The record, proposed settlement agreement, and Initial Decision issued by the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1, have been reviewed – mindful of the Commissioner's January 19, 2016 determination that the prior settlement agreement submitted did not comply with N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.13, as it was neither signed by the Board's attorney, nor contained a copy of the Board's resolution approving the settlement and designating the Superintendent to sign the settlement agreement on its behalf. Since there is now a Board resolution approving the settlement, the Commissioner can approve the within settlement agreement in its present form.

Accordingly, the Initial Decision recommending approval of the parties' settlement as the final decision in this matter is hereby adopted, and the matter is dismissed subject to compliance with the terms of the settlement.

| PETITIONER, | : | |
| V. | : | COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION |
| BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE HUNTERDON CENTRAL REGIONAL SCHOOL DISTRICT, HUNTERDON COUNTY, | : | DECISION |
| RESPONDENT. | : | |

SYNOPSIS

Petitioner herein is a teacher employed by the respondent Board, and formerly a wrestling coach for the school district. Petitioner appealed the Board's finding that he committed an act of Harassment, Intimidation or Bullying (HIB) pursuant to New Jersey's Anti-Bullying Bill of Rights Act (Act), N.J.S.A. 18A:37-13 et seq. The Board alleged that on two occasions during a summer wrestling camp, petitioner stated to one of the student wrestlers – a special education student – that he hoped the student "did not have access to any weapons or keys to the gun closet." Petitioner contended that the Board's determination was arbitrary, capricious and unreasonable, and that the HIB investigation was improperly conducted. The parties filed cross motions for summary decision.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: there are no material facts at issue in this case, and the matter is ripe for summary decision; the issues presented here are whether the conduct engaged in by the petitioner rose to the level of HIB as defined by law, and whether petitioner was afforded adequate due process during the course of the Board's investigation of the charges filed against him; an HIB investigation was conducted after the student's parents contacted the school principal to complain about the incident involving the petitioner; petitioner admitted making the alleged comments; the HIB investigation report concluded that the petitioner's conduct met the statutory definition of HIB, as petitioner was deemed to have made insulting or demeaning comments that publicly humiliated a student; petitioner requested a Board-level hearing in accordance with N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15b(6)(d); the Board advised petitioner that neither Board policy nor regulation provided a procedure for anyone other than a parent or guardian of students to request a hearing, however the Board did – as a courtesy – extend an invitation to petitioner to appear before the Board for a twenty minute period to make a statement, but with no opportunity to offer witnesses; the Commissioner has recognized that the HIB investigatory requirements outlined in regulations have equal applicability when a bullying charge is directed against a staff member; petitioner had a right to defend the charges against him, but was not afforded the due process rights guaranteed by statute. Accordingly, the ALJ concluded that because the Board failed to comply with the required investigatory process, any reference to HIB should be expunged from petitioner's personnel files. The ALJ granted petitioner's motion for summary decision.

Upon comprehensive review, the Commissioner concurred with the ALJ's determination that staff members accused of committing an act of HIB are entitled to the due process guaranteed by the Act, including the right to a hearing before the board of education. However, the Commissioner found that the ALJ erred in ordering that all references to HIB be removed from petitioner's file, and instead remanded the matter to the respondent with orders to provide the petitioner with a hearing before the Board.

| PETITIONER, | : | |
| V. | : | COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION |
| BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE HUNTERDON CENTRAL REGIONAL SCHOOL DISTRICT, HUNTERDON COUNTY, | : | DECISION |
| RESPONDENT. | : | |

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed, as have the exceptions filed pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4 by the Board of Education of the Hunterdon Central Regional School District (Board), and Petitioner Stephen Gibble's reply thereto. This case involves a challenge by the petitioner, a former wrestling coach, to the Board's determination that he committed an act of Harassment, Intimidation and Bullying (HIB) pursuant to the Anti-Bullying Bill of Rights Act (Act), N.J.S.A. 18A:37-13 et seq. The Board alleges that on two occasions during a summer wrestling camp, in the presence of others, the petitioner stated to R.F. – a special education student – that he hoped that R.F. did not have access to any weapons or keys to the gun closet. The Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) found that the Board failed to comply with the investigatory process outlined in the Act, and therefore, granted summary decision in favor of the petitioner.

In its exceptions the Board contends that the ALJ improperly granted summary decision in favor of the petitioner, and that the ALJ's conclusions of law are contrary to the express terms found in the Act. The Board maintains that under N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(b)(6)(d), only a parent or a guardian may request a hearing before the board of education in connection with an HIB investigation and there is no provision giving a wrestling coach who is accused of committing an act of HIB a right to hearing before the board of education. In fact, neither the Act nor the associated regulation, N.J.A.C. 6A:16-7.7(1)(2)(viii), include any mention whatsoever of anyone other than a parent or guardian having a right to request a board hearing. The Board also maintains that, at the time of the incident in this matter, the Department of Education's Guidance for Schools in Implementing the Anti-bullying Bill of Rights Act made it clear that staff can commit acts of HIB against students, but it made no mention of anyone other than a parent or guardian having a right to a hearing. See, New Jersey Department of Education, Guidance for Parents on the Anti-Bullying Bill of Rights Act, dated September 2012, pgs. 17-19.[1] Accordingly, the Board contends that the documentation cited in the Initial Decision does not make it clear that the Act "must ... apply to [petitioner] for every aspect of the HIB investigation process, including his right to a hearing before the local board."

The Board also argues that the Initial Decision is incorrect and should be reversed, because – despite the language in the Act – the petitioner was provided with the entire investigatory file and was offered the opportunity to appear before the Board, which he declined. Although the Commissioner recently commented in Edward Sadloch, et al. v. Board of Education of the Township of Cedar Grove, Bergan County, Commissioner Decision No. 216-15, decided June 23, 2015, that coaches accused of HIB should be given an opportunity to appear before the Board, nowhere in the final decision or the OAL's Initial Decision does it state that this opportunity includes a full adversarial hearing, including the right to call witnesses.

[1] The Board acknowledges that in November 2015, the Department revised the "Questions and Answers" concerning the Act. Without directly addressing whether a staff member had a right to a hearing before the board, the Department commented that "[a]ll of the procedural requirements in the ABR apply regardless of whether the alleged offender is an adult or youth." See New Jersey Department of Education, Anti-Bulling Bill of Rights Act (N.J.S.A. 18A:37-13 et seq.), Questions and Answers, dated November 2015, pg. 12.

As such, the Initial Decision is inappropriately extending the terms of the Act to require an adversarial hearing, which was not the Legislature's intent. Although the Initial Decision implied that the 20 minute appearance offered to the petitioner was insufficient, there is again no legal support for this holding.

Alternatively, the Board contends that even if the petitioner was entitled to a hearing, the ALJ should have remanded the matter to the Board. In the Initial Decision, the ALJ wrongfully concluded "that because the Board failed to comply with the investigatory process contained in statute, any reference to HIB should be expunged from petitioner's personnel files maintained by the Board." The Board maintains that the Commissioner's decision to remove any reference of HIB from the coaches' files in Sadloch, supra, without remanding the matter for a proper investigation is not applicable in this case. In Sadloch, supra, at page 1-2, the Commissioner stated that he was in accord with the ALJ's conclusions that, in light of the lack of documentation and the state of the record, there could not be a proper determination as to whether there was an act of HIB committed. The Board argues that the facts in this matter are extremely different because – as opposed to the inaction of the Cedar Grove Board – in this matter, a thorough investigation was conducted in compliance with the procedural requirements of the Act. Notably, the petitioner was sent numerous letters concerning the HIB allegations and investigation; the Board provided the petitioner an opportunity to respond to the charges; the petitioner was provided with the entire investigatory file; the Board discussed petitioner's HIB investigation at three board meetings where petitioner received Rice notices of such; and the Board promptly advised the petitioner of the disposition of the allegations against him. Thus, the record is extensive in this case and all of the steps in the investigation have been memorialized in writing and are well documented; therefore, a remand in this matter is appropriate.

In reply, the petitioner argues that the Initial Decision should be adopted because the ALJ correctly held that the HIB charges should be dismissed in light of the fact that the petitioner was not afforded the due process guaranteed by the Act. The petitioner contends that staff members and students have the same rights and obligations under the Act. The ALJ properly reasoned that if the petitioner can be found to have violated the Act, then the Act "must apply to him for every aspect of the HIB investigation process, including his right to a hearing before the local board." The petitioner also notes that the Board's assertion to the contrary is inconsistent with its letter to the petitioner, dated September 8, 2014, where it stated that the petitioner was entitled to the investigation information and a hearing. The petitioner further argues that the Commissioner's decision in K.T., on behalf of minor children K.H. and T.D. v. Board of Education of the Township of Deerfield, Cumberland County, Commissioner Decision No. 278-13, decided July 30, 2013, expressly confirmed that the manifest intent of the Legislature was that the Act and school HIB policies would apply equally to adults. Further, "Based on the established case law since at least 2013, and the overwhelming evidence of congressional intent, anyone accused of an HIB violation is entitled to the Act's due process protections," which includes a hearing before the Board. (Petitioner's Reply Exceptions at 9)

The petitioner also argues that the Board's assertion that this matter should be remanded for a hearing is inappropriate and would be highly prejudicial to the petitioner. The petitioner contends that the Board's failure to provide the petitioner with a hearing during the relevant time period irrevocably tainted and effectively nullified the investigation. The petitioner argues that if the remedy in these types of cases is to give boards of education a "do-over" then there will be no incentive to get it right the first time. Further, approximately two years have passed since the incident in question and the petitioner continues to spend attorney's fees defending his reputation from this reckless attack. Finally, the petitioner reiterated the arguments advanced below to suggest that he did not commit an act of HIB against R.F.

Upon a comprehensive review of the record, the Commissioner is in accord with the ALJ's determination that staff members who are accused of committing an act of HIB are entitled to the due process guaranteed by the Act, including the right to a hearing before the board of education. In Sadloch, supra, the Commissioner adopted the ALJ's determination that while N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(b)(6)(d) provides that "parents or guardians of the students who are parties to the investigation" must receive written information about that investigation, this requirement must be held to extend to staff members and volunteers whose conduct is implicated by a bullying allegation. It is only reasonable that this due process protection also includes the same right to a hearing before the Board that is provided under N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(b)(6)(d) to parents or guardians of students involved in HIB investigations.

Although the Board failed to provide the petitioner with a hearing, the Commissioner disagrees with the ALJ's determination that the petitioner is entitled to summary decision and all references of HIB should be expunged from his personnel file. Instead, this matter shall be remanded to the Board to give the petitioner a hearing. See also, D.M., on behalf of minor child, K.B. v. Board of Education of the Township of West Milford, Passaic County, Commissioner Decision No. 468-14, decided November 24, 2014 (The matter was remanded to the Board to conduct the required investigation and to issue a report in compliance with N.J.S.A. 18A:37-13 et seq.).

It is important to recognize that the decision not to remand the matter for a determination as to whether an act of HIB was committed in Sadloch, supra, was based on a unique set of circumstances, and the fact that the state of the record in that case made it impossible for a determination to ever be reached. Remarkably, in Sadloch, supra, the coaches could not even parse out the basis for the determination that they engaged in HIB and the ALJ was similarly left perplexed as to the basis of the charges. The procedures followed by the Board here are not analogous to the lack of any meaningful investigation conducted in Sadloch, supra. Unlike in Sadloch, supra, the Board gave the petitioner notice of the allegations; it conducted an investigation and completed an investigation report; and it also afforded the petitioner with an opportunity to appear before the board.[2] Therefore, the Commissioner finds that the ALJ erroneously ordered that all references to HIB be removed from the petitioner's file and instead that the appropriate disposition in this case is to order the Board to provide the petitioner with a hearing on the HIB allegations.

Accordingly, the recommended decision of the ALJ is modified as stated above and the Board is directed to provide the petitioner with a hearing before the Board.

IT IS SO ORDERED.[3]

[2] Further, at the time of the investigation in this matter in 2014 it was not abundantly clear from the statutory and regulatory provisions and the guidance documents as to whether local boards of education were required to provide a staff member accused of HIB with a hearing before the board. However, as boards of education began implementing the provisions in the Act and the case law evolved, it became apparent that denying a staff member the same due process opportunities that are provided to parents and guardian of students faced with bullying allegations would be inconsistent with the spirit of the Act's investigatory requirements.

[3] This decision may be appealed to the Superior Court, Appellate Division, pursuant to P.L. 2008, c. 36 (N.J.S.A. 18A:6-9.1).

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On February 4, 2015, the petitioner filed a Petition of Appeal to the Commissioner of Education, in which he disputes respondent's finding that he committed an act of harassment, intimidation or bullying ("HIB") pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:37-13.2 et seq. and requests that the Commissioner overturn such finding on the grounds that respondent, Board of Education of the Hunterdon Central Regional School District ("the Board) was arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable in its determination and that the HIB investigation was not conducted properly. The Department of Education transmitted the matter to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), where it was filed on February 25, 2015. N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15; N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13. The Board and petitioner have cross-moved for summary decision having each filed initial briefs on October 2, 2015, and oral argument was heard on February 18, 2016. The record closed on that date.

FACTUAL DISCUSSION

The following facts are stipulated to, by, and between the parties, and I therefore FIND them as FACT:

1. Petitioner is a teacher employed by the Board who previously held a stipend position as the Head Coach of the Hunterdon Central Wrestling Team.

2. Petitioner attended the 2014 Scarlet Knights Wrestling Team Camp ("the camp") which took place between June 30, 2014, and July 3, 2014, along with approximately fifteen Hunterdon Central students who, at the time, were current and prospective members of the Hunterdon Central Wrestling Team.

3. R.F., an incoming freshman at Hunterdon Central attended the camp and participated in camp activities as part of the Hunterdon Central Wrestling Team.

4. Unbeknownst to petitioner at the time, R.F. was a classified special education student.

5. On two occasions during the first several days of the camp, petitioner stated to R.F., in the presence of other members of the Hunterdon Central Wrestling Team, that he hoped R.F. did not have access to any weapons or keys to the gun closet.

6. As a result of these comments, R.F. was embarrassed and felt that petitioner thought he was crazy and did not like him. After the second time petitioner made these comments to R.F., the student called his mother and asked to be removed from the wrestling camp.

7. When R.F.'s mother arrived to take him home from camp, petitioner went to R.F. before he left and told him he was just kidding and that is the way petitioner is.

8. An HIB investigation was conducted after R.F.'s parents contacted the school principal to complain about the incident.

9. Petitioner admitted making these comments to R.F.

10. The HIB investigation concluded that petitioner's conduct met the statutory definition of HIB, as set forth in N.J.S.A. 18A:37-14. The District concluded that petitioner committed HIB against R.F. who is "a classified student, quiet in nature and slight in build." See ABC Manfredi Cert. at ¶ 16.

11. The HIB Investigation Report noted petitioner had made insulting or demeaning comments and publicly humiliated a pupil.

12. The findings of the HIB investigation were reported to the Board at its next meeting on October 20, 2014. At that meeting, the Board took action to suspend petitioner, with pay, from all coaching activities.

13. Notice of the finding and information on the outcome, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15b(6)(d), was sent home to the parents of R.F., dated October 22, 2014.

14. Thereafter, petitioner requested a Board-level hearing in accordance with N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15b(6)(d). The Board advised petitioner that neither Board policy nor regulation provides a procedure for anyone other than a parent or guardian of students to request a hearing.

15. The Board, solely as a courtesy, permitted petitioner and his attorney to appear before the Board at their November 17, 2014, meeting to make a statement. See Comegno letter, dated November 12, 2014. This appearance was limited to twenty minutes and petitioner was not permitted to offer witnesses. Id.

16. Petitioner's attorney objected to the limitations of the Board meeting and petitioner did not attend the meeting.

17. During the November 17, 2014, meeting, the Board took action to affirm the administration's findings concerning petitioner's HIB offense.

LEGAL ANALYSIS AND CONCLUSION

N.J.A.C. 1:12-5, governing motions for summary decision, permits early disposition of a case before the case is heard if, based on the papers and discovery which have been filed, it can be decided "that there is no genuine issue as to any material fact challenged and that the moving party is entitled to prevail as a matter of law." N.J.A.C. 1:12-5(b). The provisions of N.J.A.C. 1:12-5 mirror the language of R. 4:46-2 of the New Jersey Court Rules governing motions for summary judgment. To survive summary decision, the opposing party must show that "there is a genuine issue which can only be determined in an evidentiary proceeding." Ibid. Failure to do so entitles the moving party to summary decision. Brill v. Guardian Life Ins. Co. of Am., 142 N.J. 520 (1995).

Moreover, even if the non-moving party comes forward with some evidence, this forum must grant summary decision if the evidence is "so one-sided that [the moving party] must prevail as a matter of law." Id. at 536. This tribunal is required to do "the same type of evaluation, analysis or sifting of evidential materials as required by Rule 4:37-2(b) in light of the burden of persuasion that applies if the matter goes to trial." Id. at 539-540. Like the New Jersey Supreme Court's standard for summary judgment, summary decision is designed to "liberalize the standards so as to permit summary [decision] in a larger number of cases" due to the perception that we live in "a time of great increase in litigation and one in which many meritless cases are filed." Id. at 539 (citation omitted).

The parties stipulate that there are no material facts in dispute, and this matter is ripe for determination on cross-motions for summary decision, with one party or the other being entitled to decision, as a matter of law, depending on the resolution of the sole legal issue in dispute above.

This appeal asks that I consider whether the conduct engaged in by petitioner rose to bullying, as defined by law, and whether he was afforded adequate due process during the course of the Board's investigation of the charges filed against him by R.F. N.J.S.A. 18A:37-14 defines HIB to include:

> [A]ny gesture, any written, verbal or physical act . . . whether it be a single incident or a series of incidents, that is reasonably perceived as being motivated either by any actual or perceived characteristic such as race, color, religion, ancestry, national origin, gender, sexual orientation, gender identity and expression, or a mental, physical or sensory disability, or by any other distinguishing characteristic, that takes place on school property, at any school-sponsored function, on a school bus, or off school grounds . . . that substantially disrupts or interferes with the orderly operation of the school or the rights of other students and that:
> a. a reasonable person should know, under the circumstances, will have the effect of physically or emotionally harming a student or damaging a student's property, or placing a student in reasonable fear of physical or emotional harm to his person or damage to his property;
>
> b. has the effect of insulting or demeaning any student or group of students; or
> c. creates a hostile educational environment for the student by interfering with a student's education or be severely or pervasively causing physical or emotional harm to the student.

Districts are required by law to adopt policies that prohibit HIB; that outline expectations for student behavior; that set forth consequences for inappropriate behavior; and create procedures for reporting HIB related concerns. N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15. A school anti-bullying specialist must be assigned to each school, and the results of HIB investigations must be shared with the Superintendent of Schools and the Board of Education. Moreover, the law specifically requires as follows:

> (c) the results of each investigation shall be reported to the board of education no later than the date of the board of education meeting next following the completion of the investigation, along with information on any services provided, training established, discipline imposed, or other action taken or recommended by the superintendent;
> (d) parents or guardians of the students who are parties to the investigation shall be entitled to receive information about the investigation, in accordance with federal and State law and regulation, including the nature of the investigation, whether the district found evidence of harassment, intimidation, or bullying, or whether discipline was imposed or services provided to address the incident of harassment, intimidation, or bullying. This information shall be provided in writing within 5 school days after the results of the investigation are reported to the board. A parent or guardian may request a hearing before the board after receiving the information, and the hearing shall be held within 10 days of the request. The board shall meet in executive session for the hearing to protect the confidentiality of the students. At the hearing the board may hear from the school anti-bullying specialist about the incident, recommendations for discipline or services, and any programs instituted to reduce such incidents;
> (e) at the next board of education meeting following its receipt of the report, the board shall issue a decision, in writing, to affirm, reject, or modify the superintendent's decision. The board's decision may be appealed to the Commissioner of Education, in accordance with the procedures set forth in law and regulation, no later than 90 days after the issuance of the board's decision . . . .
> [N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15 (emphasis supplied).]

Regulations promulgated by the Department of Education further assist local districts in complying with these statutory requirements. N.J.A.C. 6A:16-7.9. The Commissioner has recognized that these requirements have equal applicability when a bullying charge is directed against a staff member. See K.T. on behalf of K.H. and T.D. v. Deerfield Bd. of Educ., EDU 00489-13, Initial Decision (June 19, 2013), rev'd and remanded, Comm'r

(July 30, 2013), http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/> (where, in the context of a claim that a teacher bullied a kindergarten student, the Commissioner confirmed that the internal HIB investigation mandated by law is not discretionary).

Petitioner in this case was not afforded the due process guaranteed by statute. While the law provides that "parents or guardians of the students who are parties to the investigation" may request a hearing before the board, this requirement must be held to extend to staff members whose conduct is implicated by a bullying allegation. The intent of a statute or regulation should be gleaned from a view of the whole and of every part of the statute, with the real of intention prevailing over the literal sense of its terms. Schierstead v. City of Brigantine, 29 N.J. 220 (1959). Here, the bullying statute can only be interpreted to give a staff member the opportunity to defend himself at a board hearing. Otherwise how can a staff member be assured that the local board has been provided with all of the facts it needs to render an informed decision?

Respondent concedes in it's Brief in Support of Summary Decision, at page thirty-four, that "while the Anti-Bullying Bill of Rights only addresses HIB committed against students and does not address acts committed against adults, it applies to all persons, including staff members, who commits an act of HIB against a student." In support of this statement, respondent cites the New Jersey Department of Education's Guidance for Schools in Implementing the Anti-Bullying Bill of Rights Act (P.L.2010,c.122), http://www.state.nj.us/education/students/safety/behavior/hib/guidance.pdf at 7 and 27, Dec. 2011. While this statement was made in an attempt to persuade this tribunal that the alleged prohibited act which occurred off school grounds applies to the petitioner, it is clear that if the Anti-Bullying Bill of Rights applies to petitioner for that purpose, so too must it apply to him for every aspect of the HIB investigation process, including his right to a hearing before the local board.

Petitioner had a right to defend the charges against him. Only as a courtesy did the Board offer petitioner an opportunity to make a statement at a Board meeting. This courtesy cannot be considered to rise to the level of the Board level hearing outlined in the Anti-Bullying Bill of Rights when petitioner was not permitted to offer witnesses and his time before the Board was limited to twenty minutes. I CONCLUDE that because the Board failed to comply with the investigatory process contained in statute, any reference to HIB should be expunged from petitioner's personnel files maintained by the Board.

ORDER

Base on the foregoing, it is ORDERED that any reference to HIB be deleted from the personnel files maintained by the Board in regard to the petitioner.

It is further ORDERED that:

1. Petitioner's motion for summary decision is GRANTED;

2. Respondent's cross-motion is DENIED; and

3. The petition in this matter is DISMISSED.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

Petitioner challenged the respondent Board's determination that her child, A.B., was not entitled to a free public education in Union Township schools. Petitioner asserted that she has lived on M. Place in Union, with her mother and daughter, since 2008 and has lived nowhere else. Petitioner does own a house in Hillside, in which she lived between 2001 and 2008; she described this house as an investment property, but has never rented the property to tenants. The Board contended that A.B. is not domiciled at the Union address provided by the petitioner and sought tuition reimbursement for the period of A.B.'s ineligible attendance.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(a), public schools are required to provide a free education to individuals aged 5 to 20 years who are domiciled within the school district; the domicile of unemancipated children is the domicile of their parent or guardian; in the instant case, the Board had good cause to question the residency of A.B. after she informed her teacher, during a social studies lesson, that the house on M. Place in Union Township is her grandmother's house and that A.B. does not live there; results of the Board's residency investigation revealed that neither T.L. or A.B. resided at M. Place in Union; rather, the surveillance and testimony demonstrated that A.B. was transported from L. Avenue in Hillside to school in Union Township; no documentation was offered to support T.L.'s claim that she shares expenses with her mother at the Union Township address; additionally, no documentation was supplied to prove that T.L. receives bills for various accounts in her name at the Union Township address; petitioner did supply documentation regarding utility usage at the Hillside address, which were inconsistent with her claim that no one resides there; and T.L. failed to demonstrate by a preponderance of the credible evidence that A.B. is entitled to a free public education in Union Township. The ALJ concluded that A.B. was not entitled to attend school in Union Township during the period in question, and the Board is entitled to tuition reimbursement from T.L. in the sum of $13,642 for the 2014-2015 school year, and the sum of $7,666.32 for the 2015-2016 school year through February 26, 2016, plus a per-diem rate of $75.16 for each day beyond February 26, 2016 that A.B. remained in the district schools.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurred with the ALJ – for the reasons thoroughly set forth in the Initial Decision – that petitioner failed to sustain her burden of establishing that she was a domiciliary of Union Township during the period in question. Further, the Commissioner found petitioner's exceptions to be without merit. Accordingly, the Initial Decision was adopted as the final decision in this matter and petitioner was directed to reimburse the Board in the amount of $ 21,308.32, plus $75.16 for each day beyond February 26, 2016 that A.B. remains enrolled in Union Township schools. The petition was dismissed.

| PETITIONER, | : | |
| V. | : | COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION |
| BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE TOWNSHIP OF UNION, UNION COUNTY, | : | DECISION |
| RESPONDENT. | : | |

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed, as have the exceptions filed pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4 by petitioner and the Board of Education's (Board) reply thereto.

In her exceptions, petitioner argues that the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) failed to consider the evidence she presented. Specifically, petitioner contends that she testified that she was at work – as evidenced by time sheets – on several days that the residency investigator saw her leaving the Hillside residence. Accordingly, petitioner argues that the investigator's testimony should not be given any credibility. Petitioner further points out that she submitted at least ten documents reflecting her address in Union Township, and that the ALJ erred by ignoring the submissions and failing to afford them any weight.

Petitioner asserts that the ALJ failed to address the testimony of two witnesses – T.L.'s mother and T.L.'s neighbor at the Hillside property. Petitioner maintains that these witnesses testified that she did not live at the Hillside property, and the ALJ disregarded their testimony without assessing their credibility as witnesses. Petitioner also contends that the ALJ should not have relied upon the comments that A.B. – a first grader – made to her teacher stating that she did not live in her grandmother's home in Union Township.

Petitioner further asserts that the ALJ erred by giving weight to the fact that petitioner did not submit her tax returns, W-2 forms, or pay stubs, and could not remember which address she had used on them. As districts cannot request this information as a condition of enrollment in school, it was improper for the ALJ to fault petitioner for not submitting them. Further, the ALJ erred by twisting the evidence submitted by petitioner – i.e., minimal utility bills to show that she did not live in Hillside – into proof that she lived at the Hillside home.

In reply, the Board contends that the ALJ properly found that petitioner failed to demonstrate by a preponderance of the evidence that she is domiciled in Union Township, and therefore petitioner must reimburse the Board for the cost of tuition for the period that A.B. was ineligible to attend school in Union Township. The Board argues that petitioner's exceptions should be rejected because the ALJ made credibility determinations and detailed the reasoning for her findings. Further, the Board notes that the ALJ's credibility findings do not need to be "explicitly enunciated," provided that the record as a whole makes them clear. (Board's reply at 3).

The Board points out that the ALJ determined that petitioner's testimony and documentary evidence were not credible, the testimony of the Board's teaching staff member was credible, and the testimony of the Board's investigators was credible. The Board urges that such credibility assessments should be given deference and were supported by the evidence in the record. Specifically, the Board emphasizes that petitioner failed to produce credible evidence of a domicile in Union Township – including a lack of proof that she assists with bills in Union Township, tax returns, W-2 forms, recent paystubs, and bills and statements – whereas the Board presented evidence of petitioner's domicile in Hillside. Further, the Board contends that the testimony of the investigators and teaching staff member were consistent with the evidence.

Additionally, the Board disagrees with petitioner's argument that the ALJ erred in giving weight to petitioner's failure to produce filed income tax returns. Specifically, the Board maintains that although Boards cannot condition enrollment based on tax returns, there is nothing prohibiting the Commissioner from considering them on a residency appeal, which is done regularly. As an ALJ is permitted to draw a negative inference from a party's failure to produce evidence of domicile, the Board argues – to the extent that the ALJ placed weight on the fact that petitioner did not submit tax returns – the ALJ acted appropriately and lawfully.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurs with the ALJ – for the reasons thoroughly set forth in the Initial Decision – that petitioner failed to sustain her burden of establishing that she was a domiciliary of Union Township. At the outset, the Commissioner notes that there is sufficient credible evidence in the record to support the ALJ's finding that petitioner was not domiciled in Union Township for the 2014-2015 and 2015-2016 school years and that the minor child was, therefore, not entitled to a free public education in the District's schools during that time. Notwithstanding the petitioner's contentions to the contrary, the Commissioner finds no basis in the record – which includes more than thirty exhibits and a transcript of the hearing – to reject either the ALJ's recitations of testimony or her determinations of witness credibility. The ALJ had the opportunity to assess the credibility of the various witnesses who appeared before her and made findings of fact based upon their testimony. In this regard, the clear and unequivocal standard governing the Commissioner's review is:

> The agency head may not reject or modify any findings of fact as to issues of credibility of lay witness testimony unless it is first determined from a review of the record that the findings are arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable or are not supported by sufficient, competent, and credible evidence in the record.
> [N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10(c)].

A review of the record herein makes clear that the ALJ's factual findings are well supported by same. The record includes: surveillance conducted over a two week period in which the Board's investigator observed T.L. leave the Hillside address and drive her daughter to school on five occasions, which is consistent with school attendance records; surveillance during the same period in which an investigator observed that neither T.L. nor A.B. left the Union Township home in the morning; testimony from A.B.'s teacher as to A.B.'s comments about not living in Union Township; no evidence to support T.L.'s testimony that she assists with utilities at the Union Township home; and utility bills that

T.L. pays for at the Hillside home that are inconsistent with her claim that no one lives there. As such, the evidence in the record supports the ALJ's finding that T.L. is not a domiciliary of Union Township.

Pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1b, the Commissioner shall assess tuition against T.L. for the time period during which the minor child was ineligible to attend school in Union Township. Therefore, the Commissioner concurs with the ALJ that the Board is entitled to tuition reimbursement in the amount of $21,308.32 ($13,642.00 for the 2014-2015 school year and $7,666.32 for the 2015-2016 school year through February 26, 2016, during which time petitioner's minor child was ineligible to attend) plus $75.16 for each day beyond February 26, 2016 that the minor child remains in Union Township's schools.

Accordingly, the Initial Decision of the OAL is adopted as the final decision in this matter. Petitioner is directed to reimburse the Board in the amount of $21,308.32 – plus $75.16 for each day beyond February 26, 2016 that A.B. remains enrolled in the District's schools – for tuition costs incurred during the time period that A.B. was ineligible to attend school in Union Township. The petition of appeal is hereby dismissed.

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Petitioner T.L., the mother of the minor child A.B., appeals the determination of the Union Township Board of Education (the "Board") that A.B. does not reside within the Union Township school district and that tuition reimbursement is required. The Board alleges that the minor child A.B. was not residing at the address provided by the petitioner and seeks repayment of tuition. At issue is whether A.B. is entitled to be enrolled in the district for purposes of receiving a thorough and efficient public education free of charge pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1.

On February 20, 2015, the Board notified T.L. that the child was ineligible to continue to attend school within the district. The petitioner filed a timely notice of appeal on or about February 27, 2015. The Board filed an answer on April 1, 2015. On April 17, 2015, the matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) for determination as a contested case. N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15; N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13. The hearing was held on December 7, 2015, and following the receipt of the post-hearing submissions and copies of all exhibits, the record closed.

TESTIMONY

T.L.

T.L. testified that she lives at 1224 M. Place in Union, N.J., with her mother and daughter A.B., who is seven years old. She testified that she has lived there since 2008 and has not lived anywhere else. A.B. has never lived with her father and he lives elsewhere.

She learned that A.B. had been questioned at school about where she lives and that Ms. Conneely, A.B.'s first-grade teacher at Livingston Elementary School, had pulled up her students' addresses from the internet. When the teacher located the M. Place house, A.B. indicated that was her grandmother's home. She refers to her grandmother as "Meema."

T.L. testified that she works at Newark Beth Israel Hospital as a respiratory therapist three or four days a week, for twelve-and-a-half-hour shifts. She testified that there are numerous errors in the investigative reports (P-1; P-2), and asserted that she was actually at work on many of the dates and times that the investigator reported she was coming out of 1486 L. Avenue in Hillside with her daughter. She typically works from 7:00 a.m. until 7:30 p.m. The errors she referred to included December 16 and 17, 2014, where the reports indicate that she left the Hillside property after 9:00 a.m., and yet she punched in at work at 7:12 or 7:13 a.m. on each of those days. On another day she had punched in at 6:51 a.m. and departed at 7:31 p.m. from work, yet the investigative report indicates she was seen at the Hillside property at 8:40 a.m. T.L. agreed that her daughter has been late to school at times and she was asked at the district residency hearing about this, and thereafter provided emergency-room reports. She stated that the investigators came to her home, checked the bedrooms, and left. The day after Mr. Martino came to her home Mr. Sheridan came to the Hillside property, and once again checked the bedrooms and left.

The second report (P-2), dated February 10, 2015, and prepared by Mr. Sheridan, indicates that one bedroom at the Hillside property had a lot of bags on the floor, which she testified were storage items because no one lives there. In Mr. Sheridan's December 8, 2014, report (P-1), the entry says that petitioner left in a silver Hyundai, yet she has a green Hyundai SUV. Moreover, she testified that there are many African-American families on that block with kids, and the units are all townhomes and very closely spaced together. She said that there are probably two or three other women with kids her daughter's age, including one next door. T.L. testified that all of their clothes are in Union and that A.B. has lived there since she was born. She indicated that Mr. Sheridan also said at the Board hearing that he had seen A.B. leave a few times with a man, yet A.B.'s father does not live there and T.L. is single.

T.L. indicated that her driver's license and registration are at the Union address and that her paystubs, credit-card statements, and hospital bills all show a Union address.

T.L. testified that her daughter visits with her father every Tuesday night and every other weekend from Friday to Sunday, and that when Mr. Martino came to the Union home A.B. was with her father. She testified that she lived at the Hillside address before 2008; however, since then she has lived exclusively at the Union Township address. She indicates that she shares expenses with her mother, including groceries and other bills, but had no documentation with her to substantiate that. She indicated that she has no receipts and uses cash to pay for everything, and that everything is in her mother's name at that home. She testified that her car-payment statements are received at the Union address; however, she did not have any statements with her. Her Verizon cell phone is also billed to the Union address; however, she did not have any statements with her. She also testified that she banks at Wells Fargo and that her statements go to the Union Township address, but had none of those with her. Her American Express statements also go to the Union address, but she had no statements with her.

T.L. testified that A.B. is driven to school by either her father, her grandmother, or T.L. Her father takes her Wednesday mornings; otherwise, her grandmother takes her or T.L. does.

She testified that she purchased the Hillside property in approximately 2001 for $115,000 and that she pays a monthly mortgage of $1,178 and quarterly insurance payments of approximately $200. She described the property as an investment property, but indicates that no one else has ever lived there and she has never had a tenant and never collected any rent. She has not lived there since 2008.

Regarding the annual renewal of her license with the State Board of Respiratory Care and the requirement that she provide a change of address if she moves, T.L. testified that she does not believe she ever gave them a different address, and that explains why the State website reflects her address as in Hillside, N.J. She agreed that her February 27, 2015, letter (R-1) indicates that the property is "currently rented to family on an as needed basis," and stated that was "not entirely accurate." T.L. testified that relatives from out of state stay there when they are here in New Jersey, instead of staying in hotels.

T.L. agreed that she did not provide her tax returns and does not recall the address she has used each year, but agrees it is possible she has used the Hillside address. She also agreed that she did not provide W2 Forms or current paystubs.

PSE&G bills reflect that petitioner was assessed electricity-usage charges for the 1486A L. Avenue Property in Hillside in the following amounts: September 2014, $116.04; October 2014, $56.84; November 2014, $56.32; December 2014, $54.85; January 2015, $48.34; and February 2015, $49.93.

T.L. explained these electric-usage charges by indicating that the refrigerator is plugged in and the porch lights are on, and the washer and dryer are plugged in. She testified that no one lives at the Hillside property.

Bills from Elizabethtown Gas reflect gas-usage charges for the Hillside property in the amount of $18.55 on October 31, 2014; $19.49 on December 3, 2014; $20.57 on January 2, 2015; and $18.50 on January 30, 2015. Bills from N.J. American Water reflect that there were water-usage charges for the Hillside property of $18.86 on October 30, 2014; $24.86 on December 1, 2014; $25.55 on February 2, 2015; $19.55 on March 4, 2015; and $25.15 on March 31, 2015. She indicated that she had high water and electric bills because she "had things plugged in."

Kathleen Lawson

Ms. Lawson, T.L.'s mother, testified that her daughter and granddaughter have lived with her in Union for many years. She stated that her daughter leaves there for school every day, and that they share the upkeep of the home and share costs for food and oil. There are no checks written between them. She indicated that her granddaughter has never lived anywhere else.

M.K.

M.K. testified that she lives at 1486B L. Avenue in Hillside, next door to 1486A. She indicated that she sees T.L. occasionally but not every day, perhaps once or twice a month. She testified that she watches the house and sees the lights on, but at night only the porch lights are on. M.K. testified that T.L. does not live there.

Lindsay Conneely

Ms. Conneely has been a first-grade teacher in Union since 2005. Teachers are instructed to report if they suspect that a student does not live in town, and they serve as the eyes and ears of the school. An October 2014 lesson required students to memorize their home address in case of an emergency, and also places around their address. After everyone memorized their address she would show them their house on Google Earth. This lesson has been part of the social-studies-unit lesson plan regarding families and neighbors for several years.

The students are instructed to prepare a map of their neighborhood, including streets, favorite locations, and parks, and then a writing activity involves describing the types of building and drawing a map of the school and important things nearby. In the map-and-globe skills lesson, A.B. went first because she knew her address in Union, and Ms. Conneely matched her list from the student database and the house came up on the screen. When that happened, A.B. reported, "that's not my house, that's my Meema's house." Ms. Conneely testified that she then said, "well that's where you live though," and A.B. responded, "no that's not where I live." A.B. did not know the address of what she said was her house, but said it was past a Popeyes restaurant, and offered landmarks and attempted to give directions. There is no Popeyes in Union Township, but there is one in Hillside on L. Avenue, and Ms. Conneely testified that she has driven past it. A.B. indicated that her house was "past Popeyes through a tunnel," and Conneely knows of a large overpass near the Popeyes, and assumed that is the location A.B. was describing.

Ms. Conneely filled out a residency form and indicated what she had learned, as there is a requirement to report potential residency issues. (R-5.) She completed the form at the end of the day. At some point A.B. said to her that she cannot talk about her house, but was supposed to say Meema's house is her house, and that if there are any questions they should be directed to T.L.

Ms. Conneely indicated that she never discussed this again with A.B., who had said she wanted to tell her things but was not allowed to. The guidance counselor heard this information also. Thereafter, Ms. Conneely received a call from the residency office and relayed what A.B. had told her. She indicated that she has done other residency reports over the years.

Ms. Conneely identified A.B.'s attendance records (R-6; R-7; R-8), which revealed that there were no absences in December 2014, but that A.B. was late on December 12, arriving at 9:25 a.m.; on December 16, arriving at 9:16 a.m.; and on December 17, arriving at 9:08 a.m. This was three late arrivals in five school days. She also stated that she was never informed that A.B. had "bad asthma." She knows that A.B. did sit out of gym maybe twice, but she was not on the "medical list"; indeed, R-7 and R-8 say nothing about a medical alert.

Ms. Conneely agreed that a handful of students are late at times, and that this could be an indication of residency issues. A.B. had a lot of late arrivals prior to the commencement of the investigation, and in October, up to October 27, 2014, she was late seven days. (R-5.) Letters are typically sent to the parents when this happens.

Ms. Conneely also testified that there was a reading unit later on that required the student to make a mural of their neighborhood, and A.B. prepared one at home that reflected her Union neighborhood, but prepared another one in class that showed the Popeyes in the picture. The purpose of the maps was to emphasize to the students the importance of knowing their address and places around where they live.

Thomas Sheridan

Mr. Sheridan is a residency investigator for the Union Board of Education. He was asked to investigate A.B.'s residency by the residency office, and did so in December 2014. He went to both the Hillside address and the Union address, and saw a metallic-color Hyundai SUV at the Hillside property. He conducted surveillance there over a ten-day period from December 8 through December 19 and arrived before 7:00 a.m. each day. T.L.'s house has off-street parking so it was easy to watch the driveway. He observed the car and the front door, some days until after 9:00 a.m. Sheridan testified that he saw T.L. and A.B. emerge from the house and drive to school on December 8, 9, 15, 18 and 19. He followed them as they left on December 8 and 9 and lost them in traffic, but called the school and learned that they had arrived. On December 15, 18 and 19 he observed them leave the Hillside residence and arrive at school. He said that on the remaining days he observed the car there but did not see T.L. leave, and the car remained at the property.

Mr. Sheridan refreshed his recollection by looking at his reports, and noted that on December 10 he did not see the car at the Hillside residence.[1] On December 11 he observed the car there but had to leave, and did not see them leave the home. On December 12 he had to leave and the car was still there; he later checked with the school and learned that they had arrived late that day. On December 15 they left at 8:35 a.m., and on December 16 he left at 9:00 a.m. and the car was still there; the school records note that A.B. was late for school on December 16. On December 17 the car was not there when he did his observation, and A.B. was late for school.[2] On December 18 T.L. and A.B. left the Hillside property at 8:15 a.m. and arrived at school, where T.L. had a conference scheduled. On December 19 he saw them leave at 8:40 a.m.

While he was doing this surveillance, Mr. Martino, another investigator, was surveilling the Union property.

Anthony Martino

Anthony Martino is a residency investigator for the Township of Union and has conducted a few hundred investigations. He was asked to investigate A.B.'s residency, and he observed the M. Place address in Union on December 8, 9, 12, 15, 16, 17 and 19. He would typically arrive each day between 7:15 and 7:30 a.m. and remain until 9:30 or 9:45 a.m., and he never once saw T.L. or A.B. exit the house on any of those days. A maroon car was in the driveway, and it never left during those hours on any of those days.

[1] December 10, 2014, was a Wednesday.
[2] December 17, 2014, was a Wednesday.

A.B.'s attendance records (R-6) confirmed that she was in attendance at school on those days.

FINDINGS OF FACT

Based on the credible testimonial and documentary evidence, I FIND the following as FACTS in this matter:

1. The Board had good cause to question the residency of A.B. During a social-studies lesson, A.B. informed her teacher that the house at 1224 M. Place in Union Township is her grandmother's house and that A.B. does not live there.

2. T.L. was provided notice of the Board challenge to residency in December 2014.

3. Surveillance conducted over several days at 1224 M. Place in Union Township revealed that neither T.L. or A.B. resided there. The surveillance and the testimony demonstrated that the child was transported from 1486A L. Avenue, Hillside, N.J., to school in Union Township. The school attendance records amply supported the credible testimony of the residency investigators.

4. At all times at issue herein, A.B. resided with her mother in Hillside, N.J.

LEGAL ANALYSIS AND CONCLUSIONS

The issue in this appeal is whether A.B. had been a domiciled student in the Union Township school district during the period of attending school in Union Township.

Public schools are required to provide a free education to individuals between the ages of five and twenty years in certain circumstances, including individuals who are domiciled within the school district. N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(a). Domicile has been defined as the place where a person has his true, fixed, permanent home and principal establishment, and to which whenever he is absent he has the intention of returning.

State v. Benny, 20 N.J. 238, 250 (1955). The domicile of an unemancipated child is the domicile of the parent, custodian or guardian. P.B.K. ex rel. minor child E.Y. v. Bd. of Educ. of Tenafly, 343 N.J. Super. 419, 427 (App. Div. 2001). Thus, a child would routinely attend school in the district where his or her parents live.

From the evidence submitted, it is clear that A.B has been domiciled in Hillside while attending school in Union Township. A.B. admitted to her teacher that she does not live at the Union address. Respondent's investigator observed T.L. and A.B. leaving the Hillside address and driving to Livingston Elementary School on five separate school days in December 2014. No documentation was offered to support T.L.'s claim that she shares expenses with her mother at the Union Township address. The evidence includes numerous bills from Elizabethtown Gas, PSE&G, and NJ American Water reflecting usage charges for the Hillside property that are entirely inconsistent with T.L.'s claim that no one resides there. T.L. failed to demonstrate, by a preponderance of the credible evidence, that A.B. is entitled to a free public education in Union Township. To the contrary, the Board has proven that she is not, as she is not domiciled there. N.J.A.C. 6A:22-3.1(a)(1) provides:

> A student is domiciled in the school district when he or she is the child of a parent or guardian whose domicile is located within the school district.

As found above, A.B. was domiciled in Hillside during the days she attended school in Union. She was observed leaving the Hillside address early in the morning, over the course of several days during an investigation conducted in December 2014, and being driven to Union Township to attend school. Accordingly, I CONCLUDE that A.B. was not entitled to attend school in Union Township and receive a free public education there pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(a).

A school board is entitled to recover tuition from a parent or guardian of a child found ineligible to attend a school in its district. N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(b)(2). A.B. was not entitled to a free public education in Union Township based upon the above. Tuition for school year 2014–2015 was $13,642.00, and the per-diem rate for school year 2015–2016 is $75.16. Accordingly, respondent is entitled to reimbursement from T.L. for the cost of providing a public education to A.B. in the sum of $13,642.00 for the 2014–2015 school year and in the sum of $7,666.32 for the current school year until February 26, 2016, plus a per-diem rate of $75.16 for each day beyond February 26, 2016, that A.B. remains in district schools, and I so CONCLUDE.

ORDER

Based upon the foregoing, it is hereby ORDERED that the petition of petitioner, T.L., be and is hereby DISMISSED WITH PREJUDICE. It is further ORDERED that T.L. reimburse respondent the total sum of $21,308.32 for tuition costs associated with the attendance of A.B. in Union for the entire 2014–2015 school year, and for the 2015–2016 school year through February 26, 2016, as well as an additional $75.16 for each day that A.S. remains in the district school beyond February 26, 2016.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." Re: In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Tracey Pitts, State-Operated School District of the City of Camden, Camden County, Agency Dkt. No. 132-5/16.

Dear Counsel:

I have reviewed the materials filed in connection with the respondent, Tracey Pitts' Motion to Dismiss the tenure charges filed by the State-Operated School District of the City of Camden (District). In her papers, the respondent contends that since the District has taken the position that the respondent resigned from her position as a teacher, the tenure charges should therefore be dismissed as moot. Additionally, the respondent argues that the tenure charges should be dismissed because the District failed to comply with the statutory procedural requirements. Specifically, the District asserts that pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-17.3(b) and N.J.A.C. 6A:3-5.1(c)(4), the District must forward tenure charges to the Commissioner within 30 days of filing, while the tenure charges here were sent to the Commissioner 255 days after the statutory deadline.

On the other hand, the District maintains that the tenure charges cannot be dismissed as moot, as the respondent contests that she resigned. Further, the District contends that the respondent is estopped from relying on the 30-day period to submit tenure charges because the District relied upon her assertion that she would resign when it waited to certify the charges with the Commissioner. Alternatively, the District argues that the motion to dismiss should be stayed pending the resolution of the settlement action in the Superior Court.

Upon review and consideration of the submissions, I find that the tenure charges filed in this matter do not comply with N.J.S.A. 18A:6-17.3(b) and N.J.A.C. 6A:3-5.1(c)(4), which specify the time frame in which tenure charges must be certified with the Commissioner. Here, the District served the respondent with tenure charges on August 21, 2015; however, the charges were not certified to the Commissioner until May 6, 2016. The applicable statutory and regulatory provisions clearly outline the process for the proper filing of tenure charges, and charges that do not adhere to those requirements will not proceed.

Accordingly, the Motion to Dismiss is hereby GRANTED, and the tenure charges are dismissed without prejudice.[1]

Sincerely,

David C. Hespe

SYNOPSIS

In April 2016, the Commissioner of Education issued an Order to Show Cause requiring respondent to show cause why an order should not be entered suspending his teaching certificate for unprofessional conduct pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10 for resigning his position without giving the notice required by his contract with the Board. Respondent was duly advised that, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.5(e), failure to respond would cause each allegation raised by the Board to be deemed admitted, and might result in summary decision by the Commissioner.

There being no response to the order to show cause, the Commissioner concluded that the allegations – which respondent has chosen not to deny – may be deemed admitted, and justify suspension of respondent's certification. Accordingly, summary decision is granted to petitioner, and respondent's certificate is suspended for a period of one year from the date of the filing of this decision – a copy of which has been forwarded to the State Board of Examiners for the purpose of effectuating this order.

For Petitioner, David B. Rubin, Esq.

No appearance by or on behalf of respondent

This matter was opened before the Commissioner of Education on May 3, 2016, by way of an Order to Show Cause served by petitioner (School District of the Township of Piscataway) upon respondent (Mohammad Marzabadi), requiring respondent to show cause why an order should not be entered suspending his teaching certificate pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10 for resigning without giving the notice required by his contract with petitioner. By notice dated May 3, 2016, the Bureau of Controversies and Disputes (Bureau) acknowledged receipt of proof that the Order to Show Cause had been served upon respondent and directed respondent to answer within 20 days.

No answer having yet been received, on May 26, 2016, the Bureau sent respondent a second and final notice – via regular and certified mail – directing that he file an answer within ten days. The notice advised that, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.5(e), failure to answer would cause each allegation in petitioner's papers to be deemed admitted, and might result in summary decision by the Commissioner. The certified mail return receipt card indicates that the May 26, 2016 notice was delivered on May 28, 2016. No answer to the Order to Show Cause has been filed as of this date.[1]

[1] Respondent submitted an answer on April 4, 2016 – prior to the date that the Order to Show Cause was signed by the Commissioner. By letter dated April 5, 2016, the Bureau informed respondent that his answer was premature

The certification submitted by the petitioner in this matter states that: respondent entered into a contract for the 2014-2015 school year, which was renewed for the 2015-2016 school year; that on March 16, 2016, respondent submitted his resignation, effective May 16, 2016; that two days later, on March 18, 2016, respondent modified the effective date of his resignation to April 1, 2016, giving only 14 days notice. The respondent has not denied these allegations; therefore, the Commissioner deems such allegations to be admitted pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.5(e) and further deems them sufficient to justify suspension of respondent's teaching certification pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10.

Accordingly, summary decision is hereby granted to petitioner, and respondent's teaching certification is suspended for a period of one year from the filing date of this decision, a copy of which shall be forwarded to the State Board of Examiners for implementation of the suspension.

and there was also no proof of service of his answer upon the District. As such, the respondent was directed – should he wish for the Bureau to move forward with the answer that he already filed – to file his answer and proof of service on the District after he was served with the signed Order to Show Cause. The April 4, 2016 answer indicates that respondent does not object to a one-year suspension of his teaching certification, but would object to a suspension for an unlimited period of time.

SYNOPSIS

Petitioning Board certified tenure charges of unbecoming conduct, incapacity, and neglect of duty against respondent – a tenured teacher under the Board's employ – and sought to terminate her employment with the district. Neither respondent nor any attorney acting on her behalf filed an answer to the tenure charges following notice pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-5.3 and 6A:3-5.4.

The Commissioner concluded that, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-5.3(c), the allegations – which respondent has chosen not to deny – may be deemed admitted and overwhelmingly warrant the termination of the respondent from her tenured position. Accordingly, the Commissioner granted summary decision to the petitioner, dismissed the respondent from her tenured position in petitioner's school district, and forwarded a copy of this decision to the State Board of Examiners for review and action as that body deems appropriate.

| OF THE CITY OF PLEASANTVILLE, | : | DECISION |
| ATLANTIC COUNTY. | : | |

For the Petitioner, Benjamin B. Brenner, Esq.
No appearance by or on behalf of Respondent, Lynn McKnight

This matter was opened before the Commissioner of Education on May 27, 2016, through tenure charges of conduct unbecoming and incapacity certified by Dr. Leonard Fitts, Superintendent of the Pleasantville School District ("District"), together with supporting evidence against respondent, Lynn McKnight, a tenured teachering staff member in the District's employ. The District provided respondent with written notice of such certification at the respondent's last known address, via certified mail, on May 24, 2016.

On May 27, 2016, the Commissioner directed the respondent – via both certified and regular mail – to file an answer to the charges. This communication clearly provided notice to respondent that, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-5.3 and 6A:3-5.4, an individual against whom tenure charges are certified "shall have 15 days from the day such charges are filed with the Commissioner to file a written response to the charges with the Commissioner," and that failure to answer within the prescribed period would – absent granting of an extension for good cause shown – result in the charges being deemed admitted. The certified mail return receipt card indicates that the May 27, 2016 notice was delivered to the respondent on June 3, 2016. No reply to the tenure charges was received from or on behalf of respondent.

The certified tenure charges and statement of supporting evidence filed by the petitioner in this matter indicate the respondent has been employed by the District as a tenured teacher since the 2006-07 school year. The respondent has been absent for 79 days in the 2009-10 school year; 46 days in the 2010-11 school year; 21 days in the 2011-12 school year; 92 days in the 2012-13 school year; 19 days in the 2013-14 school year and 92 days in the 2014-15 school year. Additionally, the charges state that the respondent was counseled several times concerning to her poor attendance, and she signed multiple Professional Improvement Plans that stated that attendance was an area in need of improvement.

Deeming the allegations to be admitted – and noting that respondent has failed to respond to the charges certified against her – the Commissioner finds that petitioner's charges of incapacity and conduct unbecoming a teaching staff member have been proven, and overwhelmingly warrant the respondent's dismissal. Accordingly, summary decision is hereby granted to the petitioner, and the respondent is dismissed from her tenured position with the District. This matter will be transmitted to the State Board of Examiners for action against respondent's certificate(s) as that body deems appropriate.

COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION

DECISION

SYNOPSIS

Petitioner filed a pro se residency appeal on behalf of his daughter in June 2014, challenging the respondent Board's determination that M.A. was not entitled to a free education in Ewing Public Schools. The Board counterclaimed for tuition for the period from October 3, 2013 through May 19, 2014, based on the results of a residency investigation. The matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) as a contested case. Petitioner failed to appear at the hearing, and provided no explanation for his non-appearance. The Board did appear, and provided documentary and testimonial evidence in support of its claim for tuition reimbursement.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(a), public schools are required to provide a free public education to individuals between the ages of five and twenty years who are domiciled within the school district; the domicile of an unemancipated child is that of her parent or guardian; N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(b)(2) provides parents with the right to appeal a residency determination by a Board of Education; petitioner herein failed to appear and prosecute his appeal, and offered no explanation of his failure to do so; accordingly, the ALJ concluded that the Board's determination that M.A. was not domiciled in Ewing during the period in question should be upheld, and the petition dismissed pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-14.4. The ALJ further granted the Board's application for tuition reimbursement in the amount of $10,354.18.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurred with the ALJ findings and conclusions, and adopted the Initial Decision of the OAL as the final decision in this matter. Petitioner was directed to pay the Board $10,354.18 in tuition for his child's ineligible attendance in Ewing Schools during the 2013-2014 school year.

COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION

DECISION

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed. The Administrative Law Judge's (ALJ) recommended decision in this matter dismissed petitioner's residency appeal as a consequence of his failure to appear at the hearing scheduled for this matter without providing any explanation for the non-appearance. The ALJ further concluded that petitioner should be assessed tuition costs in the amount of $10,354.18. The parties did not file exceptions to the Initial Decision. [1]

In accordance with N.J.A.C. 1:1-14.4(d), an ex parte hearing was held during which the Board presented the testimony of David Mikalauskas, the district's residency officer, respecting the tuition due the Board for M.A.'s ineligible attendance in its schools. Based upon Mr. Mikalauskas' undisputed testimony, the ALJ found that the school district's total annual per pupil cost for the 2013-2014 school year was $13,908.00. The ALJ further found that the minor child was ineligible to attend school in Ewing for a total of 134 days, from October 3, 2013 through May 19, 2014. Accordingly, petitioner was ordered to pay the Board tuition in the amount of $10,354.18 ($77.27 per day for 134 days) for the time period of the minor child's ineligible attendance in Ewing's schools.

The Commissioner fully concurs with the ALJ's determination and recommendation that petitioner's failure to prosecute this matter necessitates its dismissal and the award of tuition to the Board. Accordingly, the recommended decision of the OAL is adopted as the final decision in this matter and petitioner is hereby directed to pay the Board $10,354.18 in tuition for his child's ineligible attendance in Ewing during the 2013-2014 school year.

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Petitioner appeals the determination of the respondent, Ewing Board of Education ("the Board"), that M.A. is not domiciled in its district. The Board initially sought to remove petitioner's child, M.A., from its schools pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(b)(2), and demanded tuition reimbursement based on petitioner having moved out of its district on June 25, 2014. The Board demands tuition reimbursement from October 3, 2013, the date on which the residency investigation began, until May 19, 2014, the day on which M.A. was removed from the Board's attendance rolls.

[1] This case was originally captioned as M.A. on behalf of minor children, M.A., J.C., and J.C. v. Township of Ewing Board of Education, Mercer County. Students J.C. and J.C. have been resolved in another case.

Petitioner filed an appeal with the Department of Education ("the Department") on June 2, 2014. The Board filed an answer on July 1, 2014. The matter was transmitted and filed at the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) as a contested case on July 7, 2014.

The matter was assigned to John Russo, Jr., ALJ, and a prehearing conference was scheduled for October 1, 2014. The OAL was unable to reach M.A. for the conference call on that date. Judge Russo, at that time, directed the Board attorney to find out if M.A. still wanted to pursue his appeal and if he was willing to do so on the papers. The Board sent in a certification attesting to the amount of tuition owed. A letter was sent to the Board's counsel on September 2, 2105, requesting the Board file a motion to grant their counterclaim for tuition based on the parent's failure to appear. Failure to provide a motion would result in the scheduling of a hearing date. No motion was received from the Board.

Prior to scheduling a hearing date, Judge Russo was appointed to the Superior Court and on December 23, 2015, the case was reassigned to the undersigned. A notice of plenary hearing, dated March 8, 2016, was sent to the parties advising them of the June 3, 2016, hearing date. Counsel for the Board appeared on June 3, 2016. Petitioner failed to appear and did not contact the OAL to provide a reason for his nonappearance.

FINDINGS OF FACT

At hearing, the Board offered a packet of documentary evidence (R-1; R-2), and the testimony of its Residency Officer, David Mikalauskas in support of its claim to tuition reimbursement. Based on the documentary and testimonial evidence presented to me, I FIND the following FACTS:

1. M.A. was a general education school student in the Ewing schools.

2. The Board determined that petitioner was not domiciled in Ewing commencing October 3, 2013.

3. During the time period from October 3, 2013 through May 19, 2014, when petitioner was not domiciled in Ewing, M.A. attended school for 134 days.

4. The annual per pupil cost for a general education school student in the same grade as petitioner's children is $13,908.

5. The daily tuition rate for a general education school student in the same grade as petitioner's children is $77.27. This is calculated by dividing the per pupil cost by 180. David Mikalauskas calculated a daily tuition rate of $75.58. This was apparently based incorrectly on using a divisor of 184 days rather than 180.

6. As of June 3, 2016, the amount of tuition owed to the Board for M.A.'s period of ineligible attendance is $10,354.18.

LEGAL DISCUSSION AND CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

Public schools are required to provide a free education to individuals between the ages of five and twenty years who are domiciled within the school district. N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(a). Domicile has been defined as the place where a person has his true, fixed, permanent home and principal establishment, and to which whenever he is absent he has the intention of returning. State v. Benny, 20 N.J. 238, 250 (1955). The domicile of an unemancipated child is that of her parent, custodian or guardian. P.B.K. o/b/o minor child E.Y. v. Board of Ed. of Tenafly, 343 N.J. Super. 419, 427 (App. Div. 2001).

Where a local board determines that a child is not properly domiciled in its district, N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(b)(2) provides a right of appeal to the parents as follows:

> The parent or guardian may contest the Board's decision before the Commissioner within 21 days of the date of the decision and shall be entitled to an expedited hearing before the Commissioner and shall have the burden of proof by a preponderance of the evidence that the child is eligible for a free education under the criteria listed in this section.

Petitioner has failed to appear and prosecute his appeal of the Board's decision. He has failed to advise me of the reason for the nonappearance. Therefore, I CONCLUDE that the determination of the Board that M.A. was not domiciled in Ewing during the period of time from October 3, 2013 to May 19, 2014, should be upheld and the petition of appeal dismissed pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-14.4.

The Board asserts that it is entitled to be reimbursed for tuition for the period of M.A.'s ineligible enrollment in its schools. Where, as here, the evidence does not support the claims of the resident, the Commissioner of Education is authorized to assess tuition pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:22-6.2(a), which provides as follows:

> If an appeal to the Commissioner is filed by the parent, guardian, adult student, or school district resident keeping an "affidavit" student and the petitioner does not sustain the burden of demonstrating the student's right if an appeal to attend the school district, or the petitioner withdraws the appeal, fails to prosecute, or abandons the appeal by any means other than settlement agreeing to waive or reduce tuition, the Commissioner may assess tuition for the period during which the hearing and decision on appeal were pending, and for up to one year of a student's ineligible attendance in a school district prior to the appeal's filing and including the 21-day period to file an appeal.

N.J.S.A. 18A: 38-1(b) likewise requires that tuition be calculated on the basis of 1/180 of the total annual per pupil cost to the district multiplied by the number of days of ineligible attendance.

In accordance with N.J.A.C. 1:1-14.4(d), I accepted ex parte proofs from the Board relative to its tuition claim. The Board's proofs are convincing and its calculations are consistent with the requirements of N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(b) and N.J.A.C. 6A:22-6.2(a). Therefore, I CONCLUDE that the Board has demonstrated an entitlement to tuition reimbursement in the amount of $10,354.18, for the period from October 3, 2013, through May 19, 2014.

ORDER

Based on the foregoing, I ORDER that the petition of appeal be DISMISSED WITH PREJUDICE. I further ORDER that the Board's application for tuition reimbursement is GRANTED in the amount of $10,354.18.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Michael J. Gross, Esq., for respondent (Kenny Gross Kovats & Parton, attorneys)

BEFORE RICHARD McGILL, ALJ:

M.A. ("petitioner") filed a petition with the Commissioner of Education seeking an order directing the Board of Education of the Township of Verona ("respondent") to allow his daughter, J.A., who recently completed her junior year in high school, to attend a summer recovery program to improve her low passing grades including a D in one subject and D- in three others during her sophomore year. In conjunction with the petition, petitioner filed a request for emergent relief, because the registration for the summer recovery program is scheduled for July 8, 2016.

The matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law on June 29, 2016, for determination as a contested case. An oral argument in regard to petitioner's motion for emergent relief was conducted on July 6, 2016, at the Office of Administrative Law in Newark, New Jersey.

In support of the motion for emergent relief, petitioner asserts that after her sophomore year, 2014-2015, J.A. was diagnosed with a medical condition that caused a dramatic decrease in her grades. According to M.A., J.A. received grades of F in most of her subjects, but the school raised to final grades to D or D- in order to pass her for the year. M.A. claims that the school district gave J.A. passing grades so that she could not attend a summer recovery program. M.A. further asserts that many counties provide summer recovery programs to make up low passing scores regardless of the reason. J.A. is very motivated to improve her grades from her sophomore year. In response to M.A.'s request for a summer recovery program for J.A., respondent's personnel advised him that they would only allow a summer recovery program if the final grade was F and that there would be no changes to J.A.'s grades for her sophomore year. M.A. maintains that this decision does not assist his daughter and that it denies her a fair and equal chance compared to students in other school districts in New Jersey that provide a summer recovery program for students with low passing grades in addition to failing courses. M.A. requests as an American citizen the equal rights without discrimination as the students in other school districts in New Jersey.

Respondent submitted the certification of Superintendent of Schools Rui M. Dionisia. According to the certification and attached exhibits, J.A. has completed three academic years at Verona High School and will be a senior for the 2016-2017 school year. The parents encouraged and endorsed J.A.'s participation in Honors and Advanced Placement ("AP") courses, when J.A. enrolled in Verona High School during the 2013-2014 school year for ninth grade. Respondent permits students to be enrolled in Honors and AP classes with the parents' consent even if District personnel do not agree that the student is prepared for these advanced courses. J.A.'s grades were much better in her freshman and junior years, compared to when she was a sophomore.

Petitioners are seeking enrollment of J.A. in a summer recovery program in order to change the grades that she received as a sophomore during the 2014-2015 school year. Respondent does not offer a summer recovery program. Those students who seek enrollment in supplemental, remedial, advancement or enrichment courses must take these classes outside the Verona School District.

In accordance with the Verona High School Curriculum Handbook, credit recovery procedures are provided only for students who have a final grade of "F" in a course required for graduation. Petitioners are requesting credit recovery for courses that J.A. passed and for which she has already received credit.

Petitioners are seeking to change J.A.'s grades for the 2014-2015 school year to improve her grade point average (GPA) two years later. In accordance with the Curriculum Bulletin, summer school courses are not used in the determination of the student's GPA. Therefore, enrollment in a summer program would not affect J.A.'s GPA.

Additionally, if J.A. were allowed to take summer courses to improve her GPA, many other students would likely request the same relief. Alternatively, it would be unfair and inequitable to allow only J.A. to improve her GPA by taking summer courses.

Petitioner filed his motion for emergent relief pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6(a). As set forth in N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6(b), the factors to consider in regard to an application for emergent relief are as follows:

1. The petitioner will suffer irreparable harm if the requested relief is not granted;
2. The legal right underlying the petitioner's claim is settled;

3. The petitioner has a likelihood of prevailing on the merits of the underlying claim; and

4. When the equities and interests of the parties are balanced, the petitioner will suffer greater harm than the respondent will suffer if the requested relief is not granted.

One factor for consideration is whether the petitioner has demonstrated a likelihood of prevailing on the merits of the underlying claim. N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6(b)3. Where there are significant factual issues, the petitioner cannot demonstrate a likelihood of prevailing on the merits.

In this case, there is a factual issue as to whether other school districts offer summer programs designed to change a student's grades. Petitioner claims that there are such programs. During the oral argument, respondent maintained that it was not aware of any such programs. Under the circumstances, petitioner has not demonstrated a likelihood of prevailing on the merits of the underlying claim.

Another consideration is whether the legal right underlying the petitioner's claim is settled. N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6(b)2. Here, petitioner has not offered any legal theory to support his position. It follows that petitioner has not demonstrated that there is a settled legal right underlying his claim.

Another factor is whether a balancing of the equities and interests of the parties indicates that petitioner will suffer greater harm than the respondent if the requested relief is not granted. N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6(b)4. Here, petitioner's request is inherently inequitable in that he asks for an opportunity for his daughter to improve her grades from a previous school year, when other students do not have this opportunity. Alternatively, if all students are given this opportunity to improve their grades from prior years,jj it could create a chaotic situation for respondent. Under the circumstances, petitioner has not established that he or J.A. will suffer greater harm than respondent if the requested relief is not granted.

The final consideration is whether petitioner will suffer irreparable harm if the requested relief is not granted. N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6(b)1. Harm is considered to be irreparable if it cannot be remedied by money damages. Moreover, the harm must be substantial and immediate; risk of harm alone is not sufficient.

Here, the harm to J.A.'s academic record occurred two years ago. The impact of J.A.'s GPA on her prospects for college admissions is speculative in that she may well be able to persuade colleges that her poor grades in her sophomore year were attributable to illness. It follows that petitioner has not demonstrated that he or J.A. will suffer irreparable harm if the requested relief is not granted.

In order to prevail on a motion for emergent relief, the movant must satisfy all four requirements under N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6(b). Here, petitioner does not meet any of the requirements for emergent relief. Under the circumstances, I CONCLUDE that petitioner's request does not satisfy the applicable standard for emergent relief. Accordingly, it is ORDERED that petitioner's request for emergent relief be denied.

This order on application for emergency relief may be adopted, modified or rejected by the Commissioner of Education, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. The final decision shall be issued without undue delay, but no later than forty-five (45) days following the entry of this order. If the Commissioner of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this order within forty-five days, this recommended order shall become a final decision on the issue of emergent relief in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Mayor and Council of the Township of Evesham (petitioners) filed an emergent motion to prevent the respondent from taking any steps in furtherance of the proposed closure of the Florence V. Evans School (Evans School), currently under review by the Commissioner of the Department of Education.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On June 16, 2016, petitioners filed a petition for due process with the Office of Controversies and Disputes of the New Jersey Department of Education, along with a request for emergent relief. On June 17, 2016, the emergent matter was filed, along with the due process request, with the Office of Administrative Law (OAL). The emergent relief request was scheduled for oral argument, which was held on June 23, 2016.

FACTUAL DISCUSSION

In this emergent matter, petitioners, the Mayor and Council of the Township of Evesham, seek an order restraining the Evesham Township Board of Education (Board) from implementing its plan to close the Florence V. Evans Elementary School. On March 17, 2016, the Board passed a resolution to consolidate elementary schools within the Evesham Township School District, effective July 1, 2017. Motion for Emergent Relief, Ex. B. The Board resolved to close the Evans School and disperse its students and staff among the school district's other elementary schools as "an efficient and effective means of addressing declining enrollment, increased costs and achieving costs savings[.]" Ibid. The Board further resolved to comply with N.J.A.C. 6A:26-7.5, the State regulation governing school closings, and determined that "its action shall be contingent upon receipt of all necessary approvals from the Department of Education and the Executive County Superintendent [ECS] to close the Evans School[.]" Ibid. While the Board decided that the Evans School would not close until the end of the 2016-2017, the Board authorized the school district's administrators "to take such other action as is necessary and appropriate to effectuate the closing of the Evans School as provided herein and to implement an orderly and equitable transitional plan for education of the Board's students." Ibid.

In furtherance of the Board's resolution, the Superintendent of Schools for the Evesham Township School District, John Scavelli, on March 18, 2016, notified parents that "incoming Kindergarteners and any new students for the 2016-2017 school year from both Evans Elementary School and Jaggard Elementary School . . . will begin in their new home school in September 2016." Id. at Ex. C. According to Superintendent Scavelli, he took this action in accordance with District Policy 5120 in order "to avoid confusion and/or anxiety in the fall of 2017." Scavelli Cert., ¶ 8. Under District Policy 5120:

> Pupils shall generally attend the school located in the attendance area of their residence. The Superintendent may assign a pupil to a school other than that designated by the attendance area when such an exception is justified by circumstances and/or is in the best interests of the pupil.

The Board has submitted its consolidation plan to the Department of Education's Division of Administration and Finance (Division), which is currently reviewing the plan. Scavelli Cert., ¶ 11. In seeking approval of its consolidation plan, the Board also submitted to the Division an amended long-range facilities plan (LRFP). Board's Brief, Ex. D.

On June 16, 2016, petitioners filed a motion for emergent relief with the Commissioner of Education, who subsequently transmitted the motion to the OAL for a hearing. In their motion, petitioners challenge the Board's decision to close the Evans School. Verified Petition for Emergent Relief, ¶ 1. According to petitioners:

> [the Board] has never amended the 2009 [LRFP], which calls for no discontinuation of use of any school facilities in Evesham Township. The [Board's] recent action would allow it to close the Evans School in violation of the approved LRFP. Without amending the Plan, the Board is not permitted to close or build new schools.
> [Ibid.]

The relief sought by petitioners includes an order "[r]estraining [the Board] from proceeding with the implementation of its School Closure Plan as reflected in its Closure Resolution of March 17, 2016" and "directing and finding [the Board] must submit a new [LRFP] to the Department of Education within ninety (90) days." Id. at p. 11. According to petitioners, without such relief, "the closure of the Evans School will be accomplished by Respondent in violation of [the 2009 LRFP], its own Policy 7130, and applicable statutes and regulations."[1] Ibid.

In their brief in support of their application for emergent relief, petitioners contend that they "will suffer irreparable harm because the Evans School will effectively close if the matter is not heard immediately, and no quantum of damages can be calculated to redress the harm occasioned by this blatant disregard and violation of the approved LRFP, Policy 7130, and the statutes and regulations governing school closures;" "[t]he Board's violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:7G-4, N.J.A.C. 6A:26-7.5, and [District Policy] 7130 clearly provides [them] the right to contest [the Board's] wrongful actions" before the Commissioner; they "will be successful on the merits because the Board failed to meet all elements required to implement a school closure;" and, they will suffer greater harm if the requested relief is not granted because "the Board will have made a significant decision without the proper facts, and without necessary community input, endangering the 'thorough and efficient education' of the children in the District."[2] Petitioner's Brief, pp. 5-10.

In response, the Board argues that "[t]here is no emergency here" because "[t]he proposed closure does not take effect until the end of the 2016-2017 school year, and the Commissioner is still evaluating the [Board's] proposal." Board's Brief, p. 4.

LEGAL DISCUSSION

The standards which must be met by the moving party in an application for emergent relief are embodied in N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.6 and Crowe v. DeGoia, 90 N.J. 126, 132-34 (1982). Emergency relief may only be granted if the judge determines that:

1. The petitioner will suffer irreparable harm if the relief is not granted;

[1] Under District Policy 7130, in part, "[t]he Board must receive a letter of approval from the Department of Education before making a final determination to close a school" and "[t]he proposed closing must be consistent with the district's approved LRFP, demonstrating that sufficient school building capacity exists to house district pupils following such closing for the succeeding five years." Petition, Ex. E.

[2] Under N.J.S.A. 18A:7G-4(a), "each district shall prepare and submit to the commissioner a long-range facilities plan that details the district's school facilities needs and the district's plan to address those needs for the ensuing five years." Ibid.

2. The legal right underlying the petitioner's claim is settled;

3. The petitioner has a likelihood of prevailing on the merits of the underlying claim; and

4. When the equities and interests of the parties are balanced, the petitioner will suffer greater harm than the respondent will suffer if the requested relief is not granted.

The petitioner must satisfy all four prongs of the Crowe test.

"Irreparable harm" is defined as the type of harm "that cannot be redressed adequately by monetary damages." Crowe, supra, 90 N.J. at 132-33. In addition, the irreparable harm standard contemplates that the harm be both substantial and immediate. Subcarrier Communications v. Day, 229 N.J. Super. 634, 638 (App. Div. 1977). However, pecuniary damages may sometimes be inadequate because of the nature of the injury or the right affected. Crowe, supra, 90 N.J. at 133. For example, in Crowe the Court determined neither an unwarranted eviction nor reduction to poverty could be compensated adequately by monetary damages awarded after a distant hearing. Ibid.

Petitioners argue that they "will suffer irreparable harm if immediate relief is not granted because the School District has begun to implement its School Closure Plan" such that "[c]hildren are being directed from the Evans School to other elementary schools further away in the district." Petitioners' Brief, pp. 5-6. According to petitioners, "no quantum of damages can be calculated to redress the harm occasioned by this blatant disregard and violation of the approved LRFP, Policy 7130, and the statutes and regulations governing school closures." Id. at p. 6.

Petitioners have failed to identify any harm, let alone any irreparable harm, they will suffer if their motion for emergent relief is not granted. For instance, petitioners do not allege that any of their own children have been "directed from the Evans School" and they have not shown that the children who have been so directed, will be irreparably harmed if petitioners' motion is not granted. Additionally, petitioners' argument presupposes that providing educational service at a different location within the same school district constitutes harm without demonstrating such to be the case.

Petitioners have also failed to show how they have been or will be irreparably harmed by the Board's alleged violations of both its policy and the law governing school closings and long-range facilities plans. At the hearing on their motion, petitioners argued that such violations constitute irreparable harm per se. While it may be true that, for example, "[w]here injunctions are creatures of statute, all that need be proven is a statutory violation," Matawan Reg'l Teachers Ass'n v. Matawan-Aberdeen Reg'l Bd. of Educ., 212 N.J. Super. 328 (Ch. Div. 1986) (citation omitted), petitioners have not pointed to any statutory provision for injunctive relief with respect to school closings or long-range facilities plans. Compare, e.g., the Milk Control Act, N.J.S.A. 4:12A-44 (providing that "[a]ny habitual violation of the act or of any of the orders or rules or regulations made pursuant to the act may be restrained by the Superior Court in an action brought for such purpose by the Attorney-General on behalf of the director"). Moreover, petitioners presuppose that the Board has actually violated its own policy or the law governing school closings and long-range facilities plans which, as discussed below, is not necessarily so.

Finally, even if the Board's actions, as alleged, constituted irreparable harm, petitioners cannot show that they will suffer irreparable harm if the requested relief is not granted. Specifically, the Board has already sought approval from the Division to close the Evans School and there is a possibility that the Division will reject the Board's proposal in advance of the 2016-2017 school year. In that event, the Evans School would not close as planned and the children at the center of Superintendent Scavelli's transitional plan would presumably attend the Evans School during the 2016-2017 school year and thereafter. The possibility that the Division may render a decision on the Board's school closing application prior to the start of the 2016-2017 school year prevents petitioners from showing that they will suffer irreparable harm if the Board is not immediately restrained from implementing its transitional plan.

For the foregoing reasons, I CONCLUDE that petitioners have failed to demonstrate that they will suffer irreparable harm if emergent relief is not granted.

In order to grant a motion for emergent relief in advance of a plenary hearing, a judge must be satisfied that "[t]he legal right underlying petitioner's claim is settled." N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6(b)(2). In other words, a judge "must not grant an injunction in cases when the principal of law on which it depends is disputed, and has not been settled in this state." Stevens v. Paterson & N. R. Co., 20 N.J. Eq. 126, 132 (Ch. 1869).

In the present matter, petitioners claim that the Board violated State law and its own procedures by failing to amend the 2009 LRFP and that the closing of the Evans School would be inconsistent with the approved 2009 LRFP, which "calls for no discontinuation of use of any school facilities in Evesham Township." I CONCLUDE that the legal right underlying petitioners' claim is settled in that N.J.A.C. 6A:26-7.5 conditions the Division's approval of a school closing on a showing that "[t]he proposed closing is consistent with the school district's approved LRFP," that the school board has received the appropriate ECS' recommendation that the school close, and that the school board receive a letter of approval from the Division prior to the school closing. Accordingly, I CONCLUDE that petitioners have met this requirement.

However, in order to obtain emergent relief, a petitioner must also demonstrate a likelihood that they will prevail on the merits of the underlying claim. N.J.A.C. 6A:26-7.5 requires school boards to prove to the Division that the proposed closing is consistent with the school district's approved LRFP. Even if the closing of the Evans School would be inconsistent with the 2009 LRFP, as alleged by petitioners, the Board has presented evidence that it provided the Division with an amended LRFP when it applied for approval of its school closing proposal. The simultaneous submission of an amended LRFP and school closing application accords with N.J.S.A. 18A:7G-4(c), which states that "[a]n amendment to a long-range facilities plan may be submitted at any time to the commissioner for review and determination on the approval or disapproval of the amendment." Whether or not the Division will approve the Board's proposal to close the Evans School at the end of the 2016-2017 school year is not yet known. As part of the approval process, the Division will determine whether the Board met all of the requirements of N.J.A.C. 6A:26-7.5. It is agreed by the parties that this proceeding is not to stand in front of or substitute for the Commissioner's review of the Board's application. If the Division approves the Board's plan, then petitioners may challenge that decision before the Commissioner. In that it may well be that petitioners' seeking a ruling that the board has violated State law or its own policies is premature or not appropriate for the underlying petition, but rather more properly addressed in the context of the Commissioner's review of the application itself.

Additionally, while N.J.A.C. 6A:26-7.5 does not specifically authorize a school district to reassign students in advance of the Division's approval of a school closing, Superintendent Scavelli appears to have authority under District Policy 5120 to determine if it is in the best interests of certain students to attend a different school during the 2016-2017 school year in anticipation of receiving State approval to close the Evans School at the end of the 2016-2017 school year. It is not in dispute that the Board has not yet closed the Evans School and cannot do so unless and until the Division approves. Reversing Superintendent Scavelli's exercising of his educational judgment under District Policy 5120 would require a showing that his actions were arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable, that has not been provided here. It may well be likely that determination of such would require further fact-finding provided at a plenary hearing which may include testimony and ability to cross-examine potential witnesses.

Considering these two reasons, I CONCLUDE that petitioners have not demonstrated a likelihood of succeeding on the underlying petition. It is stressed that this analysis does not represent a conclusion that either party is more or less likely to prevail at hearing, but only articulates that certain questions are not settled to a point that petitioners are deemed, for purposes of emergent relief, sufficiently likely to succeed at hearing, and that litigation of the underlying petition will be helpful in resolving these issues.

As to the fourth and final prong, each party argues that they will suffer greater harm if they do not prevail on the question of emergent relief. When the equities and interests of the parties are balanced, petitioners will not suffer greater harm than the Board will suffer if the requested relief is not granted. In resolving to close the Evans School, the Board directed school officials to "implement an orderly and equitable transitional plan for education of the Board's students" and Superintendent Scavelli has done so in accordance with District Policy 5120 in order "to avoid confusion and/or anxiety in the fall of 2017." While it is yet unclear whether the Board's plan to close the Evans School will receive State approval, the Board will suffer greater harm than petitioners if the Board is restrained from implementing its transitional plan in anticipation of the eventual closing of the Evans School.

Petitioners would suffer no harm if the requested relief is not granted. Accordingly, I CONCLUDE that the balance of equities argument favors respondents, and that petitioners have failed to satisfy this prong.

Consequently, the petitioners' request for emergency relief is DENIED.

ORDER

Having CONCLUDED that petitioners are not entitled to the requested emergent relief, it is hereby ORDERED that the petitioners' request for emergency relief be DENIED. The matter will now be scheduled for plenary hearing on the underlying due process petition.

This order on application for emergency relief may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who/which by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. The final decision shall be issued without undue delay, but no later than forty-five days following the entry of this order. If the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, does not adopt, modify or reject this order within forty-five days, this recommended order shall become a final decision on the issue of emergent relief in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT

This matter came before Administrative Law Judge, Jeffrey A. Gerson, for a hearing of Petitioner's claims respecting the Petition of Appeal under the above docket number. Counsel for the parties have conferred and have determined that it is in the mutual best interest of the parties to resolve the within controversy without the necessity of a formal hearing.

The parties stipulate and agree as follows:

1. Petitioner, Arlene Crugnola, was a tenured Business Education Teacher employed by Respondent, Bogota Board of Education. Crugnola holds teaching licenses and/or certifications in Business Finance, Economics and Law; Marketing; Business, Keyboarding and Data Entry for Nursery School through grade 12.
2. Petitioner was first employed by Respondent as a teaching staff member on or about September 2008 and has acquired tenure in office pursuant to NJSA 18A: 28-5.
3. Petitioner held a full-time position for the 2013-2014 school year.
4. On or about June 27, 2014, Petitioner received notice, by way of a Board resolution, that she was the subject of a reduction in force and would not be employed for the 2014-2015 school year.

5. Crugnola filed a Petition of Appeal alleging that the Board violated her tenure and seniority rights when she was subject to a reduction in force (RIF) by continuing to engage non-tenured or less senior staff to teach subjects that she was eligible to teach by virtue of tenure or seniority.
6. The Petitioner now holds a full-time position of employment in another school district.
7. After discovery, it was determined that the available positions to which Petitioner is entitled, are insufficient to warrant a full time or significant part-time position.
8. As a result thereof, Petitioner has elected to remain in her fulltime position in another district, yet, remain on the Preferred Eligibility List for Reemployment in the Bogota School District and await the availability of a substantial part-time or full time position.
9. The Board acknowledges Petitioner's preferred eligibility right to reemployment and to the assignment of classes or subject matter within the scope of her certifications and endorsements. The Board further agreed to notify Petitioner when classes under these certificates and endorsements become available in the District.

10. On the basis of the foregoing, and the continuing obligation of the Respondent to honor her tenure and seniority rights, the Petitioner accepts the terms of this agreement in satisfaction of her claims in the Petition of Appeal.

Stipulated and agreed upon this 18 day of May 2016.

This letter also verifies that you have not had your certificates suspended, cancelled or revoked. As of this date, they remain in good standing.

You indicated in your correspondence that you are unsure of where to locate coursework to complete your remaining requirements for the 1304 and 1305 certificates for which you additionally applied. You may wish to contact the business chairperson at local accredited colleges/universities in your vicinity. I would give this person the titles of the coursework that need to be covered and ask if there is an equivalent at the particular institution in question. I would assume that such a person would have a broad background on course content and would be able to assist you. Additionally, you could try contacting two online institutions which could possibly assist you. These are Thomas Edison College (www.teso.edu) and the University of Phoenix (www.phoenix.edu). Once you have such equivalent coursework, you should then contact your examiner in this office to make sure such coursework would be accepted toward the certification requirements remaining. Your examiner is Ms. Taya Womack and she can be reached at the address on this letterhead. You may also contact her through our online email system at Licensing.requests@doe.state.nj.us.

I hope the above information is of assistance to you. Best wishes on the completion of your certification requirements.

Click on the following link for more details: http://www.nj.gov/education/educators/license/gpa.htm

Subject Matter Preparation

- For certification as a Marketing teacher, current regulations require that applicants complete a minimum of 30 credits in a coherent sequence in the subject field of business studies with a minimum of 12 credits in Marketing. A coherent sequence requires that at least 12 credits are completed at the advanced level of study (junior, senior or graduate level). Examples of courses accepted for Marketing include marketing distribution, retailing, sales promotion, entrepreneurship, advertising, and color and design textiles. Related courses may be accepted depending on the course description/content. Please provide a course description if a course is not taken from the Marketing Department. Courses in pedagogy/education are not accepted towards the subject matter preparation. The final determination as to which courses will be counted towards the Marketing subject matter is based on professional and content standards found in the NJ Licensing Code. All credits must appear on a regionally accredited 2 or 4-year college/university transcript.

Professional Teacher Preparation

- Current regulations for certification require that applicants complete a coherent sequence of study in professional education which may be completed in a provisional teacher program or an approved teacher preparation program. This is to advise that courses presented by the applicant in professional education must be a coherent sequence of courses that culminates in supervised student teaching.

State Teaching Certificate

- Please submit a copy of an out-of-state teaching certificate that is equivalent to a NJ Standard Instructional Certificate. Holders of a NJ Standard Instructional Certificate do not need to send in a copy of their certificate.

Letter of Teaching Experience

- Please submit an original letter(s) from a school official(s), on school letterhead, documenting 1 year of fulltime teaching experience under a valid out-of-state license. The letter should include information about full or part-time status, specific teaching assignment and dates of employment. Holders of a NJ Standard Instructional Certificate do not need to send in a letter of teaching experience with the exception of those who hold a Standard Teacher of the Handicapped Certificate.

| BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE TOWNSHIP OF ROCHELLE PARK, BERGEN COUNTY, | : | |

Petitioner, the Lodi Board of Education (Lodi), asserted that the Rochelle Park Board of Education (Rochelle Park) must share financial responsibility for two special education students whose divorced parents reside separately, each in one of the two school districts. Rochelle Park contended that under N.J.A.C. 6A:22-3.1 et seq., shared financial responsibility would be appropriate only when it is not possible to determine where a child is domiciled, and that in the instant matter, a single domicile can be determined; accordingly, Lodi's appeal should be denied. Rochelle Park filed a motion for summary decision.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: there are no material facts in dispute, and the matter is ripe for summary decision; at the time of their divorce in 2008, the parents herein were granted joint custody of the two children; when the children were registered in the Lodi school district in 2009, both parents were domiciled in Lodi, but at separate addresses; one parent moved to Rochelle Park in May 2015; in September 2015, Lodi proposed that the cost of programming for the two children at issue here – one of whom attends an out-of-district placement at the Valley Program in Westwood, New Jersey, while the other attends an in-district placement in Lodi – be shared by the two school districts, and forwarded contracts to that effect to Rochelle Park; in October 2015, Rochelle Park denied any financial responsibility for the children; pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1, children attend school in the district in which they are domiciled; the domicile of children under shared custody arrangements after a divorce often makes it difficult to assign domicile under the traditional rules, but the regulatory scheme found at N.J.A.C. 6A:22-3.1 et seq. favors an interpretation that assigns a child only one domicile; further, the question of where the two students are domiciled can be answered by reference to N.J.A.C. 6A:22-3.1(a)(1)(ii), which instructs that a student's domicile is the domicile of the parent or guardian with whom the child resided on the last school day prior to the October 16th preceding the application date; thus the domicile of these children is the present domicile of the parent with whom they resided on October 15, 2014; as both parents were domiciled in Lodi on that date, Lodi is the district responsible for these children in accordance with N.J.A.C. 6A:22-3.1; and the facts in Cumberland Regional H.S. District v. Freehold Regional H.S. District are inapposite to the within matter, and emphasize the flaws in Lodi's argument. The ALJ concluded that Lodi's position is unsupported by either the facts in this matter or by the current law; accordingly, Rochelle Park's motion for summary decision was granted, and the petition was dismissed.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurred with the findings and conclusions of the ALJ, and adopted the Initial Decision of the OAL as the final decision in this matter for the reasons well expressed therein.

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed. The parties did not file exceptions to the Initial Decision.

Upon a comprehensive review of the record in this matter, the Commissioner concurs with the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) – for the reasons thoroughly set forth in the Initial Decision – that requiring the two school districts to share the financial responsibility for the special education of the minor children is not supported by N.J.A.C. 6A:22-3.1; instead, only one district is responsible for the cost of their education. The Commissioner further agrees with the ALJ that the domicile of the minor children is determined by where they resided on October 15, 2014, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:22-3.1(a)(1)(ii). Accordingly, the Initial Decision of the OAL is adopted as the final decision in this matter and the petition of appeal is hereby dismissed.

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Petitioner, the Lodi Board of Education (Lodi), asserts that the Rochelle Park Board of Education (Rochelle Park) must share financial responsibility for two special education students whose divorced parents reside separately; each in one of the two school districts. Rochelle Park responds that under N.J.A.C. 6A:22-3.1 et seq., shared financial responsibility would be appropriate only when it is impossible to determine where a child is domiciled. Rochelle Park urges that under N.J.A.C. 6A:22-3.1(a)(1)(ii), a single domicile can be determined for these children, and that accordingly, the relief sought by Lodi should be denied.

A petition of appeal was filed by Lodi on November 20, 2015. Rochelle Park filed its answer on December 15, 2015, and the contested case was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law on December 16, 2016. Rochelle Park filed a motion for summary decision on April 18, 2016. Lodi opposed that motion via letter brief and attachments dated May 2, 2016. Rochelle Park responded to the opposition on May 16, 2016, and the record closed.

ISSUE PRESENTED

The petition of appeal raises a limited issue for determination; that is, whether, under the facts presented, the decision in Somerville Board of Education v. Manville Board of Education, 332 N.J. Super. 6 (App. Div. 2000), aff'd, 167 N.J. 55 (2001), requires that Lodi and Rochelle Park share special education costs for D.S. and Ry.S.[1]

FINDINGS OF FACT

The general background facts are not in dispute and I FIND:

R.S. and S.R. divorced on or about October 9, 2008. They are the parents of two classified children, fifteen-year-old D.S., and thirteen-year-old Ry.S. The marital settlement agreement gave R.S. and S.R. joint custody, with S.R. as the primary custodial parent. In August 2009, S.R. registered the children in the Lodi school district; both parents resided in Lodi at the time, albeit in separate homes. Effective May 1, [1] Lodi exclusively alleges that Somerville requires cost sharing because a single domicile for these children cannot be established under the facts presented. Lodi does not ask this forum, in the alternative, to determine the actual domicile of the children, in the event its Somerville argument is rejected.

2015, S.R. signed a lease for an apartment in Rochelle Park, and in July 2015 she advised the Rochelle Park Supervisor of Special Services that she would be moving there. A July 10, 2015, notarized statement signed by both parents indicated that the children "divided their time equally" between their parents' homes.

A later notarized statement dated April 21, 2016, describes the shared time arrangement in a bit more detail as follows:

> [D.S. and Ry.S.] reside immediately following pick up from school on Tuesdays, Thursdays, and alternating Fridays [in] Rochelle Park, NJ with their mother, S.R. On Tuesdays, Thursdays, and alternating Fridays, they sleep [in Rochelle Park]. [D.S. and Ry.S.] reside immediately following pick up from school on Mondays, Wednesdays, and alternating Fridays [in Lodi with their father]. On Mondays, Wednesdays, and alternating Fridays, they sleep [in Lodi].

D.S. attends an out-of-district day placement at the Valley Program in Westwood, New Jersey, under the auspices of the Lodi Child Study Team (CST) and at the expense of the Lodi district. Ry.S. attends an in-district placement at Thomas Jefferson Middle School in Lodi. On or about September 24, 2015, Lodi proposed that the cost of programming for D.S. and Ry.S. be shared by the two districts, and forwarded contracts to that effect to Rochelle Park. On October 8, 2015, Rochelle Park, through its Business Administrator, denied any financial responsibility for D.S. and Ry.S. This petition of appeal followed.

ANALYSIS AND CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5 provides that summary decision should be rendered "if the papers and discovery which have been filed, together with the affidavits, if any, show that there is no genuine issue as to any material fact challenged and that the moving party is entitled to prevail as a matter of law." Our regulation mirrors R. 4:46-2(c), which provides that "the judgment or order sought shall be rendered if the pleadings, depositions, answers to interrogatories and admissions on file, together with the affidavits, if any, show that there is no genuine issue as to any material fact challenged and that the moving party is entitled to a judgment or order as a matter of law."

A determination whether a genuine issue of material fact exists that precludes summary decision requires the judge to consider whether the competent evidential materials presented, when viewed in the light most favorable to the non-moving party, are sufficient to permit a rational fact finder to resolve the allegedly disputed issue in favor of the non-moving party. Our courts have long held that "if the opposing party offers . . . only facts which are immaterial or of an insubstantial nature, a mere scintilla, 'fanciful frivolous, gauzy or merely suspicious,' he will not be heard to complain if the court grants summary judgment." Brill v. Guardian Life Ins. Co. of Am., 142 N.J. 520 (1995) (citing Judson v. Peoples Bank and Trust Co., 17 N.J. 67, 75 (1954)).

The "judge's function is not himself [or herself] to weigh the evidence and determine the truth of the matter but to determine whether there is a genuine issue for trial." Brill, supra, 142 N.J. at 540 (citing Anderson v. Liberty Lobby, 477 U.S. 242, 249, 106 S. Ct. 2505, 2511, 91 L. Ed. 2d 202, 212 (1986)). When the evidence "is so one-sided that one party must prevail as a matter of law," the trial court should not hesitate to grant summary judgment. Liberty Lobby, supra, 477 U.S. at 252, 106 S. Ct. at 2512, 91 L. Ed. 2d at 214. I CONCLUDE that this matter is ripe for summary decision, and that Rochelle Park is entitled to judgment as a matter of law.

Children attend school in the district in which they are domiciled. N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1. Domicile has been defined as the place where a person "has his true, fixed, permanent home and principal establishment, and to which whenever he is absent, he has the intention of returning, and from which he has no present intention of moving." In re Unanue, 255 N.J. Super. 362, 374 (Law Div. 1991). Since children cannot formulate the requisite intent to establish domicile, their domicile follows that of their parents. P.B.K. v Tenafly Bd. of Educ., 343 N.J. Super. 419, 427 (App. Div. 2001); Somerville Bd. of Educ., supra, 332 N.J. Super. at 12. After a divorce, the domicile of the child is that of the parent with whom the child lives. A person may have only one domicile, although he may have many residences. Ibid.

It might seem that domicile thus is a fairly straightforward thing to define. But the shared custody arrangements for today's children of divorce are as varied as the human imagination, making it difficult, at times, to assign domicile under the traditional rules. Our courts have recognized that, as a result, where divorced parents share equal parenting time, the traditional single-domicile rule may require reexamination. Id. at 13. In Somerville, divorced parents lived in different school districts; shared custody; and the child lived with each parent on alternating weeks. The child was placed in an out-of-district program by Somerville where the father resided. The mother resided in Manville. Upon the child's enrollment out-of-district, the Somerville and Manville Directors of Special Services orally agreed to share the child's tuition costs on an alternating year basis. They did so for several years, until a new Manville Director disavowed the agreement, on the grounds that the child was not a Manville domiciliary. Somerville filed suit, seeking a declaration that the child had a dual domicile.

The Appellate Division determined that it was "satisfied in the circumstances before [it that] the statute requiring a free public education to be provided by the district where a child is 'domiciled' does not require that only one of the parents' home, and therefore one district, be designated as the child's domicile." Id. at 15. The Court rejected arguments by the Department of Education that the concept of dual domicile is unworkable in an educational setting, especially for special education students, whose education is scripted according to a well thought out plan that requires consistency and continuity of approach. The Supreme Court affirmed.

But Somerville predates the regulations that now define domicile. And as Supreme Court Justice Coleman aptly noted in his concurring opinion, Somerville was a response to the unique facts presented, and filled a void created by an absence of regulatory guidance. Justice Coleman wrote, > Nothing in the opinions of the Appellate Division or this Court should be viewed as precluding the Department of Education from promulgating regulations that are consistent with the theory that a school-aged child can have only one domicile . . . . The polestar of the Court's opinion and the proposed regulations is educational continuity for [the child].

Likewise, the majority Supreme Court opinion acknowledged that "the issue posed by this appeal is one that appropriately may be addressed by regulation," and that "any regulation adopted in the future by the Department of Education addressing the issue [of domicile] would supersede our disposition of this appeal." Ibid.

Somerville has indeed been superseded by comprehensive regulations. N.J.A.C. 6A:22-3.1(a) provides in pertinent part:

> (a) A student is eligible to attend a school district if he or she is domiciled within the school district.
> 1. A student is domiciled in the school district when he or she is the child of a parent or guardian whose domicile is located within the school district.
> i. When a student's parents or guardians are domiciled within different school districts and there is no court order or written agreement between the parents designating the school district of attendance, the student's domicile is the school district of the parent or guardian with whom the student lives for the majority of the school year. This subparagraph shall apply regardless of which parent has legal custody.
> ii. When a student's physical custody is shared on an equal-time, alternating week/month or other similar basis so the student is not living with one parent or guardian for a majority of the school year and there is no court order or written agreement between the parents designating the school district of attendance, the student's domicile is the present domicile of the parent or guardian with whom the student resided on the last school day prior to the October 16 preceding the application date.
> (1) When a student resided with both parents or guardians, or with neither parent or guardian, on the last school day prior to the preceding October 16, the student's domicile is that of the parent or guardian with whom the parents or guardians indicate the student will be residing on the last school day prior to the ensuing October 16. When the parents or guardians do not designate or cannot agree upon the student's likely residence as of that date, or if on that date the student is not residing with the parent or guardian > previously indicated, the student shall attend school in the school district of domicile of the parent or guardian with whom the student actually lives as of the last school day prior to October 16.

> (2) When the domicile of a student with disabilities as defined in N.J.A.C. 6A:14, Special Education, cannot be determined pursuant to this section, nothing in this section shall preclude an equitable determination of shared responsibility for the cost of the student's out-of-district placement.

An administrative regulation is subject to the same canons of construction as a statute. In re N.J.A.C. 14A:20-1.1, 216 N.J. Super. 297, 306 (App. Div. 1987). When interpreting a statute or regulation, our courts assume that the framers intended to ascribe to words their ordinary meaning. Jablonowska v. Suther, 195 N.J. 91, 105 (2008). The intent of a statute or regulation should be gleaned from a view of the whole and of every part of the statute, with the real intention prevailing over the literal sense of its terms. Schierstead v. City of Brigantine, 29 N.J. 220 (1959).

N.J.A.C. 6A:22-3.1(a) begins by confirming the general proposition that a child's domicile follows that of his parents; it goes on to countenance a variety of factual complications, and resolves each with a formula for determining a single domicile. Where a special education student is placed out-of-district; his parents reside in different districts; and the regulatory formulas offer no clarity; then, and only then, is a dual domicile assigned for the child. Rochelle Park urges that the regulation reflects the Department of Education's preference for a single domicile, except in the most limited of circumstances. I agree and CONCLUDE that the regulatory scheme disfavors the cost sharing approach Lodi advocates for here. My conclusion is consistent with the policy considerations that the Department of Education raised before the Somerville Court.

Moreover, I CONCLUDE that the question of where these two children are domiciled can be answered by reference to N.J.A.C. 6A:22-3.1(a)(1)(ii), thus making the cost sharing sought by Lodi inconsistent with the regulations. All agree that D.S. and Ry.S. equally share their time between their parents' homes, and the regulation provides that under that scenario, "the student's domicile is the present domicile of the parent or guardian with whom the student resided on the last school day prior to the October 16 preceding the application date." S.R. moved to Rochelle Park on or about May 2015, and alerted school officials there to her relocation in or about July 2015. I thus CONCLUDE that the domicile of these children is the present domicile of the parent or guardian with whom they "resided" on October 15, 2014.[2]

Lodi argues that where the children "resided" on October 15, 2014, eludes determination, because they alternate homes day-by-day, waking up in one home on any given day, and going to bed that same day in another. But I agree with Rochelle Park that while D.S. and Ry.S. may sleep in two different homes on any given day, they only "reside[d] in one." I CONCLUDE that they "resided" in the home in which they actually conducted the activities of daily life. On October 15, 2014, D.S. and Ry.S. "resided" in the home they returned to after school, because it is there that they did their homework; ate supper; perhaps watched some television or played video games; otherwise relaxed and unwound from their day; and went to sleep. See Citizens Bank and Tr. Co. v. Glaser, 70 N.J. 72, 81 (1976), where the Court held that "[h]ome is the place where a person dwells and which is the center of his domestic, social and civil life." Granted, that morning the children had eaten breakfast in another home, but fewer activities of life take place in the home in which the children awake on any given day. I CONCLUDE that it is reasonable to deem the home a child returns to on any given day the home in which he "resides." The regulatory scheme presses for an interpretation that assigns a child only one domicile, and this interpretation of the word "resides" supports the regulatory intent.

Relative to the sort of scenario contemplated by N.J.A.C. 6A:22-3.1(a)(1)(ii)(2), the decision in Cumberland Regional H.S. District Board of Education v Freehold Regional H.S. District Board of Education, 293 Fed. Appx. 900 (3d Cir. 2008) is instructive. There, the special needs child of divorced parents was placed in a residential facility out-of-state. Freehold Regional, the district where the father lived, contended that the home district of the child's mother should share in the cost of the placement. The court agreed, relying on the Somerville decision to direct that the districts share the cost of the placement. Cumberland predates the regulations that now guide thorny domicile determinations but offers a scenario that would result in a dual domicile determination even today. The special education student in Cumberland "resided" out-of-state and thus in neither parents' home; as a result, her domicile could not "be determined pursuant to [the regulation]." N.J.A.C. 6A:22-3.1(a)(1)(ii)(2).

[2] The date of enrollment in Rochelle Park has to be the operative "application date" contemplated by the regulation. N.J.A.C. 6A:22-1.2 defines "applicant" to mean "a parent, guardian, or a resident supporting an affidavit student who seeks to enroll a student in a school district . . . ." When the children were initially enrolled in the Lodi schools both parents lived there, making their domicile obvious. October 15, 2014, was a school day; and I take judicial notice by reference to a calendar that it was a Wednesday.

Clearly, not so here, and Cumberland's facts emphasize the flaws in Lodi's argument. Accordingly, I CONCLUDE that Lodi's contention that Rochelle Park must share the cost of educating D.S. and Ry.S. is unsupported by either the facts presented or by the current law. One district or the other is responsible for these children, in accordance with N.J.A.C. 6A:22-3.1.

SYNOPSIS

Petitioner filed a pro se appeal challenging the integrity and accuracy of A.S.'s disciplinary record. The respondent Board filed a motion to dismiss based upon petitioner's failure to follow the procedural requirements for a parent to challenge their child's school record, as set forth at N.J.A.C. 6A:32-7.7(b) and (c).

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: N.J.A.C. 6A:32-7.7(b) and (c) lays out the procedures that a parent must follow to request a change in a student record, including disciplinary records; the parent must first notify the chief school administrator in writing of specific issues relating to their child's student record; within 10 school days, the chief school administrator or a designee must notify the parent of the school district's decision; if the chief school administrator disagrees with a parent request, the chief school administrator or designee will meet with the parent to resolve the issues set forth in the appeal; if the matter is not resolved, the parent may appeal to the district board of education, which then has 20 school days to render a decision; the decision of the district board of education may then be appealed to the Commissioner pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-9 and N.J.A.C. 6A:3; in the instant matter, petitioner wanted the disciplinary record of his son changed, but did not meet with the chief school administrator or his designee, despite having been offered the opportunity to do so; instead, petitioner sought to bypass this portion of the regulation and wanted the matter to go directly to the Board. The ALJ concluded that petitioner did not comply with N.J.A.C. 6A:32-7.7(b) and (c), and further concluded that the matter should be dismissed and returned to the agency.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurred with the ALJ that the within petition was premature, as petitioner did not comply with N.J.A.C. 6A:32-7.7(b) and (c). Accordingly, the Commissioner adopted the Initial Decision of the OAL as the final decision in this matter. The petition was dismissed.

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed. Petitioner's exceptions were not timely filed in accordance with N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4, and there is no indication that they were served on the Board or the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ); accordingly, the petitioner's exceptions were not considered by the Commissioner. The Board did not file a reply.

Upon review, the Commissioner agrees with the ALJ – for the reasons thoroughly set forth in the Initial Decision – that the petition of appeal was premature, as petitioner did not comply with N.J.A.C. 6A:32-7.7(b) and (c). Petitioner was informed that in order to challenge the accuracy of his son's disciplinary record, he was required by N.J.A.C. 6A:32-7.7(b) and (c) to meet with the Superintendant or other member of the District's administration prior to filing an appeal before the Board. Instead, petitioner did not meet with the Superintendant and filed his appeal with the Commissioner without first filing an appeal with the Board. As petitioner did not comply with the established procedure – and the instant appeal was filed prior to a Board-level hearing – this matter is premature and must be dismissed.

Accordingly, the Initial Decision of the OAL is adopted as the final decision in this matter and the petition is hereby dismissed.

C.S., pro se

David Disler, Esq., for Respondent, North Arlington Board of Education (Fogarty & Hara)

Record Closed: June 8, 2016 Decided: June 8, 2016

BEFORE KIMBERLY A. MOSS, ALJ:

This motion to dismiss was brought by David Disler, Esq., (respondent) in the above-mentioned matter, and papers in opposition to the motion having been filed by

C.S. By way of background, the matter was filed at the Office of Administrative Law as a contested matter on March 3, 2016. On or about March 1, 2016, respondent filed a motion to dismiss this matter with the Department of Education. The motion was sent to OAL along with the file. A telephone conference was held on April 16, 2016. Petitioner sent a letter response on May 9, 2016.

FACTUAL DISCUSSION

C.S. is the father of A.S. a student in North Arlington. On September 11, 2015, C.S. filed a complaint with the New Jersey Department of Education, Office of Special Education Programs, (OSEP) alleging that North Arlington failed to provide him with A.S.'s disciplinary records; altered A.S.'s disciplinary records and only provided him with a summary of A.S.'s records. He requested A.S.'s record be changed. An investigation was conducted by OSEP which resulted in a complaint investigation report. The OSEP report concluded:

1. North Arlington did not violate the special education regulation by not providing paper incident reports.

2. The records were no impermissibly altered when the principal corrected the students name on the log.

3. North Arlington did not supply the student's records within ten days of the parents' request.

No corrective action is required. Petitioner and Dr. Oliver Stringham, Superintendent of schools, understanding of the complaint investigation report differed.

Petitioner challenged the lack of supporting documents supplied by respondent to OSEP and questioned the integrity of A.S.'s entire disciplinary record. Dr. Stringham requested petitioner provides specific information regarding his allegations against North Arlington. Dr. Stringham also outlined the procedural requirements for a parent to challenge their child's school record. Petitioner provided information regarding his allegations to Dr. Stingham. Dr. Stingham agreed to modify a portion of A.S.'s disciplinary record, but not other items in petitioner's letter. Dr. Stringham informed petitioner if he disagreed with Stringham's decision to inform him if petitioner wanted to meet to discuss petitioner's challenge to the disciplinary log of A.S. If that did not resolve the matter petitioner could appeal the decision within ten days to the North Arlington Board of Education (Board). Petitioner did not meet with Stringham, he wanted the matter to go to the Board.

Petitioner was again given the opportunity to meet with a designee of Stringham, Stephen Yurchak to discuss the matter. Petitioner has not contacted Yurchak.

LEGAL ANALYSIS AND CONCLUSION

N.J.A.C. 6A:32-7.7 (b) and (c) provides:

To request a change in the record or to request a stay of disclosure pending final determination of the challenged procedure, a parent or adult student shall notify in writing the chief school administrator of the specific issues relating to the student record within 10 school days of notification, the chief school administrator or his or her designee shall notify the parent or adult student of the school district's decision. If the school district disagrees with the request, the chief school administrator or his or her designee shall meet with the parent or adult student to resolve the issues set forth in the appeal. If the matter is not satisfactorily resolved, the parent or adult student has 10 school days to appeal this decision the district board of education. If appeal is made to the district board of education, a decision shall be rendered within 20 school days. The decision of the district board of education may be appealed to the Commissioner pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-9 and N.J.A.C. 6A:3, Controversies and Disputes. At all stages of the appeal process, the parent or adult student shall be afforded a full and fair opportunity to present evidence relevant to the issue. A record of the appeal proceedings and outcome shall be made a part of the student record with copies made available to the parent or adult student.

(c) Appeals relating to student records of students with disabilities shall be processed in accordance with the requirements of (b) above.

In this matter it is clear that petitioner wanted the disciplinary record of his son changed. The regulation is clear on the procedure required when a parent requests a change in a student's record. When the district disagrees with the requested changes as is the case here, the parent must meet with the chief school administer or his designee to resolve the issue. Petitioner did not meet with Dr Stringham or his designee. He wanted to bypass this portion of the regulation and have the matter be heard by the board.

I CONCLUDE that petitioner did not comply with N.J.A.C. 6A: 32-7.7 (b) and (c) because he failed to meet with the chief school administer or his designee. I further CONCLUDE that this matter should be dismissed and returned to the agency.

ORDER

Based on the foregoing, it is hereby ORDERED that the request for the petition to be dismissed is GRANTED.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Date of Arbitrator's Decision, Award and Order: July 22, 2016

Summary of Award

Mr. Dodson received two back to back evaluations in 2013-2014 ("Partially Effective" and 2014-2015 ("Ineffective") which under the TEACHNJ Act, required the District to initiate tenure charges. There were three evidentiary arbitration hearings where both sides called witnesses and presented exhibits in the many hundreds of pages. The briefs and reply briefs totaled 143 pages. [1]

The arbitrator has studied and analyzed all of this incredibly detailed and highly technical material of extraordinary complexity and the statues and authorities cited by the parties, and the requirements and limitation the law places on an arbitrator in an effective case, and applying the legal standards to the facts of this case, issues this opinion and award.

The arbitrator finds there were no mistakes of fact; that the evaluations were not motived by any of the illegal motive specified in TEACHNJ; that the districts actions were not arbitrary or capricious. The arbitrator finds that the calculations used to compute student progress is both 2014 and 2015 in the language of TEACHNJ "failed to adhere substantially to the evaluation process."

Having so found, I am by the statute required to determine if that fact materially affected the outcome of the evaluation. I find that it did not. If student performance were entirely removed from his evaluations, his other failures would by themselves require the evaluations given him. Even if his student performance were calculated properly and were acceptable, his other deficiencies in the 2013-2014 evaluations would not have increased his 2013-2014 evaluations from "partially effective " to "effective"; and that his 2014-2015 evaluations would not have increased from "ineffective" all the way past "partially effective" to "effective." Achieving those scores was a practical impossibility in 2013-2014 and a mathematical impossibility in 2014-2015, even if his student's showed sufficient progress, because his other competency scores were too low. Even if his students were measured as having sufficient progress, which they were not because they could not be so measured by the tools then in existence, the outcome would have been the same.

Because they would not have made a difference in his overall evaluation rating, they are not "material" under TEACHNJ. It is not enough for the teacher to show the standards were not substantially followed. The teacher must also show that any deviation was "material." A "material" deviation is one that would more likely than not make a difference in the evaluations. I conclude they would not.

In different case with a teacher whose other evaluations compared with Mr. Dodson's were better, contained components that were better, the defect in measuring student progress may well be "material." It will turn of the facts of each case.

I find Mr. Dodson's other contentions either unsupported by credible evidence or not persuasive.

Having so found, TEACHNJ Act requires that I render a decision in favor of the board. I so find.

Limitations on Arbitrator

Under The TEACHNJ ACT 18A:6-17.2. , the arbitrator must follow these "Considerations for arbitrator in rendering decision."

23. a. [In an inefficiency case] in rendering a decision the arbitrator shall only consider whether or not:

(1) the employee's evaluation failed to adhere substantially to the evaluation process, including, but not limited to providing a corrective action plan;

(2) there is a mistake of fact in the evaluation;

(3) the charges would not have been brought but for considerations of political affiliation, nepotism, union activity, discrimination as prohibited by State or federal law, or other conduct prohibited by State or federal law; or

b. In the event that the employee is able to demonstrate that any of the provisions of paragraphs (1) through (4) of subsection a. of this section are applicable, the arbitrator shall then determine if that fact materially affected the outcome of the evaluation. If the arbitrator determines that it did not materially affect the outcome of the evaluation, the arbitrator shall render a decision in favor of the board and the employee shall be dismissed.

c. The evaluator's determination as to the quality of an employee's classroom performance shall not be subject to an arbitrator's review.

d. The board of education shall have the ultimate burden of demonstrating to the arbitrator that the statutory criteria for tenure charges have been met.

Decision

Mr. Dodson was employed as a teacher with the district for approximately 15 years,[2] serving first at Avon School teaching elementary classes and with a change in certification, middle school math. Structural changes in the school building would have interfered his continued coaching, so he transferred Maple Avenue in 2010-11, teaching in successive years math, science (which was new to him) and returning to math in 2013-2014, the first year on which the tenure charges are based. Maple Avenue administrators identified him as needing a correction plan in 2012-2013, so at the start of 2013-2014, he met with Hillary Dow, his new supervisor, to develop a Corrective Action Plan ("CAP"). He finished the 2013-2014 school year with a summative evaluation of "partially effective" and because Maple Avenue closed down, the district assigned him to teach eight-grade math at William H. Horton Elementary School for 2014-2015, a struggling school, with many students below proficiency.

There is no credible evidence that the administrators in these three schools, all of whom found him deficient as a teacher, were motivation by any consideration other than trying to improve his ability to teach. There is no credible evidence that the charge of inefficiency was brought against him for any of the improper motives in the statute: "political affiliation, nepotism, union activity, discrimination as prohibited by State or federal law, or other conduct prohibited by State or federal law."

His claim that his relationship with Ms. Mignone, his supervisor at the third school, was strained by her not collaborating with the development of a CAP, by his calling his Union representative when she failed to respond to his questioning of his evaluation, or when she sent him a change in his evaluation impersonally by using Bloomboard, and other frictions, and other actions which he considers slights, does not rise to an illegal motive, nor is there any evidence of any improper motive by any of the other evaluators and observers. If he had succeeded in following the advice of his evaluators, his evaluations would not have required a referral for termination proceedings. His CAP was not in retaliation for his calling his Union because he could not get his supervisor's attention. His CAP arose out his performance at the school from which he came prior to 2014-2015. The evaluation process can be frustrating and it is not infrequent that the relationship between the teacher and the administration can be strained, but that does mean that the evaluation was in retaliation for the friction. Mr. Dodson was observed by a number of administrators besides Ms. Mignone, and he makes no credible claim that they all were improperly motivated.

