner held the position of Reading Specialist. This position integrated all reading instructional programs. Ibid.

On or about April 24, 2023, the respondent abolished the petitioner's Reading Specialist position as of June 30, 2023. Ibid.

The petitioner was directed to apply for and interview for the newly created and substantially similar position of Literacy Learning Specialist. Joint Stip at 2. To be qualified for this position, the candidate must hold dual certification—a New Jersey Special Education Teaching Certificate and a Reading Specialist Certificate, Teacher of Reading Certificate, or Teacher of Supplemental Reading and Math Certificate. Respondent's July 23, 2024, Letter Br. in opposition of motion for summary decision, Certification of Dr. Malcolm X. Outlaw (Outlaw Cert.) at ¶ 4.

On June 22, 2023, the petitioner received a letter notifying her of the transfer from her current position as a Reading Specialist at the Country Club Administrative Building to the role of Special Education Pre-K teacher at J. Cresswell Stuart Early Childhood Development Center (ECDC), effective September 1, 2023. Joint Stip at 2.

Petitioner's transfer did not result in any change in salary or benefits, and she has remained continuously employed with the respondent. Ibid.

The respondent hired a non-tenured staff member subjected to a reduction in force to the newly created Literacy Learning Specialist position. Ibid.

Under the Willingboro Educational Association Collective Bargaining Agreement Article XII, section D, 1–2, the petitioner met with Ca'Meshia L. Mitchell, director of Human Resources, to discuss the involuntary transfer on Monday, June 26, 2023. Ms. Mitchell told the petitioner she was new to the director of Human Resources position and following directives. The petitioner received no further information regarding why she was not entitled to the newly entitled position. Ibid.

On July 10, 2023, the Board approved the petitioner's transfer from Pre-K–K Teacher at ECDC to Special Education Science Teacher at Memorial Middle School, effective September 1, 2023. Ibid.

LEGAL ANALYSIS AND CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

Summary decision may be granted when "the papers and discovery which have been filed, together with the affidavits, if any, show that there is no genuine issue as to any material fact challenged and that the moving party is entitled to prevail as a matter of law." N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(b). The rule further provides that an adverse party must respond by affidavit setting forth specific facts showing that there is a genuine issue which can only be determined at an evidentiary hearing. Ibid. The OAL rule is modeled on New Jersey Court Rule 4:46-2. The New Jersey Supreme Court has explained that when deciding a motion for summary judgment under R. 4:46-2, > a determination whether there exists a "genuine issue" of material fact that precludes summary judgment requires the motion judge to consider whether the competent evidential materials presented, when viewed in the light most favorable to the non-moving party, are sufficient to permit a rational > factfinder to resolve the alleged disputed issue in favor of the non-moving party.

> [Brill v. Guardian Life Ins. Co. of Am., 142 N.J. 520, 540 (1995).]

Accordingly, the undisputed facts will determine whether the petitioner has met her burden of proving that the respondent's decision to bypass her for the Literary Learning Specialist position violated her tenure rights and was arbitrary, unreasonable, or capricious. The petitioner has the burden of proving a tenure right. Canfield v. Bd. of Educ. of Pine Hill, 51 N.J. 400 (1968).

According to N.J.S.A. 18A:28-1 to -18, tenure laws define the conditions under which teaching staff members are entitled to job security. Tenure has been described as a "statutory right" imposed upon a teaching staff member's contractual employment status. Zimmerman v. Newark Bd. of Educ., 38 N.J. 65, 72 (1962), cert. denied, 371 U.S. 956 (1963). The tenure laws create exceptions to the protections afforded to tenured teaching staff members. A school board has the managerial prerogative to transfer teaching staff members by a majority vote of the board. N.J.S.A. 18A:25-1.

A transfer refers to a school board's right to assign a teacher to a position within their certification scope. A tenured teacher may be involuntarily transferred to another position within his or her certification where no loss of salary or other reduction in employment is suffered, and the teacher is not singled out for the transfer on a prohibited basis. Carpenito v. Rumson Bd. of Educ., 322 N.J. Super. 522, 529 (App. Div. 1999). In Carpenito, a tenured teacher was transferred after his position was eliminated, but he did not suffer any pay discrepancy or loss of benefits. Several years later, when his previous position reopened, he applied for it, but it was given to a non-tenured teacher. He alleged that the school acted improperly and violated his seniority rights. Id. at 526. However, the court agreed with the board, ruling that his seniority rights were not violated when the board transferred its tenured staff to other positions within their certification. Id. at 534. The Appellate Division agreed that the board could transfer a teaching staff member between appropriate assignments if the transfer aligns with the teacher's instructional certificate and subject-area endorsements unless allegations of bad faith or unlawful purpose exist. Id. at 533–34.

When a school board deems it necessary to eliminate a position, "seniority" is a right afforded to tenured employees entitling the employee to either continue in an existing job opening based on their longevity of employment or be placed on an eligible list for reemployment when a new position becomes available. Id. at 531. Seniority is a by-product of tenure and comes into play only if tenure rights are reduced by way of dismissal or reduction in tangible employment benefits. Ibid.

The petitioner claims that her seniority and tenure rights were violated when a non-tenured teacher was appointed to the Literacy Learning Specialist position instead of her, despite her being qualified for the position and its substantial similarity to a position she previously held. The petitioner alleges that the respondent bypassed her tenure rights by renaming the position, appointing a non-tenured employee, and moving her to different positions.

On the other hand, the respondent argues that it had the authority to transfer teaching staff members and that the petitioner was appropriately transferred. It claims that her seniority and tenure rights were not violated, so she had no entitlement to the Literacy Learning Specialist position.

First, like the petitioner in Carpenito, the petitioner was neither dismissed, nor was her salary reduced due to the respondent's decision to assign her to a different position; she suffered no loss of employment. Her employment was continued within the scope of her certification. Her seniority relative to non-tenured or tenured employees is irrelevant. Seniority rights are not triggered when a school board merely transfers or assigns a tenured teaching staff member to another position within the teacher's appropriate certification.

Second, the evidence presented establishes that the petitioner is not qualified for the Literacy Learning Specialist position. She does not possess a Reading Specialist Certificate, a Teacher of Reading Certificate, or a Teacher of Supplemental Reading and Math Certificate—a requirement for the position.

Last, the petitioner did not present evidence that the respondent's actions were motivated by bad faith or an unlawful purpose.

Based on the above, I CONCLUDE that the respondent's action in abolishing the petitioner's Reading Specialist position and transferring her to a position within her certification did not violate the petitioner's tenure or seniority rights and that it was not arbitrary, unreasonable, or capricious.

I further CONCLUDE that the petitioner has failed to prove, by a preponderance of the evidence, that she was qualified for and entitled to the Literary Learning Specialist position and that the respondent acted in bad faith or was arbitrary and capricious in bypassing her for the position.

ORDER

Given my findings of fact and conclusions of law, I ORDER that the petitioner's motion for summary decision is DENIED. I further ORDER that the respondent's motion for summary decision is GRANTED, and the petitioner's appeal is DISMISSED.

I hereby FILE this Initial Decision with the ACTING COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified, or rejected by the ACTING COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the ACTING COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

Re: In the Matter of Anthony Remy, Asbury Park Board of Education, Monmouth County, Agency Dkt. No. 235-7/24, Commissioner Decision No. 317-24SEC

Dear Mr. Desevo,

I have reviewed the materials filed in connection with respondent's Motion for Reconsideration of the Commissioner's decision of September 4, 2024.

Pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.15(b), a motion for reconsideration must be filed within 10 days of the filing of the Commissioner's decision. Here, the Commissioner's decision was emailed to the parties on September 5, 2024, making any motion for reconsideration due on September 16, 2024. However, respondent's Motion was not received until October 11, 2024, nearly a month after the due date. For this reason, respondent's Motion for Reconsideration is denied as untimely.

Furthermore, even if the Motion were to be accepted, upon review and consideration of the submissions, I find that respondent has failed to satisfy the factors set forth in N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.15(b)(2). Pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.15(b)(2), a motion for reconsideration shall be determined based upon the following:

i. claim(s) of mistake, provided, however, that disagreement with the outcome of a decision, or with the analysis upon which it is based, shall not constitute "mistake" for purposes of this section;
ii. newly discovered evidence likely to alter the outcome of a matter, where such evidence could not have been previously discovered by due diligence;
iii. newly ascertained misrepresentation or other misconduct of an adverse party, where such misrepresentation could not have been previously known; or
iv. reversal of a prior judgment on which the present matter is based.

Respondent's sole basis for requesting reconsideration is that he has "now completed the required training." Although his submission indicates that he has "enclosed same," the submission does not include any proof that the training has been completed, but rather only includes copies of respondent's Personal/Relative Disclosure Statement, which is required by a different provision of the School Ethics Act than the training requirement. Therefore, the Commissioner cannot conclude that the training has been completed.

Moreover, even accepting for purposes of this motion that respondent has completed the training, respondent provides no explanation for his failure to complete the training by the statutory deadline of December 31, 2023, or by the deadline of June 13, 2024 set by the School Ethics Commission (SEC) to avoid the issuance of an Order to Show Cause (OTSC) for non-compliance. The record reflects that respondent received notice from the New Jersey School Boards Association regarding mandated training, as well as three separate warnings from the SEC that non-compliance would result in the issuance of an OTSC. Respondent did not complete the training after receiving any of these notices, or after receiving the OTSC, or after receiving the SEC's final decision.

Pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:28-4.3, the SEC shall recommend to the Commissioner that a board member who fails to complete training after the SEC issues its decision, and after the Commissioner issues a final decision, be removed from his position. Even if respondent has "now" completed the training, it was completed after the Commissioner's final decision and, therefore, removal is the appropriate penalty. The Commissioner finds that this penalty is particularly appropriate for respondent, who has already been reprimanded and suspended for two earlier failures to meet his obligations as a board member.

Accordingly, the Motion for Reconsideration is hereby DENIED.[1]

Sincerely,

Kevin Dehmer
Acting Commissioner

Before the School Ethics Commission
Docket No.: T10-24
Decision for Failure to Complete Mandatory Training Requirement in a Timely Manner

---

I/M/O Anthony Remy,
Asbury Park Board of Education, Monmouth County

I. Procedural History

This matter arises from an Order to Show Cause (OTSC) that was issued by the School Ethics Commission (Commission) in connection with the above-captioned matter at its special meeting on June 17, 2024, directing Anthony Remy (Respondent), a "board member" as defined in N.J.S.A. 18A:12-23 of the School Ethics Act (Act), N.J.S.A. 18A:12-21 et seq., to show cause as to why the Commission should not find Respondent in violation of the Act, for failing to complete training as required by N.J.S.A. 18A:12-33 and N.J.A.C. 6A:28-4.1.

In the OTSC that was served on June 17, 2024, the Commission notified Respondent that he had twenty (20) days to respond to the OTSC. Respondent was further advised that failure to respond would be deemed an admission of the facts set forth in the OTSC, and the Commission may take action on a summary basis, in accordance with N.J.A.C. 6A:28-1.6(c).

II. Analysis

The Act was enacted by the New Jersey State Legislature to ensure and preserve public confidence in members of local boards of education and local school administrators. N.J.S.A. 18A:12-33 and N.J.A.C. 6A:28-4.1 require every board member to complete a training program prepared and offered by the New Jersey School Boards Association (NJSBA).

Respondent is a member of the Asbury Park Board of Education, located in Monmouth County. As a result of his position as a board of education member, and in accordance with N.J.S.A. 18A:12-33 and N.J.A.C. 6A:28-4.1, Respondent is required to complete a mandated training program on an annual basis. For convenience and ease, the training is offered online so any board member may complete it at any time, from anywhere. According to NJSBA, Respondent was required to complete the Governance 3 training program by December 31, 2023.

On or about May 7, 2024, the NJSBA provided the Commission with the names of those board of education members who failed to complete mandated training by December 31, 2023, and the list provided included Respondent. Prior to that time, multiple communications about mandated training were sent to Respondent from the NJSBA through a variety of means, including a targeted e-mail message on January 4, 2023, as well as postings in School Board Notes on 19 occasions. Notwithstanding all of these communications, Respondent did not complete mandated training.

As a final warning, the Commission's staff sent e-mails to Respondent dated May 8, 2024, May 22, 2024, and June 5, 2024, advising Respondent that the Commission required completion of the training by June 13, 2024, to avoid the issuance of an OTSC for non-compliance. Again, notwithstanding this correspondence, Respondent did not complete the required training. As a result, an OTSC was issued by the Commission at its special meeting on June 17, 2024.

To date, there is no dispute that Respondent did not complete his required training by December 31, 2023, and did not complete the training prior to the Commission's final deadline of June 13, 2024, and therefore, the Commission issued an OTSC at its meeting on June 17, 2024. After having been served with the OTSC, Respondent failed to respond to the Commission's OTSC as to why he did not complete training by December 31, 2023, and also failed to complete training as required by N.J.S.A. 18A:12-33 and N.J.A.C. 6A:28-4.1.

III. Decision/Penalty Recommendation

N.J.A.C. 6A:28-4.2(d) provides that school board members and charter school trustees who fail to comply with their training mandate shall be considered in violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-33. Based on the record as set forth above, at its meeting on July 23, 2024, the Commission found that Respondent violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-33. Respondent received repeated notifications of his training requirement, and had ample opportunity to complete the mandated training in a timely fashion; nonetheless, Respondent failed to complete training as required. Additionally, Respondent was previously issued a reprimand for failing to timely complete his mandatory training requirement in a timely fashion (T28-21), as well as a 60-day suspension for failing to timely file his 2023 Disclosure Statements (D06-23).

Where a violation of the Act is found by the Commission, it may recommend to the Commissioner of Education that a penalty be imposed. The recommended penalty can include a reprimand, censure, suspension or removal of the school official. N.J.A.C. 6A:28-9.11. Specifically, unless good cause is shown or the school official previously has been the subject of an OTSC, "the Commission shall recommend that a board member or trustee who completes training after the Commission issues its decision, but before the Commissioner issues a final decision, receives a suspension for 30 days." N.J.A.C. 6A:28-4.3(c). However, "the Commission will recommend this penalty only if the board member or the trustee provides to the [NJSBA] and the Commission written notice before the Commissioner issues a final decision." Ibid. If the board member or trustee fails to complete training as of the date the Commissioner issues its final decision, the Commission will recommend removal of the board member or trustee from his or her position. N.J.A.C. 6A:28-4.3(d).

Given that Respondent was previously the subject of two OTSC, the Commission recommends that the Commissioner of Education impose a penalty removal, with such removal to become effective immediately upon issuance of the Commissioner of Education's decision.

Pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:12-29(c), this decision shall be forwarded to the Commissioner of Education for review of the Commission's recommended penalty. Respondent may either: 1) file exceptions to the recommended sanction; 2) file an appeal of the Commission's finding of a violation; or 3) file both exceptions to the recommended sanction together with an appeal of the finding of a violation.

Parties taking exception to the recommended sanction of the Commission but not disputing the Commission's finding of a violation may file, within thirteen (13) days from the date the Commission's decision is forwarded to the Commissioner, written exceptions regarding the recommended penalty to the Commissioner. The forwarding date shall be the mailing date to the parties, as indicated below. Such exceptions must be forwarded to: Commissioner of Education, c/o Bureau of Controversies and Disputes, P.O. Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625, marked "Attention: Comments on Ethics Commission Sanction." as well as to (ControversiesDisputesFilings@doe.nj.gov). A copy must also be sent to the Commission (school.ethics@doe.nj.gov) and all other parties.

Parties seeking to appeal the Commission's finding of violation must file an appeal pursuant to the standards set forth at N.J.A.C. 6A:4:1 et seq. within thirty (30) days of the filing date of the decision from which the appeal is taken. The filing date shall be three (3) days after the date of mailing to the parties, as shown below. In such cases, the Commissioner's review of the Commission's recommended sanction will be deferred and incorporated into the Commissioner's review of the finding of violation on appeal. Where a notice of appeal has been filed on or before the due date for exceptions to the Commission's recommended sanction (thirteen (13) days from the date the decision is mailed by the Commission), exceptions need not be filed by that date, but may be incorporated into the appellant's briefs on appeal.

Resolution Adopting Decision for Failure to Complete Mandatory Training Requirement in a Timely Manner Docket No.: T10-24

Whereas, Anthony Remy (Respondent) is a "board member" as defined in N.J.S.A. 18A:12-23 of the School Ethics Act (Act); and

Whereas, as a board member, Respondent is required to complete a training program prepared and offered by the New Jersey School Boards Association (NJSBA) on an annual basis; and

Whereas, Respondent failed to complete his training program by December 31, 2023; and

Whereas, at its special meeting on June 17, 2024, the School Ethics Commission (Commission) issued an Order to Show Cause (OTSC) directing Respondent to show cause as to why he failed to complete his mandatory training by December 31, 2023, as required by N.J.S.A. 18A:12-33 and N.J.A.C. 6A:28-4.1; and

Whereas, after having been served with the OTSC, Respondent failed to respond to the Commission's OTSC as to why he did not complete training by December 31, 2023, and also failed to complete training as required by N.J.S.A. 18A:12-33 and N.J.A.C. 6A:28-4.1; and

Whereas, Respondent was previously issued a reprimand for failing to timely complete his mandatory training requirement in a timely fashion, as well as a 60-day suspension for failing to timely file his 2023 Disclosure Statements; and

Whereas, at its meeting on July 23, 2024, the Commission found that Respondent violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-33 and N.J.A.C. 6A:28-4.1 by failing to complete the training requirement he was obligated to complete; and

Whereas, at its meeting on July 23, 2024, the Commission recommended that the Commissioner of Education impose a penalty of removal, with such removal to become effective immediately upon issuance of a final decision by the Commissioner of Education because he was previously the subject of two OTSC; and

Whereas, at its meeting on July 23, 2024, the Commission agreed that the within decision accurately memorializes its findings and recommendations; and

Now Therefore Be It Resolved, that the Commission hereby adopts the within decision and directs its staff to notify all parties to this action of the decision.

Re: In the Matter of Gisselle Bond, Roselle Board of Education, Union County, Agency Dkt. No. 239-7/24, Commissioner Decision No. 321-24SEC

Dear Ms. Edwards-Stewart,

I have reviewed the materials filed in connection with respondent's Motion for Reconsideration of the Commissioner's decision of September 4, 2024.

Pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.15(b)(2), a motion for reconsideration shall be determined based upon the following:

i. claim(s) of mistake, provided, however, that disagreement with the outcome of a decision, or with the analysis upon which it is based, shall not constitute "mistake" for purposes of this section;
ii. newly discovered evidence likely to alter the outcome of a matter, where such evidence could not have been previously discovered by due diligence;
iii. newly ascertained misrepresentation or other misconduct of an adverse party, where such misrepresentation could not have been previously known; or
iv. reversal of a prior judgment on which the present matter is based.

Upon review and consideration of the submissions, I find that respondent has failed to satisfy the factors set forth in N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.15(b)(2).

Respondent first takes issue with the notices sent to her by the SEC regarding her training deficiency, contending that they were sent to her personal email address rather than her Roselle Board of Education (Board) email address "for some inexplicable reason." The Commissioner notes that all notices are sent to board members at the email address provided to the New Jersey School Boards

Association (NJSBA) by those board members or the secretaries of the boards on which they serve; the School Ethics Commission (SEC) then receives the email address from the NJSBA.

Respondent argues that contrary to the findings in the Commissioner's decision, the SEC sent its decision to her Board email address, not her personal email address, which was used for all earlier notices. However, this fact does not alter the Commissioner's conclusion. The record also contains information demonstrating that the personal email address was correct and active, given that respondent received emails confirming her completion of the training courses at that email address in July 2024, and subsequently used the same email address to forward those confirmations to her attorney. As the Commissioner already concluded in the September 4, 2024 decision, the fact that respondent did not check that personal email address is not a sufficient reason to reduce her penalty.

Respondent also provides what she contends is new evidence proving that she satisfied the mandatory training and obtained the related requisite knowledge prior to the December 2023 deadline and was only unable to obtain proof of her course completion due to technical issues beyond her control. In particular, respondent asserts her belief that there was a badge scanning error when she attended an in-person Governance III training, submitting a certification indicating that NJSBA staff indicated that such an error is possible. Even accepting respondent's assertion as true for purposes of this Motion, it does not explain her failure to complete the Governance II training. Respondent's argument that she only failed to complete the signature section, but had otherwise completed the course, was already considered and rejected by the Commissioner, and her disagreement with that outcome is not a sufficient basis to warrant reconsideration.

Accordingly, the Motion for Reconsideration is hereby DENIED.[1]

Sincerely,

Kevin Dehmer
Acting Commissioner

New Jersey Commissioner of Education

Final Decision

Robert Cauvin,

Petitioner,

v.

Board of Education of the Township of North Brunswick, Middlesex County, and New Jersey Department of Education, Office of Student Protection,

Respondent.

Synopsis

Petitioner, a tenured teacher, challenged the determination of the NJDOE, Office of Student Protection (OSP), to permanently disqualify him from employment in a public school pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1(a) after a criminal history background check revealed that petitioner pled guilty in 1997 to lewdness, N.J.S.A. 2C:14-4, in North Brunswick Municipal Court. N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1(a) mandates that individuals convicted of an offense set forth in Chapter 14 of Title 2C are "permanently disqualified from employment" in public schools. Petitioner's offense was not detected by OSP until 2022, after he had worked for years as a teacher without his 1997 conviction coming to light. Petitioner contended that the Board violated his tenure rights by terminating him without the filing of tenure charges; he sought reinstatement of his employment and restoration of emoluments including pension contributions. The parties filed cross motions for summary decision.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: the lewdness offense is not a disqualifying crime because under State v. O., private consensual sexual activity does not constitute lewdness within the meaning of N.J.S.A. 2C:14-4; petitioner has not forfeited his tenure rights and is entitled to a hearing before an arbitrator regarding his employment; petitioner's termination is unwarranted given prior Commissioner decisions in tenure matters involving teachers found guilty of lewdness who were given lesser penalties, as well as prior decisions in TEACH NJ arbitration matters; and OSP was not barred under the doctrine of laches from asserting that petitioner's conviction was a disqualifying crime or offense. The ALJ granted petitioner's motion for summary decision and ordered his reinstatement effective May 3, 2022.

Upon review, the Commissioner, inter alia, rejected the Initial Decision and granted the respondents' motions for summary decision. In so doing, the Commissioner found that the ALJ committed several legal errors in summarily reversing petitioner's disqualification and ordering his reinstatement, including disregarding the plain language of the mandatory disqualification statute, N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1, and revisiting the propriety of the 1997 lewdness conviction entered following petitioner's guilty plea – for which the ALJ lacked jurisdiction. Accordingly, the petition was dismissed.

New Jersey Commissioner of Education

Final Decision

Robert Cauvin,

Petitioner,

v.

Board of Education of the Township of North Brunswick, Middlesex County, and New Jersey Department of Education, Office of Student Protection,

Respondents.

The record of this matter, the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), the exceptions filed by respondent Board of Education of the Township of North Brunswick (Board) and respondent New Jersey Department of Education, Office of Student Protection (OSP) pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4, and petitioner's reply thereto, have been reviewed and considered.

The material facts are uncontested. In October 1997, petitioner pled guilty to lewdness, N.J.S.A. 2C:14-4, in North Brunswick Municipal Court. He maintains that he was charged with the offense after engaging in a consensual sexual act in a car parked in a very private area of North Brunswick. N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1(a) mandates that individuals convicted of "[a]n offense as set forth in Chapter 14 of Title 2C" are "permanently disqualified from employment" in public schools. For reasons not known from the record, petitioner's October 1997 lewdness offense was not detected by OSP during his long career as a teacher until 2022. He worked as a special education teacher for the Scotch Plains-Fanwood Regional School District from 1998 until 2003, and for the North Brunswick Township School District from 2003 until May 3, 2022. In 2000 and 2003, he underwent criminal history record checks conducted by OSP which found no criminal record.

On May 3, 2022, OSP informed the Board's Superintendent via email that petitioner was permanently disqualified from public school employment pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1(a) based upon a 1997 conviction in North Brunswick Municipal Court "for a disqualifying crime or offense." On that same date, the Board terminated his employment. At its next meeting on May 11, 2022, the Board adopted a resolution approving his termination. At the time of petitioner's termination, he was on paid administrative leave following an unrelated November 2021 arrest.

In his petition of appeal, petitioner contends that the Board violated his tenure rights when it terminated him without the filing of tenure charges and seeks reinstatement of his employment, retroactive to May 3, 2022, plus restoration of economic emoluments including pension contributions. Citing State v. O., 69 N.J. 574 (1976), he further contends that OSP wrongly considered the lewdness offense to be a disqualifying offense.[1] Once the matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), the parties moved for summary decision. The ALJ granted petitioner's motion for summary decision and ordered his reinstatement effective May 3, 2022.

The ALJ found: (1) the lewdness offense is not a disqualifying crime or offense because under State v. O., private consensual sexual activity does not constitute lewdness within the meaning of N.J.S.A. 2C:14-4; (2) petitioner has not forfeited his tenure rights and is entitled to a hearing before an arbitrator regarding his employment; (3) petitioner's termination is unwarranted given prior Commissioner decisions in tenure matters involving teachers found guilty of lewdness who were given lesser penalties, and prior decisions in TEACH NJ arbitration matters; and (4) OSP was not barred under the doctrine of laches from asserting that petitioner's conviction was a disqualifying crime or offense. Initial Decision, at 9-13.

[1] Petitioner also alleged that the Board violated the Open Public Meetings Act (OPMA), specifically N.J.S.A. 10:4-12(b)(8), by failing to provide him with a Rice notice to advise that his employment would be discussed by the Board at its May 11, 2022, meeting. The ALJ did not make findings on this issue in the Initial Decision, and petitioner has not filed exceptions thereto. Therefore, the Commissioner deems the issue waived and will not consider it.

In its exceptions, the Board argues that the ALJ erred in summarily ordering the reversal of petitioner's disqualification and his reinstatement. It contends that the ALJ sought to analyze the propriety of the 1997 conviction, which is an overreach to a question not presented. It notes that petitioner is not challenging the accuracy of his criminal history record, and that the implications of the offense must be analyzed under the mandatory disqualification statute, N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1. It also contends that the ALJ's reliance on prior Commissioner tenure decisions is misplaced because the holdings in those cases, which concern whether lewd acts constituted "conduct unbecoming," cannot be extrapolated to disqualification cases. Regarding petitioner's reinstatement, the Board contends that the ALJ exceeded his authority because only the Board can re-employ petitioner, either on its own initiative or by order of the Commissioner. Furthermore, even if petitioner's reinstatement stands, the Board argues that it should not be compelled to bear the cost of his back pay and benefits because it had no choice under State law but to terminate petitioner.

OSP also takes exception to the ALJ's conclusion that the 1997 lewdness offense is not a disqualifying offense and requests that petitioner's disqualification from public school employment be upheld. It asserts that it is undisputed that petitioner was convicted of an offense that automatically results in disqualification pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1. It further argues that disqualification is mandatory regardless of when the conviction occurred. It also notes that petitioner does not challenge the accuracy of his criminal history record. It maintains that the ALJ did not have the authority to rule upon or revisit the merits of the underlying conviction, and that petitioner's opportunity to challenge the conviction occurred during the municipal court proceedings.

In response, petitioner continues to dispute the legality of his 1997 conviction, arguing that under State v. O., decided in 1976, his actions did not constitute lewdness within the meaning of N.J.S.A. 2C:14-4. Consequently, he argues that the incident cannot serve as a basis for his disqualification and that N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1 is inapplicable. He reiterates his claim that his tenure rights were violated because the Board did not file tenure charges against him prior to terminating his employment. He repeats his assertion that any alleged disqualifying criminal misconduct must in some way involve his official employment duties for forfeiture of any vested tenure rights to occur. He again cites numerous prior Commissioner tenure decisions and TEACH NJ arbitration awards to support his position that his termination was unwarranted for committing a lewdness offense.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurs with respondents that the Initial Decision must be rejected because the ALJ erred by summarily reversing petitioner's disqualification and ordering his reinstatement. First, the ALJ committed legal error by disregarding the plain language of the mandatory disqualification statute, N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1. N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1(a) unambiguously states that individuals convicted of "[a]n offense as set forth in Chapter 14 of Title 2C" are "permanently disqualified from employment" in public schools. While N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1(e) allows an individual "to challenge the accuracy of the disqualifying criminal history record," petitioner does not challenge the accuracy of his criminal history record.[2] It is uncontested that he pled guilty to lewdness, N.J.S.A. 2C:14-4, in 1997. Consequently, upon learning of same in May 2022, OSP notified petitioner and the Board that petitioner was permanently disqualified from public school employment. The Board was obligated as a matter of law to terminate petitioner's employment once he was permanently disqualified. In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of John Socrates, Commissioner Decision No. 235-11 at 3 (June 24, 2011).

Second, the ALJ committed legal error when revisiting the propriety of the 1997 lewdness conviction entered following petitioner's guilty plea. The ALJ lacked jurisdiction to review the conviction, to decide that private consensual sexual activity does not constitute lewdness within the meaning of N.J.S.A. 2C:14-4, and to hold that, therefore, petitioner did not commit a disqualifying offense. The Commissioner has jurisdiction to determine "controversies and disputes arising under the school laws." N.J.S.A. 18A:6-9. Bower v. Bd. of Educ. of E. Orange, 149 N.J. 416, 420 (1997). N.J.S.A. 2C:14-4 is not a school law; it is part of the New Jersey Code of Criminal Justice. Neither the adjudication of crimes and offenses nor the appellate review of convictions falls within the Commissioner's purview. The ALJ's opinion regarding the factual basis for the conviction is irrelevant to the question of petitioner's disqualification from public school employment. As explained above, it is uncontested that petitioner pled guilty to a permanently disqualifying offense as per the plain language of N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1, and he does not challenge the accuracy of his criminal history record. The conviction stands and has not been expunged.

[2] Since petitioner has repeatedly acknowledged that he does not challenge the accuracy of his criminal history record, the ALJ's determination that OSP did not provide him with an opportunity to challenge it is rejected as unsupported by the record.

Accordingly, OSP acted appropriately when it permanently disqualified petitioner from public school employment, and the Board acted appropriately when it terminated his employment.

Third, the ALJ committed legal error when holding that the Board violated petitioner's tenure rights by terminating his employment without the filing of tenure charges, and that he is entitled to a hearing before an arbitrator regarding his employment. In Socrates, which the ALJ did not consider, respondent, a tenured teacher, pled guilty to a Chapter 14, Title 2C lewdness offense in municipal court. Socrates, at 2. Although the Board had filed tenure charges against him that were stayed pending disposition of the criminal matter before he pled guilty, the Commissioner upheld his summary termination immediately following OSP's determination to permanently disqualify him from public school employment because he pled guilty to a permanently disqualifying offense as identified in N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1. Id. at 2-3.

The Commissioner held in Socrates that removal from his tenured teaching position did not occur as a consequence of the tenure charges filed against him, but rather was "obligatory as a matter of law" under N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1. Id. at 2. Thus, the Commissioner found no basis for a hearing or oral argument on the tenure charges, which were never adjudicated. Id. at 2-3. The same is true in this case. The Board had an obligation to terminate petitioner's employment upon notification from OSP that he was convicted of a permanently disqualifying offense. Tenure charges are unnecessary given the circumstances, and petitioner is not entitled to a hearing before an arbitrator.[3]

[3] The ALJ's reliance upon Caucino v. Board of Trustees, Teachers' Pension and Annuity Fund, 475 N.J. Super. 405 (App. Div. 2023), in further support of his conclusion that petitioner is entitled to a tenure hearing is misplaced. The Commissioner rejects the ALJ's finding that under Caucino, "an individual cannot be presumed guilty of any form of 'unbecoming conduct' if they were not employed as a teacher" and that, therefore, petitioner has not forfeited his "vested tenure rights." Initial Decision, at 11. At the Fourth, the ALJ committed legal error when holding that petitioner's termination is unwarranted given prior Commissioner decisions in tenure matters involving teachers found guilty of lewdness who were given lesser penalties, as well as TEACH NJ arbitration matters involving "sexual activities." Initial Decision, at 13. Apart from the fact that the instant case does not involve adjudication of tenure charges or a determination regarding whether petitioner's actions constitute unbecoming conduct, the tenure matters cited by the ALJ were decided in 1985 and 1988—many years before N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1 was amended in 1998 to mandate permanent disqualification from public school employment upon conviction of a lewdness offense. See L. 1998, c. 31, § 5 (amending N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1 to require permanent disqualification from employment if convicted of certain enumerated crimes and offenses, including offenses set forth in chapter 14 of Title 2C).

Thus, the fact that individuals in the 1980s tenure matters were not permanently disqualified or terminated from employment at the conclusion of tenure proceedings is neither dispositive nor controlling because, at that time, N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1 did not mandate permanent disqualification upon conviction of a lewdness offense as it does today. Similarly, the ALJ's reliance upon TEACH NJ arbitration matters to support the conclusion that petitioner is entitled to a tenure hearing ignores N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1 and its applicability to the facts of this case. That statute was not at issue in the TEACH NJ arbitration matters relied upon by petitioner and the outset, Caucino concerned pension rights, not tenure rights. Moreover, neither the Commissioner nor the Board nor OSP has presumed petitioner guilty of "unbecoming conduct." A finding regarding whether petitioner's conviction constitutes unbecoming conduct is unnecessary given N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1's mandate that he be permanently disqualified from public school employment based upon his criminal history record. Any issues concerning forfeiture of vested rights under pension laws following permanent disqualification from employment pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1—which is the focus of the Caucino opinion—are beyond the scope of this proceeding.

ALJ, and none of those individuals were convicted of a lewdness offense. Therefore, the TEACH NJ arbitration matters are distinguishable and fail to support the conclusion that petitioner is entitled to a tenure hearing.

Accordingly, the Initial Decision is rejected for the reasons explained herein. Respondents' motions for summary decision are granted, and the petition of appeal is hereby dismissed. Petitioner remains permanently disqualified from public school employment pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1 as per OSP's May 2022 determination, and the Board's termination of petitioner's employment is upheld on that basis.

IT IS SO ORDERED.[4]

Record Closed: February 26, 2024 Decided: August 26, 2024

BEFORE CARL V. BUCK III, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

This case was initially filed through an application for emergent relief pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6, in which petitioner Robert Cauvin (Cauvin or petitioner) challenged termination of his employment as a tenured special education teacher by the North Brunswick Township Board of Education (Board), viz., the North Brunswick Township School District (District). Petitioner sought immediate reemployment retroactive to May 3, 2022. Petitioner's termination was based upon information provided to the District from the Office of Student Protection (OSP) (under the State of New Jersey, Department of Education (DOE)), dated May 3, 2022. This information stated that petitioner is permanently disqualified from serving in "any position, paid or unpaid, with any educational institution under the supervision of the Department of Education, or with a contracted service provider under contract with said school or educational facility." This disqualification was based on an arrest which occurred in North Brunswick on October 15, 1997 (arrest), and subsequent conviction.

On May 3, 2022 the Board hand delivered a letter (Letter) to petitioner, dated May 3, 2022, which stated, "as a result of a conviction stemming from an arrest in 1997, you are 'permanently disqualified from serving in any position, paid, or unpaid, with any education under the supervision of the Department of Education.'" The Letter further states petitioner is terminated "[a]s a result of the foregoing notification, and [his] disqualification from serving as a teacher." (Pet'r's Mot. Ex. B.) The District superintendent stated that she recommends the Board to retroactively approve same during its next meeting. The Board's public meeting notes of May 11, 2022 indicate that the Board adopted a resolution to approve the termination of [petitioner]. Id.

Petitioner seeks a determination that respondent erred in disqualifying him from employment due to the 1997 arrest, where petitioner did not know that:

1. Such arrest in 1997 would lead to a disqualification from employment; and

2. Such arrest never appeared on prior investigations performed for employment.

Petitioner challenges the action of OSP on the following bases:

1. The lack of a Rice Notice required by N.J.S.A. 10:4-6, the Open Public Meetings Act (OPMA), prior to public meeting where the Board voted to terminate him; and

2. The lack of providing a tenure proceeding prior to his termination;
3. The additional reasons detailed herein.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY AND FACTUAL FINDINGS

On July 21, 2022, petitioner appealed the action by the District and moved for emergent relief and alternatively for relief through a due process hearing.

The matter was transferred to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), where it was filed on July 26, 2022, as a contested case. N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to –15; N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to –13. In an Order on the emergent matter issued by me on August 4, 2022, petitioner's request for emergent relief was denied. That denial was made without prejudice.

On or about August 21, 2023, petitioner filed a Motion for Summary Decision. Respondent filed a response to the Motion and Cross Motion on the same date. The parties filed joint stipulations on August 24, 2023. On September 22, 2023, petitioner filed a reply letter memorandum and supporting documentation. Oral argument on the motions was held on December 12, 2023. Final submissions were made, and the record was closed on February 26, 2024. Extensions for issuance of this Initial Decision were requested and granted.

The following FACTS have been agreed to by the parties and are submitted as joint exhibits and accordingly I FIND the following as FACT:

1. Robert Cauvin is the holder of a Teacher of Handicapped certificate.

2. On October 15, 1997, Robert Cauvin was arrested in New Brunswick, New Jersey and charged with N.J.S.A. 2C:14-4, Lewdness under complaint S-1997-534513.

3. On October 28, 1997, Robert Cauvin was found guilty and assessed fines for the Lewdness charge stemming from the October 15, 1997 arrest.

4. On October 28, 1997, Robert Cauvin completed all financial obligations related to the Lewdness charge stemming from the October 15, 1998 arrest (sic).

5. Robert Cauvin worked for the Scotch Plains-Fanwood School District from 1998 until 2003.

6. As an employee of the Scotch Plains-Fanwood School District, Robert Cauvin was required to undergo a background check.

7. Background checks for prospective public school employees are done by the New Jersey Department of Education, Office of Student Protection (OSP).

8. On July 24, 2000, a payment for a background check was requested for Robert Cauvin for purposes of employment with Scotch Plains-Fanwood School District.

9. The background check stemming from the July 24, 2000 payment found no criminal record for Robert Cauvin. Therefore, OSP did not disqualify Robert Cauvin from working for the Scotch Plains-Fanwood School District.

10. Robert Cauvin worked for the North Brunswick Township School District (District) from 2003 until May 3, 2022.

11. As an employee of the District, Robert Cauvin was required to undergo a background check.

12. On August 5, 2003, a check to pay for a background check was requested for Robert Cauvin for purposes of employment with the District.

13. The background check resulting from the August 5, 2003 payment found no criminal record for Robert Cauvin. Therefore, OSP did not disqualify Robert Cauvin from working for the District.

14. On May 3, 2022, OSP informed the District that Robert Cauvin was permanently disqualified from teaching based on the finding of guilty for the October 15, 1997 arrest for lewdness.

15. On May 3, 2022, based on the disqualification, the District terminated Robert Cauvin's employment.

16. The Lewdness charge stemming from the October 15, 1997 arrest has not been expunged.

17. Robert Cauvin has filed to expunge the Lewdness charge stemming from the October 15, 1997 arrest in Middlesex County Superior Court.

The following FACTS are not in dispute and accordingly I FIND:

On or about October 15, 1997, petitioner was arrested. (Pet'r's Cert. 2.[1]) The petitioner was ultimately convicted of the charge of with a violation of N.J.S.A. 2C:14-4[2], Lewdness under complaint S-1997-534513.

Beginning in 1998, petitioner was employed in two positions in two separate school districts; both of which required background checks. (Pet'r's Resp. 2-3.) The background check from July 24, 2000, revealed no criminal convictions. The background check from August 5, 2003, revealed no criminal convictions. Petitioner's second position was with the Board where he was a Special Education teacher from 2003 until his termination.

[1] Petitioner states that he was arrested "for engaging in a consensual sexual act in [his] car that was parked in a very private area in North Brunswick." Pet'r's Resp. 2. Petitioner has not provided records of said arrest.

[2] N.J.S.A. 2C:14-4. Lewdness

a. A person commits a disorderly persons offense if he does any flagrantly lewd and offensive act which he knows or reasonably expects is likely to be observed by other nonconsenting persons who would be affronted or alarmed.

b. A person commits a crime of the fourth degree if:

(1) He exposes his intimate parts for the purpose of arousing or gratifying the sexual desire of the actor or of any other person under circumstances where the actor knows or reasonably expects he is likely to be observed by a child who is less than 13 years of age where the actor is at least four years older than the child.

(2) He exposes his intimate parts for the purpose of arousing or gratifying the sexual desire of the actor or of any other person under circumstances where the actor knows or reasonably expects he is likely to be observed by a person who because of mental disease or defect is unable to understand the sexual nature of the actor's conduct.

c. As used in this section:

"lewd acts" shall include the exposing of the genitals for the purpose of arousing or gratifying the sexual desire of the actor or of any other person.

L.1978, c.95; amended 1992,c.8,s.1.

(Pet'r's Cert. 1.) On May 3, 2022, petitioner was provided a letter from Board Superintendent Janet Ciarrocca (Ciarrocca) which stated Cauvin was terminated from his teaching position. (Pet'r's Mot. Ex. A.) Petitioner's medical benefits ended on May 22, 2022.

The Board cites a redacted email, dated May 3, 2022, in support of this termination from James C. Scaringelli (Scaringelli), Investigator with the OSP, which was sent to Ciarrocca and dated May 3, 2022. (Pet'r's Mot. Ex. A.) The email states that the OSP received documentation showing a conviction for a disqualifying crime or offense, and that "the applicant has been notified that he is permanently disqualified from serving in any position, paid or unpaid, with any educational institution under the supervision of the Department of Education . . ." The email asks the Board to advise the OSP of the status of the applicant's employment.

The Board hand delivered the Letter to petitioner, dated May 3, 2022 which stated, "as a result of a conviction stemming from an arrest in 1997, you are 'permanently disqualified from serving in any position, paid, or unpaid, with any education under the supervision of the Department of Education.'" The Letter further states petitioner is terminated "[a]s a result of the foregoing notification, and [his] disqualification from serving as a teacher." (Pet'r's Mot. Ex. B.) The superintendent further stated she recommends the Board to retroactively approve same during its next meeting. Ibid. The Public Meeting notes of May 11, 2022, indicate that the Board adopted a resolution to approve the termination of [petitioner]. Id.

ARGUMENTS OF THE PARTIES

Petitioner asserts that he is entitled to relief in the form of his motion for summary decision and provides the following five points in support of his claim:

POINT I:

The petitioner is entitled to the granting of his motion for summary decision and his reinstatement as a teacher within the North Brunswick School District since the New Jersey Supreme Court's 1976 decision in State v. O. mandates the conclusion that engaging in private consensual sexual activity is not within the ambit of New Jersey criminal statutes and did not represent a "disqualifying crime or offense" that could result in the termination of the petitioner's tenured employment.

POINT II:

The 2023 published Appellate Division decision, Caucino v. Board of Trustees, Teachers' Pension and Annuity Fund, supports the petitioner's legal argument that even any alleged disqualifying criminal misconduct must in some way involve an employee's official employment duties in order to qualify for the forfeiture of any vested rights under a New Jersey state statute.

POINT III:

Prior Commissioner of Education and judicial decisions that relate to either criminal acts of teaching staff members and other certificated personnel or "conduct unbecoming a teacher" involving impermissible contact or acts directed at students mandate the conclusion that petitioner's 1997 plea to lewdness in consideration of the State v. O. supreme court decision does not support a conclusion that the petitioner committed any "disqualifying crime or offense" to warrant his dismissal.

POINT IV:

Teacher NJ arbitration awards also substantiate petitioner Cauvin's legal argument that his involvement in consensual sexual contact on October 15, 1997, does not support a conclusion that petitioner committed any "disqualifying crime or offense" to warrant his termination.

POINT V:

The respondent OSP is equitably estopped and barred by the principle of laches from arguing that in 1997the petitioner committed a "disqualifying crime or offense" when the OSP, on two separate occasions in conducting criminal history background checks of petitioner, determined that there was no basis to conclude that the petitioner committed any disqualifying act that required his dismissal.

The first argument of petitioner relies on the New Jersey Supreme Court Decision in State v. O., 69 N.J. 574 (1976). This case found that the private consensual acts between adults are not within the ambient of State criminal statutes, and thus the Board violated petitioner's rights when it summarily terminated petitioner based upon his offense in 1976 without initiating tenure charge proceedings. (P-Mot. 1-2.)

The Board's response to this contention is that petitioner's tenure rights were not violated when the Board was directed by the NJ DOE to terminate him because he was convicted a crime that permanently disqualified him from serving in any position with any educational institution under the supervision of the NJ DOE, and the Board has no authority to reject these findings.

Considering the facts, circumstances and documentary evidence supplied by the parties, I FIND that State v. O. dictates that individuals engaged in private consensual sexual activity could not be found guilty of indecent exposure, or committing an act of open lewdness, within the meaning of N.J.S.A. 2C:14-4, and that private consensual acts between adults are not within the ambit of any State criminal statutes. Extending then, petitioner's engagement in a private act of "exposure" between consenting adults in October, 1997, did not represent any criminal activity within the meaning of the New Jersey Criminal Statutes, such as N.J.S.A. 2A:115-1 or N.J.S.A. 2C:14-4 and therefore was not a disqualifying crime. Therefore, petitioner prevails on this point.

Petitioner's second point is borne out in his citation to Caucino v. Board of Trustees, Teachers' Pension and Annuity Fund, 475 N.J. Super. 405 (App. Div. 2023), wherein the Appellate Division noted that Caucino had been a teacher employed by the Monmouth County Vocational School District (Monmouth) and a contributing member of the Teachers' Pension and Annuity Fund (TPAF) during the time period between September 1993 until August 2004. He pled guilty in Federal District Court to bank fraud in 1995 and was sentenced in 1999. In June 2004, the New Jersey Board of Education notified Caucino that he was disqualified from employment as a teacher, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1, which permanently disqualifies teachers and other school employees who have been convicted of certain crimes from employment in all school systems under the supervision of the Department of Education.

The Appellate Division in Caucino found that in October 1999, six years after he was hired by the School District, Federal authorities advised the New Jersey Board of Education of Caucino's conviction and sentence, yet the New Jersey Board of Education took no action against Caucino's teaching certificate until five years later when a search conducted by the New Jersey Board of Education's Criminal History Review Unit confirmed Caucino's conviction and sentence.

The Appellate Division determined that any alleged disqualifying criminal misconduct must in some way involve an employee's official employment duties in order to qualify for the forfeiture of any vested rights under a New Jersey State Pension statute. Petitioner analogizes this to his case and states that there could not be the forfeiture of Cauvin's vested tenure rights based on any reliance that he had pled guilty to a violation of a statute determined by the New Jersey Supreme Court in 1976 to not encompass private consensual sexual activity, which the Supreme Court in State v. O. determined was not within the ambit of any criminal statute. Caucino holds that an individual cannot be presumed guilty of any form of "unbecoming conduct" if they were not employed as a teacher, especially in consideration of the significance of the State v. O.

The State counters that Cauvin's contention that he (Cauvin) cannot be disqualified because the act of lewdness for which he was arrested did not involve his employment. This is furthered in the State's brief that the disqualification statute is much more definitive and mandates that persons shall be permanently disqualified from service if that individual's criminal history check reveals a record of conviction for enumerated violations of N.J.S.A. 2C:14. N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1. The disqualification statute does not require that the enumerated violations occur at a school, or that they touched upon an educator's employment, for action to be taken against them by OSP. In fact, to his detriment, Cauvin acknowledges this fact and provides support for his disqualification.

The State further argues that in Caucino, the court did not reverse the removal of Caucino from Monmouth, nor did it reverse his permanent disqualification and that Cauvin's disqualification was appropriate and actually supported by the case law cited by Cauvin. As in Caucino, Cauvin's disqualifying offense was found after he began teaching, and, despite the offense being unrelated to his employment as an educator, the court took no issue with Caucino's removal. As such, as in Caucino, Cauvin's removal, per N.J.S.A. 18A:6A-7.1, was appropriate and supported by the law.

Considering the facts, circumstances and documentary evidence supplied by the parties I FIND that Caucino holds that an individual cannot be presumed guilty of any form of "unbecoming conduct" if they were not employed as a teacher, especially in consideration of the significance of the State v. O. Therefore, petitioner prevails on this point.

Petitioner's third point cites a number of cases (and their respective penalties) in asserting that his termination is unwarranted. The most salient of these are Board of Education of the Township of Old Bridge v. Richard M. Pappa, 1988 S.L.D. 542, where a tenured teacher was accused of "conduct unbecoming" because of his open public lewdness conviction. Pappa was arrested in a rest area on the Garden State Parkway by undercover agents operating a "sting" operation. His conduct was described as "sitting on a picnic table bench with his pants open, exposing his genitals and masturbating in the presence of an undercover officer". Id. at 543. Pappa pled guilty to public lewdness (N.J.S.A. 2C:14-4) in Municipal Court. The ALJ and the Commissioner of Education imposed a penalty of 120-day salary forfeiture, and the withholding of salary increment for one year.

The second salient case is In Town of West Orange Board of Education v. Martin Lieb, 1985 S.L.D. 933, the Commissioner affirmed the findings of the ALJ that Lieb should be reinstated as a school teacher following a public lewdness conviction. Lieb was originally charged with criminal sexual conduct in violation of N.J.S.A. 2C:14-3(b), but the offense was downgraded. Lieb had touched the "genital area" of an Essex County Police Officer in a secluded area of the South Mountain reservation.

The State counters that Cauvin's argument that he cannot be disqualified because the act of lewdness for which he was arrested did not involve his employment is erroneous. The State cites that in OSP's moving brief, the disqualification statute is much more definitive and mandates that persons shall be permanently disqualified from service if that individual's criminal history check reveals a record of conviction for enumerated violations of N.J.S.A. 2C:14. N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1. The disqualification statute does not require that the enumerated violations occur at a school, or that they touched upon an educator's employment, for action to be taken against them by OSP. In fact, to his detriment, Cauvin acknowledges this fact and provides support for his disqualification.

Considering the facts, circumstances and documentary evidence supplied by the parties I FIND the Pappa and Lieb cases persuasive. As a note, petitioner cites cases in which the "incidents" all occur during the pendency of teacher employment. The State cites, among other cases, the Caucino case noting that the bank robber Caucino was convicted of occurred in 1995 and Caucino taught from 1993 to 2004. It was not until 2004 that he was permanently disqualified from employment based on his conviction, and removed by Monmouth. Although the court took no issue of his removal from Monmouth for a crime that was wholly unrelated to his position as a teacher and which was discovered years after he began teaching. The court only reversed Caucino's deferred retirement benefits denial and did not reverse the removal of Caucino from Monmouth, nor did it reverse his permanent disqualification.

Considering the facts, circumstances and documentary evidence supplied by the parties I FIND that Caucino is not persuasive in that the category of the offense of bank robbery is not analogous to a conviction of lewdness. The dissimilar nature of the crime, and the caselaw provided shows that, petitioner prevails on this point.

Petitioner's fourth point is that Teacher NJ arbitration awards provide support of petitioner's arguments that teachers who were found guilty of "conduct unbecoming a teacher" because of sexual activities, while employed as certificated teachers, were not dismissed from their tenured employment, while petitioner was dismissed as a tenured teacher based on consensual, non-criminal sexual activity prior to the start of his teaching career. The caselaw cited by petitioner provides a variety of situations where teachers are entitled to an appropriate hearing before an arbitrator as called for.

The State's position on this issue is that Cauvin demonstrates a fundamental lack of understanding of the disqualification statute, and these proceedings. The State contents that the disqualification statute operates outside from, and independent of, employer-initiated tenure proceedings of a disciplinary nature, or actions against a teacher's certificates by the Board of Examiners. It is a mandatory, non-discretionary, absolute bar against employment if an individual has a disqualifying offense on their record. Tenure proceedings are wholly irrelevant to the inquiry in this matter.

Considering the facts, circumstances and documentary evidence supplied by the parties, I FIND that petitioner's argument on this point is persuasive and that the employer initiated tenure proceedings are precisely indicated here to avoid the summary dispensation which occurred to Cauvin. Petitioner prevails on this point.

The final point raised by petitioner is that OSP is equitably estopped and barred by the principal of laches from arguing that the 1997 action constituted a "Disqualifying Crime or Offense." On this point I FIND that OSP is not barred from the ability to make this finding; HOWEVER, the proper processes in this instance were not followed. Respondent prevails on this point.

LEGAL ANALYSIS AND CONCLUSIONS

A. Summary Decision Standard

Under N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(b) a "motion for summary decision shall be served with briefs and with or without supporting affidavits." N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(b). A summary decision may be rendered "if the papers and discovery which have been filed, together with the affidavits, if any, show that there is no genuine issue as to any material fact challenged and that the moving party is entitled to prevail as a matter of law." Ibid.

A court should grant summary judgment when the pleadings, depositions, answers to interrogatories and admissions on file, together with the affidavits, show that there is no genuine issue of material fact and that the moving party is entitled to a judgment as a matter of law. Brill v. Guardian Life Ins. Co. of Am., 142 N.J. 520, 528-529 (1995). The Supreme Court of New Jersey has adopted a standard that requires judges to "engage in an analytical process to decide whether the evidence presents a sufficient disagreement to require submission to a jury or whether it is so one-sided that one party must prevail as a matter of law." Id. at 533.

"When a motion for summary decision is made, an adverse party in order to prevail must by responding affidavit set forth specific facts showing that there is a genuine issue which can only be determined in an evidentiary proceeding . . .." N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(b). A court should deny a motion for summary decision when the party opposing the motion has produced evidence that creates a genuine issue as to any material fact challenged. Brill, 142 N.J. at 528-29. When making a summary decision, the "judge's function is not himself [or herself] to weigh the evidence." Id. at 540.

The petition filed by Cauvin, along with his certification, states that he engaged in a private consensual sexual act in October 1997, while in his parked car in a private unlit area. The arrest for this action and plea to a violation of N.J.S.A. 2C:14-4, was made before petitioner began teaching and twenty-five years before petitioner was first advised that the respondent OSP determined that he had committed a disqualifying "crime or offense" so as to mandate his dismissal as a public school teacher.

No testimony or documentation contravenes petitioner's statement as to the event and the fact that he was engaged in consensual sexual activity in a parked vehicle owned by the petitioner in a private area when discovered by local municipal police officers.

Cauvin challenges his procedural due process rights and right to be heard, which is a question of law.

B. The Employee Disqualification Statute:

A school or school system, under the supervision of the Department of Education and board of education which cares for or is involved in the education of children under the age of eighteen, shall not employ for pay or contract for the paid services of any custodian, school maintenance worker, or any other person serving in a position which involves regular contact with pupils unless the employer has first determined consistent with the requirements and standards of this act, that no criminal history record information exists on file in the Federal Bureau of Investigation, Identification Division, or the State Bureau of Identification which would disqualify that individual from being employed or utilized in such capacity or position (N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1)

N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1(a) provides that "[a]n individual[] . . . shall be permanently disqualified from employment or service under this act if the individual's criminal history record check reveals a record of conviction for any crime of the first or second degree; or [a]n offense as set forth in chapter 14 of Title 2C of the New Jersey Statutes[.]"

An individual shall not be disqualified from employment or service under this act on the basis of any conviction disclosed by a criminal record check performed pursuant to this act without an opportunity to challenge the accuracy of the disqualifying criminal history record (N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7(e). (emphasis added)

Cauvin does not deny the criminal conviction that resulted in his disqualification from employment. In addition, he does not challenge the "accuracy" of his criminal conviction. He states that he was not provided with an opportunity for appropriate hearing and opportunity to expunge his record considering that the event occurred before he began teaching, the lewdness conviction was inaccurate as material aspects of the statute were not present and the conviction for lewdness was never revealed in his prior investigations. Specifically marked portions of the statute – pertaining to intention as to other uninterested parties – were not present in the 1997 action.

The statute provides that an individual shall not be disqualified from employment or service under this act on the basis of any conviction disclosed by a criminal record check performed pursuant to this act without an opportunity to challenge the accuracy of the disqualifying criminal history record (N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7(e). Said opportunity was not provided to Cauvin and he has challenged the disqualification process. He has also filed for expungement of the conviction.

Considering the facts and circumstances of the OSP in light of the history of investigations previously performed and the failure of the OSP to provide Cauvin with the opportunity to challenge the veracity, accuracy and impact of the disqualifying criminal history, the petitioner's motion for summary decision in lieu of an answer to dismiss the petition is GRANTED. The respondent's cross-motion for summary decision is DENIED.

ORDER

It is hereby ORDERED that the petitioner's motion for summary decision in lieu of an answer to dismiss the petition is GRANTED and that petitioner is reinstated to his position effective May 3, 2022. It is further ORDERED that the respondent's motion for summary decision in lieu of an answer to dismiss the petition is DENIED.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the ACTING COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified, or rejected by the ACTING COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Acting Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify, or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the ACTING COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION. Exceptions may be filed by email to ControversiesDisputesFilings@doe.nj.gov or by mail to Office of Controversies and Disputes, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500. A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT

This Settlement Agreement (the "Agreement") is entered into effective as of the 24th day of September, 2024 ("the Effective Date"), by and between SHELLY LIPKA ("Lipka") and the LIVINGSTON BOARD OF EDUCATION (the "Board").

WHEREAS, the Board is a body public and corporate, organized and existing by virtue of the laws of the State of New Jersey, N.J.S.A. 18A:11-1 which is entrusted with maintaining and governing the public schools of the Livingston School District;

WHEREAS, the Board has its administrative offices located at 11 Foxcroft Drive, Livingston, New Jersey 07039;

WHEREAS, Lipka is an employee of the Board;

WHEREAS, Lipka filed a Petition with the New Jersey Commissioner of Education, captioned Shelly Lipka v. Livingston Board of Education, Essex County, OAL Docket No. EDU 14386-2023N, Agency Docket No. 328-11/23, asserting that the Board unlawfully withheld her salary; (hereinafter "the Action");

WHEREAS, the parties desire to resolve and settle all outstanding matters between them pursuant to the terms and conditions set forth in this Agreement; and,

NOW, THEREFORE, intending to be legally bound hereby and in consideration of the mutual covenants and conditions set forth in this Agreement, the Parties agree as follows:

1. Settlement Terms

Lipka and the Board agree that the Board shall pay, as back pay minus mitigation, the gross amount of Two Hundred and Twenty-Five Thousand Dollars and No Cents ($225,000.00), minus usual and customary withholdings, including pension contributions, and other legally required deductions, in full satisfaction of all claims in the Action for claims for legal or equitable relief, reinstatement, back pay, lost benefits, statutory and contract claims. This sum shall be paid within thirty (30) calendar days of the date the Commissioner of Education approves this Agreement as follows:

a. The sum of Two Hundred and Twenty-Five Thousand Dollars and No Cents ($225,000.00), less usual and customary withholdings, including pension contributions, and other legally required deductions in the form of a check made payable to Lipka.

b. Any employer-side payroll taxes and/or penalties relating thereto, if any, are the sole responsibility of the Board.

c. The gross amount of Two Hundred and Twenty-Five Thousand Dollars and No Cents ($225,000) constitutes full back pay minus mitigation due to Lipka for the time period July 15, 2018, through August 29, 2023. This sum constitutes a total amount of the full salaries and backpay that Lipka would have earned for the 2018-19, 2019-20, and 2020-21 school years, i.e., $77,427, $78,202, and $78,844, minus mitigation for salary.

d. The Board will deduct pension contributions from its payment to Lipka and remit them to the Division of Pensions and Benefits in the amount determined by the Division of Pensions and Benefits. The pension contributions shall be made for the 2018-19, 2019-20, and 2020-21 school years based upon the salaries set forth herein. Lipka will receive pension credit for those contributions in each of those school years in the Teachers' Pension and Annuity Fund, as determined by the Division of Pensions and Benefits and the Teachers' Pension and Annuity Fund. The Board will make all employer contributions as may be required by the Division of Pensions and Benefits and the Teachers' Pension and Annuity Fund.

e. The parties acknowledge and understand that the ultimate decision as to Lipka's eligibility for pension credit and benefits is made by the Division of Pensions and Benefits. The parties agree that this agreement is conditioned on the Division of Pension and Benefits' and Teachers' Pension and Annuity Fund's approval of pension credit for the school years above.

f. Upon approval of this agreement by the Division of Pensions and Benefits, the Teachers' Pension and Annuity Fund, and the Commissioner of Education, and the Board's payment of Lipka's backpay and pension contributions, Lipka will apply for retirement. Lipka's retirement effective date will be the first day of the month following the Board's payment of the back pay minus mitigation, and the crediting of her TPAF pension account with service credit for the time period from July 15, 2018 through August 30, 2021.

g. The Board agrees to cooperate fully with the New Jersey Division of Pensions and Benefits and the Teachers' Pension and Annuity Fund with respect to: (i) the processing of Lipka's pension credit for the time period from July 15, 2018, through August 30, 2021; and, (ii) Lipka's retirement application.

2. Stipulation of Dismissal

Lipka and the Board agree that by executing this Agreement, it (and a Board resolution) shall be submitted to the Administrative Law Judge for issuance of an Initial Decision approving the settlement. If the settlement is approved by the Administrative Law Judge, the Commissioner of Education, and, if the Division of Pensions and Benefits and Teachers' Pension and Annuity Fund processes and approves Lipka's pension credit for the backpay for the school years listed in Paragraph 1, above, Lipka's pending Petition will be dismissed with prejudice.

3. Complete Release

In consideration of this Agreement and the terms herein, Lipka, her heirs, assigns and agents (hereinafter referred to collectively as "Lipka") agrees to and hereby releases and gives up any and all claims and rights which she may have against the Board, including its former and current employees, elected officials, representatives, agents, and attorneys, and covenants not to sue the Board for anything that has happened arising out of Lipka's employment relationship with the Board. This releases all claims, including those of which Lipka is not aware, and those not expressly mentioned herein, up until and through the date of execution of this Agreement. Lipka further covenants that she voluntarily enters into this Agreement, and Lipka certifies that she has not been threatened or coerced into signing this Agreement

Lipka hereby releases, waives and discharges the Board, its affiliated departments, and its officers, trustees, agents, employees, successors and assigns (hereinafter collectively referred to as the "Releasees") from each and every claim, demand, cause of action, obligation, damage, complaint, or action or writ of any kind, nature, character or description that Lipka had, now has, or may in the future have against the Releasees on account of or arising out of any matter or thing that has happened, developed or occurred prior to the date of the complete execution of this Agreement including, but not limited to, the employment of Lipka. This Complete Release includes, but is not limited to, any claim, demand, cause of action, obligation, claim for damages of any kind, complaint, expense, compensation, or action or writ of any kind, nature, character or description arising out of or under Federal, State or municipal statute or ordinance and any other law (whether such be common law, decisional law or statutory law), rule, regulation, executive order or guideline, and any and all claims for attorney's fees and costs arising from the above acts including, but not limited to:

vi. Any claim, cause of action, demand or complaint arising out of or under the Federal Family and Medical Leave Act (FMLA) which, among other things, entitles an employee to take reasonable leave for medical reasons for the birth or adoption of a child, and for the care of a child, spouse or parent who has a serious health condition and any claim, cause of action, demand or complaint arising out of under the New Jersey Family Leave Act (NJFLA).

vii. Any claim, cause of action demand or complaint arising out of or under the Federal Rehabilitation Act of 1973, as amended, which among other things, prohibits discrimination in employment by Federal contractors against individuals with disabilities.

viii. Any claim, cause of action, demand or complaint arising out of or under the Federal Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974, as amended (ERISA), which among other things, regulates pension and welfare plans and prohibits interference with individual rights protected under that statute.

ix. Any claim, cause of action, demand or complaint arising out of or under the Federal Older Workers Benefit Protection Act (OWBPA) which, among other things, amends provisions of ADEA and prohibits discrimination in employment and employment benefits on account of a person's age.

x. Any right to any money damages with respect to any claim, charge or complaint of any nature with the New Jersey Division on Civil Rights and the U.S. Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (EEOC). Lipka has not filed and shall not hereafter file any claim, charge or complaint of any nature with the New Jersey Public Employment Commission (PERC) or with any Federal, State or local court or agency against the Releasees.

xi. This release excludes any claims that by law cannot be waived, including any workers' compensation claims or statutorily indemnified claims brought pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-16

4. Assent to Terms

Lipka and the Board hereby acknowledge that they entered into this Agreement with a full understanding of their rights and that they were fully informed of the implications of this Agreement. Lipka has reviewed this Agreement with Albert J. Leonardo, Esq. and acknowledges she is satisfied with the quality of the services received The parties enter into this Agreement without duress and of their own free will and volition and acknowledge that they were given a full and fair opportunity to fully consider this Agreement. This Agreement must be formally approved by the Board and this Agreement will be deemed null and void without said approval. All reasonable efforts will be made to timely obtain approval from the Board

5. Successors and Assignees

This Agreement shall be binding upon and shall inure to the benefit of the parties and their respective successors, assignees, heirs, officers, employees, officials and agents

6. Amendment; Severability; No Waiver

This Agreement shall not be amended, changed or modified except in a writing signed by all parties. The provisions of this Agreement are severable. If it is determined by a court or administrative agency of competent jurisdiction that a specific clause of this Agreement is illegal or unenforceable, the remainder of the Agreement shall not be affected by such a ruling and shall remain in full force and effect unless doing so would destroy the essential nature of this Agreement. Any failure to enforce any provision of this Agreement shall not operate as a waiver of such provision or of any other provision.

7. No Further Consideration

Lipka and the Board each expressly acknowledge and represent that neither party will seek nor be entitled to any further consideration from the other in connection with this Agreement other than the consideration as detailed herein.

8. Entire Agreement

This Agreement constitutes the entire agreement between the parties with respect to the subject matters herein, and supersedes and integrates any and all prior representations, negotiations, discussions, understandings and agreements, whether oral or written. Each party acknowledges that neither the other party, nor any agent or attorney of the other party, has made any promise, representation or warranty whatsoever, express or implied, not contained in this Agreement to induce it to execute this Agreement.

9. Counterparts

This Agreement may be signed in counterparts and shall be binding as if all Parties executed the original thereof. A facsimile or electronically-transmitted signature shall have the same effect as an original signature

10. Law Governing

This Agreement shall be governed by the laws of the State of New Jersey

Respondents.

This matter having been presented to the Court by Denise Verzella, Esq. of the firm Manes & Weinberg LLC, attorney for A.B. and L. B., parents of L.B. (hereinafter "Parents") and Nathanya Simon, Esq. of the firm Scarinci Hollenbeck LLC, attorney for East Orange Board of Education, (hereinafter the "Board") and Thomas Johnston, Esq. of the firm Johnston Law Firm LLC and Rita Barone, Esq. of the firm Flanagan, Barone, O'Brien LLC, attorneys representing TEAM Academy Charter School, Inc. (hereinafter "TEAM") These three matters meet the standards set forth in N.J.A.C. 1:1 -17. 3 such that it is advisable to dispose of all aspects of this controversy in a single proceeding and that consolidation would promote a prompt and fair resolution to all issues raised in the pleadings by the parties and would save the time, expense and duplication of effort, and avoid confusion, undue delay or inconsistency. Accordingly, with the consent of all parties, and the Court, these matters are ordered consolidated. Further, the Party Representatives above having conferenced with the Administrative Law Judge assigned to these matters, and the Judge having considered the issues in dispute, and based on the law, and for good cause shown,

IT IS ORDERED as follows.

1. The Parents shall assume fiscal responsibility for the tuition paid to Winston School for L.B.'s attendance from September 1 2022 to April 30, 2023.

2. East Orange shall assume fiscal responsibility for reimbursing the Parents for the tuition paid by the Parents to TEAM for L.B.'s attendance in the Winston School for the time period from May 1, 2023 through June 6, 2024 in the total amount of forty thousand one hundred and eighty three dollars ($40,183). Payments shall be processed within thirty (30) calendar days after receipt of supporting documentation (paid receipts, cancelled checks, invoices, etc.) from the Parents to East Orange. Within 7 days of this Order, the District shall contact the Winston School to make arrangements for the payment of tuition for extended school year scheduled to start on June 17, 2024 and end August 1, 2024.

3. TEAM agrees to reimburse East Orange monies that were paid by East Orange to TEAM associated with L.B.'s enrollment in TEAM for the 2022-2023 school year. The amount to be reimbursed is five thousand two hundred and twelve dollars ($5,212.00). Reimburesement shall be within thirty (30) days of the signing of the Order Furthermore, no additional money or funding shall be paid to TEAM by East Orange for L.B. , while L.B.'s IEP placement is at the Winston School.

4. Effective with the 2024-2025 school year, including extended school year ("ESY") and for each school year thereafter that TEAM prepares an IEP for L.B. to continue in the Winston School, East Orange shall contract directly with the Winston School within 7 days of the signing of this Order, to pay the tuition costs for L.B. to continue to attend the Winston School, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:36A-11(b) No monies shall be paid or credited to TEAM from East Orange for the student to continue to be on their rolls and for their staff to be responsible for the development of the IEP for L.B. each school year, as long as L. B continues to attend Winston School

5. TEAM shall remain L. B 's local education agency under the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act, while enrolled at TEAM, which shall include TEAM's continued provision of case management services to L.B. and Parents. Parents promise to notify TEAM before or immediately upon becoming domiciled in a school district other than East Orange. East Orange's obligations herein shall terminate upon L.B. no longer being domiciled in East Orange. Parents agree that, if L.B. is then attending the Winston School, the fiscal responsibility for such costs shall be L.B.'s new district of residence, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:36A-11(b). Parents and TEAM agree that the subject of L.B.'s program and placement shall be discussed no less than annually by way of IEP meetings. Should L.B.'s IEP team decide to place L.B. somewhere othar than Winston School, or if there is disagreement between members of the IEP Team, the parties retain and reserve all rights and responsibilities under N.J.A.C. 6A:14 et seq., N.J.S.A. 18A:36A-11(b) and N.J.A.C. 6A:23A-15.4. TEAM's responsibilities herein shall terminate upon L.B.'s disenrollment from TEAM.

6. Parents agree to provide L.B. transportation to and from home and the Winston School, without any reimbursement from either TEAM or East Orange for the entire time that L.B. continues to attend Winston School. The Parents remain eligible to apply for aide in lieu of transportation.

7. Parents expressly release and waive any and all claims that are known or should have been known against East Orange and TEAM, their employees, officers, board members, attorneys, management organizations or any other agents, associated with this matter including, but not limited to, any other fees and costs incurred, attorneys' fees, and claims for compensatory education. Further, provided East Orange and TEAM comply with the terms of this Consent Order the petition with docket number EDS 00790-2024, Agency Ref. No. 2024-36828 is withdrawn without prejudice as part of this Consent Order and Release. The remaining petitions with docket numbers EDU 03838-2024, Agency Ref. New Jersey Commissioner of Education

Monica Osgood,

Petitioner,

v.

New Jersey Department of Education,
Office of Special Education,

Respondent.

Synopsis

Petitioner challenged the actions by the respondent Department of Education, Office of Special Education (NJDOE) in handling applications for approved private schools for students with disabilities. Petitioner, who was approved by the NJDOE in 2004 to open an Approved Private School for Students with Disabilities (APSSD), sought to establish a new APSSD and submitted an application in 2023. After her application was denied, petitioner submitted the within appeal. The NJDOE filed a motion to dismiss the petition in lieu of an answer.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: petitioner challenged the NJDOE's application process for APSSDs, including its process of developing and mailing out the Needs Assessment forms directly to school districts and Local Education Agencies (LEAs) rather than allowing an applicant to develop and secure these forms directly from the districts/LEAs; petitioner challenged the wording used by the NJDOE in these forms; petitioner also sought to compel the NJDOE to approve a "small number" of APSSDs every year, and sought an opportunity to re-apply once these proposed changes were made by the NJDOE; however, petitioner offered no legal support for her claims nor for the relief she sought. The ALJ concluded that that the petition must be dismissed because petitioner failed to advance any cause of action upon which relief can be granted; there is no legal basis to grant the specific relief she seeks. Accordingly, respondent's motion to dismiss was granted and the petition was dismissed.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurred with the ALJ that petitioner failed to state a claim upon which relief can be granted. Accordingly, the Initial Decision was adopted as the final decision in this matter, and the petition of appeal was dismissed.

This synopsis is not part of the Commissioner's decision. It has been prepared for the convenience of the reader. It has been neither reviewed nor approved by the Commissioner.

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed and considered. The parties did not file exceptions.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurs with the Administrative Law Judge that petitioner has failed to state a claim upon which relief can be granted.

Accordingly, the Initial Decision is adopted as the final decision in this matter, and the petition of appeal is hereby dismissed.

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Petitioner Monica Osgood (Petitioner or Osgood) challenges the actions by the respondent Department of Education, Office of Special Education (NJDOE) in handling applications for approved private schools for students with disabilities. The respondent moves to dismiss the Petition.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On or around May 2, 2024, petitioner filed a Petition of Appeal with the Commissioner of Education. The Commissioner transmitted the matter to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), where it was filed as a contested case on July 10, 2024 pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15; N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13.

Prior to receiving the matter at the OAL, on or around July 5, 2024, the respondent filed a Motion to Dismiss in lieu of an Answer to the Petition. The petitioner opposed the motion on July 7, 2024. I held a telephone prehearing conference with the parties on August 8, 2024, at which time we discussed the status of the motion. No additional pleadings were filed, and the record closed at the conclusion of the conference.

FINDINGS OF FACT

Upon my review of Osgood's Petition and the parties' submissions, I FIND the following as FACT:

In 2004, Osgood was approved by the NJDOE to open an Approved Private School for Students with Disabilities (APSSD). She now seeks to establish a new APSSD, and submitted a new APSSD application to the NJDOE in 2023.

Osgood submitted her first draft of the Phase I portion of the application in or around November 20, 2023. As part of the Phase II approval process, NJDOE submitted Osgood's proposal for a new APSSD and Needs Assessment Survey to the counties requested by her in the application, which included over 600 Local Education Agencies (LEAs). These Needs Assessment Surveys were to be completed and returned to the NJDOE by the LEAs. According to the NJDOE, only fourteen of the 120 districts that responded to the Needs Assessment Survey indicated a positive response to Osgood's proposed new APSSD. Therefore, by letter dated March 21, 2024, NJDOE informed Osgood that her application for a new APSSD was denied. The NJDOE informed Osgood that the returned Needs Assessment Surveys failed to reflect the required twenty-four potential student placements, and that, consequently, it determined that the need for Osgood's proposed program had not been established and that her application to establish the new school was denied. Osgood does not assert that she received the twenty-four required positive responses from districts/LEAs, nor does she challenge the NJDOE's basis for denying her application.

On or around May 3, 2024, Osgood filed with the Acting Commission of Education and the NJDOE's Office of Controversies and Disputes an appeal "regarding the current process of applying for an Approved Private School for Students with Disabilities." In the Petition of Appeal, Osgood writes that the Petition is regarding the NJDOE's APSSD Application for 2023. She asserts that the APSSD application changed since the last time she applied in 2004. Specifically, she maintains that the Needs Assessment process that is part of the Phase II review process was changed by the NJDOE and that this change is creating a "moratorium" on new APSSDs. Osgood asserts in her Petition that the wording of the current Needs Assessment "intimidates" the LEAs/districts from responding truthfully concerning their needs, and that because of this, she asserts, there has not been a new APSSD approved in over seven years, which the NJDOE denies. She alleges that districts "are reluctant to confirm they have OOD [out-of-district] needs due to the way the Needs Assessment is worded" by the NJDOE, and because the districts are now required to submit this directly to the NJDOE rather than to the applicant. Osgood recognizes that her most recent application did not yield the required twenty-four positive responses to be approved but maintains that the Needs Assessment process "is unacceptable and should be revised to allow districts to honestly express their out-of-district needs." In her Petition, Osgood expressly states that the relief requested in her Petition is "to change the Needs Assessment to allow school districts to express their needs truthfully."

Days after submitting her appeal to the NJDOE, petitioner submitted an Addendum to her appeal, seeking to amend the relief requested in the Petition to the following:

> First, revert Phase Two – Needs Assessment of the application back to the original procedure requiring the applicant to send the Needs Assessment to districts vs. the new procedure allowing the Needs Assessment to be distributed, collected, and tallied by the DOE. This change will remove the intimidation district feel expressing they have out-of-district (OOD) needs and allow them to speak freely about their needs. Again, not to encourage more OOD placements, but to provide districts with more choices so they can make the best decisions for their students and the district's budget.
> Second, change the Needs Assessment to allow school districts to express their needs truthfully. Specifically, reword the Needs Assessment Form as follows: . . .
>
> Third, I would like the opportunity to resend my Needs Assessment using my originally proposed name . . . .
> Fourth, the DOE should allow a small number of new APSSDs to open every few years to provide competition to existing APSSDs. Holding a moratorium on new private schools only allows the existing schools to increase tuition and 1:1 rates unchallenged . . . .

Osgood does not challenge the NJDOE's authority to develop and approve applications to establish new APSSDs in the State. She also does not dispute any of the facts upon which the NJDOE relied to deny her application, and she does not request that the NJDOE's denial of her application be reversed. Rather, she challenges the NJDOE's application process, including its process of developing and mailing out the Needs Assessment forms directly to the districts/LEAs rather than allowing the applicant to develop and secure these forms directly from the districts/LEAs; and she challenges the wording used by the NJDOE in these forms. Osgood also seeks to compel the NJDOE to approve a "small number" of APSSDs every year, and she seeks an opportunity to re-apply once these proposed changes are made by the NJDOE. She offers no legal support for her claims or to obtain the relief she seeks.