Although he testified he began the 2013-2014 year without a textbook or teacher's edition, he was provided with written teaching materials, and the assistance of the school's math coach. So while the materials were not in textbook form, he went on the internet, developed lesson plans, which he says quickly became satisfactory, and taught his classes. In his first observation, he received an evaluation of "effective." In view of this evaluation and his own testimony that he went on the internet and developed lesson plans that he said quickly became satisfactory, his assertion that he was disadvantaged by the lack of physical textbooks and teacher's edition harmed his evaluations is not persuasive.

TEACHNJ requires the District to establish a School Improvement Panel ("SIP") N.J.S.A. 18A:6-120. The purpose of an SIP is to ensure the effectiveness of teachers by overseeing the mentoring of teachers and "identify[ing] professional development opportunities tailored to meet the unique needs of the staff". N.J.S.A. 18A:6-120(b); N.J.S.A.18A:6-128. However, at Maple Avenue School in 2013 - 2014, the named panel never met. Mr. Dodson contends that this is a gross violation of the applicable law clearly and deprived Mr. Dodson of an opportunity to improve and grow as a teacher.

The argument is not persuasive. I have examined the statutory provisions[3] on the School Improvement Panel and conclude, in agreement with the District, that they are an administrative device to advise on the process of evaluating teacher performing smoothly and adhering to the rules and timelines. Contrary to Dodson's unsubstantiated assertions, the SIP was not required to meet with individual teachers, nor would it be appropriate for the SIP to do so. There is nothing in the Framework for either the 2013-2014 or 2014-2015 school year that provides for the SIP to meet directly with certain teachers or provide professional development directly, as a panel, to individual teachers. Rather, the

[3] TEACHNJ 6A:10-3.1 School Improvement Panel membership 6A:10-3.2 School Improvement Panel responsibilities

SIP meets as a panel to oversee the mentoring and evaluations of teachers and provides advice as to school-based implementation of teacher evaluation and development.

There is no credible evidence of any causation between the lack of an advisory panel and Mr. Dodson's 2013-2014 evaluation of "partially ineffective." Nor is there any evidence of any supports the SIP could find which the administrators could not. In the absence of any established causal link between the absence of the SIP, even if they were determined to be part of the "evaluation process" rather than the administrative unit monitoring the process, I find that their absence in 2013-2014 did not "materially affect the outcome of the evaluation, including but not limited to providing a corrective action plan."

Mr. Dodson contends that for the second year, 2014-2015, his assigned school had a School Improvement Panel, but they never met with him, and therefore failed to adhere to the evaluation process. The argument is not persuasive. As just discussed, the District presented credible evidence that the School Improvement Panels meet amongst themselves to discuss teachers, and exchange information, but they do not meet with the individual CAP teachers.

Mr. Dodson's 2013-2014 CAP was required by TEACHNJ and AchieveNJ (N.J.S.A.18A:6-117 et seq.) and N.J.A.C. 6A-10) to contain a measurement of student achievement and to make it part of the teacher's evaluation. In other words, how much have the student advanced during the time in question. That requires a measurement of their skills before they entered Mr. Dodson's class and a second measurement at the end.

Mr. Dodson's 2013-2014 CAP listed four end points.[4]

None of them were usable. The District so acknowledged in their brief. "The District does not dispute that it did not provide a specific student achievement score separate from a teacher practice score as part of Dodson's annual evaluations for either the 2013-2014 and 2014-2015 school years. However, the District was not required to do so because the New Jersey Department of Education ("Department of Education") approved its alternative method of incorporating student achievement into the annual evaluation."[5] The parties disagree over whether the written documents showing the Department of Education approved the District's method of computation were admissible. This issue of whether the final evaluations complied with the statute is discussed later in this decision.

The 2013-2014 observations reveal serious deficiencies in Mr. Dodson's teaching. Ms. Dow's Long observation in October, 2013 showed as follows: 1) For competency 1 [lesson design and focus], he needed a) to design lesson components which move students towards mastery; b) to design questions that lead students to the application and analysis in the strategy in the absence of the scaffold; c) to redirect off-task behavior to preserve lesson time; d) provide unique feedback for each student to allow for independent corrections. For competency 2 ["rigor and inclusiveness"] he used questions that allowed students to show they understood the SOLVE strategy, but needed to ask questions leading to the application of the strategy and an understanding as to why the strategy was used rather than the SOLVE scaffold. For competency 3 [culture of achievement], he allowed a few off-task students to be talking and not focusing on the problem; he provided feedback to the entire class as a group where he should have given feedback tailored to the individual student so they could correct their mistakes.

[4] Mathematics tasks that will conclude at the end of Units of Grade 7 curricula; Mathematics assessments developed by ANET; Mathematics NJASK; and Mathematics Post Unit Assessment.

Ms. Dow entered the scores as competency 1 [lesson design and focus]: "effective" ; competency 2 ["rigor and inclusiveness"]: "partially effective"; competency 3 ["culture of achievement"]: "effective" ; and competency 4 ["student progress toward mastery"]: "partially effective." The total is 10, falling in the "partially effective" range. "Partially effective" is 6-10 points. "Effective" is 11-14 points. When she first filled out the numbers, she added the numbers wrong and selected the overall rating was "effective" whereas in fact the numbers only added up to 10, which is "partially effective." Havier Nazario, a Special Assistant for Teach Quality noticed the error, asked Ms. Dow to correct it. Ms. Dow had a meeting with Mr. Dodson and told him that the overall score was added wrong and changed, but the individual scores were not changed. He re-signed the summary observation form and initialed the correct number.

Mr. Dodson's position that he was only told it was a "glitch in the system" and that the change constituted an error in the evaluation under the statutory list of reasons to set aside an evaluation is not persuasive, in light of the evidence showing the error was in adding the numbers, not changing the individual scores within the overall assessments of two effectives and two ineffectives. Mr. Dodson's position that he was somehow disadvantaged by not being first told of the discrepancy, but learning of it on Bloomboard, is not a statutory violation of some process. The Bloomboard is a standard communication device.

Ms. Dow conducted a short, unannounced observation on November 20, 2013. Evaluating him on competency 3 and found his students confronted a demanding concept and helped peers. She rated him as "effective."

Ms. Dow and Mr. Dodson's mid-year conference took place on February 14, 2014. For competency 1, She told him that he must submit lesson plans on time and improve the quality of his lesson plans. For competency 2, she told him that lesson questions and tasks must move students toward analysis and synthesis of the focus skill and standard and questions and tasks must lead students toward extension of their thinking. For competency 3, she told him he must continue to foster an environment that allows students to confront demanding concepts, provide rationales for their solutions, and challenge and support peers. For competency 4, she told him he must be able to articulate, with evidence, each student's progress, standards mastered, and continuing needs. For competency 5, she told him he must submit lesson plans on time.

Ms. Dow reviewed with Mr. Dodson the ANET assessment data. The District used ANET, an interim assessment, during 2013-2014. His students on the ANET assessment performed as follows: Assessments 1 and 2, his students were 12% below other 7th graders in the network. Despite weekly in-class assistance with the math coach, weekly math content meetings, and monthly progress reports from Ms. Dow, Ms. Dow believed he was not on course to meet the goals he set for himself in his CAP. Ms. Dow told him he must submit lesson plans for review and feedback and analyze data to modify his lessons to address student deficiencies. The District acknowledged in their brief that the ANET scores are not a sufficient basis by themselves for judging student progress, because it doesn't measure how much Mr. Dodson's students progressed.

On the teaching rubric, Ms. Dow rated Mr. Dodson as follows: "partially effective" competencies 1, 2 and 3; "effective" for competency 4; and "slightly below expectations" for competency 5.[6] Competencies 1, 2, and 3 represent, respectively, "lesson design and focus"; "rigor and inclusiveness"; and "culture of achievement." Competency 4 is "student progress towards mastery" and is the one affected by the measurement tools for showing student progress; and competency 5 is "commitment to personal and collective excellence."

Mr. Dodson's overall rating for the mid-year evaluation: "partially effective."

Mr. Nazario conducted a short, unannounced observation on March 24, 2014. Mr. Nazario reported that Mr. Dodson spent the first 20 minutes on a "Do Now," a short introductory exercise to begin a class that is supposed to take five to seven minutes. 'Do Nows' introduce what the lesson will be about It is not intended for it to be the lesson."

[6] The scale for competency 5 is different from 1 through 4. Grading the teacher in relationship to expectations, the descending scale is: exceeds expectations; meets; slightly above; and significantly below.

Mr. Nazario wrote in the observation that the "Do Now was not connected with the lesson, unit objective(s) or long term goal(s). " He wrote that there was minimal evidence that careful planning and consideration went toward organizing the tools for learning" and that "[m]ore than half the period was consumed without any whole group or instruction on the written objective."

The post-observation conference, held April 2, 2014. Mr. Dodson's rating for competency was "ineffective" and the rating for the entire observation was "ineffective."

The arbitrator finds it inexplicable why in the presence of an evaluator Mr. Dodson did not move onto the lesson for the day. As a veteran teacher, he obviously knew that the "Do Nows" should last for 5 to 7 minutes. When did not advance to the lesson is odd. And he did the same thing a second time, during an evaluation, having been previously told not to do it.

In Ms. Dow's fourth observation on March 31, 2014, was an unannounced long observation. Her evaluation states that Mr. Dodson (l) must be consistent in planning lessons that build on previous learning and are reflective of the major standards; (2) continue to implement lessons where students are required to provide well structured arguments for their solutions; (3) continue to foster an environment that affords students the opportunity to volunteer and actively participate; and (4) continue to provide feedback that will afford students the opportunity to self correct. On the teaching rubric, Ms. Dow rated Mr. Dodson as "effective" for competency 1, "effective" for competency

2, "effective" for competency 3, and "effective "for competency 4. Ms. Dow gave Mr. Dodson an overall rating for the long observation of "effective."

David Scaturi, a Special Assistant for Instruction, held a short, unannounced observation of Mr. Dodson on May 15, 2014, rating him on competency 1, "lesson design and focus", as "partially effective" on all four indicators. Mr. Scaturi found that Mr. Dodson did not connect the lesson to unit objectives or long-term goals; Mr. Dodson did not organize the components nor deliver them to move students towards mastery of the objective; Mr. Dodson's pace was too slow and his content and instructions were sometimes unclear or inaccurate. Mr. Dodson solved a problem on the board incorrectly. Mr. Scaturi recommended that Mr. Dodson use proper math vocabulary; design and implement alternative strategies to allow students to review material more effectively; ensure that he presents solutions that are complete and accurate; and ensure he is clear on the board.

The post-observation conference occurred on May 21, 2014. Mr. Scaturi rated Mr. Dodson on competency 1 as "partially effective" and his rating for the evaluation was "partially effective."

Before holding the annual evaluation, Ms. Dow supplied Mr. Dodson with an annual evaluation evidence sheet for him to complete by April 22, 2015. He failed to return it before the deadline. His annual evaluation had to be rescheduled for May 19, 2014 due to his absence on the prior scheduled date. Mr. Dodson was on an attendance policy due to poor attendance and tardiness.

Ms. Dow's evaluation shows that Mr. Dodson did not implement any of the feedback he had received. For competency 1, Ms. Dow noted that he had to consistently provide lesson plans on time and that he had only provided lesson plans for review 50% of the time.

Ms. Dow noted his lesson plans must identify, through lesson sequence and lesson components, how lessons fit into the larger unit objectives and lead students toward identified achievement goals. For competency 2, Ms. Dow noted that he must plan and implement lessons tasks and activities that will afford students the opportunity to extend their thinking. For competency 3, Ms. Dow noted he must continue to foster an environment that affords students the opportunity to confront demanding concepts, provide rationales for their solutions, and challenge and support their peers. For competency 4, the Ms. Dow noted that Mr. Dodson must be able to articulate, with evidence, each student's progress , standards, mastered, and continuing needs.

Regarding whether he met his goals or SGOs set forth on his CAP, the evaluation shows he did not. His students performed well below their peers, according to the ANET assessment data. 15% of his students were below all other seventh grade students on interim 1, 11% were below all other seventh students on interim 2, and 17% were below all other seventh grade students on interim.

Mr. Dodson contends the ANET scores are not a valid measure of how students progressed through the school. I agree. There was no dispute. The District's brief acknowledges that their measure of student progress did not comply with the statutes but defended on the ground that the Department of Education had approved their approach. Whether the documentary evidence on this point was admissible is discussed elsewhere in this opinion.

The SGO data is incorporated into the evaluation of Mr. Dodson's performance with regards to indicators d,e, and f under competency 4. Regarding competency 5, Ms. Dow informed Mr. Dodson that he must consistently adhere to attendance policies. Mr. Dodson replied the meeting, (contrary to the facts showing that he failed to submit lessons approximately 50% of the time) that he only failed to submit lesson plans "once or twice" and that he always completed them. Mr. Dodson's assertion that he only failed to provide them once or twice is not credible. At the hearing, Mr. Dodson's assertion that a substitute failed to return his lesson plans for the day was possible; but when he continued to explain missing lesson plans by blaming the substitute, I concluded his mental agility outran his accuracy.

During 2013-2014, Mr. Dodson was absent 9 times and tardy 9 times, and was placed on an Attendance Improvement Plan during 2013-24. The District points to Ms. Dow's testimony that if a teacher is absent, the students are not receiving the curriculum instruction. An abundance of absences [such as Mr. Dodson's] means students are missing out on valuable instruction time.

Mr. Dodson's 2013-2014 ratings were for competency 1 -"partially effective"; competency 2 -"partially effective"; competency 3 - "effective;" competency 4 - "effective;" competency 5 - slightly below expectations. His overall rating for 2013-2014 was "partially effective". It does not incorporate a SGP score because New Jersey did not calculate a SFP score for Mr. Dodson because his class size was under threshold of 20.

Because competency 1 and 2 did not contain student assessment, they would have remained as "partially effective" and is the basis for my conclusion that the failure to follow the statutory scheme for measuring students was not "material" because it not have affected competency 1 and 2 at all. Additionally, his rating for competency 4, where the defective measuring tool for student achievement, was "effective, "which was the highest rating he achieved on any competency during any evaluations in the two period covered by his CAP. For Mr. Dodson to credibly show that the defective measuring tools for student achievement would have been "material" would mean he would have to establish that he would have, had they been measured properly, reached "highly effective" for competency 4, a score he had never achieved on any evaluation. So the "effective" score for competency 4 was the highest he could reasonably expected. With that "effective" his overall score would still have been "partially effectine."

Black's Law Dictionary (2nd Ed.)[7] defines "material" in this way

http://thelawdictionary.org/material/

Important; more or less necessary; having influence or effect; going to the merits; having to do with matter, as distinguished from form. An allegation is said to be material when it forms a substantive part of the case presented by the pleading. Evidence offered in a cause, or a question propounded, is material when it is relevant and goes to the substantial matters in dispute, or has a legitimate and effective influence or bearing on the decision of the case.

Each dispute has unique facts and so a deviation from procedures may have a different impact, depending on the facts of the case. The arbitrator must examine both the deviation and the impact it may have had on the process. If the impact would not change the overall evaluation, it is not material. If it would have changed the evaluation or had a substantial impact on the integrity of the process of evaluation, it is material, and would nullify the termination.

For 2014-2015, Mr. Dodson continued on a CAP. Mr. Dodson's annual evaluation was completed On May 28, 2015, Ms. Mignone and Mr. Dodson met for his evaluation conference. His testimony that he had no such conference is not credible; the final report was witnessed and states he did not sign the evaluation. Ms. Dow credibly testified that the conference took place.

The evaluation document reviewed Mr. Dodson's performance on observations and coaching observations throughout the school year, including the 4 formal observations, 3 coaching observations, and 16 classroom visits from the math coach.

For competency 1, Ms. Mignone indicated that: "Lesson plan submission does not demonstrate a connection between lesson, units and long term goals. There is also a lack of structured lesson components such as modeling, shared practice, guided practice and independent practice." Mr. Dodson's rating for competency 1 was" partially effective".

For competency 2, Ms. Mignone found that Mr. Dodson failed to implement structured, standards based learning centers despite the math coach focusing on this in several meetings. Mr. Dodson's rating for competency 2 was "partially effective."

For competency 3, Ms. Mignone that "Mr. Dodson's class improved in the realm of management but it is still evident that procedures and routines are absent." His rating for competency 3 was "partially effective."

Mr. Dodson's rating for competency 4 was "partially effective." Ms. Mignone noted that Mr. Dodson did not submit a portfolio to demonstrate his student's progress, despite being asked to do so. The ANET assessment data indicated that Mr. Dodson's goals were not met with regard to any of the four focus standards he identified. The percentage passing was 30% for 8EEl, 31% for 8EE2, 24% for 8EE3, and 56% for 8EE4.8 As such, the District contends that Mr. Dodson did not meet his goals.

Mr. Dodson contends that competency 4 contained invalid measures of student achievement. I agree. Elsewhere in the decision I discuss the issue of whether approval by the Department of Education of the District's assessment plan was admissible. The District acknowledged it did not comply with the strict standards of the statute and I have ruled that the Department of Education approval was inadmissible.

Mr. Dodson contends that even if it were admissible, the District did not follow it. There is no need to discuss this alternative argument, in light of the finding that it is not admissible.

I conclude there that the District failed to substantially follow to this portion of the evaluation process. However, even if his students improved sufficiently, and were so measured, and thus increased competency 4 from "partially effective" to "effective", his scores in competencies 1, 2 and 3 were still all "partially effective." Given his set of skills t would have been impossible for him to have overcome three "partially effective" ratings and achieved an overall "effective" score. Consequently, the fact the District's failure to measure student achievement by the statute did not materially affect the outcome of the evaluation.

For competency 5, Mr. Dodson was rated slightly below expectations. Ms. Mignone noted that:

> Mr. Dodson has not shown a commitment to improvement. Although he has had several meetings with the math coach and feedback sessions with the administration there has been little improvement in target areas. Mr. Mr. Dodson did not submit a portfolio to communicate student progress through data. Attendance is in need of improvement with 17 days absent and 18 days late (7 of which were 5 minutes or more).

Mr. Dodson's overall annual evaluation score was 6, or "ineffective." It is a score so low that he could not mathematically move it to the "effective" range even if he were "effective" on student achievement.

The District contends that Mr. Dodson falsely testified that he never received an annual review conference. In fact, Mr. Dodson was present and refused to sign the form at the meeting. Mr. Hutchins served as a witness for the meeting and signed the document to indicate her presence as a witness that the meeting took place. I conclude the meeting occurred, and Mr. Dodson is mistaken when he claims it didn't.

During the 2014-2015 school year, the School Improvement Panel ("SIP") met monthly to discuss all of the teachers that needed assistance. The SIP included Ms. Mignone, the math coach, and the literacy coach. The Panel discussed at the meetings held during the November 2014-April 2015 time period. The agendas from the meetings make clear that Mr. Dodson continued to struggle in the same areas and did not implement the feedback and support he was provided.

For example, in February 2015, it the Panel noted that there was "[n]o evidence of implementation" of feedback Mr. Dodson received about lesson structure. Mr. Dodson continued to require assistance with small group learning centers. In March 2015, the Panel discussed how Mr. Dodson was still having difficulty implementing small group instruction. In April 2015, the Panel discussed how Mr. Dodson needed to work on data analysis and use additional assessments throughout the unit between the pre-tests and post-tests to drive instruction.

The District contends that they provided Mr. Dodson with a significant amount of professional development throughout the 2014-2015 school year in the form of coaching observations, written materials, access to videos and other resources on Bloomboard, weekly meetings with the math coach, and unlimited assistance from the math coach. Despite the significant assistance provided to him, Mr. Dodson failed to make improvements to his teacher practice or demonstrate student progress on the identified goals. Consequently, the District had no choice but to give Mr. Dodson an overall rating of ineffective for the 2014-2015 school year and proceed with tenure charges. I found this evidence persuasive.

Mr. Dodson contends that TEACHNJ required that he receive at last one pre-conference for an announced evaluation during 2014-2015. He did not. It appears to have been an oversight. Mr. Dodson contends that this failure to adhere substantially to the evaluation process. I agree. I must then decide whether this failure materially affected the outcome of the evaluation. Mr. Dodson contends it did. The Board disagrees. I conclude that it did not. Obviously having a pre-conference might make for a better performance and a better evaluation. And possibly a higher score on one evaluation. However, his deficiencies were well known to his evaluators and to him; he knew what he had to work on. He had been told repeatedly. He appeared over a two-year period to be unable to put into effect what he had been told to do. Inserting one conference into this mix would not have moved the scoring needle in an upward direction by very much, if at all. That is not to say that failure to have a pre-observation may not been in a different case, but not on these facts.

I now turn to the question of admissibility of the Department of Education's approval. I conclude it was not admissible; but I also have also conclude that the District's failure in complying with the process on measuring student achievement was not a material failure to comply with the evaluation process. So the issue of admissibility is moot.

Mr. Dodson contends the Department of Education's approval is not admissible because it was not among the evidence provided by the Board to Mr. Dodson before the hearings and is therefore expressly inadmissible under TEACHNJ; and because one of their interrogatories was broad enough to cover this document and was not provided, which also renders it inadmissible under the Act. I agree. Here is what the statute provides:

> (3) Upon referral of the case for arbitration, the employing board of education shall provide all evidence including, but not limited to, documents, electronic evidence, statements of witnesses, and a list of witnesses with a complete summary of their testimony, to the employee or the employee's representative. The employing board of education shall be precluded from presenting any additional evidence at the hearing, except for purposes of impeachment of witnesses. At least 10 days prior to the hearing, the employee shall provide all evidence upon which he will rely including, but not limited to, documents, electronic evidence, statements of witnesses, and a list of witnesses with a complete summary of their testimony, to the employing board of education or its representative. The employee shall be precluded from presenting any additional evidence at the hearing except for purposes of impeachment of witnesses.
> Discovery shall not include depositions, and interrogatories shall be limited to 25 without subparts.
>
> c. The arbitrator shall determine the case under the American Arbitration Association labor arbitration rules. In the event of a conflict between the American Arbitration Association labor arbitration rules and the procedures established pursuant to this section, the procedures established pursuant to this section shall govern.

At the hearing, I reviewed the language and structure of the statute, and concluded it means what it says and the exception based on "impeachment of witnesses" did not apply. "Impeachment" refers to evidence that attacks the credibility of a witness. At the time the District offered the evidence, Attorney Ball had not yet called a witness. There was nothing to impeach. Had a witness denied that the document existed, it could be used to impeach that witness. That is not what happened. I suggested that the parties brief the issue so I could reconsider my initial ruling. I had the documents marked for identification, but not admitted.

On reconsideration, having again reviewed the statute, its language and purpose, and the transcript of the hearing, and analyzed the issue in depth, I again conclude that the evidence is not admissible. However, this ruling does not affect the outcome of the case, because as I discuss elsewhere, although the District failure to substantially follow the procedures for measuring student achievement in competency 4, this failure did not materially affect the outcome of the evaluation.

Here is what transpired when I asked Attorney Ball to describe the documents, which I had then not yet seen. Attorney Ball:

"There are two documents. One is a set of documents that purports to say Mr. Dodson did not have an SGP for that particular year, the 2013, 2014 year. The second set of documents he is going to try to produce is a set of documents that purport to show that he also didn't get SGOs, that part of the requirement for SGOs was waived and another part was rendered unnecessary because the way they scored competency 4 was equivalent to doing an SGO.

Now, this the first time we are getting this. We have gone through the entire process with the initial disclosure of documents, inches thick. Then we also did discovery, and in my interrogatories, in number three I wrote as follows. As per NJAC 6A 10-4.2, describe in detail the measures of student achievement and/or Student Growth Objectives that were utilized to evaluate respondent's performances in 2013, 2014 and 2014, 2015. Describe how the SGOs were specific and measurable based on available student learning data aligned to the core curriculum standards and based on growth and/or achievement. Include detailed descriptions of how respondent met or failed to meet the SGOs in his CAP, Corrective Action Plan. [Emphasis added.]

They provide an answer to that question that is at least half of a page long. Nowhere in that answer do they make any reference to any of these documents or even to any of the theories that the documents are submitted to support. There's nothing in the case here that I prepared for trial that gave me any clue about any of this stuff. I developed my case, I tried my case, I prepared Mr. Dodson based on the record that I had. The record now goes 180 degree the other way. I'll ask for a mistrial. If that is not granted, I'll ask to the law division.

I will not present Mr. Dodson because we are not prepared to meet any of this.[9]

This statute really means business. The TEACHNJ Act contains an affirmative disclosure provision, which by its terms requires each side to exchange all of their documents in advance. There are no depositions, and interrogatories are limited to 25 questions including subparts. "The employing board of education shall be precluded from presenting any additional evidence at the hearing, except for purposes of impeachment of witnesses." (Emphasis added.) The same goes for the teacher. No disclosure, no admit, except for impeachment. Rebuttal is not impeachment. The whole discovery process relies on voluntary disclosure. It would not work as the legislature intended if new evidence could be introduced to fill holes in either of the parties' cases. The one exception is "impeachment of witnesses." There is no general exception for rebuttal that is not impeachment, although clearly new documents can be introduced for impeachment purposes.

The clear language of the statute states the evidence here in question is inadmissible. The legislature mandates that the arbitrators are required to enforce the statute as written. The procedural structures could unravel if arbitrator opened the door to evidence not allowed by the NEACHNJ. Rejecting the offered document is the enforcement mechanism that makes the pre-trial process work. Weaken that enforcement mechanism, and the pre-trial discovery process could unravel. In other words, making this evidence inadmissible is a means to an end and not an end in itself. The end is making the discovery work. The means is rejecting evidence that does not comply with the discovery rules.

The District's contends that because TEACHNJ tells the arbitrators to use the American Arbitration Association Labor Arbitration Rules, the AAA rules would allow the arbitrator to admit this evidence, [10] and so the evidence is admissible. But TEACHNJ also says in the event of a conflict with the AAA rules, a conflict which clearly exists here, the TEACHNJ rule procedures rules shall govern:

> The arbitrator shall determine the case under the American Arbitration Association labor arbitration rules. In the event of a conflict between the American Arbitration Association labor arbitration rules and the procedures established pursuant to this section, the procedures established pursuant to this section shall govern. (Emphasis added.)

The District argues they had no notice that Mr. Dodson would raise the question of non-compliance with the measurement of student. However, Attorney Ball asked in his interrogatories quoted above about the measurement instrument, and the District did not mention that the Commissioner of Education had essentially waived the statute and approved a substitute method. The District, by not including it in their list of exhibits and by not providing it in the answer to his interrogatories, are compelled by the statute from relying on that evidence.

[10] Under AAA Rule, Rule 14, AAA Rules, could admit the document. "The parties may offer such evidence as is relevant and material to the dispute, and shall produce such evidence as the arbitrator may deem necessary to an understanding and determination of the dispute."

The District argues that it would violate due process not to allow the evidence in. Courts have the power to declare statutes unconstitutional; NJ statutory arbitrators under TEACHNJ do not. Besides, courts of law frequently exclude otherwise admissible evidence for failure to follow the discovery rules. I am unaware of any decision that finds that enforcing the discovery rules by excluding evidence violates due process. Excluding evidence to enforce discovery rules is an common event in the trial courts across America. This is no different. Except here, the venue is a statutory arbitration tribunal, not a court.

The District argues "this document amounts to a legal ruling by an administrative agency that the Arbitrator must consider as part of the legal analysis of this case". It cites Smith v. Director. Div. of Taxation, 108 N.J, 19, 25 (1987), for the proposition that substantial deference should be given to the interpretation an agency gives to a statute that the agency is charged with enforcing. But the "equivalency" document does not "interpret a statute". At most it gives a limited waiver to compliance with specific portions of N.J.A.C. 6A:10 et seq. (P87C- "Waiver").

But before we get to the issue of whether it excuses compliance with the statute, it must first be in evidence, and I conclude that it cannot be admitted. A court may conclude that "waiver" is the same as "interpretation" and that deference must be shown.

I can't get to that issue unless the evidence is admissible, and it is not. The legislature created this evidentiary mechanism to enforce their strict rules on pre-hearing disclosure of documents and interrogatories . The legislature coupled it with a stern admonition to the arbitrators to follow their procedural rules.

Mr. Dodson was observed by six different supervisors and administrators (i.e., Ms. Dow, Mr. Nazario, Mr. Scutari, Ms. Ms. Mignone, Ms. Mr. Hutchins, Ms. Evans-Humes) for a total of nine formal observations over a two-year period, in addition to a peer validation observation by a non-District employee. The observers included administrators in two different school buildings and Network administrators, in addition to a tenth observation conducted by an individual who is unaffiliated with the District. Additionally, Mr. Dodson received informal coaching observations. All seven individuals consistently identified the same fundamental problems with Mr. Dodson's performance as a teacher during both the 2013-2014 and 2014-2015 school years.

Specifically, the pace of instruction was too slow, he lacked lesson planning, did not use scaffolding; he did not use tailored instruction and did not divide the class into groups; he failed to press students to analyze problems for themselves or with other students and would simply provide them with the answers; he did not individualize instructions; he failed despite many warnings to provide lesson plans; his attendance and timeliness was not satisfactory and he was placed on an attendance plan. Mr. Dodson failed to implement instructional strategies that would instill higher level thinking in his students, and there was a lack of student progress. These deficiencies are reflected in the observation summary forms and accompanying rubrics as well as Mr. Dodson's mid-year and annual evaluations for both school years in question, resulting in a "partially effective" rating for the 2013-2014 school year and an "ineffective rating" for the 2014-2015 school year.

Mr. Dodson received help and assistance and encouragement over two years. The observers gave him specific advice as to how to improve, including how to scaffold, how to divide the class into groups, how to press students to analyze problems rather than simply providing answers, how to individualize instruction rather than teaching the entire class.

Mr. Dodson claim that he did not receive adequate assistance and should have been given more in the form of modeled teaching is not persuasive. He was given substantial supports over a two-year period.

Because Mr. Dodson received a "partially effective" rating for the 2013-2014 school year and an ineffective rating for the 2014-2015 school year, the District was required by law to file inefficiency tenure charges against him. N.J.S.A. 18A:6-17.3(a)(1). The District's decision to file the instant tenure charges was neither arbitrary nor capricious.

Mr. Dodson contends he did not develop his CAP in collaboration with an administrator. A CAP is defined as "a written plan developed by a teaching staff member serving in a supervisory capacity in collaboration with the teaching staff member to address deficiencies as outlined in an evaluation." N.J.S.A. 18A:6-119. See also N.J.A.C. 6A: 10-2.5 ("a corrective action plan shall be developed by the teaching staff member and the ... teaching staff member's designated supervisor"). Mr. Dodson drafted his CAP for the 2013-2014 school year and then met with Ms. Dow to review it. Similarly, Dodson drafted his CAP for the 2014-2015 school year and then met with Vice Principal LaContee Hill to review it. Dodson's testimony to the contrary is not credible and is contradicted by the documentary and testimonial evidence in the record.

Mr. Dodson contends that a peer observation was excluded, arguing it was excluded because it rated Mr. Dodson "effective." The argument is not persuasive. The District states it was excluded because Mr. McVerry was from outside the district and conducted a Peer Validation Observation. Theirs is a correct application of the clear language of TEACHNJ regulating which evaluation must be included in the annual summative evaluation rating. The person must be "employed in the district" and have the necessary credentials. By law, the McVerry observation, which was not a statutory evaluation, had to be excluded from the annual summative evaluation.

> Observation" means a method of collecting data on the performance of a teaching staff member's assigned duties and responsibilities. An observation for the purpose of evaluation will be included in the determination of the annual summative evaluation rating and shall be conducted by an individual employed in the school district in a supervisory role and capacity and possessing a school administrator, principal, or supervisor endorsement as defined in N.J.A.C. 6A:9-1.1.[11]

The content of the McVerry peer validation observation of Mr. Dodson may be helpful advice on how to improve his teaching, but does him no credit. For competency 1, [11] 6A:10-1.2 Definitions

Mr. Dodson had issues with pacing, taking 40 minutes to go over the first three problems. Mr. McVerry noted that the group activity did not begin until there was five minutes left in the class. As for competency 2, Mr. McVerry observed that Dodson "did not adjust his instruction to meet their [the students'] needs" and instead would refer to the common misconceptions he noted rather than individual struggles by the students. Mr. McVerry noted that Mr. Dodson did not create a learning environment in which students could demand evidence of each other. With regard to competency 3, Mr. McVerry noted that the environment was "too teacher directed" and that one student was sleeping in the classroom. Similar deficiencies were found in the numerous observation during the 2014-2015 school year.

Mr. Dodson contends that because the rebuttals he wrote to each of the observations and evaluations were not considered by Mignone, the District violated the evaluation rues. However, while Dodson maintained the right to submit a rebuttal to challenge the observations and evaluations he received, Mignone had no obligation to do anything but attach the rebuttals to the observations and evaluations in his file. The statute gives him no right, beyond the evaluation meeting, to have more meetings to reconsider what has already been discussed.

While Dodson had the right to submit a written rebuttal and create a written record, Mignone did not have any obligation to have a meeting with Dodson to discuss its contents. In fact, Dodson never requested the opportunity to meet with Mignone to discuss his rebuttal submissions at any time during the 2014-2015 school year. Moreover, consideration of Dodson's rebuttals has no bearing on whether the District substantially adhered to the evaluation process.

The process related to rebuttals is outlined in the Framework. The Framework provides:

> What is the process for a teacher who disagrees with their observation, Mid-Year, or Annual rating?
> If a teacher disagrees with his or her score, he or she still has to sign the form to indicate receipt, but not agreement. In the event that a teacher refuses to sign the form, a witness signature must be obtained indicating the refusal to sign. Teachers have the opportunity to object to the observation in writing within 10 days of the post-observation conference. The Assistant Superintendent (or his/her designee) may review the rebuttal letter, mid-year evaluation or annual rating, and supporting documents and if the rating is inconsistent with the documentation, then the Assistant superintendent may, in his/her sole discretion, change the overall evaluation rating after reviewing the documentation with the principal.

The words "may review" shows that review is not mandatory, but within the discretion of the administrator. Because there is no obligation to read the rebuttals, Mr. Dodson had no right to have them read.

Ms. Mignone had no obligation to respond to Mr. Dodson's rebuttals, either through an in-person meeting or in writing. Ms. Mignone used her discretion to determine that Mr. Dodson's ratings would not be changed as a result of the rebuttals that he orally made to her at their meetings and confirmed through her testimony that Mr. Dodson's rebuttals did not provide any information that demonstrated why the rating did not reflect his practice. Ms. Mignone's actions with regard to the rebuttals were consistent with the Framework and compliant with the District's evaluation process.

I have found nothing in Mr. Dodson's factual or legal arguments that fall within the statutory grounds for setting aside a decision to recommend termination.

Mr. Dodson was only marginally credible. He truthfully acknowledged he used sick time when he used up his three personal days to take his daughter to visits high schools. But he was not credible, when confronted with the fact that this could be seen as fraudulent, fumbled a bit and stated that he was sick on the days he visited schools with his daughter. That portion of the cross-examination was a textbook illustration of the truism that a lawyer can make up questions faster than an untruthful witness an make up answers. Once a witness starts to stray from the truth, his credibility is undermined. That happened here to Mr. Dodson.

At other times, Mr. Dodson testified with diminished accuracy, with a tendency to diminish his shortcomings, such as not filing timely lesson plans 50% of the time, or finding excuses for shortcomings external to him. His memory was at times faulty, unable to remember meetings, which the evidence establishes through witnesses and documents bearing a signature by a witness and a notation that Mr. Dodson refused to sign or did not sign. The credible evidence establishes that these meetings took place.

When asked at the hearing about an instance of failure to leave lesson plans in his room, he said a substitute took them, and then when asked about other missing lessons, said the same thing. It is unlikely that all of these missing plans were taken by substitutes. He showed a tendency at times to be simultaneously inventive but unconvincing. Ultimately I found his testimony on critical contested issues of fact not credible.

I have carefully considered all of his factual and legal arguments and find them unpersuasive.

Based on the forgoing, I find that the District has proven its case and Mr. Dodson has failed to show that any of the variations from the evaluation process had a material effect on the outcome of the evaluations.

AWARD

The District established that it had statutory grounds to terminate Mr. Dodson for two consecutive evaluations of "partially effective" and "ineffective." Mr. Dodson established in several respects that the District failed to adhere substantially to the evaluation process. However, the evidence and reasonable inferences drawn from the evidence shows that these failures to adhere did not materially affect the outcome of the evaluations. There were no mistakes of fact in the evaluations that could materially affect the outcome of the evaluations. There is no credible evidence that the charges would not have been brought but for considerations of political affiliation, nepotism, union activity, discrimination as prohibited by State or Federal law, or other conduct prohibited by state or federal law. The District's actions were not arbitrary or capricious.

The arbitrator renders a decision in favor of the Board and in accordance with the law, the employee shall be dismissed.

SYNOPSIS

In 2014, petitioner filed a pro se petition seeking emergent relief in which she alleged that the respondent Board inappropriately transferred her children between schools, harassed her and failed to maintain accurate educational records. The Office of Administrative Law (OAL) was subsequently notified by an attorney that he would be representing the petitioner, and that she was withdrawing her request for emergent relief. The matter remained open until 2016 without further filings. A telephone conference was scheduled for April 7, 2016, but neither petitioner nor any attorney representing her appeared, despite having received appropriate notice of the conference. Notifications sent to the parties on June 23, 2016 provided an opportunity to submit an explanation for the nonappearance. When no explanation was filed by the petitioner, the OAL returned the file to the Commissioner.

Upon review, this matter was no longer deemed to be a contested case before the Commissioner. Accordingly, the petition was dismissed with prejudice.

This synopsis is not part of the Commissioner's decision. It has been prepared for the convenience of the reader. It has been neither reviewed nor approved by the Commissioner.

SYNOPSIS

The petitioners challenged the determination of the respondent Board that L.P. was not the victim of harassment, intimidation or bullying (HIB) under the provisions of the New Jersey Anti-Bullying Bill of Rights Act, N.J.S.A. 18A:37-13 to -32.1 (the Act). L.P. – a member of the high school fencing team – alleged that she had been a victim of HIB by B.S. – another student member of the fencing team – during the 2014-2015 school year, and asserted that the alleged bullying stemmed from L.P.'s status as a new and younger member of the team who possessed superior skills in comparison to B.S. The Board contended that the incident in question constituted student conflict and did not meet the definition of HIB pursuant to the Act. The Board filed a motion to dismiss the appeal.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: the granting of a motion to dismiss a petition is warranted where there is no relief upon which the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) or the Department can act, or no relief to which petitioners are entitled as a matter of law, even when viewing the pleadings in the most favorable light; the main issue for resolution in this case is whether the Board's finding that there was no HIB was arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable, in light of the information the Board possessed when it made its determination; the Act applies to any gesture, or any written, verbal or physical act, or any electronic communication – whether it be a single incident or a series of incidents – that is reasonably perceived as being motivated either by an actual or perceived characteristic, such as, inter alia: race, color, religion, national origin, gender, sexual orientation, or any other distinguishing characteristic; petitioners allege various incidents of HIB by B.S. during the 2014-2015 school year, beginning with a November 2014 incident during fencing practice in which L.P. accidentally injured a teammate – who sustained a concussion; L.P. argued, inter alia, that this accident was held over her head all season by B.S., who repeatedly reminded L.P. that she was lucky she didn't get kicked off the team after she caused her teammate's concussion; the Board herein contends that the HIB investigation into the fencing team incidents was inconclusive as to their occurrence or intent; and there were no allegations that a distinguishing characteristic of L.P. – either actual or perceived – motivated any of the conduct complained of herein. The ALJ concluded that it was reasonable for the Board to conclude that the circumstances in this case – which showed personal conflict between L.P. and other girls on the fencing team, but not conduct based on any distinguishing characteristic of the victim – did not rise to the level of HIB. Accordingly, the Board's motion to dismiss was granted.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurred with the findings and conclusions of the ALJ in this matter. Accordingly, the Initial Decision was adopted as the final decision, and the petition was dismissed

| RESPONDENT. | : | |

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed as have the exceptions filed pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4 by the petitioners and the West Morris Regional Board of Education's (Board) reply thereto. This case involves a challenge by the petitioners to the Board's determination that certain conduct directed at L.P. by another student, B.S., did not constitute Harassment, Intimidation and Bullying (HIB) pursuant to the Anti-Bullying Bill of Rights Act (Act), N.J.S.A. 18A:37-13 et seq. The Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) found that the Board's determination that the conduct did not meet the definition of HIB was not arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable, and granted the Board's motion to dismiss.

In their exceptions, the petitioners maintain that the ALJ erroneously granted the Board's motion to dismiss because the Board's HIB determination was arbitrary, capricious and unreasonable. The petitioners initially allege that the Board's anti-bullying specialist lied under oath and falsified evidence throughout the entire HIB investigation; and the tainted investigation was ultimately the basis of the Board's decision. Additionally, the petitioners assert that they have demonstrated every element necessary under the Act to prove that an act of HIB was committed by B.S. Specifically, the petitioners contend that the ALJ's finding that B.S.'s conduct was not motivated by a distinguishing characteristic is incorrect. The petitioners argue that L.P's feeling of persecution based on being young and vulnerable and a more skilled fencer than B.S. was a distinguishing characteristic. Therefore, the petitioners contend that B.S. used the team pecking order and the power conferred by her status as a caption to harass, intimidate and bully L.P.

Upon a comprehensive review of the record, the Commissioner concurs with the ALJ's conclusion – for the reason stated in the Initial Decision – that the Board's HIB determination was not arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable. Although the ALJ determined that there may have been a conflict among the members of the fencing team, the Commissioner agrees that B.S.'s alleged conduct toward L.P. was not based on a distinguishing characteristic of L.P., actual or perceived.

It is well established that conduct that is motivated by a personal dispute such as specific roles on a sports team, albeit potentially harmful, does not fall within the definition of bullying under the Act. See, K.L. v. Evesham Township Board of Education, 423 N.J. Super 337, 350-351 (App. Div. 2011); R.A., on behalf of minor child, B.A. v. Board of Education of the Township of Hamilton, Mercer County, EDU 10485-15 (May 12, 2016) adopted Comm'r June 22, 2016; L.B.T., on behalf of minor child, K.T. v. Board of Education of the Freehold Regional School District, Monmouth County, EDU 7894-12 (January 24, 2013) adopted, Comm'r (March 7, 2013). Based on the circumstances in this case, it was reasonable for the Board to determine that the conduct of B.S. was motivated by the relationship between the two team members and the dynamics of the fencing team, not a distinguishing characteristic protected by the Act. Additionally, despite the petitioners' assertions to the contrary, there is no evidence in the record to suggest that the Board's decision was induced by improper motives or based on doctored evidence.

Accordingly, the recommended decision of the ALJ is adopted for the reasons stated therein, and the petition of appeal is hereby dismissed.

BEFORE GAIL M. COOKSON, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On or about March 11, 2016, L.P. and H.P. (petitioners) filed a Petition of Appeal to the decision of the Board of Education of the West Morris Regional High School District (Board) in which they asserted that the District erred in failing to find that their daughter L.P. (L.P.) had been the victim of Harassment, Intimidation or Bullying (HIB) in violation of the Anti-Bullying Act of 2010, N.J.S.A. 18A:37-13 et seq. On or about March 18, 2016, petitioners filed with the Department of Education a motion for emergent relief on its petition seeking specific relief during a forthcoming spring break school trip of the concert band to Orlando, Florida.

The matter was transmitted by the Department of Education to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), where it was filed on March 24, 2016, for plenary hearing as a contested case pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13, and for oral argument on the emergent relief, which was scheduled for March 29, 2016. The matter was assigned to the undersigned on March 24, 2016, on which date I also received a motion to dismiss the application for emergent relief and for an adjournment of the oral argument on said motion from the Board. Accordingly, I convened a telephonic case management conference with the parties on March 24, 2016, to discuss the potential issues in the case, the emergent relief application, and other case management concerns.

During that first case management conference, I granted orally the Board's motion to adjourn the oral argument date on the motion for emergent relief because the high school was closed for spring break and staff would not be available for the hearing. Instead, we discussed some consensual terms and conditions of the upcoming band trip that might alleviate petitioners' concerns about their daughter's well-being during it. The emergent relief was deferred in order to allow petitioners time to evaluate whether it was necessary to continue to pursue it even after the trip was concluded. Petitioners ultimately decided to withdraw the emergent aspect of their appeal.

Respondent filed a Motion to Dismiss the Petition of Appeal on or about April 19, 2016. During a previously scheduled case management conference call on April 26, 2016, it was agreed that petitioners would have until May 10, 2016, to submit opposition to the motion and thereafter, respondent would file a reply by May 17, 2016. Accordingly, the scheduling of a plenary hearing date was deferred. Those motion submissions having been received, the matter is now ripe for decision.

ISSUE PRESENTED ON THE MOTION

Respondent argues that the Board's determination that the conduct petitioners complained of did not constitute harassment, intimidation, or bullying under N.J.S.A. 18A:37-14 was not arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable and can be decided at this preliminary stage on the basis that the petition fails to set forth a claim upon which relief may be granted. Petitioners oppose the motion to dismiss on the basis that the conclusions of the Board were arrived at in a cursory and faulty manner procedurally; and that substantively, their daughter should have been believed even if others lied or chose conveniently not to recall what they view as obvious incidents. To the extent that the proceedings were not arbitrary, petitioners claim that the HIB complaint must have been denied as retaliation against their daughter for daring to file such a complaint.

This case is presented at this time on motions to dismiss the complaint for failure to state a claim upon which relief can be granted by each of the three respondents. Such a motion must be based on the pleadings themselves. Roa v. Roa, 200 N.J. 555, 562 (2010). This forum must accept as true the facts alleged in the complaint and all reasonable inferences of fact flowing from those allegations, to ascertain whether there is or could be a claim upon which relief can be granted. Malik v. Ruttenberg, 398 N.J. Super. 489, 494 (App. Div. 2008). "[M]otions to dismiss should be granted in 'only the rarest [of] instances.'" Banco Popular N. America v. Gandi, 184 N.J. 161, 165 (2005) (quoting Lieberman v. Port Auth. of N.Y. and N.J., 132 N.J. 76, 79 (1993)).

In evaluating a motion to dismiss a petition at the very earliest stage in the litigation, "courts are cautioned to search the complaint 'in depth and with liberality to ascertain whether the fundament of a cause of action may be gleaned even from an obscure statement[.]'" Ibid. (quoting Printing Mart-Morristown v. Sharp Electronics Corp., 166 N.J. 739, 772 (1989)). "The test is whether a cause of action is suggested by the facts alleged in the complaint." Russo v. Nagel, 358 N.J. Super. 254, 262 (App. Div. 2003). Phrased another way, if there is no relief upon which this forum or the Department can act or no relief to which petitioners are entitled as a matter of law, even viewing the pled allegations in a light most favorable to them, then dismissal of the petition is warranted.

UNDISPUTED MATERIAL FACTS

1. L.P. was a freshman in high school during the 2014-2015 school year. During the 2015-2016 school year, she is in her sophomore year.

2. As a freshman, L.P. joined the school's fencing team. While she was a freshman, she had already had several years of experience as a fencer and undertook private lessons in the sport.

3. On November 23, 2015, petitioners submitted to respondent an HIB complaint on behalf of L.P. See Exhibit A attached to Affidavit of Cathleen Cartier (hereinafter referred to as Cartier Aff.).

4. This formal complaint had been preceded by some emails and meetings between petitioners and the coach and staff of the school about their concerns that their daughter was being purposely tormented and bullied by another member of the fencing team. See Affidavit of H.P. (hereinafter referred to as H.P Aff.), ¶¶ 6-8.

5. The alleged perpetrator was identified by petitioners as student B.S., a female senior and also a member of the girls' fencing team. See Cartier Aff., ¶ 3; H.P. Aff. ¶ 12.

6. In the petitioner's narrative attached to the HIB Reporting Form, Petitioners allege that L.P. was a victim of HIB by B.S. during the prior school year (2014-2015) starting in from approximately November 2014. See Cartier Aff., Exhibit A. Petitioners asserted that B.S.'s motivation was L.P.'s "status as a new and younger member of the EMC fencing team with better fencing skills in comparison to [B.S.]." Id.

7. Petitioners' first allegation against B.S. involves an incident that occurred in approximately November 2014 during a fencing practice in which L.P. accidentally injured a teammate. See Cartier Aff., Exhibit A. According to petitioners, during a "human obstacle course," L.P.'s knee grazed the side of K.M. when L.P. jumped over her head causing her injury, later identified as a concussion. See Cartier Aff., Exhibit A. Although the girls' fencing coach, Gladys Berardi, "did not assign blame," she "also did not say that it was merely an accident." Id. Petitioners contend that, "[u]nder [B.S.]'s guidance, L.P. would come to believe that she would be kicked off the team or subject to lawsuit if the coach ever found out what [L.P.] had done." Id.

8. Other allegations contained in the HIB complaint included:

a. In December 2014, at a freshman-sophomore tournament, Coach Berardi praised L.P. for winning all of her bouts. See Cartier Aff., Exhibit A. B.S. allegedly pointed out that L.P. had, in fact, lost one bout. Id.

b. On January 17, 2015, at the Morris County Tournament, B.S. made a comment to L.P. that she as "lucky [L.P.] didn't get kicked off the team" after causing K.M.'s concussion. Id.

c. On January 24, 2015, at the District Championship, B.S. "pointed out [K.M.] and reminded L.P. what she had done." Id. Petitioners allege that B.S.'s comments caused L.P. to sit out the next two (2) meets with "illness" and resulted in the team's suspicion of why L.P. was "able to attend school during the day but sick for the evening meets." See Cartier Aff., Exhibit A.

d. On February 23, 2015, at the Squad Championships, L.P. revealed to Petitioners that she believed she would be "kicked off the team" for giving K.M. a concussion and was afraid K.M would sue her, even though B.S. "did not suggest this to her." Id. L.P. further reported that she was "sick of listening to [B.S.] blaming and shaming other fencers who happened to be her friends." Id. L.P. also reported to Petitioners that she "didn't want to hear [B.S.]'s constant bragging about what she did with her current and former boyfriends" and B.S.'s "bragging about forging teacher signatures to cut classes." Id.

e. In May 2015, at a private fencing meet, B.S. allegedly said that L.P. should have "stayed away [from the tournament] so that the Mendham fencer could earn an E rating." See Cartier Aff., Exhibit A. This statement was allegedly witnessed by C.W., a male fencer at West Morris Central High School, who defended L.P. to B.S. Id. L.P. reported to petitioners that B.S. was "determined to destroy her in front of the other fencers at [West Morris Central High School]." Id.

f. At the annual Fencing Parents Association annual banquet B.S. allegedly filled two (2) "vacant Captaincies on the sabre and épée squads with her friends" over L.P., who "lost only a single bout the entire season." Id.

9. Petitioners also allege that: (1) B.S. held a team meeting without the authorization of Coach Berardi; (2) B.S. "continues to speak of 'my A strip'" even though L.P. "has consistently out-performed [B.S.]" and that "[n]o strip has been assigned," (3) L.P. "has indicated that she will not feel safe on the team if [B.S.] retains both A strip and a Captain's authority." See Cartier Aff., Exhibit A

10. Petitioners state that "[B.S.] finds reason to speak to and interact with [L.P.] or direct [L.P.]'s activities at every practice and needlessly chooses to sit next to [L.P.] when they do not speak." Id. Petitioners claim that "[t]his is highly aggressive behavior for someone who knows that her presence is unwanted and offensive to [L.P.]." Id.

11. On November 30, 2015, West Morris Central High School's Anti-Bullying Specialist, Cathleen Cartier met with L.P. and arranged for regular counseling in which L.P. could discuss her stress and anxiety. See Cartier Aff., ¶ 5. L.P., however, failed to attend any of the counseling sessions offered by Cartier. Id. at ¶ 5.

12. L.P. has alleged that Cartier missed several appointments to interview her about the HIB complaint, and then cut her short in trying to tell her side of the story. L.P. felt at a loss to know what to say when Cartier insisted that L.P. not repeat the details set forth in the complaint. See Affidavit of L.P.

13. Cartier with the assistance of Anne Meagher, Assistant Principal, investigated the HIB complaint between November 23 and December 8, 2015. They interviewed a total of fourteen (14) persons who were identified as potentially having information relative to the allegations in the complaint.

14. In addition, written statements were procured from the parents of the two girls, members of the boys and girls fencing teams, and Coach Berardi.

15. L.P. also felt that Cartier was "demanding" and "forbidding" to her during the pendency of the investigation. The email referenced by L.P. actually stated: "Also, please let me know if any of your team mates have been approaching you regarding the issue. In order to keep the confusion and stress to a minimum it is important that you not engage in any conversations about the investigation while it is in progress." See L.P. Aff., ¶ 18, Exhibit B.

16. Following completion of her investigation, Cartier concluded that:

a. Following K.M.'s injury, B.S. allegedly returned to practice and "announced that [L.P.] gave the hurt teammate a concussion" and that B.S. told L.P. "she would be kicked off the team for causing a teammate injury." – Unsubstantiated. After meeting with many witnesses, not one teammate could recall that anything was said; they either did not remember or they shared that no one knew the extent of the injury until the following week.

b. At two (2) fencing tournaments, B.S. allegedly pointed at the injured teammate "to blame [L.P.] for hurting her peer and also to remind her how lucky she was that she was not kicked off the team." – Unfounded. The dates of the two (2) tournaments took place before the teammate was injured so it would not have been possible for B.S. to reference something that had not yet happened.

c. An incident where B.S. allegedly accused L.P. of "stealing someone's rating." – Unsubstantiated. The witness to the conversation who was identified by L.P. and her parents did not support this allegation and shared a different account of the interaction.

[See Cartier Aff., ¶ 12; see also Exhibit B.]

17. On December 8, 2015, Cartier and the school principal advised petitioners in writing that its investigation did not find any evidence that L.P. had been the victim of HIB. [See Cartier Aff., Exhibit C.]

18. L.P. asserted that her friends have abandoned her since the HIB complaint was investigated since Cartier "punished" her oldest friend for being my friend. See L.P. Aff. ¶ 18.

19. L.P. feels that she was labeled as a "liar" by Cartier, and that her friends have abandoned her and deem her unfit company. L.P. ended up in a hospital with suicidal thoughts due to the stress of being unheard and made defenseless in the face of the actions or inactions of the coach and captain of the fencing team. See L.P. Aff. ¶¶ 16-17.

20. On December 14, 2015, the Board of Education voted unanimously to affirm the school's finding that there was no evidence of HIB against L.P. [See Affidavit of Dr. David Leigh, Director of Special Services and District Anti-Bullying Coordinator (Leigh Aff.), Exhibit A.

21. On December 16, 2015, Superintendent of Schools, Michael Ben-David, J.D., M.Ed., issued a letter to petitioners advising them that the Board of Education had reviewed and accepted Cartier's findings in the HIB report. [See Leigh Aff., Exihibt C.]

22. On December 14, 2015, petitioners sent a letter to respondent containing extensive objections to the HIB investigation and requesting a hearing before the Board of Education to appeal Cartier's HIB determination. [See Leigh Aff., Exhibit B.] On December 21, 2015, respondent advised petitioners in an e-mail that there would be a Board hearing on their appeal on January 4, 2016. [See Leigh Aff., Exhibit D.]

23. On January 4, 2016, an executive closed-door hearing was held at the Board at which petitioners presented testimony. The hearing lasted approximately ninety minutes. Upon conclusion of the testimony, the Board voted unanimously to affirm the Superintendent's decision finding that no evidence of HIB existed against L.P. [See Leigh Aff., Exhibit E.]

24. On January 8, 2016, respondent issued a letter to petitioners advising them that the Board affirmed the HIB finding of "unfounded" and notifying them of their right to appeal the decision to the Commissioner of Education. [See Leigh Aff., Exhibit F.]

25. On March 9, 2016, Petitioners filed the Petition of Appeal that is the subject of the within matter.

Based on these facts presented on the pending motion, and even giving petitioners the benefit of any reasonable inferences that could be drawn from their papers or initial petition, I FIND that L.P. cannot prove that the alleged incidents reported as HIB to the school can be sustained. L.P. has interpreted and is now complaining that the HIB investigation has caused her stress, caused her friends to be "punished," for her to be labeled a "liar," and for her to be locked up at CCIS. None of this is probative of the question as to whether B.S. bullied L.P. about the accidental concussion incident or a fencing rating prior to the HIB investigation.

LEGAL DISCUSSION

The issue for resolution is whether the Board's finding of no HIB was arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable, in light of the information that the Board possessed when it made its determination. The Anti-Bullying Act, N.J.S.A. 18A:37-14, sets forth:

> "Harassment, intimidation or bullying" means any gesture, any written, verbal or physical act, or any electronic communication, whether it be a single incident or a series of incidents, that is reasonably perceived as being motivated either by any actual or perceived characteristic, such as race, color, religion, ancestry, national origin, gender, sexual orientation, gender identity and expression, or a mental, physical or sensory disability, or by any other distinguishing characteristic, that takes place on school property, at any school-sponsored function, on a school bus, or off school grounds as provided for in section 16 of P.L.2010, c.122

> (C.18A:37-15.3), that substantially disrupts or interferes with the orderly operation of the school or the rights of other students and that:
> a. a reasonable person should know, under the circumstances, will have the effect of physically or emotionally harming a student or damaging the student's property, or placing a student in reasonable fear of physical or emotional harm to his person or damage to his property;
>

The Anti-Bullying Act mandates that school personnel report in writing to the school principal "all acts of harassment, intimidation or bullying" within two days of witnessing or receiving reliable information regarding any such incident. N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(b)(5). The principal or the principal's designee must initiate a prompt investigation of the incident, which must be completed within ten school days of the report to the principal. N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(b)(6)(a). The results of the investigation must be reported to the superintendent and the board of education. N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(b)(6)(b) and (c). Within five school days of reporting the results to the board of education, school officials must inform the parents or guardians of students involved about the results of the investigation. N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(b)(6)(d). The statute does not expressly require disclosure of a written investigative report, notes, or any other designated school records. Rather, the statute provides that the school district must inform parents in writing of "the nature of the investigation, whether the district found evidence of harassment, intimidation, or bullying, or whether discipline was imposed or services provided to address the incident of harassment, intimidation, or bullying." Ibid. See K.L. v. Evesham Twp. Bd. of Educ., 423 N.J. Super. 337, 358 (App. Div. 2011).

After receiving the results of an HIB investigation, a parent or guardian may request a hearing before the board of education. N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(b)(6)(d). At the next meeting following receipt of the HIB report, the board shall issue a decision to affirm, reject, or modify the superintendent's HIB decision. N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(b)(6)(e). Parents of students who are aggrieved by the board of education's determination are then entitled to appeal the board's decision to the Commissioner of Education no later than ninety (90) days after the board issued the decision. Id.

The Board argues in the present motion that the investigation into the 2015 fencing team incidents was inconclusive as to their occurrence or intent. The other team members interviewed during the investigation said they had no knowledge of the comments alleged by L.P. to have been made by B.S. Further, there were no allegations that a distinguishing characteristic of L.P., actual or perceived, motivated any of the conduct, with the possible exception that L.P. should have been perceived as a better fencer but was not accorded that acknowledgement. Cartier, who has no stake in whether there is a finding of HIB, conducted the investigation, but concluded that there was no bullying substantiated. The superintendent recommended this finding to the Board. Thus, the Board argues that it correctly determined that the conduct described and investigated by the Board did not rise to the level of HIB. For the foregoing reasons, I CONCLUDE that the issue of can be decided as a matter of law and that respondent is entitled to dismissal of the Petition of Appeal.

In Evesham, the Appellate Division noted that the offending conduct for purposes of HIB must be motivated by a distinguishing characteristic. It noted that the statutory definition of HIB "does not include all violent or aggressive conduct against a student," but it has consistently required that the perceived motivation be a distinguishing characteristic. Id. at 350-51. The court also provided a summation of what does not constitute HIB:

> Thus, harmful or demeaning conduct motivated only by another reason, for example, a dispute about relationships or personal belongings, or aggressive conduct without identifiable motivation, does not come within the statutory definition of bullying.

The Legislature in the Anti-Bullying Act intentionally included a very open-ended phrase, "any other distinguishing characteristic," to signal that the Act would apply to a broad, unlimited range of distinguishing characteristics, so long as the distinguishing characteristic motivated the bully to harass the targeted student. For example, in J.M.C. ex rel A.C. v. Board of Education of East Brunswick, EDU 04144-12, Initial Decision (November 27, 2012), adopted, Comm'r (January 9, 2013), <http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/>, the Commissioner found that a single incident in which a male student was demeaned by a statement that he "danced like a Girl" was a violation of the Act because it was an act of bullying based on the distinguishing characteristic of the perception of the targeted student's dancing. Furthermore, in C.C. ex rel S.C. v. Board of Education of Jefferson, EDU 10872-14 (April 6, 2015), adopted, Comm'r (May 12, 2015), <http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/>, the Commissioner ruled that a perception that the targeted student was not a good athlete was sufficient to trigger the protection of the Act. The Commissioner noted that "the HIB statute is intended to drive home the principle that cruel words will not be tolerated in a school environment." Similarly, in W.C.L. and A.L. ex rel L.L. v. Board of Education of Tenafly, EDU 03223-12, Initial Decision (November 26, 2012), adopted, Comm'r (January 10, 2013), <http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/>, the Commissioner held that even a single and true comment by a student that the targeted student had dyed her hair because she had head lice violated the statute.

However, courts have addressed situations where an act is not considered to be bullying motivated by a "distinguishing characteristic." In L.B.T. ex rel K.T. v. Board of Education of the Freehold Regional School District, EDU 7894-12 (January 24, 2013), adopted, Comm'r (March 7, 2013), <http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/>, there was a mutual dispute between two students about their respective roles on the swim team. The judge held that if a victim was targeted because of a dispute between the two people involved--such as a relationship falling apart between former friends, a fight over a piece of property, or some form of personal vendetta of one against another--such conduct would not be based on a "distinguishing characteristic" of the victim and would not be a violation of the statute.

The events between L.P. and the other female fencing team members as set forth are not even alleged to have been "motivated either by any actual or perceived characteristic, such as race, color, religion, ancestry, national origin, gender, sexual orientation, gender identity and expression, or a mental, physical or sensory disability, or by any other distinguishing characteristic." N.J.S.A. 18A:37-14. It was reasonable for the Board to conclude that the circumstances, which certainly showed a conflict between L.P. and the girls, did not rise to the level of bullying under the Act, even to the extent that any of the incidents had been corroborated, which they were not. As noted above, a dispute between students such as a relationship falling apart between former friends, a fight over a piece of property, or some form of personal vendetta of one against another is not conduct based on a "distinguishing characteristic" of the victim and, thus, does not constitute a violation of the Act. I understand and appreciate that petitioners might be viewing the matters as constituting "bullying" under a more common place or lay meaning of that term, and there might have even been a clear demonstration of poor sportsmanship, but the Act sets forth a specific legislative definition and regulatory response.

The Board has demonstrated that there are no facts in dispute and that it is entitled to dismissal as a matter of law. Petitioner has not demonstrated entitlement to the relief sought as a matter of law. The Board applied the standard in the law and did so after a thorough and timely investigation, which the Act intends to be undertaken quickly, including interviews of the alleged victim, alleged perpetrator, alleged witnesses, and supervising adults. Therefore, I CONCLUDE that the action of the Board in determining that the conduct does not constitute harassment, intimidation, or bullying within the meaning of the Anti-Bullying Act was not arbitrary, capricious or against the weight of the evidence.

In the Matter of

PATRICK ALGIERI,

STATE-OPERATED SCHOOL DISTRICT OF THE CITY OF NEWARK, IN THE COUNTY OF ESSEX

SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT

The parties involved herein have voluntarily resolved all disputed matters and enter into the following Settlement Agreement (the "Settlement Agreement") that fully disposes of all issues in controversy between teacher PATRICK ALGIERI ("Algieri") and the STATE-OPERATED SCHOOL DISTRICT OF THE CITY OF NEWARK (the "School District"):

WHEREAS Algieri is a tenured teaching staff member employed by the School District as a teacher; and

WHEREAS the State District Superintendent of the School District ("Superintendent") certified tenure charges of unbecoming conduct and other just cause to the Commissioner of Education of New Jersey, captioned In the Matter of Patrick Algieri, State-operated School District of the City of Newark, Essex County ("Tenure Charges"); and the Tenure Charges were assigned Docket No. 142-5/16; and Employee filed an answer opposing the Tenure Charges, and the Commissioner of Education, having reviewed the Tenure Charges and Employee's answer, determined that the Tenure Charges were sufficient, if true, to warrant dismissal or reduction in compensation, and accordingly referred the matter to Arbitrator Howard Edelman ("Arbitrator") for a hearing; and

WHEREAS, because of the uncertainty of the outcome of arbitration as well as the expenditure of resources due to multiple days of hearings with numerous witnesses, and the concern that school personnel will be removed from their educational duties and responsibilities during that time, the Parties wish to resolve this matter in accordance with the terms set forth herein rather than proceed with arbitration; and

WHEREAS the proposed settlement is in the best interest of the Parties and the public because it avoids an uncertain conclusion after protracted and costly proceedings at the expense of the public; and

WHEREAS Algieri has been advised of the Commissioner's duty to refer tenure determinations resulting in loss of position to the State Board of Examiners for possible suspension or revocation of certificate, and he has been advised of the School District's duty to report the resignation of any teaching staff member accused of unbecoming conduct.

NOW, THEREFORE, subject to approval by the Arbitrator, the Parties hereby agree as follows:

1 This Agreement shall be and is subject to final approval by the Arbitrator pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-5.6(c), and shall be effective only upon the School District's receipt of a copy of this Agreement, executed by the Arbitrator to indicate his approval and will become effective only upon approval by the Arbitrator. Counsel for the Parties shall jointly request the Arbitrator's approval of this Agreement and each shall take any and all necessary steps to effectuate dismissal of the Tenure Charges.

2 The effective date of this Settlement Agreement ("Effective Date") shall be the date of the School District's receipt of this Settlement Agreement, approved by the Arbitrator, or the eighth day after the School District's receipt of this Settlement Agreement, executed by Employee, whichever is later, provided that Employee has not exercised his right to rescind this Settlement Agreement in accordance with paragraph 14 below. In the event of disapproval by the Arbitrator or any failure to act on such approval, this Settlement Agreement shall be void and of no effect, and both Parties shall have the right to pursue any and all matters relating to the other, including but not limited to the Tenure Charge.

3. Algieri hereby agrees to resign from his tenured position of employment with the School District, effective June 20, 2016 (the "Resignation Date"). Attached is a copy of Algieri 's signed Letter of Resignation (Exhibit A). Algieri's separation from employment will be deemed a voluntary resignation in good standing. Upon inquiry from any third parties, the School District will only confirm Algieri's employment, position, title, salary and dates of employment

4 Algieri also agrees to withdraw with prejudice any and all claims or suits that he may have previously filed against the School District that remain pending in any and all courts and/or before any and all agencies with the exception of workers compensation claims. This Settlement is intended to be the final resolution of all outstanding matters between the School District and Algieri. Should Algieri fail to submit letters of withdrawal and/or stipulations of dismissal for any such pending claims or suits, this Settlement Agreement will serve as Algieri's formal written notice of withdrawal of those pending claims or suits, except for workers compensation claims.

5. In exchange, the School District shall pay Algieri salary and benefits, at his current rate of pay and in accordance with the terms and conditions of its benefit plans and policies, retroactive to May 11, 2016 through the Resignation Date. Such payment shall include the full amount of salary withheld by the School District and held for Algieri's benefit pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:29-3 as of the Resignation Date. Other than the retroactive salary, withheld salary, and benefits that he receives pursuant to this paragraph, Algieri will not receive any further monies from the School District in exchange for this Settlement Agreement.

6 Algieri understands and acknowledges that the School District intends to report his resignation to the State Board of Examiners in accordance with the requirements of N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-4.4. Aside from such report, the School District agrees that it will not take any action to seek suspension or revocation of Algieri's teaching certification or license and it will not take any position with respect to action by the State Board of Examiners with respect to such suspension or revocation.

7 The School District agrees not to pursue any disciplinary action, including tenure charges of unbecoming conduct and/or other just cause or any action seeking termination of Algieri's employment, so long as this Settlement Agreement remains in effect and is not voided by any court or administrative agency of competent jurisdiction. However, if this Settlement Agreement is voided, the School District retains the right to pursue disciplinary action or any other action against Algieri, including termination of his employment.

8 As of the Resignation Date, all of Algieri's employment rights, including but not limited to salary, insurance coverage, tenure and seniority, will permanently end.

9 Algieri agrees that he will not apply for reemployment with the School District at any time. Specifically, Algieri will be considered to have permanently resigned from his tenured position as a result of this Settlement Agreement. If Algieri does apply for reemployment with the School District and is approved for employment, the terms of this Settlement Agreement shall control and be grounds for immediate termination of Algieri's employment.

10 This Settlement shall not constitute a precedent in any matters involving other employees.

11 Except as noted above, Algieri waives all claims of any nature against the School District with regard to his employment with and/or his separation from the School District including fees, or other monetary relief, with the exception of workers' compensation claims.

12. By entering into this Settlement Agreement, and in exchange for good consideration as set forth in Paragraph 4 and 5 above, the sufficiency of which is hereby acknowledged by the parties, Algieri releases and discharges the School District, the State District Superintendent, its Advisory Board of Education and its Advisory Board members, and any and all other School District officers, employees, representatives, agents, successors and assigns (collectively, the "Released Parties") with respect to all claims or rights that he has or may have against the School District regarding her employment with the School District. This includes without limitation any and all actions, claims, and liabilities of whatsoever kind or character, in law or in equity, now known or unknown, suspected or unsuspected, directly or indirectly related to Algieri's employment with the School District and separation from the School District. It specifically includes, without limitation, all claims which Algieri may have regarding tenure, withholding of increment, discrimination on any basis, any federal or state civil rights law, any alleged violation of the Age Discrimination in Employment Act, as amended; the Older Worker Benefits Protection Act; Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, as amended; Sections 1981 through 1988 of Title 42 of the United States Code; the Civil Rights Act of 1991; the Equal Pay Act; the Americans with Disabilities Act; the Rehabilitation Act; the Family and Medical Leave Act; the Fair Labor Standards Act, the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974, as amended; the Worker Adjustment and Retraining Notification Act; the National Labor Relations Act; the Fair Credit Reporting Act; the Occupational Safety and Health Act; the Uniformed Services Employment and Reemployment Act, the Employee Polygraph Protection Act; the Immigration Reform Control Act, the retaliation provisions of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002; the Federal False Claims Act; the New Jersey Law Against Discrimination; the New Jersey Conscientious Employee Protection Act, the New Jersey Family Leave Act, the New Jersey Wage and Hour Law; the New Jersey Equal Pay Law, the New Jersey Occupational Safety and Health Law; the New Jersey Smokers' Rights Law; the New Jersey Genetic Privacy Act; the New Jersey Fair Credit Reporting Act; New Jersey Wages and Hours Law, unemployment compensations laws, disability benefits laws, the retaliation provisions of the New Jersey Workers' Compensation Law (and including any and all amendments to the above), the United States Constitution, the New Jersey Constitution and/or any other alleged violation of any federal, state or local law, regulation or ordinance, common law and/or contract or implied contract or collective bargaining/contractual claim or tort law or public policy or whistleblower claim, having any bearing whatsoever on her employment by and the termination of his employment with the School District, including, but not limited to, any claim for wrongful discharge, back pay, front pay, vacation pay, sick pay, wage, commission or bonus payment, attorneys fees, costs, and/or future wage loss, except for workers compensation claims. Algieri agrees to save, hold harmless and indemnify the School District for any legal costs and attorneys fees associated with the enforcement of the terms of this Settlement Agreement should enforcement become necessary.

13. Notwithstanding Paragraph 12 of this Settlement Agreement, it is understood and agreed that the parties are not prohibited from communicating with or participating in any administrative proceeding before the United States Department of Labor, the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, or any other federal, state or local law agency. Should any entity, agency commission or person file a charge, action, complaint or lawsuit against the School District based upon any of the above-released claims in Paragraph 12, Algieri agrees not to seek or accept any resulting relief whatsoever.

14. To comply with the Older Workers Benefit Protection Act of 1990, if applicable, this Agreement advises Algieri of the legal requirements of the Act, and fully incorporates the legal requirements by reference into this Settlement Agreement. Accordingly, by executing this Settlement Agreement, Algieri acknowledges that he: (i) fully understands the terms and conditions of this Settlement Agreement; (ii) has consulted with an attorney to review the Settlement Agreement; (iii) specifically waives his right to pursue any current claims he may have under the Age Discrimination in Employment Act; (iv) has been given sufficient time within which to consider this Settlement Agreement; and (v) has seven (7) days from the date of the execution of this Settlement Agreement to revoke it. Algieri understands that he may rescind this Settlement Agreement within seven (7) calendar days of signing it, and such rescission must be in writing and delivered to counsel for the School District either by hand or by certified mail within the seven-day period.

15. The parties respectively acknowledge that counsel has advised them regarding this Settlement Agreement and that each is signing this Settlement Agreement freely and voluntarily, without duress, coercion or pressure from the other party.

16. This Settlement Agreement constitutes the full agreement between the parties, and shall be construed and enforced in accordance with New Jersey law.

17. If any provision or portion of a provision of this Settlement Agreement is held by a court of competent jurisdiction, or determined under applicable federal or state law to be invalid, void, or unenforceable, the remaining provisions or remaining portions of a provision will continue and remain in full force and effect.

18. This Settlement Agreement is subject to final approval by the State District Superintendant of the State-operated School District of the City of Newark and will only become effective upon the approval of the Superintendent. Any disapproval by the Superintendent shall not interfere with the rights of either party to pursue the matter further.

The record, proposed settlement agreement and general release, and Initial Decision issued by the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1, have been reviewed – mindful of the Commissioner's April 22, 2016 determination that the prior settlement agreement did not comply with N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.13, as it was neither signed by the Board's attorney, nor contained a copy of the Board's resolution approving the settlement and designating the Executive Director to sign the settlement agreement on its behalf. Either Dawes or Hope shall be entitled to seek injunctive relief and an award of damages for any such breach.

10. In the event that Hope is contacted for an employment reference regarding Dawes, Hope agrees to give a neutral reference for Dawes (i.e. to/from dates of employment and position held only with no reference to performance or how Dawes' employment ended).

11. The provisions of this Agreement are severable and, if any part is found to be unenforceable, the other portion shall remain fully valid and enforceable. This Agreement shall survive the termination of any arrangements contained herein.

12. This Agreement contains and constitutes the entire understanding and agreement between the parties hereto respecting the subject matter hereof and supersedes and

SYNOPSIS

Petitioner asserted that this matter arose from harassment and inappropriate discipline he allegedly experienced over the last two years of his employment with the respondent school district. Petitioner was employed by the Board from 1992 until November 2013, when he received notice that the Board intended to file tenure charges against him; petitioner subsequently resigned his teaching position with the district. In June 2014, the petitioner filed a complaint against the school district with the U.S. Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (EEOC), after which he reviewed his personnel file and discovered that the tenure charges had not been filed. The EEOC closed its file on petitioner's case in April 2015, after having been unable to conclude that a violation had occurred. Petitioner subsequently filed the within petition on December 17, 2015, seeking "closure" through monetary relief, apologies and an acknowledgment that he had been treated unfairly. The Board filed a motion to dismiss, asserting that the petition was untimely pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(i).

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(i) provides that a petitioner must file an appeal no later than the 90th day from the date of receipt of the notice of a final order, ruling or other action by the board of education, which is the subject of the requested contested case hearing; in the within case, petitioner received notice that tenure charges were being filed against him on or about November 15, 2013; consequently, petitioner resigned his employment; in July 2014, petitioner discovered that the tenure charges had never been filed; if the petitioner had been challenging the employment action that was taken against him or wished to rescind his resignation, the ninety-day time limit would have lapsed – at the very latest – in October 2014; petitioner did not file his appeal until December 17, 2015. The ALJ concluded that the petition was untimely filed pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(i); accordingly, the ALJ granted the Board's motion to dismiss, and dismissed the petition.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurred with the ALJ's determination that the petition was time-barred under N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(i). Accordingly, the Initial Decision of the OAL was adopted as the final decision in this matter, and the petition was dismissed.

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Respondent, Cumberland Regional School District Board of Education (District) has filed a Motion to Dismiss in Lieu of Answer asserting that the petition was not timely filed pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(i)

The original Petition of Appeal was filed with the Department of Education on December 17, 2015. The Department of Education transmitted the matter to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), where it was filed on January 8, 2016. N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15; N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13. The parties filed several briefs and the record closed on June 7, 2016.

FACTUAL DISCUSSION

This matter arises from what petitioner describes as harassment and inappropriate discipline he experienced over the last two years of his employment with the District. On or about November 15, 2013 petitioner, a teacher employed by the District since 1992, received tenure charges that the District intended to file against him. As a result of these charges, petitioner resigned his position. In June 2014, petitioner filed a complaint against the District with the U.S. Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (EEOC). In July 2014, petitioner reviewed his personnel file and discovered that the tenure charges had not been filed. On April 6, 2015 the EEOC closed its file having been unable to conclude that a violation had occurred. In his petition, petitioner does not seek reinstatement of his teaching position, rather he seeks monetary relief, apologies and acknowledgment that he was treated unfairly. Petitioner claims the petition in about "closure".

LEGAL ANALYSIS AND CONCLUSION

In support of the motion, respondent contends that petitioner was aware of possible claims against the District when he filed the EEOC complaint. N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(i) provides that a petition against a school District must be filed within ninety days from the date of the last allegation in the petition. Moreover, there is no reason for relaxation of the ninety-day time limit.

Petitioner maintains that he is not a lawyer but he is certain that the ninety-day time limit only applies in Civil Court and not Administrative Court. He feels that since the tenure charges were never filed, that they must have been falsified.

N.J.A.C. 1:12-5, governing motions for summary decision, permits early disposition of a case before the case is heard if, based on the papers and discovery which have been filed, it can be decided "that there is no genuine issue as to any material fact challenged and that the moving party is entitled to prevail as a matter of law." N.J.A.C. 1:12-5(b). The provisions of N.J.A.C. 1:12-5 mirror the language of R. 4:46-2 of the New Jersey Court Rules governing motions for summary judgment. To survive summary decision, the opposing party must show that "there is a genuine issue which can only be determined in an evidentiary proceeding." Ibid. Failure to do so entitles the moving party to summary decision. Brill v. Guardian Life Ins. Co. of Am., 142 N.J. 520 (1995).

Moreover, even if the non-moving party comes forward with some evidence, this forum must grant summary decision if the evidence is "so one-sided that [the moving party] must prevail as a matter of law." Id. at 536. This tribunal is required to do "the same type of evaluation, analysis or sifting of evidential materials as required by Rule 4:37-2(b) in light of the burden of persuasion that applies if the matter goes to trial." Id. at 539-540. Like the New Jersey Supreme Court's standard for summary judgment, summary decision is designed to "liberalize the standards so as to permit summary [decision] in a larger number of cases" due to the perception that we live in "a time of great increase in litigation and one in which many meritless cases are filed." Id. at 539 (citation omitted).

There is no genuine issue as to any material fact in this matter in relation to the time limit in N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(i). The material facts are as follows:

1. Petitioner was employed by respondent from 1992 until he resigned in November, 2013.
2. On or about November 15, 2013 petitioner received notice that the District intended to file tenure charges against him.
3. Petitioner filed a complaint with the EEOC on June 24, 2014.
4. Petitioner reviewed his personnel records maintained by the District in July 2014 and discovered that the tenure charges were never filed.
5. On April 6, 2015 the EEOC closed its file having been unable to conclude that a violation had occurred.
6. Petitioner filed his petition with the Commissioner of Education on December 17, 2015.

The applicable regulation is N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(i), which provides in pertinent part as follows:

> The petitioner shall file a petition no later than the 90th day from the date of receipt of the notice of a final order, ruling or other action by the District board of education, individual party, or agency, which is the subject of the requested contested case hearing.

The ninety-day limitation period has been upheld by the Supreme Court of New Jersey as "a fair and reasonably-necessary requirement for the proper and efficient resolution of disputes under the school laws." Kaprow v. Board of Educ. of Berkeley Tp., 131 N.J. 572, 582 (1993). The Court further stated as follows:

> The limitations period provides a measure of repose, an essential element in the proper and efficient administration of the school laws. It stabilizes the relationship between the teachers and the administration. Because education disputes frequently involve conflicting claims to one teaching position, the remedy is to award the prevailing party the > position with back pay. The limitation period gives school Districts the security of knowing that administrative decisions regarding the operation of the school cannot be challenged after ninety days. Ibid.

In this case, the petitioner received notice that tenure charges were being filed against him on or about November 15, 2016. As a result of receiving notice that tenure charges were being filed, petitioner resigned his employment. He later discovered in July, 2014 that the tenure charges were never filed. Even if petitioner were challenging the employment action that was taken against him or wished to rescind his resignation, the ninety-day time limit would have lapsed, at the very latest, sometime in October, 2014. As petitioner did not file his petition until December 17, 2015, I CONCLUDE that the petition in this matter was not filed within the ninety-day time limit set forth in N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(i).

Rules may be relaxed where strict adherence thereto may be deemed inappropriate or unnecessary or may result in injustice. N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.16. An example would be where there is a compelling public interest. DeMaio v. New Providence Board of Education, 96 N.J.A.R.2d (EDU) 449, 453. N.J.A.C. 12:20-3 provides, in pertinent part, that a late appeal shall nevertheless be considered if the filing was delayed for good cause. Good Cause is defined as where the delay was due to circumstances that were not reasonably foreseeable or were beyond the petitioner's control. N.J.A.C. 12:20-3(i). Here, petitioner knew or had reason to know that his employment was being effected in November 2013. He discovered in July 2014 that tenure charges were never filed against him. Petitioner has not advanced a compelling public interest or good cause sufficient to relax the ninety-day time limit in N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(i), and there does not appear to be any reason to do so.

Based upon the above, I CONCLUDE that petitioner failed to file his petition within the ninety-day time limit in N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(i) and that therefore the petition in this matter should be dismissed. Since the petition has not been filed in a timely manner, there is no reason to consider the merits of respondent's argument that petitioner has failed to implicate a dispute arising under the school laws.

Accordingly, it is ORDERED that Respondent's motion is GRANTED and the petition filed in this matter is DISMISSED.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

SYNOPSIS

Petitioner appealed the decision of the respondent, the Union County Educational Services Commission (Commission), to remove him from his position as a Food Services Teacher as the result of a reduction in force (RIF). Petitioner filed his appeal on September 19, 2014, alleging that his RIF was arbitrary, capricious and unreasonable. On April 15, 2015, petitioner filed a motion to amend the petition to include a seniority claim stemming from the same set of circumstances, which alleged that respondent violated his seniority rights under N.J.S.A. 18A:28-10 when it assigned a Commission employee to teach a food services class that petitioner was entitled to teach by virtue of his seniority. The Commission thereafter filed a motion for summary decision, which was opposed by the petitioner.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:28-9, a local board of education has the authority to reduce its teaching force for reasons of economy; in this case, the Commission abolished petitioner's position in good faith, in order to save money; because petitioner did not possess the credentials to necessary to teach special education students, there were too few students and a lack of full-time duties to justify petitioner's continued employment; however, the Commission's argument that one of the reasons it terminated petitioner's position was because he did not have the necessary credentials for teaching special education students is somewhat specious as the record shows that petitioner was still teaching special education students after the Commission had notice of his lack of credentials; nevertheless, the petitioner did not hold the proper credentials to teach special education students, and the respondent therefore had the right to remove him from that assignment. The ALJ concluded that the Commission reasonably determined that abolishing petitioner's position would achieve financial savings without any detrimental impact to the students or the school's programs; accordingly, the Commission's decision to abolish petitioner's position was not arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable under N.J.S.A. 18A:28-9. Further, the ALJ found that petitioner's motion to dismiss was filed almost a year after the matter was transmitted to the OAL and, if allowed, would cause undue prejudice to the respondent; accordingly, the ALJ denied petitioner's motion to amend his petition under N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.7.

The Commissioner concurred with the ALJ's conclusion that the Commission's decision to abolish petitioner's position as the result of a RIF was made in good faith, and was not arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable. However, the Commissioner found that – with respect to petitioner's motion to amend the petition – the ALJ abused her discretion under N.J.A.C. 1:1-6.2 when she denied petitioner's request to amend his petition. The Commissioner found that the motion to amend was filed seven months after the matter was transmitted to the OAL – not a year after, as the ALJ asserted. Further, the record does not support the ALJ's assertion that the granting of the motion to amend would result in undue prejudice. Accordingly, the Commissioner granted petitioner's motion to amend, and remanded the matter to the OAL for a determination on whether the petitioner is entitled to a position with the Commission by virtue of his seniority rights.

| SERGIO CALAFIORE, | : | |
| PETITIONER, | : | |
| V. | : | COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION |
| UNION COUNTY EDUCATIONAL SERVICES COMMISSION, UNION COUNTY, | : | DECISION |
| RESPONDENT. | : | |

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed, as have the exceptions filed pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4 by the petitioner, Sergio Calafiore, and the Union County Educational Services Commission's (Commission) reply thereto. In this matter, the petitioner alleges that the Commission's decision to abolish his position as a result of a reduction in force was arbitrary, capricious and unreasonable.

The petitioner's exceptions substantially reiterated the substance of his submissions at the OAL, recasting the arguments therein to support the contention that the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) erroneously granted summary decision in favor of the Commission. Specifically, the petitioner maintains that the ALJ wrongfully found that the Commission's decision to abolish his food-services instructor position was not arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable under N.J.S.A. 18A:28-9. The petitioner also takes exception to the ALJ's order denying his motion to amend the petition to include a claim that the Commission also violated his seniority rights when it employed another less senior teacher to instruct a food services class. Therefore, the petitioner asserts that the ALJ erroneously dismissed the petition. In reply, the Commission also reiterated the positions advanced in its submissions at the OAL, stressing that the ALJ properly granted its motion for summary decision and denied the petitioner's motion to amend his position.

Upon a comprehensive review of the record in this matter, the Commissioner concurs with the ALJ – for the reasons set forth in the Initial Decision – that the Commission's decision to abolish the petitioner's position as a result of a reduction in force was not arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable. The Commissioner finds the petitioner's exceptions unpersuasive, largely reflecting arguments previously raised before the ALJ and taken into account by her in determining that the Commission acted in good faith, and abolished the petitioner's position for valid economic reasons.

With respect to the petitioner's motion to amend the petition, the Commissioner finds that the ALJ abused her discretion under N.J.A.C. 1:1-6.2 when she denied the petitioner's request to amend his petition. Pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-6.2, once a case is transmitted to the OAL, "pleadings may be freely amended when, in the judge's discretion, an amendment would be in the interest of efficiency, expediency and the avoidance of over-technical pleading requirements and would not create undue prejudice." In the Initial Decision, the ALJ found that allowing the petition to be amended would cause undue prejudice to the respondent because discovery was complete; the respondent filed a motion for summary decision on the original petition; and "it would be highly prejudicial to respondent to have to address a new claim for relief when it did not have any notice of it for over a year." (Initial Decision at 11). Although there may be cases where a petitioner's request to amend a petition seven months after the matter is transmitted would result in undue prejudice, the rational for the undue prejudice to the Commission stated in the Initial Decision is completely inconsistent with the record.

This matter was transmitted to the OAL on September 19, 2014, and on April 15, 2015, the petitioner filed a motion to amend the petition to include a seniority claim stemming from the same set of circumstances that were detailed in the original petition, i.e., the abolishment of his position as a result of a reduction in force.[1] Importantly, when the petitioner filed the motion to amend the petition in April 2015, there was no outstanding motion for summary decision as the Commission did not file its motion for summary decision until June 30, 2015.[2] Additionally, the Commission concedes in its reply exceptions that it was on notice as early as November 2014 that the petitioner claimed another Commission employee was teaching a food services class that the petitioner was entitled to teach by virtue of his seniority.[3] Therefore, the ALJ wrongfully denied the petitioner's motion to amend the petition to include his seniority claim.[4] In the interest of "efficiency" and "the avoidance of over-technical pleading requirements" the two claims that stem from the same set of circumstances should have been simultaneously adjudicated at the OAL. N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(i). Contrary to the Commission's arguments, the 90-day rule contained in N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(i) does not limit the ability to amend a petition outside of 90 days, as pleadings may be freely amended at the Judge's discretion as long

[1] Despite the undisputed procedural history, the ALJ states that the motion to amend the petition was filed nearly a year after the matter was transmitted to the OAL, when in fact it was actually filed seven months after the matter was transmitted.

[2] It also appears from the record that discovery was still ongoing in April 2014.

[3] According to the Commission, petitioner's counsel contacted the Commission's counsel on November 18, 2014 and raised the seniority issue, and the parties exchanged a series of correspondence regarding the matter.

[4] Under N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.2, with the exception of specific motions not at issue here, "all motions shall be decided within 30 days of service of the last permitted response". Yet in the instant matter, the ALJ did not decide the petitioner's motion to amend the petition – which was filed in April 2015 – until she issued the Initial Decision on June 16, 2016.

as the amendment does not create undue prejudice. See, T.F.S., on behalf of minor child, C.M.S. v. Board of Education of the Township of South Brunswick, Middlesex County, et al., Commissioner Decision No. 400-05, decided November 2, 2005; Roberts v. Keansburg Board of Education, 5 N.J.A.R. 208 (1983).

Accordingly, the petitioner's motion to amend the petition is hereby granted and this matter is remanded to the OAL for a determination as to whether the petitioner is entitled to a position with the Commission by virtue of his seniority rights.

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Petitioner, Sergio Calafiore, (petitioner or Calafiore) appeals the decision of respondent, Union County Educational Services Commission, Union County

(respondent or Commission) that removed him from his position due to a reduction in force (RIF). Petitioner alleges that his RIF was arbitrary, unreasonable and capricious.

After the filing of the appeal with Department of Education, the matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) on September 19, 2014, for hearing as a contested case on September 19, 2014. Pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-17, petitioner moved to amend his petition to include a claim that respondent violated his seniority rights under N.J.S.A. 18A:28-10 and N.J.S.A. 6A:32-5.1. On July 2, 2015, respondent moved for summary decision and petitioner filed a brief in opposition to said motion on July 22, 2015.

FACTS

Based on the record, I FIND the following FACTS:

Petitioner was employed by the Commission as a Food Services Teacher. The Commission provides educational programs and services for twenty-one member school districts. It operates two alternative high schools and three schools for students with disabilities. Additionally, it directs an educational program at the Juvenile Detention Center, and at the time of petitioner's employment, it also directed a Special Needs Career Academy within the Union County Vo-Tech School. The Commission provides State-mandated services to over 4000 students enrolled in seventy non-public schools. These programs include: Compensatory Education, Supplemental Instruction, Speech-Language Therapy, English as a Second Language (ESL) Instruction, Child Study Team services, Home Instruction, and School Nursing Services. (RB.)[1]

Petitioner was hired by the Commission in September 1993, and achieved tenure in September 1997. He also served as a Food Services Manager for the Commission prior to November 2013. As Food Services Manager, petitioner oversaw the procurement, preparation, and delivery of meals for schools operated by the Commission. In addition to his salary, petitioner was also paid a "cleaning stipend."

Petitioner's instructional duties involved teaching students from several different schools [Hillcrest Academy North, Hillcrest Academy South, and Lamberts Mill Academy] in the mornings. The students from Hillcrest Academy North and South are general education students, while the students from Lamberts Mill Academy are special education students. Prior to November 2013, only students from Hillcrest Academy North and South attended petitioner's program. However the Superintendent asserts that petitioner's program did not have a formalized program and did not follow a particular curriculum. The students who attended only received "community service" hours rather than course credit.

Prior to November 2013, petitioner also taught special education students at Westlake school. Westlake students had access to the original kitchen space in the cafeteria in the morning and afternoon, and the same students would attend these classes and receive course credits.

Early in November 2013, the Commission's principals and the superintendent began researching petitioner's qualifications, specifically whether he had the required certifications to allow him to continue in his teaching position. It was learned that petitioner only possessed a Certification in "Teacher of Productions, Personal, or Service Occupations: Food Services" without any other certifications required to teach handicapped special education students. The Superintendent was advised by the State Department of Education that petitioner's teaching program/curriculum did not have any specific goals or objectives for Hillcrest Academy North and Hillcrest Academy South students, contrary to the mandate of the IDEA.

On about October 28, 2013, petitioner was involved in an incident with a student where he had words with the student which led to him grabbing and lifting up the chair that the student was sitting on, causing the student to fall to the floor. Tenure charges were filed and petitioner was removed from his teaching and Food Service Manager duties.

On December 11, 2013, the Board approved the filing of "conduct unbecoming" and "corporal punishment" charges against petitioner. Thereafter, on December 16, 2013, he was suspended without pay pending resolution of the tenure charges. The Commission contracted with, Maschio's, an outside company for food services. Maschio's utilized the cafeteria space that was previously occupied by petitioner. Maschio's proved to be more cost-efficient than paying petitioner's annual teaching salary and additional compensation.

During petitioner's suspension, the Commission explored expanding its programs to start a formal culinary program, but found that it lacked sufficient space. The school Business Administrator, the Superintendent and a Principal toured other buildings within Hillcrest Academy to search for an appropriate space to house a culinary program but ultimately decided not to lease additional space.

In February 2014, the parties settled the tenure charges against petitioner and an arbitrator approved the settlement on February 24, 2014. The settlement terms included, inter alia, that petitioner accepted a forty-five-day suspension without pay, and the following:

> It is further understood and agreed that Mr. Calafiore's employment with the Commission will be in the position of Teacher. He will no longer be the Food Services Manager and will not receive a food service stipend or cleaning stipend during the regular school year or in the summer.

On February 24, 2014, State Department of Education notified the Commission that the holder of a food service endorsement could not teach special education students without also possessing a teacher of the handicapped or teacher of students with disabilities endorsement. (Exhibit A.) Consequently, petitioner would need to be supervised by someone who held a teacher who had the required credentials.

On February 25, 2014, petitioner returned from his suspension. On that date, a "re-entry meeting" was held between petitioner, the superintendent, and the principal to discuss his duties going forward. In accord with the settlement agreement, petitioner was not returned to food service duties. The Commission decided to continue to use Maschio's to prepare student breakfasts and lunches.

As Maschio's was utilizing the Commission's cafeteria, petitioner was no longer able to utilize the cafeteria for food services instruction in the morning. Petitioner was assigned to an "activities of daily living" (ADL) room for his morning students. This location was later determined to be an unsuitable setting for food services instruction. Further, the ADL room was inadequate due to the space and lack of ventilation, and the classroom was not conducive to teaching/learning culinary arts, but instead was designed to help prepare students learn activities of daily living skills, such as, sweeping, vacuuming, table setting, bed making, and other household chores.

Petitioner's utilization of the ADL room also precluded staff from Westlake and Lamberts Mill Academy for utilizing the room, for ADL, counseling and health and Spanish classes. The Commission determined that it would not conduct additional Food Services Instruction classes in the ADL room following the 2014 spring semester.

Thereafter, the Commission attempted to formalize the program for students who attended petitioner's morning class. Westlake students were no longer attending petitioner's morning class upon his reinstatement. Students from the Commission's three other schools who attended the morning class "resisted" a formalized schedule and were not attending regularly. Although, petitioner continued to conduct a class in the ADL room from 9:00 a.m. to 12:15 p.m., there was not a consistent number of students attending his morning session. Moreover, those students who did attend, no longer received "community service" credits or academic credits for their attendance.

Yet another obstacle was the number of students in petitioner's class. During the suspension, a Westlake student who was in the petitioner's afternoon class dropped out of the class. Her withdrawal from the course resulted in petitioner only having four Westlake students in the afternoon class. It was determined that another teacher was teaching eight Westlake students in her spring 2014 class. That class focused on life skills, such as meal preparation, financial literacy, socialization, laundry, and other household chores. The teacher of that class possessed home economics and special education endorsements. Since there was a room for a total of twelve students in that class, the Commission determined that it could place four additional Westlake students in the class.

Students from Hillcrest Academy North, Hillcrest Academy South, and Lamberts Mill Academy also had the option to enroll in alternate educational facilities, including a "culinary arts" program at Union County Vocational Technical High School. At least one Lamberts Mill Academy student enrolled in the Union County Vocational Technical program. Hillcrest North and South pupils are from the City of Elizabeth and as such have the option of attending a similar culinary program at Elizabeth High School.

In light of petitioner's lack of the requisite teacher of handicapped certification to teach classified students, declining enrollment in the number of pupils attending his classes, and the lack of adequate kitchen space to conduct his morning class, the Commission decided to abolish his position. Thus, on May 7, 2014, the Commission voted to abolish the Food Services Instruction at the Vocational Exchange Program and to eliminate the position of Food Services Teacher, effective July 1, 2014. (Exhibit C.) On June 4, 2014, the Commission voted to formally terminate petitioner's employment with the Commission. Petitioner filed a retirement application with the Division of Pensions and Benefits, effective November 1, 2014.

DUSCUSSION, FINDINGS AND CONCLUSIONS

At issue is whether Commission decision to abolish petitioner's position as a Food Services teacher was arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable under N.J.S.A. 18A:28-9.

It is well established that a Board of Education may reduce the number of its teaching staff members whenever in the judgment of the Board, it is advisable to abolish such position for reasons of economy, or due to a reduction in the number of pupils or due to a change in the administrative organization of the district or upon other good cause. N.J.S.A. 18A:28-9. The Court so recognized this fact in Maywood Board of Education v. Maywood Education Association, 168 N.J. Super. 45, 55 (App. Div.), cert. denied, 81 N.J. 292 (1979), where it held, "reduction in force, whether tenured or non-tenured teachers, if done for reasons of economy, is entirely within the authority of the board. The relevant statutory provisions so ordains."

On point on this issue is the case of Impey v. Board of Education of Borough of Shrewsbury, 142 N.J. 388 (1995) where the board of education, for economic reasons, entered into a contract with a county Educational Service Commission (ESC) to provide speech-correction services for students. The board abolished the permanent part-time position and terminated the employment of a tenured part-time speech correctionist. The part-time speech correctionist's annual salary was slightly more than $20,000, and the board agreed to pay the ESC $8,000 to provide the equivalent speech correction services. As a result of the subcontracting arrangement with the ESC, the board saved approximately $12,000.

The speech correctionist filed an appeal claiming that the board's action violated her tenure, seniority, and re-employment rights. The New Jersey Supreme Court noted that courts have recognized that a local board of education has the authority to reduce its teaching force as long as that reduction is genuinely "for reasons of economy." Id. at 398. The court concluded that the board's decision to abolish the speech correctionist's position resulted in a more economical delivery of those services in the district. It determined that the board's sole motive in contracting with the Monmouth County ESC, and in abolishing petitioner's position, had been to save money and therefore, was in compliance with N.J.S.A. 18A:28-9.

Nevertheless, any RIF is subject to the procedural safeguards set forth in State's Tenure Law, that provides district school teachers with some measure of security in the ranks they hold. See Viemeister v. Prospect Park, Passaic Cty. Bd. of Educ., 5 N.J. Super. 215, 218 (Ap. Div. 1949). Thus, this matter is guided by the Commission's right to engage in RIF for reasons of economy and the right of the teacher to be free from pretextual decisions of the Board.

Here, petitioner alleges that the respondent's decision to abolish the Food Services Instruction program and to eliminate the Teacher of Food Services position was arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable under N.J.S.A. 18A:28-9 for the following reasons: 1) that the programs at issue, the new Food Service Program, was highly successful; 2) that the lack of enrollment in the old food service program was caused by limiting enrollment in the program strictly to Westlake students; 3) that by combining the Pre-Employment Training Services program, (P.E.T.S., a component of the old food service program) with the SAVE (Social Academic Vocational Education) program, students were forbidden from enrolling in the old Food Service Program; and 4) because he had no difficulty in working in the ADL classroom, and that additional space was available to sufficiently run the new Food Service Program both within the existing building and off premises, but were not adequately explored or considered by the Commission. (PB at 4, 5.)[2]

Respondent counters even if petitioner was in fact able to substantiate them, the aforementioned factors would be permissible reasons, thus not "arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable" for abolishing his position pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:28-9.

I FIND that the Commission abolished the petitioner's position in good faith because it determined that Maschio's was more cost effective in providing the students' with breakfast and lunch than continuing to employ the petitioner. See, Impey, supra, 142 N.J. 388. I further FIND that because petitioner did not have credentials to teach special education students, there existed a lack of students and a lack of full-time duties for the petitioner. Moreover as Maschio's was utilizing the kitchen space to prepare food, there was a lack of sufficient space petitioner to conduct food services instruction. All of these factors lead to the RIF.

I FIND that the reduced number of pupils in petitioner's class may have been the result of the new program. However, even if the lack of enrollment was a result of enrollment restrictions implemented by the Commission, it does not follow that its decision to abolish petitioner's position was arbitrary. Indeed, I am persuaded that the respondent acted in good faith when it restricted students from enlisting in two similar programs.

I further FIND that there was a lack of enrollment in petitioner's classes because he could no longer teach special education students. However, it is noted that the record supports that petitioner taught special education students from Lamberts Mill Academy as part of the new food service program and also taught special education students from Westlake in his afternoon session as part of the old food service program. Therefore, the Commission's argument that one of the reasons it terminated petitioner's position was because he did not have credentials to teach special education students is somewhat specious since petitioner was still teaching such students after the Commission had notice of his lack of credentials. Nevertheless, the fact remains that petitioner did not hold the proper credentials to teach the special education students, thus the respondent had the right to remove him from teaching special education students.

I FIND and CONCLUDE that the Commission reasonably determined that abolishing the position would achieve financial savings without any detrimental impact to the students or to the school's programs. It is significant to note here that many students were not receiving any credit for attending petitioner's class. Therefore, I CONCLUDE that respondent's decision to abolish petitioner's position was not arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable under N.J.S.A. 18A:28-9.

The remaining issue is whether petitioner's motion to amend the petition pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.7, to include a claim that Commission violated his seniority rights under N.J.S.A. 18A:28-10 and N.J.S.A. 6A:32-5.1 should be granted. The relevant regulation, N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.7 provides:

> (a) Prior to the transmittal of any matter to the OAL, the Commissioner may order the amendment of any petition or answer, or any petitioner may amend the petition, and any respondent may amend the answer; provided, however, that once an answer or other responsive pleading is filed, an amendment to a petition may be made only with the consent of each adverse party or by leave of the Commissioner upon written application.
> (b) Following transmittal to the OAL, motions to amend a petition or answer shall be filed with and determined by the OAL in accordance with applicable rules of the OAL.
>
> N.J.A.C. 1:1-6.2 states that:
>
> (a) Unless precluded by law or constitutional principle, pleadings may be freely amended when, in the judge's discretion, an amendment would be in the interest of efficiency, expediency and the avoidance of over-technical pleading requirements and would not create undue prejudice.
> (b) A judge in granting pleading amendments may permit a brief continuance to allow an opposing party additional preparation time.

Petitioner filed the motion to amend on April 15, 2015. The underlying petition was transmitted to the OAL on September 19, 2014, and the respondent filed a Motion for Summary Decision on July 2, 2015. As noted above, N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.7, states that parties are free to amend their pleading prior to transmittal of the matter to OAL. Once the matter is transmitted to the OAL, motions to amend a petition or answer shall be filed with and determined by the OAL in accordance with applicable rules of the OAL.

I FIND that since the motion to amend was filed almost a year after the matter was transmitted to the OAL, the petition cannot be amended under N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.7.

N.J.A.C. 1:1-6.2 confers a judge with discretion to allow an amendment when it in the interest of efficiency, expediency, and where it would not create undue prejudice. Petitioner has not presented any argument as to how it would be efficient or non-prejudicial if the claim of relief pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:28-10 and N.J.S.A. 6A:32-5.1 is added to the Petition. Indeed, I FIND and CONCLUDE that the amendment, if allowed, would cause undue prejudice to the respondent as both sides have completed discovery. Additionally, the respondent has filed a Motion for Summary Decision on the merits of the original petition. It would be highly prejudicial to respondent to have to address a new claim for relief when it did not have any notice of it for over a year.

Therefore, petitioner's Motion to Amend his petition is denied.

In this case on remand, petitioner challenged the District's decision to terminate her employment in August 2014, contending that she had earned tenure in her secretarial or clerical position in accordance with N.J.S.A. 18A:17-2. Petitioner also alleged that the individual who terminated her employment – the "Chief Talent Officer" – had not been appropriately delegated the authority to make personnel determinations on behalf of the State District Superintendant. In an Initial Decision issued by the OAL on December 9, 2015, the ALJ found that the petitioner had earned tenure under N.J.S.A. 18A:17-2, and ordered the District to reinstate her to a full-time position; petitioner's allegation regarding the individual who terminated her employment was not addressed in the December 9, 2015 Initial Decision. The Commissioner rejected this Initial Decision, finding, inter alia, that petitioner could not have earned tenure under N.J.S.A. 18A:17-2 because she did not satisfy the conditions of the statute, as she was employed in her unclassified title for less than the three years required to accrue tenure under Title 18A. The Commissioner remanded the matter to the OAL for a determination regarding whether petitioner's termination was carried out by an appropriately delegated individual.

On remand, the ALJ found, inter alia, that: pursuant to *N.J.S.A.*18A:7A-35(d), a State-Appointed Superintendent for a school district under full State intervention has the authority to perform duties and possess such powers as are deemed appropriate by the Commissioner; pursuant to *N.J.S.A.*18A:7A-42(b), a State-Appointed Superintendent "may delegate to subordinate officers or employees in the district any of his powers or duties as he may deem desirable to be exercised under his supervision and direction"; it is inconceivable, in a district as large as Newark, that a superintendent would micro-manage every personnel decision; within the Newark school district, it is evident that the position of Chief Talent Officer not only reports to the Superintendent, but is charged with providing leadership in human resource matters, including recruitment and selection of personnel, workforce planning and vacancy projections, evaluation/performance management, and strategic labor relations; moreover, the District contended that what was delegated to the Chief Talent Officer was the responsibility to communicate with District employees regarding their employment as well as to hire and fire non-civil service employees; as the party seeking relief herein, the petitioner bears the burden of proof; petitioner provided no evidence to sustain her claim that the State-Appointed Superintendent failed to delegate authority to terminate her to the Chief Talent Officer; and all un-refuted evidence supports the District's claim of proper delegation of authority. The ALJ concluded that petitioner's termination was not in violation of the statutory provisions regarding the authority of a State-Appointed Superintendent, including the authority to delegate duties; accordingly, the ALJ ordered the petition dismissed.

Upon comprehensive review, the Commissioner concurred with the findings and conclusions of the ALJ, and adopted the Initial Decision as the final decision in this matter. The petition was dismissed.

| PETITIONER, | : | |
| V. | : | COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION |
| STATE-OPERATED SCHOOL DISTRICT OF THE CITY OF NEWARK, ESSEX COUNTY, | : | DECISION ON REMAND |
| RESPONDENT. | : | |

The record of this matter, the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) dated December 9, 2015, and the subsequent Initial Decision of the OAL dated June 20, 2016 (issued pursuant to the Commissioner's remand) have been reviewed. The petitioner's exceptions – filed pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4 – and the District's reply thereto were also considered by the Commissioner.

In her exceptions, petitioner essentially recasts and reiterates the arguments made in her submissions at the OAL, arguing that the State District Superintendent never specifically delegated the authority to hire and fire employees to the District's Chief Talent Officer. Petitioner emphasizes that the job description for the Chief Talent Officer and the Chief Talent Officer's certification fail to demonstrate that the State District Superintendant ever made such a delegation. Accordingly, the petitioner maintains that the decision to terminate her was invalid.

In reply, the District emphasizes that – as set forth in the certifications submitted by the State-District Superintendent and interim Chief Talent Officer – the Superintendent delegated the authority to make employment determinations to the Chief Talent Officer, consistent with statutory authority. Further, the District points out that the petitioner did not provide any rebuttal evidence to the District's certifications; as such, the Initial Decision should be adopted.

Upon a comprehensive review of the record in this matter, the Commissioner concurs with the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) that the State District Superintendent had the authority to make employment determinations pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:7A-42(a)(1), and that she delegated that authority to the Chief Talent Officer in accordance with N.J.S.A. 18A:7A-42(b). Considering the certifications of the interim Chief Talent Officer and State District Superintendent which were submitted by the District – and the lack of evidence by petitioner to refute them – the Commissioner agrees with the ALJ that the petitioner failed to sustain her burden of proving that the Chief Talent Officer lacked authority to make personnel decisions.

Accordingly, the Initial Decision is adopted – for the reasons expressed therein – and the petition is hereby dismissed.

IT IS SO ORDERED.*

BEFORE JESSE H. STRAUSS, ALJ t/a:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Petitioner, Brenda Miller, contends that the State-Operated School District of the City of Newark (District) improperly terminated her despite her tenure and seniority while retaining persons who were non-tenured and/or were tenured but with less seniority than her in positions for which she had acquired tenure and seniority. She also contends that the person who terminated her had not properly had such duties delegated to her by the State-Appointed Superintendent.

The District contends that Miller was an unclassified employee within a school district that adheres to the Civil Service Act. As such, she is not entitled to tenure or seniority under the Tenure Act (Title 18A); rather she is afforded only those rights conferred by the Civil Service Act (Title 11A).

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On October 10, 2014, petitioner filed a Petition of Appeal. After the District filed a timely Answer, the Department of Education's Office of Controversies & Disputes transmitted the matter, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to –15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to –13, to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), which filed it for hearing and determination as a contested case on November 26, 2014. After two adjournments requested by the parties, I received a Motion for Summary Decision from the District on August 4, 2015. Miller filed papers in opposition. On December 9, 2015, I issued an Initial Decision Summary Decision ordering that the District reinstate Miller to a full-time position or assignment as is appropriate to her tenure. I did not address the issue of whether the person who terminated her had the proper delegation of authority from the State-Appointed Superintendent. On March 8, 2016, the Commissioner issued a Decision wherein he rejected the Initial Decision and ruled that Miller had not earned tenure. He remanded the matter back to the OAL to determine whether Miller's termination was done by an individual to whom said duties had not been appropriately delegated, in which event, Miller argues, her termination would be void pursuant to law.

Both parties requested to submit on the remanded count on filed papers rather than participate in a plenary hearing. The District filed its papers on May 27, 2016, and Miller filed on June 1. The District filed a reply brief on June 17, 2016, at which time the record closed.

FACTUAL DISCUSSION

On August 15, 2014, the District's Chief Talent Officer was Vanessa Rodriguez. Cami Anderson was the State-Appointed Superintendent. Neither is still associated with the District. Larisa Shambaugh assumed Rodriguez's duties around January 19, 2016, under the title of Interim Chief Talent Officer. Christopher Cerf, the current State-Appointed Superintendent for the District, replaced Anderson on July 8, 2015. On November 18, 2013, Rodriguez advised Miller that, as a result of her reassignment from her position of Secretarial Assistant Typist Confidential to that of Confidential Assistant, her employment status changed from non-instructional (governed by NJ Civil Service Commission) to unaffiliated. (Shambaugh Cert. Ex. 1.) On August 15, 2014, Rodriguez, using Newark Public School Talent Office letterhead bearing the name Cami Anderson as State District Superintendent and Vanessa Rodriguez as Chief Talent Officer, informed Miller by a hand-delivered letter that "[a]s an unaffiliated, at-will employee, the Newark Public Schools (the 'District') is exercising its right to terminate your services as a Confidential Assistant, effective the close of business Friday, August 15, 2014." (Shambaugh Cert. Ex. 2.)

Although the District did not submit a specific job description for Chief Talent Officer, Shambaugh provided the job posting from December 9, 2011, for that position that specified qualifications and requirements and basic functions and responsibilities for that position. (Shambaugh Cert. Ex. 3.) "Superintendent Anderson seeks a Chief Talent Officer to lead the charge around ensuring that the district has the best talent management practices possible to meet the needs of Newark's students and their schools. This includes the design and strategic implementation of high-quality recruitment and selection, staff on-boarding, performance evaluation, professional development and labor relations systems. . . ." The posting listed the Chief Talent Officer's responsibilities to include:

1. Report to the Superintendent and provide leadership in all matters related to talent management and people development, including the recruitment and selection of personnel, workforce planning and vacancy projections, new staff onboarding and induction, staff development and evaluation/performance management, and strategic labor relations." (emphasis supplied)

7. Oversee district employee policy and labor relations strategy . . . to ensure compliance with and effective implementation of relevant policies and negotiated contracts."

Shambaugh has certified that the State-Appointed Superintendent oversees all human resource decisions, including hiring and firing of employees. The State-Appointed Superintendent delegates to the Chief Talent Officer the responsibility to communicate with District employees regarding their employment.

Cerf has certified that, pursuant to his authority to oversee all human resource decisions, including hiring and firing of employees, he was empowered to, and indeed did, delegate certain responsibilities to appropriate individuals. Cerf has further certified that Anderson had hired Rodriguez who remained in her same capacity when he assumed the position of State-Appointed Superintendent. Rodriguez was delegated with authority to hire and fire non-civil-service employees by Anderson, and, upon Cerf's assumption of Anderson's position, he also delegated that responsibility to Rodriguez. Upon Rodriguez's resignation, Cerf delegated the same authority to hire and fire non-civil-service employees to Shambaugh.

Miller has presented nothing to challenge the certifications of Shambaugh and Cerf.

ANALYSIS AND LEGAL CONCLUSIONS

A State-Appointed Superintendent for a school district such as Newark under full-intervention has the authority to perform duties and possess such powers as deemed appropriate by the Commissioner of Education. N.J.S.A. 18A:7A-35(d). He or she also has the power to perform all acts and do all things that the Commissioner deems necessary for the proper conduct, maintenance, and supervision of the schools in the district. N.J.S.A. 18A:7A-35(d). The State-Appointed Superintendent may also make all personnel determinations relative to employment, transfer and removal of all officers and employees, professional and nonprofessional. N.J.S.A. 18A:7A-42(a)(3). Most importantly, the State-Appointed Superintendent "may delegate to subordinate officers or employees in the district any of his powers or duties as he may deem desirable to be exercised under his supervision and direction." N.J.S.A. 18A:7A-42(b).

The parties differ as to what was allegedly delegated to the Chief Talent Officer. Miller contends that it was the decision to terminate her. The District contends that it was the responsibility to communicate with District employees regarding their employment as well as the right to hire and fire non-civil-service employees.

Miller contends that, although State-Appointed Superintendent Anderson had the authority to terminate her on August 15, 2014, there is no evidence submitted by the District that she had delegated that authority to Rodriguez as a subordinate officer. She diminishes the impact of Exhibit 3 as a job posting rather than a job description. She argues that, although the posting for the position of Chief Talent Officer refers to hiring, there is no reference to terminations and no reference to being the ultimate decision maker; although the document indicates that the Chief Talent Officer "provides leadership", nothing in it indicates that she is the final decision-maker; and Shambaugh's certification indicates that the State-Appointed Superintendent delegates to the Chief Talent Officer only the responsibility to communicate with District employees regarding their employment and not the decision to terminate.