LEGAL ANALYSIS AND CONCLUSION

The NJDOE filed a Motion to Dismiss the Petition, in lieu of an Answer, asserting that the matter should be dismissed because the petitioner has advanced no cause of action, even if her factual allegations are accepted as true, and because there are no constitutional or statutory bases to grant the relief Osgood seeks, rendering further proceedings unnecessary.

N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.10 provides:

> At any time prior to transmittal of the pleadings to the OAL, in the Commissioner's discretion or upon motion to dismiss filed in lieu of answer, the Commissioner may dismiss the petition on the grounds that the petitioner has advanced no cause of action even if the petitioner's factual allegations are accepted as true or for lack of jurisdiction, failure to prosecute, or other good cause.

In reviewing such a motion to dismiss, the inquiry is "limited to examining the legal sufficiency of the facts alleged on the face of the complaint." Printing Mart-Morristown v. Sharp Elec. Corp., 116 N.J. 739, 749 (1989). "Dismissal is the appropriate remedy where the pleading does not establish a colorable claim and discovery would not develop one." State v. Cherry Hill Mitsubishi, 439 N.J. Super. 462, 467 (App. Div. 2015). While a Petition is entitled to a liberal reading by the reviewing tribunal, dismissal is appropriate when, on its face, it fails to set forth a basis for relief.

The NJDOE regulates APSSDs and has adopted a process to accept, review and approve applications to create new APSSDs in the State. N.J.A.C. 6A:14-7.2 governs the application process and authorizes the NJDOE to determine if any proposed program is needed. The NJDOE's current application process includes the dissemination and review of Needs Assessment Surveys/forms submitted to prospective sending school districts for any new proposed APSSDs.

Here, Osgood is not appealing the NJDOE's denial of her application, and she does not dispute any of the facts upon which the NJDOE relied to deny the application for a new APSSD. She concedes in her Petition that she failed to secure the required positive responses for potential student placements from the districts that were sent a Needs Assessment Form. Rather, Osgood is challenging the NJDOE's application process, including the manner in which it obtains Needs Assessment Surveys, the language contained in these surveys/forms, and she asserts that the NJDOE should revert to its "original procedure." She claims that the NJDOE's current procedure is unfair; it discourages LEAs/districts from truthfully and accurately reporting their needs; and that this procedure effectively creating a moratorium on the approval of any new schools. Even if Osgood's factual allegations as reflected in the Petition are true, however, she has advanced no cause of action or colorable claim upon which relief can be granted by this tribunal. Moreover, this tribunal is without jurisdiction to grant the specific relief Osgood seeks in response to her claims. This tribunal is without authority to compel the NJDOE to approve any number of APSSD applications per year; to restrict the NJDOE from creating and/or obtaining Needs Assessment Surveys as part of its consideration of an APSSD application; or to order the NJDOE to re-write, as Osgood suggests, the Needs Assessment Forms that it distributes as part of the application process.

Consequently, upon my review of the Petition and the Addendum to the Petition, and while considering the allegations as true and affording petitioner all reasonable inferences that could be drawn therefrom, I CONCLUDE that this Petition must be dismissed because Osgood has failed to advance any cause of action upon which relief can be granted, and because there is no legal basis to grant the specific relief she seeks.

In order to effect a change to an application process, the petitioner may always seek redress through a petition for rulemaking under N.J.A.C. 1:30-4.1, which provides that "[a]n interested person may petition an agency to adopt a new rule or amend or repeal an existing rule."

ORDER

It is hereby ORDERED that the respondent's motion to dismiss be GRANTED, and that the Petition be DISMISSED.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the ACTING COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified, or rejected by the ACTING COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Acting Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify, or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the ACTING COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION. Exceptions may be filed by email to ControversiesDisputesFilings@doe.nj.gov or by mail to Office of Controversies and Disputes, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500. New Jersey Commissioner of Education

N.D., on behalf of minor children, N.D-T., C.D-T., and C.D.,

Petitioner,

v.

Board of Education of the Township of Union, Union County,

Respondent.

Synopsis

Petitioner filed a pro se petition challenging the determination of the respondent Board that her minor children were not eligible to receive a free public education in respondent's school district during the 2023-2024 and 2024-2025 school years. The Board sought reimbursement of tuition from petitioner, asserting that petitioner was not domiciled within Union Township during the relevant time period. Petitioner failed to appear at the September 20, 2024 hearing in this matter; the hearing proceeded on an ex parte basis to allow the Board to present its evidence. The record closed on September 24, 2024, following the Board's certification of per diem tuition costs for the period of the ineligible attendance.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1, public schools are free to any persons over five and under twenty five years of age who are domiciled within the school district; pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:22-6.2., if a student does not have a right to attend the school district, the Commissioner may assess tuition for the period of ineligible attendance; in this case, petitioner did not appear at the scheduled hearing in this matter and failed to prove that she was domiciled in Union Township during the time period in question. The ALJ concluded that since N.D. and her minor children were not domiciled within the District during the 2023–2024 and 2024-2025 school years, they are not entitled to a free public education there; accordingly, the ALJ granted the Board's counterclaim for tuition reimbursement, retroactive from September 5, 2023, to September 27, 2024, in the amount of $29,564.32 for 2023-2024 for N.D.-T, C.D.-T., and C.D., and for the 2024-2025 school year in the amount of $914.44 for C.D.-T. and C.D.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurred with the ALJ's findings and conclusions and adopted the Initial Decision of the OAL as the final decision in this matter, with modification to the ALJ's breakdown of tuition costs for the 2023-2024 school year. Petitioner owes the Board tuition in the total amount of $30,478.76 for the 2023-2024 and 2024-2025 school years when her three children were ineligible to attend school in the District. The petition of appeal was dismissed.

New Jersey Commissioner of Education

Final Decision

N.D. on behalf of minor children, N.D-T., C.D-T., and C.D.,

Petitioner,

v.

Board of Education of the Township of Union, Union County,

Respondent.

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed and considered.[1]

Upon review, the Commissioner concurs with the Administrative Law Judge's (ALJ) finding that petitioner was not domiciled in Union (District) during the 2023-2024 and 2024-2025 school years. The Commissioner further concurs with the ALJ's conclusion that N.D.-T, C.D.-T., and C.D., were therefore not entitled to a free public education in the District during that time.

Pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1b, the Commissioner shall assess tuition against petitioner for the time period during which the minor children were ineligible to attend school in the District. Upon review, the Commissioner agrees with the ALJ that the Board is entitled to a tuition reimbursement of $29,564.32 for the 2023-2024 school year. However, the Commissioner disagrees with the ALJ's breakdown of costs, which appears to contain minor typographical errors. The ALJ mistakenly lists the cost for N.D.-T. as $9,926.83, but the correct amount is $9,912.83. The ALJ correctly lists the cost for C.D.-T. as $9,926.27. The ALJ mistakenly lists the cost for C.D. as $9,925.22, but the correct amount is $9,725.22.[2]

[1] Petitioner emailed the Office of Controversies and Disputes on October 17, 2024, indicating that her children now attend private school and contending that she does not owe the Board anything. Petitioner also attached a copy of a lease. Petitioner did not copy the Board or the ALJ on her email. To the extent that this submission could be considered exceptions, it is untimely and does not comply with the service requirements of N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4(a). Therefore, it was not considered.

Regarding the 2024-2025 school year, the Commissioner concurs with the ALJ's finding that petitioner owes the Board $914.44 for C.D.-T's and C.D.'s ineligible attendance. The Commissioner further concurs with the ALJ's finding that petitioner owes the District a total of $30,478.76 for the ineligible enrollment of N.D.-T, C.D.-T, and C.D. during the 2023-2024 and 2024-2025 school years.

Accordingly, the Initial Decision is modified with respect to the breakdown of costs for the 2023-2024 school year, and the petition of appeal is hereby dismissed.

IT IS SO ORDERED.[3]

[3] This decision may be appealed to the Appellate Division of the Superior Court pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-9.1. Under N.J.Ct.R. 2:4-1(b), a notice of appeal must be filed with the Appellate Division within 45 days from the date of mailing of this decision.

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Petitioner, N.D. and her minor children, N.D.-T., C.D.-T., and C.D., live together but are not domiciled within the school district of Union, New Jersey. Is petitioner entitled to a free public-school education in Union? No. Under N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(a) and N.J.S.A. 6A:22-6, public school shall be free to minors who are domiciled within the school district.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On April 25, 2024, the Board of Education of the Township of Union (Board) determined that petitioner's children, N.D.-T., C.D.-T. and C.D., were ineligible to attend the schools in Union because petitioner was not domiciled there.

On May 13, 2024, petitioner appealed the determination, and on June 18, 2024, the Board filed a counterclaim for tuition reimbursement.

On June 25, 2024, the Department of Education, Office of Controversies and Disputes, transmitted the case as a contested case under the Administrative Procedure Act, N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15, and the act establishing the OAL, N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -23.

On July 3, 2024, I was assigned this case and scheduled an initial prehearing conference for July 19, 2024.

On August 9, 2024, and August 14, 2024, I held two additional prehearing conferences at which time the parties agreed to exchange discovery by September 6, 2024, and appear for the hearing on September 20, 2024.

After the second prehearing conference, I scheduled the hearing and issued a prehearing order, dated August 14, 2024, which was sent by email and regular mail to the parties.

On September 20, 2024, N.D. failed to appear at 9:30 a.m. for the hearing. At my direction, my judicial assistant called petitioner, but her voicemail was full. My judicial assistant then emailed petitioner that the hearing would begin at 9:45 a.m. I waited until 10:00 a.m., but N.D. did not appear. Therefore, I held an ex-parte hearing and kept the record open until respondent submitted a certification concerning the per diem tuition rate for each of petitioner's minor children who attended school in Union during the 2023–2024 calendar year. On September 23, 2024, respondent submitted two certifications concerning the per diem tuition rate for each of petitioner's children, and I closed the record.

FINDINGS OF FACT

Based on the evidence the Board submitted and having considered its sufficiency and the opportunity to assess the witness' credibility, I FIND the following as FACTS:

On December 14, 2023, a lessee, "B.N.", entered into a lease agreement with a lessor, "W.A." The lease was from January 1, 2024, to February 28, 2025, at 2519 Doris Avenue, Union, NJ. Petitioner was not listed on the lease. According to an email from W.A., the only tenant that was to be on the lease was "B.N. and her three minor children." (R-2.)

A water bill from New Jersey American Water, dated February 29, 2024, lists B.N., not N.D., as the customer at the 2519 Doris Avenue address in Union. (R-3a.)

A gas bill from Elizabethtown Gas, dated February 23, 2024, lists B.N., not N.D., as the customer at the exact address. (R-3b.)

A gas bill from PSE&G, dated January 17, 2024, lists B.N., not N.D., as the customer at that address. (R-3c.)

On April 29, 2024, W.A. confirmed in an email with respondent that N.D. was not a tenant under the lease and that B.N. would be in violation of the lease if "additional people mov[ed] into the house without [his] written approval." (R-2.) Indeed, W.A. did not alter the lease to include N.D. The lease contains only B.N.'s name as the tenant for the Union address.

The four documents N.D. submitted into evidence do not establish domicile. A registration renewal was presented. (P-1.) A telephone bill from Verizon, dated "May 6," does not include the year. (P-2.) A change of address from DMV, dated January 7, 2024, was given. (P-3.) A United States Postal Service change of address request lists an effective date of January 14, 2024, was submitted. The old address was listed as 2717 Vauxhall Road, Union, New Jersey 07083-4152. (P-4.)

For the 2023-2024 school year, the cost per student for Grade 12 was $16,221, for Grade 6 it was $16,243, and for Grade 5 it was $15,914. (R-4.)

2023-2024 School Year – Breakdown of Costs

N.D.-T. started school on January 1, 2024, and was improperly registered in the district for 110 days with a total tuition cost of $9,926.83.

C.D.-T. started school on January 1, 2024, and was improperly registered in the district for 110 days with a total tuition cost of $9,926.27.

C.D. started school on January 1, 2024, and was improperly registered in the district for 110 days with a total tuition cost of $9,925.22.

Based on a 180-day school year, the total tuition reimbursement cost of the three minor children of N.D. was $29.564.32 for 2023-2024. (R-4.)

For the 2024-2025 school year, the cost per student for Grade 6 and Grade 7 (C.D.-T. and C.D. respectively) is $16,460 with a per diem rate of $91.44. (R-5.)

2024-2025 School Year – Breakdown of Costs

C.D.-T started school on September 5, 2024, and was improperly registered in the district for five days with a total tuition cost of $457.22.

C.D. started school on September 5, 2024, and was improperly registered in the district for five days with a total tuition cost of $457.22.

Based on a 180-day school year, the total tuition reimbursement cost of the two minor children of N.D. is $914.44 for 2024-2025. (R-5.)

The total tuition reimbursement owed by N.D. to the Board for the 2023–2024 and 2024-2025 school years is $30,478.76.

Given the discussion of the facts, I FIND that N.D. is not domiciled in Union and tuition reimbursement is owed to the Board.

CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

Public school shall be free to a minor who is domiciled within the school district, N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(a); New Jersey has consistently held that the domicile of the child follows the domicile of the parent, Shim v. Rutgers, 191 N.J. 374, 399 (2007). Moreover, if a student does not have a right to attend the school district, the Commissioner may assess tuition. N.J.A.C. 6A:22-6.2.

In this case, N.D.-T., C.D.-T., and C.D. were not domiciled in Union because their mother, N.D., was not domiciled in Union.

N.J.A.C. 6A:22-6.2(a) authorizes the Commissioner of Education to assess tuition for non-resident students prorated" to the time of the student's ineligible attendance in the school district." Since N.D. and minor children, N.D.-T., C.D.-T. and C.D, were not domiciled within the Union School District during the 2023–2024 and 2024-2025 school years, I CONCLUDE that they are not entitled to a free public education there. I also CONCLUDE that the Board is entitled to tuition reimbursement, retroactive from September 5, 2023, to September 27, 2024, in the amounts of $29.564.32 for 2023-2024 for N.D.-T, C.D.-T., and C.D., and $914.44 for 2024-2025 for C.D.-T., and C.D., respectively.

ORDER

Given my findings of fact and conclusions of law, I ORDER that N.D. owes the Board $29.564.32 for 2023-2024 for the period of N.D.-T., C.D.-T. and C.D.'s ineligibility from September 5, 2023, through the scheduled hearing date of September 27, 2024; and $914.44 for C.D.-T., and C.D for the school days attended beyond the hearing date, for the remainder of the 2024-25 school year.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the ACTING COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified, or rejected by the ACTING COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Acting Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify, or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision under N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the ACTING COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION. Final Decision

J.F., on behalf of minor child, J.J.C.,

Petitioner,

v.

Board of Education of the Town of West New York, Hudson County,

Respondent.

Synopsis

Pro se petitioner appealed the determination of the respondent Board that she and her minor child, J.J.C., were not domiciled in the respondent Board's school district (District) and that J.J.C. was therefore not entitled to a free public education in the West New York schools during the 2023-2024 school year; the Board contended that a residency investigation proved that petitioner was domiciled in North Bergen, not West New York. The petitioner subsequently failed to appear for two pre-hearing telephone conferences; on the date of the scheduled in-person hearing, petitioner J.F. sent an email at 12:22 a.m. stating that she was withdrawing her appeal. The ALJ granted the petitioner's request to withdraw but continued with the scheduled hearing on an ex parte basis in order for the Board to present its claim for tuition reimbursement.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: petitioner withdrew her appeal; thereafter, the Board presented its proofs regarding petitioner's alleged residency in North Bergen at the in-person hearing; J.J.C. was not domiciled in West New York during the 2023-2024 school year, as the uncontested proofs and credible testimony presented by the Board showed that his parents were domiciled in North Bergen during the relevant time period; based on this competent and credible evidence, the ALJ concluded that J.J.C. was domiciled with petitioner in North Bergen, and was therefore not eligible for a free pubic education in West New York schools. Accordingly, the ALJ ordered that petitioner owes the Board $18,214.28 for the period of J.J.C.'s ineligibility from September 1, 2023, through June 30, 2024.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurred with the findings and conclusions of the ALJ and adopted the Initial Decision of the OAL as the final decision in this matter, with modification to the amount of tuition owed by petitioner. Accordingly, the Commissioner ordered petitioner to reimburse the Board in the amount of $18,213.30, based on the per diem tuition of $102.90 and 177 days of ineligible attendance by J.J.C., as presented in the Certification of the District's Business Administrator. The petition of appeal was dismissed.

New Jersey Commissioner of Education

Final Decision

J.F., on behalf of minor child, J.J.C.,

Petitioner,

v.

Board of Education of the Town of West New York, Hudson County,

Respondent.

The record of this matter, the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), and the exceptions filed by the petitioner pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4 have been reviewed and considered. The West New York Board of Education (Board) did not file a reply to petitioner's exceptions.

The Board determined that petitioner's child was not eligible to attend school in West New York because petitioner was domiciled in North Bergen. Petitioner appealed, and the case was transmitted to the OAL. Petitioner subsequently sent the OAL an email indicating that she "would like to dismiss the appeal, as [she is] not in town due to a family emergency." The Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) notified the parties that petitioner's request to withdraw would be granted but that the hearing would proceed because notice had been given. Following the hearing, at which only the Board appeared, the ALJ concluded that petitioner lives in North Bergen and that J.J.C. was not entitled to a free public education in West New York during the 2023-2024 school year.

The ALJ assessed tuition against petitioner in the amount of $18,214.28 for 177 days of J.J.C.'s ineligible attendance in West New York.

Petitioner's exceptions indicate that petitioner withdrew her appeal because J.J.C.'s permanent address is now in West New York. Petitioner includes a copy of her driver's license, listing an address in West New York. Petitioner also supplied a copy of a driver's license for A.H., listing the same address in West New York that is on petitioner's license, and a statement from A.H. indicating that he allowed petitioner and her family to reside periodically with him during the 2023-2024 school year due to the family's financial hardship. Petitioner argues that imposing a fee for a child's education is unreasonable, and states, "I trust this evidence [will] resolve the matter."

Upon review, the Commissioner concurs with the Administrative Law Judge's (ALJ) finding that petitioner failed to sustain her burden of establishing that she was domiciled in West New York. The Commissioner further concurs with the ALJ's conclusion that petitioner's minor child was, therefore, not entitled to a free public education in the District during that time.

With regard to petitioner's exceptions, N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4(c) provides that evidence not presented at the hearing shall not be submitted as part of an exception. Accordingly, the information submitted by petitioner, which was previously not part of the record, is not properly before the Commissioner.[1]

Moreover, petitioner withdrew her petition of appeal and is now precluded from arguing that the Board's residency decision was incorrect. Petitioner had the opportunity to make that argument to the ALJ, and to present any testimony or other evidence to support that claim during the hearing, but she did not avail herself of that opportunity. As such, there is no basis to overturn the Board's residency determination.

[1] However, this does not preclude the District from considering this information, or any other information that petitioner may present, if she seeks to re-enroll J.J.C. in the District based on her alleged updated living circumstances.

The Commissioner further notes that the Board's determination is supported by the facts it presented during the hearing. Even if petitioner's exceptions were considered, the information she provides does not demonstrate that she was domiciled in the District or that J.J.C. was entitled to a free public education there during the relevant time period.

Pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1b, the Commissioner shall assess tuition against petitioner for the time period during which the minor children were ineligible to attend school in the District. Therefore, the Board is entitled to tuition reimbursement in the amount of $18,213.30[2] for September 13, 2023 through the end of the 2023-2024 school year, during which time petitioner's minor child was ineligible to attend school in the District.

Accordingly, the Initial Decision of the OAL is adopted as the final decision in this matter, as modified with respect to the amount of the tuition reimbursement. Petitioner is directed to reimburse the Board in the amount of $18,213.30. J.J.C. shall be disenrolled from the District. The petition of appeal is hereby dismissed.

IT IS SO ORDERED.[3]

[2] This amount is based on the per diem tuition of $102.90 and 177 days of ineligible attendance listed in the Certification of the District's Business Administrator. The Initial Decision orders tuition reimbursement of $18,214.28, which is the total amount of reimbursement requested in the certification, but which appears to be the result of a mathematical error.

[3] This decision may be appealed to the Appellate Division of the Superior Court pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-9.1. Under N.J.Ct.R. 2:4-1(b), a notice of appeal must be filed with the Appellate Division within 45 days from the date of mailing of this decision.

J.F. ON BEHALF OF MINOR CHILD J.J.C.,

BEFORE KIMBERLY K. HOLMES, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Petitioner, J.F. is domiciled in North Bergen, New Jersey. Her minor child, J.J.C. lives with her. They do not live in West New York, New Jersey. Is petitioner entitled to a free public school education in West New York? No. Under N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(a), public school shall be free to a minor who is domiciled within the school district, and petitioner and her family meet no exception to this law.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On April 17, 2024, the Board issued a Notice of Final Ineligibility regarding the attendance of minor child, J.J.C., at West New York Public Schools.

On May 2, 2024, J.F. filed her pro se Residency Appeal on behalf of J.J.C.

On June 19, 2024, the Board filed an Answer and Counterclaim.

On June 26, 2024, the New Jersey Department of Education, Office of Controversies and Disputes, transmitted the case to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) as a contested case under the Administrative Procedure Act, N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15, and the act establishing the OAL, N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -23.

On July 3, 2024, I was assigned this case.

On July 19, 2024, the first prehearing conference was scheduled. After having received notification electronically and by mail at the West New York address, J.F. failed to participate in the scheduled telephone conference.

On July 23, 2024, the second prehearing conference was scheduled. After having received notification electronically and by mail, J.F, appeared albeit late, and participated in the second scheduled telephone conference. At that time, L.C., the husband of J.F. and father to J.J.C., appeared.

On that same date, I issued a Prehearing Order, which set the in-person hearing date for August 23, 2024, and directed the parties to exchange discovery and their witness lists ten days before the hearing. On that date, neither J.F. nor L.C. appeared for the hearing. Rather, J.F. sent an email at 12:22 a.m. stating that she was withdrawing her appeal and was out of town for a family emergency. At 9:03 a.m., my judicial assistant notified J.F. and Mr. Gertner, counsel for the respondent, that J.F.'s request to withdraw the appeal would be granted but that the respondent's counter claim for tuition reimbursement would be heard. Therefore, an ex parte hearing took place at the OAL in Newark, New Jersey, on August 23, 2024. The record remained open until August 30, 2024, to allow the respondent an opportunity to submit a Certification of the per diem tuition rate.

The record closed on August 30, 2024.

DISCUSSION AND FINDINGS OF FACT

The New Jersey Lease Agreement had the landlord's last name and signature as "Jacobe." J.F. and L.C. signed this Lease Agreement dated August 1, 2023, which ran from August 1, 2023, to August 1, 2024. (R-5.)

Three rent receipts for November 2023, December 2023, and January 2024, had the landlord's signature as "Jacobe." (R-5.)

A PSE&G bill for $70.45 from a Mr. Portillo with the exact same address as was on the Lease Agreement for West New York was in the file. (R-1; R-5.)

Allan C. Roth, Esq., is the Administrative Assistant to the Superintendent of Schools for the Board. Under oath, Roth stated that Portillo was a relative of J.F.

A $535.10 T-Mobile phone bill bearing J.F.'s name and West New York address was in her file. (R-5.)

The Board has levels of documentation that would suffice to establish residency in West New York. A lease, a deed, tax records and a utility bill were all types of documents that are held in the highest regard by the Board for validation of residency. A telephone bill receipt is on the lowest level of acceptability for residency by the Board.

The Board accepts lower-level documentations as proof of residency when other higher tier documents are coupled with the submission. To put it another way, a telephone bill and a lease would be strong indicators of residency whereas a telephone bill alone would not suffice.

On the deed, the owners' names were listed as " Jacome and Vivar, his wife." The address on the deed was for the address in West New York. The block and lot numbers were listed as 15 and 14 respectively. No other evidence was presented to show that anyone else owned the property other than Jacome. (R-6.)

The tax records for 6611 Hudson Avenue, listed Jacome and Vivar as the owners of block 15 and lot 14. There was no other evidence presented that anyone else paid the taxes from 2022 to 2024 on the property other than Jacome. The tax payment history shows that the last payment was made by Jacome on February 6, 2024. (R-6; R-7.)

Roth did an internet search of the parcel of land and presented a "NJ Parcel Ownership" document for 6611 Hudson Avenue. Under "owner information," Jacome and Vivar were listed with the exact same lot and block number as was provided in the deed and tax records. Here too, there was no other evidence presented that anyone else owned the property at that location other than Jacome. (R-6, R-7 and R-8.)

Three photographs were taken during the daytime by Lauren Curillo, the Assistant Principal, and investigated by Residency Compliance Officer Diaz. All photographs were from or near the address in North Bergen. The first one showed L.C. carrying a blue laundry bag with clothes inside at 4:15 p.m. on February 12, 2024, in North Bergen. L.C. was walking into that building. (R-1; R-2.)

The second photograph depicted a parked white car that belonged to J.F. near that address in North Bergen. (R-3.)

The third photograph showed L.C., J.F., and an unidentified person walking across the street to J.F.'s white vehicle which was parked in North Bergen. (R-3; R-4.)

A document which bore the title "Top New Jersey Bulldog Breeders" listed "JJS Puppy World" with the contact information for the address in North Bergen. It listed the email address and telephone number J.F. provided for the appeal for the matter at hand. (R-9.)

Roth submitted a timeline report of the residency investigation, which documented the residency home visit notes dated November 17, 2023, and March 13, 2024. The report delineated the excessive absences of J.J.C., and the behavior J.F. exemplified toward the staff of the Board when presented with questions regarding her residency.

The report also showed that on February 1, 2024, an employee of the Board for West New York saw J.F. parking her car in North Bergen at 4:40 p.m. and in the same area the next day at 11:00 a.m. (R-1.)

Curillo saw J.J.C. at 8:42 a.m. leaving from the address in North Bergen on February 12, 2024. (R-1.)

Diaz checked the mailboxes at the address in West New York, and neither J.F. nor L.C.'s names were listed on any mailbox. (R-1.)

The voter registration for L.C. listed his address in North Bergen. (R-10.)

On August 23, 2024, Roth testified that J.J.C. was a general education student who did not receive special education services.

On August 26, 2024, Dean Austin, the Business Administrator to the Board, submitted a Certification which outlined the tuition assessment at a rate of $102.90 per day for each day of ineligible enrollment. Austin described this tuition rate as that applying to a sixth-grade student, including J.J.C., for the 2023-2024 school year.

During the entire 2023–2024 school year, J.J.C. attended PS #4 in West New York. The Board seeks tuition reimbursement for the 2023-2024 school year as it was determined that J.J.C. was not eligible for a tuition-free education.

After the hearing, Austin confirmed that J.J.C.'s start date was September 13, 2023. The Certification stated that J.J.C. was "improperly registered" in the district for one hundred and seventy-seven days for a total of $18,214.28 of tuition reimbursement owed by J.F. and L.C. to the Board for the 2023–2024 school year.

Given the discussion of the facts, I FIND that petitioner lives in North Bergen. She does not live in West New York.

CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

Public school shall be free to a minor who is domiciled within the school district, N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(a); New Jersey has consistently held that the domicile of the child follows the domicile of the parent, Shim v. Rutgers, 191 N.J. 374, 399 (2007); and if a student does not have a right to attend the school district, the Commissioner may assess tuition, N.J.A.C. 6A:22-6.2.

In this case, J.J.C. was not domiciled in West New York as the uncontested proofs and credible testimony of Roth showed that his parents were domiciled in North Bergen. The domicile of an unemancipated child is that of his or her parent, custodian, or guardian. P.B.K. o/b/o minor child E.Y. v. Board of Ed. of Tenafly, 343 N.J. Super 419, 427 (App. Div. 2001). Based on the mountain of competent and credible evidence, I CONCLUDE that the domicile of the minor child J.J.C. was that of J.F. and L.C. in North Bergen not West New York.

N.J.A.C. 6A:22-6.2(a) authorizes the Commissioner of Education to assess tuition for non-resident students prorated" to the time of the student's ineligible attendance in the school district."

Based upon the facts adduced at the hearing through Roth's credible testimony and Austin's Certification, I CONCLUDE that J.F., L.C. and minor child J.J.C., were not domiciled within the West New York School District during the 2023–2024 school year, and that J.J.C. is not entitled to a free public education there. I also CONCLUDE that the Board is entitled to tuition reimbursement, retroactive from September 13, 2023, to June 30, 2024, for one hundred seventy-seven days, calculated at the rate of $102.90 per day, which totals $18,214.28. The $102.90 daily rate is the rate applicable to a general education student attending school in the district, and it is the rate used to calculate the total annual per pupil cost to the district.

ORDER

Given my findings of fact and conclusions of law, I ORDER that J.F. and L.C. owe the Board $18,214.28 for the period of J.J.C.'s ineligibility from September 1, 2023, through June 30, 2024.

Based upon the foregoing, it is ORDERED that this residency appeal is DISMISSED and that J.J.C. be disenrolled from the Town of West New York Schools. It is further ORDERED that respondent's counterclaim seeking tuition reimbursement is GRANTED. It is further ORDERED that J.F. and L.C. reimburse the Board, at a daily tuition rate of $102.90, for the period beginning September 1, 2023, to June 30, 2024.

It is further ORDERED that the J.F. and L.C. owe the Board the cost of tuition for an out-of-district student, J.J.C., for his attendance at Town of West New York (P.S. #4) in the amount of $18,214.28.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the ACTING COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified, or rejected by the ACTING COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Acting Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify, or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision under N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the ACTING

COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION. Exceptions may be filed by email to ControversiesDisputesFilings@doe.nj.gov or by mail to Office of Controversies and Disputes, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500. A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

New Jersey Commissioner of Education

Final Decision

Gregory Holmes,

Petitioner,

v.

New Jersey Department of Education, Office of Student Protection,

Respondent.

The record of this emergent matter and the recommended Order of the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) have been reviewed. Upon such review, the Commissioner concurs with the ALJ that petitioner has failed to demonstrate entitlement to emergent relief pursuant to the standards enunciated in Crowe v. DeGioia, 90 N.J. 126 (1982), and codified at N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6.

Accordingly, the recommended Order denying petitioner's application for emergent relief is adopted for the reasons stated therein. This matter shall continue at the Office of Administrative Law with such proceedings as the parties and the ALJ deem necessary to bring it to closure.

IT IS SO ORDERED.

Gregory Holmes, petitioner, appearing pro se

Rachel B. Kristol, Deputy Attorney General. appearing on behalf of respondent (Matthew J. Platkin, Attorney General of New Jersey)

Record Closed: October 21, 2024 Decided: October 21, 2024

BEFORE KIMBERLY A. MOSS, ALJ:

In this case, petitioner Gregory Holmes seeks emergent relief to allow him to work in Public Schools. The matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) for hearing as a contested case on October 17, 2024, on petitioner's application for emergency relief. Respondent filed an answer on October 18, 2024. Oral argument was held on October 21, 2024, on which date the record closed.

FACTUAL DISCUSSION

I FIND the following to be the FACTS of this matter.

Holmes states that incidents occurred between him and his wife in December 1983. Although the petition does not clearly state the result of the incident, it infers that Holmes was criminally convicted of an incident.

On January 1, 1985, Holmes was arrested and charged with homicide. He was convicted of manslaughter on June 21, 1985. He was sentenced to thirty years in prison with twelve years of parole ineligibility.

Petitioner states that he has been investigated twice by the State Social Work Board twice and was cleared. He also states that he worked at the Rutgers University Upward Bound Program which serves high school students for over eight years.

The petition did not address the standard upon which emergent relief can be granted.

LEGAL DISCUSSION AND CONCLUSIONS

Petitioner does not meet the criteria of Crowe v. DeGioia for emergent relief. N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6(b) sets forth the standards governing motions for emergent relief. The regulation instructs in salient part:

> A motion for a stay or emergent relief shall be accompanied by a letter memorandum or brief which shall address the following standards be met for granting such relief pursuant to Crowe v. DeGioia, 90 N.J. 126 (1982):
> 1. The petitioner will suffer irreparable harm if the requested relief is not granted;

2. The legal right underlying petitioner's claim is settled;

3. The petitioner has the likelihood of prevailing on the merits of the underlying claim; and

4. When the equities and interests of the parties are balanced, the petitioner will suffer greater harm than the respondent will suffer if the requested relief is not granted.

Petitioner has the burden of establishing each of the above requirements in order to warrant relief in his favor.

It is well settled that relief should not be granted except "when necessary to prevent irreparable harm." Crowe, supra 90 N.J. at 132. In this regard, harm is generally considered irreparable if it cannot be adequately redressed by monetary damages. Id. at 132-33. In other words, it has been described as "'substantial injury to a material degree coupled with the inadequacy of money damages.'" Judice's Sunshine Pontiac, Inc. v. General Motors Corp., 418 F. Supp. 1212, 1218 (D.N.J. 1976) (citation omitted). See New Jersey Dep't of Environmental Protection v. Circle Carting, Inc., 2004 N.J. AGEN LEXIS 968 (April 2, 2004) (finding no irreparable harm in connection with the revocation of respondent's solid waste license in that financial loss is generally insufficient to demonstrate this requirement). The moving party bears the burden of proving irreparable harm. More than a risk of irreparable harm must be demonstrated. Continental Group, Inc. v. Amoco Chemicals Corp., 614 F. 2d 351, 359 (D.N.J. 1980). The requisite for injunctive relief requires a "'clear showing of immediate irreparable injury,'" or a "'presently existing actual threat; (an injunction) may not be used simply to eliminate a possibility of a remote future injury, or a future invasion of rights, be those rights protected by statute or by common law.'" Ibid. (citation omitted.)

Petitioner did not show irreparable harm would be caused if the motion was not granted.

The next issue is likelihood of success on the merits and the legal right underlying the claim is settled.

N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1 provides:

A facility, center, school, or school system under the supervision of the Department of Education and board of education which cares for, or is involved in the education of children under the age of 18 shall not employ for pay or contract for the paid services of any teaching staff member or substitute teacher, teacher aide, child study team member, school physician, school nurse, custodian, school maintenance worker, cafeteria worker, school law enforcement officer, school secretary or clerical worker or any other person serving in a position which involves regular contact with pupils unless the employer has first determined consistent with the requirements and standards of this act, that no criminal history record information exists on file in the Federal Bureau of Investigation, Identification Division, or the State Bureau of Identification which would disqualify that individual from being employed or utilized in such capacity or position. An individual employed by a board of education or a school bus contractor holding a contract with a board of education, in the capacity of a school bus driver, shall be required to meet the criminal history record requirements pursuant to section 6 of P.L.1989, c.104 (C.18A:39-19.1). A facility, center, school, or school system under the supervision of the Department of Education and board of education which cares for, or is involved in the education of children under the age of 18 may require criminal history record checks for individuals who, on an unpaid voluntary basis, provide services that involve regular contact with pupils. In the case of school districts involved in a sending-receiving relationship, the decision to require criminal history record checks for volunteers shall be made jointly by the boards of education of the sending and receiving districts.

An individual, except as provided in subsection g. of this section, shall be permanently disqualified from employment or service under this act if the individual's criminal history record check reveals a record of conviction for any crime of the first or second degree; or

a. An offense as set forth in chapter 14 of Title 2C of the New Jersey Statutes, or as set forth in N.J.S.2C:24-4 and 2C:24-7, or as set forth in R.S.9:6-1 et seq., or as set forth in N.J.S.2C:29-2; or

b. An offense involving the manufacture, transportation, sale, possession, distribution or habitual use of a "controlled dangerous substance" as defined in the "Comprehensive Drug Reform Act of 1987," N.J.S.2C:35-1 et al. or "drug paraphernalia" as defined pursuant to N.J.S.2C:36-1 et seq.; or c.

(1) A crime involving the use of force or the threat of force to or upon a person or property including, but not limited to, robbery, aggravated assault, stalking, kidnapping, arson, manslaughter and murder; or

(2) A crime as set forth in chapter 39 of Title 2C of the New Jersey Statutes, a third degree crime as set forth in chapter 20 of Title 2C of the New Jersey Statutes, or a crime as listed below:

Recklessly endangering another person N.J.S.2C:12-2
Terroristic threats N.J.S.2C:12-3
Criminal restraint N.J.S.2C:13-2
Luring, enticing child into motor vehicle, structure or isolated area P.L.1993, c.291 (C.2C:13-6)
Causing or risking widespread injury or damage N.J.S.2C:17-2
Criminal mischief N.J.S.2C:17-3
Burglary N.J.S.2C:18-2
Usury N.J.S.2C:21-19
Threats and other improper influence N.J.S.2C:27-3
Perjury and false swearing N.J.S.2C:28-3
Resisting arrest N.J.S.2C:29-2
Escape N.J.S.2C:29-5
Bias intimidation N.J.S.2C:16-1; or

(3) Any crime of the fourth degree involving a victim who is a minor; or

(4) Conspiracy to commit or an attempt to commit any of the crimes described in this act.

d. For the purposes of this section, a conviction exists if the individual has at any time been convicted under the laws of this State or under any similar statutes of the United States or any other state for a substantially equivalent crime or other offense.

e. Notwithstanding the provisions of this section, an individual shall not be disqualified from employment or service under this act on the basis of any conviction disclosed by a criminal record check performed pursuant to this act without an opportunity to challenge the accuracy of the disqualifying criminal history record.

f. When charges are pending for a crime or any other offense enumerated in this section, the employing board of education shall be notified that the candidate shall not be eligible for employment until the commissioner has made a determination regarding qualification or disqualification upon adjudication of the pending charges.

g. This section shall first apply to criminal history record checks conducted on or after the effective date of P.L.1998, c.31 (C.18A:6-7.1c et al.); except that in the case of an individual employed by a board of education or a contracted service provider who is required to undergo a check upon employment with another board of education or contracted service provider, the individual shall be disqualified only for the following offenses:

(1) any offense enumerated in this section prior to the effective date of P.L.1998, c.31 (C.18A:6-7.1c et al.); and

> (2) any offense enumerated in this section which had not been enumerated in this section prior to the effective date of P.L.1998, c.31 (C.18A:6-7.1c et al.), if the person was convicted of that offense on or after the effective date of that act.

Petitioner was convicted of manslaughter, one of the above offenses. Petitioner has not shown that he likelihood that he would prevail on the merits. Petitioner's conviction disqualifies him from employment. Petitioner has not shown that the legal right underlying her claim is settled in his favor. It is settled in favor of respondent.

When the equities are balanced the petitioner will not suffer greater harm than the District if the relief is not granted. Petitioner did not show that he would suffer a greater harm than respondent if the motion was not granted.

Based on the foregoing, I CONCLUDE that petitioner has failed to meet the requirements set forth in N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6(b) warranting a stay or emergent relief.

Accordingly, I ORDER that petitioner's application for such relief be and hereby is DENIED.

This order on application for emergency relief may be adopted, modified or rejected by ACTING COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who/which by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If ACTING COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, does not adopt, modify or reject this order within forty-five days, this recommended order shall become a final decision on the issue of emergent relief in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Docket #:29-2/24
Opinion and Award

Before: Deborah M. Gaines, Arbitrator

APPEARANCES:

FOR THE PETITIONER:
Weiner Law Group LLP By:
Margaret Miller, Esq.

FOR THE RESPONDENT:
Oxfeld Cohen, P.C. By: Gail
Oxfeld Kanef, Esq.

Pursuant to NJSA 18A:6-16, as amended by P.L. 2012, c.26 and P.L. 2015, c. 109("TEACHNJ"), the tenure charges brought by the Township of North Bergen/Commissioner of Education ("the Board", "District" or "Petitioner") against Jason Whalen ("Whalen" or "Respondent") were referred to me by the Bureau of Controversies and Disputes for a hearing and Decision on February 21, 2024. I conducted a hearing at the Board's Offices in North Bergen, New Jersey on August 26 and 27, 2024.

The parties had full and fair opportunity to examine and cross-examine witnesses, introduce documentary evidence and make argument in support of their respective positions. The parties' submitted written closing statements on October 1, 2024, whereupon the record was closed. The evidence adduced and the positions and arguments set forth in the parties' post-hearing briefs have been carefully considered in the issuance of this Opinion and Award, whether specifically referenced or not.

ISSUES PRESENTED

The parties stipulated to the following issues for arbitral determination:

> Is there just cause to discipline Respondent, Jason Whaley? If so, what shall be the remedy?

THE CHARGES

Respondent was served sworn tenure charges on December 21, 2023, which included three counts of unbecoming conduct and other just cause. Respondent is charged with possessing and using marijuana at school, smoking within the school building and failing to properly follow the protocol in securing the school.

BACKGROUND

Respondent began employment in the District's custodial department as an intern in 2010. He was appointed to a fulltime custodial position in 2012. His duties included cleaning the school and securing it after the custodial staff leaves for the day.

Assistant Superintendent of Facilities Thaddeus (Ted) Goscinski testified Respondent was most recently assigned to the McKinley School, where he worked the 3pm to 11:30 pm shift. According to Goscinski, three custodians worked the evening shift. Each was assigned to clean one floor. Respondent was responsible for the basement.

Goscinski testified Respondent had numerous performance issues. He noted Respondent received repeated written warnings and letters to file since 2014. The letters to file were all included as part of the record. [See, Board Exhibits 1-43]. They include instances of failing to perform his assigned duties, time and attendance, smoking, sleeping on the job, failing to secure the building, leaving early, and failing to properly clock out. [Id.]

Goscinski testified the issues in this began on September 19, 2023, when the District had its back to School night. According to Goscinski, he communicated his expectations to the staff in advance of the event for what they needed to do before the event. In addition, he testified he added staff for the evening to ensure all the work would be completed.

Goscinski testified a number of issues arose with Respondent's performance that evening. First, he testified Respondent failed to clean his assigned area as directed. [Respondent Exhibit 54] Goscinski testified he observed the area himself and noted Respondent did not clean the bathroom's urinals and floors. He testified he asked Respondent why he failed to get the work done, but Respondent did not respond.

Goscinski testified he also issued a disciplinary memo to Respondent for leaving the building without permission and tripping the security camera when he left for the evening.

According to Goscinski, the incident with the alarm was raised when he received a call from the security company. He testified he called Custodian Bolanos to find out what happened. He testified Bolanos told him that Respondent failed to appear at the exit door as expected and also did not respond to texts, calls or the intercom. Goscinski called Respondent and determined it was Respondent who tripped the alarm, and he sent Bolanos back to the school to re-secure the building. Goscinski testified he also received a report during the same evening from Bolanos about marijuana smoke in the building. Goscinski testified he advised Respondent that his-coworker Jonathan said Respondent was smoking marijuana and Respondent replied, it was legal. Goscinski testified he issued a letter to Respondent regarding the smoking as well. [Board Exhibit 47]. Goscinski testified about a week later, on September 25th, he was called to the school again by Bolanos. Goscinski testified he came to the building around 7pm and discovered the basement area smelled like marijuana. He testified he saw Respondent trying to suppress the odor. He testified none of the other floors of the building smelled. Goscinski testified he confronted Respondent saying the whole building smelled of marijuana, to which Respondent said, it is legal now.

Goscinski testified he attended an investigatory meeting on October 2, 2023. He testified Respondent attended with his Union Representative Ed Stevens. Goscinski testified Respondent denied using marijuana. He testified the issue of smoking was also raised and he noted during the discussion that he has warned Respondent repeatedly about smoking in the building. Custodian Jonathan Bolanos testified that he worked with Respondent at McKinley. Bolanos testified he was responsible for cleaning the first floor of the school. Bolanos testified that on back-to-school night, he heard people complaining about smoke. He testified he heard statements to the effect that they smelled cigarette smoke or weed. Bolanos testified he smelled smoke in the gym closet. He testified he did not see anyone smoking. He testified he also smelled marijuana that night. He testified that although he does not smoke marijuana, he is familiar with the smell. Respondent testified he called Goscinski to report the smell.

Bolanos testified he has previously smelled cigarette smoke in the basement. While he has never seen Respondent smoking, he has seen cigarettes on Respondent's desk as well.

Bolanos testified he was halfway home on the same night when Goscinski called him to return to the school. Bolanos testified the security alarm was tripped when Respondent left the building after the alarm had been set. He explained that the process for securing the building was for the staff to meet together at the end of shift in the exist area and for either he or Gladys to set the alarm. He noted that on this night, Respondent did not appear at the exit, nor did he answer Bolanos' texts, phone calls or the school's intercom. He testified Respondent also called him and said he had tripped the alarm.

Bolanos testified, on September 25th, he saw Respondent rolling a joint of marijuana when he went to get a dust mop from the basement. Bolanos testified the substance he saw in front of Grievant was greenish in color and looked like large cookie crumbs. Bolanos testified although he does not smoke pot, he generally knows what it looks and smells like. He testified it was not tobacco.

Vivian Whalen testified she has been a matron for 23 years in the district. Her primary duties are cleaning bathrooms. She testified she was assigned to work with Respondent on back-to-school night. She testified she discovered that Respondent had not put toilet paper in the bathroom, and she went to get some and saw Respondent in the boiler room. She asked him why he was there as it was parent's night. She testified she saw him spraying. According to Vivian Whalen, she smelled cigarette smoke in the basement.

Amy Tierney, who was a part time custodian at the time of the incidents, testified that she was working in the building on September 19, 2023. She testified she is a smoker and when she first began, she and Respondent smoked inside the building on occasion when the weather was bad. She testified after a couple of months, she stopped because there were multiple signs around the school prohibiting smoking on the premises.

Tierney testified she did not see Respondent smoking on back-to-school night. However, she noted she did see him with a cigarette in his hand. She testified she no longer has a very good recollection, but believes she encouraged him to go outside with her to smoke. But he did not.

Tierney testified she had seen him on another occasion smoking marijuana in the school. She testified she never said anything as she did not want him to get in trouble. Tierney testified she worked with him on numerous occasions, and he was aware of the duties he was responsible for. She noted he had also left the building at times but had no specific recollections.

Superintendent Jack Solter testified that issues regarding Respondent's conduct were raised to him from Board Secretary Cabrera, who works the Facilities Department. He testified the issue of marijuana was raised to him from parents as well and he directed an investigation be conducted and determine a course of action.

Solter testified he was advised that it was determined marijuana was present in the building and Respondent had violated the cigarette policy. Solter testified that his review showed Respondent had previously been reprimanded for a similar violation. He noted the parties' Agreement contains a provision that imposes a monetary fine for smoking. However, he testified he had no recollection of anyone being fined. Rather, individuals have been disciplined.

Solter acknowledged that marijuana smoking and certain types of possession are now generally legal in the state. He noted, however, it continues to be prohibited on school property.

Solter testified that as part of the investigation the special counsel for the Board of Education met with Respondent. He noted that it was his understanding that Respondent was directed to take a reasonable suspicion drug test. Solter testified Respondent refused to submit to the test which, under the policy, is considered a positive test.

Solter testified in determining the appropriate penalty, he examined the Respondent's entire personnel file. He noted there was substantial documentation of prior disciplinary incidents. He noted Respondent's increment was withheld in June 2021. Testified he believed termination was appropriate because Respondent has a record of continually violating rules and has failed to improve.

Respondent testified he has been working as a full-time custodian for 12 years in the District. He testified for the past three and half years, he has worked at the McKinley school where his schedule runs from 3pm to 11:30 pm. He testified that in addition to him, he works with two other custodians, Gladys and Jonathan. He noted, his work assignment was in the basement, Jonathan worked on the first floor and Gladys was assigned to the second floor.

According to Respondent, upon being hired, he advised Goscinski that he has a learning disability, which he described as being "slow." He testified that he told his supervisor, Sebastian Arnown and later Goscinski and Mike Boyce. He testified he advised them he may need things to be repeated or to walk him through certain things.

Respondent testified no one ever offered him an accommodation or inquired if he needed assistance. Respondent testified Goscinski often yelled at him and called him retarded. He testified that he also belittled him and called him stupid.

Respondent testified that in 2014 he worked for Mike Boyce. He testified Boye called him "spear chucker" and said he expected more from him. Respondent testified he did not complain at the time, but later when he was working security at Franklin, he reported the conduct. The complaint was investigated, and Boyce was later transferred and left the district. Respondent testified his relationship with Goscinski changed after the investigation. he noted the two were friends and Goscinski asked him why he had never said anything to him about the incident. He testified after the discrimination report was issued; Goscinski targeted him for every little thing.

Respondent acknowledged smoking. He testified he smokes Lucky Strike and Marlboro cigarettes as well has rolling his own tobacco. He initially testified he did not understand there was a no smoking policy, and no one had ever discussed it with him. He testified he generally smokes outside, but when questioned why, he said, it was for no reason.

Respondent acknowledged smoking inside the building at times. He testified he did not recall whether anyone had told him he was not allowed. He testified he continued to smoke inside the building and stated that many others did.

Respondent denied rolling marijuana at school or smoking it. He testified Amy was not accurate when she said he had done so on another occasion. He testified he thinks she lied because she was seeking a promotion.

Respondent testified he did not understand that his salary increment was withheld but acknowledged not getting a raise. He testified no one had explained to him why it was withheld. Respondent testified that he attended a meeting at some point in September 2023 with his Union Representative Stevens, as well as an attorney for the district. He testified he was accused of smoking pot in the building on back-to-school night. He testified he had not been sent home or tested. He testified he was asked to take a drug test, but Ed Stevens told him not to do so.

Respondent testified he does not believe he was given a "fair shake". He testified that he believes he was targeted after his complaints about Boyce. He testified that he has expressed a willingness to fix problems.

NJEA Edward Stevens testified that he was involved in the negotiations for the collective bargaining agreement. He noted smoking fine is in the contract, which provides in Section 26 that any member smoking in the building will be subject to a $100 fine. He noted it has been in the contract since 1998. Stevens testified he represented Respondent in an investigatory meeting on October 2, 2023. He testified there was an allegation of smoking marijuana on school grounds. He testified they asked Respondent to take a drug test. Stevens testified he told the Board it was not appropriate because it was well after the fact and would prove nothing. He testified he would advise Respondent not to take the test. He testified it never got to the point where Respondent was told directly to take a drug test.

Positions of the Parties

Position of the District

On this record, the Board argues: (a) it has met its burden of establishing just cause for termination by a preponderance of the evidence under the statute; (b) all school employees, including custodians, must conduct themselves in a "manner which will reflect dependability and inspire confidence" and conduct himself in a manner that in no way condones or encourages the use of drugs"; (c) the uncontroverted testimony and documentary evidence shows Respondent has a history of "flagrantly disregarding the Board's Policies and practices, including violating the District's rules against smoking; (d) Respondent's refusal to undergo reasonable suspicion testing is also grounds for termination; (g) Respondent's protracted disciplinary record including failure to perform duties and meet the expectations of his job is further grounds to sustain discharge; (h) the testimony of Groscinski, Vivian Whalen, Bolanos and Tierney was more credible than the self-serving statements offered by Respondent; (i) the District's witnesses established Respondent consistently smokes on the premises and was caught smoking on September 19 and 24, 2023; (j) the record evidence shows Respondent was repeatedly provided verbal and written warnings regarding smoking; (k) Respondent's contention that he did not know the rules is simply not credible; (l) in addition to smoking on the premises, Respondent failed to ensure that his areas were cleaned, as established by Goscinski who inspected the area; (m) the record evidence establishes Respondent tripped the alarm and failed to notify his supervisor and respond to repeated attempts to contact him prior to setting the alarm; (n) Bolanos testified credibly that he saw Respondent rolling a marijuana cigarette on September 24, 2023 and smelled marijuana in the basement; (o) Respondent did not deny smoking, but rather told Goscinski that it was legal; (p) the District witnesses established that during the investigatory meeting, Respondent was directed to undergo a reasonable suspicion drug test and failed to comply; (q) Respondent's testimony that he never smoked marijuana, any concern about being tested was misplaced; (r) Respondent's conduct between September 19 and 25 alone is cause for termination, but given the documented warnings, reprimands and prior increment withholding, the termination should be upheld; (s) there are no mitigating factors to reduce the penalty sought by the District; (t) the harassment cited by Respondent by Mr. Boyce is not relevant to this proceeding, as Mr. Boyce was transferred five years earlier; (u) Respondent has not contested any of the letters, reprimands and memos documenting that he claims is retaliation; (v) the evidence shows Respondent was fully aware his conduct was not acceptable and he refused to alter his conduct and expressed no remorse; and his past record of smoking, failing to perform his duties and excessive absenteeism cannot be ignored and, in fact, demonstrate the likelihood that he would continue to disregard the reasonable rules of the Board.

Position of the Respondent

Respondent, on the other hand, asserts: (a) the District has failed to establish just cause to terminate and therefore he should be reinstated with full back pay; (b) the District's claim that Respondent was smoking marijuana on its premises has not been established; (c) the District has not proven that Respondent was directed to and refused to take a drug test, nor has it proven that a positive test under the circumstances could lead to the conclusion he used marijuana on September 19th within the building;

(d) the record evidence shows Respondent's supervisor had it in for him and did not properly investigate the allegations against Respondent; (e) the investigation conducted by Goscinski concerning cigarette smoking was based on assumptions, such as finding a can of soda with cigarette butts in it, and assuming it belonged to Respondent; (f) the memorandum issued to Respondent on September 20th mentions only cigarette smoke and not marijuana; (g) no evidence of impairment was presented by any witness; (h) Goscinski's credibility is undermined by his clear belligerence under examination; (i) Groscinski's testimony belied a belief that any infraction was attributable to Respondent; (j) Goscinski did not conduct a proper investigation - as Amy Tierney was also a smoker but he never questioned her; (k) the rules regarding smoking were never clearly conveyed to employees; (l) termination is not appropriate penalty for smoking since the parties' Agreement provides only a fine for smoking and not termination; (m) the District has engaged in disparate treatment related to infractions related to smoking, as Tierney admitted smoking on the premises and has never been disciplined; (n) Respondent was not sent home either on September 19 or 25th, after allegedly smoking marijuana or ordered to take a drug test on those dates; nor was he issued a memorandum on September 19th although it is claimed he was smoking pot; (o)the District failed to properly investigate any of the allegations regarding marijuana and these assertions should be rejected; (p) the allegation that Respondent refused a test is not supported by the record evidence as there could have been no reasonable suspicion when testing was raised one week after the incident and the presence of marijuana; (q) the record evidence fails to establish Respondent failed to secure the building, as there was no evidence Respondent failed to lock the building and even if there was an infraction, it is not a terminable offense; (r) termination cannot be upheld given the failure to establish any of the underlying charges;

Decision

After carefully considering the entire record before me, including my assessment of the credibility of witnesses and the probative value of evidence, I find the Board has proven just cause to discipline Respondent and, under the circumstances, the appropriate penalty in this case is discharge from employment. My reasons follow.

Respondent is charged with three counts of Conduct Unbecoming. I find the credible record evidence establishes Respondent guilty of Count One, which deals with smoking in the school building. Smoking is prohibited in school buildings by statute. N.J.S.A. 26:3D-58 The record evidence shows Respondent was clearly on notice regarding the prohibition. Custodian Amy Tierney testified there are multiple signs posted within the school advising smoking is forbidden. Finally, Respondent was specifically warned on May 2, 2022, that smoking was not permitted. He was issued a memorandum which read:

> Re: Smoking in Building
>
> This memo is to inform you that you left a bottle of cigarette bottoms in the boiler room. As you know, there is no smoking on school property. There no smoking in school building you must exit the building to smoke.
> [Board Exhibit 40]

While no one specifically witnessed Respondent smoking on back-to-school night, the circumstantial evidence is sufficient to meet the burden of proof in this case. I credit Custodian Bolanos he heard complaints from parents on back-to-school night regarding cigarette smoke in the building and, in fact, smelled it. I credit Vivian Whalen's testimony that she saw Grievant with a cigarette in his hand that night and Groscinski's testimony that he smelled the smoke from the basement. Groscinski testified he, in fact, saw Grievant spraying in the area to mitigate the smell.

Given the smoke from the area he is responsible for, the fact that he was seen with a cigarette in his hand, I find the evidence sufficient to establish Respondent guilty of Count One. Moreover, Respondent has acknowledged he has smoked in the building on previous occasions.

Count two deals with the most serious allegation. Respondent is charged with possessing and smoking marijuana in the school building on September 25th. New Jersey law prohibits smoking marijuana on school premises. Contrary to Respondent's assertion, I do not find he was insufficiently placed on notice of the rule. Moreover, Respondent acknowledged Groscinski also accused him of using marijuana September 19th. Thus, he was on actual notice that such conduct was impermissible.

While no one directly observed Respondent smoking, I find the credible record evidence sufficient to establish Respondent guilty of the charge. First, I credit Bolanos' testimony that he saw marijuana on Respondent's desk, which is a violation as well. His description of the substance as greenish and having the texture of large cookie crumbs is consistent with marijuana. Moreover, Tierney, Groscinski and Vivian Whalen all testified they smelled marijuana coming from the basement of the school. Likewise, Respondent was observed trying to cover up the smell.

Respondent's contention the investigation was insufficient is not persuasive. Goscsinski specifically received a report from Bolanos, smelled marijuana concentrated in the basement and confronted Respondent about the smell, and Respondent's reply that it was legal was taken to be an admission by Goscinski. I find Goscinski's hearing the statement as an admission to be reasonable. Likewise, an investigatory meeting was held later at which time Respondent had another opportunity to explain himself. Under these circumstances, I find the investigation sufficient to meet due process standards.[1]

I do not find Respondent's assertion that the Board's witnesses were not credible persuasive. First, I note none of the co-workers embellished their testimony. They testified only as to what they observed. Their descriptions made sense and had the ring of truth. Respondent, on the other hand, was not credible on many important points. He claimed initially he did not know smoking was not allowed, yet on May 2, 2022, he specifically received a written warning advising him such. Likewise, he claimed never to smoke marijuana, yet Tierney, with whom he was friendly testified reluctantly that she had seen him with marijuana on a prior occasion in the building.

Finally, the record evidence establishes Respondent failed to properly perform his duties in connection with securing the building on September 19th as well. The credible record evidence establishes the procedure for the staff closing the building at 11:30 pm is for anyone working to gather at the exist when the alarm is set and to leave the building together. I credit Bolanos that Respondent not only failed to meet at the exit but, more importantly, failed to respond to his texts, calls on the cell phone and intercom. In addition, Grievant left afterward and tripped the alarm at 11:40 pm, after the shift ended. He clearly should have known that he was the last person leaving and the alarm would have been on. His failure to attempt to avoid this, meant the alarm was signaled and the potential of police arriving. I find this constitutes conduct unbecoming.

Having found Respondent guilty of conduct unbecoming and other just cause, I turn to the issue of penalty. Respondent's misconduct is serious. Possessing and using marijuana in the school building is explicitly prohibited and at odds with the school's mission. Respondent's actions in this case demonstrate a disregard for the rules that he certainly was on notice of and should have understood. The issue with smoking was compounded by the fact Respondent did so at back-to-school night - a time when parents were present in the school and observing the school environment that is provided to their children.

I find termination to be the appropriate penalty in this case based on Respondent's overall record. Respondent had 43 uncontested disciplinary letters in his file. They included warnings for failing to perform his duties, attendance, smoking, failing to secure the building, failing to properly punch out among other things. None of the issues raised in the letters appear "nitpicky". Moreover, they are uncontested. To the extent Respondent claims they are retaliatory, there is no credible record evidence to support his allegation.

I do not find any mitigating circumstances sufficient to reduce the penalty in this case. Respondent has not demonstrated any remorse or reflection that indicates any further corrective action would be effective. Respondent continually claimed to not be aware of the rules, which I found not credible and reflects a lack of responsibility. Moreover, even when he acknowledged knowing the rules, he testified he willingly broke the rule regarding smoking.

Respondent's argument that Goscinski retaliated against him for filing a complaint against Boyce is not supported by the record evidence. The record evidence shows the District investigated and substantiated the complaint made by Respondent against Mike Boyce. [Respondent Exhibit 2]. In conjunction with Respondent's input, Boyce was transferred, and the District ensured no further contact between the two. [Id]. Respondent's contention that Goscinski retaliated against him is based on (1) Respondent's contention that after Boyce was transferred, Goscinski asked him why he did not report the issue to him; and (2) that only after the findings did the number of memoranda increase.

Even assuming Goscinski made that statement, it is not necessarily evidence of retaliatory intent. It could certainly be seen as an inquiry of concern. More importantly, there is no evidence Respondent ever complained or attempted to refute the memoranda at issue. Examination of the memos shows they all deal with discreet instances of misconduct and certainly within the realm of issues that go beyond "nitpicking" as Respondent claims. They deal with major issues of performance such as completing work assignments, regular attendance and smoking.

Under these circumstances, I find no reason to disturb the Board's judgment regarding penalty in this matter. As a result, I make the following

AWARD

The Board has demonstrated just cause for discipline and the appropriate penalty is termination from service.

OPINION and AWARD

Pursuant to N.J.S.A., 18A:6-16, as amended by P.L. 2012, c. 26 and P.L. 2015, c. 109 ("TEACHNJ"), the tenure charges alleging incapacity and other just cause brought by the Petitioner Board of Education of the City of Camden ("District" or "Petitioner") against Sherwonda Rios ("Rios" or "Respondent") were referred to me for a hearing and decision. The charges were filed by the District with the New Jersey Department of Education ("DOE") on or about December 20, 2023. An answer was filed by the Respondent with the DOE on or about April 30, 2024. On May 1, 2023, Jennifer Simons, the DOE's Director of the Office of Controversies and Disputes, appointed me to hear this dispute. A hearing was originally scheduled to take place on June 28, 2024. Upon representation by counsel for the Respondent, I was told that the matter was close to being settled. The June 28th hearing was adjourned without date. When it became clear that no settlement would be forthcoming, I scheduled a new hearing date for September 19, 2024. At the request of the parties that hearing was also adjourned to September 27, 2024. I conducted a hearing at the offices of the District's attorneys Brown & Connery, LLP 360 Haddon Avenue, Westmont, New Jersey on September 27, 2024. Despite due notice, there was no appearance by the Respondent.

The District was represented by Louis Lessig, Esq. of the firm of Brown & Connery. Theresa Reese ("Reese"), the District's Chief Talent Officer, was the sole witness for the Petitioner. As noted, there was no appearance by the Respondent or her counsel. The District submitted a brief on October 25, 2024, and the record was closed at that time.

THE CHARGE

TENURE CHARGES AGAINST SHERWONDA RIOS

I, Katrina M. McCombs, M. Ed., State Superintendent of the Camden City School District ("the District") do hereby charge that Sherwonda Rios ("Rios"), a tenured teacher, should be permanently dismissed from employment for incapacity and/or other just cause.

Charge One: Incapacity

1. Rios has been employed with the District since September 1, 2006, and is tenured. See CCSD SR001.

2. Beginning in December, 2021, Rios began to use extended leaves of absence related to a series of medical conditions.

3. On December 14, 2021, Rios tested positive for Covid-19, requiring a leave of absence beginning on December 14, 2021 until December 23, 2021. See CCSD SR002-005.

4. The December 14, 2021 to December 23, 2021 leave of absence was supported by a Certification of Health Care Provider Form signed by Dr. Emily Clausen, M.D. Id.

5. On January 3, 2022, Rios was hospitalized for a medical condition involving the use of her eyes, and started a subsequent leave of absence from work as a result of her medical condition. See CCSD SR006-008.

6. Rios was seen at the Wills Eye Hospital by Dr. Mark Moster, M.D., a Neuro-Ophthalmologist at Wills Eye Hospital, who observed Rios has "severe bilateral vision field constriction and blurred vision," and recommended that Rios "remain out of work until vision has improved." Id.

7. By way of Certification of Health Care Provider by Dr. Mark Moster dated January 27, 2022, Dr. Moster anticipated paid FMLA leave from January 3, 2022 to March 1, 2022. Id.

8. Additionally, by way of Certification of Health Care Provider by Dr. George D. Nghiem, DO dated February 22, 2022, Dr. Nghiem noted Rios was suffering from partial loss of vision and back pain as well as diabetes and cystic fibrosis, and anticipated a leave of absence from January 1, 2022 to March 31, 2022. See CCSD SR009.

9. Further, additional FMLA leave dates were approved from March 23, 2022 to June 30, 2022.

10. In total for the 2021-2022 School Year, Rios worked 56 out of a total 184 days and utilized 86.5 days of unpaid leave of absence.

11. On August 19, 2022, Rios provided another Certification of Health Care Provider Form to the District authorized by Dr. Mark Moster. The Certification explained

Rios could not perform "any job function that requires peripheral vision" and that Rios has "peripheral vision loss, nasally and inferiority, in both eyes." Dr. Moster also indicated that Rios required continuous absence from work. See CCSD SR010.

12. The Accepted Leave of Absence indicated on the Certification of Health Care provided an anticipated leave of absence to begin on September 1, 2022 to an end date of September 1, 2023. Id.

13. During the 2022-2023 School Year, Rios was not in work for a single day, but was primarily on an Unpaid Leave of Absence. See CCSD SR011-014.

14. In the past two school years, Rios worked a total of 56 days out of a possible 369 days.

15. On October 5, 2022, Human Resources Manager Janiell Tomlinson conducted an ADA call with Rios exploring possible accommodations. In the conversation, Rios expressed she was attending occupational therapy for her condition, but that she "doubts that she can return to a classroom" due to the loss of her peripheral vision, as well as difficulties with uncontrollable headaches, driving, and blurry vision. Rios had suggested a possible return to the District in an office position. See CCSD SR015.

16. On January 10, 2023, Human Resources Manager Janiell Tomlinson conducted a follow up call with Rios exploring possible accommodations. In this conversation, Rios concluded that she is not able to return to the classroom in any capacity, and explained that she is unable to see anything below her nose. Rios explained that her eye doctors were willing to consider office work options with accommodations, and that her doctors had given her special goggles for her vision. Rios reiterated that she continues with therapy, but will not be able to return to a classroom. See Id.

17. Additionally, the District had been in contact via email with Rios beginning in February 2023. In these conversations, Rios indicated she had given the Willis Eye Center a "return to work" form that would eventually be completed, signed, and returned to the District. Rios was instructed to have the Doctor write out accommodation notes because the District did not have its own "return to work" form. See CCSD SR016-019.

18. Rios provided a document to the District dated April 17, 2023 and signed by Dr. Mark Moster indicating the various medical conditions Rios has, including "occasional blurred vision, constricted field of vision, both eyes." Dr. Moster wrote that these impairments affect Rios by causing "fatigue from reading for extensive periods, tunnel vision" and "visual processing delays/ 'brain fog'." Dr. Moster stated these limitations affect Rios' ability to work by limiting her mobility, causing difficulty "observing each child," and "maintaining classroom environment." See CCSD SR020.

19. Further, the job description for Rios' position as a Pre-K teacher requires, as part of the major roles and responsibilities, a teacher to "consistently implementing and enforcing rules and consequences in the classroom setting and school-wide," (sic) as well as "effectively and innovatively incorporating technological resources into classroom lessons." Additionally, a candidate for Pre-K teacher is expected to demonstrate "[e]xceptional classroom management skills." See CCSD SR021-024.

20. Based on the documentation the District currently has in its possession, the continued absence of Rios, the unlikelihood of Rios' ability to function in a classroom setting, and the representation by Rios that she cannot return to a classroom, Rios is no longer capable of serving as a Pre-Kindergarten teacher.

21. Rios is no longer capable of continuing in a teaching position with the District due to her medical and health condition.

22. Therefore, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-10, due to Rios' incapacity, the District seeks to terminate Rios' employment with the District as a teacher.

Charge Two: Other Just Cause

23. The above-described incapacity constitutes other just cause warranting Rios' permanent dismissal from employment with the District as a teacher.

24. Rios' continued absence from work has placed on (sic) strain on the District's resources in finding coverage for her classroom.

25. Rios' continued absence has also caused the District the inability to accurately evaluate her performance in the classroom, with her most recent evaluation occurring during the 2020-2021 School Year. See CCSD SR025-030.

26. Accordingly, Rios' incapacity constitutes other just cause warranting Rios' permanent dismissal from employment with the District as a teacher.

FACTS

Ms. Rios is a tenured Pre-Kindergarten teacher. Commencing in December 2021, Ms. Rios experienced a series of medical difficulties, including severe COVID which required a leave of absence. In addition, on January 3, 2022 Ms. Rios was hospitalized for a medical condition which concerned her eyesight. Her condition was subsequently identified as "severe bilateral vision field constriction and blurred vision." This condition also required a leave of absence. In addition, Ms. Rios suffered from back pain as well as diabetes and cystic fibrosis. Ms. Rios was given leave pursuant to the Family Medical Leave Act ("FMLA") for the period January 1, 2022 to March 31, 2022. Additional FMLA leave was granted for the period March 23, 2022 to June 30, 2022. During the 2021-2022 School Year, Ms. Rios took eighty-six and one half (86.5) days of unpaid leave.

On August 19, 2022, Ms. Rios provided a certification from a heath care provider which stated that: Ms. Rios could not perform "any job function that requires peripheral vision" and that Ms. Rios suffered peripheral vision loss in both eyes. Ms. Rios accepted another leave of absence for the period September 1, 2022 to September 1, 2023. Ms. Rios did not work a single day during the 2022-2023 school year. District personnel contacted Ms. Rios to determine if there was any accommodation that she could receive which would permit Ms. Rios to return to service. Ms. Rios herself stated that she "doubted" that she could return to a classroom.

In addition, the District explored having Ms. Rios return to work in an office capacity. There is no evidence that any non-teaching or office position existed that could be offered to Ms. Rios and no evidence that one was offered to Ms. Rios, or that Ms. Rios was capable of performing office duties if such a position became available.

On April 17, 2023 Dr. Mark Mosher ("Mosher) submitted a document stating that Ms. Rios continued to have "occasional blurred and a constricted field of vision" in both eyes. Dr. Mosher stated that Ms. Rios' impairment caused "fatigue from reading for extensive periods, tunnel vision, visual processing delays/brain fog." Dr. Mosher also stated that these limitations limited Ms. Rios' mobility and would cause difficulty observing students and maintaining an adequate classroom environment.

The District concluded that Ms. Rios would not be able to meet the job requirements of a Pre-Kindergarten teacher and, based on Ms. Rios' continued absence the District determined that Ms. Rios was no longer capable of serving in a teaching position. The District asserts that due to her medical and health conditions, Ms. Rios is incapacitated and as such the District seeks to terminate Ms. Rios's employment with the District. The District also asserts that Ms. Rios's continued absences placed a continuing strain on District resources, and that the District is unable to evaluate Ms. Rios' performance. Therefore, the District contends that there is just cause for the termination of Ms. Rios.

DISCUSSION

The burden in this case is on the District to prove by a preponderance of the evidence that the statutory criteria for the Tenure Charges have been met. The record evidence reveals that the District has met this burden. The documentary evidence and the testimony of Ms. Reese establish that the Respondent has not been able to fulfill her duties as a tenured Pre-Kindergarten teacher for 56 of the 184 teaching days during the 2021-2022 school and that the Respondent was not able to teach at all during the 2022-2023 school year. Where the District has met its burden, the burden then shifts to the Respondent to affirmatively prove that she has a defense to the Tenure charges brought against her. The Respondent has not appeared in this proceeding and has offered no explanations or defenses to the charges brought against her.

I find that the District has proven Charge One: Incapacity. The District has also proven Charge Two: Other Just Cause. The District has demonstrated through the testimony of Ms. Reese that the Respondent's excessive absence from the classroom placed a strain on the District's resources by requiring the District to find coverage for the Respondent's duties.[1] The Respondent failed to rebut any of the evidence against her.

Based on the above, I render the following:

AWARD

The undersigned Arbitrator having been designated pursuant to N.J.S.A., 18A:6-17.1(c), and AAA Labor Rule no. 27 hereby issues, and AWARDS as follows:

1. For the reasons set forth in this Decision and Award, the Arbitrator finds the District met its burden of proving that the Respondent Sherwonda Rios was incapable of performing her duties and the District had other just cause for terminating the Respondent. Therefore, the charges of "Incapacity" and "Other Just Cause" are sustained, and the dismissal of the Respondent Sherwonda Rios is upheld.

Ruling on Respondent's Motion to Dismiss

In accordance with the Teacher Effectiveness and Accountability for Children of New Jersey Act, ("TEACHNJ Act" or "Act") P.L. 2012, Chapter 26 signed into law by Governor Chris Christie on September 25, 2022 the undersigned was appointed as Arbitrator of the dispute described herein.

BEFORE: Mattye M. Gandel, Arbitrator

APPEARING FOR PETITIONER:

Louis R. Lessig, Esq.
Brown & Connery, LLP

APPEARING FOR RESPONDENT:

Robert M. Schwartz, Esq.
Schwartz Law Group, LLC

BACKGROUND:

The designation letter from the Commissioner's office stated, in part, that > the above captioned tenure charges have been reviewed and deemed sufficient, if true, to warrant dismissal or reduction in salary, subject to determination by the arbitrator of the respondent's motion to dismiss and any other defenses or motions which may be filed with the arbitrator. . .

A pre-hearing conference was held on October 22, 2024 during which time this Arbitrator started the call by asking the Respondent's attorney for its position on the Respondent's Motion to Dismiss and asked the Charging Party's attorney to respond. Upon hearing both their positions and advising them that I had read the complete file submitted to me by the Commissioner's office, I stated that the Motion to Dismiss was denied. The parties proceeded to identify dates for interrogatories and ten dates for the hearing and the location and time of the hearing dates.

Unfortunately, there was no recording of the call and memories differed with one party agreeing that I had denied the Motion and the other party having a different memory. On October 30, 2024, I received an email from Respondent's counsel regarding a second Motion to Dismiss this matter relating to the requirements of N.J.S.A. 18A:6-17.1(b)(3). Apparently, he did not recognize that the Motion to dismiss had been denied. Therefore, because it was important to clarify the record as to what might have been perceived as a mis-understanding, the following letter was sent to the parties on November 4, 2024 regarding the pre-hearing conference call and the steps forward.

Gentlemen;

On September 30, 2024, I wrote to the parties advising that I had been designated as the arbitrator in this matter, suggested some hearing dates and offered to arrange for a pre-hearing conference call. A conference call was held on October 22, 2024 with Mr. Schwartz, Mr. Farinella, Mr. Lessig, Mr. Clifford and me at which time Respondent's attorneys were asked to address its Motion to Dismiss. They cited the facts that Ms. Macrina had been disabled since June 2023 and that she was not given an opportunity to recover. Mr. Lessig responded that the Motion was inappropriate; that Ms. Macrina never said she had a disability and that there were many reasons for termination.

I responded that I had read the entire file sent to me by Jennifer Simons, Director, Office of Controversies & Disputes, which included the tenure charges filed by the Board and Respondent's Brief in Support of a Motion to Dismiss and a statement from the Acting Commissioner's office stating that "charges have been reviewed and deemed sufficient, if true, to warrant dismissal or reduction in salary, subject to determination by the arbitrator of the respondent's motion to dismiss and any other defenses or motions which may be filed with the arbitrator. . ."

On our conference call and in response to the parties' positions, I clearly, succinctly but briefly stated that the Motion to Dismiss the Charges was denied. Subsequently, we proceeded to review the calendar for dates to hold the hearing. It was clear to me that the parties understood that the Motion to Dismiss had been denied because, if that had not been clear, there would have been no reason for the participants on the call to have spent time reviewing all our calendars, agreeing upon dates for interrogatories and dates for exchanging witness lists and the date, time and place for the first hearing on November 26, 2024. Additionally, a series of nine dates were agreed upon in January and February 2025. It is accurate that my email of October 22, 2024 did not state that the Motion to Dismiss had been denied but the actions of the parties made it very clear that everyone understood the way forward. Furthermore, because of my clear decision/statement and the clear actions of the parties during the call, there was no reason to discuss or even set a briefing schedule.

Finally, there is no proof that the filing of the Charges were amended or corrected. The Charges before me are as submitted to the Commissioner dated August 23, 2024 and as sent to me by Ms. Simons on September 25, 2024.

I trust that this matter is now settled and understood by both parties and that we can commence the tenure hearing on November 26, 2024.

Mattye M. Gandel
Arbitrator

During the pre-hearing conference call there was no mention of any briefing schedule because it was understood that the matter was proceeding to a hearing. In a memo sent to me on November 1, 2024, Respondent cited N.J.A.C 6A:3-1.5(g) regarding a briefing schedule. That language stated, in part, that

> . . . Briefing on the motions shall be in the manner and within the time fixed by the Commissioner, or by the arbitrator if the motion is to be briefed following transmittal to an arbitrator. (emphasis added)

Respondent claimed that this rule had not been followed but the Arbitrator cannot agree. The language is clear, "Briefing on the motions . . . fixed . . .by the arbitrator if the motion is to be briefed . . ." There was no request or discussion about briefing and, therefore, the clear statement in the November 4, 2024 letter was that the Motion to Dismiss was denied and that the Tenure hearing would commence on September 26, 2024.

SECOND MOTION TO DISMISS & DISCUSSION

The second Motion to Dismiss, issued on October 30, 2024 from Respondent, cited two counts. The first was that there had been no disposition of the first Motion to Dismiss. However, contrary to Respondent's claim, the record has established, as stated above, that during the October 22, 2024 pre-hearing conference call, the first Motion to Dismiss regarding the sick leave dismissal was denied. Though Respondent did not recognize that the Motion was denied, it was made very clear from the written response on October 22, 2024, well in advance of Respondent's October 30, 2024 letter, that the first Motion to Dismiss was denied.