Miller unpersuasively attempts to parse specific words in order to make her case. The 2011 posting for the position of Chief Talent Officer indicates that the District then consisted of seventy-four schools serving 39,440 students. It is inconceivable that, in a District so large, a superintendent would micro-manage every personnel decision particularly for the purpose of communicating such personnel decisions. The full-intervention school districts in New Jersey have been among the largest. It is logical that the legislative decision to allow for the delegation of superintendent duties was influenced by the size of such districts. The recitation in the Basic Functions and Responsibilities section of the posting makes it abundantly evident that the Chief Talent Officer not only reports to the Superintendent but more importantly is to provide leadership in all matters related to talent management. Moreover, the District contends that what was delegated to the Chief Talent Officer was the responsibility to communicate with District employees regarding their employment as well as to hire and fire non-civil-service employees. In the absence of a "smoking gun" written memorandum specifically delegating the authority to make and communicate a personnel decision to an employee, all of the logical circumstances support the contention that Rodriguez had the delegated authority to execute the matters related to Miller.

As the party seeking relief in this appeal, Miller bears the burden of proving her entitlement to the relief she seeks by a preponderance of the competent, relevant and credible evidence. N.J.S.A. 11A:2-21; N.J.A.C. 4A:2-1.4(a); Atkinson v. Parsekian, 37 N.J. 143 (1962); In re Polk, 90 N.J. 550 (1982). Miller has not sustained this burden. Beyond a bald assertion that the State-Appointed Superintendent did not delegate the authority, she provides no evidence to refute the certifications of Shambaugh and Cerf. Against the backdrop of the listed Chief Talent Officer duties and the unrefuted certifications of Shambaugh and Cerf, Miller has not established that the Chief Talent Officer lacked the delegated authority to act as she did. The letterhead of the August 15, 2014, termination letter has Rogriguez's name and title on it but only under that of then State-Appointed Superintendent Anderson. Again, all unrefuted evidence supports the claim of proper delegation of authority. As there is no genuine issue as to any material fact challenged, the District is entitled to judgment as a matter of law. Brill v. Guardian Life Ins. Co. of Am. 142 N.J. 520, 530 (1995).

I CONCLUDE that the termination of Miller was not in violation of the statutory provisions regarding the authority of a State-Appointed Superintendent including her authority to delegate duties.

The record of this matter, the proposed settlement agreement and general release, and the Initial Decision issued by the Office of Administrative Law pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1 have been reviewed. According to the Agreement, the first settlement payment is due June 1, 2016, the second payment is due June 15, 2016 and the third payment is due July 1, 2016. | SCHOOL DISTRICT, UNION COUNTY. | : | |

The record, proposed settlement agreement and general release, and Initial Decision issued by the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1, have been reviewed.

Upon review, the Commissioner observes that the Superintendent of the Union County Vocational Technical School District signed the agreement on behalf of the Board. The file does not contain a copy of the Board's resolution approving the settlement and designating the Superintendent to sign the agreement on its behalf – as required by N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.13 under these circumstances – nor is the resolution attached to the settlement agreement itself. In the alternative, the agreement is not signed by the Board attorney, who is the Board's duly authorized representative in litigation. Without either the Board attorney's signature or the appropriate Board resolution designating the Superintendent to sign the agreement on its behalf, the Commissioner cannot approve the within settlement.

Accordingly, the Commissioner hereby remands this matter to the OAL for revision of the settlement agreement consistent with the concerns set forth above. If the parties are unwilling or unable to reach accord on a modified agreement for submission to the Commissioner, the matter shall proceed to hearing.

SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT AND RELEASE

THIS SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT AND RELEASE, (hereinafter referred to as "Agreement"), is made between Petitioner (Union County Vocational Technical School District); and Respondent (Dawn McDermid).

WHEREAS, Petitioner commenced an action against Respondent in a matter entitled, McDermid, Dawn/Union County Vocational-Technical School District, Union County , OAL Dkt. No. EDU-04711-2015N- Agency Ref. 310-10/14, (hereinafter referred to as the "Petition"); and

WHEREAS, the parties to this Petition having reached a negotiated agreement to fully, and finally, settle all claims among them, including those asserted in the Petition; and

NOW, THEREFORE, in consideration of the mutual promises and undertaking said forth herein, the parties agree as follows:

1. Respondent, Dawn McDermid, agrees that she signed an Employment Contact with the Board of Education of the Union County Vocational-Technical School District on July 15, 2014 to work as a non-tenured teacher from September 1, 2014 to June 30, 2015. The Employment Contract signed by Ms. McDermid required her to give sixty (60) days written notice to terminate the contract. On September 4, 2014, Ms. McDermid resigned from her position as a teacher without the proper notice required by contract.

2. Respondent, Dawn McDermid, shall have her teaching certification suspended for unprofessional conduct pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10 for a period of three (3) months, commencing the date this Agreement is approved by the Commissioner of Education.

3. This Agreement shall be forwarded to the State Board of Examiners for implementation.

4. The parties agree that the language of this Agreement has been negotiated, is a product of the draftsmanship of all of the parties and that the usual rule that the provisions of a document are to be construed against the drafter shall not apply to the interpretation of any provisions hereof.

5. The signatures of the parties below indicate they have had an opportunity to review this Agreement with their respective Counsel, that they have read and understood the provisions, and that they have executed it voluntarily with full knowledge of the significance of all provisions.

6. This Agreement embodies the entire agreement and understanding between the parties and supersedes all prior agreements and understandings related to the subject matters hereof. The headings in this Agreement are for purposes of reference only and shall not limit or otherwise affect the meaning of this Agreement or its provisions.

7. This Agreement shall not be modified or amended except by writing duly executed and signed by the parties to this Agreement.

| PETITIONER, | : | COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION |
| V. | : | DECISION |
| BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE BOROUGH OF SPOTSWOOD, MIDDLESEX COUNTY, | : | |
| RESPONDENT. | : | |

The record of this matter, the proposed settlement agreement (Agreement), and the Initial Decision issued by the Office of Administrative Law pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1 have been reviewed. Upon such review, the Commissioner observes paragraph 3 of the Agreement, states that:

> The Board of Education will rescind the finding that ... [K.S.] engaged in "harassment, intimidation or bullying," and revise all related reports filed with the New Jersey Department of Education, with the understanding that this action does not constitute an acknowledgment that its decision was incorrect, but merely reflects the desire of all parties to address the children's underlying issues through the mechanism of this settlement agreement.

Pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:16-5.3(d)1, the chief school administrator is required to submit each instance of HIB to the Commissioner of Education utilizing the Electronic Violence and Vandalism Reporting System (EVVRS). The reports must be submitted twice each year: once for incidents occurring between September 1 and January 1, and once for incidents occurring between January 1 and June 30. N.J.A.C. 6A:16-5.3(d)1i. On June 22, 2015, the Board found that K.S. committed an act of HIB; therefore, the incident should have already been entered into EVVRS. The Department of Education is unable to delete or modify EVVRS data from the previous school year subsequent to district verification in mid-July of the school year in which it was reported.

Moreover, the EVVRS requires that the district enter the NJSMART number of each victim and offender involved in all HIB incidents. Therefore, the Commissioner cannot approve an Agreement wherein the Board represents that it will rescind the report that it has already provided to the Department of Education. It should be noted, however, that the data in EVVRS and NJSMART are not connected in any way; therefore it is not possible for the data entered into EVVRS to be accessed by another district or any other unauthorized user.

Accordingly, the Commissioner hereby remands this matter to the OAL for revision of the Agreement consistent with the concerns set forth above. If the parties are unwilling or unable to reach accord on a modified agreement for submission to the Commissioner, the matter shall proceed to hearing.

On September 1, 2015, the Department of Education, Bureau of Controversies and Disputes, transmitted this case to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) under the Administrative Procedure Act, N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15, and the act establishing the OAL, N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -23, for a hearing under the Uniform Administrative Procedure Rules, N.J.A.C. 1:1-1.1 to -21.6.

On May 24, 2016, the parties appeared for the hearing but settled the case before it began. The parties worked long and hard to reach this settlement and are commended for their efforts. Given their hard work, the parties placed the terms of their settlement on the record that day.

Having reviewed the terms of the settlement as they were read into the record, and having heard the testimony of the parties after the terms of the settlement were read into the record, I FIND that the parties have entered into their settlement voluntarily.

In addition, I CONCLUDE that the settlement is consistent with the law, is fully dispositive of all issues in controversy between the parties, and is otherwise consistent with the requirements of N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1.

Therefore, given my findings of fact and conclusions of law, I ORDER that the parties comply with the terms of their settlement (a summary of which is attached to this decision and is entitled "Terms of Settlement") and that these proceedings are now closed.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

Terms of Settlement

1. The families of Kayla Sabo, Garifalia ("Lia") Manoussakis, Haily Sosnowski and Jenna Chayko agree to abide by the following:

   a. All families agree to discuss with their children, at home, how to interact with the other students involved during the school year.

   b. Students will be able to say hello, wave, acknowledge each other inside and outside of the school, but there is no expectation that the students will interact with each other beyond being friendly with each other.

   c. Issues will arise during the year. However, all families agree that those issues will first be handled like any other school conflict. Each family's child will work with the principal, teachers and support staff to remediate the conflict. All families agree that the first step to remediating a conflict will not be filing a HIB report. Instead, families will work with the school to bring a positive resolution to the conflict.

   d. Each child will identify a staff member they feel comfortable working with should a conflict arise.

2. All children will participate in a social skills training program to be developed by the School District, which will be administered by a staff member other than Catherine Glass, and feature the following topics adapted as necessary to the individual students' needs and their perception of the current situation:

- Sensitivity Skills
- Empathy Skills
- Conflict Resolution
- Friendship Skills
- Self Esteem
- Problem Solving
- Taking Turns in Conversations
- "I" messages that identify their emotions

Resources included but not limited to:

1. The book titled, "Ready to Use Social Skills Lessons and Activities," by Ruth Weltmann Begun.

2. The program" Words Work" as a curriculum resource with the following components:

- Part One: Breaking the Ice and Creating a Community
- Part Two: Communication: Telling It, Hearing It, Talking It out!
- Part Three: Relationships, People and Behavior, Think about It!
- Part Four: Leadership, Group Decision-Making, Using Skills and Reaching Goals
- Part Five: Problem Solving and Working Together

It is also recommend students join the Human Relations Club (HRC) after school (Wednesdays) when students are identified as needing mentors regarding friendship and social skills. Students from the High School work on different activities with the Middle School students.

3. The Board of Education will rescind the finding that Kayla Sabo engaged in "harassment, intimidation or bullying," and revise all related reports filed with the New Jersey Department of Education, with the understanding that this action does not constitute an acknowledgment that its decision was incorrect, but merely reflects the desire of all parties to address the children's underlying issues through the mechanism of this settlement agreement.

4. All families acknowledge that all currently pending or threatened allegations of "harassment, intimidation or bullying" are hereby withdrawn, with the intention that any underlying issues be addressed as provided for in this settlement agreement.

The record, proposed settlement agreement, and Initial Decision issued by the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1, have been reviewed – mindful of the Commissioner's June 1, 2016 determination that the prior settlement agreement did not comply with N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.13, as it was neither signed by the Board's attorney, nor contained a copy of the Board's resolution approving the settlement and designating the Board President to sign the agreement on its behalf. Since the settlement agreement now contains a copy of the Board resolution approving the settlement, the Commissioner can approve the within agreement in its present form.

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law have been reviewed. The parties did not file exceptions to the Initial Decision.

Accordingly, the recommended decision of the ALJ is adopted for the reasons expressed therein and the petition of appeal is hereby dismissed.

BEFORE JOANN LASALA CANDIDO, ALAJ:

In this case, petitioner A.D. is a high school senior seeking emergent relief to allow her to attend and participate in the high school graduation ceremony scheduled for June 23, 2016 as well as Project Graduation on that same evening. The matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) for hearing as a contested case on June 17, 2016, on petitioner's application for emergency relief. The matter was scheduled for oral argument at 10:00 a.m. on June 21, 2016 and heard on that date. At

The undersigned found that for purposes of deciding this application for emergency relief, petitioner failed to establish the existence of irreparable harm, that petitioner's claim is based upon a settled right and that petitioner is likely to prevail on the merits. Petitioner failed to establish the four requirements for emergency relief. I concluded that petitioner's request should be denied since the emergent relief was the only relief being requested in this matter. I further concluded that this matter should be dismissed. On June 22, 2016 the Commissioner adopted the Order and stated that this matter shall continue at the OAL with such proceedings as the parties and the undersigned deem necessary to bring it to closure.

ORDER

Based on the Commissioner's decision and the fact that the high school graduation ceremony has passed, it is hereby ORDERED that this matter be DISMISSED and returned to the agency.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

SYNOPSIS

Petitioning Board of Education of the Borough of Freehold sought to compel the Commissioner to direct the issuance of school bonds for a capital improvement project in order to fulfill the Borough's constitutional mandate to provide a thorough and efficient public education to its students. The action was taken pursuant to the Educational Facilities Construction and Financing Act (EFCFA), N.J.S.A. 18A:7G-1 to 48, which directs that a school district that has unsuccessfully sought to obtain voter approval for school facilities construction twice in a three-year period may apply to the Commissioner for approval to issue school bonds for the local share of the project. In the instant case, the Board seeks to have the Commissioner direct the issuance of bonds after two referenda failed to obtain voter approval. The Department's Office of School Facilities (OSF) reviewed the petition, and determined that it contained the information necessary for the Board to seek an Order from the Commissioner directing the issuance of bonds.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: compelling evidence has established that the Board's Park Avenue Elementary/Middle School and the Learning Center are severely overcrowded; this overcrowding seriously impedes the ability of both general education and special education students to access their education and to achieve core curriculum objectives; despite the concern and resentment of some residents over the anticipated expense of the planned facility improvements, most of the residents acknowledge the serious overcrowding problem in the borough schools, and the negative effect this has had on the children of the district; New Jersey's courts have long upheld the State's responsibility to ensure that children receive a thorough and efficient education as guaranteed under the State constitution; and N.J.S.A. 18A:7G-12 provides for the Commissioner's review and approval of school facilities projects preliminary to his authorization of the issuance of bonds. Accordingly, the ALJ concluded that capital improvements to Freehold schools are necessary, and that the Commissioner should permit the Borough to issue bonds in the amount of $32,902,400.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurred with the ALJ's findings, and adopted her comprehensive Report and Recommendation as the final decision in this matter.

The record of this matter, and the Report and Recommendation of the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) issued by the Office of Administrative Law following hearing[1] pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14F-5(o), have been reviewed. No comments were filed by the Board of Education (Board) pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:26-3.7(h)3i.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurs with the ALJ that the Board has demonstrated the necessity of its proposed project for the provision of a thorough and efficient system of education in the district. Additionally, the Commissioner finds that the proposed project's scope and costs are sufficiently narrowly tailored to protect the interests of taxpayers while ensuring that the Borough's students will receive the thorough and efficient education to which they are constitutionally entitled. For these reasons, the ALJ's comprehensive Report and Recommendation is adopted as the final decision in this matter.

The Commissioner emphasizes that this decision to authorize the issuance of bonds outside of a referendum represents an extraordinary remedy that has been exercised only after the development of a full and complete record clearly demonstrating that the failure to act will deprive children in this community of the educational opportunity that they will need to succeed in life. All such petitions for relief must be subjected to a high level of scrutiny and, for this reason, the Commissioner cautions that the facts and application of law are highly specific to this situation and not broadly applicable to other districts.

Additionally, in order to alleviate the impact of this decision on taxpayers of the district, I will treat the district's Petition as a timely application for a Section 15 school facilities grant pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:26-18.1 through 18.4 for the proposed new construction. Judge Scarola's findings make clear that the proposed new construction would qualify for funding pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:26-18.1 and, thus, the district is awarded a grant in the amount equal to all costs associated with the proposed new construction. With respect to the proposed rehabilitation, the district is authorized to issue bonds, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:7G-9, for the local share of the total cost of the rehabilitation.

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Pursuant to the Educational Facilities Construction and Financing Act ("EFCFA" or "Act"), N.J.S.A. 18A:7G-1 to 48, effective July 18, 2000, a school district that has unsuccessfully sought to obtain voter approval for school facilities construction twice within a three-year period may apply to the Commissioner of Education ("Commissioner") for approval to issue school bonds for the local share of the project. Specifically, the statute authorizes the Commissioner to order issuance of such bonds if "the project is necessary for the provision of a thorough and efficient system of education in the district."

education in the district." N.J.S.A. 18A:7G-12. The Board of Education ("BOE" or "Board") of the Borough of Freehold ("Borough") has filed an application seeking to compel the Commissioner to direct the issuance of school bonds for a capital improvement project said to be necessary to fulfill the Borough's constitutional mandate to provide a thorough and efficient public education to its students after two referenda failed to obtain voter approval.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On or about March 3, 2015, the Board petitioned the Commissioner for appropriate relief under the statute. On May 1, 2015, the New Jersey Department of Education's Office of School Facilities ("OSF") completed its review of the petition and determined that the petition contained the information necessary for the Board to seek an Order from the Commissioner directing the issuance of bonds.[1] The Commissioner then solicited written comments from any interested person to be filed by June 8, 2015.[2] On June 16, 2015, the matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) for determination as an uncontested case.[3] N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15; N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13.

The OAL held public hearings in the Park Avenue School in the Borough on September 24 and 25, 2015,[4] during which the Board offered sworn testimony on the constitutional need for the bond issue. Once the Board's proofs were completed, the

[1] The OSF also found that the proposed improvements were consistent with facilities efficiency standards.

[2] In accordance with the Commissioner's instructions, the Board caused notice soliciting written comments to be published in a newspaper of statewide circulation, the Star-Ledger, on May 12, 2015, and in a newspaper of local circulation, the Asbury Park Press, on May 12, 2015, and to be announced at its public meeting on May 11, 2015. A breakdown of the written comments received was prepared by the Board: approximately 385 correspondents were in favor of the bond issue, 8 were neutral, and 15 were opposed.

[3] An "uncontested case" is a proceeding designed to afford interested parties the opportunity to present their views; it includes rule-making and investigative hearings.

[4] The Board arranged for notice of the hearing to be published in the Star-Ledger and the Asbury Park Press by July 24, 2015, and to be announced at its public meeting on July 20, 2015. Testimony commenced at noon on September 24, and at 9:00 a.m. on September 25, 2015.

hearing was opened to comments from the general public and remained open until all who wished to comment had the opportunity to do so. The record closed thereafter.[5]

Undisputed Facts

The Freehold Borough School District is a Type II school district educating students from pre-kindergarten to eighth grade. Its high-school students in grades nine to twelve are educated in the Freehold Regional High School District, which consists of seven constituent school districts. Besides Freehold Borough, the Freehold Regional High School District ("FRHSD") consists of Colts Neck Township, Freehold Township, Howell Township, Farmingdale Borough, Marlboro Township, and Manalapan-Englishtown Regional school districts.

The Freehold Borough School District has been designated as a district factor group, or DFG, of "B."[6] Its board of education consists of nine elected-at-large residents of the Borough of Freehold. The school district consists of three schools—Park Avenue Elementary School, Park Avenue Middle School, and Freehold Learning Center—in two locations.[7]

In keeping with the requirements of the Facilities Law, the Board submitted a bond proposal and interpretative statement to the Borough's voters on two different referendum dates. The bond proposals read, in part, as follows:

[5] An extension of time was provided for the issuance of this Report and Recommendation.

[6] The New Jersey Department of Education measures a school district's relative socio-economic status with its DFG ranking system, based on the following six criteria: (1) percentage of adults with no high school diploma, (2) percentage of adults with some college, (3) occupational status, (4) unemployment rate, (5) percentage of individuals in poverty, and (6) median family income. The classifications are A, B, CD, DE, FG, GH, I and J, with a DFG of "A" having the lowest socio-economic status and "J" being the highest. It is significant that the other six districts' DFG ratings range from "D/E" for Farmingdale (the next lowest) to "I" for Colts Neck and Marlboro Townships (the highest).

[7] The elementary school and the intermediate school are in one location (Park Avenue Elementary/Middle School).

BOND PROPOSAL

> The Board of Education of the Borough of Freehold in the County of Monmouth, New Jersey is authorized: (a) to undertake various improvements, renovations, and additions to the Park Avenue Elementary/Middle School and the Freehold Learning Center; (b) to acquire the necessary furniture and equipment as well as undertake any associated site work; (c) to appropriate $32,902,400 for such improvements funded, in part, with debt service aid from the State of New Jersey at the rate of 66.89% of a project's eligible costs; (d) to issue bonds in the amount of $32,902,400 . . . .
> The total final eligible costs for the proposed improvements approved by the New Jersey Commissioner of Education are $18,702,011, consisting of $14,969,163 for the Park Avenue Elementary/Middle School and $3,732,848 for the Freehold Learning Center. The proposed improvements do not include school facility construction elements in addition to the facilities efficiency standards developed by the Commissioner of Education or not otherwise eligible for State support pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:7G-5(g).
>
> Interpretative Statement
> Aside from numerous health and safety improvements to each of the schools, the building additions at the Park Avenue Elementary/Middle School consist of classrooms, gymnasium, girls' locker room, library, and cafeteria. The Freehold Learning Center's building additions consist of new classrooms and a cafeteria addition.

The referendum was driven by the need, in part, for new space. For example, the new classroom space would have accommodated 429 "unhoused"[8] students, as that term is defined in the EFCFA, based on the computation of the functional capacity of the three schools. The remaining improvements in the bond proposal consisted generally of health and safety upgrades to the two buildings' aging electrical and environmental systems.

[8] "'Unhoused students' means the number of students in excess of the functional capacity of a school facility." N.J.A.C. 6A:26-1.2. At the time that the petition was filed, the number of unhoused students was 429. That figure grew to 544 as of the date of the public hearings.

The first referendum was conducted on September 30, 2014. The vote was 273 in "favor" and 374 "against." The second referendum was conducted on December 9, 2014. The vote was 241 in "favor" and 370 "against."

At the Board's meeting of January 29, 2015, it unanimously approved a resolution asking the New Jersey Commissioner of Education to request that the New Jersey Legislature authorize an appropriation to fund fully the bond proposal. The resolution also authorized, as an alternative remedy, that the Commissioner authorize the issuance of bonds in the amount of the failed referenda.[9]

The Board of Education adhered to the legal requirements in advancing its petition to have the Commissioner authorize bonds by taking the following actions:

- It adopted a resolution at its meeting of May 11, 2015, authorizing all "interested persons"[10] to submit comments about the referendum and the proposed improvements to the New Jersey Department of Education, with copies to the secretary to the Board of Education. The comment period ended on June 8, 2015. This announcement was published in the Asbury Park Press and the Star-Ledger on or about May 18, 2015. At the end of the comment period, there were 408 submitted written comments; the overwhelming majority of the comments were in favor of the referendum. (See Exhibit P-3 for Summary of Written Comments.)

- After acknowledging receipt of the petition, the Commissioner of Education on June 16, 2015, transferred the matter to the OAL for assignment to an administrative law judge to serve as a fact-finder for the Commissioner of Education.

[9] The statutory constructions of the two remedies being sought are not mutually exclusive, but, in some instances, could complement each other.

[10] The term "interested persons" is used in the regulations that outline the procedures for a school district filing a petition with the Commissioner of Education to authorize bonds. This term, however, is not defined in the regulations. For the purposes of the petition, it was assumed that any resident, taxpayer, student or employee of the Freehold Borough School District qualified as an "interested person." It was also assumed that any member of the public who has a student in the school district, regardless of his or her voting status, was also an "interested person."

- At its meeting of July 20, 2015, the Board of Education adopted another resolution establishing the meeting dates and times for the evidentiary hearings. The Board also caused this information to be published in the Asbury Park Press and the Star-Ledger, which it was on or about July 24, 2015.

Testimony and Documentary Evidence

The Board presented the following documents and testimony.

Dr. Rocco Tomazic, the superintendent of schools for the Borough, testified that the students are not getting a thorough and efficient education because of extreme overcrowding and the inability to provide adequate instruction. Based upon the physical facilities required by the statute, pre-kindergarten to fifth grade should have 125 square feet per student, and grades six to eight should have 134 square feet. The Borough has a current capacity of 1,148 students, and as of April 4, 2015, 349 students were unhoused. As of the date of the hearing, 1,700 students were enrolled, for a total of 552 unhoused students. If the classrooms rented in Freehold Township by the Board were considered as available space, the total unhoused student population would be reduced to 365 students, still a significant percentage of the student population.

The Borough is a "high-poverty" district, with 76.7% of the students qualifying for free or reduced-cost lunch. At least 40% of the student population is considered at risk. As a high-poverty district, the class sizes cannot exceed 21 students in grades kindergarten through three; 23 students in grades four and five; and 24 students in grades six through eight. N.J.A.C. 6A:13-3.1(b). As of the hearing date, grades kindergarten through third grade had 79% of classes above the limit (26 of 33); grades four and five had 77% of classes above the limit (10 of 13); and grades six through eight had 14% above the limit (15 of 105). These statistics did not include health, gym, music or art classes. The goal would be to improve class size in order to improve literacy and mathematical skills.

When Dr. Tomazic arrived at the district approximately two years ago, the district was not able to provide the 150 minutes per week of health and physical education required by statute. This was changed, but caused great strain on accommodating the master schedule. Nor was the district able to provide sufficient technology skills so that students met the curricular goal of technological literacy by the end of eighth grade. In 2013, the proficiency of the Borough's eighth graders was 37%. Following reestablishment of a middle-school technology lab and the hiring of a technology teacher, the level rose to 86.8%, but at the cost of other programs.

In order to fit all the students into the school, the administration made unacceptable degradations to the educational programs. Gym had been cut below the legal limit, technology was gutted, and the library space was shut down and converted to other support roles. This affected all the students. Lunch had to be started at 10:30 a.m. to accommodate the overcrowding.

Dr. Tomazic noted that the eighth grade had no library or media center. Art and music were taught by the use of a cart that was wheeled from classroom to classroom. There was one library for the whole district; there was no middle-school library, and only minimally functioning elementary school libraries. At the Park Avenue School, there was no library because it was used for instruction. All academic areas were impacted by the lack of space.

Dr. Tomazic noted that there was not enough staff for the special-education students, and resource-room pull-out could not be covered 100%. Dr. Tomazic found that instructional minutes for language arts and math for special-education students was unusually low, particularly since the assessment scores on the NJASK were well below the State average and even below the average of all DFG B districts. The correlation between that and the lack of space was unsettling. The schools simply did not have enough space to conduct all the resource replacement required for these students. All the classrooms were full. The only thing left would be to have instruction in the hallways and closets. The middle school has been designated as a Focus School because of the wide gap between general and special-education performance.

Bilingual programs were suffering as well. The regulations require two periods of English as a second language (ESL). Hispanic students represent 72.3% of the district,[11] and 16.7% of students require bilingual and ESL classes, but the district is only able to offer one period and struggles to find the space for that. The NJASK showed many students with limited English proficiency. The Borough did not meet Annual Measurable Achievement Objectives (which measures individual student proficiency in English) for two years, and is now in a corrective-action plan to improve this area.

For basic skills, the Borough is a high-needs district as defined by the statute. Requirements need to be met in literacy and mathematics. The district has no basic-skills teachers devoted to mathematics at the elementary school level as the result of a lack of space.

Borough students leave the district to attend the FRHSD. The resource disparity among the districts feeding into the FRHSD is reflected in the disparate academic achievement of Borough students as they continue to secondary education. The amount of money spent on students at the elementary level within the high school district ranges from $11,846 per student in Freehold Borough to $22,345 per student in Colts Neck. Poverty and language barriers, when combined with the large class sizes, disproportionately impact many students, particularly Hispanic children. The FRHSD opportunity index for honors classes, advanced-placement classes, and the International Baccalaureate, has the Borough in last place. It is unfair to students who leave the Borough's elementary-school system to attend the regional high-school system and have to try to compete with students who have had substantially more educational opportunity provided in their elementary schools.

Without the requested relief of bonding for additional classroom space and mechanical upgrades, the Borough schools may be compelled to have split sessions:

this would further reduce instructional time, but would also adversely impact families who reside within the Borough.

Even with improvements, the Borough schools would still be short of space, but the proposed improvements are essential to the educational progress of the students. Their needs must come first, as the alternative to providing these services would fail both the students and the community.

In formulating its school-improvement plans, the Board also took into consideration projections for population growth, which have consistently underestimated the number of children who would be attending school within the district. Based on a demographic study in 2013, enrollment for the 2014–2015 school year was estimated to be 1,579 students. Actual enrollment as of December 2014 was 1,638 students, or 59 more than anticipated. A similar enrollment disparity had occurred the previous school year, where the demographic study had estimated 1,515 students, but 1,586 students were enrolled as of May 2014, a difference of 71 students. Elementary-school population is expected to continue to grow in the Borough in coming years, as the community's student population comes from sources other than live births, the methodology used by the New Jersey Department of Health and Senior Services to estimate population growth.

Ted Hopkins, the AIA architect, testified that he prepared the schematic drawings for the improvements to the school facilities. The improvements to the Learning Center include classrooms, technical upgrades, utility upgrades, fire alarm, public-address system, and gas service (to replace the electric heat). The Park Avenue Elementary/Middle School would have a library, a gymnasium, and classrooms. Other technical improvements would also be made.

Hopkins testified that as to the Learning Center, the design that was selected was the one that offered the maximum amount of space at the least cost and least loss of outside area. The fire-alarm system is forty years old and needs to be modernized. Additional cafeteria space was created to handle the new classrooms. The Park Avenue Elementary/Middle School plans were designed to afford the additional classroom space and additional cafeteria space with minimal impact upon the existing structures, with modernization of the utilities.

Fiscal Projections

The Board of Education retained the independent financial advisory firm of Phoenix Advisors, LLC, to project the tax increase of a $32,902,000 bond issue. Phoenix Advisors, LLC, is an independent financial-advisory firm registered with the United States Securities and Exchange Commission to assist municipalities and school districts with their financial projections.

Phoenix Advisors updated its projections on September 18, 2015 (just prior to the hearings). Based on a residential property assessed at $250,499—which is the average assessed valuation of a real property in the Borough of Freehold in 2015—Phoenix Advisors projected an average annual property-tax increase of $279.38 given the following assumptions:

(i) Blended debt service aid rate of 38.02%;[12]

(ii) 30-year bond term;

(iii) projected fixed annual interest rate of 4.00%;

(iv) 2015 total assessed valuation of the Borough of Freehold in the amount of $1,029,213,400; and

(v) no increase in the Borough's total assessed valuation for the 30 year bond term.

(See Exhibit P-4 for "Analysis of Tax Impact—Summary.")

[12] In the case of new construction, even though Freehold Borough School District is entitled to receive 66.89% of debt-service aid, the Facilities Act only provides that percentage of aid on $143/square foot for new construction. The actual cost for new construction under current market conditions is twice that amount, thus reducing the debt-service aid percentage by approximately one-half. See N.J.S.A. 18A:7G-3, "area cost allowance." This explains generally why the Freehold Borough School District is only receiving a "blended" debt-service rate of 38.02%, because approximately one-half of the proposed improvements are for new construction. The "blended" debt-service rate was calculated as follows: 66.89% (DAP) of $18,702,011 (eligible costs) = $12,509,775 (funded aid amount). The ratio between the funded aid amount of $12,509,775 and the bonds to be authorized of $32,902,400 is 38.02%.

The fiscal analysis also considered the effects of the repealed provisions for the 55% Districts in the Facilities Law. Phoenix Advisors calculated the tax projections for the average assessed valuation if the Freehold Borough School District were to receive aid on 66.89% of its proposed new construction instead of 66.89% on $143 per square foot. This computation was based on the same assumptions as the bond issue for $32,902,000 in the P-4 exhibit. It was estimated earlier that the Freehold Borough School District lost almost $9.5 million of facilities aid as a result of the repeal of the 55% Districts provision. Phoenix Advisors was asked to compute a new average annual property-tax increase if the school district were to issue $9.5 million fewer bonds, or $23,402,000.[13] That amount is $198.41. (See Exhibit P-5.)

Public Comment/Testimony

Public comment came in writings submitted to the Commissioner in June, and with public testimony at the hearings. Members of the public who testified included resident taxpayers, present and former students, teachers, Board members, Latino Action representatives, and a legislator. Almost everyone agreed that the lack of space and overcrowding in the schools was severe and affected learning. Generally, criticism was focused not on the need to improve the schools and to alleviate overcrowding, but rather on the source of funding for the project. Most commentators and witnesses thought the Legislature should appropriate more funds for the non-Abbott school districts: it was not fair for the Borough—a district in such need and with such a limited tax base—to have to pay such a large percentage of the costs when Abbott districts were 100% funded.[14]

[13] Phoenix Advisors was not asked to take 66.89% of $32,902,000 because the Facilities Law requires non-SDA districts to measure their district aid percentage against $143 per square foot for new construction. If, however, the commissioner of education were to ask the legislature to approve a supplemental appropriation, as still permitted for a "B" DFG district under N.J.S.A. 18A:7G-5(k), then the Borough of Freehold taxpayers would receive the same economic benefit that the 55% Districts did before this provision was repealed. If such appropriation was approved by the legislature, the commissioner would be faced with authorizing no more than the balance of the bonds required to fully fund the two failed referenda, or $23,402,000.

[14] In a sense, the commentators felt that the Borough was being penalized for the Herculean efforts made by the teachers and professional staff to provide educational services to the Borough's children.

Senator Jennifer Beck noted her efforts to try to obtain funding in the Legislature to pay for more of the cost of necessary school improvements. While Abbott districts get complete funding, and more affluent districts also get State aid, the aid for districts such as Freehold Borough—where the need is just as great or greater—is limited. She noted that teachers in the school had taken salary decreases to avoid layoffs, and that the residents were aware of how committed their teachers were to education. The State needed to do the right thing and to allow for school expansion with adequate funding.

Dr. Michael Lichardi, president of the Freehold Elementary School Board, is a conservative on fiscal issues, yet recognized that the district was "running on fumes" and that the quality of the school system has an impact on property values. He felt that taxpayers were asked to do more than elsewhere, but he did not want to see the district fail. Homeowners cannot allow the system to collapse, and residents will suffer if the school fails. He acknowledged that some commentators suggested that some children should not be educated, but opined that marginalizing all children by not supporting education would only result in urban blight.

Linda McCarthy, a special-education teacher in the district and president of the Freehold Borough Education Association (an affiliate of the New Jersey Education Association), testified that she supported the issue because of the impact it would have on the children. She said the children trip over each other; lockers are shared among two or three students; library, art and music come into class on a cart. Third-graders share a gym with eighth-graders. The students had no technology class to go to. Teachers had no privacy to speak with parents. Other teachers and parents agreed as to the conditions within the schools. They noted that it is even more difficult for special-education students, who, when there is no room for push-in support, are kept in the same classroom with two groups of students and two teachers, making more noise, so the students are less able to concentrate.

Other residents and taxpayers, such as Lynn Reich, Ron Reich, and Patricia Koloski, emphasized the need to stabilize property values and to educate all the children residing within the borough. While all felt that other communities and the State should contribute to Borough (the county seat), the net opinion was that this was not going to happen, and that the Borough must take care of all of its students. Others noted that the tax burden would be passed along by landlords, and that those who may not be homeowners nevertheless would be paying their share of taxes when they paid rent.

Several representatives of the Latino Action Network spoke, and noted that most of the Borough's Hispanic students are American citizens and deserve to be educated. The overcrowding has been more than a decade in the making. The impact on the children affects their future. The cost to the average homeowner would be $5 per week, and children are worth much more than this. It is so hard to learn in an overcrowded classroom and the future of these children is at stake. Again, all felt that more State assistance is required. If deprived in elementary school, it is unlikely that the difference for the students could ever be made up later.

Negative comments about the proposed bond issue concerned the probable increase in taxes, particularly for those on a fixed income and senior citizens; the alleged overcrowding of homes by landlords, which led to overcrowding in the schools; the need for charter schools to take some of the students out of the schools; the overturning of the vote against the will of the people; the cost of the project; the alleged failure of some persons in the borough to pay taxes because of their status; the failure to use or rehabilitate other older buildings within the borough for use as schools; and the failure of the State and the federal government to address the underlying issues that caused this situation to occur.

Gianna Dellomo thought that the plans were too expansive and should be reduced. She wanted a cost-effective approach to improve the schools. Sharon Shutzer felt that the problem was not the fault of the Borough, the Board or the schools, but that the problem was created by the State and the federal government, and that they should take responsibility. The Borough has not been treated fairly. She wants the children to have classroom space, but the Borough and its taxpayers cannot afford this project. Ronald Griffiths pointed out that because it is the county seat, the Borough has much property that is not taxed, and that its revenue stream has been decimated by the State. The Borough has been shortchanged with declining State aid; the State should pay for these school improvements, not the taxpayer.

Rebuttal

In rebuttal, Dr. Tomazic noted that there was no evidence of students being driven into the Borough to go to school, or of overcrowding in homes, as they are constantly checked and inspected by the Borough. The old buildings that were suggested to be used as schools might have provided a few classrooms, but only after extensive renovation and retrofitting in order to be compliant with modern code and access requirements. It was more cost effective and efficient to add on to the buildings they had, as the proposed plans indicated. The proposed improvements were reviewed by the State and found to have no "excess costs." Dr. Tomazic recognized the inequity of the current funding formula, but that is the law. The Board did make a formal request through the Commissioner for increased state aid, but no response and no additional funding have been forthcoming.

Personal Observations

Prior to the hearings, I was able to tour the school facilities and to observe firsthand the extreme overcrowding. In multi-purpose rooms, classrooms had been created on the stage. Noise from students in the cafeteria and lunch preparation in the cafeteria interfered with studies. In the Learning Center, students were learning in an open environment. Lessons from one class could be heard in another. Students had to keep their voices low to avoid interference with other classes. Teachers tried to instruct in small groups for resource support, but the diversions were multiple. People were walking by, and the noise level was high in spite of efforts to contain it. Generally, it did not seem conducive to effective learning. Indeed some of the student and teacher witnesses later commented on this at the hearings. One student was being offered support by a teacher at a desk in the hallway. The library was almost non-existent and technology assistance was limited. Without a doubt, these schools are severely overcrowded.

Findings

I accept the testimony and the documentary evidence presented by the Borough as fact. I FIND that compelling evidence establishes that the Park Avenue Elementary/Middle School and the Learning Center are severely overcrowded and that such overcrowding seriously impedes and has impeded the ability of the students, both general-education students and special-education students, to access their education and to achieve the core-curriculum objectives. Despite the concern of and resentment by some residents over the anticipated expense of the improvements, most of the citizenry and residents acknowledged the serious problem of overcrowding confronted by the Borough and the Board, and the deleterious effect this has had on all of the children of the district and their educators.

LEGAL ANALYSIS AND CONCLUSION

The issue presented is whether the Commissioner of Education should direct the issuance of school bonds in the amount of $32,902,400 for a capital improvement project said to be necessary to fulfill the Freehold Borough's constitutional mandate to provide a thorough and efficient public education to its students after two referenda failed to obtain voter approval.

General Background Information

Long before adoption of the EFCFA, New Jersey courts declared the State's responsibility to ensure that children receive the "thorough and efficient system of free public schools" guaranteed under the State constitution. N.J. Const., Art VIII, § IV, ¶ 1. As early as 1966, the New Jersey Supreme Court recognized the Commissioner's broad authority to review local budgetary decisions and ascertain whether the amount fixed is sufficient to satisfy minimum educational standards for the mandated thorough and efficient education. Bd. of Educ. of E. Brunswick v. E. Brunswick Twp. Council, 48 N.J. 94 (1966) (Commissioner has power to reject annual school budget and direct an increase over the amount fixed by the governing body); see also Bd. of Educ. of Elizabeth v. City Council of Elizabeth, 55 N.J. 501 (1970) (Commissioner has power to reject operating budget and restore cuts where the budget proposed by the school board was rejected by voters).

In the case of In re Upper Freehold Regional School District, 86 N.J. 265 (1981), the New Jersey Supreme Court dealt with the specific issue of the Commissioner's affirmative duty to order issuance of school bonds to alleviate unsafe or unhealthy building conditions. Deteriorating conditions were found to exist at the high school in Upper Freehold, among which were sagging roof planks, water leakage onto ceiling tiles, short-circuited electrical systems, slippery floors, and danger from shattering glass. Citing Robinson v. Cahill, 62 N.J. 473, 520 (1973), the Court reiterated that the obligation of the State to fulfill its constitutional duty extends to capital expenditures as well as current operating expenses. Upper Freehold, supra, 86 N.J. at 275. Since deteriorating building conditions made delivery of minimally acceptable education "inadequate and inefficient, if not impossible," the Court held that "those conditions contravene the constitutional right of the students to a thorough and efficient education and justify invocation of the power of the Commissioner to vindicate that right." Id. at 278. Consequently, the Court concluded that, "after voter rejection, the Commissioner may authorize the issuance of bonds for a capital project for a public school." Id. at 279. Abundant precedent, therefore, allows the Commissioner to intervene in local budgetary affairs when necessary to protect school children from unsafe or dangerous building conditions.

In 1998, the Court had opportunity to reassert these fundamental principles. Confronted with crumbling and obsolete school buildings in such grave state of disrepair as not only to prevent children from receiving a thorough and efficient education but also to threaten their health and safety, the Supreme Court upheld an ambitious State plan to finance the construction and repair of school facilities. Abbott v. Burke, 153 N.J. 480 (1998) ("Abbott V"). While Abbott V arose in the context of disadvantaged school districts with special needs, the basic right to a thorough and efficient education belongs to every child attending public school in this state.

Against this backdrop, the Legislature enacted the EFCFA to help school districts finance construction costs of providing a through and efficient education, including

"ensuring that children are educated in physical facilities that are safe, healthy, and conducive to learning." N.J.S.A. 18A:7G-2(a). The EFCFA represents "the largest, most comprehensive school construction program in the nation." Lonegan v. State, 174 N.J. 435, 458 (2002). Realizing that "educational infrastructure inadequacies are greatest in the Abbott districts," the Legislature nevertheless acknowledged that > [i]n other districts, the State must also identify need in view of anticipated growth in school population, and must contribute to the cost of renovation and construction of new facilities to ensure the provision of a through and efficient education in those districts.

To effectuate its goals, the EFCFA designated the New Jersey Economic Development Authority ("EDA") as the State agency responsible "for the financing, planning, design, construction management, acquisition, construction, and completion of school facilities projects." Id. at 459 (quoting N.J.S.A. 18A:7G-13(a)). Moreover, the act established a formal mechanism for the Commissioner to review school-facilities projects rejected by voters at two elections. N.J.S.A. 18A:7G-12 provides, in pertinent part:

> A district . . . that sought approval . . . of a school facilities project without excess costs but failed to receive that approval, and within the three years prior to that, sought and failed to receive approval of that school facilities project with or without excess costs, may submit the project to the commissioner and request that the commissioner approve the project and authorize the issuance of school bonds for the local share of the project. Upon receipt of the request, the commissioner shall review the school facilities project and determine whether the project is necessary for the provision of a thorough and efficient system of education in the district. If the commissioner concludes that the project is necessary, the commissioner may approve the project without excess costs and authorize the issuance of school bonds to fund the local share.

As expressly stated, the Commissioner can only approve a construction project "without excess costs." The EFCFA defines "excess costs" to mean "the additional costs, if any, which shall be borne by the district, of a school facilities project which result from design factors that are not required to meet the facilities efficiency standards." N.J.S.A. 18A:7G-3. Effective November 21, 2000, the Commissioner adopted facilities efficiency standards constituting the characteristics of instructional spaces, specialized instructional areas, and administrative spaces that are educationally adequate to support the achievement of the core-curriculum content standards. 32 N.J.R. 4473(a) (Dec. 18, 2000).

Since all of the improvements proposed by the Board comply with, but do not exceed, the parameters set by the facilities efficiency standards, the project does not involve any "excess costs."

In In re Application of the Board of Education of the Township of Clark for an Order Directing Issuance of Bonds pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:7G-12, No. 261-03, Comm'r (June 2, 2003), <http://www.nj.gov/education/legal/commissioner/index.html>, the Commissioner affirmed the findings of the administrative law judge ("ALJ") that renovations and repairs were necessary for the board's high school, and that the capital project for which the board sought the issuance of school bonds was necessary in order for the board to continue to provide its students with a thorough and efficient education. The Commissioner authorized the board to prepare for the issuance of bonds in the amount of $19.2 million to fund the local share of the project.

The Commissioner also followed the recommendations of the ALJ to deny bond issuance in the amount of $12.2 million to construct additions to two elementary schools, finding that the board did not demonstrate how the overcrowding had affected student performance or compromised the board's ability to provide a thorough and efficient education.

In In re Application of the Board of Education of the Borough of Milford for an Order Directing Issuance of Bonds pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:7G-12, No. 427-08, Comm'r (Oct. 24, 2008), <http://www.nj.gov/education/legal/commissioner/index.html>, the Commissioner concurred with the ALJ's recommendations that the board's facilities were in desperate need of repair to address core health, safety and security issues, and that the capital project for which the board sought issuance of school bonds was necessary in order to continue to provide its students with a thorough and efficient education. Accordingly, the Commissioner ordered and authorized the board to prepare for the issuance of bonds in the amount of $800,000 to fund the local share of the project.

In the matter presented here, a distinction can be drawn between the determination in Clark to deny issuance of bonds for school expansion. The Board has presented evidence not just of severe overcrowding which has resulted in hundreds of unhoused students—which overcrowding is anticipated to continue—but also has shown the effect the overcrowding has had on the ability of the students to access their education. Classes have been limited; instruction has been curtailed. The Board is in a corrective-action plan for bilingual students not meeting English proficiency, and the middle school is a focus district because of the disparity between special-needs students and general-education students. As these students enter the regional high-school district, their achievement is the lowest of all schools feeding into the District.

Insofar as the Commissioner accepts the recommended findings that the school district is severely overcrowded, which condition has affected and will continue to affect the students' ability to access their education and to meet core-curriculum content standards, and which condition is anticipated to be ongoing, and that capital improvements to the schools are necessary to provide the children of the Borough with a suitable environment conducive to learning so that the students (both general-education and special-needs) can receive the thorough and efficient education to which they are constitutionally entitled, I CONCLUDE that the Commissioner should permit the Borough to issue bonds in the amount of $32,902,400.[15]

[15] The total final eligible costs for the proposed improvements would be $18,702,011, consisting of $14,969,163 for the Park Avenue Elementary/Middle School and $3,732,848 for the Freehold Learning Center, but the exact amounts would be determined after receipt of the State's contribution.

RECOMMENDATION

It is recommended that the Commissioner order issuance of bonds totaling $32,902,400 by Freehold Borough to fund improvements, renovations and repairs necessary to provide a thorough and efficient education to the students of the Freehold Borough School District.

| BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE TOWNSHIP OF MONTGOMERY, SOMERSET COUNTY, | : | DECISION |
| RESPONDENT. | : | |

SYNOPSIS

The petitioner challenged the determination of the respondent Board that his daughter, K.C., engaged in behavior that fell under the school district's policy against harassment, intimidation and bullying (HIB). This case stems from an incident between three female students, K.C., G.T., and M.M., during lunch at Montgomery High School in June 2015. In accordance with the provisions of the New Jersey Anti-Bullying Bill of Rights Act, N.J.S.A. 18A:37-13.2 et seq. (the Act), an investigation was conducted by the school's anti-bullying specialist. The investigation determined that K.C. had committed acts of HIB stemming from verbal communications she made that were reasonably perceived as being motivated by a distinguishing characteristic – namely, M.M.'s eating habits, which her friends labeled as anorexic – which substantially interfered with the rights of M.M., and had the effect of insulting or demeaning her. The HIB investigation report concluded that K.C.'s conduct met the statutory definition of HIB, as set forth in N.J.S.A. 18A:37-14. A Board-level hearing took place in July 2015 at the request of K.C.'s parents, after which the Board affirmed the initial finding of HIB. Thereafter, S.C. filed the within petition. The parties filed cross motions for summary decision.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: there are no material facts in dispute, and the matter is ripe for determination on cross-motions for summary decision depending on the resolution of the sole legal issue in dispute herein: namely whether conduct reasonably perceived as being motivated by a student's apparent eating disorder can be found to constitute HIB within the meaning of the Act; in this case, K.C. admitted making comments to M.M. about the fact that K.C. felt her friend was anorexic because her eating habits had changed; K.C. also admitted taking M.M.'s iPod to text M.M.'s boyfriend about the issue; M.M. herself stated that she felt hurt by her friends and cried in the bathroom; these comments are reasonably perceived to be motivated by the distinguishing characteristic of M.M. having a perceived eating disorder. The ALJ concluded that K.C.'s comments constituted a violation of HIB, and petitioner has not met the burden of proof that the Board acted in an arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable manner in concluding that C.C.'s conduct constituted HIB under the New Jersey Anti-Bullying Bill of Rights Act. Accordingly, the Board's motion for summary decision was granted, the petitioner's cross motion was denied, and the petition was dismissed.

Upon review, the Assistant Commissioner – to whom this matter was delegated pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:4-34 – concurred with the ALJ that the petitioner failed to sustain his burden to show that the Board's actions regarding K.C.'s conduct in June 2015 were arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable. Accordingly, the Assistant Commissioner adopted the Initial Decision as the final decision in this matter.

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed, as have the exceptions filed pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4 by the petitioner and the Board of Education's (Board) reply thereto. In this matter, the petitioner is challenging the Board's determination that K.C. committed an act of Harassment, Intimidation and Bullying (HIB) pursuant to the Anti-Bullying Bill of Rights Act (Act), N.J.S.A. 18A:37-13 et seq.

Upon a comprehensive review of the record in this matter, the Assistant Commissioner[1] concurs with the ALJ – for the reasons stated in the Initial Decision – that the Board's determination that K.C. committed an act of HIB was not arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable. When a local school board acts within its discretionary authority, its decision is entitled to a presumption of correctness and will not be upset unless there is an affirmative showing that the decision was arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable. Thomas v. Bd. of Ed. of Morris Twp., 89 N.J. Super. 327, 332 (App. Div. 1965), aff'd 46 N.J. 581 (1966). The Commissioner cannot find that it has been demonstrated that the Board's handling of this matter was carried out in a manner that was arbitrary, capricious, unreasonable, or otherwise contrary to the Act. Moreover, the Commissioner finds the exceptions submitted by the petitioner to be unpersuasive. The petitioner's exceptions largely replicate the arguments advanced at the OAL, which were fully considered and appropriately addressed by the ALJ in the Initial Decision.

Accordingly, the Initial Decision of the OAL is adopted as the final decision in this matter, and the petition of appeal is hereby dismissed.

Record Closed: May 20, 2016 Decided: June 29, 2016

BEFORE JOHN S. KENNEDY, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On October 15, 2015 the petitioner, S.C. on behalf of K.C., filed a Petition of Appeal to the Commissioner of Education, in which they dispute respondent's finding that K.C. committed an act of harassment, intimidation or bullying ("HIB") pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:37-13.2 et seq. and request that the Commissioner overturn such finding on the grounds that K.C.'s act was not reasonably perceived as being motivated by a distinguishing characteristic. Respondent, Board of Education of the Township of Montgomery, has moved for summary decision asserting that the Board's finding that K.C. committed an act of HIB. Petitioner cross moved for summary decision that respondent school board's action was improper.

The Department of Education transmitted the matter to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), where it was filed on November 13, 2015. N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15; N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13. The parties filed several briefs in support of the motion and cross-motion and the record closed on May 20, 2016.

FACTUAL DISCUSSION

The following facts are undisputed by and between the Parties, S.C. on behalf of the minor child K.C., and the Board of Education of the Township of Montgomery, Somerset County ("the Board") (collectively, "the Parties") and I therefore FIND them as FACT:

1. On June 2, 2015, an incident occurred during lunch at Montgomery High School in the Montgomery Township School District ("the District") between three female students, K.C., G.T. and M.M., all of whom were friends at the time.

2. Later that day, M.M.'s mother reported the incident as a potential instance of harassment, intimidation or bullying "HIB", as defined by the New Jersey Anti-Bullying Bill of Rights Act, N.J.S.A. 18A:37-13.2 et seq. (the "Act"), wherein she alleged that K.C. and G.T. bullied M.M. by commenting that she was anorexic and took her iPod and used it to send a text message to a boy M.M. was dating which stated that M.M. was anorexic.

3. On June 4, 2015, the parents of M.M., G.T. and K.C. were notified of the incident and were informed that an investigation was being conducted.

4. Keith Glock, Anti-Bullying Specialist at Montgomery High School, conducted the investigation and concluded that K.C. and G.T. did comment to M.M. about the fact that they felt she was anorexic because her eating habits had changed. Glock noted that K.C. and G.T. had good intentions, but they went too far by "harping on the subject" and taking M.M.'s iPod out of her hands to send a message to M.M.'s boyfriend that stated M.M. was not eating ( See, Gartenberg Cert., Exhibit E attached to respondent's brief). M.M. reported that this incident put her in the awkward position of having to explain the message to her boyfriend and she felt hurt by her friends and cried in the bathroom (Ibid.) K.C. and G.T. gave statements during the investigation admitting that the incident occurred. K.C. admitted using M.M.'s iPod to send a text message to M.M.'s boyfriend (Ibid.)

5. The HIB investigation report concluded that K.C.'s conduct met the statutory definition of HIB, as set forth in N.J.S.A. 18A:37-14. The District concluded that K.C. made verbal communications that were reasonably perceived as being motivated by a distinguishing characteristic between the girls, namely M.M.'s eating habits, which substantially interfered with the rights of M.M. and had the effect of insulting or demeaning her.

6. The findings of the HIB investigation were reported to the Board at its next meeting on June 16, 2015. Notice of the finding and information on the outcome, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15b(6)(d), was sent home to the parents of M.M. and K.C. by letters, dated June 23, 2015.

7. Thereafter, the parents of K.C. requested a Board-level hearing in accordance with N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15b(6)(d), which request was granted.

8. The Board-level hearing took place on July 21, 2015, at which time the Board heard from the school anti-bullying specialist, Mr. Glock, the parent and K.C. Following the Board-level hearing, the Board affirmed the superintendent's initial finding of HIB. The parents were later notified of the Board's decision.

9. On October 15, 2015, the petitioner, S.C. on behalf of K.C., filed a Petition of Appeal to the Commissioner of Education, in which they dispute the finding of HIB and request that the Commissioner overturn such finding on the grounds that K.C.'s act was not reasonably perceived as being motivated by a distinguishing characteristic.

LEGAL ANALYSIS AND CONCLUSION

N.J.A.C. 1:12-5, governing motions for summary decision, permits early disposition of a case before the case is heard if, based on the papers and discovery which have been filed, it can be decided "that there is no genuine issue as to any material fact challenged and that the moving party is entitled to prevail as a matter of law." N.J.A.C. 1:12-5(b). The provisions of N.J.A.C. 1:12-5 mirror the language of R. 4:46-2 of the New Jersey Court Rules governing motions for summary judgment. To survive summary decision, the opposing party must show that "there is a genuine issue which can only be determined in an evidentiary proceeding." Ibid. Failure to do so entitles the moving party to summary decision. Brill v. Guardian Life Ins. Co. of Am., 142 N.J. 520 (1995).

Moreover, even if the non-moving party comes forward with some evidence, this forum must grant summary decision if the evidence is "so one-sided that [the moving party] must prevail as a matter of law." Id. at 536. This tribunal is required to do "the same type of evaluation, analysis or sifting of evidential materials as required by Rule 4:37-2(b) in light of the burden of persuasion that applies if the matter goes to trial." Id. at 539-540. Like the New Jersey Supreme Court's standard for summary judgment, summary decision is designed to "liberalize the standards so as to permit summary [decision] in a larger number of cases" due to the perception that we live in "a time of great increase in litigation and one in which many meritless cases are filed." Id. at 539 (citation omitted).

I FIND as FACT that there are no material facts in dispute, and this matter is ripe for determination on cross-motions for summary decision, with one party or the other being entitled to decision, as a matter of law, depending on the resolution of the sole legal issue in dispute above.

New Jersey enacted the Anti-Bullying Bill of Rights Act to "strengthen the standards and procedures for preventing, reporting, investigating, and responding to incidents of harassment, intimidation, and bullying" occurring both on and off of school grounds. N.J.S.A. 18A:37-13.1(f). Definitions relative to adoption of harassment and bullying prevention policies are found in N.J.S.A. 18A:37-14, which states in part:

> "Harassment, intimidation or bullying" means any gesture, any written, verbal or physical act, or any electronic communication, whether it be a single incident or a series of incidents, that is reasonably perceived as being motivated either by any actual or perceived characteristic, such as race, color, religion, ancestry, national origin, gender, sexual orientation, gender identity and expression, or a mental, physical or sensory disability, or by any other distinguishing characteristic, that takes place on school property, at any school-sponsored function, on a school bus, or off school grounds as provided for in section 16 of P.L.2010, c.122 (C.18A:37-15.3), that substantially disrupts or interferes with the orderly operation of the school or the rights of other students and that:

> emotional harm to his person or damage to his property;
> (b) has the effect of insulting or demeaning any student or group of students; or
> (c) creates a hostile educational environment for the student by interfering with a student's education or by severely or pervasively causing physical or emotional harm to the student.

The sole issue in dispute in the within matter is whether conduct reasonably perceived as being motivated by a student's perceived eating disorder can be found to constitute HIB, within the meaning of the Act, as HIB is defined at N.J.S.A. 18A:37-14. Petitioner asserts that once Glock determined that K.C.'s intentions were good, the actions could no longer meet the statutory definition of HIB. K.C.'s motivation was to protect the health of her friend and not to insult or demean her. In W.C.L. and A.L. o/b/o L.L. v. Board of Education of the Borough of Tenafly, EDU 3223-12, Initial Decision (November 26, 2012), aff'd Commissioner (January 10, 2013) a student's comments relating to head lice on another student was perceived as being motivated by a distinguishing characteristic. In R.G.B. v. Village of Ridgewood Bd. Of Ed., EDU 14213-12, 2013 N.J. AGEN LEXIS 130 (May 15, 2013) a student calling another student a "horse" and a "fat-ass" was found to constitute HIB and reasonably perceived as motivated by the distinguishing characteristic of appearance or body-type. In C.C. o/b/o/ S.C. v. Bd. of Ed. Of Twp. Of Jefferson, EDU 10872-14, 2015 N.J. AGEN LEXIS 251 (April 6, 2015) a student's comments that another student "sucks at basketball" was found to constitute HIB because the comments were reasonably perceived as motivated by the distinguishing characteristic of height, intelligence and sports proficiency.

In this case, K.C. admitted making comments to M.M. about the fact that K.C. felt she was anorexic because her eating habits had changed. She also admits taking M.M.'s iPod to text M.M.'s boyfriend about the issue. M.M. herself stated she felt hurt by her friends and cried in the bathroom. I CONCLUDE that those comments and actions are reasonably perceived to be motivated by the distinguishing characteristic of M.M. having an perceived eating disorder. In K.L. v. Evesham Twp. Bd. of Ed. 423 N.J.Super. 337 the Appellate Division stated that the definition of bullying does not include harmful or demeaning conduct motivated by other reason, for example a dispute about relationships or personal belongings, or aggressive conduct without identifiable motivation. The fact that M.M. felt hurt by this action demonstrates that the conduct had an effect of insulting or demeaning M.M. Therefore, I CONCLUDE that K.C.'s comments constitute a violation of HIB.

Respondent urges this tribunal to conclude that the Board was not arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable in its determination that the HIB investigation was conducted properly and that K.C.'s conduct did constitute HIB. Therefore, the Petition of Appeal should be dismissed. Petitioner asserts that the board twisted comments about eating habits into other distinguishing characteristic: body type and the Board's decision was arbitrary, capricious, and unreasonable.

The Commissioner of Education will not overturn the decision of a local board in the absence of a finding that the action below was arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable. T.B.M. v. Moorestown Bd. of Educ., EDU 2780-07, Initial Decision (February 6, 2008) (citing Thomas v. Morris Twp. Bd. of Educ., 89 N.J. Super. 327, 332 (App. Div. 1965), aff'd, 46 N.J. 581(1966)), adopted, Comm'r (April 7, 2008), <http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/>. Further, the Commissioner will not substitute his judgment for that of the board of education, whose exercise of its discretion may not be disturbed unless shown to be "patently arbitrary, without rational basis or induced by improper motives." Kopera v. W. Orange Bd. of Educ., 60 N.J. Super. 288, 294 (App. Div. 1960). New Jersey courts have held that "[w]here there is room for two opinions, action is not arbitrary or capricious when exercised honestly and upon due consideration, even though it may be believed that an erroneous conclusion has been reached." Bayshore Sewage Co. v. Dep't of Envtl. Prot., 122 N.J. Super. 184, 199–200 (Ch. Div. 1973), aff'd, 131 N.J. Super. 37 (App. Div. 1974). Thus, in order to prevail, the petitioner must demonstrate that the Board acted in bad faith, or in utter disregard of the circumstances before it. T.B.M., supra, EDU 2780-07, Initial Decision (February 6, 2008), <http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/>; see W.C.L. and A.L. ex rel L.L. v. Tenafly Bd. of Educ., OAL Dkt. No. EDU 3223-12 (2013) (The petitioner challenged the school board's decision that a student committed an act of HIB. The administrative law judge, (ALJ) found that the board's actions were consistent with the letter and spirit of the law and were not taken in bad faith or in disregard of the circumstances. The ALJ concluded that the petitioner failed to establish that the board's actions were arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable. The Commissioner affirmed the ALJ's decision to dismiss the petition of appeal.); J.M.C. ex rel A.C. v. E. Brunswick Bd. of Educ., OAL Dkt. No. EDU 4144-12 (2013) (The petitioner challenged the board's determination that the actions of the petitioner's son constituted HIB. The board found that the student called another student "gay" and said he "danced like a girl." The demeaning remarks constituted HIB.). In both cases, the petitioners failed to satisfy their burden to show that the board's actions were arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable.

I have carefully reviewed the record. Petitioner has presented no credible evidence that the Board acted in an arbitrary manner. As I have previously concluded that K.C.'s comments and actions are reasonably perceived to be motivated by the distinguishing characteristic of M.M.'s perceived eating disorder, I CONCLUDE that petitioner has not met the burden of proof that the Board acted in an arbitrary manner in concluding that K.C.'s conduct constituted harassment, intimidation or bullying under the New Jersey Anti-Bullying Bill of Rights Act.

On November 2, 2015, I was appointed by the New Jersey Department of Education, Bureau of Controversies and Disputes to serve as arbitrator pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-16 as amended by P.L. 2012, c. 26 and P.L. 2015, c. 109, to hear and make a final determination on tenure charges filed by the School District of the City of Trenton [the "Petitioner"] against tenured Vice-Principal Carlos Gonzalez [the "Respondent"]. Upon receipt of that appointment, I reviewed the certified tenure charges and answer opposing the charges. Thereafter, I conducted a conference call with counsel for the parties on January 12, 2016, at which time the procedure for processing this case were discussed and mutually agreed upon. The parties requested, and I agreed, that the matter should proceed directly to formal hearing. Prior to hearing, Respondent requested that the arbitrator sign and issue subpoenas to seven individuals requiring them to appear and testify at the arbitration hearings.

Arbitration hearings in this matter were scheduled to be held on February 24, February 26, March 1 and March 2, 2016. At the commencement of the February 24, 2016 hearing, the arbitrator requested that Petitioner and Respondent voluntarily engage in informal discussions to ascertain whether the issues raised in this proceeding were susceptible to mediation and resolution. After lengthy joint discussions ensued, the parties were able to construct tentative terms for a Settlement Agreement. Those terms were adopted by the School District of the City of Trenton on March 21, 2016 and signed by Respondent on May 6, 2016. The terms, formally adopted by the District, were signed by the Board President on behalf of the entire Board on August 12, 2016. Pursuant to those terms, the Respondent submitted an irrevocable resignation from employment as part of a lengthy and comprehensive Settlement Agreement that also included the withdrawal of the tenure charges upon approval of the signed Stipulation by the Arbitrator.

The arbitrator is required under N.J.A.C. 6A:3-5.6 to issue a decision approving the settlement of tenure charges and to explain why the arbitrator is approving the terms of settlement. I have approved these terms and have also signed the Stipulation reflecting my approval for the reasons that follow.

I am persuaded that the issues that were raised in the Statement of Tenure Charges and the Statement of Evidence filed by the Petitioner and the Answer to Tenure Charges filed by the Respondent have been satisfactorily addressed and resolved by the terms of settlement. In addition to the fact that these terms are mutually acceptable to the parties, I conclude that the interests of the public will be served as well by the settlement and the avoidance of extended litigation

The parties have agreed that the interests of all concerned will be served by Respondent's separation from employment by voluntary resignation as a condition precedent to the withdrawal of the tenure charges. The parties have acknowledged that these terms have been agreed upon without admission by either party as to the merits of the claims raised by the tenure charges or by Respondent's defenses to the charges. The parties also acknowledge that the terms cannot serve as precedent in any future similar proceeding. The Settlement Agreement resolves Petitioner's desire that Respondent no longer be employed by the Board accompanied by consideration received by the Respondent that reflect an amicable termination of Respondent's employment. I also note that the Settlement Agreement avoids the potential for students having to testify during class time and the distress that can often accompany the rigors of being subject to an adversarial legal proceeding. The Board and the public will further benefit by the avoidance of substantial litigation costs and the uncertainties attendant to litigating of the tenure charges, including any potential for judicial review after the issuance of an Award.

Accordingly, and based upon all of the above, I hereby approve the parties' settlement agreement.

| IN THE MATTER OF TENURE CHARGES OF CARLOS GONZALEZandTRENTON BOARD OF EDUCATION | AGENCY REF. NO. 311-10/15STIPULATION OF SETTLEMENT |

The Trenton Board of Education (the "Board"), whose principal office is located at 108 North Clinton Avenue, Trenton, New Jersey 08609, and its successors, assigns, officers, employees, agents and representatives (collectively, "School Board"), and Carlos Gonzalez, residing at 124 Partridge Avenue, Trenton, New Jersey, 08610, ("Respondent") (collectively, the "Parties") have voluntarily resolved all disputed matters and enter into the following Stipulation of Settlement, which fully disposes of all issues in controversy between them in full and complete settlement of all outstanding issues as detailed below.

WHEREAS Respondent is a tenured teaching staff member employed by the Board as a Vice Principal; and

WHEREAS the Superintendent of the School Board ("Superintendent") certified tenure charges of Unbecoming Conduct, Corporal Punishment and Other Just Cause to the Commissioner of Education of the State of New Jersey, captioned In the Matter of Tenure Charges of Carlos Gonzalez, Trenton Board of Education ("Tenure Charges"), and such charges were assigned Docket No. 311-10/15; and Respondent filed an answer opposing the charges; and the Commissioner of Education, having reviewed the charges and Respondent's answer, determined that the charges were sufficient, if true, to warrant dismissal or reduction in salary, and accordingly referred the matter to Arbitrator James W. Mastriani ("Arbitrator") for a hearing; and

WHEREAS, Respondent has denied the allegations set forth in the tenure charges; and

WHEREAS, the Parties are aware of the uncertainty of the outcome of arbitration; and

WHEREAS, due to the potential expenditure of resources for multiple days of hearings with numerous witnesses, and the concern that school personnel will be removed from their educational duties and responsibilities during that time, the Parties wish to resolve this matter in accordance with the terms set forth herein rather than proceed with arbitration; and

WHEREAS the proposed Stipulation of Settlement is in the best interest of the Parties and the public because Respondent resigns from his employment without litigation, avoids requiring a student to testify in this procedure and miss educational time, and further avoids an uncertain conclusion after protracted and costly proceedings at the expense of the public;

NOW, THEREFORE, subject to approval by the Arbitrator, the Parties hereby agree as follows:

1. Respondent shall receive reimbursement of pay for the one-hundred and twenty day (120-day) unpaid suspension period from October 6, 2015 through February 3, 2016 totaling sixty-two thousand three-hundred and ninety-two dollars ($62,392) on or before June 30, 2016.
2. Respondent shall continue to earn his regular salary of one-hundred and twenty-four thousand seven-hundred and eighty-four dollars ($124,784) in regular payroll installments through June 30, 2016.

3. Respondent shall receive a payment of fifteen-thousand four-hundred and forty-two dollars and two cents ($15,442.02) on or before June 30, 2016 which reflects Respondent's 2015-16 per diem rate of $519.93 multiplied by his earned vacation days for 2015-16 of twenty-nine and a seventh (29.7) days for 2015-16.
4. On or before June 30, 2016, Respondent shall receive a lump-sum payment in the amount of $124,784.00 which reflects a projected salary for the 2016-17 school year on or before June 30, 2016 along with a 2016 Form 1099-MISC for tax purposes;
5. Respondent shall not earn any paid days (e.g. sick, personal or vacation) for any portion of the 2016-17 school year.
6. Concurrent with the execution of this Stipulation of Settlement, Respondent shall submit an irrevocable letter of resignation to the Board effective June 30, 2016 ("Effective Date") (See Exhibit A to the Stipulation, a copy of Respondent's signed letter of resignation).
7. As of the Effective Date, all of Respondent's rights of employment with the Board, including but not limited to accrued salary, benefits, tenure, and seniority, will cease.
8. Respondent will not apply for reemployment with the Board at any time. Specifically, Respondent will be considered to have permanently resigned from his tenured position as a result of this Stipulation of Settlement. If Respondent does apply for reemployment with the Board and is approved for employment, the terms of this Agreement shall control and shall be grounds for termination of Respondent's employment.
9. Respondent's health benefits shall cease effective July 1, 2016. Should Respondent wish to continue health benefits, he may do so through COBRA at his own expense.

10. The Board agrees to release Respondent of any obligation to remain employed by the Board for three (3) school years following Respondent's completion of his doctoral degree. The Board thereby relinquishes any right to collect any monies it has paid towards Respondent's attainment of a doctoral degree.

11. The parties agree that any future tuition payments for Respondent's pursuit of his doctoral degree shall be solely borne by Respondent.

12. The Board agrees that its Human Resources Department shall submit a neutral letter of reference to Respondent's attorney Robert M. Schwartz, Esq. on or before June 30, 2016.

13. In accordance with N.J.A.C. 6A:3-5.6(a)6, the Board notified the State Board of Education of the tenure charges when they were filed with the Commissioner of Education. Additionally, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-4.4, the Respondent has been advised of the Board's duty to notify the State Board of Examiners of the Respondent's resignation. As this agreement does not reflect the substance of the charges brought by the Board, the Respondent's resignation does not constitute in any way any acknowledgment of wrongdoing. Rather, the Agreement and the resignation which is a part of the Agreement represents the determination made by both parties that settling this matter in accordance with the terms set forth herein is in the best and mutual interest of both the Board and the Respondent. Further, should there be any action filed by the State Board of Examiners as to the Respondent's educational certificates, the Board shall cooperate to the extent of and as required by law.

14. Upon final approval of the signed Stipulation by the Arbitrator, the Board shall and hereby does withdraw the instant Tenure Charges. The Board agrees that it will not pursue the subject Tenure Charges against Respondent as long as this Stipulation remains in effect and is not voided by any court or administrative agency of competent jurisdiction. In the event the Stipulation is voided, the Board retains the right to file and consider for certification, tenure charges against Respondent, including those tenure charges which have been previously filed against him by the Board, and Respondent reserves the right to defend same.

15. In exchange for the consideration set forth in paragraph 14 above, the sufficiency of which is hereby acknowledged, Respondent hereby waives, releases and discharges any and all claims or rights that he has or may have against the Board of Education and its members, the Trenton Public Schools, Former Superintendent Francisco Duran, Interim Superintendent Lucy Feria, and any and all other Board officers, employees, representatives, agents, successors and assigns (collectively, the "Released Parties") including any claim for attorneys' fees, costs or other monetary relief. This waiver, release and discharge includes, without limitation, any and all actions, claims, and liabilities of whatever kind or character, in law or in equity, now known or unknown, suspected or unsuspected, directly or indirectly related to Respondent's employment with the Board or separation from employment with the Board. It specifically includes, without limitation, all claims which Respondent may have regarding tenure, withholding of increment, discrimination on any basis, any federal or state civil rights law, any alleged violation of the Age Discrimination in Employment Act, as amended; the Older Worker Benefits Protection Act; Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, as amended; Sections 1981 through 1988 of Title 42 of the United States Code; the Civil Rights Act of 1991; the Equal Pay Act; the Americans with Disabilities Act; the Rehabilitation Act; the Family and Medical Leave Act; the Fair Labor Standards Act; the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974, as amended; the Worker Adjustment and Retraining Notification Act; the National Labor Relations Act; the Fair Credit Reporting Act; the Occupational Safety and Health Act; the Uniformed Services Employment and Reemployment Act; the Employee Polygraph Protection Act; the Immigration Reform Control Act; the retaliation provisions of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002; the False Claims Act; the New Jersey Law Against Discrimination; the New Jersey Conscientious Employee Protection Act; the New Jersey Family Leave Act; the New Jersey Wage and Hour Law; the New Jersey Equal Pay Law; the New Jersey Occupational Safety and Health Law; the New Jersey Smokers' Rights Law; the New Jersey Genetic Privacy Act; the New Jersey Fair Credit Reporting Act; New Jersey Wages and Hours Law, unemployment compensations laws, disability benefits laws, retaliation provisions of the New Jersey Workers' Compensation Law; the United States Constitution, the New Jersey Constitution; and/or any other alleged violation of any federal, state or local law, regulation or ordinance; any claim based on contract, implied contract, collective bargaining agreement, tort law, personal injury, or public policy, having any bearing whatsoever on his employment by and/or termination of his employment with the Board, including but not limited to any claim for wrongful discharge, back pay, vacation pay, sick pay, personal day pay, wages, attorneys' fees, costs, and/or future wage loss. Respondent also agrees to withdraw any and all pending complaints or actions that have been filed against the Board or any of its employees or representatives;

16. Notwithstanding the above, it is understood and agreed that the parties are not prohibited from communicating with or participating in any administrative proceeding before the United States Department of Labor, the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, or any other federal, state or local law agency. Should any entity, agency commission or person file a charge, action, complaint or lawsuit against the Board based upon any of the above-released claims in Paragraph 15, Respondent agrees not to seek or accept any resulting relief whatsoever.

17. To comply with the Older Workers Benefit Protection Act, if applicable, this Stipulation of Settlement advises Respondent of the legal requirements of the Act and fully incorporates the legal requirements by reference into this Stipulation of Settlement. Accordingly, by executing this Stipulation, Respondent acknowledges that he: (i) fully understands the terms and conditions of this Stipulation of Settlement; (ii) has consulted with an attorney to review the Stipulation of Settlement; (iii) specifically waives his right to pursue any current claims he may have under the Age Discrimination in Employment Act; (iv) has been given sufficient time within which to consider this Stipulation of Settlement; and (v) has seven (7) days from the date of the execution of this Stipulation of Settlement to revoke it. Each counterpart will be deemed an original, which taken together shall constitute a single instrument. Facsimile signatures or signatures in electronic Portable Document Format ("PDF") shall be construed and have the same force and effect as original signatures.

25. This Stipulation or any uncertainty or ambiguity therein shall not be construed against any party, but shall be construed as if both Parties to this Stipulation jointly prepared this Agreement.

26. Each party acknowledges that this is the entire agreement of the Parties concerning the subject matter of the foregoing paragraphs, and that there are no written or oral representations, understandings or agreements directly or indirectly connected with this Stipulation.

27. If any provision of this Stipulation is held by a court of competent jurisdiction or determined under applicable law to be invalid, void, or unenforceable, the remaining provisions will continue and remain in full force and effect.

28. The parties agree that the terms of the settlement agreement are subject to approval by the Trenton Board of Education.

29. Additionally, this Stipulation is subject to final approval by the Arbitrator pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-5.6(c), and will become effective only upon approval by the Arbitrator. S.F., ON BEHALF OF MINOR CHILD, S.H., :

PETITIONER, :

V. : COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION

BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE TOWNSHIP OF PISCATAWAY, MIDDLESEX COUNTY, : DECISION

RESPONDENT. :

SYNOPSIS

Pro se petitioner filed an appeal of the respondent Board's determination that her child, S.H., was not entitled to a free public education in Piscataway Township schools. Petitioner asserted that she and her children live in Piscataway with S.F.'s father and family, and that S.H. occasionally stays overnight with her biological father in Bound Brook. The Board contended that a residency investigation had shown that S.F. and her children were domiciled in Bound Brook from March 2015 forward. Accordingly, the Board counterclaimed for tuition for the period of S.H.'s ineligible attendance in Piscataway schools.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(a), public schools are required to provide a free education to individuals aged 5 to 20 years who are domiciled within the school district; the domicile of unemancipated children is the domicile of their parent or guardian; in the instant case, the results of the Board's residency investigation show that S.F. and her children were domiciled in Bound Brook during the time period in question; petitioner failed to demonstrate by a preponderance of the credible evidence that her child was entitled to a free public education in Piscataway; pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(b), a school board is entitled to recover tuition from a parent or guardian of a child found ineligible to attend school in its district; and the respondent Board is entitled to back tuition in the amount of $11,842.71 for the period from March 12, 2015 to April 1, 2016 and, thereafter, an additional $61.19 for each day that S.F. remains in Piscataway schools.

Upon review of the record and the Initial Decision, the Commissioner concurred with the ALJ that petitioner failed to sustain her burden of establishing that she was a domiciliary of Piscataway during the period in question. Accordingly, the Initial Decision was adopted as the final decision in this matter and petitioner was directed to reimburse the Board in the amount of $11,842.71, plus $61.19 for each day beyond April 1, 2016 that S.F. remains enrolled in Piscataway schools. The petition was dismissed.

| PETITIONER, | : | |

| BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE TOWNSHIP OF PISCATAWAY, MIDDLESEX COUNTY, | : | DECISION |
| RESPONDENT. | : | |

Upon such review, the Commissioner concurs with the Administrative Law Judge's (ALJ) finding that petitioner failed to sustain her burden of establishing that she was a domiciliary of Piscataway from March 12, 2015 to the present. The Commissioner further concurs with the ALJ's conclusion that the minor child was, therefore, not entitled to a free public education in the District's schools during this time.

Pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1b, the Commissioner shall assess tuition against petitioner for the time period during which the minor child was ineligible to attend school in Piscataway. Therefore, the Board is entitled to tuition reimbursement in the amount of $11,842.71 ($56.05 per day for 65 days and $61.19 per day for 134 days) for the time period from March 12, 2015 to April 1, 2016 – during which petitioner's minor child was ineligible to attend – plus $61.19 for each day beyond April 1, 2016 that the minor child remains in Piscataway's schools.

Accordingly, the Initial Decision of the OAL is adopted as the final decision in this matter. Petitioner is directed to reimburse the Board in the amount of $11,842.71 – plus $61.19 for each day beyond April 1, 2016 that S.H. remains enrolled in the District's schools – for tuition costs incurred during the time period that S.H. was ineligible to attend school in Piscataway. The petition of appeal is hereby dismissed.

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Petitioner challenges the Board of Education's residency determination. The Residency Appeal was filed on December 31, 2015, and an Answer filled on January 20, 2016. Thereafter, the matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), where, on January 22, 2016, it was filed for hearing and determination as a contested case. N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15; N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13.

On March 23, 2016, The Board of Education (BOE) of the Township of Piscataway Township (Piscataway), Middlesex County filed a Motion to Amend its' Answer to include a counterclaim for back tuition. The Motion was granted since the express terms of N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1 provide that the BOE is automatically entitled to back tuition should petitioner not prevail. [1]

A hearing was held on April 1, 2016. In order to allow petitioner to produce a witness to testify on her behalf that she had not brought to the initial hearing, at the request of petitioner, a second hearing was conducted on May 5, 2016. After written summations were received, the record closed on June 2, 2016.

FACTUAL DISCUSSION AND FINDINGS OF FACT

At the hearings the BOE presented testimony from Assistant Truant Officer Vincent Piano (Investigator Piano), and Truant Officer Kristine Leyra (Truant Officer Leyra). S.F. and H.R. (S.F.'s father) testified on behalf of the minor child, S.H.

Testimony on Behalf of Piscataway

Investigator Piano has worked as an Assistant Truant Officer with the BOE for some five years. Prior to working for the BOE, he was employed for more than twenty-five years for the Westfield Police Department. As a law enforcement officer, he received instruction and experience in surveillance and trailing of persons. Between March 2015 and March 2016 on more than sixty occasions, Investigator Piano conducted surveillance of S.F. and her minor daughter S.H. Twenty-one of those surveillances occurred between February and March of this year, 2016. On each occasion he detailed in writing what he observed. (R-7.) During the surveillances which occurred on school days, S.F. would leave XXX in Bound Brook with S.H., her minor daughter, and drive in the early morning hours to XXX Montgomery Street in Piscataway, prior to having the child go to the school she attended in Piscataway.

[1] It should be noted that petitioner was advised of her exposure to an award of back tuition in a letter to her from the BOE dated December 21, 2015, which was annexed to her petition of appeal. Petitioner was also advised of the potential for an award of back tuition during the Prehearing conference of this matter on February 10, 2016.

On one occasion, March 23, 2015, Investigation Piano knocked on the rear door of XXX Bound Brook. When S.F. answered the door, the investigator explained that S.F. needed to withdraw S.H from the Piscataway school district since, in accordance with his observations, she was not residing at the Piscataway address. He handed S.F. a withdrawal form, and gave her an opportunity to read the withdrawal form. After reading the form, S.F. signed it and returned it to Investigator Piano. (R-2, R-2a, R-7 p. 4.) However, after signing the form, S.F. did not stop taking her daughter to school in Piscataway. In fact on March 30, 2015, S.F. and H.F., S.F's father, executed a new Affidavit of Residency of Student, swearing that S.F and S.H. reside with H.F. and his family at XXX in Piscataway. (R-3.)

Officer Piano conducted further surveillance of S.F. and her minor daughter, S.H. On every occasion that he conducted surveillance, the car that S.F. drove was never parked overnight in Piscataway but rather was parked in Bound Brook. On every occasion that he conducted surveillance, even in the summer, S.F. and S.H. would emerge from XXX Bound Brook in the morning. On no occasion of his sixty observations did Investigator Piano observe any evidence that S.F. and S.H. had spent the night in Piscataway and/or did he fail on a school day to see S.F. travel with S.H. from Bound Brook to Piscataway where the child would attend school.

On a second occasion on September 18, 2015, Investigator Piano again went to the rear of XXX Bound Brook. He knocked on the door at about 7:45 a.m. and S.H.'s biological father answered the door. When the investigator explained that he was the Assistant Truant Officer for Piscataway and that he needed to speak with S.F., the biological father told Investigator Piano that S.F. did not live there but lived in Piscataway. Investigator Piano saw the car that S.F. normally drove when traveling from Bound Brook to Piscataway on the mornings of his surveillances parked in the back of the residence. Accordingly, instead of leaving the area of XXX Bound Brook, he drove around the corner, where he had a clear view of the rear of the residence to observe anyone exiting the residence. About twenty minutes later, Investigator Piano observed S.F. exit XXX Bound Brook with S.H. He followed S.F., who drove to XXX in Piscataway. Upon arrival, he approached S.F. and explained that she needed to withdraw S.H. from the Piscataway school district. S.F. informed Investigator Piano that she did not intend to do so.

Investigator Piano testified at a Piscataway BOE hearing, where he explained what he had observed during the occasions that he surveilled S.F and S.H. He also testified that S.F. had signed the form agreeing to withdraw S.H. from the Piscataway school district on March 23, 2015. (R-2.) However at the hearing, he observed S.F. deny that the signature on the withdrawal letter was hers. Investigator Piano was aware that after reviewing documentation and taking testimony, the BOE concluded that S.H. was not eligible to remain enrolled in the district and so advised S.F. by letter dated December 21, 2015. S.F. filed this appeal. (R-6.)

After the BOE determination and pending the OAL Hearing, Investigator Piano continued to conduct surveillances. He monitored both residences daily. On nineteen of twenty-one days, S.F. exited the Bound Brook residence with S.H. and drove her to Piscataway for school. On two of the twenty-one days, Investigator Piano did not see S.F. or S.H. exit either residence and S.H. was not present in school.

Truant Officer Leyra testified that, in addition to her truant officer duties, she is the head of the Enrollment Center in Piscataway. She stated that the district requires execution of certain forms annually for families who wish to enroll students in the school district but do not own or lease property in their name in Piscataway. Truant Officer Leyra identified the form completed by S.F. and her father H.F. in August 2014 indicating that S.F. resided with her school-age daughter, S.H., at the home her father, H.S., who owns a house in Piscataway. (R-1.) Truant Officer Leyra identified the withdrawal form that she was given by Investigator Piano, signed on March 23, 2015, that indicated that S.F. was withdrawing her daughter from the Piscataway school system since she did not reside in Piscataway. (R-2.) The truant officer stated that, several days after S.F. signed the withdrawal form, S.F. called her stating that she had documentation to support the fact that she was living in Piscataway including a driver's license and paystub. Truant Officer Leyra stated that, after evaluating the documentation S.F. provided, Piscataway decided, in part based on the lateness of the school year, to allow S.H. to remain in school in Piscataway while surveillance as to where the child truly resided would be continued.

Although surveillance continued to indicate that S.H. resided in Bound Brook, S.F. and her father H.F. again signed an Affidavit of Residency of Student in July 2015 stating that S.F. and her daughter resided in Piscataway. Thereafter, when S.H. again attended school in Piscataway in the fall, the district once again continued surveillance to confirm where S.H. was residing. The continued surveillance reports again indicated that S.F. and S.H. were residing in Bound Brook and not Piscataway. Accordingly, Piscataway advised S.F. by written correspondence that S.H. was not eligible to attend school in Piscataway and regarding her rights to appeal that decision. (R-5.) As a result of S.F.'s appeal, a hearing was held on December 17, 2015, before the Piscataway BOE, that resulted in a determination that S.H. was domiciled in Bound Brook and accordingly was not entitled to attend school in Piscataway. (R-6.) Truant Officer Leyra identified and certified as to the accuracy of a Back Tuition Calculation of monies that Piscataway seeks in its counterclaim should petitioner not prevail on the merits. (R-8 and R-9.)

Testimony on Behalf on S.F. and the minor child S.H.

S.F. testified on her own behalf and on behalf of her daughter. She stated that she resides at XXX in Piscataway. She receives mail at XXX in Piscataway. At the time of the initial surveillances, S.F. was working and her daughter's father would sometimes let her borrow a car of his. The car was registered where he lives at XXX in Bound Brook and she would go to his house to pick up the vehicle. She is no longer working and receives food stamps from the Middlesex Board of Social Services based upon living at XXX in Piscataway.

S.F. said that when she went to court for child support, S.H.'s father and she "made an agreement, not memorialized in writing, with the "court team" that they would split days with the child—that she would reside with him and then with her." S.F. is not on her child's father's lease as residing with him. S.F. testified that she does not stay overnight at S.H.'s father's residence. She only picks up the child when S.H. stays overnight.

Upon cross-examination, S.F. acknowledged that if it were determined that she did not reside in Middlesex County, she would lose the benefits she was receiving from the Middlesex County Board of Social Services and would have to refund benefits she received during any period in which it was determined that she did not reside in Middlesex County.

When questioned as to why Investigator Piano saw, on approximately sixty occasions from March 2015 to March 2016, S.H. and S.F. leave S.H.'s father home in the early morning, S.F. replied that on those occasions, she had slept in Piscataway and S.H. slept with her father in Bound Brook. She only came to the house early those mornings to pick up S.H. after her overnight visit with her father. She postulated that maybe Investigator Piano did not see her arrival because she came in the front door and he was watching the back door. S.F. insisted that she never stayed overnight in Bound Brook because she "could not" since she was not "on" S.H.'s father lease. She continued to assert that she resides in Piscataway and that S.H. spends the majority of her time residing with S.F. in Piscataway. S.F. did acknowledge that she has another child, non-school age, with S.H.'s father. [2]

S.F. admitted that, at the BOE Hearing, she denied ever signing the letter given to her on March 23, 2015, by Investigation Piano. However, upon questioning during the OAL hearing she acknowledged signing the form but asserted that she put a check in the wrong box since she wanted to indicate that she refused to remove her daughter from the Piscataway school system and not that she would withdraw her daughter from school in Piscataway. S.F. indicated the error was the result of her nervousness "that somebody came to her boyfriend's residence" and her failure to fully read the paper. (R-2.) S.F. argued that she does see the merit in Piscataway's position, since she is not the only person in New Jersey whose child sometimes resides with another parent some nights. She postulated that, if she enrolled S.H. in Bound Brook, Bound Brook would investigate residency and might claim S.H. should not be attending school there.

A second hearing day was scheduled so that S.F. could bring one or two witnesses to testify on her behalf and on behalf of her daughter. On that second day of hearing, only H.F., S.F.'s father and S.H.'s grandfather testified. H.F. stated that his daughter always resided with him. At the time of his testimony and during the period at issue, his daughter and her two children were residing with him, his wife, his son, and his son's children. When his daughter was working she gave him some money for rent, but presently since she was not working she pays no money toward rent or utilities. H.F. acknowledged that he discussed with his daughter what his testimony would be at the hearing and was aware that his daughter received food stamps as a resident of Middlesex County. H.F. testified that S.F. has never slept at the home of both of her children's biological father, though S.H. has slept there a couple of times on weekends—never on school nights. H.F. testified that, more frequently, the child goes to see her father for a couple of hours during the day.

In this matter, testimony as to the critical issue of whether and how often S.H. sleeps in Bound Brook or Piscataway differs greatly. I FIND the testimony of S.F. and her father H.F. not to be credible and the testimony of Investigator Piano to be extremely credible. For testimony to be believed, it must not only come from the mouth of a credible witness, but it also has to be credible in itself. It must elicit evidence that is from such common experience and observation that it can be approved as proper under the circumstances. See Spagnuolo v. Bonnet, 16 N.J. 546 (1954); Gallo v. Gallo, 66 N.J. Super. 1 (App. Div. 1961). A credibility determination requires an overall assessment of the witness's story in light of its rationality, internal consistency and the manner in which it "hangs together" with the other evidence. Carbo v. United States, 314 F.2d 718, 749 (9th Cir. 1963). Also, "'[t]he interest, motive, bias, or prejudice of a witness may affect his credibility and justify the [trier of fact], whose province it is to pass upon the credibility of an interested witness, in disbelieving his testimony.'" State v. Salimone, 19 N.J. Super. 600, 608 (App. Div.), certif. denied, 10 N.J. 316 (1952) (citation omitted).

S.F. has strong motivation not to acknowledge that she and her young children are residing overnight with the father of her two youngsters. She enrolled her daughter in the school district from where she testified she graduated in August 2014. She, on at least three occasions, signed affidavits affirming that she and S.H. were residing in Piscataway and therefore that S.H. was entitled to be educated in the Piscataway District. The affidavits expressly state:

> Submission of any knowingly inaccurate information on the affidavit has serious legal implications and may expose you to criminal prosecution. Submission of a fraudulent document to a government agency is punishable by jail and fines in criminal court. In addition a tuition judgment may be imposed by a court, or the Commissioner of Education for any services secured through submission of fraudulent information.

Should there be a determination that S.H. does not reside in Piscataway, where the child is enrolled in school, by statute Piscataway will be entitled to receive reimbursement for the cost of the child's education. S.F.'s liability for the period at issue will exceed $11,842.71. (R-8 to R-9.)

In addition, S.F. applied for and received food stamps based upon an application filed with the Middlesex County Board of Social Services, indicating that she resides in Middlesex County. Should there be a determination that S.F. does not live in Middlesex County she would be subject to reimbursement of the benefits she received in food stamps. (P-6.) As of March 15, 2016, S.F. is receiving a monthly allotment of $489 in food stamps.

Testimony as whether S.H. spends any time residing overnight with her biological father differs greatly. Her grandfather testified that the child visits her father during the day. She may have "a couple of times" spent overnight but "never on school nights." S.F. testified that after going to court she and the father's child agreed to split parenting. Yet, she inconsistently describes what the "split" is. The split varies from never spending overnights in Bound Brook, to sometimes spending overnights in Bound Brook, to spending Wednesdays overnight in Bound Brook.

S.H.'s testimony regarding whether she ever knowingly signed a letter dated March 23, 2015, acknowledging that S.H. did not reside in Piscataway and agreeing to remove her daughter from the school system is inconsistent and lacks credibility. Investigator Piano states that she signed the letter so agreeing after reading it in his presence. S.F. during the BOE Hearing denied ever signing the letter. At the OAL Hearing, after being confronted with her signature on the letter, S.F. said after she had the ability to carefully look at the document, she recognized that she had signed it. However she alleged that she was nervous at the time and checked the wrong box. She had wanted to check the box that indicated she refused to remove her child from attending school in Piscataway.

The documentation produced by petitioner in support of her contention that she lives in Piscataway, is also unpersuasive. In essence, all of the correspondence and documents indicate exacting what S.F. has represented to third parties, such as Motor Vehicle and the Middlesex County Board of Social Services, that she resides at her parents' home in Piscataway. Even if she resided in Bound Brook, she would have no difficulty obtaining her mail at her parent's residence, since her daughter was attending school in Piscataway, the town where he parents lived. (P-1 to P-8.)

In contrast, I observed Investigator Piano testify confidently and credibly that all of his more than sixty surveillances have produced no indication that S.F. resides in Piscataway and substantial evidence that S.F. and her children, in particular S.H., reside with S.H.'s biological father at XXX Bound Brook, where they sleep overnight during the week, on the weekend, and in the summer. Investigator Piano's observations are memorialized by notes that he testified were made contemporaneously with his observations. The notes are factually clear and persuasive evidence made by a professional with no personal stake in the outcome of the residency issue.

Accordingly, based upon a review of the testimony and the documentary evidence presented, and having had the opportunity to observe the demeanor and assess the credibility of the witnesses, I FIND S.F. failed to present any credible evidence that she and her daughter S.H. reside at XXX in Piscataway with her parents.

In contrast, I FIND that the Piscataway BOE presented substantial credible evidence that from March 12, 2016, S.F. and S.H. were residing at XXX Bound Brook.

LEGAL ANALYSIS AND CONCLUSIONS

Public school shall be free to persons over five and under twenty years of age who are domiciled within a school district. N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1. An individual may have several residences, but can have only one domicile. Miller v. U.S. Fid. and Guar. Co., 127 N.J. Super. 37, 42 (App. Div. 1974). A domicile once established continues until it is superseded by a new one. Bd. of Educ. of Twp. of Middle v. K.K. and P.K., 1992 N.J. AGEN LEXIS 5259. The domicile of an un-emancipated child is the domicile of the parents. P.B.K. v. Bd. of Educ. of Tenafly, 343 N.J. Super. 419 (App. Div. 2001).

When a student's parents or guardians are domiciled within different school districts and there is no court order or written agreement between the parents designating the school district of attendance, the student's domicile is the school district of the parent or guardian with whom the student lives for the majority of the school year. This paragraph shall apply regardless of which parent has legal custody. N.J.A.C. 6A:22-3.1(a)(1)(i). If a resident does not prevail on a claim for residency to attend a district school, back tuition can be assessed for the period of time that the child was not eligible to attend a school. N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(b).

As noted in detail above, I FIND that S.F. states that S.H. resides with her in Piscataway, but may on a rare occasion stay overnight with her biological father who resides in Bound Brook. However, all credible evidence indicates that S.H., and perhaps her mother and her infant brother, have resided with S.H.'s biological father at XXX Bound Brook, as of at least March 2015, and not at XXX Piscataway. I CONCLUDE that S.H. was not entitled to a free public education in Piscataway as of March 2015.

ORDER

It is hereby ORDERED that S.F.'s appeal of the Board of Education of the Township of Piscataway's determination that S.H. is not entitled to attend school in Piscataway as of March 12, 2015, is DENIED; and

It is hereby further ORDERED that the Board of Education of the Township of Piscataway's counterclaim, for an award of back tuition for the period of S.H.'s ineligible attendance in school in Piscataway as of March 12, 2015, is GRANTED; and

It is hereby further ORDERED that the Board of Education of the Township of Piscataway is entitled to back tuition in the amount of $11,842.71, for back tuition from March 12, 2015, to April 1, 2016, plus additional per diem charges of $61.19 for each school day thereafter.

I hereby FILE this Initial Decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, P.O. Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

| IN THE MATTER OF JAMES BRIDGE, CHARGING PARTY, and NORTH WARREN REGIONAL SCHOOL DISTRICT BOARD OF EDUCATION, RESPONDENT, AND JAMES BRIDGE, PETITIONER, V. BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE NORTH WARREN REGIONAL SCHOOL DISTRICT, WARREN COUNTY, RESPONDENT. | : | COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION DECISION |

SYNOPSIS

This consolidated matter involves two appeals filed by the petitioner with the Department of Education, and three unfair practice complaints filed with the Public Employment Relations Commission (PERC). PERC was determined to have predominant interest. The first education matter challenged the Board's withholding of petitioner's salary increment following findings by the Affirmative Action Office (AAO) that petitioner acted in a discriminatory manner when he disseminated an anti-Semitic email to members of the North Warren Regional Education Association. The second matter involved petitioner's challenges to a second AAO investigation into claims by fellow staff members that petitioner engaged in conduct – such as making sexist comments about female co-workers – that amounted to acts of bullying, intimidation and harassment.

With respect to the education matters, the ALJ dismissed both petitions, finding that the Commissioner did not have jurisdiction over the increment withholding because it was done for predominantly disciplinary reasons. Further, the ALJ found that petitioner failed to meet his burden of proof with regard to his challenges of the second AAO investigation.

The Commissioner reviewed the record – which includes the ALJ's Report and Recommended Decision on the Board's Motion to Dismiss, the ALJ's Report and Recommended Decision, the parties' exceptions and replies, and the final decision of PERC – and subsequently determined that there are no remaining issues under the jurisdictional purview of the Commissioner with respect to the first education matter. To the extent that any issues remain with respect to the second matter, the Commissioner concurred with the ALJ for the reasons thoroughly set forth in her written opinions. Accordingly, the Report and Recommended Decision – as it relates to issues within the Commissioner's jurisdiction – was adopted as the final decision in this matter.

This matter involves a consolidated action that stems from two petitions of appeal filed by James Bridge (petitioner) with the Department of Education, and three unfair practice complaints filed with the Public Employment Relations Commission (PERC). In those filings, the petitioner challenged the withholding of his salary increment by the North Warren Regional School District Board of Education (Board) and the findings of an Affirmative Action Office (AAO) investigation. On or about April 10, 2014, pursuant to a Joint Order by PERC and the Commissioner, the matters were consolidated for hearing before a PERC Hearing Examiner as a Special Administrative Law Judge (ALJ); PERC was determined to have the predominant interest as to the issues within its jurisdiction, and the Commissioner was determined to have jurisdiction to determine any remaining education issues.[1]

Following petitioner's case in chief, the Board made a motion to dismiss. With respect to the education matters, the ALJ dismissed both petitions in a Report and Recommended Decision dated June 25, 2015. Specifically, the ALJ found that, with respect to EDU 14001-13, the Commissioner did not have jurisdiction over the increment withholding – pursuant to N.J.S.A. 34:13A-26 – because it was done for predominantly disciplinary reasons. Additionally, the ALJ found that EDU 16637-13 should also be dismissed because the petitioner did not meet his burden of proving his allegations that the AAO investigator's findings were flawed and ought to be reversed because the witnesses lied, and the AAO, Superintendent, and the North Warren Educational Association conspired against him to encourage witnesses to lie. Further, the ALJ found that the petitioner did not provide any evidence to support his additional allegations, such as that he made a complaint to the AAO about a reverse discrimination matter which the AAO failed to investigate and that he was informed that he would not be teaching German V after the AAO complaint was filed as a form of punishment. The ALJ also dismissed two of the three unfair practice complaints, and the hearing continued on the third unfair practice complaint. In a Report and Recommended Decision dated April 8, 2016, the ALJ found that petitioner's salary increment should be restored.

The record of this matter – which includes the ALJ's Report and Recommended Decision on the Board's Motion to Dismiss, the ALJ's Report and Recommended Decision, the parties' exceptions and replies, and the final decision of PERC – has been reviewed. Upon such review, the Commissioner has determined that there are no remaining issues under the jurisdictional purview of the Commissioner of Education with respect to EDU 14001-13, all issues having been resolved by the final decision of PERC. To the extent that any issues remain with respect to EDU 16637-13 – such as petitioner's additional allegations – the Commissioner concurs with the ALJ for the reasons thoroughly set forth in her written opinions. Accordingly, the Report and Recommended Decision – as it relates to issues within the Commissioner's jurisdiction – is adopted as the final decision in this matter.

ADMINISTRATIVE LAW JUDGE'S REPORT AND RECOMMENDED DECISION ON MOTION TO DISMISS

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On June 14, 2013, James A. Bridge (Charging Party/ Petitioner) filed three unfair practice charges with the Public Employment Relations Commission (PERC) against the North Warren Regional School District Board of Education (Respondent or Board). All of the charges allege violations of the New Jersey Employer-Employee Relations Act, N.J.S.A. 34:13A-5.4a(1).[1/] The first charge under CI-2013-59 (A-1b)[2/] alleges the Board violated the Act when Superintendent Fogelson issued a verbal and written warning to Bridge regarding a flyer he distributed in school at the start of the school day to Association members protesting his ouster as Association president and threatening legal action. The second charge, CI-2013-60 (A-1c), alleges the Board violated the Act when Affirmative Action Officer/Principal Melchor informed Bridge he was being investigated for violating the Board's affirmative action policy (AA). Specifically, Bridge was charged with republishing hate speech when he distributed an email he received to Association members at an Association meeting in an effort to deflect an attempt to oust him as

2/ Exhibits admitted into evidence at the hearing are marked "A" for agency, "CP" for Charging Party/Petitioner Bridge and "R" for Respondent Board. Transcript cites are, respectively, "1T" and "2T" for the February 25 and 26, 2015 hearing dates.

Association president. The email was from the then Association vice-president and rival for the presidency. It contained an anti-Semitic reference to the Superintendent. The result of the AA investigation was that Bridge's 2013-2014 increment was withheld. The third charge, CI-2013-61 (A-1d), alleges the Board violated the Act when it processed a second AA complaint against Bridge related to his Association activities, thus interfering with his free speech right to politic about union-related matters. It is further alleged that by processing the second AA complaint, the Board was currying favor with a faction of the Association sympathetic to the Superintendent.

On August 26, 2013, Bridge filed a petition (A-3) under EDU 14001-2013N with the Commissioner of Education asserting similar allegations set forth in the unfair practice charges under CI-2013-59 and CI-2013-60, respectively, related to the Superintendent's verbal and written warning to Bridge to cease conduct his colleagues complained was intimidating, harassing and bullying and regarding Bridge's appeal of his 2013-2014 salary increment withholding for disciplinary reasons growing out of the AA complaint filed by Superintendent Fogelson.

The Board in response to A-3 filed a Notice of Motion to Dismiss in lieu of Answer (A-4). The Board urges that the petition be dismissed on legal grounds because: (a) facts alleging violations of the PERC Act belong before that agency and are pending there; (b) any allegation of a violation of Title VII is already the subject of an Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (EEOC) complaint by petitioner; and the Commissioner of Education has no jurisdiction to entertain appeals of increment withholdings for predominantly disciplinary reasons which are to be processed through the parties' grievance procedure and heard by an arbitrator. The Commissioner, the Board contends, has jurisdiction only for withholdings based predominantly on evaluation of performance.

On October 15, 2013, Bridge filed a second petition (A-5) under EDU-16637-2013 asserting similar allegations set forth in the unfair practice charge under CI-2013-61. That charge grew out of the second AA investigation and finding that Bridge violated the Board's AA policy and healthy workplace environment policy. The two petitions were consolidated and transferred to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) on November 18, 2013.

The Board filed a Notice of Motion to Dismiss in lieu of Answer (A-6) in response to the second petition. It asserts that the petition must be dismissed on procedural grounds since Bridge never filed an appeal to the Board from the AAO's second AA investigation and recommendations for disciplinary action. Bridge is appealing the AAO's recommendations, not a final action of the Board. The Board, therefore, contends that the Commissioner's jurisdiction to review matters arising under the school laws (N.J.S.A. 18A:6-9) does not extend to a local affirmative action officer's recommended disciplinary consequences. Jurisdiction, it argues, is limited to the review of board action only. The Board, therefore, urges dismissal because there is not final Board action for the Commissioner to review.

On January 30, 2014, the PERC Director of Unfair Practices consolidated the three unfair practice charges against the Board and issued a Complaint (A-1). The matter was assigned to Hearing Examiner Wendy L. Young for hearing.

On February 3, 2013, Respondent Board submitted its statement of position as its Answer to the three charges (A-2). As to CI-2013-60, it admits that Superintendent Fogelson filed a complaint against Bridge and Association Vice-President Jarvis charging that Jarvis wrote an email to Bridge containing an a offensive comment about him (Fogelson) and Bridge distributed that email at an Association meeting which was subsequently shared among the staff, causing a lot of negativity in the work place. The Board further admits that an affirmative action investigation triggered by Fogelson's complaint resulted in a finding that Bridge republished the discriminatory statement and, in doing so, caused unnecessary emotional distress to the Superintendent in violation of Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 and the Board's Affirmative Action Policy 1140. The Board further admits that the Affirmative Action Officer (AAO) determined that Bridge's actions were not as he professed, to expose the flawed moral character of Jarvis (a rival for Association president), but were motivated solely by Bridge's political ambition, namely to retain his union office as association president at the expense of Fogelson's right to a healthy work environment. The AAO recommended to the Board that Bridge's 2013-2014 salary increment be withheld. After conducting an affirmative action hearing, the Board admits it sustained the AAO's recommendation. Bridge's 2013-2014 salary increment was withheld.

As to CI-2013-059 and CI-2013-061, the Board acknowledges that Bridge wrote a letter to the Association executive committee protesting his removal from union office as an unlawful act, demanding to be reinstated and giving them a two-week deadline to do so or risk legal action. The Board maintains that Bridge subsequently distributed a letter to Association members in public places, such as on colleague's school desks and under classroom doorways, the contents of which could be seen by students as well as staff. The letter essentially reiterated what he wrote to the executive council, including the two-week deadline threat before commencing legal action. The Board explains that staff complaints began coming in to the Superintendent to complain about Bridge's confrontational behavior. The Superintendent then convened a meeting with Bridge to notify him of staff concerns and warned him of possible discipline if Bridge's inappropriate behavior continued.

Finally, the Board admits that after this meeting, a second affirmative action investigation was commenced as a result of three staff members who complained about many incidents of bullying, intimidation and harassment by Bridge during his tenure as association president which resulted in a change in the culture of the school. Complainants asserted that Bridge's conduct caused a hostile work environment. As a result of these three complaints and an additional three complaints, the AAO commenced a second AA investigation under the Board Healthy Workplace Environment Policy. After numerous interviews with the complainants, Bridge and others recommended by Bridge to be interviewed, the AAO determined that Bridge's conduct created a hostile work environment and recommended he attend a Board approved workshop dealing with healthy workplace environment.

On March 20, 2014, Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) Irene Jones granted the Board's motion to consolidate the PERC and Commissioner of Education matters and issued an Order for Consolidation and Determination for Predominant Interest finding the matters should be consolidated and that PERC has the predominant interest (A-7). ALJ Jones did not rule on the board's two previously filed motions to dismiss in lieu of answer (A-4 and A-6). On April 14, 2014, the PERC Chair and the Commissioner of Education issued a Joint Order consolidating these matters before PERC Hearing Examiner, Wendy L. Young as a Special Administrative Law Judge pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14F-6(b) (A-8).

A hearing was conducted on February 25 and 26, 2014. The parties examined witnesses and produced exhibits. At the conclusion of Charging Party's/Petitioner's case in chief on the second day of hearing, Respondent made a motion to dismiss on the record. After hearing oral argument and reviewing the hearing transcripts, I make the following:

FINDINGS OF FACT

1. The North Warren Regional School District Board of Education (Board), the North Warren Regional Education Association (Association) and James A. Bridge are, respectively, public employer, public employee representative and public employee within the meaning of the PERC statute (1T11-1T12).

2. Bridge is a certified and tenured social studies and German language instructor employed by the Board since the 2004-2005 school year (1T36). He holds an advanced rating with the American Council on the Teaching of Foreign Languages (1T39).

3. In 2012, Bridge was elected as president of the Association. According to Bridge, there was great dissatisfaction with union leadership at that time, in particular with a clique of individuals who "did nothing for their dues paying membership" (1T39).

4. On April 15, 2013 during a regularly scheduled Association meeting, Association Member and District Substance Abuse Counselor/Anti-Bullying Coordinator Tina Ritchie (a non-tenured staff member) made a claim that Bridge caused her job to be threatened, when, at a Board meeting, he suggested to the Board that a heightened drug intervention policy was necessary (1T40).[3/] Specifically, she charged that at the March 14, 2013

3/ Bridge was particularly concerned about the drug policy because of his experience in 2008-2009 uncovering an illicit drug operation in the school lunch room (1T45-1T46). Also,

Board meeting, Bridge addressed the Board about suspected drug use in the school and recommended enhanced inspection of lockers and backpacks. He also described to the Board what he viewed as inconsistent enforcement of discipline in the building (R-4). Although neither Superintendent Fogelson nor Board President Hanelt threatened to terminate Ritchie because of Bridge's remarks to the Board, she viewed Bridge's comments at the meeting as a threat to her job (1T214-1T215).4/

During the April 15 Association meeting, even though Bridge contended that Ritchie's claims against him were baseless, Ritchie convinced a majority of those present at the meeting to process her motion for his removal as president for gross negligence (1T40).

5. At a subsequent association meeting on April 24, 2015, Ritchie's motion was considered by the approximately 50 members in attendance which was less than half the membership (1T41). During the meeting, Bridge argued that then Association Vice-President Patty Jarvis who was being considered as his replacement was not fit to lead the Association due to an April 13, 2013 email exchange with Bridge in which Jarvis made anti-Semitic remarks in reference to Superintendent Dr. Brian Fogelson. Specifically, Jarvis referred to him as "a real kike through and through" (A-2; 1T41).[5/] Bridge passed out a copy of the email to the meeting attendees (A-2 at page 3). Bridge did not produce a copy of the email before or after the meeting to the administration or speak to Jarvis protesting her discriminatory epithet (A-2 at page 3).

6. Despite his efforts to defend his union office and upon recommendation of the Association's Executive Council, Bridge was removed as president on April 24, and Jarvis was appointed as acting president of the Association (A-2 at page 3).

The First Affirmative Action Investigation

7. Even though Bridge only distributed the Jarvis email to attendees at the April 24 meeting, the following day word about the Jarvis email spread throughout the school community (A-2). Fogelson was informed about the email and filed an affirmative action (AA) complaint on April 25, 2013 against Jarvis for making the anti-Semitic statement and Bridge for distributing it the Association meeting (A-2 at pages 3 and 4).

5/ I have provided cites not only from the testimony, but also from Respondent's Answer (A-2) filed in response to the Complaint (A-1a through A-1d). Respondent filed its previously submitted statement of position as its Answer to the unfair practice charges (A-2). Our rules provide that any allegation not specifically denied or explained shall be deemed to be admitted by the Hearing Examiner to be true. N.J.A.C. 19:14-3.1. Accordingly, I have drawn from testimony as well as Respondent's position statement to the extent it does not deny an allegation (s) in the charges and to the extent its explanation admits Charging Party's allegations..

8. In accordance with the Board's affirmative action complaint procedure, AAO/Principal Louis Melchor initiated an investigation (A-2 at page 4). Melchor interviewed Fogelson who expressed deep offense at the use of the term "kike" in reference to him and opined that the making the email public caused a hostile work environment - e.g. making it difficult for him to perform his job duties in the workplace (A-2 at page 4). Melchor also interviewed Bridge because he republished the discriminatory statement (A-2 at page 4). Bridge explained to Melchor that he too was personally offended by the Jarvis statement and had only brought it to the association's attention as a defense to their attempt to remove him as association president and to expose Jarvis as totally inappropriate to be Association president (A-2 at page 4).

9. Finally, Melchor interviewed Ritchie who indicated that staff members approached her on April 25 to complain about Jarvis' statement and Bridge's production of it at the Association meeting (A-2 at page 4). Ritchie felt that the publication of the Jarvis statement caused a lot of negativity within the workplace (A-2 at page 4).[6/]

10. After interviewing two other witnesses, Melchor concluded that Bridge "had perpetuated the discriminatory nature of the original email exchange and, by the statement to Association members, had caused unnecessary emotional distress to the Superintendent in violation of Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 and in violation of Board Policy 1140, entitled "Affirmative Action Program" (A-2 at page 5). Melchor rejected Bridge's defense of only distributing the email to expose Jarvis' flawed character and concluded that Bridge only did it for his own political gain at the expense of the Superintendent's right to a healthy work environment (A-2 at page 5). Pursuant to the investigation's findings, Melchor recommended that Bridge's 2013-2014 salary increment be withheld (A-2 at page 5).

11. The Board conducted an affirmative action hearing and determined to sustain the AAO's decision and to withhold Bridge's employment and adjustment increments for the 2013-2014 school year (A-2 at page 5).

May 6, 2013 Meeting and Second Affirmative Action Investigation

12. On April 26, 2013, a couple of days after the Association acted to remove him from the presidency, Bridge put a a letter to the Association's executive council and Ritchie in their school mail boxes as well as sending it by certified mail urging the council to rescind their actions (1T169). He included Ritchie who was not on the executive committee, because, he felt, she had made a false claim of negligence against him to the Association, resulting in his removal as president (1T171-1T172).

In the letter, Bridge contended specifically that the council's actions were inappropriate because: (a) there was no evidence of gross negligence as charged by Ritchie; (b) there was no proof of harm by Bridge's actions to the general membership;

(c) there was new evidence presented and considered at the April 24 meeting not part of Ritchie's original complaint, (d) the executive council took the position at the April 24 meeting that Bridge should not have made statements to the Board criticizing the drug policy, thus, violating his free speech rights and exposing the membership to the possibility of legal action; and (e) Bridge's April 15 conversation with Association Treasurer Don Biery who urged him to just step aside, since Bridge was aware that the membership didn't want him as president, demonstrated evidence of the council's malice and conspiracy, as well as a wilful intent to by-pass the Association's democratic process.

Bridge concluded the letter by giving the Board a two-week deadline to return him to the presidency, or he would pursue justice in recovering his position and seeking damages (CP-5; 1T56-1T57).

13. Several days after CP-5 was sent, Bridge and Association Treasurer Don Biery had a conversation in the faculty room (1T58). When he was recruited by Bridge to be treasurer, Biery was a non-tenured math teacher. At the time, Biery was reluctant to take on the treasurer position, but, at Bridge's urging, agreed to do so (1T58).

In the faculty room, Biery queried Bridge about CP-5 wanting to know what the possible legal suit entailed. He informed Bridge that "we are your friends" but pondered what if these same friends did not want Bridge to serve any longer as president. Bridge rejected this suggestion and urged Biery and the executive council to do the right thing by the two-week deadline (1T58-1T59).

14. On May 3, 2013, before the beginning of school and as students were arriving, Bridge distributed a letter/flyer by handing it personally to teachers as well as placing several on teacher's desks and under classroom doors (CP-4; 1T146-1T147, 1T149). Although the flyer was intended for teachers and was passed out to teachers, he did consider that it might be seen by students (1T147).