Respondent's second claim addressed the District's failure to provide the "complete" Charge including its list of witnesses along with a summary of their anticipated testimony." N.J.S.A. 18A:6-17.1(b)(3) states that

> Upon referral of the case for arbitration, the employing board of education shall provide all evidence including, but not limited to, documents, electronic evidence, statements of witnesses, and a list of witnesses with a complete summary of their testimony, to the employee or the employee's representative. The employing board of education shall be precluded from presenting any additional evidence at the hearing, except for purposes of impeachment of witnesses. . . . (emphasis added)

The Board filed this tenure Charge with Kevin Dehmer, Acting Commissioner, Department of Education on August 23, 2024. A review of the packet of information revealed that it contained multiple documents as it relates to this tenure matter including all the Charges, documentary evidence in support of the Charges, three Confidential Investigation Reports including interviews with multiple staff members, Psychological Fitness-for-Duty Evaluation, Summons and supporting documents, suspension notice to Respondent and all certifications.

However, the statute is very clear that certain documents were required to be submitted upon referral of the case for arbitration. Amongst other items, it required the submission of "statements of witnesses, and a list of witnesses with a complete summary of their testimony."

Part of the packet submitted by the Board included the August 7, 2023 Investigation Report, which contained the names and the actual interviews of seven people; the August 29, 2023 Investigation Report contained the names and the actual interviews of two people and the December 28, 2023 Investigation Report contained the names and the actual interviews of three people.[1] However, while the packet of information submitted by the Board contained the interviews of Board employees, a careful review indicated that statements of witnesses and a list of witnesses, separate and apart from the actual interviews, were not included. Furthermore, the language of the Statute included three required areas regarding witnesses and crafted the words in the Statute to be given meaning and this Arbitrator must take every word as having some meaning. Simply because the actual interviews were included did not mean that every interviewee would be called as a witness and cannot be considered complying with the clear language of the statute, which required the submission of a list of witnesses and a summary of their testimony.

While the Board attempted to cure this deficiency in its attachment to its October 31, 2024 letter, with the list of witnesses and a summary of their statements, the words of the Statute are very clear that this information was to be included "upon referral of the case for arbitration." The Board's claims that the witnesses listed in the referral to arbitration were known to Respondent and that the list and statements submitted on October 31, 2024 would have been no surprise to respondent are not the issues. They were required upon referring a matter for a tenure determination.

Furthermore, Respondent submitted three arbitration awards, which were instructive in this matter.[2] In Marie Ebert v the State-Operated School District of the City of Newark, Agency Dkt. No 267-9/14, decided on January 30, 2025 by Arbitrator Tia Schneider Denenberg, it was determined that the Board failed to adhere to its statutory obligations as set forth and stated that "[T]he Legislature could not have more lucidly articulated the District's obligation" and agreed that "a prudent District would not file charges until it was ready to proceed with discovery, since the respondent had to be given all discovery documents and a complete summary of each potential witness' testimony as soon as the case is referred to the arbitrator."

[1] One of the people listed, Steven Murray, could not be reached.

Similarly, in Tenure Charges of Noel Gordon and the Englewood School District, Agency Dkt. 24-1/18 decided August 13, 2018, Arbitrator Joseph Licata stated that "since N.J.A.C 6A:3-5.1(b)1 requires a Statement of Evidence to include all documents identified therein, the failure to do so in a material sense, . . . cannot be countenanced" and granted the Motion to Dismiss.

Finally, in Tenure Arbitration between the School District of the Camden County Technical Schools and Bett Fetty, Agency Docket No. 173-7/19, Arbitrator Arnold H. Zudick granted the Motion to Dismiss the Charges because the District failed to comply with the statutory and procedural filing requirements.

In response to these decisions, the Board cited Allen v E. Orange Bd. Of Educ. Docket No. A-3995-19, Superior Court of NJ, Appellate Division, in support of its position

[2] Respondent submitted additional decisions, which granted Motions to Dismiss based on the fact that those boards did not submit the list of witnesses and a summary of the testimony when the matter was referred to the Commissioner's office and therefore, did not comply with the language of N.J.S.A. 18A:6-17.1(b)(3) and to differentiate this matter from the cases supplied by Respondent. In this matter, the Board asserted that, as compared with the decisions cited by Respondent, it submitted its proofs and all relevant documents including all witnesses, their testimony and materials and that this information was known to Respondent when it filed this tenure matter on August 23, 2024.

However, one difference between this matter and the Allen decision is that in Allen the Appellate Division was reviewing an arbitration decision after the arbitrator had issued an Award on the merits. In fact, the Allen decision acknowledged that courts have limited statutory grounds on which to vacate an arbitration award.

Furthermore, the arbitrator heard plaintiff's motion to dismiss and proceeded to hear the merits, which can be differentiated from this matter. In fact, as stated by Arbitrator Denenberg,

> Holding a full evidentiary hearing is not a prerequisite to considering the motion to dismiss. Nothing in the relevant statutory provisions limits an arbitrator's ability to resolve motions before holding a hearing. Indeed, demanding a full evidentiary hearing before ruling on potentially dispositive motions could unnecessarily prolong tenure disputes, ignoring the expressed desire of the Legislature to expedite them.[3]

Further, there were multiple other issues considered by that arbitrator such as progressive discipline and the claim that the eight counts were not supported by substantial credible evidence. The Court disagreed with plaintiff's position that the failure of that board to supply discovery immediately upon referral of the case to arbitration warranted vacating the arbitrator's award and cited the fact that the arbitrator gave the board an opportunity to provide the discovery required by the statute by adjourning the hearing to prepare for arbitration.

In contrast, there was only one issue before this Arbitrator, which was whether to grant the Motion to Dismiss. The merits of this case were not considered. Moreover, this matter has nothing to do with whether the Board was given additional time to present the information. The clear language of the Statute dictated when the documents must have been submitted. Giving the Board more time to present the required information would not have cured the violation.

Herein, Respondent claimed that the Board violated the clear language of N.J.S.A. 18A:6-17.1(b)(3) by not submitting, "[U]pon referral of the case to arbitration . . ." the list of witnesses and witnesses' statements, as required by the Statute. This Arbitrator must agree. While this Arbitrator always wants to, and does as a matter of longstanding practice, give all plaintiffs the opportunity to present all their arguments, this Arbitrator must agree with the arbitrators who have denied Motions to Dismiss based on clear and lucid language of the Statute, as stated by Arbitrator Denenberg. Affording more time, as done by the arbitrator in Allen, would hot have changed the violation of the Statute.

The Legislature selected specific words in the Statute and an arbitrator must read the entire Statute and give it its clear meaning. It is significant to note that not only does the Statute say [U]pon referral to arbitration, it continues by saying that "the employing board of education shall provide all evidence . . . (emphasis added). There is no choice.

Upon referral . . . the board shall provide all evidence, specifically in this matter, the list of witnesses and a summary of their testimony. Each word of the Statute must be considered and given meaning. Read as a whole, this Arbitrator was convinced that the Board was required to submit the requested documents when it submitted the Charges to the Commissioner. It did not do so.

In conclusion, this Arbitrator has reviewed and carefully weighed all arguments presented through written statements by both parties even though many facets were not referred to in the Decision. Considering all the facts, this Arbitrator must decide that the Board violated the clear, specific language of N.J.S.A 18A:6-17.1(b)(3) when it did not include the list of witnesses and the summary of the witnesses' testimony, as required by Statute and, therefore, Respondent's Motion to Dismiss is granted. Finally, through this ruling on the Motion to Dismiss, this Arbitrator has informed the Commissioner that the District has not conformed with the statutory requirements.

In consonance with the proof and upon the foregoing, the undersigned Arbitrator hereby finds, decides, determines and renders the following:

DECISION

1. The Motion to Dismiss is granted without prejudice to the District's right to re-file the tenure Charges.
2. If the charges are re-filed, the District must ensure that the re-filing comports with all applicable statutory provisions.
3. Respondent shall be awarded full back pay and benefits, as if she were in a principal position, but this Decision is not intended to require the District to return Respondent to the principal position in the Camden City School District.
4. The ten agreed upon hearing dates for evidence and arguments on the merits of this matter are canceled.

New Jersey Commissioner of Education

Final Decision

K.P., on behalf of minor children, K.P. and K.P..,

Petitioner,

v.

Board of Education of the Township of Hamilton, Mercer County,

Respondent.

Synopsis

In this case on remand, pro se petitioner appealed the determination of the respondent Board that his minor child, Ky.P., was not entitled to a free public education in Hamilton schools during the 2022-2023 school year. (This matter pertains solely to Ky.P.; in the within decision, the Commissioner refers to K.P.'s minor children – both of whom share the initials K.P. – as Ky.P. and Ka.P., for purposes of clarity; the Board explained in its March 23, 2023, determination letter that it did not take any action with respect to Ka.P. as he remained eligible to attend school in Hamilton.) The Board contended that Ky.P. did not live with her father in Hamilton, but rather resided in Princeton Township, and demanded payment of tuition in the amount of $4,456.65 for Ky.P.'s ineligible attendance in the district.

On remand, the ALJ found, inter alia, that: after giving the petitioner a second opportunity to appear for a hearing, he once again failed to appear; based upon testimony and documentary evidence supplied by the Board, Ky.P. attended school in Hamilton Township for 55 days during the 2022-2023 school year while domiciled outside of the district; further, the cost of tuition for the 2022-2023 school year was $81.03 per day, or $14,586 per year for a third grade student. Accordingly, the ALJ concluded that the Board was entitled to payment from petitioner for Ky.P.'s tuition in the amount of $4,456.65.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurred with the findings and conclusions of the ALJ on remand and adopted the October 15, 2024 Initial Decision as the final decision in this matter. Accordingly, the Board's counterclaim for tuition was granted and petitioner was ordered to pay the Board $4,456.65 in tuition costs for Ky.P.'s period of ineligible attendance.

New Jersey Commissioner of Education

Final Decision

K.P., on behalf of minor children, K.P. and K.P.,

Petitioner,

v.

Board of Education of the Township of Hamilton, Mercer County,

Respondent.

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) on remand have been reviewed and considered. The parties did not file exceptions.

This matter concerns the Board's March 23, 2023, determination that Ky.P. does not reside in Hamilton Township and their demand for payment of tuition in the amount of $4,456.65 for Ky.P.'s ineligible attendance at school in the district during the 2022-2023 school year.[1] Petitioner appealed the Board's determination but failed to prosecute his appeal at the OAL.

In February 2024, the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) granted petitioner's appeal and dismissed the Board's counterclaim for tuition. In March 2024, the Commissioner rejected the Initial Decision, dismissed the petition of appeal for failure to prosecute, and remanded the matter to the OAL to develop the record regarding the number of days of Ky.P.'s ineligible attendance and the per diem cost of tuition.

[1] Because they share the same initials, in this decision, the Commissioner refers to K.P.'s minor children as Ky.P. and Ka.P for purposes of clarity. In its March 23, 2023, determination letter, the Board explained that it did not take any action with respect to Ka.P. and confirmed that he remained eligible to attend school within the Hamilton Township School District. Therefore, this matter pertains only to Ky.P., despite both children being named in the case caption.

On remand, the ALJ gave petitioner a second opportunity to appear for a hearing, and he failed to do so. Based upon testimony and documentary evidence supplied by the Board, the ALJ found that Ky.P. attended school in Hamilton Township for 55 days during the 2022-2023 school year while domiciled outside of the district. The ALJ further found that the cost of tuition was $81.03 per day, or $14,586 per year for a third-grade student. Accordingly, the ALJ concluded that the Board was entitled to payment from petitioner for Ky.P.'s tuition in the amount of $4,456.65.

The Commissioner concurs with the findings and conclusions of the ALJ on remand and adopts the October 15, 2024, Initial Decision as the final decision in this matter. Bd. of Educ. of City of Gloucester City*, 463 N.J. Super. 24, 31 (App. Div. 2020). A child's parents "'shall have the burden of proof by a preponderance of the evidence' to prove domicile in the school district." D.L. v. Bd. of Educ. of Princeton Reg'l Sch. Dist., 366 N.J. Super. 269, 273 (App. Div. 2004) (quoting N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(b)(2)).

If the petitioner fails to prosecute the appeal, "the Commissioner may assess tuition for the period during which the hearing and decision on appeal were pending, and for up to one year of a student's ineligible attendance in a school district prior to the appeal's filing and including the 21-day period to file an appeal." N.J.A.C. 6A:22-6.2(a). Because petitioner failed to prosecute the appeal, the Commissioner shall assess tuition against petitioner for the period during which Ky.P. was ineligible to attend school in the district "computed on the basis of 1/180 of the total annual per pupil cost to the local district multiplied by the number of days of ineligible attendance." N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(b).

Accordingly, the Board's counterclaim for tuition is granted. Petitioner is hereby ordered to pay the Board $4,456.65 in tuition costs for Ky.P.'s period of ineligible attendance.

IT IS SO ORDERED. [2]

K.P. ON BEHALF OF K.P AND K.P.,

v.
TOWNSHIP OF HAMILTON BOARD OF EDUCATION, MERCER COUNTY,
Respondent.

K.P., petitioner, pro se

Michael Pattantite, Esq., for respondent (Lenox, Socey, Formidoni, Giordano, Carrigg, Lang & Casey, LLC, attorneys)

Record Closed: September 24, 2024 Decided: October 15, 2024

BEFORE NICOLE T. MINUTOLI, ALJ

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Petitioner appeals the determination of respondent, Township of Hamilton Board of Education (Board), that K.P. daughter[1] is not domiciled in the Township of Hamilton School District (District) and should be disenrolled and assessed back tuition of $4,456.65 for the days of illegal attendance.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Petitioner filed an appeal with the Department of Education ("the Department") on May 17, 2023. The Board filed an answer on June 5, 2023. The matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), where on June 5, 2023, it was filed as a contested case. N.J.S.A. 52:148-1 to -15; N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13.

A prehearing telephone conference was scheduled for June 20, 2023, but both parties failed to appear.

Notice of the rescheduled conference on August 1, 2023, was sent to the parties through email on July 12, 2023. Both parties appeared for this conference, during which they discussed K.P.'s domicile and agreed to appear at a subsequent conference.

On August 7, 2023, notice was sent to the parties of a telephone conference on September 5, 2023, through regular mail and email. A dial-in number was provided.

The petitioner failed to appear for the September 5, 2023, telephone conference, notify my office in advance, or request an adjournment. The petitioner then failed to appear for four subsequent telephone conferences.

[1] For clarity, I will refer to K.P. parent as "petitioner" and K.P. minor child as "K.P. daughter." Also, the pleadings should only have named K.P. daughter. There is no residency issue with K.P. son.

On November 9, 2023, notice was sent to the parties of a hearing by regular mail and email on January 5, 2024. The notice stated:

> If you do not attend the hearing, the file will be returned to the transmitting agency for appropriate action which may include imposition of the proposed penalty or granting the relief requested by the other party.

On January 5, 2024, the Board appeared for the proof hearing, but the petitioner failed to appear and failed to notify my office in advance or to request an adjournment. The Board presented its proofs for its counterclaim, and the record remained open for the petitioner to explain his nonappearance and for the Board to provide additional information supporting its counterclaim. The Board made its submission on January 9, 2024. When no explanation was received from the petitioner regarding his failure to appear, the record closed on January 16, 2024.

An initial decision reversing the Board's findings was issued on February 6, 2024. On March 15, 2024, the Commissioner of Education reversed the initial decision, dismissed the petitioner's residency appeal, and remanded the matter to develop the record on the number of days of K.P.'s daughter's ineligible attendance and the per diem cost of tuition.

On June 4, 2024, the parties appeared for an in-person hearing. At that time, the petitioner advised that he has been residing in Hamilton for four years and that K.P. daughter resides with him. The petitioner further advised that as a truck driver, his schedule changes, and when he is scheduled to work overnights, K.P.'s daughter must stay with her mother, who resides in Ewing. The petitioner's schedule changes randomly, and K.P.'s daughter did not permanently reside with the mother but stayed with her temporarily.

Based upon the petitioner's assertions, both parties agreed to appear at a subsequent hearing on the residency issue. Notice of the rescheduled hearing for September 24, 2024, was emailed to the parties on June 5, 2024. The Board appeared for the hearing, but the petitioner failed to appear and failed to notify my office in advance or request an adjournment. The hearing was held on September 24, 2024, testimony was taken, and the record was closed.

FINDINGS OF FACT

Based on the testimony of Dr. James Altobello, District Director of Operations, and the documentary submitted by the Board, I FIND the following as FACTS[2]:

1. K.P. daughter began attending school in the District in September 2022 as a third-grade general education school student for the 2022-2023 school year.

2. Thereafter, the respondent received information that K.P. daughter was not residing in Hamilton but was residing in Princeton Township.

3. The Board engaged the services of Tri-Shield Security and Protection to investigate K.P. daughter's actual residence.

4. Surveillance was conducted at the Princeton Township address. After a complete investigation, it was determined that K.P. daughter resided at the Princeton address with her brother's mother and did not reside in Hamilton Township.

5. On February 6, 2023, a residency hearing was conducted before the Board. The petitioner did not attend the residency hearing or claim he did not receive notice.

6. On February 22, 2023, the Board determined that K.P. daughter was not domiciled in or a resident of the Township of Hamilton, which would have entitled her to attend a school within the District without a tuition obligation for the school year 2022-2023.

[2] Although not required, I am restating the facts from the remanded EDU 04952-23, derived from the Board's Counterpetition for an Order Assessing Tuition, marked R-2.

7. By letter dated March 23, 2023, the Board notified the petitioner of its decision that K.P. daughter was ineligible to attend the District schools and of his right to appeal. This letter was sent to the petitioner at both the Hamilton and Princeton Township addresses via regular mail and Certified Mail, Return Receipt Requested.

8. Between March 23, 2023, through June 21, 2023, K.P. daughter attended school in the District for fifty-five days, though not domiciled in the District.

9. The annual per pupil cost for a general education school student in third grade in the District is $14,586.

10. The District was in session for 180 days during the 2022-2023 school year; the daily tuition rate for a general education school student is $81.03. The Board assessed K.P. $4,456.65 for fifty-five days of ineligible attendance.

11. K.P. daughter is not registered in the District for the 2023-2024 school year and did not attend school in the District during the 2023-2024 school year.

CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

At issue is whether K.P. daughter was entitled to a free education under N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1, which provides that public schools shall be free to persons over five and under twenty years of age who are "domiciled within the school district." See V.R. ex rel A.R. v. Hamburg Bd. of Educ., 2 N.J.A.R. 283, 287 (1980), aff'd, State Bd., 1981 S.L.D. 1533, rev'd on other grounds sub nom. Rabinowitz v. N.J. State Bd. of Educ., 550 F. Supp. 481 (D.N.J. 1982) (New Jersey requires local domicile, as opposed to mere residence, in order for a student to receive a free education).

A person who meets age requirements and is domiciled within a school district may attend its public schools free of charge. N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(a). A person may have many residences but only one domicile. Somerville Bd. of Educ. v. Manville Bd. of Educ.,

332 N.J. Super. 6, 12 (App. Div. 2000), aff'd, 167 N.J. 55 (2001). A child's domicile is normally that of his or her parents. Ibid. The domicile of a person is the place where he has his true, fixed, permanent home and principal establishment, and to which whenever he is absent, he has the intention of returning, and from which he has no present intention of moving. In re Unanue, 255 N.J. Super. 362, 374 (Law Div. 1991), aff'd, 311 N.J. Super. 589 (App. Div. 1998), certif. denied, 157 N.J. 541 (1998), cert. denied, 526 U.S. 1051 (1999).

The acts, statements and conduct of the individual, as viewed in the light of all the circumstances, determine a person's true intent. Collins v. Yancey, 55 N.J. Super. 514, 521 (Law Div. 1959). The parent has the burden of proof by a preponderance of the evidence. N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(b)(2).

The record reflects that K.P. daughter attended fifty-five days of school within the District for the 2022-2023 school year while domiciled outside of the District. Accordingly, I CONCLUDE that K.P. daughter was not entitled to a free public education in the District. N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(b)(1) provides that when the evidence does not support the claim of the resident, the resident shall be assessed tuition "for the student prorated to the time of the student's ineligible attendance in the school district. Tuition shall be computed based on 1/180 of the total annual per-pupil cost to the local district multiplied by the number of days of ineligible attendance and shall be collected in the manner in which orders of the commissioner are enforced." The uncontested record reflects that the actual cost of K.P.'s attendance in-district was $81.03 per day, equaling $14,586 per annum. Accordingly, I CONCLUDE that the Board is entitled to reimbursement for tuition by the petitioner in the amount of $4,456.65.

ORDER

For the reasons above, I hereby ORDER that petitioner K.P. pay respondent Hamilton Township Board of Education tuition in the total amount of $4,456.65 for unauthorized attendance in the District schools for the abovementioned periods.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the ACTING COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified, or rejected by the ACTING COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify, or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the ACTING COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION. Exceptions may be filed by email to ControversiesDisputesFilings@doe.nj.gov or by mail to Office of Controversies and Disputes, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500. A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

New Jersey Commissioner of Education

Decision

P.P., on behalf of minor child, S.P.,

Petitioner,

v.

Board of Education of the Camden County Technical Schools, Camden County,

Respondent.

Synopsis

Petitioner challenged the decision of the respondent Board which concluded that an unfounded harassment, intimidation, or bullying (HIB) complaint naming S.P. as the perpetrator was not filed for retaliatory reasons. The Board maintained that although it ultimately determined that S.P.'s actions did not meet the statutory definition of HIB, the HIB complaint at issue was legitimate, warranted investigation, and was not retaliatory. As background, S.P. was involved in an incident in November 2022 wherein he asserted that he was the victim of ridicule and bullying when A.W., a fellow student, threw food at him in the school cafeteria. Subsequently, an investigation determined that the incident constituted HIB against S.P. by A.W., and consequences were issued to A.W. In January 2023, A.W.'s mother filed a complaint against S.P., alleging an HIB incident involving threatening gestures and name calling against A.W. An investigation followed which failed to establish that S.P. had committed HIB against A.W. Following this second HIB investigation, petitioner filed a complaint on S.P.'s behalf alleging that A.W. had retaliated against S.P. for filing the original HIB complaint against her son. A hearing was held in this contested matter on May 22, 2024 at the Office of Administrative Law (OAL).

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: an action by a board of education is entitled to a presumption of correctness unless it is proven to be arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable; under the Act, "harassment, intimidation, or bullying" is broadly defined as any gesture, any written, verbal, or physical act, or any electronic communication that is reasonably perceived as motivated by any actual or perceived distinguishing characteristic, such as race, color, religion, ancestry, national origin, gender, sexual orientation, gender identity and expression, or a mental, physical, or sensory disability, that takes place on school property and substantially disrupts the orderly operation of the school; in the instant case, the testimony of the school principal and member of the HIB investigation team provided reasonable and sound justification as to why the HIB complaint filed by A.W.'s parents did not constitute retaliation against S.P. The ALJ concluded that the Board's decision was not arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable; accordingly, the petition was dismissed.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurred with the ALJ that the Board did not act in an arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable manner in rendering its determination. Accordingly, the Initial Decision of the OAL was adopted as the final decision in this matter, and the petition was dismissed.

New Jersey Commissioner of Education

Final Decision

P.P., on behalf of minor child, S.P.,

Petitioner,

v.

Board of Education of the Camden County Technical Schools, Camden County,

Respondent.

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed and considered. The parties did not file exceptions.

In this matter, petitioner P.P. appeals a May 18, 2023, decision by respondent, Board of Education of the Camden County Technical Schools (Board), which concluded that an unfounded harassment, intimidation, or bullying (HIB) complaint naming S.P. as the perpetrator was not filed for retaliatory reasons.

The Anti-Bullying Bill of Rights Act (the Act), N.J.S.A. 18A:37-13 to -32, prohibits students from engaging in "retaliation or false accusation" against victims of HIB. N.J.S.A. 18A:37-16. Petitioner asserted that the HIB complaint filed by the parents of another student, A.W., was initiated in retaliation for a prior substantiated HIB complaint wherein the Board found that A.W. had committed an act of HIB against S.P. The Board maintained that although it ultimately determined that S.P.'s actions did not meet the statutory definition of HIB, the HIB complaint at issue was legitimate, warranted investigation, and was not retaliatory.

Following a contested hearing at the OAL, the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) concluded that the Board's decision was not arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable. In support of that conclusion, the ALJ cited the testimony of Chantell Green, school principal and member of the HIB investigation team, who provided "a reasonable, plausible, and sound justification why" the HIB complaint filed by A.W.'s parents did not constitute retaliation against S.P. Initial Decision, at 4.[1]

When a local board of education acts within its discretionary authority, its decision is entitled to a presumption of correctness and will not be disturbed unless there is an affirmative showing that the decision was "patently arbitrary, without rational basis or induced by improper motives." Kopera v. Bd. of Educ. of W. Orange, 60 N.J. Super. 288, 294 (App. Div. 1960). Furthermore, "where there is room for two opinions, action is not arbitrary or capricious when exercised honestly and upon due consideration," and the Commissioner will not substitute his judgment for that of the board. Bayshore Sewerage Co. v. Dep't of Env't Prot., 122 N.J. Super. 184, 199 (Ch. Div. 1973), aff'd, 131 N.J. Super. 37 (App. Div. 1974).

Upon review, the Commissioner concurs with the ALJ that the Board's decision was not arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable. The record lacks evidence to support petitioner's contention that the HIB complaint filed against S.P. was an act of retaliation. Thus, N.J.S.A. 18A:37-16 was not violated. Moreover, there is no indication that the Board's decision lacked a rational basis or was induced by improper motives. The Commissioner finds no reason to substitute his judgment for that of the Board of Education.

Accordingly, the Initial Decision is adopted as the final decision in this matter, and the petition of appeal is hereby dismissed.

IT IS SO ORDERED.[2]

BEFORE CARL V. BUCK III, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Petitioner, P.P. on behalf of S.P, challenged the decision of the respondent Camden County Technical Schools Board of Education, Camden County (Camden or Board) that an incident filed against S.P. by a classmate (Student A or A.W.) did not constitute harassment, intimidation, or bullying (HIB) under District Policy 5512 as defined in the Anti-Bullying Bill of Rights Act, N.J.S.A. 18A:37-14 and was, in fact, retaliation regarding against S.P. regarding another matter.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On July 21, 2023, petitioner filed a pro se petition of appeal with the State of New Jersey, Department of Education, Commissioner of Education, Office of Controversies and Disputes. On August 9, 2023, respondent filed its answer. The matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law on August 14, 2023, to proceed as a contested matter under N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15; N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -23.

A hearing was held on May 22, 2024. The record closed on May 28, 2024, after receipt of the parties' post-hearing submissions. A request for an extension for issuance of this Initial Decision was requested and granted.

FACTUAL DISCUSSION AND FINDINGS

Having heard the testimony presented at the hearing, and having reviewed the documentary evidence, I FIND:

At all relevant times to this action S.P. was a student at the Camden County Technical School, Gloucester Township Campus (School). On or about November 7, 2022, S.P. was involved in an event at the school cafeteria where S.P. asserts he was a victim or ridicule, was bullied and had food thrown at him by A.W., another student.

After reporting this to the School by P.P., the School conducted an investigation of the event of November 7, 2023, determining that S.P. was the victim of a HIB incident instigated by A.W. The results of the investigation were sent to P.P. and consequences were issued to A.W.

In January 2023 the mother of A.W. filed a complaint against P.P. alleging HIB incident relating to threatening gestures and name calling. An investigation was conducted, and it was found that a HIB by S.P. as against A.W. did not occur. Shortly after the result of this investigation was issued, P.P. filed a second HIB on S.P.'s behalf against A.W. alleging that the immediate prior allegation (of the filing of a HIB of A.W. by P.P.) constituted retaliation against S.P. An investigation by the school was conducted and it was determined that this filing (of A.W. against S.P.) was not a HIB but it was not a retaliation against S.P. Both parents were informed. P.P. filed an appeal to the Board of Education challenging the decision by the HIB team that this was not HIB. The appeal was heard on May 17, 2023. The parents of S.P. and HIB team presented their respective positions to the board. No recording of that meeting exists. Subsequent to presentations the board agreed with the HIB team and advised the parents. The parents appealed.

Issue: Was the action taken by A.W.'s parent a retaliatory action against S.P.

Chantell Green is the principal of the School. She is part of the HIB investigation team and has been for approximately four years. She was also a HIB team member at her prior school and has had approximately fifteen years of experience with HIB. She described the HIB process and the investigation process and how the investigation progresses. If the investigation determines HIB occurred there are a variety of recommendations for the perpetrator. If parents notified the school of a suspected HIB, they are notified of the investigation's findings. However, no action is taken until the matter is reviewed by the Board. (R-8.)

She expressed a clear knowledge of her role as the principal in the HIB investigation process. Based on the consistency of the events as stated in the investigation report, her clear understanding of her role in a HIB investigation, and her knowledge of what constitutes a HIB violation, I accept the testimony of Ms. Green as credible.

Regarding the first investigation (R-2) wherein P.P. notified the school regarding the actions of A.W. Ms. Green testified to the process, notification of the parties and related activities. She provided a reasonable, plausible, and sound justification why A.W.'s actions against S.P., based on the facts and circumstances did constitute HIB. The parents of S.P. expressed a desire to meet with administrators but due to family events this did not occur. No appeal of this action was made.

Regarding the second investigation (R-3) wherein the mother of A.W. filed HIB against S.P., Ms. Green provided a reasonable, plausible, and sound justification why S.P.'s actions against A.W., based on the facts and circumstances did NOT constitute HIB.

Regarding the third investigation (R-4) wherein P.P. filed an action alleging that A.W.'s action against S.P. was retaliation for the initial complaint, Ms. Green provided a reasonable, plausible, and sound justification why S.P.'s actions against A.W., based on the facts and circumstances did NOT constitute a retaliation. Specifically in order to find HIB, there needs to be a distinguishing characteristic and disruption in the education of the student present. None could be found.

P.P. then filed an appeal of that action, contending that the action of A.W. DID constitute a retaliatory act. The appeal of P.P. was heard by the Board who did not agree with P.P. and stated that the filing of A.W. against S.P. did NOT constitute a retaliatory action. On May 18, 2023, the Board notified P.P. of the Board's decision of May 17, 2023, denying P.P.'s contention that the act of A.W. was retaliatory.

P.P. expressed concerns regarding his ability to record the interviews during the investigation process. P.P. alleged a number of HIB's against his son, notwithstanding that they are not the subject of this matter. A partial recording of a November 18, 2023, meeting was submitted by P.P. over the objection of the Board. The Board correctly noted that this was for the first investigation which was found to have been a HIB against S.P. and was not appealed.

P.P. expressed that physical evidence in S.P.'s clothing and other factors led to their existing a HIB against S.P. Further a retaliatory act by A.W. is also present.

I accepted the testimony of P.P. as being motivated by his concern for S.P. and S.P.'s safety and well-being.

While petitioner expressed his dissatisfaction with the process of discovery and the statutory language, respondent and this tribunal are required to follow the definition of HIB provided in N.J.S.A. 18A:37-14.

CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

It was the intent of the Legislature in enacting the "Anti-Bullying Bill of Rights Act" to strengthen the standards and procedures for preventing, reporting, investigating, and responding to incidents of harassment, intimidation, and bullying of students that occur in school and off school premises. N.J.S.A. 18A:37-13.1, -13.2.

N.J.S.A. 18A:37-14 and District Policy 5512 define harassment, intimidation, or bullying in pertinent part as anything that could be "reasonably perceived as being motivated either by any actual or perceived characteristic, such as race, color, religion, ancestry, national origin, gender, sexual orientation, gender identity and expression, or a mental, physical or sensory disability, or by any other distinguishing characteristic" that "takes place on school property" and "substantially disrupts or interferes with the orderly operation of the school or the rights of other students" and that:

> a. a reasonable person should know, under the circumstances, will have the effect of physically or emotionally harming a student or damaging the student's property, or placing a student in reasonable fear of physical or emotional harm to his person or damage to his property;
> c. creates a hostile educational environment for the student by interfering with a student's education or by severely or pervasively causing physical or emotional harm to the student.

S.P.'s parents believed that the focus of the school's administration, their HIB investigation team and the Board was not accurate in their consideration of P.P.'s contention that the filing by A.W. against S.P. constituted a retaliatory HIB. P.P.'s position dealt with underlying considerations of racism and other invidious concerns.

As explained by Ms. Green, there was no distinguishing characteristic found in the investigation of A.W.'s action. The Board's finding that no HIB occurred because there was no distinguishing characteristic does not diminish what happened to S.P. The Appellate Division in K.L. v. Evesham Township Board of Education, 423 N.J. Super. 337, 350–51 (App. Div. 2011), succinctly stated:

> The statutory definition of "bullying" does not include all violent or aggressive conduct against a student. The definition, both before and after adoption of the 2010 Anti-Bullying Act, refers to conduct that is "reasonably perceived as being motivated" by a "distinguishing characteristic" of the victim, such as, "race, color, religion, ancestry, national origin, gender, sexual orientation, gender identity and expression, or a mental, physical or sensory [disability]." N.J.S.A. 18A:37-14. The statute has not limited "distinguishing characteristic" to those specifically enumerated, but it has consistently required such a perceived motivation.
> Thus, harmful or demeaning conduct motivated only by another reason, for example, a dispute about relationships or personal belongings, or aggressive conduct without identifiable motivation, does not come within the statutory definition of bullying.

Thus, an incident may be physically, psychologically, or socially harmful, but still not meet the HIB criteria.

Petitioner questioned why other factors as to the investigation process; specifically, the interview process, were not considered. Under N.J.S.A. 18A:37-14, the required element is "how the actor's motivation is perceived and whether that perception is reasonable." Wehbeh v. Bd. of Educ. of Verona, 2020 N.J. AGEN LEXIS 50 (Feb. 4, 2020), at *8. To determine whether the perception is reasonable, "the alleged victim [need not] correctly assess the actor's motivation, as such a requirement would convert the analysis from one about reasonably perceived motivation to one about actual motivation and would inappropriately place the burden on the alleged victim to divine the intent of the actor." Ibid., n.3. The HIB investigation by Ms. Green reasonably showed that A.W.'s allegation against S.P. did not meet the burden of HIB.

After hearing P.P.'s appeal, the Board voted to affirm the decision that the A.W.'s complaint did not constitute a retaliatory HIB. Petitioner presented his arguments to the Board, but the Board was not persuaded that their prior decision was incorrect.

The decision of a board acting within the scope of its authority is "entitled to a presumption of correctness and will not be upset unless there is an affirmative showing that such decision was arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable." Thomas v. Bd. of Educ., 89 N.J. Super. 327, 332 (App. Div. 1965). Similarly, the action of a board "which lies within the area of its discretionary powers may not be upset unless patently arbitrary, without rational basis or induced by improper motives." Kopera v. Bd. of Educ., 60 N.J. Super. 288, 294 (App. Div. 1960). The petitioner contended that the Board was wrong in not finding that A.W.'s HIB did not constitute a retaliatory filing. Petitioner believes that the HIB policy must be revised to protect all students; nevertheless, a finding of HIB requires that the conduct be reasonably perceived as being motivated by an actual or perceived characteristic. No such motivation or distinguishing characteristic or difference has been identified.

In view of the foregoing, I CONCLUDE that the Board's determination that the filing of A.W. against S.P. did not constitute HIB – and further, did not constitute retaliatory HIB was not arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable.

Re: Terrell Gilkey v. Board of Trustees of the Queen City Academy Charter School, Union County, Agency Dkt. No. 112-4/24, Commissioner Decision No. 384-24

Dear Counsel:

I have reviewed the materials filed in connection with petitioner Terrell Gilkey's motion for clarification of the Commissioner's Final Decision in the above matter, issued on October 10, 2024. Specifically, petitioner seeks an order clarifying the Final Decision "to expressly define a 'full academic year'" as utilized in the streamline tenure regulation, N.J.A.C. 6A:11-6.2.

Pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.15(b), any party may file a motion for clarification within 10 days of the filing of the Commissioner's decision. Petitioner's motion is timely. Motions for clarification shall be considered by the Commissioner "based upon necessity as specifically demonstrated in the papers submitted with the motion." N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.15(b)(3).

Upon review of the parties' submissions, the Commissioner concludes that petitioner has not demonstrated in his papers that clarification of the October 10, 2024 Final Decision is necessary.

As stated on page 3 of the Final Decision, although not expressly defined in the charter school regulations, N.J.S.A. 18A:1-1 defines "academic year" as "the period between the time school opens in any school district or under any board of education after the general summer vacation until the next succeeding summer vacation." Additionally, as stated on page 3 of the Final Decision, because statutes and regulations governing the same subject matter are interpreted harmoniously, "academic year" as utilized in N.J.A.C. 6A:11-6.2 means "the period between the time school opens in any school district or under any board of education after the general summer vacation until the next succeeding summer vacation."

While petitioner contends that the statutory definition of "academic year" should not be utilized in the streamline tenure context, his disagreement with the Commissioner's legal analysis does not necessitate the granting of his motion for clarification.

Accordingly, the petitioner's motion for clarification is hereby DENIED.

Sincerely,

Kevin Dehmer
Acting Commissioner

New Jersey Commissioner of Education

Final Decision

In the Matter of the Suspension of the Teaching Certificates of Tori N. Joseph, Board of Education of the City of New Brunswick, Middlesex County

This matter was opened before the Commissioner of Education on August 9, 2024, by way of an Order to Show Cause served by petitioner (Board of Education of the City of New Brunswick) upon respondent (Tori N. Joseph), requiring respondent to show cause why an order should not be entered suspending her teaching certificates pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10 and N.J.S.A. 18A:28-8 for resigning without giving the notice required by law.

By notice dated August 15, 2024, the Office of Controversies and Disputes (Office) acknowledged proof that the Order to Show Cause had been served upon respondent and directed her to answer within 20 days. No answer having been received, on September 9, 2024, the Office sent respondent a second and final notice – via certified and regular mail – directing her to file an answer within ten days. The notice advised that, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.5(e), failure to answer would cause each allegation in petitioner's papers to be deemed admitted and might result in summary decision by the Commissioner. To date, respondent has not answered the Order to Show Cause.

The petition and supporting exhibits submitted in this matter indicate that: respondent entered into an employment contract to work as a special education teacher in New Brunswick for the 2023-2024 school year, beginning November 1, 2023 and ending June 30, 2024; the contract provides that it can be terminated by either party upon sixty days' written notice; and, on April 8, 2024, respondent sent correspondence to the Board indicating that she was resigning effective April 22, 2024, thereby providing less than the required 60 days' notice. She has not denied these allegations; therefore, the Commissioner deems such allegations to be admitted pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.5(e) and further deems them sufficient to justify suspension of respondent's teaching certificates pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10 and N.J.S.A. 18A:28-8.

Accordingly, summary decision is hereby granted to petitioner, and respondent's teaching certificates, as well as any substitute teaching credential she may hold, are suspended for a period of one year from the filing date of this decision, a copy of which shall be forwarded to the State Board of Examiners for implementation of the suspension.

New Jersey Commissioner of Education

Final Decision

Lucy Ferguson,

Petitioner,

v.

Board of Education of the Township of Hillside, Union County,

Respondent.

Synopsis

Petitioner challenged her termination from the position of school custodian after eighteen (18) years of employment without the filing of tenure charges and without a hearing. Petitioner was a member of the Hillside Education Association, which served as the collective bargaining unit for janitorial and maintenance staff; the collective bargaining agreement for the period from July 1, 2021, to June 30, 2024, contained a provision stating that "(c)ustodians hired prior to July 1, 2018, following receipt of their fourth contract, after having served continuously for three (3) calendar years (36 months) shall be placed under tenure...". The petitioner filed a motion for summary decision, which was opposed by the respondent Board.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: on December 23, 2023, the Board issued a one-sentence letter terminating petitioner effective December 29, 2023, without stating a reason for the termination; petitioner was a tenured employee; and the Board terminated her without filing tenure charges or holding a disciplinary hearing; and there are no material facts in dispute in this case, and the matter is ripe for summary decision. The ALJ concluded that petitioner was improperly terminated and ordered that she be reinstated to her position with back pay and benefits, retroactive to December 29, 2023.

Upon review, the Commissioner, inter alia, concurred with the findings and conclusions of the ALJ, and adopted the Initial Decision of the OAL as the final decision in this matter. The Commissioner directed the Board to reinstate petitioner as a school custodian effective December 29, 2023, with back pay and benefits.

This synopsis is not part of the Commissioner's decision. It has been prepared for the convenience of the reader. It has been neither reviewed nor approved by the Commissioner.

Final Decision

Lucy Ferguson,

Petitioner,

v.

Board of Education of the Township of Hillside, Union County,

Respondent.

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed and considered.

Upon review, the Commissioner agrees with the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) – for the reasons expressed in the Initial Decision – that petitioner was a tenured employee when the Board terminated her employment. In addition, the Commissioner concurs with the ALJ that the Board improperly terminated Petitioner without tenure charges or a disciplinary hearing.

Accordingly, the Initial Decision is adopted as the final decision in this matter, and petitioner's motion for summary decision is granted. The Board is directed to reinstate petitioner as a school custodian effective December 29, 2023, with back pay and benefits.

Record Closed: September 24, 2024 Decided: October 4, 2024

BEFORE ANDREA PERRY VILLANI, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Respondent, the Hillside Board of Education, summarily terminated petitioner, Lucy Ferguson, a school custodian, after eighteen years of employment without filing tenure charges and without a hearing. Can the termination stand? No. The Tenure Employees Hearing Law, which confers tenure on public school janitors, prohibits tenured employees from being terminated without a hearing.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On December 22, 2023, Erskin Glover, Superintendent of the Hillside Public Schools, notified Ferguson on behalf of the Hillside Board of Education that she was terminated from her position as custodian effective December 29, 2023.

On March 25, 2024, Ferguson filed a Certified Petition of Appeal with the New Jersey Department of Education.

On April 17, 2024, the New Jersey Department of Education, Office of Controversies and Disputes, transmitted the case to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) under the Administrative Procedure Act, N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15, and the act establishing the OAL, N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -23.

On May 17, 2024, I conducted a pre-hearing telephone conference. Counsel agreed to adjourn the conference thirty days to allow for settlement negotiations.

On June 26, 2024, I held a second pre-hearing telephone conference, but no one called in. The conference was rescheduled for July 8, 2024.

On July 8, 2024, the Board's attorney did not call in for the conference. Counsel for Ferguson stated his intention to file a motion for summary decision. I requested that he contact the Board's attorney and attempt to agree on a joint stipulation of facts.

On August 20, 2024, Ferguson filed her motion for summary decision, and counsel confirmed that he issued a proposed joint stipulation of facts to the Board's attorney, but the Board never responded.

On September 23, 2024, the Board filed opposition to the motion for summary decision. On September 24, 2024, Ferguson filed her reply, and I closed the record.

FINDINGS OF FACT

Ferguson was employed by the Board as a full-time custodian and maintenance worker beginning November 28, 2005. On May 22, 2009, the Board issued a salary notification to Ferguson marked "Tenure." (P-2.) On October 17, 2023, Ferguson was removed from her active work duties and placed on paid administrative leave. On December 22, 2023, the Board issued a one-sentence letter terminating Ferguson effective December 29, 2023. (P-3.) It did not give a reason for the termination. (P-3.)

Ferguson was a member of the Hillside Education Association (HEA), which served as the collective bargaining unit for janitorial and maintenance staff. The Controlling Collective Bargaining Agreement (CBA) for the period of July 1, 2021, to June 30, 2024, contained the following provision: "For custodian's hired prior to July 1, 2018, following receipt of their fourth contract, after having served continuously for three (3) calendar years (36 months) shall be placed under tenure..." (P-1.)

As such, Ferguson was a tenured employee, and the Board terminated her without filing tenure charges or holding a disciplinary hearing. Although Ferguson believes the Board fired her because she had an altercation with a co-worker, the Board presented no evidence of this or a criminal indictment or even an investigation.

CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

Summary Decision

Under N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(b), summary decision may be rendered if the papers and discovery, which have been filed, together with the affidavits, if any, show that there is no genuine issue as to any material fact challenged and the moving party is entitled to prevail as a matter of law. N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(b) also holds that when a motion for summary decision is made and supported, for an adverse party to prevail it must "by responding affidavit set forth specific facts" showing there is a genuine issue that can only be determined in an evidentiary proceeding.

In this case, Ferguson filed an affidavit in the form of a Certified Petition of Appeal and six exhibits supporting her position that she was employed by the Board for eighteen years and received tenure. She also established that she was terminated without tenure charges or a disciplinary hearing. In other words, her Motion was made and supported. However, the Board did not respond with an affidavit as required by N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(b). The Board only provided a letter brief, and that brief did not set forth any specific facts showing that there is a genuine issue for trial.

Because N.J.A.C 1:1-12.5(b) is almost identical to R. 4:46, "Summary Judgment," subsection (c), New Jersey courts have applied the legal standard for summary judgment to administrative proceedings. See Contini v. Bd. of Educ. of Newark, 286 N.J. Super. 106, 122 (App. Div. 1995). Part of the legal standard for summary judgment is that abstract doubt regarding material facts is not sufficient to defeat it. See O'Loughlin v. Nat'l Cmty. Bank, 338 N.J. Super. 592, 606-07 (App. Div. 2001). To put it another way, competent opposition to summary judgment requires "competent evidential material" beyond mere "speculation" and "fanciful arguments." Merchs. Express Money Order Co. v. Sun Nat'l Bank, 374 N.J. Super. 556, 563 (App. Div. 2005).

In this case, the Board argues that Ferguson should produce additional evidence to "confirm" she was continually employed for eighteen years and thereby entitled to tenure. At the same time, the Board does not actually dispute that Ferguson was continually employed or that she was granted tenure. Also, as noted above, the Board has not provided any specific facts indicating that Ferguson was not tenured. For these reasons, the Board's opposition amounts to nothing more than abstract doubt or mere speculation. Therefore, I CONCLUDE that there are no material facts in dispute and this case is ripe for summary decision.

Tenure Employees Hearing Law

N.J.S.A. 18A:17-3, "Tenure of janitorial employees," confers tenure upon school janitors if they are not employed for a fixed term. However, janitors employed for a fixed term may also be afforded tenure under the terms of a Collective Bargaining Agreement. Wright v. Bd. of Educ., 194 N.J. Super 181, 184-85 (App. Div. 1983). In Wright, the Appellate Division noted that N.J.S.A. 18A:17-3 "clearly affords a school district the option of deciding whether it wishes to grant tenure to a janitor" and, therefore, a collective bargaining agreement that confers tenure on a janitor employed for a fixed term is not in derogation of that statute. Id. at 184.

In this case, Ferguson received tenure under both N.J.S.A. 18A:17-3 and a Collective Bargaining Agreement (CBA). N.J.S.A. 18A:17-3 applies because Ferguson was employed by the Board for eighteen years, clearly not a fixed term. Although the Board suggests that N.J.S.A. 18A:17-3 does not apply because Ferguson was employed for a fixed term of twelve months (July 1st through June 30th) eighteen times, even if this were true, she is still entitled to tenure under Wright and the terms of the CBA. Again, the CBA confers tenure after three years of continuous employment. Although the Board questions whether Ferguson was "continuously" employed, it has provided no facts whatsoever to the contrary.

N.J.S.A. 18A:17-3 holds that a tenured janitor may only be dismissed, suspended, or reduced in compensation for misbehavior in the manner prescribed by statute. N.J.S.A. 18A:6-10 states that tenured employees may not be dismissed or reduced in compensation "except for inefficiency, incapacity, unbecoming conduct or other just cause, and then only after a hearing held pursuant to this sub-article..." Further, in Slater v. Bd. of Educ., 237 N.J. Super. 424, 426 (App. Div. 1989), the Appellate Division stated, "a tenured employee may be suspended without pay only if indicted or if tenure charges have been preferred and certified to the Commissioner of Education. In all other circumstances, a suspension must be with pay."

In this case, Ferguson was terminated on December 29, 2023, without tenure charges or a disciplinary hearing. Similarly, there was no criminal indictment. Therefore, I CONCLUDE that Ferguson was improperly terminated.

ORDER

Based on the foregoing, I ORDER that Ferguson be reinstated to her position effective December 29, 2023, with back pay and benefits.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified, or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this case. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify, or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision becomes a final decision under N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision is mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

These contested cases were transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law for hearing under the Administrative Procedure Act, N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15, and the Uniform Administrative Procedure Rules, N.J.A.C. 1:1-1.1 to -21.6. The parties have agreed to settle these cases and have entered into an agreement. Their settlement agreement is attached to this decision.

Having reviewed the terms of their agreement, I have determined that the settlement is voluntary, consistent with the law, and fully dispositive of all issues in controversy between the parties in these cases.

I ORDER that the settlement agreement is APPROVED, that its terms are INCORPORATED into this decision, and that these cases are CONCLUDED.

I FILE my decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration. This recommended decision may be adopted, modified, or rejected by COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who is empowered by law to make a final decision in this case. If the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION does not so act within 45 days, and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision becomes a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT AND RELEASE

This settlement agreement and release ("Agreement") is entered into between Petitioners, Y.A.L.E. School Southeast, Inc., Y.A.L.E. School Cherry Hill, Inc., Y.A.L.E. School Atlantic, Inc., Y.A.L.E. School West, Inc., Y.A.L.E. School Southeast II, Inc., Y.A.L.E. School East, Inc. (collectively "Y.A.L.E." or "Petitioners") and Respondent, the New Jersey Department of Education ("DOE"), Office of Fiscal Accountability and Compliance ("OFAC" or "Respondent"), (collectively "the Parties").

RECITALS

WHERAS, Petitioners are each approved private schools for students with disabilities ("APSSDs"), as recognized by the DOE; and

WHEREAS, on or about December 2, 2016, Respondent conducted fiscal monitoring of Petitioners in accordance with N.J.A.C. 6A:23A-18.15 and issued a report of examination ("ROE") for the period July 1, 2013 to June 30, 2014; and

WHEREAS, Petitioners challenged the OFAC's ROE findings in respective appeals; and

WHEREAS, in response to Petitioners' appeals, the OFAC modified some of its initial conclusions and sustained others; and

WHEREAS, Petitioners then filed individual Verified Petitions of Appeal with the Office of Administrative Law ("OAL") on June 11, 2019 in further appeal of the challenged findings;

WHEREAS these matters have been pending for several years and accruing significant expense;

WHEREAS, the Parties desire to resolve amicably all claims asserted in connection with OAL Docket Numbers EDU-14336-2019S, EDU-14337-2019S, EDU-14338-2019S, EDU-14339-2019S, EDU-14340-2019S, EDU-14341-2019S, a consolidated matter; and

WHEREAS, Respondent will issue a notice letter, within 10 business days of executing this Agreement, to all school districts that paid tuition to Petitioners in the 2013-2014 school year alerting them to a potential settlement in this matter, and allowing them a period of 30 days to submit any comments to Respondent; any agreement between the Parties is not final and binding until after this period expires.

WHEREAS, no later than three calendar days after the comment period expires, Respondent's counsel shall notify Petitioners' counsel in writing that this Agreement ensues in full force and effect, being final and binding upon the Parties.

NOW THEREFORE, in consideration of the mutual promises and covenants contained herein, and to avoid the ongoing expense and uncertainty of further litigation, the Parties agree as follows:

1. The above "WHEREAS" clauses are incorporated herein and made part of this Agreement.

2. Payment. The Parties have agreed to the following:

    a. Prior to June 30, 2027, Petitioners shall pay the sum of one hundred and forty thousand, three hundred and seventeen dollars and thirty-two cents ($140,317.32) (the "Settlement Amount"), which they agree and accept as a non-allowable cost attributable to the 2013-2014 school year, and which is comprised of the following:

        i. Fifty-four thousand, nine hundred and thirty five dollars and eight cents ($54,935.08) shall be paid in connection with challenged "Finding One" as it relates to Cherry Hill, East, and Southeast II, and Atlantic, and challenged "Finding Two" as it relates to Southeast and West, consultant fees in excess of maximum allowable salaries;

ii. Thirty-eight thousand, nine hundred and sixty-eight dollars and sixty cents ($38,968.60) shall be paid in connection with "Finding One" as it relates to West, and "Finding Two" as it relates to Cherry Hill, East, and Atlantic, write-off of accounts receivable;

iii. Twenty-five thousand, six hundred and eleven dollars and fifty-five cents ($25,611.55) shall be paid in connection with "Finding One" as it relates to Southeast, a disallowance of employee salary and fringe benefits;

iv. Sixteen thousand nine hundred and ninety-two dollars and fifty cents ($16,992.50) shall be paid in connection with "Finding Three" as it relates to Cherry Hill and East, and "Finding Five" as it relates to West, costs attributable to unsupervised related services relating to swimming;

v. Two thousand, six hundred and twenty-six dollars and eighty-four cents ($2,626.84) shall be paid in connection with "Finding Three" as it relates to West, unallowable consultant costs, namely the Protocall contract; and

vi. One thousand, one hundred and eighty-two dollars and seventy-five cents ($1,182.75) shall be paid in connection with "Finding Four" as it relates to Southeast, excess administrative costs.

b. OFAC has identified the districts that are impacted by this Agreement by reason of having paid tuition to Petitioners during the 2013-2014 school year. The Settlement Amount shall be allocated to each impacted district based on the ratio of each sending district board of education's total Average Daily Enrollment ("ADE") with each Petitioner for the 2013-2014 school year to each Petitioner's total ADE for the same period.

c. Each district shall receive an allocation of the Settlement Amount in each year of this agreement until its total allocation is repaid, and unless the Settlement Amount is prepaid. Petitioners agree to notify each impacted sending district of this settlement within 90 days and commence repayment in accordance with Paragraph 2.g. below.

d. It is understood that the purpose of the allocation set forth in Paragraphs 2.b. and 2.c. above is to refund to each sending district a portion of the funds previously paid by those districts in respect to the charges disallowed pursuant to this Agreement. The allocation and this Agreement are not intended to bestow a windfall on districts that have not yet paid Petitioners the tuition charges for the years related to the refund and at issue in this matter.

e. Subject to the obligations set forth in Paragraph 2.c. above, nothing herein shall affect whatever entitlement Petitioners otherwise would have to collect from sending districts any outstanding tuition charges unrelated to the partial disallowance agreed to herein.

f. Petitioners' payment of the Settlement Amount shall be memorialized in a Note Disclosure in that year's audited financial statements. Under no circumstances shall the Settlement Amount be included in allowable costs.

g. Petitioners' full repayment of the Settlement Amount to sending districts shall be completed by June 30, 2027. This arrangement allows Petitioners a minimum of three full school years (2024-2025, 2025-2026, and 2026-2027) for all payments to be received by sending districts. Nothing in this Agreement shall prohibit Petitioners from prepayment over a shorter term or applying sums owed to Petitioners to a district's outstanding balance.

h. The Parties acknowledge that Y.A.L.E. School Southeast II, Inc. is no longer in existence, and nothing in this Agreement or otherwise prevents sums relative to this Petitioner from being paid by the other Petitioners.

3. Release. The Parties hereby agree that this Agreement shall fully dispose of any and all causes of action and claims that the Parties may have against one another relating to Respondent's audit of Petitioners' financial statements for the 2013-2014 school year. In exchange for, and in consideration of, the payments, benefits, and other commitments described herein, each party hereby fully releases, acquits, and forever discharges the other party of and from any and all claims, liabilities, causes of action, damages, costs, expenses, and compensation whatsoever, of whatever kind of nature, in law, equity or otherwise, whether known or unknown, vested or contingent, suspected or unsuspected, that the party may now have up to the execution date of this Agreement, against the other party related to Respondent's audit of the Petitioners' financial statements for the 2013-2014 year, and for violations of the same kind occurring in subsequent school years from 2014-2015 through the 2021-2022 year which have been, and are, closed and certified, never to be revisited by OFAC or the Office of Fiscal Policy and Planning, regarding any purported issue For any year which has not been closed and certified, nothing in this Agreement waives Respondent's obligations under N.J.A.C. 6A:23A-18.1 to -18.23. The Parties agree that attorneys' fees related to OFAC's FY13-14 fiscal monitoring and OAL Docket Numbers EDU-14336-2019S, EDU-14337-2019S, EDU-14338-2019S, EDU-14339-2019S, EDU-14340-2019S, EDU-14341-2019S, are an allowable cost.

4. No Admission of Liability. Nothing in this Agreement shall constitute an admission or stipulation of facts. By entering into this agreement, the Parties agree that all actions taken, and statements made by Petitioners and Respondent and their representatives relating to the issuance and/or execution of this Agreement, including its development and implementation shall not constitute, be interpreted, be construed, or be used as evidence of any admission of fact, law, responsibility, wrongdoing, or liability, and shall not be referred to in any other proceeding by any party other than to enforce the express terms of this Agreement. Neither party admits or denies a violation of any state or federal law. Petitioners specifically denies any liability whatsoever for any damages, injuries or other claims by the OFAC.

5. Effect of Agreement. This Agreement shall not constitute precedent or be used as evidence of any admission of fact, law, responsibility, wrongdoing, or liability on the part of the Parties and shall not be referred to in any other proceeding by any party other than to enforce the express terms of this Agreement.

6. Modification. No change or modification of this Agreement shall be valid or effective unless it is set forth in writing signed by the Parties.

7. Entire Agreement. This Agreement constitutes the entire agreement between the Parties with respect to the subject matter hereof and supersedes all other prior discussions, agreements and understandings, both written and oral, among the Parties with respect thereto, and shall inure to the benefit of the Parties referenced herein, jointly and severally, and the executors, administrators, personal representatives, heirs, and successors of each. The Parties agree that no representations, warranties, or promises have been made or relied upon other than as set forth herein.

8. Representation. This Agreement is the product of arms-length negotiations. Each party has consulted with its respective legal counsel regarding its contents and seek to enter this Agreement freely and voluntarily.

9. Interpretation. Legal counsel for each party has participated in the drafting of this Agreement. Thus, the language of this Agreement shall not be construed presumptively in favor or against either Party. This Agreement shall be construed and interpreted in accordance with the laws of the State of New Jersey, including but not limited to the New Jersey Contractual Liability Act, N.J.S.A. 59:13-1 et seq. The Parties agree that any action to enforce or interpret this Agreement shall only be brought in the Superior Court of New Jersey.

10. Severability. If any provision of this Agreement or any portion of any provision of this Agreement is declared void or unenforceable by any Court or tribunal having jurisdiction, then such provision or such portion of a provision shall be considered separate and apart from the remainder of this Agreement, which shall remain in full force and effect.

11. Execution and Authorization of Signatures. This Agreement may be executed in counterparts. All such counterparts shall constitute one and the same Agreement. Electronic and facsimile signatures shall be treated as originals. The individuals who have executed this Agreement on behalf of the respective parties expressly represent and warrant that s/he is authorized to sign on behalf of his/her party.

12. Dismissal. Petitioners shall file a Stipulation of Dismissal with Prejudice of OAL Docket Numbers EDU-14336-2019S, EDU-14337-2019S, EDU-14338-2019S, EDU-14339-2019S, EDU-14340-2019S, EDU-14341-2019S, a consolidated matter, with the New Jersey Office of Administrative Law within 30 days of receiving post-comment period, written confirmation that the Parties' Agreement ensues in full force and effect. A copy of the executed Agreement will be filed with the New Jersey Office of Administrative Law simultaneously.

The undersigned hereby accept and agree to be bound by the terms of this SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT AND MUTUAL RELEASE.

New Jersey Commissioner of Education

Final Decision

Board of Education of the Warren Hills Regional School District, Warren County, Petitioner,

v.

Board of Education of the Town of Hackettstown, Warren County, and New Jersey Department of Education,

Respondents.

The record of this matter, the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), the exceptions filed by respondent Hackettstown Board of Education (Hackettstown) pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4, and petitioner Warren Hills Regional School District Board of Education's (Warren Hills) reply thereto, have been reviewed and considered. Respondent New Jersey Department of Education (DOE) did not file exceptions or a reply.

This matter arises out of a dispute concerning who is fiscally responsible for the education of E.N. from the 2018-2019 school year to the 2020-2021 school year. It is undisputed that on December 18, 2014, E.N. was placed by the Department of Children and Families (DCF) at the Bancroft School (Bancroft), a private residential school for students with special needs. Prior to her placement at Bancroft, E.N. lived with her mother, S.A., in Newark. In September 2016, S.A's mother and sister applied and signed a lease for an apartment in Mansfield Village, within the Warren Hills Regional

School District. The residency application and lease listed S.A. and A.N. (E.N.'s sister) as additional occupants/immediate family. The initial lease period was from December 1, 2016, to November 30, 2017, and a lease renewal addendum was signed for the term of December 1, 2017, to November 30, 2018. According to a notarized statement signed by X.S., S.A.'s cousin, S.A. moved out of the Mansfield Village apartment and into X.S.'s home in Hackettstown, within the Hackettstown school district, in July 2018.[1]

On March 15, 2019, Cindy Lee (Lee), then Director of State Aid Entitlements and Payments at the DOE, issued a determination that Hackettstown is responsible for E.N.'s education costs for the 2018-2019 school year because S.A. resided in Hackettstown on October 15, 2018. On July 30, 2019, then Deputy Assistant Commissioner for the Office of School Finance, Glenn Forney (Forney), affirmed Lee's determination.[2] Forney's decision was not appealed to the Commissioner.[3]

Hackettstown then emailed Anthony Hearn (Hearn) at the DOE's Office of Fiscal and Data Services, indicating that it suspected that S.A. may have been "doubled-up" at her sister's residence in Mount Olive. Hearn replied that this would make S.A. homeless and A.N. eligible for protection under the McKinney-Vento Homelessness Assistance Act (McKinney-Vento).

[1] The Mansfield Village apartment bears a mailing address in Hackettstown, but it is nonetheless located within the Warren Hills Regional School District. All references herein to S.A.'s residence in Hackettstown are intended to refer to X.S.'s home on Herbert Lane in Hackettstown, within the Hackettstown school district.

[2] The determinations made by Lee and Forney were determinations of the district of residence for a student placed by DCF, pursuant to the procedures established by N.J.A.C. 6A:23A-19.2.

[3] Hackettstown did write to Forney and request that he reconsider his decision. However, there is no provision in the applicable rules for reconsideration in these circumstances. See N.J.A.C. 6A:23A-19.2(f) (providing that when the Office of School Facilities and Finance is unable to resolve a dispute, a board of education may file a petition of appeal with the Commissioner pursuant to the provisions of N.J.A.C. 6A:3). Forney's July 30, 2019 letter notified Hackettstown of this procedure.

On August 1, 2020, the Bancroft School sent a letter to the Warren County Office of Education regarding E.N.'s outstanding tuition.[4] On August 26, 2020, Tania Mongioi (Mongioi), Special Education Specialist from the Warren County Office of Education, sent an email determining that Warren Hills was responsible for E.N.'s education and transportation costs from July 2018 to January 2020. On January 19, 2021, Executive County Superintendent (ECS) Rosalie Lamonte (Dr. Lamonte), issued a letter determining that S.A. had become homeless during the 2017-2018 school year in Warren Hills, and that Warren Hills was fiscally responsible for school years 2018–2019, 2019–2020, and 2020–2021.

On April 16, 2021, Warren Hills filed the instant petition against Hackettstown and the DOE, seeking a determination that Hackettstown is responsible for E.N.'s costs during the 2018-2019 school year and that the DOE is responsible for the 2019–2020 school year and forward, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:7B-12(d). Hackettstown filed an answer, and the DOE filed a motion to dismiss the petition. The matter was transmitted to the OAL and the DOE's motion was denied. Warren Hills and Hackettstown then filed cross-motions for summary decision, which were denied by the ALJ because a genuine issue of material fact existed regarding the validity of the homelessness determination that had been made and a more fact-intensive analysis was required.

Following a hearing, and citing to testimony and evidence on the record, the ALJ found that S.A. had moved to the Mansfield Village apartment in August or September 2017, and left Mansfield Village for Hackettstown in July 2018. The ALJ concluded that S.A. was not homeless when she moved from Mansfield Village to Hackettstown. Specifically, the ALJ found that S.A. did not leave Mansfield Village out of necessity or due to an emergency. The ALJ noted that S.A. testified that she was neither evicted nor asked to leave; rather, she planned to return to Newark, but received an appealing invitation from X.S. to live with her and her family in Hackettstown and help with childcare in exchange for rent.

Furthermore, the ALJ found S.A.'s residence in Hackettstown to be fixed, regular, and adequate, and more comfortable than the Mansfield Village apartment. The ALJ reasoned that S.A. had her own bedroom in Hackettstown compared to Mansfield Village, where she shared a room with her daughter;[5] in addition, the Hackettstown home is a split-level home and not an apartment. The ALJ also found that S.A. intended to remain in Hackettstown indefinitely, as evidenced by her changing the address on her driver's license to the Hackettstown address. Additionally, the ALJ found that the residents of the home in Hackettstown all depended on each other as in Bd. of Educ. of the Twp. of Pennsauken, Camden Cnty. v. Lovell Pugh-Bassett, Interim Executive Cnty. Superintendent, Bd. of Educ. of Haddon Twp., Camden Co., and A.A. on behalf of minor child, A.L., Commissioner Decision No. 122-22 (June 16, 2022). The ALJ noted that S.A was never asked to leave Hackettstown, and only moved out after X.S.'s father-in-law died unexpectedly and his spouse, X.S.'s mother-in-law, needed to move in because she could not take care of herself. The ALJ found that X.S. did not want S.A. to leave. The ALJ reversed the ECS's determination, reinstated Forney's decision from July 30, 2019, and directed Hackettstown to assume financial responsibility for E.N.'s tuition from 2018 onward, totaling $160,739.88.

In its exceptions, Hackettstown argues that the ALJ erred in finding that S.A. was not homeless when she left Mansfield Village for Hackettstown. This finding, they contend, contradicts Mongoi's August 26, 2020 determination of homelessness that Warren Hills failed to timely challenge; as such, Warren Hills's appeal should be dismissed pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3.1.3(i). Further, even assuming a timely appeal, Hackettstown argues that the record supports a conclusion that each of S.A.'s living arrangements – at the Mansfield Village apartment, in Hackettstown, in Budd Lake, and in Pennsylvania – were not fixed, regular, and adequate; thus, S.A. was homeless. Hackettstown notes that S.A. had not lived in the Hackettstown school district for at least 365 days during the relevant time period, and argues that Hackettstown cannot, therefore, be responsible for E.N.'s education.

[5] The Initial Decision indicates both that S.A. and her daughter shared a bedroom and that they shared a bed. The second statement appears to be a typographical error, as S.A. testified that she and her daughter shared a bedroom at Mansfield Village, not a bed. See T49:4.

Hackettstown also argues that the ALJ incorrectly relies on Pennsauken, supra, in reaching the conclusion that S.A. was not homeless. Hackettstown distinguishes this matter from Pennsauken, noting that the living conditions in Pennsauken were fixed, regular, and adequate, with the mother and student having their own bedrooms and access to all home facilities. Further, they had been living in the home for years by the time of the hearing, and the homeowner relied on her daughter (the student's mother) for fulltime medical care. Hackettstown argues that, in contrast, S.A. shared a room with her adult daughter in Mansfield Village, was not on the lease, and moved out because the lease was ending. Further, S.A. did not have a bedroom, but a "space" in Hackettstown; she resided there for well under a year; did not pay rent; was not on the lease; and was eventually told that she might have to leave. Hackettstown also argues that, unlike in Pennsauken where the homeowner depended on her daughter, X.S.'s family appears to have had other options for childcare beyond S.A.

Furthermore, Hackettstown argues that Warren Hills has not met its burden of proving that S.A. was not homeless. Hackettstown also takes exception to the ALJ's finding that Hackettstown did not act in compliance with the relevant homelessness regulations, asserting that they contacted the Office of School Finance and – by way of a carbon copy – the ECS, seeking reconsideration of the DOE's decision to uphold the finding that Hackettstown was responsible for E.N.'s educational costs. Hackettstown contends that it was appropriate for it to seek a homelessness determination from the ECS because the ECS has exclusive jurisdiction over homelessness determinations and had not yet made a determination regarding E.N.

Lastly, Hackettstown takes exception to the ALJ's finding that Hackettstown is fiscally responsible for E.N.'s tuition from 2018 forward. Hackettstown argues that the DOE's determinations from Lee and Forney only reviewed the 2018-2019 school year, finding that because S.A. lived in Hackettstown on October 15, 2018, Hackettstown was fiscally responsible for 2018-2019. No other DOE determinations for subsequent school years had been made, and the record shows that S.A. did not live in Hackettstown in October 2019, October 2020, or October 2021. Accordingly, Hackettstown argues that neither the record nor the decision can substantiate a finding that Hackettstown is responsible for the school years from 2018 forward.

In response, Warren Hills contends that Hackettstown's exceptions reiterate arguments presented during the hearing and in their post-hearing brief that have already been considered and dismissed by the ALJ; as such, those arguments should not be considered by the Commissioner. Next, Warren Hills challenges Hackettstown's assertion that it complied with the relevant homelessness regulations, arguing that there is no provision in the law or code for a request for reconsideration of a determination of district of residence. Regarding the issue of timeliness, Warren Hills emphasizes that Dr. Lamonte's January 19, 2021 determination – that S.A. became homeless in Warren Hills during the 2017-2018 school year – forms the basis for the instant appeal; therefore, Warren Hill's appeal – filed April 16, 2021 – is timely. Warren Hills contends that Mongioi's August 26, 2020 email does not constitute an ECS determination since she did not consult the ECS in reaching her determination, and Dr. Lamonte neither signed nor certified the email.

Lastly, Warren Hills argues that there is ample evidence in the record to support the ALJ's conclusion that S.A. was not homeless. Citing to case law referenced in the ALJ's decision, Warren Hills contends that S.A. was not living in Hackettstown out of necessity. Warren Hills notes that S.A. testified that she was neither evicted nor asked to leave Mansfield Village. Rather, she left Mansfield Village because she was unhappy and wanted to return to Newark, where she had grown up, but S.A.'s mother did not want her to move back. S.A.'s other family members remained at Mansfield Village after S.A. left. S.A.'s family members in Hackettstown did not give her a set amount of time during which she could stay with them and S.A. testified to always having lived with relatives throughout her life. Warren Hills also contends that the Hackettstown home was fixed, regular, and adequate, and that S.A.'s testimony suggests that she had more comfortable living arrangements in Hackettstown than she did at Mansfield Village.

Initially, the Commissioner concludes that Warren Hills' appeal was timely filed. Pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:17-2.7, a determination of homelessness is made by the ECS; the ECS's determination is then appealable to the Commissioner. Accordingly, Warren Hills' timeline to file its petition of appeal began running only when Warren Hills received Dr. Lamonte's January 19, 2021 determination; the earlier correspondence from Hearn and Mongoi is irrelevant. The petition of appeal was filed on April 16, 2021, less than 90 days after Dr. Lamonte's determination, and was therefore timely pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(i).

Under McKinney-Vento, homeless children are defined as "individuals who lack a fixed, regular and adequate nighttime residence," which includes "children and youths who are sharing the housing of other persons due to loss of housing, economic hardship, or a similar reason." 42 U.S.C.A. § 11434a(2). Similarly, under state law, homeless children are defined as "child[ren] or youth who lack[] a fixed, regular and adequate residence pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:7B-12 and N.J.A.C. 6A:17-2.2," which includes children living in the "residence of relatives or friends where the homeless child resides out of necessity because his or her family lacks a regular or permanent residence of its own."

N.J.A.C. 6A:17-1.2 and 2.2. "[D]omicile attaches immediately if a student's dwelling is found to be fixed, regular and adequate." Bd. of Educ. of Twp. of Egg Harbor v. Bd. of Educ. of Mainland Reg'l Sch. Dist., Commissioner Decision No. 555-10 (Dec. 30, 2010), at 4 (citing N.J.S.A. 18A:17B-12(c)).

The Commissioner has previously held that homelessness "is best viewed in a continuum." St.-Op. Sch. Dist. of Camden v. C. Ann Volk, Commissioner Decision No. 172-17R (June 20, 2017), at 11. Conducting a homelessness evaluation to determine whether a child's home is considered fixed, regular, and adequate requires a fact-specific analysis and "cannot rest upon a simple calculation of the amount of time that children have spent in a particular location or municipality." M. O'K. v. Bd. of Educ. of Borough of Cresskill, Commissioner Decision No. 325-14 at 3 (August 12, 2014), aff'd, No. A-0828-14T4 (App. Div. Sept. 8, 2016). In conducting such a fact-specific inquiry, the Commissioner must consider the totality of the circumstances, as "[t]he reasons for the children's homelessness, their living conditions, and the resources and intentions of the parents or custodians are relevant." Ibid.

Here, these principles apply to the analysis of whether S.A. was homeless. Upon review, the Commissioner concurs with the ALJ that S.A. was not homeless upon leaving Mansfield Village, for the reasons detailed in the Initial Decision. S.A. did not leave Mansfield Village out of necessity or due to an emergency, and her residence in Hackettstown was – at least initially – fixed, regular, and adequate. Accordingly, upon her move to Hackettstown, into a fixed, regular, and adequate home with X.S., S.A. was domiciled in Hackettstown. Forney's July 30, 2019 decision, which determined that Hackettstown was responsible for the costs of E.N.'s education for the 2018-2019 school year based on S.A.'s residence in Hackettstown on October 15, 2018, was therefore correct, as was the ALJ's corresponding conclusion for the 2018-2019 school year.

However, the Commissioner finds that S.A. became homeless while residing in Hackettstown. Specifically, S.A.'s residence in Hackettstown was no longer fixed, regular, or adequate once X.S.'s mother-in-law moved in. S.A. testified that she only left Hackettstown because X.S. needed the guest room – where S.A. slept – for her mother-in-law following the unexpected death of X.S.'s father-in-law. The record indicates that space was so limited in Hackettstown after X.S.'s mother-in-law moved in that S.A. was relegated to the "other little space that they had temporary." T64:11. S.A. testified that the space they gave her was not a bedroom but rather a small playroom, which was like an office. Additionally, there was a small child in the household who could use the playroom, limiting any privacy S.A. had. X.S. wrote a letter dated March 25, 2019, stating that as of March 29, 2019, S.A. would no longer be able to reside in Hackettstown due to family circumstances. Based on these factors, the Commissioner finds that S.A. left Hackettstown did not leave Hackettstown out of preference, but rather due to an emergency – the sudden death of X.S.'s father-in-law, which led to the arrival of X.S.'s extremely ill mother-in-law, which in turn left S.A. displaced in and then from the home.

Upon leaving Hackettstown, S.A. went to live with her sister, W.C., in Budd Lake. S.A. did not contribute to rent or the mortgage and she testified only that she had a place to sleep. Further, nothing in S.A.'s testimony indicated that the members of W.C.'s residence depended on each other as a household unit as in Pennsauken. Accordingly, the Commissioner cannot find S.A.'s living arrangements at W.C.'s home to be fixed, regular, or adequate.

S.A.'s subsequent residences in Village Green, Budd Lake,[6] and in Pennsylvania, were also not fixed. When asked if she helped with rent or the mortgage at Village Green, she replied only that she contributed to "a lot of things." Further, S.A. testified that after becoming sick in January 2019,[7] her mother told her that she could not stay at Village Green if she did not get better. S.A. testified that she went back and forth between New Jersey and a family friend in Pennsylvania who offered her a place to stay and took care of her while she was sick. S.A. testified to renting hotel rooms in order to see family members during this period. Regarding finances, S.A. testified that she started looking for a job and applying for benefits during this time, but to no avail. At the time of the hearing, S.A. acknowledged that she had been living in a hotel for several weeks because she was trying to see if she could return to Newark. Taken as a whole, S.A.'s transience after the time X.S.'s mother-in-law moved into the Hackettstown home, as well as her regular reliance on hotel rooms, indicates that her living arrangements were not fixed or regular.

Once it is determined that a child or her parent is homeless, the question becomes which district is financially responsible for the child's education. Generally, a student is eligible for a free public education in a school district if he or she is domiciled within the school district. N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(a); N.J.A.C. 6A:22-3.1(a). A student's domicile is determined by the domicile of her parents. N.J.A.C. 6A:22-3.1(a)(1). The district of residence for a child whose parent "temporarily moves from one school district to another as the result of being homeless shall be the district in which the parent . . . last resided prior to becoming homeless." N.J.S.A. 18A:7B-12. This district "shall be the school district of residence until the parent establishes a permanent residence." N.J.A.C. 6A:17-2.3. However, when a homeless child lives in a school district for one year or longer – and a new domicile has not been established – the child is "deemed domiciled" in that district for the purposes of determining which district is responsible for the cost of the child's education. N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(d); N.J.A.C. 6A:17-2.3(c).

[7] S.A. testified that she became sick in the beginning of the COVID-19 pandemic and that she moved to Pennsylvania "around the time of the pandemic." Therefore, the January 2019 date may be a mistake.

In this matter, S.A. last resided in Hackettstown prior to becoming homeless. Prior to X.S.'s mother-in-law moving in, S.A.'s living arrangements in Hackettstown were fixed, adequate, and regular. Her testimony reveals that she had her own room, with a bed. The ALJ correctly determined that everyone in the Hackettstown home depended on each other; in exchange for rent, S.A. watched X.S.'s son and at times purchased groceries. S.A. worked two part-time seasonal jobs and was waiting on a new job opportunity through X.S.'s husband. S.A. had not been given a moveout date and she moved into the Hackettstown home voluntarily and not out of necessity. Following the move of X.S.'s mother-in-law to Hackettstown, S.A. moved to the playroom, rendering her living conditions inadequate. X.S. took steps to secure housing for S.A. elsewhere, such as coordinating S.A.'s move to Budd Lake with W.C, and drafted a letter stating the S.A. no longer lived at the Hackettstown home. Accordingly, the Commissioner concludes that Hackettstown is the district of residence pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:7B-12(b).