The purpose of the letter/flyer, Bridge wrote, was "to update you on where your association leadership has taken us all (CP-4)." Bridge asserted that he was removed from the presidency without proof of wrongdoing - e.g. his statements to the Board about illicit drug traffic was an expression of his legitimate concerns.

Bridge then warned in the flyer that his removal from office "may unfortunately lead to legal action. I will take this legal action if the executive council does not right the wrong they have committed against me, against you, and against our constitution and by-laws. I have given [them] two weeks to do this, and that will lapse one week from today (CP-4)." Bridge concluded the letter/flyer by describing the current leadership as based on personal vendettas and bigotry (CP-4; 1T54-1T55).

Bridge did not think CP-4 was intimidating (1T149). Having communicated by letter to the executive committee (CP-5), verbally with individual members of the Association executive committee (CP-5) and by flyer to the membership that he fully intended to sue them, Bridge considered the advanced warning of possible legal action in CP-4 and CP-5 as well as the discussions with individuals not threatening but fair and friendly, because he was asking for a resolution before filing suit (1T55, 2T29, 2T31-2T32). Bridge, however, understood why many of his colleagues who read CP-4 and CP-5 and who spoke to him were concerned and even stressed upon learning that they might be sued (1T150).

15. On May 6, 2013, having been approached by several staff members raising concerns about Bridge's verbal and written statements as well as actions since his removal from union office, Superintendent Fogelson met with Bridge, Association Representative Chris Jones, Melchor, and Business Administrator/Board Secretary Christina Sharkey. Fogelson memorialized the meeting in a memo of same date, which Bridge confirmed in testimony was accurate (CP-6; 1T60, 2T5-2T6).

At the meeting, Fogelson explained about the staff concerns regarding Bridge's recent actions in school, including the May 3 flyer which staff described as intimidating and harassing and going beyond advocacy for his reinstatement as president (CP-5, CP-6; 1T175). He then directed Bridge to stop these activities.

Bridge denied the staff's allegations and responded to Fogelson that he loved working at the school, that he "only had inner sunshine" and that he would never intentionally intimidate staff (CP-6; 1T176). Fogelson explained that although he understood Bridge's position, his behavior had to stop and, if not, Bridge would be suspended with pay and required to undergo a psychiatric examination (CP-6).

Bridge took away from the meeting that Fogelson was voicing concerns raised to him by some of Bridge's colleagues who felt that Bridge's actions were intimidating, harassing and, in their opinions, had gone well beyond his advocacy for reinstatement to union office. In essence, Bridge understood that some of his colleagues felt he had created a hostile work environment in the workplace through emails, in person and in public places such as the faculty room and hallway (1T179-1T180, 1T182). In particular, as a result of the Fogelson meeting, Bridge understood that his colleagues were concerned about the threat of legal action raised in CP-4 and CP-5 (2T12-2T13). He also took away from this meeting that it was not Fogelson or Melchor who were complaining about CP-4 and CP-5, but it was his colleagues' complaints that prompted the May 6 meeting and admonition from Fogelson to stop his conduct in the school (1T180-1T181). After the meeting, Chris Jones told Bridge that he needed to pay attention and be concerned about what Fogelson had told him during the meeting (2T10).

As a result, Bridge sent out no further communications to staff after the meeting (2T14).

16. On May 8, 2013, following up on a discussion with AAO Melchor, three staff members (Ritchie, Karen Black and Biery) sent him a memo entitled "Hostile Work Environment". These complaints triggered an affirmative action investigation pursuant to the district's Healthy Workplace Environment Policy which requires employees to interact with each other with dignity and respect. The policy prohibits among other things conduct that a reasonable person would find hostile or offensive, including use of derogatory remarks or insults that a reasonable person would find threatening, intimidating or humiliating. The policy directs that an investigation be conducted once a complaint is filed (R-1; 1T185). The investigation was conducted by Melchor in response to the complaints filed by Ritchie, Black and Biery.

Basically, all three complained about Bridge's behavior which they described as many incidents of bullying, intimidation and harassment of faculty members. According to them, the incidents occurred in person, via email and in public locations, such as the faculty room. Specifically, they stated that the incidents included "threats of legal action, sexist comments, slander of fellow colleagues, and intimidation of executive council members and others." (CP-1). The three described an escalation in hostile behavior since Bridge was removed from the Association presidency (CP-1).

In the complaint memo, Ritchie, in her role as SAC, suggested that Bridge's statement - "justice will be served" - and actions warranted risk assessment to ensure the safety of staff, students and Bridge himself (CP-1). In addition to the complaint, on May 20, 2013, Ritchie gave Melchor a statement in which she accused Bridge of fabricating a gang rape incident that he claimed to have heard about in the faculty room. Ritchie asserted that no teachers discussed a rape, and that reporting an incident that never occurred put her, as a non-tenured employee, in an uncomfortable position. Ritchie wrote that she avoids Bridge because he is loud and confrontational (CP-25).[7/]

17. Biery was also interviewed by Melchor and gave a statement in which he expressed concerns about Bridge's threat to file lawsuits, naming him personally (CP-12). He observed that the staff was particularly troubled and questioning what Bridge would do next, namely whether it would impact his classroom performance. Biery described safety concerns among the staff, based on Bridge's comment in a letter to the executive committee that "justice will be served."

Biery further wrote that there was a lot of emotion attached to Bridge's removal as president with some staff supporting Bridge but many others not, and that the situation was splitting the building in two, because Bridge insisted on airing his gripes publically and calling people names. Biery recommended to Melchor that Bridge get counseling (CP-12, CP-13).[8/]

7/ Ritchie also wrote in her statement to Melchor, without attribution, that someone poured urine in her cars ventilation system (CP-25). Bridge denies that he was responsible (1T112). I credit his testimony in this regard. Ritchie's statement appears to be unsupported and gratuitous.

8/ Bridge contends that Biery's individual statement in CP-12 as well as Black's statement in CP-13 and the complaint they filed with Ritchie (CP-1) contradict each other regarding whether the staff feared for their safety as a result of Bridge's conduct. I do not find such a contradiction. In CP-12 and CP-13, Biery and Black are speaking for Bridge testified that he understood why Biery felt threatened by the prospect of a lawsuit naming him personally (1T164).

18. Karen Black was a past association president and on the negotiating committee for the latest collective negotiations agreement. She gave a statement in support of her complaint to Melchor. Black wrote that she was offended by the comments Bridge made in the faculty room about the deficiencies of the past association leadership as well as comments about Teacher/Executive Committee Member Cali Roberts. She was also offended about Bridge's comments regarding females generally made both in the faculty room and in emails. According to Black, she and others stopped going to the faculty room whenever Bridge was present because Bridge used psychological and emotional intimidation. Her perception was that Bridge sat in a particular chair and glared at her when she entered the room. Black told Melchor she wanted Bridge to stop making her feel uncomfortable (CP-13).[9/] themselves, whereas in CP-1 Ritchie as SAC requests a risk assessment to ensure the safety of staff. These comments are not mutually exclusive.

9/ Bridge read Black's statement and concluded that it was contradicted by another teacher who was interviewed by Melchor, Jessica Koppinger. Black's statement referenced Koppinger, stating she came to Black reporting that Bridge made inappropriate comments to her and made her feel uneasy (CP-13; 1T83). Koppinger was interviewed and told Melchor that Bridge did make derogatory comments about Jarvis at an Association meeting and confirmed that Bridge made a derogatory comment about Cali Roberts although "[Bridge] never acted inappropriately to her (Koppinger) (CP-14)." I do not find that Koppinger's statement contradicts Black's.

19. In addition to Ritchie, Black and Biery, Melchor interviewed and took statements from three more individuals who also filed complaints of hostile work environment pertaining to Bridge, namely teachers Cali Roberts, Sandy Toronzi and Colleen DellaBella (CP-7, CP-9 through CP-28; R-2, R-3). They generally complained of incidents with Bridge during the 2011-2012 and 2012-2013 school years that caused them to feel uncomfortable, concerned and sometimes fearful.

20. During the investigation, Melchor learned about an incident involving an email exchange between Roberts and Bridge that later led to a loud confrontation in the faculty room between DellaBella and Bridge. This confrontation was the basis for one of the complaints against Bridge.

Specifically, on December 9, 2012, Roberts emailed Bridge about recent negotiations, criticizing his "jabs about past leadership and the negotiations team," who she characterized as "not the enemy" (CP-9). She urged him to stop attacking the membership and to start taking on the superintendent. She requested to speak to him the next day (CP-9).

Bridge viewed Roberts email as snarky, incredibly hostile, incorrect and cowardly in its assessment of his actions, since he viewed the negotiations team as causing the problem. He did not understand where Roberts' hostility was coming from since he liked "to put a smiley face on things however forceful my opinions might be." (1T72-1T73, 1T75, 1T137, 1T146)

Inappropriate "comments" and "actions" are not mutually exclusive.

Instead of contacting Roberts directly as she requested, Bridge replied the next day in an email copying the entire membership. He emailed the membership because he wanted to expose Roberts' "cattiness" and because he felt the concerns raised by Roberts involved a union matter, namely contract issue regarding advisors (CP-8, CP-10; 1T135, 1T189).

In his email response to Roberts and the general membership, Bridge blamed the negotiating team for the mishandling of a stipend pay issue and accused Roberts of being uninformed about executive council business. Bridge wrote that Roberts was entitled to her opinion but "opinions are like navels, everyone has one!" (CP-10).

On December 11, 2012, the day after Bridge sent this email to the membership about Roberts, DellaBella walked into the crowded faculty room before the start of school and overheard Bridge speaking to another teacher about the email and about Roberts. Since eighty (80) percent of the staff are women, Bridge admits that there were other women present, but Roberts was not there (1T139).

In the discussion overheard by DellaBella and others, Bridge called Roberts a coward for not sending her email complaints to the entire staff, choosing instead to email him directly (CP-9; 1T125). DellaBella objected to Bridge's comments about Roberts and confronted him. She criticized Bridge for speaking to a colleague about another colleague in that manner; in her opinion, it was unprofessional. Their argument became loud and heated (1T145).

Bridge retorted to DellaBella that he was Association president, and that he wanted to bring Roberts up on charges of insubordination to him (1T144-1T145). He again referred to Roberts as a coward and then stated that her email to him was a typical woman's response, something a man would never do (CP-8). Bridge admits to making the statement to DellaBella about Roberts, but does not believe the statement was gender-biased (1T120-1T123, 1T125). According to Bridge, the statement about Roberts, that her email was "typical woman's response," was behavior descriptive of an immature girl; the typical woman in this context, Bridge contended, was not direct, forthright or personable (1T124, 1T142-1T143). He was surprised that DellaBella was offended by his comments regarding Roberts (1T123).

These statements, however, did upset DellaBella who felt belittled as a woman and concluded Bridge did not value her or female staff generally as equals (CP-24). In the past, on several occasions, DellaBella heard Bridge refer to women as "broads" in front of colleagues in the faculty room (R-2). Bridge testified that he did refer on occasion to women as "broads", thus, corroborating DellaBella's complaint in this regard, but explained that he is a fan of film and that this is a commonly used comical phrase, not in his opinion derogatory (1T159). DellaBella clearly disagreed (R-2).

21. Roberts agreed with DellaBella's conclusion, namely that Bridge's remarks were derogatory towards women. She considered Bridge's actions towards her as disrespectful and a deliberate attempt to publically humiliate and embarrass her, particularly after she heard about the confrontation in the faculty room between DellaBella and Bridge (CP-11, CP-26; 1T127).

In her follow-up interview with Melchor, Roberts conceded that she did not feel physically threatened by Bridge, but she avoided him and would be very uncomfortable if she was assigned to co-teach with him. Her discomfort arose not only from what Bridge said about her in the faculty room, but also from his inability to control his temper as well as his extreme lack of respect towards young women, citing herself and several others. Bridge, in her opinion, was not receptive to young female staff when they disagreed with him (CP-27).

22. In a memo to Melchor dated June 27, 2012, Complainant Toronzi expanded on her complaint against Bridge. She agreed with Black's assessment that Bridge caused a division among staff in his attempts to control them (CP-15). In support of her assertions, Toronzi detailed an incident between herself and Bridge while she was acting as hall monitor at the beginning of school. She related that while Bridge was walking down the hall toward her and speaking to Teacher Michael Knapp, Toronzi heard Bridge "shhh" him, explaining that Toronzi was on the negotiating team, and that she was sensitive. Toronzi was offended by these comments and confronted Bridge in the hall telling him it was rude and unprofessional to speak her name when she was clearly in the vicinity. Bridge told her she should get used to hearing her name as she was in a leadership position. At this point there were other teachers and students in the hall (CP-7; R-3).

Bridge admits to the conversation overheard by Toronzi. Bridge testified that he was speaking quietly to Knapp about the negotiations but was approximately 45 to 50 feet from Toronzi, when she overheard him telling Knapp "there is Sandy, she is on the negotiation team. She is very sensitive. I don't want to get her upset" (1T88-1T89, 1T209, 1T211). I infer that Bridge was not speaking quietly, but was speaking loudly enough for Toronzi to hear him from what he describes as a distance of 40 to 50 feet (2T54). Bridge contends he told Knapp to "shhh" because he did not want to hurt Toronzi's feeling, because she was on the negotiations team, and he did not agree with the team's actions. Contract negotiations were hotly contested and caused a rift among the staff (1T153, 1T157).

Knapp, the only witness called by Bridge at the hearing, generally confirmed the description of the hallway incident, namely what was said by Bridge and Toronzi, which he described as a loud exchange (CP-16, CP-28; 2T44-2T49). He had never witnessed two teachers verbally behaving in this manner. He walked away as the argument escalated because he did not want to be involved (CP-16). In a statement to Melchor as part of the AA investigation, Knapp described the Toronzi incident and added that Bridge's verbal and email communications were perceived by staff as intimidating and demeaning and that Bridge's leadership had been contentious on almost every issue. Because of this, Knapp generally avoided the faculty room (CP-16).[10/]

23. Melchor interviewed Bridge as part of his investigation into the AA complaints, quizzing him specifically about this incident and others detailed by the complainants in their statements to him. Bridge admitted the confrontation with DellaBella in the crowded faculty room, namely, calling Roberts a coward and stating that her email was a girl-thing because she did not confront him face-to-face (CP-8; 1T125). As to the Toronzi incident in the hallway, Bridge asserted to Melchor that he (Melchor) should not be involved because the discussion was in the context of association business. Concerning Biery, Ritchie, Toronzi and Black, Bridge contended that they simply lied to Melchor (CP-8).

Bridge then told Melchor about an incident when some female staff were cold. Bridge told them "that it's a medical fact that women are more cold than men, it is a physiological difference, you can Google it" (CP-8). Melchor documented this statement for his investigation. It is unclear from evidence in the record why Bridge would describe this conversation to Melchor because, other than CP-8 which documents Bridge's statement to Melchor, there is no context from which to draw an inference. For instance, I cannot determine whether Bridge was giving an example of a comments about women which was not derogatory or whether Bridge was relating a specific conversation to which some female colleagues objected.[11/]

10/ A couple of days after the hall confrontation, Toronzi emailed Bridge asking him to remove her from his Association email list regarding union business. Despite this request, Bridge inadvertently sent several more emails (CP-7, R-3).

Finally, Melchor asked Bridge if there are any witnesses on his (Bridge's) behalf that he should interview. Bridge replied that although there was a group conspiring against him, six staff members (Mike Farrell, Chris Jones, Jackie Chaplin, Sarah Bonney and Jason Davis), he felt, would corroborate that he was not guilty of the acts asserted by complainants (CP-8).

24. Melchor then interviewed and took statements from the individuals suggested by Bridge who would support him in opposition to the complaints of hostile work environment lodged by Ritchie, Black, Biery, Roberts, DellaBella and Toronzi. None of these witnesses testified at this hearing, but their statements submitted to Melchor in the course of the AA investigation were introduced into evidence (CP-14, CP-16, CP-17 through CP-23). They are summarized below:

11/ In Bridge's second petition to the Commissioner (A-5), Bridge describes this reference in detail. He explains that he remarked on the 60 degree temperature in the faculty room which, according to Bridge, was being adjusted by the building super to a temperature more normal for women. A colleague, Christine Serzan, told Bridge that his comment was extremely sexist and complained to the AAO. Bridge comments in this petition that many sources confirm that women are more sensitive to cold than men. I cannot incorporate this commentary in A-5 into the facts because no evidence was offered at the hearing about this incident.

A. Patty Tynan, who Bridge described as friendly to him, gave a statement to Melchor explaining that she had never had any hostile communication with Bridge nor had she witnessed any hostile or intimidating behavior between Bridge and the staff. However, she viewed his expressed intention to take legal action as a threat and felt that Bridge got into trouble by overstepping his bounds with teachers. Tynan also observed that after Bridge was removed from the Association presidency, the tone of his communication was bitter (CP-17).

B. Another interviewee, Mike Farrell, who Bridge describes as a friend and supportive of him, stated to Melchor that Bridge never exhibited hostile conduct toward himself or others, but explained that he (Farrell) generally did not associate with people who did not get along with Bridge, so he would not know about people who felt threatened by Bridge. Farrell heard Bridge talk about legal action but paid no attention. Nevertheless, Farrell confirmed that he heard Bridge make sexist comments in the faculty room directed at women in general. He assumed the comments were in jest, but understood how someone could take them the wrong way (CP-18; 1T128-1T129).

In reviewing Farrell's statement to Melchor, Bridge concurred that he may have made comments in jest but felt he had a right to have a private conversation in the faulty room or anywhere as long as the conversation was humorous (1T130-1T132, 1T159).

C. Sean Wilson also stated to Melchor that he never experienced or witnessed any hostile or intimidating conduct by Bridge towards others and added that Bridge's communications as Association president were business-like. He described the culture at the school both during and after Bridge's presidency as antagonistic between staff with a sense of disunity among many factions (CP-19).

D. Jason Davis stated that he had no knowledge of what went on in the faculty room, but acknowledged that Bridge's strong feelings rubbed staff the wrong way. Davis characterized the tone of the flyer (CP-4) sent to staff after Bridge was removed as president as "defending his positions." He then described two factions in the school - those who supported Bridge and those who did not. Davis denied ever hearing hostile comments from Bridge or negative comments about women (CP-20).

E. Chris Jones described Bridge as passionate if he believed in something, but the passion was not hostile. Jones had never heard Bridge make negative comments about women, just the opposite. He observed Bridge holding the door open for women. Nevertheless, Jones characterized the school culture as declining before Bridge's presidency. Jones felt, perhaps, if someone else had been president, he/she would have been able to galvanize the Association. Therefore, Jones commented that he would not vote for Bridge again if given the chance (CP-21).

F. Jackie Chaplin, a longtime faculty member, described Bridge as follows: "his intentions were good but the result was bad" (CP-22). Although Bridge was always a gentleman to her and she had not personally heard Bridge's negative comments about women, she was aware that at an Association meeting several female staff charged that Bridge's communications to them were condescending and sexist. Although Chaplin had not personally experienced hostile conduct towards her by Bridge, she acknowledged that he was very forceful and his recent statement of legal action stressed her. After Bridge was removed from the presidency, Chaplin observed that the Association seemed to be deteriorating, causing her more stress. In summary, Chaplin concluded that Bridge took his Association leadership seriously, but his strong opinions got in the way (CP-22).

G. Sarah Bonney characterized her communication with Bridge as "fine." She never personally, only through hearsay, heard about Bridge making negative comments about women. She admitted hearing the exchange with DellaBella in the faculty room, which she described as heated and hostile on both Bridge's and DellaBella's part. Bonney received the flyer (CP-4) from Bridge on her classroom desk, but did not feel threatened by the letter (CP-23).

25. In all, Melchor interviewed 17 individuals out of a staff of approximately 117 which, according to Bridge, was "not a bad sampling" (1T186).

By letter dated August 12, 2013, Bridge was notified by Melchor of the results of the AA investigation into the charges lodged by Ritchie, Black and Biery and the others. Melchor determined that Bridge's conduct towards staff members was severe and persuasive enough under the Board's Healthy Workplace Environment policy to create a hostile work environment (CP-2, R-1).

In particular, Melchor's investigation determined that:

> The grievance alleged that there have been incidents of bullying, intimidation and harassment of staff members by you. There is conclusive evidence to substantiate that your conduct in person, via email, and in public locations such as the faculty room and hallway has resulted in incidents of bullying, intimidation, and harassment towards staff members. The evidence substantiates the fact that staff members, who were recipients of your actions, found your conduct and demeanor to be threatening, causing unnecessary stress in the workplace. Female staff members report that you have made comments that are sexist in nature towards women and offensive to them personally. The evidence substantiates that you did make comments about women, which were construed by both female and male staff as being sexist in nature [CP-2].

Melchor recommended that the Board place the AA investigation in Bridge's personnel file and order Bridge to attend a Board approved workshop dealing specifically with healthy workplace environment. Melchor also notified Bridge that he could appeal the decision in writing within seven (7) working days after receipt. The appeal was to include specific enumerated papers. Bridge was informed that the Board would review all papers submitted to it on appeal and render a decision unless Bridge requested a hearing at which all parties could be represented by counsel and could present and examine witnesses who would testify under oath (CP-2).

26. Previously, Bridge had training in the district's affirmative action policies, specifically, in the areas of harassment, intimidation and bullying (1T125). He believed, however, that Melchor's investigation was not a careful review of the evidence because his report did not mention or include several discussions that he considered critical to the investigation that led to his discipline, namely the original meeting with Ritchie, Biery and Black referenced in CP-1, the May 6 meeting with Fogelson memorialized in CP-6 as well as a meeting or conversation Melchor had with Toronzi about a June 2012 hallway incident with Bridge and Knapp (CP-7; 1T62-1T65). Bridge also believed that Melchor's investigation was unfair and flawed because 77 percent of those interviewed claimed to feel no hostility from him and did not feel unsafe (1T107).

27. On September 19, 2013, Board Secretary Sharkey wrote Bridge. She acknowledged that AAO Melchor had received a letter from Bridge on August 20, 2013 setting forth Bridge's intent to appeal, that on September 5, 2013, Bridge sent an email to Melchor requesting copies of the documents necessary to appeal Melchor's decision and that Melchor provided the documents on September 6, 2013.

Sharkey then pointed out to Bridge that he had not requested a hearing before the Board as enumerated in the Board's AA complaint procedure. She requested that Bridge advise the Board in writing whether he wanted a hearing to present his appeal. In the event a hearing was requested, Sharkey explained, the Board would schedule one which would be held in closed session unless Bridge waived his privacy rights in which case the hearing would be held in public (R-5).

28. Although Bridge acknowledges that he was informed of his right to appeal Melchor's decision to the Board and concedes that he requested and received copies of the documents that formed the basis of Melchor's decision, he never filed a written appeal or requested a hearing before the Board (2T20-2T21). He instead filed unfair practice charges with PERC and petitions with the Commissioner of Education (2T21).

29. Bridge concedes that other than the complaints of his colleagues filed with AAO Melchor, neither Superintendent Fogelson nor Melchor ever questioned Bridge about his union activities or imposed sanctions or disciplined him for those activities (2T22-2T23). Bridge contends that it was his speech concerning union matters that caused colleagues to complain about him to Melchor and Fogelson which resulted in the adverse AA findings (2T26, 2T28).

In New Jersey Turnpike Authority, P.E.R.C. No. 79-81, 5 NJPER 197 (¶10112 1979), the Commission set forth the standards for determining whether to grant a motion to dismiss at the conclusion of charging party's case as follows:

> . . . the Commission utilizes the standards set forth by the New Jersey Supreme Court in Dolson v. Anastasia, 55 N.J. 2 (1969). Therein, the Court declared that when ruling on a motion for involuntary dismissal the trial court "is not concerned with the worth, > nature or extent . . . of the evidence, but only with its existence, viewed most favorably to the party opposing the motion." Id at 198.

See also, Brill v. Guardian Life Ins. Co. Of America, 142 N.J. 520, 535-542 (1995) and Cameco, Inc. v. Gedicke, 157 N.J. 504, 509 (1999).

The Dolson Court set forth the following test:

> . . .whether "the evidence, together with the legitimate inferences therefrom, could sustain a judgment in . . . favor" of the party opposing the motion, i.e., if, accepting as true all the evidence which supports the position of the party defending against the motion and affording him the benefit of all inferences which can reasonably and legitimately be deduced therefrom, reasonable minds could differ, the motion must be denied. Id. At 5.

These same legal standards in deciding a motion for involuntary dismissal at the end of petitioner's case apply as well to a proceeding before the Commissioner of Education. Belinda Love v. Board of Education of the City of Trenton, OAL DKT. No. EDU 60-01, Agency DKT. No. 408-11/00. The party bearing the burden of proof in an administrative hearing must prove the case by a preponderance of the legally competent credible evidence. Jackson v. D.L. and W.R.R., 111 N.J.L. 487, 490 (E.& A. 1933).

Applying these standards and based on the facts adduced by Charging Party/Petitioner in its case in chief, I recommend that the Respondent's motion to dismiss the Complaint as to the unfair practice charge under CI-2013-060 be denied. I also recommend that the Respondent's motion to dismiss the Complaint as to charges under CI-2013-059 and CI-2013-061 be granted. I further recommend that the Respondent's motion to dismiss the petitions under EDU 14001-2013N and EDU 16637-2013N be granted.

Charging Party Bridge alleges that Respondent violated 5.4a(1) of the Act when the Board initiated an affirmative action investigation against him for distributing an email from another teacher that he distributed at an Association meeting. The email referred to the Superintendent as a "kike." Bridge was charged with republishing the offensive epithet. He asserts, that the AA investigation and its aftermath (the withholding of his 2013-2014 salary increment) impermissibly interfered with his protected activity during the course of an Association meeting.

An employer independently violates 5.4a(1) if its action tends to interfere with an employee's statutory rights and lacks a legitimate and substantial business justification. Orange Bd. of Ed., P.E.R.C. No. 94-124, 20 NJPER 287 (¶25146 1994); Mine Hill Tp., P.E.R.C. No. 86-145, 12 NJPER 526 (¶17197 1986); New Jersey Sports and Exposition Auth., P.E.R.C. No. 80-73, 5 NJPER 550 (¶10285 1979). Proof of actual interference, intimidation, restraint, coercion or motive is unnecessary. The tendency to interfere is sufficient. Mine Hill Tp. The test for determining whether 5.4a(1) has been violated is an objective one based on whether an employer's action tends to interfere with employee rights, not a subjective one based on the employer's state of mind. Commercial Tp. Bd. of Ed., P.E.R.C. No. 83-25, 8 NJPER 550, 552 (¶13253 1982, aff'd 10 NJPER 78 (¶15043 App. Div. 1983).

Here, Bridge testified about the Association meeting at which he passed out the email from another teacher containing the anti-Semitic reference. He did so to counter her challenge to his presidency. His testimony contained no other reference to the dissemination of the email or the affirmative action investigation that was launched charging him with republishing the offensive comment. Nor did he introduce any exhibits in support of the allegations in this charge. Ordinarily, I would recommend that this charge be dismissed, because Charging Party failed to meet its burden of proof.

In this instance, however, Respondent submitted a position statement as its Answer. Pursuant to N.J.A.C. 19:14-3.1, any allegation in the Complaint not specifically denied or explained shall be deemed to be admitted to be true. Accordingly, the position statement contained several admissions which I incorporated as fact. For example, in its position statement, Respondent admitted that Superintendent Fogelson filed an affirmative action complaint against Bridge for distributing the anti-Semitic email at the Association meeting as well as against the other teacher for writing it. The Board further admitted that its Affirmative Action Officer concluded that Bridge distributed the email for political gain at the expense of the Superintendent's right to a healthy work environment in violation of the Board's affirmative action policy. Finally, the Board confirmed in its Answer that the Board sustained the Affirmative Action Officer's investigation and recommendations and, thereafter, withheld Bridge's employment and adjustment increments for the 2013-2014 school year.

Public employees and their labor organizations have a free speech right of communication. New Jersey Department of Corrections, P.E.R.C. No. 97-145, 23 NJPER 388 (¶28176 1997); Jackson Tp., P.E.R.C. No. 88-14, 14 NJPER 405 (¶19160 1988); Township of Hillsborough, H.E. 2000-2, 26 NJPER 1 (¶31000 1999). Here, Bridge was disciplined for an email he distributed at an Association meeting. He had a right to communicate to Association members in this manner. Accordingly, the facts presented by Charging Party together with the admissions of the Board are sufficient to establish a prima facie case, namely that the action taken by the Board to withhold his increment had a tendency to interfere with Bridge's protected activity, namely his right to address the membership at an Association meeting and present the qualifications or lack thereof of the individual challenging his presidency. This right is protected by 5.3 of our Act.

Based on the foregoing, I recommend that Respondent's motion to dismiss the unfair practice charge under CI-2013-060 be denied.

Bridge alleges in this charge that the Board interfered with his rights to engage in political activity within the Association. Specifically, Bridge asserts that on May 6, 2013, Superintendent Fogelson called Bridge into his office and in front of witnesses observed that Bridge was "over the line" in exercising his political speech, namely in passing out a flyer to colleagues in the hallways and on desks at the beginning of school. The flyer protested his removal as association president, contending his removal was taken against the association constitution and by-laws and threatening legal action unless he was reinstated within two weeks.

At the May 6 meeting, Fogelson informed Bridge that he had received complaints from staff about his (Bridge's) verbal and written statements and actions in the school since he was removed from office. Fogelson directed him to cease this activity or he would be suspended with pay and required to undergo psychiatric evaluations. Fogelson memorialized the meeting in a memo to Bridge.

The first issue to be addressed is whether the conduct for which Bridge was given a verbal and written warning was conduct protected by the Act. If the answer to the first question is in the affirmative, did Fogelson's meeting and written warning tend to interfere with that protected activity? Clearly, if the conduct for which Bridge was admonished was not protected, there would be no 5.4a(1) violation.

> . . . public employees shall have and shall be protected in the exercise of the right, freely and without fear of penalty or reprisal, to form, join and assist any employee organization or to refrain from any such activity. . .

Protected activity has been defined as conduct in connection with collective negotiations, grievance processing, contract interpretation or administration, or other related activity on behalf of a union or individual. North Brunswick Bd. of Ed., P.E.R.C. No. 79-14, 4 NJPER 451 (¶4205 1978). Pine Hill Bd. of Ed., P.E.R.C. No. 86-126, 12 NJPER 434, 437 (¶17161 1986) (assistance to labor organization includes participation in negotiations and grievance processing). See generally, State of New Jersey (Stockton College), P.E.R.C. No. 2011-78, 37 NJPER 200 (¶63 2011) (IFPTE president engaged in protected activity when he approached Assistant Superintendent about hiring temporary workers and the Superintendent's future son-in-law); City of Somers Point, P.E.R.C. No. 2003-40, 28 NJPER 586 (¶33182 2002)

(addressing employer over terms and condition of employment protected even if underlying "grievance" not properly filed).

The Commission has declined, however, to exercise jurisdiction over internal union matters, since courts have exclusive jurisdiction to enforce union constitutions and by-laws. The Commission has determined that employee organizations are private organizations and litigation over internal disputes such as the right to hold office should be litigated in the courts and do not constitute unfair practices. City of Jersey City, P.E.R.C. No. 83-32, 8 NJPER 563 (¶13260 1982). See also, County of Hudson and Dist. 1199J and Patrick Desmond, P.E.R.C. No. 2008-32, 33 NJPER 315 (¶118 2007) (factional dispute over who can or should represent interests of majority representative can be decided by a court of competent jurisdiction); State of New Jersey, D.U.P. No. 2000-3, 25 NJPER 390 (¶30167 1999) (allegations of one union member against another over who should be shop steward internal union matter, not unfair practice).

The Commission will only exercise jurisdiction over internal union matters where rights protected by N.J.S.A. 34:13A-5.3 are implicated. For instance, in West New York Police Supervisors Association and John Santa Maria, P.E.R.C. No. 89-60, 15 NJPER 21 (¶20007 1988), aff'd 235 N.J. Super. 123 (App. Div. 1989), the Commission considered whether a union rule, requiring that as a condition of membership charging party pay penalty charges assessed for the period he was eligible for membership but chose not to join, violated the Act. There, the Commission rejected the argument that the penalty rule was merely an internal union matter finding that the rule interfered with charging party's right to refrain from joining the Association by penalizing him the equivalent of union dues for the period of time he chose not to join. This, the Commission determined, violated 5.3 guarantees of the right to freely join without penalty any employee organization or to refrain from doing so.

Here, Bridge has not been refused membership in the Association nor has he been the subject of a penalty rule. Rather, the Association removed him from office. His complaint is that, in doing so, the Association violated its own by-laws and constitution. Bridge's dispute with the Association is an internal union matter, not subject to the Commission's unfair practice jurisdiction.

Bridge maintains, nevertheless, that he was entitled to remark verbally and in writing on his removal as Association president and his intention to bring legal action. His free speech in this context, he believes, was protected whether on or off school premises.

free speech, determined that in criticizing an employee representative, an employer must be careful to differentiate between the employee's status as a union representative and his status as an employee of the employer. When an employee is engaged in protected activity the employee and employer are equals.

However, unlike Black Horse, Bridge was not acting as an employee representative. Nor was he acting on behalf of other employees in a concerted activity or on behalf of himself in discussing terms and conditions of employment. His verbal and written communications to the staff occurring on school time were solely to benefit his own agenda of getting himself reinstated to union office. Union office holding is not a term and condition of employment. City of Jersey City.

Even assuming Bridge was correct that his ouster was illegal under the Association by-laws and constitution, his right to bring this private dispute onto school premises was not unfettered, especially where his actions threatened workplace discipline, order and respect.[12/] Public employee's right of free

12/ Employee representatives engaged with employers in protected activities are equals, but not all speech or conduct by an employee representative acting on behalf of the union is speech entitled to the Act's protection. Courts have drawn a line between giving leeway for adversarial/impulsive behavior in negotiations or grievance meetings and conduct which threatens workplace discipline, order and respect. See generally, State of New Jersey, Dept. of Treasury speech communication with co-workers is not unfettered. That right, in labor-management cases, is balanced against the obligation of the public employer to deliver its governmental responsibilities. In a school setting, those responsibilities encompass first and foremost the delivery of education to students.

In Tinker et al. v. Des Moines Independent Community School District et al., 393 U.S. 503 (1969), the Supreme Court addressed First Amendment free speech rights of students protesting the Vietnam War by wearing arm bands to school. A school policy prohibited the wearing of an arm band in school and threatened suspension of any student refusing to remove such an armband. The policy sought to prevent a disturbance at school. The Supreme Court reversed lower court rulings upholding the school's regulation. The Court determined that the school's policy violated the students' rights of free speech where there was no evidence that the school administration had reason to anticipate that the wearing of the arm bands would impede the work of the school or impinge upon the rights of other students. The policy, the Court found, was based on the school administration's wish to avoid controversy which might flow from the symbolic expression of wearing the arm bands.

Unlike Tinker, Fogelson sought to restrict Bridge's actions and speech on school premises and interactions with his colleagues which were actually causing complaints of intimidation and stress. His admonition to Bridge to cease these activities in the school were not to avoid future disturbance but to quell what had already caused concern among staff. Moreover, Bridge's actions did not implicate a broader societal message as in Tinker but concerned a private dispute which spilled over into the public workplace. In these circumstances, Fogelson's warning to Bridge did not infringe on Bridge's First Amendment free speech rights.

Specifically, Fogelson was within his rights to reign in Bridge's conduct as an employee toward other employees which conduct occurred on school premises and was causing stress in the workplace. The wide latitude afforded employee representatives was not extended to Bridge in these circumstances. Contrast, State of New Jersey and Patrolman's Benevolent Ass'n, Local 105 and New Jersey State Corrections Ass'n, FOP Lodge 200, D.R. 2006-18, 32 NJPER 145 (¶66 2006), review denied P.E.R.C. No. 2006-92, 32 NJPER (¶92 2006), aff'd ___ NJPER ___ (¶__ App. Div. 2007) (employer must remain neutral during representation election giving both sides equal access to premises for campaigning). See also, City of Newark, D.R. 95-2, 20 NJPER 342 (¶25176 1994); County of Monmouth, D.R. 92-24, 18 NJPER 201 (¶23090 1992); Ocean Cty. Judiciary, D.R. 86-25, 12 NJPER 511 (¶17191 1986).

Accordingly, I do not find that Bridge's activity in passing out the flyer on school premises and during the beginning of school as well as verbal statements to staff on school premises during school hours about his removal as president and possible legal action were protected conduct under the Act. Therefore, Superintendent Fogelson's action in the May 6 meeting and subsequent verbal and written warnings by Superintendent Fogelson admonishing Bridge to stop these activities at the school did not independently violate 5.4a(1).

Based on the foregoing, I recommend that the Respondent's motion to dismiss the Complaint as to the charge under CI-2013-59 be granted.

In this charge, Bridge contends that a second affirmative action investigation instigated by complaints of staff regarding his conduct, namely that Bridge made demeaning remarks to and about women in the work place as well as remarks that were intimidating, bullying and harassing to co-workers causing a hostile work environment, interfered with his right to engage in Association political matters. Bridge contends that the complainants represent a faction in the Association sympathetic to the administration, and that one or more of the complainants lied during the investigation in order to impugn his (Bridge's) reputation. The administration, he asserts, in pursuing the affirmative action investigation demonstrated its hostility to him.

The facts adduced by Bridge were that six individuals filed complaints of hostile work environment with AAO/Principal Melchor. Melchor then instigated an investigation required by the District's Healthy Workplace Environment policy. The investigation included interviews with Bridge and the six complainants. Also, at Bridge's suggestion, Melchor interviewed six staff members, who Bridge felt, would support him in challenging the complainants' allegations of inappropriate behavior.

The complainants related various incidents, including the passing out of the flyer at school as well as discussions in school with Executive Council Member/Association Treasurer Don Biery, all involving Bridge's removal from Association office and his threat to bring legal action against the Association and individual members. These threats, the complainants asserted, represented intimidation and bullying in the work place. There were also concerns of safety raised because in one of the communications, Bridge stated that "justice will be served."

As to the sexist comments, one incident in particular stood out. In the faculty room, Bridge was heard to criticize a female colleague - Cali Roberts - who had sent him an email about how he handled Association business, calling her a coward. When confronted by another colleague who objected to his criticism of Roberts, Bridge referred to the Roberts' email as a typical woman's response - a "girl thing to do", something a man would never do. In his testimony, Bridge admitted making the faculty room conversation and further explained that his reference to a typical woman, in that instance, was behavior descriptive of an immature girl, someone who was not direct, forthright or personable. He was surprised that anyone took offense to his statement. Bridge also admitted that he referred to female colleagues as "broads" on occasion.

Roberts told Melchor that although she did not feel threatened by Bridge she avoided him and would be uncomfortable if assigned to co-teach with him. She explained that Bridge was not respectful or receptive to young female staff especially when they disagreed with him. Melchor's interviews with the complainants confirmed that Bridge's remarks about females resulted in some avoiding the faculty room in order to avoid Bridge.

As to the remaining interviewees, individuals recommended by Bridge to be interviewed during the investigation, some directly supported that inappropriate comments were made about female staff, while others confirmed that Bridge was either directly or indirectly responsible for the disharmony among staff. For instance, Farrell heard sexist comments about women; Chaplin heard several female colleagues comment about Bridge's inappropriate attitude toward them and Bridge's conduct stressed her; Jones felt if Bridge had behaved differently the Association would be in better shape and confirmed he would not vote for him again given the chance; Wilson characterized the culture in the school both during and after Bridge's presidency as antagonistic and disharmonious among the various staff factions; Tynan stated Bridge overstepped his bounds with teachers and that since his removal as president, his tone has been bitter. Even Davis who denied hearing Bridge make hostile comments or negative comments about women admitted that Bridge's strong feelings rubbed staff the wrong way. Finally Knapp, the only witness called by Bridge, testified that as a result of Bridge's behavior in the school, he avoided going to the faculty room.

Melchor concluded from his investigation that Bridge had violated the district's policy by creating a hostile work environment, namely by conduct that was bullying, intimidating and harassing. The conduct was in person, in emails and in public places such as the faculty room and hallway. His actions toward female staff, in particular, was found to be sexist in nature and offensive to them as well as to male colleagues. Melchor recommended that Bridge attend healthy work environment work shops and that the AA report be placed in his file. Bridge did not appeal these findings or recommendations to the Board.

Bridge asserts that Melchor's investigation was unfair and flawed, because 77% of those interviewed claimed to feel no hostility from him and did not feel unsafe. Assuming Bridge was correct in his mathematical calculations that 77% of the interviewees felt no hostility from him, the percentage was skewed because half of those interviewed were individuals interviewed at Bridge's request and presumably supported his position that he did not create a hostile work environment as charged.

However, not withstanding Bridge's claim that these individuals were not offended, Bridge's belief in this regard is irrelevant. Of the six original complainants, all expressed that their work environment was hostile due to Bridge's conduct towards them and others. It caused them to avoid him and the faculty room.

Moreover, contrary to Bridge's claim that the interviewees recommended by him did not feel he created a hostile environment, a review of the statements given by these individuals demonstrate mixed feelings as to his conduct. Most expressed reservations about him. For instance, some confirmed hearing Bridge make sexist comments and others remarked on the disharmony among staff as a result of Bridge's conduct. Clearly, together with the complainants, a majority of those interviewed corroborated some of the charges in the complaints.

In any event, Melchor interviewed all of the individuals recommended by Bridge. There is no evidence that Bridge was limited in the number of individuals he could have requested Melchor to interview on his behalf. Additionally, Bridge was given an opportunity to challenge Melchor's allegedly "unfair" and "flawed" conclusions by requesting a hearing before the Board on appeal. He did not do so.

There is no dispute that Bridge was upset by his removal from office and that emotion triggered actions and conduct by Bridge in the school, while he was seeking to garner support for his reinstatement, which some colleagues found to be stressful and intimidating. There is also no dispute that Bridge made remarks to and about female colleagues in school which were offensive to female staff as well as male staff. The question then is whether the instigation of an affirmative action investigation at the behest of complainants alleging hostile work environment constitutes a violation of the Act.

Anti-discrimination statutes, particularly Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 (Title VII), 42 U.S.C.S. §20003 et seq. and the New Jersey Law Against Discrimination (LAD), N.J.S.A.

10:5-1 et seq., as well as case law interpreting those statutes, such as Lehmann v. Toys 'R' Us, Inc., 132 N.J. 587 (1993) and Blakey v. Continental Airlines, 164 N.J. 38 (2000) require an employer to act to prevent and stop harassment in the workplace. In Blakey, the Court determined that employers have a duty to take measures to stop co-worker harassment, when the employer knows or should have known that the harassment is taking place. Id. at 62. See also, Cerdeira v. Martindale-Hubbell, 402 N.J. Super. 486, 493-493 (App. Div. 2008) (employer can be liable for co-worker harassment if employer did not have effective anti-harassment policy and complaint mechanism and harm ensued to plaintiff). In Knabe v. The Boury Corp., 114 F. 3d 407 (3rd Cir. 1997), the Court opined that once an employer has actual or constructive knowledge of the existence of a hostile work environment and fails to take prompt and adequate remedial action, it can be held liable for the discriminatory conduct of its employee.

Finally, the Commission has held that an employer has a managerial prerogative as well as a legal obligation to implement an affirmative action plan and to investigate complaints of discrimination and hostile work environment in administering and enforcing its plan. Holding union office or being on the negotiations team does not, standing alone, insulate an employee from an affirmative action investigation. State of New Jersey

(Trenton State Coll.), H.E. No. 90-48 at 16 NJPER 337, 339 (¶21139 1990) adopted P.E.R.C. No. 91-1, 16 NJPER 419 (¶21175 1990). See also, Jersey City Educ. Ass'n v. Jersey City Bd. of Ed., 218 N.J. Super. 177, 187-188 (App. Div. 1987).

Applying these standards to the matter before me, the facts support that the AA investigation was the result of complaints to AAO Melchor by co-workers against Bridge. The Board's affirmative action policy mandated that the AAO investigate the complaints and, where necessary, remediate the discriminatory conduct. There is no evidence that the complaints were encouraged or promoted by any action of the employer. There is also no evidence, as alleged by Bridge in his charge, that the employer manipulated the complainants because of any alleged agenda to encourage a faction in the Association friendly to the administration, or that the investigation was prompted by hostility to Bridge's former presidency or reinstatement to Association office. Bridge admitted at this hearing that neither Superintendent Fogelson nor AAO Melchor ever questioned him about his union activities or imposed sanctions or disciplined him for those activities. The affirmative action investigation was triggered solely in response to staff complaints of hostile work environment and in compliance with existing Board policy.

That some complaints grew out of or touched upon Association internal disputes was of no moment, where the conduct complained of occurred in the work place and was offensive to his co-workers. For instance, the Roberts/Bridge email exchange concerned union matters - e.g. critical of how negotiations were handled, but Bridge's sexist comments in the faculty room about Roberts email specifically and females generally were offensive to female and male colleagues alike. These sexist comments are prohibited by discrimination policies, statutes and case law cited above and are not, therefore, rights protected by our Act or First Amendment free speech rights.

Next, it is irrelevant that Bridge believes that his comments about women were not offensive and were even humorous. The test in a gender discrimination claim is whether the reasonable person of complainant's gender would consider workplace acts and comments sufficiently severe or pervasive to alter the conditions of employment and create a hostile working environment. Cutler v. Dorn, 196 N.J. 419, 430 (2008). Thus, it is of no moment that Bridge thought his comments inoffensive, it is whether a reasonable female colleague would find them harmless or sufficiently offensive and pervasive to create a hostile environment - e.g. Roberts, DellaBella, Black, and others found his comments about women offensive and avoided the faculty room so as not to encounter Bridge.

It is also irrelevant that Bridge thought he was doing his colleagues a favor by giving them fair warning that he was going to bring legal action against them, when the complainants expressed that they were intimidated and stressed in the work place by these verbal and written actions. Those actions caused them to avoid him and the faculty room. One complainant expressed reservations about working with him in a classroom if assigned to co-teach.

Melchor concluded, based on his investigation, that Bridge's statements to co-workers and actions violated the Board's Healthy Workplace Environment Policy, and that corrective action was necessary.

Based on the evidence in the record before me, the Board's actions do not demonstrate a tendency to interfere with Bridge's exercise of any rights guaranteed by our Act regarding the affirmative action investigation. Specifically, Bridge has no right under our Act to create a hostile work environment for female colleagues by sexist comments or to intimidate co-workers in the workplace with threats of legal action. The only actions that the Board interfered with were halting offensive gender discriminatory speech and intimidating behavior in the workplace.

Based on the foregoing, I recommend that Respondent's motion to dismiss the Complaint as to charge CI-2013-61 be granted.

In this petition, Bridge appeals a disciplinary action of the Board in withholding his 2013-2014 salary increment[13/] This action, Bridge asserts, falls under N.J.S.A. 18A:6-9 because the Board's actions violated (1) the New Jersey Anti-Bullying Bill of Rights Act, N.J.S.A. 18A:37-13.2, et seq. (the HIB statute) by applying it to Bridge's actions; (2) the New Jersey Employer-Employee Relations Act N.J.S.A. 34:13A-1 et seq. (the PERC statute) by interfering with union activities, in particular his free speech rights; (3) Article 1, Paragraph 6 of the New Jersey Constitution free speech rights as well as the United States Constitution's First Amendment free speech rights in addressing a Board meeting about his concerns regarding use of drugs in the schools; and (4) Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, 42 U.S.C. 2000, et seq. (Title VII) by disciplining Bridge for revealing the discriminatory behavior of a colleague, namely the anti-Semitic email.

The facts as adduced by Bridge at the hearing in this matter together with the admissions of the Board in its Answer to the 13/ Bridge also states that, as part of the discipline, the Board required him to attend a "sensitivity to discrimination in the workplace" seminar and placed a letter of reprimand in his file. In this instance, Bridge's petition confuses the recommendations of a subsequent affirmative action investigation which was the subject of Bridge's second petition under EDU 16637-2013N. For purposes of this analysis, as to the petition under EDU 14001-2013N, I only consider Bridge's appeal of the Board's decision to withhold his 2013-2014 salary increment for disciplinary reasons.

unfair practice charges were that Bridge's 2013-2014 increment withholding was the result of an affirmative action complaint filed by Superintendent Fogelson against both Bridge as well as then Association Vice-President Jarvis. Bridge in particular was charged with republishing hateful or discriminatory speech, when at an Association meeting he distributed an email written by Jarvis to him in which Jarvis referred to the Superintendent as a "kike." Subsequently, the email became widely disseminated among the staff. Fogelson complained that the wide dissemination of the email caused a hostile work environment, making it difficult for him to come into the school building and perform his duties. After an investigation by the Board's Affirmative Action Officer (AAO) and a hearing before the Board, Bridge was found guilty of violating the Board's affirmative action policy and Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964. The Board upheld the AAO's recommendation to withhold his 2013-2014 salary increment.

In its Notice to Dismiss in Lieu of Answer (A-4), the Board urges dismissal of this petition on procedural grounds, because (a) the Commissioner lacks jurisdiction to adjudicate the withholding of increments for disciplinary reasons, (b) the Commissioner lacks jurisdiction to adjudicate claims of violations under the PERC statute which are being adjudicated separately in this consolidated proceeding under the unfair practice charges, the disciplinary withholding was not based on the HIB statute as alleged in Bridge's petition, and Bridge has filed a complaint of discrimination with the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (EEOC) which has primary jurisdiction to resolve Title VII complaints, and, in any event, Title VII does not arise under the New Jersey School laws and does not therefore confer jurisdiction on the Commissioner (A-4).

Jurisdictional issues are threshold issues, separate and apart from the merits of the case. Board of Education of the Lenape Regional High School District v. New Jersey State Department of Education, OAL Dkt. No. EDU 735-0, Agency Dkt. No. 27-1/034; North Bergen Federation of Teachers, Local 1060, American Federation of Teachers, AFL-CIO, and Eileen Wende, OAL Dkt. No. EDU 9838-97, Agency Dkt. No. 290-8/97. Under N.J.S.A. 34:13A-26 et seq. as well as pertinent case law, all disputes involving increment withholdings by an employer for predominantly disciplinary reasons shall be subject to the parties' grievance procedure. This statute speaks in the imperative and is, thus controlling in the matter before me. Contrast, N.J.S.A. 34:13A-27d (if reason for withholding predominantly relates to teaching performance, appeal shall be filed with the Commissioner of Education).; Scotch Plains-Fanwood Bd. of Ed., P.E.R.C. No. 91-67, 17 NJPER 144, 146 (¶22057 1991)(only withholding of teaching staff increment based on actual teaching performance appealable to the Commissioner of Education). See generally, Edison Tp. Bd. of Ed. v. Edison Tp. Principals and Supervisors Ass'n, 304 N.J. Super. 459 (App. Div. 1997), aff'g P.E.R.C. 97-40, 22 NJPER 390 (¶27211 1996).

Here, there is no dispute that the increment withholding was disciplinary and done as a result of the dissemination of the anti-Semitic email at the Association meeting. The Board admits these facts in its Notice of Motion to Dismiss in lieu of Answer (A-4) and in its Answer to the unfair practice charge (A-2). Thus, any appeal of the increment withholding in this instance must go to binding arbitration; the Commissioner lacks jurisdiction to adjudicate this claim. Any challenge to the Board's actions in withholding the increment under these circumstances can be presented to an arbitrator and the appropriate remedy applied if the discipline is determined to be unwarranted.

Next, Bridge's claims that the Board's actions in withholding his increment due to his dissemination of an email at an Association meeting interfered with rights protected by the Act are within PERC's jurisdiction not the Commissioner's. In Board of Educ. of Hamilton v. Fraleigh, 93 N.J.A.R. 2d (EDU) 538, the Court determined that where the subject of a dispute does not call for any particular administrative expertise, the Commissioner of Education cannot invoke jurisdiction. Here, Bridge contends that the increment withholding violates his constitutional right to free speech. However, that claim is only tangentially related to school law in that Bridge is a teacher. Nevertheless, the speech at the heart of Bridge's petition is political in nature within the context of union activity at an Association meetings and invokes PERC's particular expertise not the Commissioner's. These claims are appropriately considered under the unfair practice charge (CI-2013-60) still pending before me.

As to Bridge's allegations regarding violations under Title VII of the Civil Rights Act, these implicate federal claims which he is pursuing separately in an EEOC complaint. Specifically, Bridge's claim asserts that by disciplining him for disseminating the anti-Semitic email and revealing a co-workers hate speech, the Board punished him in violation of Title VII's prohibition against discriminating against an employee for that employee's charge, testimony, assistance or participation in an investigation, proceeding or hearing related to allegations of discrimination under Title VII.

The Commissioner and the New Jersey Division on Civil Rights (DCR) have concurrent jurisdiction in discrimination cases concerning education, and, under principals of administrative comity, the Commissioner has the predominant interest where the discrimination occurs in a public education setting. Balsey v. North Hunterdon Regional School District Board of Education and Hopek, 117 N.J. 434, 447 (1990). This concurrent jurisdiction does not, however, extend to federal claims, and there is no claim in the petition that New Jersey's Law Against Discrimination was violated (LAD).[14/] Accordingly, the Commissioner lacks jurisdiction to consider Bridge's Title VII claims.

Bridge, also, asserts that the Board violated the HIB statute by applying it to Bridge's actions at the Association meeting. The HIB statute applies to bullying against students. The facts in this matter do not support that the affirmative action complaint, investigation or recommendation to withhold Bridge's 2013-2014 salary increment or the action of the Board in withholding the increment implicated the HIB statute. Therefore, there is nothing in this record which would support that a violation under HIB occurred.

Finally, Bridge asserts violations of his free speech rights under both the New Jersey Constitution and the United States

14/ I am marking Bridge's response to A-4 and A-6 (the Board's Notice of Motions to Dismiss in lieu of Answer) as A-10. In A-10, Bridge contends for the first time that his petition is not alleging a violation of Title VII, but is asserting a violation of LAD. I do not consider this argument raised after the filing of the petitions and without a request to amend. The Board contends, in any event, that it would be highly prejudicial to grant an amendment at this juncture. I agree.

I am also marking as A-11, the Board's replay brief to A-10.

Constitution. Specifically, he alleges that his speech to the Association at an Association meeting is protected as a matter of public concern. There is a two-pronged balancing test when determining whether a public employee's speech should be afforded First Amendment protection. The first prong implicates whether the speech is on a matter of public concern. If the answer to the first prong is in the affirmative, then prong two requires a balance of the employee's interest in free speech against the government's fulfillment of its responsibilities to the public through its employees. Karins v. Atlantic City, 152 N.J. 532, 550 (1998).

Here, the speech Bridge contends is protected by the First Amendment and New Jersey Constitution, occurred in the context of a union meeting, a private affair.[15/] The facts adduced at the hearing are that Bridge revealed an anti-Semitic comment of a rival seeking to replace him as Association president to the attendees at an Association meeting in an attempt to thwart a challenge to his union office. Bridge did not report the offensive comment to the AAO or file an AA complaint. The facts support, therefore, that his primary goal was to prevent his removal as Association President and, by extension, thwart the challenge of his rival, the author of the offensive email. The question of who holds union office is an internal union matter, not a matter of concern to the public as asserted by Bridge.

15/ Bridge's reliance on Rankin v. McPherson, 483 U.S. 378 (1987) is misplaced. There, the Court upheld the free speech rights of citizens in a public square even where the speech is outrageous (McPherson expressed support for a second assassination attempt on then-President Reagan). Here, the speech that is at issue occurred in the context of a private setting, namely an Association meeting.

Nevertheless, if the Board violated Bridge's right to communicate freely with union members, then a violation under the PERC statute is found. Public employees and their labor organizations have a free speech right of communication, but in a labor management setting, the trier of fact must balance the rights of a labor organization with the obligations of the public employer to deliver its governmental responsibilities. New Jersey Department of Corrections, P.E.R.C. No. 97-145, 23 NJPER 388 (¶28176 1997) adopting H.E. No 97-26, 23 NJPER 221, 223 (¶28106 1997); Jackson Tp., P.E.R.C. No. 89-124, 14 NJPER 405 (¶19160 1988) adopting H.E. No. 88-49, 14 NJPER 293, 304 (¶19109). In the school setting, that primary responsibility is to deliver an education to students.

Here, the essence of this petition is Bridge's assertion of a right to communicate with union members at an Association meeting free of government interference, a right protected by the PERC statute. These allegations are asserted under unfair practice charge CI-2013-60. I have denied the Board's motion to dismiss as to this charge, since giving every favorable inference to Bridge, I could not determine on the record before me and applying a balancing test whether the Board's obligation to deliver educational services to students was impeded by Bridge's communication of the anti-Semitic email at the Association meeting, thus outweighing Bridge's right to communicate freely with union members. If the Board can prove on a review of all the facts that, on balance, the disruption to its delivery of governmental services justified the discipline imposed on Bridge, namely the withholding of his increment, then its actions will not have violated the PERC statute. A full review of the facts was warranted, so I denied the motion to dismiss that charge. Accordingly, Bridge's free speech claims, as asserted in this petition and established by Bridge in his case in chief, implicate PERC's jurisdiction, not the Commissioner's.[16/]

Based on the foregoing, I recommend that Respondent's motion to dismiss the petition under EDU 14001-2013N, Agency Dkt. No. 215-9/13 be granted.

16/ There are no facts presented by Bridge to support that any statements he made at a Board meeting about the drug enforcement policies was stifled by any Board member or by the administration. Thus, no free speech rights are implicated in this regard. There are also no facts presented by Bridge to support that the Code of Ethics for School Board Members, N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1 was violated that would necessitate the Commissioner's oversight. In essence, Bridge's complaint is against Ritchie who, he asserts, falsely accused him of threatening her job due to his remarks at the Board meeting. Whether Ritchie was correct or mistaken as to consequences of Bridge's remarks at the Board meeting does not convert this matter into an issue implicating the school laws.

OAL Dkt. No. EDU 16637-2013N, Agency Dkt. No. 257-10/13

This petition mirrors claims under CI-2013-59 and CI-2013-61. First, the petition alleges that Superintendent Fogelson issued Bridge a warning after Bridge distributed a flyer to staff at the beginning of school pertaining to his removal as Association president. Fogelson was responding to staff complaints about Bridge's behavior in person, by email and in public places in the school. The warning cautioned Bridge to cease his behavior or risk discipline. This warning, Bridge asserts, violates the PERC statute by interfering with his right to communicate with Association members.

Next, the petition alleges that a second affirmative action investigation was instigated by six staff members charging Bridge with bullying, intimidation and harassment as well as making sexist and offensive comments to female colleagues. His actions, it was charged, caused a hostile work environment. This investigation resulted in a finding of a violation of the Board's healthy workplace environment policy and a recommendation by the AAO that Bridge attend a workshop dealing with healthy workplace environment, and that the AA investigation be placed in his personnel file. The Board notified him of his right to appeal. Bridge did not appeal these findings or recommendations to the Board as was his right under the healthy workplace environment policy. These facts were presented in evidence at the hearing.

However, other allegations in this petition were not presented as facts either through testimony or documentary evidence. I, therefore, must dismiss these allegations since they were not proven by a preponderance, or even any evidence, at the hearing.

Specifically, Bridge alleges in this petition that after addressing the Board at a meeting about its drug policies, Superintendent Fogelson threatened that Bridge's comments could lead to his (Fogelson's) termination if the press had been present, and that Board President Hanelt also voiced concern to Bridge about the effect of his comments on the press. Bridge further contends in the petition that at the Association meeting to remove him as president, Substance Abuse Counselor, Tina Ritchie echoed the same sentiment, namely that her job could have been threatened if the press was at the Board meeting when Bridge made his comments about drug intervention (A-5 at page 3). No evidence in the record supports these comments about the press were made by Fogelson, Hanelt or Ritchie. Although he had subpoenaed Fogelson and Hanelt, Bridge opted not to call them. He accepted instead a stipulation from the Board that neither Fogelson or Hanelt ever threatened Ritchie's job as she had charged at the Association meeting, which charge prompted the motion to remove Bridge as association president.

The petition also alleges that two days after the filing of the second affirmative action complaint, Bridge was informed that he would not be teaching German V despite sufficient student interest and that he would only be teaching four courses, on short of a full load. The petition contends that these actions were taken to punish Bridge for republishing the anti-Semitic email. No evidence either testimonial or documentary was presented at the hearing to support these allegations. Accordingly, I dismiss these allegations since Bridge did not prove them by a preponderance, or even any, evidence on the record.

Finally, in the petition, Bridge suggests that in November or December 2012, he complained to the AAO that a cabal of female political opponents was overheard in the faculty room to express an intent to oust him from the Association presidency using the AAO's office as a weapon (presumably through false discrimination complaints). Bridge asserts that the AAO discriminated against him by not pursuing this report. No facts were presented at the hearing to support this allegation. Therefore, I cannot consider them for purposes of my analysis.

First, as a threshold issue, the Board contends that the Commissioner lacks jurisdiction to consider any allegations in this petition regarding the second affirmative action investigation because Bridge did not appeal the AAO findings and recommendations to the Board. Unlike the increment withholding where a Board hearing was conducted and the AAO findings and recommendations adopted, here there was no final Board action. The Board asserts that the Commissioner has jurisdiction over this matter under N.J.S.A. 18A6-9 to "hear and determine . . . all controversies and disputes arising under the school laws." However, the Board argues, that jurisdiction extends only to a review of action taken by local boards of education not to review of action taken by local administrators such as local affirmative action officers. The Board cites two cases in support of this contention. In re Masiello, 25 N.J. 509, 604 (1958); Szymanski, et al. v. South River Bd. of Ed., 1978 S.L.D. 267, 269 (March 8, 1978).

Moreover, under N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(I), the Board posits, any appeal to the Commissioner must be filed no later than the 90th day from the receipt of the notice of final order, ruling or other action of the district board of education. Here, the Board correctly contends, Bridge never received a final order or ruling from the Board because the matter was never appealed for its review. Accordingly, the Board contends, Bridge failed to exhaust his administrative remedies, a pre-requisite to his appeal to the Commissioner (A-6).

In response to this argument (A-10), Bridge distinguishes the Szymanski decision, contending that it is limited to the particulars of the law being reviewed and has no application to this matter.[17/] Bridge also contends that the Board's appeal procedure stated that he "may" appeal the decision of the AAO but did not speak in the imperative. Therefore, he argues, the appeal was optional not mandatory, allowing him to file directly with the Commissioner without a decision of the Board. Additionally, Bridge explains, because the AAO's recommendations were carried out - e.g. he attended the proscribed workshop and the AA report was placed in his file - the Board effectively adopted the recommendations made to it. Therefore, its actions are now subject to review by the Commissioner.

The question raised by the parties is whether Bridge failed to exhaust his administrative remedies by not filing an appeal of the findings and recommendations of the AAO in the second affirmative action investigation to the Board for a final decision. N.J.S.A. 18A:6-9 confers on the Commissioner jurisdiction to hear "all controversies and disputes arising under the school laws. . . ." Regulations set out in N.J.A.C.

17/ Bridge also contends, that an appeal to the Board would have been a waste of time, since Board President Hanelt and Superintendent Fogelson could not be impartial because Ritchie charged they had threatened her job. Thus, he suggests, they were implicated in the decision of the Association to remove him from union office. This convoluted logic is not supported by any facts presented at the hearing. No fact established that either Hanelt or Fogelson were prejudiced by Ritchie's allegations which were the basis for an internal union decision to remove Bridge from union office.

6A:7-1.1 et seq. provide rules to ensure that all students regardless of protected class are provided equal access to educational programs and services by district boards of education. N.J.A.C. 6A:7-1.3 defines "discriminatory practices" as:

> a policy, action, or failure to act that limits or denies equal access to or benefits from the educational activities or programs of a school, or that generates or permits injustice or unfair or otherwise inequitable treatment of students or staff on the basis of race, creed, color, national origin, ancestry, age, marital status, affectional or sexual orientation, gender, religion, disability or socioeconomic status.

N.J.A.C. 6A7-1.5 requires each district board of education to annually designate an affirmative action officer (AAO) and to form an affirmative action team. The AAO is responsible for coordinating requisite professional development training for all staff, notifying all students and employees of district grievance procedures for handling discrimination complaints and ensuring that these procedures, including investigative and reporting responsibilities are followed. Under N.J.A.C. 6A:7-1.10, "[i]n accordance with N.J.S.A. 18A:6-9, any individual may petition the Commissioner of Education in writing to resolve a dispute arising under these rules pursuant to procedures set forth in N.J.A.C. 6A:3." Finally, N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(I) states in pertinent part as to the initiation of a contested case for a Commissioner's determination of a controversy or dispute arising under the school laws, that "[t]he petitioner shall file a petition no later than the 90th day from the date of receipt of the notice of a final order, ruling or other action by the district board of education, individual party, or agency, which is the subject of the requested contested case hearing." [emphasis added]

The cases cited by the Board in support of its argument on the issue of exhaustion of administrative remedies are distinguishable from the instant matter. First, in Masiello, a teacher appealed the decision of the State Board of Examiners denying him a school administrator's certificate. The denial was subsequently affirmed on appeal to the Commissioner of Education who reviewed the Board of Examiner's decision and to the State Board of Education which affirmed the Commissioner without opinion. Masiello then appealed to the Appellate Division.

The Court addressed the administrative hierarchy within the Department of Education and the nature of internal appeals afforded by the relevant statutes. In this instance, the Court reviewed the State Board of Examiner's procedures. It determined that the proceeding before the Board of Examiners was informal and that a hearing in the constitutional sense, providing for due process, was not afforded. The Court then determined that Masiello should be given an opportunity to have a full hearing before either the Board of Examiners or the Commissioner and an adequate record made. The burden of the Commissioner is "to weigh the evidence and to make an independent finding of fact on the record presented; and in the process of reaching that finding, he should give due regard to the opportunity of the hearer below to observe the witnesses and to evaluate their credibility."

The Court in Masiello did not consider with the regulations at issue here, namely the Board's obligation to designate an AAO who is vested with the authority and powers to implement its affirmative action regulations and affirmative action policies, as well as determine violations of these policies and regulations. This case does not preclude appeal from an AAO determination directly to the Commissioner.

Similarly, Szymanski is distinguishable. There, the Commissioner dismissed a petition filed by a teacher challenging the decision of the South River Board of Education to non-renew his employment for the 1976-1977 school year. The teacher requested and received from the Superintendent a statement of reasons as to why his employment contract was non-renewed. The reasons were performance based and based also on the fact that pupil enrollment had dropped after a sending-receiving relationship with another school district ended. On appeal the teacher challenged the legitimacy of the Board's reasons, asserting he was non-renewed because the District wanted to leave a position vacant to be filled by a vice-principal. The Commissioner determined that the Board's reasons were legitimate and took administrative notice of the decrease in pupil enrollment. While the Commissioner noted that the teacher had failed to request an informal appearance before the Board (a Donaldson hearing), the Commissioner did not expressly hold that the petition was dismissed for failing to do so. Accordingly, this case is not determinative here.

In Borough of Matawan v. Monmouth County Board of Taxation, Township of Matawan and Frederick Raubinger, Commissioner of the New Jersey Department of Education, 51 N.J. 291 (1968), the Court considered whether the Borough was being apportioned taxes correctly under several statutes governing apportionment of taxes between partners in a regional school district. The defendants urged that plaintiff's case should be dismissed because the Borough had not first appealed to either the Division of Tax Appeals or to the Commissioner of Education.

Considering the parties' arguments, the Court retained jurisdiction, determining that the case implicated statutory interpretation and a constitutional question for which the courts were uniquely suited, and that further use of administrative expertise would be futile, since either agency would be asked to declare its own actions illegal under the statue. In rendering its decision, the Court explained first that the exhaustion is neither jurisdictional nor absolute and could be departed from in the interests of justice. Moreover, where the issue to be decided is solely a matter of law, the doctrine is not applicable. However, the Court, quoting Roadway Express, Inc. v. Kingsley, 37 N.J. 136 (1962), maintained that several factors needed to be considered before following the extraordinary course of bypassing administrative remedies made available by the Legislature. Those factors enumerated by the Court were the relative delay and expense, the necessity for taking evidence and making factual determination on the evidence, the nature of the agency, and the extent of judgment, discretion and expertise involved.

Unlike Matawan, Bridge's claims are not issues to be decided solely as a matter of law. Bridge challenged the AAO investigation as not fair, a claim which requires a factual record. Bridge was informed by the AAO that he could appeal the AAO's decision to the Board by filing specifically enumerated papers within seven working days, and that, unless Bridge requested a hearing, the Board would review all papers submitted on appeal and render a decision. If a hearing was requested, witnesses could be called and examined.

Bridge chose not to file an appeal to the Board. Since the assertions in his petition relate essentially to Bridge's belief that the witnesses interviewed by the AAO were lying, that a cabal of female staff were out to get him, and that there was a conspiracy between the Association, the Superintendent and the AAO to suborn false reporting, that hearing would have been his opportunity to establish a factual record and challenge the efficacy of the AA investigation. I reject Bridge's assertions that the appeal to the Board would have been pointless because of some perceived prejudice of the Board President and the Superintendent based on statements attributed to them by a third party (Ritchie).

Nevertheless, N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(I) permits the filing of an appeal to the Commissioner not only from a final ruling or order of a district board but also from an individual party or agency which is the subject of the requested hearing. Thus, it appears that any individual may petition the Commissioner in writing to resolve a dispute arising under the regulations delineated in N.J.A.C. 6A:7-1.1 et seq. pertaining to the establishment by district boards of affirmative action policies to be carried out by an affirmative action officer appointed by a district board. Accordingly, I do not dismiss this petition for failure to exhaust administrative remedies.

Even if, however, Bridge was entitled to a de novo hearing in this proceeding challenging the second affirmative action investigation, he was given full opportunity to do so by calling witnesses and presenting documentary evidence in his case in chief. It was his burden to prove by a preponderance of evidence the allegations in this petition, that the investigation's findings and recommendation should be reversed because they were flawed, the witnesses lied, and the Association, Superintendent and AAO conspired against him by encouraging witnesses to lie. An examination of the record before me established that the AA investigation was fairly conducted and that the AAO's conclusions that Bridge had caused a hostile work environment through intimidation, bullying and harassment as well as making sexist statements offensive to female staff were supported by the interviews of witnesses.

Specifically, Bridge asserts in this petition that the AAO stacked the deck by calling only certain staff to interview. Nothing could be farther from the truth. In addition to the six complainants interviewed, the AAO requested Bridge to supply names of individuals to be interviewed. There was no limit placed on the number of recommended interviewees, and the AAO interviewed every individual named by Bridge. A review of all witness statements supports that sexist comments were made (Bridge admitted doing so in his testimony at this hearing) and that those comments were offensive to female staff as well as male colleagues. Female and male colleagues avoided the faculty room as a result of this conduct.

Bridge also admitted to speaking to Association members through emails and in the faculty room and other places in the school and during school hours about his objections to actions taken by the Association to remove him from union office and his threats to sue the Association and individual members. Those threats, Bridge understood, caused stress in the work place. Based on the evidence in this record, there is no basis to reverse the determination of the AAO. Any free speech claims fall because gender discriminatory comments as well as threats or intimidation are not protected by First Amendment rights.

Specifically, a public employee's free speech rights in the workplace are not unfettered. Tinker, supra. The Board's actions were prompted not by Superintendent Fogelson or by AAO Melchor, rather the warning to cease political activity advocating for his reinstatement as president as well as the second affirmative action investigation were initiated as a result of complaints by Bridge's colleagues of conduct in the school which they asserted was creating a hostile work environment. State and federal statutes and case law mandate that such claims be investigated which is what the Board did. See generally, Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 (Title VII), 42 U.S.C.S. §20003 et seq.; the New Jersey Law Against Discrimination (LAD), N.J.S.A. 10:5-1 et seq.; Lehmann v. Toys 'R' Us, Inc., 132 N.J. 587 (1993); Blakey v. Continental Airlines, 164 N.J. 38 (2000). Thus, the institution of AA investigations under these circumstances does not violate any school laws.

OAL Docket No.: EDU 05774-2016N

This Settlement Agreement ("Agreement") is made this ____ day of June, 2016, by and between Petitioner J.T. ("J.T.") o/b/o J.T., A.T., and B.T. ("Children"), and Respondent/Cross-Petitioner South Brunswick Board of Education ("Board") (hereinafter collectively referred to as the "Parties").

WHEREAS, on or about February 26, 2016, J.T. filed a Pro Se Residency Appeal with the Commissioner of Education, which was docketed as 61-2/16 ("Petition"), challenging the Board's August 8, 2016 determination that J.T.'s Children did not reside in South Brunswick during the 2015-16 school year; and

WHEREAS, on or about April 12, 2016, the Board filed an Answer to J.T.'s Petition and also filed a Cross-Petition for tuition costs for J.T.'s Children; and

WHEREAS, the matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law for a hearing before the Honorable Jeffrey Gerson, A.L.J. on June 20, 2016, which was docketed as EDU 05774-2016N; and

WHEREAS, the Parties intend to adopt, by way of compromise, without any admission of liability, all claims which were either raised or could have been raised in the Petition and Cross-Petition ; and

NOW THEREFORE, in consideration of the foregoing and of the mutual agreements contained herein, and intending to be legally bound, the Parties agree as follows:

1. This Agreement sets forth all the terms and conditions of the Parties' agreement.
2. J.T. agrees to pay the Board a total sum of thirteen thousand dollars ($13,000.00).

a. Said amount shall be paid by J.T. over the course of sixty-one (61) monthly installment payments.

b. All monthly payments by J.T. shall be in the form of a check or money order made payable to the "South Brunswick School District."

c. All monthly payments shall be sent by J.T. to:

South Brunswick School District
P.O. Box. 181
Monmouth Junction, New Jersey 08852
Attention: School Business Administrator

d. The first payment by J.T. shall be in the amount of one thousand dollars ($1,000.00), and is due to the Board on or before August 15, 2016.

e. The remaining balance of twelve thousand dollars ($12,000.00) shall be paid to the Board in sixty (60) monthly installments of two hundred dollars ($200.00) each, beginning in September 2016. Each of these monthly sixty (60) payments is due to the Board on or before the 5th of each month.

f. If the initial monthly payment is not received by the Board by August 25, 2016, or if any subsequent payment is not received by the Board by the 15th of the respective month, the Board shall send J.T. a letter via certified and regular mail informing J.T. of his default of this Agreement. If J.T.'s default is not cured within five (5) days of the date of the Board's letter, the Board shall apply to the Office of Administrative Law or New Jersey Superior Court for a default judgment in the amount of thirty thousand dollars ($30,000), minus the amount already paid by J.T., if any. If it becomes necessary for the Board to seek a default judgment, J.T. agrees that the Board shall be entitled to counsel fees and costs associated with that application.

g. J.T. understands that his obligation to pay the full sum of thirteen thousand dollars ($13,000.00) in accordance with this Agreement shall remain in effect even if J.T. and/or his Children does not reside in South Brunswick.

3. J.T. has informed the Court that he is in the process of renting an apartment in South Brunswick, and that his Children will be residing with him in the South Brunswick apartment. As such, J.T. agrees to provide the Board with a copy of the fully executed lease agreement if and when he registers his Children for school in accordance with Paragraph 4.
4. J.T. understands that he is required to register his Children in the South Brunswick School District for the 2016-17 school year, provide sufficient proof of residency and comply with all Board Residency/Registration requirements and policies at all times.
5. Nothing in this Agreement shall prevent the Board, upon reasonable belief that J.T.'s Children do not reside in South Brunswick, from conducting any further residency investigations while J.T.'s Children are enrolled in the South Brunswick Public Schools.
6. In exchange for the promises set forth above, J.T. agrees to dismiss the instant Petition and the Board agrees to dismiss its Cross-Petition.

8. The Parties agree that this Agreement, and all of its terms, are and will remain confidential to the maximum extent possible by law. J.T. is expressly forbidden from discussing this Agreement with any person, other than his accountants, tax advisers, and attorney ("permitted disclosures"), and any other individual or entity as necessary to implement the Agreement or to which he is legally obligated to respond ("legally-required disclosures").

The record, proposed settlement agreement and Initial Decision issued by the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1, have been reviewed.

Upon review, the Commissioner observes that the President of the Palisades Park Board of Education signed the agreement on behalf of the Board. The file does not contain a copy of the Board's resolution approving the settlement and designating the Board President to sign the agreement on its behalf – as required by N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.13 under these circumstances – nor is the resolution attached to the settlement agreement itself. In the alternative, the agreement is not signed by the Board attorney, who is the Board's duly authorized representative in litigation. Without either the Board attorney's signature or the appropriate Board resolution designating the Board President to sign the agreement on its behalf, the Commissioner cannot approve the within settlement.

Accordingly, the Commissioner hereby remands this matter to the OAL for revision of the settlement agreement consistent with the concerns set forth above. If the parties are unwilling or unable to reach accord on a modified agreement for submission to the Commissioner, the matter shall proceed to hearing.

| RESPONDENTS. | : | |

In this matter, the petitioner is challenging the Washington Township Board of Education's (Board) decision to place C.F. in an alternative placement for the 2015-2016 school year based on an alleged violation of the Student Code of Conduct. After the matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), the parties proposed a settlement which the Administrative Law Judge sent to the Commissioner of Education with a recommendation for approval. Upon review of the terms of the proposed Settlement Agreement (Agreement), the Commissioner rejects same because the Board does not have the authority to agree to one of the provisions contained in the Agreement.

Paragraph 1 of the Agreement states:

> The student will continue her placement in a private school outside of the Washington Township School District. So long as the Student continues her placement outside of the Washington Township School District, her disciplinary record containing the disciplinary finding of June 25, 2015, will be conditionally discharged, meaning the disciplinary record will be held in abeyance until she graduates from the placement outside the Washington Township School District. Upon graduation from her placement outside the Washington Township School District, the disciplinary record containing the June 25, 2015 disciplinary finding will be permanently removed from the Student's record.

Under N.J.A.C. 6A:32-7.8(b), a board of education is permitted to destroy student records which are no longer educationally relevant while the student is still enrolled in a district. However – under N.J.A.C. 6A:32-7.8(c)(2) – upon graduation or permanent departure from the school district, student records may only be disposed of in accordance with the Destruction of Public Records Law, N.J.S.A. 47:3-15 et seq. [1]

C.F. was enrolled in a private school outside the Washington Township School District for the 2015-2016 school year. Therefore, since C.F. is no longer enrolled in the Washington Township School District, the Board is not authorized to remove the June 25, 2015 disciplinary finding from C.F.'s record upon her graduation from the private school. Instead the Board must follow the document retention schedule for student disciplinary records.[2] Further, the Board must be mindful that if the private school that C.F. is currently attending requests her disciplinary file, the Board must provide it pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:16-7.8(b).

Accordingly, this matter is remanded to the OAL for revision of the settlement consistent with the concerns set forth above. If the parties are unwilling or unable to reach accord on a modified agreement for submission to the Commissioner, the matter shall proceed to hearing.

SYNOPSIS

Petitioner – a mathematics specialist in respondent's school district – challenged the Board's request that she submit to an independent psychiatric evaluation, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:16-2. The Board contended that petitioner exhibited unusual and erratic behavior beginning in the 2015-2016 school year, as well as physical changes, which justified the request that she submit to a psychiatric exam. Petitioner admitted to having experienced weight loss, but asserted that the Board's contentions regarding her behavior were subjective and unrelated to her work performance. The petitioner contended that her formal evaluations gave her an overall performance rating of proficient moving toward distinguished; further, petitioner argued that the Board has failed to meet its burden of proof to show that her behavior met the standard of a "harmful, significant deviation from normal mental health affecting her ability to teach, discipline or associate with children of the age of the children subject to her control in the school district." Kochman v. Keansburg Board of Education, 124 N.J. Super. 203, 212 (Ch. Div. 1973).

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: N.J.S.A. 18A:16-2 provides that "The board may require individual psychiatric or physical examinations of any employee, whenever, in the judgment of the board, an employee shows evidence of deviation from normal physical or mental health;" in this case, both parties recognize Kochman, supra, as the seminal case interpreting N.J.S.A. 18A:16-2; it is the Board's burden to prove by a preponderance of the credible evidence that the petitioner demonstrated a harmful, significant deviation from normal mental health that affects her ability to do her job sufficient to compel her to undergo a psychiatric exam; the Board alleged a number of perceived improper behaviors exhibited by petitioner during the 2015-2016 school year – including, inter alia, extreme and rapid weight loss, mood swings, showing a colleague a tattoo located on her back, and hiding under a desk – but relied largely on uncorroborated hearsay testimony in making its case; there is no evidence that petitioner was a danger to students or co-workers, nor was she unable to perform the duties of her job; on the contrary, petitioner received only positive performance evaluations. The ALJ concluded that the Board has not met its burden of proof in this matter, and ordered that the Board's requirement that petitioner submit to a psychiatric evaluation was improper. Accordingly, the ALJ rejected and reversed the Board's decision to invoke N.J.S.A. 18A:16-2.

Upon comprehensive review, the Commissioner concurred with the ALJ's findings and conclusions, and adopted the Initial Decision of the OAL as the final decision in this matter.

| V. | : | COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION |
| BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE CITY OF NEW BRUNSWICK, MIDDLESEX COUNTY, | : | DECISION |
| RESPONDENT. | : | |

The record and Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL)[1] have been reviewed, along with the Board's exceptions – filed pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4 – and petitioner's reply thereto.

In its exceptions, the Board argues that its witnesses provided un-rebutted testimony that the Board was reasonable in requiring that petitioner undergo a psychiatric examination. Citing excerpts of testimony, the Board contends that its witnesses demonstrated: changes in petitioner's physical appearance and weight, which were indicative of an eating disorder; petitioner's suspected drug or alcohol abuse; and petitioner's unusual and erratic behavior – such as hiding under a secretary's desk as she claimed that demons were chasing her, and unfastening her pants to show the Vice Principal a tattoo on her back. Accordingly, the Board maintains that the principal recommended that petitioner undergo a psychiatric examination out of concern for her health and the well-being of students and staff in the building.

The Board also disputes the Administrative Law Judge's (ALJ) finding that the testimony of the nursing staff and principal consisted of uncorroborated hearsay evidence as to petitioner's erratic behaviors. The Board argues that the principal was informed by employees of these behaviors and – even though they did not testify at the hearing – the information that they told him influenced his decision to recommend a psychiatric examination. The Board further contends that petitioner's own rambling testimony corroborates that of the principal and nurses, and further claims that petitioner understood that people were worried about her well-being. As such, the Board maintains that it met its burden of proving that petitioner was required to submit to a psychiatric examination.

In reply, petitioner argues that the ALJ's decision should be adopted because the Board failed to present any competent evidence in support of most of its allegations. Additionally, with respect to the allegations that were supported by evidence, the ALJ properly found that petitioner's work performance was not affected and there was no evidence that she posed a threat to the health or safety of the students or staff. Petitioner points out that her performance evaluations were above average. Further, petitioner complied with the Board's request that she undergo an alcohol and drug screening, and the results were negative. Finally, petitioner disputes the Board's attempt to discredit her testimony; instead, petitioner maintains that her testimony – in which she acknowledges knowing that her coworkers were concerned – was sincere. As such, petitioner argues that the ALJ properly denied the Board's request that she undergo a psychiatric examination.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurs with the ALJ that the Board has not met its burden of proof that petitioner's behavior demonstrated a deviation from normal mental health that was harmful and affected her ability to teach. The Commissioner is not persuaded by the Board's exceptions, which do not warrant reversal of the ALJ's conclusion. Pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:16-2, a board may require "individual psychiatric or physical examinations of any employee, whenever, in the judgment of the board, an employee shows evidence of deviation from normal physical or mental health." Such deviation from normal mental health has been defined to mean "harmful, significant deviation from mental health affecting the teacher's ability to teach, discipline, or associate with children of the age of the children subject to the teacher's control in the school district." Kochman v. Keansburg Board of Education, 124 N.J. Super. 203, 212 (Ch. Div. 1973). The Commissioner agrees with the ALJ that the evidence presented by the Board did not demonstrate a decline in petitioner's work performance or prove that she posed a health or safety threat to her students or co-workers. The Commissioner also concurs with the ALJ that – with respect to many of the allegations – the Board failed to present legally competent evidence to support the hearsay testimony, as required by the residuum rule, N.J.A.C. 1:1-15.5. As such, the Board failed to meet its burden of demonstrating that petitioner deviates from normal mental health, thereby requiring a psychiatric examination.

Accordingly, for the reasons stated therein, the Initial Decision of the OAL is adopted as the final decision in this matter.

IT IS SO ORDERED.[2]

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

This matter arises from an appeal filed by Petitioner challenging the decision to require her to undergo a psychiatric evaluation pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:16-2.

On November 12, 2015, Stewart was ordered to take a drug and alcohol screening test, and was notified that she would be placed on administrative leave with pay effective November 13, 2015. (P-A, P-B.) The result of the drug and alcohol test administered on November 12, 2015, was negative. On November 19, 2015, Respondent requested that Stewart undergo a psychiatric examination on November 23, 2015. On December 14, 2015, Stewart waived her request for a hearing before Respondent to appeal before the Commissioner of Education. On January 8, 2016, Petitioner filed her appeal and Respondent filed its Answer on January 13, 2016. On January 20, 2016, this matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) as a contested case for a hearing pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15. A hearing was held on March 23, 2016, post-hearing briefs were filed on May 5, 2016, and May 10, 2016, respectively, and the record closed.

SUMMARY OF TESTIMONY AND FACTUAL DISSCUSSION

Stewart has been an employee of the New Brunswick School District since September 1, 2011. (T104:5-7.) Principal Jeremiah Clifford (Clifford) worked with Stewart for four years in Woodrow Wilson School as her direct supervisor. (T67:14-18.) One year after Clifford transferred to New Brunswick Middle School (the Middle School) as principal, he asked Stewart to transfer to the Middle School as a mathematics specialist. (T67:21 to 68-4.) As a mathematics specialist she worked as a "professional leader, instructor, and a coach" responsible for assessing student's progress and working with mathematics teachers as an instructional specialist. (T105:18-24.) Stewart was not assigned any students, but did have some interaction with students. (T76:5-18.) In two evaluations from the 2014-2015 school year in the Middle School, Stewart was evaluated by Deborah Graham, Math Supervisor, as "proficient" moving towards "distinguished." (P-1, P-2.) "Distinguished" is the highest performance rating describing the specialist as having a "mastery of the component/domain, seamlessly managing all aspects of the component domain" and "helping to create an exceptional learning environment." (P-1 at 1.) "Proficient" is the second highest performance rating describing the specialist as demonstrating a "command of the component/domain, effectively meeting expectations" and "creating an effective learning environment."

During the 2015-2016 school year, Clifford, School Nurse Marilyn Crawford (Crawford), and School Nurse Carla Crow (Crow), began noticing behavioral and physical changes that concerned them regarding Stewart. These concerns led Clifford to recommend to the Board of Education that Stewart undergo a drug and alcohol screening test and a psychiatric evaluation.

Crow has been a union representative for four or five years and a school nurse for thirteen years at the Middle School. (T10:6-8, 38:1-5.) Crow first met Stewart at the Middle School during the 2014-2015 school year, introducing herself and requesting emergency contact information. (T11:7-21.) Crow developed concerns for Stewart at the beginning of 2015-2016 school year because started to dress differently, wearing more skirts, not covering up her arms and shoulders, wearing shorter tops and skirts, although Crow was not aware if Stewart had violated the dress code. (T12:14-19, 28:5-17.) She also noticed that Stewart appeared thinner with clothes that fit looser to the point where Stewart would come to the nurses' office for pins to hold up a skirt that fit the previous year. In addition, Crow noticed that Stewart's hair became brittle, and that she lost facial fat; although she was not sure if Stewart actually lost weight, or if so, how much. (T26:24-25.) Crow suspected that Stewart had anorexia, and recommended at least two places that Stewart could go to receive treatment. (T13:11-25, 14:15-21.) Crow had never heard Stewart say that she had anorexia, or that she was not eating, and was aware that teachers are not obligated follow the advice of school nurses. (T23:9-13, 25:5-11.) Crow is also aware that weight loss is not an absolute sign of anorexia. (T27:18-21.)

Crow's other concerns stemmed from Stewart's increased anxiety about receiving "late notice" that she would have to run some staff meetings and Stewart's anxiety regarding a skin rash, which was not apparent to Crow. She stated that Stewart is "very, very smart" and "knows her math background, front and back and in between," but became concerned at the beginning of the 2015-2016 about Stewart's ability to do her job in that she "would not be able to put her best foot forward." (T16:11-14.)

Crow was aware, from the initial emergency form, that Stewart took migraine medication called Imitrex. This is a self-injected drug that Stewart administered in the nurses' office. (T18:9-17.) Crow was not aware of any time that Stewart had misused or improperly handled the medication. However, there was one instance where Stewart felt the drug was not taking effect and wanted to take another dose, but ultimately did not do so. (T18:14-23, 34:15 to 35:6.) Crow had a conversation with Stewart where she learned that Stewart thought she might have a thyroid problem, and that she did not like her doctor. (T17:20 to 18:5.) Crow, as a school nurse and union representative, had no responsibility for evaluating, overseeing, or observing Stewart in her professional capacity and had no knowledge of whether Stewart's weight was adversely affecting her ability to do her job. (T26:21 to 27:1.)

In November of 2015 Crawford, Clifford, and Nancy Coppola, the New Brunswick Education Association President and former nurse (Coppola), had a meeting regarding their concerns, and the concerns brought by other staff members regarding Stewart's behavior. Crow recommended that Stewart undergo both a drug test and a psychiatric evaluation. (T39:13-16.) The decision was left up to Clifford, the principal, to determine whether to make the recommendation to the Board of Education. (T37:6-9.)

Crawford is also a union representative in the Middle School and has been a school nurse there for eight to ten years. (T40:14-22, 49:22-23.) Crawford was aware that Stewart used the prescription drug Imitrex and used the nurses' office on a regular basis to self-administer the drug. Crawford was concerned that Stewart was taking more than one Imitrex dose a day. (T42:4-23.) Crawford is required to report certain instances of employee misuse of medication to the administration; however, she did not report Stewart because, based on her observations, Stewart's use of the Imitrex was appropriate. (T57:6-9.) Crawford was unaware if Stewart was using Imitrex outside of the nurses' office. (T43:6-11.)

Crawford first became concerned when Stewart needed to pin a strap of her shirt and Crawford described her frame as looking like "skin on bones." (T44:7-14.) Crawford had a conversation with Stewart about her weight and referred her to

Somerset Medical Center. (T45:8-17.) Crawford "threatened" Stewart that if she did not call to get help, Crawford would tell Clifford about her concerns for Stewart's weight. (T45:19-23.) Crawford is aware that Stewart is not required to follow the medical advice of school nurses or disclose personal medical information to them. (T58:7-10.) Crawford told Clifford of her concerns a couple of days later without having made any calls to Somerset Medical Center. Crawford did not tell Clifford for disciplinary reasons, but because she was worried about Stewart's health and because Stewart told her "well, you should speak to Mr. Clifford." (T60:6-14.)

Crawford was also concerned about Stewart's behavior, describing it as a "little erratic at times." (T46:18.) Crawford had conversations with Stewart in which Stewart's personality changed from nice and pleasant to screaming "with the blink of an eye." (T46:18-23.) Crawford also observed Stewart telling a teacher that she did not have time to get calculators for a teacher because she was getting food for a meeting. (T47:13-22.) Crawford does not supervise Stewart, but told Stewart, that as the Union representative, "your first job is the math coach and to provide the things that the teachers need." (T62:12-23, 47:17-19.) When Crawford learned that Stewart was resistant to being tested for drugs and alcohol, she went to Stewart's office and told her, "Tami just go and do it" . . . "for the protection of your job, just do it." (T48:4-11.) When Stewart was still resistant and stated that she did not know why it was necessary, Crawford explained the concerns that led to the decision to require a drug and alcohol test as follows:

> [Y]ou hiding under the secretary's desk saying demons were chasing you. There was a concern that you were chasing the VP around the office trying to show him the tattoo on your lower back unbuttoning your pants. There was the time that you kind of yelled at a student. There was a time when you go to CPT and you kind of yelled at the teachers and say inappropriate things to them.

Crawford did not see any of these occurrences first hand. (T51:2 to52:9.) Stewart then told Crawford to leave her office and began screaming inappropriately. (T48:22 to 49:4.) Crawford's concern was primarily for Stewart's health. (T92:9.)

Clifford became concerned about Stewart in the fall of the 2015-2016 school year. (T68:5-9.) He had worked with her for five years previously, four as her direct supervisor and one year as her principal in the Middle School. (T67:10-23.) Her evaluations at the previous school had been good and he asked her to transfer to the Middle School. (T67:17-20.) Clifford was concerned after noticing Stewart's weight loss, her change in clothes, and that she became very intense and a little bit erratic, which was out of character for her. (T69:18-23.) Clifford was unaware if Stewart was technically in any violation of the dress code, and did not recall any written or oral notification given to Stewart about a violation of the dress code. (T74:8-10, 75:8-22.) Stewart did not receive any student or parent complaint. (T75:3-18.) Clifford is unsure as to whether the complaints he brought to Stewart were in writing pursuant to the Collective Bargaining Agreement Article 33. (T79:7-10, P-6.) Clifford also stated that Stewart had no written disciplinary notices. (T80:18-20.) The concerns brought by other employees that Clifford relayed to Stewart were brought out of concern about her well-being, "nobody was being mean." (T82:6-10.)

One of the instances that were brought to his attention was that one teacher claimed she was uncomfortable being in a meeting with Stewart because of her erratic behavior. Clifford was not in attendance at this meeting. (T82:14-22.) One other instance was when Stewart brought organic cookies to work and passed them around to her co-workers. Clifford recalls that it was a nice gesture but it seemed that Stewart was almost forcing the cookies on her co-workers and the behavior was not out of character. (T82:23 to 83:11.)

Clifford recalls that his secretary reported that Stewart called her one weekend asking for "some type of mantra to kind of keep away evil spirits" and did not answer the secretary's return call because she thought someone was watching her. (T83:13-18.) Clifford did not hear Stewart say this directly. (T83:13-18.) Clifford also learned from his vice principal that Stewart had sent a message to the vice principal (VP) with a picture of her tattoo. The VP and Stewart were friendly and would text each other but the VP thought this was unusual. (T84:21 to 85:3.) Clifford also received a message containing a picture of Stewart's tattoo. (T85:4-6.) Clifford also described her as being out of character:

> when you saw her walking, sometimes it looks like she was just so intense that there was—you can be in a school with 1,400 and 285—or 185 staff members, and when she was walking, the intensity of just like being on task is far beyond someone who's worried about their work. It was scary looking. The movement of the hands down the hall and all looked like she was on this most urgent mission, and I don't think working in a school things are urgent but not to that level where—where people would ask almost—you know, I would say on a weekly basis "Is she okay?" "Are you doing anything?" "Did you notice how she looks?"

During the 2015-2016 school year Clifford also noticed that there were more issues arising out of Common Planning Time meetings. During these meetings teachers of the same grade level and content areas worked for forty minutes on planning and reviewing assessments, focused on instruction. (T87:13-17.) Clifford stated that "everyone was saying the same thing to me, 'Is she all right?'" (T86:10-12.) Disagreements between Stewart and Clifford that were previously discussed in private were now discussed in public, and her unusual behavior crossed the line more frequently. (T86:20 to 87:3.) In Clifford's view, his recommendation to the Board about the drug and alcohol testing as well as the request for a psychiatric evaluation was not disciplinary in nature, and was not a reprimand. He stated that he had no concern about her ability as a mathematician or an instructional specialist, but that his concern came about because "something was going on and her behavior had changed that much from what I knew." (T90:14-23.)

Stewart states that she does not have, has not been diagnosed with, nor treated for anorexia or any eating disorder. She was very upset by the nurses' allegations that she had anorexia, and that the allegations continued after she told them that she did not have an eating disorder. (T106:24 to 107:5, 114:14-19.). Stewart does not feel that her weight loss from the 2014-2015 school year to the 2015-2016 school year was "significant." (T123:23 to 124:3.) Stewart has had a prescription for Imitrex for over ten years from the same neurologist, and follows the prescription guidelines; she never used it twice during school. (T107:13-22, 108:2-15.) Stewart stated that the nurses never requested documentation about her Imitrex use and she always followed the nurses' directive when taking it in school. (T120:6-14, 121:8-10.)

Stewart states that she never hid under a desk to get away from evil spirits; she never attempted to kiss the VP; and she did not ask Clifford's secretary for a mantra to keep away evil spirits. (T108:22 to 109:2.) Stewart states that she had a friendly relationship with the secretary, having exchanged cell phone numbers, and that they talked outside of school hours about non-school-related things. (T109:7-20.) Stewart recalls that the secretary was religious and involved in her church. There was an instance when she asked the secretary to say a prayer for a friend that was going through a rough time. (T109:21 to 110:15.) Stewart states that she never showed a student any of her tattoos. (T111:7-9.) She did send the VP a picture of a new tattoo located on her upper back, a location that would not be covered by a bathing suit, because they were friendly with each other. (T111:3-6.) Stewart states that during the 2015-2016 school year she was never shown a complaint about her. In her talks with Clifford, she never heard him say anything about her having problems with her behavior with students. (T111:10-24.) Stewart had no problems or outbursts at any collaborative meetings with other staff that was outside of the normal disagreements. (T119:21 to120:5.) Stewart was very upset when asked to submit to a drug and alcohol test, and took the drug test because she was told if she did not, she would be terminated. (T112:13-16, 117:9-18.) After the Board of Education's request that she submit to a psychiatric evaluation, Stewart went to her own independent psychiatrist for an evaluation, but was denied because the psychiatrist thought it was unusual for a school board to ask a teacher to be evaluated. (T129:6-23.) Stewart has no trouble focusing at work and denies absolutely all the alleged incidents cited against her. (T135:21-23, 138:8-11.)

Findings of Facts

Based upon the totality of the testimony and evidence produced, I FIND the following to be the FACTS of the case:

Stewart has been an employee of the New Brunswick School District since September 1, 2011. Principal Jeremiah Clifford worked with her for four years in Woodrow Wilson School as her supervisor. One year after Clifford transferred to the New Brunswick Middle School as principal, he asked Stewart to transfer to there as a mathematics specialist. As a mathematics specialist she worked as a "professional leader, instructor, and a coach" responsible for assessing student's progress and working with mathematics teachers as an instructional specialist. Stewart was not assigned any students, although she had some interaction with students. In two evaluations from the Middle School, Stewart was evaluated by her supervisor, as "proficient" moving towards "distinguished." The latter is the highest performance rating and demonstrates a "mastery of the component/domain, seamlessly managing all aspects of the component domain" and "helping to create an exceptional learning environment." The former is the second highest performance rating and demonstrates a "command of the component/domain, effectively meeting expectations" and "creating an effective learning environment." Stewart's supervisors regarded her as a valuable member of the staff in their Instructional Specialist Observation Form.

I further FIND that Petitioner engaged in unusual behavior beginning in the 2015-2016 school year. Her principal and the nursing staff developed a great concern for her physical health because of an admitted loss of weight. They also developed great concern for Petitioner's mental health due to behaviors both observed and rumored. None of these colleagues concluded or believed that Petitioner's physical or mental health compromised her ability to do her job. None of them sought disciplinary action against Petitioner as a result of the physical and behavioral changes that were observed by members of the school staff and administration. Respondent did not determine that Petitioner's conduct threatened the health or safety of the students or her co-workers.

LEGAL DISCUSSION AND CONCLUSIONS

Generally, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-9, the Commissioner of Education has the authority to hear and determine "all controversies and disputes arising under school laws." Prior to the Commissioner deciding a contested issue however, a petitioner must create a petition of appeal that meets specific requirements, which are delineated in N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.4.

Parties' Arguments

Petitioner

Petitioner argues that Stewart cannot be compelled to undergo a psychiatric evaluation because Respondent has not met its burden of proof under the seminal case interpreting N.J.S.A. 18A:16-2. The Superior Court of New Jersey interpreted the statutory language "deviation from normal mental health" to mean "harmful, significant deviation from mental health affecting the teachers ability to teach, discipline, or associate with children of the age of the children subject to the teacher's control in the school district." Kochman v. Keansburg Bd. of Educ., 124 N.J. Super. 203, 212 (Ch. Div. 1973).

Petitioner argues that Respondent has failed to meet that burden and points to several things in the record that prove there was not a harmful, significant deviation from mental affecting the teacher's ability to teach. First, as acknowledged by Crow's testimony, Stewart was under no obligation to discuss her medical history with the school nurses; Stewart passed the requested drug and alcohol screening test; to Crow's knowledge Stewart had never felt faint or passed out while at work; Stewart's use of Imitrex was appropriate; and Crow had no knowledge that Stewart's weight had affected her job performance.

Second, Crawford never actually witnessed any of the alleged behaviors that prompted her concern for Stewart's well-being; Stewart's use of Imitrex was appropriate; Crawford's concern for Stewart's weight was based solely on observation, not on any medical diagnostic tests; Stewart is under no obligation to follow the advice of school nurses, and Crawford is not Stewart's supervisor.

Third, Clifford acknowledged that Stewart's attire did not violate the dress code and he does not recall ever advising her of a dress-code violation; there were no complaints made by parents against Stewart; he did not recall notifying Stewart of any complaints or concerns made against her in writing pursuant to the Collective Bargaining Agreement; and he was not present in the meeting which prompted one teacher's concerns for Stewart.

Fourth, Petitioner notes that she has never had a letter of reprimand, and never had her salary increment withheld. Stewart has never been diagnosed with an eating disorder; was upset by the unsolicited advice of the school nurses and their referrals to treatment centers; knows that the nurses actions came from good intentions; never took a sick leave; denied ever referencing evil spirits on a phone call to the principal's secretary, and only that she was asking the secretary to say a few prayers because they were friendly and Stewart knew the secretary to be religious; denied all the hearsay allegations brought against her; and sent the picture of her tattoo on her upper back because she was friendly with the vice principal.

Petitioner then references the evaluations made in the 2014-2015 school year as her most recent performance evaluation and quotes "relationships with Stewart are cordial," "all teachers were engaged and shared experiences and suggestions," "Stewart exhibits clear norms of mutual respect for professional interactions," and "Stewart's formal evaluation has an overall rating of proficient moving towards distinguished."

Petitioner concludes by arguing that Respondent's concerns are subjective, unrelated to her work performance, and that Respondent's evidence is not sufficient to meet the standard of a "harmful, significant deviation from normal mental health affecting her ability to teach, discipline or associate with children of the age of the children subject to her control in the school district." Therefore, the Board of Education cannot compel her to undergo a psychiatric evaluation.

Respondent

In its brief Respondent lists various allegations made regarding Stewart's conduct: the call made to Principal Clifford's secretary with a reference to evil spirits; showing tattoos that are located in private areas to colleagues; making references to her own sexual arousal in front of colleagues; her inability to focus on tasks; her becoming highly defensive or manic; her inappropriate physical behavior by touching colleagues or grabbing their legs; increased anxiety; a faculty member indicating to Clifford that she will not meet with Stewart based on her inappropriate physical behavior; her numerous requests for letters of recommendations when she believed that a situation was not going her way; the nurses' observation that her physical and condition were deteriorating; a refusal to provide the school nurses with medical documentation they had requested; Stewart's non-compliance with the nurses' recommendations to seek treatment for an eating disorder; and that Crow and Crawford as union representatives had heard complaints from the faculty about her.

Respondent's relies on N.J.S.A. 18A:16-2(a) to wit:

> [E]very board of education may require its employees and shall require any candidate for employment who has received a conditional offer of employment to undergo a physical examination. The board may require individual psychiatric or physical examinations of any employee, whenever, in the judgment of the board, an employee shows evidence of deviation from normal, physical or mental health.

Respondent asserts that the actions outlined in its brief, and presumably adduced at the hearing[1] are sufficient to satisfy the requirements of this regulation.

Respondent also argues that they have fully complied with the due process procedures established in Kochman by submitting to Petitioner the list of reasons as to why they were requesting the psychiatric evaluation; allowing Petitioner an opportunity to request a hearing; and complying with Petitioner's to appeal to the Commissioner. Kochman, supra, 124 N.J. Super. 203.

[1] It should be noted that Respondent filed a Brief on the same day as the hearing, therefore could not reference the testimony adduced during the hearing or the evidentiary documents admitted into evidence. Its Post-hearing Brief responded to Petitioner's Post-hearing Brief but did not make an independent legal argument beyond that made in the initial Brief.

In Respondent's response to the Petitioner's Post-Hearing Letter Brief, the Board recognizes that Kochman is the seminal case interpreting N.J.S.A. 18A:16-2, and states simply that the case supports its position, not the Petitioner's. Respondent also simply lists two other cases in support of its position: Board of Education of Lyndhurst v. Blevis, A-6004-07T3, (App. Div. Oct. 8, 2009), http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/courts/, and Gish v. Board of Education, 145 N.J. Super. 96 (App. Div. 1976), certif. denied, 74 N.J. 251 (1977). Gish v. Bd. of Educ., 145 N.J. Super. 96 (1976), cert. denied, 434 U.S. 879, 98 S. Ct. 233, 54 L. Ed. 2d 160 (1977).

Respondent concludes by stating that the concern of the Board for the well-being of the Petitioner and the other staff and students has been comprehensively demonstrated and evidenced by the testimony of Jeremiah Clifford, Marilyn Crawford, and Carla Crow. Therefore Stewart should not be allowed to return to work without having complied with the Board's request for a psychiatric examination.

The Law

A School District may require individual psychiatric or physical examinations of any employee, whenever, in the judgment of the board, an employee shows evidence of deviation from normal, physical or mental health. N.J.S.A. 18A:16-2. The New Jersey Superior Court, Chancery Division, in hearing a case contesting the constitutionality of N.J.S.A. 18A:16-2, construed the meaning of the term "deviation from normal mental health" to mean "harmful, significant deviation from mental health affecting the teacher's ability to teach, discipline, or associate with children of the age of the children subject to the teacher's control in the school district." Kochman, supra, 124 N.J. Super. at 212. The Court held that the state had a compelling interest in protecting children from teachers who have shown evidence of a harmful, significant deviation from mental health. Id. at 213. Therefore, the intrusion into the Board of Education employee's right of association, expression, and privacy was constitutionally balanced against this compelling government interest. Ibid. The Court also implemented due process measures, such as a statement of reasons provided to the teacher before submitting to the evaluation, the right to request a hearing, and the right to appeal to the State Board of Education. Ibid. Neither party addresses the due process procedures exercised in this case. Both parties recognize Kochman as the seminal case interpreting N.J.S.A. 18A:16-2.

It is the Board of Education's burden to prove by a preponderance of the credible evidence that Petitioner evinced a harmful, significant deviation from normal mental health that affects her ability to do her job sufficient to compel her to undergo a psychiatric examination.

Respondent identified incidents in support of its claims that Petitioner exhibited behavior that deviated from normal mental health through a letter sent to Petitioner and through a pre-hearing memorandum. By letter dated November 19, 2015, Respondent cites the following behaviors: extreme and rapid weight loss; mood swings that are extreme highs and extreme lows; hiding under a desk; chasing a staff member and asking for a kiss; telling the principal to be careful because another staff member was in a cult and "trying to get in your head"; and the concern of many staff members as expressed to the principal about being uncomfortable in her presence.

By letter memorandum dated March 23, 2015, Respondent outlined the following incidents: calling the home of the principal's secretary on the weekend requesting a "mantra to keep away bad spirits"; showing a colleague a tattoo located in a private area; making reference to her sexual arousal in front of colleagues; an inability to focus on tasks which resulted in highly manic and defensive behavior; her constant inappropriate physical behavior by touching, hugging, patting, and grabbing the legs of colleagues which resulted in a faculty member telling Clifford that she will not meet with the Petitioner; her repeated episodes of anxiety when requested to do routine assignments such as covering a class or meeting; numerous requests for letters of recommendation from both the principal and vice principal when she perceived that circumstances did not go her way; a noted deterioration in her physical and mental condition by the school nurses; Petitioner's refusal to supply the school nurses with medical documentation relative to her behavior and condition; her defensiveness when questioned by the school nurses; her failure to follow up with the school nurses' advice and recommendations to medical treatment; and complaints heard by Crow and Crawford as union representatives.

Following is an analysis of the indicia of the improper behaviors alleged by Respondent and the actual evidence offered to support it position:

1. Extreme and rapid weight loss. For Respondent, both Crow and Crawford testified that Petitioner looked much thinner during the 2015-2016 school year. Along with the general weight loss, her hair seemed brittle and her face looked thinner, which in the medical opinion of a registered nurse and school nurse, is a sign of anorexia. Crow also testified that Petitioner needed pins to adjust the fit of her loose-fitting clothing. Crow was concerned that this weight loss would negatively affect Stewart's work performance; however, there was no evidence that her job performance suffered. Crow and Crawford generally felt that Petitioner was "unhealthily thin" and recommended she get medical attention. There is no evidence of a decline in work performance or that she posed a health or safety threat to the students or to her co-workers.

Petitioner acknowledged that she had lost weight, but asserted that it was not significant and that she had no problems with the fit of her clothing. Petitioner also testified that she had never been diagnosed as having an eating disorder and she did not believe she had one.

2. Mood swings. For Respondent Crawford testified that Petitioner displayed inappropriate anger. Crawford testified that Petitioner went from having a pleasant and calm conversation to inappropriately yelling. Clifford testified that normal professional disagreements that previously were discussed in private became inappropriate public arguments that were out of place and out of the ordinary for Petitioner. He also noted that Petitioner's intensity changed, and was well beyond what was normal for Petitioner; she looked scary while walking down the hallway. There was no evidence that any of the behaviors prevented Petitioner from performing the duties of her job or posed a threat to the health or safety of her co-workers. Petitioner denied all of the allegations.

3. Hiding under a desk. Crawford testified that she heard of this incident from a colleague but she did not witness it herself. There was no evidence other than this uncorroborated hearsay testimony confirming that this incident occurred. Petitioner denied the allegation.

4. Chasing a staff member asking for a kiss. There was no evidence offered other than uncorroborated hearsay testimony confirming this incident. Petitioner denied the allegation.

5. Telling the principal to be careful because another staff member was in a cult and "trying to get in your head." There was no evidence offered confirming this incident other than uncorroborated hearsay testimony. Petitioner denied the allegation.

6. Staff was uncomfortable in Petitioner's presence. Clifford testified that a teacher told him that she was uncomfortable going to a meeting with Stewart because of her erratic behavior. Clifford was not present at that meeting but he received frequent questions from other staff members asking "is she alright?"; "are you doing anything?"; and "did you see how she looks?" He received complaints from teachers about Petitioner's behavior at other meetings throughout the year. There was no evidence that any of the complaints were about Petitioner's inability to perform the duties of her job or that she posed a threat to the health or safety of the students or her co-workers. There was no evidence offered other than uncorroborated hearsay testimony.

According to Article 33 of the Collective Bargaining Agreement, a complaint about an employee that could affect their status or evaluation must be in writing and presented to the employee with an opportunity to respond. None of the complaints or concerns of staff were submitted in writing to Petitioner. Petitioner denied all of the allegations.

7. Telephone call to Clifford's secretary over the weekend. There was no first-hand testimony or an affidavit from the secretary that Petitioner expressed an interest in receiving help to "keep away bad spirits" or to "keep away evil spirits." This evidence was offered through the uncorroborated hearsay testimony of Clifford.

Petitioner testified that she and the secretary had a friendly relationship. They had each other's cell phone numbers and had talked outside of school hours about non-school-related issues. Stewart states that she asked the secretary to keep a friend of hers in her prayers because she knew the secretary to be a religious person. She denies allegations of improper or "strange" conduct.

8. Showing a colleague a tattoo located in a private area. Petitioner testified that she sent a message containing a picture of her tattoo located on her upper back to the vice principal because they were on friendly terms. Stewart stated that the tattoo is not located in an area of her body that would be covered by a bathing suit. Clifford's testimony regarding the incident confirms that Stewart and the vice principal were friendly, but that the vice principal found it unusual. Clifford stated he also received a message containing a picture of a tattoo of Stewart's but was unaware if it was the same picture. There was no evidence offered confirming that Petitioner sent a picture of a tattoo located in an inappropriate place on her body other than uncorroborated hearsay testimony. Petitioner denied the allegation. Petitioner denies any inappropriate conduct.

9. Making reference to her sexual arousal in front of colleagues. This statement is the subject of a pre-trial letter memorandum dated in March 23, 2016. This allegation was made months after Respondent requested the psychiatric evaluation. No evidence was offered in support of this allegation. It is of no evidentiary value in this case.

10. An inability to focus on tasks, which resulted in highly manic and defensive behavior. In support of this allegation Crawford testified about an incident in which Petitioner placed a higher priority on getting food for a meeting over getting supplies (calculators) for a teacher who requested them. Crawford also noted that Petitioner displayed defensive behavior on the day that she was requested to undergo a drug and alcohol screening. Petitioner denied being unable to focus on, or to perform the duties of her job. The undersigned is not persuaded that this incident alone demonstrates an inability to focus on tasks.

11. Inappropriate physical behavior - touching, hugging, patting, and grabbing the legs of colleagues. In support of this allegation Clifford testified that the behavior resulted in a faculty member telling Clifford that she would not meet with Petitioner. There is no evidence to support this allegation other than uncorroborated hearsay testimony. Petitioner denied the allegation.

12. Repeated episodes of anxiety when requested to do routine assignments. Crawford and Crow offered testimony about incidents in with Petitioner overreacted when asked to perform tasks such as covering a class, and at the last minute, conducting a meeting. Petitioner acknowledged the latter and explained that her reaction was due to an uncomfortable rash that was not visible to Crow. There was no evidence that Petitioner was unable to perform the duties of her job or that she posed a threat to the health or safety of the students or her co-workers.

13. Numerous requests for letters of recommendation. Clifford testified that whenever "things didn't go her way," Petitioner asked for "letters of recommendation" as a "threat" that she was going to look for another job. There is no evidence of any conduct that demonstrates an inability to perform the duties of her job or that she posed a threat the health or safety of the students or her co-workers.

14. Deterioration in her physical and mental condition. Both Crawford and Crow observed a change in Petitioner's character at the beginning of the 2015-2016 school year, where she became more anxious and intense. Both of these nurses only anecdotally concluded that Petitioner's mental and physical condition deteriorated. There is no medical evidence in the record to support this conclusion. There is no evidence that, even if these nurses are correct in their observations, Petitioner's ability to perform the duties of her job declined or that she posed a threat to the health or safety of the students or to her co-workers. Petitioner denies any such deterioration.

15. Petitioner's refusal to supply the school nurses with medical documentation relative to her behavior and condition. Respondent was aware of Petitioner's use of the drug Imitrex and Crawford testified that, to her knowledge, it was used properly Crawford acknowledged that teachers are not required to disclose medical information to school nurses. There is no evidence that Petitioner had a legal or contractual obligation to disclose information regarding her use of the drug or that her use of the drug impaired her ability to perform the duties of her job or that she posed a threat to the health or safety of the students or to her co-workers.

16. Resistance to questions about following up with treatment referrals. Crawford testified that she made recommendations about receiving treatment for anorexia. Petitioner was defensive and failed to follow up on those recommendations. Petitioner had no obligation to follow up on the referral and there is no evidence that Petitioner demonstrated an inability to perform the duties of her job or posed a threat to the health or safety of the students or to her co-workers.