The Commissioner further concludes that Hackettstown remained the district of residence for the subsequent school years, because petitioner did not establish a permanent domicile during that time, nor did she live in any school district for one year in order to be deemed domiciled there. Petitioner lived in Hackettstown from July 2018 to May 2019. From there, she lived with W.C. in Budd Lake; A.N. testified that S.A.'s residence there lasted for 7-8 months. Next, S.A.'s testimony indicates that she moved to her mother's residence at Village Green, Budd Lake, but was transient and moved back and forth between Pennsylvania and New Jersey, sometimes staying in hotels. Therefore, although the Commissioner modifies the Initial Decision to conclude that S.A. was homeless after X.S.'s mother-in-law moved into the Hackettstown home, the Commissioner nonetheless concurs with the ALJ that Hackettstown remained responsible for the costs of E.N.'s education for the 2019-2020 and 2020-2021 school years.

Accordingly, the Initial Decision is adopted in part and modified in part. Hackettstown is directed to assume financial responsibility for E.N.'s education from the 2018-2019 school year to the 2020-2021 school year.

BEFORE LESLIE Z. CELENTANO, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Petitioner, Board of Education of the Warren Hills Regional School District, Warren County (Warren) appeals a McKinney-Vento Education Act (McKinney-Vento) determination made by the New Jersey Department of Education's (DOE) interim executive county superintendent (ECS) that Warren is the party fiscally responsible for the education of E.N., a now twenty-two-year-old student who was placed by the Department of Children and Families (DCF) at the Bancroft School (Bancroft). The DOE has previously concluded on two occasions that respondent Board of Education of the Town of Hackettstown (Hackettstown) was responsible. The determinations of the DOE were not timely appealed by Hackettstown. Thereafter, the interim ECS of Warren County reached a different conclusion, "rubber-stamping" Hackettstown's suggestion that Warren was responsible for the education of E.N. Warren contests that determination, as it directly contradicts multiple prior rulings of the DOE, including that of Deputy Assistant Commissioner Forney.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On or about April 16, 2021, petitioner filed a petition of appeal together with exhibits with the Commissioner of Education (Commissioner), seeking a determination regarding the party responsible for the education of E.N. On May 11, 2021, Hackettstown filed an answer, and on June 2, 2021, the DOE filed a motion to dismiss the petition of appeal in lieu of an answer. The Department transmitted the matter to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), where it was filed on June 3, 2021. The DOE filed a brief with exhibits in support of its motion, and petitioner filed a brief with exhibits in opposition to the motion. On November 5, 2021, the motion to dismiss was denied.

On September 1, 2022, petitioner filed a motion for summary decision. The DOE filed opposition to petitioner's motion on October 18, 2022. Respondent Hackettstown filed opposition to petitioner's motion and a cross-motion for summary decision on October 28, 2022. Petitioner filed opposition to respondent Hackettstown's opposition and cross-motion, also on October 28, 2022. Summary decision was denied as there was a genuine issue of material fact with respect to the validity of the homelessness determination that had been made based upon insufficient evidence, and that a far more fact-intensive analysis was required.

A hearing was held on September 13, 2023. The parties submitted post-hearing briefs, and following receipt of all exhibits, the record was closed.

FACTUAL BACKGROUND

The parties entered into a Joint Stipulation of Facts, as follows:

1. E.N.'s date of birth is August 10, 2000.
2. On December 18, 2014, E.N. was placed by the DCF at the Bancroft School.
3. Prior to placement at the Bancroft School, E.N. resided with her mother, S.A., in Newark, New Jersey.
4. On September 27, 2016, a residency application was filed for an apartment in Mansfield Village, Hackettstown, New Jersey 07840-3522, listing C.A. and K.A. as applicants. S.A. and A.N. were listed on the residency application for Mansfield Village as additional occupants. Attached hereto as "Exhibit J-1" is a true and accurate copy of the residency application for Mansfield Village.
5. C.A. and K.A. signed a lease, dated September 30, 2016, to become tenants in Mansfield Village, Hackettstown, New Jersey 07840. S.A. and A.N. are listed on the lease as "immediate family." Attached hereto as "Exhibit J-2" is a true and accurate copy of the lease.
6. The Mansfield Village, Hackettstown, NJ 07840 address falls within the Warren Hills Regional School District.
7. On March 9, 2018, Cindy Lee, Director of State Aid Entitlements and Payments, New Jersey Department of Education, issued a determination that Warren Hills Regional School District was responsible for tuition for E.N. for the 2017–2018 school year because S.A. resided at the Mansfield Village residence on October 13, 2017. Attached hereto as "Exhibit J-3" is the March 9, 2018, determination issued by the Department of Education.

8. The Warren Hills Regional School District Board of Education paid the tuition and aide for the 2017–2018 school year in the amount of $107,363.16. Attached hereto as "Exhibit J- 4" is proof of payments made by Warren Hills for the 2017–2018 school year.

9. On November 27, 2017, C.A. and K.A. signed a lease renewal addendum for the apartment in Mansfield Village, Hackettstown, NJ 07840 for the term December 1, 2017 to November 30, 2018. Attached hereto as "Exhibit J-5" is a true and accurate copy of the lease renewal signed by C.A. and K.A..

10. On November 12, 2018, C.A. signed a notice of vacating form for the Mansfield Village, Hackettstown, NJ 07840 apartment. Attached hereto as "Exhibit J-6" is a true and accurate copy of the notice of vacating form signed by C.A..

11. On March 15, 2019, Cindy Lee from the DOE issued a determination that Hackettstown School District was responsible for tuition for E.N. for the 2018–2019 school year because on October 15, 2018, S.A. resided on Herbert Lane, Hackettstown, N.J. 07840-2503. Attached hereto as "Exhibit J-7" is the March 15, 2019, determination issued by the Department of Education.

12. On July 30, 2019, Deputy Assistant Commissioner Glenn Forney affirmed the determination that Hackettstown School District should be responsible for the 2018–2019 school year. Attached hereto as "Exhibit J-8" is the July 30, 2019, letter issued by Deputy Assistant Commissioner Glenn Forney.

13. On August 1, 2019, counsel for Hackettstown School District wrote to Mr. Forney requesting that they "reconsider its denial of the Board's appeal." However, a petition of appeal was not filed with the New Jersey Commissioner of Education to appeal the July 30, 2019, determination. Attached hereto as "Exhibit J-9" is the August 1, 2019, letter from Hackettstown.

14. The Hackettstown School District paid $60,697.72 toward E.N.'s educational costs for the 2019–2020 school year.

15. On August 1, 2020, the Bancroft School sent a letter to the Warren County Office of Education regarding outstanding tuition for E.N. Attached hereto as "Exhibit J-10" is the August 1, 2020, letter from the Bancroft School.

16. On August 26, 2020, Tania Mongioi, special education specialist at the Warren County Office of Education, determined that S.A. became homeless during the 2017–2018 school year from the Warren Hills Regional School District. Attached hereto as "Exhibit J-11" is the August 26, 2020, email from Tania Mongioi.

17. The August 26, 2020, decision discussed in the above paragraph was not appealed.

18. On January 19, 2021, Executive County Superintendent Rosalie Lamonte issued a letter determining that S.A. became homeless during the 2017–2018 school year from the Warren Hills Regional School District. Attached hereto as "Exhibit J-12" is the letter of determination from the Executive County Superintendent.

19. Attached hereto as "Exhibit J-13" are the interrogatory answers received by the Warren Hills Regional School District Board of Education from the Hackettstown Township Board of Education in this matter.

20. Attached hereto as "Exhibit J-14" are the interrogatory answers received by the Warren Hills Regional School District Board of Education from the New Jersey Department of Education in this matter.

I FIND the following additional facts:

After the DCF residentially placed E.N.—a special-needs student, then age fourteen—in the Bancroft School, E.N. attended Bancroft for the next eight years, through the 2020–2021 school year.

Over the course of E.N.'s time at Bancroft, Cindy Lee, the director of State Aid Entitlements and Payments at the Department of Education (DOE), made a yearly determination of district responsibility. To determine district responsibility, the DOE would traditionally look to the address of the student's parent or guardian on the final school day before October 16 of that school year. On October 15, 2018, E.N.'s mother, S.A., resided at Herbert Lane, Hackettstown, NJ 07840. Because this address is located inside of the Hackettstown Public School District, Lee ultimately determined on March 15, 2019, that Hackettstown Public School District was responsible for paying E.N.'s educational costs at Bancroft for the 2018–2019 school year.

About a month after this determination, the Hackettstown Board of Education (Hackettstown) appealed Lee's decision to Kevin Dehmer, Assistant Commissioner for the DOE. The appeal requested that Dehmer consider findings that, according to Hackettstown, proved that S.A. still resided at Mansfield Village, Hackettstown, NJ 07840—the address at which she had resided in past school years—on October 15, 2018. The Mansfield address is located in the Warren Hills School District.[1] S.A. had responded to two letters from Hackettstown that were sent to the Mansfield Village address, one on April 7, 2018, and one on August 27, 2018.

S.A. moved to the apartment in August or September 2017. She did not have her own room while living there; rather, she shared a bedroom with her adult daughter. S.A. moved out of the Mansfield apartment and in with her cousin on Herbert Lane in July 2018, as confirmed by her cousin's notarized statement and S.A.'s testimony that "it could have been July, which is what [her cousin] said." She also told Guy Jorstad, Hackettstown director of pupil personnel services, that she has lived in Hackettstown since that date, which led him to meet with her to enroll E.N.

The move to her cousin's home was made out of preference and S.A. was not evicted or even asked to leave the Mansfield apartment. She had planned to move back to Newark, NJ, but her cousin X.S. invited her to come live with her and her family and help care for the cousin's baby in exchange for living there rent-free. She could have remained at the Mansfield apartment, and had the option to live in either place. S.A. had her own room at Herbert Lane, the prospect of a job with her cousin's employer, and no timetable for living there. She purchased groceries at times and was employed at two part-time jobs.

Hackettstown acknowledged that there was evidence supporting the determination that S.A. resided on Herbert Lane. Among this evidence was a pharmacy receipt dated November 28, 2018, and a 2018 tax return. Most notably, however, was a notarized letter dated February 19, 2019, and signed by S.A.'s cousin, attesting that S.A. had been residing with her on Herbert Lane since July 2018.

While waiting for a ruling on its appeal, Hackettstown refused to register E.N. in its district without receiving proofs of residency from S.A., despite Lee's residency determination.

On July 30, 2019, Glenn Forney, Deputy Assistant Commissioner at the Office of School Finance, rejected Hackettstown's request for a redetermination, upholding Lee's determination of district responsibility. In Forney's opinion, "[m]ost of the evidence [Hackettstown] presented [did] not specifically corroborate where the child's mother resided on October 15, 2018." (J-8.) Expounding on his decision, Forney wrote, "The only evidence presented that demonstrates where [S.A.] resided on October 15, 2018, is the notarized letter from S.A.'s cousin . . . [,] who provided a notarized statement that [S.A.] has been living at Herbert Lane since July 2018." At the end of his determination, Forney wrote, "If the Hackettstown Board of Education disagrees with this determination, it may initiate a formal proceeding before the Commissioner by filing a Petition of Appeal pursuant to the provisions of N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1 et seq." Notably, N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(i) requires a petitioner to file their appeal within ninety days of receipt of the ruling.[2]

On August 1, 2019, counsel for Hackettstown wrote Forney requesting that he reconsider his denial of the original appeal and name Warren Hills School District responsible. The executive county superintendent was copied on this correspondence, which did not state that Hackettstown believed S.A. was homeless.

Guy Jorstad then emailed Anthony Hearn at the Office of Fiscal and Data Services of the DOE and Diahann DeRiggiero, the program coordinator of the McKinney-Vento Education of Homelessness and Youth Program at the DOE on September 10, 2019. He told them that he was looking to see if S.A. had become homeless after leaving her Mansfield Village address. Jorstad suspected that S.A. may have been "doubled-up" at her sister's residence in Mount Olive; Hearn replied that this would make S.A. homeless and E.N. eligible for McKinney-Vento.

The next day, Jorstad emailed administrators at Hackettstown, declaring that Hearn had determined S.A. to be homeless upon arriving in the Hackettstown school district and that that would make Warren Hills—as the district of origin—financially responsible for E.N. during the 2018–2019 school year. The next day, counsel for Hackettstown sent these documents to Forney, claiming that Hearn determined that S.A. had been "residing with relatives or friends out of necessity due to a lack of a regular or permanent residence" and was therefore homeless and eligible for McKinney-Vento. At the same time, counsel for Hackettstown implicitly acknowledged that this was not the end of the matter, requesting, "[i]n light of the new information and determinations . . . that the Office of School Finance reconsider its prior determination that Hackettstown is responsible [for] the financial costs for E.N.'s educational program for the 2018–19 school year."

On January 1, 2020,[3] Timothy Havlusch, Hackettstown's business administrator, emailed Bancroft asserting that Hearn's determination[4] of homelessness rendered Warren Hills fiscally responsible for all costs related to E.N. Havlusch requested that Bancroft return any money paid for E.N.'s education by Hackettstown. Bancroft replied nearly two months later, claiming that Hackettstown was still responsible for E.N.'s costs "during any appeal process." At this point, nearly seven months had passed since Deputy Assistant Commissioner Forney's determination.

Tania Mongioi, the Warren County special education specialist, received a communication from Bancroft on August 1, 2020, claiming that because no payments had been made for E.N., she would be disenrolled from Bancroft in thirty days. On August 26, 2020, Mongioi issued a homelessness determination for S.A. and declared that because she did not reside at the Hackettstown location for a year, Warren Hills would be responsible for all of E.N.'s tuition and transportation from July 2018 through January 2020. When Warren Hills objected, Mongioi claimed that Forney's decision was overturned by Hearn in September 2019, and the responsibility returned to Warren Hills.

[3] There is a typo in the email's heading reading that it was sent on January 20, 2019.
[4] In an interrogatory, Hearn's department stated that he "never made any official determinations as to district of residence and only gave advice based solely on the facts provided to him" by Hackettstown. Hearn did not have the authority to make final determinations.

On January 19, 2021, Interim Executive County Superintendent Rosalie Lamonte reviewed Mongioi's determination of homelessness and determined that Warren Hills would be responsible for all costs associated with E.N. Warren Hills appealed Lamonte's determination on April 16, 2021.

TESTIMONY

What follows is not a verbatim accounting of the testimony, but rather a summary of the testimonial and documentary evidence I found to be relevant to resolving the issues in this matter.

S.A. is the mother of E.N., who was placed in Bancroft on or about December 16, 2014. E.N. was living with S.A. in Newark when she was placed.

S.A. moved to the Mansfield Village Apartments in Hackettstown in September 2017, she believes. She lived with her mother, C.A., and does not know if she was on the lease. She was there a few months until possibly August 2018 or early September and then moved to Herbert Lane, Hackettstown, NJ, with her cousin, X.S., and her husband and three children. She lived there until sometime after her cousin's father-in-law passed away at the end of July 2019. Her mother-in-law was in very poor health, on oxygen, and could not care for herself, and so they needed to have her move in with them.

S.A. testified that she had her own room and contributed to childcare by watching her cousin's children. She also bought groceries. When an unexpected need to care for the ailing in-law arose, they needed the guest room for her. S.A. then moved in with her sister, W.A., in Budd Lake, New Jersey after she left her cousin's house. She could not recall exactly when she left there. She did not pay rent or any of the mortgage while living with her cousin and family but helped with household costs and also worked part-time.

After she left Budd Lake, she went to live with her mother C.A. again, but she doesn't recall when. She contributed to expenses while living with her mother but declined to indicate what those were due to undisclosed privacy concerns.

From 2017 to 2021, she did not own her own home but always "had a roof to stay under." When asked whether she would have been able to afford her own home from 2017 to 2021, she indicated she could afford a shared apartment but not her own home, and that's why she lived with others, but added, "I always live with my family."

She is currently employed at T.J. Maxx and earns something over the minimum wage. In 2019, she worked at Dunkin' and also at Edible Arrangements. She testified that she got sick in April 2020. She went to Pennsylvania at some point during the COVID-19 pandemic to stay with a friend, who had an extra room, for a few months while she was sick. She went back and forth between New Jersey and Pennsylvania, but she and her mother were both sick and couldn't work due to COVID. Thereafter she returned to live with her mother.

She testified that she had applied for food stamps, TANF and unemployment benefits but didn't receive any, so she stayed in Pennsylvania only while she was sick.

S.A. indicated she moved to the Herbert Lane address sometime after July 4, so it may have been August or September 2018, but that "it could have been July, which is what [her] cousin said." Her cousin had invited her to move in and help with the kids, so she did. Her cousin's husband said that soon thereafter he would have a job for her at his company to take over from someone who was leaving. However, then his father passed away unexpectedly.

She remembered speaking with a Warren County residency officer in November 2018.[5] She testified that she had her own space at Herbert Lane and was saving for an apartment. She does not recall why she moved out of Mansfield Village but indicated she was not getting along with her mother and had conflicts with her over wanting to move back to Newark, which her mother was against. She had lived in Newark for over thirty years and it felt too different, so she wanted to move back to Newark. She emphasized that she was not evicted from Mansfield but rather left on her own. Her cousin had invited her to move in, and so she did.

S.A. stated her cousin's name and indicated she does not know if it's her cousin's signature on the March letter but that in May 2019 she was still at Herbert Lane. She then said that she was in Budd Lake in May as well. She testified that she visited her daughter every Wednesday and Saturday at Bancroft for years until COVID. She also visited her cousin at Herbert Lane even after she moved out and went to see the baby, but when she got sick, they lost touch for a bit.

S.A. was emphatic that she never told Bancroft that her cousin had asked her to leave.

The State had been the entity that suggested Bancroft and first told her that DYFS would pay for it, and then changed that to say that the State would pay, and then changed that again to say that the Newark Board of Education would pay, and then finally said that Hackettstown would pay for tuition at Bancroft.

When she lived in Mansfield Village, there were three people in the apartment: herself, her mom and her daughter. There were two large bedrooms. She would not answer the question initially as to whether she had her own bedroom, but when directed to do so, she indicated she shared a bedroom with her daughter.

She does not recall if she was employed in 2017. In 2018 she had a part-time seasonal job at Lowe's and another part-time job at Dollar Tree but made very little money. She received food stamp benefits during that time. She took care of her cousin's baby on the days she didn't work and helped around the house in exchange for rent.

She had her own room and bed at the Herbert Lane address. They told her there was a job that would be available for her at their company because someone was going on maternity leave; until then, she could continue to take care of the baby and help around the house.

S.A. testified that her mother's home was not her permanent residence, and while her mother never told her she should leave, she did want to find her own place. She wanted to go back to Newark.

S.A. indicated that when she moved to Herbert Lane she was working the two part-time jobs she mentioned. She began working at Dollar Tree in November 2017 and at Lowe's beginning in March 2018. She noted her cousin's notarized letter saying that she had lived at her address since July 2018 and testified that she moved out at the end of July 2019 and as such had been there for one year.

S.A. reiterated that her cousin never told her to leave. When her cousin's husband's father died, they needed the room for his widow, who was very sick and had an oxygen tank and needed help functioning. Her cousin clearly felt horrible and did not want her to leave, but they needed the room for the mother-in-law, who was extremely ill. Her cousin said, "we want to keep you." In fact, the cousin indicated she was going to check with her son, who was in the army, to see if he was coming back or if they could give her his room. She only left because they had a crisis in that the mother-in-law, who was now unexpectedly widowed, had an oxygen tank and needed help. It was "all friendly," and there were no issues; indeed, she remained there for an additional period of time after the mother-in-law moved in. She stayed in the playroom and continued to watch the baby. Thereafter, her sister told her to come live with her.

A.N. is the guardian of her sister, E.N. She became the guardian on July 2, 2021. Prior to that, the State was the guardian, and prior to her placement at Bancroft, her sister lived with her mother, her grandmother, and her aunt in Newark, New Jersey. She moved to Hackettstown to live at Mansfield Village in 2016, around August or September. They lived there through 2017, and her mother, S.A., moved to Herbert Lane in 2018. After that, she lived with her sister in Budd Lake. After living in Budd Lake, she moved to Pennsylvania with a family friend in 2020.

When asked why S.A. moved from Hackettstown to Herbert Lane, she indicated that S.A. wanted to be independent and save money while living with her cousin because she couldn't afford her own apartment. A.N. testified that in her opinion, without her relatives, S.A. would have been homeless ever since she left Newark.

A.N. was not aware of when her sister became a ward of the State because she was a minor at the time, so she is not sure how it happened. She believes her mother left Herbert Lane sometime in 2019 after moving there in 2018 and agreed that her mother took care of her cousin's child.

A.N. did not recall when her mother left Mansfield, but it was before she moved out in December 2018. She believes her mother left months earlier.

Rosalie Lamonte is the interim ECS in Warren County and has been in that position for fourteen years. She said she is a resource between the DOE and districts in Warren County.

At times they make determinations of homelessness and provide guidance to a district on McKinney-Vento and how it works. She agreed that she has no authority to conduct a fact-sensitive determination of homelessness and did not do any investigation. She relies entirely upon information provided by districts. No one from her office spoke to S.A. or to any family member. No one from her office spoke to anyone at Warren.

She stated that in 2020 Bancroft contacted them for assistance.[6] They weren't able to reach S.A., who she believes lived in Mansfield Township and then with relatives in Hackettstown, and thereafter with relatives in Budd Lake. She testified that those residences were not permanent without indicating how she knew that. She stated that S.A. went to Pennsylvania in January 2020. She then testified that she learned all of this from various districts and that the mother had not established any permanent residences after she left Mansfield.

[6] Bancroft has no legal authority to dispute the prior determination of Deputy Assistant Commissioner Forney and request a McKinney-Vento determination. Bancroft is not an "involved school district" within the meaning of N.J.A.C. 6A:17-2.7(b).

When asked what she considered to be a permanent residence, Lamonte stated that it would be where S.A. is not doubled up with relatives for more than 365 days. She did not know, however, if S.A. was doubled up at Mansfield. She testified that doubled up means no residence of your own and just staying somewhere for shelter.

She agreed that she never inquired of S.A.'s cousin in Hackettstown what the living arrangement was and indicated that she relied on what Hackettstown had provided. She also stated that she believed S.A. had been evicted by her mother but was "not certain." She never spoke to S.A. or to any of her relatives, including her mother or her cousin. All the information she relied upon was what she was told by Hackettstown.

Bancroft asked for a determination as to who was responsible for tuition.[7] She has no idea how long S.A. was in Pennsylvania or why. When asked about the July 19, 2021, letter, which says she agrees with "the family's claim of homelessness," she testified that "that's a phrase that we use."

When shown J-7, the Cindy Lee letter, she testified that in her opinion the letter does resolve the homelessness issue.[8] McKinney-Vento requires that 365 days pass before the original district is no longer responsible for a student fiscally.

At the end of Lamonte's letter, she advises Warren that, "[i]n accordance with N.J.A.C. 6A:17-2.7, the Warren Hills School District may appeal a determination through the NJDOE Offices of Controversies and Disputes, while the district provides all educational services for E.N." This is the basis of the within appeal.[9]

Anthony Hearn is employed at the Department of Education, Office of Fiscal and Data Services. From 2018 to 2020, he was overseeing homeless education.

[7] The ECS was not legally permitted to make a determination here, as Lamonte admitted she was never asked to do so by one of the "involved school districts." N.J.A.C. 6A:17-2.7(b).

[8] Lee's letter (J-7) concludes, "[i]n accordance with N.J.S.A. 18A:7B-12, N.J.A.C. 6A:23A-19.2, N.J.A.C. 6A:23A-19.3 and based upon the information provided, we determine that Hackettstown Public School District is the responsible school district for E.N."

[9] The petition of appeal was filed on April 16, 2021, and thus is entirely timely.

Homelessness determinations are all fact-based, and very specific facts are required. He defined "doubled up" as having no legal right to live there, and you can be asked to leave.

Hearn agreed he had not spoken to anyone from Warren Hills, only the people from Hackettstown who had reached out. He did not speak to S.A. at all and does not offer the official position of the DOE. He said that a lot of factors go into a determination of homelessness and indicated he has no clue of the circumstances here and was not aware that S.A. had some jobs and who she lived with and why. No factual inquiry was conducted because he is "not the one giving the legal opinion on it" and that "if somebody wants a formal opinion from the county office, the county office then does their investigation and then makes that determination with the input of the homeless coordinator." He has no idea if S.A. felt she was homeless, and no idea why she moved from the Mansfield apartment. They did not consider parent input. If an individual has their own bedroom, etc., it goes into the equation in determining whether someone is doubled up under McKinney Vento, adding that the inquiry is very fact-based, explaining > [T]he situation as to who is fiscally responsible determination [sic] has to do with a very, very factual based situation as to where a child lived and the living arrangements, and those type of things, so, its very, very factual based. If you don't have good facts, you're never going to be able to give the right answer, so, that's part of the reason why I don't give official answers as to it, because I only have the facts that are presented to me.

He testified that Jorstad provided facts indicating that Warren Hills was the responsible party. He did not do an investigation of any kind and has no authority to make homelessness determinations.

Dennis Morgan is the director of educational services at Bancroft. He indicated that in 2014, E.N. was placed by the Newark school district, and that in August 2020 was the last time she was there. He testified that the tuition due for 2018 and 2019 is $119,699.44. For 2019 to 2020, it is $28,497.72. For 2020 to 2021, it is $12,542.72, for a total due of $160,739.88. He stated that Hackettstown has paid $60,700.

David Guth is the security director for Warren Hills following a thirty-year career in law enforcement. He has done a few dozen residency investigations over the years and conducted one in this case.

His report is dated November 18, 2019 (P-1).[10]

On November 18, 2018, the Mansfield Village management office indicated S.A. lived there and gave him a copy of her application. No one was at the apartment when he went there. He visited again on November 25, 2018, and no one was there. On November 25, 2018, he arrived at 7:30 a.m. and spoke to the sister of E.N., A.N., who said that she, her grandmother, and her sister all lived there. He noted that the apartment was a mess and there were moving boxes everywhere. A.N. indicated that her mother did not live there and that she lived at Herbert Lane. He said she was very candid and credible. When he went to the Herbert Lane address later that same day, the cousin answered the door and indicated that S.A. did in fact live there. She called for S.A., who had been in her bedroom, and was smoking, so she came out to speak to him for privacy and they sat on the steps to talk. She became emotional and he told her he was there to determine where she was living. She indicated she had conflicts with her grandmother and her other daughter and so she left Mansfield. When Guth was told that S.A. had testified she had moved out by this time, he indicated that was false. S.A. made it clear that she chose to live with her cousin due to conflicts with her mother and her other daughter and also told him at the time, "I'm living here and contact me here if anything else is needed." It was a single-family residence.

Guy Jorstad has been employed at Hackettstown as the director of pupil and personnel services for 16 years. He is the McKinney-Vento coordinator. He does annual trainings on McKinney-Vento each year and has reviewed about 100 cases over 16 years. He testified that this case was first on his radar on January 23, 2019, after hearing from [10] Guth indicated that there are typographical errors in his report and that the year was 2018, not 2019.

Bancroft. He was treating it as a usual residency case and started the process of enrolling her. He initially did not think the family was homeless and testified that E.N.'s mother S.A. repeatedly denied being homeless. He emailed Hearn on September 10, 2019, opining that the family did not live in Hackettstown for a year before they went to Budd Lake. He asked for documentation from S.A. to show when she lived in the district, if ever, and received ambiguous documentation. These were red flags.

He testified that Mansfield Village is in Hackettstown and is part of the Warren Hills school district and that Herbert Lane, Hackettstown is in the Hackettstown school district. He received no documents from S.A.'s cousin and the cousin's children actually went to school elsewhere. He emailed his homeless determination to Forney on September 11, 2019. Jorstad believed Warren Hills was responsible and agreed with Mongioi's determination.

Jorstad first became aware of the family in January 2019 when Bancroft called. He needed to enroll E.N. because her mother lived at Herbert Lane then. S.A. said they had been there since July 2018 and he met with her at his office to do the paperwork. She had no plans to move out at that time. Her modus operandi was to live with family and she said she was not and had never been homeless.

He found her to not be homeless. He later changed his opinion after talking to Hearn, who he relied on as "more of an expert" in this situation and who had said that S.A. was homeless.[11] He reiterated that S.A. adamantly denied that she was or had ever been homeless. He found this case to be unusually complicated.

He had asked for proofs, and S.A. provided a Walgreens receipt from November 2018 with the Herbert Lane address on it and her Dollar Tree tax documentation for 2018, also with the Herbert Lane address on it. A picture of her license issued April 11, 2019 (J-2), also has the Herbert Lane address on it.

[11] Hearn testified that he had "no clue" as to the circumstances here and had no authority to make final determinations.

Jorstad then issued his letter, relying on his conversations with Hearn; neither had conducted any fact-sensitive inquiry required to reach a homelessness determination. He did not send it to anyone first to verify facts upon which he relied. He never asked Warren Hills about it and never discussed it with them. Jorstad also did not copy Warren Hills on his letter to Hearn because he felt Hackettstown might have been the responsible district at that point.

PARTIES' ARGUMENTS

Warren Hills indicates that the only issue is whether S.A. was homeless when she moved. The DOE did not conduct a fact-sensitive investigation or inquiry when they determined she had become homeless; rather, they just relied on what Hackettstown said and rubber-stamped it. No one visited S.A.; no one talked to or contacted S.A., and no one did any investigation or inquiry. Warren Hills, however, did investigate and went to S.A.'s home and spoke to her. She also confirmed that she was not homeless, never was homeless, and there is nothing to support a finding of homelessness

Warren Hills argues that Hackettstown should be bound by Deputy Assistant Commissioner Forney's July 30, 2019, determination which Hackettstown failed to timely appeal.

Hackettstown contends that E.N. was determined to be homeless, asserting that because she had not lived in one location for a year after being deemed eligible for McKinney-Vento Act protections, Warren Hills—her most recent place of domicile for over a year—should be responsible for any expenses related to her schooling.

The DOE avers that because the ECS is permitted to make determinations of homelessness and residency, they were proper under McKinney-Vento in designating Warren as the school district responsible to Bancroft for expenses related to E.N.

LEGAL DISCUSSION

I. When adjudicating disputes under the McKinney-Vento Act, the burden of proof is typically placed on the party alleging homelessness.

The McKinney-Vento Act, 42 U.S.C. §§ 11431 et seq., requires state educational agencies to "ensure that each child of a homeless individual and each homeless youth has equal access to the same free, appropriate public education . . . as provided to other children and youths." 42 U.S.C. § 11431(1). To qualify for federal grant money under the Act, states must develop and outline "procedures" for identifying homeless children and "for the prompt resolution of disputes regarding the educational placement of homeless children and youth." 42 U.S.C. § 11432(g)(1)(B) – (g)(1)(C).

A. Statutes and regulations addressing education of homeless children

New Jersey's Commissioner of Education has adopted regulations to that end, in accordance with the Administrative Procedure Act. See N.J.A.C. 6A:17-1.1 et seq. Defining what it means to be homeless, N.J.A.C. 6A:17-2.2 provides:

> [T]hat a child or youth is homeless for purposes of this subchapter when the child or youth resides in any of the following:
> 1. A publicly or privately operated shelter designed to provide temporary living accommodations, including:
>   i. Hotels or motels;
>   ii. Congregate shelters, including domestic violence and runaway shelters;
>   iii. Transitional housing; and
>   iv. Homes for adolescent mothers;
> 2. A public or private place not designated for, or ordinarily used as, a regular sleeping accommodation, including:
>   i. Cars or other vehicles, including mobile homes;
>   ii. Tents or other temporary shelters;
>   iii. Parks;
>   iv. Abandoned buildings;
>   v. Bus or train stations; or

> vi. Temporary shelters provided to migrant workers and their children on farm sites;
> 3. The residence of relatives or friends where the homeless child or youth resides out of necessity because the child's or youth's family lacks a regular or permanent residence of its own; or
> 4. Substandard housing.
> [N.J.A.C. 6A:17-2.2 (emphasis added).]

Similarly, 42 U.S.C. §§ 11434a(2)(A) and (B)(i) describe homeless children as those "who lack a fixed, regular, and adequate nighttime residence," including, inter alia, "children and youths who are sharing the housing of other persons due to loss of housing, economic hardship, or a similar reason . . . ." With respect to a child living with relatives or friends, "[a]n examination of the conditions that precipitated the family's relocation is critical to ascertaining whether the living arrangement arose 'out of necessity,' and whether the family is without access to a 'regular or permanent residence of its own.'" Bd. of Educ. of Borough of Hawthorne v. Bd. of Educ. of Borough of Prospect Park, Agency Docket No. 247-10/13, Comm'r of Educ. (May 12, 2014), <https://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/final/edu16270-13_1.html>. "Thus, an evaluation of 'homelessness' cannot rest upon a simple calculation of the amount of time that children have spent in a particular location or municipality. The reasons for the children's homelessness, their living conditions, and the resources and intentions of the parents or custodians are relevant." M.O'K v. Bd. of Educ. of Cresskill, Agency Docket No. 214-9/13, Comm'r of Educ. (Aug. 12, 2014), <https://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/final/edu14830-13_1.pdf>. In other words, the analysis is fact-sensitive.

As the Commissioner stated in Bd. of Educ. of the Bordentown Reg'l Sch. Dist. v. Raymond Marini, Interim Exec. Cnty. Superintendent, Agency Docket No. 7-1/22, Comm'r of Educ. (July 6, 2023), in relevant part:

> Under the McKinney-Vento Act, homeless children are defined as "individuals who lack a fixed, regular and adequate nighttime residence," which includes "children sharing housing with other persons due to loss of their own housing, economic hardship, or a similar reason." Similarly, under > state law, homeless children are defined as "child[ren] or youth who lack[] a fixed, regular, and adequate residence . . . which includes children living in the "residence of relatives or friends where the homeless child resides out of necessity because his or her family lacks a regular or permanent residence of its own."

> Thus, conducting a homelessness evaluation to determine whether a child's home is considered fixed, regular, and adequate requires a fact-specific analysis and "cannot rest upon a simple calculation of the amount of time that children have spent in a particular location or municipality." In conducting such a fact-specific inquiry, the Commissioner must consider the totality of the circumstances, as "[t]he reasons for the children's homelessness, their living conditions, and the resources and intentions of the parents or custodians are relevant."

(Jan. 26, 2023) ("The Commissioner notes that while homelessness determinations are fact-specific, there was never an evaluation of the family's living conditions at any one of the Newark, Irvington, or Dover addresses. No one looked into what parts of the home the family could use, where the children were sleeping, or what efforts [the children's mother] was taking to secure permanent housing."); Bd. of Educ. of Twp. of Pennsauken v. Pugh-Bassett, Interim Exec. Cnty. Superintendent, Agency Docket No. 94-5/19, Comm'r of Educ. (June 16, 2022) (A.L.J. stating that "[t]he determination of whether a student is considered 'homeless', triggering the protections for homeless students available under the law, is fact-sensitive"); Bd. of Educ. of the Borough of Hawthorne v. Bd. of Educ. of the Borough of Prospect Park, Agency Docket No. 247-10/13, Comm'r of Educ. (May 12, 2014) (Commissioner noting that "an inquiry into the circumstances surrounding the . . . family's move is essential to the homelessness determination").

B. District of residence and district's financial responsibility "For school funding purposes," N.J.S.A. 18A:7B-12 provides, in pertinent part, that "the Commissioner of Education shall determine district of residence as follows":

> (b) The district of residence for children who are in residential State facilities, or who have been placed by State agencies in group homes, skill development homes, private schools or out-of-State facilities, shall be the present district of residence of the parent or guardian with whom the child lived prior to his most recent admission to a State facility or most recent placement by a State agency.
> (c) The district of residence for children whose parent or guardian temporarily moves from one school district to another as the result of being homeless shall be the district in which the parent or guardian last resided prior to becoming homeless. . . .
> (d) If the district of residence cannot be determined according to the criteria contained herein, if the criteria contained herein identify a district of residence outside of the State, or if the child has resided in a domestic violence shelter, homeless shelter, or transitional living facility located outside of the district of residence for more than one year, the State shall assume fiscal responsibility for the tuition of the child.

See also N.J.A.C. 6A:17-1.2 (defining "'school district of residence' for a homeless child or youth" as "the school district in which the parent or youth resided prior to becoming homeless").

N.J.A.C. 6A:23A-19.2 outlines the method of determining the district of residence for "a child in a residential State facility," as defined in N.J.S.A. 18A:7F-45, "a child placed by a State agency in a group home, skill development home, approved private school for students with disabilities or out-of-State facility," and a child for whom "the State [has] become[] the child's legal guardian after the date of the child's initial placement by a State agency." N.J.A.C. 6A:23A-19.2. For the first category of child, the "present district of residence" is "the New Jersey district of residence of the child's parent(s) or guardian(s) as of the last school day prior to October 16." N.J.A.C. 6A:23A-19.2(a)(1). For a child placed by a State agency, "the present district of residence" is "the New Jersey district of residence of the child's parent(s) or guardian(s) as of the date of the child's most recent placement by the State agency." N.J.A.C. 6A:23A-19.2(a)(2). "In subsequent school years spent in the educational placement made by a State agency," the district of residence is determined in the same manner outlined in (a)(1). N.J.A.C. 6A:23A-19.2(a)(2).

Since the DCF residentially placed E.N. at Bancroft in 2014, E.N.'s "present district of residence" is determined by "the New Jersey district of residence of the child's parent(s) or guardian(s) as of the last school day prior to October 16" pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:23A-19.2(a)(1) and (a)(3). But if S.A.'s residence had only temporarily changed as a result of being homeless, the prior year's district of residence would apply. See N.J.S.A. 18A:7B(c).

C. "Homeless" but domiciled

N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1 codifies children's right to a free education and the obligation of school districts to provide a free education to children "domiciled" within their borders.[12]

Under N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(d), "[a]ny person whose parent or guardian, even though not domiciled within the district, is residing temporarily therein, but any person who has had or shall have his all-year-round dwelling place within the district for one year or longer shall be deemed to be domiciled within the district . . . ." This language has been interpreted to mean that a family, though considered "homeless" under McKinney-Vento and the applicable regulations, becomes legally domiciled in a school district after being in that district for a year. Bd. of Educ. of Twp. of Egg Harbor v. Bd. of Educ. of Mainland Reg'l Sch. Dist., EDU 06680-09, Initial Decision (Oct. 15, 2010), <https://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/html/initial/edu06680-09_1.html>, adopted, Comm'r of Educ. (Dec. 30, 2010). Domicile can be established in less than a year by a family's intent to make its home its permanent residence. Bd. of Educ. of Borough of Wood-Ridge v. Bd. of Educ. of Bogota, EDU 16570-18, Initial Decision (Aug. 5, 2020), <https://www.nj.gov/education/legal/commissioner/2020/290-20.pdf>, adopted, Comm'r of Educ. (Dec. 21, 2020). "Financial responsibility of the district of residence terminates when the family is deemed 'domiciled' in another district." Bd. of Educ. of Twp. of Pennsauken v. Pugh-Bassett, Interim Exec. Cnty. Superintendent, EDU 00744-21, Initial Decision on Remand (Mar. 24, 2022), <https://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/html/initial/edu00744-21_1.html>, adopted, Comm'r of Educ. (June 16, 2022) (on remand from EDU 16086-19).

[12] N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(b)(2) provides: "If the superintendent or administrative principal of a school district finds that the parent or guardian of a child who is attending the schools of the district is not domiciled within the district and the child is not kept in the home of another person domiciled within the school district and supported by him gratis as if the child was the person's own child . . . . The parent or guardian may contest the board's decision before the commissioner . . . and shall have the burden of proof by a preponderance of evidence . . . ."

In Bd. of Educ. of the Twp. of Pennsauken, Camden Cnty., Agency Docket No. 94-5/19, Comm'r of Educ. (June 16, 2022), A.A. and her child, A.L. lived in Haddon Township from 2012 through 2016 when they were evicted because they could not afford rent. They temporarily lived with a friend in Bellmawr and subsequently moved into A.A.'s mother's home in Pennsauken in the summer of 2017. A.L. continued to attend school in Haddon Township, and in March of 2019, the executive county superintendent determined that the mother was homeless because "the family lost their apartment due to financial hardship and was residing with relatives out of necessity." The ALJ determined that all three people living in the home had their own bedrooms, that the mother and child had access to the kitchen, bathroom, and living room, and that therefore, "the Pennsauken home [was] a fixed, regular, and adequate place to live and that A.L. [could] no longer be considered homeless." The Commissioner affirmed this decision, stating, in relevant part:

> Here, the family's circumstances demonstrate that they all depend on each other in the manner of a traditional household unit, supporting the conclusion that A.A. and A.L.'s residence has become fixed in its current arrangement and location. In the Pennsauken home, A.A. acts as caregiver for her mother, who is disabled and who would need to hire help if A.A. did not assist with her activities of daily living. In turn, A.A. relies on her mother to pay for the family's living expenses. A.A. testified that if she moved out of the Pennsauken home, she would want to take her mother with her, demonstrating that the living arrangement of A.A., her mother, and A.L. residing in the same home has become fixed. Furthermore, there is no indication that the residence is inadequate. A.A. and A.L. enjoy the use of the entire Pennsauken home, including the > kitchen, bathroom, and living rooms, and they each have their own bedroom. While A.A. indicated that she intends to return to Haddon Township, given that her mother would continue to live with her, that intention appears to be based solely on a preference for location and not a need for additional space to avoid doubling up or to otherwise rectify any inadequacy in the Pennsauken home. Moreover, the ALJ found that there was no proof to support A.A.'s attempts to find housing in Haddon Township, and her stated intention is insufficient to support a finding of homelessness. Based on these facts, the Commissioner concludes that the Pennsauken home is a fixed, regular, and adequate residence, which has become the family's permanent residence, and A.L. is therefore no longer homeless.

Unlike A.A., who was evicted, here, there was no loss of an apartment and nothing that necessitated S.A.'s move from the Mansfield apartment to her cousin's home. S.A. was emphatic that she was not evicted, nor even asked to leave the Mansfield address. Rather, she wanted to move back to Newark, which her mother disapproved of, and so they were conflicted over this. The invitation to move in with her cousin's family and help with childcare in exchange for rent was appealing to her, and there was no limit on how long she could live there. She was never asked to leave.

D. Burden of proof in disputes over homelessness

Neither the McKinney-Vento Act, the regulations, nor state laws addressing the education of homeless children explicitly allocate the burden of proof in disputes over a person's homeless status. In cases dealing with such disputes under the McKinney-Vento Act, New Jersey courts have placed the burden of proof on the party claiming homelessness, though they rarely use the words "burden of proof."

For example, in A.M. & M.S. on behalf of minor children A.S. & L.S. v. Bd. of Educ. of Town of Dover, Agency Docket No. 546-9/10, Comm'r of Educ. (June 14, 2011) (OAL decision not available online), the ALJ concluded that petitioners (the parents) did not demonstrate a continued state of homelessness to meet the criteria for their children to attend Dover schools at the public expense. The Commissioner disagreed, concluding that petitioners' five years of residence in a motel in Mine Hill met the definition of homelessness under N.J.A.C. 6A:17-2.3(a)(1)(i) (recodified as N.J.A.C. 6A:17-2.2 in 2014).

If there has been a determination of homelessness by an agency with the authority to make such a determination (i.e., the executive county superintendent), then the party challenging that determination has the burden of proving its allegations. In Bd. of Educ. of Borough of Hawthorne v. Bd. of Educ. of Prospect Park, EDU 16270-13, Initial Decision (Mar. 26, 2014), <https://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/html/initial/edu16270-13_1.html>, adopted, Comm'r of Educ. (May 12, 2014), the executive county superintendent initially ruled that Hawthorne was the last district of residence when the N.A. family temporarily moved in with N.A.'s parents in Prospect Park, making N.A. and her children legally homeless. Hawthorne appealed that determination, arguing that the family "was not homeless because it was not forced out of its Hawthorne residence and did not leave or reside with N.A.'s parents out of necessity." Testimony during the hearing revealed that N.A. was not evicted or asked to leave her Hawthorne residence, and that she told her Hawthrone landlord she planned to move to Florida. The ALJ, noting that Hawthorne had "the burden of proving its allegations by a preponderance of the . . . evidence," concluded that Hawthrone "sustained its burden." The children were deemed not homeless because their temporary residence with N.A.'s parents "was not out of necessity . . . but rather by the willful and voluntary act of their mother as part of fulfilling her plan to move to Florida."

Multiple cases from the New York Department of Education follow a similar pattern, where parents are appealing a determination by the local school board that their child is not homeless within the meaning of the McKinney-Vento Act. The DOE has consistently placed the burden of proof on the parents in such cases. See, e.g., Appeal of F.C., 57 Ed Dept Rep, 2017 NY Educ. Dept. LEXIS 223 at *6, Decision No. 17,243 (concluding that the parent "failed to meet her burden to show that the student is homeless under either State or federal law"). See also Appeal of G.S., 52 Ed Dept Rep, 2012 NY Educ. Dept. LEXIS 58, Decision No. 16,388; Appeal of H.H., 57 Ed Dept Rep, 2017 NY Educ. Dept. LEXIS 121, Decision No. 17,141; Appeal of A.S., 58 Ed Dept Rep, 2018 NY Educ. Dept. LEXIS 255, Decision No. 17,559; Appeal of Student with a Disability, 60 Ed Dept Rep, 2020 NY Educ. Dept. LEXIS 185, Decision No. 17,910.

Here, the respondents—Hackettstown and the DOE—argue that S.A. is homeless. Thus, while recognizing the unique procedural history of this case, respondents typically would have the burden of proving homelessness as an initial matter. Whether the burden has since shifted to petitioner to prove that S.A. was not homeless depends on whether there has been a valid determination of homelessness.

II. Contrary to (1) N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3's 90-day limit for appeals, (2) N.J.A.C. 6A:17-2.7's rules for disputes regarding the determination of homelessness, and (3) N.J.A.C. 6A:23A-19.2(c)–(g)'s procedure for contesting the Department's determination of district of residence, more than a year passed between the Department's most recent decision and the executive county superintendent's determination of homelessness.

N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(i) requires a petitioner to "file a petition no later than the 90th day from the date of receipt of the notice of a final order, ruling, or other action by the district board of education, individual party, or agency, that is the subject of the requested contested case hearing." And while the 90-day limit does "not apply in instances where a specific statute, regulation, or court order provides for a period of limitation shorter than 90 days," N.J.A.C. 6A:17-2.7—dealing with disputes regarding homeless status—specifies that "appeal[s] shall be submitted to the Commissioner pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3." N.J.A.C. 6A:17-2.7(a); N.J.A.C. 6A:17-2.7(b)(2).

More specifically, N.J.A.C. 6A:17-2.7 provides as follows:

> (a) When a dispute occurs regarding the determination of homelessness or the determination of the school district of enrollment made by the school district of residence, the chief school administrator(s), or the chief school administrator's designee(s), of the involved school district(s) . . . shall immediately notify the executive county superintendent. In consultation with the Department's McKinney-Vento Homeless Education Coordinator, or the coordinator's designee, the executive county superintendent shall immediately decide the child's or youth's status. If a dispute remains between the parent and the involved school district(s) > following the executive county superintendent's determination, the parent or the involved district board(s) of education may appeal to the Commissioner for determination pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3, Controversies and Disputes.

> (b) When a school district designated as the school district of residence disputes its designation as the school district of residence, or where no designation can be agreed upon by the involved school districts, the chief school administrator(s), or the chief school administrator's designee(s), of the involved school districts shall immediately notify the executive county superintendent. The executive county superintendent shall make a determination immediately, if possible, but no later than within 48 hours and, when necessary, in consultation with the Department's Homeless Education Coordinator, or the Coordinator's designee.
>
>
> 2. If an appeal of a determination of the school district of residence also includes an appeal of the determination of homelessness and/or school district of enrollment, the appeal shall be submitted to the Commissioner pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3, Controversies and Disputes.
> (c) Any dispute or appeal shall not delay the homeless child's or youth's immediate enrollment or continued enrollment in the school district. The homeless child or youth shall be enrolled in the school district in which enrollment or continued enrollment is sought by the parent, pending resolution of the dispute or appeal.

If the issue of homelessness is raised after a residency appeal has been filed with the Department, "the determination of homelessness must first be brought to the Executive County Superintendent of Schools." L.E.H. v. Bd. of Educ. of Twp. of W. Orange, EDU 03787-09, Initial Decision (May 19, 2009), rejected, Comm'r of Educ. (July 2, 2009) <https://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/final/edu3787-09.pdf> at n.1 (remanding residency appeal that had been dismissed for parent's failure to appear at OAL hearing; petitioner claimed to not have notice of hearing and her exceptions intimated possible homelessness). An untimely appeal of an executive county superintendent's homelessness determination will be dismissed. North Brunswick Twp.

Bd. of Educ. v. Bd. of Educ. of Somerville, EDU 10499-07, Initial Decision (Jan. 17, 2008), adopted, Comm'r of Educ. (Mar. 3, 2008), <https://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/final/edu10499-07.pdf>.

With respect to decisions and disputes regarding the district of residence, N.J.A.C. 6A:23A-19.2 provides:

> (c) The district board of education shall be notified by the Department of the determination of the district of residence. In order to prevent a lapse in the child's education and/or child study services, the district board of education shall be bound by such determination unless and until it is reversed on redetermination or appeal pursuant to the provisions of (e) and (f) below.
>
> (d) A district board of education contesting the Department's determination of district of residence shall submit a written notification of a dispute to the Office of School Facilities and Finance within 30 days of the receipt of a final notice that a child was determined to be a resident of the district for purposes of State funding. As part of this written notice, the following information shall be submitted:
>
> 1. A written statement detailing the effort of the district board of education to verify the determination of the Department;
> 2. Written rationale for rejecting the determination of the Department; and > 3. Any additional information the district board of education has obtained that might enable redetermination of the district of residence.
> (e) The Office of School Facilities and Finance shall attempt to resolve the dispute administratively and shall notify the district board of education whether a redetermination of district of residence will be made within 90 days of the receipt of written notification that a dispute exists.
> (f) A district board of education may initiate a formal proceeding before the Commissioner to resolve such a dispute if the Office of School Facilities and Finance is unable to resolve a dispute within the 90-day time limit, by filing a Petition of Appeal with the Commissioner pursuant to the provisions of N.J.A.C. 6A:3, Controversies and Disputes.

> (g) As prescribed by N.J.S.A. 18A:7B-12, the "district of residence" for a homeless child whose parent(s) or guardian(s) temporarily moves from one school district to another is the district in which the parent(s) or guardian(s) last resided prior to becoming homeless. This district shall be designated as the district of residence for as long as the parent(s) or guardian(s) remains homeless.

N.J.A.C. 6A:23A-19.2(d) is of special importance. It requires a district contesting the Department's determination of the district of residence to abide "by such determination unless and until it is reversed on redetermination or appeal pursuant to the provisions of (e) and (f)" so as "to prevent a lapse in the child's education and/or child study services." N.J.A.C. 6A:23A-19.2(c). This echoes language in N.J.A.C. 6A:17-2.7(c) that "[a]ny dispute or appeal shall not delay the homeless child's" education.

Hackettstown, in contravention of these regulations, did not immediately notify the executive county superintendent that it believed S.A. might be homeless. The August 1, 2019, letter to Deputy Assistant Commissioner Forney, on which the executive county superintendent was copied, makes no reference to homelessness. It merely rehashes arguments previously made as to why Hackettstown believes the Department's residence determination was wrong. Nor did Hackettstown timely appeal the July 30, 2019, determination by Deputy Assistant Commissioner Forney of the DOE as required by the rules. Instead, on September 10, 2019, respondent reached out to Anthony Hearn, an official in the DOE's Office of Fiscal and Data Services, who opined that respondent's characterization of S.A.'s residence—which did not include any supporting documents—would make S.A. homeless and E.N. eligible for relief under McKinney-Vento. Respondent did not copy petitioner or the executive county superintendent on this correspondence.

Months later, on January 1, 2020, respondent represented Hearn's non-binding, informational opinion to the Bancroft School as a determination of homelessness rendering Warren Hills financially responsible for E.N. during the 2018–19 school year. Respondent demanded the return of any money it had paid to the school. Respondent again failed to copy petitioner on this correspondence. Then, on August 1, 2020, an official from the Bancroft School emailed Tania Mongioi, special education specialist for Warren County, advising that because no payments had been made for E.N., she would be disenrolled from Bancroft within thirty days. Based on this letter from Bancroft, on August 26, 2020, Mongioi issued a new homelessness determination letter for S.A., declaring that Warren Hills would be responsible for E.N.'s educational expenses because S.A. did not reside in Hackettstown for a year. Surprised by the reversal, Warren Hills objected, and Mongioi claimed that Forney's July 2019 decision had been overturned by Hearn. Finally, on January 19, 2021, the person with actual authority to make homelessness determinations—Interim Executive County Superintendent Rosalie Lamonte—issued a letter upholding Mongioi's decision.[13]

This series of events initiated by Hackettstown completely ignores established formalized administrative procedures, including statutes of limitation, and threatened to disrupt E.N.'s education in precisely the manner prohibited by law. A formal determination of homelessness was not made "immediately" or "within 48 hours" of respondent obliquely raising the issue to the proper authority via carbon copy. Hearn and Mongioi lacked the authority to make homelessness determinations, and the interim executive county superintendent did not officially weigh in until more than a year after the DOE's last residence ruling, which was not timely appealed. Moreover, the executive county superintendent failed to engage in ANY fact-finding, deferring entirely to the opinions of Hearn and Mongioi. As such, respondent bears the burden of proving that the July 2019 decision was arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable.

Here, there was no loss of an apartment and nothing that necessitated S.A.'s move from the Mansfield apartment to her cousin's home. S.A. was emphatic that she was not evicted or even asked to leave the Mansfield address. Rather, she wanted to move back to Newark, and her mother disapproved, so they were conflicted over this.

[13] Hackettstown claims that Mongioi emailed Warren and Hackettstown to advise that there had been a finding of homelessness on the part of E.N. and S.A. as of the 2017–2018 school year in Warren Hills. This is not true (J-11).

At the Mansfield apartment, S.A. shared a bedroom with her adult daughter. I FIND that she was not evicted from that apartment and was never asked to leave. I FIND that she had planned to move to Newark, and then the invitation to move in with her cousin's family and help with childcare in exchange for rent was made. I FIND there was no limit on how long she could live there. Her other family members residing at the Mansfield apartment remained there for at least four additional months after S.A. moved out.

At her cousin's home, S.A. had her own bedroom, and the living conditions were very good there. She worked two part-time jobs in addition to caring for her cousin's baby. I FIND that she could have remained at either residence and there was no 'emergency' requiring her to move to her cousin's home. Her testimony amply, credibly, candidly, and consistently established that she was not homeless when she chose to move out of the apartment she shared with family at Mansfield to her cousin's private home at Herbert Lane. I FIND that her residency at Herbert Lane was "fixed, regular and adequate," and more comfortable than her shared Mansfield apartment was, where she had to share a bed with her daughter. The Herbert Lane home was a comfortable, split-level home. There was no testimonial or documentary evidence offered to suggest that S.A. was seeking housing elsewhere while residing with her cousin. I FIND that the ability to "afford a shared apartment but not [her] own home," as was S.A.'s testimony, does not make her homeless. I FIND that she clearly intended to remain at Herbert Lane indefinitely and had changed the address on her drivers' license to the Herbert Lane address (P-2). As in Pennsauken, everyone residing at the Herbert Lane address depended on each other as a household unit. S.A. watched the baby in exchange for rent while her cousin worked without needing to arrange for outside childcare. She was not living there "out of necessity." She was never asked to leave, and only moved out after her cousin and husband had an unexpected emergency when an in-law died unexpectedly, and his spouse, the cousin's mother-in-law, needed to move in because she could not care for herself. Indeed, S.A. testified that her cousin's father-in-law died at the end of July and that she remained after that date, and after her cousin's mother-in-law subsequently moved in, she stayed in the playroom and continued to watch the baby. I FIND that not only did the cousin NOT want her to leave, she took the extraordinary, highly exceptional, and remarkable step of reaching out to her own son, who is in the military, to see whether she could give away his room to S.A.

CONCLUSION

Based on the foregoing, I CONCLUDE that respondents have the burden of proving that S.A. was homeless during the school year in question and further CONCLUDE that they have failed to do so. I CONCLUDE that S.A. was not homeless when she moved out of an apartment with family, to a single family home with other family. There is no basis whatsoever to find homelessness, and the ECS determination is reversed and Deputy Assistant Commissioner Forney's decision reinstated. Hackettstown is responsible for the tuition for E.N. from 2018 forward totaling $160,739.88.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified, or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify, or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

New Jersey Commissioner of Education

Final Decision

In the Matter of the Suspension of the Teaching Certificates of Anthony Leone, Board of Education of the Town of Kearny, Hudson County

This matter was opened before the Commissioner of Education on May 28, 2024, by way of an Order to Show Cause served by petitioner (Board of Education of the Town of Kearny) upon respondent (Anthony Leone), requiring respondent to show cause why an order should not be entered suspending his teaching certificates pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10 and N.J.S.A. 18A:28-8 for resigning without giving the notice required by law.

Initially, petitioner served respondent at an address in Pompton Plains. By notice dated June 14, 2024, the Office of Controversies and Disputes (Office) acknowledged proof that the Order to Show Cause had been served upon respondent at the Pompton Plains address and directed him to answer within 20 days. No answer having been received, on July 8, 2024, the Office sent respondent a second and final notice – via certified and regular mail – directing that he file an answer within ten days. The notice advised that, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.5(e), failure to answer would cause each allegation in petitioner's papers to be deemed admitted and might result in summary decision by the Commissioner. Because the notices sent to the Pompton Plains address were returned to the Office by the United States Postal Service (USPS) as undeliverable and unable to forward, the Office contacted petitioner and asked for another mailing address for respondent.

On September 19, 2024, petitioner provided the Office with a new address for respondent in Fairfield and served him with the Order to Show Cause again. By notice dated September 24, 2024, the Office acknowledged proof that the Order to Show Cause had been served upon respondent at the Fairfield address and directed him to answer within 20 days. No answer having been received, on October 22, 2024, the Office sent respondent a second and final notice – via certified and regular mail – directing that he file an answer within ten days. The notice advised that, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.5(e), failure to answer would cause each allegation in petitioner's papers to be deemed admitted and might result in summary decision by the Commissioner. Tracking information obtained from USPS indicates that the certified letter was delivered to the Fairfield address on October 25, 2024. To date, respondent has not answered the Order to Show Cause.

The petition and supporting exhibits indicate that: respondent entered into an employment contract to work as a counselor at Kearny High School for the 2023-2024 school year for the period of September 1, 2023 through June 30, 2024; the contract provides that it can be terminated by either party upon sixty days' written notice; and, on April 17, 2024, respondent sent correspondence to petitioner indicating that he was resigning to pursue a career opportunity in another field, effective April 30, 2024, thereby providing less than the required 60 days' notice. Respondent has not denied these allegations; therefore, the Commissioner deems such allegations to be admitted pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.5(e) and further deems them sufficient to justify suspension of respondent's teaching certificates pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10 and N.J.S.A. 18A:28-8.

Accordingly, summary decision is hereby granted to petitioner, and respondent's teaching certificates are suspended for a period of one year from the filing date of this decision, a copy of which shall be forwarded to the State Board of Examiners for implementation of the suspension.

IT IS SO ORDERED.[1]

New Jersey Commissioner of Education

Final Decision

Sharonda Wadley, Helen Clement, Planties Simon, Crystal Williams, Melissa Wilson, and Omar Ballard, Petitioners,

v.

Board of Education of the City of Newark, Essex County, and Yakima Jackson, Respondents.

Synopsis

Petitioners – who are teachers, parents, and noninstructional staff – alleged that respondent Yakima Jackson, a school principal, has failed to adequately perform her duties and therefore should be removed pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:9-3.4, Professional Standards for School Leaders; and that the Newark Board of Education (Board) has failed to take corrective action regarding Jackson's job performance. The respondents maintain that petitioners may not bypass the Board of Education and are not entitled to seek relief directly from the Commissioner of Education. The parties filed opposing motions for summary decision.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: there are no material facts at issue in this matter, and the case is ripe for summary decision; because the dispute herein arises under N.J.A.C. 6A:9-3.4, a rule of the State Board, the Commissioner lacks jurisdiction since the plain text of N.J.S.A. 18A:6-9 denies the Commissioner jurisdiction over matters concerning the rules of the State Board; rather, jurisdiction here lies with the local board of education pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:28-5, N.J.S.A. 18A:27-4 and *N.J.S.A.*18A:27-4.1; the removal of a school principal, regardless of tenure status, can occur only when a school's chief administrator has recommended such an action and it is subsequently approved by the local board of education. Accordingly, the ALJ granted respondents' motion for summary decision and denied petitioners' opposing motion.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurred with the ALJ that the petition must be dismissed because there is no statute or regulation authorizing petitioners' requested relief. In so deciding, however, the Commissioner clarified that, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-9, the Commissioner does have jurisdiction to adjudicate disputes arising under the rules of the State Board, with the exception of those disputes arising under the laws governing higher education – which does not apply in this case. Accordingly, the Initial Decision was adopted as the final decision in this matter, with clarification regarding the issue of jurisdiction.

New Jersey Commissioner of Education

Final Decision

Sharonda Wadley, Helen Clement, Planties Simon, Crystal Williams, Melissa Wilson, and Omar Ballard, Petitioners,

v.

Board of Education of the City of Newark, Essex County, and Yakima Jackson,

Respondent.

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed and considered. The parties did not file exceptions.

In this matter, petitioners – who are teachers, parents, and noninstructional staff – allege that respondent Yakima Jackson failed to perform her duties as a school principal, and therefore should be removed. Petitioners rely on N.J.A.C. 6A:9-3.4, Professional Standards for School Leaders, as the basis for jurisdiction in this matter.

The Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) rejected petitioners' claim, reasoning that the plain text of N.J.S.A. 18A:6-9 denies the Commissioner jurisdiction over matters concerning the rules of the State Board. The ALJ concluded that since the dispute herein arises under N.J.A.C. 6A:9-3.4, a rule of the State Board, the Commissioner lacks jurisdiction. Instead, the ALJ determined that jurisdiction lies with the local board of education pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:28-5, N.J.S.A. 18A:27-4, and *N.J.S.A.*18A:27-4.1. The ALJ further concluded that the removal of a school principal, regardless of tenure status, can occur only when a school's chief administrator has recommended such an action and it is subsequently approved by the local board of education. Accordingly, the ALJ dismissed petitioners' motion for summary decision for failing to state a legal basis on which petitioners would be entitled to a judgment in their favor as a matter of law.

Upon review, the Commissioner wishes to clarify the issue of jurisdiction. The Initial Decision states that "controversies and disputes arising under the rules of the State Board are outside the jurisdiction of the Commissioner." Initial Decision at 11. Under N.J.S.A. 18A:6-9, the Commissioner has jurisdiction to hear "all controversies and disputes arising under the school laws, excepting those governing higher education, or under the rules of the State board or of the commissioner." The exception to the Commissioner's jurisdiction applies only to disputes arising under the laws governing higher education and does not extend to disputes concerning the rules of the State Board.[1] As such, the Commissioner has jurisdiction to adjudicate disputes arising under the rules of the State Board.

Nonetheless, the Commissioner concurs with the ALJ that the petition should be dismissed because there is no statute or regulation authorizing petitioners' requested relief – the Commissioner's removal of respondent Jackson from her position as school principal for allegedly violating N.J.A.C. 6A:9-3.4. Furthermore, the Commissioner concurs with the ALJ that removal of a school principal, tenured or untenured, can only occur following specific action by the local [1] This reading is one of grammatical construction. If the phrase offset by commas were removed from the statute, it would state that the Commissioner has jurisdiction to hear all controversies and disputes arising under the school laws or under the rules of the State Board or of the Commissioner.

Petitioners,

vs.

CITY OF NEWARK BOARD OF EDUCATION, ESSEX COUNTY AND YAKIMA JACKSON, Respondents.

Sharonda Wadley, for petitioners, pursuant to UAPR 1:1-5.4 and 5.5

John Burke, Esq., for respondents

Record Closed: August 23, 2024 Decided: October 16, 2024

BEFORE JOHN P. SCOLLO, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

[1] Pursuant to UAPR1:1-5.4 and 5.5, the Tribunal has recognized (set forth all six names) as pro se litigants, with Sharonda Wadley as their chief spokesperson. Throughout the pendency of his matter the Tribunal has been in contact with all six pro se litigants and chiefly with Sharonda Wadley as the chief spokesperson for the six pro se litigants .

The Petitioners allege that Respondent Yakima Jackson, a school principal, has failed to adequately perform her duties and therefore should be removed; and that the Newark Board of Education has failed to take corrective action regarding Jackson's job performance. The BOE and Jackson maintain that the Petitioners are not entitled to bypass the Board of Education and are not entitled to seek relief directly from the Commissioner of the Department of Education.

THE ISSUE AT BAR

The issue before this Tribunal is whether or not the Petitioner's Complaint against Yakima Jackson and the Newark Board of Education seeking a decision from the Commissioner of the New Jersey Department of Education can be based on N.J.A.C. 6A:9-3.4 (Professional Standards for School Leaders). Put another way, the issue is whether the Petitioners can ignore the process set forth in N.J.S.A. 18A:28-5 and N.J.SA.18A:27-4.1 and thereby bypass the Newark Board of Education in the pursuit of their goal of removing Yakima Jackson from the position of Principal of the Grover Cleveland Elementary School.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On January 9, 2023, the pro se Petitioners filed their action by means of a "Pro Se Petition of Appeal". They allege that Yakima Jackson, the principal of the Grover Cleveland Elementary School in the Newark School District, has failed to show competency in performing her duties as a school principal (e.g., failing to hold meetings and failing to address crime issues in the school) and that she has created a hostile workplace (e.g., by yelling at parents and non-instructional staff).

On February 28, 2023, the BOE 's staff attorney, Sabrina Styza, Esq., filed an Answer to the Petition on behalf of the BOE and on behalf of Yakima Jackson.

The N.J. Department of Education, Office of Controversies and Disputes transmitted the matter docketed as 9-1/23 to the Office of Administrative, where it was filed on March 2, 2023 as a contested case pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52: 14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 14F-1-13.

The matter was given OAL Docket Number EDU-01944-23 and was assigned to John P. Scollo, ALJ on March 23, 2023. On March 23, 2023, Judge Scollo held a Pre-Trial telephone Conference and issued his Pre-Hearing Order dated March 24, 2023, which contained a schedule for the discovery process, for the filing of motions, etcetera. Judge Scollo discussed the fact that the six Petitioners were proceeding pro se. Judge Scollo made it clear to the Petitioners that they had the right to hire an attorney of their choosing and also made it clear to the Petitioners that they were bound to follow the Uniform Administrative Procedure Rules just as if they had legal counsel. The Petitioners decided to proceed without legal counsel. The Pre-Hearing Order required the parties to submit an Outline of their respective positions. In their May 5, 2023 Outline, the Petitioners claimed that the OAL had original jurisdiction to decide this matter under N.J.A.C. 6A:9-3.3 (Professional Standards for Teachers) and 6A:9-3.4 (Professional Standards for School Leaders). In her July 12, 2023 correspondence, Sharonda Wadley, the unofficial chief spokesperson for the Petitioners, clarified the Petitioners' position on jurisdiction by stating that jurisdiction was based solely on N.J.A.C. 6A:9-3.4, not on N.J.A.C. 6A:9-3.3.

The parties exchanged discovery requests (Interrogatories and Document Requests) and responded to each other's discovery requests by June 5, 2023 (after the Tribunal granted the parties a one-month extension of time). The Tribunal monitored the discovery process and received copies of each side's discovery requests and their respective responses to same. There were no complaints from either side regarding inadequate responses to their respective discovery requests. Neither side sought relief from the Tribunal during the discovery period by means of a motion to compel discovery. The two sides responded to each other's discovery requests and completed the discovery process.

On June 19, 2023, the Tribunal granted both sides leave to file dispositive motions. Due to Respondent counsel's illness, the due date for motions was extended to August, 2023. The Tribunal later re-visited the matter, having not received any motion papers, and learned that the Respondents (BOE and Jackson) had substituted-in new counsel, John Burke, Esq, of Antonelli, Kantor, Rivera. It appeared that both sides wanted to file dispositive motions. Nonetheless, at that time the Tribunal scheduled hearing dates for November, 2023. (Subsequently, the Hearing dates were re-scheduled due to schedule conflicts and other reasons, to February, 2024. For the same reasons, the Hearing dates were re-scheduled to April, 2024; and later re-scheduled to October 15 and 16, 2024.)

On March 4, 2024, the Petitioners filed a Motion to Re-Open Discovery because the Respondents obtained new counsel and because the petitioners realized that they needed documents in addition to the documents requested in their earlier discovery requests. The Tribunal denied the motion on March 20, 2024.

On March 12, 2024, Wadley, on behalf of the Petitioners, filed a Motion for Summary Decision (which the Tribunal deems to be a Motion for Summary Decision). On March 15, 2024, Attorney Burke responded by filing the Respondents' Motion for Summary Decision. A few days later, these Motions were placed in abeyance due to the laptop issue (see next paragraph). However, in July, 2024, the Tribunal allowed the parties to proceed with these Motions.

On March 27, 2024, Petitioner Wadley wrote to the Tribunal about a seemingly unrelated controversy regarding her April 30, 2024 planned departure from employment with the BOE, the fact that the BOE told her that her last day at the school would be on March 25, 2024, and the fact that Wadley wanted to obtain documents pertaining to the within litigation from her school-issued laptop computer.

In an attempt to help the parties solve the laptop issue (which is not the issue that this Tribunal has been asked to decide), on March 27, 2024 the Tribunal issued an order instructing both sides to formulate and agree to a plan for safeguarding the documents and to arrange for the BOE to transmit them to Wadley.

The BOE's counsel wrote to the Tribunal on March 29, 2024 responding that Wadley had no right to place her personal documents pertaining to this litigation onto her school-issued laptop, but the BOE agreed not to open said documents, and agreed to send the documents to Wadley if she would identify the file names associated with the desired documents. Wadley replied on March 30, 2024 that she would cooperate with the BOE when the Tribunal ordered her to do so. Also, on April 8, 2024, Wadley wrote to the Tribunal complaining that Attorney Burke was making false statements.

On April 17, 2024, Wadley filed a Motion seeking to compel the BOE to transfer her documents from the school-issued laptop to her and seeking to have the Tribunal hold Attorney Burke in contempt. Since the relief sought in Wadley's April 17, 2024 Motion was not related to the issue at bar in this matter, and since the Tribunal had already issued an Order that was not being followed, the Tribunal deferred that Motion indefinitely. The parties did not subsequently inform the Tribunal about whether or not they resolved the laptop issue. Wadley never pursued her motion. This Tribunal does not know if the two sides ever agreed to formulate a plan for the transfer of Wadley's documents, which the Tribunal had instructed them to do in its Order dated March 27, 2024. Having already issued an order which provided the parties with the means to resolve the laptop issue, the Tribunal decided to take no further action regarding the motion since the laptop issue is not the issue that this Tribunal has been tasked to decide.

On April 18, 2024, Wadley made a request to the Tribunal to grant her time to seek legal counsel to represent the Petitioners. Hopeful that the addition of legal counsel for the Petitioners would help move the case along, the Tribunal granted Wadley's request. On April 26, 2024, Wadley wrote to the Tribunal saying that she had not yet found legal counsel. To date, the Tribunal has not received any notice from Wadley about the hiring of legal counsel to represent the Petitioners.

On July 16, 2024, Attorney Burke asked the Tribunal to allow the parties to proceed with the Motions that they had filed in March, 2024. On that same date, the Tribunal granted Attorney Burke's request to allow the parties to proceed with the Motions or to file new dispositive Motions. On July 29, 2024, the Tribunal, due to the death of Wadley's brother, granted additional time for the Petitioners to make additional submissions. On August 4, 2024, the Tribunal received a document from Wadley captioned "Reply to Defendant's Opposition to Plaintiffs' Motion for Summary Judgment". The Tribunal waited to see if the parties would further supplement their submissions. They did not do so. The judge surmised that the parties did not intend to make any further submissions, and therefore on August 9, 2024 the Tribunal wrote to the parties advising them that their Exhibits, if any, would be due on August 23, 2024 and that the Tribunal would proceed to decide the Motions that had been filed in March, 2024. The Tribunal further advised them that, depending on the outcome of the Motions, the hearing, if necessary, would take place on October 15 and 16, 2024. No Exhibits were received by August 23, 2024 and so, the Tribunal closed the record on that date.

On October 12, 2024, the Tribunal advised the parties by email that the hearing dates were being cancelled to allow the judge time to decide the motions. This writing is the Tribunal's Initial Decision – Summary Decision.

FACTUAL DISCUSSION

There are no material issues of fact outstanding.

APPLICABLE LAW

The issue of subject matter jurisdiction can be raised at any time. Macysyn v. Hensler, 329 N.J. Super. 476, 481 (App. Div. 2000); Murray v. Comcast Corp., 457 N.J. Super. 464, 470 (App. Div. 2019); Willingboro Educ. Ass'n v. Bd. of Educ, 2023 N.J. Super. Unpub. LEXIS 1893 (App. Div. Oct. 25, 2023).

N.J.S.A.18A:6-9 states:

> The Commissioner shall have jurisdiction to hear and determine, without cost to the parties, all controversies and disputes arising under the school laws, excepting those governing higher education, or under the rules of the State Board or of the Commissioner. [Italics supplied]

In the matter at bar, the Petitioners claim that jurisdiction is based on N.J.A.C. 6A:9-3.4 (Professional Standards for School Leaders). NJ.A.C. 6A:9-3.4 reads as follows:

> School leader preparation, district induction, and professional development programs shall align their learning opportunities with the Professional Standards for Educational Leaders 2015, developed by the National Policy Board for Educational Administration (NPBEA), incorporated herein by reference, available at http://www.npbea.org/wp/wp-content/uploads/2014/11/ProfessionalStandardsforEducationalLeaders2015forNPBA FINAL-2.pdf.

The text of N.J.A.C. 6A:9-3.4 states that school leader preparation, district induction, and professional development programs shall align their learning opportunities with the Standards for Educational Leaders 2015, developed by the National Policy Board for Educational Administration. Those standards are incorporated by reference into this regulation. The Tribunal having reviewed the website, suffice it to say that incorporated document sets forth ten standards for School Leaders in the same fashion as those set forth for teachers in N.J.A.C. 6A:9-3.3. There are ten standards, which are captioned as follows: Standard One: Mission, Vision, and Core Values; Standard Two: Ethics and Professional Norms; Standard Three: Equity and Cultural Responsiveness; Standard Four: Curriculum, Instruction, and Assessment; Standard Five: Community of Care and Support for Students; Standard Six: Professional Capacity of School Personnel; Standard Seven: Professional Community for Teachers and Staff; Standard Eight: Meaningful Engagement of Families and Community; Standard Nine: Operations and Management; and Standard Ten: School Improvement.

N.J.A.C .6A:9-3.4 with the incorporated document sets forth a set of aspirational standards and it contains no enforcement provisions which allow for the removal of school leaders who do not meet said standards.

The term "School Leader" is defined in N.J.S.A. 18A:26-8.2 (13)(a) as:

> a school district staff member who holds a position that requires the possession of a chief school administrator, principal, or supervisor endorsement.

The Tenured Employees Hearing Law, N.J.S.A. 18A:6-10, et seq., states:

> No person shall be dismissed or reduced in compensation If he is or shall be under tenure ... except for inefficiency, incapability, unbecoming conduct, or other just cause, and then only after a hearing held pursuant to this subarticle, by the commissioner, or a person appointed by him to act in his behalf, after a written charge or charges, of the cause or causes of the complaint, shall have been preferred against such person, signed by the person or persons making the same, who may or not be a member or members of a board of education, and filed and proceeded upon as in this subarticle provided.

N.J.S.A.18A:28-5 states:

> The services of all teaching staff members ... in the positions of teacher, principal, ... shall not be dismissed ... except for Inefficiency, incapacity, unbecoming conduct such teaching staff member or other just cause and then only in the manner prescribed by subarticle B of article 2 of chapter 6 of this title ....

N.J.S.A.18A:27-4.1 states:

> Notwithstanding the provisions of any law, rule, or regulation to the contrary,
>
> (a) A board of education shall appoint, transfer, or remove a certificated or non-certificated officer or employee only upon the recommendation of the chief school administrator and by a recorded roll call majority vote of the full membership of the board.

LEGAL ANALYSIS

The plain text of N.J.S.A. 18A:6-9, while stating that the Commissioner of Education has jurisdiction over all controversies and disputes arising under the school laws, specifically denies jurisdiction to the Commissioner over matters concerning the Rules of the State Board. The Petitioners claim that their sole basis for jurisdiction in this matter are the provisions of N.J.A.C. 6A:9-3.4. N.J.A.C. 6A:0-3.4 is a rule of the State Board. It therefore follows that the Commissioner does not have jurisdiction over the controversy or dispute in this matter since, by the Petitioners' own admission, their action is based on something outside the Commissioner's jurisdiction - a rule of the State Board.

Pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-10, tenure prevents a teacher or other school staff member from being fired or disciplined unless the school gives him/her notice and can prove specific misconduct. A tenured employee is entitled to a hearing before the local Board of Education. At such a hearing the school district must prove that a teacher has shown evidence of inefficiency, incapacity, unbecoming conduct or other just cause. If a tenured employee loses before the BOE, he has the right to appeal to the State Commissioner of Education.