17. Complaints heard by Crow and Crawford as union representatives. There is evidence of only one specific complaint that either nurse received in their capacity as union representatives. That incident was when Petitioner chose to pick up food for a meeting and stated she did not have time to fill a teacher's request for calculators. There is no evidence submitted by Petitioner or Respondent of written complaints given to either Crow or Crawford by other employees. Crow testified that she had no knowledge of Petitioner ever being questioned or disciplined for any conduct.

In support of its position Respondent cites Blevis, supra, A-6004-07T3. In this case the Appellate Division held that the request for a psychiatric evaluation of a teacher was appropriate when that teacher had evinced a harmful, significant deviation of mental health that threatened coworkers which affected his ability to do his job. Mr. Blevis was a reportedly good employee until his behavior became erratic and unusual in 2006. Mr. Blevis would become so upset that his face turned red and his body would shake with his arms flailing. He became so erratic as to be threatening and confrontational to other employees. He was asked to leave a meeting because he was loudly muttering that the meeting was a waste of time. After he left the meeting, he tore up the papers from the meeting. He refused to listen to the suggestions of special education teachers to accommodate the needs of students in his class. He went into other teachers' classrooms visibly angry, complaining of a political girls club that was out to get him and would leer at his female colleagues in the hallways. Mr. Blevis would secretly tape the conversations of his colleagues and when complaining to the librarian of conspiracies against him, he became so angry he could not calm down and would not listen to reason. Mr. Blevis, as an earth science teacher, sabotaged experiments and repeatedly failed to follow protocol regarding experiments that he conducted. Numerous staff members reported feeling threatened by him and did not feel safe around him.

The Administrative Law Judge and the Appellate Division determined that Mr. Blevis exhibited a harmful, significant deviation from mental health which affected his ability to teach. He was unstable, prone to uncontrollable anger, and many teachers feeling threatened by Mr. Blevis based on their personal interactions with him.

Fitness to teach is not based exclusively on the teacher's classroom proficiency or the absence of misconduct but "depends on a broad range of factors." In re Grossman, 127 N.J. Super. 13, 30 (App. Div. 1974). The Appellate Division agreed with the ALJ's finding:

> While the majority of the incidents cited by the Board dealt with erratic behavior by the respondent against staff members, this type of behavior cannot be isolated from the student body. In a school setting there is constant interaction among teachers and students. Problems with staff will ultimately affect the students. Teachers who feel threatened will eventually react to the tension they are feeling. This is bound to impact on students as well. In addition, if the staff is threatening to leave, that certainly affects the student body. This does not mean that, if a group of teachers, for no good reason, have decided that they do not wish to work with a fellow teacher[,] that the Board should acquiesce to their demands. However, that is not the case in this situation. There is ample evidence that Mr. Blevis has acted in an irrational and threatening manner to his fellow teachers and supervisor.
> [Blevis, supra, A-6004-07T3 at *10.]

Arguably Petitioner's "out-of-character behavior has affected the staff, however her conduct is not comparable to that of a teacher who made his colleagues feel physically threatened when in his presence. In the present case, there was hearsay testimony that one staff member complained of being uncomfortable in Petitioner's presence. There is no corroborating evidence. Further, there is no evidence that Petitioner was a danger to the students or co-workers, nor that she was unable to perform the duties of her job. On the contrary, she received positive performance evaluations.

Respondent's reliance on Gish, supra, 74 N.J. 251. Gish also is unavailing and distinguishable from the present case. In 1976 the Superior Court found that Gish, an English teacher and one of the original teachers challenging the constitutionality of N.J.S.A. 18A:16-2 in Kochman, was unfit to be a teacher based solely on his involvement with an activist group supporting gay rights. Two psychiatrists found that this posed a psychological harm to impressionable young minds. Mr. Gish did not display conduct unbecoming of a teacher, or any inappropriate behavior towards students. Petitioner, unlike Mr. Gish, is not being requested to undergo this evaluation based on activities in her personal life, but because of her behavior during school hours.

For the foregoing reasons, I CONCLUDE that Respondent has not met its burden of proof that Petitioner's behavior was a "harmful, significant deviation from mental health affecting the teachers ability to teach, discipline, or associate with children of the age of the children subject to the teacher's control in the school district." Kochman, supra, 124 N.J. Super. at 212.

Therefore I further CONCLUDE that Respondent may not avail itself of the provisions of N.J.S.A. 18A:16-2.

ORDER

Accordingly, I hereby ORDER that Respondent's requirement that Petitioner submit to a psychiatric evaluation was improper and it decision to invoke N.J.S.A. 18A:16-2 is hereby REJECTED and REVERSED.

I hereby FILE this Initial Decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. ## CONFIDENTIAL SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT AND GENERAL RELEASE

THIS CONFIDENTIAL SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT AND GENERAL RELEASE ("Agreement") is by and between Anthony Calandrillo ("Calandrillo") and the Teaneck Community Charter School ("TCCS"). As used in this Agreement, any reference to TCCS shall include its Board of Trustees and each Board member individually, TCCS's predecessors and successors, all of its affiliates, its parent or controlling corporations, partners, divisions, and subsidiaries, and all of their present, past, and future directors, officers, Board members, employees, representatives, attorneys, insurers, reinsurers, agents, and assigns. Any reference to Calandrillo shall include his family, heirs, administrators, representatives, agents, successors, and assigns. Hereafter Calandrillo and TCCS are collectively referred to as "Parties."

WHEREAS, Calandrillo was employed by TCCS as Lead Person and Director of Academics under an Employment Contract executed July 31, 2014; and

WHEREAS, Calandrillo resigned from employment on December 16, 2015; and

WHEREAS, this Agreement is made and entered into in full settlement of the action filed in the New Jersey Bureau of Controversies and Disputes and pending in the Office of Administrative Law, captioned as Anthony Calandrillo v. Teaneck Community Charter School Board of Trustees, Alexandra Soriano-Taveras, et al., OAL Docket. No.: EDU 07069-2016 N, Agency Ref. No.: 81-3/16 ("Administrative Action"), and any and all other claims or potential claims that Calandrillo may have, whether known or unknown, against TCCS;

NOW THEREFORE, in consideration of the mutual promises contained herein, and intending to be legally bound, it is AGREED as follows:

1. Resignation. The Parties agree that Calandrillo resigned from employment with TCCS effective December 16, 2015.

2. Consideration. In consideration for the releases set forth in this Agreement, including but not limited to the General Release in Paragraph 4, TCCS agrees to provide Calandrillo with the following:

   a. Settlement Pay. Within 30 days of approval of this Agreement by the New Jersey Office of Administrative Law and the New Jersey Department of Education, and provided that, as referenced in Paragraph 22 of this Agreement, he does not revoke the Agreement, TCCS shall remit to Calandrillo's counsel, Robert Pruchnik, one check in the amount of $50,850 ("Settlement Amount"), which shall be made payable to "Anthony Calandrillo." This payment will be reported on an IRS Form 1099.

   b. Unemployment Compensation. TCCS agrees not to contest any claim for unemployment compensation that Calandrillo may file. However, TCCS makes no representation with regard to the legitimacy of any unemployment claim, and Calandrillo acknowledges that the ultimate decision as to his eligibility for benefits is made by the New Jersey Department of Labor. Whether any unemployment claim is approved or denied will have no bearing on the enforceability or the full and complete implementation of all terms of this Agreement.

3. Tax Treatment and Indemnification. Calandrillo warrants and represents that he will file all necessary tax forms and make all necessary tax payments (if any) in connection with the payment of the Settlement Amount under Paragraph 2 of this Agreement. Calandrillo understands and agrees that TCCS has made no representations to him or to his counsel concerning the taxability of the Settlement Amount. Calandrillo further understands and agrees that in the event the Internal Revenue Service, or any other taxing entity, including, but not limited to, the Division of Taxation of the State of New Jersey, or any court or other tribunal of competent jurisdiction, ultimately determines that the Settlement Amount, or any portion of it, in constitutes income for which any taxes remain due and owing, Calandrillo shall be responsible for the payment of such taxes, and he shall make no claim against TCCS for payment of any such taxes, or for the payment of any applicable interest or penalties. Calandrillo agrees to indemnify and hold TCCS harmless from any and all liability, including, without limitation, all penalties, interest, and other costs that may be imposed by the Internal Revenue Service or other governmental agencies regarding any tax obligations that may arise from the payment made to Calandrillo under Paragraph 2. In the event it is ultimately determined that any taxes are due and owing with respect to said sum, the validity of this Agreement shall not be affected in any way.

4. General Release. In exchange for the consideration provided under this Agreement, Calandrillo hereby knowingly and voluntarily releases and forever discharges TCCS from any and all suits, causes of action, complaints, obligations, demands, or claims of any kind, including those relating to his employment, whether in law or in equity, direct or indirect, known or unknown (hereinafter "Claims"), that Calandrillo ever had or now has against TCCS arising out of or relating to any matter, thing or event occurring up to and including the date of this Agreement, exclusive of a claim for breach of this Agreement. This is a General Release. This General Release specifically includes, but is not limited to:

a. any and all Claims for wages and benefits including, without limitation, salary, commissions, health and welfare benefits, settlement pay, vacation pay, and bonuses;

b. any and all Claims for wrongful discharge in violation of express or implied public policy of the United States, the State of New Jersey, or any state, constructive discharge, retaliatory discharge, hostile work environment, breach of contract (whether express or implied), including breach of Calandrillo's Employment Contract, and breach of the implied covenant of good faith and fair dealing; ordinance, executive order, or common law doctrine including, but not limited to, Claims for discrimination under Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, as amended; the Age Discrimination in Employment Act, as amended; the Americans with Disabilities Act; the Americans with Disabilities Amendments Act of 2008; the Genetic Information Nondiscrimination Act of 2008; the Pregnancy Discrimination Act of 1978; the Employee Retirement and Income Security Act of 1974, and any other applicable federal or state statute relating to employee benefits or pensions; 29 U.S.C. Sec. 1981; the National Labor Relations Act; the Fair Labor Standards Act; the Rehabilitation Act of 1972; the Family and Medical Leave Act; the New Jersey Law Against Discrimination; the New Jersey Conscientious Employee Protection Act; the New Jersey Wage Payment Law; all New Jersey wage and hour, overtime, disability and maternity leave laws; any and all federal or New Jersey education laws relating to public schools and/or charter schools; the Open Public Meetings Act; the New Jersey Constitution; the U.S. Constitution; and any other federal, state, foreign, or local laws or regulations prohibiting employment discrimination of any kind;

d. any and all Claims in tort (including, but not limited to, any Claims for misrepresentation, fraud, defamation, libel, slander, interference with contract or prospective economic advantage, intentional or negligent infliction of emotional distress, duress, loss of consortium, invasion of privacy, and negligence);

e. any and all Claims for compensatory, emotional distress, or punitive damages; and

f. any and all Claims for attorneys' fees and/or costs.

This Release is intended by the Parties to be construed as a General Release and to release any and all claims and rights of Calandrillo (whether known to him or not), including, but not limited to, any claims for attorneys' fees, arising on or before the date of the execution of this Agreement, to the fullest extent permitted by law.

5. Calandrillo's Acknowledgment. Calandrillo understands that the General Release set forth in Paragraph 4 extends to all of the aforementioned claims and potential claims against TCCS, its Board of Trustees and each Board member individually, TCCS's predecessors and successors, all of its affiliates, its parent or controlling corporations, partners, divisions, and subsidiaries, and all of their present, past, and future directors, officers, board members, employees, representatives, attorneys, insurers, reinsurers, agents, and assigns, which arose on or before the effective date of this Agreement, whether now known or unknown, suspected or unsuspected, and that this Release constitutes an essential term of this Agreement. This General Release shall not, however, preclude Calandrillo from bringing any action to enforce this Agreement if TCCS fails to provide the consideration set forth in Paragraph 2.

6. Calandrillo's Assignment of Right to Obtain Monetary Relief. To the extent, notwithstanding the General Release in Paragraph 4, Calandrillo is legally permitted to file against TCCS any lawsuit or proceeding with any court or government agency, Calandrillo hereby assigns to TCCS any right he may have to recover monetary relief of any kind in any such lawsuit or other proceedings.

7. Acknowledgment of Consideration. Calandrillo acknowledges that, in return for executing this Agreement, he is receiving the consideration described in Paragraph 2 of this Agreement. Calandrillo agrees that other than the consideration described in Paragraph 2 (which he will receive in return for executing this Agreement and upon approval of this Agreement by the New Jersey Office of Administrative Law and the New Jersey Department of Education), he is entitled to no other consideration from TCCS.

8. Confidentiality of TCCS's Information. Calandrillo acknowledges and agrees that as an employee of TCCS, he had access to and/or was entrusted with the confidential and proprietary business information of TCCS ("Confidential Information"). Calandrillo further agrees that at all times prior to, during, and following his separation, he will maintain such information in strict confidence and has not and will not disclose (directly or indirectly) the information to any third party. "Confidential Information" includes, but is not limited to, keys and access cards; software and other computer programs or equipment; credit cards; telephone charge cards; forms; documents and files including forms and correspondence; business cards; business and financial plans or strategies, projections, results and prospects; student, faculty, administration, staff and other business or education data and information; employee lists; student information; parent information; personnel data; administrative procedures and manuals; trade secrets; contracts; brochures and catalogues; training materials; PowerPoint presentations, literature, articles, educational materials, computer tapes and diskettes or other portable media, and other written and oral materials that are related to the business of TCCS and the confidentiality of which TCCS attempts to maintain with reasonable efforts and that TCCS has not released to the general public.

9. No Admission of Liability. Neither the execution of this Agreement by TCCS, nor the terms hereof, constitute an admission by TCCS, or by any principal, agent, Board member, or employee of TCCS, of liability with respect to any possible claim that was or could have been made by Calandrillo. By entering into this Agreement, TCCS does not admit, and expressly denies, that it has violated any contract, rule, law, statute, or regulation, including, but not limited to, any federal, state or local law, statute, or regulation relating to employment, employment discrimination, or education, or that the actions of TCCS were unwarranted, unjustified, retaliatory, discriminatory, or otherwise unlawful.

10. Acknowledgment of End of Employment. Calandrillo confirms that his employment with TCCS has ended. Calandrillo agrees he will not apply for or otherwise seek employment or reemployment with TCCS. If Calandrillo applies or otherwise seeks employment or reemployment with TCCS, TCCS shall have no obligation to consider his employment. Calandrillo agrees not to take legal action of any kind as a result of a refusal by TCCS to consider his employment.

11. Non-Interference and Non-Disparagement. Calandrillo agrees that he will not, in any manner whatsoever, directly or indirectly, interfere with TCCS's operations or other third-party relationships, including its relationships with any past, present, or prospective student or any parent of any past, present, or prospective student. In addition, Calandrillo agrees that he will not in any manner whatsoever, directly or indirectly, disparage TCCS, its Board of Trustees, TCCS's principals, its officers, its directors, its board members, its employees, its agents, its insurers, its education, its curriculum, or any other aspects of TCCS's operations. TCCS agrees that it will not directly or indirectly disparage Calandrillo.

a. Calandrillo agrees to keep the terms of this Agreement, including the consideration he has received, the circumstances surrounding this Agreement, and the negotiations leading to this Agreement strictly confidential, except as required by legal process. Calandrillo represents that he has not disclosed, and that he will not disclose, such information to anyone, either directly or indirectly, with the following exceptions. He may disclose the Agreement to his spouse, attorneys, accountants, and/or tax advisors in order to obtain professional advice within the scope of their representation. All such individuals are also bound by this confidentiality pledge, and shall be advised of their obligations by the person disclosing before any disclosures are made concerning this Agreement. Calandrillo understands that this Confidentiality provision shall remain in full force and effect notwithstanding the fact that this document may become public under the New Jersey Open Public Records Act, N.J.S.A. 47:1A-1 et seq., or other legal process or proceeding.

b. TCCS agrees that its Board members will not disclose the amount of the Settlement Payment except: (i) to those required to know in order to effect the payments under this Agreement or in performance of this Agreement or in connection with the operation of TCCS; (ii) unless such disclosure is required by law or regulation (e.g., in connection with the filing of tax returns); or (iii) to its financial advisors, attorneys and other representatives, provided that TCCS first informs them of the confidentiality of this Agreement and they agree to maintain its confidentiality.

13. Breach. Calandrillo understands that if he brings any future legal action or proceeding of any kind or makes any claim against TCCS for any claim released in this Agreement, or if he otherwise breaches this Agreement, he shall immediately return to TCCS the entire Severance Amount. TCCS shall further be entitled to recover any damages proven to result from such breach and shall be entitled to be reimbursed by Calandrillo for all reasonable attorneys'' fees, costs, and expenses incurred by TCCS in defending itself in enforcing its rights relative to such matters.

14. Agreement To Refrain From Filing Claims. Calandrillo represents that, other than the Administrative Action, he has no lawsuits, charges, administrative proceedings, assertions, or other claims of any nature pending against TCCS in any state or federal court, or before any agency or other administrative body. Calandrillo shall cause the Administrative Action to be withdrawn, with prejudice, within 5 days of approval of this Agreement by the New Jersey Office of Administrative Law and the New Jersey Department of Education, by execution by his counsel of a Stipulation of Dismissal in the form attached hereto as Exhibit A. Further, Calandrillo agrees, to the fullest extent permitted by law, that he will not institute any lawsuit, charge, action or other claim of any nature whatsoever against TCCS in any forum, based upon any event, whether known or unknown, occurring prior to the date of the execution of this Agreement.

15. No Assignment of Any Released Claim. Calandrillo represents and warrants that he has not assigned, transferred, or purported to assign or transfer, to any person, firm, partnership, corporation, association, or entity whatsoever, any released claim. Calandrillo agrees to indemnify and hold TCCS harmless against, without any limitation, any and all rights, claims, warranties, demands, debts, obligations, liabilities, costs, court costs, expenses (including attorneys' fees), causes of action, or judgments based on or arising out of any such assignment or transfer. Calandrillo further warrants that there is nothing that would prohibit him from entering into this Agreement.

16. Understanding of Agreement. Calandrillo acknowledges that he is over the age of 18 years of age and has carefully read this Agreement and fully understands the terms thereof, and signs this Agreement voluntarily as his own free act.

17. Governing Law and Forum Selection. This Agreement shall be governed by and construed under the laws of the State of New Jersey, without regard to conflict of law principles. Any disputes relating to this Agreement shall be resolved exclusively by a state or federal court in the State of New Jersey.

18. Entire Agreement. This Agreement contains the entire agreement of the Parties with respect to this subject matter and supersedes any prior agreements or understandings with respect to this subject matter. The Parties acknowledge that in signing this Agreement, they do not rely upon and have not relied upon any representation or statement made by any of the Parties or their agents with respect to the subject matter, basis or effect of this Agreement, other than those specifically stated in this written Agreement.

19. Legally Binding. The terms of this Agreement contained herein are contractual, and not a mere recital. This Agreement shall be binding upon the Parties and upon their heirs, administrators, representatives, executors and assigns. Calandrillo represents and agrees that he is not impaired, by bankruptcy or otherwise, from signing this Agreement or releasing any of the rights or claims released in this Agreement.

20. Severability. If any term or provision of this Agreement shall be held to be invalid or unenforceable for any reason, the validity or enforceability of the remaining terms or provisions shall not be affected, and such term or provision shall be deemed modified to the extent necessary to make it enforceable.

21. Amendments. Neither this Agreement nor any term hereof may be orally changed, waived, discharged, or terminated, and may be amended only by a written agreement between the Parties.

22. THIS AGREEMENT SPECIFICALLY WAIVES ALL OF CALANDRILLO'S RIGHTS AND CLAIMS ARISING UNDER THE AGE DISCRIMINATION IN EMPLOYMENT ACT ("ADEA") (29 U.S.C. § 621, ET SEQ.), AS AMENDED, AND THE OLDER WORKERS' BENEFIT PROTECTION ACT, AS AMENDED. In connection with this waiver, Calandrillo acknowledges and agrees that:

a. This Agreement is voluntarily entered into by Calandrillo, and Calandrillo has had a full and fair opportunity (at least twenty-one (21) days) to review, consider, and negotiate the terms of this Agreement.

b. Calandrillo has been advised to seek the advice of an attorney concerning the meaning of this Agreement, Calandrillo's attorney negotiated this Agreement with his knowledge and consent and reviewed the terms of the Agreement with him, and Calandrillo acknowledges that he understands each and every term of this Agreement;

c. Calandrillo further understands that he may revoke this Agreement at any time within seven (7) days after he signs it, and that this Agreement shall not become effective or enforceable, and the consideration in Paragraph 2 will not be provided, until the seven (7) day revocation period has expired. Calandrillo has seven (7) calendar days after signing this Agreement to revoke this Agreement, but must do so in a writing sent and postmarked within the seven (7) day period to Seth Spiegal, Esq., McElroy, Deutsch, Mulvaney & Carpenter, LLP, 1300 Mount Kemble Avenue, P.O. Box 2075, Morristown, New Jersey 07962;

d. If Calandrillo signs this Agreement prior to the end of the twenty-one (21) day time period, Calandrillo certifies that, in accordance with 29 CFR § 1625.22 (e)(6), he knowingly and voluntarily decided to sign the Agreement after considering it for less than twenty-one (21) days, and his decision to sign was not induced by TCCS through fraud, misrepresentation, or a threat to withdraw or alter the offer prior to the expiration of the twenty-one (21) day time period;

e. Calandrillo has carefully read and fully understands all of the provisions and effects of this Agreement, and he knowingly and voluntarily entered into all of the terms set forth in this Agreement;

f. Calandrillo knowingly and voluntarily intends to be legally bound by all of the terms set forth in this Agreement;

g. Calandrillo has relied solely and completely upon his own judgment and, if he has retained an attorney, the advice of his attorney in entering into this Agreement; and

h. Calandrillo is, through this Agreement, releasing TCCS from any and all claims he may have against TCCS, including, but not limited to, claims arising under the ADEA.

23. This Agreement, consisting of nine typed pages (including a page for Exhibit A), and containing 23 numbered paragraphs (some with subparts) before the signature lines, is a legally enforceable contract.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the Parties have caused this Agreement to be executed.

SYNOPSIS

Petitioner filed a pro se residency appeal on behalf of her daughter in May 2016, seeking a determination that M.S. is entitled to a free public education in the Morris School District. The matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) to ascertain petitioner's residency and the amount of any tuition due. A hearing was scheduled in the OAL for July 14, 2016. Petitioner failed to appear at the hearing, and offered no explanation for her non-appearance. The Board subsequently sent a letter to the OAL, stating, inter alia, that J.S. and M.S. had relocated to the Netherlands at the end of the school year. The Board further stated that it would not pursue any claim for tuition for the 2015-2016 school year.

Upon review, the Commissioner found that this matter is no longer deemed to be a contested case before the Commissioner, and dismissed the petition.

The record of this emergent matter, the sound recording of proceedings at the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), and the recommended Order of the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) have been reviewed. Upon such review, the Commissioner concurs with the ALJ – for the reasons set forth in the recommended Order – that petitioner has failed to demonstrate entitlement to emergent relief pursuant to Crowe v. DeGioia, 90 N.J. 126 (1982), and codified at N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6.

Accordingly, the recommended Order of the OAL denying petitioner's application for emergent relief is adopted for the reasons expressed therein. This matter shall continue at the OAL with such proceedings as the parties and ALJ deem necessary to bring it to closure.

BEFORE JOSEPH A. ASCIONE, ALJ:

Petitioner, The Board of Education of the City of Pleasantville, Atlantic County, (Pleasantville BOE), brings this emergent relief application to the Commissioner of Education. It seeks an order against respondent, Constance Bauer, Ed. D., the New Jersey State Monitor of Pleasantville Board of Education (Monitor Bauer) to reverse her position opposing the non-renewal of five teachers/administrators of the Pleasantville BOE. Petitioner argues that Monitor Bauer's failure to do so is arbitrary and capricious. Monitor Bauer's opposition is on multiple levels. Monitor Bauer argues that the petitioner's application is fatally lacking in any factual certification or documentation to support its position. She also argues that petitioner has shown neither irreparable injury nor a likelihood of success on the merits of the application.

On July 14, 2016, petitioner made this application for emergent relief to the New Jersey State Commissioner of Education. On July 15, 2016, the New Jersey State Department of Education, Bureau of Controversies and Disputes, transmitted the matter to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-8.2. The OAL conducted oral argument on the application on July 27, 2016.

FACTUAL DISCUSSION

This tribunal is not reviewing a petition for relief as required by N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.4. A chairperson or secretary of the Pleasantville BOE did not certify or affirm the information included in the petitioner. Rather, alleged counsel to the Pleasantville BOE, completed the petition and chose to certify the information. The application did not attach any action taken by the Pleasantville BOE in authorizing this litigation, or the approval of the non-renewal list. To this tribunal's inquiry to this deficiency, counsel responded, the emergent nature of the application. However, to the inquiry of the nature of the irreparable harm, counsel responded that at some time during the fiscal year, funds would be exhausted resulting in actions that would need to be taken. The application also alleges the wasted time already spent on the Donaldson[1] hearings.

It appears from the application that consideration of a non-renewal list occurred in the petitioner's committees during the months of March, April and May 2016. Counsel argues Monitor Bauer did not attend. Petitioner offered no proof Monitor Bauer had notice of the meetings. On May 9, 2016, the petitioner approved the budget for fiscal year 2016-2017, based upon the termination of various names listed on the non-renewal list. Counsel argues that respondent never objected to the budget it approved, until June 14, 2016, when respondent objected to the non-renewal list. Counsel maintains that respondent attended the Donaldson hearings in early June. The petition then states that the respondent's June 14, 2016, correspondence overruled the Superintendent's decision regarding the non-renewals.

During oral argument, counsel argues that paragraph twelve and thirteen of respondent's certification reflects that she overruled the decision of the Pleasantville BOE. However, the petition alleges that the respondent overruled the Superintendent's decision to non-renew. The petition therefore clouds whether this distinction is meaningful.

Petitioner's counsel could not refute the allegations of the respondent as set forth in her July 25, 2016, certification.

RESPONDENT'S CERTIFICATION

Monitor Bauer's certification advises this tribunal of the July 2, 2007, New Jersey State's Commissioner of Education appointment of a fiscal monitor for the Pleasantville BOE. Monitor Bauer accepted her appointment as a State monitor for petitioner on June 23, 2015. She advised of her Masters of Arts and Doctorate of Education degrees, and her experience as a Superintendent of Schools for the Bordentown Regional School District from 2008 to 2014. She represented her knowledge of school district staffing, budgets and operations. She identified the amount the state contributed to the Pleasantville BOE in 2015-2016 as $72,263.704. She confirmed her attendance at the Donaldson hearing on June 7, 2016. She noticed the absence of employee file documentation at the Donaldson hearings and the petitioner's request of the Interim Superintendent for said documents by e-mail the following day. On June 8, 2014, she advised by correspondence to the petitioner of her intended consideration of the non-renewals under her authority as a State Monitor. On June 9, 2016, respondent met with the Interim Superintendent, at that time the Interim Administrator had not yet delivered the personnel records for the non-renewed employees. She obtained the personnel records thereafter and upon review determined to reverse the non-renewal of five of eight of the proposed non-renewal employees, due to her determination of serious deficiencies regarding the justification and documentation available during the Donaldson hearings. She determined there was inadequate support to non-renew. She also determined that the salaries of the five employees would not affect the proposed expenditures of the 2016-2017 budget.

STATEMENT OF FACTS

After consideration of the supporting petition and opposition from the respondent, for purposes of this emergent application, I FIND as FACT:

1. Petitioner made a determination to non-renew eight employees of the Pleasantville School District on or about May 9, 2016.

2. Petitioner scheduled Donaldson hearings for June 7, 2016; respondent attended those hearings. Employment records of five of the employees were not available to respondent at the Donaldson hearings.

3. On June 8, 2016, respondent requested of the Interim Administrator copies of the employment records of all of the employees subject to the Donaldson hearings; and advised the petitioner that the non-renewed employees were under review. On June 9, 2016, respondent met with the Interim Administrator but again did not have the employment records of the non-renewed employees.

4. Respondent's review of the employment records, upon receipt, raised issues of serious deficiencies in the support for non-renewal. Respondent expressed concern over the petitioner's exposure to litigation costs related to the lack of documentation in connection with the non-renewal of five of the eight employees.

5. Respondent determined to reverse the decision of the petitioner and the Interim Administrator upon fiscal considerations related to litigation exposure, and replacement personnel costs. These considerations are all of a personnel and fiscal management.

6. Respondent did allow the non-renewal of three recommended personnel.

LEGAL DISCUSSION

Initially, respondent argues that petitioner's request for emergent relief is deficient. See N.J.A.C. 6A-3:1.3(i). Petitioner failed to provide an appropriate certification of the petition executed by an authorized member of the Pleasantville BOE. It's legal memorandum is de minimus, at best, and does not address the likelihood of success, or the irreparable injury other than to conclusory relate that it exists. These deficiencies could warrant the dismissal of the application. However, granting such a procedural dismissal would likely result in a new application by petitioner to be again reconsidered by the Commissioner of Education (Commissioner) and then retransmitted to this forum. This does not seem a wise use of time, I am certain this consideration, as well as others entered into the Commissioner's staff's determination to forward this emergent application to this tribunal for consideration of the merits of petitioner's claim. Accordingly, I refrain from dismissing petitioner's claim on procedural grounds.

Petitioner must meet the requirements for emergent relief set forth in N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6(b), and must show that the State Monitor appointed by the Commissioner acted arbitrarily, capriciously or unreasonably in refusing to approve the non-renewal of five employees recommended by the Interim Superintendent and the petitioner.

N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6 sets forth the standards governing motions for emergent relief. The regulation instructs in salient part:

> A motion for a stay or emergent relief shall be accompanied by a letter memorandum or brief which shall address the following standards to be met for granting such relief pursuant to Crowe v. DeGioia, 90 N.J. 126 (1982):
>
> 1. The petitioner will suffer irreparable harm if the requested relief is not granted;
> 2. The legal right underlying petitioner's claim is settled;

3. The petitioner has a likelihood of prevailing on the merits of the underlying claim; and

4. When the equities and interests of the parties are balanced, the petitioner will suffer greater harm than the respondent will suffer if the requested relief is not granted.

[N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6(b).]

Petitioner has the burden of establishing each of the above requirements in order to warrant relief in its favor.

In March 2007, the Commissioner of Education appointed a monitor to oversee the petitioner's business operations and personnel matters pursuant to the School District Fiscal Accountability Act, N.J.S.A. 18A:7A-55 to -60.

A State-appointed monitor is empowered to:

(1) oversee the fiscal management and expenditures of school district funds, including, but not limited to, budget reallocations and reductions, approvals of purchase orders, budget transfers, and payment of bills and claims;

(2) oversee the operation and fiscal management of school district facilities, including the development and implementation of recommendations for redistricting and restructuring of schools;

(3) ensure development and implementation of an acceptable plan to address the circumstances set forth in subsection a. of this section which resulted in the appointment of the State monitor. The plan shall [*3] include measurable benchmarks and specific activities to address the deficiencies of the school district;

(4) oversee all district staffing, including the ability to hire, promote, and terminate employees;

(5) have authority to override a chief school administrator's action and a vote by the board of education on any of the matters set forth in this subsection, except that all actions of the State monitor shall be subject to the education, labor, and employment laws and regulations, including the "New Jersey Employer-Employee Relations Act," . . . and collective bargaining agreements entered into by the school district;

(6) attend all meetings of the board of education, including closed sessions; and

(7) meet with the board of education on at least a quarterly basis to discuss with the members of the board the past actions of the board which led to the appointment of the State monitor and to provide board members with education and training that address the deficiencies identified in board actions.

The respondent argues that the application for emergent relief should be dismissed because the petitioner cannot demonstrate any irreparable harm from the respondent's action. Respondent has certified that the budget provides sufficient sums to meet the petitioner's fiscal operations, and the non-termination would not reduce costs during the fiscal year, as in addition to replacement salaries there would be expenditures for litigation defense. In accord, the petitioner has not substantiated any irreparable loss due to the respondent's actions.

Another prong of the Crowe v. DeGioia test requires an analysis of whether the legal rights are settled. Petitioner cited only one matter of legal precedent in support of granting the relief he has requested; the case of Pleasantville, Bd. of Ed., Atlantic County, v. James Riehman, Fiscal Monitor, EDU 11454-10, Initial Decision, (May 31, 2011), rejected Comm'r., (July 31, 2011), http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/ however, the case specifically rejects petitioner's position. There the initial decision limited the decision of the fiscal monitor to prevent a review of a litigation settlement, the Commissioner in the final decision specifically rejected the ALJ's initial decision and concluded that the monitor specifically had the authority to reject that settlement. In accord with that decision, the law is clearly settled against the petitioner.

The final prong of the Crowe v. DeGioia test is a balancing of the equities and the interests of the parties. The respondent possesses the authority to review the fiscal considerations of all actions of the petitioner, including personnel decisions related to hiring and firing. See N.J.S.A. 18A:7A-55(b)(4). The respondent is not just a fiscal agent; rather she has served for an extensive time as a Superintendent of Education. It is for this reason this tribunal places much discretion with the respondent's expertise and judgment in this area.

Petitioner's counsel argues that respondent's determination of litigation risks is the unauthorized practice of law. Petitioner's counsel argues that it is arbitrary and capricious to reverse the decision of the Interim Administrator and the petitioner, as the petitioner did not have information that it could have reversed the Interim Administrator's non-renewal list, and accordingly this deprived the respondent of the ability to reverse the Interim Administrator's and petitioner's action. Petition relies on the limitation of N.J.S.A. 18A:27-4.1(a) which requires the petitioner to not arbitrarily or capriciously withhold approval of a chief school administrator's decision regarding hiring or termination of an employee. Both these arguments are specious. The respondent may or may not have had advice of counsel prior to her June 14, 2016, letter, does not render her decision the unauthorized practice of law. The communication merely stated her reasons for her determination to reject the five non-renewal recommendations of the Interim Administrator and the petitioner, it in no way expressed legal advice to them, rather a decision based upon her authority. The reason is neither the unauthorized practice of law, nor arbitrary and capricious. The reason is based upon her experience and expertise as a previous Superintendent of the Bordentown School District. For one to say the respondent is bound by the action of the petitioner in failing to require information before they make a decision would only compound the errors of the petitioner. The petitioner failed in its duty to obtain appropriate information prior to making a decision. Any approval of the superintendent's recommendations under this circumstance is itself arbitrary and capricious, as the petitioner did not perform its obligations.

In regard to the standard for emergent relief, petitioner has the burden of proof to show the irreparable harm, the legal right is settled, the likelihood of success and the balancing of the harm falls in petitioner's favor, petitioner has not shown any of these requirements.

Turning to the standard to reverse the actions of the respondent, the petitioner has the burden of proof to show that the respondent's actions were arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable. Petitioner has shown that respondent acted within the authority granted her under N.J.S.A. 18A:7A-55. The record is devoid of any factual support for the petitioner's argument that the respondent's decision was an abuse of discretion.

Petitioner has not shown any arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable action in the process of the respondent's determination.

CONCLUSION

After hearing the arguments of petitioner and respondent and considering the documents submitted, I CONCLUDE that petitioner is not entitled to emergent relief because the proofs submitted fail to establish the necessary elements to grant emergency relief under N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6(b). Specifically, there is no showing that petitioner will suffer irreparable harm if the requested relief is not granted, or that the law is settled in favor of petitioner, or there is a likelihood petitioner will prevail on the merits, or that the balance of harm favors the petitioner. The law is settled against the petitioner, and the balance of harm favors the respondent.

I further CONCLUDE that the respondent has properly acted in the exercise of its discretion to block the non-renewal of the five employees.

For the foregoing reasons, petitioner's request for emergent relief is DENIED. Respondent has the authority to reject the non-renewal of the five employees. She exercised her authority reasonably and not arbitrarily or capriciously regarding the fiscal management of the petitioner.

ORDER

It is hereby ORDERED that petitioner's request for emergent relief is DENIED.

It is hereby ORDERED that petitioner's request for relief from the actions of the New Jersey State Monitor Constance Bauer, Ed. D. is DENIED in all respects. This Order disposes of all issues in controversy regarding this matter.

This order on application for emergency relief may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. The final decision shall be issued without undue delay, but no later than forty-five days following the entry of this order. If the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, does not adopt, modify or reject this order within forty-five days, this recommended order shall become a final decision on the issue of emergent relief in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Introduction

On April 25, 2016, the New Jersey Department of Education, Bureau of Controversies and Disputes, (the "DOE") received the tenure charges against Howard Smith (the "Respondent" or the "Teacher") filed by the Wayne Board of Education (the "Board" or the "Petitioner"). The Respondent's answer was received by the DOE on May 6, 2016. Pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-16 as amended by P.L. 2012, c. 26, the undersigned Arbitrator was appointed to serve, by the DOE, on May 16, 2016.

The arbitration hearing was initially opened on June 8, 2016. The Respondent's Motion to Dismiss was decided on June 16, 2016 when the motion was denied by issuance of a formal written Ruling. Testimony was taken on: June 28, 2016; June 30, 2016; and July 8, 2016. Both parties were afforded an opportunity to argue orally, present documentary evidence and to examine and cross-examine witnesses. An extensive evidentiary record was established and a stenographic transcript of the proceedings was created. Both parties submitted detailed post-hearing briefs with supporting case law. The Arbitrator made a written request for an extension of time for the issuance of the award, due to the number of days needed by the parties in order to properly present the case at hearing and to prepare and present their post-hearing briefs; the DOE approved the extension of time for the issuance of the award until August 31, 2016.

The Respondent is charged with "unbecoming conduct and other just cause" seeking the termination of his employment. In accordance with N.J.S.A. 18A:6-10 the Board bears the burden of proving that the Teacher warrants dismissal for "inefficiency, incapacity, unbecoming conduct or other just cause." The charges relate initially to one incident during the 2014-2015 school year in which the Respondent is charged with engaging in a physical altercation with a high school student. Additionally, the Teacher is charged with a series of incidents during the 2015-2016 school year involving charges of the harassment, intimidation and bullying ("HIB") of several students.

Positions of the Parties

Position of the Board

The Board contends that the Teacher engaged in a pattern conduct unbecoming beginning with an incident on February 18, 2015, at Wayne Valley High School. It maintains that the incident began in the Respondent's office in the boys' locker room and continued into the locker room itself. The Board stresses that the video evidence of the incident reveals that the Teacher is yelling and aggressive with his hands in the physical altercation with a high school student in his physical education class. It notes that the Teacher is significantly taller and heavier than the student. The Board emphasizes that there is no indication that the Respondent took any steps to de-escalate the situation and actually cornered the student. It is also noted that there is video evidence that the Teacher, just after the locker room incident, walked through the gym and bumped into the student with his shoulder. The Petitioner asserts that the Teacher's self-defense claim is "simply incomprehensible."

The Board further charges that the Teacher engaged in four separate improper acts of conduct in the following school year. These incidents all involved eighth grade students in a middle school health class taught be the Respondent in 2015-2016.

The first of the four incidents charged as an HIB offense involved stating to a student, "I take shits bigger than you." The Petitioner stresses that the Teacher admits to having made this statement. This statement is deemed to be a reference to the small stature of the student, adding to the inappropriate nature of the comment.

The second incident involves the charge that the Respondent told a different male student, in response to a question about vaginal discharge, that he should know what it is because he has it. This statement is deemed to suggest that the student was female and had acquired a sexually transmitted disease.

The third incident involved the charge of a statement to another student, during a video about anorexia with a female removing her sweatshirt to reveal the effects of the disease, that he would never get closer to seeing a naked woman in his lifetime. This comment was portrayed as singling out the student and making him uncomfortable.

The fourth incident involved the charge that the Teacher suggested to a 14-year-old female student that she should be taking birth control pills. The Petitioner insists that this caused the girl to believe that the Teacher was insinuating that she was sexually active with a large number of boys.

The Board argues that "the ongoing conduct and behavior on the part of the Respondent mandates termination." It suggests that this is "habitually negative behavior" and that the Teacher has not responded to corrective measures. It points out that the Respondent received a suspension without pay, a loss of coaching responsibilities, a corrective action plan, and anger management training following the February 2015 altercation with a student. It further stresses that the Board reserved the right to bring new tenure charges if the Teacher's conduct justified such action.

The Petitioner asserts that its past efforts at progressive discipline "failed to result in any meaningful modification to Respondent's behavior." It characterizes the Teacher's behavior as "habitual negative conduct unresponsive to intervention." The Board expresses the belief that unless the Respondent's employment is terminated, he will continue to endanger student both physically and emotionally. It seeks an award sustaining the tenure charges and his dismissal.

Position of the Teacher

The Respondent contends that the Board has failed to meet its burden of proof with respect to the tenure charges at issue herein. He asserts that "the ultimate punishment of dismissal should not be imposed", stressing the Teacher's "long history of exemplary service for the Wayne Public School System."

The Respondent argues that the penalty imposed for the February 2015 incident was sufficiently severe for that charge. Further he maintains that the comment, "I take bigger shits than you," was adequately dealt with by the letter of the letter of reprimand issued regarding that incident. The Teacher insists that the other three incidents of misconduct charged were not proved.

With respect to the February 2015 locker room incident, the Teacher explains that he was suddenly placed in a difficult situation, confronted by an out of control student accompanied by other out of control students. The Respondent claims that he had never received training to deal with such a situation.

The Teacher suggests that the student, C.A., engaged in an assault and that the Respondent's reaction of fear of being struck by the student was a reasonable one. The Respondent characterizes the Board's view of the interaction as "one-sided", not giving any consideration to the Teacher's legitimate concern for his own safety. The Respondent believes that the Board further exaggerated the Teacher's role in the incident.

With respect to the charge that the Respondent told a student "that's the most you will see," the Teacher asserts that the Employer was unable to present consistent evidence as to who made that statement. He maintains that the testimony of three students (J.Z., S.C. and D.R.) was inconsistent as to this allegation, leaving the charge unproved. The Teacher relies upon his own testimony that he said to the class generally, "relax that's all you're going to see" as they became unruly upon seeing the video of a female anorexic student removing her sweatshirt.

Regarding the charge that the Teacher said to D.R., in answer to a question about vaginal discharge, "you should know you have it," the Respondent dismisses D.R.'s testimony as "remarkably dishonest." The Respondent insists that the Board erred in giving credence to D.R.'s testimony. He concludes that the Employer did not prove that the Teacher told D.R. that he had vaginal discharge.

The Respondent also maintains that the Petitioner did not prove that the Teacher made an inappropriate comment to S.C. concerning birth control. While it is suggested by the Respondent that D.R. might have been intentionally dishonest, no such assertion is leveled at S.C. However, the Teacher believes that S.C. was confused about the statement.

Part of the defense presented is that "life experience" must result in a conclusion as to whether the Teacher "would say such a horrible thing to a young girl who was approximately 14 years old." The Teacher adamantly denies making the comment, noting his long experience coaching high school girls as proof of his awareness of appropriate language. S.C.'s credibility is questioned on the basis on her inability to recall the exact words attributable to the Teacher and the delay in her coming forward to report the incident.

The Respondent admits telling A.Z. "I take shits bigger than you." The Teacher acknowledges that this was misconduct but emphasizes evidence that A.Z. was not offended by the statement. Respondent argues that the letter of reprimand placed in his personnel file is adequate disciplinary action for this incident.

The Respondent raises the legal proposition that there are limitations to the proper consequences of prior discipline with respect to new charges. It is acknowledged that prior discipline can serve as a factor in determining penalties in a future case but there must be an avoidance of re-imposing disciplinary actions for misconduct already addressed. There can be no gross distortion of the events to support the penalty imposed.

The Respondent concludes that he "has already been severely punished for the incident regarding C.A. and received a letter of reprimand for the comment to A.Z. Appropriate discipline has already been imposed for the charges that the Respondent believes to have been established. The Teacher insists that the other allegations have not been proved are that the Employer's request for removal of the Respondent from his tenured position should be denied in its entirety.

Discussion and Analysis

The Teacher, Howard Smith, has worked for the Wayne Township Board of Education since 1997. Through the 2014-2015 school year he was assigned to Wayne Valley High School. In 2015-2016, the Respondent was assigned to George Washington Middle School. He was a physical education teacher at both schools; he also taught driver education at the high school and health at the middle school. Exhibit R-1 presents a collection of the Respondent's observations and evaluations over the years. There is no indication among these documents that the Teacher had any deficiencies prior to the incidents at issue in these tenure charges. The Arbitrator finds that the Teacher had a long-standing good record prior to February of 2015.

The first incident relied upon by the Board occurred on February 18, 2015. The evidence reveals that several students in the Teacher's physical education class came to his office by the locker room at the early stages of the class period. The Respondent was at his desk and felt unexpectedly confronted by the group of boys. The Teacher testified that he felt threatened for his safety. The Teacher moved the boys out of the office into the locker room and was displeased that one of the boys was making a video of the Teacher (taking video in the locker room is strictly against the rules).

Once in the locker room, the Teacher and one of the boys, C.A., engaged in a verbal and physical altercation that was captured on video. That video is in evidence in this proceeding as Exhibit B-32. It establishes, in a clear and convincing manner, that both the Teacher and C.A. engaged in very aggressive behavior both physically and in loud and inappropriate language.

The Arbitrator has carefully considered the testimony of C.A. and the Teacher; the video evidence presents a clear and convincing picture of the incident. The scene does not support the Teacher's defense that he had no option of disengagement. He continued to aggressively advance toward the student at a point where separation and de-escalation appear possible. The Arbitrator believes that the Respondent may have been initially startled, perhaps even provoked, by the confrontation but his response, as caught on video, was quite inappropriate for a teacher; his verbal and physical interaction with the student crossed the line into unacceptable conduct.

The Teacher's conduct was clearly improper. It is quite reasonable for the Employer to expect its teachers to be able to de-escalate volatile situations. The Respondent failed to de-escalate the conflict. Indeed, he actually continued to act aggressively and as provocatively as the student. The Teacher had the opportunity to disengage from the altercation but did not. This was serious misconduct.

Additionally, several minutes after the altercation ended in the locker room, the Teacher was caught on another video [Exhibit B-31, from a school security camera] walking into the student C.A. in the gymnasium. The Teacher could have avoided the student but it appears that he intentionally bumped C.A., using his shoulder, as he crossed the gym floor. This was further indication of the aggressive and unbecoming conduct on the part of the Teacher on February 18, 2015.

The Respondent seeks to defend his conduct with respect to the February 18, 2015 incident by claiming that he was in fear of his own safety and acted reasonably.

That effort falls far short of a convincing claim. It should be noted that two students, C.A. and K.G., appeared at the tenure hearing to testify as to the incident. K.G. testified that he believed it to be the Teacher who pushed C.A. first to start the physical element of the altercation. C.A. testified that he felt threatened by the Teacher's advancement and pushing. The evidence suggests that there was aggression on both sides of this altercation. Neither party is relieved of all responsibility however, the Teacher must be held to a somewhat higher standard, responsible to reduce rather than escalate any conflict with students.

It is significant to point out that the Teacher agreed to accept a substantial set of consequences in recognition of the severe nature of his misconduct and in order to avoid tenure charges at that time. Exhibit B-11 is an Agreement and General Release executed by the parties with respect to the February 18, 2015 incident. The Teacher authorized his counsel to sign this document on May 21, 2015 and it presents the terms of a resolution of the issues arising from the altercation with student C.A. The Teacher testified that he did not agree to the settlement although he did authorize it to be signed on his behalf.

He does admit that he agreed to the penalties set forth in B-11 and to the Corrective Action Plan.

The May 21, 2015 agreement document sets forth a number of agreed upon actions that are clearly disciplinary in nature. Consider the following elements of the agreement:

> The Teacher's employment and adjustment increments were withheld.
>
> The Teacher lost all coaching assignments.
>
> The Teacher was required to comply with a Corrective Action Plan for the 2015-2016 school year.
>
> The Teacher served an unpaid leave of absence for June of 2015 through the first day of school in September of 2015.
>
> The Teacher forfeited 30 accumulated sick days.
>
> The Teacher was transferred to the middle school assignment.
> The Teacher was required to attend anger management training.

The document expressly points out that the terms are "a compromise" and further specifies that "this Agreement, nor any consideration provided pursuant to this Agreement, shall be taken or construed to be an admission or concession by THE BOE [Board of Education] of any kind with respect to any fact, liability, unethical conduct or fault whatsoever." It is noteworthy that the non-admission language of Exhibit B-11 applies only to the Board and not to the Respondent.

The disciplinary penalties imposed by the parties' agreement relating to the February 18, 2015 incident are quite substantial. This reflects the fact that both parties perceived that incident to be severe misconduct on the part of the Teacher. There can be no question that the disciplinary aspects of Exhibit B-11, agreed to by the Teacher, serve to place the Respondent on clear notice that further unbecoming conduct would have the most severe consequences. The substantive elements of the terms of Exhibit B-11 cannot be construed in any other way. The existence and resolution of the February 18, 2015 misconduct provides a most significant context for the 2015-2016 incidents set forth in the charges herein.

There are four incidents that occurred in the 2015-2016 school year that the Board alleged to be misconduct falling within the harassment, intimidation and bullying prohibition. Each involved the charge that the Grievant acted inappropriately in interaction with one or more students. Three former eighth grade students from the Respondent's health class appeared at the tenure hearing to testify. The allegations involve four separate incidents.

One of the incidents is undisputed by the Respondent. He admits to saying to A.Z., "I take shits bigger than you." Exhibit B-14 documents the incident that occurred on January 5, 2016. This document is a letter of reprimand written by Principal Jack Leonard of the Washington Middle School. The letter reflects the Teacher's admission to making the statement and defense that it made in jest and not threatening nor intimidating. The Teacher was placed on notice that the students should not be engaged in this manner and of the importance of professional behavior in all conversations and interactions.

It is significant to note that the Teacher testified that he made the "I take shits bigger than you" comment to A.Z. He described the incident as a "slip of the tongue" and believed that A.Z. was the only one who heard it. The Teacher testified that he thought the Principal's letter was "a strongly written letter." He testified that the interaction was more playful and not upsetting to the student.

The second allegation of the Teacher's misconduct in health class was presented through the testimony of student D.R., who appeared at the tenure hearing. D.R. testified that the Teacher, during a class addressing sexually transmitted diseases, uttered an insulting comment in response to a question about vaginal discharge. The student testified that the Teacher stated, in response to this question, "I thought you would know because you have it."

It is significant to note that the Teacher adamantly denies making this statement. The Respondent attacks the witness' credibility, noting that the complaint only came to light after the Teacher disciplined D.R. for a separate incident of student misconduct. The Arbitrator finds that the cross-examination of D.R. raised some issues relating to the consistency of his testimony but his general credibility withstood a skilled cross-examination. The Arbitrator believes that the statement about vaginal discharge was made as claimed by D.R.

The statement about vaginal discharge, made to a then 13 year-old student, is another instance of inappropriate conduct on the part of the Respondent. It flies in the face of the concept of professional behavior in all conversations and interactions with students. The January 2016 comment to D.R. was unbecoming conduct by the Teacher.

The nature of the third allegation of unbecoming conduct is less clear than the others. The scenario involved a video about eating disorders shown in class. An anorexic girl is shown in the video removing her sweatshirt and this caused the already unruly class to become boisterous. Student J.Z. testified that when another student, A.Z., began to hoot and holler about the girl undressing, the Teacher said to A.Z., "that's the most you'll ever see." On cross-examination, J.Z. indicated that the Teacher was "talking in the general direction of A.Z." This witness took the incident to be directed at A.Z. rather than the class generally.

The Respondent testified that he never directed a comment to any single student in response to the unruliness when the girl removed her sweatshirt in the class video on anorexia. He believes that he may have made a general statement to the class when they began to hoot and holler to the effect of "easy boys that's all you're going to see." The key to the context of this allegation is whether the statement was directed toward a single student and whether it included the word "ever." The connotation of "that's all you're ever going to see" is quite different than "that's all you're going to see." The former, if directed toward a single student is intimidating and improper. One can easily understand the latter comment among a group of hooting and hollering 13 and 14 year old boys and girls.

The Arbitrator finds that the evidence is not sufficiently convincing to prove the allegations about this third incident. It is the Board's burden to prove the charges by a preponderance of the evidence and this particular element of the charges was not adequately supported by credible evidence. That aspect of the charges relating to the allegation that the Respondent stated to a student "that's all you're ever going to see" is dismissed as unproven.

The fourth charge of unbecoming conduct in the 2015-2016 school year involves the claim that the Teacher made inappropriate comments to a female student, S.C, concerning birth control. The testimony of this 14 year old eighth grade girl was quite compelling. She testified that she did not recall the exact wording but did unequivocally state that the Teacher expressed the belief that S.C. should be on birth control. The student testified that her initial reaction to this was that it was funny but then she understood the comment to imply that she would be with many boys and it made her feel uncomfortable.

S.C. explained that the health class was unruly and did not show adequate respect for the Teacher. She acknowledged that this was not appropriate and revealed the understanding that she played a certain role in the class' misbehavior. S.C. described the moment of the comment indicating that she was not paying attention and that she was engaged in discussion with other students. The scenario suggests that a teacher might be frustrated by the lack of proper attention, however, it in no way provides a valid basis to make a comment as inappropriate as the one that S.C. attributes to the Teacher. Such a comment is inexcusable as it raises issues of sexual harassment and intimidation to a student in a very vulnerable setting.

S.C. was a most credible witness. Her description of the incident appears true and accurate. The fact that she does not recall the exact wording used by the Respondent does not necessarily diminish the validity of her recollection. The delayed reaction to the statement is also not a factor requiring the testimony to be discounted. Her demeanor and presentation were absolutely consistent with a witness telling the truth. There appeared to be no basis to believe that she would manufacture this charge. The Arbitrator makes a factual finding that the Teacher made a comment to student S.C. to the effect that she should be on birth control. This was unbecoming conduct of a serious nature on the part of the Respondent.

* * *

It is important to reiterate that this arbitration proceeding is a trial de novo. No prior finding, for example the various HIB investigative reports, was given independent probative value. Only those witnesses who testified at hearing, providing Respondent with an opportunity to cross-examine, were considered as evidence with regard to the tenure charges at issue herein.

* * *

The evidence must be analyzed in accordance with the legal standard under N.J.S.A. 18A:6-10 that a tenured teacher may not be dismissed "except for inefficiency, incapacity, unbecoming conduct, or other just cause." It is understood that teachers work in a sensitive environment in our society. It is well-settled:

> That the school authorities have the right and duty to screen the officials, teachers and employees as to their fitness to maintain the integrity of the schools as part of ordered society cannot be doubted. Adler v. Bd. of Educ. of the City of N.Y. 342 U.S. 485 (1952)

With respect to the tenure statute at issue herein, this concept has been repeatedly expressed, consider In re Grossman 127 N.J. Super 13 (App. Div. 1974) noting that the touchstone is whether fitness to discharge a teacher's duties and functions is compromised. Unbecoming conduct is generally recognized as behavior adversely affecting morale or weakening respect for the employees or the public services [see Karins v. Atl. City 152 N.J. 532 (1998)].

In the case at hand, the Board has met its burden of proving, by a preponderance of the evidence, a sequence of separate events that constitute unbecoming conduct. The context for the misconduct is dominated by the serious incident of February 18, 2015, when the Teacher engaged in a verbal and physical altercation with one of his students. Even if the Teacher had been initially provoked by or become fearful of the student, the evidence clearly reveals that the Teacher remained overly aggressive and failed to take reasonable steps to disengage with the student. This is problematic conduct for a teacher entrusted with the care and education of students.

The Respondent accepted a set of disciplinary penalties in relation to that incident that cannot be viewed as anything other than the most stern of warnings that any further unbecoming conduct could not be tolerated and would lead to the filing of tenure charges. The Teacher was on notice that his employment was at the edge of a precipice requiring the most careful attention to his conduct. In essence, the Board engaged in progressive discipline by providing warning and notice in response to the February 18, 2015 misconduct.

In the context of the February 18, 2015 altercation and the responding disciplinary penalties, the Teacher's acts of misconduct during the 2015-2016 school year are most troubling. They appear to establish a pattern of a loss of control over the need for the teacher to conduct himself within the bounds of reasonable expectations for the position. Three transgressions of inappropriate conduct were proved on the record. While standing alone, it is debatable as whether these might warrant dismissal, in the context of a teacher on notice due to a most serious prior diversion from acceptable conduct, they form the basis to accept the dismissal of employment sought by the Board. Efforts at progressive discipline did not appear to be effective.

In conclusion, it is determined that the Board has met its burden of proving the tenure charges brought against the Respondent. Specifically, it proved conduct unbecoming in relation to the incident of February 18, 2015 and three incidents during the 2015-2016 school year. This pattern of unbecoming conduct, including serious transgressions, also establishes just cause for the dismissal of the Respondent from his position as a tenured teacher.

A W A R D

For the reasons set forth in the Decision herein IT IS HEREBY DETERMINED that the Board has met its burden of proving the tenure charges of unbecoming conduct and other just cause brought against the Respondent. IT IS HEREBY ORDERED that the Respondent be dismissed from his position as a tenured teacher.

AWARD

The parties have entered into a Stipulation of Settlement (copy enclosed) in resolution of the above referenced matter. I have reviewed the Settlement Agreement and found it to be in compliance with N.J.A.C. 6A:3-5.6. As indicated in Item 1 of the Agreement, page two, "the District shall and hereby does withdraw the instant tenure charges."

The Settlement Agreement came about after two (2) days of hearing at which the Respondent was present and at which the nature of the charges were fully presented and known to her. This matter appeared to be a borderline charge with the possibility of a lesser penalty and it is in the best interest of both parties for this matter to be resolved under the terms of the "Stipulation of Settlement." Both parties have freely entered into this Agreement and both have signed the Agreement. As noted on page nine (9) of the Agreement, Ms. Ravines acknowledged her understanding of the agreement which had been negotiated by her attorney with her knowledge and consent. Both parties have acknowledged, page two (2) of the Agreement, and I find that the settlement is in the public interest.

SYNOPSIS

These consolidated cases involve allegations that, in 2012, two Holmdel School Board members – Ana Vander Woude and Dennis Pavlik – violated the ethical rules governing the conduct of board members, N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(c), (d), (e), (g), (i) and (j) of the Code of Ethics for School Board Members (Code) when they sought to determine whether the school district's Director of Special Services was engaging in inappropriate conduct by working for another school district at the same time she was employed by Holmdel. Following a March 10, 2016 hearing at the OAL, the ALJ issued an Initial Decision concluding that the conduct of the respondents violated sections (c), (d), (e), (g), (i), and (j) of the Code, and recommended the penalty of Censure. The School Ethics Commission (SEC) reviewed the record and the Initial Decision at its June 21, 2016 meeting, at which time the SEC adopted the conclusions of the ALJ for the reasons expressed in his decision.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurred with the penalty recommendation of the SEC. Accordingly, the respondents shall be censured as school officials found to have violated the School Ethics Act.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

These matters arise from three complaints, one Complaint filed on December 6, 2012 by Complainant, Barbara Garrity, then Board President of the Holmdel Board of Education, against Board members Ana M. Vander Woude, Dennis Pavlik, and Phyllis Pascucci, and two other

[1] The matter against then Board Member Phyllis Pascucci was withdrawn and she was not included as a Respondent in the ALJ's findings, conclusions or recommended penalty. Accordingly, there was no determination that Ms. Pascucci violated the School Ethics Act and the penalty does not apply to her.

Complaints filed on December 13, 2012 by Superintendent Barbara Duncan against Board members Ana M. Vander Woude and Dennis Pavlik, individually, alleging that the Respondents violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1.(c), (d), (e), (g), (i) and (j) of the Code of Ethics for School Board Members (Code).

After review on May 1, 2013, the Commission transmitted the matters to the Office of Administrative Law for plenary hearings in accordance with N.J.S.A. 18A:12-29(b). These matters were consolidated, and the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) conducted a hearing on March 10, 2016. He closed the record on April 21, 2016. The Initial Decision of the ALJ was rendered on June 3, 2016, and the School Ethics Commission acknowledged receipt of the Decision on the same day; therefore, the 45-day statutory period for issuing a final decision expires on July 18, 2016. Prior to that date, the School Ethics Commission requested a 45-day extension of time for issuing its decision so as to allow the Commission, which meets only one day each month, to receive and review the full record of the matter, including exceptions and reply arguments. Pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10(c) and N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.8 and for good cause shown, the Commission was granted an extension of time in which to issue its Final Decision in this matter. The extension of time was granted until September 1, 2016.

The ALJ concluded in his Initial Decision that the conduct of Respondent Vander Woude and Respondent Pavlik constituted violations of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(c), (d), (e), (g), (i), and (j) of the Code and recommended the sanction of Censure in relation thereto. The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law have been reviewed. The Respondents subject to the penalty of Censure did not file exceptions to the Initial Decision.

The Commission reviewed the record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the ALJ at its June 21, 2016 meeting at which time the Commission adopted the conclusions of the ALJ for the reasons expressed in his Initial Decision.

ANALYSIS

Upon careful and independent review of the record, the Commission finds that the record supports the ALJ's factual findings, based on the credible evidence before him, as well as the legal conclusion that Respondents Ana M. Vander Woude and Dennis Pavlik did violate N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(c), (d), (e), (g), (i), and (j) of the Code.

The Commission concurs that the Respondents' actions establish that they violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(c), by failing to limit their board action to policy making, planning, and appraisal, and solely helping to frame policies and plans only after the board has consulted those who will be affected by them. Instead, these Respondents exceeded their authority as Board members and failed to consult with the other Board members to ensure that a proper investigation had been conducted. Here, the ALJ concluded that Respondents Vander Woude and Pavlik pursued an investigation, determined guilt and sought punishment without waiting for the results of a proper investigation.

The Commission also accepts the ALJ's factual findings that the Respondents violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(d) when they failed to report information received from a constituent to the Superintendent for her to investigate rather than concluding prematurely on their own that some criminal wrongdoing had occurred. Such responsibility to review complaints is part of the day-to-day function of the Superintendent and not within the authority of a Board member to resolve.

The Commission also accepts the ALJ's factual findings that the Respondents violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e) having taken action beyond the scope of their authority as Board members when, after the Board as a whole accepted the results of the investigation that nothing untoward occurred, Respondents Vander Woude and Pavlik brought their baseless accusations to the Monmouth County Prosecutor for investigation. In doing so, these Respondents failed to recognize that authority rests with the Board, and that they as members, should avoid any action that would compromise the Board.

The Commission also accepts the ALJ's factual findings that the Respondents violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(g) by providing "false information and false impressions to the public about the Board and its handling of a confidential personnel matter" (Initial Decision at 21), that led the public to believe that some criminality had occurred, and that the Administration had dealt with the matter inappropriately. The specter of criminality or negligence had been dispelled, and Board counsel had sufficiently cautioned the Respondents that they could face serious consequences for prematurely condemning school personnel. Here, the Respondents chose to speak publicly about the allegations even after the investigation demonstrated that they were unfounded.

Similarly, based on the foregoing discussion of Respondents' conduct, the Commission also accepts the ALJ's factual findings that the Respondents violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(i) by taking deliberate action, which undermined and compromised school personnel in the proper performance of their duties. The ALJ concluded that "without a scintilla of evidence" (ID, p.11), these Respondents accused a school employee and the Superintendent of criminal conduct in some degree, and without any actual evidence voiced their concerns to other Board members. Moreover, the ALJ determined that "as if to compound their mischief" (ID, p.12), the Respondents aired their accusations during the November 2012 Board meeting, using references to an unrelated child abuse scandal, which raised public anxiety needlessly as the investigation had already demonstrated that no crime had been perpetrated nor had the public been defrauded. Such abuse of the Respondents' office undermined and compromised the public confidence and trust in the Superintendent and School personnel in the proper performance of their respective duties.

Finally, the Commission also accepts the ALJ's factual findings that the Respondents violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(j) by attempting to resolve a constituent's complaint prior to referral to the Superintendent and prior to the failure of the Administration to fashion a solution. The ALJ concluded that even if these Respondents believed that reporting their concerns to the Superintendent would have tainted the investigation because of her alleged involvement, they should have consulted with the Board as a whole and with Board counsel for advice and direction and then waited for the facts to develop in the normal course of a proper investigation.

In accepting the ALJ's findings, the Commission recognizes that these are matters that turn on the credibility of witnesses. In this regard, the Commission must give deference to the credibility determinations of the ALJ. "The reason for this rule is that the administrative law judge, as a finder of fact, has the greatest opportunity to observe the demeanor of the involved witnesses, and, consequently, is better qualified to judge their credibility." In the Matter of Tenure Hearing of Tyler, 236 N.J. Super. 478, 485 (App. Div.), certif. denied, 121 N.J. 615 (1989). Upon review of the record, the Commission hereby concludes that the ALJ's credibility determinations in this matter must be given deference and his findings based on those determinations cannot be disturbed.

The Commission, therefore, determines that the findings issued by the ALJ provide a sufficient basis for his conclusions and recommendations. In this connection, the Commission recognizes that "the ultimate determination of the agency and the ALJ's recommendations must be accompanied by basic findings of fact sufficient to support them." State, Dept. of Health v. Tegnazian, 194 N.J. Super. 435 at 442, 443. Here, the Commission finds that the ALJ fairly summarizes the testimony and evidence. Because the Commission determines that the ALJ's factual findings provide a reasonable basis for his conclusions and recommendation, the Commission accepts the ALJ's Initial Decision as the Final Decision in this matter.

DECISION

For the foregoing reasons, the Commission accepts the findings of fact and the conclusions of law as set forth in Initial Decision of the ALJ that Respondent Ana M. Vander Woude and Respondent Dennis Pavlik violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(c), (d), (e), (g), (i), and (j) of the Code of Ethics for School Board Members.

PENALTY

The Commission further adopts the ALJ's recommended penalty of Censure for these violations.

Pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:12-29(c), this decision shall be forwarded to the Commissioner of Education for review of the School Ethics Commission's recommended sanction. Parties may either: 1) file exceptions to the recommended sanction; 2) file an appeal of the Commission's finding of violation; or 3) file both exceptions to the recommended sanction together with an appeal of the finding of violation.

Parties taking exception to the recommended sanction of the Commission but not disputing the Commission's finding of violation may file, within 13 days from the date the Commission's decision is forwarded to the Commissioner, written exceptions regarding the recommended penalty to the Commissioner. The forwarding date shall be the mailing date to the parties, indicated below. Such exceptions must be forwarded to: Commissioner of Education, c/o Bureau of Controversies and Disputes, P.O. Box 500, Trenton, NJ 08625, marked "Attention: Comments on Ethics Commission Sanction." A copy of any comments filed must be sent to the School Ethics Commission and all other parties.

Parties seeking to appeal the Commission's finding of violation must file an appeal pursuant to the standards set forth at N.J.A.C. 6A:4, et seq. within 30 days of the filing date of the decision from which the appeal is taken. The filing date shall be three days after the date of mailing to the parties, as shown below. In such cases, the Commissioner's review of the Commission's recommended sanction will be deferred and incorporated into the Commissioner's review of the finding of violation on appeal. Where a notice of appeal has been filed on or before the due date for exceptions to the Commission's recommended sanction (13 days from the date the decision is mailed by the Commission), exceptions need not be filed by that date, but may be incorporated into the appellant's briefs on appeal.

Record Closed: April 21, 2016 Decided: June 3, 2016

BEFORE JEFF S. MASIN, ALJ t/a:

These consolidated contested cases involve alleged violations, by Holmdel School Board members Ana Vander Woude and Dennis Pavlik, of the ethical rules governing their conduct as Board members, standards that are embodied at N.J.S.A. 18A:24. The charging parties are the District's school superintendent, Barbara Duncan, and Barbara Garrity, who was the Board's president in 2012, when the incidents giving rise to the charges occurred. Ms. Garrity filed her Complaint against Ms. Vander Woude, Mr. Pavlik, and a third respondent, Phyllis Pascucci, on December 6, 2012. Ms. Pascucci was later dismissed from the case. Ms. Duncan filed her complaints against Ms. Vander Woude and Mr. Pavlik on December 13, 2012. The respondents filed answers and the contested cases were transferred to the Office of Administrative Law on May 13, 2013. The then assigned administrative law judge did not conduct a hearing prior to his appointment to the Superior Court and the cases were then assigned to this judge, serving on recall, on December 17, 2015. After an unsuccessful attempt to resolve the matter in a conference held on January 6, 2016, a hearing was held on March 10, 2016. The parties filed briefs and the record closed on April 21, 2016.

In essence, the specific charges made by the complainants, which will be detailed later in this decision, arise from a situation in which respondents Vander Woude and Pavlik sought to determine whether a school employee and administrator, Meryl Gill, who was the District's Director of Special Services, was engaging in some inappropriate conduct by working for another school district at the same time that she was employed by Holmdel, a situation that, if it existed, might involve improper so-called, "double dipping." In addition, as their concern regarding Gill was first raised to other Board members and to the District's administration in October of 2012, questions were also raised about Superintendent Duncan's knowledge, if any, of any such other employment by Gill. The first approach by the respondents to any school official or Board members about their concerns regarding Ms. Gill occurred on October 22, 2012, when they spoke to Duncan, Gill, Board attorney Martin Barger and Board Business Administrator/Board Secretary Michael Petrizzi, in Superintendent Duncan's office. Further events relevant to the controversy occurred at a Board executive session on October 24; at another executive session on November 14; at the executive and public sessions on November 28, 2012; and then in the days and weeks after that meeting. Each of these will be discussed below.

As noted, Vander Woude and Pavlik first "came forward" about Ms. Gill on October 22. But as the record discloses, according to Vander Woude and Pavlik, prior to that date concerns had been expressed to them by constituents about Gill and they did some research that indicated that Gill was indeed listed as an employee of the Beverly City School District. Vander Woude and Pavlik then requested to meet with Superintendent Duncan, who recalled that her secretary told her on October 19, that Vander Woude had called and requested to meet with her and would be bringing Pavlik and Pascucci to the meeting. Since three Board members would be coming, Duncan felt that the Board president, Garrity, should also be present. According to Duncan, when the three Board members met with her on the October 22, they asked that Petrizzi be present. Vander Woude also asked that Board attorney Barger, or the Board's labor counsel, Michael Gross, be involved and Barger joined the meeting, by telephone.

At least a part of the basis for the complainants' concern about the respondents' conduct in this entire matter stems from their account of the details of this October 22 meeting and the exact manner in which the respondents addressed their concern about Ms. Gill and, in turn, about Ms. Duncan. According to Duncan, once the meeting was underway, Vander Woude "did most of the talking, using a prepared statement." She said that she had some information and "was alerting me that she knew that Meryl Gill was guilty of criminal fraud because she was double-dipping and she had a job in another district." She displayed the Beverly District website that showed that Gill had been appointed as a Special Education Director in that district. Claiming that she felt "deceived" by Gill, who "had made requests to the Board that she needed help but here she was, she was holding another job . . . this was duplicitous and . . . she really didn't need help." Vander Woude then requested of Garrity that Gill be given a Rice notice ("Riced").[1] Duncan testified that Vander Woude expressly stated that Gill should receive this notice because "she is guilty of criminal fraud." Vander Woude then added that Duncan should also receive a Rice notice, because, "she is guilty of criminal fraud or criminal negligence." Duncan explained that these allegations were "stunning . . . to say the least." In part, Duncan explained that this was because prior to these statements, Vander Woude had not:

> ask[ed] me or she didn't alert me to tell me that she had concerns and would I look into it. She had already declared this employee guilty and then went ahead without offering any proof - - at least she had something to show me regarding Meryl, but there was no evidence to indicate that I had knowledge or I knew that Meryl was involved in something that would hurt the District.

Duncan explained that she then pointed out that if someone had a complaint, as a matter of policy and in accordance with Duncan's contract, the proper course was to "take it to the superintendent." It was her job to look into the matter, to investigate. Duncan then spoke to Barger, saying that she had been called a criminal. While speaking to Barger in front of the others, Duncan asked Garrity if it would be alright for the Board attorney to conduct the investigation. Noting that she could not be guilty of anything if it turned out that Gill was not guilty, and that Gill had to receive due process in respect to the allegations made against her, Duncan suggested that it was premature to "Rice" her, and that such action could occur later, if indeed Gill was found to be involved in a misdeed, criminal or otherwise. This suggestion seemed to be reasonable to those assembled.

[1] A "Rice Notice" is required to be issued by a school board to school personnel who are to be the subject of discussion regarding personnel matters relating to them. Rice v. Union County Regional High School Board of Education, 155 N.J. Super. 64 (1977), certification den., 76 N.J. 238 (1978)

Barbara Garrity also recalled that at the October 22 meeting, Ms. Vander Woude alleged that Gill was "perpetrating a criminal fraud." Michael Petrizzi also remembered that Vander Woude spoke of Gill in terms of a "criminal fraud." And Martin Barger, testifying over the objection of respondents who asserted that his testimony could violate attorney-client privilege, testified that she spoke of "criminal fraud" and also that the superintendent was either "Complicit" or she was "Grossly negligent."

Ana Vander Woude's recollection of the October 22 meeting differed a bit from that of the aforementioned attendees. Noting that she and her fellow Board members "went there with very heavy hearts to raise this issue of concern," she said that at the meeting she "expressed the view that we felt that a - - I'm trying to remember my exact words, but there had been a fraud or defrauding the Holmdel School District." As for Duncan, she recalled saying, "'Barbara, we don't know if you knew or you didn't know. If you did then we feel that - that she would somehow be complicit in this . . . But if you didn't, then you're seriously negligent . . . ." She acknowledged that she came to the meeting with a statement which "I proceeded to read."

After the October 22, meeting, it appears that the decision was that Mr. Barger would look into the question of Gill's employment(s) and determine what, if anything, might be improper. The complainants apparently had some qualms about the Board's attorney conducting this investigation. Nevertheless, Barger did just that.

On October 24, the Board met in executive session. According to Garrity, at that meeting Vander Woude stated her concern about Gill and Duncan. As Garrity recalled, Vander Woude had the written statement and made the same accusations as she had voiced in the October 22 meeting. Mr. Pavlik, who is a police officer, stated that he wanted to take the matter to the County Prosecutor. Garrity recalled that Mr. Barger "cautioned the two of them," reminding them, and > "I think all of us kind of that, you know, 'These are very serious accusations and we need to be very careful how we talk about this. The people who are being spoken of have rights also and they might choose to sue for defamation or sue for malicious prosecution, so I just want you to be aware of the potential legal peril and proceed accordingly.'"

Garrity also recalled that Barger advised

> If it was determined that your activities fell outside your role as Board members you would not be covered by the Board insurance and if that were the case it's likely your homeowners insurance wouldn't cover you either."

Mr. Barger's comments to the Board members, including the respondent Board members, can well be understood as advice that he was giving to the Board as its attorney. In that regard, it might well be thought to be privileged information that he could not reveal. However, his "advice" has been portrayed by Vander Woude and Pavlik as threatening, intimidating and harassing towards them as persons who had brought the allegations about Gill and Duncan to the Board's attention. They have claimed that this influenced later public statements they made that are the subject of parts of the complainants' charge that they violated school ethics laws. As such, precisely what Barger said and what context he said it is central to understanding both their claims of having been threatened and the statements and actions that they later took, purportedly in part as a reaction to Barger's, and other Board members', supposed harassment.

Recalling the October 24 meeting, Barger explained that Vander Woude spoke of "criminal fraud" and of Duncan being "complicit" and Pavlik talked about going to the Prosecutor. Barger > opined that he was a Police Officer and I was pretty sure that he was charged . . . That it was a pretty serious charge and that there could be consequences of those kinds of accusations and I don't know if there was any further conversation at that time.

At this meeting the Board authorized Barger to conduct an investigation.

Robin Wetmore was then the Board's vice-president. She too recalled that at the October 24 meeting, Vander Woude read a written statement and spoke of criminal fraud. Superintendent Duncan remembered that at the time of the October 24 meeting, she opened the meeting by referring to Vander Woude having raised an issue and then telling the Board that, rather than herself summarizing the issue that Vander Woude "if she had the same statement that she read in my office, perhaps she can share this with the Board . . . ." As Duncan recalled what Vander Woude then related to the Board, she thought that Vander Woude had "modified it a bit," as instead of charging outright that Duncan was

> "guilty of either criminal fraud or criminal negligence, on October 24 she said that 'If the Superintendent is guilty of criminal fraud of criminal negligence than we should' - - which I felt had changed the tone and modified it and was not accurate and I brought that to the attention of the Board that not's what was said,"

Ms. Vander Woude testified that at the October 24 meeting she was asked to read her statement of October 22. On cross-examination she could not recall whether she had been asked during pre-hearing discovery to provide that written statement. Counsel for the respondents noted that it had been provided in responses to interrogatories supplied on the very morning of the hearing. "Attachment 1" claims to be those meeting notes, although in the form offered, it has a heading identifying the document that surely would not have been on the original notes, as also the red typeface in the sixth paragraph. At any rate, this document relates that the three Board members "cannot help but conclude that a fraud has been committed upon the . . . District." As for Duncan, it offers that she was either "complicit in the fraud" or "severely negligent." The word "criminal" does not appear in this note; however, it does state that the matter is "extremely serious" and that "it is our belief that the Monmouth County Prosecutor's should be called." Vander Woude denied that she used the word "criminal." "Absolutely not. I never - - do I call using them." Absolutely not, I never used that language." However, when questioned by this judge if the reference to the Prosecutor's Office suggested that "you thought a crime might have been committed," Vander Woude replied, "Yes sir."

As for Mr. Pavlik, he was referred to the exhibit purporting to be the October 22 and 24 statements. He was questioned about the lack of any reference in the proffered document to "criminal" fraud, and was asked, "And you heard that several people testified that the words 'Criminal fraud' were used but is that your recollection?" He replied, "A possible of a criminal fraud, yes." And Pavlik, while acknowledging that in reading her statement, purportedly on behalf of the three Board members, Vander Woude specifically mentioned that they believed "that the Monmouth County Prosecutor's Office should be called," denied that he agreed with this part of the statement. He claimed that he "wanted to be advised by our school board attorney, Mr. Barger." He at first claimed that two days later, on October 24, Barger told him that as police officer he "should have known to take this to the prosecutor's office." But, then, Pavlik related that Barger did not say this on October 24, instead stating of Barger, "He didn't - - no. What he was saying is he wanted to stay away from the Prosecutor's Office right now until there was an investigation to be completed, that's what we were getting over the phone from him." Pavlik recalled that after October 24, and before the November 14 meeting, Barger then said to him that Pavlik should have known to bring the matter to the Prosecutor's Office.

The next series of events in this saga were affected by the arrival of Superstorm Sandy. It disrupted school district operations and postponed the next regularly scheduled Board meeting. At the November 28 meeting, Martin Barger presented the findings of his investigation. However, before that date, there was a meeting on November 14. Mr. Barger seems not to recall having attended this meeting, but at least Ms. Vander Woude claims he was there. As Garrity recalled, at that meeting Duncan was "very upset" and she "spoke of how hurt she felt and how harmful she thought this was to the functioning of the Board and the District." There was a "lot of unhappiness back and forth" and as Robin Wetmore recalled, in Garrity's words, "a very animated discussion," although she could not recall if the "decibel level got up to yelling." However, "there were certainly emphatic things said by more than one person present." She did not recall Duncan preventing others from speaking, although "sometimes we talk over each other . . ." "and sometimes" people will say, "Let me finish what I'm saying." There was "some of that" although she could not remember by whom.

Barbara Duncan testified that at the November 14 meeting, she read a statement. She was not angry and threatened no one, but she did have concerns that she felt were significant for the Board "because I saw the potential to destroy morale and to upset people who learned of this and especially Meryl who was target of this." She told the Board that she had been advised that actions could be filed for slander, defamation, and liable, against the three Board members [Pavlik, Vander Woude and Pascucci] and that other actions "are being considered" including ethics charges by Garrity and that Duncan was herself considering "them." She also knew that Gill had consulted a lawyer.

Ana Vander Woude testified that at the November 14 meeting, Barger spoke about the lack of indemnification that might result if the three Board members were sued, and Garrity and Duncan each mentioned this; Duncan "many times."

> "This wasn't just friendly advice, it stopped being friendly advice the first time Marty said it. When we just kept repeatedly told this, that's when we started getting extremely uncomfortable about what was happening because rather than the focus be the issue under investigation, it was us for having raised this and the consequences and 'the cost' to us?"

She recalled that Duncan was "red-faced and yelling." At one point when any of the three Board members tried to counter something, Duncan, who was standing, pointed at each of the three and said "Silence, this is my night to talk, I was not allowed to talk before."

The result of Mr. Barger's investigation was that indeed Ms. Gill did work for both Holmdel and Beverly, but that such work for multiple employers was not in and of itself a violation of the law. Review of e-mails for a period of eighteen months and phone calls for ninety days (greatly expanded periods of time over the original charge from the Board due to the ease in reviewing these longer periods), revealed that there was one phone call and approximately twenty e-mails during those periods that were related to work for Beverly while Gill was on the clock for Holmdel. There was no evidence of criminality. Gill had already explained to Barger before October 24 that she did work for both districts, a fact that she had disclosed to her Association and she had filled out financial disclosures about the two jobs.

As Ms. Garrity remembered the November 28 meeting, in the executive session the consensus of the Board was that Mrs. Duncan could meet with Gill and handle the matter involving Gill's very infrequent use of Holmdel time for Beverly work. Gill would be told to just make certain that the time in which she performed any work for Beverly was kept totally separate from her work for Holmdel. Vander Woude and Pavlik expressed their dissatisfaction with this approach. Then, at the Board's public session that day, Pavlik and Vander Woude each read statements. The Board minutes for that meeting include a recitation of what each of these public statements contained. In essence, they stated that the issue of a "sensitive personnel matter in Central Office" had been raised by them in October. They had acted in good faith for the good of the District and the public. They had been informed of the possibility that they could be sued and had been told "on multiple occasions" that the Board's indemnity policy did not cover Board members outside the scope of their duties. They had been made to feel uncomfortable, especially as they had also been told that "most homeowner's insurance policies do not cover this." Vander Woude said that she "no longer felt comfortable" airing these concerns "in executive session." They offered that in raising this uncomfortable issue as they believed it necessary as part of their "duty and obligation as Board members", "We can never forget the lessons learned from Brookdale Community College and Penn State and the failure of their Boards to act." Vander Woude noted that she and the others "have now been placed to fear that they will be held personally liable" and that she had to tell her husband that their personal assets were at risk and that ethics charges would be filed."

The minutes record that Garrity then stated that "reasonable people can have different interpretations as it relates to harassment, intimidation and bullying" and that Barger agreed with Garrity's statement.

The minutes show that in none of the statements made that day in the public session was the nature of the "sensitive personnel matter" described and the persons involved were also not identified.

According to the testimony of complainants, the references made at the public meeting to Brookdale Community College and to Penn State set off alarms in the community. For reference, there had been a financial scandal at Brookdale involving the college's president, and the reference to Penn State was to the Jerry Sandusky child abuse scandal. Barbara Garrity testified after the November 28 meeting she was made aware that parents were calling the elementary schools concerned about the physical safety of their children. She had to issue a press release in early December to assure the public that there was no sexual abuse of children or financial impropriety. Again, the exact details of what was in fact the subject of Vander Woude and Pavlik's comments could not be mentioned.

Superintendent Duncan testified that the morning after the November 28 meeting, she began receiving calls from elementary school principals asking her, "What should we do?" Parents called as well, and while she could not specify an exact number of such calls, she explained that:

> we were deluged . . . People were outraged and they were concerned that there was a scandal that was being covered up and that the two Board members were attempting to uncover the scandal they were silenced - - that we were not - - the Board and the Administration were not dealing with the scandal, the children might be in danger, we might show up on the newspapers because of financial mismanagement. The more complaints were, "Are the children safe?" and then the teachers and administrators were complaining to me because they felt at that point that if child molestation was going on, who was guilty? Because they accepted that two Board members - - elected official and one of them a police officer and for those two people to say this in public this has a lot of weight and people believed it, they wanted to know what was going on and we, as the Administrators and Barbara Garrity as the President, couldn't address it because it was confidential and we - - there wasn't a scandal . . . but we couldn't talk to it because we would be violating confidentiality.

As evidence of the publicity generated by the comments of Vander Woude and Pavlik at the November 28 meeting, the complainants offered an article from the local "Holmdel-Hazlet Patch" a local newsletter, which on November 29 reported that "Two Holmdel School Board Members Say They Are Being 'Bullied' for 'Raising an Issue.'" The report spoke of the members saying at the public meeting that they felt "intimidated," referenced the risk of ethics charges and lawsuits against them and referred to the comments about not forgetting the "lessons from Brookdale Community College and Penn State and the failure of their boards to act." The article was the subject of many comments, included here in the evidence not for their content as such, but as an example of the public response to the article.

Subsequent to the November 28 meeting and the public response to the comments made there, at some point the Monmouth County Prosecutor's Office was informed of the concern about Meryl Gill's "potential 'double-dipping.'" In a letter dated July 3, 2013, the Prosecutor's Office advised that "on separate occasions in approximately December 2012, Barbara Duncan . . . and Ana Vander Woude and Dennis Pavlik . . . brought to the attention of the Holmdel Police Department and the Monmouth County Prosecutor's Office issues regarding" this concern. The letter notes that Gill, as well as Michael Petrizzi, had each disclosed their secondary employments to the District. Recounting the very limited amount of Beverly City School District work performed by Gill on Holmdel time, the prosecutor concluded that "it is apparent that we would be unable to prove any criminal act occurred beyond a reasonable doubt." The letter noted that a copy had been sent to the New Jersey Department of Education, Office of Compliance. That Office issued a letter, dated August 30, 2013, concluding that its examination of the conduct of Gill and Petrizzi demonstrated that there was no "material issue of noncompliance that would warrant substantiating the complaint of "double-dipping." The matter was therefore "closed."

Dennis Pavlik, who testified that he did not remember when he did go to the Prosecutor's Office, as "I really don't recollect three years ago," further testified that referring the matter to the Prosecutor's Office was "a sensitive one" for him because he was a police officer in Bergen County, serving at that time as a sergeant. However, he did mention the possibility of referring the issue to the County Prosecutor at the October 22 meeting. He explained further that these concerns "of my livelihood" prompted him to "finally go to the Prosecutor's Office . . . ." He went as an "individual," "protecting my livelihood." He recalled that at the November 14 meeting, Mr. Barger told him, "multiple times," that, as a police officer, "You should have known to go to the Prosecutor's Office." He said it "five to six times . . . that's where I started getting my concern about my livelihood." He also expressed how "nervous" he became when his homeowner's insurance was mentioned.

Pavlik denied that he had brought up Mr. Petrizzi's name to the Prosecutor's Office as another person possibly involved in possibly criminal conduct due to another employment. The Prosecutor's Office letter specified that that name was brought to its attention by Duncan, Vander Woude and Pavlik, without any details as to exactly when, how and in what specific manner each did so. Pavlik claimed he was told by "one of the sergeants" that Duncan "exposed Michael Petrizzi and Meryl Gill . . . ." The letter's attribution of her as having mentioned Petrizzi as a possible "double dipp[er]" was "possibly" a mistake.

N.J.S.A. 18A-12-24

The complainants contend that Ana Vander Woude and Dennis Pavlik's actions in regard to the issue of Meryl Gill's alleged "double-dipping" involved violations of the Board members' ethical obligations. N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24 is the Code of Ethics governing members of local school boards. It requires that > a. I will uphold and enforce all laws, rules and regulations of the State Board of Education, and court orders pertaining to schools. Desired changes shall be brought about only through legal and ethical procedures.

> A school board member shall abide by the following Code of Ethics for School Board Members:
>
> b. I will make decisions in terms of the educational welfare of children and will seek to develop and maintain public schools that meet the individual needs of all children regardless of their ability, race, creed, sex, or social standing.
>
> c. I will confine my board action to policy making, planning, and appraisal, and I will help to frame policies and plans only after the board has consulted those who will be affected by them.
>
> d. I will carry out my responsibility, not to administer the schools, but, together with my fellow board members, to see that they are well run.
>
> e. I will recognize that authority rests with the board of education and will make no personal promises nor take any private action that may compromise the board.
>
> f. I will refuse to surrender my independent judgment to special interest or partisan political groups or to use the schools for personal gain or for the gain of friends.
>
> g. I will hold confidential all matters pertaining to the schools which, if disclosed, would needlessly injure individuals or the schools. In all other matters, I will provide accurate information and, in concert with my fellow board members, interpret to the staff the aspirations of the community for its school.
>
> h. I will vote to appoint the best qualified personnel available after consideration of the recommendation of the chief administrative officer.
> i. I will support and protect school personnel in proper performance of their duties.

j. I will refer all complaints to the chief administrative officer and will act on the complaints at public meetings only after failure of an administrative solution.

Discussion

The two complaining parties contend that the respondents violated several sections of the Code. Ms. Garrity claims several actions violated subsection d., i., and g. Superintendent Duncan also claims that section g. and i. was violated, but adds that the respondents also violated subsections c. and j.

Barbara Garrity's complaint accuses the respondents of violating subparagraph d. by improperly acting to "administer the schools." She contends that rather than consult with the Board leadership or the Board attorney or refer the issue of concerns about Ms. Gill to the superintendent directly, the respondents undertook their own investigation and then "pre-judged the evidence." This is based upon the claim that when the respondents met with Garrity, Duncan, Board attorney Barger and Business Administrator Petrizzi on October 22, they improperly declared Gill to be guilty of "criminal fraud" and, as counsel puts in her brief, "directed the superintendent to suspend Gill, freeze her District accounts and issue a 'Rice' notice." This action was "clearly outside their jurisdiction" and amounted to their administering the schools and its personnel.

In order to assess this claim, it is first necessary to decide exactly what the respondents said to the others present at this meeting. While Garrity, Duncan, Petrizzi and Barger all recall that Vander Woude, when reading her statement, specifically referenced Gill as having committed "criminal fraud" and also specifically stating that depending upon the state of her knowledge of Gill's outside employment, Duncan was either complicit in this "criminal fraud" or was "criminally negligent," Vander Woude appears to distance herself from having used such a highly pejorative and conclusory term. This issue also requires consideration of the exhibit purporting to be the notes read at the October 24 meeting, where Vander Woude read from a written statement that was, at least was understood to be, the same statement she had read from the October 22 meeting. As we have seen, the exhibit does not reflect that she used the term "criminal," only referring to "fraud." Thus, Vander Woude would have us believe that she never told those assembled at either meeting that the fraud that she, Pavlik and Pascucci had, as they expressed it, already concluded had occurred, was "criminal." But the greater weight of the credible evidence does not support her version. Instead, the recollections of Garrity, Duncan, Petrizzi and Barger, as well as that of the Board's then vice-president, Robin Wetmore, who had not been at the October 22 meeting, are more convincing and worthy of belief. Even Dennis Pavlik acknowledged that the word "criminal" was spoken, although he seemed to couch its use as a mention that "criminal fraud" was "possible." And clearly when she attended each of these meetings, Ms. Vander Woude had already concluded that criminal fraud had occurred, as she acknowledged in response to this judge's question, about the reference to the Prosecutor's Office, "you thought a crime might have been committed," Vander Woude replied, "Yes sir."

I am persuaded that the exhibit produced on the day of the hearing as the note from which Vander Woude read on October 22 and 24 was not the original note, which it certainly does not appear to be, and was not in fact an exact reproduction of the words spoken in those two meetings, with only limited post-meeting editorial comments While for the most part accurate, I FIND that the word "criminal" has been left out of the proffered text. The sense of the evidence strongly supports the conclusion that that word was in fact voiced by Vander Woude at both meetings, at the very least in regard to Gill. Given the discussion on October 22 as to the premature nature of any conclusions about Duncan prior to determining whether Gill had actually committed any wrongdoing, it is possible that Vander Woude did not relate any claim of criminality in respect to Duncan on October 24, but I FIND that she did on October 22.

This finding highlights what must be seen as the fundamental error made by the respondents and the genesis of all that followed. Accepting that their curiosity had been roused by whatever information they had received from constituents regarding Gill's employment status, and having determined by Googling her name that it appeared on Beverly's letterhead and that she appeared to have some employment in that district, the respondents, rather than simply referring the question of whether Gill had other employment to the superintendent for her to explore, instead jumped to the conclusion that the employment was improper, that Gill was somehow cheating the Holmdel District, that she was defrauding the district, and that indeed the level of misconduct involved not merely an administrative issue or some type of civil wrong, but was criminal in nature, with all that implies as far as the type of charges and possible punishment that might arise from a determination that a crime had been committed. It appears that as they arrived at the meeting of October 22, these respondents had not contemplated that there might be a very simple, perfectly legitimate explanation as to what Gill was doing, that a mere inquiry of the superintendent might illuminate the situation before any conclusions were drawn. Whether they even knew that multiple employment was legal so long as certain proprieties were observed, is unclear. But at the meeting Vander Woude and Pavlik appear to have already judged Gill to be criminally guilty, and to have concluded that at best Superintendent Duncan was not merely negligent, but indeed criminally so, and at worst was a knowing enabler of Gill's "criminal" behavior and thus complicit in her criminal behavior. Suffice it to say these two engaged in a "rush to judgment," voicing their finding of guilt at both the October 22 and, at least as to Gill, the October 24 meeting. While they did agree on October 22 to have Barger investigate, when asked to read her statement on October 24, Vander Woude, who as noted did call Gill's alleged fraud "criminal" on October 22, could have said that she did not want to speak the same words as she had on October 22. She could have explained that she only was concerned as to what the facts were and supported having Barger investigate. But she chose to read the statement, again concluding, prior to that investigation being completed, that Gill had committed "criminal fraud." Given what had occurred on October 22, Vander Woude should certainly have realized that it was entirely premature to conclude anything at all. Unfortunately, she did not exercise discretion, either on October 22 or 24.

N.J.S.A. 6A:28-6.4 provides

> 4. Factual evidence of a violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(d) shall include, but not be limited to, evidence that the respondent(s) gave a direct order to school personnel or became directly involved in activities or functions that are the responsibility of school personnel or the day-to-day administration of the school district or charter school.

In this instance, Superintendent Duncan was advised that several Board members wanted to meet with her. It was her decision to ask that President Garrity attend this meeting, the subject of which she had not been informed prior to the start of the meeting on October 22. In the meeting, three members of the Board directly accused a school district employee of criminal wrongdoing and sought to direct the superintendent to issue a Rice notice and to suspend the employee's accounts. To the extent that these members had concerns about Gill, and for that matter, about the superintendent, their obligation was to bring their concern to the superintendent without any direction on how she should carry out her function to look into the matter as the chief school administrator, or any direction as to what personnel action, such as issuing a Rice notice, she should take. If they truly were concerned that exposing their concerns to Duncan was unwise, as she herself might actually be guilty of some wrongdoing, then the members could have raised the issue with the Board as a whole seeking its direction, or most likely with the Board's counsel, in order to determine the proper course to take to determine whether Duncan was involved in some misconduct. But the job of ascertaining the facts about the employment that Gill might have, whether she had disclosed this employment and filed any necessary paperwork, and whether there was evidence of any overlap between the employments, was part of the day-to-day administrative function of the superintendent and the school administration, and certainly not of the Board members. As such, I CONCLUDE that they overstepped their rightful bounds and violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(d).

Garrity and Duncan also accuse the respondents of having violated subsection c. by failing to confine themselves to "policy making, planning, and appraisal" and "help[ing] to frame policies and plans only after the board has consulted those who will be affected by them." N.J.A.C. 6:28-6.4(a)3 provides

> 3. Factual evidence of a violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(c) shall include evidence that the respondent(s) took board action to effectuate policies and plans without consulting those affected by such policies and plans, or took action that was unrelated to the respondent's duty to:
> i. Develop the general rules and principles that guide the management of the school district or charter school;
>
> ii. Formulate the programs and methods to effectuate the goals of the school district or charter school; or > iii. Ascertain the value or liability of a policy.

Again, as described above, the actions of the respondents did go beyond their role as Board members. It is not so much that they Googled Ms. Gill's name and found her listed on the Beverly letterhead. This minimal amount of "investigation" would seem a natural first response to information that they received that Gill was employed elsewhere. But having ascertained that her name was listed, it was then not the responsibility of the respondents to determine her guilt, seek her suspension, seek to have her "Riced," and accuse her of criminal conduct, all before giving the administration the opportunity to do its job of day-to-day management, which includes dealing with personnel matters. Nothing here involved the scope of matters described in N.J.A.C. 6:28-4(1)3 as properly within the Board members' responsibilities. They were not to serve as investigators. Ultimately, it might have been necessary for the Board to deal with the results of a proper investigation of the Gill, and perhaps the Duncan, situations, but at the time that the respondents acted on October 22 and 24, that time had not come. Indeed, given the result of the investigation that demonstrated no wrongdoing of anything resembling significance, there was likely no need for the Board to have ever been involved in any formal capacity. I CONCLUDE that the respondents' actions violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(c).

N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24j. states that board members "will refer all complaints to the chief administrative officer and will act on the complaints at public meetings only after failure of an administrative solution. N.J.A.C. 6A:24-4(a)10 provides that evidence supportive of a violation of this section "shall include evidence that the respondent(s) acted on or attempted to resolve a complaint, or conducted an investigation or inquiry related to a complaint:

> i. Prior to referral to the chief administrative officer; or > ii. At a time or place other than a public meeting and prior to the failure of an administrative solution.

As noted, I do not fault the respondents for initially using Google to see if Ms. Gill's name appeared. It is the rush to judgment that followed that was so inappropriate. This provision makes it abundantly clear that board members are not to be investigators. Again, if due to concerns about the conduct of the chief administrative officer, a board member believes that referring a concern to that individual may compromise any necessary investigation, it is not the job of board members to then usurp the role of investigators. Instead referral to the full board and/or board attorney for advice and direction would be appropriate. As for the need to refrain from acting prior to the "failure of an administrative solution," here the allegation of guilt of criminal fraud, complicity in such fraud, itself then criminal conduct, and/or criminal negligence, was made prior to any attempt to even ascertain the true facts, much less determine whether the matter was resolvable by an appropriate administrative solution or whether it required some more serious means of resolution, such as referral to the police, prosecutor or perhaps, if a civil wrong had occurred, the Board's attorney for legal action, or perhaps, the Attorney General.

I CONCLUDE that the respondents violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24j.

N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24i. requires that Board members "support and protect school personnel in proper performance of their duties." Evidence supportive of proof of violation of this provision "shall include evidence that the respondent(s) took deliberate action which resulted in undermining, opposing, compromising or harming school personnel in the proper performance of their duties." N.J.A.C. 6A:24-4(a)9.

The record demonstrates that the respondents took actions that definitely had the potential to undermine and compromise school personnel. First, they accused Ms. Gill of criminal conduct in regard to her employment relationship with the District, concluding, without any proper basis, that she engaged in criminal conduct that defrauded Holmdel. Second, again without a scintilla of evidence, they accused the superintendent of either being criminally negligent or complicit in criminal conduct. Given the lack of any actual evidence, even an accusation of "simple" negligence, not criminal in nature, would have been the kind of accusation that threatened the proper functioning of Superintendent Duncan in her capacity as the District's chief operating officer. The respondents voiced their conclusions about these employees' guilt to other Board members both October 22 and 24. And then, as if to compound their mischief, even after the investigation had demonstrated that there was certainly no crime, and really very little in the way of even, no doubt, thoughtless overlapping of time between Gill's two jobs, the respondents decided that they should air their frankly overwrought complaints in public at the November 28 meeting, using references that caused public concern and anguish and threatened to undermine the public's confidence in the District's employees and administrators. This despite the fact that it had already been decided that the superintendent would, in fact already had, spoken to Ms. Gill to make sure Gill understood the need to separate entirely her work time for Holmdel from that provided for Beverly.

The respondents have made much about how upset and nervous they were, how they felt intimidated, harassed and threatened, by Mr. Barger and others, telling them "numerous times" that their allegations could result in their being sued and possibly having to face such suits without either Board insurance or homeowner's insurance coverage. Of course, when they made their premature, unsupported and, frankly, rash, charges that Gill and Duncan were guilty of criminal conduct, they did not seem concerned that the objects of their conclusory damnations might themselves feel threatened. Faced with members of the Board he represented who were throwing around such serious and, frankly, premature condemnations of school personnel, Mr. Barger, who I recognize from long experience to be one of the most experienced school attorneys in this State, rightfully cautioned the respondents that they were on perilous ground and could face serious consequences if their charges and voiced conclusions that these persons were criminals, proved to be incorrect. I am entirely unimpressed by the respondents' complaints about how they felt after being so advised, and if they heard it more than a few times, that does not gain them any sympathy. As for their public statements at the November 28 meeting, after having been presented with the result of Barger's investigation, and with apparently no information or evidence to suggest that there was anything more to the matter of Gill's employments or Duncan's supervision than that investigation had revealed, rather than simply accept that they had wrongly accused the victims by their rash judgments and let the matter die, they chose to speak publicly. In voicing their rather absurd allegations that they had been wrongly treated for raising as a factual certainty of criminal conduct what should have been at first no more than a rather mundane administrative inquiry, they invoked references to a local college financial scandal that must have been well known in the area and to one of the most widely known and disturbing incidents of child abuse that has emerged over the past several years. While it might well be true that in those incidents there was some, possibly even egregious, failure of proper oversight by governing bodies, to suggest that there was some untoward pressure here against the respondents is simply not true. Nor can it be fairly said that this Board failed to act in the face of the information that an employee might be employed outside of the District in some fashion that might be improper. Using these analogies merely served to inflame public anxiety for no good reason whatsoever.

I FIND that the respondents' conduct did, at the time, have both the potential for and did to a degree undermine, compromise and harm school personnel. Thus, I CONCLUDE that they violated subsection (i).

Similarly, their actions can be understood to have provided the public with the false impression that the Board, aware of some "sensitive" personnel matter in the Central Office, a matter that somehow raised the spectre of Brookdale and Penn State, had been ignored, covered up or otherwise improperly dealt with by the Board, when in fact the Board had properly investigated the matter, determined that absolutely no criminality or serious civil wrong was involved, and that at most it involved only a only minor deviation from proper conduct. N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24 g. requires that a board member:

> hold confidential all matters pertaining to the schools which, if disclosed, would needlessly injure individuals or the schools. In all other matters, I will provide accurate information and, in concert with my fellow board members, interpret to the staff the aspirations of the community for its school.

N.J.A.C. 6A:18(a)7 reads:

> "Factual evidence of a violation of the confidentiality provision of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(g) shall include evidence that the respondent(s) took action to make public, reveal or disclose information that was not public under any laws, regulations or court orders of this State, or information that was otherwise confidential in accordance with board policies, procedures or practices. Factual evidence that the respondent violated the inaccurate information provision of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(g) shall include evidence that substantiates the inaccuracy of the information provided by the respondent(s) and evidence that establishes that the inaccuracy was other than reasonable mistake or personal opinion or was not attributable to developing circumstances."

It may have been the respondents' personal opinion that they had been intimidated by Barger and others on the Board. But given the outcome of the investigation and the absurdity of invoking the scandals at Brookdale and Penn State as some sort of claim to the righteousness of the respondents vis a vis those they claimed were intimidating them, I CONCLUDE that the respondents did provide false information and false impressions to the public about the Board and its handling of a confidential personnel matter, and did so in a manner that, due to that very confidentiality, made it very difficult for the Board and administration to properly counter the adverse inferences about them that the respondents' comments caused to arise. And lest there be any doubt, despite the respondents' claims of a lack of evidence to support that the public, and for that matter the school staff, were upset by these comments, I FIND that the credible evidence from Superintendent Duncan and Ms. Garrity supports that the public and staff were indeed upset and placed on edge. I CONCLUDE that the conduct of the respondents violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24 g.

Finally, Ms. Duncan charges that the respondents violated N.J.S.A. 18:12-24 (e). This provides

Evidence supporting such an allegation,

> "5. . . . shall include evidence that the respondent made personal promises or took action beyond the scope of his or her duties such that, by its nature, had the potential to compromise the board."

It appears that the focus of this allegation is the action of the respondents in going to the Monmouth County Prosecutor "as individuals rather than Board members" concerning Ms. Gill's employment situation, doing so after the Board had properly determined from the Barger investigation that the matter involved nothing more than a minor infringement on Holmdel District time and could be readily resolved by an administrative-level discussion and verbal reprimand to caution Ms. Gill as to her future conduct, without any suggestion that her employment with the Beverly School District involved any illegality. I FIND that the respondents did not recognize that the Board had properly exercised its authority to resolve the Gill issue and that driven by their overwrought personal reactions to the rightful cautions expressed in regard to their premature and unsupported claims of serious legal misdeeds, the respondents chose to bring the matter to the attention of the Prosecutor's Office without seeking Board approval to do so and without any evidence to support any claim that the Board had not properly dealt with the matter. Such action was "beyond the scope of their duties" and cannot be justified by some vague and unrealistic reference to the sort of scandalous misconduct and neglect that appears to have been involved in the Brookdale and Penn State incidents. As such, I CONCLUDE that the respondents violated N.J.S.A. 18:12-24 (e)

Sanctions

N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24-29 provides for sanctions that the Commission may impose upon its finding that a member of a school board has violated the Code of Ethics.

> c. . . . If a violation is found, the commission shall, by majority vote, recommend to the commissioner the reprimand, censure, suspension, or removal of the school official found to have violated this act, or in the case of a board member, this act or the code of ethics. The commission shall state in writing its findings of fact and conclusions of law. The commissioner shall then act on the commission's recommendation regarding the sanction.

I CONCLUDE that the complainants have proven by a fair preponderance of the evidence that each respondent violated several sections of the Code of Ethics. These respondents acted in a precipitous manner, accused Board employees of criminal conduct without good cause, and then, after the Board had properly investigated and determined that there had been no more than a minor infraction by Ms. Gill properly warranting a verbal reprimand and words of caution to assure that no further such infraction would occur, they took it upon themselves to publicly air comments that were inflammatory, ambiguous, and about a subject that they had to know could not be easily cleared up for the public due to the confidentiality surrounding the personnel action taken against Ms. Gill. Additionally, without cause and in violation of their responsibility to accord to the Board the rightful recognition of its authority, they acted to involve the County Prosecutor in what had already been determined to involve nothing more than a rather minor administrative matter. Their conduct had definite, albeit short-lasting consequences unnecessarily raising public anxiety and concern when the actual matter of Ms. Gill's secondary employment gave absolutely no cause for any public concern whatsoever. In the longer term, it has no doubt poisoned the atmosphere in the District due to the appropriate need to pursue ethics charges against these respondents. In sum, the actions of the respondents, while not involving conduct that requires their removal, require a strong condemnation. Given the passage of so much time, suspensions appear unwarranted. Therefore, considering the nature and the extent of these violations, I CONCLUDE that Ana Vander Woude and Dennis Pavlik should each be CENSURED for their conduct.

I hereby FILE my initial decision with the SCHOOL ETHICS COMMISSION. Pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:12-29, the School Ethics Commission has jurisdiction to determine whether a violation of the School Ethics Act occurred. If it concludes that the conduct constitutes a violation of the School Ethics Act, it shall recommend an appropriate penalty to the Commissioner of Education. The Commissioner of Education shall issue the final decision in this matter.

The recommendations of this decision as to whether the conduct constitutes a violation of the School Ethics Act may be adopted, modified or rejected by the SCHOOL ETHICS COMMISSION. If the School Ethics Commission does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision.

If the School Ethics Commission determines that a violation has occurred, it shall issue a written decision recommending to the Commissioner of Education an appropriate penalty and shall forward the record, including this recommended decision and its decision, to the Commissioner of Education. The Commissioner of Education may subsequently render a final decision as to the appropriate penalty. If the Commissioner of Education does not render a final decision within forty-five days of its receipt of this initial decision, and unless such time period is otherwise extended, the recommended decision of the School Ethics Commission shall become the final decision.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the SCHOOL ETHICS COMMISSION, DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, PO Box 500, Trenton, NJ 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

| V. | : | COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION |
| BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE CITY OF HACKENSACK, BERGEN COUNTY, | : | DECISION |
| RESPONDENT. | : | |

In this matter, the petitioner is challenging the Hackensack Board of Education's (Board) refusal to expunge from the permanent record of T.M. the two-day suspension he received on May 19, 2015. After the matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), the parties proposed a settlement which the Administrative Law Judge sent to the Commissioner of Education with a recommendation for approval. Upon review of the terms of the proposed Settlement Agreement (Agreement), the Commissioner rejects same because the Board does not have the authority to agree to one of the provisions contained in the Agreement.

Paragraph 2 of the Agreement states:

> Should, at any time, during the 2016-2017 school year, the minor child, T.M. withdraws [sic] as a student in the Hackensack Public School System, the two-day suspension imposed upon said child shall be expunged from his student record at the time of such withdrawal provided that another suspension, as described above, has not been imposed upon him.

Under N.J.A.C. 6A:32-7.8(b), a board of education is permitted to destroy student records which are no longer educationally relevant while the student is still enrolled in a district. However – under N.J.A.C. 6A:32-7.8(c)(2) – upon graduation or permanent departure from the school district, student records may only be disposed of in accordance with the Destruction of Public Records Law, N.J.S.A. 47:3-15 et seq. [1]

If T.M. withdraws as a student from the Hackensack School District (District), the Board would not be authorized to remove the May 19, 2015 suspension from T.M.'s record. Instead, the Board would be required to follow the document retention schedule for student disciplinary records.[2] Further, the Board must be mindful that if T.M. withdraws from the District and enrolls in another public school, the Board would be required to provide the disciplinary file to the receiving public school district within two weeks, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:16-7.8(a). Should T.M. withdraw from the District and enroll in a private school, and the new school requests T.M.'s disciplinary file, the Board must also provide it pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:16-7.8(b).

Accordingly, this matter is remanded to the OAL for revision of the settlement consistent with the concerns set forth above. If the parties are unwilling or unable to reach accord on a modified agreement for submission to the Commissioner, the matter shall proceed to hearing.

IT IS SO ORDERED.

| PETITIONER, | : | |
| V. | : | COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION |
| STATE-OPERATED SCHOOL DISTRICT OF THE CITY OF NEWARK, ESSEX COUNTY, | : | DECISION |
| RESPONDENT. | : | |

SYNOPSIS

Petitioner – employed by the respondent school district as a vice principal – asserted that his tenure, seniority, and/or preferred eligibility rights were violated when he was not appointed to the position of principal at the Harriet Tubman School after serving as acting principal in an un-appointed capacity from December 2011 to August 2012 and, subsequently served as interim principal from August 2012 to June 2014. The respondent district disputed petitioner's claim to the tenured position of principal.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: the Tenure Act, N.J.S.A. 18A:28-1 to -18, defines the conditions under which teaching staff members are entitled to tenure, and the precise conditions enunciated in the applicable statute must be met; the triggering date for purposes of tenure acquisition is the date the employee begins to perform a service; in the instant matter, that triggering date is November 30, 2011 – the date when petitioner began his position as acting principal, performing the duties of principal in an un-appointed capacity; an employee serving in an interim capacity may tack on the period of time spent as "interim" to the period of time spent in an appointed capacity for purposes of tenure acquisition; here, the petitioner served as an acting principal once the principal position was vacated, effective December 1, 2011; for all intents and purposes, petitioner was continually referred to as "principal" in all communications from school officials; the evidence shows that petitioner functioned as principal for the remainder of the 2011-2012 school year and was then appointed interim principal; and these combined periods of time should be included in determining tenure and seniority rights. Accordingly, the ALJ concluded that N.J.S.A. 18A:28-6 applies in this instance since petitioner was promoted to the position of principal from another tenure-eligible position in the district, thereby satisfying the two-year service requirement for the acquisition of tenure as principal. The ALJ ordered that the relief sought by petitioner be granted.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurred with the respondent district that TEACHNJ and its attendant changes in evaluation requirements was adopted in August 2012, before petitioner was officially promoted from vice principal to interim principal, and therefore N.J.S.A. 18A:28-6(b) governs this matter rather than N.J.S.A. 18A:28-6(a); under Subsection B, petitioner herein does not satisfy the requirements to attain tenure because he received ratings of "partially effective" and "ineffective" for the 2012-2014 school years, when he was required to obtain evaluations of "effective" or "highly effective" in two annual summative evaluations in the first three years of employment. The Commissioner determined that petitioner is ineligible for tenure under the principal title; accordingly, the Initial Decision was rejected and the petition was dismissed.

| STATE-OPERATED SCHOOL DISTRICT OF THE CITY OF NEWARK, ESSEX COUNTY, | : | DECISION |
| RESPONDENT. | : | |

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed, as have the exceptions filed pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4 by the Board and the petitioner's reply thereto.

In its exceptions, the Board argues that the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) erred in finding that the "triggering date for tenure purposes is November 30, 2011." (Board's exceptions at 8) The Board contends that the ALJ ignored that TEACHNJ was adopted on August 6, 2012, which in this context means that N.J.S.A. 18A:28-6(b) went into effect on that same day. As such, the Board explains that this matter is governed by N.J.S.A. 18A:28-6(b) rather than N.J.S.A. 18A:28-6(a). Under Subsection B, the Board maintains that petitioner does not satisfy the requirements to attain tenure because he received low ratings after being appointed as interim principal – partially effective and ineffective for the 2012-13 school year, and ineffective for the 2013-14 school year.

The Board further contends that the ALJ erred in finding that petitioner achieved tenure in the position of principal. The Board denies that petitioner was ever promoted to the position of principal from vice principal during the 2011-12 school year. Instead, petitioner first was appointed as interim principal for the 2012-13 school year. Accordingly, he has not served in the position of principal for the requisite amount of time to accrue tenure, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:28-6(b). Moreover, the Board argues that petitioner also could not have earned tenure because he received annual evaluations of partially effective and ineffective – short of the effective or highly effective rating necessary to obtain tenure.

In reply, petitioner argues that the ALJ's decision should be adopted because petitioner worked as principal for more than the two years required by N.J.S.A. 18A:28-6(a), from December 2011 to June 30, 2014. Petitioner contends that the ALJ properly found that petitioner assumed the role of principal in an un-appointed capacity during a vacancy in the position from December 2011 through June 30, 2012, after he was verbally told by an Assistant Superintendant that he was the acting principal. Thereafter, he was officially appointed as interim principal (and later principal) for the 2012-13 and 2013-14 school years.

Petitioner contends that it is well-settled that a principal is able to earn tenure credit when serving as an acting or interim principal during a vacancy, but not during periods serving in that capacity during the principal's temporary absence. Petitioner argues that the ALJ properly found that he assumed the role of principal during the actual vacancy that was created when the prior principal retired. Petitioner maintains that as he was the only administrator in the building, he adopted the duties of the principal position and, therefore, the time from December 2011 until he was appointed as interim principal in August 2012 should count toward earning tenure. As such, the ALJ appropriately found that – counting the time served in an un-appointed capacity, plus the two school years when he was appointed as interim principal – petitioner served the necessary amount of time to earn tenure as a principal.

Upon review, the Commissioner agrees with the District that N.J.S.A. 18A:28-6(b) – rather than N.J.S.A. 18A:28-6(a) – applies to this case. TEACHNJ went into effect on August 6, 2012. See Teacher Effectiveness and Accountability for the Children of New Jersey Act, P.L. 2012, Ch. 26, N.J.SA. 18A:6-117, et seq. N.J.S.A. 18A:28-6(b) indicates that "Any such teaching staff member under tenure or eligible to obtain tenure under this chapter, who is transferred or promoted with his consent to another position covered by this chapter on or after the effective date of [TEACHNJ], shall not obtain tenure in the new position until after" certain conditions are met. The Department has explained this to mean that the date upon which a teaching staff member is approved by the board is the relevant date for determining whether new tenure rules established pursuant to TEACHNJ, or previous tenure rules, apply. See Guide to TEACHNJ Act, at 4, http://www.state.nj.us/education/AchieveNJ/intro/TeachNJGuide.pdf ("Any teaching staff member hired (board approved) after the August 6, 2012 signing of TEACHNJ is eligible to earn tenure after four years. There is no longer board discretion for earlier tenure. Teaching staff members hired prior to August 6, 2012 are grandfathered into the previous three-year tenure eligibility process."). In the instant matter, petitioner was officially promoted from vice principal to interim principal on August 22, 2012, which is after August 6, 2012. As such, N.J.S.A. 18A:28-6(b) applies because petitioner was promoted subsequent to the effective date of TEACHNJ.