When non-tenured teachers or staff members have been terminated or non-renewed, the BOE must give them notice of said termination or non-renewal and the reason for doing so. Non-tenured teachers or staff members may ask for an informal hearing before the BOE to find out the reasons for their termination or non-renewal, but it is not a formal adversarial hearing. At most, the employee may use the hearing to persuade the BOE to consider keeping him/her on staff.

Pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:28-5, a tenured staff member can only be dismissed (i.e., removed) after he/she has been in due course charged with misconduct such as inefficiency, incapacity, conduct unbecoming, or other just cause. If, by a recorded majority vote of the full BOE, the employee is found guilty of misconduct, then the employee may file an appeal with the Commissioner of the Department of Education.

Pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:27-1, a teaching staff member can only be appointed by a majority vote of the full BOE, which shall be a recorded vote. Likewise, in regard to removal of a certified or non-certified employee, pursuant to N.J.S.A.18A:27-4 and 4.1, the BOE must follow its own rules. After receiving the recommendation of the chief school administrator (usually the school superintendent) to remove the employee, the BOE shall vote on whether or not to remove him/her. In taking such a vote, it is required that any action adverse to the employee's interest must pass by a majority vote of the full BOE and the vote must be recorded.

Thus, by a reading of the above-referenced statutes, it is clear that the removal of an officer, such as a school principal, whether that principal be tenured or untenured, can occur only when the school's chief administrator has recommended that such an adverse action be taken and it is approved by the local BOE. Then and only then may the adversely-affected employee file an appeal with the Commissioner of Education.

The above-referenced statutes provide that disciplinary actions against a school officer, such as a principal, must be initiated by school management and voted on by the BOE. The above-referenced statutes contain no provisions allowing disciplinary action against a school principal to be initiated directly with the Commissioner of the Department of Education.

In reviewing the Petitioner's Motion for Summary Decision (which Ms. Wadley labelled as a Motion for Summary Judgment under Rule 56 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure), I see no basis in the law on which the Petitioners would be entitled to a judgment as a matter of law. The Motion was inarticulately drafted. The motion seems to claim that Jackson's status as a tenured or untenured school principal determines the outcome of this matter. As noted in the analysis of N.J.S.A. 18A:28-5 and N.J.S.A. 18A:27-4.1, Jackson's status as a tenured or untenured school principal is irrelevant. The issue in this matter is whether the Petitioners can rely on N.J.A.C. 6A:9-3.4 as the basis of the disciplinary charges which the Petitioners seek to bring against Jackson.

As already noted, N.J.A.C. 6A:9-3.4 is a set of merely aspirational standards and cannot serve as the basis for disciplinary charges. N.J.S.A.18A:28-5 and N.J.S.A.18A:27-4.1 are the applicable statutes governing the bringing of charges against both tenured and untenured employees. Petitioners' Motion for Summary Decision also seems to claim that certain documents should have been produced by the Respondents. If that is the Petitioner's argument, then the motion is actually a discovery motion and it is out-of-time.

CONCLUSIONS

The Petitioners have conceded that their action is based on N.J.A.C. 6A:9-3.4, a rule of the State Board; and since N.J.S.A. 18A:6-9 clearly states that controversies and disputes arising under the rules of the State Board are outside the jurisdiction of the Commissioner, I CONCLUDE that the Commissioner does not have jurisdiction over the action brought by the Petitioners.

Having read the text of N.J.A.C. 6A:9-3.4 with its incorporated document and having determined that it is aspirational in nature and having determined that it does not contain an enforcement provision, I CONCLUDE that N.J.A.C. 6A:9-3.4 cannot serve as the basis for disciplinary charges against a school principal. At most, the standards set forth in N.J.A.C. can be used to measure whether or how well school personnel, including principals, are striving to achieve the aspirational goals set forth therein, but that is not a matter of discipline.

The above-referenced statutes (N.J.S.A. 18A:28-5 and N.J.S.A. 18A:27-4 and 4.1) show that the local BOE cannot be bypassed. Therefore, I CONCLUDE that jurisdiction for the action at bar lies with the local BOE.

I also CONCLUDE that the filing of the present Petition with the Commissioner of Education was not in accordance with the governing statutes cited above.

I also CONCLUDE that the Commissioner's referral of same to the Office of Administrative Law was merely incidental and I CONCLUDE that the Commissioner did not overtly or impliedly assert that he had jurisdiction over this matter when he referred it to the OAL.

The Respondents, having proven that jurisdiction for the present controversy does not belong with the Commissioner and belongs with the local school authorities, I therefore CONCLUDE that they are entitled to a grant of Summary Decision in their favor.

However, all is not lost for the Petitioners. Having reached the above-stated conclusions, the Tribunal notes that there is nothing that prevents the Petitioners from bringing their grievances against Yakima Jackson to the superintendent of the Newark School District. It would then be in the superintendent's discretion to bring the matter before the local BOE.

I CONCLUDE that the Petitioners' Motion for Summary Decision does not state a legal basis on which the Petitioners would be entitled to a judgment in their favor as a matter of law. Therefore, I CONCLUDE that Petitioner's Motion for Summary Decision must be, and hereby is, DENIED.

ORDER

Based upon the foregoing, it is on this Sixteenth (16th) day of October, 2024 ORDERED that the Petitioners' Motion for Summary Decision is hereby DENIED; and it is further

ORDERED that the Respondent's Motion for Summary Decision is hereby GRANTED; and it is further ORDERED that all Hearing dates are hereby cancelled; and it is further ORDERED that this ORDER shall be served upon all parties today by email.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the ACTING COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified, or rejected by the ACTING COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Acting Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify, or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the ACTING COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION. Exceptions may be filed by email to ControversiesDisputesFilings@doe.nj.gov or by mail to Office of Controversies and Disputes, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500. A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

New Jersey Commissioner of Education

Final Decision

Y.C., on behalf of minor child, A.F.,

Petitioner,

v.

Board of Education of the City of Perth Amboy, Middlesex County,

Respondent.

Synopsis

Petitioner challenged the long-term suspension and expulsion imposed by the respondent Board upon her eighth-grade son, A.F., following a February 27, 2023 incident wherein A.F. pulled a fire alarm that caused an unnecessary evacuation of the Samuel E. Shull Middle School. Petitioner contended that the Board, inter alia, failed to follow applicable statutes and regulations when imposing a long-term suspension upon A.F., rendering its decision arbitrary, capricious, and unreasonable. Petitioner sought, inter alia, orders compelling the Board: to allow A.F. to return to the general education setting immediately; to compel the Board to expunge any reference to a long-term suspension from A.F.'s student record; and to allow A.F. to return in person to Perth Amboy High School at the start of the 2023-2024 school year. The Board filed a motion to dismiss. Petitioner filed opposition and a cross-motion for summary decision.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: there are no genuine issues of material fact in this case, and matter is ripe for summary decision; the issue in this case is whether the Board followed the procedural mandates in N.J.A.C. 6A:16-7.3 and -7.4 before expelling A.F.; these regulations mandate an informal hearing, timely written notice of a formal hearing, and a summary of the testimonial evidence presented at the formal hearing prior to terminating a student from school; here, A.F. was not provided an informal hearing prior to his long-term suspension as required under N.J.A.C. 6A:16-7.3(a)2; the Board failed to give petitioner written notice of the suspension within two school days of the beginning of the suspension; the Board held a formal hearing more than 30 calendar days after the suspension had begun, in violation of N.J.A.C. 6A:16-7.3(a)10iii; and the Board's May 1, 2023 letter to petitioner, notifying her of the Board's decision to expel A.F., did not include a summary of testimonial evidence, in violation of N.J.A.C. 6A:16-7.3(a)11ii. The ALJ concluded that due to the Board's procedural violations, the Board's decision to expel A.F. was arbitrary, capricious and unreasonable and A.F.'s expulsion must be expunged. Accordingly, petitioner's motion for summary decision was granted.

Upon review, the Commissioner adopted the Initial Decision of the OAL as the final decision in this matter, with modification. The Commissioner found it unnecessary to reach a determination regarding the language of the disciplinary hearing notice. Petitioner's motion for summary decision was granted.

New Jersey Commissioner of Education

Final Decision

Y.C., on behalf of minor child, A.F.,

Petitioner,

v.

Board of Education of the City of Perth Amboy, Middlesex County,

Respondent.

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed, as have the exceptions filed pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4 by the petitioner and the Perth Amboy Board of Education ("Board"), and their replies thereto.

Petitioner's child, A.F., was expelled by the Board following an incident on February 27, 2023, wherein he pulled a fire alarm, causing the evacuation of Samuel E. Shull Middle School (Shull).[1] Petitioner challenges the Board's expulsion for failure to adhere to the procedural mandates under N.J.A.C. 6A:16-7.3 and N.J.A.C. 6A:16-7.4. Specifically, petitioner alleges that A.F. was not provided an opportunity to share his version of events in an informal hearing prior to his suspension; that the Board failed to provide petitioner with a written notice of suspension within two school days of the start of the suspension; that the Board did not schedule a disciplinary hearing for A.F. within 30 days of the February 28, 2023 suspension; and that the Board's decision letter, dated May 1, 2023, lacks a summary of the testimonial and documentary evidence upon which the Board relied in reaching its decision.

After the matter was transmitted to the OAL, the Board filed a motion to dismiss, arguing that it permitted A.F. to re-enroll in the district, rendering petitioner's claims moot. Petitioner filed opposition and a cross-motion for summary decision, arguing that her claims were not moot because justiciable issues remained, such as A.F.'s improper expulsion and the Board's violation of A.F.'s due process rights. Further, petitioner asserted that her petition is not moot given the continued harm A.F. experiences due to the presence of an illegal expulsion on his disciplinary record. Petitioner also contended that the Board's decision to expel A.F. was arbitrary, capricious, and unreasonable.

The ALJ denied the Board's motion to dismiss, concluding that when all inferences are drawn against the moving party and in favor of the opposing party, petitioner's facts – if true – could constitute a cause of action. In reaching her conclusion, the ALJ pointed to factual allegations unrefuted by the Board, namely that A.F. was not provided an informal hearing prior to his long-term suspension pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:16-7.3(a)(2), and that the Board failed to give petitioner written notice about the suspension within two school days of the beginning of the suspension. The ALJ also found that the Board held a formal hearing more than 30 calendar days after the suspension had begun, in violation of N.J.A.C. 6A:16-7.3(a)(10)(iii). Lastly, the ALJ found that the Board's May 1, 2023 letter to petitioner, notifying her of the Board's decision to expel

A.F., did not include a summary of the testimonial evidence, in violation of N.J.A.C. 6A:16-7.3(a)(11)(ii).

Next, the ALJ granted petitioner's motion for summary decision. The ALJ found several procedural deficiencies in the Board's suspension and expulsion of A.F. In addition to the deficiencies noted above, the ALJ found that the Board improperly expelled A.F. even though he had never served a long-term suspension for a prior incident as required by N.J.A.C. 6A:16-7.4(a). Accordingly, the ALJ held that the expulsion must be expunged from A.F.'s student record; additionally, his student record must be changed to show that A.F. was suspended due to the February 27, 2023 incident and that petitioner transferred him to a charter school for the 2023-2024 school year. The ALJ further concluded that the Board's decision to expel A.F. was arbitrary, capricious, and unreasonable for failing to consider options less drastic than discontinuing A.F.'s educational program. The ALJ concluded that petitioner may enroll A.F. in the Perth Amboy School District for the 2024-2025 school year. Finally, the ALJ held that since A.F. is not a special education student, the requirement that a disciplinary hearing notice be provided in a language that the parent understands does not apply to petitioner.

The Board takes exception to the ALJ's finding that as a result of the two incidents that occurred on February 27, 2023 — A.F. pulling the fire alarm and the walk-out protest by Perth Amboy high school students — "there were hundreds of students on the streets, which impacted the Shull administration's deployment of staff." The Board contends that A.F.'s false pulling of the fire alarm during the protest brought hundreds more students to the street, not only impacting the deployment of staff but also jeopardizing the safety of students and staff and taking emergency teams away from monitoring safety during the walk-out at the high school.

The Board argues that it is from this context that they considered what disciplinary options to impose, and it takes exception to the ALJ's finding that the Board did not consider less extreme disciplinary actions.

The Board also challenges the ALJ's finding that it is unrefuted that A.F. was not given an informal hearing prior to his suspension. Further, the Board takes exception to the ALJ's finding that most of the March 10, 2023 meeting between petitioner and the Shull principal and assistant superintendent was conducted in English despite petitioner notifying the assistant superintendent of her limited English. Lastly, the Board argues that the ALJ incorrectly concluded that N.J.A.C. 6A:16-7.4 requires a student to have served a long-term suspension for a previous incident before they can be expelled. The Board maintains that the plain meaning of N.J.A.C. 6A:16-8.3 and N.J.S.A. 18A:37-2 should be applied, arguing that there is no requirement that prior to being expelled, a student must have served a long-term suspension for a previous infraction.

In response, petitioner contends that none of the Board's exceptions to the ALJ's factual findings are material to the outcome of the instant matter and that the ALJ's fact finding sufficiently conveys the seriousness of A.F.'s offense. Petitioner also asserts that the ALJ correctly deemed the Board's failure to hold an informal suspension hearing as unrefuted since neither certification filed by the Board's assistant superintendent confirms that an informal suspension hearing was held. Citing to case law, petitioner contends that the ALJ correctly determined that a student must serve a long-term suspension for a previous incident in order to be expelled pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:16-7.4.

Petitioner takes exception to the ALJ's determination that since A.F. is not a special education student, petitioner is not entitled to receive a disciplinary notice hearing notice in a language she understands. Petitioner contends that it was unnecessary for the ALJ to have reached this determination since neither party raised issues about the Board's obligations to translate and interpret disciplinary notices in their motions or briefs. In reply, the Board argues that the issue of the language of the disciplinary hearing notification remains a disputed question of fact and as such, this matter should be remanded to the OAL for a hearing.

Upon review, the Commissioner adopts the ALJ's Initial Decision as the final decision in this matter, with the following modification. While the Commissioner concurs with the ALJ that the Board failed to adhere to the procedural requirements under N.J.A.C. 6A:16-7.3 and N.J.A.C. 6A:16-7.4 before expelling A.F., the Commissioner finds it unnecessary to reach a determination regarding the language of a disciplinary hearing notice.[2]

It is well recognized that school districts have the authority to expel and suspend students. N.J.S.A. 18A:37-2. That authority, however, is not unlimited, as the regulations provide for sufficient safeguards to protect the student's fundamental right to an education. Under N.J.A.C. 6A:16-7.4(a)(1), "a district board of education may expel a general education student from school, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:37-2, only after the district board of education has provided ... [t]he procedural due process rights set forth at N.J.A.C. 6A:16-7.1(c)3 and 7.3 [and] subsequent to a long-term suspension, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:16-7.3 ...". A long-term suspension is defined as the "removal of a student for more than 10 consecutive school days from the general education program". N.J.A.C. 6A:16-1.3.

[2] The Commissioner's findings are sufficient to grant petitioner's motion for summary decision, and the Commissioner declines to address an issue that was not fully briefed by the parties when it is not necessary to the outcome of this matter.

Prior to suspending a student long-term, N.J.A.C. 6A:16-7.3(a)(2) requires the Board to hold an informal hearing wherein the student can present his version of events. In addition, N.J.A.C. 6A:16-7.3(a)(5) mandates that a parent be given written notice by the chief school administrator or their designee within two school days of the beginning of the suspension. The notice must state the specific charges, the facts upon which the charges are based, and the student's due process rights, and must include a notification that further engagement by the student in conduct warranting expulsion shall amount to a knowing and voluntary waiver of the student's right to a free public education. A student is also entitled to a formal board hearing that must take place no later than 30 calendar days after the day the student is suspended. N.J.A.C. 6A:16-7.3(a)(10)(iii). Following the close of the formal hearing, the Board must provide the student's parents with a written statement regarding the Board's decision. The statement must include a "summary of the documentary or testimonial evidence" presented by the student and the administration and "[f]actual findings relative to each charge and the [Board's] determination of each charge." N.J.A.C. 6A:16-7.3(a)(11).

Here, the Board failed to provide A.F. with an informal hearing prior to the start of his suspension. It is undisputed that the Board's written suspension notice, dated March 14, 2023, was provided to petitioner more than two school days after February 28, 2023, the first day of A.F.'s suspension. It is also undisputed that the formal hearing was held on April 27, 2023, more than 30 days after the commencement of A.F.'s suspension. Furthermore, the Board's May 1, 2023 letter, informing petitioner of the disposition of the formal hearing, did not include a summary of documentary or testimonial evidence on which the Board relied or factual findings relative to each charge. Instead, the letter lists the kinds of evidence the Board considered in reaching its determination that A.F. violated the Board's policy. Lastly, the Board expelled A.F. despite him never having served a long-term suspension for a prior incident. Accordingly, the Commissioner concurs with the ALJ that the Board violated A.F.'s due process rights by failing to provide the procedural protections mandated by N.J.A.C. 6A:16-7.3 and N.J.A.C. 6A:16-7.4.

The Commissioner does not find the Board's exceptions to be persuasive. The Commissioner rejects the Board's argument that N.J.A.C. 6A:16-7.4 does not require a student to have served a long-term suspension for a previous incident in order to be expelled. The Commissioner has previously found that, under N.J.A.C. 6A:16-7.5, expulsion can only take place after a student has "engaged a second time in conduct warranting possible suspension or expulsion, after having first served a duly imposed long-term suspension for an earlier infraction." M.R., v. Board of Trustees of the Hoboken Charter School, Commissioner Decision No. 89-10, decided March 22, 2010. In this matter, it is undisputed that A.F. has never served a long-term suspension for any other incident, thereby precluding the Board from expelling A.F.

In addition, the Board contends that the ALJ incorrectly found that it was unrefuted that A.F. was not provided with an informal suspension hearing prior to being suspended. The Board argues that it refuted this claim in its Answer wherein the Board denied any allegation that it failed to comply with the applicable law. However, nothing in the record – including the Board's Certification of Assistant Superintendent Delvis Rodriguez – indicates that A.F. had an informal hearing where he was afforded the opportunity to relay his version of events prior to his suspension. The Board merely suggests that it had conversations with petitioner in March 2023 to discuss options moving forward. N.J.A.C. 6A:16-7.3(a)(2) mandates an informal hearing where the student, not the parent, be given an opportunity to share his version of events before the suspension begins; further, A.F.'s suspension began on February 28, 2023, whereas the Board's discussions with petitioner occurred in March 2023. Thus, the Commissioner concurs with the ALJ that it is unrefuted that A.F. was not provided with an informal hearing prior to his suspension on February 28, 2023.

The Commissioner is not persuaded by the Board's argument that the ALJ erred in finding that 1) due to A.F. pulling the fire alarm and the walk-out protests, "there were hundreds of students on the streets, which impacted the Shull administration's deployment of staff," and 2) that the Board did not consider less extreme disciplinary actions. The Board contends that the pulling of the fire alarm jeopardized the safety of students and staff and took emergency and administrative teams away from monitoring the walkout, and that it is from this context that the Board considered the disciplinary options to implement. The Commissioner notes the seriousness of A.F.'s actions as presented by the Board, but nonetheless agrees with petitioner that this specific finding of fact is not material to the resolution of this matter. Further, the seriousness of A.F. pulling the fire alarm does not justify the many procedural violations the Board has committed in the instant matter. Regarding the second finding of fact, the record is devoid of any indication that the Board considered other disciplinary options prior to expelling A.F. The Commissioner therefore agrees with the ALJ's conclusion that the Board's decision to expel A.F. was arbitrary, capricious, and unreasonable for failing to consider other options prior to ending A.F.'s educational program.

Accordingly, the Initial Decision, as modified herein, is adopted as the Final Decision in this matter. The Board is ordered to correct A.F.'s records to remove references to the expulsion, as detailed by the ALJ. Additionally, to the extent that it has not already permitted same, A.F. shall be re-enrolled in the district.

IT IS SO ORDERED.[3]

Record closed: June 14, 2024 Decided: August 27, 2024

BEFORE KIM C. BELIN, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

The Perth Amboy Board of Education (respondent/Board) expelled A.F., the minor son of Y.C., (petitioner) for pulling the school fire alarm. At issue is whether the Board followed the procedural mandates in N.J.A.C. 6A:16-7.3 and -7.4 before expelling A.F. These State regulations mandate an informal hearing, timely written notice of a formal hearing, and a summary of the testimonial evidence presented at the formal hearing prior to terminating a student from school. The respondent failed to provide these and, thus, violated A.F.'s procedural due process rights.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

By letter dated May 1, 2023, the Board notified the petitioner that A.F. was expelled and would be on home instruction pending an alternative school placement. On June 29, 2023, the petitioner filed a Petition of Appeal. The respondent filed its Answer on July 19, 2023, and the matter was transmitted as a contested case to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), where it was filed on August 3, 2023. N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15; N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13.

After a series of unsuccessful settlement attempts, the respondent filed a motion to dismiss dated April 19, 2024, asserting that the controversy was rendered moot because the Board was allowing A.F. to re-enroll for the 2024-25 school year. Petitioner opposed the motion to dismiss and filed a cross-motion for summary decision on May 6, 2024, asserting that she was entitled to prevail as a matter of law because the Board violated A.F.'s due process rights under the school laws, and expelled him illegally. Respondent filed a reply on May 28, 2024, and the petitioner filed a reply in opposition on June 14, 2024.

DISCUSSION AND FINDINGS OF FACT

The following facts are not in dispute and thus, I FIND:

A.F. is the minor son of the petitioner Y.C. Both A.F. and Y.C. reside within the Board's public school district boundaries. A.F. is a rising ninth grader. During the 2022-23 school year, A.F. attended the Samuel E. Shull Middle School (Shull), and on February 27, 2023, A.F. pulled the fire alarm, which triggered an evacuation of the school. On the same day, Perth Amboy high school students had a walk-out to protest the stabbing of another Shull student earlier in February. As a result of these two incidents, there were hundreds of students on the streets, which impacted the Shull administration's deployment of staff.

The respondent's Student Code of Conduct listed false public alarm as a Level III behavioral offense subject to expulsion. (Exhibit A, Rodrigez Certification.)

The petitioner was notified on the afternoon of February 27, 2023, that A.F. had to go to the Perth Amboy Police Department for questioning. On February 28, 2023, the petitioner contacted the respondent and was told that A.F. could not return to school until the principal authorized A.F.'s return.

The petitioner met with Shull's principal and the assistant superintendent on March 10, 2023. Most of this meeting was conducted in English although the petitioner had notified the assistant superintendent of her limited English. However, the assistant superintendent did tell the petitioner in Spanish that A.F. would never return to Perth Amboy public schools. The respondent offered an out-of-district placement in lieu of a Board disciplinary hearing. The petitioner was not given a written suspension notice during this meeting and A.F. was not given an opportunity to tell his side of the story. The petitioner refused to sign a form authorizing an out-of-district placement for A.F.

On March 22, 2023, the petitioner visited the Board's offices and was given a letter dated March 14, 2023, which was the notice of suspension. (Exhibit B, Petitioner's Motion for Summary Decision (PMSD).) This letter did not include the facts on which the charges were based or explain A.F.'s due process rights as required by N.J.A.C. 6A:16-7.3(a)5ii and iii. Instead, the letter stated that by signing the letter and attached waiver form, the petitioner was waiving the expulsion hearing. Id. Specifically, this letter stated:

> As a summary of our meeting regarding this matter and in lieu of an expulsion hearing, we have agreed to the following:
>
> - [A.F.] will continue to be homeschooled until such time as the District can locate an alternative placement. Instruction will be provided at home.
>
> - [A.F.] will be strictly prohibited from entering school premises for any reason, until notified otherwise, if so. This prohibition will apply to all school premises, athletic fields, and administrative buildings. In addition, [A.F.] will not be able to attend any event hosted by the Perth Amboy Public School, whether the event is held on school property or elsewhere,
>
> - On behalf of [A.F.] you agree to waive Board disciplinary hearings as provided in N.J.S.A. Section [sic] 18A:37-2, and N.J.A.C. Sections [sic] 6A:16-7.2, 7.3, 7.4 and 7 [sic].
>
> - In the event [A.F.] fails to abide by the terms of this agreement and/ or re-engages in conduct warranting extended suspension or expulsion by virtue of the Section [sic] 18A:37-2 of N.J.S.A., it will correspond to a resignation on the part of [A.F.] as an informed and voluntary way [sic] to his right to receive public free education if the Board makes a decision to expel the student pursuant to N.J.S.A. sections [sic] 18A:37-2 and N.J.A.C. 6A:16-7.5.

The letter further gave the petitioner until March 20, 2023, to sign the attached waiver form. The petitioner did not sign the letter or waiver form.

A Board employee attempted to hand-deliver a letter to the petitioner on April 21, 2023, however, the letter was in English, and the Board employee would not tell or explain to the petitioner the contents of the letter. The petitioner refused to sign for the letter.

A formal Board hearing was held on April 27, 2023, in which the Board approved the recommendation to expel A.F. and find an alternative educational program. Neither the petitioner nor A.F. attended the hearing. The petitioner received a letter dated May 1, 2023, written in English, notifying the petitioner that the Board had considered A.F.'s prior disciplinary record, and heard witness testimony along with other evidence. (Exhibit C, PMSD.) Based upon this evidence, the Board concluded that A.F. had violated Board policies No. 7610 and 5600 and, therefore, A.F. was expelled and would be on home instruction pending an out-of-district placement. Home instruction did not start until March 28, 2023.

The formal hearing was held beyond the thirty-day limit required by State law.[1] The notice of suspension was not provided to the petitioner within two school days of the suspension as required by State law.[2] There is no evidence that A.F. was provided an opportunity to share his version of the events prior to the suspension.[3] The home instruction was not provided within the five-school day period as mandated by school law.[4]

A.F.'s Behavior Detail Report for the 2022-23 school year shows the following infractions and consequences:

- before/after school suspension for being out of school uniform;

[1] N.J.A.C. 6A:16-7.3(a)10iii.
[2] N.J.A.C. 6A:16-7.3(a)5.
[3] N.J.A.C. 6A:16-7.3(a)2.
[4] N.J.A.C. 6A:16-7.3(a)9i.

- conference with administrator for refusal to put phone way during class after multiple warnings;
- verbal warning for walking out of the gym without permission;
- three-day after school detention for cutting class; and
- one day out of school suspension for participating in a physical fight. (Exhibit A, PMSD.)

A.F. did not attend the Perth Amboy School District for the 2023-24 school year, or participate in the eighth-grade graduation, but was enrolled by the petitioner in the Academy for Urban Leadership Charter School (Charter School). There were no reports of behavioral infractions at the Charter School.

In a letter dated April 12, 2024, the respondent notified the petitioner that she could enroll A.F. in the Perth Amboy schools for the 2024-25 school year. In addition, the respondent provided A.F.'s eighth-grade graduation completion certificate. (Exhibit D, PMSD.)

LEGAL DISCUSSION AND CONCLUSIONS

The legal question presented is whether A.F. should be returned to school and his record expunged due to the Board's procedural due process violations. In this regard, the petitioner seeks an Order:

1. reinstating A.F. as a Perth Amboy student for as long as he is entitled to a public education,

2. expunging the expulsion from A.F.'s record, and changing his record to reflect that a suspension was imposed and that his parent transferred him to a charter school for the 2023-24 school year,

3. precluding the Board from imposing any further disciplinary actions against A.F. related to the incident at issue, compensatory education, and attorneys' fees.[5]

In addition, the petitioner seeks declaratory rulings that: (1) the respondent's conduct was illegal and violated A.F.'s rights to a free public education; and (2) the disciplinary hearing notice to Y.C. was inadequate and notice of a disciplinary hearing must be provided to parents in a language they understand.

Respondent's Motion to Dismiss

A motion to dismiss is recognized in the Administrative Code at N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.5(g). The Commissioner of Education (Commissioner) may dismiss a petition on the grounds that the petitioner has advanced no cause of action even if the petitioner's factual allegations are accepted as true or for lack of jurisdiction, failure to prosecute, or other good reason. N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.10. In assessing such a motion, the claims made by the party who filed the petition must be deemed to be true and all reasonable inferences that such allegations may support must be accepted. The standard utilized by the courts in judging such a motion is traditionally quite liberal towards the non-moving party. Green v. Morgan Props., 215 N.J. 431, 451 (2013).

Here, the respondent contends that the petition must be dismissed because A.F. is now permitted to re-enroll as a student for the 2024-25 school year and thus the issue is moot. The remaining issues regarding expunging his record of the disciplinary charges are ancillary because it is undisputed that A.F. pulled the fire alarm and expulsion was a known consequence for this infraction.

The petitioner, however, contends that the petition should not be dismissed because two justiciable issues remain—namely, A.F.'s due process rights were violated and he was improperly expelled. The petitioner contends that these issues are capable of repetition in the future and therefore are not moot. In addition, the petitioner asserts that the respondent's letter dated April 12, 2024, does not guarantee that the respondent will not impose additional punishment on A.F. or that A.F. will be reinstated into the general education population.

N.J.A.C. 6A:16-7.4 provides that a local board of education may expel a general education student only after having provided the student with procedural due-process rights as outlined in N.J.A.C. 6A:16-7.1(c)3 and -7.3, after a long-term suspension and an appropriate educational program or service has been provided by the school district. The procedures for a long-term suspension are outlined in N.J.A.C. 6A:16-7.3(a) 1-11 and mandate that the school district must provide:

- a notice to the student of the charges prior to the student's removal from school;
- an informal hearing prior to the suspension which affords the student an opportunity to tell his/her side of the events;
- immediate notice to the student's parents of the student's removal from school;
- written notification to the parents by the principal or principal's designee within two school days of the start of the suspension stating the specific charges, the facts upon which the charges are based, the student's due process rights, and notice that further engagement by the student in conduct warranting expulsion shall amount to a knowing and voluntary waiver of the student's right to a free public education;
- a list of witnesses and their statements or affidavits, no later than five days prior to the formal hearing;
- information on the right to secure counsel;

- in- or out-of-school educational services within five days of the suspension;

- a formal hearing before the board of education that allows the student to confront and cross- examine witnesses and present the student's defense; and

- a written statement to the student's parents regarding the board of education's decision within five school days after the close of the hearing.

The petitioner herein asserts, and the respondent does not refute, that A.F. was not given an informal hearing prior to being suspended on February 28, 2023, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:16-7.3(a)2. It is also unrefuted that the respondent did not provide written notification from the principal to the petitioner within two school days of the start of the suspension with information about the basis for the suspension. The evidence shows that the petitioner did not get a letter from the respondent until March 14, 2023, which was eleven school days after the suspension. The formal hearing was held on April 27, 2023, which was more than thirty calendar days after the suspension which violates N.J.A.C. 6A:16-7.3(a)10iii. Finally, the respondent's notice to the petitioner containing the respondent's decision did not include a summary of the testimonial evidence, in violation of N.J.A.C. 6A:16-7.3(a)11ii.

Accordingly, drawing all inferences against the moving party and in favor of the opposing party, the petitioner's facts, if true, may make out a cause of action. For these reasons, I hereby ORDER that the respondent's motion to dismiss is DENIED.

Petitioner's Cross-motion for Summary Decision

A motion for summary decision may be granted if the papers and discovery presented, as well as any affidavits which may have been filed with the application, show that there is no genuine issue of material fact and that the moving party is entitled to prevail as a matter of law. N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(b). If the motion is sufficiently supported, the non-moving party in order to prevail must demonstrate by affidavit that there is a genuine issue of fact which can only be determined in an evidentiary proceeding. Ibid. These provisions mirror the summary judgment language of R. 4:46-2 (c) of the New Jersey Court Rules.

The motion judge must "consider whether the competent evidential materials presented, when viewed in the light most favorable to the non-moving party . . . , are sufficient to permit a rational factfinder to resolve the alleged disputed issue in favor of the non-moving party." Brill v. Guardian Life Ins. Co. of Am., 142 N.J. 520, 523 (1995). And even if the non-moving party comes forward with some evidence, this forum must grant summary decision if the evidence is "so one-sided that [the moving party] must prevail as a matter of law." Id. at 536 (citation omitted).

In this case, I CONCLUDE that no genuine issue of material fact exists, and that petitioner is entitled to prevail as a matter of law, for the reasons set forth below.

N.J.S.A. 18A:37-2 grants a local board of education authority to impose discipline, including suspension and expulsion, upon any student who is willfully disobedient, and N.J.S.A. 18A:37-5 allows a principal to suspend any student for good cause. However, disciplined students retain extensive due process rights. Goss v. Lopez, 419 U.S. 565 (1975); N.J.A.C. 6A:16-7.3. Prior to expulsion, a student is entitled to an informal hearing where the student can provide his or her version of the events, a formal board hearing with an opportunity to confront and cross-examine witnesses and provide the student's own defense. N.J.A.C. 6A:16-7.3. In addition, regulations mandate that the parent must be provided notice of a long-term suspension within two school days of the start of the suspension. N.J.A.C. 6A:16-7.3(a)5. Here, the letter was not issued until eleven school days after the start of the suspension. The formal board hearing must be held no later than thirty calendar days following the suspension. N.J.A.C. 6A:16-7.3(a)10iii. After the formal board hearing, the board must provide a written summary to the parent outlining the documentary and testimonial evidence presented by the administration, and factual findings for each charge. N.J.A.C. 6A:16-7.3(a)11ii – iv. None of this was provided to the petitioner.

Moreover, A.F. has not served a long-term suspension for a previous incident as required by N.J.A.C. 6A:16-7.4(a). This regulation provides in relevant part:

> A district board of education may expel a general education student from school, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:37-2, only after the district board of education has provided the following:
> > 1.The procedural due process rights set forth at N.J.A.C. 6A:16-7.1(c)3 and 7.3, subsequent to a long-term suspension, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:16-7.3 . . . .

The respondent attempts to justify the due process violations by stating that the petitioner failed to cooperate in scheduling the expulsion hearing. However, the relevant regulation regarding holding the formal hearing is clear, and it is well established that a regulation is subject to the same rules of construction as a statute and should be construed according to the plain meaning of its language. Medford Convalescent & Nursing Ctr. v. Division of Med. Assistance & Health Servs., 218 N.J. Super. 1, 5 (App. Div. 1985). N.J.A.C. 6A:16-7.3(a)10iii states that the formal hearing before the board of education "shall . . . [t]ake place no later than 30 calendar days following the day the student is suspended from the general education program . . . ." This language is mandatory, and, thus, the Board was duty bound to hold the hearing on or before March 30, 2023. When the petitioner did not respond by March 20, 2023, as instructed in the respondent's March 14, 2023 letter, the respondent should have scheduled the hearing or documented an adjournment, along with efforts to reschedule the hearing.

It is undisputed that A.F. was suspended on February 28, 2023, and the expulsion hearing was not held until April 27, 2023, which is fifty-eight calendar days from the initial suspension. Failing to adhere to the thirty-day period contravened the regulation. Accordingly, I CONCLUDE that drawing all inferences against the moving party and in favor of the opposing party, there are no genuine issues of material fact concerning whether the Board followed the procedural mandates outlined in N.J.A.C. 6A:16-7.3 and

-7.4 before expelling A.F., and the petitioner is entitled summary decision. I further CONCLUDE that due to the procedural violations, the expulsion must be expunged from A.F.'s pupil records and changed to reflect that he was suspended as a result of an incident occurring on February 27, 2023, and the petitioner transferred him to a charter school for the 2023-24 school year.

In addition, the petitioner asserts that the Board's decision to expel A.F. was arbitrary, capricious, and unreasonable because the Board did not consider less extreme disciplinary options. Petitioner relies upon Scher v. Bd. of Educ. of West Orange, Essex County, 1968 S.L.D. 92, in which the Commissioner ruled that a hearing was required before a student could be expelled as well as being evaluated by a mental health team. Specifically, the Commissioner stated:

> Termination of a pupil's right to attend the public schools of a district is a drastic and desperate remedy which should be employed only when no other course is possible. It involves a momentous decision which members of a board of education, most of whom have had little specific training in education, psychology, or medicine are called upon to make. The board's decision should be grounded, therefore, on competent advice. Such advice can be obtained from its staff of educators, from its school physician and school nurse, from its psychologist, psychiatrist, and school social worker, from its counsel, and from other appropriate sources. . . . It is obvious that a board of education cannot wash its hands of a problem by recourse to expulsion. . . . The Commissioner urges boards of education, therefore, to recognize expulsion as a negative and defeatist kind of last-ditch expedient resorted to only after and based upon competent professional evaluation and recommendation.

Here, there is no evidence that the Board considered any other less drastic options than discontinuing A.F.'s educational program. For example, there was no referral to the Intervention and Referral Services team, counseling, or professional evaluation of any kind. Without question, A.F.'s decision to pull the fire alarm resulted in pandemonium for other students and staff and warranted discipline. However, it appears that the respondent was merely "washing its hands of a problem" by failing to consider other options. Accordingly, I CONCLUDE that the Board's decision to expel A.F. was arbitrary, capricious, and unreasonable.

I am not persuaded, however, that the respondent's letter dated April 12, 2024, which allows A.F. to re-enroll in the Perth Amboy School District for the 2024-25 school year, allows the respondent to rescind the letter, reinstate A.F.'s expulsion, or place him in an alternative education program, leaving A.F. unable to challenge the underlying expulsion, as the petitioner contends. This is conjecture and is not supported by the evidence. It is axiomatic that each local board of education has an affirmative duty not to act in bad faith, to ensure that its discretionary decisions are rationally based and not "induced by improper motives." Kopera v. West Orange Bd. of Educ., 60 N.J. Super. 288, 296 (App. Div. 1960). If these duties are breached, the petitioner maintains her continuous rights under N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3 and -1.4 to file a petition before the Commissioner. Accordingly, I CONCLUDE the petitioner may enroll A.F. in the Perth Amboy School District for the 2024-25 school year.

Declaratory Rulings

The petitioner seeks declaratory rulings that: (1) the respondent's conduct violated the petitioner's rights under regulatory, statutory, and constitutional law; (2) the expulsion was illegal; (3) the disciplinary hearing notice to Y.C. was inadequate, and notice of a disciplinary hearing must be provided to parents in a language they understand. The respondent objects, stating that the petition seeks consequential relief and, thus, a request for a declaratory ruling is improper under the regulations. N.J.A.C. 6A:3-2.1 allows any interested person to file a petition with the Commissioner for a declaratory ruling with respect to the rights, responsibilities, and status arising from any statute or rule within the Commissioner's jurisdiction. In addition, this regulation provides:

> A request for a declaratory ruling shall reflect adverse positions on the statute or rule in question by the parties in interest, may not seek consequential relief beyond a declaration as to the meaning of the statute or rule, and may not be based on underlying facts that are future, contingent, uncertain, or disputed.
> [N.J.A.C. 6A:3-2.1(a)1.]

The petitioner counters that she is not seeking declaratory relief under this regulation, but rather is merely asking this tribunal to decide if, based on the facts alleged, the Board violated these rights and responsibilities. Given the findings and conclusions above, which grant petitioner's motion for summary decision on the basis that the Board failed to adhere to the procedural requirements of N.J.A.C. 6A:16-7.3 and -7.4, and that the decision to expel A.F. was arbitrary, capricious, and unreasonable, I CONCLUDE that it is unnecessary to reach this issue, with the exception of the petitioner's request for a declaratory ruling stating that notice for a disciplinary hearing must be provided to parents in a language they understand. Such a requirement is only mandated for special education students. See N.J.A.C. 6A:14-2.3(g) and -2.4. Accordingly, I CONCLUDE that since A.F. is not a special education student, the requirement that disciplinary hearing notice must be provided to parents in a language the parent understands does not extend to the petitioner.[6]

ORDER

For the foregoing reasons, I hereby ORDER that the petitioner's motion for summary decision is GRANTED.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the ACTING COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

New Jersey Commissioner of Education

Final Decision

School Hero,

Petitioner,

v.

Board of Education of the Camden County Educational Services Commission, Camden County, and Patrick Madden, Business Administrator,

Respondent.

Synopsis

Petitioning school bus company, School Hero, filed an appeal on December 18, 2023 alleging that the respondent Board and Madden violated the School Ethics Act (Act) by failing to comply with Chapter 39 of Title 18A of the New Jersey Statutes, as well as with certain regulatory provisions contained in Chapter 27 of Title 6A of the New Jersey Administrative Code, when they prohibited School Hero from placing bids with the Board, removing the company from the quote notification list and failing to provide School Hero with bid specifications. Respondents contended that the petition should be dismissed with prejudice as untimely pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(i).

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: the process for filing a petition of appeal with the Department of Education is described in N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3, which includes the limitation that a petition must be filed no later than the 90th day from the date of receipt of notice of a final order or ruling that is the subject of the contested case; it is undisputed that petitioner received an email notice on July 18, 2023 that the Board would not accept any bids from School Hero; the company subsequently filed the within petition on December 18, 2023, which was two months beyond the deadline for initiating a contested case before the Commissioner in this matter; there is no basis to relax the 90 day statute of limitations; petitioner's argument that the Board violated the Act, and because of those allegations the statute of limitations is 180 days rather than 90 days, is without merit. Accordingly, the ALJ granted the Board's motion to dismiss the petition.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurred with the ALJ's findings and conclusion and adopted the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law as the final decision in this matter. The respondents' motion to dismiss was granted, and the petition was dismissed.

This synopsis is not part of the Commissioner's decision. It has been prepared for the convenience of the reader. It has been neither reviewed nor approved by the Commissioner.

Final Decision

School Hero,

Petitioner,

v.

Board of Education of the Camden County Educational Services Commission, Camden County, and Patrick Madden, Business Administrator,

Respondent.

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed and considered. The parties did not file exceptions.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurs with the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) — for the reasons presented in the Initial Decision — that School Hero's petition is time-barred pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(i). In addition, the Commissioner agrees with the ALJ's conclusion that the 180-day filing limit provided under the School Ethics Act does not apply in the instant matter.

Accordingly, the Initial Decision is adopted as the final decision in this matter. Respondents' motion to dismiss is granted and the petition of appeal is hereby dismissed.

Sanmathi Dev, Esq., for respondent (Capehart Scatchard, P.A., attorneys)

Record Closed: September 10, 2024 Decided: October 10, 2024

BEFORE KIMBERLEY M. WILSON, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Petitioner School Hero filed a petition with the Commissioner of the New Jersey Department of Education (DOE), alleging that respondents Board of Education of the Camden County Educational Services Commission (Board) and Patrick Madden (Madden), Business Administrator, violated the School Ethics Act (Act) when they failed to abide by certain statutes and regulations. The Board and Madden filed a motion to dismiss in lieu of an answer.[1]

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On or around December 18, 2024, School Hero filed its petition with the DOE. On or around March 1, 2024, the Board and Madden filed a motion to dismiss in lieu of an answer. On March 4, 2024, the matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law, for a hearing as a contested case. N.J.S.A. 54:14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 14F-1 to -23.

After a status conference on May 15, 2024, School Hero filed their opposition to the motion on or around June 5, 2024. The Board and Madden filed their reply papers on or around June 17, 2024, and oral argument was heard on September 10, 2024.

FACTUAL DISCUSSION AND FINDINGS

I FIND the following as FACT, as it is undisputed:

1. On or around November 29, 2022, Francesca Hoke (Hoke), transportation coordinator for the Board, sent School Hero an email stating that School Hero was approved to award route 2183Q. Saleeba Cert., Ex. A. School Hero was to begin the route on December 1, 2022. Ibid.

[1] Pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.5(g).

2. On or around December 4, 2022, School Hero sent an email to Hoke, stating, "[t]he parent has refused to transport the children to school on Thursday and Friday as she claimed that the children are being transferred to a different school." Ibid. In the email, School Hero sought guidance from the Board. Ibid.

3. On or around December 5, 2022, Hoke responded to School Hero's request by email, advising School Hero to send an email to a specific email address for information from parents regarding students changing schools or addresses. Ibid.

4. On or around February 2, 2023, at 9:52 a.m.,[2] School Hero sent an email to Hoke, stating that route 2183Q was still running and inquiring about payment. Ibid.

5. On or around February 2, 2023, at 10:15 a.m., School Hero sent an email to Hoke, stating that it received no notice to stop the route. Ibid.

6. On around February 2, 2023, at 4:47 p.m., Hoke sent an email to School Hero, asking whether School Hero was inquiring about when payment would be sent or asking about the route. Ibid.

7. On or around February 2, 2023, at 4:53 p.m., Hoke sent an email to School Hero, stating, "[H]ow, there aren't any students assigned since 12/7/22?" Ibid.

8. On or around February 7, 2023, Hoke sent an email to School Hero advising that the students on route 2183Q were dropped on December 7, 2022, and that the route should not have been running past that date. Ibid. Hoke also advised that the Board was evaluating what, if any, payment was owed. Ibid.

9. On or around July 18, 2023, at 11:00 a.m., Chad M. Sherwood, Esq. (Sherwood) sent an email to Madden confirming that School Hero received payment. Ibid. In this email, Sherwood asked whether Madden was indicating that the Board would reject all future bids from School Hero as a result of what occurred. Ibid.

10. On or around July 18, 2023, at 12:24 p.m., Madden sent an email to Sherwood stating the following: "Thank you for confirming receipt of payment. Correct, we will not accept any bid submissions or quote responses from School Hero or its owners moving forward." Ibid.

11. On or around August 22, 2023, at 2:29 p.m., Jack Plackter, Esq. ("Plackter"), counsel for School Hero, sent an email to Robert A. Muccilli, Esq. (Muccilli), stating that the Board improperly debarred School Hero from bidding on transportation matters and requested a meeting to resolve the issue. Ibid.

12. On or around August 25, 2023, at noon, Muccilli sent an email to Plackter indicating that the Board had not debarred School Hero and that the financial issue regarding route 2183Q had been resolved. Ibid. Muccilli indicated that, as a result, a meeting was not necessary. Ibid.

13. On August 28, 2023, at 1:44 p.m., Plackter sent an email to Muccilli, indicating that School Hero had been excluded from obtaining the quote list from the Board. Ibid.

14. On August 28, 2023, at 2:57 p.m., Muccilli stated that School Hero did not "have a right to be on a 'quote list' but it certainly may respond to bid advertisements from the [Board] if it wished to do so." Ibid.

15. On or around December 18, 2023, at 4:58 p.m., School Hero filed its petition with the DOE, submitted to the email address controversiesdisputesfilings@doe.nj.gov.

16. In its petition, School Hero alleges that the Board and Madden "have violated the [Act] by failing to comply with Chapter 39 of Title 18A of the New Jersey Statutes and the regulatory provisions contained in Chapter 27 of Title 6A of the New Jersey Administrative Code." Among the statutes and regulations that the Board and Madden allegedly violated are N.J.A.C. 6A:27-9.3, N.J.S.A. 18A:39-2.1, N.J.S.A. 18A:39-5, N.J.S.A. 18A:39-11.3 and N.J.S.A. 18A:39-21.

17. According to School Hero, Madden and the Board prohibited it from placing bids with the Board without the property authority, and they discriminated against it by removing School Hero from the quote notification list and failing to provide School Hero with bid specifications. Madden and the Board also removed School Hero from the quote list and the notification list.

LEGAL ANALYSIS AND CONCLUSION

The Board and Madden argue that School Hero's petition should be dismissed with prejudice as untimely for School Hero's alleged failure to abide by the ninety-day statute of limitations contained in N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(i). Pet'r's Br. at 1. In opposition, School Hero argues that it satisfied the applicable statute of limitations, as the claims in the petition were brought under the Act. Resp't's Br. at 4. School Hero also argues that the ninety-day statute of limitations should be relaxed, as the facts here justify that result. Id. at 5.

As will be discussed at length, School Hero did not abide by the ninety-day statute of limitations found in N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3, and there is no basis by which the statute of limitations should be relaxed. Finally, there are no facts in this record indicating that School Hero filed or attempted to file its petition with the School Ethics Commission for review, under whose jurisdiction matters must be filed within 180 days. For these reasons, the motion to dismiss filed by the Board and Madden will be granted.

1. The applicable statute of limitations is set forth in N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3.

The process for filing a petition of appeal with the DOE is discussed in N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3, in relevant part, as follows:

> (a) To initiate a contested case for the Commissioner's determination of a controversy or dispute arising pursuant to the school laws, a petitioner shall prepare a petition of appeal conforming to the requirements at N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.4 and serve such petition upon each respondent, together with any supporting papers the petitioner may include with the petition. The petitioner then shall file proof of service on each respondent, the telephone numbers and email addresses, where available, of the petitioner and each respondent, and the petition and supporting materials, if any, by emailing the documents to the email address designated by the Office of Controversies and Disputes or mailing the documents to the Commissioner c/o the Director, Office of Controversies and Disputes, New Jersey Department of Education, 100 River View Plaza, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500. In no case shall a petitioner submit materials to the Commissioner that have not been served upon each respondent.
>
> (i) The petitioner shall file a petition no later than the 90th day from the date of receipt of the notice of a final order, ruling, or other action by the district board of education, individual party, or agency, that is the subject of the requested contested case hearing. This rule shall not apply in instances where a specific statute, regulation, or court order provides for a period of limitation shorter than 90 days for the filing of a particular type of appeal.

This rule "provides a measure of repose, an essential element in the proper and efficient administration of the school laws," giving school districts the "security of knowing" that an aggrieved party cannot challenge its actions after ninety days. Kaprow v. Bd. of Educ. of Berkeley Twp., 131 N.J. 572, 582 (1993).

Courts strictly construe and consistently apply the ninety-day limitation period. Kaprow, 131 N.J. at 588–89; Nissman v. Bd. of Educ. of Twp. of Long Beach Island, 272 N.J. Super 373, 380–81 (App. Div. 1994); Riely v. Bd. of Educ. of Hunterdon Central High Sch., 173 N.J. Super. 109, 112–14 (App. Div. 1980). The limitation period begins to run when the petitioner "learn[s] from the Local Board the existence of that state of facts that would enable him to file a timely claim." Kaprow, 131 N.J. at 588–89. Indeed, the notice of a final order, ruling or other action is "sufficient to inform an individual of some fact that he or she has a right to know and that the communicating party has a duty to communicate." Id. at 587. Notably, a petitioner need not receive official and formal notification that they may have a valid claim to begin the ninety-day limitation period. Id. at 588.

Here, the Board and Madden advised School Hero in writing that it would not accept any bids from it on July 18, 2023. School Hero acknowledges the July 18, 2023, email is notice of the Board and Madden's adverse action against it. See Pet'r's Br. at 5 ("Thus, because [School Hero's] Complaint was filed within 180 days of the email received July 18, 2023, informing [School Hero] for the first time that [School Hero's] bids would no longer be accepted or considered by the [Board], this Complaint is timely and there is no basis for dismissal.") and at 6 ("Through the July 18th email, and that email correspondence alone, [the Board and Madden] notified [School Hero] that [the Board] would no longer accept any bid submissions or quote responses from [School Hero].") All the same, School Hero did not file its petition with the DOE until December 18, 2024, 153 days later.

Based on the plain language of N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3, School Hero's petition was untimely, and for this reason alone, it should be time-barred.

2. There is no basis to relax the ninety-day statute of limitations in N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.16.

School Hero argues that the ninety-day statute of limitations should be relaxed here because of the underlying injustice resulting from the Board and Madden's actions. Pet'r's Br. at 5–6.

Pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.16, any of the rules in the applicable regulations may be relaxed when "strict adherence thereto may be deemed inappropriate or unnecessary or may result in injustice." Relaxation of the ninety-day filing requirement is reserved only for situations where the party presents a substantial constitutional issue or a matter of significant public interest beyond concern only to the parties. Portee v. Bd. of Educ. of Newark, EDU 5855-93, 1994 N.J. Agen. Lexis 1363, *12–13 (February 24, 1994), aff'd., Comm'r Decision (April 14, 1994). According to School Hero, the matter of significant public interest is the alleged discrimination against it. Pet'r's Br. at 5–6 ("Moreover, if this matter is not heard by the OAL, [the Board and Madden's] discriminatory action will repeat itself in perpetuity against [School Hero], as they intend to wrongfully deprive [School Hero] of the bidding process year after year, without following the procedures to do so, on the impermissible basis of national origin no less.").

There is no evidence that the dispute between the Board and Madden and School Hero raises a substantial constitutional issue. While unlawful discrimination is a significant public interest, as described by School Hero, it is its own interest at stake here, rather than one beyond concern to only the parties. For these reasons, there is no basis to relax the statute of limitations in N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3 pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.16.

For the foregoing reasons, I CONCLUDE that School Hero's petition against the Board and Madden is time-barred.

3. The Act and its enabling legislation do not apply here.

School Hero argues in the alternative that the Board and Madden violated the Act, and because of those allegations, the statute of limitations is 180 days rather than ninety days. Pet'r's Br. at 4.

The Legislature passed the Act in 1991. See L. 1991 c. 393 § 7. In signing the Act into law, the Governor stated that the Act based the school ethics criteria on the same ethical standards for local officials—standards already incorporated in the ethics code for state employees. Office of the Governor, News Release, January 16, 1992 (https://repo.njstatelib.org/server/api/core/bitstreams/9c9ed384-7f4c-4138-8102-1fa6d67f44d5/content, last visited on October 4, 2024). The Legislature found and declared:

> a. In our representative form of government it is essential that the conduct of members of local boards of education and local school administrators hold the respect and confidence of the people. These board members and administrators must avoid conduct which is in violation of their public trust or which creates a justifiable impression among the public that such trust is being violated.
> b. To ensure and preserve public confidence, school board members and local school administrators should have the benefit of specific standards to guide their conduct and of some disciplinary mechanism to ensure the uniform maintenance of those standards among them.

The Act also created the School Ethics Commission specifically for the purpose of enforcing ethical standards through a procedure for reviewing complaints of ethical violations, investigating those complaints, and ultimately rendering recommendations to the Commissioner of Education as to the imposition of sanctions when violations are established. N.J.S.A. 18A:12-28; N.J.S.A. 18A:12-29. The School Ethics Commission has jurisdiction over claims arising under the Act. N.J.A.C. 6A:28-1.4.

There is no evidence in the record that School Hero attempted to file its petition with the School Ethics Commission. The only reference to the Act or the School Ethics Commission is a scant reference in School Hero's petition. Without an actual petition filed with the School Ethics Commission, School Hero cannot avail itself of the statute of limitations allowed in the Act. For these reasons, I CONCLUDE that the 180-day statute of limitations in the Act does not apply here.

Based on the foregoing, I further CONCLUDE that the motion to dismiss filed by the Board and Madden should be GRANTED.

ORDER

Accordingly, I ORDER that the motion to dismiss filed by the Board and Madden should be and hereby is GRANTED.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the ACTING COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the ACTING COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the ACTING COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION. Exceptions may be filed by email to ControversiesDisputesFilings@doe.nj.gov or by mail to Office of Controversies and Disputes, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500. New Jersey Commissioner of Education

Student One Transport,

Petitioner,

v.

Board of Education of the Camden County Educational Services Commission, Camden County, and Patrick Madden, Business Administrator,

Respondent.

Synopsis

Petitioning school bus company, Student One Transport, filed an appeal on January 7, 2024 alleging that the respondent Board and its Business Administrator violated the School Ethics Act (Act) by failing to comply with certain statutes and regulations when they barred Student One Transport from bidding on transportation routes. Respondents contended that the petition should be dismissed with prejudice as untimely pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(i).

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: the process for filing a petition of appeal with the Department of Education is described in N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3, which includes the limitation that a petition must be filed no later than the 90th day from the date of receipt of notice of a final order or ruling that is the subject of the contested case; petitioner received clear notice via email dated July 13, 2023 that the Board would not be accepting bids from Student One Transport; the company subsequently filed the within petition on January 7, 2024, which was more than two months beyond the deadline for initiating a contested case before the Commissioner in this matter; there is no basis to relax the 90 day statute of limitations; further, there is no merit to petitioner's argument that the Board violated the Act, which includes a statute of limitations of 180 days rather than 90 days, as there is no evidence that petitioner filed or attempted to file its petition with the School Ethics Commission. Accordingly, the ALJ granted the Board's motion to dismiss the petition.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurred with the ALJ's findings and conclusion and adopted the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law as the final decision in this matter. The respondents' motion to dismiss was granted, and the petition was dismissed.

This synopsis is not part of the Commissioner's decision. It has been prepared for the convenience of the reader. It has been neither reviewed nor approved by the Commissioner.

New Jersey Commissioner of Education
Final Decision

Student One Transport,

Petitioner,

v.

Board of Education of the Camden County Educational Services Commission, Camden County, and Patrick Madden, Business Administrator,

Respondent.

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed and considered. The parties did not file exceptions.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurs with the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) —for the reasons presented in the Initial Decision — that Student One Transport's petition is time-barred pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(i). In addition, the Commissioner agrees with the ALJ's conclusion that the 180-day filing limit provided under the School Ethics Act does not apply in the instant matter.

Accordingly, the Initial Decision is adopted as the final decision in this matter. Respondents' motion to dismiss is granted and the petition of appeal is hereby dismissed.

IT IS SO ORDERED.[1]

Record Closed: September 10, 2024 Decided: October 10, 2024

BEFORE KIMBERLEY M. WILSON, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Petitioner Student One Transport (Student One) filed a petition with the Commissioner of the New Jersey Department of Education (DOE), alleging that respondents Board of Education of the Camden County Educational Services Commission (Board) and Patrick Madden (Madden), Business Administrator, violated the School Ethics Act (Act) when they failed to abide by certain statutes and regulations. The Board and Madden filed a motion to dismiss in lieu of an answer.[1]

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On or around January 7, 2024, Student One filed its petition with the DOE. On or around March 1, 2024, the Board and Madden filed a motion to dismiss in lieu of an answer. On March 4, 2024, the matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law, for a hearing as a contested case. N.J.S.A. 54:14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 14F-1 to -23.

After a status conference on April 29, 2024, Student One filed its opposition to the motion on or around June 3, 2024. The Board and Madden filed their reply papers on or around June 17, 2024, and oral argument was heard on September 10, 2024.

FACTUAL DISCUSSION AND FINDINGS

I FIND the following as FACT, as it is undisputed:

1. On or around October 19, 2022, at 11:01 a.m., Student One sent an email to Rita Carfagno (Carfagno), Transportation Supervisor for the Board, asking for a return call to respond to a question. Mansi Cert., Ex. B.

2. On or around October 20, 2022, Carfagno sent an email to Student One, stating that Routes 684 and 1711 were contracted routes and Student One would be in breach of the contract if it were unable to provide the required transportation. Ibid. Student One would potentially have its bond revoked. Ibid. Carfagno also advised that Route 2040Q was a quoted route that was bound by the terms of the bid specifications. Ibid.

3. On October 31, 2022, at 11:02 a.m., Student One sent an email to Carfagno, indicating that the Board would be requoting Route 684 due to a driver issue. Ibid.

4. On October 31, 2022, at 11:15 a.m., Carfagno responded to Student One's email regarding Route 684, stating that Student One was required to send the Board official notification that it could not fulfill the terms for transportation for a contracted route effective upon a certain date. Ibid. The Board would require the specifics of the student's transportation requirements, and it would then determine whether to seek quotations for the route. Ibid. Student One would potentially be held liable for the difference between the quoted rate and the contracted per diem rate. Ibid.

5. On October 31, 2022, at 11:47 a.m., Student One responded to Carfagno by email, stating that there was no specific date for Route 684 to be discontinued. Ibid. Student One advised that its potential liability was not discussed in a conversation that morning. Ibid.

6. On November 1, 2022, at 9:39 a.m., Carfagno sent an email to Student One regarding Route 684, stating the following: "I do believe we discussed the possibility of a 'gap' between the current contracted per diem and the quoted per diem if one is received. We also discussed the need to supply any special accommodations the student is receiving, which you told me you needed to contact the driver for the information. I cannot proceed without the information." Ibid.

7. On November 1, 2022, at 9:56 a.m., Student One sent an email to Carfagno with the information she requested. Student One stated the following: "The 'gap' possibility was not discussed. The goal of the discussion is to avert the negative outcome for the company, student and district which you have also mentioned in your previous email." Ibid.

8. On November 1, 2022, at 3:13 p.m., Student One sent an email to Carfagno, stating, "The latest quotes emailed today were not received. Please email." Ibid.

9. On November 1, 2022, at 3:56 p.m., Madden sent an email to Student One addressed to Michael, stating, "Student One is not receiving an opportunity to quote on any new routes at this time. The reason is that your company is claiming that you cannot fulfill a route that you bid on—this is a problem." Ibid.

10. On November 1, 2022, at 5:18 p.m., Student One responded to Madden's email of the same day as follows: "This is the first occurrence of this problem due to the current severe shortage of school bus drivers nationally. This was conveyed to [Carfagno] previously on 10/31/2022. Please advise on the reinstatement of the company to your quote list." Ibid.

11. On July 11, 2023, at 3:12 p.m., Madden sent an email to Student One, stating the following: "The [Board] will not be accepting any bids submitted by Student One Transport LLC for the upcoming school year. If a bid is submitted or presented, it will be returned unopened." Ibid.

12. By email on July 11, 2023, at 3:34 p.m., Student One asked Madden for a reason for the denial. Ibid.

13. On July 12, 2023, Madden sent Student One an email advising that the Board received a bid packet in the mail from Student One and that it was not opened and would be returned unopened. Ibid. According to Madden, the Board would not accept any bids from Student One "due to a negative prior experience caused by a breach of contract during the 2022–2023 school year." Ibid.

14. On July 13, 2023, at 9:43 a.m., Student One sent an email to Madden regarding a bid. Id.; Mansi Cert., Ex. A. On the same day at 9:58 a.m., Madden sent an email to Student One stating the following: "In response to your email this morning including the attached I will restate our message from yesterday," reiterating that it would not be accepting bids from Student One. Ibid. Attached to Madden's email was a document titled Camden county ccesc 7-13-23 bid-compressed-compressed.pdf. Ibid.

15. On or around January 7, 2024, Student One filed its petition with the DOE. Mansi Cert., Ex. B. The DOE acknowledged receipt of the petition on January 30, 2024. Counsel Cert., Ex. A.

LEGAL ANALYSIS AND CONCLUSION

The Board and Madden argue that Student One's petition should be dismissed with prejudice as untimely for Student One's alleged failure to abide by the ninety-day statute of limitations contained in N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(i). Pet'r's Br. at 1. In opposition, Student One asserts that it satisfied the applicable statute of limitations, as the petition's claims were brought under the Act. Resp't's Br. at 2–3. Finally, Student One claims that the ninety-day statute of limitations should be relaxed, as the facts here justify that result. Id. at 6.

As will be discussed further, Student One did not abide by the ninety-day statute of limitations found in N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3, and there is no basis to relax the statute of limitations. Last, there are no facts in this record indicating that Student One either filed or attempted to file its petition with the School Ethics Commission for review, where the applicable statute of limitations is 180 days. For these reasons, the motion to dismiss filed by the Board and Madden will be granted.

1. The applicable statute of limitations is set forth in N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3.

The process for filing a petition of appeal with the DOE is discussed in N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3, in relevant part, as follows:

> (a) To initiate a contested case for the Commissioner's determination of a controversy or dispute arising pursuant to the school laws, a petitioner shall prepare a petition of appeal conforming to the requirements at N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.4 and serve such petition upon each respondent, together with any supporting papers the petitioner may include with the petition. The petitioner then shall file proof of service on each respondent, the telephone numbers and email addresses, where available, of the petitioner and each respondent, and the petition and supporting materials, if any, by emailing the documents to the email address designated by the Office of Controversies and Disputes or mailing the documents to the Commissioner c/o the Director, Office of Controversies and Disputes, New Jersey Department of Education, 100 River View Plaza, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500. In no case shall a petitioner submit materials to the Commissioner that have not been served upon each respondent.
>
> (i) The petitioner shall file a petition no later than the 90th day from the date of receipt of the notice of a final order, ruling, or other action by the district board of education, individual party, or agency, that is the subject of the requested contested case hearing. . . . rule shall not apply in instances where a specific statute, regulation, or court order provides for a period of limitation shorter than 90 days for the filing of a particular type of appeal.

This rule "provides a measure of repose, an essential element in the proper and efficient administration of the school laws," giving school districts the "security of knowing" that an aggrieved party cannot challenge its actions after ninety days. Kaprow v. Bd. of Educ. of Berkeley Twp., 131 N.J. 572, 582 (1993).

Courts strictly construe and consistently apply the ninety-day limitation period. Kaprow, 131 N.J. at 588–89; Nissman v. Bd. of Educ. of Long Beach Island Twp., 272 N.J. Super. 373, 380–81 (App. Div. 1994); Riely v. Bd. of Educ. of Hunterdon Central High Sch., 173 N.J. Super. 109, 112–14 (App. Div. 1980). The limitation period begins to run when the petitioner "learn[s] from the Local Board the existence of that state of facts that would enable him to file a timely claim." Kaprow, 131 N.J. at 588–89. Indeed, the notice of a final order, ruling or other action is "sufficient to inform an individual of some fact that he or she has a right to know and that the communicating party has a duty to communicate." Id. at 587. Notably, a petitioner need not receive official and formal notification that they may have a valid claim to begin the ninety-day limitation period. Id. at 588.

The facts here show that as early as November 1, 2022, the Board would not allow Student One to bid on public transportation contracts. Later, in its July 13, 2023, email, Madden clearly indicated that the Board would not accept any bids from Student One, and he returned a bid that Student One submitted to the Board. These contacts from Madden and/or the Board are more than sufficient notice to Student One of adverse action against it. Student One, however, did not file its petition with the DOE until January 7, 2024, more than 179 days after the July 13, 2023, email from Madden. From the plain language of N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3, Student One's petition was not timely filed, and for this reason alone, it should be barred.

2. There is no basis to relax the ninety-day statute of limitations in N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.16.

Student One argues that the ninety-day statute of limitations should be relaxed here because the Board and Madden failed to follow state law to prevent it from bidding on transportation contracts. Pet'r's Br. at 6.

Pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.16, any of the rules in the applicable regulations may be relaxed when "strict adherence thereto may be deemed inappropriate or unnecessary or may result in injustice." Relaxation of the ninety-day filing requirement is reserved only for situations where the party presents a substantial constitutional issue or a matter of significant public interest beyond concern only to the parties. Portee v. Bd. of Educ. of Newark, EDU 5855-93, 1994 N.J. Agen. Lexis 1363, *12–13 (February 24, 1994), aff'd, Comm'r Decision (April 14, 1994). According to Student One, the compelling reason to relax the ninety-day statute of limitations is respondents' failure to comply with the debarment process.

This reason, however, does not present a substantial constitutional issue or a matter of significant public interest; it is only of concern to Student One. There is no basis to relax the statute of limitations in N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.16. For the foregoing reasons, I CONCLUDE that Student One's petition against the Board and Madden is time-barred.

3. The Act and its enabling legislation do not apply here.

Student One argues in the alternative that the Board and Madden violated the Act, and because of those allegations, the statute of limitations is 180 days rather than ninety days. Pet'r's Br. at 2–3.

The Legislature passed the Act in 1991. See L. 1991 c. 393 § 7. In signing the Act into law, the Governor stated that the Act based the school ethics criteria on the same ethical standards for local officials, standards already incorporated in the ethics code for state employees. Office of the Governor, News Release, January 16, 1992 (https://repo.njstatelib.org/server/api/core/bitstreams/9c9ed384-7f4c-4138-8102-1fa6d67f44d5/content, last visited on October 4, 2024). The Legislature found and declared:

> a. In our representative form of government it is essential that the conduct of members of local boards of education and local school administrators hold the respect and confidence of the people. These board members and administrators must avoid conduct which is in violation of their public trust or which creates a justifiable impression among the public that such trust is being violated.
> b. To ensure and preserve public confidence, school board members and local school administrators should have the benefit of specific standards to guide their conduct and of some disciplinary mechanism to ensure the uniform maintenance of those standards among them.
> [N.J.S.A. 18A:12-22]

The Act also created the School Ethics Commission specifically to enforce these ethical standards through a procedure for reviewing complaints of ethical violations, investigating those complaints, and ultimately rendering recommendations to the Commissioner of Education as to the imposition of sanctions when violations are established. N.J.S.A. 18A:12-28; N.J.S.A. 18A:12-29. The School Ethics Commission has jurisdiction over claims arising under the Act. N.J.A.C. 6A:28-1.4.

There is no evidence in the record that Student One filed or attempted to file its petition with the School Ethics Commission. The only reference to the Act or the School Ethics Commission is a scant reference in Student One's petition. Without an actual petition filed with the School Ethics Commission, Student One cannot avail itself of the statute of limitations allowed in the Act. For these reasons, I CONCLUDE that the 180-day statute of limitations in the Act does not apply here.

Based on the foregoing, I further CONCLUDE that the motion to dismiss filed by the Board and Madden should be GRANTED.

ORDER

Accordingly, I ORDER that the motion to dismiss filed by the Board and Madden should be and hereby is GRANTED.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the ACTING COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the ACTING COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the ACTING COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION. Exceptions may be filed by email to ControversiesDisputesFilings@doe.nj.gov or by mail to Office of Controversies and Disputes, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500. Final Decision

Nware Burge,

Petitioner,

v.

New Jersey Department of Education,
State Board of Examiners,

Respondent.

Synopsis

Pro se petitioner appealed the determination of the respondent New Jersey State Board of Examiners (SBE) denying his request for a third extension of his provisional teaching certificates, which were first issued in 2016. The SBE filed a motion to dismiss, arguing that there is no legal basis to permit another renewal of petitioner's provisional certificates and that such action is explicitly barred by N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-8.5 et seq.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: petitioner was issued his first provisional certificate in 2016; it was then renewed for two years in August 2018 and again, in October 2020, for another two years; the last renewal expired in July 2022; petitioner requested another renewal of his provisional certificate in 2023, which was rejected by the SBE in January 2024; after filing the within appeal, petitioner appeared for an initial conference but then failed to appear for two subsequent telephone conferences and further failed to offer any explanation for his failure to appear; he also failed to oppose the SBE's motion to dismiss; the SBE noted in its order denying petitioner's request for a third renewal that a full certificate had not been granted under his previous provisional certificates because petitioner had failed to earn sufficient "effective" or "highly effective" ratings in the evaluation process; and N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-8.5(c) states that "The two-year provisional certificate may be renewed twice for a maximum provisional period of six years...". The ALJ concluded that the SBE's decision to deny petitioner's request for a third extension was not arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable. Accordingly, the ALJ granted the SBE's motion to dismiss the petition.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurred with the findings and conclusions of the ALJ and adopted the Initial Decision as the final decision in this matter. The petition was dismissed.

NWARE BURGE,

Petitioner

v.

NEW JERSEY DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION,

STATE BOARD OF EXAMINERS,

Respondent.

Nware Burge, pro se

David Kalisky, Deputy Attorney General, for respondent (Matthew J. Platkin, Attorney General of New Jersey, attorney)

Record Closed: October 11, 2024 Decided: October 23, 2024

BEFORE: MATTHEW G. MILLER, ALJ

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Appellant, Nware Burge appeals the March 1, 2024 denial of his third renewal request of his provisional teaching certificates that had first been issued in 2016, then renewed for two years in August, 2018 and then for an additional two years in October, 2020.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

In October 2016, petitioner, Nware Burge, was issued provisional teacher's certificates in Social Studies and Students with Disabilities. Those certificates were first renewed by the New Jersey State Board of Examiners in August 2018 and then again in October 2020, with that renewal expiring in July 2022. In 2023, Mr. Burge requested another renewal of his provisional certificates. That request was denied during the meeting of January 19, 2024 and that decision was ratified on March 1, 2024.

On May 29, 2024, Mr. Burge emailed a Petition for Appeal to the State Department of Education's Office of Controversies & Disputes ("OCD"). That appeal was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law ("OAL") where it was received on June 26, 2024 for a hearing as a contested case. N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13.

Prior to the matter being forwarded to the OAL, on June 16, 2024, in reply to the filing, the State Board of Examiners filed a Motion to Dismiss in Lieu of Answer.

An initial conference was held on August 15, 2024 at which time, after a detailed discussion of the case, a briefing schedule was set with Mr. Burge being given until September 19, 2024 to either hire an attorney, file opposition to the Motion to Dismiss or withdraw his appeal. A follow-up telephone conference was scheduled for September 19, 2024 and Mr. Burge failed to appear or contact the Court. The matter was scheduled for another telephone conference on October 11, 2024 and Mr. Burge similarly failed to appear or contact the Court.

Having given Mr. Burge more than sufficient time in which to communicate with the Court and having not heard from him, the record on the Motion was formally closed on October 21, 2024.

INITIAL FINDINGS OF UNDISPUTED FACT

The following FACTS of the case are not in dispute:

1. In October 2016, appellant, Nware Burge was issued provisional Teacher of Social Studies and Teacher of Students with Disabilities ("TOSD") certificates by the State Board of Examiners as well as Certificates of Eligibility with Advanced Standing ("CEAS") in both areas.

2. Per N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-8.5(a), in August 2018 and October 2020, Mr. Burge's provisional certificates were renewed since he had not yet completed the requirements for the standard certificates. The last renewal expired in July, 2022.

3. During the 2016-17, 2017-18 and 2018-19 school years, Mr. Burge was employed by the Camden School District. In the 2019-20 and 2020-21 school years, he worked at the LEAD Charter School in Newark. After taking a break from working in the public school system, Mr. Burge was hired by Barringer High School in Newark as a substitute teacher.

4. On or about December 20, 2023, Mr. Burge applied for another two-year renewal of his certificates. That application was initially denied since he had failed to earn two consecutive summative evaluations of "effective" or "highly effective".

5. Mr. Burge appealed that denial and at its January 19, 2024 meeting, that appeal was denied by the State Board of Examiners. That decision was formalized in an Order dated March 1, 2024. (Exhibit R-2.)

6. That decision was appealed by Mr. Burge on or about May 29, 2024. (Exhibit R-3.)

7. To date, Mr. Burge has yet to complete the requirements for standard certificates and he has failed to oppose the Board's Motion to Dismiss.

APPEAL

In his appeal to the Board, Mr. Burge wrote:

> My name is Nware R. Burge and I am sending in another appeal because I did not disclose the direct affect and reasons for the ineffective and partial effective evaluation ratings. From 2016 to 2022, I have been in a constant and consistent court battle for custody of my children as well as divorce proceedings. So much so that I enclosed a letter from a New York State Senator who gave me support during these trying times. To add, as an educator and documentary filmmaker, I recently completed a film titled: "For Mothers who won't let Fathers see their Children" which discusses some of the lows that fathers endure due to such tragedy. I will add the link to documentary for record evidence. During this period, this stressful ordeal directly affected my attendance as well as evaluations, reviews, and meetings. I have added some of the judicial documentation as evidence and records.
>
> I did not wish to disclose this information for the initial State appeal due to the private and personal nature of this matter. I also did not disclose these records as I felt that my resume, bio and years of experience and accomplishments as an educator in urban schools, programs, and high ed., would serve as good merits. Because of my time away from teaching in High School, to work as an Adjunct Professor, I did not have access to any former records. To add there was a lack of correspondence for records as I consistently sent emails and made calls for records with no correspondence. The only records I found was a copy of an effective rating that I luckily and randomly copy and posted from an old computer.
> Since 2021 I have gained valuable teaching knowledge as I continue to teach, work and live in an urban setting. I am also in a better mental space regarding my child custody and divorce. If given a successful appeal and a provisional certificate so that I can eventually earn my standard certificate, I will only receive effective rating which will in turn allow me to continue teaching and serving communities of need. I hope that the committee understands the severity of the evidence given and how it directly impacts my evaluations.

MOTION

Respondent filed a Motion to Dismiss arguing that there is no legal basis to permit another renewal of appellant's provisional certificate and that same is explicitly barred by N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-8.5 et seq., which provides the Commissioner of Education no discretion in considering the application.

It is argued that the Motion to Dismiss is appropriate here since, per N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.10, even if appellant's factual allegations are all found to be true, there is no legal basis for his appeal.

Mr. Burge has not responded to the Motion. However, he did present argument in his initial appeal which will be reviewed below.

TIMELINE

A more visceral view of Mr. Burge's provisional certificate history is best demonstrated by the following timeline:

October, 2016 – Issuance of two-year provisional certificates

August, 2018 – Grant of application for a first renewal of provisional certificates

October, 2020 – Grant of application for a second renewal of provisional certificates

July, 2022 – Expiration of second renewal of provisional certificates

December 20, 2023 – Application for a third renewal of provisional certificates

January 19, 2024 – Denial of application for a third renewal of provisional certificates

March 1, 2024 – Formal decision denying the third renewal of provisional certificates

May 29, 2024 – Appeal filed with Board of Examiners

LAW AND ANALYSIS

A Motion to Dismiss filed per N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.5(g) is the functional equivalent of a Motion to Dismiss for Failure to State a Claim filed in civil court per R. 4:6-2(e). Graves v. State Operated Sch. Dist. of Newark & Cami Anderson, 2017 N.J. Super. Unpub. LEXIS 2417 (App Div., Sept. 26, 2017). The Court stated the standard for the granting of same:

> When reviewing a Rule 4:6-2(e) motion, a court must determine the adequacy of the pleading and decide whether a cause of action is "suggested" by the facts. Printing Mart-Morristown v. Sharp Elecs. The rules covering the renewal of provisional teaching certificates is N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-8.5, which reads as follows:

> (a) The school district may recommend a provisional teacher for renewal of the teacher's two-year provisional certificate if the candidate has not yet completed the requirements for the standard certificate within the first two years of employment, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:9A-8.7.
> 1. A provisional teacher who meets the criteria at (a) above but is not renewed for employment within the same school district following the two-year provisional certificate may seek and accept, under the same endorsement, a position with another school district, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-8.4(d).

(b) Except as indicated at N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-8.8, 10, and 11[1], a candidate shall meet the following requirements to be eligible for one renewal of a provisional certificate:

1. Hold a CE or CEAS in the endorsement area required for the teaching assignment;

2. Be employed or accept an offer of employment in a position that requires an instructional certificate;

3. Complete a district mentoring program;

4. Be enrolled in or have completed a CE educator preparation program, if the candidate has a CE; and

5. Be recommended for renewal by the candidate's principal pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-8.6.

(c) The two-year provisional certificate may be renewed twice for a maximum provisional period of six years if the candidate fulfills the renewal requirements at (b) above and one of the following criteria:

1. Holds a CE with a teacher of students with disabilities endorsement, or a CE with a bilingual/bicultural endorsement, and a CE with an endorsement appropriate to the subject or grade level to be taught; or holds a CE with an English as a second language endorsement. The duration of the CE educator preparation program and required coursework for the endorsement(s) also extends beyond the four-year provisional period; or

2. Does not receive from the school district, by July 31 of the fourth year, the annual summative rating as required for a standard certificate, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-8.4.

[1] None of which apply in this instance.

> (d) A candidate issued a temporary instructional certificate, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-8.10, shall not be eligible for a renewal of a temporary provisional certificate in the specific endorsement area issued pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-8.4(f)

It should also be noted that per N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-8.4(c):

> A provisional certificate shall last a maximum of two school years and shall expire on July 31 of the second year regardless of issuance date.

MARCH 1, 2024 ORDER

On or about December 20, 2023, more than a year following the expiration of his second two-year extension in July, 2022, Mr. Burge applied for another renewal of his provisional certificates. This application was considered by the Board during its meeting of January 19, 2024 and was formally denied by Order dated March 1, 2024. In that Order, the Board cited the relevant administrative code provisions and noted that the Office of Certification's records reflect the following summative ratings;

- 2016-2017 school year: Partially Effective
- 2017-2018 school year: Effective
- 2018-2019 school year: Ineffective
- 2019-2020 school year: Partially Effective
- 2020-2021 school year: Ineffective

The Board noted his two prior provisional certificate renewals (in August, 2018 and October, 2020), with a full certificate not being granted given his failure "to earn a second effective or highly effective rating" in the relevant time period.

The substance of the Order reads as follows;

> While Burge does not address his ratings directly in his submission, he included his effective rating from Camden for the 2017-2018 school year as well as favorable observations and evaluations as an adjunct professor at Essex County College, Kean University, and the City University of New York. As the observations and evaluations as an adjunct professor do not constitute formal ratings as a K-12 public school setting, the Board cannot consider them to meet the regulatory requirement in N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-8.6(b). Furthermore, the Board notes that Burge has exceeded the limitation of two renewals of his provisional certificates set forth in N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-8.5(c).
>
> As Burge only earned one effective rating during his five years of teaching in public schools and has already been given two renewals of his provisional certificates which gave him sufficient time to earn the required ratings, the Board will not grant Burge an additional renewal of his provisional Teacher of Social Studies and TOSD certificates.

As detailed above, Mr. Burge has already been granted two renewals of his provisional certificate, which, per N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-8.5, is the maximum permitted by law. Further, his provisional certificate has covered six school years (2016-17, 2017-18, 2018-19, 2019-20, 2020-21 and 2021-22), also the maximum permitted by the Code.

While there is little relevant law concerning this issue, it was addressed in Cash v. New Jersey Dept. of Educ.; OAL Dkt. No. EDU 01325-23 (Initial Decision, July 18, 2023), aff'd. Comm'r, 2023 N.J. Agen. LEXIS 422 (Aug. 22, 2023). In Cash, the appellant alleged that he was misinformed by his district employer regarding the necessity for completing various requirements to obtain full certification under the alternate route program. His initial provisional certification was issued in August, 2018. After being granted an initial extension through August, 2022, his application for a second extension was denied by the Board the following month.

The Court found that despite Mr. Cash's accomplishments and the fact that he had completed many of the requirements to obtain a full certificate, he simply did not meet the requirements for a second extension. It was noted that neither the judge nor the Board "have the discretion to consider the totality of the circumstances to extend/renew his status." Id. at 5. This decision was affirmed by the Commissioner in Cash v. New Jersey Dept. of Educ., 2023 N.J. Agen. LEXIS 422 (Aug. 22, 2023). See also Finlay v. New Jersey Dept. of Educ., OAL Dkt. No. EDU 09353-23 (Initial Decision, Apr. 9, 2024), aff'd Comm'r, 2024 N.J. Agen. LEXIS 226 (May 15, 2024).

In his appeal to the Board, Mr. Burge advises that he "did not disclose the direct affect and reasons for the ineffective and partial effective evaluation ratings" that he received. Those included a divorce and a child custody dispute, evidence of which he has supplied. These issues "directly affected (his) attendance as well as evaluations, reviews, and meetings." He also claimed to have been unable to access "any former records", except, perhaps not coincidentally, the only "effective" summative review rating he received.

Finally, he argues that since 2021, he has "gained valuable teaching knowledge...in an urban setting" and the outside stressors in his life have eased. He truly believes that if given the opportunity, he would "only receive effective ratings", which would allow him "to continue teaching and serving communities of need."

Here however, the factual scenario facing Mr. Burge is even less favorable than that facing appellant in Cash. Whether he was qualified for the second extension or not, Mr. Cash at least had a viable administrative pathway to obtain it. Here, similar to the appellant in Finlay, Mr. Burge has already exhausted all of the options afforded by the Code. I agree with respondent's counsel that given the limitations on the number and duration of the extensions, even if Mr. Burge had demonstrated good cause for an extension (and, frankly, he has not), as noted in Cash, there is "(no) discretion to consider the totality of the circumstances to extend/review his status."

Given the above, I FIND that Mr. Burge is ineligible for a third extension of his provisional certificate. Ultimately, I CONCLUDE that given the respondent's decision to deny appellant's request for the third extension was appropriate and that no facts have been presented to demonstrate that it was unreasonable, arbitrary or capricious or that it was inconsistent with the applicable statutory and regulatory provisions. ORDER

Based on the foregoing, it is hereby ORDERED that respondent's Motion to Dismiss be and is hereby GRANTED and;

It is further ORDERED that Mr. Burge's appeal be and is hereby DISMISSED.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

New Jersey Commissioner of Education

Final Decision

Board of Education of the Borough of Bloomsbury, Hunterdon County, Petitioner,

v.

Board of Education of the Town of Phillipsburg, Warren County,

Respondent.

In this matter, petitioner Bloomsbury Board of Education (Bloomsbury) filed a petition seeking a severance of its sending-receiving relationship with respondent Phillipsburg Board of Education (Phillipsburg), which provides for Bloomsbury's high school students to be educated at Phillipsburg High School. Bloomsbury proposes to enter a sending-receiving relationship with the North Hunterdon-Voorhees Regional High School District Board of Education (North Hunterdon-Voorhees) to send its high school students to North Hunterdon High School.

After the matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law as a contested case, Phillipsburg withdrew its opposition to the request for severance of the sending-receiving relationship and the formation of a new sending-receiving relationship with North Hunterdon-Voorhees. Accordingly, the file was returned to the Commissioner so that it could proceed as an uncontested case, in compliance with the procedural requirements set forth in N.J.A.C. 6A:3-6.1.

The Legislature has bestowed upon school districts lacking high school facilities of their own, such as Bloomsbury, the power to decide how and where their students should be educated. Bd. of Educ. of Ho-Ho-Kus v. Bd. of Educ. of Midland Park, 96 N.J.A.R.2d(EDU) 964 (1996). To that end, N.J.S.A. 18A:38-11 permits the affected board of education to designate a high school or high schools for its pupils to attend on a tuition basis. Once a sending district makes the decision to educate its students in another district, it must obtain approval from the Commissioner to terminate or otherwise modify the sending-receiving relationship. N.J.S.A. 18A:38-11.

The modification of an existing sending-receiving relationship is governed by N.J.S.A. 18A:38-13, which provides, in pertinent part:

> The commissioner shall make equitable determinations based upon consideration of all the circumstances, including the educational and financial implications for the affected districts, the impact on the quality of education received by pupils, and the effect on the racial composition of the pupil population of the districts. The commissioner shall grant the requested change in designation or allocation if no substantial negative impact will result therefrom.

Thus, in ruling on an application for modification, the Commissioner must evaluate whether granting the requested modification will have a "substantial negative impact" upon 1) the quality of education, 2) the financial condition, or 3) the racial composition of the pupil populations of the districts involved. If, upon consideration of all the circumstances, no substantial negative impact is found, the application must be granted. Bd. of Educ. of Englewood Cliffs v. Bd. of Educ. of Englewood, 257 N.J. Super. 413, 459 (App. Div. 1992), aff'd, 132 N.J. 327 (1993).

Bloomsbury obtained a feasibility study in October 2022 and a supplemental expert report in November 2023 to thoroughly address the requisite statutory criteria. The detailed reports include analysis of the involved districts' demographics, historical enrollment trends, projected future enrollment, enrollment by race, curricula, course offerings, educational programs, facilities, building capacity, student outcomes, budgets, state aid, tax implications, debt, tuition rates, and more. Citing the feasibility study, expert report, and relevant case law, Bloomsbury contends that severance of the sending-receiving relationship with Phillipsburg will not cause a substantial negative impact on the quality of education, the financial condition, or the racial composition of the districts involved.

The Commissioner received numerous public comments regarding the proposed severance from parents, educators, Bloomsbury Board of Education members, and others from the community. Twenty commenters strongly support the proposed severance for similar reasons, including that North Hunterdon-Voorhees offers an expanded range of quality educational opportunities, three rigorous Academy programs where students can earn college credit, and a new Polytech facility opening in September 2025. They emphasize that, when compared to Phillipsburg, North Hunterdon-Voorhees students have a superior four-year graduation rate, higher SAT/ACT scores, increased enrollment in AP and IB courses, and more individualized placement opportunities for special education students.

As a practical matter, the commenters in support of the severance note that Bloomsbury students will attend high school in the same county where they attend elementary school, and where they often participate in sports and other extracurricular activities. Additionally, they explain that because Bloomsbury is a small community of approximately 800 residents with just one school for grades K-8, Bloomsbury students can feel lost at Phillipsburg High School (one of the largest in New Jersey) because most Phillipsburg students already know each other. They feel that attending North Hunterdon-Voorhees would be advantageous because, as a regional school district, it has a proven record of integrating a diverse group of students from 12 small towns and creates a more inclusive and supportive environment for incoming students.

The commenters in support of the severance also express that Bloomsbury would achieve immediate cost savings in tuition because North Hunterdon-Voorhees has agreed to a reduced tuition rate for four years. They believe this will ease the financial burden on taxpayers while increasing property values. Furthermore, they note that North Hunterdon-Voorhees is amenable to exploring regionalization if the petition is granted, which would afford Bloomsbury even greater financial stability. Currently, Phillipsburg's unpredictable tuition increases force reductions in Bloomsbury's K-8 school budget and have even resulted in consolidation of certain grade levels at their elementary school.

While none of the commenters expressly opposed the severance, one commenter is disappointed that Bloomsbury students might not attend Phillipsburg High School in the future. Her children currently attend Bloomsbury Elementary School via the Interdistrict Public School Choice Program (Choice Program). As a resident of Phillipsburg, she intends to have her children attend Phillipsburg High School. If the severance is granted, then her children will be separated from their peers. However, she would be less apprehensive about the severance if North Hunterdon-Voorhees would consider accepting similarly situated students via the Choice Program so that all children educated at Bloomsbury Elementary School can remain with their peers during high school.

Upon a comprehensive review of the record in this matter including the public comments, the feasibility study, expert report, and the parties' submissions, the Commissioner agrees that severance of the sending-receiving relationship will not have a substantial negative impact on the quality of education, the financial condition, or the racial composition in Bloomsbury, Phillipsburg, or North Hunterdon-Voorhees. Of note, Phillipsburg has decided not to challenge the severance, and North Hunterdon-Voorhees fully supports the creation of a new sending-receiving relationship with Bloomsbury.

Regarding the quality of education in the districts, Phillipsburg will not suffer a substantial negative educational impact. Bloomsbury's approximately 28 students who attend Phillipsburg each year represent 1.6% of Phillipsburg High School's student population, or 7 students per grade from graduating classes of over 400 students each.[1] Thus, the removal of Bloombsury students from Phillipsburg High School will have little to no impact on course offerings, sports, or other extracurricular programs offered to Phillipsburg students. Moreover, the addition of Bloomsbury students will not result in a substantial negative educational impact to North Hunterdon High School. Because the number of Bloomsbury students is so small when compared to the average total student population of over 1400 students, the impact on class size will be minimal, and it is unlikely that North Hunterdon-Voorhees will need to hire additional staff.[2] Finally, Bloomsbury students will benefit from the additional quality educational opportunities available in North Hunterdon-Voorhees.

Regarding the financial impact to the districts, Phillipsburg's lost tuition revenue is small when compared to the size of its annual budget and annual tax levy. Specifically, Phillipsburg's lost tuition revenue of approximately $79,000 annually during the four-year phase-out of Bloomsbury students represents only 0.6% of Phillipsburg's $12.7 million tax levy and 0.08% of Phillipsburg's annual budget of $100 million. Thus, while some negative financial impact will occur if the severance is granted, it will not be substantial. As for the financial impact on Bloomsbury, any additional tuition costs will not result in a substantial negative impact. Moreover, the parties have agreed upon a reduced tuition rate for four years—which is less than Phillipsburg's tuition rate and will result in a cost savings of approximately $1800 per student for Bloomsbury during that time period. Finally, North Hunterdon-Voorhees will benefit financially upon receiving tuition revenue for Bloomsbury students.

[1] Between the 2017-18 and 2022-2023 school years, Bloomsbury sent an average of 21.67 white students and 6.67 non-white students (28.33 students in total) to Phillipsburg High School each year, comprising 1.7% of the average total student body of 1721.

[2] Between the 2017-2018 and 2022-2023 school years, North Hunterdon High School had an average student population of 1406.

Regarding the impact upon the districts' racial composition, Bloomsbury Elementary School, Phillipsburg High School, and North Hunterdon High School are all majority-white schools. The number of white students has declined at both high schools within the past six years.[3] In 2017-2018, 1059 of 1619 students enrolled at Phillipsburg High School, or about 65%, were white. By 2022-2023, the number of white students decreased to 921 of 1775 students, or about 52%. As for North Hunterdon High School, in 2017-2018, 1376 of 1608 students enrolled, or about 86%, were white. By 2022-2023, the number of white students decreased to 979 of 1217 students, or about 80%.

On average, between 2017-2018 and 2022-2023, Bloomsbury sent 22 white students and 7 non-white students[4] (75.86% white, 24.14% non-white) to Phillipsburg. Comparatively,

[3] This decline is consistent with the changing demographics in the areas served by each school district.
[4] The Commissioner notes that these figures, and the percentages that follow in this paragraph and the next, are different than those presented in Bloomsbury's submissions due to the manner in which Bloomsbury rounded average figures. For purposes of clarity, the Commissioner has used only whole numbers of students in the portion of this decision addressing racial impact, and the percentages have Phillipsburg had an average student population of 1721, with 1021 white students and 700 non-white students (59.33% white, 40.67% non-white). Using these figures, the removal of Bloomsbury students from Phillipsburg High School would result in an average increase in Phillipsburg's non-white population from 40.67% to 40.96%, a difference of 0.29%.[5] This is not a substantial change, and because students will be removed one grade at a time, the year-to-year impact will be reduced. From a statistical perspective, the removal of so few students from such a large student population will not have a substantial negative impact on the racial composition of Phillipsburg High School. Phillipsburg High School students will continue to be educated in a diverse environment.

Similarly, the enrollment of Bloomsbury students at North Hunterdon High School will not have a substantial negative impact on the school's racial composition. Between 2017-2018 and 2022-2023, North Hunterdon had an average student population of 1406, with 1167 white students and 239 non-white students (83.00% white, 17.00% non-white). Using these figures, the addition of Bloomsbury students would result in an average increase in North Hunterdon's non-white population from 17.00% to 17.14%, a difference of 0.14%.[6] This is not a substantial change. From a statistical perspective, the addition of so few students to a large student population will not have a substantial negative impact on the racial composition of been recalculated accordingly; the very slight differences in percentages are not consequential to the analysis.

[5] This calculation reflects a total student population of 1692 (1721 minus 29) and a non-white population of 693 (700 minus 7).

[6] This calculation reflects a total student population of 1435 (1406 plus 29) and a non-white population of 246 (239 plus 7).

North Hunterdon High School. North Hunterdon High School students will continue to be educated in a diverse environment.

That said, statistical changes alone are not dispositive of whether a significant negative impact will result from severance. The Commissioner must analyze the significance of those statistical changes in light of all relevant circumstances, mindful that "there is no substitute for the educational benefits afforded by the opportunities for interaction both in and out of the classroom where the student population is diverse." Bd. of Educ. of Merchantville v. Bd. of Educ. of Pennsauken, State Bd. of Educ. Decision at 7, 15 (Jan. 7, 1998). Thus, the impact of the severance upon Bloomsbury students—who will, if the severance is granted, attend a high school with a student population that is not as diverse as that of Phillipsburg High School—must be considered.

For instance, in Merchantville, the State Board rejected Merchantville's request to terminate its sending-receiving relationship with Pennsauken and to establish a new relationship with Haddonfield "where the statistical change in the racial composition of the current receiver" was not significant, but Pennsauken was diverse, Haddonfield was "almost exclusively white," and Merchantville was "predominantly white." Id. at 2, 14-15. The State Board concluded that severance in favor of a new sending-receiving relationship with Haddonfield would cause a "substantial negative impact" by depriving Merchantville students of "the educational benefits afforded by the opportunities for interaction both in and out of the classroom where the student population is diverse." Id. at 15.

However, in Board of Education of the Township of Winfield v. Board of Education of the City of Rahway, the Commissioner granted Winfield's request to terminate its sending-receiving relationship with Rahway and to enter a new sending-receiving relationship with Kenilworth even though Kenilworth's high school was somewhat less diverse than Rahway's high school. Bd. of Educ. of Winfield v. Bd. of Educ. of Rahway, OAL Dkt. No. EDU 7138-98, Initial Decision (Jan. 18, 2000), adopted, Commissioner Decision No. 7600 (March 2, 2000). At the time, Winfield was a predominantly white community with about 1600 residents; the percentage of non-white students attending Rahway High School was approximately 55%, and the percentage of non-white students attending David Brearly High School in Kenilworth was approximately 20%. The Commissioner agreed with the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) that the circumstances in Winfield differed from Merchantville in that Kenilworth was "diverse, just not as diverse as the current receiving district. In Merchantville, the proposed receiving district was not at all diverse." Winfield, Initial Decision at 30. Accordingly, the ALJ in Winfield held, and the Commissioner concurred, that because "the new receiving district is also diverse (and apparently more diverse than the Winfield community)," there would be "no substantial negative impact on the quality of the education of the Winfield students" if the severance was granted. Id. at 31.

As was true in Winfield, if a new sending-receiving relationship is established between Bloomsbury and North Hunterdon-Voorhees, Bloomsbury students will continue to be educated in a diverse environment, albeit a less diverse environment than Phillipsburg High School. On average between 2017-2018 and 2022-2023, Phillipsburg High School had a 40% non-white student population and North Hunterdon High School had a 17% non-white student population. However, the percentage of non-white students at North Hunterdon High School increased each year during that timeframe; by 2022-2023, the non-white population at North Hunterdon High School had increased to almost 20%.[7] Although the severance of its relationship with Phillipsburg will result in some negative impact to Bloomsbury students, the Commissioner does not find it to be a substantial negative impact. Diversity at North Hunterdon High School is expected to continue to increase in the coming years. Furthermore, the record does not contain evidence of the aggravating circumstances at issue in Englewood Cliffs, such as a trend of rapidly declining white enrollment in Phillipsburg, projected symbolic loss, or a high percentage of projected change in the gross white student population upon severance.

Absent a showing of substantial negative impact on the quality of education, the financial condition, or the racial composition of the districts involved, the Commissioner is required to grant the requested severance. Accordingly, Bloomsbury's application for severance of its sending-receiving relationship with Phillipsburg is hereby granted, subject to its entering into a new sending-receiving relationship with North Hunterdon-Voorhees for a minimum duration of five years.

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

On September 30, 2024, M.R., a Kingsway Regional High School student, posted a comment to Snapchat that the Board of Education (BOE) perceived as a threat. All mental health professionals determined that M.R. was not a threat then or now to the school community. Can the BOE suspend M.R. until the end of the school year? No. A BOE's decision cannot be upset unless "patently arbitrary, without rational basis or induced by improper motives." Kopera v. W. Orange Bd. Of Educ., 60 N.J. Super. 288, 294 (App. Div. 1960).

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On October 1, 2024, Farid Syed, Assistant Principal of Kingsway School District (Kingsway), sent a notice to D.R. and S.R., the parents of M.R., advising them that M.R. was suspended from school from October 1, 2024, through October 17, 2024, for violations of Kingsway disciplinary code: "Jeopardizing the Safety of Others/Hazardous, Reckless, or Physically Dangerous Conduct, Unauthorized Social Media Posting/Inappropriate Use of Technology-Including but not limited to images taken within the school." (P-C.) On October 2, 2024, Stefanie M. Fox-Manno, Principal of Kingsway, sent M.R.'s parents a letter reiterating M.R.'s suspension and informed them that M.R. was not permitted on school property or permitted to attend any school-related function (home or away) and about the coordination of schoolwork during the suspension. (P-D.) The letter further stated, "Re-entry to school will be dependent upon a psychiatric evaluation which will be coordinated by the building assistant principal." (P-D.) By letter dated October 4, 2024, Dr. James Lavender, Superintendent, advised M.R.'s parents that a hearing before the BOE was scheduled for November 21, 2024, to determine whether a long-term suspension of M.R. was warranted. On October 16, 2024, Lavender sent a revised letter, rescheduling the hearing before the BOE to October 17, 2024, and citing the following three infractions of the Student Code of Conduct, which amounted to a twenty-day suspension:

- Tier IV. D-Unauthorized Social Media/Inappropriate Use of Technology: Four (4) days OSS.
- Tier III. B-Jeopardizing Safety of Others/Hazardous (Heightened Response): Eight (8) days OSS.

- Tier IV. L-Terroristic Threat (written, verbal, or electronic): Eight (8) days OSS.

In the interim, M.R. continued to be suspended.

The disciplinary hearing was held on October 17, 2024. On October 21, 2024, Lavender sent M.R.'s parents a letter sustaining the charges and imposing an out-of-school suspension for the remainder of the 2024–2025 school year. (P-H.) During the November 21, 2024, BOE meeting, the BOE voted to continue M.R.'s suspension for the remainder of the school year. (P-M.)

On November 27, 2024, M.R.'s parents, on behalf of M.R., filed a petition of appeal and a motion for emergent relief with the Office of Controversies and Disputes of the New Jersey Department of Education (DOE). On November 29, 2024, without a response from the BOE, the petition of appeal and motion for emergent relief were transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) under N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6(c)(3), where they were filed as a contested case under N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15; N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13. On December 2, 2024, the BOE emailed its response to the petitioners' request for emergent relief. The appeal and motion for emergent relief were heard on December 3, 2024, and I closed the record.

FINDINGS OF FACT

Based on the arguments of the parties, together with the documents the parties submitted and my evaluation of their sufficiency, I FIND the following as FACT:

M.R. is a rising senior at the Kingsway Regional High School, a ninth- through twelfth-grade school. M.R. has attended the school since the ninth grade. M.R. was an outstanding softball player and aspired to apply to and attend a four-year university in 2025. During the summer of 2024, M.R. fractured her leg and was unable to walk for seven weeks. M.R.'s injury has taken a toll on her mental health and physical well-being. Until the incident of September 30, 2024, M.R. had maintained a 4.0-grade point average, was a member of the National Honor Society and World Language Honor Society, was a student ambassador, enrolled in numerous Advanced Placement and Honors courses, and had no disciplinary history. (P-A.)

In the late evening of September 30, 2024, using her phone, M.R. sent a post on Snapchat that stated, "Everyone shut the fuck up abt [sic] applying to colleges before I shoot up the school" on her "private story." A private story on Snapchat is only viewable by a select group of friends selected by the account holder. Friends not chosen to view private stories do not receive any notification of posts.

Snapchat flagged the message and sent it to the Federal Bureau of Investigation. The local police department of East Greenwich was notified and dispatched to M.R.'s home. Before entering the home, the police department confirmed that no one at the home was a registered gun owner and that there were no firearms in the house. The police formally interviewed M.R. at the police station. M.R. said the posting was a "joke" and was remorseful for posting it. After the questioning, the police drove M.R. and her father back home. (R-2.) M.R. and her father were told that the school had been made aware of the post and that Lavender had advised that M.R. was prohibited from attending school the next day. (R-2.) No criminal charges were filed against M.R., who was instead enrolled in a Stationhouse Adjustment program.[1]

On Tuesday, October 1, 2024, at 1:42 a.m., after law enforcement advised him of the post, Lavender emailed the Kingsway community, reassuring them of the safety of the school and the community. Lavender went on to state that law enforcement ensured that the campus was secure and that there was no credible ongoing threat to the schools. The school opened the following day under regular schedules. (P-B.) Kingsway did not present evidence that anyone in the school community had seen the post.

[1] A stationhouse adjustment is an alternative method a law enforcement agency may use to handle first-time juvenile offenders who have committed minor juvenile delinquency offenses within their jurisdiction. The stationhouse adjustment program intends to provide immediate consequences, such as community service or restitution, and a prompt and convenient resolution for the victim while also benefitting the juvenile by avoiding the stigma of a formal juvenile delinquency record. See Attorney General Guidelines – Stationhouse Adjustment (2005).

On October 1, 2024, Fox-Manno called M.R.'s mother to advise her of the code of conduct violations based on the Snapchat post. She was informed that this would be a long-term suspension with at least twelve days out of school. (R-3.)

On October 3, 2024, Lavender called M.R.'s father to advise him of the code of conduct violations and to inform him that a formal letter with more specific details regarding M.R.'s rights would be forthcoming. (R-3.) The letter, dated October 4, 2024, also required M.R. to submit to a psychiatric evaluation by a psychiatrist selected by the school and that there would be a BOE meeting on November 21, 2024. (P-E.)

On October 16, 2024, Lavender sent a revised letter to Mark Zitomer, Esq., petitioner's counsel, revising the date of the BOE hearing to October 17, 2024, and outlining the Code of Conduct charges assessed against M.R. as follows, suspending her for a total of twenty days:

- Tier IV. D-Unauthorized Social Media/Inappropriate Use of Technology: Four (4) days OSS.
- Tier III. B-Jeopardizing Safety of Others/Hazardous (Heightened Response): Eight (8) days OSS
- Tier IV. L-Terroristic Threat (written, verbal, or electronic): Eight (8) days OSS.

(P-E; R-5.)

On October 9, 2024, M.R. was evaluated by the school-appointed psychiatrist, Dr. Thomas O'Reilly, who cleared M.R. to return to school. In his report, Dr. O'Reilly diagnosed M.R. with adjustment disorder with depressed mood and opined that M.R. "is not at imminent risk of harm to self or others, and I am clearing her to return to an on-grounds educational setting, pending administrative review." M.R. also met with a private therapist and has continued to do so every week since October 23, 2024. A November 3, 2024, report from the private therapist reports that M.R. presents "no suicidal or homicidal ideations, no plan, and no intent to harm herself or others." However, the private therapist noted that M.R. is significantly distressed about falling behind on schoolwork because of limited access to support and/or resources and finds it challenging to learn the course material through home instruction. (P-K.) A December 2, 2024, report from M.R.'s therapist notes that M.R. expressed isolation and "difficulty maintaining her high standard of grades that accompanies her current at-home learning." (P-O.)

On November 18, 2024, Detective Sergeant Daniel Abate of the East Greenwich Township Police Department sent M.R.'s father an email documenting her successful completion of the Stationhouse Adjustment program and advising him that no criminal charges would be filed and the case would be closed. (P-J.) In addition, Jacob Rodriguez, Counselor, Center for Family Services, also part of the Stationhouse Adjustment program, wrote a letter documenting M.R.'s successful completion of the program and recommending her return to school. (P-K.)

On October 17, 2024, a disciplinary hearing was held before the BOE and summarized in a letter dated October 21, 2024, by Lavender. It was not until October 17, 2024, that M.R., for the first time, addressed the BOE or anyone else at the school to tell her story in her own words. In her statement to the BOE, she expressed sincere remorse for her actions and the toll the suspension is taking on her academic progress and mental health. (P-I.) Fox-Manno spoke on behalf of the school district and acknowledged that M.R. had been an "excellent student with no prior disciplinary" history before this incident. Fox-Manno also spoke about another threat against Kingsway on social media that had occurred on September 8, 2024, as well as several other social media posts in the area threatening a school shooting in an "attempt to cause panic and disrupt the school." No other school community member spoke, nor were any specific complaints from the school community introduced into the record that evidenced that M.R.'s Snapchat post materially and substantially interfered with the school operations. (P-H.) Lavender's letter relayed the BOE's decision to continue M.R.'s long-term suspension through the next BOE meeting on November 21, 2024, when the BOE would re-evaluate. (P-H.)

By letter dated November 22, 2024, Lavender advised that the BOE voted to continue M.R.'s long-term suspension through the remainder of the academic year. In the letter, Lavender wrote about the psychological impact of "such threats" on the school community and indicated they can cause "persistent anxiety, fear, and stress for those involved." Lavender referenced unspecified "studies" and an article from Psychology

Today and the Center for Violence Prevention to justify continuing M.R.'s long-term suspension. At the hearing, no one from the board or the district presented any evidence that the impact of "such threats" caused any "anxiety, fear, or stress" to anyone. Indeed, no evidence was presented from anyone in the school community, including any student, employee of the school, parent, or community member who either saw M.R.'s post or was profoundly affected by the post.

CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

When the subject matter of a controversy is an action by a board of education, the petitioner may file "a separate motion for emergent relief . . . pending the Commissioner's final decision in the contested case." N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6(a). Here, M.R. has initiated due-process proceedings challenging her long-term suspension, denying her request to return to school.

The standards for granting emergent relief are outlined in Crowe v. DeGioia, 90 N.J. 126 (1982), and are codified at N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6(b). The petitioner bears the burden of proving all four prongs of the Crowe test stated below:

1. Petitioner will suffer irreparable harm if the requested relief is not granted;

2. The legal right underlying the petitioner's claim is settled;

3. Petitioner has a likelihood of prevailing on the merits of the underlying claim; and

4. When the equities and the interests of the parties are balanced, the petitioner will suffer greater harm than the respondent will suffer if the requested relief is not granted.

1. Irreparable harm

As the New Jersey Supreme Court explained in Crowe, "[o]ne principle is that a preliminary injunction should not issue except when necessary to prevent irreparable harm." Crowe, 90 N.J. at 132 (citing Citizens Coach Co. v. Camden Horse R.R. Co., 29 N.J. Eq. 299, 303 (E. & A. 1878)). Indeed, the purpose of emergent relief is to "prevent some threatening, irreparable mischief, which should be averted until opportunity is afforded for a full and deliberate investigation of the case." Ibid. (quoting Thompson ex rel. Bd. of Chosen Freeholders v. Paterson, 9 N.J. Eq. 624, 625 (Sup. Ct. 1854).)

"Irreparable harm is shown when money damages cannot adequately compensate plaintiff's injuries." Hornstine v. Twp. of Moorestown, 263 F. Supp. 2d 887, 911 (D.N.J. 2003) (citing Sampson v. Murray, 415 U.S. 61, 90 (1974)). "More than a risk of irreparable harm must be demonstrated." Cont'l Grp., Inc. v. Amoco Chemicals Corp., 614 F.2d 351, 359 (3d Cir. 1980). "The requisite for injunctive relief has been characterized as a 'clear showing of immediate irreparable injury' . . . or a 'presently existing actual threat; [an injunction] may not be used simply to eliminate a possibility of a remote future injury, or a future invasion of rights, be those rights protected by statute or by the common law.'" Ibid. (citations omitted).

In K.C. and S.C. o/b/o minor child, K.C. v. Board of Education of the Borough of Englewood Cliffs, Bergen Co., EDU 01883-11 (Mar 2, 2011), adopted, Commissioner Decision 117E (Mar 18, 2011), the Commissioner ruled that the student's inability to attend school during the remainder of the school year constituted irreparable harm.

Concerning the first prong, M.R. will suffer irreparable harm if the requested relief is not granted. M.R.'s continued suspension is significantly impacting her academic success and mental health. Significantly, M.R. is a senior, and her hopes of attending a four-year college or university in 2025 diminish with every day she remains out of the school environment. The harm caused by learning at home without the resources available to her in school is immeasurable. Not only is M.R. deprived of academic support, but given that she is a senior and applying to colleges and universities, she is also deprived of the assistance she would receive from school counselors. M.R.'s therapist has further indicated that she is suffering due to the isolation she is experiencing and would benefit from an in-school instruction environment in which she has excelled in the past. The instruction that M.R. receives at home is not equivalent to what she receives in school, and her grades demonstrate that. In this instance, since M.R. is a senior, the failure to immediately reinstate her on an emergent basis would result in irreparable harm since the school year will likely be over by the time a due process hearing is held and a final decision by the Commissioner is issued.

Accordingly, I CONCLUDE that the petitioners have met their burden of proof concerning this prong.

2. Settled Legal Right

N.J.S.A. 18A:37-2 grants a local board of education authority to impose discipline, including suspension and expulsion, upon any willfully disobedient student. However, a local board of education's discretionary authority is only entitled to a presumption of correctness and should not be disturbed unless there is an affirmative showing that the decision was "patently arbitrary, without rational basis or induced by improper motives." Kopera v. W. Orange Bd. Of Educ., 60 N.J. Super. 288, 294 (App. Div. 1960).

In this case, the Kingsway 2024–2025 Student Handbook outlines the various charges by tier and corresponding discipline, including the number of suspension days for violating the stated charge. The handbook typically contemplates a student's return to school after serving the corresponding suspension time. M.R. was charged with:

- Tier IV. D-Unauthorized Social Media/Inappropriate Use of Technology: Four (4) days OSS.
- Tier III. B-Jeopardizing Safety of Others/Hazardous (Heightened Response): Eight (8) days OSS
- Tier IV. L-Terroristic Threat (written, verbal, or electronic): Eight (8) days OSS.

(P-F.)

According to the disciplinary code, M.R. has already served a maximum of twenty out-of-school suspension days for all three violations. The code further states that all three of the violations that M.R. was charged with include, "Date of Return to School May Be Contingent Upon Safety Evaluation and/or Psychological Evaluation and Will Result in One (1) to Three (3) Mandatory Counseling Sessions." Here, not only did the school-appointed psychiatrist recommend M.R.'s return to school, but M.R.'s private therapist and counselor from the Stationhouse Adjustment program also recommended her return to school. M.R. successfully completed the Stationhouse Adjustment program, and she was not criminally charged. Meanwhile, the BOE's justification in its October 21 and November 22 letters to extend M.R.'s suspension to the end of the school year failed to comply with the Kingsway Student Handbook or consider the recommendations of the professionals that are in a position to evaluate M.R.'s mental state of mind. Instead, the BOE relies more heavily on other incidents not involving this student, including a similar threat to the Kingsway School District that occurred on September 8th, and on the fear and anxiety that the threat may cause the school community based on articles in a magazine.

The BOE's argument that it has the discretion to impose a more significant penalty than listed in the code is not persuasive. The BOE Regulation 5600 is not applicable in this case. Regulation 5600 pertains to imposing discipline for conduct not listed or included in the code. The charges M.R. was found to have violated are all listed in the code, and no other charges were assessed against her. In addition, although Kingsway argues that the BOE has the discretion to impose a longer suspension when "incidents that cause a disruption," Lavender's notice dated October 1, 2024, indicated the schools would open and operate on a regular schedule. At this moment, M.R. has served almost three times the length of suspension than listed in the code.

Accordingly, I CONCLUDE that the BOE's decision to suspend M.R. through the remainder of the academic school year was arbitrary, capricious, and unreasonable.

3. Likelihood of Success on the Merits

Petitioners have demonstrated that they are likely to succeed on the merits of the underlying claim. Under this emergent relief prong, "a plaintiff must make a preliminary showing of a reasonable probability of ultimate success on the merits." Crowe, 90 N.J. at 133 (citing Ideal Laundry Co. v. Gugliemone, 107 N.J. Eq. 108, 115–16 (E. & A. 1930)). This typically "'involves a prediction of the probable outcome of the case' based on each party's initial proofs, usually limited to documents." Brown v. City of Paterson, 424 N.J. Super. 176, 182–83 (App. Div. 2012) (quoting Rinaldo v. RLR Inv., LLC, 387 N.J. Super. 387, 397 (App. Div. 2006)).

Kingsway's reasons for M.R.'s continued suspension are flawed. School officials cannot expel or suspend a student where the activity that is the subject of the discipline "does not materially and substantially interfere with the requirements of appropriate discipline in the operation of the school . . . ." R.R. v. Shore Reg. H.S. Bd. of Ed., 109 N.J. Super. 337, 343–44 (Ch. Div. 1970). In Scher v. Board of Education of West Orange, Essex County, 1968 S.L.D. 92, the Commissioner ruled that a hearing was required before a student could be expelled and evaluated by a mental health team. Specifically, the Commissioner stated:

> Termination of a pupil's right to attend the public schools of a district is a drastic and desperate remedy which should be employed only when no other course is possible. It involves a momentous decision which members of a board of education, most of whom have had little specific training in education, psychology, or medicine are called upon to make. The board's decision should be grounded, therefore, on competent advice. Such advice can be obtained from its staff of educators, from its school physician and school nurse, from its psychologist, psychiatrist, and school social worker, from its counsel, and from other appropriate sources. . . . It is obvious that a board of education cannot wash its hands of a problem by recourse to expulsion. . . . The Commissioner urges boards of education, therefore, to recognize expulsion as a negative and defeatist kind of last-ditch expedient > resorted to only after and based upon competent professional evaluation and recommendation.

> [Id. at 96–97.]

Here, Kingsway has ignored all of the professionals' recommendations. There has not been one scintilla of evidence that anyone in the school community saw the post, was negatively affected by M.R.'s post, or that the post materially and substantially interfered with school operations.

In addition, disciplined students retain extensive due-process rights. Goss v. Lopez, 419 U.S. 565 (1975). The procedures for a long-term suspension are outlined in N.J.A.C. 6A:16-7.3(a) 1–11 and mandate that the school district include an informal hearing before the suspension, allowing the student to tell their side of the events. M.R. claims that Kingsway violated her due-process rights under N.J.A.C. 6A:16-7.3(a)(2) for failing to provide her with an informal hearing before the initial twelve-day suspension through October 17, 2024.

N.J.A.C. 6A:16-1.3 defines an informal hearing as a discussion between a school administrator and a student during which the student is informed of the alleged misconduct and provided an opportunity to tell their version of the event.

M.R. was suspended on October 1, 2024, and remained suspended until October 17, 2024, when she finally presented her story. Kingsway argues that the telephone conversations Fox-Manno had with M.R.'s mother on October 1, 2024, and Lavender's phone conversation with M.R.'s father on October 3, 2024, are the equivalent of a hearing. Although M.R.'s parents were advised of the charges against M.R. and the BOE claimed that M.R.'s parents accepted M.R.'s responsibility, M.R. never spoke to any school administrator before the start of the suspension. M.R. never got to tell anyone what she felt when she sent the post, why she sent the post, and express remorse in her own words or voice.

Accordingly, I CONCLUDE that petitioners have shown a reasonable probability of ultimate success on the merits.

4. Balancing the Equities

The fourth and final emergent relief standard involves "the relative hardship to the parties in granting or denying relief." Crowe, 90 N.J. at 134 (citing Isolantite Inc. v. United Elect. Radio & Mach. Workers, 130 N.J. Eq. 506, 515 (Ch. 1941), mod. on other grounds, 132 N.J. Eq. 613 (E. & A. 1942)).

The harm M.R. will suffer if she cannot return to school is immeasurable. This is M.R.'s senior year, during which she is trying to prepare and maintain her grades to gain admission to an appropriate university or college. M.R. has already suffered since October since her education at home is not comparable to that at school, and her grades have already deteriorated. M.R. continues to be harmed both academically and mentally. Meanwhile, there was never a real threat to the school community. In fact, Lavender admits this in his October 1, 2024, notice to the school community: "law enforcement assured that the campus was secure and that there was no credible ongoing threat to the schools." The schools opened the following day under regular schedules. The BOE has failed to provide any evidence that any member of the school community was negatively affected by M.R.'s post or that the operation or the school was adversely affected. Accordingly, I CONCLUDE that M.R. will suffer greater harm should emergent relief be denied.

Based upon the above, I CONCLUDE that the petitioners meet the requirements outlined in N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6(b), warranting an order for emergent relief.

ORDER

For the reasons stated above, I hereby ORDER that the petitioners' application for emergent relief is hereby GRANTED.

This Order on application for emergency relief may be adopted, modified or rejected by COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who/which by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. The final decision shall be issued without undue delay, but no later than forty-five days following the entry of this order. If the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION does not adopt, modify or reject this order within forty-five days, this recommended order shall become a final decision on the issue of emergent relief in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Final Decision

J.R., on behalf of minor child, T.R.,

Petitioner,

v.

Board of Education of the Township of Long Hill, Morris County, and Michael Viturello, Principal,

Respondents.

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law have been reviewed and considered. The parties did not file exceptions.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurs with the Administrative Law Judge that neither respondents' determination that T.R. committed an act of harassment, intimidation, and bullying, nor the imposition of a six-day suspension, was arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable, or in violation of T.R.'s First Amendment rights.

Accordingly, the Initial Decision is adopted as the final decision in this matter. The petition of appeal is hereby dismissed.

IT IS SO ORDERED.[1]

BEFORE MARGARET M. MONACO, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Petitioner J.R., on behalf of her son, T.R., challenges the Harassment, Intimidation and Bullying (HIB) determination, and the six-day suspension imposed, by the Township of Long Hill Board of Education (the Board).

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On April 12, 2022, petitioner filed a Petition of Appeal with the Commissioner of Education (the Commissioner) contesting the Board's HIB determination and six-day suspension. On May 2, 2022, respondents filed an Answer to Petition of Appeal, and the Department of Education transmitted the matter to the Office of Administrative Law, where it was filed for determination as a contested case. A prehearing conference was held on June 23, 2022, during which the hearing was scheduled for December 1, 2, and 5, 2022. The hearing was adjourned to afford respondents the opportunity to file a motion for summary decision. Subsequently, the parties filed cross-motions for summary decision, which I denied by Order dated May 2, 2023. The hearing was held on October 18, 2023, and January 16, 2024, after which the record remained open for the receipt of transcripts of the hearing and post-hearing submissions. The parties filed briefs in support of their respective positions, and the record closed upon receipt of the last submission.

FACTUAL DISCUSSION

At the hearing, petitioner offered testimony by T.R. and his mother, J.R. Michael Viturello and Melissa Backer testified on behalf of the Board. In addition, the parties submitted various joint exhibits and a Joint Statement of Undisputed Facts (Stip.).

Based upon a review of the testimony and the documentary evidence presented and having had the opportunity to observe the demeanor and assess the credibility of the witnesses who testified, I FIND the following pertinent FACTS and accept as FACT the testimony set forth below.

During the relevant period, T.R. was an 8th grade student at the District's Central Middle School (CMS). (Stip. at ¶ 1.)

Michael Viturello (Viturello) is the principal of CMS, a position that he has held for seven years.

Melissa Backer (Backer) has been an assistant principal with the District since 2016. She is also the anti-bullying specialist for all three District buildings, including CMS.

On November 10, 2021, a CMS student (Jane)[1] shared a Snapchat with Viturello. (Stip. at ¶ 3.) Jane had initially brought the matter to the attention of the school counselor. The Snapchat thread contained a number of students from CMS, including T.R., making demeaning comments regarding another CMS student (Susan). (Ibid.; see J-7; J-13.) The comments, including those made by T.R., were vulgar in nature and attacked Susan's appearance, weight, and sexual orientation. (Stip. at ¶ 4; see J-7; J-13.) Viturello described that Jane was "very concerned about . . . all the information that was being shared by students [and] comments that were being made about" Susan.

The comments made by T.R., with some minor exceptions, were generally directed at Susan. (Stip. at ¶ 8.) T.R. knew at the time of the conversation that the other participants were also referring to Susan. (Id. at ¶ 9.) Susan was not a direct participant of the November 9, 2021 Snapchat thread. (Id. at ¶ 10.) Some of the other participants who engaged in the conversation were students who, at that time, attended CMS. (Id. at ¶ 11.) The Snapchat thread also included students from other middle schools located in nearby towns outside of the District. (Ibid.)

In the afternoon on November 10, 2021, Viturello contacted Susan's parents. (See J-14 at R148.) The purpose of that contact was to "make them aware . . . that something pretty significant happened outside of school[.]" Viturello spoke to Susan's mother, who was aware that an incident had occurred with comments made about her daughter and was "very concerned[.]" Susan's mother shared that Susan was "very concerned about just the group in general making comments about her, she was very self-conscious, [and] she was anxious about it," including the involvement of many non-District students.

Jane, the witness who initially reported the incident to CMS staff, reported that she was fearful of retaliation by her classmates for informing adults and school staff of the Snapchat thread. (Stip. at ¶ 18.) Jane's parents signed Jane out of school the day after she reported the Snapchat thread to school staff, and Jane remained homeschooled for the remainder of the 2021–2022 school year. (Id. at ¶ 19.) Viturello spoke with Jane's mother, who was "very concerned about the entire situation" and conveyed her intention to withdraw Jane from school due to the Snapchat situation.

On November 11, 2021, Viturello met with all CMS students, including T.R., who had made negative comments about Susan. (See Stip. at ¶ 5; J-14 at R148.) During a meeting with Viturello, T.R. admitted to making all of the statements attributed to him, although he indicated that he did not remember some of them. (Stip. at ¶ 6.)

The CMS "Student Manual and Code of Conduct" sets forth in detail the type of behavior expected of CMS students. (Stip. at ¶ 15; see J-9, page 8.) In September 2021, T.R. was present during a Grade Level Meeting at which Viturello reviewed the CMS "Student Manual and Code of Conduct." (Id. at ¶ 12; see J-9; J-10.) At that Grade Level Meeting, Viturello also explained that the Code of Conduct was available on the school's website for review. (Id. at ¶ 13.) On September 10, 2021, T.R. was sent an e-mail from Viturello that attached a copy of the slide presentation used at the Grade Level Meeting, along with the CMS "Student Manual and Code of Conduct." (See Id. at ¶ 14; J-10.)

Viturello made an initial review of the within matter and determined that T.R. had, at the very least, violated various requirements of Section 2 ("Behavior") of the CMS Code of Conduct in that he failed, without limitation, to: (a) "[m]ake appropriate decisions" and (b) "[c]ommunicate with others in a positive manner without teasing, name calling, or profanity." (Id. at ¶ 16; see J- 9, Sec. 2, page 8; J-4.) Viturello also determined that T.R. had, at the very least, violated various requirements of Section 3 ("Respect") of the Code of Conduct, in that he failed, without limitation, to "[b]e respectful of different cultures, religions, ethnic and racial groups, gender identities and sexual orientations, and physical and mental differences." (Id. at ¶ 17; see J- 9, Sec. 3, page 9; J-4.)

As a result of the conduct, on or about November 11, 2021, Viturello imposed a six-day out-of-school suspension (OSS) to T.R. and other students involved in the Snapchat thread. Viturello also initiated a HIB investigation. (See Stip. at ¶ 7 and ¶ 21; J-2.) On November 11, 2021, Viturello contacted T.R.'s parents regarding the situation.

(See J-4; J-14 at R148.) By letters dated November 12, 2021, Viturello notified T.R.'s parents of the foregoing events, his initial determination, the imposition of the OSS, and the pending HIB investigation. (See Stip. at ¶ 22; J-3; J-4.)

Viturello described that seven District students were involved in the inappropriate Snapchat comments and their comments ranged in frequency and severity. The students who made more frequent or more significant comments were disciplined with greater consequences than those who had less frequent or less significant comments on the Snapchat chain. T.R. received the highest level of discipline (i.e., a six-day OSS) based on his comments. He was not the only student to receive that level of discipline.

On November 12, 2021, T.R.'s mother notified school staff that she was afraid of leaving T.R. alone that morning and that T.R. presented with suicidal ideation in prior years. (Stip. at ¶ 23.) In response, Backer, the school counsellor, and the school social worker made a home visit. School staff conducted a risk assessment and wellness visit of T.R. at his home, and he was cleared to return to school after the evaluation. (Ibid.; see J-14).

The HIB investigation was conducted by Viturello and Backer. (Stip. at ¶ 24.) Backer interviewed Susan the day after the incident was reported. Susan was aware of the substance of the Snapchat, and Susan advised that she became aware of the Snapchat about her from a friend. Backer testified that Susan was "clearly very upset, she was crying, she expressed concern about going to the high school because these students had been previously making fun of her from our District and another district and she was embarrassed." Susan also relayed that "she avoids going to certain areas because she doesn't want to be around" these students. After interviewing Susan, Backer and Viturello interviewed witnesses and the alleged offenders.

Susan was provided with counseling through the District for the remainder of the year. (Stip. at ¶ 20.)

During a meeting with Viturello and Backer on November 15, 2021, T.R.'s parents personally reviewed all of the Snapchat comments made by T.R. for which he received discipline and were the subject of the HIB investigation. (See Stip. at ¶ 25; J-14.)

The HIB investigation was completed on or around November 19, 2021. (Stip. at ¶ 26; see J-1.)[2] Backer concluded that the acts committed by T.R. constituted HIB within the meaning of the Board's Policy and State law. (Id. at ¶ 28; see J-1.) Backer completed an Investigation Report Form in which she checked the boxes finding that T.R.'s behavior met the listed HIB criteria. (J-1 at R013.)

Backer determined that T.R.'s behavior "[i]s reasonably perceived as being motivated either by any actual or perceived characteristic, such as race, color, religion, ancestry, national origin, gender, sexual orientation, gender identity and expression, or a mental, physical or sensory disability, or by any other distinguishing characteristic." (J-1 at R013.) Backer explained that she checked that box "because the content included several perceived characteristics about [Susan's] appearance, and mainly her weight and . . . also . . . her sexuality."

Backer checked the box that the conduct "[t]akes place on school property, at any school-sponsored function, on a school bus, or off school grounds" (J-1 at R013), and stated that the conduct took place off school grounds.

Backer checked the box finding that T.R.'s behavior "[s]ubstantially disrupts or interferes with the orderly operation of the school or the rights of other students[.]" (J-1 at R013.) Backer explained that "based on the comments [T.R.] made, [Susan] was visually very upset about the content that was said about her, . . . [Jane was] signed out of school after sharing the information about the Snapchat and then T.R. himself was in distress" resulting in school staff conducting a risk assessment. In addition, there was an interference with the operation of the school as a whole, and the incident "had a substantial interference with the school day." Backer explained that "there were about 25 students that were involved on the Snapchat, so clearly it was spoken about within the middle school halls"; "[t]here were a lot of students that were interviewed"; and "there were a lot of staff members that were involved in the interview process and the HIB investigation[.]"

Backer checked the box finding that "a reasonable person should know, under the circumstances, [that T.R.'s behavior] will have the effect of physically or emotionally harming a student or damaging the student's property, or placing a student in reasonable fear of physical or emotional harm to his person or damage to his property[.]" (J-1 at R013.) Backer explained, "[m]aking fun of someone's appearance, [and] their sexuality, . . . a normal person would understand that . . . would be hurtful to that person and could cause emotional harm." Backer believed that a reasonable 8th grader would know under the circumstances that the conduct that T.R. admitted to would have the effect of physically or emotionally harming a student. She testified that "a reasonable 8th grade student would be aware that there are negative implications associated with that kind of language," and a "reasonable person would think that using that language with a group of 25 plus students would get back to that student." She noted that the school educates students about the internet, including matters such as the digital footprint, how it follows them, and that anything put on the internet is traceable.

Backer checked the box finding that T.R.'s behavior "has the effect of insulting or demeaning any student or group of students" (J-1 at R013) "[b]ecause the content had to do with [Susan's] physical appearance, weight and also sexuality." During Backer's interview with Susan, Susan relayed that she was insulted or demeaned.

Backer checked the box finding that T.R.'s behavior "creates a hostile educational environment for the student by interfering with a student's education or by severely or pervasively causing physical or emotional harm to the student." (J-1 at R013.) Backer explained that Susan conveyed "that she didn't want to go to the high school where these students were going to be attending."

In the form, Backer also checked the box that the "[a]ggressor's actions determined to be . . . [i]ntentional, but not designed to harass, intimidate, or bully," i.e., "[t]he student knowingly engaged in harassing, intimidating, or bullying behavior but was not aware of the potential negative impact on the target." (J-1 at R013.) Backer testified that "an 8th Grade student is aware that the type of content he engaged in would hurt someone, so the intent, it was hurtful," but she did "not believe that [T.R.] woke up that day and decided he wanted to harass, intimidate or bully the victim." Backer believed that T.R.'s conduct "was intentional as in he knowingly engaged in behavior that he knew was wrong and hurtful, but [she did not] believe that he wanted to harass, bully or intimidate or be involved in an investigation, [and she did not] think he was thinking that through when he was involved." Backer did not believe that T.R. "had an intention of hurting" Susan, and she did not believe that T.R. "was thinking clearly about the ramifications." However, Backer articulated that "a reasonable person would know—should know that . . . type of language would be harmful to somebody."

As Viturello had already imposed a six-day OSS on T.R. for the Code of Conduct violations, Backer recommended additional remedial measures, including meeting with a school counselor, a reflective writing assignment, and an in-home risk assessment supplemented by an additional parent meeting. (Id. at ¶ 29; see J-1 at R014.)

On or around November 19, 2021, Viturello approved the HIB Investigation Report without modification. (Stip. at ¶ 30.) He reviewed the report and agreed Backer's determination that the incident was "Confirmed Bullying." (See J-1 at R013.) Viturello agreed with Backer's determination that the criteria checked on the form had been met. Viturello described that T.R.'s conduct was reasonably perceived as being motivated by the victim's weight and sexuality, and the conduct took place off school grounds.

Viturello agreed with Backer's determination that T.R.'s behavior substantially disrupted and interfered with the orderly operations of the school or the rights of other students. He explained that Susan "was very anxious about the situation, was very impacted, [and] needed multiple counseling sessions[.]" Susan also shared that she was fearful of going to the high school because the incident involved not only Long Hill students but students in surrounding towns. In addition, Jane was "very concerned about retribution" from the students involved in the conduct, and she was signed out of the school in the first few days after the incident. Viturello also spoke with T.R.'s mother, who was concerned about T.R.'s mental health based on his involvement in the incident.

Viturello testified that "there was a great impact to the school in general and many individuals involved." "There was impact on all the students who were suspended and their involvement and also the witnesses," noting that "there were witnesses in the Snapchat that asked for it to stop[.]"

Viturello agreed with Backer's determination that a "reasonable person should know, under the circumstances, [that T.R.'s behavior] will have the effect of physically or emotionally harming" Susan. Viturello described that the District educates students about social media in general, and the dangers of social media, including a 7th grade course called Digital Literacy in which the Library Media Specialist educates students about their digital footprint and the impact they could have on other people. Viturello believed that an 8th grader in the District in the Fall of 2021 would have understood that "when you have a conversation like that, there's a very good chance that it's not going to remain isolated when there's over two dozen people on it." Viturello explained that, although it was Snapchat, there were over two dozen students on it and "knowing middle school students, it's very reasonable to understand that someone's going to share a conversation that was more than one comment." Participants can also screenshot or camera-shot the information posted on Snapchat "so the information travels."

Based on the comments, Viturello agreed with Backer's determination that T.R.'s behavior had the effect of insulting or demeaning Susan. He also agreed with Backer's determination that T.R.'s behavior "creates a hostile educational environment for the student by interfering with a student's education or by severely or pervasively causing physical or emotional harm to the student." Viturello noted that Susan needed counseling, and Jane left the school.

On or around November 22, 2021, Viturello forwarded the HIB Investigation Report to the then Superintendent of Schools, Dr. Anne Mucci. (Stip. at ¶ 30.) On or around November 22, 2021, Dr. Mucci approved the HIB Investigation Report without modification. (Id. at ¶ 31; see J-5.) The parents were notified of Dr. Mucci's decision via letter dated November 22, 2021. (Id. at ¶ 32; see J-5.) That letter also informed the parents of their right to request a hearing before the Board regarding the HIB determination.

The parents, through counsel, requested a Board hearing via e-mail on November 29, 2021. (Stip. at ¶ 33; see J-18.) On or about January 13, 2022, a hearing was held before the Board. (Id. at ¶ 34; see J-17.) At that Board hearing, the Board agreed with the recommendation of the Superintendent and upheld the determination that T.R. had committed an act of HIB. (Id. at ¶ 35; see J-17.) Counsel for petitioner was notified of the Board's decision by letter dated January 19, 2022. (Id. at ¶ 36; see J-17.) That letter (J-17) states in pertinent part:

> For reasons set forth below, the Board affirmed the decision of the Superintendent that [T.R.] committed an act of HIB and that the discipline imposed was not unreasonable.
> The allegations and findings for the HIB complaint are set forth in the investigation report, a copy of which was previously been provided to you. The Board agreed with the findings of the report and affirmed the decision of the Superintendent .... The Board agreed that [T.R.'s] actions met the legal definition of HIB.
>
> Specifically, the Board determined that [T.R.'s] comments made online were clearly targeting a student's perceived characteristics including but not limited to the student's appearance, hygiene, sexuality, mental state/disability and more. While [T.R.] may have thought that his comments would not have been shared with [Susan], such a belief was not reasonable given the vast number of students participating in the chat, including students from other school districts and even counties, many of whom [T.R.] admittedly did not know. Moreover, [Susan] was made aware of the comments, and thus was insulted/demeaned as contemplated by the HIB law.
> The Board also found that there was a substantial disruption to the school environment as well as the rights of multiple students as the contents of the chat were widely shared and discussed in school. Moreover, . . . both [Susan] and [Jane] have been noticeably and severely impacted by [T.R.'s]. individual actions as well as those attributed to the group of students that engaged in the chat along with [T.R.]. Such disruption was more than sufficient to trigger the Board's authority and responsibility to address the electronic communication occurring off school grounds pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15.3, and N.J.A.C. 6A:16-7.5. It must be > noted that the latter regulation grants schools the authority to issue discipline not just based on the aggressor's safety or well-being as you argued at the hearing, but also "for reasons relating to the safety, security and well-being of other students, staff or school grounds," which reasons were clearly implicated in this case.

Petitioner filed a Petition of Appeal dated April 8, 2022, contesting the Board's determination. (See Stip. at ¶ 37; J-11.)

In addition to the evidence that forms the foundation of the aforesaid findings of fact, a summary of other pertinent testimony follows.

The Testimony

T.R. currently attends the same high school as Susan and Jane and described that he is now "friendly" with Susan. T.R. acknowledged that he knew that it was not okay to bully people while in school, but articulated his understanding that the type of acts that would involve bullying were "more in person, like physical things or saying stuff to people's face." He also did not believe that there would be issues with bullying outside of school. T.R. indicated that "20 something people" were in the chat group, including students from surrounding towns, and T.R. agreed that hurtful things were said during the chat group, including comments about Susan's appearance. T.R. articulated his understanding that, when using Snapchat, "we were talking in a private group that no one else could . . . publicly see and that after 24 hours, it automatically deletes the chats." T.R. testified that he thought that what was said would never get back to Susan "because it automatically deletes and it's private," and "in that group . . . there was not really people who were close friends with her[.]"

T.R. described that he was "devastated" and "felt really horrible about what [he] had said" when he found out that it was brought to Susan's attention that derogatory comments had been said about her. T.R. testified that he "wouldn't have ever said anything like that to her face," and he "would have never said anything like that" if he had any thought that it would possibly get back to Susan. T.R. acknowledged that he "never should have done something like that," and he "felt like a horrible person" and "really bad[.]" The incident physically affected him. T.R. alerted his parents that he was feeling terrible and that the incident was affecting him physically. T.R. apologized to Susan a couple of days after he was suspended. (See J-22.) According to T.R., they had a conversation and they continued to have friendly conversations after that. T.R. testified that, based on his discussion with Susan, she did not know what exactly was said about her, Susan asked him to tell her what people were saying, and he declined to do so. T.R.'s parents disciplined T.R. for the incident; the parents took his phone away and grounded him. The parents also limited T.R.'s screen time when he got his phone back, and the parents "would go through [his] phone a lot to make sure nothing else was happening."

T.R. articulated that he felt that the HIB determination was a "misrepresentation" of who he is as a person, and the comments he made then are not a representation of him as an entire person. T.R. testified that he has never said or done anything with the intent of hurting someone and that such actions are not part of his character. T.R. admitted that he deserved to be punished because he said "some horrible things," but did not "think that it was right to say that [he] was bullying." T.R. described that he did not want a letter in his file to affect him in the future regarding a potential college or job.

T.R.'s mother, J.R., confirmed that T.R. was disciplined at home for the incident, which also included making T.R. watch a video on being an upstander and bullying. J.R. acknowledged that T.R.'s comments were "terrible" and "very inappropriate." She did not believe that it was fair that T.R.'s actions have been categorized as bullying because "it gives the perception that he was intentionally cruel, intentionally tried to harm someone . . . or hurt their feelings or make them feel terrible about themselves or intimidate them." T.R. expressed to her that, using Snapchat, he never thought that his comments would ever get back to Susan. J.R. described that the incident impacted T.R. She testified that T.R. "was devasted"; he "cried a lot"; he "felt terrible that it got out and was shared, that [Susan] was aware of it"; and T.R. "thought he was a really terrible person." The six-day OSS "exacerbated the situation" because T.R. had never heard of anyone getting an OSS, and T.R. thought that he was "a really terrible person" and did "something that was so awful to . . . warrant such a punishment." J.R. described her disagreement with the six-day OSS and expressed concern about future employers becoming aware of the HIB determination.

LEGAL DISCUSSION AND CONCLUSIONS

The Legislature enacted the Anti-Bullying Bill of Rights Act, N.J.S.A. 18A:37-13, et seq., (the Act) to promote "a safe and civil environment in school" by preventing "conduct that disrupts both a student's ability to learn and a school's ability to educate its students in a safe environment[.]" N.J.S.A. 18A:37-13. The Act is designed "to strengthen the standards and procedures for preventing, reporting, investigating, and responding to incidents of harassment, intimidation, and bullying of students that occur in school and off school premises[.]" N.J.S.A. 18A:37-13.1(f).

The Act defines HIB to include:

> [A]ny gesture, any written, verbal or physical act, or any electronic communication, whether it be a single incident or a series of incidents, that is reasonably perceived as being motivated either by any actual or perceived characteristic, such as race, color, religion, ancestry, national origin, gender, sexual orientation, gender identity and expression, or a mental, physical or sensory disability, or by any other distinguishing characteristic, that takes place on school property, at any school-sponsored function, on a school bus, or off school grounds as provided for in . . . [N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15.3], that substantially disrupts or interferes with the orderly operation of the school or the rights of other students and that:
>
> a. a reasonable person should know, under the circumstances, will have the effect of physically or emotionally harming a student or damaging the student's property, or placing a student in reasonable fear of physical or emotional harm to his person or damage to his property;
>
> b. has the effect of insulting or demeaning any student or group of students; or
>
> c. creates a hostile educational environment for the student by interfering with a student's education or > by severely or pervasively causing physical or emotional harm to the student.

> [N.J.S.A. 18A:37-14.]

The Act requires school districts to adopt policies that prohibit HIB and include procedures for reporting and investigating complaints of HIB and "consequences and appropriate remedial action for a person who commits an act" of HIB. N.J.S.A.18A:37-15(b); see N.J.A.C. 6A:16-7.7. The district's policy "shall include provisions for appropriate responses to [HIB] . . . that occurs off school grounds, in cases in which a school employee is made aware of such actions." N.J.S.A.18A:37-15.3. "The responses to [HIB] . . . that occurs off school grounds shall be consistent with the board of education's code of student conduct and other provisions of the board's policy on . . . [HIB]." Ibid. See N.J.A.C. 6A:16-7.1(a) ("Each district board of education shall develop, adopt, disseminate, and implement a code of student conduct that establishes standards, policies, and procedures for positive student development and student behavioral expectations on school grounds and, as appropriate, for conduct away from school grounds"); N.J.A.C. 6A:16-7.5(a) ("School authorities have the right to impose a consequence on a student for conduct away from school grounds that is consistent with the district board of education's code of student conduct, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:16-7.1"); N.J.A.C. 6A:16-7.5(b) ("School authorities shall respond to harassment, intimidation, or bullying that occurs off school grounds, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:37-14 and 15.3 and N.J.A.C. 6A:16-1.3, 7.1, and 7.7"). The principal in each school must appoint a school anti-bullying specialist, who shall "lead the investigation" of HIB incidents in the school and "act as the primary school official responsible for preventing, identifying, and addressing" HIB incidents in the school. N.J.S.A. 18A:37-20(a).

Although a school district is given "local control over the content of [its] policy," N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(b) dictates certain time limits and requirements regarding the reporting, the investigation and the determination of HIB complaints that must, at a minimum, be included in the district's policy. In this regard, all acts of HIB must be reported verbally to the school principal on the same day when the school employee or contracted service provider witnessed or received reliable information regarding an alleged HIB incident, and such acts of HIB must be reported in writing to the school principal within two school days of when the school employee or contracted service provider witnessed or received reliable information that a student had been subject to HIB. N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(b)(5). In turn, the principal must "inform the parents or guardians of all students involved in the alleged incident[.]" Ibid. The HIB "investigation shall be initiated by the principal or the principal's designee within one school day of the report of the incident and shall be conducted by a school anti-bullying specialist." N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(b)(6)(a). The investigation must be completed "not later than 10 school days from the date of the written report" of the HIB incident. Ibid. The results of the investigation must be "reported to the superintendent of schools within two school days of the completion of the investigation[.]" N.J.S.A. 18A:37- 15(b)(6)(b). The results of the investigation must also be "reported to the board of education no later than the date of the board of education meeting next following the completion of the investigation, along with information on any services provided, training established, discipline imposed, or other action taken or recommended by the superintendent." N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(b)(6)(c). The board must issue a decision, in writing, to affirm, reject, or modify the superintendent's decision "at the next board of education meeting following its receipt of the report," which may be appealed to the Commissioner of Education. N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(b)(6)(e).

"[P]arents or guardians of the students who are parties to the investigation shall be entitled to receive information about the investigation, in accordance with federal and State law and regulation, including the nature of the investigation, whether the district found evidence of . . . [HIB], or whether discipline was imposed or services provided to address the incident of . . . [HIB]." N.J.S.A.18A:37-15(b)(6)(d). That "information shall be provided in writing within 5 school days after the results of the investigation are reported to the board." Ibid. "A parent or guardian may request a hearing before the board after receiving the information[.]" Ibid. The board must convene a hearing within ten days of receiving such a request, and the board must "meet in executive session for the hearing to protect the confidentiality of the students." Ibid. During the hearing, "the board may hear from the school anti-bullying specialist about the incident, recommendations for discipline or services, and any programs instituted to reduce such incidents[.]" Ibid.

It is well settled that actions within a school board's authority are entitled to a presumption of validity and will not be overturned in the absence of an affirmative showing that the decision was arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable. Thomas v. Morris Twp. Bd. of Educ., 89 N.J. Super. 327, 332 (App. Div. 1965), aff'd, 46 N.J. 581 (1966). Stated differently, the exercise of a school board's discretionary powers may not be disturbed unless shown to be "patently arbitrary, without rational basis or induced by improper motives." Kopera v. West Orange Bd. of Educ., 60 N.J. Super. 288, 294 (App. Div. 1960). The scope of the Commissioner's review is limited. The Commissioner's role is not to substitute his or her judgment for that of the Board, but to assess whether the Board had a reasonable basis for its conclusions. Id. at 295-96. And "[w]here there is room for two opinions, action is not arbitrary or capricious when exercised honestly and upon due consideration, even though it may be believed that an erroneous conclusion has been reached." Bayshore Sewage Co. v. Dep't of Envtl. Prot., 122 N.J. Super. 184, 199–200 (Ch. Div. 1973), aff'd, 131 N.J. Super. 37 (App Div. 1974).

Against this backdrop, petitioner does not allege any procedural violations regarding the Board's HIB determination and no such violations are apparent from the record. Petitioner contends that the Board's HIB determination is arbitrary, capricious and unreasonable because it was predicated on the Board's HIB Policy, which altered the language of N.J.S.A. 18A:37-14. Specifically, petitioner argues that the Board's Policy inserted the word "or" at the end of subsection (a) and, therefore, converted the "reasonable person" element of the statute from an essential element of HIB to only one of three possible elements. Petitioner avers that subsection (a), that a reasonable person should know the act will have a harmful effect, is a required finding to constitute an act of HIB, followed by a combination of subsection (b) or (c).

Our courts have articulated the principles governing statutory construction. The "overriding objective in determining the meaning of a statute is to 'effectuate the legislative intent in light of the language used and the objects sought to be achieved.'" McCann v. Clerk of Jersey City, 167 N.J. 311, 320 (2001) (citation omitted). The Supreme Court explained in Murray v. Plainfield Rescue Squad, 210 N.J. 581, 592 (2012) (citations omitted):

> The objective of all statutory interpretation is to discern and effectuate the intent of the Legislature. To achieve that objective, we begin by looking at the statute's plain language, ascribing to the words used "their ordinary meaning and significance." We do not view the statutory words in isolation but "in context with related provisions so as to give sense to the legislation as a whole." If the Legislature's intent is clear on the face of the statute, then we must apply the law as written. It is not our function to rewrite a plainly written statute or to presume that the Legislature meant something other than what it conveyed in its clearly expressed language.

"If the plain language leads to a clear and unambiguous result, then [the] interpretive process is over." Richardson v. Bd. of Trs. Police & Firemen's Ret. Sys., 192 N.J. 189, 195 (2007). It is not the function of this forum "to 'rewrite a plainly-written enactment,' or to presume that the drafter intended a meaning other than the one 'expressed by way of the plain language.'" U.S. Bank, N.A. v Hough, 210 N.J. 187, 199 (2012) (citation omitted).

Succinctly stated, the plain and unambiguous language of N.J.S.A. 18A:37-14 does not support petitioner's position. Rather, as the Commissioner explained in Wehbeh v. Verona Bd. of Educ., EDU 10981-18, Comm'r, (February 4, 2020) https://www.nj.gov/education/legal:

> [A] finding of HIB requires three elements. First, the conduct must be reasonably perceived as motivated by any actual or perceived enumerated characteristic or other distinguishing characteristic and, second, the conduct must substantially disrupt or interfere with the rights of other students or the orderly operation of the school. The third condition is that one of the three criteria enumerated in the Act regarding the effect of the conduct must also be satisfied. (Emphasis added.)

See also N.U. v. Mansfield Bd. of Educ., EDU 09701-20, Comm'r, (August 10, 2022) https://www.nj.gov/education/legal; R.H. and M.H. o/b/o A.H. v. Sayreville Bd. of Educ., EDU 09435-17 and EDU 14833-17 (consolidated), Comm'r, (September 23, 2021) https://www.nj.gov/education/legal; Klapach v. Fort Lee Bd. of Educ., EDU 5069-20, Comm'r, (April 6, 2021) https://www.nj.gov/education/legal. The conduct must also take place on school property, at a school-sponsored function, on a school bus or off school grounds as provided by N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15.3.

Indeed, the Commissioner in Wehbeh specifically rejected petitioner's asserted construction of the statute:

> The Initial Decision incorrectly views subsection (a), that a reasonable person should know the act will have a harmful effect, as the third requirement, with an additional fourth requirement being a choice between subsections (b) and (c). As a matter of standard statutory construction, the term "or" between subsections (b) and (c) also applies to subsection (a), such that a demonstration of any of these three criteria can support a finding of HIB.

Turning to the evidence, I CONCLUDE that petitioner failed to sustain her burden of establishing that the Board acted in an arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable manner in finding that T.R. committed an act of HIB.

Regarding the first element, in defining HIB as an action "that is reasonably perceived as being motivated either by any actual or perceived characteristic," N.J.S.A. 18A:37-14, "the statute requires an analysis of how the actor's motivation is perceived and whether that perception is reasonable[;] [i]t does not require an analysis of the actual motivation of the actor." R.H. and M.H.; Wehbeh. Here, it was not arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable for the Board to conclude that a reasonable person would consider T.R.'s Snapchat posts to be motivated by the target student's distinguishing or perceived characteristics regarding her appearance, including her weight and sexuality.[3]

Regarding the second element, there is ample evidence in the record that T.R.'s Snapchat posts caused a substantial disruption to or interference with "the orderly operation of the school or the rights of other students[.]" Viturello testified that the victim,

[3] T.R.'s comments include, among others, that the target student "looks like medusa with her new hair"; "her and [another student] probably weigh as much as our whole friend group combined"; "nobody can ever say she wakes up on the wrong side of the bed because she wakes up on both"; "she takes up more storage than my PC has"; and "why would she even take mirror pics like you can't even see part of her cause it goes past the mirror." (See J-1 at R006; J-7; J-13.)

Susan, "was very anxious about the situation, was very impacted, [and] needed multiple counseling sessions[.]" She also expressed fear of going to the high school because the incident involved not only Long Hill students but students in surrounding towns. Similarly, Backer testified that Susan "was visually very upset" about the comments said about her, she was crying and embarrassed, and she expressed concern about going to the high school. In addition, Viturello testified that the student who reported the information, Jane, was "very concerned about retribution" from the students involved in the conduct. Indeed, Jane's parents signed her out of the school after she reported the incident and Jane remand homeschooled for the remainder of the 2021–2022 school year. Viturello testified that he spoke with T.R.'s mother, who was concerned about T.R.'s mental health based on his involvement in the incident. This resulted in school staff conducting a risk assessment at T.R.'s home. Backer further testified that there was an interference with operation of the school as a whole and the incident "had a substantial interference with the school day." She described that "there were about 25 students that were involved on the Snapchat, so clearly it was spoken about within the middle school halls"; "[t]here were a lot of students that were interviewed"; and "there were a lot of staff members that were involved in the interview process and the HIB investigation[.]" Accordingly, given this evidence, the Board was not arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable in finding a substantial disruption to the school environment and the rights of multiple students.

Regarding the third element, an act of HIB is one that "a reasonable person should know, under the circumstances, will have the effect of physically or emotionally harming a student," "has the effect of insulting or demeaning any student," or "creates a hostile educational environment for the student by interfering with a student's education or by severely or pervasively causing physical or emotional harm to the student." N.J.S.A. 18A:37-14. Plainly, T.R.'s comments had the "effect of insulting or demeaning" Susan. Backer further explained that the conduct created a hostile education environment as Susan relayed that she did not want to go to the high school where the involved students would be attending, and Viturello noted that Susan needed counseling and Jane left the school. In short, given this evidence, the Board was not arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable in finding that T.R.'s conduct satisfied N.J.S.A. 18A:37-14(b) and (c).

The crux of petitioner's argument focuses on whether "a reasonable person should know, under the circumstances, [that T.R.'s comments] will have the effect of physically or emotionally harming a student[.]" N.J.S.A. 18A:37-14(a). Apart from the fact that, even if this issue is resolved in petitioner's favor, the HIB finding is supported by the other two alternative criteria, I am unpersuaded by petitioner's argument. Although T.R. testified regarding his belief that his comments would never get back to Susan based on his understanding that he was talking in a private group on Snapchat, and the chats are automatically deleted after twenty-four hours, the governing standard is objective, not subjective. The pertinent inquiry is what a reasonable person should know under the circumstances, not what T.R. knew. In other words, the statute does not "require the actor to have actual knowledge of the effect that [his/her] actions will have, or to specifically intend to bring about that effect." Wehbeh. Rather, it requires "only that a reasonable person should know there would be a harmful effect, not that the actor knows there would be such an effect." Ibid.

There is no doubt that a reasonable person should and would know that T.R.'s social media posts would have the effect of emotionally harming Susan based on the insulting and demeaning content of the comments. T.R.'s subjective intention to keep his comments private is not controlling. Further, a reasonable 8th grade student would be aware of the ability to screenshot texts or pictures and, thus, should know, under the circumstances, that the posted insults may not remain confined to the Snapchat participants and might be revealed to Susan even if the Snapchat posts later disappeared. Given the ease under which electronic communications may be copied or shown to other persons, it is certainly reasonable to expect a thirteen-year-old student to understand that someone could disseminate his comments regardless of the forum in which they were posted. In this regard, Viturello testified that although it was Snapchat, there were over two dozen students on it, and "knowing middle school students, it's very reasonable to understand that someone's going to share a conversation that was more than one comment." He further noted that participants can screenshot or camera-shot the information posted on Snapchat "so the information travels." Backer explained, "[m]aking fun of someone's appearance, [and] their sexuality, . . . a normal person would understand that . . . would be hurtful to that person and could cause emotional harm." Backer believed that a reasonable 8th grader would know under the circumstances that the conduct that

T.R. admitted to would have the effect of physically or emotionally harming a student. She testified that "a reasonable 8th grade student would be aware that there are negative implications associated with that kind of language," and a "reasonable person would think that using that language with a group of 25 plus students would get back to that student." Simply put, the evidence fails to establish that the Board's conclusion that "a reasonable person should know, under the circumstances, [that T.R.'s comments] will have the effect of physically or emotionally harming" Susan was arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable.