N.J.S.A. 18A:28-6(b) provides that a teaching staff member who is promoted after the effective date of TEACHNJ shall not obtain tenure until after:

> (1) the expiration of a period of employment of two consecutive calendar years in the new position; or
> (2) employment for two academic years in the new position together with employment in the new position at the beginning of the next succeeding academic year; or

provided that the period of employment in such new position shall be included in determining the tenure and seniority rights in the former position held by such teaching staff member, and in the event the employment in such new position is terminated before tenure is obtained therein, if he then has tenure in the district or under said board of education, such teaching staff member shall be returned to his former position at the salary which he would have received had the transfer or promotion not occurred together with any increase to which he would have been entitled during the period of such transfer or promotion.

In order to receive tenure pursuant to this subsection, a teacher, principal, assistant principal, and vice-principal shall be evaluated as effective or highly effective in two annual summative evaluations within the first three years of employment in the new position.

For purposes of this subsection, "effective" or "highly effective" means the employee has received an annual summative evaluation rating of "effective" or "highly effective" based on the performance standards for his position established through the evaluation rubric adopted by the board of education and approved by the commissioner.

With respect to this matter, petitioner is unable to earn tenure in the position of principal because he received annual ratings of "partially effective" and "ineffective" for the 2012-13 and 2013-14 school years. Petitioner was required to obtain evaluations of "effective" or "highly effective" in two annual summative evaluations in the first three years of employment, and his evaluation scores fell short of those required by N.J.S.A. 18A:28-6(b). The Commissioner need not reach the issue of whether petitioner assumed the duties and responsibilities of the principal and served as acting principal in an un-appointed capacity because – even if petitioner could tack on the time served as acting principal in an un-appointed capacity toward the time required to earn tenure – he is ineligible for tenure due to his evaluations falling below the required ratings.

Accordingly, the Initial Decision of the rejected and the petition is hereby dismissed.

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Petitioner, Fredrick Chatman, a vice principal at the Camden Street School at the time of this petition, asserts that the respondent, the Board of Education of the City of Newark (the Board), violated his tenure, seniority, and/or preferred eligibility rights by failing to appoint him to the position of principal at the Harriet Tubman School after serving as acting principal from December 1, 2011, to August 22, 2012, and then as interim principal from August 22, 2012, to June 30, 2014. The Board disputes petitioner's claim to the tenured position of principal.

On September 29, 2014, petitioner filed a Verified Petition with the Commissioner of Education. The Verified Petition alleges that he served in the position of principal from December 1, 2011, through June 30, 2014, thereby entitling him to tenure as principal. Petitioner avers that the Board's actions violated his tenure, seniority and/or recall rights, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:28-5 and N.J.S.A. 18A:28-6. On or about November 14, 2014, the Board filed an Answer and Affirmative Defenses.

The Commissioner of Education transmitted the matter to the Office of Administrative Law, where, on November 19, 2014, it was filed for hearing as a contested case. On January 8, 2015, the undersigned conducted a telephone conference with counsel scheduling hearing dates. The hearing was held on October 1, 2015, and February 17, 2016. Following the conclusion of testimony, the record remained open for the receipt of transcripts and post-hearing briefs. The parties submitted briefs in support of their respective positions on May 10, 2016, on which date the record closed.

FACTUAL FINDINGS

Frederick Chatman is employed by Newark Public Schools. On February 28, 2005, Chatman accepted a vice-principal position at the Miller Street Elementary School in Newark, New Jersey. That term lasted until the end of the 2006–2007 school year. Chatman then accepted a vice-principal position at the Avon Avenue School in Newark in July 2007. He remained in that position until he was assigned as vice principal at the Maple Avenue School, effective August 16, 2010. On October 3, 2011, Chatman was transferred to the Harriet Tubman Elementary School (pre-k through sixth grade) as vice principal through November 30, 2011, and thereafter as acting principal, assuming the retiring principal's role by performing all duties as principal until June 2014. Petitioner's salary did not increase to a principal's salary until August 22, 2012, when he was appointed principal. (P-53.) (It was initially an "interim" principal title but changed to principal.) His duties included ensuring the safety of all students and staff, obtaining grants, overseeing the operation of the building, attending to instructional and non-instructional supervision and evaluations, and disciplinary actions. He also was the direct point person for the staff, recruited teachers, attended meetings with the child study team and monthly principal meetings and presentations, and coordinated professional development for teachers. Chatman received emails from a periodical entitled "Principal Points" from different departments in the school system advising of events throughout the week that referred to him as "principal," as well as correspondence from the superintendent's office that referred to him as "principal." He was evaluated by Keith Barton, special assistant to the superintendent, in February 2012 and on June 28, 2012. Barton only performs evaluations for principals.

On or about May 25, 2012, petitioner received a letter from Human Resources advising that his position of vice principal at Harriet Tubman was being eliminated for budgetary reasons for the 2012–2013 school year and that he should seek other positions in the district using the Talent Match program, a program designed to assist personnel in the district to locate and fill other available positions. (P-41.)

After petitioner was assigned as principal at Harriet Tubman for the 2012–2013 school year, he received a "partially effective" rating in November 2012, and again in April 2013. On October 15, 2013, he was placed on a corrective-action plan for the 2013–2014 school year to improve his rating. In February 2014, assistant superintendent Mitch Center evaluated Chatman's performance as interim principal as "partially effective." By the end of that school year, Chatman received an "ineffective" rating. As a result of these ratings, petitioner was not granted the position of principal for the 2014–2015 school year, and was assigned as vice principal at the Camden Elementary School, also in Newark, in which position he remains.

DISCUSSION

Tenure rights are statutory and not contractual. Zimmerman v. Bd. of Educ. of Newark, 38 N.J. 65, 72 (1962), cert. denied, 371 U.S. 956, 83 S. Ct. 508, 9 L. Ed. 2d 502 (1963). The objective of tenure statutes is to protect competent and qualified employees, after a probationary period, from being removed for "unfounded, flimsy, or political reasons." Zimmerman, supra, 38 N.J. at 71. The employee shoulders the burden of establishing entitlement to tenure protection, which ordinarily must be clearly proven. DiNapoli v. Bd. of Educ. of Verona, 434 N.J. Super. 233, 238 (App. Div. 2014).

The Tenure Act, N.J.S.A. 18A:28-1 to -18, specifically defines the conditions under which teaching staff members are entitled to the security of tenure. Spiewak v. Bd. of Educ. of Rutherford, 90 N.J. 63, 72 (1982). To acquire the security of tenure, the precise conditions enunciated in the applicable statute must be met. See Picogna v. Bd. of Educ. of Cherry Hill, 143 N.J. 391, 400 (1996) (noting that "[t]enure arises only upon compliance with the precise conditions articulated in the statute"); Kletzkin v. Bd. of Educ. of Spotswood, 136 N.J. 275, 278 (1993) (noting that "[t]enure is a statutory right that depends on a teacher's satisfying specific statutory conditions"). In this regard, N.J.S.A. 18A:28-6 is to be interpreted in accordance with established principles of statutory interpretation. See Braimah v. State-Operated Sch. Dist. of Newark, EDU 1361-03, Initial Decision (January 16, 2004) (rejecting the petitioner's argument that N.J.S.A. 18A:28-6 did not contemplate a change in the employee's work year and that the statute should be liberally construed in his favor when he was employed as a principal for two academic years), adopted, Comm'r (March 1, 2004), <http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/>.

N.J.S.A. 18A:28-5 (requirements for tenure) provides, in relevant part, as follows:

> a. The services of all teaching staff members employed prior to the effective date of [TEACHNJ[1]] in the positions of teacher, principal, other than administrative principal, assistant principal, vice-principal, assistant superintendent, and all school nurses including school nurse supervisors, head school nurses, chief school nurses, school nurse coordinators, and any other nurse performing school nursing services, school athletic trainer and such other employees as are in positions which require them to hold appropriate certificates issued by the board of examiners, serving in any school district or under any board of education, excepting those who are not the holders of proper certificates in full force and effect and school business administrators shared by two or more school districts, shall be under tenure during good behavior and efficiency and they shall not be dismissed or reduced in compensation except for inefficiency, incapacity, or conduct unbecoming such a teaching staff member or other just cause and then only in the manner prescribed by subarticle B of article 2 of chapter 6 of this Title, after employment in such district or by such board for:

(1) Three consecutive calendar years, or any shorter period which may be fixed by the employing board for such purpose; or

(2) Three consecutive academic years, together with employment at the beginning of the next succeeding academic year; or

(3) The equivalent of more than three academic years within a period of any four consecutive academic years.

N.J.S.A. 18A:28-6 (tenure upon transfer or promotion) provides as follows:

a. Any such teaching staff member under tenure or eligible to obtain tenure under this chapter, who is transferred or promoted with his consent to another position covered by this chapter on or after July 1, 1962, shall not obtain tenure in the new position until after:

(1) the expiration of a period of employment of two consecutive calendar years in the new position unless a shorter period is fixed by the employing board for such purpose; or

(2) employment for two academic years in the new position together with employment in the new position at the beginning of the next succeeding academic year; or

(3) employment in the new position within a period of any three consecutive academic years, for the equivalent of more than two academic years;

provided that the period of employment in such new position shall be included in determining the tenure and seniority rights in the former position held by such teaching staff member, and in the event the employment in such new position is terminated before tenure is obtained therein, if he then has tenure in the district or under said board of education, such teaching staff member shall be returned to his former position at the salary which he would have received had the transfer or promotion not occurred together with any increase to which he would have been entitled during the period of such transfer or promotion.

b. Any such teaching staff member under tenure or eligible to obtain tenure under this chapter, who is transferred or promoted with his consent to another position covered by this chapter on or after the effective date of [TEACHNJ], shall not obtain tenure in the new position until after:

(1) the expiration of a period of employment of two consecutive calendar years in the new position; or

(2) employment for two academic years in the new position together with employment in the new position at the beginning of the next succeeding academic year; or

provided that the period of employment in such new position shall be included in determining the tenure and seniority rights in the former position held by such teaching staff member, and in the event the employment in such new position is terminated before tenure is obtained therein, if he then has tenure in the district or under said board of education, such teaching staff member shall be returned to his former position at the salary which he would have received had the transfer or promotion not occurred together with any increase to which he would have been entitled during the period of such transfer or promotion.

In order to receive tenure pursuant to this subsection, a teacher, principal, assistant principal, and vice-principal shall be evaluated as effective or highly effective in two annual summative evaluations within the first three years of employment in the new position.

For purposes of this subsection, "effective" or "highly effective" means the employee has received an annual summative evaluation rating of "effective" or "highly effective" based on the performance standards for his position established through the evaluation rubric adopted by the board of education and approved by the commissioner.

The triggering date for purposes of tenure acquisition is the date the employee begins to perform a service. In Zimmerman, the plaintiff argued that "employment," for purposes of tenure acquisition, should include the period of time between the employee's signing of a contract for employment and his first day of service. Zimmerman, supra, 38 N.J. at 73–75. The Court rejected his argument and noted that "[s]uch a reading would clearly detract from statutory purpose." Ibid. More recently, in Kletzkin, supra, 136 N.J. at 278–79, the Court reiterated this reasoning and noted that "[i]t is beyond debate that the triggering date for tenure purposes is the date of performance of service, not the date of the employee's contract or hiring."

Here, the "triggering date for tenure purposes" is November 30, 2011. On that date, petitioner began his "performance of service" in an un-appointed capacity, acting as principal at the Harriet Tubman School, filling a position left vacant by the prior principal, who retired. The record indicates that his duties, as outlined above, included ensuring the safety of all students and staff, obtaining grants, and several other responsibilities. He received emails from a periodical entitled "Principal Points" from different departments in the school system referring to him as "principal," as well as correspondence from the superintendent's office referring to him as "principal."

If an employee is serving in an "interim" capacity as a result of a vacancy created in the position, then he may tack on the period of time spent in his "interim" capacity to the period of time he spent in an appointed capacity for purposes of tenure acquisition. In Austin v. Board of Education of Willingboro, EDU 8923-05, Initial Decision (March 21, 2007), modified, Comm'r (April 26, 2007), <http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/>, petitioner Austin argued that he had accrued tenure based on his combined service as vice principal and principal. The board of education argued that he did not accrue sufficient time in either position. On December 1, 2000, Austin was appointed vice principal and served in that capacity until January 2, 2002, when he was appointed interim principal. However, this length of service did not count for tenure purposes because he did not have the requisite certificate. On August 27, 2002, he was appointed principal. On August 18, 2005, he was "returned" to his original position of assistant principal, but he was terminated five days later. The administrative law judge

(ALJ) noted that "[Austin] filled the vacant position as interim principal for twenty-six days and continued to serve as principal in his own right for an additional thirty-five months and twenty-two days," and concluded that he was employed for a sufficient period of time to acquire tenure as a principal. Austin, supra, EDU 8923-05, Initial Decision (March 21, 2007), <http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/> (emphasis added). The Commissioner modified the ALJ's initial decision, but nevertheless noted that pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:28-6, petitioner attained tenure. Austin, supra, EDU 8923-05, Comm'r (April 26, 2007), <http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/>.

Here, petitioner relies on N.J.S.A. 18A:28-6(a), arguing that the period of time between November 30, 2011, when he took over the retiring principal's duties, and August 22, 2012, when he was appointed interim principal, should be tacked onto the period of time between August 22, 2012, and June 30, 2014, for purposes of acquiring tenure.

The relevant case law suggests that an employee who performs services in an un-appointed or "acting" capacity to cover a vacant position may combine the period of time spent in the un-appointed or "acting" capacity with the time spent in an appointed capacity for purposes of tenure acquisition.

In order for service in an un-appointed capacity to count toward tenure acquisition, the position in which the employee serves in an un-appointed capacity must be vacant. In Walton v. Board of Education of Newton, EDU 7628-06, Initial Decision (May 10, 2007), adopted, Comm'r (August 8, 2007), <http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/>, the issue was whether petitioner Walton's service as interim principal counted toward his acquisition of tenure. There, Walton argued that he qualified for tenure as a principal, while the board of education argued that he did not serve enough time to acquire tenure. Walton was a tenured assistant principal when the principal of the school resigned. He was appointed interim principal for the period between April 13, 2004, and June 30, 2004. On June 30, 2006, he was terminated. The ALJ concluded that Walton's time as interim principal could not count towards tenure because the principal's employment was not officially severed until the effective date of his resignation, and no vacancy occurred. The Commissioner, in his final decision, dismissed Walton's challenge.

Here, the prior principal of Harriet Tubman School retired and petitioner assumed her duties, in an un-appointed capacity, as acting principal of the school. The position was vacant when he assumed those duties. The distinction between Walton and the present matter is that while the interim principal in Walton was appointed, here, petitioner spent approximately eight months in an un-appointed capacity before he was appointed principal. However, the available case law on this issue does not appear to differentiate between appointed and un-appointed status. Indeed, the case that is most similar to the facts here suggests that the period of time spent in an un-appointed capacity may be counted toward tenure acquisition.

In Donnelly v. Board of Education of Hasbrouck Heights, EDU 7770-99, Initial Decision (October 29, 2001), rejected, Comm'r (December 17, 2001), <http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/>, petitioner Donnelly relied on N.J.S.A. 18A:28-6(c) and argued that the period of time he spent as acting principal should be credited for purposes of tenure acquisition as principal. Donnelly became acting principal when the principal of the school retired and was removed from the district's payroll on May 1, 1996. Consequently, the ALJ found that Donnelly filled "a vacancy occasioned by retirement of the former principal and, therefore, [he was] entitled to tenure in that position." The ALJ relied on case law that distinguished between an employee covering another employee's absence and a vacancy in the position, and concluded that given the factual circumstances, Donnelly could "count toward tenure all of his service as acting principal." The Commissioner rejected the ALJ's initial decision, because petitioner's tenure claim should have been analyzed under N.J.S.A. 18A:28-6(a) instead of N.J.S.A. 18A:28-6(c).

The ALJ's initial decision in Donnelly did not explain the significance of the term "acting," nor did it differentiate between being "appointed" to a position and serving in an "acting" capacity. However, the Commissioner's final decision noted that "notwithstanding the outcome herein, [the Commissioner] affirms the ALJ's finding that [Donnelly's] service as an 'acting' principal, upon the occasion of a true vacancy in the District, is properly credited toward acquisition of tenure as a principal." Donnelly, supra, EDU 7770-99, Comm'r (December 17, 2001), <http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/>, at n.3. Thus, the period of time spent in an "acting" capacity, which in the present matter is likely equivalent to petitioner's serving in an un-appointed capacity, may be counted toward tenure acquisition.

Here, petitioner served as an acting principal at Harriet Tubman once the principal position was vacated, effective December 1, 2011. There were no other administrators appointed. For all intents and purposes, petitioner was continually referred to as "principal" through emails and correspondence from school officials. Accordingly, this time should be tacked onto the time he served as interim principal, since the position of principal was actually vacant as of December 1, 2011. The evidence shows that petitioner functioned as principal for the remainder of that school year and was then appointed interim principal. The combined time periods of both should be included in determining tenure and seniority rights, and I so CONCLUDE.

Based upon the foregoing, N.J.S.A. 18A:28-6 applies in this instance since petitioner was promoted to the position of principal from another tenure-eligible position in the district, satisfying the two-year service for acquisition of tenure. He worked as if he were principal at Harriet Tubman from December 2011 through June 2012, before being officially assigned as principal for the 2012–2013 and 2013–2014 school years.

In the Matter of Tenure Hearing of Michelle Gates:

THE STATE OPERATED SCHOOL DISTRICT OF THE CITY OF PATERSON

Case No. 144-5/16

Ruling on Motion for Judgement

MICHELLE GATES

Before:

Edmund Gerber, Arbitrator

Appearances:

For the Paterson City School District:
Joseph L. Roselle, Esq.
Schenck Price Smith & King, LLP

For the Respondent:
Gail Oxfeld Kanef, Esq.
Oxfeld Cohen, LLC

Tenure charges were brought against Michelle Gates, a teacher employed by the State Operated School District of the City of Paterson. These charges all stem from her alleged actions of knowingly and improperly providing answers and assisting with word definitions to students during the

New Jersey Assessment of Skills and Knowledge ("NJ ASK") test on five (5) days in May of 2012.

At the hearing, the District's witnesses testified that the Office of Fiscal Accountability and Compliance ("OFAC") of the New Jersey Department of Education was alerted by Measurement Incorporated, the company which administers the NJ ASK testing program, of an irregularity in the test papers of students who took the test supervised by the Respondent in 2012. An erasure analysis of the tests revealed a high number of wrong to right erasures. That is, a significant number of students had erased wrong answers and filled in right answers. This triggered an investigation by OFAC.

Two OFAC investigators testified that they interviewed approximately twenty-seven (27) students who took the 2012 NJ ASK exam under the Respondent's supervision. Seventeen (17) of the students said that the Respondent assisted them directly during the test or witnessed the Respondent helping other students with the test. Audio recordings were made of the student interviews. The recordings and transcripts of the recordings were admitted into evidence. The students who were interviewed were not under oath and neither the Respondent nor her representative were present during these interviews and had no opportunity to cross-examine the students.

Jazmin Rotger de Parra, the District's Testing Coordinator, testified as to the protocol for maintaining test security, and specifically about the training the Respondent underwent regarding these tests and that the Respondent signed documentation attesting to the fact that she maintained test security and did not assist students on the exam at issue. After reviewing the reports of the OFAC investigators and the recordings and transcripts of the interviews of the students involved, Rotger de Parra initiated the instant tenure charges against the Respondent.

The District rested its case without ever calling any of the twenty-seven (27) students that were interviewed by the District. The Respondent thereupon moved to dismiss the charges contending that all of the evidence presented by the District constituted hearsay evidence and such evidence was not supported by a residuum of competent, admissible non-hearsay evidence.

The undersigned reserved ruling on the motion at that time and asked the parties to file written submissions on the Motion[1].

ARGUMENT

Respondent

The Respondent argues that N.J.S.A. 18A:6-17.1(c), provides:

> The arbitrator shall determine the case under the American Arbitration Association labor arbitration rules. In the event of a conflict between the American Arbitration Association labor arbitration rules and the procedures established pursuant to this section, the procedures established pursuant to this section shall govern.

No specific provisions exist in Title 18 as to admissibility of evidence. Accordingly, the American Arbitration Association rules as to admissibility and relevance of evidence apply here. AAA Labor Arbitration Rule #27 states in pertinent part:

> The arbitrator shall determine the admissibility, the relevance, and materiality of the evidence offered and may exclude evidence deemed by the arbitrator to be cumulative or irrelevant and conformity to legal rules of evidence shall not be necessary.

Consequently, the arbitrator maintains wide latitude in determining admissibility and relevance of evidence. Nevertheless, determinations must be made with consideration of fundamental fairness. In Dolan v. East Orange, 287 N.J. SUPER 136, the Appellate Division held that Dolan, a public employee, was denied administrative due process when he was not provided an opportunity to cross-examine the witness accusing him of wrongdoing which resulted in his termination. The Court noted that while hearsay evidence is admissible in an administrative proceeding, there must be a residuum of competent, non-hearsay evidence to form the basis for the findings against the public employee. The same principles have been applied in the tenure hearing context. See In re Tenure Hearing of Cowan, 224 N.J. SUPER 737 (App. Div. 1988). Also, In the Tenure Hearing of Morimo Okundaye and the Newark School District, Arbitrator Timothy Brown received into evidence a videotape of the Respondent interacting with a student. However, the arbitrator determined that the videotape standing alone, without direct evidence of how, when and under what circumstances the recording was made , was hearsay evidence and held that it would violate the rules of fundamental fairness to rely solely on the video to establish the truth of the tenure charges and dismissed said charges.

[1] As it was early in the day and the Respondent had a potential witness available, I asked the Respondent to begin its case pending my determination on the motion. The Respondent called one of the students as a witness. Given that I herein grant the Respondent's motion I have not considered the testimony of said witness.

In State Operated School District of Paterson v. Richard Vincenti, Arbitrator Howard Edelman effectively applied the residuum rule finding that while hearsay evidence was admissible, it cannot, standing alone, form the basis to terminate an employee's employment. Arbitrator Edelman acknowledged that fundamental fairness dictates that an employee have the ability to confront his or her accusers with cross-examination.

According to Rule 801, hearsay is "a statement other than one made by the declarant while testifying at the trial or hearing offered in evidence to prove the truth of the matter asserted." The oral statements of the students made on the audio recording admitted into evidence here were hearsay statements and do not fall into one of the recognized exceptions to the rules precluding the admissibility of hearsay.

Rule 803 does permit the admission of a prior witness but that individual must be a witness at the instant hearing. In the present matter, none of the students interviewed were called as witnesses by the District. Thus, the out of court recorded statements to not fall under the prior exception to the hearsay rule.

In certain circumstances, hearsay will be admissible if the declarant is unavailable to testify. The Board of Education here has not even asserted let alone proven that the students were not available. There has been no evidence presented that the relevant students were unavailable nor was the testimony taken at a prior trial. Most significantly, the Respondent has never had an opportunity to cross-examine these witnesses. The out of court statements of the students who did not testify are hearsay evidence that would not be admissible in a court proceeding. It is inappropriate to admit these statements or the truth of the matters asserted without an additional residuum of competent, admissible, non-hearsay evidence to support the assertions for which the hearsay is offered.

Counsel orally moved to dismiss the charges against the Respondent. However, pursuant to R4:6-2, when a judge considers a motion at the end of the presentation of an opponent's case, such a motion is considered a motion for judgment pursuant to R4:40-1. A motion to dismiss pursuant to R4:6-2 would be a motion on the face of the pleadings. Thus, the motion presented herein by the Respondent after the presentation of the Board's case is essentially a motion for a judgment dismissing the tenure charges against the Respondent with prejudice.

Whenever the significant rights of an individual may be affected in any type of legal proceeding, the rules of fundamental fairness have been applied by judges, administrative hearing officers and arbitrators. The law uniformly requires that for a proceeding to be fair, an employee must have the ability to cross-examine his or her accuser and testimony must be taken under oath. Here, all the evidence presented by the District constituted hearsay evidence. There was not one piece of direct, non-hearsay evidence that in May 2012, Respondent provided assistance to students on the NJ ASK test. Accordingly, this arbitrator must enter a judgment in favor of Respondent and dismiss the charges against her with prejudice.

The District

As conceded by Respondent in her brief, hearsay evidence is admissible in this proceeding. It is well settled that an arbitrator has wide latitude to determine the admissibility and relevance of evidence. The choice of accepting or rejecting a witness' testimony or credibility rests with the arbitrator as a finder of fact. Freud v. Davis, 64 N.J. SUPER 242, 246 (App. Div. 1960).

The New Jersey Administrative Code permits the use of hearsay in administrative proceedings such as this. N.J.A.C. 1:1-15.5(a) provides in relevant part:

> "Hearsay evidence shall be admissible in a trial of contested cases. Hearsay evidence which is admitted shall be accorded whatever weight the judge deems appropriate, taking into account the nature, character and scope of the evidence, the circumstances of its creation and production and generally its reliability. While generally, in order to accord hearsay evidence its full weight, there must be a residuum of legally competent evidence to support each ultimate finding of fact, known as residuum rule." N.J.A.C. 1:1-15.5(b)

Thus, to the extent the recordings at issue were hearsay, they are admissible and have been admitted into the record. The arbitrator may therefore rely upon them as he sees fit. Contrary to the Respondent's arguments, the recordings have been supported by a residuum of evidence and thus the rule is satisfied. The Respondent relies upon Dolan, Supra, however, in Dolan, the entire allegation was based solely upon an unsigned, unsworn letter allegedly submitted by a fellow employee stating that Dolan instigated a fight. The City presented no other evidence and did not call the letter writer as a witness in the hearing.

Here, unlike Dolan, the District introduced a significant amount of documentary and testimony evidence, including recordings of the student interviews, the testimony of both OFAC investigators, an OFAC supervisor and a District employee, all of whom testified that Respondent's conduct was unbecoming and improper and the reasons why the OFAC witnesses made such a determination. In addition, the District introduced a document signed by the Respondent herself indicating that she maintained test security which live testimony at the hearing unequivocally disputed. Thus, a residuum of evidence was provided by the District, far more than the student records as the Respondent would have the arbitrator believe, which allows the arbitrator to consider the content of those recordings when viewed in relation to the other evidence submitted. Furthermore, the Respondent had the opportunity to confront her accusers. The tenure charges were filed by Ms. Rotger de Parra who testified competently and credibility as to why she took such action. The charges themselves were based on the investigation conducted by OFAC which concluded that Respondent breached testing security and protocol. Both of the OFAC investigators testified as well as their superior. All of those witnesses were Respondent's accusers and were cross-examined by Respondent's counsel at the hearing.

The students were not the accusers. They did not report Respondent's wrongdoing on their own volition or independently submit a complaint about her conduct. The students' recollection of Respondent's conduct comprised but one part of the OFAC investigation and the related documents involved in the same should be given full weight by the arbitrator, along with other evidence in the record. Accordingly, the residuum rule is satisfied.

The District cites I/M/O Tenure Hearing of Cowan, 224 N.J. SUPER 737 (App. Div. 1988) where the Appellate Division affirmed the dismissal of a tenured teacher who is accused of various acts of misconduct, including an alleged assault conducted by the teacher. Evidence of the incident consisted of the testimony of the high school principal and his memorandum of the incident which included facts the principal had learned about from alleged eyewitnesses. The principal was not a witness to the event. The student who was the victim of the assault did not testify at the hearing, nor was there any other direct or eyewitness evidence of the assault. The Appellate Division upheld the Commissioner's finding of unbecoming conduct based on this incident noting that "the application of the residuum rule does not require that hearsay evidence of the assault be ignored." Id. at 750. The Court held that there "need not be a residuum of competent evidence to prove each act considered by the Commissioner so long as the combined probative force of the relevant hearsay and relevant competent evidence" sustains the Commission's finding of unbecoming conduct." Id. At 71. As with the principal in Cowan, the investigators based their findings here in part on student statements but the student statements were not the sole basis for the finding. See also Ruroede v. Borough of Hasbrouck Heights, 214 N.J. 338, 358-59 where an employee's termination was upheld even though no direct witness to the altercation at issue testified. Rather, only the individual who prepared the report of the incident testified.

The District also cites I/M/O the Tenure Hearing of Manuel Santiago, OAL Dkt. No. EDU-7135-99. The Board of Education filed tenure charges against a school custodian who had been arrested for possession of drugs. At the hearing, the testimony of a police officer who did not witness the alleged conduct as well as an unsworn statement of an unidentified, paid confidential informant that Santiago was involved in the distribution of narcotics. The ALJ found that Santiago had committed the conduct at issue and that he be dismissed from his position. The Commissioner found that the witness offering the hearsay evidence was reliable and that "the recommended decision does not rely solely on hearsay testimony" and therefore the introduction of hearsay evidence was proper and any reliance upon it was appropriate. In I/M/O Stephen Fox, OAL Dkt. No. EDU-7955-04 (Cmm'r 2004) the Commissioner rejected Fox's argument that hearsay evidence and statements provided to investigators and other individuals who did not testify was inadmissible because the teacher's own testimony and that of an administrator was also in the record. I/M/O Woodbridge Township Board of Education v. John Radzik, Dkt. No. 368-12/12 (Licata, 2013) a board of education filed tenure charges against a third grade teacher due to his actions against the administration of the 2010 and 2011 NJ ASK examinations. Arbitrator Licata sustained the tenure charges and ordered that Radzik be dismissed from his positon. The arbitrator relied on several pieces of hearsay evidence including the OFAC report which concluded that Radzik breached testing protocol. No student who allegedly received test answers or inappropriate assistance testified. Nevertheless, Arbitrator Licata concluded that termination was appropriate based on evidence in the record.

In this matter, the lack of bias or motive on the part of the students who were in the fourth grade at the time of the NJ ASK tests and their proximity in time to the test when they gave their statements establishes the reliability of the interviews as well as a probative value when examined in light of the residuum of other evidence produced by the District at hearing.

Even if the recorded interviews at issue are not supported by a residuum of competent evidence, they are nevertheless admissible and fully probative for their evidentiary value under an exception to the hearsay rule. N.J.R.E. 803(c) that hearsay evidence may be admitted into evidence and fully relied upon by a fact finder regardless of whether the declarant is able to testify. These include:

- Present sense impression - a statement of observation, description or explanation of an event made while or immediately after declarant was perceiving the event without the opportunity to deliberate or fabricate;
- A recorded recollection - a statement about which the witness is unable to testify about fully and accurately because of insufficient present recollection if the statement is contained in a writing or other record;
- Records of regularly conducted activity - that is a record kept in the normal course of business and the person making that recording had actual knowledge of the event or was based upon information from a person with such actual knowledge;
- Public records, reports and findings- a statement made in writing made by a public official or not a condition or observed by the official.

The student recordings at issue meet one or all of these tests, or at least in their spirit and intent. The recordings were made several years prior to the hearing, much closer to the time of the Respondent's misconduct than the current date. Moreover, the student statements to the OFAC investigators are clearly recorded recollections of the students' accounts of the alleged conduct. The recordings were made by OFAC investigators in the regular course of their business. They were made part of OFAC's investigation file in this case. It is further submitted that the OFAC investigation reports and the evidence relied upon by the investigators are analogous to a police report which have long been admissible into evidence pursuant to this exception.

The OFAC report and the conclusions therein constitute a public record which is defined as "a statement contained in writing made by a public official of an act done by the official or an act, condition or event observed by the official if it was in the scope of the official's duty either to perform the act recorded or to observe the act or event recorded or make the written statement. N.J.R.E. 803(c)(8). The OFAC investigators are public employees and are charged as part of their official duties to investigate testing irregularities and teacher misconduct. These reports were part of the job responsibilities and thus are admissible into evidence under this hearsay exception, regardless of whether a residuum of competent, credible evidence exists. The District requests that the Respondent's motion be dismissed and denied with prejudice.

Respondent's Reply

The Respondent submitted a response to issues raised in the Petitioner's brief.

The Respondent contends that the student recordings do not fall within an exception to the hearsay rule.

The audiotapes were not present sense impressions. A present sense impression statement must be made "while or immediately after the declarant was perceiving the event ... without opportunity to deliberate or fabricate." The statements made by the students to the investigators were made more than two years after the NJ ASK test. They are hardly present sense impression statements. The law requires that the present sense impression statement be made a very brief time between the observation and the statement.

The Petitioner misrepresents the recorded recollection exception to the hearsay rule. This exception requires that the witness be unable to testify from memory about the incident at issue. Here, we have no idea whether these students could testify from memory or not since they did not testify.

The rule requires that during the testimony at hearing or trial, the lack of memory must be established. No student testified on behalf of the District, thus the condition precedent to admissibility under this exception has not been met.

The exception for records of regularly recorded activity and business records similarly does not apply. The Petitioner opines incorrectly that the students' statements within the recordings are admissible under these exceptions similar to a police report that would be admissible as a record of regularly recorded activity. However, the rule clearly requires that any hearsay within hearsay is only admissible if it meets an additional exception to the hearsay rule. Konop v. Rosen, 425 N.J. SUPER 391 (2012).

Respondent submits that since student statements do not meet any other exception to the hearsay rule, they are inadmissible hearsay statements and must be excluded from evidence. See also Rurode, Supra.

Respondent also argues that the decisional law cited by the Petitioner is inapplicable to the present matter. In every tenure case cited by the Petitioner, there was testimony from direct witnesses to the events in question or the respondent admitted his or her conduct. This is simply not the case in this matter. In Razdik before Arbitrator Licata, multiple eyewitnesses actually testified. The arbitrator considered hearsay testimony and relied upon it but only because direct admissible of the incident was also presented. In Fox, Mr. Fox admitted to kissing a student. Such a statement is direct evidence which satisfied the residuum rule.

In the present matter, the hearsay statements made by students in the recordings are not admissible under any exception to the hearsay rule. The Rudroe case cited by the Petitioner actually supports the position that out of court statements of the student witnesses are inadmissible hearsay.

> Much of the evidence submitted on behalf of the Borough came in the form of written documents, unsupported by any oral testimony. Although the statements from Egbert, Ruales, and Simpson were admitted during the hearing as documents appended to the internal investigative report, the statements > themselves remained hearsay. See State v. Lungsford, 167 N.J. Super. 296, 310, 400 A.2d 843 (App. Div. 1979) (explaining that witness statements embedded in police report are not admissible under business record exception to hearsay rule even though report itself may be admissible). As hearsay, they could be used to corroborate competent evidence, but they could not provide the residuum of competent evidence that must support a fact material to the determination of a charge. See Weston, supra, 60 N.J. at 51, 286 A.2d 43. It is the duty of the finder of fact, no matter the forum chosen for a police disciplinary proceeding, to point to the competent evidence in the record supporting his or her ultimate fact-findings and conclusions drawn therefrom. The record before the hearing officer in this matter should have been scrutinized in that manner.

The Petitioner conflates the admissibility of the OFAC report with the admissibility of the recorded student statements. The OFAC report is admissible as a report prepared by the investigators who testified at the hearing. However, like Rurode, the hearsay statements contained within that report are not admissible unless they fall under a recognized exception to the hearsay rule. Here, the student statements were not made under oath and no one, let alone the Respondent, had an opportunity to cross-examine them or judge their credibility and simply do not meet any exception whatever to the hearsay rule.

The Petitioner argues that Ms. Rotger de Parra and the investigators are the Respondent's accusers and not the students and therefore Respondent has no right to cross-examine the students. However, Rotger De Parra and the investigators never observed the Respondent administer the test in question, they were not present in the testing room and they have absolutely no firsthand knowledge on which to competently base an accusation. The charges against Respondent must be dismissed in their entirety.

DISCUSSION

This arbitrator has always followed and applied the Residuum Rule. As stated in Cowan, Supra:

> In our State, a fact finding or a legal determination cannot be based upon hearsay evidence alone. Hearsay may be employed to corroborate competent proof or competent proof maybe supported or given added probative force by hearsay testimony. But in the final analysis, for a court to sustain an administrative decision which affects the substantial rights of a party, there must be a residuum of competent, credible evidence in the record to support it.

In other words, a case cannot turn on hearsay.

In every case relied upon by the Petitioner, be it court decision, administrative determination or arbitration, it was acknowledged that the case cannot turn on hearsay alone. There must be a finding that there is a residuum of competent, credible evidence before sustaining a tenure charge. In Cowan, although there was only hearsay evidence of one offense which occurred in 1974, there was competent credible evidence of incidents in 1975, 1980, 1982 and 1984 and ample competent credible evidence to sustain the tenure charges. As the Respondent pointed out in Rurode, Rurode admitted that an altercation took place. This admission constituted a residuum of credible evidence. Accordingly, hearsay evidence was properly considered in assessing the respondent's degree of culpability. In Radzik, before Arbitrator Licata, there were two witnesses who testified on behalf of the Petitioner and Arbitrator Licata identified such witness testimony as "threshold testimony", clearly implying that such testimony constituted a residuum of competent, credible evidence. There is no such threshold testimony here.

The District argues the fact that the Respondent signed a document acknowledging that she supervised the test constitutes the residuum of competent, credible evidence. However, unlike Rurode, this document does not acknowledge any misconduct at all. A "residuum of direct evidence" means some identifiable amount of direct evidence, although perhaps quite small, in support of the allegation of misconduct. Also, N.J.A.C. 1:1-15.5(b) requires that each ultimate finding of fact be supported by direct evidence.

I am satisfied that, as argued by the Respondent, the students' recordings do not fall within any exception to the hearsay rule. They are not a present sense impression statements, do not fall within the recorded recollection exception and are not records kept in the normal course of business. Although the reports of the investigators may fall within the records of regularly conducted activity exception, the hearsay statements contained within that report, i.e. the statements and recordings of the students, as hearsay documents are hearsay and not admissible, Rurode.

The audio recordings in the matter at hand are the sole reason these charges were brought against the Respondent. The investigators conclusion that Respondent impermissibly interacted with students during the taking of the NJ ASK test, is based solely upon the interviews with these students. Similarly, Rotger de Parra's decision to accuse the Respondent and bring tenure charges rests entirely upon the student interviews. But as in Rurode those portions of the investigators reports and testimony relating to the students statements is hearsay and without a residuum of direct evidence cannot be grounds to make an affirmative finding that the Respondent engaged in the alleged activity. The fact that Rotger do Parra, not the students is the Respondents accuser, is of no moment. She has no direct knowledge of Respondent's misconduct. She acted and relied upon on hearsay statements and those statements that are subject to the residuum rule.

The Petitioner did not produce a residuum of competent, credible evidence that Michelle Gates engaged in misconduct in administering the NJ ASK test in May 2012

Under these circumstances, it would be fundamentally unfair to sustain the charges against the Respondent without her ever having an opportunity to cross- examine the only witnesses to her alleged improper conduct – the students.,

Accordingly, I am compelled to grant the Motion.[2] All tenure charges against Michelle Gates are hereby dismissed.

AWARD

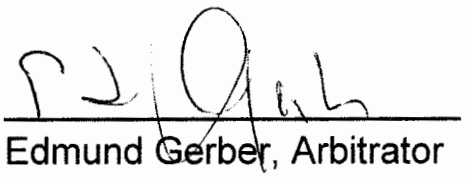
The tenure charges against Michelle Gates brought by the State Operated School District of the City of Paterson, Passaic County, Docket No. 144-5/16, are dismissed. Michelle Gates shall be reinstated by the State Operated School District of the City of Paterson to her teaching position retroactively to the date of her suspension and she shall be entitled to all back salary and benefits as if she were steadily employed from that date.



Edmund Gerber, Arbitrator
September 8, 2016

[2] In its brief the Petitioner states that, due to a scheduling problem caused by a last minute adjournment of an earlier hearing date, its student witnesses were not available. In an effort not to burden the record and given the time constraints involved, the petitioner chose to rest its case without calling any students. However no mention of why the students were not called as witnesses was made to this Arbitrator at the hearing. The issue was first raised in its brief and is untimely.

Decision Date: 9/12/16

Introduction and Statement of Relevant Facts

Respondent Tara Trongone is a tenured teacher most recently assigned to the 6th grade at Mary Ethel Costello School in the Gloucester City School District. In early January 2016, a 6th grade parent called Assistant Principal Kristin Little to report that Trongone "gave the class 10-15 answers on their SGO test" and did the same in another class. The next day, Little interviewed the caller's son, who confirmed that Trongone "walked around and gave us answers individually" and "would give about ten (10) correct answers in a row by reading out the correct letter choices."

Little and Principal William O'Kane conducted an investigation, interviewing 26 students from Trongone's classes, 12 of who supported the allegation that Trongone provided answers to the SGO test. On January 22, 2016, the District suspended Trongone with pay pending a discussion of the matter by the Board of Education.

On May 3, 2016, Joseph Rafferty, Superintendent of Schools, notified Trongone by letter that her employment would be discussed at an upcoming Board of Education meeting. Attached to the letter was a five-page document titled "Evidence In Support of Unbecoming Conduct," which included a narrative description of the allegations against her and Supt. Rafferty's recommendation to the Board to certify tenure charges against Trongone. Supt. Rafferty offered Trongone the opportunity to submit a written statement of position and evidence. By letter dated May 16, 2016, Trongone responded through counsel in a "Statement of Position In Opposition to 'Tenure Charges.'" Trongone alleged, inter alia, that the "charges, and service of said charges, are not in compliance with New Jersey statutes and regulations that set forth the tenure charge process under the TEACHNJ Act..."

On June 9, 2016, the Board of Education voted to certify tenure charges against Trongone, found the charges were sufficient, if credited, to warrant her dismissal, and suspended her without pay. On June 21, 2016, Supt. Rafferty forwarded the charges to the Commissioner of Education. The charges were served on Respondent on June 23, 2016.

On July 7, 2016, Trongone, through counsel, responded to the charges with a Motion To Dismiss Tenure Charges In Lieu of an Answer. Respondent alleged that the District failed to provide her with adequate notice and due process by certifying and filing tenure charges different than those initially served on her; failed to serve on her sworn statements related to those initial tenure charges; provided an insufficient sworn statement with the second set of charges premised on "rank hearsay" rather than personal knowledge; and violated her due process rights by failing to comply with the regulations regarding tenure charges and depriving her of the opportunity to respond to the charges. On July 21, 2016, the District filed a letter brief in opposition to the Motion To Dismiss, and Respondent filed a reply letter brief a week later.

On August 8, 2016, the Department appointed the undersigned to hear and decide the tenure matter and forwarded the complete file to the Arbitrator. Accordingly, Respondent's Motion To Dismiss is ripe for decision.

Issue

Should Respondent's Motion To Dismiss Tenure Charges be granted?

Analysis and Decision

An unsigned, unsworn document titled "Evidence in Support of Unbecoming Conduct," outlining in narrative form the allegations against Respondent, was attached to a May 3, 2016 letter from Superintendent Rafferty to Trongone advising her that the Board of Education "will discuss your employment" at an upcoming meeting. The letter requested Trongone's written statement of position and evidence.

On June 9, 2016, Superintendent Rafferty submitted to the Board of Education a document titled "Statement of Tenure Charges," which included 15 numbered paragraphs outlining the allegations against Respondent and certified as true and correct by the Superintendent and Assistant Principal Kristin Little. The Board voted to certify the Tenure Charges to the Commissioner of Education.

Superintendent Rafferty forwarded the charges to the Commissioner on June 21, 2016, and they were served on Respondent on June 23, 2016.

Respondent argues that the tenure charges certified by the Board of Education and submitted to the Commissioner of Education were procedurally deficient in that the charges initially served on Respondent were "completely different" than the second set of charges, thereby depriving Trongone of the opportunity to respond to the allegations in the second version of tenure charges. The District maintains that Respondent was provided adequate notice and due process in that the first set of charges were substantively identical to the second set of charges, which only added a minor procedural fact ("that the Board determined, through a majority vote of its full membership and after consideration the submissions of both Superintendent Rafferty and Trongone, that probable cause existed and the charges, if credited, are sufficient to warrant a dismissal or reduction in salary.")

The District's assertion that the substantively identical charges provide Trongone with adequate notice and due process clearly ignores the terms of TEACHNJ and undermines the notice and due process requirements of the Act. Respondent was initially served with a 5-page narrative that included unsworn allegations that she provided students with answers on the SGO test. She was asked to respond to those unsworn allegations. The tenure charges reviewed and approved by the Board and certified to the Commissioner were clearly labeled "Statement of Tenure Charges," with the allegations in numbered paragraph form, certified as true and correct by Superintendent Rafferty and Assistant Principal Rafferty, and included a signed Statement of Evidence by Superintendent Rafferty. It also included the 5-page narrative initially served on Respondent, with a certification signed by the Superintendent that was not included in the document served on Respondent.

N.J.S.A. 18A:6-11 states in relevant part,

> "Any charge made against any employee of a board of education under tenure during good behavior and efficiency shall be filed with the secretary of the board in writing, and a written statement of evidence under oath to support such charge shall be presented to the board. The board of education shall forthwith provide such employee with a copy of the charge, a copy of the statement of evidence and an opportunity to submit a written statement of position and a written statement of evidence under oath with respect thereto..."

The clear language of the statute anticipates that Respondent will have the opportunity to respond to the same charges filed with the Board when it requires the Board to provide the employee with a copy of the charge, i.e., the same charge filed with the Board secretary. It is not "adequate" to provide Respondent with charges that approximate the content and format of the charges filed and considered by the Board. The District should not expect Respondent, the Commissioner, or an arbitrator to parse through charges served on Respondent and the actual charges filed with the Board to determine whether they are similar or dissimilar. Notice and due process requires that the charges served on Respondent be the same charges in content and form as the charges filed with the Board. Respondent was not given an opportunity to respond to the exact charges that were filed with the Board. Moreover, and on a very practical level, Respondent can more effectively answer a sworn charge set out in numbered paragraphs than an unsworn narrative. See N.J.A.C. 6A:3-5.3(a), (b).[1]

The mere fact that Respondent was served with charges that differed in format, content (to a small degree), and sworn certifications from the charged reviewed and certified by the Board of Education and filed with the Commissioner of Education provide a basis for granting Respondent's Motion To Dismiss. It is a fundamental violation of TEACHNJ's notice and due process requirements to serve one set of charges on Respondent and a modified version (no matter how minor) of charges to the Board of Education and the Commissioner. By the very terms of the Act, Respondent must be given the opportunity to submit a written statement of position and a written statement of evidence to the charges that are filed with the Board. Respondent is entitled to clear and unambiguous notice of all the charges or potential charges that may arise at hearing. See In re Tenure Hearing of Gilbert Alvarez, School District of the Township of Lakewood, Ocean County (Comm'r Decision), Agency Docket No. 36-2/09, OAL Docket No. EDU 10067-09, 2009 WL 5624392 (N.J. Admin June 3, 2010). Respondent in this case was not given clear and unambiguous notice of all the charges or potential charges because she was not served with the same version of charges filed with the Board.

Moreover, the charges filed with Board included a "Certification," signed by Superintendent Rafferty and Assistant Principal Little, that the Statement of Tenure

[1] "(a) The answer shall state in short and plain terms the defenses to each claim asserted and shall admit or deny the allegations of the petitions. (b) Respondent(s) may not generally deny all the allegations, but shall make specific denials which meet the substance of designated allegations or paragraphs of the petition."

Charges is true and correct. It also included a certification, signed by Superintendent Rafferty, that the information contained in the Statement of Evidence is true and correct. The District explains in its brief that Assistant Principal Little was one of two administrators who conducted the investigation by talking with parents and interviewing students. The other administrator, Principal William O'Kane, did not certify the charges or the Statement of Evidence.

TEACHNJ regulations, N.J.A.C. 6A:3-5.1(b)(1), require in relevant part,

> 1. Charges shall be stated with specificity as to the action or behavior underlying the charges and shall be filed in writing with the secretary of the district board of education or with the State district superintendent, accompanied by a supporting statement of evidence, both of which will be executed under oath by the person(s) instituting such charges.

In a recent case, In the Matter of Tenure Hearing of Kevin Karp, Board of Education of the Township of Barnegat, Ocean County, Agency Docket #102-4/16 (May 26, 2016), Arbitrator Edmund Gerber dismissed tenure charges against the Respondent because the Superintendent swearing to the Statement of Evidence and certifying the tenure charges did not directly participate in the investigation of the allegations, but instead, relied on unsigned documents from school administrators who conducted the investigation and acted without signed statements from complaining students and parents. He rejected the charges because they were "certified on the basis of double hearsay," citing the ALJ decision In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Edwards, East Orange Board of Education, 1982 S.L.D. (2011).

As in Edwards and Karp, Superintendent Rafferty did not directly participate in the investigation of Trongone, relied on unsworn information from school administrators O'Kane and Little, and did not have signed statements from the complaining parent(s) or the students subjected to interviews. Superintendent

Rafferty cannot certify the information contained in the Statement of Evidence as "true and correct to the best of [his] knowledge" without any participation in the investigation. At a minimum, he would have to have sworn statements from O'Kane and Little. In the charges filed with the Board, Little certifies that the information contained in the Statement of Tenure Charges is true and correct. However, Little was one of two investigators. Absent an affidavit affirming those facts to which she can attest, it is not clear how Little can certify all the allegations in the tenure charges without any supporting statement from O'Kane.

In short, the sworn Statement of Evidence by Superintendent Rafferty is inadequate as he had no direct knowledge or participation in the investigation. And the certification by Little is inadequate without an accompanying affidavit explaining her role in the investigation and the basis of her knowledge and a similar affidavit and/or sworn certification by Principal O'Kane.

For all these reasons, I find that the tenure charges filed with the Board of Education and the Commissioner of Education are procedurally deficient and must be dismissed.

Respondent argues that the District's "unlawful pattern of conduct" should preclude any opportunity to amend the tenure charges. Respondent cites the decision in Edwards, in which the ALJ found the Board of Education "failed substantially to comply with its statutory obligations" and denied its request to amend the charges. The ALJ emphasized the Legislature and Commissioner's articulation of the procedure Boards must follow in bringing tenure charges and found no basis to allow the Board to "fill in these gaping holes by way of amendment."

The facts in the present matter do not demonstrate an "unlawful pattern of conduct;" but rather, an imprecise and stumbling attempt to properly bring tenure charges without correcting the procedural deficiencies . While the charges do not comply with statutory obligations, it is a stretch to state the non-compliance was a substantial failure, as in Edwards, or that there were "gaping holes" in the charges. It should also be noted that Arbitrator Gerber dismissed "without prejudice" the tenure charges in Karp, a case similar to the present one as it relates to certification and the sworn statement of evidence.

For these reasons, the tenure charges will be dismissed without prejudice.

Award and Remedy

Respondent's Motion To Dismiss Tenure Charges is granted. The tenure charges are dismissed without prejudice. As remedy, the District is ordered to immediately reinstate Respondent Tara Trongone to her former position with full backpay, benefits, and all emoluments associated therewith, as required by law and consistent with the operative collective bargaining agreement.

Re: Stephen Gibble v. Board of Education of the Hunterdon Central Regional School District, Hunterdon County, Commissioner Decision No. 254-16, Agency Dkt. No. 20-2/15

Dear Counsel:

I have reviewed the materials filed in connection with petitioner, Stephen Gibble's Motion to Stay the July 13, 2016 decision ordering the Board of Education to provide the petitioner with a hearing before the Board on the Harassment, Intimidation and Bullying (HIB) allegations, pending appeal.

Pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6(b), a motion for stay is considered an extraordinary remedy that may only be issued upon a finding that petitioner has met each prong of the four-pronged standard for the granting of interim relief set forth in Crowe v. DeGioia, 90 N.J. 126 (1982). Thus, a stay may be granted where necessary to prevent irreparable harm, where the legal right underlying the movant's claim is settled, where there is a likelihood of success on the merits and where the relative hardship to the moving party favors granting such relief. Id. at 132-134.

Upon review of the parties' submissions, I find that the petitioner has failed to meet the standard required for a stay of the July 13, 2016 decision. Most notably, the petitioner has not established a likelihood of success on the merits. In his papers, the petitioner argues that the untimely and prejudicial effect of a hearing before the Board at this juncture is substantial and does not meet the legal requirements for due process. The petitioner stresses that the issue of whether a hearing is proper should be decided on appeal before the petitioner is forced to spend time and money protecting his reputation before a hostile Board. The petitioner also maintains that the July 13, 2016 decision contradicts the decision in Edward Sadloch, et al. v. Board of Education of the Township of Cedar Grove, Bergen County, Commissioner Decision No. 216-15, decided June 23, 2015, and the established case law.

In the July 13, 2016 decision, the Commissioner determined that staff members who are accused of committing an act of HIB are entitled to the due process guaranteed by the Anti-Bullying Bill of Rights Act (Act), N.J.S.A. 18A:37-13 et seq., including the right to a hearing before the board of education. Despite the fact that the Board did not provide the petitioner with a hearing in this case, the Board did conduct an investigation concerning the HIB allegations. As was stated in the July 13, 2016 decision, the procedures followed by the Board in this case are not analogous to the lack of any meaningful investigation conducted in Sadloch, supra. Therefore, the appropriate disposition under these circumstances is to afford the petitioner with an opportunity to have a hearing before the Board instead of simply removing all references to HIB from his record. In his motion papers, the petitioner generally reiterated the arguments previously made before the Commissioner that were fully considered before the July 13, 2016 decision was issued. As a result, the petitioner has failed to demonstrate a likelihood of success on the merits or that he would be unduly prejudiced if he were to appear at a hearing before the Board.

In light of the fact that all of the Crowe prongs must be met in order for a stay to be granted, it is not necessary to analyze the three remaining factors. Accordingly, the petitioner's request for a stay of the July 13, 2016 decision is hereby DENIED.[1]

Sincerely,

David C. Hespe

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

The petitioner Board of Education of the Cumberland County Technical Education Center, Cumberland County, (CCTEC) seeks an emergent order compelling the respondents, the Board of Education of the Cumberland County Regional High School District (CCRHSD) and the Board of Education of the City of Millville (Millville BOE), to permit its full-time students who reside within those districts to participate in their athletic programs effective with the 2016–2017 school year. Each party filed a letter brief with supporting certifications. Oral argument was heard on August 22, 2016.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On August 11, 2016, the petitioner filed a Petition for Emergent Relief arguing that respondents' decision not to allow petitioner's full-time students to participate in respondents' athletic programs was arbitrary, capricious, and unreasonable.

FACTUAL DISCUSSION

Petitioner operates one of the five public high schools in Cumberland County. (Petition for Emergent Relief at 1.) In September 2016 petitioner will begin a full-time program consisting of both vocational and academic courses for ninth-graders.[1] (Id. at

[1] Students in grades ten, eleven and twelve will continue their part-time program until graduation, as the new full-time program is phased in.

2.) Within four years, all of petitioner's students from ninth through twelfth grade will be full-time students. (Ibid.)

The petitioner will not presently be offering an athletic program to its students. (Ibid.) The respondents claim that no representative from petitioner contacted respondents' superintendents or principals to meaningfully discuss the possibility of an agreement to allow petitioner's students to participate in respondents' athletic programs. (Certification of CCRHSD Superintendent Steven W. Price at 1–2.)

In November 2015 residents of Millville became aware that the Millville BOE would not admit CCTEC students into its athletic program. In April 2016 the superintendent of the CCRHSD sent a letter to all eighth-grade students stating that if they chose to attend petitioner's school, they would be unable to participate in its athletic programs. (Petition for Emergent Relief at 2.)

On August 11, 2016, petitioner filed a Petition for Emergent Relief arguing that respondents' decision not to allow petitioner's full-time students to participate in respondents' athletic programs was arbitrary, capricious, and unreasonable. (Id. at 3.)

LEGAL ANALYSIS AND CONCLUSION

Pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6(b), an application for emergent relief shall not be granted unless it satisfies the following four standards:

> 1. The petitioner will suffer irreparable harm if the requested relief is not granted;
>
> 2. The legal right underlying petitioner's claim is settled;
>
> 3. The petitioner has a likelihood of prevailing on the merits of the underlying claim; and
>
> 4. When the equities and interests of the parties are balanced, the petitioner will suffer greater harm than the respondent will suffer if the requested relief is not granted.
> [See Crowe v. DeGioia, 90 N.J. 126, 132–34 (1982).]

The petitioner must meet all four criteria to prevail on its motion. See Crowe, supra, 90 N.J. 126; DEC Electric, Inc. v. Bd. of Educ. of the S. Gloucester Cnty. Reg'l High Sch. Dist. and USA Elec. Contractors, Inc., 96 N.J.A.R.2d (EDU) 789, 790 (citing DEC Electric, Inc. v. S. Gloucester Cnty. Reg'l High Sch. Dist. Bd. of Educ. and USA Elec. Contractors, Inc., EDU 10833-95, Order Denying Emergent Relief (Dec. 6, 1995), adopted, Comm'r (Dec. 26, 1995) (denied unsuccessful bidder's request for emergent relief because it was unable to establish that it would suffer immediate and irreparable harm, although it was able to establish a reasonable likelihood of success on the merits and that the parties opposing the motion would not suffer undue harm)). The moving party bears the burden of proving each of the Crowe elements "clearly and convincingly." Waste Mgmt. of N.J. v. Union Cnty. Utils. Auth., 399 N.J. Super. 508, 520 (App. Div. 2008).

Accordingly, each prong of the test must be analyzed:

1. Whether petitioner will suffer irreparable harm if its students are not permitted to participate in respondents' athletic programs.

One of the principles for emergent relief is that relief should only be ordered to prevent irreparable harm to the petitioners. Crowe, supra, 90 N.J. at 132–33. Harm is irreparable when it cannot be addressed with monetary damages. Ibid. This standard contemplates that the harm also be both substantial and immediate. Subcarrier Commc'ns, Inc. v. Day, 299 N.J. Super. 634, 638 (App. Div. 1997). "In certain circumstances, severe personal inconvenience can constitute irreparable injury justifying issuance of injunctive relief." Crowe, supra, 90 N.J. at 133. "Pecuniary damages may be inadequate because of the nature of the injury or of the right affected." Ibid.

"[T]he Commissioner has repeatedly held that students do not suffer irreparable harm if they are prohibited from participating in extracurricular activity, including sport activities." S.L. ex rel A.L. v. Bd. of Educ. of W. Orange, EDU 1729-03 (Mar. 11, 2003), adopted, Comm'r (April 15, 2003), <http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/>; Bd. of Educ. of Trenton v. N.J.S.I.A.A., 91 N.J.A.R.2d (EDU) 158; Elmwood Park Bd. of Educ. v. N.J.S.I.A.A., 94 N.J.A.R.2d (EDU) 106. "Indeed it has been held that participation in an extracurricular activity is not a fundamental right under the federal or state constitution." S.L. v. W. Orange, supra, EDU 1729-03 (Mar. 11, 2003), <http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/>; Camden Co. Bd. of Educ. v. N.J.S.I.A.A., No. A-2802-91T2 (App. Div. February 18, 1992) (unpublished decision). "While the importance of sports cannot be lost on the education process, there is no evidence that irreparable harm will be suffered." S.L. v. W. Orange, supra, EDU 1729-03 (Mar. 11, 2003), <http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/>.

Here, petitioner claims that it will suffer irreparable harm because "it is likely that some students will not attend" petitioner's school if the students cannot participate in their home district's athletic programs. (Emergency Petition of Cumberland County Board of Vocational Education at 1.)

Petitioner has not shown that this harm is substantial or immediate. Petitioner's claim that it will suffer harm because some students will likely not attend is not immediate because this harm is based on an event that may or may not occur. There has been no allegation that students have declined to enroll in the CCTEC because they cannot participate in respondents' athletic programs. No particular student has alleged individual harm. Indeed, it appears that potential students from the two affected districts were well aware that athletic participation would not be an option for them. Thus, there is no evidence that petitioner will suffer immediate harm if its students cannot participate in respondents' athletic programs.

Petitioner also has not shown that the harm will be significant, because it has not stated the number of students who may have decided not to enroll because of the lack of athletic participation, or shown that the failure of the ninth-graders to participate in athletic activities would have a negative effect on the school. And, as in S.L. v. W. Orange, the students will not suffer irreparable harm if they are prohibited from participating in extracurricular activities.

The necessity for emergent relief is belied by the fact that the petitioner was well aware of the respondents' position with regard to enrolling CCTEC students in their athletic programs, and yet made no application for relief until August 16, 2016, alleging that it had become an emergency because the school year was about to start. Respondents claim that the athletic programs in their schools have already gotten underway, and that the budgeted expense for these programs was determined in the spring, and that the petitioner should not be able to create an emergency when the emergency is the result of its own inaction.

2. Whether the legal right underlying petitioner's claim is well settled.

Petitioner claims that the legal right underlying its claim is well settled because the Commissioner of Education, in G.W.S. ex rel A.F.S. v. Petrino and Rahway Bd. of Educ., Union Cnty., EDU 09797-99, Final Decision, Comm'r (Nov. 29, 1999), <http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/>, determined that the blanket exclusion of a vocational student from Rahway's athletic program was arbitrary and unreasonable. Petitioner claims that this matter is similar to Rahway.

However, Rahway concerned a school policy that allowed tenth-, eleventh-, and twelfth-graders at a vocational school to participate in Rahway's athletic programs, but excluded ninth-grade students from participating. The Commissioner found that the NJSIAA allows for full-time vocational students to participate in interscholastic activities at their local high school upon agreement of both principals, NJSIAA, Article V, Section 4(G), CL3, and that Rahway's blanket policy excluding ninth-graders precluded Rahway's principal from entering such an agreement. Rahway, supra, EDU 09797-99, Final Decision (Nov. 29, 1999), <http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/>.

Here, there is no blanket policy in respondents' districts precluding their principals (and school superintendents) from entering into an agreement with petitioner to allow petitioner's students to participate in respondents' athletic programs. Participation in interscholastic sports is discretionary and subject to the agreement of both principals. Rahway, supra, EDU 09797-99, Final Decision (Nov. 29, 1999),

3. Whether petitioner is likely to be successful on the merits of its claim.

Petitioner claims that it is likely to succeed on the merits because the Commissioner's decision in Rahway compels the conclusion that petitioner's students must be permitted to participate in respondents' athletic programs. However, as discussed above, this matter is distinguishable from Rahway because respondents do not have a policy precluding their principals from entering into an agreement allowing petitioner's students to participate in respondents' athletic program.

Under NJSIAA, Article V, Section 4(G), CL3, "[i]f a Vocational/Technical High School/Public Academy does not offer the particular sport in which one of its full-time students desires to participate, that student may participate in that sport at his/her sending school upon agreement of both principals, regardless of the number of sports programs offered at the Vocational/Technical High School/Public Academy. Thus, it is within the respondents' principals discretion whether to enter into an agreement to allow petitioner's full-time students to participate in its athletic programs.[2]

This "discretionary authority must be reasonably exercised based on bona fide, legitimate considerations." Rahway, supra, EDU 09797-99, Final Decision (Nov. 29, 1999), <http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/>.

Here, there has been no agreement between petitioner's and respondents' principals to allow petitioner's students to participate in respondents' athletic programs for the 2016–17 school year. Both respondents claim that their principals were never contacted to discuss such an agreement, and petitioner does not allege that it attempted to arrange such an agreement. Both CCRHSD and Millville claim that the schools would have to consider their budgetary constraints and their ability to ensure the eligibility of petitioner's students to participate in their athletic programs to avoid being penalized by the NJSIAA. These appear to be legitimate considerations that should be analyzed by the respective parties before entering any agreement that allows petitioner's students to participate in respondents' athletic programs.

Because there was no agreement between petitioner's and respondents' principals, and because respondents' principals are reasonably exercising discretionary authority, petitioner is not likely to be successful on the merits. Thus, petitioner has not satisfied this element for emergent relief.

4. Whether petitioner will suffer greater harm than respondents if its students are not permitted to participate in respondents' athletic programs.

Petitioner claims that it will suffer greater harm than respondents if the requested relief is not granted. However, as discussed above, petitioner does not state the extent of its expected harm or when this harm may occur. No student has alleged harm. Moreover, it appears that students and their parents were aware as early as November (Millville) or April (CCRHSD) that they would not be permitted to participate in their district's athletic programs.

Conversely, respondents claim that if they are forced to accept petitioner's students into their athletic programs, they will "incur more administrative costs and be vulnerable to penalties from the NJSIAA." (Respondents' Brief in Opposition to Motion for Emergent Relief at 15.) Therefore, it is likely that the balance of interests tips in favor of respondents.

The petitioner also alleges that the respondents' decision to bar the students from athletic activates is not due to the financial cost, but because they "are in competition with the CCTEC for prospective students." The respondents contend that if CCTEC students are permitted to participate in their athletic programs, the CCTEC will never develop such programs for its students, but will instead rely on the students' districts to fund the cost of athletic activities to the districts' financial detriment. Clearly these are issues that cannot be resolved at an emergent hearing.[3]

As petitioner has not shown that it will suffer a greater harm than respondents if its requested relief is not granted, it has not satisfied this element for emergent relief.

CONCLUSION

Petitioner has not satisfied the four prongs required to obtain emergent relief. It has not shown that it will suffer irreparable harm, that the legal right underlying its claim is well settled, that it is likely to be successful on the merits, or that it will suffer greater harm than respondents if the requested relief is not granted.

ORDER

Having failed to meet the four-prong test, the application for emergent relief is DENIED.

The matter shall be scheduled for a telephone conference so that a hearing date may be set. In the interim, the parties are urged to enter into meaningful settlement discussions as to how best to advance the interests of all the students of Cumberland County.

[3] The more this becomes a "tug of war" between districts, the greater the impact on all of the county's students.

This order on application for emergency relief may be adopted, modified or rejected by THE COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. The final decision shall be issued without undue delay, but no later than forty-five days following the entry of this order. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this order within forty-five days, this recommended order shall become a final decision on the issue of emergent relief in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

| V. | : | DECISION |
| BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE MERCER COUNTY SPECIAL SERVICES SCHOOL DISTRICT, MERCER COUNTY, | : | |
| RESPONDENT. | : | |

SYNOPSIS

The Trenton Board of Education (Trenton) appealed the Mercer County Special Services School District's (MCSSSD) refusal to allow Trenton to supply the individual aides assigned to special education students that the district places at MCSSSD. Trenton sought to compel MCSSSD to accept individual aides provided by the agency it had contracted with to provide aides and paraprofessionals for Trenton's special education students during the 2015-2016 school year, Insight Workforce Solutions. Trenton sought to make this change, as well as others, to reduce the district's operating expenses. The parties filed cross motions for summary decision.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: there are no material facts at issue, and the matter is ripe for summary decision; it is undisputed that Trenton is the agency responsible for creating Individualized Education Plans (IEP) for children with disabilities that reside within its jurisdiction; however, MCSSD – as the receiving school – is the district responsible for implementing the IEPs; MCSSSD is a Special Services School District created by a County Board of Freeholders to provide educational and related programs for special needs children; MCSSSD has its own board of education, which is governed by Title 18A of the New Jersey statutory code; as such, MCSSSD is in charge of its own employment matters, including hiring, conduct, and compensation; as the receiving school, MCSSSD determines a yearly tuition rate for students, which is paid by Trenton; individual aides are an extraordinary service, and not included in the yearly tuition rate; Trenton's claim that it is free to provide individual aides for its students through a separate vendor because these services are charged under an agreement that is wholly distinct from its Special Education Tuition Contract Agreement with MCSSSD is without merit; although Trenton has the responsibility to ensure that MCSSSD complies with each student's IEP, it is MCSSSD's responsibility to provide the students with the required aides in its school, and MCSSSD has the right to determine how that responsibility will be fulfilled; MCSSSD could select another method for providing individual aides, but is under no obligation to do so; N.J.A.C. 6A:23A-17.1(e)(5)(viii) instructs that individual aides are an extraordinary service which MCSSSD may bill directly to Trenton, but there is no authority for Trenton to unilaterally force MCSSSD to accept Trenton's preferred individual aides; and Trenton has failed to raise a claim upon which relief can be granted. Accordingly, the ALJ concluded that MCSSSD is entitled to judgment as a matter of law, and is not obligated to use the individual aides recommended by Trenton. MCSSSD's motion to dismiss was granted.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurred with the findings and conclusions of the ALJ, and adopted the Initial Decision of the OAL as the final decision in this matter for the reasons expressed therein.

| BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE CITY OF TRENTON, MERCER COUNTY,PETITIONER,V.BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE MERCER COUNTY SPECIAL SERVICES SCHOOL DISTRICT, MERCER COUNTY,RESPONDENT. | : | COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATIONDECISION |

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed, as have the exceptions filed pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4 by the petitioner Trenton Board of Education (Trenton). The respondent, Mercer County Special Services School District Board of Education (MCSSSD), did not file a reply.

Trenton's exceptions essentially recast and reiterate the substance of its submissions at the OAL, arguing that Trenton should be permitted to supply individual aides through a contracted vendor to its students who attend MCSSSD, rather than be forced to contract with MCSSSD for the individual aides. Trenton points out that it is responsible for implementing a student's Individualized Education Plan (IEP), including providing individual aides. Trenton also contends that the ALJ erred in finding that aides provided by Trenton's contracted vendor would interfere with MCSSSD's control over its employment matters because MCSSSD would not be responsible for the aides.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurs with the ALJ that there is no authority permitting Trenton to force MCSSSD to accept Trenton's individual aides. The Commissioner finds Trenton's exceptions unpersuasive. Individual aides are "extraordinary services" for which a district board of education may bill directly, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:23A-17.1(e)(5)(viii). As such, while Trenton and MCSSSD annually enter into a Special Education Tuition Contract Agreement for the cost of a student's placement at MCSSSD, Trenton is billed separately by MCSSSD for the cost of individual aides, using purchase orders pursuant to a personal assistant contract. (Certification of Jayne Howard, at ¶ 10)

When sending students to MCSSSD, Trenton maintains responsibility for the provision of services and ensures compliance with a student's IEP. N.J.A.C. 6A:14-7.1(b). However, it is MCSSSD that implements the IEP and actually provides the services. See Frequently Asked Questions Regarding the Provision of Related Services for Students Placed by Local Education Agencies in NJ Approved Private Schools for Students with Disabilities (FAQ), MCSSSD Reply Brief, Exhibit 1. It follows that MCSSSD would maintain some autonomy in providing the services and programs that it is charged with administering. Indeed, the legislature has given MCSSSD "the power to appoint or employ such officers, agents and employees as may be required to carry out the provisions of P.L. 1971, c.271 and to fix and determine their qualifications, duties, compensation, terms of office and all other conditions and terms of employment and retention." N.J.S.A. 18A:46-38.

There is no legal authority for Trenton to unilaterally require MCSSSD to use Trenton's contracted vendor for individual aides when MCSSSD is otherwise able to provide that service. As such, MCSSSD is not prohibited from providing its own individual aides.[1]

[1] The Commissioner notes that nothing prohibits Trenton and MCSSSD from agreeing upon the use of Trenton's individual aides when entering into their personal assistant contract. To the extent that the parties may dispute the terms of or compliance with the personal assistant contract for individual aides, the Commissioner would not have jurisdiction over that contract dispute because it does not arise out of New Jersey school law. N.J.S.A. 18A:6-9.

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

The Trenton Board of Education (Trenton or the Board) appeals the refusal of the Mercer County Special Services School District's (MCSSSD) refusal to permit it to supply individual aides to special education students that Trenton places at MCSSD.

Trenton attempted to file a petition for relief on September 24, 2015, but that filing was rejected for being procedurally deficient. Trenton re-filed the petition on October 2, 2015. The matter was thereafter transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), on October 15, 2015, for hearing and determination as a contested case. N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15; N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13. Telephone conferences were held on December 17, 2015, February 3, 2016, and March 17, 2016. The parties agreed that testimony was not needed and that they would submit cross motions for summary decision. Petitioner and respondent filed a Motion for Summary Decision on May 2, 2016. Petitioner and respondent filed opposition on June 1, 2016. Petitioner filed a responsive brief in opposition to respondent's motion on June 10, 2016, and respondent submitted a reply brief on June 21, 2016.

ISSUES

1. Whether a sending school district (SSD) can force a special services school district (SSSD) to use individual aided provided by a third party agency.

2. Whether this issue is moot because the school year ended.

3. Whether the petition was filed after the ninety-day limitation period had lapsed.

4. Whether petitioner violated the Open Public Meetings Act (OPMA) when it decided to bring litigation in an executive session.

FACTUAL DISCUSSION

This matter arises out of MCSSSD refusal to allow Trenton to supply the individual aides assigned to special education students that Trenton places at MCSSSD. Petitioner's Brief in Support of Motion for Summary Decision, 1.

Between 2015 and 2017, Trenton reduced its budget by more than $12 million due to a reduction in funding. Id. at 3. To do this, Trenton sought alternative, more cost efficient, ways to deliver services to its students. Id. at 1.

To reduce its budget, Trenton eliminated 460 full-time positions, including paraprofessionals/individual aides who are assigned to students with disabilities. Id. at 3. On March 23, 2015, the Board voted to abolish all paraprofessional positions within the district. Id. At the same meeting, the Board authorized the preparation of a request for proposal for an agency to provide aides or paraprofessionals for its special education students for the 2015-16 school year. Id. The contract was awarded to Insight Workforce Solutions (Insight). Id. For the 2015-2016 school year, all aides assigned to special education students in Trenton are supplied through Insight. Id.

Trenton also determined that cost savings could be realized if Insight provided the individual aides assigned to those Trenton students placed in out-of-district programs, rather than paying these placements separately for services of an individual aide. Id. Insight charges $132.99 per day for each aide, while MCSSSD charges $195 per day for an aide. Id. at 3-4. Also, if the student requiring an aide is absent for a day, the aide provided by Insight does not report that day and Trenton is not charged for that day. Id. at 3. MCSSSD bills Trenton regardless of whether the student is present or absent in school on a particular day. Id. at 4.

If Trenton had not paid MCSSSD for aides when a student requiring the aide was absent, Trenton would have saved $268,515 on the service of individual aides over the last three school years. Id. at 5.

Each school year Trenton and MCSSSD enter into a Special Education Tuition Contract Agreement that covers the cost of all educational services associated with each student's placement at MCSSSD, except for the cost of an individual aide. Id. Trenton is billed separately for the cost of an individual aide. Id.

On May 15, 2015, in a telephone call, Trenton requested that it be permitted to assign individual aides to its students at MCSSSD. Respondent's Brief in Support of Motion to Dismiss/Motion for Summary Decision, 7. On June 9, 2015, by email Trenton reiterated its request to assign aides provided by a third-party staffing agency. Id. On June 15, 2015, MCSSSD sent Trenton a letter denying its request, explaining that MCSSSD believes that the aides should be fully accountable to its management and that such a change would likely disrupt the learning environment, cause a crisis in employee relations, and require broad policy changes at MCSSSD. Id. at 8.

On July 6, 2015, Trenton communicated to MCSSSD its position that Trenton has the right to limit reimbursement for the costs of the aides assigned by MCSSSD to an amount equal to what Trenton would pay if it hired the aides through a third-party agency. Id. at 10. MCSSSD asserted that it alone has the right to appoint and determine the compensation of aides that are assigned to students educated at MCSSSD. Id. On July 22, 2015, MCSSSD sent a letter to Trenton stating that if Trenton sends a student to MCSSSD who requires an aide under an IEP, then Trenton is obligated to pay for the cost of the aide MCSSSD assigns to the student. Id. On July 29, 2015, MCSSSD wrote Trenton again reiterating its denial. Id. On July 30, 2015, Trenton responded stating that it understood MCSSSD's position, but maintained its disagreement with that position. Id. at 11. In August 2015, a meeting between Trenton and MCSSSD took place to discuss the disagreement. Petitioner's Opposition Brief, 7. The parties were unable to come to a resolution and, after this meeting, Trenton decided to file this petition. Id.

For the 2015-2016 school year, twenty-two of the students Trenton placed at MCSSSD require an individual aide. Id. As of September 17, 2015, Trenton maintains that it will only reimburse MCSSSD for the amount that it would have paid if it had provided aides to those students through a third-party agency. Respondent's Brief in Support of Motion to Dismiss/Motion for Summary Decision, at 10.

Trenton has not publicly discussed, or solicited public input for, the issue of forcing MCSSSD to accept individual aides provided by a third-party agency. Id. During a Board meeting on September 21, 2015, Trenton adjourned to executive session to discuss whether to authorize the filing of the instant petition. Petitioner's Opposition Brief, 18. During this executive session Trenton authorized the filing of this petition. Id. However, Trenton did not pass a formal resolution to authorize the filing of the petition. Id.

Trenton attempted to file a petition on September 24, 2015, but that filing was rejected for being procedurally deficient. Id. Trenton re-filed this Petition on October 2, 2015. Respondent's Brief in Support of Motion to Dismiss/Motion for Summary Decision, at 10.

MCSSSD filed an answer on October 14, 2015. Id. On May 2, 2016, MCSSSD filed a Motion to Dismiss and, alternatively, a Motion for Summary Decision on the basis that: 1) Trenton failed to state a claim upon which relief can be granted; 2) the case is moot because the 2015-16 school year is over; 3) Trenton's petition is time-barred; 4) Trenton violated the OPMA; and 5) Trenton cannot show that MCSSSD's decision was arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable. Respondent's Brief in Support of Motion to Dismiss/Motion for Summary Decision.

On May 3, 2016, Trenton filed a Motion for Summary Decision claiming that: 1) the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act ("IDEA") permits Trenton to supply individual aides to students at out-of-district placements; 2) the parties contractual agreement has no effect on Trenton's ability to supply aides; 3) the aides Trenton would supply are qualified and trained; and 4) supplying its own aides would provide Trenton significant cost savings. Petitioner's Brief in Support of Motion for Summary Decision.

LEGAL ANALYSIS AND CONCLUSION

A motion for summary decision may be granted if the papers and discovery presented, as well as any affidavits which may have been filed with the application, show that there is no genuine issue of material fact and the moving party is entitled to prevail as a matter of law. N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(b). If the motion is sufficiently supported, the non-moving party must demonstrate by affidavit that there is a genuine issue of fact, which can only be determined in an evidentiary proceeding, in order to prevail in such an application. Ibid. These provisions mirror the summary judgment language of R. 4:46-2 (c) of the New Jersey Court Rules. The motion judge must "consider whether competent evidential materials presented, when viewed in the light most favorable to the non-moving party . . . are sufficient to permit a rational fact finder to resolve the alleged disputed issue in favor of the non-moving party." Brill v. Guardian Life Insurance Company of American, 142 N.J. 520, 523 (1995).

In New Jersey, under R. 4:6-2, a party may file a motion to dismiss for failure to state a claim upon which relief can be granted before filing an answer to a complaint. N.J. Court Rules, R. 4:6-2(e). If, on a motion to dismiss based on the failure to state a claim upon which relief can be granted, "matters outside the pleading are presented to and not excluded by the court, the motion shall be treated as one for summary judgment and disposed of as provided by R. 4:46, and all parties shall be given reasonable opportunity to present all material pertinent to such a motion."

"On a motion made pursuant to R. 4:6-2(e) 'the inquiry is confined to a consideration of the legal sufficiency of the alleged facts apparent on the face of the challenged claim.'" Rieder v. State, 221 N.J. Super. 547, 552 (App.Div. 1987); P. & J. Auto Body v. Miller, 72 N.J. Super. 207, 211 (App.Div.1962). "The court may not consider anything other than whether the complaint states a cognizable cause of action." Id. For the purpose of deciding the motion to dismiss, "all facts alleged in the complaint and legitimate inferences drawn therefrom are deemed admitted." Id; see also Heavner v. Uniroyal, Inc., 63 N.J. 130, 133 (1973); Polk v. Schwartz, 166 N.J. Super. 292, 299 (App.Div.1979).

Motions to dismiss should be granted in "only the rarest [of] instances." Banco Popular N. Am. v. Gandi, 184 N.J. 161, 165 (2005); (quoting Printing Mart-Morristown v. Sharp Elecs. Corp., 116 N.J. 739, 772 (1989)). A complaint should not be dismissed under R. 4:6-2(e) "where a cause of action is suggested by the facts and a theory of actionability may be articulated by way of amendment." Rieder, supra, 221 N.J. Super. at 552. "However, a dismissal is mandated where the factual allegations are palpably insufficient to support a claim upon which relief can be granted." Id.

Courts must search the complaint:

> in depth and with liberality to ascertain whether the fundament of a cause of action may be gleaned even from an obscure statement of claim, opportunity being given to amend if necessary. At this preliminary stage of the litigation [a] [c]ourt [should not be] concerned with the ability of plaintiffs to prove the allegation contained in the complaint. . . . [P]laintiffs are entitled to every reasonable inference of fact. The examination of a complaint's allegations of fact required by the aforestated principles should be one that is at once painstaking and undertaken with a generous and hospitable approach.

If the complaint states no basis for relief, and discovery would not provide one, dismissal is the appropriate remedy. Id. at 166.

1. Whether Trenton may provide its own individual aides to students at MCSSSD.

The primary purpose of the IDEA, 20 U.S.C. 1400 to 1487, is to ensure that all disabled children will be provided a FAPE. 20 U.S.C. 1400(d)(1)(A). New Jersey has also enacted legislation and adopted regulations that assure all disabled children the right to a FAPE. See N.J.S.A. 18A:46-1 to -46. Under the IDEA, a FAPE requires special education and related services that "(a) have been provided at public expense, under public supervision and direction, and without charge; (b) meet the standards of the State educational agency; (c) include an appropriate preschool, elementary, or secondary school education in the State involved; and (d) are provided in conformity with the IEP required under Sec. 614." 20 U.S.C. 1401(9).

"At the beginning of each school year, each local educational agency, State educational agency, or other State agency . . . shall have in effect, for each child with a disability in the agency's jurisdiction, an [IEP] . . . ." 20 U.S.C. 1414(d)(2)(A). The IEP is the "'centerpiece' of the IDEA's system for delivering education to disabled children." D.S. v. Bayonne Bd. of Educ., 602 F.3d 553, 557 (3d Cir. 2010). The IEP ensures a student receives a "basic floor of opportunity," but not necessarily "the optimal level of services" a student could receive. Id. (quoting Holmes ex rel. Holmes v. Millcreek Twp. Sch. Dist., 205 F.3d 583 (3d Cir. 2000). "[A]t a minimum, '[t]he IEP must be reasonably calculated to enable the child to receive meaningful educational benefits in light of the student's intellectual potential.'" Chambers v. Sch. Dist. of Philadelphia Bd. of Educ., 587 F.3d 176, 182 (3d Cir. 2009).

It is undisputed that Trenton is the educational agency responsible for creating IEPs for children with disabilities that reside within its jurisdiction. However, as a receiving school, MCSSSD is the entity responsible for implementing the IEP.

"Receiving schools include educational services commissions, jointure commissions, regional day schools, county special services school districts, the Marie H. Katzenbach School for the Deaf, approved private schools for students with disabilities (that may or may not provide residential services) and public college operated programs for students with disabilities." N.J.A.C. 6A:14-7.1(a). Receiving schools must be approved by the Department of Education "to provide programs for students with disabilities through contracts with district boards of education." Id. "For a student in a program operated by or under contract with the Department of Education, the district board of education retains responsibility for the provision of programs and services under this chapter." N.J.A.C. 6A:14-7.1(b). "Even if a private school or facility implements a child's IEP, responsibility for compliance with this part remains with the public agency and the State educational agency." 34 C.F.R. 300.325(c).

While the district board of education must create an IEP for every student who is receiving special education and related services, these IEPs must be accessible to each "regular education teacher, special education teacher, related services provider, and other service provider who is responsible for its implementation." N.J.A.C. 6A:14-3.7(a)(1) and (2). To fulfill its responsibilities for ensuring a FAPE:

> [t]he district board of education shall inform each teacher and provider described in (a)2 above of his or her specific responsibilities related to implementing the student's IEP and the specific accommodations, modifications, and supports to be provided for the student in accordance with the IEP. The district board of education shall maintain documentation that the teacher and provider, as applicable, has been informed of his or her specific responsibilities related to implementing the student's IEP.
> [N.J.A.C. 6A:14-3.7(a)(3).]

A SSSD may be created by a board of chosen freeholders of any county to provide "education and treatment of handicapped children, as such children are defined in N.J.S.A. 18A:46-1, upon its finding that the need for such county special services school district exists." N.J.S.A. 18A:46-29. These schools must "accept all eligible pupils within the county, so far as facilities permit." N.J.S.A. 18A:46-31(a).

The SSSD is governed by its own board of education. N.J.S.A. 18A:46-38. The SSSD's board:

> shall organize and operate in the manner provided by law and shall have the power to appoint or employ such officers, agents and employees as may be required to carry out the provisions of P.L.1971, c.271 and to fix and determine their qualifications, duties, compensation, terms of office and all other conditions and terms of employment and retention. In addition, the board shall have all the powers as are now or may hereafter be provided by law and applicable for other school districts, subject to the additional restrictions provided by this act.

The Legislature passed N.J.S.A. 18A:46-38 to clarify "that employment matters of [SSSD] boards are governed by Title 18A of the New Jersey Statutes." Legislative History. The Legislature intended that SSSD boards have broad employment powers and that they possess the same powers as county vocational schools and county community colleges. Id.

Under Title 18A, a school board may "make, amend and repeal rules . . . for the employment, regulation of conduct and discharge of its employees." N.J.S.A. 18A:11-1(c). Additionally, "[e]ach board of education may make rules . . . governing the employment, terms and tenure of employment, promotion and dismissal, and salaries and time and mode of payment thereof of teaching staff members for the district . . . ." N.J.S.A. 18A:27-4.

"Any board of education, jointure commission, or private school for the handicapped which receives pupils from a sending district under this chapter shall determine a tuition rate to be paid by the sending board of education." N.J.S.A. 18A:46-21. "This tuition rate may not exceed the actual cost per pupil as determined under rules prescribed by the commissioner and approved by the State Board of Education." Id. Extraordinary services provided to special education students for which a district board of education may bill directly are not included in the actual cost per student for tuition purposes. N.J.A.C. 6A:23A-17.1(e)(5)(viii).

Both parties agree that a New Jersey Department of Education guidance memo on the costs for related services for students placed at approved private schools for students with disabilities ("PSSD") is instructive on this matter. Petitioner's Brief in Further Support of Motion for Summary Decision in Response to Opposition, 3; Respondent's Brief in Opposition to Petitioner's Motion for Summary Decision, Exhibit 1. This includes a memo from the Office of Special Education Programs addressing frequently asked questions regarding the provision of related services for students placed at approved private schools for students with disabilities. Frequently Asked Questions Regarding the Provision of Related Services for Students Placed by Local Education Agencies in NJ Approved Private Schools for Students with Disabilities (Feb. 9, 2016), Revised (May 3, 2016).

"Extraordinary services are defined by regulation as 'the services of a one-to-one aide for a student.'" Id. at Question 1.; See N.J.A.C. 6A:23A-18.1. "No other service qualifies as extraordinary services." Id. Related services include "counseling, occupational therapy, physical therapy, school nurse services, recreation, social work services, medical services and speech-language services" and must be provided "to a student with a disability when required for the student to benefit from the educational program." Id. at Question 2.

The PSSD charges the sending district for related services by including the cost of the services in the tuition rate. Id. at Question 3. The costs of related services required by an IEP must be included in the tuition rate unless the service required "is beyond what is typically provided during the school day, or the nature of the related services requires that it be provided beyond the school day/operating hours." Id. For these services, "the PSSD may address the costs and provision of such related services through a separate agreement with the sending district." Id. "[T]he PSSD shall include in the tuition rate the costs related to services that are typically provided during the school day, and may work with a sending district on an agreement relating to the provision of and cost(s) associated with providing [services beyond what is typically provided]." Id. "The sending district, the sending district's vendors, PSSD staff members, and/or approved clinics or agencies and/or certified individuals, can provide related services." Id. at Question 9.

Here, Trenton is responsible for creating an IEP for all students with disabilities within its jurisdiction to ensure these students receive a FAPE. When these students are sent to MCSSSD, MCSSSD becomes responsible for implementing the IEPs provided by Trenton and Trenton becomes responsible for ensuring MCSSSD complies with the IEPs.

MCSSSD is a SSSD created by a County Board of Freeholders to provide "education and treatment of handicapped children." As such, it has its own board of education, which is governed by Title 18A of the New Jersey statutory code. Under Title 18A, and as clarified by the Legislature, MCSSSD is in charge of its own employment matters including hiring, conduct, and compensation.

As a receiving school, MCSSSD determines a yearly tuition rate for its students, which is paid by Trenton. It is undisputed that individual aides are an extraordinary service and are not included in this tuition rate. Trenton claims that because these services are charged in a separate agreement, it is free to provide individual aides for its students through a separate vendor.

However, while it is Trenton's responsibility to ensure that MCSSSD complies with each student's IEP, it is MCSSSD's responsibility to provide the students with the required aides in its school. As evidenced by the Legislature granting MCSSSD control over its employment decisions, MCSSSD is free to provide aides through its own staff, Trenton, or Trenton's vendors. MCSSSD may then work with Trenton on an agreement relating to the costs of the aides. Under N.J.A.C. 6A:23A-17.1(e)(5)(viii), individual aides are an extraordinary service which MCSSSD may bill directly to Trenton. However, there is no authority that states that Trenton may unilaterally force MCSSSD to accept Trenton's preferred individual aides. Thus, Trenton has failed to raise a claim upon which relief can be granted.

2. Whether the issue of cost of individual aides is moot because the 2015-16 school year is over.

The Constitution limits the judiciary to the adjudication of actual cases and controversies. U.S. CONST. art III, § 2. "'[A] case is moot when the issues presented are no longer 'live' or the parties lack a legally cognizable interest in the outcome.'" Donovan v. Punxsutawney Area Sch. Bd., 336 F.3d 211, 216 (3d Cir. 2003)(citing Powell v. McCormack, 395 U.S. 486, 496, 23 L. Ed. 491, 89 S. Ct. 1944 (1969)). "The court's ability to grant effective relief lies at the heart of the mootness doctrine." Id. (citation omitted).

If developments evolve during the "course of adjudication" that negate the plaintiff's interest in the outcome of a case or prevent a court from being able to give the requested relief, the suit must be dismissed as moot. Id. "This requirement that a case or controversy be 'actual [and] ongoing' extends throughout all stages of . . . judicial proceedings . . . ." Id. (citing Khodara Envtl., Inc. v. Beckman, 237 F.3d 186, 193 (3rd Cir. 2001).

However, one exception to the mootness doctrine occurs when the issue is "capable of repetition, yet evading review." Weinstein v. Bradford, 423 U.S. 147, 149, 46 L. Ed. 2d 350, 96 S. Ct. 347 (1975) (per curiam). This exception is limited to when "(1) the challenged action was in its duration too short to be fully litigated prior to its cessation or expiration, and (2) there was a reasonable expectation that the same complaining party would be subjected to the same action again." Id. Conduct is capable of repetition if there is a reasonable expectation or a demonstrated probability that the same controversy will recur. Honig v. Doe, 484 U.S. 305 (1988).

Here, Trenton continues to send students who require individual aides to MCSSSD every school year. Thus, even though the 2015-16 school year has concluded, the issue of payment for individual aides is capable of repetition.

Litigation necessarily takes longer than a single school year. Therefore, if this matter is deemed moot at the conclusion of each school year, then Trenton would never be able to fully litigate the issue of responsibility for payment of individual aides.

Because the challenged action is too short to be fully litigated prior to its expiration, and the conduct is capable of repetition, this matter is not moot.

3. Whether Trenton's petition was filed outside of the limitations period.

It is undisputed that time period to file a petition in this case is 90 days. N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(i):

> The petitioner shall file a petition no later than the 90th day from the date of receipt of the notice of a final order, ruling or other action by the district board of education, individual party, or agency, which is the subject of the requested contested case hearing. This rule shall not apply in instances where a specific statute, regulation or court order provides for a period of limitation shorter than 90 days for the filing of a particular type of appeal. [Id.]

The limitations period does not begin to run "until [the] plaintiff learns, or reasonably should learn, the existence of that state of facts which may equate in law with a cause of action." Burd v. New Jersey Tel. Co., 76 N.J. 284, 291 (1978).

Here, Trenton filed the current petition against MCSSSD on October 2, 2015. MCSSSD initially denied Trenton's request to provide its own individual aides on June 15, 2015. However, under the DOE Guidance Memo, MCSSSD may work with Trenton "on an agreement relating to the provision of and cost(s) associated with providing [services beyond what is typically provided]." Frequently Asked Questions Regarding the Provision of Related Services for Students Placed by Local Education Agencies in NJ Approved Private Schools for Students with Disabilities (Feb. 9, 2016) ,Revised (May 3, 2016) https://education.state.nj.us/broadcasts/2016/MAY/03/14893/REVISED%20FAQ%20for%20APPSDs.pdf.

Throughout July 2015, Trenton and MCSSSD clarified their positions and attempted to negotiate an arrangement for providing the aides. In August 2015, the parties met to discuss the issue and find a resolution. However, a resolution could not be reached. It is at this time that a potential cause of action arose. Before negotiations concluded there was no notice of actions that could have given rise to a cause of action. The limitations period began to run only after it became clear that a resolution would not be possible. Otherwise, the limitations period would encourage litigation before attempting to resolve the issue amicably

4. Whether Trenton violated the OPMA by deciding to bring this petition in executive session.

The OPMA protects "a strong tradition both in this State and in the nation favoring public involvement in almost every aspect of government." Polillo v. Deane, 74 N.J. 562, 569 (N.J. 1977). In the OPMA, the Legislature declared "that the right of the public to be present at all meetings of public bodies . . . is vital to the enhancement and proper functioning of the democratic process; that secrecy in public affairs undermines the faith of the public in government and the public's effectiveness in fulfilling its role in a democratic society, . . . ." N.J.S.A. 10:4-7. It also declared:

> . . . it to be the public policy of this State to insure the right of its citizens to have adequate advance notice of and the right to attend all meetings of public bodies at which any business affecting the public is discussed or acted upon in any way except only in those circumstances where otherwise the public interest would be clearly endangered or the personal privacy or guaranteed rights of individuals would be clearly in danger of unwarranted invasion.

The board may hold an executive session to discuss certain issues in private. N.J.S.A. 10:4-12(b):

> A public body may exclude the public only from that portion of a meeting at which the public body discusses any pending or anticipated litigation or contract negotiation . . . in which the public body is, or may become, a party to the extent that confidentiality is required in order for the attorney to exercise his ethical duties as a lawyer;
> [N.J.S.A. 10:4-12(b)(7).]

"[T]he Legislature merely provided that the public could be excluded when a public body 'discusses' any of the enumerated topics." Houman v. Pompton Lakes, 155 N.J. Super. 129, 155-156 (1977). The "legislative history, when considered in conjunction with the deleted definition of 'act upon or discuss,' clearly evidences that the Legislature distinguished between meetings where final votes are taken and those where only preliminary discussions occur, and did not intend, by the use of the word 'discuss,' to incorporate into N.J.S.A. 10:4-12(b) the limitation on public access to governmental vote taking contained in N.J.S.A. 10:4-4."

Under the OPMA, if a public body takes action that does not conform to the OPMA, the actions are voidable in a proceeding in lieu of prerogative writ in the Superior Court. N.J.S.A. 10:4-15(a). Any person may bring this action within forty-five days of when the action sought to be voided has been made public. Id.

Here, during executive session Trenton authorized the filing of this petition. Because this decision concerned anticipated litigation or contract negotiation, the public could be excluded from that portion of the meeting. However, it is unclear as to whether Trenton took the final vote on the authorization in a public session during the meeting on September 21, 2015. If Trenton never publicly authorized litigation, its action may be void under the OPMA. However, since neither MCSSSD, nor any other person, challenged Trenton's action within forty-five days, the time to initiate a proceeding to find the action void has lapsed.

CONCLUSION

I CONCLUDE, that there is no genuine issue of material fact and the respondent is entitled to judgment as a matter of law. I FURTHER CONCLUDE that MCSSSD is not obligated to use the individual aides that Trenton recommends. Trenton has not raised a claim upon which relief can be granted and MCSSSD's Motion to Dismiss should be granted.

ORDER

Accordingly, I hereby ORDER that respondent, Mercer County Special Services School District's Motion for Summary Decision is GRANTED. It is FURTHER ORDERED that petitioner, Trenton Board of Education's Motion for Summary Decision is DENIED.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

INTRODUCTION

The underlying dispute over this dismissal action by the Newark School District arose from multiple incidents alleged to have occurred in the Tenured Teacher's class ['Character Education'] during the 2014-15 school -year. The allegations began with a 2nd Grade student complaining to his parent and thereafter moved forward to investigation when similar complaints were heard. Investigations revealed that 'Teacher' had committed multiple infractions; thereafter resulting in charges that her behavior had been, "inappropriate, irresponsible and unprofessional". [Board's Brief]

In a related procedural matter, Parties' Counsel mutually reached agreement, thereafter stipulating all evidence in this proceeding would be limited to the 2014-15 School Year. Notwithstanding this limitation the Teacher testified to and her post Hearing Brief itself raises prior history of her employment at the Newark School District;

> "She commenced employment with the NPS in 2003. 6/21/16, 8:22-24. She acquired tenure in her position with the District. In 2013, having successfully defended tenure charges brought against her by the District alleging inefficiency, absenteeism[1] and misconduct, Ms. Mansfield was ordered to be reinstated to a position in the NPS in February, 2013. 6/21/16, 11:6-9; See, IMO Mansfield and the State Operated School District of the City of Newark, (Arb. Gandel), 2/7/13. (J1:53-117)" [Teacher Brief]

December 3, 2013, citing the Teacher's own testimony at arbitration of this matter, the District's Brief also refers to similar prior history (as above, Teacher's Brief); "Mansfield's most recent assignment as a teacher for Newark Public Schools was at Miller Street School. See Transcript, Volume IV, 9:1-3. She was first assigned to teach at Miller Street School on December 3, 2013. See Transcript, Volume IV, 9:4-6; 14:5-8. Mansfield was assigned by the Principal to teach first grade; at first, as an assistant to another teacher, and then later alone. See Transcript, Volume IV, 21:24-23:3; and 68:18-69:6." [Board's Brief]

[1] The 2013 charge for absenteeism was sustained, but all other charges were dismissed and she was ordered reinstated to a District position in February, 2013.

February 7-20, 2014; the 'Teacher' raises a series of concerns she had expressed after the above referenced 'reinstatement'. ["...lack of adequate training on curriculum; not receiving teacher information booklet (2 months after returning); lack of observation opportunities; computer trainings; access to evaluation portals, et al"] [Teacher Brief]

June 6, 2014; using this date for Teacher's bona fide leave; "...she stopped working altogether because she had to take care of a medical issue. See Transcript, Volume IV, 10:1-7; 30:24-32."; the District provides no continuity per se to its argument(s) with the possible exception of providing a 'bridge' between Teacher's two supervising Principals at Miller School. [Board's Brief]

2014-2015; during this, "... academic year Lynderia Mansfield, was employed by the Newark, NJ Board of Education ("Board" or "District") as a tenured teacher of Character Education. This matter stems from tenure charges ... filed against her for Unbecoming Conduct, Incompetence, Insubordination and Other Just Cause pursuant to the Tenure Employees Hearing Law, N.J.S.A. 18A:6-10, et seq. [Board documents]

September 2, 2014; "Apparently, she returned to work in September 2014 and was again assigned to go back to Miller Street School on..., where Principal Cepero was now principal. See Transcript, Volume IV, 10:9-11; 31:7-17, and 21:32; 70:15-71:1 " [Board's Brief]

February 20, 2015; the Teacher's Brief [Pg. 5.] alleges, "...On February 20, 2014, however, Ms. Mansfield was called to the office in response to an anonymous call made to the office of Institutional Abuse Investigations Unit (IAIU). She was transferred to the District's central offices while the investigation proceeded.* [Teacher Brief, possible typo.in date]

The District uses this 2015 date as a 'benchmark' of sorts; alleging that some two weeks prior to it there existed an, "...anonymous complaint triggering IAIU's most recent investigation of Mansfield, she met with her former mentor and current Miller Street School Principal Cepero in February 2015 to address B.R.'s [a Student in the Teacher's class] complaints regarding her inappropriate yelling and treatment of other students, namely two boys who sat at B.R's table during class". [Board's Brief; referencing Transcript, Volume III, 14:1-16 ]

[Board Brief and Teacher Brief]

December, 2015; "The present tenure charges commenced with the filing of a Notice of Charges on Ms. Mansfield by the District in December, 2015. A letter in lieu of a Statement of Position was timely filed by Ms. Mansfield." [Teacher Brief]

February 25, 2016; "The District resolved to file the charges alleging conduct unbecoming on or about February 25, 2016. The charges were so certified and filed with the Commissioner of Education. An Answer was timely filed on behalf of Ms. Mansfield. [Teacher Brief]

March 24, 2016; this Arbitrator is appointed to this matter by the NJ State Board of Education.

April 7, 2016; pre-Hearing Conference with parties' Counsel and Arbitrator held telephonically.

May24, 2016; first Hearing in this matter occurs at the NJ State Board offices in Trenton, NJ. As scheduled, primary purpose was to jointly review DOE records subpoenaed by Teacher.

June 2 and 14, 2016; Day 2 and Day 3 Hearings are held.

June 21, 2016; Day 4 [Final Hearing] takes place consistent with prior scheduling, earlier 'Stipulations' and is conducted by agreement [Counsel/Arbitrator]. During four (4) hearings, each side had full opportunity to present written exhibits, sworn testimony, cross-examination and rebuttal. Tenured Teacher was present during the evidentiary Hearings [#2, 3, and 4], given opportunity to and did testify in her own behalf. Each Party agreed to written closings and the terms of submission.

July 06-12, 2016; the transcribed record of hearing was received in several batches.

July 22-26, 2016; by agreed upon schedule [after Parties requested extension] to file closing submissions electronically with the Arbitrator, thereafter mailing same with cited materials to one another and the Arbitrator; both briefs [+ materials] were received between these dates.

July 28, 2016; additionally, a potential filing of reply briefs was anticipated and addressed, with the District (solely) requesting same in the appointed time provided. In a conference call with both Counsel present, the District's rationale for filing a Reply brief was heard. Based upon lack of good cause shown District's request was denied by Arbitrator [Teacher's Counsel requested opportunity to rebut/reply if the District were allowed, but the rebuttal request became moot]

The Hearing record was declared closed at this juncture. Prior, several calendar extensions were sought and granted by the NJ, D. of E.; due to protracted hearing schedules, delay in transcript hearing records, and extension requests.

September 26, 2016; decision rendered, filed with the NJ COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION.

ISSUE;

While the District did not stipulate per se to the following question posed by Teacher's Counsel, the request is deemed relevant to all proceedings, found to be coherent and thus appearing logical to inquire:

"...whether the District has proven the tenure charges by a preponderance of the evidence sufficient to warrant termination." [Teacher's Brief; highlighting for emphasis]

Also, given that her Counsel posed an alternative remedy to the dismissal action taken against the Teacher, the following is a potentially viable question as well:

'If not, what shall be the remedy?'

BACKGROUND, FACTS and PARTY POSITIONS

The following background/positions are deemed appropriate for consideration as gleaned from the Parties respective positions;

The District contends: "This matter involves tenure charges of unbecoming conduct, corporal punishment, insubordination, and other just cause filed against Lynderia Mansfield (hereinafter referred to as "Mansfield"), a tenured teaching staff member employed by the Newark Public Schools (hereinafter referred to as "District"). The District respectfully seeks Mansfield's removal from employment based upon indisputable evidence presented during the arbitration hearing demonstrating Ms. Mansfield's pattern of inappropriate physical contact with her second grade students during the 2014-2015 school year, and her failure to cooperate in the District's investigative interview regarding same. [Board's Brief]

By the Teacher: "Lynderia Mansfield ("Ms. Mansfield"), a tenured employee of Petitioner, the State-Operated School District of the City of Newark ("NPS" or "District"), stands accused of conduct unbecoming." [Teacher's Brief]

Moreover, argues the Teacher; "Because the record below establishes that the District failed at arbitration to prove by a preponderance of the evidence that Ms. Mansfield has engaged in conduct unbecoming a teacher, the charges should be dismissed in their entirety. In the alternative, Ms. Mansfield urges the Arbitrator to consider the doctrine of progressive discipline and, given the many mitigating circumstances, find in favor of a lesser penalty than dismissal." [Teacher's Brief]

The Board's views of the educational principles involved appear sound and undisputed; "A teacher is entrusted with the care and custody of children with the hope that this trust will result in their maximum educational growth and development. Teachers not only impart knowledge regarding reading, writing and math, but they mold habits and attitudes and influence the opinions of their young pupils. Teachers are therefore considered role models and mentors." [Board's Brief]

Each side submitted well-drafted and heavily documented post-hearing Briefs containing their significant 'Points' of view. Carrying the burden of proof the District submitted:

I. THE DISTRICT HAS PROVEN THE TENURE CHARGES BY A PREPONDERANCE OF THE CREDIBLE EVIDENCE.
II. MANSFIELD HAS FAILED TO PROVE THAT RETALIATION WAS THE REASON FOR THE TENURE CHARGE HEREIN.
III. THERE IS NO BASIS FOR CONSIDERING THE TESTIMONY OF THE CHILDREN AS BEING LESS CREDIBLE THAN ANY OTHER WITNESS OR TO NOT CONSIDER THE STATEMENTS MADE BY THE CHILDREN TO IAIU AND DURING THE DISTRICT'S INVESTIGATION
IV. THE PROPER PENALTY IS THE REMOVAL OF MANSFIELD FROM HER TENURED POSITION

[Board's Brief]

In significantly greater detail, the District explored each of these 'Points' consistent with the evidence presented and its arguments in support thereof. Primary emphasis was placed upon the reliability of testimony at hearing involving the allegations of Teacher's actions in, "Screaming... Withholding of Bathroom Privileges... Inappropriate Physical Contact"; i.e., against the Students in her care. In further support were arguments in favor of the integrity of the investigatory process used to confirm the basis for the District's charges.

Specifically in regard to the investigation was the additional charge that the Tenured Teacher was also guilty of Insubordination, essentially by failing to cooperate with the investigating official [District's Manager of Compliance and Tenure, Ms. Takyi] attempting to meet with her during the interview process. The District's Brief recounted the testimony of both, the Teacher and Ms. Takyi. The District reflects on the testimony of both, charging that she:

"... did not appear for her interview, not once, but twice, after being directed to do so by her employer, it is undeniable that Mansfield's actions were purposeful and an act of insubordination [Board's Brief]

In rejoinder to the District's Brief the Teacher's defense(s) rest primarily upon the premise that there was a failure of evidence or proof required at hearing. Thus, the Teacher's 'Points' claim that the District failed to meet its burden of proof:

I. THE DISTRICT'S FAILURE TO PROVE THE CHARGES AGAINST MS. MANSFIELD BY A PREPONDERANCE OF THE EVIDENCE WARRANTS DISMISSAL OF ALL THE CHARGES

II. THE STUDENTS' TESTIMONY IS NOT CREDIBLE, IS UNSUPPORTED, AND INSUFFICIENT TO SUSTAIN THE CHARGES

III. DISMISSAL IS UNWARRANTED AND TOO SEVERE A PENALTY UNDER THE CIRCUMSTANCES

IV. THE DISTRICT'S CHARGES WERE FILED IN RETALIATION FOR THE AWARD ISSUED IN FEBRUARY 2013 ORDERING MS. MANSFIELD'S REINSTATEMENT AND FOR HER OUTSPOKENESS REGARDING HER REINSTATEMENT IN THE SOUTH WARD AND REPORTING OF THE UNLAWFUL ASSIGNMENT TEACHING OUTSIDE OF HER CERTIFICATION

[Teacher's Brief]

Continuing in a well-documented Brief, the Teacher argues certain required standards were not followed, i.e., standard of review, seriousness of a teacher's status, etc.:

"..., a tenured employee's status must be taken seriously, with special attention to the procedures followed by the District. In Re Tenure Hearing of Claudia Ashe-Gilkes, City of East Orange School District, 2009 WL 246266 (Jan. 12, 2209), adopted by the Commissioner of Education (May 28, 2009)."

[Teacher's Brief]

All of the above arguments, positions and evidence adduced at four (4) hearings were taken into careful consideration. Moreover, each Party concluded its views as follows.

In summary of the Board's Position, at the 'Conclusion' of its Brief,

"As outlined above, the statutes and case law are clear. Mansfield, as a teacher, was to serve as a model of appropriate behavior during his daily interactions with students. Instead, Mansfield engaged in a pattern of inappropriate conduct with students, and then was insubordinate when she failed to cooperate in the District's investigation as to whether her actions constituted harassment, intimidation, or bullying. The testimony of the students and two of their parents, along with her pattern of screaming and improper physical contact with students at Miller Street Elementary School, leaves no doubt and no alternative that Mansfield is not fit to serve as a teacher and must be removed from her tenured teaching position"

[Board's Brief]

In summary of the Teacher's Position, at the 'Conclusion' of its Brief,

"For the foregoing reasons, the tenure charges against Ms. Mansfield should be dismissed and she should be reinstated to a teaching position, together with any back pay, benefits, and emoluments, retroactive to the date the tenure charges were filed against her. Alternatively, in the event that any of the charges are upheld, the mitigating factors warrant a conclusion that progressive discipline be invoked, and a less severe penalty is warranted under the circumstances." [Teacher's Brief]

FINDINGS AND OPINION

A careful review of all evidence presented, including all documents submitted into the record, hand written and transcribed notes of testimony, occurred. This take into account the positions taken and arguments advanced by both parties.

Relevant portions of the statutory sections which the Parties mutually acknowledged being bound to were cited by each side and deemed relevant without further recitation. Those Statues impose a, "just cause" standard for dismissal also granting a School District the right to issue reasonable rules, orders and regulations which are not conflicting. There has been no challenge to those statutory standards for discipline by either side.

The District seeks justification for the 'Dismissal' here. The Teacher responds seeking re-instatement.

Analysis; overview

At the core of the issue stated above was whether a 'just cause' dismissal occurred, whether the penalty was too harsh or, fair under the various guidelines promulgated by authorities cited by both parties. The overriding principle in any such disciplinary proceeding is whether a good faith showing of just cause was properly enforced. Both sides' briefs referenced these principles.

Beyond the above, further analysis below leads to the decision at the end hereof.

Burden of Proof

As in any matter involving employee disciplinary action, the burden is upon the Employer [here, Petitioner, Newark School District] to establish it had proper cause to take the action and, that an appropriate penalty was meted out under all attendant circumstances. The Tenured Teacher challenged that the standard was not met; contending that the preponderance of evidence by the District was not conclusive or, found wanting.

The Petitioner's case in the Matter of this Tenured Teacher [L. Mansfield] contained four major 'points' (outlined above), three of which were directly related to the evidence presented at hearing(s). The fourth point dealt with the propriety of penalty assigned, which could only attach if all elements of just cause were met by the standards of review.

Moreover the Teacher's own statement of the standard for evidence presented against her gave rise to the appropriate standard of review to be followed here. Citing the law as interpreted by numerous arbitrators, the Teacher's Brief correctly argued that:

"...preponderance can be characterized as the greater weight of evidence in a case, not necessarily dependent on the number of witnesses, but having the greater convincing power*. State v. Lewis, 67 N.J. 47 (1975); Spagnuolo v. Bonnet, 16 N.J. 546, 554-55 (1954).* [Teacher's Brief]

This Arbitrator supports that 'characterization' and used the following contributing factors to review the evidence presented.

Credibility

Petitioner District presented the testimony of several eyewitness accounts in what can only be described, even in the broadest of general terms, as abusive. Respondent Teacher attempted to minimize her culpability by denial that the actions even occurred; testimony (from both the affected children and parents) had the 'ring of truth' to it. Moreover, it was vastly supported by internal and external consistencies and, found to be more than sufficient to satisfy the District's burden. Notable also is that the Teacher did not supply evidence in rebuttal.

An important test of eyewitness sufficiency is whether consistency can be determined by/through the use of witness sequestration. This was enforced and occurred here, for all testifying witnesses. Moreover, it is notable here that when an 'objection' was repetitiously raised regarding whether these children could comprehend the meaning of 'truth telling' or, the taking of an 'oath' in that regard; each child was asked to explain the terms. Each child demonstrably and clearly understood both terms and testified accordingly.

Thus it was deemed to be credible and highly usable testimony given by each child and accompanying parent/ accompanying adult. Contemplating the record of this testimony it was persuasive that for a child of that tender age group to testify under oath is itself a very brave deed. Furthermore, having them testify against their Teacher, a supposed role model and mentor was likely an inspiring moment and by itself, a measure of truth telling.

Furthermore, the entire process seemed an unsavory task to each child and, not the least bit hinting of joyfulness or childish delight. Indeed it was likely tantamount to subjecting them to ridicule, embarrassment and/or perhaps feelings of disloyalty and guilt for their own actions. It was after all the suggested premise that an authority figure over them [the Teacher] was simply making an effort to impart 'appropriate' discipline, i.e., part of the course methodology for 'Character Education'.

Thus if we believe that a Teacher of 2nd Graders should be permitted to impose discipline by, "Screaming...Withholding of Bathroom Privileges...Inappropriate Physical Contact"

perhaps the standard is faulty and/or should be changed. Regardless, the testimony of these children and parents [et al] involved was believable and compelling. Thus despite any of the theories posited post-Hearing, suggesting that the testimony described herein was legally defensible, or wanting in any manner, shape or form; such defenses are without merit in this case. Each child [and parent] testified credibly and without guile. They were manifestly clear and without taint of any sort.

Sufficiency of the Evidence

Thus, despite the Teacher's testimonial defense [no culpability] for the classroom events described by the District's witnesses as having occurred in /around February of 2015, the evidence was overwhelmingly clear to the contrary. Even the 'reasonable person' could hardly dispute the veracity and thus the credibility of the Students who testified.

Unsupported - Corroborated

There was no basis in fact for the defense that this evidence was unsupported. Moreover, the confirming testimony of their parents and an uncle of one [in loco parentis] student provided substantial and thus persuasive ratification of nearly faultless and untainted testimony, ['not wanting to attend' this Teacher's class.] Thus taking all manner of evidence, cited authority and argument into consideration provided a basis for finding that the 'unbecoming conduct' described in the charges against this Teacher were proven beyond doubt, plainly by a preponderance of the evidence presented.

Clearly established by the evidence shown, this Teacher violated basic rules of what any enlightened culture should consider as civilized behavior toward children. It should be axiomatic that regardless of any 'written' rules that could or might have been promulgated, certain behaviors should be prohibited in the classroom.

Raised Voice

Any adult in a position of authority over and ostensibly placed in charge of the care for young children [i.e., these 2nd Graders] may on a rare occasion and, acting out of a moment of frustration, raise their voice occasionally. To her defense, the testimony inferred that this Teacher could have expressed herself in what some might say was a loud voice.