N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15.3 provides that conduct may be considered HIB when it takes place on school property, at any school-sponsored function, on a school bus, or off school grounds as provided for in N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15.3. In turn, N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15.3 instructs that HIB policies adopted by a school district board of education "shall include provisions for appropriate responses to [HIB] . . . that occurs off school grounds, in cases in which a school employee is made aware of such actions." Additionally, N.J.A.C. 6A:16-7.5 directs:

> (a) School authorities have the right to impose a consequence on a student for conduct away from school grounds that is consistent with the district board of education's code of student conduct, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:16-7.1.
> 1. This authority shall be exercised only when it is reasonably necessary for the student's physical or emotional safety, security and well-being or for reasons relating to the safety, security and well-being of other students, staff or school grounds, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:25-2 and 18A:37-2.
>
> 2. This authority shall be exercised only when the conduct that is the subject of the proposed consequence materially and substantially interferes with the requirements of appropriate discipline in the operation of the school.
> 3. The consequence pursuant to (a) above shall be handled in accordance with the district board of education's approved code of student conduct, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:16-7.1, and as appropriate, in accordance with N.J.A.C. 6A:16-7.2, 7.3, or 7.4.

> (b) School authorities shall respond to harassment, intimidation, or bullying that occurs off school grounds, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:37-14 and 15.3 and N.J.A.C. 6A:16-1.3, 7.1, and 7.7.

Accordingly, a board of education is required to investigate HIB complaints even if they occur outside of school. Here, the Board received an HIB complaint involving Snapchat posts that occurred outside of school hours, so it was required to investigate the allegations. As the Snapchat posts involved students who attended CMS and substantially disrupted and interfered with the orderly operations of the school and the rights and wellbeing of the victim and other students, the Board was not arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable in investigating the conduct that occurred off school grounds, finding that it met the definition of HIB, and imposing consequences for the unwarranted conduct.

In sum, the elements of the legal definition of an act of HIB have been satisfied in this case, and the Board's decision to uphold the HIB determination is not arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable.

Finally, I CONCLUDE that the imposed six-day OSS did not violate T.R.'s First Amendment rights, and the OSS cannot be said to be arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable.

Initially, it is observed that the six-day OSS was imposed on or about November 21, 2021, based on Viturello's determination that T.R. had violated various requirements of the CMS Code of Conduct. Since the imposed consequence consisted of a short-term suspension, no formal appeal hearing before the Board was required, and petitioner's remedy consisted of an appeal to the Commissioner. See N.J.A.C. 6A:16-7.2. Here, petitioner filed her Petition of Appeal on or about April 12, 2022, which is beyond the required 90-day appeal period. See N.J.A.C. 6A: 3-1.3(i). However, given that HIB Investigation Report also lists the six-day OSS as a consequence for the HIB violation (J-1 at R014), I will consider petitioner's argument in the context of the Board's HIB determination.

In Tinker v. Des Moines Indep. Cmty. Sch. Dist., 393 U.S. 503 (1969), the United States Supreme Court recognized that "conduct by the student, in class or out of it, which for any reason -- whether it stems from time, place, or type of behavior -- materially disrupts classwork or involves substantial disorder or invasion of the rights of others is, of course, not immunized by the constitutional guarantee of freedom of speech." Id. at 513. More recently, the Supreme Court addressed a student's First Amendment rights in the context of off-campus speech in Mahanoy Area Sch. Dist. v. B.L., 594 U.S. 180 (2021).

In Mahanoy, a public high school student used, and transmitted to her Snapchat friends, outside of school hours and away from the school, vulgar language and gestures criticizing the school's cheerleading team after she did not make the varsity cheerleading team. Id. at 183-184. In response, the school suspended the student from the junior varsity cheerleading squad for the upcoming year. Id. at 185.

The Court in Mahanoy made clear that "schools have a special interest in regulating speech that 'materially disrupts classwork or involves substantial disorder or invasion of the rights of others.'" 594 U.S. at 188 (quoting Tinker, 594 U.S. at 513). The Court held that "[t]hese special characteristics call for special leeway when schools regulate speech that occurs under its supervision." Id. at 188. The Court rejected the notion that "the special characteristics that give schools additional license to regulate student speech always disappear when a school regulates speech that takes place off campus," and recognized that "[t]he school's regulatory interests remain significant in some off-campus circumstances." Ibid. The Court declined to adopt a specific list of off-campus behavior that may call for school regulation, believing that it "would deny the off-campus applicability of Tinker's highly general statement about the nature of a school's special interests." Id. at 189. The Court explained:

> Particularly given the advent of computer-based learning, we hesitate to determine precisely which of many school-related off-campus activities belong on such a list. Neither do we now know how such a list might vary, depending upon a student's age, the nature of the school's off-campus activity, or the impact upon the school itself. Thus, we do not now set forth a broad, highly general First Amendment rule stating just what counts as "off campus" speech and whether or how ordinary

> First Amendment standards must give way off campus to a school's special need to prevent, e.g., substantial disruption of learning-related activities or the protection of those who make up a school community.
> [Id. at 189.]

The Court identified "three features of off-campus speech that often, even if not always, distinguish schools' efforts to regulate that speech from their efforts to regulate on-campus speech," and that "[t]hose features diminish the strength of the unique educational characteristics that might call for special First Amendment leeway." Id. at 189. "First, a school, in relation to off-campus speech, will rarely stand in loco parentis," and thus, "off-campus speech will normally fall within the zone of parental, rather than school-related, responsibility." Ibid. "Second, from the student speaker's perspective, regulations of off-campus speech, when coupled with regulations of on-campus speech, include all the speech a student utters during the full 24-hour day," meaning that "courts must be more skeptical of a school's efforts to regulate off-campus speech, for doing so may mean the student cannot engage in that kind of speech at all." Id. at 189-190. "Third, the school itself has an interest in protecting a student's unpopular expression, especially when the expression takes place off campus" in that "America's public schools are the nurseries of democracy [and] [o]ur representative democracy only works if we protect the 'marketplace of ideas.'" Id. at 190. In this regard, the Court held:

> Given the many different kinds of off-campus speech, the different potential school-related and circumstance-specific justifications, and the differing extent to which those justifications may call for First Amendment leeway, we can, as a general matter, say little more than this: Taken together, these three features of much off-campus speech mean that the leeway the First Amendment grants to schools in light of their special characteristics is diminished. We leave for future cases to decide where, when, and how these features mean the speaker's off-campus location will make the critical difference.

Regarding the student's Snapchat posts, the Court stated:

> Putting aside the vulgar language, the listener would hear criticism, of the team, the team's coaches, and the school—in a word or two, criticism of the rules of a community of which B.L. forms a part. This criticism did not involve features that would place it outside the First Amendment's ordinary protection. B.L.'s posts, while crude, did not amount to fighting words. And while B.L. used vulgarity, her speech was not obscene as this Court has understood that term. To the contrary, B.L. uttered the kind of pure speech to which, were she an adult, the First Amendment would provide strong protection . . . . ("The inappropriate . . . character of a statement is irrelevant to the question whether it deals with a matter of public concern").
>
> Consider too when, where, and how B.L. spoke. Her posts appeared outside of school hours from a location outside the school. She did not identify the school in her posts or target any member of the school community with vulgar or abusive language. B.L. also transmitted her speech through a personal cellphone, to an audience consisting of her private circle of Snapchat friends. These features of her speech, while risking transmission to the school itself, nonetheless . . . diminish the school's interest in punishing B.L.'s utterance.
> [Id. at 190-191; Citations omitted and Emphasis added.]

In concluding that the student's First Amendment rights had been violated because the school's special interest in regulating some off-campus student speech was not sufficient to overcome the student's First Amendment interests, the Court, among other things, found "no evidence in the record of the sort of 'substantial disruption' of a school activity or a threatened harm to the rights of others that might justify the school's action." Id. at 192. Rather, the record revealed "that discussion of the matter took, at most, 5 to 10 minutes of an Algebra class 'for just a couple of days' and that some members of the cheerleading team were 'upset' about the content of B.L.'s Snapchats." Ibid.

The facts of this case are markedly distinguishable from those existing in Mahanoy. T.R.'s comments were unrelated to any public concern or community interest and contributed nothing to the "marketplace of ideas." Further, in contrast to the social media posts in Mahanoy, T.R.'s posts targeted another student, Susan, with offensive and insulting comments about her physical appearance. See Doe v. Hopkinton Public Schools, 19 F. 4th 493, 506 (1st Cir. 2021) ("'bullying is the type of conduct that implicates the governmental interest in protecting against the invasion of the rights of others, as described in Tinker.'") (Citations omitted.) And T.R.'s comments "materially disrupt[ed] classwork or involve[d] substantial disorder or invasion of the rights of others." Tinker, 594 U.S. at 513; Mahanoy 594 U.S. at 188. As noted, multiple students were affected by the Snapchat posts. Susan was very upset about the comments and expressed concern about going to the high school, necessitating the provision of counselling; Jane left the school; and T.R. himself required a mental health risk assessment. Additionally, the Snapchat posts were talked about in the middle school halls and caused a substantial disruption to the school. See R.H. and M.H. (wherein the Commissioner rejected the petitioner's argument that Mahanoy prevented the Board from regulating her speech and held that "the impact of the social media post on the school violated the HIB statute and is within the school's authority to regulate.").

The Board's HIB Policy (J-23), along with its separate Conduct/Discipline Policy (J-8), address the right and authority of the chief school administrator to impose a consequence on a student for conduct away from school grounds, which essentially reiterates the provisions of N.J.A.C. 6A:16-7.5. As previously addressed, the Snapchat posts involved students who attended CMS and substantially disrupted and interfered with the orderly operations of the school, coupled with the rights and wellbeing of the victim and other students. Accordingly, I CONCLUDE that the school had the authority to impose a consequence for T.R.'s conduct, and the imposition of the six-day OSS was consistent with the governing law and not arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable.

ORDER

Based upon the foregoing, I ORDER that the Petition of Appeal be and hereby is DISMISSED.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified, or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify, or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

Final Decision

Margaret Bennett,

Petitioner,

v.

Judith Sullivan, Tom Bogdansky, Doreen Mariani, Marianna Emmolo, and Kim Ansh,

Respondents.

The record of this matter, the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), the exceptions filed by petitioner pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4, and respondents' reply thereto, have been reviewed and considered.

Petitioner—a parent, taxpayer, and community member—alleges that respondents, majority members of the Ramapo Indian Hills Regional High School Board of Education (Board), violated various Board policies, regulations, and laws when conducting Board business. She claims that their actions, mainly pertaining to making certain motions and voting on them, have harmed the school district. The allegations involve the Board's amendment of its legal services policy, and a motion to pause the district's Energy Savings Improvement Program, without first consulting the Board Superintendent; voting against hiring a substitute teacher; rejecting purchase orders from a certain appliance store; obstruction of harassment, intimidation, and bullying (HIB) investigations through Board votes; and obstruction of proper recording of Board minutes. The most recent amended petition dated March 29, 2023, states that petitioner is seeking "strong sanctions and injunctive measures" against respondents for their actions.

Respondents moved to dismiss the petition for numerous reasons, including that petitioner lacks standing. The Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) granted respondents' motion upon determining that petitioner lacks standing. The ALJ concluded that petitioner failed to demonstrate she was harmed or affected by respondents' actions in a direct and meaningful way. Additionally, citing N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.2, the ALJ concluded that petitioner failed to establish that she is an "interested person" who would be "substantially, specifically, and directly affected by the outcome of this matter." The ALJ further concluded that while petitioner claimed that respondents' actions could bring about lawsuits involving the district and harm children, she failed to provide support for those claims.

In her exceptions, petitioner maintains that she has standing as a taxpayer because taxpayers bear the financial consequences of respondents' actions. Alternatively, she argues that even if she lacks standing, the Commissioner should nonetheless make a formal statement, issue a reprimand, or make recommendations to hold respondents accountable. In reply, respondents contend that petitioner's exceptions fail to provide a legal basis to refute the ALJ's conclusion that she lacks standing. They argue that petitioner's status as a taxpayer is insufficient to confer standing in a matter before the Commissioner because she has not alleged some form of particularized harm unique to her and distinct from her general concerns as a community member. They also assert that petitioner's exceptions are procedurally defective because they do not conform with N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurs with the ALJ that petitioner lacks standing and does not qualify as an "interested person" under N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.2. "Restrictions on standing apply to those who initiate administrative proceedings before the Commissioner." Cantatore v. Bd. of Educ. of Carlstadt-East Rutherford Reg'l High Sch. Dist., Bergen Cnty., OAL Dkt. No. 05498-22, Initial Decision at 9, adopted, Commissioner Decision No. 153-23 (May 25, 2023). To pursue a controversy or dispute arising under the school laws, a person must be an "interested person" as defined by N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.2. Ibid.

N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.2 defines "interested person" as "a person who will be substantially, specifically, and directly affected by the outcome of a controversy before the Commissioner." The record fails to establish that petitioner has children who are currently attending school in the Ramapo Indian Hills Regional High School District. Thus, she will "suffer no direct personal harm or inconvenience from the actions" respondents took. Herron v. Bd. of Educ. of Montclair, Commissioner Decision No. 233-14 at 2 (June 2, 2014). Furthermore, while she is a resident and taxpayer, she "has alleged no personal financial ramifications" from respondents' actions. Ibid. Instead, she alleged that respondents' actions could bring about lawsuits involving the district and harm children. Accordingly, she does not qualify as an "interested person" under N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.2. See also Stubaus v. Whitman, 339 N.J. Super. 38, 47-48 (App. Div. 2001) (explaining that standing to sue requires an adverse position, a personal stake in the outcome, and the "substantial likelihood" of suffering some harm in the event of an unfavorable decision).

The Commissioner further finds and concludes that, even assuming petitioner had established standing, the remedies she seeks in her petition—"strong sanctions and injunctive measures"—are not specifically available to her under the school laws and regulations upon which she relies. While the Commissioner has jurisdiction to hear disputes arising under school laws and regulations, in this instance petitioner has failed to state a claim upon which relief may be granted by the Commissioner. *See Cardillo v. SUMMARY DECISION

AGENCY DKT. NO. 12-1/23

MARGARET BENNETT,
Petitioner,
v.
JUDITH SULLIVAN, TOM BOGDANSKY, DOREEN MARIANI, MARIANNA EMMOLO, AND KIM ANSH, Respondents.

Margaret Bennett, petitioner, pro se

Kerri A. Wright, Esq., for respondents (Porzio, Bromberg & Newman, attorneys)

Record Closed: September 1, 2024 Decided: September 30, 2024

BEFORE JOANN LaSALA CANDIDO, ALAJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Respondents, the majority members of the Ramapo Indian Hills Regional School District Board of Education (Judith Sullivan, Tom Bogdansky, Doreen Mariani, Marianna Emmolo, and Kim Ansh), filed a Motion to Dismiss petitioner's (Margaret Bennett) Amended Petition dated January 25, 2023, which sought emergent relief and alleged various violations/misconduct by the respondents in their positions as members of the Ramapo Indian Hills Regional Board of Education, although it did not name the Board itself as a party. Chief among the issues discussed here is whether petitioner has standing to bring this action.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

The matter was transmitted to the New Jersey Office of Administrative Law on January 27, 2023, as an emergent matter, for hearing as a contested case pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -23. The emergent relief sought was solely on the January 5, 2023, hearing vote by respondent Sullivan to not renew the contract for Fogarty and Hara's law firm to act as Board counsel. Petitioner sought the injunctive relief in the form of removing respondent Sullivan's "yes" vote and replacing her vote with recusal for apparent conflict of interest. The petitioner requested that the remainder of her petition be considered by the Commissioner on a non-emergent basis.

The emergent relief was denied by Administrative Law Judge Jude-Anthony Tiscornia on February 7, 2023, and upheld by Commissioner of the Department of Education on March 7, 2023. The Commissioner found the existing petition sufficient to allow proceedings regarding those issues to proceed.

Petitioner filed the amended petition on April 5, 2023. Respondents filed this motion to dismiss the amended petition on May 11, 2023.

Petitioner filed her opposition on May 19, 2023. Respondents filed their supplemental submission on June 2, 2023. Petitioner filed her response to the supplemental submission on June 13, 2023. Administrative Law Judge Jude-Anthony Tiscornia was appointed to the Hudson County Superior Court, and the matter was transferred to the undersigned on or about September 1, 2024.

ARGUMENTS OF THE PARTIES

By way of background, petitioner's amended petition alleges that statutory/code provisions[1] were violated when respondent Ansh motioned to amend Board Policy 0174 regarding legal services without consulting the superintendent beforehand. She claims that changes made to the Board Policy imposed risk to the District and "obstruct[ed] the operation of the district, impede[d] the Superintendent, Business Administrator, and other administrators such as the Director of Special Education, from doing what they are certificated to do which includes the Superintendent's ability to administer the schools."

Amended Petition 2. She further alleges that the respondents violated Board Policy 0131, which only allows for first reading policy amendments when there is an emergency, and Board Policy 1210 regarding board–superintendent relations due to there not being consultation with the superintendent prior to board policies being revised. Petitioner avers that a violation of Board Policy 0146 by overstepping their authority as board members improperly paused an Energy Savings Improvement Plan that had been approved previously, which imposed a financial burden on the District.

Petitioner further asserts that respondents violated Board Policy 0164, violating Robert's Rules, and that the Board's actions with regard to HIB resolutions contravened the Anti-Bullying Bill of Rights Act as well as N.J.A.C. 6A:16-7.1, sending the District down the path of litigation.

Petitioner also claims that the respondents obstructed the recording of minutes at Board meetings and violated Board Policy 4125 by voting against hiring a specific substitute teacher. She alleges obstruction of N.J.S.A. 18A:27-4.1 as well. Lastly, petitioner requests an injunction to avoid the respondents violating Board Policy 6450, which addresses choice of vendor.[2]

[1] Petitioner references N.J.A.C. 6A:23-5.2, N.J.S.A. 18A:11-1, and N.J.S.A. 18A:17-20. It appears that N.J.A.C. 6A:23-5.2 is a former version of the code.

[2] Petitioner refers to this as Count 9, but it is the second Count 9 listed, and therefore the undersigned will refer to it as Count 10.

Respondents argue that this matter should be dismissed based upon the following. First, respondents argue that the petitioner has failed to advance a cause of action. Second, respondents argue that the petition should be dismissed for the petitioner not having standing. As respondents state:

> Petitioner is merely a resident of one of the towns served by the Board, but she has neither alleged any distinct injury or harm to herself or her interests, nor can the relief that she seeks be remedied by the Commissioner. Instead, the amended petition seeks to punish Respondents for their participation in Board action affecting the District, rather than Petitioner herself.
> [Respondents' Motion 9.]

Third, respondents argue that petitioner's application omitted an indispensable party—specifically, the Board. Fourth, respondents argue that petitioner's allegations of violations of board policy are not cognizable claims for the Commissioner to decide. Fifth, respondents argue that possibly all the issues in this matter are moot. And sixth, respondents argue that the petitioner has failed to allege facts that support petitioner's causes of action.

Regarding respondents' argument stating that petitioner does not have standing in this matter, petitioner argues in part that:

> Petitioner is a citizen of the municipality served by the Board of Education on which Respondents are Trustees. Petitioner therefore has standing to challenge its unlawful acts. Sophisticated lawyering by Ms. Wright notwithstanding, these numerous, well-documented instances of blatant misconduct by the [Board] require reprimand by the Commissioner of Education. Further, the acts of misconduct which were reversed by subsequent corrective action of the Board are clearly capable of repetition; therefore, the Commissioner should intervene with a written ruling to guard against the repetition of such misconduct in the future.

Furthermore, petitioner states that "right now Respondents make up a mission-driven board-within-a-board blinded by ill-conceived premises that has absolutely negatively impacted taxpayers of this regional school district. Petitioner is one of those taxpayers. Petitioner has and continues to be harmed by Respondents' actions." Petitioner's Opposition 4. Petitioner stresses, "More importantly Your Honor, this is about the children." Ibid. And the petitioner argues:

> Petitioner has standing to object to the detrimental actions of these Respondents. Petitioner is a taxpayer, parent, active community member. She is a watchdog, a citizen who cares. District/municipality resources are being squandered. The tab grows exponentially. There is a direct harm to Petitioner as a taxpayer who supports the high schools. Petitioner is seeking a determination that the Respondents' actions were wrong.

In respondents' supplemental letter brief, respondents argue that "Petitioner cannot just file a petition because she is a taxpayer, especially when she alleges no personal ramifications being suffered—above anything imposed on every other taxpayer in the district—and when the petition is based largely on ideological differences with the direction taken by the Board." Respondents' Supplemental 4. Respondents state that "[w]hether an individual has standing is not a function measured against how much someone 'cares' about an issue." Ibid. Respondents continue, "Instead, in order to be an interested party with standing before the Commissioner, Petitioner needs to be 'substantially, specifically and directly affected by the outcome of a controversy before the Commissioner.' N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.2. She is not." Ibid.

Furthermore, respondents state that "[s]he articulates no harm actually being visited upon her as a result of the Board actions of which she complains. And, as detailed within Respondents' motion, and conceded within Petitioner's opposition, Petitioner's claims are on behalf of others." Ibid. Respondents argue that the "[p]etitioner does not state with any specificity how she actually is harmed. She does not explain what the 'absolute negative impacts' are." Ibid. Regarding her reference about the matter being about the children, respondents argue that "[p]etitioner must have standing. It must be about her, not about children." Id. at 5.

Petitioner argues in the third person in response to the respondents' supplemental brief, "Petitioner is affected by the outcome. She is a vested community member, parent and taxpayer. She has standing." Petitioner's Response to Supplemental 2.

LEGAL ANALYSIS AND CONCLUSION

While the respondents' motion uses the term Motion to Dismiss, it should be addressed using the Motion for Summary Decision standard. As has been previously stated in an Office of Administrative Law decision in another matter, "Respondent's motion to dismiss is akin to a motion for summary decision. Summary decision is the administrative counterpart to summary judgment in the judicial arena." Bacchues v. Bd. of Trs., Police and Firemen's Ret. Sys. of N.J., 2021 N.J. AGEN LEXIS 744 (July 19, 2021).

N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(b) states that a Motion for Summary Decision is granted when "the papers and discovery which have been filed, together with the affidavits, if any, show that there is no genuine issue as to any material fact challenged and that the moving party is entitled to prevail as a matter of law." Furthermore, "When a motion for summary decision is made and supported, an adverse party in order to prevail must by responding affidavit set forth specific facts showing that there is a genuine issue which can only be determined in an evidentiary proceeding." N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(b). As the Office of Administrative Law has previously stated in a special education matter, "The standard governing a motion for summary decision is substantially the same as a motion for summary judgment under Rule 4:46-2. Contini v. Bd. of Educ. of Newark, 286 N.J. Super. 106, 121 (App. Div. 1995) (citing Frank v. Ivy Club, 228 N.J. Super. 40, 62 (App. Div. 1988))." Middletown Twp. Bd. of Educ. v. R.A. and B.A. o/b/o H.A., 2022 N.J. AGEN LEXIS 274 (Apr. 11, 2022). Furthermore:

> In deciding a motion for summary judgment, the court must determine whether the evidence presented, assumed to be true, and viewed in the light most favorable to the non-moving party is "sufficient to permit a rational fact-finder to resolve the alleged disputed issue in favor of the non-moving party." Brill

> v. Guardian Life Ins. Co. of America, 142 N.J. 520, 540 (1995). The "judge's function is not . . . to weigh the evidence and determine the truth of the matter but to determine whether there is a genuine issue for trial." Brill, 142 N.J. at 540 (quoting Anderson v. Liberty Lobby, 477 U.S. 242, 249 (1986)). In other words, the essential question is "whether the evidence presents a sufficient disagreement to require [a hearing] or whether it is so one-sided that one party must prevail as a matter of law." Brill, 142 N.J. at 533 (citing Liberty Lobby, 477 U.S. at 250).
> [Id. at *11–12.]

Standing is an issue of central importance in every case. Without standing, an individual cannot bring a case. As the Commissioner of Education wrote in another matter:

> As referenced in the Initial Decision, standing is a threshold justiciability determination about whether a litigant is entitled to bring an action before a court or other tribunal. Stubaus v. Whitman, 339 N.J. Super. 38, 47 (App. Div., 2001). In order to have standing, a party must be in a position adverse to other parties, have a palpable stake in the outcome of the litigation, and be likely to suffer harm in the event of an unfavorable decision. Ibid.
> [Herron v. Montclair Bd. of Educ., 2014 N.J. AGEN LEXIS 1146, *2 (June 2, 2014).]

Administrative Law Judge Elissa Mizzone Testa wrote in a previous Board of Education matter, "Restrictions on standing apply to those who initiate administrative proceedings before the Commissioner." Cantatore v. Carlstadt-East Rutherford Reg'l High Sch. Dist. Bd. of Educ., 2023 N.J. AGEN LEXIS 221, *9, Initial Decision (Apr. 26, 2023), adopted, Comm'r (May 25, 2023), https://www.nj.gov/education/legal/commissioner/2023/153-23.pdf. Furthermore, "The Commissioner has clarified through regulation as well as case law that only an 'interested person,' i.e., one who has standing, may initiate such proceedings. Bedminster Educ. Ass'n v. Bedminster Twp. Bd. of Educ., EDU 6720-05, Comm'r decision (June 16, 2006)." Ibid. N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.2 defines an interested person as "a person(s) who will be substantially, specifically, and directly affected by the outcome of a controversy before the Commissioner." And as explained by Judge Testa:

> Consequently, petitioners must show that they will "be affected by the outcome in a direct and meaningful way" before they may proceed in a contested case. U.K. & G.K. ex rel D.K. v. Clifton Bd. of Educ., 93 N.J.A.R.2d (EDU) 71; Kenwood v. Montclair Bd. of Educ., EDU 8858-81, Initial Decision, (Apr. 23, 1982), adopted, Comm'r (June 14, 1982)). Thus, to have standing, a complaining party must demonstrate "some measurable amount of detrimental impact on the complaining party's personal rights." S.J. v. Mountain Lakes Bd. of Educ., EDU 7081-03, Initial Decision, (Oct. 7, 2003) (citing, Salorio v. Glaser, 82 N.J. 482, 491 (1998)).
>
> A deficiency in standing is fatal to a petition such as the one at issue here. "The dismissal of cases brought by litigants who will not be effected by the outcome in a direct and meaningful way is required by this regulation." S.J. v. Mountain Lakes Bd. of Educ., EDU 7081-03, Initial Decision, (Oct. 7, 2003) (citing, S.R. and E.D.R. o/b/o E.D.R., Jr. v. Montague Bd. of Educ., EDU 5300-03, 201 AGEN LEXIS 583 (Oct. 3, 2001)).
> [Cantatore, 2023 N.J. AGEN LEXIS 221, at *10.]

Assuming arguendo that the respondents' reasons for summary decision other than for lack of standing fail, the undersigned must grant respondents' motion for summary decision on the basis of the petitioner lacking standing first and foremost.

Petitioner's amended petition can be most appropriately summarized as alleging that the respondents violated Board policy or New Jersey State statutory/code provisions when the respondents were acting as members of the Board. Petitioner argues that she is a taxpayer, parent, active community member, watchdog, and a citizen who cares. This, however, does not show directly any harm toward her by the respondents' actions, nor has she provided any information indicating that she has been affected by the respondents' actions in a direct and meaningful way. Petitioner has made claims that the actions of the respondents could risk lawsuits to the district and harm the children, but without proof of same.

I must reiterate that standing is central to any matter before the Commissioner, just like it is in any case in any court. The petitioner does not have standing. Without standing, the petitioner's case cannot proceed. Petitioner has failed to establish that she is an interested person who would be "substantially, specifically, and directly affected by the outcome" of this proceeding. N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.2. While concluding that petitioner has no standing to bring this action and the Commissioner no jurisdiction to hear it, no findings are made with respect to respondents' argument that the claims are fatally flawed for failing to name an indispensable party or any claim of violations of Board policies or mootness. Because of the lack of standing, I CONCLUDE that there are no issues of material fact and Summary Decision is granted in favor of respondents.

Based upon the above, the respondents' motion for Summary Decision is GRANTED.

ORDER

Accordingly, it is hereby ORDERED that respondents' motion for Summary Decision is GRANTED and petitioner's amended petition be and is hereby DISMISSED.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the ACTING COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified, or rejected by the ACTING COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Acting Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify, or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the ACTING COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION. JENNIFER BARD,
Petitioner,
v.
BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE BOROUGH OF BRIELLE, MONMOUTH COUNTY,

Jennifer Bard, petitioner, pro se

Cherie L. Adams, Esq., for respondent, Board of Education of the Borough of Brielle (Adams Lattiboudere Croot & Herman, LLC, attorney)

Record Closed: October 7, 2024 Decided: October 30, 2024

BEFORE JOAN M. BURKE, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Petitioner, Jennifer Bard, challenges the eligibility of a member of the respondent, Board of Education of the Borough of Brielle (BOE), and its actions taken during the school board election.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On November 7, 2023, Liam Starkey (Mr. Starkey) was elected to the local BOE. Mr. Starkey was not on the ballot but received 111 write-in votes. The Monmouth County Board of County Canvassers certified the election results, and Mr. Starkey was seated on the BOE in January 2024. On January 3, 2024, the petitioner, Jennifer Bard (Ms. Bard, petitioner) filed a pro se petition of appeal with the Department of Education asking the Commissioner of Education (Commissioner) to investigate two claims about Mr. Starkey and his election to the BOE. On February 15, 2024, the respondent, the Borough of Brielle Board of Education, filed an Answer to the petition. The contested case was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), where it was filed on February 21, 2024. N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to N.J.S.A. 52:14F-13. After several conference calls, respondent filed a Motion to Dismiss on July 18, 2024. Petitioner submitted her response to the motion on August 20, 2024. A status conference was held on October 7, 2024, to clarify the parties' positions, and the matter closed then.

FINDINGS OF FACT

The parties do not dispute many of the background facts in this case. I, therefore, FIND the following FACTS:

On January 3, 2024, the petitioner filed a pro se petition of appeal with the Department of Education, asking the Commissioner to investigate two claims about Mr. Starkey and his election to the BOE.

The petitioner claimed it was never verified that Mr. Starkey was eligible to be a candidate on election day. The petition alleges that Mr. Starkey was seventeen years old, too young to register to vote, and therefore ineligible to serve on a school board under New Jersey law. Ms. Bard claimed this is "potentially a legitimate but unintended loophole that if nothing else the state legislature might want to review" because "it's not an equal playing field for all write-in candidates if some of them would have been eligible to petition for the ballot and some would not have been." (See Petitioner's Petition.)

Ms. Bard claimed that she heard from "dozens" of Brielle residents across all political affiliations about unsolicited political text messages pertaining to the school board election. (Ibid.) Ms. Bard alleged that they all were sent around 7:31 or 7:32 a.m. on the day of the school board's election, speculating they were likely robo-texts as "defined by the FCC." Ms. Bard did not claim to receive one of these texts herself. (Ibid.)

The petitioner took issue with these texts because they appeared to be linked to New Jersey Senator Vin Gopal's campaign. The core of her complaint was that these messages were "potentially illegal" and undermined the "integrity" of the non-partisan school board. (Ibid.)

Ms. Bard provided two screenshots of texts messages, both from the same number. One is an incomplete image, and the only words that can be seen are "Hi Ronald! This is Jessie volunteering with the Gopal, . . . Donlon, and Peterpaul camp . . . . We have a very important . . . Election coming up in 10 day . . . ." The second says "There are only 2 candidates on the ballot today for 3 seats on the Brielle Board of Education. Please vote for Liam Starkey as a write-in candidate for the third seat. He will provide a young voice for the students. Text Stop to opt out." (Ibid.)

On February 15, 2024, the respondent filed an Answer to the Petition and Affirmative Defenses. On July 18, 2024, the respondent filed a motion to dismiss the petitioner's claim for lack of jurisdiction. The respondent argues that the petition must be dismissed for lack of jurisdiction on the following grounds: "1) authority over election enforcement rests with the superintendent of Elections and the Monmouth County Board of Elections, 2) the Commissioner of Education is statutorily prohibited from ruling on this matter, and 3) the proper powers for hearing controversies and disputes concerning school board election results are exclusively reserved for Superior Court judges." (Respondent's Brief in Support of Motion to Dismiss at 2.)

The respondent further argues that it

> [complied] with all relevant election laws and statutes. Pursuant to applicable provisions in N.J.S.A. 19:16 through N.J.S.A. 19:19, the Board forwarded election ballots and required documentation to the Monmouth County Board of County Canvassers. Pursuant to N.J.S.A. 19:20-9, the Canvassers then certified the election results of November 7, 2023, and Mr. Starkey, a write-in candidate, as the duly elected candidate to be seated on the Board of Education of the Borough of Brielle.

Mr. Starkey resigned from the Brielle Board of Education for unknown reasons on August 14, 2024.

On August 20, 2024, the petitioner sent a one-page email[1] to the OAL. (P-1.) On August 26, 2024, this tribunal sent an email to the petitioner inquiring if the email of August 20, 2024, was the petitioner's response to the respondent's Motion to Dismiss, to which the petitioner responded "Yes"[2]. (P-2.) In the petitioner's response to the BOE's motion to dismiss, she stated that even though Mr. Starkey had resigned, it was still "crucial" to pursue the case "to its full resolution." She further states:

> This matter is not merely about one candidate; it highlights a potential loophole in our election laws that could undermine the fairness of future elections if left undressed. Ensuring that all candidates meet the legal requirements to stand for election is fundamental to maintaining public trust in our democratic process."

[2] For ease of reference this tribunal will mark this email as P-2.

DISCUSSION AND CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

The first issue is whether the Commissioner of Education and the Office of Administrative Law have jurisdiction to rule on school election controversies challenging the eligibility of a member of a BOE and the actions he took during the campaign. The second issue is whether the Commissioner of Education and the Office of Administrative Law have jurisdiction over campaign communications, specifically unsolicited text messages sent by a third-party political campaign.

The Commissioner of Education has jurisdiction over all disputes arising under school laws but has no jurisdiction over the procedural process of school elections.

> The commissioner shall have jurisdiction to hear and determine, without cost to the parties, all controversies and disputes arising under the school laws, excepting those governing higher education, or under the rules of the State board or of the commissioner. For the purposes of this Title, controversies and disputes concerning the conduct of school elections shall not be deemed to arise under the school laws.
> [N.J.S.A. 18A:6-9 (emphasis added).]

All "alleged violations of the procedural process for school elections" must instead be brought in Superior Court. City of Orange Twp. Bd. of Educ. v. City of Orange Twp., EDU 01996-17, Order for Emergent Relief (February 28, 2017), <https://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal>, dismissed for lack of jurisdiction. When a party brings a procedural election claim to the Office of Administrative Law, it must be dismissed because the "Superior Court is the proper forum." City of Orange Twp. Bd. of Educ. v. City of Orange Twp., 451 N.J. Super. 310, 315 (Ch. Div. 2017).

Elections can be challenged on multiple procedural grounds, including that an "incumbent was not eligible to the office at the time of the election." N.J.S.A. 19:29-1(b). These challenges "shall be heard" by the "Superior Court assigned to the county" where the election was held. N.J.S.A. 19:29-2. Election challenges are "commenced by the filing of a petition . . . signed by at least 15 voters of the country or by any defeated candidate." Ibid. The petition must be "verified by the oath of at least 2 of the petitioners, or by the candidate." Ibid.

Notably, all election challenges must be brought no later than thirty-two days after the election, even when this allows an official to hold a position for which they might not be eligible. N.J.S.A. 19:29-3; see also Davis v. City of Plainfield, 389 N.J. Super. 424, 432 (Ch. Div. 2006); Jones v. Mitchell, 194 N.J. Super. 387, 392 (Law Div. 1983).

Challenging Starkey's Eligibility

There is no statutorily enumerated age requirement to serve on a board of education; however all members must be registered to vote in the district in which they serve, and citizens must be eighteen years old to vote. U.S. Const. amend XXIV, § 2; N.J.S.A. 18A:12-1. In 1973, a sixteen-year-old's petition to run as a candidate for the school board was denied based on his age, and the Superior Court upheld the denial, reasoning that the legislature decided candidates not old enough to vote were not "qualified to occupy the office of board member." Vittoria v. West Orange Bd. of Educ. 122 N.J. Super. 340, 357 (App. Div. 1973). Therefore, school board members must be eighteen years old to serve, but there is no case law addressing if a candidate needs to be eighteen by election day or by the beginning of their term.

The crux of the petitioner's complaint is that if Starkey had petitioned to be on the ballot, he would have probably been deemed ineligible based on his age, and so instead, he skirted the law by mounting a write-in campaign. The complaint argues that he was probably ineligible to run for the school board on election day but admits that he may have been eligible through an unintended, but unfair, loophole. The petitioner does not claim that the BOE or the Commissioner committed any wrongdoing or violated any rules and even goes so far as to say that this is something the "state legislature might want to review." Therefore, this is a procedural election claim beyond the authority of the Commissioner and the Office of Administrative Law. Because this is a statutory interpretation question about state election law procedure, I CONCLUDE that it must be brought before the Superior Court.

Furthermore, this claim is time-barred. The election was held on November 7, 2023, and the petitioner did not file the complaint until January 3, 2024. This was fifty-seven days after the election and twenty-five days past the statutory limit. N.J.S.A. 19:29-3. For this reason, I also CONCLUDE that this matter is time-barred.

Unsolicited Campaign Text Messages

The petitioner also claimed that the unsolicited text messages were "potentially" linked to New Jersey Senator Vin Gopal's campaign, which she felt "in addition to being potentially illegal . . . grossly undermines the integrity of the board." As with the first claim, she does not allege any wrongdoing by the Commissioner or the BOE but rather by the Gopal campaign and the sender of the text messages. I therefore CONCLUDE that this is not a claim against the Commissioner or the BOE, and jurisdiction is improper.

ORDER

Accordingly, and for the reasons articulated above, it is ORDERED that the motion of respondent Board of Education of the Borough of Brielle for an Order Granting Dismissal pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-9 is hereby GRANTED, and the petition of appeal is DISMISSED.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the ACTING COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified, or rejected by the ACTING COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Acting Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify, or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the ACTING COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION. Exceptions may be filed by email to ControversiesDisputesFilings@doe.nj.gov or by mail to Office of Controversies and Disputes, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500. A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

Final Decision

R.M. and J.M., on behalf of minor child, O.M.,

Petitioners,

v.

Board of Education of the Borough of Mountain Lakes, Morris County,

Respondent.

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed and considered. The parties did not file exceptions.

This matter concerns a determination by the Mountain Lakes Board of Education (Board) that petitioners' son, O.M., committed an act of harassment, intimidation, and bullying (HIB) when he made a comment towards a Black student that included the n-word. The student (complainant) reported the incident on June 8, 2023. Her HIB reporting form indicated that at approximately 10:00 am on June 8, 2023, "I was walking up the ramp when they called me the n-word from behind. Asked if they had a problem and told them I would knock their teeth out right now. I called my mom and she told me not to." (Complainant's HIB 338 Form). The complainant's reporting form lists O.M. and another student (student #2) as the alleged offenders.

The Board commenced an HIB investigation on June 8, 2023, the day of the alleged incident. According to the HIB Investigation Report, Anti-Bullying Specialists interviewed the alleged offenders that afternoon. O.M. reported that he and student #2 were trying to get into a friend's class. They were walking behind a teacher, Ms. Geveke, and the complainant "was in the middle" so student #2 said "move, move, move," to O.M. so they could avoid being seen by the teacher. (HIB Investigation Report). O.M. also wrote in a witness statement dated June 8, 2023, that student #2 said the words, "move, move, move" while walking behind the complainant and her friend. (O.M.'s Written Statement). O.M. further explained that he and student #2 were confused when the complainant then turned around and said, "What did you say?" and that she would "knock [their] teeth out." (HIB Investigation Report). When questioned, both O.M. and student #2 denied using the n-word during the encounter.

The HIB Investigation Report indicates that investigators tried to speak with the complainant on June 8, 202; however, she had been picked up from school early. Prior to the complainant leaving school, her mother reported to Vice Principal Lisa Cortese that the complainant was "upset and feeling uncomfortable in school." Ibid. Anti-Bullying Specialists interviewed the complainant the following day, on June 9, 2023. The complainant explained that she was walking up a ramp to class the previous morning, and O.M. and student #2 were walking behind her; "[t]hey said something before something nigger and then they said something else." Ibid. Following the incident, the complainant went to the bathroom and told her mother over the phone that "someone called me nigger in the hallway." Ibid. When asked who did it, the complainant identified OM and another student she did not know. The complainant also reported that Mountain Lakes teacher Linda Aldrich was in a bathroom stall while she was speaking to her mother and that when Aldrich came out, she told the complainant to come to her room if she had a problem. The complainant noted that she went to Aldrich's room and told her what happened; from there she and Aldrich went to the principal's office to report the incident.

Aldrich recounted, in a written statement dated Thursday, June 8, that she "overheard [the complainant] on the phone with her mother." (Linda Aldrich's Written Statement). Aldrich noted that the complainant "was very upset about what 2 boys had said behind her back in the hallway between classes." Ibid. Aldrich states that the complainant later came to her room and reported that "two boys were behind her on the ramp near room 341. She heard them say, 'Go nigger, go.'" Ibid.

The investigators concluded that an act of HIB had occurred based on the information collected in the investigation. Further, the investigators found that the victim was targeted based on her race and color and that she feared being verbally harassed by the alleged offenders inside of school. The students were given 3 days of out-of-school suspension, and counseling was provided to the complainant. Superintendent Michael Fetherman affirmed the findings of the investigation. Petitioners appealed this matter to the Board, and a hearing was held on September 19, 2023. Petitioner's counsel and O.M. appeared. O.M. told the Board that he had said, "Move, Nikki, move." The Board vacated the HIB finding and remanded the matter to the administration for further investigation and review given the new evidence provided by O.M. during the hearing.

On September 28, 2023, the District commenced a second investigation. In his interview, O.M. disclosed that he, not student #2 was the speaker and that he had said, "Move, Nikki, move." (Addendum Report). When reminded that his written statement from the day of the incident states the words, "move, move, move," O.M. responded, "I am not sure why I said two different things." He then added, "They are both correct." Ibid. When questioned further about the discrepancy in his statements, O.M. refused to answer, and the interview ended. Student #2 was interviewed that day also and stated that O.M. was the speaker, and said, "Move, Nikki, move." Ibid. During the complainant's September 28, 2023, interview, she reported that she heard O.M. and student #2 say the n-word but was not "100% sure what else they said, but it was something like walk nigger walk or go nigger go." Ibid.

The second investigation concluded that O.M. committed HIB against the complainant. Fetherman found the complainant to be credible and noted her visceral reaction caught on surveillance camera, indicating her displeasure with the use of the n-word. In contrast, he found that O.M. was not credible and that he and student #2 made up the testimony, "Move, Nikki, move" to avoid responsibility. Further, Fetherman found that O.M. said, "Walk, nigger, walk or Go, nigger, go." (Notice of Board Decision, 10/19/23). The Board affirmed Fetherman's decision and petitioners appealed the HIB finding to the Commissioner of Education. Petitioners argue that the HIB investigation was incomplete as the Board failed to interview additional witnesses who they believe were in the hallway during the incident. Petitioners also allege that the investigation did not produce sufficient evidence to support the finding of HIB.

After the matter was transmitted to the OAL, the Board filed a Motion for Summary Decision, and the petitioner filed opposition. The Board then filed its reply. The ALJ granted the Board's motion for summary decision, concluding that the action that the Board took to determine whether O.M. engaged in HIB conduct was not arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable.

Specifically, the ALJ concluded that the Board properly conducted the required investigation and that Fetherman's findings supported the Board's determination that O.M. engaged in HIB.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurs with the ALJ's conclusion that the Board's HIB determination was not arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable. When a local board of education acts within its discretionary authority, its decision is entitled to a presumption of correctness and will not be disturbed unless there is an affirmative showing that the decision was "patently arbitrary, without rational basis or induced by improper motives." Kopera v. Bd. of Educ. of W. Orange, 60 N.J. Super. 288, 294 (App. Div. 1960). Furthermore, "where there is room for two opinions, action is not arbitrary or capricious when exercised honestly and upon due consideration," and the Commissioner will not substitute his judgment for that of the board. Bayshore Sewerage Co. v. Dep't of Env't Prot., 122 N.J. Super. 184, 199 (Ch. Div. 1973), aff'd, 131 N.J. Super. 37 (App. Div. 1974). Regarding HIB determinations, this standard has been explained as requiring a petitioner to "demonstrate that the Board acted in bad faith, or in utter disregard of the circumstances before it." G.H. and E.H. o/b/o K.H. v. Bd. of Educ. of Borough of Franklin Lakes, Bergen Cnty., OAL Dkt. No. EDU 13204-13 (Initial Decision, Feb. 24, 2014), adopted, Commissioner Decision No. 157-14 (Apr. 10, 2014).

The Anti-Bullying Bill of Rights defines HIB as follows:

> [A]ny gesture, any written, verbal or physical act, or any electronic communication, whether it be a single incident or a series of incidents, that is reasonably perceived as being motivated either by any actual or perceived characteristic, such as race, color, religion, ancestry, national origin, gender, sexual orientation, gender identity and expression, or a mental, physical or sensory disability, or by any other distinguishing characteristic, that takes place on school property, at any school-sponsored function, on a school bus, or off school grounds as provided for in section 16 of P.L. 2010, c.122 (C. 18A:37-15.3), that substantially disrupts or interferes with > the orderly operation of the school or the rights of other students and that:

> a. a reasonable person should know, under the circumstances, will have the effect of physically or emotionally harming a student or damaging the student's property, or placing a student in reasonable fear of physical or emotional harm to his person or damage to his property;
>
>
> c. creates a hostile educational environment for the student by interfering with a student's education or by severely or pervasively causing physical or emotional harm to the student.
> N.J.S.A. 18A:37-14.

Here, the record shows that the Board's investigation was sufficiently thorough. The Board commenced an HIB investigation regarding O.M.'s alleged comment on June 8, 2023, the day of the alleged incident. The HIB Investigation Report and Addendum Report indicate the methodology the Board utilized in reaching the HIB determination. The Anti-Bullying Specialists interviewed both alleged offenders hours after the incident, and interviewed the complainant the following day, on June 9, 2023. The investigation also considered the complainant's HIB report form, and written statements from the complainant, Aldrich, O.M. and student #2, that were dated June 8, 2023, the day of the incident. The Board vacated their HIB determination and reopened the investigation after O.M. provided new information. The complainant, student #2, and O.M. were all interviewed again on September 28, 2023, and the investigators inquired into O.M.'s inconsistent testimony. Lastly, video surveillance of the incident was also reviewed during the investigation. Given the written statements, interview notes, remand upon the discovery of new testimony, and the review of video surveillance of the alleged incident, the Commissioner concurs with the ALJ that the Board properly undertook the required investigation.

Petitioners argue that the HIB investigation was not complete or thorough because the Board failed to interview Ms. Geveke and the complainant's friend, both of whom they allege were in the hallway at the time of the incident. In addition, petitioners argue that the Board failed to seek out additional witnesses that were in the vicinity of the incident, which unreasonably turned the investigation into a battle of credibility between the complainant and the alleged offenders. However, the Investigation Report indicates that the Board had already utilized a reasonable methodology in investigating the alleged HIB. For the Commissioner to hold that interviewing other witnesses would have been more reasonable than the investigative steps the Board took would require the Commissioner to substitute his judgment for that of the Board's, which is impermissible.

Furthermore, any testimony indicating that the alleged offenders did not say the n-word would, at most, balance the other evidence on the record from the complainant and Aldrich that O.M. did say the n-word. While evidence may leave room for two opinions regarding whether O.M. said the n-word, it is insufficient to overturn the Board's decision, since it does not demonstrate that the Board's decision was arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable.

The ALJ correctly concluded that Fetherman's findings, as reported to the Board, supported the Board's determination that O.M. committed HIB. Fetherman's findings are sufficiently supported by the record. In the Addendum Report, Fetherman found the complainant to be credible. He referenced the complainant's emotional phone call with her mother that was overheard by Aldrich, unbeknownst to the complainant. Fetherman also noted that the complainant provided consistent testimony whenever asked about the incident; for instance, the complainant was steadfast in her allegation that the comment included the n-word, and she consistently identified O.M. as an alleged offender from the beginning. Lastly, Fetherman found that the video surveillance footage showed the complainant's visceral response to the use of the n-word.

In a letter to petitioners, dated October 19, 2023, Fetherman found that O.M. was not credible due to inconsistencies in his testimony throughout the investigation as well as O.M.'s response when confronted with said inconsistencies. The record supports Fetherman's credibility finding regarding O.M. In both his written statement and his interview from June 8, 2023, O.M. reported that student #2 was the speaker, and that he had said, "Move, move, move." At that time, neither O.M. nor student #2 reported that O.M. had said, "Move, Nikki, move." During the remand interview, O.M. could not account for the discrepancy in his testimony, stating that both comments are correct. He then refused to answer further questions. Fetherman concluded in the Addendum Report that O.M.'s reluctance to answer questions regarding his inconsistent testimony contributed to his lack of credibility as he was unwilling to make a case for his innocence in response to the allegations.

Lastly, Fetherman's findings in the October 19, 2023, letter – that O.M. directed a comment with the n-word towards the complainant, who is African-American; that the comment was reasonably perceived to have been motivated by the complainant's race; and that O.M.'s comment interfered with the complainant's rights in violation of the Anti-Bullying Bill of Rights and the Board's HIB policy – are sufficiently supported by the record. As such, the Board's reliance on Fetherman's findings in reaching the HIB decision is not arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable, nor does it "...demonstrate that the Board acted in bad faith, or in utter disregard of the circumstances before it." G.H. and E.H. o/b/o K.H. v. Bd. of Educ. of Borough of Franklin

R.M. AND J.M. ON BEHALF OF MINOR CHILD, O.M., Petitioner,
v.
BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE BOROUGH OF MOUNTAIN LAKES, MORRIS COUNTY,
Respondent.

Joseph J. Bell, Esq., for Petitioners (Bell, Shivas & Bell, P.C., attorneys)

Sean W. Fogarty, Esq. for Respondent (Fogarty and Hara, Esqs., attorneys)

Record Closed: August 16, 2024 Decided: September 30, 2024

BEFORE R. TALI EPSTEIN, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Petitioners challenge a determination that O.M., their minor son, engaged in Harassment, Intimidation, and Bullying (HIB) against an African-American student on June 8, 2023 (the "Incident"), when he made a comment directed at the student that included the word "nigger." Should the HIB conclusion stand, even though O.M. claims he did not utter that word during the Incident? Yes. Respondent's determination is entitled to a presumption of correctness, and petitioners have not established that it is arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On March 19, 2024, R.M. and J.M. (Petitioners) filed a Verified Petition of Appeal (Petition) with the Commissioner of Education (Commissioner) challenging the HIB determination made by the Mountain Lakes Board of Education (Board, or Respondent) against Petitioners' son, O.M. (Certification of Sean Fogarty, dated July 17, 2024, Ex. A.) The Petition alleges that the HIB investigation was not thorough or complete in that additional witnesses were not interviewed, and the HIB determination was not supported by the record and/or based on disputed findings. (Id., Ex. A, ¶¶ 21-23; 31-33.) The Petition also asserts procedural deficiencies with the Board's actions. (Id., Ex. A, ¶ 34.) Petitioners seek to set aside the Board's decision and remove the HIB finding from O.M.'s records on the grounds that the Board's determination was arbitrary, capricious, and unreasonable. (Id., Ex. A, ¶ 36.)

On April 9, 2024, Respondent answered the Petition denying Petitioners' allegations of wrongdoing. (Id., Ex. B.) In its Answer and Separate Defenses, Respondent maintains that it followed all required procedures and that its decision met the HIB criteria. (Id., Ex. B.) Respondent demands judgment for relief, ordering that the Petition be dismissed with prejudice and declaring that its finding that O.M. engaged in conduct which constituted HIB was not arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable. (Id., Ex. B, Wherefore Clause).

On June 13, 2024, Respondent served its first set of Interrogatories and Request for Admissions on Petitioners. (Id., Ex. C.) Respondent's counsel further certifies that Petitioners did not object to the Request for Admissions or provide written discovery responses by the June 28, 2024, deadline, and the matters are deemed admitted pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-10.4(c). (Id., ¶¶ 4-5.) Petitioners purported to serve belated, unsworn and undated responses, which were forwarded by email on July 24, 2024.

The Department of Education (DOE) transmitted this case to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), where it was filed on April 10, 2024, as a contested case under the Administrative Procedure Act, N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15, and the act establishing the OAL, N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13, for a hearing under the Uniform Administrative Procedure Rules, N.J.A.C. 1:1-1.1 to -21.6.

The matter was assigned to me on April 19, 2024. Following a prehearing conference and subsequent communications with the parties, I issued a prehearing order on May 31, 2024, which provided, among other things, a summary decision briefing schedule.

On July 17, 2024, the Board timely filed its motion for a summary decision. Petitioners filed their opposition on August 9, 2024, three days past the ordered deadline. Regardless, the tribunal excuses Petitioners' delinquency and has considered the opposition as if it were timely submitted. On August 16, 2024, the Board timely submitted its reply papers.

FINDINGS OF RELEVANT FACT

Based on the documents submitted in support and opposition to the motion for summary decision, and when viewed in the light most favorable to the non-movants, I FIND the following FACTS:

It is undisputed that O.M. was a ninth-grade student attending Mountain Lakes High School (Mountain Lakes) at the time of the Incident, on June 8, 2023. The parties also acknowledge that O.M. has a 2023–2024 Individualized Educational Program. There is no claim that O.M.'s eligibility for special education at Mountain Lakes impacted his ability to fully appreciate his conduct or the Board's determination that he engaged in a violation of the Anti-Bullying Bill of Rights Act, N.J.S.A. 18A37-13 to -32 (ABBRA), as adopted by the Board Policy No. 5512.

Regarding the Incident and the ensuing investigation, the following facts are also undisputed:

On or about, June 8, 2023, Mountain Lakes received a report of a HIB allegation that occurred on the same day on "the ramp leaving the new wing" of the high school building. (Certification of Michael Fetherman, dated July 17, 2024, Ex. B.) As described verbatim in the HIB 338 Form (the "reporting form"), the Victim (student S.B.) reported that, at approximately 10:00 am, she "was walking up the ramp when they called me the nword [sic] from behind. Asked if they had a problem and told them I would knock their teeth out right now. I called my mom and she told me not to." (Id., Ex. B.) The reporting form further identifies O.M. and another student as the alleged offenders. (Id., Ex. B.)

The Victim completed the reporting form after Linda Aldrich (Aldrich), a Mountain Lakes teacher, "overheard [the] Victim on the phone with her mother." (Id., Ex. D.) In her witness statement, dated June 8, 2023, Aldrich recounted that the Victim "was very upset about what 2 boys had said behind her back in the hallway between classes." (Id., Ex. D.) Aldrich's statement further detailed that she told the Victim that she "was available in the art room if [the Victim] needed [her] help." (Id., Ex. D.) The Victim "came to [Aldrich] and told [her] that two boys were behind [the Victim] on the ramp near room 341." [The Victim] heard them say, "Go nigger, go." After listening to the Victim's account, Aldrich told her that the Incident "needed to be reported and [they] went to see [the principal]." (Id., Ex. D.)

In her witness statement, written the same day in the principal's office, the Victim wrote that "I was walking in the hallway and I hear nigger from behind me. I turned around and asked if they had a problem. [T]hey said no they were talking about/to someone else. Told them I'll knock their teeth out and kid said do it. I choose [sic] not to so there wouldn't be another problem for me." (Id., Ex. C.) The Victim also filled out the HIB 338 Form.

Mountain Lakes' Anti-Bullying Specialists/Investigators, Maria Lindsay (Lindsay) and Cara Pelchat (Pelchat), investigated the Incident with the assistance of Vice Principal Lisa Cortese (Cortese). Their investigation commenced on the day of the Incident.

The HIB Report notes that the investigators tried to interview the Victim on June 8, 2023, but she was picked up from school early. (Id., Ex. E.) The Victim's mom had previously advised Cortese that her daughter might be picked up early by her grandmother because she was "upset and feeling uncomfortable in school." (Id., Ex. E.) The Victim was picked up at 12:05 pm by her grandmother. (Id., Ex. E.)

At 12:23 pm on June 8, 2023, Lindsay and Pelchat spoke with O.M. A case manager also sat in on the discussion. (Id., Ex. E.) As detailed in the HIB Report, O.M. explained that he and another student (Offender 2) were walking behind a teacher (Ms. Geveke), and the Victim "was in the middle," so Offender 2 said "move, move, move" to O.M. "so that they could get out of Ms. Geveke's sight." (Id., Ex. E.) O.M. used the same words ("move, move, move") in the June 8, 2023, witness statement that he wrote, but in the written statement, O.M. does not clarify to whom the words were directed (i.e., to O.M. or to the Victim.) (Id., Ex. F.)

O.M. further reported to the investigators that he and Offender 2 "were confused" when the Victim turned around and said, "What did you say?" and that she would knock their teeth out. (Id., Ex. E.) O.M. said that he was laughing when Offender 2 responded to the Victim and told her to "go ahead." (Id., Ex. E.) When O.M. was questioned if he used the "N-word," he said "no." (Id., Ex. E.)

Offender 2 was questioned after O.M., and he also denied using the "N-word" during the encounter described by O.M. (Id., Ex. E.)

On the following day, June 9, 2023, Lindsay and Pelchat met with the Victim to obtain her statement. The following abbreviated account is taken from the HIB Report: The Victim identified O.M. and Offender 2 and recounted that "[t]hey said something before something nigger and then they said something else and I turned around [and] said do you have a problem and they said no we were talking to someone else, about someone else, but there was no one else in the hallway." (Id., Ex. E.) The Victim also reported that she turned toward Offender 2 and said she would knock his teeth out because she thought he was the one who responded to her, but instead walked away and called her mother. The Victim told her mother that "someone called me a nigger in the hallway." (Id., Ex. E.) When her mother asked her who did that, the Victim told her "it was OM and some other kid." (Id., Ex. E.) This was the conversation that Aldrich overheard in the bathroom.

The Victim then relayed how Aldrich told her to come talk to her if she had a problem, and after hearing what transpired, they went to speak to the principal. When the principal asked the Victim if she knew "who it was," she responded that "she was pretty sure it was O.M." (Id., Ex. E.) The Victim also confirmed that she left school early on the day of the Incident because she "didn't feel comfortable in school" and "you never know what will happen . . . like if [she] was going to be harassed or jumped." (Id., Ex. E.)

The HIB Report "concluded that the Incident" was an "act of HIB." (Id., Ex. E.) The conclusion was "[b]ased on the information collected in the investigation," which supported the finding that the Victim, who is African-American, was "targeted based on her race and color and was in fear of being verbally harassed by the alleged offenders inside of school." (Id., Ex. E.)

The results of the HIB investigation were reported to Superintendent Michael Fetherman (Fetherman). (Id., ¶ 17.) After reviewing the HIB Report, Fetherman decided to affirm the findings because he "agreed there was evidence which suggested that the alleged HIB behavior was motivated by a distinguishing characteristic of the Victim." (Id., ¶ 17.) Fetherman then reported the results of the investigation to the Board. (Id., ¶ 17.)

On or about June 16, 2023, Fetherman notified Petitioners of the results of the HIB investigation and their right to request a hearing before the Board. (Id., Ex. G.) Petitioners requested a hearing, which was adjourned to September 19, 2023, to accommodate Petitioners' schedule.

On September 19, 2023, the Board held a HIB appeal in executive session. Petitioners' counsel presented arguments, and O.M. testified. When O.M. addressed the Board, he reported that he (not Offender 2) said, "Move, Nicki, move." (Id., Ex. I.) The day after the hearing, the Board wrote to Petitioners, advising that their prior determination would be modified by vacating the HIB finding and remanding the matter for further review and investigation. (Id., Ex. I)

Accordingly, the District conducted a further investigation on September 28, 2023, and prepared an Addendum Report. (Id., Ex. J.)

As reflected in the Addendum Report, when O.M. was interviewed for the second time, he admitted that he (not Offender 2) was the speaker and that he said, "Move, Nicki, move." (Id., Ex. J.) When asked why he used the words "move, move, move" in his statement that was written on the same day of the Incident, he replied, "I am not sure why I said two different things" and then added, "They are both correct." (Id., Ex. J.) When further challenged, O.M. stated that he did not want to answer further questions, and the interview ended. (Id., Ex. J.)

During Offender 2's interview on September 28, 2023, he corroborated O.M. new account that O.M. was the speaker and that O.M. said, "Move, Nicki, move." (Id., Ex. J.) Yet, when he was first interviewed on the same date as the Incident, Offender 2 did not identify any specific words that were spoken by O.M. (Id., Ex. E.)

When the Victim was interviewed again on September 28, 2023, she reported that "I heard O.M. and [Offender 2] say nigger." (Id., Ex. J.) She was "not 100%" sure of the words uttered before and after the "N-word" but recalled that "it was something like 'walk, nigger, walk' or 'go, nigger, go.'" (Id., Ex. J.)

Following Fetherman's review of the Addendum Report, he concluded that "O.M. and Offender 2 were not credible and that O.M. said, "Move, nigger, move." (Id., ¶ 26.) Fetherman's findings and the bases upon which they are supported appear in the section of the Addendum Report titled "Superintendent's Findings." (Id., Ex. J.)

The conclusion of the remanded investigation was that O.M. was found to have engaged in a HIB infraction against the Victim. (Id., Ex. J.)

On October 16, 2023, Fetherman reported the results of the remanded investigation to the Board at its regularly scheduled meeting, in executive session. Fetherman provided Petitioners with a copy of his decision on the remanded investigation on October 19, 2023. (Id., Ex. K.)

On November 6, 2023, during its regularly scheduled meeting, the Board deliberated and unanimously voted to affirm Fetherman's decision and the HIB finding against O.M. (Id., Ex. L.)

DISCUSSION AND CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

Under the Uniform Administrative Procedure, N.J.A.C. 1:1-1.1 to -21.6, which governs the conduct of contested cases before the OAL, a party may file a motion for summary decision on substantive issues in a contested case. N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(a). The motion "shall be served with briefs and with or without supporting affidavits." N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(b). The Administrative Law Judge presiding over the contested case may grant a party's motion "if the papers and discovery which have been filed, together with the affidavits, if any, show that there is no genuine issue as to any material fact challenged and that the moving party is entitled to prevail as a matter of law." Ibid. Accord Brill v. Guardian Life Ins. Co. of Am.,142 N.J. 520, 530 (1995). To overcome an adequately supported motion for summary decision, the non-moving party must submit an affidavit showing that a genuine issue of material fact exists that can only be determined in an evidentiary proceeding. N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(b).

Further, as applicable here, an action by a board of education "is entitled to a presumption of correctness and will not be upset unless there is an affirmative showing that such decision was arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable." Thomas v. Morris Twp. Bd. of Educ., 89 N.J. Super. 327, 332 (App. Div. 1965). Stated otherwise, when a local board of education acts within its discretionary authority, its decision will not be disturbed unless it is demonstrated that the decision was "patently arbitrary, without rational basis or induced by improper motives." Kopera v. W. Orange Bd. of Educ., 60 N.J. Super. 288, 294 (App. Div. 1960). Thus, to successfully challenge a HIB determination made by a board of education, a party "must demonstrate that the Board acted in bad faith, or in utter disregard of the circumstances before it." G.H. & E.H. ex rel. K.H. v. Bd. of Educ. of the Bor. of Franklin Lakes, EDU 13204-13, Initial Decision (February 24, 2014) (citation omitted), adopted, Comm'r (April 10, 2014). A board's decision may also be overturned if its determination violates the legislative policies expressed or implied in the governing act. J.A.H. ex rel. C.H. v. Twp. of Pittsgrove Bd. of Educ., EDU 10826-12, Initial Decision (March 11, 2013) (citing Campbell v. Dep't of Civil Serv., 39 N.J. 556, 562 (1963)), adopted, Comm'r (April 25, 2013).

The Legislature designed the ABBRA, N.J.S.A. 18A:37-13 to -37, "to strengthen the standards and procedures for preventing, reporting, investigating, and responding to incidents of harassment, intimidation, and bullying of students that occur in school and off school premises." N.J.S.A.18A:37-13.1(f). Each school district must adopt a policy that prohibits HIB and provides "a procedure for prompt investigation of reports of violations and complaints." N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(b)(6).

Under the ABBRA, "harassment, intimidation or bullying" is defined as:

> [A]ny gesture, any written, verbal or physical act, or any electronic communication, whether it be a single incident or a series of incidents, that is reasonably perceived as being motivated either by any actual or perceived characteristic, such as race, color, religion, ancestry, national origin, gender, sexual orientation, gender identity and expression, or a mental, physical or sensory disability, or by any other distinguishing characteristic, that takes place on school property, at any school-sponsored function, on a school bus, or off school grounds as provided for in section 16 of P.L.2010, c.122 (C.18A:37-15.3), that substantially disrupts or interferes with the orderly operation of the school or the rights of other students and that:
>
> a. a reasonable person should know, under the circumstances, will have the effect of physically or emotionally harming a student or damaging the student's property, or placing a student in > reasonable fear of physical or emotional harm to his person or damage to his property;

>
> b. has the effect of insulting or demeaning any student or group of students; or
>
> c. creates a hostile educational environment for the student by interfering with a student's education or by severely or pervasively causing physical or emotional harm to the student.
> [N.J.S.A. 18A:37-14]

Consistent with the ABBRA, the Board adopted a HIB policy, Board Policy No. 5512, mirroring the statutory language. As applied to the facts here, it is beyond dispute that the conduct at issue met the definition of a HIB.

First, the Incident involved a verbal act. As detailed above, the fact that the utterance included the word "nigger" is sufficiently supported in the record by the Victim's repeated statements, as corroborated by Aldrich's witness statement, which was made on the same date of the Incident. From the Victim's first account of the Incident to her mother and then to Aldrich, followed by the Victim's statement in the HIB 338 Form, her witness statement, initial interview, and second interview during the remanded investigation, the Victim was consistent and steadfast in her report that the comment made included the word "nigger."

Second, it is incontrovertible that the utterance of the "N-word" to an African-American student would be reasonably perceived as motivated by an actual or perceived characteristic of that student. Third, the conduct towards the Victim substantially disrupted the Victim and interfered with her rights in violation of the ABBRA and the Board policy. She retreated from the scene of the Incident, texted her mother, and then went to the bathroom so she could call her mother "to calm [her] down." She expressed that she "didn't feel comfortable in school" and had her grandmother come to pick her up early. The Victim also reported a concern that she could possibly be "harassed or jumped" if she had stayed in school.

The final criterion for finding that a HIB act occurred is satisfied by meeting one of the three prongs set forth in the subparts to 18A:37-14. In this case, all three are satisfied. Calling the Victim, an African-American student, the "N-word" has the indisputable effect of "insulting or demeaning a student." Sufficient evidence in the record also exists to support the District's finding that the Victim was insulted by the comment and understood it to be directed to her. In addition to the Victim's report, O.M. and Offender 2 similarly reported that the Victim instantly turned around when she heard the slur to confront them. Her immediate reaction evidenced that she was deeply affected by the demeaning comment. The conduct also met the first and third prongs of N.J.S.A. 18A:37-14. A reasonable person should have known that calling an African-American student the "N-word" would have the effect of emotionally harming the student or placing the student in reasonable fear of physical or emotional harm. Equally clear is the finding that calling a student the "N-word" creates a "hostile educational environment for the student" as defined in the statute.

In short, there is no question that the conduct at issue meets the legal definition of HIB. Indeed, Petitioners do not dispute that such conduct constitutes harassment, intimidation, or bullying within the meaning of the ABBRA. Instead, they argue that O.M. did not engage in that conduct because he did not use the "N-word" in the utterance he made in the hallway on the day of the Incident. Put simply, Petitioners' position is that the superintendent should have believed O.M., not the Victim. Petitioners, thus, seek to have this tribunal hear testimony regarding the Incident and make its own evaluation of O.M.'s credibility to determine whether he was truthful during the initial and remanded HIB investigation.

To support their argument, Petitioners cite to caselaw that stands for the general proposition that credibility determinations are the province of the factfinder and cannot be adjudicated by summary decision. See Avery v. Arthur Armitage Agency, 242 N.J. Super 293, 307 (App. Div. 1990), citing Judson, 17 N.J. at 75; D'Amato v. D'Amato, 305 N.J. Super. 109, 114 (App. Div. 1997) (cases cited in Petitioners' Opposition Brief). But an evidentiary hearing is not required where the documentary record establishes that the Board acted within its discretion to determine whether an act of HIB occurred. In other words, to determine whether the Board's decision was arbitrary, capricious, and unreasonable, I need only decide whether sufficient credible evidence supports the Board's decision. Even if that evidence leaves room for me to form another opinion, it is insufficient ground to overturn the Board's decision, "so long as the Board has not acted dishonestly or in bad faith." R.R. o/b/o minor child, A.R. v. Bd. of Educ. of the Bor. of Ramsey, Bergen County, No. EDU 0378-23, Initial Decision (Jan 29, 2024), adopted, No. 131-24 (Comm'r March 8, 2024).

Based on the undisputed facts set forth above, I CONCLUDE that the District properly undertook the required investigation. I further CONCLUDE that Fetherman's findings, as reported to the Board, amply supported the Board's determination that O.M. engaged in an act of HIB. Further, Petitioners failed to present any competent evidence, in the form of an opposing affidavit as required by N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(b), to overcome summary decision in Respondent's favor. Standing alone, their allegations that the District's investigation was "incomplete" because other potential witnesses could have been interviewed or that the Board "did not hear any other opinions on the issue besides that of the former superintendent Fetherman"[1] do not demonstrate that the Board "acted in bad faith, or in utter disregard of the circumstances before it." G.H. & E.H. ex rel. K.H. v. Bd. of Educ. of Franklin Lakes, No. EDU 13204-13, Initial Decision (Feb. 24, 2014) (citation omitted), adopted, Comm'r (Apr. 10, 2014).

The record establishes that the Board's decision to affirm the HIB finding against O.M. is well-supported by the evidence collected by the District, which included, among other things, multiple reports from the Victim who remained steadfast in her account that the offending statement included the "N-word"; a corroborating witness statement from a teacher made on the same day as the Incident; and O.M.'s accounts of the Incident which changed over time to admit that he was the speaker, though denying he used the [1] See Petitioners' Letter Brief in Opposition to Respondent's Motion for Summary Decision, dated August 9, 2024, p. 9.

"N-word" and refusing to answer additional, follow-up questions during the remanded investigation.[2]

That the District's investigators, Fetherman and, thereafter, the Board believed the Victim's account to be more consistent with the evidence than O.M.'s version of the Incident simply does not render the Board's decision to affirm the HIB finding arbitrary, capricious, or against the weight of the evidence. See, e.g., R.R. o/b/o minor child, A.R. v. Bd. of Educ. of the Bor. of Ramsey, Bergen County, No. EDU 0378-23 (Initial Decision Jan 29, 2024), adopted, No. 131-24 (Comm'r March 8, 2024) (it is "reasonable and rational" for the District to have found "the victim's explanation more consistent with the evidence collected during the investigation.")

Accordingly, on the basis of the undisputed material facts and applicable legal standards, I CONCLUDE that the action of the Board in determining that O.M. engaged in conduct that constituted harassment, intimidation, or bullying within the meaning of the ABBRA was not arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable.

ORDER

Given my findings of fact and conclusions of law, I ORDER that Respondent's motion for summary decision is GRANTED and DISMISS the Petitioners' appeal.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the ACTING COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified, or rejected by the ACTING COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT

THIS SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT ("Agreement") is by and between the Newark Board of Education ("Board") and Angeline Montauban ("Employee").

WHEREAS, on or about November 10, 2022, Employee filed a Verified Complaint with the New Jersey Department of Law and Public Safety, Division on Civil Rights, and that Verified Complaint (the "DCR Complaint") was assigned NJDCR Docket No. E2022-000964; and the Board, through its attorneys, filed an answer to the DCR Complaint, denying the allegations therein;

WHEREAS, on or about November 14, 2022, Employee filed a Charge of Discrimination with the U.S. Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, and that Charge (the "EEOC Charge") was assigned EEOC Charge No. 17E-2023-00032; and by letter dated November 14, 2022, the EEOC advised that it would refrain from investigating pending resolution of the DCR complaint;

WHEREAS, on or about October 27, 2023, Employee filed a Petition to the New Jersey Commissioner of Education; and that Petition (the "Petition") was assigned Agency Ref. No. 296-10/23, transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law, and there assigned Docket No. EDU 14008-2023; and the Board, through its attorneys, filed an Answer to the Petition, denying the allegations therein;

WHEREAS, Employee and the Board wish to resolve any and all claims and differences, known or unknown, that Employee has or may have against the Board, including but not limited to the claims stated in the DCR Complaint, the EEOC Charge, and the Petition, in accordance with the terms set forth herein, without any admission as to liability or fault;

NOW, THEREFORE, the parties hereby agree as follows:

1. In consideration for Employee's execution of this Agreement and compliance with the promises made herein, the Board will provide Employee the following consideration:

(a) Within 30 days of the date on which the Board receives this Agreement signed by Employee, Employee will receive payment in the amount of five thousand five hundred dollars ($5,500.00), provided that Employee has not exercised the right to revoke this Agreement in accordance with paragraph 13.

(b) For the 2024-2025 school year, Employee will be placed on Step L of the salary guide in the current agreement between the Newark Teachers Union and the Board, for an annual salary of eighty-eight thousand one hundred twenty-five dollars ($88,125.00) plus four thousand dollars ($4,000.00) longevity. In succeeding years Employee will receive salary in accordance with the Agreement between the Board and the Newark Teachers Union; provided, however, that this shall not be construed to affect in any way the Board's authority to withhold Employee's salary increment in accordance with applicable law.

2. It is understood and agreed that in return for the consideration set forth in paragraph 1 above and the other promises contained herein, the sufficiency of which is hereby acknowledged, Employee will take and all action necessary to withdraw or voluntarily dismiss the DCR Complaint, the EEOC Charge and the Petition immediately upon execution of this Agreement. Furthermore, employee does hereby knowingly and voluntarily, completely and forever, release and discharge the Board, its present and former members, employees, officers, agents and representatives from any and all causes of action, claims, judgments, obligations, damages, all claims to attorneys' fees, and all rights to pre- or post-judgment interest or liabilities of whatever kind and character, relating to Employee's employment or the termination of Employee's employment with the Board. This releases all claims, including those of which Employee is not aware and those not mentioned in this Agreement, and it applies to all claims resulting from anything which has happened from the beginning of time to the date of this Agreement. Without limiting the foregoing, Employee hereby releases and waives any and all pending claims, complaints, petitions, and grievances filed or otherwise presented against the Board on her behalf, any and all appeals of said matters; and all issues presented, asserted, or assertable in connection with such matters.

3. The release set forth herein includes but is not limited to any claims that Employee or anyone on Employee's behalf may have arising under Title 18A of the New Jersey Statutes, the New Jersey Wage and Hour Law, the New Jersey Law Against Discrimination, the New Jersey Conscientious Employee Protection Act, the New Jersey Family Leave Act, the New Jersey Civil Rights Act, the Civil Rights Act of 1964 as amended, the Civil Rights Act of 1991 as amended, the Americans with Disabilities Act, the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, the Family and Medical Leave Act, the Fair Labor Standards Act, the Workers' Compensation Act, the Age Discrimination in Employment Act, the Employee Retirement Income Security Act ("ERISA"), the Consolidated Omnibus Budgetary Reconciliation Act ("COBRA"), the Older Workers Benefit Protection Act ("OWBPA"), the Uniformed Services Employment and Reemployment Rights Act, 42 U.S.C. § 1981, 42 U.S.C. § 1983, or any other federal, state or local civil rights, human rights, wage and hour, pension, employment or labor law, rule and/or regulation, public policy, contract or tort law, or the United States or New Jersey State Constitution; any claim of retaliation under such laws; any claim arising under the common law, including but not limited to causes of action for wrongful discharge, breach of contract or violation of collective negotiations agreement, fraud, defamation, interference with contract or prospective economic advantage, breach of the implied covenant of good faith and fair dealing, breach of any employment handbook or manual; any claims of violation of tenure or seniority rights; any tort claims, including but not limited to any claim for civil battery, civil assault, outrage, negligent or intentional infliction of emotional distress; claims of violation of any other federal, state, or local statute, law or ordinance; claims for loss of income, unpaid wages, payment for accumulated sick leave, personal leave or vacation time; compensatory damages, emotional distress, attorneys' fees and costs, and any other cause of action whether cognizable in law or in equity, known or unknown, based on any conduct up to and including the date of this Agreement. Employee further agrees that Employee has not filed or made any allegations relating to Employer in any other matter in any court, agency or tribunal.

4. Nothing in this Agreement shall be construed to prohibit Employee from filing a claim for unemployment compensation or workers' compensation, filing a charge with the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission ("EEOC"), or participating in any investigation or proceeding conducted by the EEOC, or to adversely affect his right to engage in such action. Notwithstanding the foregoing, Employee hereby waives any right to obtain or recover any monies or compensation as a result of filing any such EEOC charge.

5. This Agreement shall be governed by the law of the State of New Jersey and shall be construed and interpreted in accordance with the laws of the State of New Jersey. Any action in relation to or to enforce this Agreement must be brought in a court of competent jurisdiction in New Jersey.

6. If any provision of this Agreement is determined by a court or tribunal of competent jurisdiction to be in violation of any federal or state law or otherwise unenforceable, the remainder of the Agreement shall not be affected by such determination and shall remain in full force and effect.

7. This Agreement may not be altered, amended or modified except by a writing, signed and duly a uthorized by or on behalf of both parties.

8. The parties have entered into this Agreement freely and voluntarily, with a full understanding of their rights and the contents of this Agreement.

9. Employee and the Board each acknowledge that they have been represented by their respective legal counsel in the negotiation of this Agreement; they have discussed the contents of this Agreement at length with their respective counsel; they fully understand the requirements and limitations of this instrument; and they are fully satisfied with the representation provided to them by their respective legal counsel.

10. This Agreement contains the entire Agreement and understanding between the parties and constitutes a full and final settlement relating to the issues referenced herein.

11. This Agreement is binding upon and shall inure to the benefit of the Parties and their respective heirs, executors, administrators, successors, and assigns.

12. This Agreement may be executed in counterparts, each of which shall be deemed an original.

13. Employee acknowledges that she has had twenty-one (21) days to review this Agreement from the time it was presented to her and that she has an opportunity to review this Agreement with an attorney to the extent she chose to do so. Employee also acknowledges that she has been advised that she has seven (7) days after she signs and delivers the Agreement to revoke it by notifying Employer of such revocation in writing. This Agreement is not and shall not be effective or enforceable until the seven-day revocation period has expired.

14. Employee has signed this Agreement voluntarily and entirely of Employee's own free will, without any pressure from the Board or any representative of the Board.

Respondent.

Stephen R. Fogarty, Esq., for petitioner (Fogarty & O Hara, attorneys.)

Arsen Zartarian, Esq., for respondent (Cleary, Giacobbe, Alfieri, and Jacobs, attorneys)

BEFORE ERNEST M. BONGIOVANNI, ALJ:

Petitioner, the Mountain Lakes Board of Education (Mountain Lakes/petitioner) seeks, by its motion for summary decision, an order compelling respondent, Boonton Township Board of Education (Boonton/respondent), to execute a sending-receiving contract for the 2023-2024 school year and for arrearages for respondent's failure to pay the full demanded tuition cost. Respondent argues that the facts do not warrant summary decision, that Boonton never agreed to pay the demanded amount of tuition, that Mountain Lakes has advanced no valid cause of action, alleging that petitioner violated N.J.A.C. 6A:23A-17.1 (d), that Mountain Lakes further accepted the tuition advanced by Boonton. Further, Mountain Lakes argues the tuition rate is negotiable and inconsistent with past practices, or at least the parties' prior ten-year services agreement, that Mountain Lakes reasonably relied on the tuition rate previously agreed to in its expired ten-year contract and the demanded tuition amount is financially untenable. Therefore, Boonton seeks summary dismissal of Mountain Lakes petition. For the reason which follow, I grant Mountain Lakes Motion for Summary Decision, and deny Boonton's Motion to Dismiss.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Mountain Lakes and Boonton have a receiving-sending relationship, wherein high school age students of Boonton receive their high school education in Mountain Lakes by paying tuition for their attendance. (Petitioner Statement of Facts at ¶ 3.) A contract governing this relationship governing a period of ten years was entered into on January 24, 2013, and expired at the conclusion of the 2022-2023 school year. (Respondent's Exhibit A). That contract established a base cost for the first year and provided for a 2% increase each year until the termination of the contract, instead of basing the tuition on the actual cost per student subsequently certified by the Commissioner for any given school year during the terms of the agreement. Ibid

On or around March 7, 2023, Mountain Lakes began conversations with Boonton for a successor sending-receiving agreement based on the actual cost per pupil as certified by the Commissioner of Education (Verified Petition, ¶ 12). Based on that, the estimated tuition rate for 2023-2024 school year would be $19,293. (Id. at ¶ 10), The average daily enrollment of Boonton students attending Mountain Lakes High School is 192, making the annual tuition charge payable to Boonton to Mountain Lakes for school year 2023-2024 $3,704,356. (Id at ¶ 9 and 11.) On April 10, 2023, Alex Ferreira, Mountain Lakes' School Business Administrator and Board Secretary, emailed John Murray, Boonton's School Board Administrator and Board Secretary, advising Murray that the estimated tuition rate for the 2023-2024 school year would be $19, 923, (Second Cert by John T. Murray III, Exhibit A). Ferreira included in the email that Mountain Lakes would start "charging [Boonton] the actual cost per student" ("certified tuition rate") Ibid. Murray responded to this email on April 11, 2023, stating that "in the absence of a successor agreement between [Mountain lakes] and [Boonton] "that Boonton "will pay tuition for the 2023-2024 in accordance with the expiring contract and will not include a unilateral increase as you proposed." Ibid.

On or about April 17, 2023, Mountain Lakes' attorney forwarded to Boonton's attorney a proposed successor sending-receiving agreement for a term of ten years based on the estimated cost per pupil as certified by the Commissioner of Education with reciprocal provisions crediting both districts for annual tuition payments that are more or less the same as the estimated cost per pupil (Verified Petition, ¶ 13). On or about May 10, 2023, Boonton's attorney forwarded a counter proposal for a successor-receiving agreement with predetermined tuition rates each year based on a 2% annual increase, essentially matching the terms of the expired agreement. This proposal would mean Mountain Lakes would be charging $1,883,689 less than its proposed agreement (Id. at ¶14) Mountain Lakes rejected this counteroffer on or around May 26, 2023.

On or about June 23, 2023, Mountain Lakes send a one-year written sending-receiving agreement as required by N.J.A.C. 6A:23A-17.1 (f) which required Boonton to pay one tenth of the annual tuition charges per month beginning on September 1, 2023, and continuing through June 1, 2024 (Verified Petition at ¶ 16 and 17.) On August 8, 2023, Murray emailed Ferreira stating he had cancelled the purchase order to pay tuition as it had been edited by Ferreria to match the updated tuition cost of $19,293 per pupil. (Second Cert. of Murray, Exhibit C). Murray also stated that "payments from [Boonton] will not be forthcoming for the 2023-2024 [sic] unless the new purchase order is signed by you and returned without edits to me" (Ibid).

Boonton has since then refused to sign a tuition contract based on the $19,293 rate and refused to pay said full amount (Petitioner Statement of Facts, ¶ 9). Instead, Boonton has paid Mountain Lakes the amount of tuition in accordance with expired contract rate of a 2% increase, per year, and which Mountain Lakes has not agreed to (Second Certification of Murray, Exhibit C, Statement of Facts, at ¶ 10.) "Mountain Lakes has accepted these tuition payments without prejudice to its position un this matter that [Boonton] must execute the tuition contract and pay $19,293 per student as tuition for the 2023-2024 school year," stated Murray.

On or about November 28, 2023, Mountain Lakes submitted this petition seeking that Boonton be compelled to execute the 2023-2024 written contractual agreement, as required by N.J.A.C. 6A23A-17.1(d), and with a tuition rate of $19,293 per student, and for arrears for the school year which totaled at that time $1,111.278. On Mountain Lakes failed to advance a cause of action. On April 1, 2024, this matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law as a contested case. On June 5,2024, filed a motion for summary disposition and in opposition to Boonton's motion to dismiss. A reply by Boonton was filed on June 12, 2024 and on June 13, 2024, oral argument via Zoom was held and the record was closed.

ANALYSIS AND CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

The submissions of the parties reveal that the salient facts as stated above are not in dispute, and therefore I FIND them as FACTS A motion for summary decision may be granted if the papers and discovery presented as well as any certifications or affidavits which may be filed show there is no genuine issue of material fact and that the moving party is entitled to prevail as a matter of law. N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5 (b)

Specifically, N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(b) provides that summary decision should be rendered "if the papers and discovery which have been filed, together with the affidavits, if any, show that there is no genuine issue as to any material fact challenged and that the moving party is entitled to prevail as a matter of law." Our regulation mirrors R. 4:46-2(c), which provides that "[t]he judgment or order sought shall be rendered forthwith if the pleadings, depositions, answers to interrogatories and admissions on file, together with the affidavits, if any, show that there is no genuine issue as to any material fact challenged and that the moving party is entitled to a judgment or order as a matter of law."

A determination whether a genuine issue of material fact exists that precludes summary decision requires the judge to consider whether the competent evidential materials presented, when viewed in the light most favorable to the non-moving party, are sufficient to permit a rational fact finder to resolve the alleged disputed issue in favor of the non-moving party. Our courts have long held that "if the opposing party . . . offers . . . only facts which are immaterial or of an insubstantial nature, a mere scintilla, 'Fanciful, frivolous, gauzy or merely suspicious,' he will not be heard to complain if the court grants summary judgment." Brill v. Guardian Life Ins. Co. of Am., 142 N.J. 520, 529 (1995) (citing Judson v. Peoples Bank & Trust Co., 17 N.J. 67, 75 (1954)).

The "judge's function is not himself [or herself] to weigh the evidence and determine the truth of the matter but to determine whether there is a genuine issue for trial." Brill, 142 N.J. at 540 (citing Anderson v. Liberty Lobby, 477 U.S. 242, 249 (1986)). When the evidence "is so one-sided that one party must prevail as a matter of law," the trial court should not hesitate to grant summary judgment. Liberty Lobby, 477 U.S. at 252. I CONCLUDE that this matter is ripe for summary decision. The petition of appeal raises a purely legal question, one which asks that I determine whether the statutory and regulatory scheme affords Mountain Lakes the discretion to demand that Boonton pay the full certified tuition amount for the students it sends to Mountain Lakes High School. The affordability of that tuition is not at issue; nor it is pertinent that may sorely need the full tuition amount. The facts raised by Boonton in regard to the alleged methodology in the calculation of the certified tuition amount, while controverted, are a proverbial "red herring." They are not material to the limited issue presented by the pleadings.

I CONCLUDE that the law supports Mountain Lakes demand for the full certified tuition, and that it is entitled to the relief it seeks. Boonton argues that summary decision cannot be granted as the facts are in dispute as an issue with the calculated per pupil tuition cost. Boonton argues that Mountain Lakes changed the methodology by which Boonton calculated its cost per pupil tuition rates without permission of the Commissioner, in violation of N.J.A.C. 6A:23A-17.1 (d), which provides "[o]nce having determined to annually submit the report pursuant to (c) (1) above to the Commission, a receiving district board of education shall submit a written request to the Commissioner for review and approval in order to change the certification method in (c) (2) above, the receiving district board of education shall indicate reason(s) for the change."

However, this issue lies outside the petition. Mountain Lakes' petition seeks arreages for the 2023-2024 school year and to compel Boonton to sign a sending-receiving tuition agreement. The petition by Mountain Lakes does not concern how the estimated cost per student was calculated.

Bd. of Educ of the Village of Ridgefield Park Bergen Cnty v. Bd. of Educ. Of the Borough of Little Ferry, Bergen Cnty, EDU 07868-20, Initial Decision (March 8, 2021), adopted Comm'r (April 22, 2021) (hereinafter Ridgefield Park) is nearly identical to the case at hand. There, a receiving district had provided a discount in their previous contractual agreement, however, upon the expiration of that agreement and in the negotiations of a new one, the receiving district stopped offering the discounted tuition rate and demanded the full estimated cost per pupil from the sending district. The sending school district refused to execute a new sending-receiving agreement, and the receiving district filed a petition asking for relief in the form of compelling the sending district to pay the full estimated cost per student rate. The sending district argued the methodology of how the estimated cost per pupil was calculated. This argument was rejected by ALJ Ellen Bass and the Commissioner. Ridgefield Park held that the calculation of the tuition rate is a separate issue which does not negate the receiving school district's entitlement to full payment of the actual cost per pupil tuition rate. Instead, the Commissioner encouraged the complaining District to file a separate petition of appeal to take issue with the calculation of the per pupil tuition rate calculated. Ibid.

Here Boonton takes issue with the calculation of the per pupil rate calculated by Mountain Lakes. Boonton may or could have filed its own petition of appeal but the issue it raises lies outside the scope of Mountain Lakes' petition. As in Ridgefield Park, arguing the methodology of calculation of the full tuition lake is, as here a "proverbial red herring" to use Judge Bass's terminology. The disputed facts of whether Mountain Lakes did or did not change their methodology or receive the necessary certification from the Board of Education is "not material to the limited issue presented by the pleadings." Ibid. [1] Thus, no material facts are in dispute.

Sending-receiving relationship as defined at N.J.A.C. 6A:23A-1.2 means "an agreement between two district boards of education, one of which does not have the facilities to educate in-district an entire grade(s) or provide an entire program(s), and as such as an alternative sends such students to a district board of education having such accommodation and pays tuition pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18 A:38-8 et seq." The calculation of tuition Payments is governed by N.J.S.A. 118A:39-19 which provides:

> Whenever the pupils of any school district are attending public school in another district, within or without the State, pursuant to this article [N.J.S.18A:38-8 through N.J.S.18A:38-24], the board of education of the receiving district shall determine a tuition rate to be paid by the board of education of the sending district to an amount not in excess of the actual cost per pupil as determined under rules prescribed by the commissioner and approved by the State board...[.]
> N.J.S.A. 18A:38-19 (emphasis supplied).

Relying on the words "shall determine," Mountain Lakes argues urges that it may set any tuition amount, so long as that amount does not exceed the "actual cost per pupil." The "actual cost per student" as defined at N.J.A.C. 6A:23A-17.1 (b) means "the total cost per student in average daily enrollment based upon the audited expenditures for the year for the purpose for which the tuition rate is being determined, and is consistent with the grade/program categories in N.J.S.A. 18A:7F-50 and 18A:7F-55."

When interpreting a statute or regulation there is a presumption that the framers intended that words be interpreted considering their ordinary meaning. Jablonowska v. Suther,195 N.J. 91, 105 (2008). The intent of a statute or regulation should be gleaned from a view of the whole and of every part of the statute, with the real intention prevailing over the literal sense of its terms. Schierstead v. City of Brigantine, 29 N.J. 220, 230 (1959). Ridgefield Park holds that "the plain language of N.J.S.A. 18A:18-19 supports [a receiving school district]'s view that it may insist on the full amount of tuition yielded by the regulatory scheme." More definitively, the statute clearly indicates that the receiving district "clearly and unequivocally shall" set the tuition rate. As found by Judge Bass, "the statute clearly and unequivocally indicates that the receiving district shall does not state that the sending district has any power to dictate the amount of tuition to be paid." Ridgefield Park, supra. (emphasis added)

[1] Even if this issue was properly within the scope of the petition the alleged violation of NJAC 6A:23A-17.1 (d) by a receiving district has no statutory remedy for a sending school district, and no case law exists to address whether a school district can simply avoid payment based on this occurrence.

I CONCLUDE that the plain language of N.J.S.A. 18A:38-19 supports Mountain Lakes' view that it may insist on the full amount of tuition yielded by the regulatory scheme. As in Ridgefield Park, I also find the statute clearly and unequivocally indicates that the receiving district "shall" set the tuition rate. It does not state that that the sending district has any power to dictate the amount of tuition to be paid.

Also, as in Ridgefield Park, the accuracy of the certified tuition amount is an issue raised nowhere in the pleadings. And neither the financial situation of each of these Boards, nor the history of their past efforts to agree on a tuition amount are pertinent to the narrow issue presented; that is, whether the law permits Mountain Lakes, to demand the full certified tuition amount. Just as the sending-receiving parties in Ridgefield, I am sure that Mountain Lakes will struggle to meet its fiscal demands without the amount of tuition it seeks. Further, I am sure that Boonton has fiscal constraints of its own that have prompted it to protest payment of the full tuition amount.

I further CONCLUDE the law fully supports Mountain Lakes demand for the full certified tuition, and that it is entitled to the relief it seeks.

N.J.A.C. 6A:23A-17.1(f) requires that the districts enter into a sending-receiving agreement, but regarding the procedure for the payment and calculation of tuition, there is little reason or no room for negotiation. N.J.A.C. 6A:23A-17.1(f) expressly provides:

> The receiving district board of education and the sending district board of education shall establish by written contractual agreement a tentative tuition charge for budgetary purposes. Such tentative charge shall equal an amount not in excess of the receiving district board of education's "estimated cost per student" for the ensuing school year for the purpose or purposes for which tuition is being charged, multiplied by the "estimated average daily enrollment of students" expected to be received during the ensuing school year. Such written contract shall be on a form prepared by the Commissioner.

The sending-receiving agreement must contain several provisions:

> The sending district board of education shall be required in the contractual agreement to pay 10 percent of the tentative tuition charge no later than the first of each month from September through June of the contract year. The contractual agreement ...shall require all adjustments resulting from a difference in cost or in the number of students sent to be made during the second school year following the contract year. All contractual agreements shall contain a payment schedule of all adjustments that may be necessary.
> N.J.A.C. 6A:23A-17.1(f)(3)

The districts must sign an agreement for the "ensuing school year," however Boonton refused to reach such an agreement and refused to recognize Mountain Lake's lawful ability to set the tuition price. On April 5, 2023, The DOE certified the estimated cost per student for the 2021-2022 year for grades 9-12 as being $19,293 (Resp. Ex B) Considering inflation rates there is 0 chance possibility that this tuition rate decreased before the 2023-2024 school year. Thus, the rate per pupil being charged is likely below the estimated cost for the 2023-2024 school year, and Mountain Lakes, the receiving district, is entitled to request this amount from Boonton, the sending district. Boonton may negotiate, but ultimately must agree to pay the full amount requested by the receiving district.

In addition, the DOE cannot determine the actual cost per student for a school year until that school year has concluded. Once the DOE determines the actual cost per student, the receiving district may charge for any shortfall, or the sending district may recoup any overpayment. N.J.A.C. 6A:23A-7.1(f)(6). Thus, under the applicable statutory scheme and regulatory intent, not only is Mountain Lakes entitled to charge Boonton $19,293 per pupil for the 2023-2024 school year, but it is also entitled to request more during the subsequent school year from Boonton if it is later certified by the DOE that the price per pupil for the 2023-2024 school year is higher than the estimated $19,293. This is true even if the parties have a contractually agreed upon tuition price: the receiving district will still be entitled to demand more tuition than the contractual agreement if the contractual agreement is subsequently determined to be less than the actual cost per student during the school year multiplied by the actual daily enrollment received. N.J.A.C. 6A:2A-17.1(7)

Mountain Lakes can charge the full estimated cost per pupil for the 2023-2024 school year. If Boonton takes issue with how this cost was calculated, because as they assert, Mountain Lakes changed their methodology for how the cost was calculated, Boonton should file its own separate action. Boonton argued that if Mountain Lakes changed its methodology, an allegation I find to be based on conjecture, then Boonton would have been entitled to object to the rate before the DOE. However, Boonton failed to provide any evidence that the "change in methodology" would have changed the tuition rate. In any event, I find it is not a proper issue for the court to decide as a defense but that rather it is an affirmative claim, assuming arguendo any merit, that Boonton must bring in a separate action.

Boonton's motion for Dismissal

Boonton argues the case must be dismissed because petitioner is seeking the enforcement of a contract that was never agreed to. (Respondent's Brief at 7.) Boonton argues that typical contract law includes offer and acceptance, meeting of the minds, consideration, and certainty of the terms of agreement. (Id at 6). In oral argument Boonton claimed contract law of detrimental reliance applies because allegedly Mountain Lakes and Boonton submitted their preliminary 2023-2024 budgets based on both sides agreeing to a contract rate with a 2% increase, only that Mountain Lakes later changed their mind, and, on April 10, 2023, proposed the $19,293 rate. However, through Boonton's admission, "it is well established that the statutory and regulatory scheme governs the sending-receiving relationship relative to tuition payments, and not the partiers' contractual language." (Resp. Br. at 4). See also Ridgefield Park. Respondent's reliance on concepts of contract law are misplaced, as they do not really apply to the case at hand.

N.J.A.C. 6A:23A-17.1(f) requires the execution of a written contract for a sending-receiving agreement. Mountain Lakes is entitled to set the tuition rate as high as it wants, provided it is at or below the estimated per pupil for a school year. In Ridgefield Park, Judge Bass ordered the sending district to execute a sending-receiving district contract with the receiving district. "Importantly, [the receiving District has the right of full tuition regardless of the contractual language. Accordingly, deleting that [contractual] language would not abrogate its rights." Ridgefield Park at page10.

Boonton's motion to dismiss argues (1) Mountain Lakes violated N.J.A.C. 6A:23-17.1(d) (2); (2) Boonton never agreed to the proposed 2023-2024 contract and (3) Boonton has made all payments for the 2023-2024 school year. As to the first argument, I have already addressed Boonton may file a separate action for relief if it is determined that the calculated estimated cost per pupil is incorrect. However, no such evidence has been put forth; rather Boonton argues the methodology for calculation changed and proper procedure was not followed. That does not change that Boonton does not seriously contest $19,293 is not the accurate per pupil rate, and as noted, Boonton is entitled to a refund if they can show otherwise. With regard to the argument that Boonton never agreed to the contract, Boonton is nonetheless required, for the reasons aforestated, to execute the agreement per N.J.A.C. 6A:23A-17.1(f). Finally, as to Boonton's argument that it has already paid all payments due for the 2023-2024 year, I disagree. Both parties admit Boonton has paid the rate based on the expired and now null and void ten-year agreement, with its 2% increase of the prior year's payments.

Mountain Lakes is entitled to the demanded payment of $19,293 for each of the students, which the undisputed proofs show equals to a total payment for the school year of $3,704,256. Mountain lakes is entitled to the difference of $3,704,256 and whatever Boonton has paid thus far for the 2023-2024 school year. Further Mountain Lakes will be entitled to demand more tuition from Boonton if it is later certified by the DOE that the estimated cost per pupil exceeded $19,293 for the 2023-2024 school year.

In conclusion, I grant, summary decision for Mountain Lakes, and deny Boonton's motion to dismiss. I CONCLUDE that Mountain Lakes is entitled from Boonton to the amount of the estimated cost of attendance for tuition, as demanded. I further CONCLUDE that Boonton must execute a written sending-receiving agreement with Mountain Lakes for the 2023-2024 year as required by N.J.A.C. 6A:23A-17.1 (f). and that Boonton pay forthwith its debt to Mountain Lakes, meaning the difference between $3,704,256 and the sum already paid for the 2023-2024 school year. I further CONCLUDE that Mountain Lakes may request adjustments in the next academic year if it is determined that the estimated cost per pupil for 2023-2024 exceeded $19.923.

ORDER

Based on the foregoing, it is ORDERED that Summary Decision is GRANTED in favor of Mountain Lakes. It is further ORDERED as follows:

1. Boonton will execute a written sending-receiving agreement for the 2023-2024 year as required by N.J.A.C. 6A:23A-17.1 with the rate determined by Mountain Lakes as aforesaid stated and described, as Mountain Lakes may determine the tuition amount between the parties, so long as that amount is not more than the actual cost per pupil as determined by the statutory and regulatory scheme governing tuition payments in sending-receiving relationships.

2. Boonton pay forthwith its debt to Mountain Lakes, meaning the difference between $3,704,256 and the sum already paid for the 2023-2024 school year. year as required by N.J.A.C. 6A:23A-17.1 (f).

3. Mountain Lakes may request adjustments in the next academic year if it is determined that the estimated cost per pupil for 2023-2024 exceeded $19.923.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the ACTING COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified, or rejected by the ACTING COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Acting Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify, or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the ACTING COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION. WHEREAS, ~~D.M.G.~~ and D.M. claim that M.M. is eligible for and entitled to a free public education in the District as an affidavit student pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(b)(1)

WHEREAS, the Board determined on April 25, 2024 that M.M. was not domiciled in the Township of Union, and, therefore, was not entitled to a free public education in the District pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1, et seq. or N.J.A.C. 6A:22-3.1, et seq.; and

WHEREAS, ~~D.M.G.~~ and D.M. filed an appeal with the New Jersey Commissioner of Education, captioned D.M. and D.M.-G., o/b/o M.M. v. Board of Education of the Township of Union, OAL Docket No. EDU 09862-2024N, Agency Docket No. 140-5/24, challenging the Board's determination (the "Appeal"); and

WHEREAS, the Parties desire to resolve and settle all outstanding matters between them pursuant to the terms and conditions set forth in this Agreement;

NOW THEREFORE, intending to be legally bound hereby and in consideration of the mutual covenants, conditions, obligations, and promises contained herein, and for good and valuable consideration, the sufficiency of which is hereby acknowledged, the Parties agree as follows:

1. Settlement Terms

~~D.M.G.~~ and D.M. agree to withdraw the Appeal, and to re-register M.M. for enrollment in the District. M.M.'s registration and enrollment will be handled in the ordinary course in accordance with N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1, et seq., N.J.A.C. 6A:22-3.1, et seq., and applicable Board policy. In exchange for withdrawal of the Appeal, the Board agrees to waive all claims against ~~D.M.G.~~ and/or D.M. for tuition owed to the Board for M.M.'s attendance at District Schools while ineligible, during the time period of ~~April 28, 2024 through June 17, 2024~~ December 18, 2023 through June 20, 2024 and September 5, 2024 through October 1,

2. Release

a. Release By ~~D.M.G.~~ and D.M.

Upon the fulfillment by the Board of the terms and conditions of the Agreement, ~~D.M.G.~~ and D.M., their heirs and assigns hereby irrevocably and unconditionally waive, release and forever discharge any and all claims or rights, whether known or unknown, which they have or may have against the Board related to residency, personally and officially, individually and collectively, its past and present Board members, all officers and administrators, the Board's attorneys, agents, servants, and current and former employees, as well as the Board's predecessors, successors, assigns, estates, heirs, trustees, beneficiaries, administrators, representatives, insurers, reinsurers, and sureties, including, but not limited to, any and all claims for damages, however designated, any and all claims for emotional distress or pain and suffering, attorneys' fees, and any and all claims arising under any federal, state or local ordinance, regulation or law including, but not limited to, the Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, as amended 42 U.S.C. §§ 2000e, et seq., ("Title VII"); the Reconstruction Era Civil Rights Act, as amended, 42 U.S.C. §§ 1981, § 1983, et seq. ("Civil Rights Act"); the Civil Rights Act of 1991, as amended, 42 U.S.C. § 1981a, et seq. ("CRA of 1991"); the Americans with Disabilities Act, 42 U.S.C. §§ 12101, et seq. ("ADA"); the Rehabilitation Act, 29 U.S.C. §§ 701, et seq. ("RA"); the New Jersey Civil Rights Act, N.J.S.A. 10:6-1, et seq.; the New Jersey Law Against Discrimination, N.J.S.A. 10:5-1, et seq. ("LAD"), any common law claim and any and all other claims, that could be initiated in any venue, up to the date of this Agreement. ~~D.M.G.~~ and D.M. expressly understand and acknowledge that it is possible that unknown losses or claims exist or that present losses may have been underestimated in amount or severity. ~~D.M.G.~~ and D.M. expressly accept and assume the risk of such unknown or underestimated losses or claims and acknowledges and agrees that the benefits to be provided to them pursuant to this Agreement fully compensate them for such risks.

b. Release by the Board

Upon the fulfillment by ~~D.M.G.~~ and D.M. of the terms and conditions of the Agreement, the Board, its heirs and assigns hereby irrevocably and unconditionally waive, release and forever discharge any and all claims or rights, whether known or unknown, which they have or may have against the ~~D.M.G.~~ and D.M. related to residency, personally and officially, individually and collectively, as well as their predecessors, successors, assigns, estates, heirs, trustees, beneficiaries, administrators, representatives, insurers, reinsurers, and sureties, including, but not limited to, any and all claims for damages, however designated, any and all claims for emotional distress or pain and suffering, attorneys' fees, and any and all claims arising under any federal, state or local ordinance, regulation or law including, but not limited to, the Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, as amended 42 U.S.C. §§ 2000e, et seq., ("Title VII"); the Reconstruction Era Civil Rights Act, as amended, 42 U.S.C. §§ 1981, § 1983, et seq. ("Civil Rights Act"); the Civil Rights Act of 1991, as amended, 42 U.S.C. § 1981a, et seq. ("CRA of 1991"); the Americans with Disabilities Act, 42 U.S.C. §§ 12101, et seq. ("ADA"); the Rehabilitation Act, 29 U.S.C. §§ 701, et seq. ("RA"); the New Jersey Civil Rights Act, N.J.S.A. 10:6-1, et seq.; the New Jersey Law Against Discrimination, N.J.S.A. 10:5-1, et seq. ("LAD"), any common law claim and any and all other claims up to the date of this Agreement. The Board expressly understands and acknowledges that it is possible that unknown losses or claims exist or that present losses may have been underestimated in amount or severity. The Board expressly accepts and assumes the risk of such unknown or underestimated losses or claims and acknowledges and agrees that the benefits to be provided to it pursuant to this Agreement fully compensate it for such risks.

3. Stipulation of Dismissal

D.M., [redacted]G. and the Board agree that by executing this Agreement, it (and a Board resolution) shall be submitted to the Administrative Law Judge for issuance of an Initial Decision approving the settlement. If the settlement is approved by both the Administrative Law Judge and the Commissioner of Education, the Appeal shall be dismissed with prejudice.

4. Assent to Terms

D. M.
~~Petitioner~~ and Respondent hereby acknowledge that they entered into this Agreement with a full understanding of their rights and that they were fully informed of the implications of this Agreement. The parties enter into this Agreement without duress and of their own free will and volition and acknowledge that they were given a full and fair opportunity to fully consider this Agreement.

5. No Admission of Liability

This Agreement does not in any way constitute an admission of liability or wrongdoing by any of the Parties.

6. Successors and Assignees

This Agreement shall be binding upon and shall inure to the benefit of the Parties and their respective successors, assignees, heirs, officers, employees, officials and agents.

7. Amendment; Severability; No Waiver

This Agreement shall not be amended, changed or modified except in a writing signed by all parties. The provisions of this Agreement are severable. If it is determined by a court or administrative agency of competent jurisdiction that a specific clause of this Agreement is illegal or unenforceable, the remainder of the Agreement shall not be affected by such a ruling and shall remain in full force and effect unless doing so would destroy the essential nature of this Agreement. Any failure to enforce any provision of this Agreement shall not operate as a waiver of such provision or of any other provision.

8. Confidentiality.

Each Party understands and agrees that this Agreement, its terms, and the matters discussed in negotiating its terms are confidential. Neither Party may, directly or indirectly, divulge, discuss, publicize, disclose or in any way communicate the fact of this Settlement Agreement or the terms of this Agreement, the discussion or circumstances surrounding the negotiation or execution of this Agreement, or any of the allegations or claims that the other Party asserted or that the other Party could have asserted to anyone, including to the media or any other third party, without the express written authorization by an authorized representative of the other Party unless compelled to do so pursuant to law. The foregoing confidentiality obligations shall not apply to disclosure by either Party to its spouse, parent and/or children, legal representatives and/or tax advisors, provided such Party first instructs them, and secures their agreement, to keep all such information in strict confidence.

~~D.M.G.~~ and D.M. acknowledge that their failure to abide by these confidentiality provisions will result in immediate and irreparable damage to the Board, thereby entitling it to, amongst other things, injunctive relief from a court having appropriate jurisdiction. Persons referenced in this paragraph with whom the Parties may share the terms and amounts of this Agreement are also bound by this paragraph, and each Party agrees to advise such persons of the same. Except as otherwise provided herein, in response to any request for information concerning the terms of this Agreement, each Party and its respective counsel shall state only "the matter has been resolved."

In the event that a Party is subpoenaed by any court or federal or state agency of competent jurisdiction to give testimony about the subject matter of this Agreement, the terms of this Agreement or anything related hereto, such Party shall give immediate notice of the receipt of said subpoena by phone and fax or overnight mail to the other Party. The notice referred to above is intended to give the other Party the opportunity to move to quash any such subpoena and to investigate the circumstance pursuant to which the subpoena was issued. This provision shall not prohibit the Board from taking any action or discussions regarding the approval of this Agreement.

9. Non-Disparagement.

~~D.M.G.~~ and D.M. expressly agrees and covenants that they will not make, and that they will not cause their affiliates, representatives, trustees, agents, or persons acting on their behalf to make, any representations or statements, either directly or indirectly, whether orally or in writing, to any person or entity, that disparages the Board, or any of its current or former employees.

10. No Further Consideration

The Board and D.M. ~~The Parties~~ each expressly acknowledge and represent that neither party will seek nor be entitled to any further consideration from the other in connection with this Agreement other than the consideration as detailed herein.

11. Entire Agreement

This Agreement constitutes the entire agreement between the parties with respect to the subject matters herein, and supersedes and integrates any and all prior representations, negotiations, discussions, understandings and agreements, whether oral or written. Each party acknowledges that neither the other party, nor any agent or attorney of the other party, has made any promise, representation or warranty whatsoever, express or implied, not contained in this Agreement to induce it to execute this Agreement.

12. Construction

The terms of this Agreement are not to be construed against any one party but are to be construed as if all parties prepared it equally.

13. Counterparts

This Agreement may be signed in counterparts and shall be binding as if all Parties executed the original thereof. A facsimile or electronically-transmitted signature shall have the same effect as an original signature.

14. Law Governing

This Agreement shall be governed by the laws of the State of New Jersey.

ORDER APPROVING SETTLEMENT OF TENURE CHARGES

Respondent Sam Iacobone has been continuously employed by the Edison Township Board of Education as a tenured physical education and health teacher since September 1, 1995. Effective January 9, 2023, he was suspended from his position with full pay and full benefits. On February 22, 2024, the District served Tenure Charges on Respondent alleging that he engaged in conduct unbecoming.

The Commissioner of Education, having reviewed the Tenure Charges and Respondent's June 3, 2024 Motion to Dismiss in Lieu of Answer thereto, determined that the charges were sufficient, if true, to warrant dismissal or reduction in salary and, therefore, referred the matter to arbitration. The charges were referred to the undersigned on June 4, 2024, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-16.

Respondent's Motion to Dismiss was denied by Decision issued July 24, 2024. Following the adjudication of Respondent's Motion to Dismiss, the parties reached a mutually acceptable settlement of the Tenure Charges prior to the commencement of the hearings scheduled for October 17 and 18. The settlement terms were set forth in a written Settlement Agreement ("Settlement") dated. in which the District laid out the basis for the settlement, to wit, that the District was voluntarily dismissing all Tenure Charges currently pending against Respondent,. Mr. Iacobone has provided an irrevocable letter of resignation effective. He will be paid his full salary, benefits and emoluments of employment through June 30, 2023, but will not be paid any back pay for the 120 days he was out of work without pay. Examiners for possible suspension or revocation of certificate.

On November 24, 2024, the Settlement, signed by the parties, was forwarded to the Arbitrator for review and approval. An additional sworn Certification from Mr. Iacobone dated December 13, 2024 was forwarded on December 18, 2024. After review of the Settlement and the additional Certification, I find that the standards for settlement or withdrawal of the Tenure Charges have been satisfied in accordance with N.J.A.C. 6A:3-5.6 and therefore the settlement of the Tenure Charges pursuant to the terms of the Settlement is hereby approved.

1. A copy of the Settlement and additional Certification, as well as the Tenure Charges and the Motion to Dismiss in Lieu of Answer and Decision thereon, are annexed to this Order;
2. The withdrawal of the Tenure Charges is warranted given that Respondent has decided to resign his position;
3. The Settlement is signed by both the charged and charging parties, both of whom were represented by competent counsel;
4. Respondent was informed of the terms of the Settlement and attested that he was entering into the agreement with a full understanding of his rights, having been represented by competent counsel;
5. The Settlement is in the public interest, given that, Respondent having resigned his employment, proceeding with the Tenure Charges will not provide any further relief; and
6. Respondent was advised of the Commissioner's duty to refer tenure determinations resulting in loss of position to the State Board of Examiners for possible suspension or revocation of certificate.

By reason of the forgoing, I am satisfied that the terms of the parties' settlement are reasonable and in the best interests of both parties and of the public and therefore the settlement and withdrawal of the Tenure Charges against Respondent Iacobone, pursuant to the terms set forth in the Settlement, is approved.

SO ORDERED.

New Jersey Commissioner of Education

Decision

G.W. and K.W., on behalf of minor child, M.W.,

Petitioners,

v.

Board of Education of the Borough of Ringwood, Passaic County,

Respondent.

Synopsis

In this case on remand – which stems from an appeal filed in September of 2020 – petitioners sought to overturn the Board's determination that their child, M.W., was not the victim of harassment, intimidation, and bullying (HIB). The petitioners contended that their child had been subjected to HIB stemming from an assignment by his sixth-grade teacher. Following a long and complicated procedural history, which included the withdrawal of counsel representing petitioners, the Board filed a motion for summary decision in April 2024. In an Initial Decision issued June 27, 2024, the ALJ – finding, inter alia, that petitioners failed to file opposition papers – granted the Board's motion for summary decision. Subsequently, the Commissioner rejected the Initial Decision and remanded the matter to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) to be properly litigated, finding that, given the unique circumstances of the matter, petitioners had been unable to respond to the motion for summary decision and that the matter should therefore not have been considered unopposed. The Commissioner ordered that the petitioners be given a 20-day time limit on remand for filing opposition to the Board's motion for summary decision.

On remand, the ALJ found, inter alia, that: there are no material facts at issue in this matter, and the case is ripe for summary decision; petitioners did not submit any opposition papers within the 20 day time limit set by the Commissioner and did not request an extension of time to submit same; it is undisputed that G.W. and K.W. did not allow the District's HIB investigators to interview M.W. about the alleged HIB; nothing in the record indicates that M.W. was adversely affected by the assignment that was the topic of the HIB complaint; nothing in the record indicates that any other student was adversely affected by the alleged HIB, nor was the orderly operation of the school; in fact, the record was entirely devoid of evidence supporting any of the elements of a charge of HIB. Accordingly, the ALJ granted the Board's motion for summary decision.

Upon review, the Commissioner, inter alia, concurred with the findings and conclusions of the ALJ on remand. Accordingly, the October 4, 2024, Initial Decision was adopted as the final decision in this matter, and the petition of appeal was dismissed.

This synopsis is not part of the Commissioner's decision. It has been prepared for the convenience of the reader. It has been neither reviewed nor approved by the Commissioner.

New Jersey Commissioner of Education

Final Decision

G.W. and K.W., on behalf of minor child, M.W.,

Petitioner,

v.

Board of Education of the Borough of Ringwood, Passaic County,

Respondent.

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) on remand have been reviewed and considered. The parties did not file exceptions.

Petitioners filed an appeal of respondent's (Board) determination that their child, M.W., was not the victim of harassment, intimidation, and bullying (HIB). Petitioners were initially represented by counsel, who was subsequently permitted to withdraw. M.W.'s father, G.W., took over managing the case, but notified the OAL in February 2024 that M.W.'s mother, K.W., would be handling the case going forward.

In an Initial Decision issued June 27, 2024, the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) granted the Board's second motion for summary decision. Specifically, the ALJ deemed the motion unopposed because petitioners had not filed opposition papers. The ALJ found that the record was devoid of evidence supporting any of the elements of a charge of HIB.[1] As such, the ALJ concluded that there were no unresolved issues of material fact that would necessitate a plenary hearing, and that the Board's HIB determination should be affirmed.

[1] The Board concedes that M.W. reasonably perceived that the alleged perpetrator's conduct was motived by an actual or perceived distinguishing characteristic. The Board also concedes that the conduct occurred on school grounds. Respondent's Brief in Support of Motion for Summary Decision, p. 6.

On September 6, 2024, the Commissioner rejected the Initial Decision, finding that given the unique circumstances of this matter, in which petitioner was no longer represented by counsel and lacked a copy of the complete case file, petitioner was unable to respond to the motion for summary decision. The Commissioner remanded this matter to the OAL to be properly litigated and directed the Office of Controversies and Disputes to provide a complete copy of the record to petitioner. Additionally, the Commissioner set a 20-day time limit for petitioners to file opposition to the Board's motion.

On remand, when petitioner failed to respond to the motion within 20 days, the ALJ considered the motion unopposed. The ALJ concluded that a required element of HIB – that the conduct substantially disrupt or interfere with the orderly operation of the school or the rights of other students – had not been established, thereby precluding a finding of HIB. The ALJ further concluded that there were no unresolved issues of material fact that would warrant a plenary hearing and granted the Board's motion for Summary Decision.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurs with the findings and conclusions of the ALJ on remand. Accordingly, the October 4, 2024, Initial Decision is adopted as the final decision in this matter, and the petition of appeal is hereby dismissed.

SUMMARY DECISION

OAL DKT. NO.: EDU 12842-24

G.W. AND K.W. ON BEHALF OF MINOR CHILD M.W.,

Petitioners,

v.

BOROUGH OF RINGWOOD, BOARD OF EDUCATION, PASSAIC COUNTY,

Respondent.

REMAND OF
OAL DKT. NO.: EDU 09628-20

K.R. formerly known as K.W., on behalf of M.W., petitioners, pro se

Jessika Kleen, Esq., for respondent (Machado Law Group, attorneys)

BEFORE: JOHN P. SCOLLO, ALJ:

Record Closed: September 30, 2024 Decided: October 4, 2024

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Petitioners, G.W. and K.W., parents of M.W., filed for a Fair Hearing following the Ringwood Board of Education's (a/k/a the District) determination that HIB charges brought against Joan Bredin ("Bredin"), M.W.'s teacher, did not support a finding of HIB conduct. In the Motion at bar, the Respondent seeks Summary Decision ordering the dismissal of the Petitioner's appeal.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On or about December 6, 2019, Joan Bredin provided a reading assignment, a three-page story titled "An Engine Without Brakes" to M.W., then a sixth-grade special education student, who had been diagnosed as Attention Deficit Hyperactivity Disorder ("ADHD").

On December 13, 2019, G.W. and K.W. (a/k/a K.R.), M.W.'s parents, learned about the assignment and made an HIB complaint. Anti-Bullying Specialist, Eric R. Erler (the "Investigator") investigated the allegations of the complaint by interviewing Bredin and a paraprofessional (a teacher's aide) who worked in the same classroom with M.W. G.W. and K.W. did not give consent for their son, M.W., to be interviewed and so he was not interviewed. On January 8, 2020, Erler filed his HIB Investigation Narrative in which he concluded that the incident (i.e., the circumstances surrounding the assignment of the story to M.W. by Bredin) did not meet the criteria for HIB. On February 24, 2020, the Ringwood Board of Education voted to adopt the Investigator's conclusion. On May 14, 2020, counsel for G.W. and K.W. sent a letter in lieu of the appearance of G.W. and K.W. in furtherance of their appeal of the District's determination. On May 27, 2020, the HIB/Discipline Appeal Committee met. On June 1, 2020, the Board of Education voted to take no further action, thus affirming its February 24, 2020 decision to adopt the Investigator's conclusion that the criteria for HIB had not been met. On September 14, 2020, G.W. and K.W. filed a Petition of Appeal from the Board of Education's June 1, 2020 Decision with the Commissioner of Education. On September 21, 2020, the Board of Education filed its Answer to the Appeal. A hearing was scheduled for April 28 and 30, 2021. In March, 2021 the two sides filed their respective motions for summary decision. Settlement discussions ensued without resolution of the matter. Subsequently, Opposition papers, Replies, and various supporting papers were submitted. On December 16, 2021 both motions were denied. On June 7, 2022 the Honorable JoAnn Candido, ALJ entered an Order granting the motion of Robert Thurston, Esq. to be relieved as counsel for Petitioners. Subsequently, in light of related civil litigation pending in Federal District Court, the matter was held in abeyance. In September, 2023 counsel for Respondent inquired of Judge Scollo about the status of this matter and whether this matter would be given a trial date. In response, Judge Scollo requested a status report from the parties regarding the state of the related civil litigation. On February 22, 2024, Respondent's counsel supplied a status report and requested leave to file a Motion to Dismiss EDU 09628-20. Judge Scollo denied leave to file a Motion to Dismiss but granted leave for Respondent to file a Motion for Summary Decision. Counsel for Respondent filed a Motion for Summary Decision on April 30, 2024 chiefly citing as its bases the failure of the Petitioners to set forth evidence that the student (M.W.) was harmed, or that the alleged incident substantially disrupted or interfered with the orderly operation of the school or the rights of the allegedly targeted student or of other students.

On April 8, 2024, the Tribunal sent correspondence to both sides granting leave to the Respondent, Ringwood BOE to file a Motion for Summary Decision and stating that UAPR 1:1-12.5 required the party opposing a Motion for Summary Decision to submit Opposition papers within twenty (20) days. As noted above, Respondent Ringwood BOE filed its motion for summary decision on April 30, 2024. Therefore, Petitioners' Opposition papers were due on May 20, 2024. On June 10, 2024, K.R. (the mother of M.W. and formerly known as "K.W.") inquired with Judge Scollo's secretary, Diana Batista, about how to obtain papers from her file. K.R. claimed that she did not have a copy of Ringwood BOE's Summary Decision Motion; that she did not have her case filings; and that she wanted leave from the Tribunal to allow her fourteen (14) days from the date of her receipt of the Motion to file Opposition papers. Ms. Batista directed K.R. to contact the Department of Education for copies of her papers. On June 10, 2024, Attorney Kleen (counsel for the Ringwood BOE) sent emails enclosing proof that she served the Motion for Summary Decision upon the petitioners on April 30, 2024, including a copy of the envelope in which the Motion was contained. On June 14, 2024, in response to K.R's June 10, 2024 correspondence, Judge Scollo wrote to the parties stating that the Petitioners had prior legal counsel who should have given the file to the Petitioners when his representation of the Petitioners concluded and from whom a copy of the file should be obtainable. Referencing his April 8, 2024 letter, Judge Scollo noted that the Opposition papers were due on May 20th and were now twenty-five (25) days overdue. Nonetheless, Judge Scollo granted the Petitioners until Thursday, June 20, 2024 at 12:30 p.m. to submit their Opposition papers. The Petitioners did not submit their Opposition papers by the 12:30 p.m. deadline on Thursday, June 20, 2024 and said Opposition papers were not submitted by the Tribunal's close of business at 4:30 p.m. on June 20, 2024. Therefore, the Motion was deemed to be unopposed.

The Acting Commissioner of Education issued his Final Decision on September 6, 2024 (mailed on September 9, 2024); in that Decision the Acting Commissioner set a twenty-day time limit for the Petitioners to submit their Opposition to the Respondent's Summary Decision Motion. The Petitioners did not submit any Opposition papers by Monday, September 30, 2024 and the Petitioners did not ask the Tribunal for additional time to submit same. The Record closed on September 30, 2024.

ANALYSIS OF LEGAL AND FACTUAL ISSUES

Analysis of the Parties' Respective Positions

The Petitioners' claim has been that the assigning of the story to M.W. was inherently outrageous and the evidence of its outrageous nature is so one-sided that the only possible conclusion is that it constitutes bullying. Therefore, argue the Petitioners, the School District's determination that Ms. Bredin's action was not an act of HIB (bullying) is erroneous. The Tribunal notes that Petitioners' accusation is not rooted in established facts.

The Ringwood BOE's position is that the investigation team found that Ms. Bredin's rationale for assigning the story to M.W. was free from any kind of improper motive and, applying all HIB criteria, concluded that Ms. Bredin's actions did not constitute an act of HIB. The BOE maintains that the HIB investigation and the conclusion reached by the Anti-Bullying Specialist and the subsequent February 24, 2020 BOE vote adopting the conclusion of the Anti-Bullying Specialist were conducted in accordance with the procedures set forth in N.J.S.A. 18A:37-14, commonly referred to as "The Anti-Bullying Bill of Rights Act" and were therefore conducted properly. The Ringwood BOE's Motion is supported by Certifications and attachments.

Findings of Undisputed Facts

Ringwood BOE's Motion for Summary Decision was filed on April 30, 2024. Under UAPR 1:1-12.5 a party has twenty days to file Opposition papers to his adversary's Motion for Summary Decision. I FIND that the Motion for Summary Decision was duly served by the Machado Law Firm upon the Petitioners as evidenced by Attorney Kleen's statement and by her submission of a copy of the envelope bearing the postmark of April 30, 2024. I FIND that the Petitioners did not file Opposition papers within the twenty-day period allowed for the filing of Opposition papers under UAPR 1:1-12.5. Although the Tribunal granted the Petitioners additional time (to Thursday, June 20, 2024 by 12:30 p.m.) to submit their Opposition papers, I FIND that no such papers were received by the Tribunal by 12:30 p.m. or even by the close of business at 4:30 p.m. on June 20, 2024.

The Acting Commissioner of Education issued his Final Decision on September 6, 2024 (mailed on September 9, 2024); in that Decision the Acting Commissioner remanded the matter and set a twenty-day time limit for the Petitioners to submit their Opposition to the Respondent's Summary Decision Motion. The Petitioners did not submit any Opposition papers by Monday, September 30, 2024 and the Petitioners did not ask the Tribunal for additional time to submit same. I FIND that the time limit set by the Assistant Commissioner has been exceeded.

It is undisputed and I FIND that G.W. and K.W. did not allow the HIB investigators to interview M.W. I FIND that had M.W. been interviewed by the HIB investigators, the investigators, the parents and this Tribunal would likely have obtained essential factual evidence regarding whether M.W. reasonably perceived that Ms. Bredin's assigning of the article to him was motivated by an actual or perceived characteristic or by a distinguishing characteristic of M.W. I FIND that had the HIB investigators been allowed to interview M.W., it would have enabled the investigators to explore whether or not M.W. was adversely affected by the assignment of the article, whether the assignment substantially disrupted or interfered with the orderly operation of the school, and whether the assignment adversely affected the rights of other students. I FIND that the parties were afforded sufficient time to conduct discovery. I FIND that there was nothing in the record that indicates that M.W. was adversely affected by the assignment of the article.

I FIND that there was nothing in the record that indicates that any other student was adversely affected by Bredin's assignment of the article to M.W. I FIND that there is nothing in the record that indicates that the orderly operation of the school was adversely affected by Bredin's assignment of the article to M.W.

APPLICABLE LAW

The Standard for Summary Decision

A Motion for Summary Decision may be granted if the papers and discovery presented, as well as, any affidavits which may have been filed with the application, show that there is no genuine issue of material fact and the moving party is entitled to prevail as a matter of law. N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(b). If the Motion is sufficiently supported, the non-moving party must demonstrate by affidavit that there is a genuine issue of fact which can only be determined in an evidentiary proceeding, in order to prevail in such an application. Ibid. These provisions mirror the summary judgment language of R. 4:46-2(c). See Judson v. Peoples Bank and Trust Co. of Westfield, 17 N.J. 67, 74 (1954) and Brill v. Guardian Life Insurance Co. of America, 142 N.J. 520, 540 (1995).

The HIB Statute

> N.J.S.A. 18A:37-14 defines "Harassment, intimidation or bullying" as, Any gesture, any written, verbal or physical act, or any electronic Communication, whether it be a single incident or a series of incidents, that is:

[1] reasonably perceived as being motivated either by any actual or perceived characteristic such as race, color, religion, ancestry, national origin, gender sexual orientation, gender identity and expression, or a mental, physical or sensory disability, or by any other distinguishing characteristic,

[2] that takes place on school property, at any school-sponsored function, on a school bus, or takes place off school grounds as provided for in N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15.3,

[3] that substantially disrupts or interferes with the orderly operation of the school or the rights of other students and that:

a. A reasonable person should know, under the circumstances, will have the effect of physically or emotionally harming a student or damaging a student's property, or placing a student in reasonable fear of physical or emotional harm to his person or damage to his property; or

b. Has the effect of insulting or demeaning any student or group of students; or

c. creates a hostile educational environment for the student by interfering with a student's education or by severely or pervasively causing physical or emotional harm to the student."

Thus, to constitute HIB the gesture or action must contain all three primary (i.e., numerically-listed) elements plus at least one of the three alphabetized ("a", "b" or "c") elements.

Board of Education's HIB Decisions Are Afforded a Presumption of Validity

The decision of a local board of education should not be disturbed absent a finding that the action below was arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable. T.B.M. v. Moorestown Bd. of Educ., EDU 2780-07, Initial Decision (February 6, 2008), (citing Thomas Morris Twp. Bd. of Educ., 89 N.J. Super. 327, 332 (App. Div. 1965), aff'd, 46 N.J. 581 (1966)). In an appeal of a District's finding, with respect to an HIB investigation, the burden of proving "unreasonableness" of Board action is on Petitioners. G.M. v. Roselle Park Borough Bd. of Educ., 95 N.J.A.R.2d (EDU) 107, 109. Courts have held that "[w]here there is room for two opinions, action is not arbitrary or capricious when exercised honestly and upon due consideration, even though it may be believed that an erroneous conclusion has been reached." Bayshore Sewage Co. v. Dep't of Envtl. Prot., 122 N.J. Super. 184, 199-200 (Ch. Div. 1973), aff'd, 131 N.J. Super. 37 (App. Div. 1974). "Thus in order to prevail, the petitioner must demonstrate that the Board acted in bad faith, or in utter disregard of the circumstances before it." T.B.M., see also, W.C.L. and A.L. ex rel L.L. v. Tenafly Bd. of Educ., OAL Dkt. No. EDU 3223-12 (2013).

Motion Practice Before the Tribunal

Under the OAL's Uniform Administrative Procedure Rules (UAPR), a party wishing to oppose his adversary's Motion for Summary Decision must file written Opposition papers within twenty days of the filing of the Motion. UAPR 1:1-12.5.

LEGAL ANALYSIS AND CONCLUSIONS

Having found that the time limit set by the Acting Commissioner for Petitioners to submit their Opposition papers has been exceeded, I CONCLUDE that the Respondent's Motion is unopposed.

I CONCLUDE that the Petitioners have failed to raise any unresolved issues of material fact that would necessitate a plenary hearing.

I CONCLUDE that the Petitioners have failed to carry their burden of demonstrating that the decision of the BOE in regard to the HIB charges against Ms. Bredin was tainted by bad faith or that the decision of the BOE was made in utter disregard of the circumstances before it.

Having found that there is nothing in the record that would indicate that the assigning of the article to M.W. adversely affected M.W. or another student and that the assigning of the article to M.W. adversely affected the operation of the school, I CONCLUDE that an essential element of HIB (the third element of the primary, or numerically-listed elements) has not been established and I CONCLUDE that without said element there can be not finding of an act of HIB. I therefore CONCLUDE that the Ringwood BOE's determination that Ms. Bredin did not commit an act of HIB must be and hereby is AFFIRMED.

For all of the above reasons, I CONCLUDE that Respondent Ringwood BOE's Motion for Summary decision should be and hereby is GRANTED.

ORDER

This matter having been brought before the Tribunal by counsel for the Respondent Ringwood BOE seeking Summary Decision, and the Tribunal having considered the submissions, and for good cause:

It is on this third (4th) day of October, 2024,

ORDERED that the Respondent Ringwood BOE's Motion for Summary Decision is hereby GRANTED; and it is further ORDERED that the Tribunal's Order Granting Summary Decision in favor of the Ringwood BOE shall be immediately sent to the parties and / or their counsel by email; and it is further ORDERED that both sides shall immediately acknowledge receipt of this ORDER by email.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the ACTING COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified, or rejected by the ACTING COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Acting Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify, or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the ACTING COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION. Exceptions may be filed by email to ControversiesDisputesFilings@doe.nj.gov or by mail to Office of Controversies and Disputes, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500. A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

Petitioner,

v.

Board of Education of the City of Paterson,
Passaic County,

Respondent.

Synopsis

In February 2023, the petitioner appealed the withholding of a portion of her pay by the respondent Board pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-14 following the filing of tenure charges against petitioner in June 2019; those charges are the subject of a tenure hearing which is still in progress. The Board began withholding pay from petitioner in January 2023, after the tenure matter had been held in abeyance during related litigation. The petitioner filed a motion for emergent relief and a subsequent motion for summary decision, both of which were denied. A hearing was held in this matter on May 6, 2024.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: on May 22, 2019, the Board adopted a resolution certifying tenure charges against the petitioner and suspending her, without pay, effective May 23, 2019, in connection with the certification of tenure charges to the Commissioner; subsequent litigation and the disruption caused by the Covid-19 epidemic caused the tenure matter to be held in abeyance until September 2021, when an arbitrator was appointed to conduct the tenure proceeding; the petitioner's argument that the Board violated N.J.S.A. 18A:6-14 and acted without legal authority when it waited more than 440 calendar days before implementing its salary withholding is without merit, as the plain and unambiguous language of N.J.S.A. 18A:6-14 does not support petitioner's position; the Board's actions were consistent with the statutory directive; further, it is well settled that actions within a school board's authority are entitled to a presumption of validity and will not be overturned in the absence of an affirmative showing that the decision was arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable. The ALJ concluded that the Board had the authority to implement petitioner's suspension through salary deductions, and the Board's actions regarding the implementation of her statutorily authorized suspension were not arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable. Accordingly, the ALJ dismissed petitioner's appeal with prejudice.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurred with the ALJ's findings and conclusions and adopted the Initial Decision as the final decision in this matter. Accordingly, the petition of appeal was dismissed with prejudice.

This synopsis is not part of the Commissioner's decision. It has been prepared for the convenience of the reader. It has been neither reviewed nor approved by the Commissioner.

New Jersey Commissioner of Education

Final Decision

Marcella Simadiris,

Petitioner,

v.

Board of Education of the City of Paterson,
Passaic County,

Respondent.

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law have been reviewed and considered. The parties did not file exceptions.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurs with the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) that respondent had the authority to enforce petitioner's suspension through salary deductions. The Commissioner further concurs with the ALJ that the actions respondent utilized in implementing petitioner's suspension were not arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable. Accordingly, the Initial Decision is adopted as the final decision in this matter, and the petition of appeal is hereby dismissed.

BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE CITY OF PATERSON, PASSAIC COUNTY,

Record Closed: August 30, 2024 Decided: October 1, 2024

BEFORE MARGARET M. MONACO, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Petitioner Marcella Simadiris (Simadiris) challenges the withholding of a portion of her pay by respondent Board of Education of the City of Paterson (the Board).

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On February 14, 2023, Simadiris filed a Verified Petition of Appeal with the Commissioner of Education (the Commissioner), accompanied by a motion for emergent relief. The Department of Education (the Department) transmitted the matter to the Office of Administrative Law for determination as a contested case. On March 8, 2023, I issued an Order denying Simadiris's motion for emergent relief, which the Acting Commissioner adopted on March 23, 2023. Subsequently, Simadiris filed a motion for summary decision, which I denied by Order dated November 28, 2023. The hearing was held on May 6, 2024, after which the record remained open pending the receipt of a transcript of the hearing and post hearing submissions. The parties submitted briefs and reply briefs in support of their respective positions, and the record closed upon receipt of the last submission.[1]

FACTUAL DISCUSSION

At the hearing, the parties submitted a Stipulation of Undisputed Material Facts. (J-1.) No witnesses testified on behalf of Simadiris, and the Board offered testimony by its Assistant Superintendent for Human Resources, Luis Rojas (Rojas).

Based upon a review of the testimony and the documentary evidence presented, including the parties' Stipulation of Undisputed Material Facts (Stip.), and having had the opportunity to observe the demeanor and assess the credibility of the witness who testified, I FIND the following pertinent FACTS and accept as FACT the testimony set forth below.

[1] Simadiris attached several exhibits to her brief that were not introduced in evidence at the hearing, and these exhibits will not be considered. Similarly, Simadiris's submissions will not be considered to the extent that they address the recoupment of perfect attendance stipends, which is beyond the scope of Simadiris's Petition of Appeal. Indeed, as memorialized in my Order denying Simadiris's motion for emergent relief, "[t]he parties agree[d] that the Board's recoupment of . . . [perfect attendance stipends] is a matter subject to the [collective bargaining] contract's grievance procedure and is not before this forum."

On May 22, 2019, the Board adopted a resolution certifying tenure charges against Simadiris and "suspend[ing] [her], without pay, effective May 23, 2019, in connection with the Certification of Tenure Charges to the Commissioner[.]" (R-1; see Stip. at ¶ 1.) On June 3, 2019, the certified tenure charges were filed with the Commissioner. (Stip. at ¶ 1.) Consistent with the Board's resolution, Simadiris was suspended without pay for the month of June 2019. (See R-4.)

Simadiris filed an action in Lieu of Prerogative Writ in the Superior Court, Law Division, seeking to set aside the Board's resolution based upon an alleged violation of the Open Public Meetings Act. (Stip. at ¶ 2.) The Office of Controversies and Disputes held the tenure case in abeyance pending the resolution of the court litigation. (Stip. at ¶ 3.)

On August 21, 2019, the Honorable Ernest M. Caposela, A.J.S.C., issued an Order invalidating the Board's May 22, 2019 resolution. (See J-2; Stip. at ¶ 4.)

By letter dated August 26, 2019, Rojas informed Simadiris that she was suspended with pay effective September 2, 2019, and until such time that a decision is rendered in the Board's appeal of Judge Caposela's decision. (R-3.) In September 2019, the Board refunded Simadiris the month's salary deducted in June 2019. (See R-5.)

On September 13, 2019, the Board filed a Notice of Appeal with the Appellate Division regarding Judge Caposela's order. (Stip. at ¶ 6.) At the Board's request, and with Simadiris's consent, the Department continued to hold the tenure case in abeyance pending the Board's appeal. (Stip. at ¶ 5.)

On January 21, 2021, the Appellate Division issued a decision in which the court reversed Judge Caposela's order and "remanded for the entry of an order dismissing . . . [Simadiris's] complaint." (See J-3; Stip. at ¶ 7.)

Simadiris filed a petition for certification to the New Jersey Supreme Court, which the Court denied on September 9, 2021. (See J-4; Stip. at ¶ 8.) At this point in time, the litigation was concluded, and the Board's initial resolution reinstated. (Stip. at ¶ 8.)

On or about September 12, 2021, the Board's attorney advised the Office of Controversies and Disputes of the results of the above litigation and requested that the tenure case proceed. (Stip. at ¶ 9.) On September 27, 2021, the Department appointed Arbitrator James Mastriani to conduct the tenure proceeding. (Stip. at ¶ 10.) Arbitrator Mastriani scheduled the tenure hearing to begin on December 13, 2022, and the hearing is still in progress. (Stip. at ¶¶ 11, 14.)

Apart from the June 2019 pay that was withheld and then refunded, Simadiris remained on the Board's payroll throughout the years of litigation and through December 2022. On December 12, 2022, the Board's attorney e-mailed a letter to Simadiris's attorney which advised that Simadiris's salary would be reduced by $2,000 gross per paycheck, beginning with her first paycheck in January 2023, to reimburse the District for compensation erroneously paid relating to her 120-day suspension and perfect attendance incentives. (See R-2; Stip. at ¶ 12.) On January 15, 2023, the Board began withholding $2,000 per pay period, which ended after Simadiris's May 31, 2023 paycheck when the assessed overpayment was collected in full. (See R-7; Stip. at ¶ 13.)

Rojas has been involved with Human Resources since 2006 and has served as the Assistant Superintendent of Human Resources since 2017. Rojas offered credible testimony regarding the facts surrounding the District's recoupment of monies erroneously paid to Simadiris.

Simadiris's suspension was not implemented in September 2021, after the Supreme Court's denial of certification on September 9, 2021. Rojas testified about the various issues the District faced in reopening the schools after being closed for the 2020–2021 year due to COVID. He described that during this timeframe the District was in the process of reopening the schools, and the District was then having "issues" with the teachers' union that was "pushing back on . . . [the] reopening of schools," which "occupied a lot of . . . [the District's] time through that period of . . . legal battles going back and forth[.]" The District also had to navigate the return to school of approximately 25,000 students and approximately 4,000 staff. The Human Resources Department, which was responsible for implementing Simadiris's suspension, had a major role in the reopening of schools.

In or around the Fall of 2022, Rojas discovered that Simadiris had not been placed back on suspension without pay after the Supreme Court's decision. Rojas determined to start the recoupment in January 2023. He explained that "it's the human part of Human Resources," he "didn't want to start deducting her pay through the Christmas holiday and through the winter break," and the recoupment started "after the holidays and gave her that extra month in order to have . . . a nice holiday with her family." Rojas also made the decision to utilize the original calculation from May 23, 2019, resulting in forty-one days, instead of calculating the full 120 days from the date of the Supreme Court's decision. Utilizing this calculation, Simadiris was overpaid for seven days in May 2019, twenty days in June 2019, and fourteen days in September 2019 for a total of forty-one days equaling $16,643.54. (See R-6.)[2] Rojas explained that when a teacher is suspended without pay, the summer months count towards the 120-day suspension even though the teacher does not receive a paycheck in July and August. It was also determined that $2,000 per paycheck, rather than Simadiris's full salary, would be withheld. Rojas explained that "it had to be a number that . . . satisfied the District enough to get the money back, but we were able to spread it out long enough where it wouldn't take that huge of a hit on somebody's paycheck, where they wouldn't receive a paycheck at all."

In his role as the Assistant Superintendent for Human Resources, Rojas has routinely dealt with salary adjustments, including the recoupment of monies. He has done recoupments "hundreds of times in [his] career[.]" Rojas explained that "if there is an overpayment or if someone was paid erroneously, we recoup the money as quickly as we can . . . within reason [and] [u]sually we try to spread it out as much as we can, allowing the staff member to continue to live and pay his or her bills, yet the District recouping the funds that it paid out erroneously." In making salary adjustments, including the recoupment of monies, Rojas has never gone to the Board for a resolution to take that action, and he did not obtain a resolution regarding the recoupment of monies from Simadiris.

LEGAL DISCUSSION AND CONCLUSIONS

Pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-14:

> Upon certification of any charge to the commissioner, the board may suspend the person against whom such charge is made, with or without pay, but, if the determination of the charge by the arbitrator is not made within 120 calendar days after certification of the charges, excluding all delays which are granted at the request of such person, then the full salary (except for said 120 days) of such person shall be paid beginning on the one hundred twenty-first day until such determination is made. Should the charge be dismissed at any stage of the process, the person shall be reinstated immediately with full pay from the first day of such suspension. Should the charge be dismissed at any stage of the process and the suspension be continued during an appeal therefrom, then the full pay or salary of such person shall continue until the determination of the appeal . . . . Should the charge be sustained on the original hearing or an appeal therefrom, and should such person appeal from the same, then the suspension may be continued unless and until such determination is reversed, in which event he shall be reinstated immediately with full pay as of the time of such suspension.

The Legislature's intent in enacting the statute was "to alleviate 'the economic hardship endured by teachers . . . suspended without pay pending the outcome of charges filed against them and certified for [a] hearing[.]'" Pugliese v. State-Operated Sch. Dist. of City of Newark, 454 N.J. Super. 495, 505 (App. Div. 2018) (quoting In re Grossman, 127 N.J. Super. 13, 35-36 (App. Div. 1974)).

Simadiris does not dispute the salary withholding calculation. She also acknowledges that the Board was authorized to begin withholding her salary for the 120-calendar day period after the denial of certification by the Supreme Court on September 9, 2021. The crux of Simadiris's position is that the Board violated N.J.S.A. 18A:6-14 and acted ultra vires when it waited more than 440 calendar days before implementing its salary withholding. According to Simadiris, the Board had 120 calendar days from September 9, 2021 to begin withholding her pay, and the Board is without the power to begin the assessment more than 120 calendar days from the date that all restrictions were lifted. Simadiris also alleges that the Board had no statutory authority to modify the amount of the assessment by collecting $2,000 per pay period.

The principles governing statutory construction are well settled. The "overriding objective in determining the meaning of a statute is to 'effectuate the legislative intent in light of the language used and the objects sought to be achieved.'" McCann v. Clerk of Jersey City, 167 N.J. 311, 320 (2001) (citation omitted). The Supreme Court explained in Murray v. Plainfield Rescue Squad, 210 N.J. 581, 592 (2012) (citations omitted):

> The objective of all statutory interpretation is to discern and effectuate the intent of the Legislature. To achieve that objective, we begin by looking at the statute's plain language, ascribing to the words used "their ordinary meaning and significance." We do not view the statutory words in isolation but "in context with related provisions so as to give sense to the legislation as a whole." If the Legislature's intent is clear on the face of the statute, then we must apply the law as written. It is not our function to rewrite a plainly written statute or to presume that the Legislature meant something other than what it conveyed in its clearly expressed language.

"If the plain language leads to a clear and unambiguous result, then [the] interpretive process is over." Richardson v. Bd. of Trs. Police & Firemen's Ret. Sys., 192 N.J. 189, 195 (2007). It is not the function of this forum "to 'rewrite a plainly-written enactment,' or to presume that the drafter intended a meaning other than the one 'expressed by way of the plain language.'" U.S. Bank, N.A. v Hough, 210 N.J. 187, 199 (2012) (citation omitted).

Succinctly stated, the plain and unambiguous language of N.J.S.A. 18A:6-14 does not support Simadiris's position. By its terms, a board of education possesses the statutory right to suspend an employee without pay upon certification of tenure charges, provided that the suspension may not exceed 120 calendar days. The statute does not purport to establish a strict timeline for when the employee's pay can be withheld. Rather, the 120-day limit refers to the maximum number of days that pay can be withheld pending the arbitrator's determination.

Simadiris's reliance on Pugliese is misplaced. That case dealt with the effect of a prior Appellate Division decision vacating and remanding for reconsideration an arbitrator's award sustaining tenure charges against two teachers. Specifically, the Appellate Division was "asked to construe N.J.S.A. 18A:6-14 and determine what impact [its] decision to remand had on the suspended educators' entitlement to back pay while the remand was pending." Pugliese, 454 N.J. Super. at 499. The court explained that "[t]he statute provides for an educator's suspension without pay for 120 days or until the issuance of a final determination of the disputed tenure charges, whichever is sooner [and,] [i]f the matter is not resolved within 120 days, compensation must resume until a determination is reached." Id. at 499-500. The court held that "compensation continues under the statute despite the fact there has been an initial award terminating employment that was vacated and remanded, without a dismissal of the tenure charges." Id. at 500. The court concluded that its "vacating of the arbitrator's determinations meant there was no final decision made that terminated . . . [the teachers'] right to compensation once it resumed after 120 days of their suspensions." Id. at 507. In other words, unlike here, the teachers in that case had already been subject to a 120-day suspension.

I CONCLUDE that the Board acted consistent with the statutory directive. The Board complied with N.J.S.A. 18A:6-14 when it adopted a resolution on May 22, 2019, certifying the tenure charges against Simadiris and "suspend[ing] [her], without pay, effective May 23, 2019, in connection with the Certification of Tenure Charges to the Commissioner[.]" (R-1.) Simadiris cites no statute, regulation, or other authority to support her stance that a second Board resolution was required to implement her suspension. In short, there is no legal requirement that the Board must revote on tenure charges and a tenure suspension after the Appellate Division reinstated the Board's May 23, 2019 resolution. No ruling invalidated the suspension portion of the Board's resolution. And, just as the tenure charge portion of the resolution is valid as evidenced by the ongoing tenure arbitration proceedings, the suspension without pay contained in the same resolution also remains valid and enforceable. Further, in implementing Simadiris's suspension, the Board withheld forty-one days' worth of pay, which is significantly less than the 120 calendar days authorized by N.J.S.A. 18A:6-14.

Additionally, it is well settled that actions within a school board's authority are entitled to a presumption of validity and will not be overturned in the absence of an affirmative showing that the decision was arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable. Thomas v. Morris Twp. Bd. of Educ., 89 N.J. Super. 327, 332 (App. Div. 1965), aff'd, 46 N.J. 581 (1966). Stated differently, the exercise of a school board's discretionary powers may not be disturbed unless shown to be "patently arbitrary, without rational basis or induced by improper motives." Kopera v. West Orange Bd. of Educ., 60 N.J. Super. 288, 294 (App. Div. 1960). I CONCLUDE that the Board's actions cannot be said to be arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable.

Rojas credibly described the many issues that his office faced relative to the reopening of the District's schools following their closure due to the COVID pandemic, along with his lack of awareness until the Fall 2022 that Simadiris had not served the tenure suspension. At that point, the Board had the right, if not the duty, to implement the suspension and recover the salary erroneously paid to Simadiris. Clearly, Simadiris sustained no harm due to the delayed implementation of her suspension. Simadiris further sustained no financial harm that she should not have anticipated. Plainly, Simadiris was aware of the Board's May 22, 2019 resolution suspending her without pay, which could not be implemented due to the trial court's order and until after the completion of the litigation regarding the validity of that resolution. Simadiris was also aware that she had not served the imposed suspension and had received a refund of the monies that had been withheld in June 2019. Beyond this, by following the original suspension timetable, rather than the date of the Supreme Court's decision, the Board imposed the suspension for only forty-one days instead of the allowable 120 days. The Board also waited until after the holidays to start the suspension and provided Simadiris with advance notice in December 2022 of the salary deductions. And the Board accommodated Simadiris by spreading the forty-one-day suspension over a period of months so that only a portion of her pay would be withheld every two weeks, rather than withholding her full salary for a consecutive forty-one-day suspension.

In sum, I CONCLUDE that the Board had the authority to implement Simadiris's suspension through the salary deductions, and the Board's actions regarding the implementation of Simadiris's statutory authorized suspension were not arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable.

ORDER

Based on the foregoing, I ORDER that petitioner's Petition of Appeal be and hereby is DISMISSED WITH PREJUDICE.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the ACTING COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

On or about September 5, 2024, the Montgomery Township Board of Education filed tenure charges against Respondent Tiffany Trockenbrod with the State of New Jersey Department of Education Bureau of Controversies and Disputes. On or about September 9, 2024, an Answer to the tenure charges was submitted on behalf of the Respondent. On September 11, 2024, I was assigned as the arbitrator for the above referenced matter. Subsequent to correspondence, conference calls and videoconferences with counsel, an in-person hearing was scheduled for November 11, 26, December 2, 3, 18, 2024, and January 13, 2025.

On November 26, 2024, the parties agreed to conduct settlement discussions in lieu of an evidentiary hearing. At that time, the parties reached general terms for a settlement, but further discussions were required. On December 2, 2024, I conferred with Counsel to confirm that the parties were in the process of drafting a settlement agreement that needed to be reduced to writing for review and approval. On December 18, 2024, a Settlement Agreement (including terms for Release) and Petitioner's letter supporting the basis of the settlement was forwarded to me for review. [See Attachments]. That day, I conducted a final conference with the parties' Counsel, Board Superintendent Mary McLoughlin, and the Respondent to discuss the terms of settlement.

N.J.A.C. 6A:3-5.6 requires the arbitrator to issue a brief decision approving the settlement of tenure charges and explaining why the arbitrator is approving the terms of settlement.

The parties' settlement agreement expressly details the basis for resolution. In addition, the Petitioner's letter supporting the basis of the settlement addresses the six (6) standards outlined and adopted by In re Cardonick, State Board Decision of April 6, 1983 (1990 School Law Decisions (S.L.D.) 842, 846) that must be met before a settlement is approved. I have thoroughly reviewed and considered the parties' reasons for settlement. Having considered the stated reasons in conjunction with the issues raised in the Statement of Tenure Charges and the Statement of Evidence filed by the Petitioner and the Response to Tenure Charges filed by the Respondent, I am persuaded that the parties entered the settlement agreement knowingly and willingly and that the terms of the settlement agreement represent a reasonable basis for settlement that will serve the public's interest and are consistent with the public good.

Accordingly, and based upon the foregoing, I approve the parties' settlement agreement.

Accordingly, and based upon the foregoing, I approve the parties' settlement agreement.

Introduction

This matter arises from tenure charges of Misbehavior / Unbecoming Conduct and Other Just Cause filed against tenured school secretary Anacarina Sosa (Respondent) by the Roselle Board of Education (the District) and a November 21, 2024 referral of the tenure charges to the undersigned by the New Jersey Department of Education, Bureau of Controversies and Disputes pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-16.

The Tenure Charges

The Tenure Charges against Respondent contain 30 Charges. In Charges 1 through 29 the District alleged Misbehavior/Unbecoming Conduct and variously alleged neglect, fraud, time theft, insubordination, excessive absenteeism, policy violations, unhealthy workplace environment, breach of contract and endangering the welfare of a child. In Charge 30 the District alleged other just cause.

November 25, 2024 Telephonic Conference

A telephonic conference was held by the undersigned with representatives of the parties on November 25, 2024, at which time the parties notified the undersigned of their anticipated settlement of the Charges, the terms of which were to be proposed to the District's School Board on December 16, 2024.

Settlement

On December 17, 2024 the parties provided the undersigned for review and consideration a copy of their fully executed Settlement Agreement approved by the Roselle Board of Education on December 16, 2024 and signed by Respondent on December 17, 2024. (Attachment A)

On December 20, 2024 counsel for Respondent Sosa provided the undersigned a sworn affidavit executed by Respondent (Attachment B) incorporating the Settlement Agreement and confirming that she had the opportunity to review and ask all questions about the settlement, understands the settlement, has been satisfied with her representation by counsel and attorney services provided, and voluntarily enters into, and agrees to all terms of, the settlement agreement.

The Settlement Agreement settles all the outstanding charges filed against Respondent by the District, the Agreement is executed by both parties and reflects that Respondent entered into the Agreement with a full understanding of her rights; and that each party consented to the Settlement. Additionally, the written Settlement confirms that the Agreement was approved by the District Board of Education on December 16, 2024.

Approval of the Settlement is in the public interest as the parties have voluntarily entered into the Settlement and its approval avoids the expenditure of limited public resources. Based upon such considerations, I find that the Settlement meets the standards established by the State Board of Education in the matter of In re Cardonick, State Board Decision of April 6, 1983 (1990 School Law Decisions (S.L.D.) 842, 846).

Conclusion

The Settlement of the instant Tenure Charges is Approved.