However, this Teacher also stands accused of 'screaming' at her 2nd Grade charges on an ongoing and continuous basis. We heard testimony which demonstrated the likelihood that it was more than an occasion. To have done so in this manner violated behavioral common sense and the basic rights of children under her authority and care, regardless of any rationale offered in her own defense. Even if the allegations of 'screaming' were overstated and thus perhaps to be discounted, there was much more.

Bathroom Breaks

In reply to testimony that she refused requests for bathroom breaks when these young children needed to relieve themselves, this Teacher offered neither rational basis nor specific rationale for her actions. The District elicited clear and convincing evidence of these incidents:

"The testimony of R.R. and M.B. made clear that Mansfield would withhold bathroom privileges, even in emergencies. In fact, R.R. witnessed another student N.H. urinate on himself in front of the entire class. See Transcript, Volume II, 39:15-21; and 42:5-25. M.B.'s testimony made it clear while Mansfield would permit students to occasionally use the bathroom, she would withhold bathroom privileges for those students who were disrespectful to her. SEe Transcript, Volume II, 114:1-19. Withholding bathroom privileges is not an appropriate method for disciplining young children, but is cruel and unusual punishment that no teacher should be employing against 7 and 8 year old students. [Board Brief]

Moreover and although responsible for their basic well-being and ironically, being assigned to educate and stimulate them through "character" development, it is beyond comprehension to imagine how this teacher's educational methodology would be met by refusing a young child's request for a bathroom break. In its place, this Teacher had no appropriate response after listening to testimony that one or more of these children had simply relieved themselves where they stood or sat, when denied a bathroom break by her.

'Grabbing' of Clothing

The charges against this Teacher of having, "grabbed" students by their shirts or other articles of clothing are, similar to the above mentioned behaviors, deemed credible and trustworthy accounts brought to bear by the testimony of children and parental figures who testified in a highly persuasive manner. Such actions by a teacher therefore, are also found to be "Conduct Unbecoming" and again, add to the cumulative nature of the charges brought against this Teacher. The Teacher's reply in this regard was again, either mute or in denial.

Thus in summary fashion regarding the preponderance of the evidence found in the charges, it is more likely than not that this Teacher was culpable of "Conduct Unbecoming". Under traditional arbitral theory and the procedures of the State of New Jersey, it was submitted for the Arbitrator to determine the weight and credibility of the evidence presented.

Most Arbitrators selected to serve on this Panel have heard hundreds of witnesses testify under oath. Determining credibility can sometimes be a daunting task. The testimony elicited in this matter was clear and convincing, providing credibility to the District's case and contrary to the defense.

Consequently for the cumulative reasons raised herein, it is conclusive and thus persuasive that the referenced conduct of this Teacher discussed at length above was inappropriate and unbecoming of any Teacher, Tenured or otherwise. Accordingly, the Newark School District has met its burden of proof for this Tenured Teacher's Dismissal.

Mitigating vs Aggravating Circumstance

The Tenured Teacher's Brief contained a number of references to factors in mitigation of the charges/ penalty. At the conclusion stating: "...in the event that any of the charges are upheld, the mitigating factors warrant a conclusion that progressive discipline be invoked, and a less severe penalty is warranted under the circumstances." That argument was linked to a variety of cited cases which, when reviewed however were not persuasively linked to the record of this Teacher.

While no set rule exists for applying mitigation to a particular set of circumstances, any neutral must be mindful of the gravity of charges which could have such a deleterious effect on an employee as found here. Balancing this is the potential for returning an employee to a workplace environment where, if the charges are deemed credible, there is a potential of ongoing and continued conduct deleterious to young [2nd Grade] children. Such factors are found here.

This neutral has in past applied the following mitigation standard generously where an employer was found to have meted out an overly harsh penalty. When a long term employee otherwise having served with distinction and/or a fairly unblemished record, is precipitously accused of a relatively minor infraction or one involving a singular incident of wrongdoing appearing to be out-of-character, then it is persuasive to and becomes incumbent upon the neutral to correct an injustice. Doing so might include converting a discharge to a lesser penalty by invoking progressive discipline, and imposing same upon the employer.

Consequently here it was determined that the charges filed by the Newark School District were appropriate. We cannot adopt the existence of mitigating factors suggested by the Teacher as warranting invocation of progressive discipline for her. Thus, correcting a penalty of termination with a less severe penalty is not warranted under all the attendant circumstances found here.

Retaliation, res judicata and collateral estoppel:

As well, 'retaliation' was another primary defense. The Teacher's Brief argued that a blatant and veiled motive for the current charges against the Teacher by the Newark School District existed. Ostensibly it argued that the current charges were only a 'refiling' of prior charges unsuccessfully brought against her for allegedly the same or similar charges previously raised during the 2013 school year. Also that her "outspokenness" after being re-instated previously, now provides the basis of her claim for 'retaliation' in this current set of charges. [Teacher's Brief]

Moreover arguing the theories of Res judicata and collateral estoppel as aggravating factors and thus as a part of her defense against the termination penalty. However, for several reasons clearly evidenced in the record before us it is persuasive that there is no outwardly plausible reason to doubt the veracity of the current charges under either of those theories.

Regardless of the 2013 charges or arbitration outcome [Arb. Gandel, Feb. 2013] resulting in this Teacher's re-instatement to her tenured position, no one can be immune to or immunized against 'fresh' charges, especially ones involving the nature and seriousness of those found herein. Also, these charges are deemed unconnected as having occurred in/around February 2015. A primary requisite of Res judicata is the requirement for an absolute showing that the person is being jeopardized, twice, for the same offense, i.e., the exact, same circumstances.

Here, there has been no showing of such duplication, except for the theoretical position taken in the post-hearing Brief. Moreover and further to the contrary of either res judicata or collateral estoppel, it was clearly demonstrated by the Newark School District that it had an absolute and statutorily mandated legal duty (and thus no choice) but to act upon the February 2015 parent/student complaints due to the nature and timetable of events shown here. That action consisted of requiring a full and fair investigation be held, not only to protect the welfare of the students involved [February 2015], but to insure that any accused teacher be cleared or, held accountable for his/her actions.

In light of the alleged barriers to discipline suggested by the Teacher due to the prior arbitration decision of Arbitrator Gandel, there was no evidence of issue preclusion, either mentioned therein or made reference to by Teacher's Counsel in the current matter. Therefore, each of the preclusion defenses raised are deemed unfounded for multiple reasons.

1. The Newark School District had no choice but to act upon parent/student complaints of inappropriate conduct and/or behavior when brought to its attention in February 2015

2. The fact pattern here, despite any ironic similarities to the incidents that this same teacher was accused of in prior litigated matters, involves a fresh set of incidents. Thus, current charges do not fall under the protections afforded by the preclusion theories of Res judicata and collateral estoppel.

3. Moreover and despite the theoretical implications of the defense mentioned above, there was no evidence or proof of retaliation. To the contrary and as established through credible evidence by her new and therefore current Principal Ceparo, he demonstrated having welcomed this Tenured Teacher, first as her Mentor, then as her new Principal.

Thus, other than veiled and vague but unsubstantiated testimony by the Teacher and the theoretical suggestions implied in her brief but also unsubstantiated that [allegedly] by virtue of the Teacher's re-instatement and subsequent complaints about her assigned tasks, there is no finding by the preponderance of evidence that she was the victim of retaliation. This Teacher, like any other, had the right to file a 'grievance' or complaint over her concerns with her assignments at any time after her re-instatement, but did not take full advantage of litigating that right.

Although her concerns over assignments were not the subject of the inquiry placed before this tribunal, there was still no evidence of any wrongdoing by virtue of the interactions between the Teacher and co-workers or supervisory personnel. Again, if she had complaints she also had the experience, ability and resource channels for her to exercise her right to complain. The mere fact of her prior reinstatement did not automatically grant her any extra jurisdictional rights to bypass procedural processes in place for those purposes. Clearly by the District's evidence the Teacher's new Principal [Mr. Ceparo; also a prior Mentor] gave her all appropriate latitude to successfully re-enter her teaching career.

The current circumstances involve factually unconnected incidents occurring in / around February 2015. Accordingly, neither res judicata nor collateral estoppel can apply here.

In summation of the above, and after careful consideration of all evidence and the arguments in support thereof, it is only conclusive that the Tenured Teacher was properly charged with "Conduct Unbecoming". Moreover, it is persuasive that every conduct-related rule published by a School District was observed and had as its primary purpose the well-being of its students, faculty and any/ all visitors, minimally.

Clear evidence demonstrates that specific rules were in place to safeguard students [especially these young 2nd Graders], and equitably enforced against a teacher engaging in behavior of the kind this Teacher was charged with. The preponderance of the clear evidence testified to by the students, parents and her Principal, was more than sufficient to warrant a finding that the charges against this Teacher were proper and thus that the penalty of termination was just.

The presence of two (2) investigations [first by the IAIU and then, the District] initially gave some pause for consideration of the Teacher's claim that the replication of effort had sinister overtones. Yet, the Teacher's claims in this regard were allegations only and lacked proof.

Numerous illustrations of the above were found in the Teacher's Brief, "During the investigation, counsel for Ms. Mansfield at the time forwarded a copy of the earlier Arbitration Award that was entered and made it known to the IAIU investigator that it was clear to Ms. Mansfield that the District administration was "out for Ms. Mansfield" Id, J1:50-52. Specifically, counsel wrote to the Commissioner of the Department of Children and Welfare, which oversees IAIU, on February 26, 2015, just days after the investigation commenced, and made it abundantly clear that Ms. Mansfield was being targeted by the District following the issuance of the arbitration award." [ Teacher's Brief] Nonetheless, the Teacher's case at Hearing did not follow through to establish proof of retaliation.

Despite the fact the documents containing these allegations by Teacher were a part of the record, opportunity to hear testimony from others could have occurred but did not. The Teacher's Brief mentioned the existence of prior Counsel who might have shed light on and potentially, erased doubts left open as to the veracity of her defense allegations regarding the process against her. Instead, prior counsel was not called to support her allegations nor was the prior IAIU Investigator [Ms. Pica] called to refute her findings by rebuttal testimony. No such testimony was heard and thus, only sheer allegations stand alone.

Consequently, instead of depending on the Teacher's allegations [her Brief] that the two tiered investigation was flawed i.e., as an, ["...endless effort to terminate her again. J1:50] we rely instead on the District's version of events thereafter testified to by its Investigator Michelle Takyi.

"Ms. Takyi commenced her investigation into the allegations for mishandling of her students against Ms. Mansfield after she received the IAIU investigative report concluding their investigation of Ms. Mansfield. See Transcript, Volume III, 102:6-24; and See Exhibit Board-2, IAIU findings Report to Michelle Takyi dated March 17, 2015." [District Brief]

The explanations offered by Ms. Takyi were found to be credible and professional. They described how the IAIU Investigative Report left it entirely to the District to follow up as it saw fit to deal with the issues remaining from the IAIU findings. Also, Ms. Takyi's views demonstrated in great detail how the thoroughness of her full and fair investigation included numerous interviews [5 students/parents, a supervising Principal] were conducted and which substantiated the testimony of all involved.

Insubordination

Ms. Takyi also shed light upon the rationale for the District's charge of insubordination when the Tenured Teacher failed to either show up for or attempt to reschedule, two Interviews. In great detail, Ms. Takyi demonstrated the lengths she explored in attempting (twice) to finalize a full and fair investigation by including an interview with the Teacher.

"Nor did Mansfield ever give any reason for failing to appear for the meeting scheduled by Ms. Takyi for a second time, nor did Mansfield ever contact Ms. Takyi to reschedule this meeting again. See Transcript, Volume III, 113:17-20 [District's Brief] This version was substantially more believable than the Teacher's.

Therefore, whether she exercised some right to not take part or be excluded from the investigation, the Teacher she took no responsibility for her actions and/ or merely ignored a request to participate in the interview process. Thus Insubordination was charged and, self-evident.

Incompetence

There was no express showing of incompetence, per se. While it is arguably incompetent to demonstrate the type of behavior exhibited here, it is not specifically found in the decision below.

Just Cause

Despite the fact that Teacher's counsel acted diligently and thus assured that Teacher was well represented, the overwhelming facts here were not in her favor. Additionally, the preponderance of evidence against her was substantially more damaging. The Teacher's testimony was found wanting, both in its failure to complete gaps between basic allegations made and proofs necessary to justify them and also to explain inconsistencies between her views and that of District witnesses against her. Accordingly, the Teacher's credibility suffered.

Just cause required that the elements of a fair and progressive discipline had to be applied before the final step of dismissal could be imposed by the District on the Tenured Teacher in this matter. Discussed at length herein, this included a full and fair investigation of the charges, and careful consideration of any mitigating and/or aggravating circumstances. The evidence is clear as detailed hereunder that all appropriate elements required for a just cause dismissal were present in this case. Thus the burden of proof was met by Petitioner, Newark School District

Despite Teacher seeking progressive discipline as an alternative remedy here, the elements of mitigating factors necessary were not found. Every employee under the protection of 'just cause' has some form of due process available to them. Here, every available protection against an injustice was present.

Taking all manner of evidence, argument and positions of the Parties into full consideration here, there is clear evidence that just cause was served.

Accordingly, the decision in this matter follows.

DECISION:

Clear evidence as detailed hereunder demonstrated that all appropriate elements for a just cause dismissal of Tenured Teacher Lynderia Mansfield were present in this case. Moreover Petitioner, Newark School District, met its burden of proof by a preponderance of evidence.
Overwhelming and credible testimony from three (3) Students of this Teacher was shown by the District. In addition, corroborating testimony from parents of students lent further credence to the otherwise credible evidence that the District's charges were truthful.

Moreover, when given opportunity to refute, no adequate defenses were raised by the Tenured Teacher to either circumvent or contradict the District's rationale for discipline, the charges, or the penalty of dismissal. Additionally, there was no showing of remorse.

Taking all manner of evidence and argument by both parties into consideration and deliberation, it is the considered opinion of the undersigned neutral that Petitioner Newark School District had the absolute right to have charged Tenured Teacher Lynderia Mansfield with the offenses stated hereunder and to have sought and caused her dismissal thereafter. In view of the above, the penalty of dismissal for this Tenured Teacher is upheld.

No other remedies apply.

SYNOPSIS

The petitioners in this consolidated case – tenured teachers employed by respondent on an hourly basis to provide services to students in non-public schools – alleged that their tenure rights as part-time teachers were violated when the Commission reduced their assigned work hours for the 2014-2015 school year from their 2013-2014 school year levels, while non-tenured and/or less senior part-time teachers were employed in positions within the scope of their certifications and endorsements. The Commission contends that the terms of the petitioners' employment agreements expressly contemplate flexibility regarding the precise number of hours to be assigned and do not vest them with the entitlement of a minimum number of weekly work hours. The parties filed cross motions for summary decision.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: there are no genuine issues of material fact, and the matter is ripe for summary decision; in order for a reduction of a part-time employee's hours to trigger tenure/seniority rights, there must be a guarantee – through contract or otherwise – to a minimum number of hours of employment; no such guarantee exists in the within matter; therefore, no violation of the petitioners' tenure or seniority rights occurred; and the two cases that are dispositive of this issue are Theresa Alfieri and Therese Mezak v. Board of Educ. of the Township of Saddle Brook, Commissioner Decision No. 320-01 (September 17, 2001), and Lucy Kourtesis, et al. v. Board of Educ. of the Bergen County Special Services School District, Bergen County, Commissioner Decision No. 535-11 (December 5, 2011). Accordingly, the ALJ granted respondent's motion for summary decision; and denied petitioners' appeal.

Upon a comprehensive review of the record, the Commissioner concurred with the findings and conclusions of the ALJ, and adopted the Initial Decision as the final decision in this matter. Accordingly, the petition was dismissed.

| RESPONDENT. | : | |

The record of this consolidated matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed, as have the exceptions filed pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4 by the petitioners, Beryl Zimmerman and Judy Comment, and the Sussex County Educational Services Commission's (Commission) reply thereto. In this case, the petitioners, two part-time tenured teachers, allege that the Commission violated their tenure rights when it reduced their 2014-2015 weekly hours of work from their 2013-2014 school year schedule, while non-tenured part-time staff members were employed in positions within the scope of their certificates and endorsements. The Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) found that the Commission did not violate the petitioners' tenure and seniority rights because the petitioners were not guaranteed a minimum number of hours through their employment contract or otherwise. Therefore, the ALJ granted summary decision in favor of the Commission and dismissed the petitions of appeal.

The petitioners' exceptions largely reiterate the substance of their submissions at the OAL, repeating the arguments therein to support the contention that the ALJ erroneously found that the Board did not violate the petitioners' tenure rights. The petitioners are claiming rights based on tenure over three non-tenured part-time employees who received work hours from the Commission which the petitioners assert they were entitled to receive during the 2014-2015 school year. The petitioners' maintain that N.J.S.A. 18A:28-5 protects them, as tenured teachers, from a reduction in compensation, i.e. reduced hours. There is no aspect of the tenure law that creates an exception as to the preservation of compensation by excluding part-time tenured employees. The petitioners further argue that allowing the employment contract and the lack of designated minimum hours to control the scope of the statutory protections of tenure is contrary to the law. Therefore, the theory denying the petitioners' claims that was espoused in the Initial Decision is contrary to the law and should be rejected. (Petitioners' Exceptions at 7-8)

In reply, the Commission also restated the positions advanced in its submissions at the OAL, arguing that the ALJ properly determined that the Commission was entitled to summary decision. The Commission stresses that – under the relevant case law – in order for a reduction of a part-time employee's hours to trigger tenure/seniority rights, there must be a guarantee of a minimum number of hours of employment. See, Theresa Alfieri and Therese Mezak v. Board of Educ. of the Township of Saddle Brook, Bergen County, Commissioner Decision No. 320-01 (September 17, 2001), affirmed, State Board (January 8, 2003), affirmed, No. A-3105-02 (App.

Div. June 14, 2004, certif. denied, 181 N.J. 547 (2004); Lucy Kourtesis, et al. v. Board of Educ. of the Bergen County Special Services School District, Bergen County, Commissioner Decision No. 535-11 (December 5, 2011), affirmed, No. A-2139-11 (App. Div. November 19, 2012), certif. denied, 213 N.J. 535 (2013). Although the petitioners' hours were fewer in the 2014-2015 school year than in the previous year, tenure and seniority protections were not triggered because their employment from its inception was intended to be flexible in terms of the precise number of hours to be worked, and they were not otherwise guaranteed a prescribed set of hours. Since the petitioners did not have a tenure right to the number of hours assigned during the 2014-2015 school year, the Commission did not violate their tenure and seniority rights. (Respondent's Exceptions at 5-6)

Upon a comprehensive review of the record in this matter, the Commissioner concurs with the ALJ – for the reasons thoroughly set forth in the Initial Decision – that the Commission did not violate the petitioners' tenure and seniority rights. It is undisputed that N.J.S.A. 18A:28-5 protects the tenured petitioners from a reduction in compensation. However, it is also well established that, in the absence of a guarantee of a minimum number of hours for part-time teachers, a reduction in hours does not equate to a reduction in compensation under N.J.S.A. 18A:28-5, thereby triggering tenure rights. See, Alfieri, supra, State Board Decision No. 40-01 at 6-7; Kourtesis, supra, Commissioner Decision No. 535-11 at 7. Here, the petitioners' contracts only guaranteed an hourly compensation rate, which was not reduced by the Commission during the 2014-2015 school year; therefore, in the absence a guarantee for a minimum number of hours, the Commission's decision to reduce the petitioners weekly hours did not violate the petitioners' tenure rights. Finally, the Commissioner is not persuaded that the exceptions filed by the petitioners dictate a different result, because the objections outlined in the exceptions were previously raised before the ALJ and were clearly taken into account by him in determining that the Commission was entitled to summary decision. Accordingly, the Initial Decision is adopted as the final decision in this matter and the petitions of appeal are hereby dismissed.

IT IS SO ORDERED.*

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On November 12, 2014, petitioner Beryl Zimmerman filed a Verified Petition as did petitioner Judy Comment on November 19, 2014 against the Sussex County Educational Services Commission (Commission). They both contend that their tenure rights as part-time teachers for the Commission were violated when the Commission reduced their 2014-2015 school year weekly assigned hours of work from their 2013-2014 school year levels, while non-tenured and/or less senior part-time teachers were employed in positions within the scope of their certifications and endorsements. The Commission contends that the terms of petitioners' employment agreements expressly contemplate flexibility as to the precise numbers of hours to be assigned and do not vest them with the entitlement of a minimum number of weekly work hours.

After having received Answers from the Commission, on January 7, 2015, the Director of the Bureau of Controversies and Disputes of the New Jersey Department of Education transmitted both Petitions to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to –15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to –13, for determination as contested cases. After consolidation of the two matters on May 9, 2015, the parties filed Cross-Motions for Summary Decision, Briefs in Opposition and Reply Briefs in October and November 2015, along with a Joint Stipulation of Facts. Following February 8, 2016, Oral Arguments of the respective Motions for Summary Decision, the parties filed additional Memoranda on April 5, 2016.

JOINT STIPULATON OF FACTS

1. The Commission, through its staff, provides Chapter 192, Chapter 193 and IDEIA (Individuals with Disabilities Education Improvement Act) services to students residing in Sussex County who are enrolled in full-time, non-public elementary and secondary schools. The Commission also operates a public school called the Northern Hills Academy, which provides programs and services for special needs students from local school districts in the County.

2. Chapter 192 services consist of compensatory education in Basic Skills, i.e. Language Arts Literacy (Reading and Writing) and/or Math, as well as English as a Second Language and Home Instruction. Chapter 193 and IDEIA services consist of remedial special education services such as evaluation and determination of eligibility, supplementary instruction and speech-language therapy.

3. Chapter 192 and 193 services are State funded, while IDEIA services are funded by the federal government.

4. The Commission is compensated for the services it provides to Sussex County residents attending non-public schools through contracts with the local school districts.

5. Currently, the Commission employs seventy (70) staff members. Of those, ten (10) are part-time, non-public teachers.

6. Part-time teachers are employed for a 10-month term on an as needed basis.

7. The provision of Chapter 192, 193 and IDEIA services by part-time staff is dictated by the needs of students attending non-public schools.

8. The number of students receiving these services fluctuates from year to year and at times within the school year itself, as students move in and out of the local school districts, graduate, or otherwise become eligible or lose eligibility for such services.

9. Generally, the number of hours available for distribution among part-time staff is a product of the number of students receiving services and the needs of those students, both of which fluctuate from school year to school year and through the course of each school year.

10. Given the fluctuating needs of the non-public schools, as well as the availability of funding, part-time teachers are not guaranteed a minimum number of hours by contract or collective negotiations agreement. (See, Exhibit J-1, the Collective Negotiations Agreement between the Commission and the Educational Services Employees' Association, effective July 1, 2012 through June 30, 2015.).

11. Petitioner Comment is a tenured, part-time instructor who holds an instructional certificate with endorsements as an elementary N-8 teacher, as well as a K-12, Highly Qualified English teacher. (See, Exhibit J-2, Ms. Comment's Instructional endorsements).

12. Petitioner Comment has been continuously employed by the Commission on a part-time basis since the 1997-1998 school year. (See, Exhibit J-3, Ms. Comment's contracts for the 2013-2014 and 2014-2015 school years.

13. Petitioner Comment's assigned hours fluctuated between the 1997-1998 and 2013-2014 school years.

14. During the aforesaid years, Petitioner Comment provided Chapter 192, Chapter 193 and IDEIA based instruction at various non-public schools serviced by the Commission.

15. On May 5, 2014, the Commission's Board of Directors renewed Petitioner Comment's contract for the 2014-2015 school year. (See Exhibit J-4, the Board's May 5, 2014, meeting minutes).

16. At the outset of the 2014-2015 school year, Petitioner Comment was assigned fewer hours per week than the year prior. Her assigned hours were limited to Chapter 192 instruction, which she was expected to provide in groups of no fewer than three students, unless expressly authorized by the SCESC Superintendent. (See, Exhibit J-5, the 2014-2015 SCESC Staff Handbook).

17. Petitioner Comment's annual income for the 2013-14 school year was $36,838.74, whereas her annual income for the 2014-2015 school year was $10,331.13.

18. Petitioner Ostrowsky Zimmerman is a tenured, part-time instructor who holds an educational certificate with an endorsement as an elementary school teacher. (See, Exhibit J- 6, Ms. Zimmerman's instructional Certificate).

19. Petitioner Zimmerman has been continuously employed by the Commission on a part-time basis since the 2002-2003 school year. (See, Exhibit J-7, Ms. Zimmerman's contracts from the 2013-2014 and 2014-2015 school years).

20. Petitioner Zimmerman's hours fluctuated between the 2002-2003 and 2013-2014 school years.

21. During the aforesaid years, Petitioner Zimmerman provided Chapter 192, Chapter 193 and IDEIA based instruction at various non-public schools serviced by the Commission.

22. At the outset of the 2014-2015 school year, Petitioner Zimmerman was assigned fewer hours per week than the year prior. Her assigned hours were limited to Chapter 192 instruction, which she was expected to provide in groups of no fewer than three students, unless expressly authorized by the SCESC Superintendent. (See, Exhibit J-5).

23. Petitioner Zimmerman's annual income for the 2013-14 school year was $27,668.81, whereas her annual income for the 2014-2015 school year was $19,603.42.

24. On May 5, 2014, the Commission's Board of Directors renewed Petitioner 's contract for the 2014-2015 school year. (See, Exhibit J-4).

25. Wesley Baughman was employed by the Commission as a part-time, hourly non-public school teacher throughout the 2013-14 and 2014-15 school years. He was not tenured.

26. During the 2014-2015 school year, Wesley Baughman provided Chapter 192, Chapter 193 and IDEIA instruction in the area of Language Arts Literacy to students attending grades 8 through 12 at several non-public schools serviced by the Commission. (See, Exhibit J-8, Mr. Baughman's 2014-2015 time sheets).

27. Kathy Bammert Diaz was employed by the Commission as a part-time, hourly non-public school teacher throughout the 2013-14 and 2014-15 school years. She was not tenured.

28. During the 2014-2015 school year, Kathy Diaz provided Chapter 192, Chapter 193 and IDEIA instruction to students attending grades 1 through 7 at one of the non-public schools serviced by the Commission. (See, Exhibit J-9, Ms. Diaz's 2014-2015 timesheets).

29. Michael Ness was employed by the Commission as a part-time, hourly non-public school teacher during the 2014-2015 school year from November 12, 2014, through June 30, 2015. He was not tenured.

30. During the 2014-2015 school year, Michael Ness provided Chapter 192 and Chapter 193 instruction to students attending grades 1 through 8 at several non-public schools serviced by the Commission. (See, Exhibit J-10, Mr. Ness's 2014-15 time sheets).

31. Sarah G. Crabb has been employed by the Commission as a part-time hourly non-public school teacher from September 1, 2002, to the present. She has attained tenure and seniority rights.

32. During the 2014-15 school year, Ms. Crabb provided Chapter 192 instruction to students attending grades 1 through 7 at one of the non-public schools serviced by the Commission. (See, Exhibit J-11), Ms. Crabb's 2014-15 timesheets.

LEGAL DISCUSSION AND CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

Summary decision is the administrative counterpart to summary judgment in the judicial arena. N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5 provides that summary decision should be rendered "if the papers and discovery which have been filed, together with the affidavits, if any, show that there is no genuine issue as to any material fact challenged and that the moving party is entitled to prevail as a matter of law." This language is substantially similar to the guidelines for summary judgment under R. 4:46-2(c), which provides in part that the judgment or order sought shall be rendered if the pleadings, depositions, answers to interrogatories and admissions on file, together with the affidavits, if any, show that there is no genuine issue as to any material fact challenged and that the moving party is entitled to a judgment or order as a matter of law.

In order to defeat a summary decision motion, the adverse party must respond by affidavits setting forth "specific facts showing that there is a genuine issue which can only be determined in an evidentiary hearing." Use of the summary procedure is aimed at "the swift uncovering of the merits and either their effective disposition or their advancement toward prompt resolution by trial." Judson v. Peoples Bank and Trust Co. of Westfield, 17 N.J. 67, 74 (1954).

The New Jersey Supreme Court has encouraged trial-level courts "not to refrain from granting summary judgment when the proper circumstances present themselves." Brill v. Guardian Life Ins. Co. of Am., 142 N.J. 520, 541 (1995). While cautioning that a judge should not weigh the truth of the evidence or resolve factual disputes at this early stage of the proceedings, the Court clarified that "when the evidence 'is so one-sided that one party must prevail as a matter of law,' the trial court should not hesitate to grant summary judgment." Id. at 540 (citations omitted).

I CONCLUDE that this matter is ripe for summary disposition. There are no material disputed facts which require a plenary hearing.

The tenure laws, N.J.S.A. 18A:28-1 to -18 (Act), define the conditions under which teaching staff members are entitled to the security of tenure. Tenure has been described as a "statutory right" imposed upon a teaching staff member's contractual employment status. Zimmerman v. Newark Bd. of Educ., 38 N.J. 65, 72 (1962), cert. denied, 371 U.S. 956, 83 S. Ct. 508, 9 L. Ed. 2d. 502 (1963). The statutory provisions supersede contractual terms. Spiewak v. Rutherford Bd. of Educ., 90 N.J. 63, 72 (1982). The objective of the tenure statutes is to protect competent and qualified teaching staff members, after a probationary period, from removal for "unfounded, flimsy, or political reasons." Zimmerman, supra, 38 N.J. at 71. They are "designed to aid in the establishment of a competent and efficient school system by affording to principals and teachers a measure of security in the ranks they hold after years of service." Viemeister v. Prospect Park Bd. of Educ., 5 N.J. Super. 215, 218 (App. Div. 1949).

It is well-settled that the "right to tenure is created and governed entirely by statute," Breitwieser v. State-Operated School District of Jersey City, 286 N.J. Super. 633, 637 (App. Div. 1996), and tenure "arises only by passage of the time fixed by the statute," Canfield v. Pine Hill Board of Education, 51 N.J. 400 (1968), rev'g on dissent, 97 N.J. Super. 483, 490 (App. Div. 1967). In order to acquire the security of tenure, the precise requirements set forth in the statute must be met. Picogna v. Cherry Hill Bd. of Educ., 143 N.J. 391, 400 (1996); Kletzkin v. Spotswood Bd. of Educ., 136 N.J. 275, 278 (1994); Spiewak, supra, 90 N.J. at 72; Zimmerman, supra, 38 N.J. at 72; Ahrensfield v. State Bd. of Educ., 126 N.J.L. 543, 544 (E. & A. 1941). The employee shoulders the burden of proving an entitlement to tenure protection, which ordinarily must be clearly proven. Canfield, supra, 97 N.J. Super. at 493.

Pursuant to the Act, teachers who are under tenure "shall not be dismissed or reduced in compensation except for inefficiency, incapacity, conduct unbecoming ... or other just cause." N.J.S.A. 18A:28-5(a) and (b). Tenure, however, does not "limit the right of any board of education to reduce the number of teaching staff members, employed in the district whenever, in the judgment of the board, it is advisable to abolish any such positions for reasons of economy or because of reduction in the number of pupils or of change in the administrative or supervisory organization of the district or for other good cause." N.J.S.A. 18A:28-9. Dismissals resulting from any such reduction, commonly referred to as a reduction in force (RIF) "shall not be made by reason of residence, age, sex, marriage, race, religion or political affiliation but shall be made on the basis of seniority according to standards to be established by the commissioner with the approval of the state board." N.J.S.A. 18A:28-10.

Petitioners contend that their tenure rights were violated when the Commission reduced their 2014-2015 school year weekly assigned hours of work (and, consequently, their compensation as well) from their 2013-2014 school year levels, while non-tenured and/or less senior part-time teachers were employed in positions within the scope of their certifications and endorsements. The Commission argues that, although a reduction of a full-time teaching staff member's hours of employment, with a corresponding reduction in salary, is an RIF, which triggers tenure seniority rights, such principles do not apply here because petitioners are and have always been part-time, non-salaried employees. The Commission emphasizes that the terms of the petitioners' employment agreements expressly contemplate flexibility as to the precise number of hours to be assigned and do not vest them with the entitlement of a minimum number of weekly work hours.

Two cases are dispositive of this issue in the Commission's favor. See, Alfieri v. Saddle Brook Board of Education, EDU 11677-98, Initial Decision (July 23, 2001), adopted, Commissioner (September 17, 2001), affirmed State Board (January 8, 2003) <http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/>, affirmed, No. A-3105-02 (App.Div. June 14, 2004), certification denied, 181 N.J. 547 (2004) and in Kourtesis v. Bergen County Special Services District, EDU 14168-10, Initial Decision (September 6, 2011), 2011 N.J. AGEN LEXIS 471, adopted, Commissioner (December 5, 2011),

<http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/>, affirmed, No. A-2139-11 (App. Div. November 19, 2012), certification denied, 213 N.J. 535 (2013).[1]

In Alfieri, petitioners were tenured teachers employed by the Saddle Brook Board of Education on a part-time basis as remedial teachers for students in need. They were only allowed to work up to a maximum of 19 ½ hours per week but were not guaranteed a number of minimum hours. They set their own schedules and most of their instruction was on a one-to-one basis. The Superintendent issued a directive for the 1998-1999 school year requiring a minimum of three students be taught in every remedial skills class. This resulted in a reduction in the number of hours petitioners worked each week. Alfieri, supra, No. A-3105-02 (slip op. at 2).

Petitioners filed a petition with the Commissioner of Education alleging that their tenure rights as part-time supplemental teachers were violated by the directive, which reduced their number of hours and weekly compensation while the employment and compensation of non-tenured full-time employees with comparable skills had remained unchanged. Id. at 2-3.

The Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) assigned the matter concluded that no tenure and/or seniority rights of the part-time hourly teachers were violated. On review, the Commissioner ruled, in part, as follows:

> It is undisputed that [the] petitioners knowingly entered into employment with the Board in positions having fluid hours, not to exceed 19 or 19.5 hours per week, based on the needs of its students for remedial instruction. Further, petitioners' employment hours fluctuated from year to year, even pay period to pay period, based on those needs. Consequently, the Commissioner agrees with the Board that given the structure of the programs in which petitioners were employed and the terms of their employment agreements, they never had any tenure entitlement to a minimum number of hours worked per year. Therefore, while petitioners' hours of employment were fewer in the 1998-1999 school year than in the previous year, tenure and > seniority protections were not triggered because their employment from its inception was intended to be flexible in terms of the precise number of hours to be worked.

> [Id. at 3.]

The State Board of Education (State Board) affirmed the decision of the Commissioner and found, in part, as follows:

> In this case, the Board had not required that petitioners work a definite number of hours each week when it appointed them, but rather had merely established the maximum number of hours that they were permitted to work on a weekly basis. If the Board had reduced that maximum to less than 19 ½ hours per week and if the petitioners had actually suffered a reduction in the number of hours that they worked weekly as a result of the Board's action, there would be no question but that a reduction in staff had occurred within the meaning of N.J.S.A. 18A:28-9 such that petitioners' tenure and seniority rights would be triggered. However, the Board in this case did not act to reduce the maximum number of hours that petitioners could work. Hence, we concur with the Commissioner that, in the absence of any guarantee of a minimum number of hours, a reduction in staff within the meaning of the statute did not occur in this case.

The Superior Court Appellate Division affirmed, finding the decision of the State Board was reasonable. Id. at 4.

Similarly, in Kourtesis, petitioners were tenured teachers employed on an hourly basis by the Bergen County Special Services District to provide Chapter 192/193 services to non-public school students. Their work hours varied throughout the school year and from year to year depending on the needs of the non-public schools. Their collective negotiations agreement (CNA) restricted their work day to no more than 6.75 consecutive hours, while their yearly employment contract specified their hourly rate and longevity stipend. Neither the CNA nor the employment contract guaranteed petitioners a minimum number of work hours, or required their work assignments to be based on seniority. Kourtesis, supra, No. A-2139-11 (slip op.).

Due to the closing of three non-public schools in which petitioners worked and a 13 percent reduction in state funding for the Chapter 192/193 program, the Supervisor of Instruction decided to reduce the work hours she assigned petitioners "across the board" for the 2010-2011 school year rather than terminating a staff member. When petitioners were notified of their reduced hours, they filed petitions with the Commissioner of Education alleging that the board's reduction of their work hours constituted a RIF pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:28-9 and a violation of their tenure and seniority rights. Ibid.

After the matter was transmitted to the OAL, the parties filed motions for summary decision. The ALJ assigned to the matter recognized that Klinger v. Cranbury Bd. of Educ, 190 N.J. Super. 354, 357 (App. Div. 1982) certif. denied, 93 N.J. 277 (1983), held that a reduction in hours constitutes a RIF. She found, however, that according to Alfieri, supra, there must be a minimum guarantee, through contract or otherwise, to a minimum number of hours of employment in order for an actual reduction in hours to constitute a RIF.

The ALJ concluded:

> the Board did not violate appellants' tenure and seniority rights because there was no reduction in compensation within the meaning of N.J.S.A. 18A:28-5, and no RIF within the meaning of N.J.S.A. 18A:28-9. She found that the Board did not guarantee appellants, by contract or otherwise, a minimum number of work hours; appellants' employment contracts only guaranteed them a rate of compensation and longevity stipend; appellants were remedial instructors who had acquired tenure by working on an hourly basis; appellants had flexible work schedules with fluctuating hours that varied from year to year based on the number of eligible students; the CBA limited appellants' hours to no more than 6.75 hours per day, and the Board did not reduce this number; appellants' positions were not abolished; there was no reduction in the number of staff; and no appellant was transferred, reassigned, or subjected to any other form of adverse action.

On review, the Commissioner adopted the ALJ's Initial Decision and dismissed the petitions. The Commissioner concluded the board did not violate petitioners' tenure and seniority rights. He distinguished Klinger and relied on Alfieri to find there was no RIF under N.J.S.A. 18A:28-9 because petitioners' had no guarantee of a minimum number of work hours, petitioners were not terminated, and they did not suffer a reduction in compensation given the nature of their employment, the fluctuating work hours from year to year, and the lack of a guarantee of a minimum number of hours. The Superior Court Appellate Division affirmed "for the reasons expressed by the Commissioner," finding no abuse of discretion. Ibid.

Petitioners contend that the present matter, however, is distinguishable from Alfieri and Kourtesis. They argue that, unlike the petitioners in those cases, they do not contend that their tenure rights require their employment in full time positions. Since they were not dismissed from all work, they assert that their tenure rights are based upon the annual compensation they received in 2013-2014 and their right for 2014-2015 to rise to that same level. They aver established case law directly on point establishes that a reduction in compensation for a part-time teacher is a sufficient basis to invoke the protections of tenure. In support of their proposition, they cite Ackerman v. Oakland Board of Education, 1986 S.L.D. 2191 and Von Schalscha v. Tenafly Board of Education, OAL Dkt. No. EDU 7945-82, Initial Decision (July 15, 1983), adopted, Commissioner (Sept. 2, 1983).

Petitioners' argument that the present matter is distinguishable from Alfieri and Kourtesis; and that Ackerman and Von Schalscha are applicable fails to recognize the gravamen of the Alfieri and Kourtesis decisions. As the Commission persuasively argues, these more recent cases make it abundantly clear that, for a reduction of a part-time employee's hours to trigger tenure/seniority rights, there must be a guarantee, through contract or otherwise, to a minimum number of hours of employment. No such guarantee exists here. Where hours vary by nature and no reasonable expectation of a proscribed set of hours exists, an employee's tenure/seniority rights will lay dormant. In Ackerman and Von Schalscha, there was a reasonable expectation of prescribed weekly hours, unlike the petitioners in Alfieri and Kourtesis, whose hours of employment varied from week to week and year to year. It is of no moment that Alfieri and Kourtesis involved a protest by part-timers regarding less senior full-time employees whereas petitioners protest the retention of less senior or non-tenured part-timers. It is a difference without a significance in light of the principal foundation of those cases.

Petitioners additionally argue that the Commission improperly eliminated the Chapter 193/IDEIA hours they had enjoyed in the past on the erroneous belief that they could not provide Chapter 193/IDEIA services with a "students with disabilities" or "teacher of the handicapped" certification. Notwithstanding whether or not such certifications were, indeed, necessary, the holdings of Alfieri and Kourtesis nevertheless prevail. While a reduction in hours of employment for a good reason or an erroneously-based reason can be a RIF, for an actual reduction in hours to equate to a RIF and implicate tenure seniority protections, there must be an entitlement to a minimum number of hours of employment. Such is not the case here.

Accordingly, I CONCLUDE that the Commission is entitled to summary decision as a matter of law.

Dear Parties,

I have reviewed the materials filed in connection with Mr. Ferrer's Motion for Reconsideration of the Acting Commissioner's decision dated August 10, 2016. In the August 10, 2016 decision, the Acting Commissioner declined to grant interlocutory review of the July 12, 2016 Order of Administrative Law Judge Evelyn J. Marose. If reconsideration is denied, Mr. Ferrer alternatively seeks a stay of the ALJ's July 12, 2016 Order.

Pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.15(b)2, a motion for reconsideration shall be considered based upon the following:

i. claim(s) of mistake, provided, however, that disagreement with the outcome of a decision, or with the analysis upon which it is based, shall not constitute "mistake" for purposes of this section;
ii. newly discovered evidence likely to alter the outcome of a matter, where such evidence could not have been previously discovered by due diligence;
iii. newly ascertained misrepresentation or other misconduct of an adverse party, where such misrepresentation could not have been previously known; or
iv. reversal of a prior judgment on which the present matter is based.

New Jersey Is An Equal Opportunity Employer • Printed on Recycled Paper and Recyclable

Upon review and consideration of the submissions, I find that Mr. Ferrer has failed to satisfy any of the requisites for granting such relief specified in N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.15(b)2. In his Motion for Reconsideration, Mr. Ferrer generally argues that his motion should be granted because there has been "a pattern of judicial misconduct, conduct grossly prejudicial to the administration of justice"; additionally, he points to the existence of various alleged conspiracies in support of his motion. The Commissioner has discretion under N.J.A.C. 1:1-14.10 to decline to entertain a request for interlocutory review, and the Acting Commissioner appropriately exercised that discretion when he issued the August 10, 2016 decision. Mr. Ferrer has not presented any new evidence that would warrant granting Mr. Ferrer's request for interlocutory review of the July 12, 2016 Order at this juncture.

I also find that the petitioner has failed to satisfy the requirements for a stay of the July 12, 2016 Order.[1] Pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6(b), a motion for stay is considered an extraordinary remedy that may only be issued upon a finding that petitioner has met each prong of the four-pronged standard for the granting of interim relief set forth in Crowe v. DeGioia, 90 N.J. 126 (1982). Thus, a stay may be granted where necessary to prevent irreparable harm, where the legal right underlying the movant's claim is settled, where there is a likelihood of success on the merits and where the relative hardship to the moving party favors granting such relief. Id. at 132-134. Mr. Ferrer has not established, nor did he argue, any of the Crowe factors in his motion papers.

Accordingly, Mr. Ferrer's Motion for Reconsideration of the Acting Commissioner's decision, dated August 10, 2016, and the request for a stay of the July 12, 2016 Order, are hereby DENIED.[2]

Sincerely,

David C. Hespe

No. 6047-12 (Consolidated), Commissioner's Decision No. 205-16A*

Dear Counsel:

I have reviewed the materials filed in connection with Board's Motion for Clarification of the Commissioner's June 6, 2016 final decision in the above-captioned matter. Pursuant to that decision, the respondents "shall forfeit the 120 days' salary that has already been withheld pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-14; shall be suspended for an additional six months without pay; and shall have their increments withheld for two years." The Board is now seeking clarification as to the length of the suspension intended by the Commissioner, since the petitioners never had their salary withheld pursuant N.J.S.A. 18A:6-14.

In its papers, the Board argues that the Commissioner intended to impose a ten-month suspension without pay, which would consist of the 120 days that respondents' salaries could have been withheld pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-14, plus the additional suspension for six months. The Board notes that instead of suspending respondents for 120 days from when the tenure charges were certified, the Board transferred respondents to clerical positions while the charges were pending before the Commissioner and Office of Administrative Law. The Board seeks to clarify that respondents should be suspended for the 120 days referenced in the opinion, plus the additional six months suspension imposed by the Commissioner, along with the withholding of two years of salary increments.

In their response, respondents agree that under the rationale of the Commissioner's June 6, 2016 decision, respondents should suffer a salary loss for a total period of 10 months, because they were originally paid for the 120-day period.

In issuing his June 6, 2016 decision, the Commissioner intended for respondents to suffer a suspension without pay for a total of ten months and have their increments withheld for two years. Certainly, if respondents were paid for the 120-day period that their salaries could have been withheld pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-14, then the Board is entitled to impose that portion of the penalty now. Accordingly, the respondents shall be suspended for ten months without pay and have their increments withheld for two years.

IT IS SO ORDERED.*

David C. Hespe

SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT & GENERAL RELEASE

This Settlement Agreement and General Release ("Agreement") is entered into by and between the Moorestown Township Board of Education (the "Board"), and M.B. and S.B. ("Parents"), who reside at 716 Lippincott Avenue, Moorestown, NJ 08057, and are the parents of E.B., a student enrolled in the Moorestown Township Public School District ("District") (the Board, Parents, and E.B. collectively referred to as the "Parties").

WHEREAS, E.B. is a fourteen (14) year old student in Grade Nine; and

WHEREAS, the Board is the local educational authority with the responsibility of providing a free, appropriate public education to E.B.; and

WHEREAS, the Board provided/offered what it considered to be an appropriate class schedule for E.B., but Parents disputed the appropriateness of the proposed class schedule (the "Litigation"); and

WHEREAS, the Parties, following good faith negotiations, without alleging or admitting deficiencies in the educational program offered or provided to E.B. by the Board, have amicably resolved the dispute concerning the educational program for E.B.; and

4. The Board shall grant permission for one of its employees to provide tutoring to E.B. for as long as E.B. and the Parents deem tutoring to be necessary. Parents acknowledge that should the employee tutor become E.B.'s classroom teacher at any time, that employee will be prohibited, pursuant to District policy, from continuing to tutor E.B. In that case, Parents are free to hire another District employee, subject to availability, as a tutor for E.B. at Parents' expense.

5. With respect to a District employee – or any other tutor – tutoring E.B., it is expressly understood and agreed by the Parties that the Board has no financial responsibility for same.

6. If at any time E.B. ceases to attend, be enrolled in, or is no longer a resident of the Moorestown Township School District, the Board's obligations hereunder shall immediately cease.

7. BEFORE SARAH G. CROWLEY, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On August 25, 2016, petitioner filed a Verified Petition for emergent relief with the Commissioner of the Department of Education seeking to have her four children transferred from the Willingboro School District (Willingboro). The Director of the Bureau of Controversies and Disputes of the New Jersey Department of Education transmitted the matter to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), where it was filed for hearing as an emergent matter on August 25, 2016. N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15; N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13.

Willingboro filed a brief in opposition to the Petition on behalf of Willingboro on September 8, 2016. Willingboro also submitted the certification of the Principal Willingboro High School which essentially denies all of the allegations of mistreatment of C.J.'s children. Petitioner filed a response to the respondent's opposition on September 13, 2016. In addition, the petitioner submitted several emails including testing scores of her children as well as the juvenile disposition record for A.D. which indicate that she was found guilty of the charge of aggravated assault on June 2, 2016. A telephone conference was held with the parties on September 8, 2016, and oral argument on the emergent application was scheduled for September 14, 2016. The parties appeared and presented argument on September 14, 2016, and the record closed on the emergent relief at that time.

FACTUAL BACKGROUND

Petitioner has four children in the Willingboro High School and filed this emergent application on behalf of all of the children seeking to have them placed out of the district. Petitioner submits a one page letter in support of her application alleging that her children are being abused and are afraid to go back to school. She further alleges that one of her children is suffering from depression due to the treatment she has received at school and that one is on blood pressure medication as a result of pressures at school. Petitioner claims that all of her children are being bullied and receive therapy as a result of the anxiety they suffer from attending school in Willingboro.

One of the petitioner's children, A.D. was suspended last April, and has not returned to school since. The District claims that the child and the parent have refused to attend the reentry hearing, and C.J. does not deny this. The hearing has been scheduled for next week, and C.J. has agreed to attend. After A.D. was suspended in April, she and the other three children received home schooling for the remainder of the year. A.D. received a ten day suspension and was scheduled for a hearing regarding her return to school. It is unclear why the other children were taken out of school or under what conditions they all received homeschooling. However, the petitioner has refused to return the children to school and filed this emergent application seeking to have all four of her children placed out-of-district. She does not state where she wants them placed or any legal basis for such out-of-district placement.

LEGAL DISCUSSION

The standards which must be met by the moving party in an application for emergent relief are embodied in N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.6 and Crowe v. DeGoia, 90 N.J. 126, 132-34 (1982). Emergency relief may only be granted if the judge determines that:

1. The petitioner will suffer irreparable harm if the relief is not granted;
2. The legal right underlying the petitioner's claim is settled;
3. The petitioner has a likelihood of prevailing on the merits of the underlying claim; and
4. When the equities and interests of the parties are balanced, the petitioner will suffer greater harm than the respondent will suffer if the requested relief is not granted.

The petitioner must satisfy all four prongs of the test by clear and convincing evidence.

In this matter, the first prong of the test requires the petitioner to demonstrate that the children will suffer irreparable harm if the requested relief is not granted. Other than a conclusory statement from the petitioner that they will suffer irreparable harm, petitioner does not allege or demonstrate any irreparable harm to the children. Although I empathize with C.J.'s concerns and do not doubt that her children are unhappy in the school, there is no demonstration of irreparable harm. The second prong of the requirement for obtaining emergent relief is that "[t]he legal right underlying petitioner's claim is settled." N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6(b)(2). In other words, such relief may "not be granted when the principal of law on which it depends is disputed, and has not been settled in this state." Stevens v. Paterson & N. R. Co., 20 N.J. Eq. 126, 132 (Ch. 1869). In this matter, the petitioner seeks to have her four children placed out-of-district but fails to set forth any legal basis for such relief. Accordingly, the second prong of the test for emergent relief has not been met.

The third prong of the test for emergent relief requires a petitioner to demonstrate a likelihood that they will prevail on the merits of the underlying claim. In the present matter, petitioner seeks an out-of-district placement for all of her children because she claims that they are being bullied and are afraid to go to school. The petitioner presents no legal basis for such out-of-district placement, and has thus, failed to demonstrate a likelihood of success on the merits in this case. Although I found the petitioner sincere and credible in her arguments regarding her concerns for her children, there is no legal basis to simply place them out-of-district.

Finally, in order to obtain emergent relief, the relative equities of each party must be balanced to determine who will suffer greater harm if they do not prevail on the question of emergent relief. There is nothing to prevent the petitioner from sending her children back to school in Willingboro and no evidence to demonstrate that any of the children are entitled to an out-of-district placement or that they will suffer any harm if returned to school in Willingboro. Accordingly, I CONCLUDE that the balance of equities argument favors respondent.

CONCLUSION

Based on the foregoing, I CONCLUDE that petitioner has not demonstrated that emergent relief is appropriate in this matter. Petitioner's request is DENIED.

ORDER

Having CONCLUDED that petitioner is not entitled to the requested emergent relief and that the petitioner's request for emergency relief is DENIED, it is ORDERED that the underlying petition in this matter will proceed on a non-emergent track.

This order on application for emergency relief may be adopted, modified or rejected by COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. The final decision shall be issued without undue delay, but no later than forty-five days following the entry of this order. If COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION does not adopt, modify or reject this order within forty-five days, this recommended order shall become a final decision on the issue of emergent relief in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

BEFORE LELAND S. McGEE, ALJ:

Petitioner brings this Emergency Relief action seeking an order compelling respondent to immediately reinstate her employment. On August 31, 2016, the Bureau of Controversies and Disputes transmitted the matter to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) as a contested case.

STATEMENT OF FACTS

Petitioner was hired as a non-tenured second grade teacher through the Provisional Teacher Program Alternate Route, for the 2015 – 2016 school year. Respondent gave petitioner an "Ineffective" mid-year rating, a "Partially Effective" annual rating, and a "Partially Effective" observation rating throughout the school year. Petitioner was also the subject of an incident relating to a charge of conduct unbecoming. On May 10, 2016, respondent gave petitioner a formal notice that her teaching contract was not being renewed for the 2016 – 2017 school year based on her performance and conduct.

On August 24, 2016, petitioner filed the within application for emergent relief.

DISCUSSION

N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6(b) sets forth the standards governing motions for emergent relief. The regulation instructs in salient part:

> A motion for a stay or emergent relief shall be accompanied by a letter memorandum or brief which shall address the following standards be met for granting such relief pursuant to Crowe v. Degioia, 90 N.J. 126 (1982):
>
> 1. The petitioner will suffer irreparable harm if the requested relief is not granted;
> 2. The legal right underlying petitioner's claim is settled;
> 3. The petitioner has the likelihood of prevailing on the merits of the underlying claim; and
> 4. When the equities and interests of the parties are balanced, the petitioner will suffer greater harm than the respondent will suffer if the requested relief is not granted.
>

Petitioner has the burden of establishing each of the above requirements in order to warrant relief in his favor.

Turning to the first criteria, it is well settled that relief should not be granted except "when necessary to prevent irreparable harm." Crowe, supra 90 N.J. at 132. In this regard, harm is generally considered irreparable if it cannot be adequately redressed by monetary damages. Id. at 132-33. In other words, it has been described as "'substantial injury to a material degree coupled with the inadequacy of money damages.'" Judice's Sunshine Pontiac, Inc. v. General Motors Corp., 418 F. Supp. 1212, 1218 (D.N.J. 1976) (citation omitted). See New Jersey Dep't of Environmental Protection v. Circle Carting, Inc., 2004 N.J. AGEN LEXIS 968 (April 2, 2004) (finding no irreparable harm in connection with the revocation of respondent's solid waste license in that financial loss is generally insufficient to demonstrate this requirement). The moving party bears the burden of proving irreparable harm. More than a risk of irreparable harm must be demonstrated. Continental Group, Inc. v. Amoco Chemicals Corp., 614 F. 2d 351, 359 (D.N.J. 1980). The requisite for injunctive relief is a "clear showing of immediate irreparable injury," or a "'presently existing actual threat; (an injunction) may not be used simply to eliminate a possibility of a remote future injury, or a future invasion of rights, be those rights protected by statute or by common law.'" Ibid. (citation omitted.)

In the instant matter, the presumed potential for irreparable harm lies in the fact that petitioner asserts that she has had difficulty securing alternate employment. There has not been a showing of "immediate irreparable injury."

Petitioner also asserts that, under New Jersey Law, respondent was required to provide training by way of a mentor, and failed to do so. Petitioner stated that she verbally requested mentorship assistance; however she did not make a written request because she did not want to "make waves." Petitioner provided a copy of the Overview of 2014 New Jersey Teacher Mentoring Regulations (N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-8. This document purportedly reflects the contractual obligation of respondent to provide a mentor to petitioner. Petitioner acknowledges that she did not seek assistance from the teachers' union until May 2016, the end of the school year.

Petitioner's assertions appear to be more closely related to a contract dispute, however, no evidence was offered which confirms the details of the contractual relationship between petitioner and respondent. Petitioner provided a copy of her one-page Employment Contract executed on August 31, 2015. It does not refer to respondent's obligation to provide a mentor to petitioner nor does it incorporate by reference, any other guiding documents. Petitioner provided a copy of the Mentor Handbook 2009 – 2010.

CONCLUSION

After hearing the arguments of petitioner and respondent, I CONCLUDE that petitioner is not entitled to emergent relief because the proofs submitted fail to establish the necessary elements to grant emergency relief under N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6(b). Specifically, there has been no showing of irreparable harm by or the likelihood of prevailing on the merits.

For the foregoing reasons, I CONCLUDED that petitioner's request for relief should be DENIED.

ORDER

It his hereby ORDERED that the request for emergent relief is DENIED.

It is further ORDERED that the parties complete the exchanged of Discovery by October 28, 2016.

It is further ORDERED that, respondent shall file any dispositive motions on or before November 18, 2016. Petitioner shall file an Answer to the motion on or before December 16, 2016. Respondent may file a Reply to the Answer on or before January 6, 2016. The parties shall contact the undersigned through his assistant, to schedule an Evidentiary Hearing or Oral Argument on the motion.

This order on application for emergency relief may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who/which by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. The final decision shall be issued without undue delay, but no later than forty-five days following the entry of this order. If the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION does not adopt, modify or reject this order within forty-five days, this recommended order shall become a final decision on the issue of emergent relief in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

SYNOPSIS

Petitioner filed a pro se residency appeal on behalf of her daughter in August 2015, seeking a determination that J.F. resided within the regional area served by the Red Bank Regional High School. The respondent Board counterclaimed for tuition. The matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) to ascertain petitioner's residency and the amount of any tuition due. Petitioner failed to appear at a hearing scheduled for February 29, 2016, and the OAL returned the file to the Commissioner. In a decision dated March 22, 2016, the Commissioner remanded the matter to the OAL for resolution of the Board's counterclaim for tuition for the period of J.F.'s ineligible attendance in Red Bank schools. A hearing on the counterclaim was scheduled for July 6, 2016, but the petitioner again failed to appear.

On remand, the ALF found, inter alia, that: J.F. attended Red Bank Regional High School for the 2012-2013, 2013-2014, 2014-2015, and 2015-2016 school years; the Board's counterclaim sought tuition for only two of the school years in question, 2013-2014 and 2014-2015; the Board has established that the per-pupil cost for a high school student for these two school years was $13,250 and $13,600 per year, respectively. The ALJ concluded that J.F. was not entitled to attend school free of charge during the two school years in question, and ordered petitioner to reimburse Red Bank for tuition in the amount of $26,850 for J.F.'s period of ineligible attendance.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurred with the ALJ's finding that J.F. was not entitled to a free public education in Red Bank during the 2013-2014 and 2014-2015 school years. However, the Commissioner modified the ALJ's calculation of tuition due to reflect that, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:22-6.2, respondent is not allowed to recoup tuition for the 2013-2014 school year, but is entitled to tuition for the 2015-2016 school year. Accordingly, the Initial Decision was adopted with modification, and the petitioner was ordered to reimburse the Board $27,500 for tuition costs for the 2014-2015 and 2015-2016 school years.

| BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE RED BANK REGIONAL HIGH SCHOOL DISTRICT MONMOUTH COUNTY, | : | DECISION |
| RESPONDENT. | : | |

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed.[1] The parties did not file exceptions.[2]

Upon such review, the Commissioner concurs with the Administrative Law Judge's (ALJ) finding that J.F. was not domiciled in Red Bank for the 2013-2014 and 2014-2015 school years, and was not entitled to a free education in the District during that period of time. However, the ALJ's calculation of the total amount of tuition owed to the Board is modified as set forth below.

Pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1b and N.J.A.C. 6A:22-6.3, the Commissioner shall assess tuition against petitioner for the time period during which J.F. was ineligible to attend school in the District. Furthermore, N.J.A.C. 6A:22-6.2 limits the assessment of tuition to "the period during which the hearing and decision on appeal were pending, and for up to one year of a student's ineligible attendance in a school district prior to the appeal's filing and including the 21-day period to file an appeal." In this matter, following a residency hearing on July 22, 2015, the Board issued a

[1] The Commissioner was not provided with a transcript of the July 6, 2016 hearing at the OAL.

[2] Petitioner failed to appear at the initial hearing scheduled for February 29, 2016, as well as the July 6, 2016 hearing for disposition of respondent's counterclaim. Petitioner also has not provided an explanation regarding her failure to appear.

Final Determination of Eligibility on August 6, 2015, finding – in relevant part – that petitioner did not reside in the Red Bank Regional School District during the 2013-2014 and 2014-2015 school years, and that tuition should be assessed for the period of J.F.'s ineligible attendance in the District's school. Subsequently, on August 24, 2015, petitioners filed this instant appeal. Therefore, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:22-6.2, petitioner may be assessed tuition for the 2014-2015 school year, but not the 2013-2014 school year – as it would exceed the one year limit. The petitioner may also be assessed tuition for the 2015-2016 school year, during which time the hearing and decision on appeal were pending and J.F. attended school in the District.

The Commissioner hereby modifies the ALJ's assessment of the total tuition owed to the Board, as respondent is not allowed to recoup tuition for the 2013-2014 school year, but is entitled to tuition for the 2015-2016 school year. Therefore, the Board is entitled to tuition reimbursement in the total amount of $27,500.00 – which is the sum of $13,600.00 (the annual per pupil cost for the 2014-2015 school year), and $13,900.00 (the annual per pupil cost for the 2015-2016 school year).

Accordingly, the Initial Decision of the OAL – as modified herein – is adopted as the final decision in this matter. Petitioner is directed to reimburse the Board in the amount of $27,500.00 for tuition costs incurred for the 2014-2015 and 2015-2016 school years, during which time J.F. was ineligible to attend school in Red Bank.

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Petitioner M.F., the mother of J.F., challenges the determination made by the Board of Education of the Red Bank Regional High School District (District) that she did not reside in the Red Bank School District. The District filed a counterclaim seeking payment of tuition for the number of days J.F. attended school in the district.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On August 5, 2015, the District notified the petitioner that her daughter, J.F., was ineligible to attend the schools of the district due to non-residency. Petitioner appealed the decision. On September 17, 2015, the Department of Education transmitted the matter to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) to be heard as a contested case. N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15; N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13. Several conference calls were held and attempts to settle were explored by the parties. A hearing was scheduled for February 29, 2016, and the petitioner did not appear. Petitioner was marked as "Failed to Appear" and the matter was returned to the agency for disposition.

On March 23, 2016, the case was remanded for disposition of the counterclaim. Notices were sent to all parties and the matter was heard on July 6, 2016. The petitioner again "Failed to Appear." The District presented its proofs for the counterclaim but the record remained open for the petitioner to explain her nonappearance. When no explanation was received from petitioner regarding her failure to appear, the record was closed on July 7, 2016.

FACTUAL DISCUSSION

The facts of this case are not in dispute and as such, I FIND the following facts:

1. Petitioner's daughter, J.F., attended Red Bank Regional High School for the 2012-2013, 2013-2014, 2014-2015 and 2015-2016 school years.

2. For the 2012-2013 school year, petitioner agreed to pay for tuition and entered into a payment agreement for the cost of the tuition for that school year in the amount of $12,900 with the District. (Exhibit A.)

3. Petitioner presented a check to the District for the first payment installment that was returned by the bank for insufficient funds. Petitioner made a $1,000 payment on July 8, 2013, and a $1,000 payment on August 20, 2013. Petitioner failed to make another payment to the District on the agreement, leaving $10,900 due and owing.

4. For the 2013-2014 school year, petitioner, as proof of residency, presented a lease agreement with a listed address within the regional area that the District serves free of a tuition obligation. That address is 12 Horace Place, Red Bank, New Jersey. (Exhibit B.)

5. On August 9, 2014, a Student Activities/Request for Payment form was completed for J.F. to receive payment for "CIT Honorarium." The address provided was 8 Copperfield Court, Eatontown, New Jersey ("Eatontown address"). (Exhibit C.)

6. For the 2014-2015 school year, petitioner, as proof of residency, presented a lease agreement with a listed address within the regional area that the District serves free of a tuition obligation. That address is 16 Leighton Place, Red Bank, New Jersey ("Red Bank address"). (Exhibit D.)

7. Thereafter, the District received information that J.F. was not actually residing and domiciled at the Red Bank address, but was actually residing at the Eatontown address.

8. The District engaged the services of Wil-Bur Investigations, Inc. to conduct an investigation into J.F.'s actual residence.

9. Surveillance was conducted of the Eatontown address and the Red Bank address on October 2014. Surveillance included following petitioner and J.F. from the Eatontown address to Red Bank Regional High School. In addition, an investigation regarding the ownership of each of the addresses and the vehicles located at those addresses were conducted. It was determined at the conclusion of the investigation that petitioner and J.F. did not reside at the Red Bank address. (Exhibit E.)

10. On July 1, 2015, a Notice of Initial Determination of Ineligibility, along with the supporting documents, was delivered to plaintiff, at both the Eatontown and Red Bank addresses, via regular mail, Certified Return Receipt mail and hand delivery. The Certified Mail for the Eatontown address was returned "unclaimed." (Exhibit F.)

11. On July 22, 2015, a residency hearing was conducted before the Board of Education. Petitioner appeared on behalf of J.F.

12. The Board determined that J.F. was not domiciled or a resident of Red Bank, which would have entitled her to attend the High School without a tuition obligation.

13. On August 6, 2015, the Final Determination of Ineligibility, along with the supporting documents, were delivered to petitioner at both the Eatontown and Red Bank addresses, via regular mail, certified return receipt mail and hand delivery. The certified mail for the Red Bank address was returned "unclaimed." (Exhibit G.)

14. On August 6, 2015, petitioner completed a Request for Taxpayer Identification Number and Certification ("W-9"). The home address listed by petitioner was the Eatontown address. (Exhibits H and R-7.)

15. On August 24, 2015, petitioner filed an appeal from the District's determination of ineligibility.

16. Tuition for the 2013-2014 school year was $13,250. (Exhibit I.)

17. Tuition for the 2014-2015 school year was $13,600. (Exhibit J.)

TESTIMONY

Christina Galvao, Business Administrator for the District, testified that during the 2012–2016 school years J.F. attended four years of high school in the District. She also testified that she too was present during the residency hearing on July 22, 2015. She corroborated the cost of a student in the District. She presented invoices prepared by the High School which established the per-pupil cost for tuition-adjustment. The balance owed for J.F. attending the High School was $10,900 (Exhibit A and R-8) for the 2012–2013 school year. Tuition for the 2013-2014 school year was $13,250 (Exhibit I) and tuition for the 2014-2015 school year was $13,600 (Exhibit J). She testified that it was her understanding that these figures were accurate.

FINDINGS OF FACT

Petitioner did not attend the hearing once again, and I so FIND:

Respondent has filed a counterclaim seeking only the tuition for the days J.F. was attending the District ineligibly for the 2013-2014 and 2014-2015 school years. As such, the District must establish the cost of tuition and the number of days J.F. attended the District's schools when she was ineligible to do so. The invoices from the High School establishes the per-pupil costs for the 2013-2014 and 2014-2015 school years (Exhibits I and J) are self-authenticating, and, accordingly, I FIND that the per-pupil cost for a high school student to attend school in the district is $13,250 and $13,600 per year respectively.

The District alleges that although the District became aware that M.F. no longer resided in-district in 2012, J.F. attended its schools ineligibly for the entire 2013-2014 school year. In support of this contention, the District has offered for the 2013-2014 school year, a lease agreement with a listed address of 12 Horace Place, Red Bank, New Jersey, that is within the regional area that the District serves free of a tuition obligation (Exhibit B). On August 9, 2014, the Student Activities/Request for Payment form was completed for J.F. to receive payment for "CIT Honorarium." The address provided in the form was the Eatontown address (Exhibit C.) Also, for the 2014-2015 school year, petitioner, as proof of residency, presented a lease agreement with the Red Bank address that is within the regional area that the District serves free of a tuition obligation (Exhibit D).

Surveillance was conducted of the Eatontown address and the Red Bank address in October 2014. Surveillance included following petitioner and J.F. from the Eatontown address to the High School. Additionally, an investigation regarding the ownership of each of the addresses and the vehicles located at the homes was conducted. It was determined at the conclusion of the investigation that petitioner and J.F. did not reside at the Red Bank address (Exhibit E). I put great weight on the independent investigation.

Accordingly, I FIND that J.F. became ineligible to attend school in the District for the 2013-2014 school district and that continued through graduation in 2016. I FIND, by a preponderance of the credible evidence, that J.F. attended school in the District for the 2013-2014 and 2014-2015 school years while domiciled in Eatontown, which is outside of the District.

Although there was testimony that there is an existing balance of $10,900 for the 2012-2013 school year and a total outstanding balance of $51,650, the counterclaim in this case is only for the 2013-2014 and 2014-2015 school years. The amount of $51,650 is unsupported by any documentation or claim and I cannot FIND that as a fact in this matter.

CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

At issue is whether J.F. was entitled to a free education under N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1, which provides that public schools shall be free to persons over five and under twenty years of age who are "domiciled within the school district." See V.R. ex rel A.R. v. Hamburg Bd. of Educ., 2 N.J.A.R. 283, 287 (1980), aff'd, State Bd., 1981 S.L.D. 1533, rev'd on other grounds sub nom. Rabinowitz v. N.J. State Bd. of Educ., 550 F. Supp. 481 (D.N.J. 1982) (New Jersey requires local domicile, as opposed to mere residence, in order for a student to receive a free education).

A person who meets age requirements and is domiciled within a school district may attend its public schools free of charge. N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(a). A person may have many residences but only one domicile. Somerville Bd. of Educ. v. Manville Bd. of Educ., 332 N.J. Super. 6, 12 (App. Div. 2000), aff'd, 167 N.J. 55 (2001). A child's domicile is normally that of his or her parents. Ibid. The domicile of a person is the place where he has his true, fixed, permanent home and principal establishment, and to which whenever he is absent, he has the intention of returning, and from which he has no present intention of moving. In re Unanue, 255 N.J. Super. 362, 374 (Law Div. 1991), aff'd, 311 N.J. Super. 589 (App. Div.), certif. denied, 157 N.J. 541 (1998), cert. denied, 526 U.S. 1051, 119 S. Ct. 1357, 143 L. Ed. 2d 518 (1999).

The acts, statements and conduct of the individual, as viewed in the light of all the circumstances, determine a person's true intent. Collins v. Yancey, 55 N.J. Super. 514, 521 (Law Div. 1959). The parent has the burden of proof by a preponderance of the evidence. N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(b)(2).

The record reflects that J.F. attended school within the district for the 2013-2014 and 2014-2015 school years while domiciled outside of the District. Accordingly, I CONCLUDE that J.F. was not entitled to a free public education in the district. N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(b)(1) provides that when the evidence does not support the claim of the resident, the resident shall be assessed tuition "for the student prorated to the time of the student's ineligible attendance in the school district. Tuition shall be computed on the basis of 1/180 of the total annual per-pupil cost to the local district multiplied by the number of days of ineligible attendance and shall be collected in the manner in which orders of the commissioner are enforced." The uncontested record reflects that the actual cost of J.F.'s attendance in-district was $13,250 for the 2013-2014 school year and $13,600 for the 2013-2014 school year respectively. Accordingly, I CONCLUDE that the District is entitled to be reimbursed for tuition by the petitioner in the amount of $26,850. I further CONCLUDE that petitioner's appeal should be dismissed.

ORDER

It is, therefore, ORDERED that petitioner M.F., pay respondent, Board of Education of the Red Bank Regional High School District tuition in the total amount of $26,850 for unauthorized attendance in the District schools for the periods stated above. It is further ORDERED that the District's determination that J.F. was ineligible to attend school while domiciled outside the district is hereby AFFIRMED. Petitioner's appeal is DISMISSED.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

On April 28, 2016, I was assigned as the arbitrator for the above referenced matter. Settlement discussions took place May 10, 17, 27, and 31, 2016. The hearing officially commenced on June 10 2016, but the parties agreed to continue their settlement discussions in lieu of proceeding on the evidentiary record. The parties continued their active settlement discussions throughout the months of June, July, and August, but they were unable to resolve the matter. Throughout this process, requests for extensions of time to conduct the hearing and issue a decision were timely requested and granted.

Pursuant to my discussions with the parties' attorneys, a total of three (3) additional hearing days were scheduled for this matter: September 26, 27, and 30, 2016. On September 26, 2016, the parties continued their settlement discussions in lieu of proceeding on the record whereupon they successfully reached the general terms for settlement that needed to be reduced to writing. The hearing scheduled for September 27th was cancelled.

On September 30, 2016, the parties formally executed and adopted a settlement agreement resolving the tenure charges the State-Operated School District filed with the State of New Jersey, Department of Education on March 24, 2016. The terms of settlement are attached hereto. On September 30, 2016, I conducted a final conference with the parties' attorneys and the Respondent to discuss these terms.

N.J.A.C. 6A:3-5.6 requires the arbitrator to issue a brief decision approving the settlement of tenure charges and explaining why the arbitrator is approving the terms of settlement. A copy of N.J.A.C. 6A:3-5.6 was provided to the parties. The parties' settlement agreement expressly details the basis for resolution. I have thoroughly reviewed and considered the parties' reasons for settlement set forth therein. Having considered the stated reasons in conjunction with the issues raised in the Statement of Tenure Charges and the Statement of Evidence filed by the Petitioner and the Response to Tenure Charges filed by the Respondent, I am persuaded that the parties entered the settlement agreement knowingly and willingly and that the terms of the settlement agreement represent a reasonable basis for settlement that will serve the public's interest and are consistent with the public good.

Accordingly, and based upon the foregoing, I approve the parties' settlement agreement.

| PETITIONERS, | : | COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION |
| V. | : | DECISION ON |
| BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE MORRIS SCHOOL DISTRICT, MORRIS COUNTY, | : | APPLICATION FOR EMERGENT RELIEF |
| RESPONDENT. | : | |

The record of this matter, the sound recording of proceedings at the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), and the Initial Decision of the OAL have been reviewed. The parties did not file exceptions.

Upon review, the Commissioner notes that this emergent matter also involves an Office of Special Education Programs (OSEP) matter which was transmitted to the OAL concurrently with this matter, and docketed as EDS 11383-16. The Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) issued a Final Decision on Emergent Relief in that matter on September 1, 2016, denying the petitioners' request for emergent relief, pursuant to the standards enunciated in Crowe v. DeGioia, 90 N.J. 126 (1982), and codified at N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6. Specifically, the ALJ found that petitioners did not demonstrate that J.F. will suffer irreparable harm if the requested relief is not granted, and since all elements of the Crowe test must be met in order to warrant emergent relief, petitioners' request for emergent relief must be denied.

As the issues resolved in the Final Decision on Emergent Relief were within OSEP's jurisdiction and resolved all emergent issues, there is nothing left for the Commissioner to determine with respect to petitioners' motion for emergent relief. The Commissioner notes that although this matter was captioned as an Initial Decision, decisions on emergent motions instead require the issuance of an Order. N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.6. An Initial Decision on the underlying matter may be issued following a plenary hearing on the merits or a dispositive motion. N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.1.

Accordingly – for the reasons expressed herein – this matter is hereby remanded to the OAL for a plenary hearing, or such other proceedings as the ALJ and the parties determine, to resolve the underlying claim on the merits.

Petitioners bring this emergency relief action before the Commissioner of Education (Commissioner) seeking an order compelling Respondent to pay for tuition and provide transportation to the Somerset County Vocational Technical School. On July 29, 2016, the Office of Special Education Programs transmitted the matter to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL). The Office of Special Education Programs transmitted a companion case that was filed under OAL DKT. NO. EDS-11383-16, to the OAL on the same date.

On August 19, 2016, Respondent filed an Answer to the Petition, a Brief in Opposition to the Motion for Emergent Relief and supplemental Certifications. On August 22, 2016, Petitioner filed a Response to Petitioner's Opposition to the Motion for Emergent Relief together with supporting Certification. On August 24, 2016, Respondent filed a response to the Certification together with supporting Certification and exhibits. Oral Argument was heard on August 24, 2016, at which time the record closed.

STATEMENT OF FACTS

J.F. is a 14-year old student within the Morris School District (""MSD"), eligible for services and protection against discrimination under Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973 ("the Plan"). He was diagnosed with Attention Deficit Disorder and Auditory Processing deficits, which impact his organizational abilities, ability to complete assignments, and short term memory. The Plan describes J.F. as a "well behaved" young man and does not address any necessary behavioral support or placement needs due to his condition. It focuses on classroom and homework support. Petitioners had fifteen (15) days to express any disagreements with the contents of the Plan however they gave written consent to implementation of the Plan.

J.F. attended Frelinghuysen Middle School through the 5th grade. Petitioners unilaterally placed J.F. in the Unity Charter School for grades 6 through 8 before reenrolling him in the MSD for the 2016-17 school year. Following reenrollment, Petitioner advised MDS that they secured admission for J.F. at an automotive program at Somerset County Vocational and Technical Schools ("SCVTS") for the 9th grade. Petitioners requested that MSD pay the tuition and transportation to SCVTS, beginning in September 2016, and continuing through grade twelve.

DISCUSSION AND CONCLUSIONS

The underlying claims in this matter were discussed and resolved in the companion case filed under OAL DKT. NO. EDS-11383-16.

I CONCLUDE that Petitioners are not entitled to an Order requiring the Board to pay for J.F. to attend an out-of-county vocational school.

ORDER

I hereby ORDER that Petitioners' request for relief is DENIED.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." IN THE MATTER OF THE SUSPENSION OF THE TEACHING CERTIFICATES OF ELIZABETH CALDERON, SCHOOL DISTRICT OF THE BOROUGH OF FREEHOLD, MONMOUTH COUNTY

DECISION

This matter was opened before the Commissioner of Education by petitioner (Freehold Board of Education), seeking suspension of respondent's (Elizabeth Calderon) teaching certificate pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10 for resigning without providing the requisite notice to petitioner. Following transmittal of the matter to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), the parties proposed a Stipulation of Settlement (Agreement), which the Administrative Law Judge sent to the Commissioner with a recommendation for approval.

Upon review of the terms of the proposed Agreement, the Commissioner rejects same because the parties wish to apply a one year suspension retroactively – from November 16, 2015 to November 15, 2016 – and the record below is devoid of affirmation from the parties that the respondent was not employed as a teacher elsewhere during the proposed suspension period above. Under N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10, the Commissioner may suspend a teacher's certificate for up to one year for wrongful cessation of performance of her duties. The central purpose of the statute is to ensure proper notice to the school in order to deter disruption of services and adverse impact on students when teachers abruptly resign. See Penns Grove-Carney's Point Board of Education v. Leinen, 94 N.J.A.R. (EDU) 405, 407. As the parties in this matter have agreed to retroactive suspension of respondent's certificate, the Commissioner may – at his discretion – consider the proposed suspension, provided that respondent remained unemployed as a teacher for the duration of the suspension, and has attested to same by way of an affidavit. In the absence of any affirmation in this regard, the Commissioner cannot approve the within settlement.

Accordingly, this matter is remanded to the OAL for revision of the Agreement or for further proceedings consistent with the concerns set forth above.

Pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-16, as amended by P.L. 2012, c. 26 and P.L 2015, c. 109 ("TEACHNJ"), the tenure charges brought by the School District of the Township of Old Bridge, Middlesex County (the "District") against Thomas Strassle ("Strassle") were referred to me for a hearing and decision. I conducted a hearing at the offices of the Old Bridge Board of Education on July 7, 2016, July 20, 2016 and August 24, 2016.[1]

At the start of the hearing, the parties agreed that the issue to be decided in this tenure hearing is as follows:

> Has the School District of the Township of Old Bridge, Middlesex County, established that the Respondent, Thomas Strassle, engaged in misconduct as alleged in the charges brought against him. If so, what shall be the penalty?

Both parties were represented by counsel and had a full opportunity to adduce evidence, to cross-examine each other's witnesses and to make argument in support of their respective positions. A stenographic record was taken of the hearing. The parties submitted written closing memoranda, each citing legal authorities to support its position. Neither party has raised any objection to the fairness of this proceeding. Whether or not expressly referred to herein, all of the evidence adduced, authorities cited and arguments set forth by the parties have been fully considered in the preparation and issuance of this Opinion and Award.

Background:

Strassle is a tenured teacher in the District, beginning his employment in September 2003. At all times relevant to these charges, Strassle was assigned to the Old Bridge High School where he was an industrial arts teacher.

By letter dated September 29, 2015, the District Superintendent, David Cittadino ("Cittadino"), notified Strassle that he was being placed on paid administrative leave "pending the outcome of a criminal and administrative investigation into conduct unbecoming a teacher, in reference to student contact." (District Exhibit 14.) On April 5, 2016, Strassle and his attorney, Edward Cridge, Esq., were given notice that tenure charges would be filed against Strassle seeking termination of his employment. The Old Bridge Board of Education (the "Board") certified the charges on April 28, 2016 and forwarded them to the Commissioner of Education. The Statement of Tenure Charges include four charges alleging conduct unbecoming a teaching staff member as well as incapacity. (District Exhibit 1.) On May 18, 2016, Respondent filed an Answer to the Tenure Charges denying each of the allegations set forth. After review, the Commissioner of Education deemed the charges sufficient, if true, to warrant dismissal or reduction in salary. The matter was then referred to arbitration by me pursuant to TEACHNJ.

Tenure laws are meant to protect teachers from dismissal for "unfounded, flimsy or political reasons." Spiewak v. Rutherford Board of Education, 90 N.J. 63, 73 (1982). See also, Santiago v. Elizabeth Board of Education, 2000 WL 1235359, OAL Docket No. EDU-7135-98, Initial Decision (August 30, 2000). By statute in New Jersey, tenured teaching staff "shall not be dismissed or reduced in compensation except for inefficiency, incapacity, or conduct unbecoming such a teaching staff member or other just cause..." N.J.S.A. 18A:28-5. "Conduct unbecoming" is not specifically defined in the statute. It has been called an

"elastic standard that incorporates any conduct that adversely affects the morale or efficiency of the [public entity] ... [or] which has a tendency to destroy public respect for municipal employees and confidence in the operation of municipal services." In re Emmons, 63 N.J. Super. 136, 140 (App. Div. 1960). See also Karins v. City of Atl. City, 152 N.J. 532, 554 (1998). The touchstone of the decision as to whether particular behavior is properly considered conduct unbecoming "lies in the certificate holder's 'fitness to discharge the duties and functions of one's office or position.' (citation omitted)" In re Young, 202 N.J. 50, 66 (2010). "Conduct unbecoming is a type of disciplinary charge that is determined on a case-by-case basis and can embrace a wide range of conduct." Santiago, supra, 2000 WL 1235359 at *2. Under appropriate circumstances, "unfitness to remain a teacher may be demonstrated by a single incident if sufficiently flagrant." In re: Fulcomer, 93 N.J. Super. 404, 421 (App. Div. 1967.)

The District has the burden of proving that Strassle engaged in conduct unbecoming a tenured teacher as alleged in these charges and that such conduct warrants his removal from the District. It must do so by "a preponderance of the competent, relevant and credible evidence. (citations omitted)" Ashe-Gilkes, Sch. Dist. Of City of East Orange, Essex County, 2009 N.J. Agen LEXIS 12, 52, OAL Kdt. No. 07135-08 (2009). For the reasons set forth below, while the District has proven one of the factual allegations against Strassle, it has not proven the most serious of the factual allegations underlying the charges against him requiring dismissal of most of the tenure charges. The misconduct that has been proven warrants disciplinary action for conduct unbecoming but is insufficient to demonstrate that Strassle is unfit to meet his responsibilities as a teacher. The District has not proven conduct unbecoming or incapacity warranting Strassle's removal from his teaching position.

The Motion to Dismiss:

The gravamen of the four charges against Strassle involve allegations that Strassle gave money to a female student, N.C., over a period of time, that he then requested sexual favors in exchange for the money and that he engaged in inappropriate sexual contact with that student. The District presented four witnesses, including: (a) L.Q., a student in Strassle's photography class; (b) Michael Machen, a detective with the Old Bridge Police Department; (c) Sally Fazio, Vice Principal of Old Bridge High School; and (d) David Cittadino, Superintendent of Schools. The District also admitted various exhibits into evidence.

These serious allegations against Strassle arise from a complaint made in September 2015 by a female student, N.C., who was in Strassle's photography class during the 2014-2015 school year. The underlying factual allegations in the tenure charges are based entirely on N.C.'s statements. Significantly, however, N.C. did not testify at the hearing. Further, none of the District's witnesses had any first hand knowledge of N.C.'s allegations against Strassle. Given this lack of competent, reliable evidence, Respondent moved to dismiss these charges at the close of the District's case-in-chief. After careful review of the record, this motion was granted on the record at the hearing held on August 24, 2016. As indicated, the District had the burden of proving the factual allegations in the tenure charges by a preponderance of the competent, relevant and credible evidence. It has not met this burden.

Although hearsay may be admissible in arbitration, hearsay evidence alone is insufficient to prove an allegation. This is especially true where, as here, a tenured teacher is subject to termination. "Respondent has a fundamental due process right to face his accusers at trial." IMO Tenure Hearing of Richard Vencenti, State Operated School District of the City of Paterson, DOE Dkt . No. 255-14, Opinion and Award at p. 17 (Arbitrator Howard C. Edelman, June 11, 2014). Although N.C.'s sworn statement to the police on September 30, 2015 was admitted as evidence of the investigation that was performed leading to these tenure charges, N.C.'s statement to the police was a hearsay statement that could not, and was not, admitted for the truth of the matter asserted therein. N.C. was not subject to any cross-examination when providing her statement, much less cross-examination by Respondent's counsel. Because N.C. did not testify at the hearing, N.C. could not be cross-examined to test the veracity of her claims. Respondent was unable to question N.C. about significant inconsistencies between her first sworn statement to the police made on September 28, 2015, in which she denied any sexual contact with Strassle, and her second sworn statement on September 30, 2015, in which she alleged that she engaged in a sexual act with Strassle. Further, Respondent was unable to question N.C. about possible bias, improper motivation or any other facts that might indicate that the allegations were fabricated and should not be believed. Further, because N.C. did not testify at the hearing, I did not have any opportunity to assess her credibility.

In addition, there was no other competent, reliable evidence presented at the hearing that corroborated N.C.'s claims that are at the core of these tenure charges. No other witness had direct knowledge of any facts that would support N.C.'s allegations that Strassle gave her money, that he requested sexual favors in return or that there was sexual contact between the two.[2] Moreover, while the Old Bridge Police Department and the Institutional Abuse Section of the Department of Children and Families separately investigated N.C.'s allegations, no criminal or other charges (apart from these tenure charges) were filed against Strassle as a result of N.C.'s statements and the resulting investigations. Significantly, at the conclusion of the police investigation which included N.C.'s sworn statements, Detective Machen wrote that he "was advised by the Middlesex County Prosecutor's Office that no criminal charges were going to be pursued in the matter" and that "there was not sufficient probable cause to proceed." (District Exhibit 23.)[3]

These allegations, if proven, would have established conduct unbecoming and just cause for dismissal. Due process, however, requires that the District prove these serious charges by a preponderance of the evidence before a 12-year tenured teacher, with no evidence of prior discipline, is dismissed for the reasons set forth. To uphold these charges in the total absence of competent and reliable evidence to support them would result in the type of miscarriage of justice that these tenure proceedings are intended to prevent. Accordingly, all of the charges relating to allegations that Strassle gave N.C. money, that he requested sexual favors in return or had any inappropriate physical contact, including sexual contact, with N.C. were properly dismissed at the conclusion of the District's case-in-chief.

[2] In fact, there are inconsistencies not only between N.C.'s statements to the police, but also between her description of a conversation with Strassle in the dark room (discussed below) and the testimony of two other students who were present for that conversation.

[3] There was no evidence presented at the hearing with respect to the conclusions reached by the Institutional Abuse Section of the Department of Children and Families, including whether the investigation resulted in any factual findings as to N.C.'s allegations. Nor is there any evidence in this record that any action was taken against Strassle as a result of this investigation.

The Remaining Charges:

While a substantial portion of the tenure charges were dismissed for the reasons set forth above, allegations regarding a conversation with several female students in Strassle's photography class were not dismissed at the conclusion of the District's case-in-chief. Specifically, Tenure Charge No. 1 alleged, in part, as follows:

> b. During January 2015, Strassle had a discussion with several female students in his charge in his period 5/6 photography class, including [L.G., K.H., A.A., M.S.A., and N.C.] in a darkroom/office adjacent connected to (sic) his classroom at Old Bridge High School. (citations to the Statement of Evidence omitted.)
> c. During the course of that conversation, Strassle discussed prostitution with the female students, and asked them if any of them would have sex for money. (citations to the Statement of Evidence omitted.)

The charges allege that by such conversation (along with the conduct that was dismissed), Strassle violated the provisions of "Board Policies and Regulations, Employee Handbook, and any standard of conduct that a diligent professional would undertake or condone" and that he engaged in conduct unbecoming warranting his dismissal. (Joint Exhibit 1.)

Two students who were present when this conversation occurred testified at the hearing. L.Q. testified for the District. She was in Strassle's photography class in the 2014-2015 school year. She explained that the class was taught in the classroom, with a separate dark room used to develop film. L.Q. recalled a conversation in the dark room during that school year. There were approximately 16 or 17 students in the dark room when the conversation took place, although the conversation involved only five female students, including L.Q., K.H., M.S., A.A. and N.C. It occurred in the middle of the class period. L.Q. could not recall who started the conversation, but testified that one of the students commented that the fastest way to make money is to become a stripper; in her statement to the police, however, L.Q. indicated that the topic was prostitution, not being a stripper. (Respondent Exhibit 4.) According to L.Q. most of the students in the conversation said that they would not "do that," i.e., engage in prostitution or work as a stripper. Although she could not recollect Strassle's exact words, L.Q. testified that Strassle, who was present at the time the conversation took place, asked if they would do anything for money, "like

[with] someone around his age". (Tr. I at 62.)[4] According to L.Q., the girls responded "like umm, not really." (Tr. I at 35.) L.Q. testified that she did not have a reaction, other than to say she would not do anything. According to L.Q., when the class ended, her friends left the dark room together, including N.C. who went to her English class.[5] L.Q. and her friends did not discuss the conversation again. The conversation ended, "and that was it." (Tr. I at 53.) When asked whether, beyond the conversation described above, Strassle had ever discussed anything of a sexual nature with students in a class that she witnessed, L.Q. testified "no." (Tr. I at 37.) L.Q. testified that even after this conversation, she continued to visit Strassle's classroom with N.C. and sometimes others on several occasions "to hang out", stating that "at that point Mr. Strassle, he was all right to hang out with. He was a cool teacher." (Tr. I at 49 -51.)

A second student, K.H., testified on Respondent's behalf. She was in the same photography class as L.Q. and N.C. during the 2014-2015 school year. K.H. did not have a specific recollection of the conversation that L.Q. testified about as summarized above. She recalled telling the police that:

> We have had times when all the girls in the photography room have been like that's it, I give up, I'm going to be a hooker, I'm going to be a stripper, that's it. And jokingly Mr. Strassle will be like ha-ha, give me a call then, and we would be just like chill and that was it. Because it was always jokes. (Tr. II at 19.)

[4] On direct examination, L.Q. elaborated on her initial statement, indicating that Strassle had asked if they would "sleep with" anyone for money. (Tr. I at 36.) On cross-examination, however, L.Q. testified that she did not recall Strassle's exact words and had no specific recollection that he actually used the words "sleep with." (Tr. I at 62.) In her statement to the police, L.Q. stated that the topic of prostitution came up and Strassle asked the group "if we ever did prostitution and how much we would offer to do it." (Tr. I at 64.)

[5] In her statement to the police, N.C. indicated that in this conversation, in front of her friends, she said she would become a prostitute and that Strassle asked if she would do it with somebody like me. She "laughed and shrugged it off." She also claimed that after class, she stayed behind and Strassle asked if she was serious and how much she would charge him to have sex and that she responded $100. This statement is inconsistent with L.Q.'s testimony both as to what was said in front of all the students and whether N.C. stayed behind for a separate conversation with Strassle. Once again, N.C. was not called to testify and could not be cross-examined to address these additional inconsistencies.

K.H. told the police, and testified at the hearing, that the conversation with Strassle in the dark room was not serious. It was a joking conversation.[6] She felt comfortable going to speak to Strassle about her problems, and stated "Strassle would never hurt a fly. He is one of the kindest people I've ever met..." (Tr. II at 20.)

Strassle did not testify at the hearing. He did not deny that this conversation took place or otherwise dispute the substance of the conversation in the dark room with these students in the 2014-2015 school year. Based on the testimony of both L.Q. and K.H., therefore, it is clear that some conversation took place in the dark room where this group of female students made comments regarding prostitution and/or becoming a stripper as a way to earn money and that Strassle then joined in the conversation. He did not seek to end the conversation as inappropriate for the classroom, but rather participated in the conversation asking in some manner whether any of the girls would do "it" for money. Both witnesses testified that the conversation did not have a significant impact on them, with K.H. saying that Strassle was joking around and L.Q. stating at the hearing that she did not have any reaction to his comments and in her statement to the police that it was not serious. These two students did not speak about the conversation again with their friends or with Strassle. Significantly, their testimony overall indicated that they did not feel uncomfortable with Strassle, even after this conversation in the dark room. Moreover, the evidence does not support that this conversation was part of a pattern of inappropriate comments of a sexual nature with his students. To the contrary, L.Q. expressly testified that she had not witnessed Strassle making any other comments of a sexual nature. (Tr. I at 37.)

Nonetheless, inserting himself in a conversation with female high school students about becoming prostitutes or strippers, and asking whether they would do anything for money, even if intended as a joke, was improper for a teacher. It was entirely unrelated to the curriculum for the class. As Cittadino testified, "stripping has very little to do with photography and the curriculum that is supposed to be imposed." (Tr. 1 at 181.) Further, Strassle could not know how any student would react to his comments – whether they would think he was joking or was serious about the question or whether such comment could have other detrimental consequences. As a tenured teacher Strassle should have known that joining a conversation with female students about the students' willingness to engage in prostitution or stripping was inappropriate without a specific rule expressly addressing such conduct. As the District argued, "a finding of unbecoming conduct does not require a violation of any specific rule or regulation, but rather may be based primarily on a violation of an implicit standard of good behavior. Emmons, supra, 63 N.J. Super., at 140; Newark v. Massey, 93 N.J. Super. 317, 323 (App. Div. 1967)." (Closing Memorandum at p. 2.)

Strassle's comments, however, did violate certain District policies.[7] While most of the policies and regulations identified in the tenure charges and in Cittadino's testimony were relevant to the more egregious allegations that have been dismissed (see above) and not to the limited factual allegation that was proven, Strassle's decision to engage in this conversation in the dark room with female students violated the following:

- Board Policy 3281, Inappropriate Staff Conduct, stating, in pertinent part, that:

  School staff's conduct in completing their professional responsibilities shall be appropriate at all times. School staff shall not make inappropriate comments to pupils or about pupils and shall not engage in inappropriate language or expression in the presence of pupils... A school staff member is always expected to maintain a professional relationship with pupils and to protect the health, safety and welfare of school pupils." (District Exhibit 12.)

- Employee Handbook:

  Section 11.1: Personal Conduct
  The Board expects that all of its employees will conduct themselves with the pride and respect associated with their positions, their fellow employees, students, parents and everyone else associated with the Board in one form or another. Employees should always use good judgment and discretion in carrying out the Board's business.

  Employees of the Board should always use the highest standards of ethical conduct. (District Exhibit 3.)

  Section 12.1 Class 1 Violations:
  Conduct unbecoming a professional.

In conclusion, based on the testimony of the two student witnesses, and absent any testimony from Strassle disputing his participation in the conversation with these female students in the dark room, I find that the District has proven the allegations that Strassle engaged in an inappropriate conversation with the students during the 2014-2015 school year and that by such action, Strassle violated Board policies and engaged in conduct unbecoming a tenured teacher.

Penalty:

The District seeks Strassle's termination from employment. Whether termination is appropriate must be decided on the facts and circumstances of each case. Factors to be taken into account in making a penalty determination include the nature and circumstances of the incidents or charges, the teacher's prior record, the effect of such conduct on the maintenance of discipline among students and staff, and the likelihood of such behavior recurring. In re Fulcomer, 93 N.J. Super. 404 (App. Div. 1967). Having considered all of the evidence in this case, and all of the arguments presented and cases cited, dismissal is not warranted in this case.

It is significant that the more serious allegations of misconduct were not proven and were dismissed. All that remained in the case was the allegation that Strassle engaged in an inappropriate conversation with female students on one occasion. While it is true, as the District argued, that termination of a tenured teacher has been found to be appropriate based on a single incident if sufficiently egregious,[8] the conduct proven in this case does not rise to the level of such egregious misconduct to warrant discharge. The penalty must be proportionate to the misconduct proven; removal from his tenured teaching position is an unduly harsh penalty for the misconduct proven in this case. Indeed, as Respondent argued, termination would be inconsistent with the penalties imposed in other tenure cases where more serious misconduct was proven. In each of the cases that Respondent relied upon, the Commissioner or Arbitrator, considering the proven misconduct as well as mitigating factors, as applicable, reduced the penalty from termination to suspensions of varying lengths.[9]

[8] See, In re Fulcomer, 93 N.J. Super. 404 (App. Div. 1967).

[9] See e.g., IMO Tenure Hearing of Richard Vincenti, State Operated School District of the City of Paterson, DOE Dkt. No. 255-14 (2014) (Teacher engaged in "abusive, angry, demeaning behavior on a number of occasions; penalty was forfeiture of 120 days of pay withheld plus suspension of additional one-half school year without pay); IMO Tenure Hearing of Edith Craft, School District of

I am not persuaded that the actions proven in this case render Strassle unfit to continue to teach. The evidence does not demonstrate that returning Strassle to his position would cause any harm or otherwise have an "injurious effect" on the "maintenance of discipline and the proper administration of the school system." In re Fulcomer, 93 N.J. Super. 404, 422 (App. Div. 1967). The proven charge involves an isolated instance of an inappropriate conversation with female students; there is no evidence of any pattern of inappropriate conduct. Based on the testimony of the two students who testified, his comments during the conversation did not make them uncomfortable being in his class or in his presence or otherwise adversely impact his ability to teach and to maintain discipline in his classroom. Nor is there evidence that Strassle, a 12-year employee in the District, had any prior disciplinary action taken against him. Taking into consideration all of these factors, Strassle shall be returned forthwith to his position as a tenured teacher in the District.

Nonetheless, the misconduct proven in this case demonstrated a serious lapse in judgment for which substantial discipline is warranted to assure that Respondent understands the seriousness of his error in judgment and to impress upon him that such conduct must not be repeated. Considering the entire record before me, I find that a forfeiture of the 120 days of pay already withheld pursuant to TEACHNJ following certification of the tenure charges is the appropriate penalty for the misconduct proven in this case.

By reason of the foregoing, I issue the following:

a) The allegations in Charge One, paragraphs (b) and (c) have been proven, with such conduct constituting conduct unbecoming and providing just cause for discipline.

b) All other charges in the tenure charges are dismissed with prejudice for the reasons set forth on the record on August 24, 2016 and in this Opinion and Award.

c) Thomas Strassle shall be reinstated to his position as a tenured teacher in the District. The penalty for the proven allegations as set forth in paragraph (a) above shall be reduced from termination to a forfeiture of the 120 days of pay already withheld following the certification of the tenure charges. Therefore, there shall be no back pay awarded in connection with this 120 days loss of pay.

The Jersey City Public Schools (the "District"), who principal office is located at 346 Claremont Street, Jersey City, New Jersey 07305, and its successors, assignees, officers, employees, agents and representatives (collectively, "District"), and Anitra Martin ("Petitioner"), residing at 217 B Bradford Avenue, Cedar Grove, New Jersey 07009, have voluntarily resolved all disputed matters and enter into the following Stipulation of Settlement, which fully disposes of all issues in controversy between them in full and complete settlement of all outstanding issues as detailed below.

WHEREAS Petitioner is a tenured teaching staff member employed by the District as a teacher; and

WHEREAS the Parties intend to adopt, by way of compromise and accord, an amicable resolution of the Petition of Appeal; and

NOW THEREFORE, in consideration of the foregoing and of the mutual agreements contained herein, and intending to be legally bound, the Parties mutually agree as follows:

1. Concurrent with the execution of this Stipulation, Petitioner shall submit an irrevocable letter of resignation to the District, which shall provide for her resignation from the District, effective June 30, 2016 ("Effective Date"). (See Exhibit A to the Stipulation, a copy of Petitioner's signed letter of resignation).

3. As of the Effective Date, all of Petitioner's rights of employment with the District, including but not limited to accrued salary, benefits, tenure, and seniority, will cease.
4. Petitioner will not apply for reemployment with the District at any time. Specifically, Petitioner will be considered to have permanently resigned from her tenured position as a result of this Stipulation of Settlement. If Petitioner does apply for reemployment with the District and is approved for employment, the terms of this Agreement shall control and shall be grounds for termination of Petitioner's employment.
5. Petitioner's health benefits shall cease effective July 1, 2016. Should Petitioner wish to continue health benefits, she may do so through COBRA at her own expense.
6. This Stipulation is based upon the understanding that Petitioner's separation from employment with the District, effective June 30, 2016, will be deemed a voluntary resignation. Upon inquiry from any third party to authorized employees or representatives of the District, those employees or representatives will provide no information other than to confirm Petitioner's position, salary and dates of employment.

7. Upon final approval of the signed Stipulation of Settlement by the Judge, the Petitioner shall and hereby does withdraw the instant Petition of Appeal. The District agrees that it will not pursue Tenure Charges against Petitioner as long as this Stipulation remains in effect and is not voided by any court or administrative agency of competent jurisdiction. In the event the Stipulation is voided, the District retains the right to file and consider for certification, tenure charges against Petitioner, and Petitioner reserves the right to defend same.

8. In exchange for the consideration set forth in paragraph 2 above, the sufficiency of which is hereby acknowledged, Petitioner hereby waives, releases and discharges any and all claims or rights that she has or may have against the District and its members, the Jersey City Public Schools, and any and all other Board officers, employees, representatives, agents, successors and assigns (collectively, the "Released Parties") including any claim for attorneys' fees, costs or other monetary relief. This waiver, release and discharge includes, without limitation, any and all actions, claims, and liabilities of whatever kind or character, in law or in equity, now known or unknown, suspected or unsuspected, directly or indirectly related to Petitioner's employment with the District or separation from employment with the District. Petitioner also agrees to withdraw any and all pending complaints or actions that have been filed against the District or any of its employees or representatives.

9. Notwithstanding the above, it is understood and agreed that the parties are not prohibited from communicating with or participating in any administrative proceeding before the United States Department of Labor, the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, or any other federal, state or local law agency. other than his accountant, tax advisor and attorney ("permitted disclosures") and any other individual or entity as necessary to implement the Stipulation or to which it is legally obligated to respond ("legally-required disclosures"). In making any permitted disclosure, Petitioner agrees that it will inform the person to whom it is making the permitted disclosure that the existence and substance of this Stipulation, the settlement giving rise to this Stipulation and the sum of money paid pursuant to this Stipulation are to be held strictly confidential to the fullest extent permitted by law. Petitioner specifically agrees not to discuss the nature, terms, conditions of this Stipulation with others, any representative of the media, or any past, present, or prospective employee of the District, or its agents or attorneys. Petitioner understands that this provision is not a simple recital but is an important, integral part of this Stipulation. The District agrees that it will keep this Stipulation confidential to the extent permitted by law, including the Open Public Records Act, N.J.S.A. 47:1A-1, et seq. ("OPRA"). In the event that the District receives an OPRA request, for which this Stipulation would be responsive, the Petitioner understands that the District is legally obligated to disclose same under OPRA and that such disclosure would not be a breach of this Stipulation.

12. This agreement shall not constitute a precedent in any matters involving other District employees.

13. The Parties each acknowledge that counsel has advised them regarding this Stipulation and that each is signing this Stipulation freely and voluntarily, without duress, coercion or pressure from the other party, with full understanding of its terms and conditions and consents to the terms contained herein.

14. Each signatory to this Stipulation understands, acknowledges and agrees that this Stipulation constitutes the full agreement of the parties and may not be altered, amended, modified, or otherwise changed in any respect whatsoever except by a duly executed writing signed on behalf of both Parties.

15. This Stipulation shall be construed and enforced in accordance with New Jersey law. The Commissioner of Education and/or federal and state courts of the State of New Jersey, as applicable in accordance with such law, shall have exclusive jurisdiction over any dispute arising from, in connection with, or related to this Stipulation.

16. This Stipulation may be executed in counterparts with the same effect as if the signatures hereto and thereto were upon the same instrument. Each counterpart will be deemed an original, which taken together shall constitute a single instrument. Facsimile signatures or signatures in electronic Portable Document Format ("PDF") shall be construed and have the same force and effect as original signatures.

17. This Stipulation or any uncertainty or ambiguity therein shall not be construed against any party, but shall be construed as if both Parties to this Stipulation jointly prepared this Agreement.

18. Each party acknowledges that this is the entire agreement of the Parties concerning the subject matter of the foregoing paragraphs, and that there are no written or oral representations, understandings or agreements directly or indirectly connected with this Stipulation.

19. If any provision of this Stipulation is held by a court of competent jurisdiction or determined under applicable law to be invalid, void, or unenforceable, the remaining provisions will continue and remain in full force and effect.

| SCHOOL DISTRICT OF THE CITY OF | : | DECISION |
| BAYONNE, HUDSON COUNTY. | : | |

SYNOPSIS

Petitioning Board filed tenure charges of conduct unbecoming and excessive absenteeism against respondent, a tenured secretary, and sought to terminate her employment with the district. Neither respondent nor any attorney acting on her behalf filed an answer to the petition following notice pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-5.3 and 6A:3-5.4.

The Commissioner concluded that the allegations – which respondent has chosen not to deny – may be deemed admitted, and are sufficient to warrant termination of the respondent from her tenured position. Accordingly, the Commissioner granted summary decision to the petitioner and dismissed the respondent from her tenured position in petitioner's school district.

| IN THE MATTER OF THE TENURE | : | |
| HEARING OF CORISSA DEVENEY, | : | COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION |
| SCHOOL DISTRICT OF THE CITY OF | : | DECISION |
| BAYONNE, HUDSON COUNTY. | : | |

For the Petitioner, Robert J. Merryman, Esq.
No appearance by or on behalf of Respondent, Corissa Deveney

This matter was opened before the Commissioner of Education on August 29, 2016, through tenure charges of conduct unbecoming and excessive absenteeism certified by Patricia McGeehan, Superintendent of the School District of the City of Bayonne, together with supporting evidence against Corissa Deveney, a tenured secretary in the petitioner's employ. The petitioner provided respondent with written notice of such certification at the respondent's last known address, via regular and certified mail, sent on or about August 25, 2016.

On August 30, 2016, the Commissioner directed the respondent – via both certified and regular mail – to file an answer to the charges. This communication clearly provided notice to respondent that, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-5.3 and 6A:3-5.4, an individual against whom tenure charges are certified "shall have 15 days from the day such charges are filed with the Commissioner to file a written response to the charges with the Commissioner," and that failure to answer within the prescribed period would – absent granting of an extension for good cause shown – result in the charges being deemed admitted. The certified mail copy that was sent to the respondent was returned as unclaimed. The copy sent to the respondent via regular mail was not returned. No reply to the tenure charges was received from or on behalf of respondent.

The certified tenure charges and statement of supporting evidence filed by the petitioner in this matter indicate that respondent is a 10-month tenured secretary employed by the District, and that her attendance has been an issue since the 2012-2013 school year. During the 2015-2016 school year, the respondent worked only 10 days between September 1, 2015 and September 28, 2015. The respondent went out on leave under the Family and Medical Leave Act (FMLA) on October 1, 2015; this leave was originally intended to conclude on November 23, 2015, but was extended several times until April 1, 2016. Throughout her FMLA leave, the respondent failed to report back to work as scheduled and failed to call in to report her absences despite numerous written and verbal requests for updated medical information. Finally, since the respondent's most recent medical authorization expired on April 1, 2016, the respondent has not returned to work and all of the District's requests for further information have gone unanswered.

Deeming the allegations to be admitted – and noting that respondent has failed to respond to the charges certified against her – the Commissioner finds that petitioner's charges of excessive absenteeism and conduct unbecoming a staff member have been proven, and that they warrant respondent's dismissal. Accordingly, summary decision is hereby granted to the petitioner, and the respondent is dismissed from her tenured position with the District.

IT IS SO ORDERED.*

SYNOPSIS

Petitioner – formerly employed by the respondent school district under tenure as an Assistant Superintendent – asserted that her tenure rights were violated when her employment contract as Superintendent of the district was not approved by the Interim Executive County Superintendent (ECS) because the salary therein was in excess of the established "maximum salary amount" of $177,500 for the position of superintendent in the West New York school district. Petitioner's salary in her former tenured position as Assistant Superintendent had been $190,587, and the employment contract as superintendent included the same salary. The parties filed opposing motions for summary decision.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: there are no material facts at issue herein, and the matter is ripe for summary decision; the regulations governing employment contracts for superintendents, N.J.A.C. 6A:23A-3.1(a)(1), state that the ECS shall review and approve a superintendent's new employment contract, including contracts that replace expired contracts for existing tenured and non-tenured employees; pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:23A-3.1(e)(2), no contract for a superintendent shall include an annual salary in excess of the maximum salary amount plus additional district salary increments and/or a high school salary increment, if applicable; petitioner's argument that the reduction of her salary to the maximum allowed superintendent salary in the West New York School District violated the tenure rights that she had accrued as an Assistant Superintendent is without merit, as the Board did not reduce her compensation as an Assistant Superintendent; rather, petitioner's compensation was reduced because she took the job as Superintendent, the salary for which is governed by standards that include the maximum salary cap; petitioner's tenure rights accrued as Assistant Superintendent remain intact, but do not extend to her position as Superintendent; if petitioner were to return to the position of Assistant Superintendent, she would be entitled to all tenure rights attendant to that position. The ALJ concluded that there was no violation of petitioner's tenure rights and, accordingly, granted the respondents' motion for summary decision.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurred with the ALJ's findings and conclusions. Accordingly, the recommended decision of the OAL was adopted as the final decision in this matter for the reasons set forth therein. The petition was dismissed.

This dispute concerns whether petitioner's tenure rights as an Assistant Superintendent were violated when she accepted a position as the Superintendent of Schools, with a salary subject to a cap under the Fiscal Accountability regulations, N.J.A.C. 6A:23A, which was lower than petitioner's salary in her tenured position. The Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) determined that petitioner's tenure rights were not violated as the regulatory salary cap for superintendents did not affect petitioner's tenure as Assistant Superintendent.

The record of this matter, along with the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), have been reviewed. Additionally, petitioner's exceptions and respondents' replies thereto – submitted in accordance with N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4 – were also considered by the Commissioner. While reflecting her obvious disagreement with the findings and conclusions contained within the Initial Decision, petitioner's exceptions are unpersuasive, and substantially recast and reiterate the arguments made below. Upon a comprehensive review of the record, the Commissioner is in accord with the ALJ's determinations.

Petitioner takes exception to the ALJ's decision that petitioner's tenure rights were not violated when her compensation as Superintendent was "reduced" to $177,500 in accordance with the regulatory salary cap. Petitioner argues that she is entitled to her Assistant Superintendent salary of $190,587 in her new position, and that respondents violated her tenure rights under N.J.S.A. 18A:6-10 and 28-5 by approving an employment contract with a lower salary. The ALJ concluded that N.J.A.C. 6A:23A-3.1(e)(2) does not affect petitioner's tenure as Assistant Superintendent, and the regulation is consistent with the Legislature's intent to curb excessive superintendent salaries. Petitioner contends that the ALJ erred in his conclusion because: his reliance on N.J.S.A. 18A:28-5(c) was misplaced; he erroneously interpreted N.J.S.A. 18A:17-20.4; and he failed to consider the last sentence of N.J.A.C. 6A:23A-3.1(e)(2). The Commissioner disagrees.

As a preliminary matter, the ALJ is correct in determining that tenure rights accrued in one supervisory or administrative position are not transferable to another, and therefore, petitioner cannot assert her tenure rights as Assistant Superintendent in her current position as Superintendent. See N.J.S.A. 18A:28-5(c). Petitioner argues that N.J.S.A. 18A:28-5(c) typically arises in the context of a reduction in force, and is intended to prevent tenured employees from asserting claim to another position in which they have not served. The context in which transferability of tenure has been addressed in other cases does not negate the plain language of N.J.S.A. 18A:28-5(c) ("tenure in any of the administrative or supervisory positions enumerated herein . . . shall not extend to any other administrative or supervisory position") or its applicability to this matter. By attempting to transfer her tenure rights to her non-tenurable Superintendent position, petitioner seeks to extend her accrued tenure from one position to another in direct contravention of N.J.S.A. 18A:28-5(c).

The Superintendent position is separate and apart from petitioner's previous position of Assistant Superintendent, and she does not have tenure as Superintendent.[1] When lifetime tenure for superintendents was abolished, those who had accrued tenure in the position prior to the effective date of the amendments were protected through inclusion of N.J.S.A. 18A:17-20.4, which provides in pertinent part: "[n]othing in this section or in this act shall affect any tenure rights which shall have already accrued to any superintendent prior to the effective date. . . ." Consequently, superintendents such as Raymond J. Brosel, Jr., and Dr. Thomas N. Turner[2] – who had accrued tenure rights prior to August 24, 1991[3] – were grandfathered; anyone hired after that time, such as petitioner in this matter, no longer accrued tenure in the superintendent position. Therefore, petitioner – who does not have tenure in the non-tenurable Superintendent position – cannot impose her tenure rights from her service as Assistant Superintendent.

N.J.S.A. 18A:17-20.4 also provides that "[a] superintendent of schools promoted from within a district shall retain all tenure rights in any position which was previously held by the superintendent in the district." Petitioner has misapplied this provision to argue that all her rights as a tenured Assistant Superintendent, including the salary commensurate with the position, will follow her to the Superintendent's position, and her compensation cannot be reduced to comply with the regulatory salary cap of N.J.A.C. 6A:23A-3.1(e)(2). The purpose of N.J.S.A. 18A:17-20.4 is to ensure that a tenured district employee retains or maintains her rights to the position in which she has accrued tenure once she is appointed as superintendent, since

[1] Pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:17-20 et seq., as amended on August 24, 1991, superintendents no longer acquire tenure in the position. Petitioner was appointed as Superintendent, effective July 1, 2015.

[2] Petitioner used Brosel and Turner as examples of superintendents with lifetime tenure whose salaries were not capped pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:23A-3.1(e)(2).

[3] Brosel was appointed as superintendent as 1986 and Turner became superintendent in his present district in 1987.

lifetime tenure can no longer be accrued as a superintendent. In other words, if petitioner returned to her position as Assistant Superintendent in the District, she would receive the benefits of accrued tenure in that position. Petitioner, however, has conflated retention of tenure rights in a particular position with transfer or extension of said tenure rights to the Superintendent position, and seeks to transfer her right to the Assistant Superintendent salary to her compensation as Superintendent, where such right clearly does not exist. See N.J.S.A. 18A:28-5(c) and N.J.A.C. 6A:23A-3.1(e)(2). If we were to adopt petitioner's interpretation of "retain" and apply her reasoning that employees "retain all tenure rights" in the superintendent position, then it would mean that all rights – including an employee's lifetime tenure in another position – would carry over to their position as superintendent, which is illogical and inconsistent with N.J.S.A. 18A:17-20 et seq. This notion that N.J.S.A. 18A:28-5(c) does not apply in this matter and that a tenured district employee's rights in a particular position can be transferred to the superintendent position is also inconsistent with N.J.A.C. 6A:23A-3.1(e)(2), which specifically places a cap on superintendents' salaries, and would defeat the purpose of the Fiscal Accountability regulations if employees tenured in other positions were ultimately allowed to disregard the regulatory salary cap and extend their tenure rights.

Petitioner proffers that the final sentence of N.J.A.C. 6A:23A-3.1(e)(2) – "[t]his paragraph shall be construed consistent with any tenure rights acquired pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-10 et seq." – means that her tenured Assistant Superintendent salary must be maintained even when she is employed as Superintendent. However, the last sentence applies to the compensation of tenured superintendents pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:17-20.4, which petitioner is not, and she simply cannot extend her tenure as Assistant Superintendent to the Superintendent position. See N.J.S.A. 18A:28-5(c) and N.J.S.A. 18A:17-20 et seq. In compliance with

N.J.S.A. 18A:17-20.4, N.J.A.C. 6A:23A-3.1(e)(2) protects the tenure rights of superintendents who have lifetime tenure in their position, such as Raymond J. Brosel, Jr. and Dr. Thomas N. Turner. The subject provision of N.J.A.C. 6A:23A-3.1(e)(2) is not intended to extend tenure rights accrued in other positions, nor can it be applied to contractual tenure. See New Jersey Association of School Administrators v. Cerf, 428 N.J. Super. 588 (App. Div. 2012) (upholding the cap on superintendent salaries pursuant to the Fiscal Accountability regulations); Bacher v. Bd. of Educ. of the Twp. Of Mansfield, Commissioner Decision No. 84-12, decided March 5, 2012, aff'd, Dkt. No. A-3743-11T2 (App. Div. 2013) (finding reduction of petitioner's salary to comply with the regulatory cap was proper and it did not violate petitioner's contractual tenure rights); Seitz v. Bd. of Educ. of the Twp. of Parsippany-Troy Hills and Serafino, Commissioner Decision No. 258-13, decided July 15, 2013 (affirming the ALJ's conclusion that the board's reduction of petitioner's salary in accordance with the Fiscal Accountability regulations was proper and the board was entitled to reimbursement from petitioner for the amount overpaid). Since petitioner is not a lifetime tenured superintendent she is not entitled to compensation exceeding the salary cap.

Application of the regulatory salary cap in this case does not violate petitioner's tenure rights as her salary was not reduced during her time as Assistant Superintendent and was appropriately reduced once she accepted the position as Superintendent. See New Jersey Association of School Administrators v. Schundler, 211 N.J. 535 (2012) (holding that the Legislature had the authority to modify terms and conditions for future contracts without violating tenure laws when it directed the Commissioner to issue regulations consistent with the enabling statutes and the Legislature's goal, and finding that tenure rights were not violated when sick leave was capped pursuant to the Fiscal Accountability regulations).

Petitioner also argues that the ALJ erred when he did not consider evidence of the two lifetime tenured superintendents, Brosel and Turner, whose salaries are higher than the cap. Petitioner maintains that this evidence demonstrates that the Executive County Superintendent (ECS) failed to properly construe the final sentence of N.J.A.C. 6A:23A-3.1(e)(2) in this matter. In reply, the respondents note that the two superintendents acquired lifetime tenure in their superintendent positions before tenure for superintendents was abolished, and therefore, petitioner's status as a tenured Assistant Superintendent is not analogous to the two superintendents' lifetime tenure rights in their position and has no bearing on the issue at hand. The Commissioner agrees. However, to the extent such evidence is to be considered, it only supports the narrow application of the last sentence of N.J.A.C. 6A:23A-3.1(e)(2), as discussed above. Petitioner does not have tenure as a superintendent, and therefore, the regulatory salary cap was properly applied to her without violating her tenure rights as an Assistant Superintendent.

Accordingly, the recommended decision of the OAL is adopted as a final decision in this matter for the reasons set forth therein, and the petition is dismissed.

BEFORE LELAND S. MCGEE, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

This matter arises out of the respondent Interim Executive County Superintendent (ECS) Monica Tone's (Tone) decision not to approve an employment contract for petitioner Clara Herrera (Herrera) in excess of $177,500, the "maximum salary amount" for a superintendent in respondent Board of Education of the Town of West New York's (the Board) school district. Before being appointed to Superintendent of Schools for the Board, Herrera had tenure as an Assistant Superintendent and earned a salary of $190,587.

On September 24, 2015, Herrera filed a Petition for Declaratory Relief seeking a new employment contract, retroactive to July 1, 2015, with an annual salary of $190,587. The Commissioner of Education (the Commissioner) converted the Petition to a Petition of Appeal and on November 10, 2015, transmitted the matter to the Office of Administrative Law as a contested case pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13.

A pre-hearing conference was held on December 29, 2015, at which time a schedule for the completion of discovery was established as well as a schedule for filing of dispositive motions. On or about June 29, 2016, the parties filed simultaneous motions for summary decision. On or about July 5, 2016, the parties filed a Joint Stipulation of Facts and on or about July 15, 2016, the parties filed their respective replies to the cross-motions for summary decision. Oral argument was scheduled for September 8, 2016, however the parties agreed that the matter should be decided on the papers and the record closed on July 18, 2016.

LEGAL ANALYSIS AND CONCLUSIONS

A. Summary Decision Standard

Under N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(b) a "motion for summary decision shall be served with briefs and with or without supporting affidavits." N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(b). A summary decision may be rendered "if the papers and discovery which have been filed, together with the affidavits, if any, show that there is no genuine issue as to any material fact challenged and that the moving party is entitled to prevail as a matter of law." Ibid.

A court should grant summary judgment when the pleadings, depositions, answers to interrogatories and admissions on file, together with the affidavits, show that there is no genuine issue of material fact and that the moving party is entitled to a judgment as a matter of law. Brill v. Guardian Life Ins. Co. of Am., 142 N.J. 520, 528-529 (1995). The Supreme Court of New Jersey has adopted a standard that requires judges to "engage in an analytical process to decide whether the evidence presents a sufficient disagreement to require submission to a jury or whether it is so one-sided that one party must prevail as a matter of law." Id. at 533.

"When a motion for summary decision is made, an adverse party in order to prevail must by responding affidavit set forth specific facts showing that there is a genuine issue which can only be determined in an evidentiary proceeding . . . ." N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(b). A court should deny a motion for summary decision when the party opposing the motion has produced evidence that creates a genuine issue as to any material fact challenged. Brill, supra, 142 N.J. at 528-29. When making a summary decision, the "judge's function is not himself [or herself] to weigh the evidence." Id. at 540.

B. Whether Herrera's reduction in compensation as a superintendent violated her tenure rights.

No person under tenure in the New Jersey public school system can be dismissed or reduced in compensation "except for inefficiency, incapacity, unbecoming conduct, or other just cause, and then only after a hearing" is conducted. N.J.S.A. 18A:6-10. Tenure in the public school system Jersey can be achieved by any staff member "in the positions of teacher, principal, other than administrative principal, assistant principal, vice-principal, assistant superintendent, and all school nurses." N.J.S.A. 18A:28-5.

The regulations governing employment contracts for superintendents state that the ECS shall review and approve a superintendent's new employment contract, including contracts that replace expired contracts for existing tenured and non-tenured employees. N.J.A.C. 6A:23A-3.1(a)(1). "No contract for a superintendent . . . or person otherwise serving as superintendent . . . shall include an annual salary in excess of the maximum salary amount plus, if applicable, additional district salary increment(s) and/or a high school salary increment." N.J.A.C. 6A:23A-3.1(e)(2).

> The "'maximum salary amount" for superintendents means $125,000 for any district or districts with a total enrollment of 250 or less based on the enrollment figures in the Application for State School Aid (ASSA) filed by the district(s) on the prior October 15; $135,000 for any district or districts with a total enrollment of 750 or less but greater than 250 based on the enrollment figures in the ASSA filed by the district(s) on the prior October 15; $145,000 for any district or districts with a total enrollment of 1,500 or less but greater than 750 based on the enrollment figures in the ASSA filed by the district(s) on the prior October 15; $155,000 for any district or districts with a total enrollment of 3,000 or less but greater than 1,500 based on the enrollment figures in the ASSA filed by the district(s) on the prior October 15; $165,000 for any district or districts with a total enrollment of 6,500 or less but greater than 3,000 based on the enrollment figures in the ASSA filed by the district(s) on the prior October 15; and $175,000 for any district or districts with a total enrollment greater than 6,500 based on the enrollment figures in the ASSA filed by the district(s) on > the prior October 15. The Commissioner, upon written application by the board(s) of education and on a case-by-case basis, may approve a waiver of the maximum salary amount for any district or districts with a total enrollment of 10,000 or more based on the enrollment figures in the ASSA filed by the district(s) on the prior October 15.

The Legislature required the new ECS's to "review and approve, according to standards adopted by the commissioner, all employment contracts for superintendents of schools, assistant superintendents of schools, and school business administrators in school districts within the county, prior to the execution of those contracts." Ibid. (quoting N.J.S.A. 18A:7-8(j)). The Commissioner of Education issued regulations on July 1, 2008, titled "Fiscal Accountability, Efficiency and Budgeting Procedures," N.J.A.C. 6A:23A, which "set standards that executive county superintendents must use in their review of new employment contracts for superintendents, assistant superintendents, and school business administrators." Ibid.

The Legislature can "modify the terms and conditions of public service by enacting new laws that reflect new policies—unless the State Constitution says otherwise." Schundler, 211 N.J. at 560; see Spina v. Consolidated Police and Firemen's Pension Fund Commission, 41 N.J. 391 (1964) (the general approach in our State is that the terms and conditions of public service in office or employment rest in legislative policy rather than contractual obligation, and hence may be changed except of course insofar as the State Constitution provides otherwise); see also New Jersey Ass'n of Sch. Bus. Officials v. Davy, 409 N.J. Super. 467, 490 (App. Div. 2009) (our courts have long recognized that absent constitutional restriction, the Legislature may modify terms and conditions of public service).

Thus, the Legislature may provide "specific direction to the Commissioner to adopt regulations that would curtail abuses and cut administrative costs" and the new regulations may apply prospectively to future contracts. Schundler, 211 N.J. at 560. The Commissioner, under direction of the Legislature, may set future terms and conditions of public employment so long as they do not present constitutional concerns. Ibid. Additionally, "[t]enured assistant superintendents cannot claim a constitutionally protected property right under state law to future contract terms." Ibid.

The Legislature expressly authorized the Commissioner of Education to adopt standards by which an ECS will review and approve a superintendent's contract. N.J.S.A. 18A:7-8(j) (each ECS shall "review and approve, according to the standards adopted by the commissioner, all employment contracts for superintendents[.]"). When setting the standards for reviewing a superintendent's contract, the Commissioner added "a cap on maximum salary determined by the size of the district's enrollment." New Jersey Ass'n of Sch. Adm'rs v. Cerf, 428 N.J. Super. 588, 599 (App. Div. 2012). "In responding to comments objecting to the proposed caps and their impact on superintendents and quality education, the Commissioner explained that the caps were needed because of the districts' continued failure to control administrative costs" and explained that "the caps were sufficiently high to attract high quality and "talented candidates" because the range of possible salaries "was more than twice the average earned by an individual living in New Jersey, and higher than the median salary for superintendents in Pennsylvania, Delaware and New York." Id. at 599-600; see 43 N.J.R. 284(a). This cap on salary based on enrollment is "wholly consistent with and furthers the Legislature's goal of controlling excessive spending on administration to facilitate thorough and efficient public education." Cerf, supra, 428 N.J. Super. at 601.

"[T]he Legislature, not th[e] salary cap amendment, limited a board's authority to pay [superintendents] as much as it wishes . . . by mandating review and approval of 'all employment contracts for superintendents' for compliance with standards set by the Commissioner." Id. at 602 (quoting N.J.S.A. 18A:7-8(j)). "Thus, the question in this case involves the interplay of two or more statutes, which we must seek to harmonize under the assumption that the Legislature was aware of its actions and intended for the related laws to work together." Cerf, supra, 428 N.J. Super. at 602; see Schundler, supra, 211 N.J. at 555. "In Schundler, [supra,] the Court considered tenure laws and . . . the same statutory amendments implicated here, authorizing regulations that altered specified benefits for some tenured officials[,] . . . and concluded that those statutes and the implementing regulations could and should be read together, harmonized and given 'their intended effect.'" Cerf, supra, 428 N.J. Super. at 602-03 (quoting Schundler, supra, 211 N.J. at 540-42).

Here, Herrera claims that reducing her salary to the maximum salary amount for superintendents in West New York School District violated her tenure rights that she accrued as an Assistant Superintendent. Herrera argues that N.J.A.C. 6A:23A-3.1(e)(2), the regulation implementing the maximum salary cap, is in conflict with the tenure statutes, N.J.S.A. 18A:6-10, and N.J.S.A. 18A:28-5, prohibiting a reduction in compensation "except for inefficiency, incapacity, unbecoming conduct, or other just cause, and then only after a hearing" is conducted.

However, the Board did not reduce Herrera's compensation as an Assistant Superintendent. Instead, Herrera's compensation was reduced when she took the job as Superintendent. The salary of a superintendent is governed by the standards set by the Commissioner, which include the maximum salary cap.

The New Jersey Legislature authorized the Commissioner to adopt these standards under N.J.S.A. 18A:7-8(j). The Legislature's purpose was to reign in administrative spending and allow the Commissioner to adopt standards to curb the "inflated salaries and lucrative benefits for superintendents" that have cost New Jersey taxpayers millions of dollars. The Legislature also created Tone's position of ECS to review and approve the employment contracts of superintendent's within her County according to the standards adopted by the Commissioner.

As in Schundler, supra, the tenure statutes and the regulation imposing the maximum salary cap for superintendents can be harmonized and given their intended effect. Herrera's tenure rights that she accrued as an Assistant Superintendent are not affected by N.J.A.C. 6A:23A-3.1(e)(2), which governs the maximum salary for superintendents. The Legislature limited the salary of superintendents when it mandated "review and approval of all employment contracts for superintendents for compliance with standards set by the Commissioner." Cerf, supra, 428 N.J. Super. at 602. Thus, N.J.A.C. 6A:23A-3.1(e)(2) is not in conflict with the tenure statutes and Herrera's tenure rights were not violated when her salary was reduced to $177,500, the maximum allowed for a superintendent in West New York School District under N.J.A.C. 6A:23A-3.1(e)(2).

Petitioner also claims that the regulation implementing a maximum salary cap for superintendents, N.J.A.C. 6A:23A-3.1(e)(2), is in conflict with N.J.S.A. 18A:17-20.4, which states: "[a] superintendent of schools promoted from within a district shall retain all tenure rights accrued in any position which was previously held by the superintendent in the district."

However, N.J.S.A. 18A:17-20.4 is not implicated here because the Board did not violate any of the tenure rights that Herrera accrued as an Assistant Superintendent. N.J.S.A. 18A:17-20.4. Tenure in administrative or supervisory positions accrues only by employment in that administrative or supervisory position and "[t]enure so accrued shall not extend to any other administrative or supervisory position." N.J.S.A. 18A:28-5. Thus, Herrera's tenure rights as Assistant Superintendent do not extend to her position as Superintendent. If she were to return to that position, should be entitled to all tenure rights attendant to that position.

For the foregoing reasons I CONCLUDE that Herrera's rights under the tenure statutes, N.J.S.A. 18A:6-10 and N.J.S.A. 18A:28-5, were not violated because N.J.A.C.

6A:23A-3.1(e)(2) does not affect Herrera's tenure rights as an Assistant Superintendent. Further, the regulation is consistent with the Legislature's intent to curb excessive superintendent salaries in New Jersey. Thus, the Board's Motion for Summary Decision should be granted.

ORDER

It is hereby ORDERED that the motion for summary decision by Respondent Board of Education, and by Respondent Monica M. Tone is hereby GRANTED. It is further ORDERED that the motion for summary decision by Petitioner Herrera is hereby DENIED.

I hereby FILE this Initial Decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, P.O. | RESPONDENT. | : | |

SYNOPSIS

Petitioner filed an appeal on March 16, 2016, seeking a determination that the respondent Board's decision to deny T.K.'s application for readmission to the Warren County Technical School violated regulations governing admission to county vocational school districts; additionally, petitioner sought an order directing that T.K. be readmitted to the district. By letter dated September 18, 2015, the respondent Board advised J.K. that T.K.'s application for readmission was denied. T.K. had been enrolled in the Warren County Technical School during the 2013-2014 and 2014-2015 school years, but was withdrawn in August 2015 by his aunt, who shared joint custody with petitioner J.K., T.K.'s mother. Subsequently, J.K. informed the school that she wanted T.K. reenrolled and objected to the withdrawal by his aunt. The parties filed cross motions for summary decision.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: there are no material facts at issue in this matter, and the case is ripe for summary decision; T.K.'s aunt was the custodial guardian and shared joint custody of her nephew with his mother, J.K.; the Board, in accepting the withdrawal of T.K. from his aunt, did not violate any duty to J.K.; T.K.'s application for readmission to the program was denied by respondent because it was submitted outside of the application window; the letter dated September 18, 2015, advising petitioner that T.K.'s application was denied, was the final decision of the respondent Board regarding the application of T.K.; the within petition was not filed until March 16, 2016; and the petitioner failed to timely file the petition pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(i). The ALJ concluded that the petition was late filed; accordingly, the ALJ granted the Board's motion for summary decision, and denied petitioner's cross motion.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurred with the ALJ's findings, and his conclusion that the petition was untimely. Accordingly, the Initial Decision of the OAL was adopted as the final decision in this matter, and the petition was dismissed.

This synopsis is not part of the Commissioner's decision. It has been prepared for the convenience of the reader. It has been neither reviewed nor approved by the Commissioner.

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law have been reviewed. The parties did not file exceptions to the Initial Decision.

Upon such review, the Commissioner concurs with the Administrative Law Judge that the instant petition is appropriately dismissed because it was filed outside the 90-day limitation period set forth in N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(i). BEFORE THOMAS R. BETANCOURT, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Petitioner seeks a determination: that Respondent's denial of petitioner's application for readmission to Warren County Technical School violated N.J.A.C.

6A:19-2.3(b); an order directing petitioner T.K. be readmitted to the Warren County Technical School; and, reimbursement of attorney's fees, expert fees and costs.

The matter was transferred to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), where it was filed on April 5, 2016, as a contested case. N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15; N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13.

A prehearing order, dated April 22, 2016, was entered by the undersigned.

Respondent filed a motion for summary decision on July 7, 2016. Petitioner filed a cross-motion for summary decision on July 12, 2016.

ISSUES

Did Respondent violate N.J.A.C. 6A:19-2.3(a) by denying T.K.s application for admission; did Respondent, in accepting the withdrawal of T.K. submitted by his aunt, Suzanne Eick, the custodial guardian, violate J.K.'s custodial rights; did Respondent discriminate against [Petitioner based upon their socio-economic status; and, is Petitioner's claim time barred.

FACTUAL DISCUSSION

The following FACTS are not in dispute:

T.K. was enrolled at the Warren County Technical School during the 2012-2014 and 2014-2015 academic years. These were T.K.'s freshman and sophomore years.

During the period T.K. was enrolled at the Warrant County Technical School he resided in Warren County with his aunt, Suzanne Eick. Ms. Eick shared custody of T.K. with J.K., T.K.'s mother. J.K. resides in Florida. Suzanne Eick is J.K.'s sister.

On August 4, 2015, Suzanne Eick withdrew T.K. from the Warren County Technical School, noting on the withdrawal form "going back to his mom in Florida."

J.K. telephoned the Warren County Technical School on August 8, 2015, to advise the school that T.K. would be returning to school. J.K. telephoned the school again on August 11, 2015, and spoke with Vice Principal John Mclecraine. J.K. advised Mr. Mclecraine that she had joint custody with Ms. Eick and that she objected to T.K. being withdrawn from the school by Ms. Eick.

Respondent advised J.K. that T.K. would have to re-apply for admission to the Warren County Technical School.

T.K. applied for admission to the Warren County Technical School thereafter.

T.K. also was enrolled at Phillipsburg High School during this period.

Jill Sember was awarded joint custody and made the custodial guardian of T.K. by Order of the Superior Court of New Jersey, Chancery Division, Ocean County. Ms. Sember resides in Warren County.

By letter dated September 18, 2015, the Warren County Technical School advised J.K. that T.K.'s application for admission had been denied. Prior to the letter J.K. was advised orally that T.K.'s application was denied.

Petitioner filed a Verified Petition of Appeal with the New Jersey Department of Education, Bureau of Controversies and disputes on March 16, 2016.

The Warren County Technical School is a County Vocational School pursuant to N.J.S.A. 6A:54-1 et seq.

I FIND the following additional FACTS:

The official application deadline for the 2015-2016 school year was January 15, 2015, with applications being accepted until January 29, 2015. T.K.'s application was submitted after this deadline.[1]

T.K.'s application was denied by Respondent as Respondent was not accepting additional students at the time of T.K.'s application and that the application was submitted outside the application window. Residency was not a basis for the denial of the application.

Respondent's application process provides for a rubric of seven categories for application.

Respondent's admission policy states in pertinent part, "No pupil shall be denied admission or participation in any vocational-technical educational program due to race, creed, religion, national origin, ancestry, age, marital status, sexual orientation, gender, social or economic status, or disability."

The record is devoid of any evidence of discrimination by Respondent against Petitioner, notwithstanding Petitioner's allegations to the contrary.

Respondent never advised Petitioner that it was reconsidering its decision to deny the application of T.K. Nothing contained in the correspondence or emails between counsel for Petitioner and Respondent indicate anything to the contrary.

The letter dated September 18, 2015, the Warren County Technical School to J.K. advising her that the application of T.K. was denied was the final decision of Respondent regarding the application of T.K.

[1] It is noted that T.K. could not have filed a timely application as he was not withdrawn from school until August 2015 by his aunt, Suzanne Eick.

LEGAL ANALYSIS AND CONCLUSION

Standard for Summary Decision

A motion for summary decision may be granted if the papers and discovery presented, as well as any affidavits which may have been filed with the application, show that there is no genuine issue of material fact and the moving party is entitled to prevail as a matter of law. N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(b). If the motion is sufficiently supported, the non-moving party must demonstrate by affidavit that there is a genuine issue of fact which can only be determined in an evidentiary proceeding, in order to prevail in such an application. Ibid. These provisions mirror the summary judgment language of R. 4:46-2(c) of the New Jersey Court Rules.

The motion judge must "consider whether the competent evidential materials presented, when viewed in the light most favorable to the non-moving party . . . , are sufficient to permit a rational fact finder to resolve the alleged disputed issue in favor of the non-moving party." Brill v. Guardian Life Ins. Co. of Am., 142 N.J. 520, 523 (1995). And even if the non-moving party comes forward with some evidence, this forum must grant summary decision if the evidence is "so one-sided that [the moving party] must prevail as a matter of law." Id. at 536 (citation omitted).

I CONCLUDE there are no genuine issues of material fact and the matter is ripe for summary decision.

Custodial Rights

Petitioner asserts that Respondent violated the custodial rights of J.K. when it learned that J.K. did not agree with the unilateral withdrawal of T.K. by Suzanne Eick. Petitioner argues that Respondent should have done something more than it did. In support of their position, petitioner cite Pascale v. Pascale, 140 N.J. 583 (1995) (citing Beck v. Beck, 86 N.J. 480 (1981)) and C. Madison v. W. Davis, 438 N.J. Super. 20 (Ch.Div. 2014).

The cases cited all discuss joint custody and decision-making authority among individuals that share custody of minor children. None of these cases hold that a Board of Education is responsible for enforcing custodial rights of a non-custodial parent.

The Superior Court, Chancery Division, Family Part is the venue where J.K. should have sought redress for any violation of custodial rights.

I CONCLUDE that Respondent did not owe a duty to J.K. regarding her custodial rights. Suzanne Eick was the custodial guardian and shared joint custody of T.K. Respondent, in accepting the withdrawal of T.K. from Ms. Eick, did not violate any duty owed to J.K.

Violation of N.J.A.C. 6A:19-2.3(a)

N.J.A.C. 6A:19-2.3(b) states:

> A county vocational school district shall admit resident students based on board-approved policies and procedures that ensure equity and access for enrollment that shall be posted on the school district's website. A county vocational school district shall similarly admit non-resident students to the extent that space is available, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:54-20.1(b).

Petitioner's point to alleged inconsistencies in Respondent's responses as to why it denied the application of T.K. as the basis for the assertion that Respondent violated N.J.A.C. 6A:19-2.3(b). However, the record is clear as to why Respondent denied the application: they were not admitting more students and the application window was past.

N.J.A.C. 6A:19-2.3(a) provides that,

> Each resident district board of education shall ensure that resident students may apply to and, if accepted, attend a county vocational school pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:54-20.1. The existence of the same career and technical education program at the resident district board of education shall not negate a student's right to apply to and, if accepted, attend a county vocational school, subject to the following limitations[.]

Clearly, Respondent denied the application on existing policies and procedures.

I CONCLUDE that Respondent did not violated N.J.A.C. 6A:19-2.3(b).

N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(i)

N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(i) states,

> The petitioner shall file a petition no later than the 90th day from the date of receipt of the notice of a final order, ruling or other action by the district board of education, individual party, or agency, which is the subject of the requested contested case hearing. This rule shall not apply in instances where a specific statute, regulation or court order provides for a period of limitation shorter than 90 days for the filing of a particular type of appeal.

Petitioner asserts that the time frame of ninety days provided for in N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(i) was met as they were attempting to settle the matter with Respondent. This claim fails. Nothing in the record remotely indicates that Respondent was ever reconsidering its decision to deny admission to T.K. Nothing contained in the letters and emails between counsel support this assertion. Petitioner claims that the letter, dated November 2, 2015, from Allan P. Dzwilewski, Esq., Respondent's counsel at the time, to petitioner's counsel, stating he was reviewing counsel's previous letter of October 27, 2015, somehow means that Respondent was reconsidering its position. This simply is not a fair reading of the letter. It says nothing of the sort. It is merely a perfunctory response by one attorney to a letter to a client from another attorney.

Petitioner, at the time of this letter, still had more than a month to file a verified petition with the Department of Education. Inexplicably, Petitioner did not file its verified petition until March 16, 2016, 180 days after the denial letter of September 1, 2015.

I CONCLUDE that Petitioner failed to timely file a verified petition in accordance with N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(i) and therefore the same is time barred.

I further CONCLUDE that Petitioner's motion for summary decision be denied, and, that Respondent's motion for summary decision be granted.

ORDER

It is hereby ORDERED that Petitioner's motion for summary decision is DENIED, and Petitioner's Verified Petition be DISMISSED with prejudice.

It is further ORDERED that Respondent's motion for summary decision be GRANTED.

This Initial Decision disposes of all issues in controversy in this matter.

I hereby FILE this Initial Decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Re: In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Keith Mason, School District of the Borough of New Providence, Union County. Agency Dkt. No. 239-9/16.

Dear Counsel:

I have reviewed the materials filed in connection with respondent Keith Mason's Motion to Dismiss tenure charges filed by the New Providence School District (District). In his motion papers, the respondent contends that the Certificate of Determination filed by the District does not comply with N.J.A.C. 6A:3-5.2 because there is no reference to the date, place or time of the meeting at which the Board of Education purportedly made a determination on the charges; there was no indication that the determination was made by a majority of the Board; and it did not state whether the respondent was suspended and, if so, whether the suspension was with or without pay. Therefore, the respondent requests that the tenure charges filed against him be dismissed for failure to comply with regulatory requirements.

On the other hand, the District maintains that N.J.A.C. 6A:3-5.2 does not require that the District provide the respondent with the information he seeks. While N.J.A.C. 6A:3-5.2 mentions date, place, and time of the meeting at which the determination was made and whether the employee was suspended, the District argues that the regulatory provision does not mandate the inclusion of the information in the Certificate of Determination. In the alternative, even if it is determined that that there may have been technical deficiencies with the Certificate of Determination, the District argues that there will be no prejudice to the respondent if the matter proceeds.

Upon review and consideration of the submissions, I find that the tenure charges filed in this matter do not comply with N.J.A.C. 6A:3-5.2, which provides for the specific information that must be certified and shall be contained in the Certificate of Determination. Here, the Certificate of Determination filed by the District did not include several requirements that are expressly mandated in N.J.A.C. 6A:3-5.2. Notably, it was not certified that the determination on the charges was made by a majority vote of the Board of Education, nor was it stated whether the respondent was suspended. The applicable regulatory provision clearly outlines the information that must be included in a Certificate of Determination, and tenure charges that are not accompanied by a conforming Certificate of Determination will not proceed.

Accordingly, the Motion to Dismiss is hereby GRANTED, and the tenure charges are dismissed without prejudice.[1]

Sincerely,

Kimberley Harrington

| DISTRICT OF THE TOWNSHIP | : | |
| OF DELRAN, BURLINGTON COUNTY. | : | |

SYNOPSIS

In October 2015, the Commissioner of Education issued an Order to Show Cause requiring respondent to show cause why an order should not be entered suspending his teaching certificate for unprofessional conduct pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10 for resigning his position without giving the notice required by his contract with the Board. A hearing in the matter was scheduled for June 1, 2016 at the Office of Administrative Law (OAL). Subsequently, demands for admissions were sent to the respondent via certified and regular mail. No response was received; accordingly, those admissions were deemed admitted. Respondent then failed to appear at the OAL for the scheduled hearing on June 1, 2016. On June 2, 2016, correspondence was received at the OAL advising that the respondent could not attend the scheduled hearing because of a medical emergency with his mother. A telephone conference was then scheduled for August 17, 2016 and written notice was sent to all parties. Respondent failed once again to appear for the telephone conference, and offered no explanation, notwithstanding the opportunity to do provide same.

Upon review, the Commissioner found the respondent guilty of unprofessional conduct pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10 for resigning his position without giving the 60-day notice required in his employment contract. Accordingly, the respondent's certificate is suspended for a period of one year from the date of the filing of this decision – a copy of which has been forwarded to the State Board of Examiners for the purpose of effectuating this order.

| IN THE MATTER OF THE SUSPENSION | : | |
| OF THE CERTIFICATES OF | : | COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION |
| SAMUEL MCDONOUGH, SCHOOL | : | DECISION |
| DISTRICT OF THE TOWNSHIP, | : | |
| OF DELRAN, BURLINGTON COUNTY. | : | |

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law have been reviewed, as have the exceptions filed pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4 by the Delran School District. This matter involves a determination as to whether respondent Samuel McDonough's certificates should be suspended pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10 for resigning without giving the notice required by his contract with the Delran Board of Education. In the Initial Decision, the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) found that since the respondent failed to respond to the District's request for admissions, the admissions demanded by the Board are deemed admitted. The respondent also failed to appear at the scheduled August 17, 2016 telephone conference; therefore, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-14.4, the ALJ returned the file to the Commissioner.[1] The respondent filed no explanation for his failure to appear, notwithstanding the opportunity to do so.

Upon a comprehensive review of this matter, the Commissioner finds that the respondent is guilty of unprofessional conduct pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10 because he breached his employment agreement with the Board when he resigned without giving the 60 days'

[1] Despite the fact that the ALJ found that the admissions were deemed to be true, she did not make a determination as to whether the respondent's certificates should be suspended under N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10.

notice required by his contract. Based on the admissions, it is clear that the respondent did not provide the Board with requisite 60 days' notice required before resigning from his teaching position. The respondent entered into a contract with the Board which provided for his employment as a teacher from September 1, 2015 through October 2, 2015. The employment contract allowed the parties to terminate the agreement as long as they gave the other party 60 days' notice in writing. On August 22, 2015, the respondent informed the Board that he was terminating his contract because he had accepted another long-term substitute teaching position with another school district. The respondent has not denied that he failed to provide the Board with 60 days' notice prior to resigning, nor did he appear at the proceeding at the OAL.

Accordingly, respondent's teaching certificates are suspended for a period of one year from the filing date of this decision, a copy of which shall be forwarded to the State Board of Examiners for implementation of the suspension.

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On November 4, 2015, the Bureau of Controversies and Disputes, of the New Jersey Department of Education transmitted this matter to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) for a hearing. The petitioning district had filed a petition seeking among other relief, a suspension of the teaching certificates of respondent, Samuel McDonough, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10 and N..A.C. 6A:9-17.9.

FINDINGS OF FACT

I FIND the following uncontested FACTS:

1. On November 21, 2015, the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) sent a notice of hearing to the parties advising that the hearing in this matter would be held on June 1, 2016, at 9:00 a.m. at the Office of Administrative Law, 33 Washington Street, 7th Floor, Newark, NJ.
2. Subsequent thereto, demands of admissions were sent to respondent, via certified and regular mail. No response was received to the demands for admissions and pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-10.49c) those admissions are deemed admitted. The certified return of service indicates that the post office attempted delivery on May 11, 2016, at 10:14 a.m., however the certified mail was not claimed. The regular mail copy was not returned.
3. The five day disclosures were sent to Mr. McDonough on May 24, 2016, including the hearing exhibits, and those items were also sent via certified and regular mail. No response was received as to the certified mail and there was no return of the regular mail.
4. Samuel McDonough did not appear at the OAL on June 1, 2016.
5. Samuel McDonough did not contact any representative of the OAL on June 1, 2016 nor prior to that date to advise he could not appear.
6. On June 2, 2016, correspondence dated May 31, 2016 was received at the OAL from Mr. McDonough indicating that he could not attend the June 1, 2016 hearing due to a medical emergency with his mother.
7. A telephone conference was then scheduled for August 17, 2016, at 3:00 pm, and the written notice to all parties included the following:

> Parties appearing without an attorney should contact this office immediately at the above number to supply a telephone number where they can be reached at the date and time listed above.
> . . . .

. . . .

> If you do not participate in the prehearing conference, the file will be returned to the transmitting agency for appropriate action which may include imposition of the proposed penalty or granting the relief sought by the other party.

8. Mr. McDonough did not contact the OAL to provide a telephone number, and did not participate in the conference call. No communication whatsoever has been received from Samuel McDonough relative to his failure to appear on that date.

CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

Based on the foregoing facts and the applicable law, I CONCLUDE that respondent has abandoned this matter and it should be returned to the agency.

N.J.A.C. 1:1-14.4(a) provides that, if, after appropriate notice, a party does not appear in any proceeding scheduled by a judge, the judge shall hold the matter for one day before taking any action. If the judge does not receive an explanation for the nonappearance within one day, the judge may direct the Clerk to return the matter to the transmitting agency for appropriate disposition. Samuel McDonough failed to appear at the scheduled proceeding, and failed to provide an explanation for his nonappearance one day following the nonappearance; indeed more than two weeks have elapsed. Accordingly, the Clerk should return this matter to the Bureau of Controversies and Disputes.

ORDER

It is ORDERED that the Clerk return this matter to the Bureau of Controversies and Disputes for appropriate disposition.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

The record of this matter, the proposed settlement agreement and general release (Agreement), and the Initial Decision issued by the Office of Administrative Law pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1 have been reviewed. According to the Agreement, tuition payments are due on September 1, 2016, and October 1, 2016, and L.M. is required to become a resident of Montville Township before the inception of the 2016-2017 school year. These dates have preceded the consideration of the Agreement by the Commissioner of Education. The parties are reminded that a settlement of litigation before the Commissioner is not binding until the Commissioner approves the settlement.

In light of the foregoing, the Commissioner adopts the Initial Decision as the final decision in this matter, provided that the parties have already implemented the terms of the Agreement, or have agreed upon mutually satisfactory alternate dates for the effectuation of the terms therein. Record Closed: September 1, 2016 Decided: September 6, 2016

BEFORE GAIL M. COOKSON, ALJ:

These two matters were each filed on the disputed issue of whether a minor child J.M. is properly a resident of the school district governed by the Board of Education of the Township of Montville (BOE). The first matter was the father's appeal from the adverse residency determination of the Board and a cross-claim by the Board for out-of-district tuition. It was referred to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) for filing on April 7, 2016. The second matter was an affirmative complaint against the child's mother for out-of-district tuition. It was transmitted to the OAL on May 18, 2016, with direction to consolidate with the earlier matter.

During a case management conference I convened on May 17, 2016, counsel for the represented parties acknowledged that the matters should be consolidated and my chambers informed the mother of its status. During subsequent communications, counsel requested time to conduct some further settlement discussions. Accordingly, I agreed to adjourn temporarily scheduling any hearing dates on my calendar.

On September 1, 2016, counsel for the Montville Township Board of Education forwarded a fully executed Settlement Agreement and Release between the parties and requested that if approved, I incorporate same into an order. On August 23, 2016, the BOE forwarded to the undersigned a copy of its resolution formally approving the Settlement Agreement and Release. Both parents have also executed the Settlement Agreement and Release.

I have reviewed the record and the terms of Settlement Agreement and Release and I FIND:

1. The parties have voluntarily agreed to the settlement as evidenced by their signatures or their representatives' signatures.

2. The settlement fully disposes of all issues in controversy and is consistent with the law.

I CONCLUDE that this agreement meets the requirements of N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1 and that the settlement should be approved. I approve the settlement and, therefore, ORDER that the parties comply with the settlement terms and that these proceedings be concluded.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION

DECISION

The record of this matter, the Settlement Agreement (Agreement), and the Initial Decision on Remand of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), have been reviewed pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1. On August 3, 2016, the Commissioner remanded the matter to OAL based upon a determination that the prior settlement agreement recommended for adoption by the Administrative Law Judge contained a provision that was contrary to the law.

Upon review of the revised record on remand, the Commissioner finds that the deficiencies contained in the original settlement agreement have been corrected. Therefore, the Commissioner approves the settlement terms and adopts the Initial Decision as the final decision in this matter. The case is hereby dismissed, subject to compliance with the terms of the settlement.

IT IS SO ORDERED.

David Rubin, Esq., for respondent

Record Closed: September 2, 2016

Decided: September 2, 2016

BEFORE BARRY E. MOSCOWITZ, ALJ:

On May 12, 2015, the parents of L.M., a fourth grade girl in the Spotswood public schools, filed a "harassment, intimidation, or bullying" (HIB) complaint against some of her fourth-grade classmates, including K.S., the daughter of L.S. The school staff at the elementary school distilled the allegations in the complaint into seven specific charges. On June 22, 2015, the Spotswood Board of Education concluded that K.S. was responsible for six of the seven charges.

On August 8, 2015, L.S., on behalf of K.S., appealed the determination.

On September 1, 2015, the Department of Education (Department) transmitted this case to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) under the Administrative Procedure Act, N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15, and the act establishing the OAL, N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -23, for a hearing under the Uniform Administrative Procedure Rules, N.J.A.C. 1:1-1.1 to -21.6.

On May 24, 2016, the parties appeared for the hearing but settled the case before it began. The parties worked long and hard to reach this settlement and were commended for their efforts in doing so. Given their hard work, the parties placed the terms of their settlement on the record that day.

Also appearing that day were the parents of L.M. and the parents of the other fourth-grade girls named in the complaint—none of whom were parties to the case—yet these non-parties also agreed to be bound by the terms of the settlement and they too placed their agreement on the record.

On June 16, 2016, I received the terms of the settlement in writing. The Spotswood Board of Education had approved the settlement in the interim. With the terms of the settlement in hand, and having heard the testimony of the parties after the terms of the settlement were read into the record on May 24, 2016, I found the parties had entered into their settlement voluntarily. I also concluded that the settlement was consistent with the law, was fully dispositive of all issues in controversy between the parties, and consistent with the requirements of N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1. Therefore, I ordered the parties to comply with the terms of the settlement on June 17, 2016.

Parenthetically, no party to the case or party to the agreement had voiced any objection or concern about the settlement between May 24, 2016, and June 16, 2016.

On August 3, 2016, the Commissioner of Education (Commissioner) remanded the case to me. In his decision, the Commissioner observed that paragraph three of the agreement was inconsistent with the law. Paragraph three stated that the Spotswood Board of Education would rescind the finding that K.S. engaged in HIB and that it would revise all reports filed with the Department related to the HIB. The Commissioner noted that N.J.A.C. 6A:16-5.3(d)(1) requires the chief school administrator to submit each instance of HIB to the Commissioner using the Electronic Violence and Vandalism Reporting System (EVVRS) and that the Department is unable to delete or modify EVVRS data from the previous school year subsequent to district verification in mid-July of the school year in which it was reported. Thus, the Commissioner could not approve an agreement in which the Spotswood Board of Education represented that it would rescind the report of HIB that it had already provided and remanded the case to me for the parties to revise paragraph three of the agreement consistent with these concerns.

On August 29, 2016, the parties to the case appeared for a telephone conference and agreed to revise paragraph three of the agreement consistent with the Commissioner's concerns about the reporting of HIB. Later that day, the Spotswood Board of Education circulated an email containing the revised paragraph. In particular, the reference to "all related reports filed with the New Jersey Department of Education" was deleted from the paragraph. As such, the Spotswood Board of Education will rescind the finding of HIB from its records, but it will not revise its reports filed with the Department. So having reviewed the terms of this revised agreement, and having received the assent of the parties of this case to this revision, I once again FIND that the parties have entered into the settlement voluntarily.

In addition, I CONCLUDE that the settlement is now consistent with the law, is fully dispositive of all issues in controversy between the parties, and is otherwise consistent with the requirements of N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1.

Only the parents of L.M. object to the revision. The parents of L.M., however, are not parties to this case. Moreover, their objections do not pertain to paragraph three, its revision, or the specific concern for which the case was remanded. Their objections instead pertain to grievances the parents of L.M. have with other families who are not parties to this case and for alleged incidents that occurred after the parents of L.M. agreed to the terms of the settlement that were placed on the record on May 24, 2016. As such, no reason exists in law or fact to invalidate all of the other terms of the agreement. Accordingly, I ORDER that the parties comply with the terms of their settlement (the revised summary of which is attached to this decision) and that these proceedings are once again closed.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified, or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this case. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify, or reject this decision within forty-five days, and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision under N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Terms of Settlement

1. The families of Kayla Sabo, Garifalia ("Lia") Manoussakis, Haily Sosnowski and Jenna Chayko agree to abide by the following:
   a. All families agree to discuss with their children, at home, how to interact with the other students involved during the school year.
   b. Students will be able to say hello, wave, acknowledge each other inside and outside of the school, but there is no expectation that the students will interact with each other beyond being friendly with each other.
   c. Issues will arise during the year. However, all families agree that those issues will first be handled like any other school conflict. Each family's child will work with the principal, teachers and support staff to remediate the conflict. All families agree that the first step to remediating a conflict will not be filing a HIB report. Instead, families will work with the school to bring a positive resolution to the conflict.
   d. Each child will identify a staff member they feel comfortable working with should a conflict arise.
2. All children will participate in a social skills training program to be developed by the School District, which will be administered by a staff member other than Catherine Glass, and feature the following topics adapted as necessary to the individual students' needs and their perception of the current situation:

- Sensitivity Skills
- Empathy Skills
- Conflict Resolution
- Friendship Skills
- Self Esteem
- Problem Solving
- Taking Turns in Conversations
- "I" messages that identify their emotions

Resources included but not limited to:

1. The book titled, "Ready to Use Social Skills Lessons and Activities," by Ruth Weltmann Begun.

- Part Four: Leadership, Group Decision-Making, Using Skills and Reaching Goals
- Part Five: Problem Solving and Working Together

It is also recommend students join the Human Relations Club (HRC) after school (Wednesdays) when students are identified as needing mentors regarding friendship and social skills. Students from the High School work on different activities with the Middle School students.

3. The Board of Education will rescind the finding that Kayla Sabo engaged in "harassment, intimidation or bullying," with the understanding that this action does not constitute an acknowledgment that its decision was incorrect, but merely reflects the desire of all parties to address the children's underlying issues through the mechanism of this settlement agreement.

4. All families acknowledge that all currently pending or threatened allegations of "harassment, intimidation or bullying" are hereby withdrawn, with the intention that any underlying issues be addressed as provided for in this settlement agreement.

BEFORE: ARBITRATOR STEPHEN M. BLUTH

BACKGROUND

The School District of the City of Newark (hereinafter "District") submitted a tenure charge of inefficiency against Joel Dawkins (hereinafter "Respondent") on or about September 17, 2015, alleging teacher inefficiency for the 2013-2014 and 2014-2015 school years. Subsequently, on or about October 2, 2015, Respondent filed an answer to the District's charges. Efforts to resolve the matter were not successful. Consequently, I was appointed arbitrator to hear and decide the matter, and the parties were so informed by M. Kathleen Duncan, Director of Controversies and Disputes, on or about October 13, 2015.

Hearings were held on May 17, May 19, and August 29, 2016. At these hearings both parties were afforded full opportunity to present evidence, make oral argument, and otherwise support their respective positions. Both submitted post-hearing briefs. Upon receipt of same, I closed the record. This Opinion and award follows.

POSITIONS OF THE PARTIES

Joel Dawkins has been a high school mathematics teacher for approximately twenty years. In the 2013-2014 school year he was assigned to Sussex Avenue Renew School, a pre-kindergarten through grade 8 school. Early that year, the District advises, he and his principal, Ms. Darlene Gearheart, developed a Corrective Action Plan (hereinafter "CAP") to address areas of performance in need of improvement. According to the District, the CAP was implemented and resources were made available. Further, the District stresses, he was given support, coaching and assistance. In January 2014, Respondent sustained an injury at Sussex Renew and took a leave of absence. The District relates when Respondent returned to work, he requested his assignment be changed to teacher of mathematics at Weequahic High School, where he also had a CAP, was observed, and was provided with assistance and resources to improve his performance. However, the District relates, in spite of the assistance given Respondent, he received a rating of "partially effective" in his 2013-2014 annual evaluation.

In the beginning of the 2014-2015 school year Respondent took a three-month medical leave of absence. Upon his return to work he was assigned to teach mathematics at Girls' Academy of Newark, a middle school located at Weequahic High School. At Girls' Academy, he and Vice Principal Westberry developed another CAP and he was again given substantial support and assistance. Nevertheless, for the second consecutive chargeable year he received a rating of "partially effective" in his annual evaluation. As a result, the tenure charge of inefficiency followed.

The District maintains the evidence presented at hearing demonstrated the exercise of informed professional judgment by qualified school administrators who evaluated Respondent's performance in accordance with the District's approved evaluation rubric, with the goal of achieving high quality teaching and improving student learning. It also avers, the arbitrator in this matter is not permitted to second-guess that judgment. In short, the evidence presented compels a conclusion that the charges be upheld and Respondent should be dismissed from his employment, the District argues.

Further, the District avers, it implemented a teacher performance evaluation system approved by the New Jersey Commissioner of Education called the "Newark Public Schools Framework for Effective Teaching." The Framework, it declares, contains five categories of teacher performance (Competencies), each comprised of several performance indicators rated as: highly effective, effective, partially effective, and ineffective. The ratings for each indicator are combined and result in an overall rating for each competency. The District explains a similar system is used for mid-year and year-end summative evaluations, which also includes ratings of additional indicators not scored in observations during the years Respondent was observed and his teaching performance was evaluated in accordance with the Framework.

Also, the District explains, Respondent is certified as an elementary teacher as well as a teacher of mathematics. In the 2013-2014 school year, when Respondent was assigned to Sussex Avenue Renew School, he taught eighth grade students whose display of disruptive behavior in regular classes caused them to be placed a classroom where they remained the entire school day. He and his principal, Darlene Gearhart, developed a CAP that set professional improvement goals in several areas. Respondent also set student learning goals for the year. Principal Gearhart observed his teaching performance twice, after which they met within seven days of each observation to discuss each observation. As a result, the principal rated Respondent's performance as "partially effective" both times.

Further, the District informs, in January 2014 Respondent sustained an injury which led to a leave of absence of approximately one month. He returned to work in February 2014. However, at his request, Respondent did not return to Sussex Avenue because he preferred to teach at a high school. Therefore, he was assigned to Weequahic High School for the balance of the school year. At that high school, Respondent and his principal developed another CAP specific to the high school. During his stay, Respondent was observed by two different administrators on three separate occasions. In all three observations he was rated "partially effective." Also, the District stresses, Mr. Westberry, conducted a mid-year evaluation after he had observed Respondent at least a couple of times. That evaluation included more information than the three classroom observation reports, it informs. The District advises Respondent received "less than effective" ratings on most indicators, including measuring student progress towards goals. As a result, he received a mid-year rating of "partially effective." This rating demonstrated Respondent had only partially met the student learning goals he set for himself at the high school. Based on formal observations, informal walk-throughs and his partial success in reaching students learning goals, Respondent received an annual summative rating of "partially effective" on May 15, 2014.

During the 2014-2015 school year, Respondent took a medical leave of absence from September to December 2014. When he returned to work in December or January, the District relates, he was assigned to Girls' Academy of Newark which served approximately 80 girls in grades 6-9. Respondent was assigned to teach mathematics to two sixth grade classes. There the principal, Tanishia Williams, and Respondent set out to develop a CAP. In that CAP he identified growth areas of pacing, momentum and continuity, the same growth areas he had identified for himself when he was at Sussex Avenue. Once assigned to a classroom, Respondent was observed four times: a long un-announced observation on March 18, 2015 by Ms. Williams, another unannounced observation on March 18, 2015, by Veronica Gerald, a long announced observation on May 1, 2015 and a short un-announced observation on May 11, 2015, also by Veronica Gerald. In three of the observations, Respondent was rated "partially effective" and in the final observation of the year's performance was rated "ineffective."

The District reports Respondent received a mid-year evaluation and an Annual Summative Evaluation. The ratings he received on the 2014-15 mid-year and summative evaluation were "partially effective." The District avers this was so because Respondent's students had only partially met the limited student learning goals in geometry and statistics he had set for them in March 2015.

The District advises that, based on Respondent's Annual Summative Evaluations of "partially effective" for at least two consecutive years, the principal of Girls' Academy recommended to the State District Superintendent a tenure charge of inefficiency be filed against Respondent. Thereafter, the State District Superintendent reviewed the charge and Respondent's answer and determined the District had complied with the evaluation process in all respects in both the 2013-14 and 2014-15 school years. The District Superintendent also determined there was probable cause to warrant dismissal or reduction in salary. Accordingly, the State District Superintendent certified the charge to the Commissioner of Education. As a result, Respondent was suspended without pay for 120 days. However, Respondent filed an answer with the Commissioner denying the charge these four factors, the act requires the arbitrator to determine whether the employee can demonstrate these facts materially affected the outcome of the evaluations. If the arbitrator determines the facts had no such material effect, the arbitrator is required to render a decision in favor of the School District, and the employee must be dismissed. In the instant matter, the District maintains, the evidence does not show any facts that materially affected the outcome of respondent's performance evaluations.

Also, the District asserts, Respondent received proper pre- and post-observation conferences in the two school years at issue. For example, in 2013-14 Respondent had three announced observations at Weequahic High School and received pre-observation conferences from Mr. Westberry and Mr. Long. The evidence also shows in 2014-15 Respondent had one announced observation and received a pre-observation conference prior to it. Therefore, any criticism Respondent might have concerning the observations is unfounded, it argues. Even if the observations are found to have been defective in some way, there is no evidence they had a material effect on the outcome of his evaluations, the District maintains.

Further, the District rejects any notion that two evaluations that occurred the same-day should be counted only as one. It points out on March 18, 2015, Respondent received a long and short observation by two different observers for part of the same class. One observation was long, for a 45-minute period, and the other was short. The District argues nothing in the law prohibits overlapping long and short observations. Furthermore, the two observers purposely conducted observations that day in order to "norm" with each other because the principal was new to the District and the Framework.

Moreover, the District denies it failed to collaborate with Respondent with respect to the CAPs. It stresses each CAP was completed collaboratively between Respondent and his administrators, and that each set forth student learning goals and professional improvement goals Respondent himself chose. In like manner, the District maintains, contrary to Respondent's assertion, the School District incorporated student achievement in each of Respondent's summative evaluations. It relates Mr. Westberry and Ms. Williams confirmed they considered student achievement when preparing his Annual Summative Evaluations. It maintains Respondent's mid-year evaluations and summative evaluations met the criteria. Also, the District emphasizes, the evidence presented demonstrated at all times Respondent taught subjects within the scope of his certifications as an elementary school teacher and a mathematics teacher.

Moreover, the District asserts, Respondent's 2013-2014 evaluations were legitimate even though they were based on his teaching at Weequahic High School and not at the Sussex Avenue school earlier in the year. To support this claim, it emphasizes the TEACHNJ regulations acknowledge there may be situations when a teacher on a CAP may be rated on fewer than four observations in a school year. Those regulations provide if a teacher is present for less than 40% of the total student schooldays in an academic year, he or she shall receive at least two observations. For that reason, the District argues, I should find the three observations done over a two- month period at the high school are consistent with the regulations, and did not materially affect the outcome of the evaluation.

Additionally, the District rejects Respondent's claim that he did not receive adequate support from the School Improvement Panel at the schools to which he was assigned. It reports both schools at which Respondent taught had such panels when Respondent taught there. The District also avers the evidence does not support the claim it failed to substantially adhere to the evaluation process. Moreover, it also points out any such failure did not materially affect the outcome of Respondent's evaluations. It declares the evidence demonstrated Respondent's summative evaluations were based on formal observations of his teaching and were scored in accordance with the School District Framework for Effective Teaching. In both school years with which this proceeding is concerned, Respondent was observed in three different schools by five different administrators, all of whom had similar comments about his teaching skills and rated him similarly. The District concludes the evidence does not show any mistakes of fact that materially affected the outcome of Respondent's summative evaluations and should not be a consideration.

Also, the District insists its actions were not arbitrary and capricious. It rejects Respondent's claim his observations and evaluations were improperly done and scored, and that his evaluations and observations were discriminatory and retaliatory. It rejects, as well, Respondent's claim he was not provided with the support required by the statute including CAP's, SIP reviews, classroom supports, and placement. Also, there is no basis for his claim his observations and evaluations did not properly include consideration of student achievement, it reports. The District explains Respondent was provided with support in the schools to which he was assigned, received CAPS in both 2013-14 and 2014-15, was observed in accordance with regulatory requirements, participated in pre- and post-observation conferences in which administrators coached him, and provided feedback on his professional development. Accordingly, the District maintains, Respondent has failed to show any arbitrary and capricious action by the School District.

Finally, the District posits, if the charge against Respondent is not upheld under N.J.S.A.18A:6-17.3c, the charge should be considered and upheld pursuant to N.J.S.A.18A:6-17.2 by using the preponderance of evidence rule. This would lead to the inevitable conclusion the District successfully demonstrated the charge of the efficiency against Respondent. It points out Respondent was unable to show, by a preponderance of the evidence, his ratings were anything but the result of a legitimate, good-faith exercise of professional judgment by school administrators on the basis of their evaluation of Respondent's performance. The District concludes the evidence presented at hearing does not support any of the defenses available to Respondent. It insists Respondent has not demonstrated a statutory defense to the tenure charge of inefficiency. Accordingly, based on the evidence presented, the tenure charge of inefficiency against Respondent should be upheld, and he should be dismissed from his employment with the District, it maintains.

Respondent contends the charge of inefficiency against him does not stand up to scrutiny. He claims, after successfully teaching high school math for 21 years, he was assigned to the Sussex Avenue Renew School which was a K-8 school. However, Respondent reports, as such he spent the first several weeks doing lunch duty and painting lines on the playground. When he received a teaching assignment, he relates, it was as an assistant gym teacher which was outside his certification. Respondent relates when he was finally given a regular class, it was one that was formed by selecting the most difficult, problematic students from existing classes. Also he reports, the students in this class did not have an IEP. That this is so is clear from the testimony of

Ms. Gearhart, who testified she was aware that, until she became principal at the school, the students in Respondent's class had not been evaluated by a child study team. Further, there was no effort on the part of the administration that preceded her to classify students. Therefore, Respondent argues, the students had not been evaluated by a child study team because of the failures of the previous administration. Respondent also avers, he had responsibility for the students all day. He also had to teach them subjects other than math, and had mentoring and counseling responsibilities as well, he claims.

Respondent also insists during the early stages at the Sussex Avenue Renew School, he and the principal developed a Corrective Action Plan known as a CAP. However, he relates, during his assignment to Sussex Avenue, he suffered serious injuries which caused a lengthy absence. When he was able to work again, Respondent was assigned to high school at his request. Therefore, this reassignment rendered the development of his annual summative evaluation inapplicable in regard to this CAP, he argues. Additionally, Respondent reports, during the one observation Ms. Gearhart conducted, he was rated "partially effective." However, a closer look at the report of the observation itself shows he was evaluated and rated on 15 separate indicators, of which he was rated "effective" on 10 of the 15 and "partially effective" on only five. Respondent disputes the principal's explanation there was some type of rule or directive requiring an evaluator always to round down when the indicators are split evenly between "effective" and "partially effective." He points out this principal was unable to cite any document that reflects such a requirement. Moreover, the indicators were not split evenly, he stresses. Respondent further emphasizes Ms. Gearhart did not conduct a mid-year evaluation or an Annual Summative Evaluation. Also, he points out, she conceded she had no recollection of communicating with the Vice Principal of Weequahic High School, Mr. Gary Westberry, with regard to these matters. In fact, Respondent stresses, Mr. Westberry confirmed there was no communication between Ms. Gearhart and her staff and him and his staff. Accordingly, the CAP developed at Sussex Avenue School became inoperative, Respondent contends, because Sussex Avenue was an elementary school and Weequahic was a high school. Respondent underlines the fact Mr. Westberry acknowledged he did not take into account any of the observations Respondent had before he got to the high school.

Respondent also explains, his serious injuries of January 2014 occurred as a result of breaking up a fight in school. In spite of the multiple injuries that caused him significant pain and emotional distress, the District required him to return to work in late February 2014. Respondent relates as well, because of his disability and problems getting assignments, his annual evaluation was done approximately 3 months after he began teaching at Weequahic. Also, he points out, all of his observations and evaluations were done over the course of approximately 2 months. Further too, these observations were on consecutive days and the third was approximately 2 weeks later, Respondent declares. Therefore, he had almost no chance to take advantage of the observations and resulting feedback to make whatever adjustments the administration thought were in order. In fact, Respondent reports, Mr. Westberry testified the timing of the observations was hasty and did not allow for any meaningful growth on Respondent's part from one observation to the next. Since a primary purpose of observations and post-observation conferences is to support teachers and provide an opportunity to improve, that concept was not embraced, especially with two observations occurring on consecutive days in the same grade. Accordingly, there was no reasonable time to show improvement between the evaluations, he maintains. Additionally, while his mid-year evaluation was conducted by Mr. Westberry on April 11, 2014, Respondent reports he was not observed for the balance of the year between his mid-year evaluation and his annual evaluation which occurred on May 15, 2014. Consequently, he argues, the entire purpose of the mid-year evaluation was defeated and he was denied the opportunity to show the improvement being asked of him.

Furthermore, according to Respondent, for the first indicator under Competency Four (Student Progress Toward Mastery; Checks for Understanding), he was rated "effective" by Ms. Gearhart in her long observation which was the only time she looked at Competency Four. Then, for the three observations conducted as required in high school, and in the mid-year evaluation by Mr. Westberry, he was also rated "effective." Nevertheless, Respondent stresses, in his annual evaluation he received a "partially effective" rating for that indicator in spite of having been observed and rated "effective" by the principal. In Respondent's view, this is a clear and obvious example of an arbitrary and capricious evaluation.

Moreover, the District failed in its responsibility to have a functioning School Improvement Panel (SIP) in place, he maintains. The School Improvement Panel is supposed to ensure the observation evaluation process takes place as TEACHNJ and Achieve New Jersey meant it to, Respondent explains. The SIP insures a mid-year evaluation takes place and a teacher on a CAP must receive an additional observation and post-observation conference. Beyond that, the SIP takes overall responsibility for mentoring teachers, overseeing the observation process and making sure a working CAP is in place and operating effectively for every teacher who needs one. Not only did Weequahic High School fail to have a functioning SIP, Mr. Westberry did not know what it was doing and did not see to it its members dealt directly with Respondent. As his testimony demonstrated, Mr. Westberry knew virtually nothing about a SIP at his school, Respondent asserts. Also, Respondent relates, the District could not produce any records showing what it did or even who was on it. In fact, Respondent reports, Mr. Westberry testified neither the principal at Sussex Avenue nor at his school developed an argues, and that failure, negates the Annual Summative Evaluation. As such, contrary to the District's claim, that failure is "material," he concludes.

Moreover, the evaluation has no legal force or effect, Respondent declares, because any "inefficiency" rating based on the Annual Summative Evaluation in the instant charges lacks a legal basis. It also fails the evaluation rubrics for all teachers required by NJSA 18A:6 - 17.3(2) including, but not limited to, measures of student achievement. Therefore, based on the foregoing, Respondent insists the district failed to prove it followed the requirements for student achievement goals. Consequently, the Annual Summative Evaluation for 2013-2014 is both invalid and material because the District did not follow the requirements for measuring student growth objectives in Respondent's Annual Summative Evaluation.

Respondent summarizes the 2013-2014 school year as follows: first, the long observation he received at Sussex Avenue School was scored in an arbitrary and capricious manner. Also, his only observations during the spring semester occurred over the period of approximately 2 weeks and included two observations conducted on consecutive days. Such an action effectively negated his ability to learn, change, or improve, based on these observations as required by the regulations. Additionally, since nothing from the semester at Sussex Avenue Renew School was carried forward, his effective school year was only approximately 2 months during which he received only three observations. Moreover, Respondent points out, he was not observed between the time of his mid-year evaluation and his annual evaluation; that he had no opportunity to benefit from the mid-year evaluation and to get credit for improvement in his Annual Summative Evaluation. For that reason, his Annual Summative Evaluation reflects an arbitrary and capricious process, he argues. Further, there was no School Improvement Panel (SIP) in place and doing its job during this school year. Respondent stresses, too, he did not receive a score based on student growth, a crucial component required by the regulatory process. As a result, no score for student growth was factored into his annual evaluation. Therefore, he could not receive a summative evaluation rating because the minimum observation requirements were not met, he declares.

Also, Respondent cites the Cuntrera case that made it clear arbitrary and capricious timing alone could result in the statutory dismissal of charges against a teacher. Additionally, he cites a decision from Arbitrator Daniel Brent, who held in that matter the respondent's performance for the year was fatally tainted by arbitrary and capricious action that materially impaired the respondent's right to be judged and rated on the basis of valid observations and evaluations as required under the TEACHNJ statute. Accordingly, based on the foregoing, the charges based on the 2013-2014 school year are unfair, arbitrary, capricious and violate the law. For these reasons, these charges against him must be dismissed, Respondent maintains.

During the 2014-2015 school year, the pattern established in the previous year continued, Respondent explains. For that year, he was reassigned prior to the beginning of the school year to the Girls' Academy of Newark, a relatively new middle school. Once again, he was required to change the focus of his teaching, he explains. Further, as a result of the injuries and disability he sustained while breaking up the fight Sussex Avenue School, he applied for, and was granted, a leave of absence. This disability kept him away from the classroom from the beginning of the 2014 school year until December 2014 or January 2015. When he returned to Girls' Academy, Respondent relates, he did not receive a regular class assignment but was asked to "push in" and assist other teachers in existing classes. He emphasizes he finally received a regular class assignment in mid-March, 2015, and his annual evaluation was done on May 12, 2015. Therefore, the period of time during which he could be evaluated was only two months, he relates. However, the observation/evaluation system anticipates teachers will be observed and evaluated over the course of a full school year. This is so because, if done correctly, a teacher can be observed and evaluated over the course of a full-year, receiving feedback and support to maximize chances of success. Respondent stresses the manner in which he was observed/evaluated was both arbitrary and capricious.

Moreover, the evaluation and regulatory scheme given Respondent required him to be observed on four occasions, with feedback, guidance and support after each observation so that he could improve and become a more effective educator. That did not happen, Respondent relates. In the 2013-2014 school year he was evaluated on two consecutive days with no opportunity to learn and improve. In the 2014-2015 school year, he relates, he was evaluated twice on the same day at the same time in the same classroom. Clearly, then, there was no opportunity for feedback, guidance or support between these two evaluations. Respondent argues this process was conducted essentially as an exercise to benefit a new principal and vice-principal to "coordinate" and "norm" their efforts. This completely negated the ability of the administration to fulfill its duty to provide support, Respondent claims. Indeed, the process of completing two observations on the same day at the same time in the same class means that he received only three observations instead of the legally required four, he claims.

Additionally, the last of Respondent's observations was conducted on May 11, 2015 the day before his annual evaluation. Clearly then, he emphasizes, he had no opportunity whatsoever to benefit from the May 11, 2015 observation. Once again, Respondent insists, a primary purpose of the observation/evaluation process was again negated and the entire process was completely arbitrary and capricious.

During this same year, Respondent and his principal, Ms. Tanishia Williams, developed a CAP as part of the process for measuring student growth.

Respondent claims, although a CAP is supposed to address and encompass an entire school year, this one could only address the time during which his student growth was to be assessed, which in this case was four months. However, Respondent reminds, this CAP was signed on March 25, 2015 and the Annual Summative Evaluation was done on May 12, 2015. That, in itself, demonstrates the time frame for student growth was both arbitrary and capricious. Respondent relates the teacher evaluation rubric requires the inclusion of student achievement. These student growth objectives are required to be specific, measurable, and based on available student learning data. To implement these requirements, there must be a starting point that is measured and identified, Respondent relates. Further, he advises, the principal and he determined the goal of each of the achievement network assessments was that 45 - 57% of the students would reach a score of 75% on district performance based assessments from "Math in Focus" and teacher assessments. However, it is not clear how much growth would be reflected by obtaining such a result, as the number of students who were at certain percentages at the outset was not known. Respondent argues there was no way from reading the CAP to see if a process for actually measuring or assessing student growth over the approximately 6-week period of time available to do any measuring was ever established. Moreover, the CAP sections that address the second student learning goal are also deficient in much the same way, Respondent stresses. He relates Principal Williams admitted it was not a growth goal, but rather a mastery goal. As such, it did not qualify as an SGO according to the statute, he claims. Respondent emphasizes the statutory scheme also requires him to be rated on his progress, and to have this rating converted to a numerical score. However, in his case there was no such score computed, he points out. To support this claim, Respondent reports, at the hearing, Principal Williams evaded answering a direct question on this matter. Ultimately, however, she never identified a numerical score for student growth, nor did she provide any evidence of such a score being factored into his evaluation, Respondent emphasizes. Further, the principal admitted she did not do the numerical calculations to ensure that the SGO accounted for the 20% for the 2014-15 school year. Here he refers to her testimony that, although student achievement scores count for 20% of a teacher's overall evaluation, she did not compute such a number for Respondent as required by the regulations. Further, he reports, she conceded she rated Respondent's performance as "Partially Met" only from the summative data of all observations. Consequently, he argues, there was no way to implement his CAP to assess or measure the growth of his students from the end of March to May. Therefore, the administration in that school year failed to compute a separate score based on student growth and factor this score into Respondent's overall evaluation as required by the regulatory scheme. Thus, as in 2013-2014, this failure renders the Annual Summative Evaluation legally null and void.

Accordingly, for both school years, it is clear he was not treated fairly, Respondent reports. This is so because he was subjected to an arbitrary and capricious observation and evaluation process and the District completely failed to follow the legally required process in observing and evaluating him. Therefore, both Annual Summative Evaluations were invalid, Respondent repeats. Additionally, the Annual Summative Evaluation for both years in question did not include the required computation and inclusion of numerical scores measuring his students' growth pursuant to the law, Respondent maintains. He points out there is no discretion or flexibility in this regard. Respondent avers tenure charges, in fact, are highly dependent on two consecutive Annual Summative Evaluations that follow this standard. However, in his case, there were no valid evaluations at all, Respondent claims. He points out if even one of the ASE's is negated, the charges fail as a matter of law. However, in this case both evaluations are invalid, he insists.

As for the issue of materiality, which provides that in reviewing various failures of the District to properly observe, support and evaluate a teacher, the arbitrator determines if the fact materially affected the outcome of the evaluation. Respondent points out there can be no doubt the District's glaring multiple errors are material and completely undermine the validity of the case against him. He declares the District's total failure in both years to adhere to the requirements for setting student growth objectives, measuring student growth, scoring Respondent on the basis of student growth and including such scoring in his ASE negates both of them. Further, without valid ASE's there is no statutory basis for any of the charges herein. Clearly he argues, the lack of the statutory basis for charges can never be immaterial.

Finally, although the District may claim the minor problems in its efforts should be considered less than determinative, the errors are not minor, Respondent maintains. Rather, they are significant in every area herein discussed. Moreover, the cumulative effect of the astounding number of failures on the part of administration clearly establishes the process was fatally flawed. Respondent insists the District cannot prove he had been given the process he was due and the support to which he was entitled. For the reasons set forth above, Respondent concludes he was treated unfairly, was not supported as he should have been by law and regulation, and was victimized by the complete breakdown of the legal process in place to properly observe and evaluate teachers. Accordingly, Respondent emphasizes, the charges must be dismissed.

DISCUSSION AND FINDINGS

I have carefully examined the testimony and other evidence in this matter. Based on my examination I find the District did not have just cause to discharge Respondent. I so find for several reasons. First, during the 2013-2014 school year Respondent was transferred from a high school to Sussex Avenue Renew School, a middle school, although his extensive experience was at the high school level. Further, upon his arrival, he was assigned lunch and playground duty, and painting lines on the playground. This was hardly appropriate for a teacher with more than twenty years teaching experience, I find. Additionally, subsequent to those assignments, he was given the position of assistant gym teacher. Not only was this outside his certification, in my view this was a waste of a valuable resource by the District.

Moreover, I observe, Respondent was assigned to a class in October 2013 comprised of the most difficult students from existing classes. I note Principal Gearhart acknowledged these students did not receive IEP's although, had they been classified, they would have been given such a program. Also, she testified these children had not been evaluated by the previous school administration. Thus, in my opinion, Respondent was given a class that was designed to produce failure. Moreover, I find merit in Respondent's claim the CAP he developed at Sussex Avenue became inapplicable to the development of his Annual Summative Evaluation upon his reassignment to Weequahic High School. I observe as well, at Sussex Avenue School, Respondent was seriously injured in January 2014 when breaking up a fight in his classroom. Thus, the high school vice principal, Mr. Westberry, evaluated Respondent without any thought to his time at Sussex Avenue School. Therefore, his ASE was incomplete at best. As a result, I determine, this fact negated whatever was included in Respondent's CAP because it could not be measured by anything that occurred at the high school.

Additionally, I observe, upon his arrival at Weequahic High School, he was assigned to teach math to both ninth and twelfth grade classes. The ninth grade class was "challenging and difficult," while the other classes was more successful, according to Vice Principal Westberry. Nonetheless, Mr. Westberry observed Respondent teaching only grade nine students. I find Westberry's failure to observe Respondent in the grade twelve class constitutes a serious error on his part. How does one observe only one grade level and ignore the other when evaluating a teacher? The clear answer, in my view, is that the situation should not have occurred, as it violates educational principles as well as any semblance of fairness. Thus, Westberry's failure to evaluate Respondent in his grade twelve class constitutes an incomplete evaluation and should be accorded little weight, I determine.

Further, given his serious injuries and disability, I note Respondent had approximately only three months of teaching, from late-March to mid-June, and his annual evaluation was done on May 15, 2014. Therefore, all his observations and evaluations were done within an approximately two-month period. I believe it is difficult, if possible at all, to compress all evaluation procedures in this short time span.

Additionally, I note, two observations occurred on consecutive days in the same grade. Thus, Respondent had no opportunity to implement any changes suggested by his evaluators. Also, I find, Westberry's explanation for this anomaly was that "it wouldn't have made no difference because Mr. Dawkins was an experienced teacher." This, in my opinion, lacks any reasonable educational basis and renders these evaluations meaningless. This is so because, as Arbitrator Mattye M. Gandel noted, the requirements to observe a teacher are designed to assist him to improve on his weaknesses, and provide guidance for him to improve. Therefore, there has to be a reasonable time period between evaluations to show improvement for the balance of the year.[1]

[1] Patsy Cuntrera and Passaic County Vocational School District. Agency Docket No.2283-8/15; R4).

However, Respondent was not observed for the balance of the year during the time between the mid-year and annual evaluation on May 15, 2014. This demonstrates to me the District was more interested in discharging Respondent rather than assisting him to be a more effective teacher. Any teacher with twenty plus years in a district deserves at least that consideration, I believe.

Further, the District failed to properly implement the evaluation system when Mr. Westberry conducted an evaluation on April 11, 2014, but did not observe Respondent for the remainder of the year between Respondent's mid-year and his evaluation on May 15, 2014. This undermined a major purpose of a mid-year evaluation, which was designed to set goals for improvement and adjustment for the balance of the year. Clearly, Mr. Westberry's failure to do this contributed to Respondent's problems, I determine.

Additionally, I am taken aback by the fact Ms. Gearhart rated Respondent "effective", the only time she reviewed Competency Four. Also, Mr. Westberry observed Respondent three times and rated him "effective" in Competency Four, as he did in Respondent's mid-year evaluation. Yet, to my chagrin, I see, after being rated effective by two principals for that category, he received only a "partially effective" rating for that indicator. An action such as this leads me to consider the possibility there is more than meets the eye in this matter. To me, a teacher rated "effective" four times in several months should obviously be rated "effective" in that category. The District's failure to do so seriously undermines the "inefficiency" finding on Respondent's evaluations, and, frankly, District officials should consider investigating this anomaly, in my opinion.

As for the School Improvement Panel, I note the District either did not have such a panel or, while one may have existed on paper, it certainly did not function as required. A simple reading of Mr. Westberry's testimony demonstrates he had no knowledge of the Panel and certainly had no idea what it was supposed to achieve. For these reasons, I find, the charges against him for 2013-2014 are arbitrary, capricious, and contrary to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-17.2

Moreover, I determine, as well, the District has not sustained its burden for the 2014-2015 school year. As a result of the injuries he had sustained while breaking up a fight in January 2014, he was again granted a leave of absence which extended from the beginning of the school year to December 2014 or January 2015. When he returned, he was reassigned to a different school, this one being a newly created middle school called Girls' Academy of Newark. Since he had taught high school the previous year, he again had to make adjustments required to teach middle school mathematics. However, I observe, once again he was not assigned to teach a regular class, but was assigned to assist other teachers in existing classes. Also, I note, he did not receive a regular class assignment of his own until mid-March 2015. However, his annual evaluation was done on May 12, 2015, resulting in an approximate two-month period of time. This, I find disturbing. It appears to me it is virtually impossible for a teacher to have an annual evaluation based on his performance over only a two-month time period. This act, in and of itself, was arbitrary and capricious, I determine.

Further, I note, in the 2014-2015 school year, the district's behavior was thoughtless. While Respondent was observed on two consecutive days in the previous year, in this situation he was evaluated twice in the same day, at the same time, in the same classroom. The District's excuse during the hearings was that it was attempting to coordinate and "norm" the observations of the new Principal and her Vice-Principal. However, in my opinion, it was done so the two observers would come up with similar, if not exact evaluations. This is not why evaluation systems were developed. The goal of these evaluations is to assist a teacher in improving performance. However, with two evaluations on the same day, such an opportunity does not exist. Additionally, Respondent's last observation occurred on May 11, 2015 one day before his annual evaluation. Such an act completely obliterates the purpose of observation/evaluation which is to improve instruction. In this, I agree with Respondent's claim the process of observing and evaluating him was arbitrary and capricious. This term is a serious one which I do not take lightly. However, I am surprised and dismayed any district would engage in such actions, as did the administration of Girls' Academy.

Moreover, I determine, the District's actions in the matter of Respondent's CAP was also improperly implemented. Due to his extended absence, Respondent's CAP was signed on March 25, 2015 and his Annual Summative Evaluation was done approximately one and one-half months later. This was so even though the CAP stated the time to assess student growth was four months.

Therefore, the timing of this evaluation was, once again, in my view, arbitrary and capricious.

As for the CAP itself, I see it did not provide a process for assessing student growth. The requirement for this area requires the evaluator to consider the SGO based on available student data and on growth and/or achievement. However, in this instance I find Principal Williams' testimony was unconvincing, as she failed to provide a numerical score for the SGO and did not provide any evidence she factored the SGO into Respondent's score. Accordingly, I determine, during the school year 2014-2015, the District committed the same error as did the administration in a different building the previous year; that is, it failed to properly compute a separate score for Respondent based on student growth and, therefore, could not have factored this into his Annual Summative Evaluation. Accordingly, I find, that evaluation bears no weight in Respondent's evaluation process. It also constitutes a material error, I determine

Finally, I find, the District's reliance on the doctrine of materiality is misplaced. The fact is, there were multiple observation/evaluation errors in both years at issue here. As discussed herein, both the timing and content of these factors were insufficient to establish anything except certain administrators were asleep at the switch when it came to observation/evaluation and, especially, when it came to SGO's. Accordingly, I find the observations/evaluations and Annual Summative Evaluations were material because without valid SGO's and Annual Summative Evaluations there can be no statutory basis for charges against Respondent. For the reasons delineated herein. I find the District did not have cause to discharge Respondent. The appropriate remedy is reinstatement with full back pay. It is so ordered.

BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE TOWNSHIP OF OCEAN, MONMOUTH COUNTY,

RESPONDENT.

COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION

SYNOPSIS

Petitioners sought a finding that the respondent Board violated N.J.S.A. 18A:36-34 when it administered an "Attitudes and Behaviors Survey" (Survey) to sixth graders in the Ocean Township school district without obtaining written informed parental consent, and by failing to provide parents the opportunity to view the pupil survey at convenient times and locations prior to administering the survey. Petitioners alleged that the Survey posed questions that required students to reveal personal information related to mental or psychological issues, "sexual behavior and attitudes," and "illegal, anti-social, self-incriminating and demeaning behavior" which was potentially embarrassing to students or their families. Petitioners additionally sought attorneys' fees and related costs, and filed a motion for summary decision.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: on November 14, 2014, the respondent Board administered the Survey to all District sixth graders whose parents or guardians had not signed and returned an "opt-out" form; petitioners in this matter, except Danielle Sintic, had standing to challenge the Board's alleged violation of the consent and viewing requirements of N.J.S.A. 18A:36-34; the Board violated the "prior written informed consent" requirement of the statute, but did not violate the requirement that parents be provided a chance to view the Survey at "convenient locations and time periods"; petitioners are not entitled to an award of counsel fees; however, a monetary penalty that punishes the Board for its actions and serves as a deterrent to similar behavior by other school boards is justified. The ALJ concluded that the Board must redact the results of the survey from pupil records if any results are contained therein; must identify any outside agencies or persons to whom the results of the surveys were given, and must retrieve all survey information from these outside agencies or persons. Accordingly, the motion for summary decision was granted in part and denied in part, and a penalty of $1000 was imposed against the Board for its violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:36-34.

Upon comprehensive review, the Commissioner concurred with the ALJ's decision but rejected the ALJ's assessment of a $1000 penalty, noting, inter alia, that the Board has already taken remedial measures – including revising its policy to reflect proper procedures for administration of future surveys and destroying completed copies of the Survey at issue – to voluntarily comply with the provisions of N.J.S.A. 18A:36-34 going forward. Accordingly, the Initial Decision of the OAL – as modified herein – was adopted as the final decision in this case.

This synopsis is not part of the Commissioner's decision. It has been prepared for the convenience of the reader. It has been neither reviewed nor approved by the Commissioner.

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law ("OAL") have been reviewed, as have the exceptions filed pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4 by the petitioners and the respondent. In this matter, petitioners allege that the Board violated N.J.S.A. 18A:36-34 by failing to obtain "prior written informed consent" from parents before administering an "Attitudes and Behaviors Survey" ("Survey") to the District's students. Petitioners further allege that the Board also failed to provide the parents an opportunity to view the Survey at convenient times and locations prior to administering it to the students, in violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:36-34. Respondent contends that the Board did not violate N.J.S.A. 18A:36-34, and that the petitioners do not have standing.

The ALJ concluded that the petitioners – except Danielle Sintic – have standing to challenge the Board's administration of the Survey, and that the Board violated the "prior written informed consent" requirement of N.J.S.A. 18A:36-34. The ALJ also concluded that the Board did not violate the requirement that the parents be provided the opportunity to view the Survey at [1] Petitioner Danielle Sintic is no longer a party in this matter following issuance of an order by the Administrative Law Judge ("ALJ") on October 9, 2015, finding that Ms. Sintic did not have standing to pursue this litigation against the Board, which the Commissioner accepts as proper.

"convenient locations and time periods." Furthermore, the ALJ found that petitioners are not entitled to an award of counsel fees[2], but imposed a monetary penalty of $1000 on the Board for its violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:36-34. The ALJ further ordered the Board to redact the results of the Survey from pupil records if any such results are contained therein, identify any outside agencies or persons to whom the results of the Survey were given, and request that such agencies or persons return all Survey information to the Board. Upon a comprehensive review of the record, the Commissioner is in accord with the ALJ's decision, as modified herein.

Petitioners take exception to the ALJ's denial of counsel fees and the amount of the monetary penalty imposed on the Board. Petitioners also seek additional remedies not requested below. Respondent takes exception to the ALJ's determination that the petitioners have standing, that the Board violated N.J.S.A. 18A:36-34, and the ALJ's imposition of the monetary penalty on the Board. While reflecting their obvious disagreements with the findings and conclusions contained within the Initial Decision, the parties' exceptions pertaining to counsel fees, petitioners' standing, and the Board's violation N.J.S.A. 18A:36-34, are unpersuasive and, substantially recast and reiterate the arguments made below. The Commissioner finds that the issues were properly raised and adjudicated below, and agrees with the ALJ's determination with regard to counsel fees, petitioners' standing, and the Board's violation of the consent requirement of N.J.S.A. 18A:36-34. Furthermore, the Commissioner will not consider the additional remedies that are now being improperly sought by petitioners by way of their exceptions.

With regard to the monetary penalty of $1000, petitioners argue that a penalty of $10,000 for each year the Board has administered the Survey is appropriate, the total sum of which is $90,000, as the Board has conducted the Survey annually from November 2005 to

[2] See October 9, 2015 Order on Motion to Dismiss.

November 2014. Respondent challenges the ALJ's authority to impose a monetary penalty and argues that only the Commissioner may impose such a penalty. Respondent further argues that a monetary penalty is discretionary, not mandatory. Lastly, respondent submits that any penalty in this case would be punitive in nature and the financial burden of the penalty would be on the tax-payers, such as the petitioners[3].

A review of the legislative history of N.J.S.A. 18A:36-34 indicates that the statute is intended to follow the Protection of Pupil Rights Amendment ("PPRA"), 20 U.S.C.A. § 1232h[4]. Therefore, the interpretation and application of N.J.S.A. 18A:36-34 must be consistent with the PPRA. The enforcement mechanism under the PPRA provides the following:

> The Secretary shall take such action as the Secretary determines appropriate to enforce this section, except that action to terminate assistance provided under an applicable program shall be taken only if the Secretary determines that – (1) there has been a failure to comply with such section; and (2) compliance with such section cannot be secured by voluntary means.

Notably, N.J.S.A. 18A:36-34's enforcement provision – "[a] school district that violates the provisions of this act shall be subject to such monetary penalties as determined by the Commissioner" – leaves the determination of a monetary penalty at the Commissioner's sole discretion. In the absence of further guidance or restrictions from the Legislature on the monetary penalty, the Commissioner relies on the plain language of N.J.S.A. 18A:36-34 and its Federal counterpart in determining whether any monetary penalties should be assessed.

The PPRA's termination of assistance is akin to the monetary penalty under N.J.S.A. 18A:36-34. As such, before imposing a monetary penalty, the Commissioner will consider whether the Board failed to comply with the statute and whether voluntary compliance

[3] The Commissioner recognizes that assessment of penalty on the Board is ultimately borne by the taxpayers, and therefore, the penalty should not be unreasonable or excessive.

[4] The identical Sponsor Statements issued in the State Assembly and Senate during the introduction of the underlying bill notes in relevant part, "[t]his bill is modeled on 20 U.S.C.A. § 1232h, commonly referred to as the Protection of Pupil Rights Amendment." L. 2001, c. 364.

cannot be secured. The Commissioner has already determined that the Board failed to comply with the consent provision of N.J.S.A. 18A:36-34; however, voluntary compliance from the Board can be secured as the Board has already taken certain remedial measures, including revising its policy to reflect the proper procedures to be followed prior to administration of future surveys and assessments, and destroying copies of the completed Survey[5]. Therefore, the Commissioner will not impose a monetary penalty on the Board and rejects the ALJ's assessment of $1000 on the Board.

Accordingly, the ALJ's Initial Decision – as modified herein – is adopted as the final decision in this matter.

IT IS SO ORDERED.[6]

BEFORE SUSAN M. SCAROLA, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

The petitioners, Michelle and Jack Green (Greens), Danielle Sintic (Sintic), Lexa Skowrenski (Skowrenski), and Christana Kmecz (Kmecz) (collectively "petitioners"), allege that the respondent Board of Education of the Township of Ocean (Board) violated N.J.S.A. 18A:36-34 by failing to obtain written informed parental consent and by failing to provide parents the opportunity to view an "Attitudes and Behaviors Survey" ("survey") at convenient times and locations prior to administering the survey to sixth-grade students in 2014.[1]

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On January 7, 2015, the petitioners filed a petition with the Commissioner of Education (Commissioner) alleging the wrongful administration of the survey to sixth-graders. On March 16, 2015, the Board filed a motion to dismiss in lieu of an answer to petitioners' petition with the Commissioner. On April 9, 2015, the Department of Education transmitted the matter to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) as a contested case. N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15; N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13.

FACTUAL DISCUSSION

The petitioners allege that the Board violated the law governing the administration of school surveys, N.J.S.A. 18A:36-34, by failing to obtain written informed parental consent and by failing to provide parents the opportunity to view an "Attitudes and Behaviors Survey" (survey) at convenient times and locations prior to administering the survey to sixth-grade students. Under N.J.S.A. 18A:36-34, > a. Unless a school district receives prior written informed consent from a student's parent or legal guardian and provides for a copy of the document to be available for viewing at convenient locations and time periods, the school district shall not administer to a student any academic or > c. A student shall not participate in any survey, assessment, analysis or evaluation that concerns the issues listed in subsection a. of this section unless the school district has obtained prior written informed consent from that student's parent or guardian.

> d. A school district that violates the provisions of this act shall be subject to such monetary penalties as determined by the commissioner.

According to the Board's Policy No. 2415.05, "Pupil Surveys, Analysis and/or Evaluations," which was created in April 2004 and was in effect at the time the challenged survey was administered, "[t]he Protection of Pupil Rights Amendment (PPRA) (20 U.S.C. § 1232h; 34 CFR Part 98) . . . requires written consent from parents/legal guardians . . . before minor students are required to participate [in a federally funded] survey" that includes questions about the political and religious beliefs of the student or the student's parent, a student's sexual behavior or psychological problems, and other personal information.[2] (Petition at Ex. 3.) The policy also gave parents the right to inspect such a survey prior to administration. (Ibid.)

[2] The Board does not dispute that the survey at issue was federally funded.

At its meeting on October 21, 2014, the Board approved participation by sixth-, ninth-, and twelfth-grade students in an "Attitude[s] and Behavior Survey." (Id. at Ex. 1.) In a letter dated "October 2014" the Board's superintendent advised parents of students in the relevant grades that "[t]he survey addresses attitudes and behaviors related to family life, school, extracurricular activities, personal relationships, and drugs and alcohol." (Id. at Ex. 2.) According to the letter, the intent of the survey was to create a report from the responses to "guide the development and implementation of programs and services in our community." (Ibid.) The letter further notified parents, in pertinent part:

> Students will complete the survey anonymously, meaning that no personal identifying information will be requested or sought.
> In late November, 2014 the school district will once again collect information from all 6th, 9th, and 12th grade students, in our fourth tri-annual survey. Both parents and students have the right to opt out of participating in the survey. The taking of this survey is voluntary. If you do not wish your child to participate, please complete the bottom portion of this letter and return to your child's homeroom teacher no later than November 5, 2014.
>
> . . . The survey will be available in the main office of your child's school, the Superintendent's office . . . and at the [Ocean Township] Department of Human Services should you wish to view it.
> [Ibid.]

According to the superintendent, "[t]he letter dated 'October 2014' was distributed for the purpose of providing parents additional notice of the questionnaire, and give them the option to review the questionnaire, and provide the opportunity to waive their consent for the child to . . . participate." (Stefankiewicz Cert., ¶ 7.) The superintendent maintains that on November 14, 2014, the survey "was given to the students whose parents consented," and that "[t]he student of any parent who waived consent was not given a survey, and those students were removed from the classroom and did not view the questionnaire." (Id. at ¶¶ 10–11.) The survey was composed of 160 questions, including personal questions about mental and psychological problems, sexual behavior and attitudes, and illegal, anti-social, and demeaning behavior. (Board's Brief in Opposition to Petitioners' Motion for Summary Decision, Ex. A.)

On December 16, 2014, the Board adopted Policy No. 9560, which replaced Policy No. 2415.05. (Petitioners' Brief in Support of Motion for Summary Decision, Ex. A.) Under the new policy, > [w]hen administering [a survey] . . . the Superintendent . . . shall request written informed consent at least two weeks prior to the administration of the survey. The request for consent shall provide the parent/legal guardian the opportunity to view a copy of the document at a convenient location and time. The pupil shall not participate in the [survey] if the requested written informed consent is not obtained.

> [Ibid.]

On January 7, 2015, petitioners filed with the Commissioner of Education a petition in which they allege that "[o]n October 21, 2014, respondent Board adopted a Resolution authorizing the administration of [the survey] to sixth, ninth and twelfth grade pupils enrolled in the District"; that "[p]rior to November 14, 2014, respondent Board forwarded an 'Opt A Pupil Out Notice' to the parents and legal guardians of pupils scheduled to participate in the [survey]" and that "[t]he Notice was formulated in accordance with Board Policy 2415.05 Pupils Surveys, Analysis and/or Evaluations"; that the Board "failed to make copies of the [survey] available for viewing at the various District school sites attended by sixth grade pupils who were scheduled to be administered the survey" and that parents of these students "were required to travel to respondent Board's offices . . . during Board business hours"; that "[o]n November 14, 2014, respondent Board administered the [survey] to all District sixth grade pupils whose parents or legal guardians did not sign and return the "Opt A Pupil Out Notice" and that "[a]s of the date of this Petition, respondent Board has not administered the [survey] to the District's ninth and twelfth grade pupils"; and that the survey "required participating pupils to reveal personal information regarding "mental or psychological problems potentially embarrassing to the pupils or the pupils' families," "sexual behavior and attitudes," and "illegal, anti-social, self-incriminating and demeaning behavior." (Petition, ¶¶ 6–9, 11.)

At all relevant times, the Greens, Skowrenski, and Kmecz were parents of a sixth-grade student. (Id. at ¶ 1–4.) The Greens, Skowrenski, and Kmecz all signed and returned the bottom portion of the October 2014 letter, and none of their children took the survey. (Green Cert., ¶¶ 7–8.)

As relief, petitioners seek an order from the Commissioner finding that the Board's actions violated N.J.S.A. 18A:36-34; requiring the Board to redact from pupil records the results of the survey and to identify any outside agencies or persons to whom the results of the survey were given and to request that such agencies or persons return all survey information to the Board; imposing a monetary penalty against the Board in accordance with N.J.S.A. 18A:36-34(d); and awarding counsel fees to petitioners. (Petition, ¶¶ A–G.)

On April 9, 2015, the Department of Education transmitted the matter to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) as a contested case. On March 16, 2015, the Board filed with the Commissioner a motion to dismiss in lieu of an answer to the petition. In its motion, the Board argued: (1) that petitioners do not have standing to bring this action because petitioners filed the petition on their own behalf, and not on behalf of their children, and that, as such, they are "seeking relief without being affected by a school's policy in a direct and meaningful way," or, in the alternative, that Sintic does not have standing because neither of her children was in a grade to which the survey was administered; (2) that the petition is moot because, on December 16, 2014, the Board revised Board Policy 2415.05, which is now codified as Board Policy 9560, "Administration of School Surveys," and which complies with the requirements of N.J.S.A. 18A:36-34, and "[s]ince Policy 2415.05 has been deemed null and void by the Board, and has been effectively superseded by Policy 9560, it is no longer the subject of a 'concrete contested' issue which affects the parties in this matter"; and, (3) that petitioners are not entitled to counsel fees because the Commissioner is not statutorily authorized to award counsel fees. (Board's Motion at 2–9.)

On October 9, 2015, the Board's motion to dismiss was granted in part and denied in part. The Order provided that all of the petitioners, except Danielle Sintic, had standing in this matter, that the matter was not moot, and that petitioners would not be entitled to counsel fees if they ultimately prevailed in this matter. (October 9, 2015, Order.)

On March 21, 2016, petitioners filed a motion for summary decision finding that the Board violated N.J.S.A. 18A:36-34 by failing to obtain "prior written informed consent" and to allow parents to view the survey at "convenient locations and time periods" before administering the survey to sixth-graders. On the latter issue, Michelle Green certified that she went to the Ocean Township Middle School to view the survey, but she was told that it was not available there and she had to travel three miles to the superintendent's office to view the survey. (Green Cert., ¶ 3.)

In its April 18, 2016, opposition brief, the Board argues that it did not violate N.J.S.A. 18A:36-34 because the Board provided parents the opportunity to "waive consent" for their children to take the survey and the survey did not "reveal" any sensitive information because the children took the survey anonymously. The Board further argues that it did not violate the survey statute with respect to petitioners because the consent and viewing requirements are preconditions of the actual administration of the survey to a student and, here, none of petitioners' children actually took the survey. In this regard, the Board again argues that petitioners do not have standing to challenge the administration of the survey.

LEGAL DISCUSSION

Standing

As an initial matter, the Board contends that petitioners do not have standing to challenge any violation of the consent and viewing requirements of N.J.S.A. 18A:36-34 because none of their children actually took the survey. Generally, the Commissioner of Education has jurisdiction to hear and determine all disputes and controversies arising under the school laws. N.J.S.A. 18A:6-9. However, standing is "a threshold justiciability determination whether the litigant is entitled to initiate and maintain an action before a court or other tribunal." In re Six-Month Extension of N.J.A.C. 5:91-1 et seq., 372 N.J. Super. 61, 85 (App. Div. 2004), certif. denied, 182 N.J. 630 (2005). In New Jersey, there exists a rather liberal approach to questions of standing. Crescent Park Tenants Ass'n v. Realty Equity Corp. of N.Y., 58 N.J. 98, 101, 107–11 (1971). Standing is nonetheless limited to "situations where the litigant's concern with the subject matter evidence[s] a sufficient stake and real adverseness." Id. at 107. These requirements are designed to prevent litigation by those who are "merely interlopers or strangers to the dispute." Ibid.

Standing "is not automatic, and a litigant usually has no standing to assert the rights of a third party." In re Six-Month Extension, supra, 372 N.J. Super. at 85 (citing Spinnaker Condo. Corp. v. Zoning Bd., 357 N.J. Super. 105 (App. Div.), certif. denied, 176 N.J. 280 (2003)). However, "[t]he standing of taxpayers and citizens, under appropriate circumstances and without any showing of increased tax burden, to maintain proceedings seeking to remedy wrongful acts of public officials has long been recognized in our State." Haines v. Burlington Cnty. Bridge Comm'n, 1 N.J. Super. 163, 171 (App. Div. 1949), aff'd sub. nom. Driscoll v. Burlington Bridge Co., 8 N.J. 433, cert. denied, 344 U.S. 838, 73 S. Ct. 34, 97 L. Ed. 652 (1952).

In certain cases, taxpayers or residents of a school district may have standing if they have a "'slight private interest, added to and harmonizing with the general public interest.'" Ridgewood Educ. Ass'n v. Ridgewood Bd. of Educ., 284 N.J. Super. 427, 432–33 (App. Div. 1995) (quoting Hudson Bergen Cnty. Retail Liquor Stores Ass'n v. Bd. of Comm'rs, City of Hoboken, 135 N.J.L. 502, 510 (E. & A. 1947)). For example, in Ridgewood, two part-time supplemental teachers employed by a school board had standing to challenge a board policy limiting the employment of supplemental teachers even though they had acquired tenure and would be unaffected by the policy. According to the court, "[w]here the challenge is to an exercise of legislative or quasi-legislative power, the public interest is necessarily involved" and, thus, > standing—a proposition of questionable validity—[the petitioning teachers], by reason of their professional status and involvement, must be seen as having satisfied any additional requirement that may exist for a "slight private interest, added to and harmonizing with the general public interest," in order for their standing to be recognized.

> [t]o the extent their status as residents and taxpayers of the school district was not itself an adequate basis for according

> [Id. at 430–31, 432–33 (citation omitted).]

However, in D.H. ex rel. J.M.H. v. Board of Education of Montclair, EDU 9419-04, Initial Decision (November 22, 2004), adopted, Comm'r (December 29, 2004), <http://www.njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal>, a father who sought to have his son admitted to an algebra class without having to take a screening test required by the school board did not have standing to challenge the board's testing policy because the board had waived the testing requirement for the child and enrolled him in the class and, thus, he "no longer ha[d] a personal interest [in] the outcome of [the] matter," and he also did not "have standing based solely on the public interest of the taxpayers [of the school district], whom [he] did not represent."

Similarly, in Herron v. Board of Education of Montclair, EDU 14067-13, Initial Decision (April 16, 2014), <http://www.njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal>, adopted, Comm'r (June 2, 2014), <http://www.state.nj.us/education/legal/commissioner/2014>, a school-district resident did not have standing to challenge the school board's plan to administer quarterly achievement tests to its students because he did not have any children attending school in the district when he filed his petition and because, even though he sought to advocate for the school community, he "had no personal stake in the outcome of [the] dispute but, rather, ha[d] brought [the] action on behalf of unnamed others." As the Commissioner noted, the petitioner did not have third-party standing because he "d[id] not hold a confidential relationship with [district] students and their parents—who could bring a petition on their own if they chose."

Here, as in Ridgewood and unlike in D.H. and Herron, the petitioners have taxpayer or resident standing to challenge the Board's administration of the survey because, even though none of their children actually took the survey, petitioners have a "slight private interest, added to and harmonizing with the general public interest," in ensuring that the Board complies with the requirements of N.J.S.A. 18A:36-34. While the Board correctly argues that any violation of the survey statute flows from the actual administration of a survey to a student ("Unless a school district receives prior written informed consent from a student's parent . . . and provides for a copy of the document to be available for viewing at convenient locations and time periods, the school district shall not administer to a student any academic or nonacademic survey"), and petitioners' children did not take the survey, petitioners are not "interlopers" or "strangers to the dispute." At the time the dispute arose, they were parents of sixth-grade students in the district. They have a sufficient private interest in this matter because they were directly affected by the Board's former policy regarding student surveys and the "October 2014" letter, and their children would have taken the survey if petitioners had not been diligent in withholding their consent.

Written Consent

Since petitioners have standing to challenge the Board's administration of the survey, the question becomes whether the Board violated N.J.S.A. 18A:36-34 by failing to obtain written informed parental consent and by failing to provide parents the opportunity to view the survey at convenient times and locations prior to administering the survey to sixth-grade students. As explained by the sponsors of the bill that eventually became N.J.S.A. 18A:36-34, "[t]his bill is modeled on 20 U.S.C.A. § 1232h, commonly referred to as the Protection of Pupil Rights Amendment," which "provides, in part, that school districts must receive written parental consent before students are required to fill out any survey . . . that is funded with moneys from the federal Department of Education and that deals with certain sensitive issues." Statement to A3359 (March 26, 2001).

The parties dispute the meaning of "prior written informed consent" under N.J.S.A. 18A:36-34(a). Petitioners maintain that this language requires parents to "opt in," or provide active consent prior to the administration of a survey, while the Board argues that "[c]onsent is informed when the person giving or waiving consent is provided with a reasonable amount of time to deliberate, and is aware of the right to refuse to give consent." (Board's April 18, 2016, Brief at 4.) According to the Board, the October 2014 letter "was distributed for the purpose of providing parents additional notice of the questionnaire, and give them the option to review the questionnaire, and provide the opportunity to waive their consent for the child to . . . participate."

A plain reading of the statute supports petitioners' argument that "prior written informed consent" requires parents to "opt in." Indeed, the law is intended to require school districts to "receive written parental consent before students are required to fill out any survey." A school district does not "receive written parental consent" if a parent stays silent or fails to "opt out" of a survey. Instead, as petitioners correctly argue, a school district cannot administer a survey to a student unless the student's parent "opts in," or provides express written consent. See Zelma v. Market U.S.A., 343 N.J. Super. 356, 360–61 (App. Div. 2001) (stating that "opt in" means a party "must expressly consent," while "opt out" means a party's "consent is presumed unless it acts to bar such actions"). While the Board disputes petitioners' characterization of the October 2014 letter as an "Opt a Pupil Out" notice, it is clear from the content of the letter itself that parents were provided an opportunity to "opt out" rather than "opt in," and it is also clear that the Board administered the survey to children of parents who did not "opt out." As such, the Board violated the statutory "prior written informed consent" requirement when it administered the survey to sixth-grade students.

The Board unpersuasively maintains that it did not violate N.J.S.A. 18A:36-34 because the survey was anonymous and, thus, the children who took the survey did not "reveal" any sensitive information. Again, N.J.S.A. 18A:36-34 requires "school districts [to] receive written parental consent before students are required to fill out any survey . . . that deals with certain sensitive issues." The Board's argument regarding the anonymity of the survey misses the point, as the statute is designed to protect children from exposure to personal questions about mental and psychological problems, sexual behavior and attitudes, and illegal, anti-social, and demeaning behavior without their parents' active consent. Whether anonymous or not, the students who took the survey "revealed" sensitive information by answering personal questions on the survey.

Accordingly, the Board must redact the results of the survey from pupil records if any such results are contained therein. It must also identify any outside agencies or persons to whom the results of the survey were given and request that such agencies or persons return all survey information to the Board.

Opportunity to View Survey

Finally, however, the petitioners have failed to show that the Board did not offer parents the opportunity to view the survey "at convenient locations and time periods." Even if, as Michelle Green alleges, she was told that she could not view the survey at the middle school, it could hardly be said that having to drive three miles to the superintendent's office during business hours to view the survey was an inconvenient location and time.

Penalty

Under N.J.S.A. 18A:36-34, "[a] school district that violates the provisions of this act shall be subject to such monetary penalties as determined by the commissioner." There are no reported cases in which the Commissioner has imposed monetary penalties on a school board for a violation of the survey statute and, thus, there is no precedent on which to rely in determining the appropriate penalty for the Board's violation of the statute. Indeed, N.J.S.A. 18A:36-34 may be the only statute under which the Commissioner has been given the power to impose a monetary penalty.

Nonetheless, a monetary penalty that punishes the Board for its actions and also serves as a deterrent for other school boards who may administer surveys on sensitive topics to impressionable children should be imposed. In determining the penalty, the substantial mitigating factor of the amendment to the Board's policy to comport with the requirements of N.J.S.A. 18:36-34, made shortly after administering the survey to the sixth-grade students, should be taken into consideration. In light of this consideration, a $1,000 penalty against the Board would appear to be appropriate.

CONCLUSION

In conclusion, the remaining petitioners have standing to challenge the Board's administration of the survey. The petitioners' motion for summary decision is granted in part, in that the Board did violate the "prior written informed consent" requirement of N.J.S.A. 18A:36-34. The motion is denied in part in that the Board did comply with the requirement that parents be afforded the opportunity to view a survey at "convenient locations and time periods."[3] The Board must redact the results of the survey from pupil records if any such results are contained therein; identify any outside agencies or persons to whom the results of the survey were given; and request that such agencies or persons return all survey information to the Board.

ORDER

For the reasons set forth above, the motion for summary decision is GRANTED in part in that the Board did violate the "prior written informed consent" requirement of N.J.S.A. 18A:36-34. The motion is DENIED in part in that the Board did comply with the requirement that the parents be afforded the opportunity to view a survey at "convenient locations and time periods."

A penalty of $1,000 shall be imposed against the Board of Education of the Township of Ocean for its violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:36-34 and shall be paid within sixty days.

Furthermore, the Board must redact the results of the survey from pupil records if any such results are contained therein; identify any outside agencies or persons to whom the results of the survey were given; and request that such agencies or persons return all survey information to the Board.

[3] In light of the determination that the provisions of N.J.S.A. 18A:36-34 were violated by the failure to obtain written consent, it is not necessary to take additional testimony as to the "opportunity to view the survey." This matter is therefore concluded.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

Re: In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Frank Vergara, School District of the City of Pleasantville, Atlantic County, Agency Dkt. No. 220-8/16.

Dear Counsel:

I have reviewed the correspondence filed by the District, seeking to withdraw the tenure charges against respondent, Frank Vergara, based on the District's failure to provide notice to respondent of the tenure charges being certified against him. Upon review of the submissions, I find that this procedural defect is sufficient cause for the tenure charges to be withdrawn.

Accordingly, the withdrawal of the tenure charges is approved pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-5.6, and this matter is hereby dismissed without prejudice.

Sincerely,

SYNOPSIS

Petitioner – a non-tenured staff member formerly employed by the respondent Board – challenged the non-renewal of her employment as a teacher in respondent's schools. Petitioner was employed by the school district during the 2013-2014 school year, but her contract was not renewed for the following year. Petitioner filed an appeal on September 8, 2014, seeking a statement of reasons and a Donaldson hearing for the purpose of making her case for continued employment in the district. The matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law in October 2014, and two subsequent hearing dates were adjourned as the parties engaged in settlement discussions. The parties reached an agreement that petitioner would be given a statement of reasons and a Donaldson hearing, even though two years had already passed since her non-renewal; they further agreed that upon completion of the hearing, the within appeal would be dismissed or withdrawn – irrespective of the outcome of the hearing. Petitioner received the statement of reasons in April 2016 and participated in a Donaldson hearing in June 2016, but subsequently refused to dismiss or withdraw the appeal. The respondent Board filed a motion to dismiss on the basis of mootness.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: courts normally do not entertain cases when a controversy no longer exists, and the disputed issues have become moot; a case is moot when the original issue presented has been resolved; in the instant matter, petitioner requested relief that included a statement of reasons and a Donaldson hearing; and the parties reached an agreement whereby petitioner received a statement of reasons and a Donaldson hearing. The ALJ concluded that the original issue in this matter has been resolved, and further proceedings would have no practical effect; accordingly, the matter is moot, and the petition was dismissed with prejudice.

Upon careful review, the Commissioner adopted the Initial Decision of the OAL as the final decision in this matter for the reasons stated therein, and dismissed the petition with prejudice.

This synopsis is not part of the Commissioner's decision. It has been prepared for the convenience of the reader. It has been neither reviewed nor approved by the Commissioner.

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law have been reviewed. The parties did not file exceptions to the Initial Decision.

Upon such review, the Commissioner concurs with the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) that the issue became moot once the Board provided petitioner with a statement of reasons and a Donaldson hearing. SEVGI POSLUK GILROY, v.

Petitioner,

BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE TOWNSHIP OF BLOOMFIELD, ESSEX COUNTY,

Gail Oxfeld Kanef, Esq., for petitioner (Oxfeld Cohen, attorneys)

Rita F. Barone, Esq., and Robert M. Tosti, Esq., for respondent (Purcell, Mulcahy, Hawkins, Flanagan & Lawless, attorneys)

Record Closed: September 12, 2016 Decided: September 12, 2016

BEFORE RICHARD McGILL, ALJ:

Sevgi Posluk Gilroy ("petitioner") challenges the nonrenewal of her employment as a teacher by the Board of Education of the Township of Bloomfield ("respondent"). As a relief, petitioner seeks a statement of reasons and a Donaldson[1] hearing.

[1] In Donaldson v. Board of Education of North Wildwood, 65 N.J. 236 (1974), the Court determined that an untenured teacher was entitled to a statement of reasons for nonrenewal and that a timely request for an informal appearance before the board of education should ordinarily be granted.

Respondent moves to dismiss the petition, or alternatively for summary decision, based on a contention that it has provided a statement of reasons and a Donaldson hearing and that the matter is now moot.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Petitioner filed the petition with the Department of Education on September 8, 2014, pursuant to the authority of the Commissioner of Education under N.J.S.A. 18A:6-9 to hear and determine controversies and disputes arising under the school laws. The matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law on October 17, 2014, for determination as a contested case.

Hearings scheduled for September 25, 2015, and April 28, 2016, were adjourned as the result of settlement discussions. Respondent's pending motion was filed on July 15, 2016, and is unopposed.

MOTION TO DISMISS

Respondent's motion is supported by a certification and attached exhibits setting forth the facts in this matter. The undisputed facts are as follows:

1. During the 2013-2014 school year, petitioner was employed by respondent as a teacher.
2. Petitioner did not have tenure.
3. Respondent advised petitioner that her employment would not be renewed for the following school year.
4. On September 8, 2014, petitioner filed a petition of appeal with the Commissioner of Education.
5. The relief sought by petitioner included a statement of reasons and a Donaldson hearing.

6. The parties reached an agreement that petitioner would be given a statement of reasons and a Donaldson hearing so that petitioner could make her case for employment, even though two years had passed since her nonrenewal.
7. Respondent provided petitioner with a statement of reasons in the form of a letter dated April 5, 2016.
8. A Donaldson hearing was conducted on June 7, 2016. Petitioner was accompanied by her union representative, and she had the attention of the Board for approximately one hour.
9. The parties had further agreed that upon completion of the hearing, irrespective of the outcome, this appeal would be dismissed or withdrawn.
10. Subsequent to the Donaldson hearing, respondent through counsel requested dismissal or withdrawal of the petition in this matter.
11. Petitioner would not agree to dismissal or withdrawal of the petition.

Respondent seeks dismissal of the petition on the basis of mootness, or alternatively, summary decision to enforce the settlement agreement. Courts normally will not entertain cases when a controversy no longer exists, and the disputed issues have become moot. DeVesa v. Dorsey, 134 N.J. 420, 428 (1993). A case is moot when the original issue presented has been resolved. Ibid. Likewise, an issue is moot when the decision sought in the matter can have no practical effect on the existing controversy. Greenfield v. N.J. Dep't of Corr., 382 N.J. Super. 254, 257-58 (App. Div. 2006). The concept of mootness has been applied to cases before the Commissioner of Education, e.g., Price v. Bd. of Educ. of Washington Twp., OAL Dkt. No. EDU 6121-07, Initial Decision (December 7, 2007), adopted, Comm'r, (January 23, 2008).

Here, petitioner's request for relief included a statement of reasons and a Donaldson hearing. In accordance with the agreement of the parties, petitioner received a statement of reasons and a Donaldson hearing. Under the circumstances, the original issue in this matter has been resolved, and further proceedings will have no practical effect. Therefore, I CONCLUDE that the matter is moot and that the petition should be dismissed.

Accordingly, it is ORDERED that the petition in this matter be dismissed with prejudice.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

| | : | |

The record of this matter, along with the parties' proposed Settlement Agreement and General Release, have been reviewed. The Commissioner finds that the proposed Agreement – a term of which is respondent's resignation from employment in petitioner's district – is consistent with the established standards governing settlement of tenure matters contained within In re Cardonick, decided by the Commissioner April 7, 1982, aff'd State Board April 6, 1983, 1990 S.L.D. 842, 846, and as incorporated in N.J.A.C. 6A:3-5.6.

The Commissioner notes that the settlement indicates respondent will resign, effective August 31, 2016. The parties are reminded that a settlement of litigation before the Commissioner is not binding until the Commissioner approves the proposed terms.

In light of the foregoing, the parties' settlement is hereby approved and the tenure matter dismissed – subject to compliance with the terms of the Agreement – provided that the parties have already implemented the settlement terms, or have agreed upon a mutually satisfactory alternate date for the effectuation of same. The record of this matter, the Settlement Agreement (Agreement), and the Initial Decision on Remand of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), have been reviewed pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1. On August 26, 2016, the Commissioner remanded this matter to OAL because the file did not contain a copy of the Board's resolution approving the settlement and designating the Board President to sign the Agreement on its behalf, nor was the Agreement signed by the Board attorney – who is the Board's duly authorized representative in litigation.

Upon review of the revised record on remand, the Commissioner finds that the Agreement has been signed by the Board's attorney. Therefore, the Commissioner approves the settlement terms and adopts the Initial Decision as the final decision in this matter. The case is hereby dismissed, subject to compliance with the terms of the settlement.

SYNOPSIS

Petitioner filed a pro se residency appeal on behalf of her daughter, T.B., seeking a determination that T.B. is entitled to a free public education in the Red Bank Regional High School District. The respondent Board alleged that a residency investigation completed in February 2016 showed that A.B. and T.B. are domiciled in the Tinton Falls School District, and not the Red Bank Regional High School District.

The matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) in March 2016 and a hearing was scheduled for August 29, 2016. Petitioner failed to appear at the scheduled hearing. Correspondence from petitioner, explaining her failure to appear, was received by the Commissioner on August 29, 2016 and on September 14, 2016; copies of the August correspondence were forwarded to the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) on August 30, 2016. The OAL sent a notice of petitioner's failure to appear to the Commissioner on August 30, 2016, and subsequently returned the file to this agency.

Upon review, the Commissioner found that the ALJ did not issue an Initial Decision in accordance with N.J.A.C. 1:1-14.4(a). Further, the ALJ's dismissal of the matter for failure to appear was improper pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-14.4(a). Accordingly, the Commissioner remanded the matter to the OAL for such proceedings as are necessary to bring the matter to conclusion.

This synopsis is not part of the Commissioner's decision. It has been prepared for the convenience of the reader. It has been neither reviewed nor approved by the Commissioner.

The record of this matter, transmitted by the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) on September 7, 2016, has been reviewed.[1] Petitioner failed to appear at the hearing scheduled on August 29, 2016. The Commissioner received correspondence from the petitioner on August 29, 2016 and September 14, 2016, explaining her failure to appear for the scheduled hearing.[2] Copies of the August 29, 2016 correspondence were forwarded to the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) by this office on August 30, 2016.

Upon review of the record, the Commissioner finds that the ALJ did not issue an Initial Decision in accordance with N.J.A.C. 1:1-14.4. Furthermore, the ALJ's dismissal of the matter on the record at the time of the hearing – for failure to appear – was improper. See N.J.A.C. 1:1-14.4(a). Accordingly, the Commissioner remands this matter to the OAL for such proceedings as are necessary.

Petitioner and the Board mutually release and forever discharge each other, its/their officers, employees, administrators, agents and servants from any and all past, present or future claims which each has or might have against each other, because of all damages, liabilities, losses or injuries to person or property, or both, whether developed or undeveloped, including attorneys' fees, resulting from Petitioner's employment with the Board from the beginning of time through the present date.

9. The parties recognize that they sign this Agreement as their own voluntary act and deed, and that they fully understand the duties, obligations, requirements and limitations enumerated herein. The drafting and negotiation of this Agreement have been participated in by each of the parties and their respective counsel and, for all purposes, this Agreement shall be deemed to have been drafted jointly by each of the parties. No ambiguity shall be resolved against any party based upon authorship. The parties hereby acknowledge that they have been represented by counsel throughout the above-referenced matter, throughout the negotiation of this Agreement, and at the execution of this Agreement, and have read and consulted with counsel regarding this Agreement.

10. The parties further agree that this Agreement may not be altered, amended, modified, superseded, canceled or terminated except by an express written agreement duly executed by all of the parties or their attorneys on their behalf, which makes specific reference to this Agreement.

11. This Agreement shall be governed by the laws of the State of New Jersey and constitutes a complete legal release and waiver of any and all claims, known or unknown, including retaliation, which were or could have been raised by Petitioner against the Board since the beginning of time until execution and/or entry of this Agreement.

The record of this emergent matter, the sound recording of proceedings at the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), and the recommended Order of the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) have been reviewed. Upon such review, the Commissioner concurs with the ALJ, for the reasons thoroughly set forth in the recommended Order, that petitioner has failed to demonstrate entitlement to emergent relief pursuant to *Crowe v. ## STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On August 2, 2016, petitioner appealed the June 3, 2016, expulsion of S.P. Petitioner seek to have S.P. immediately returned to the regular High School as opposed to the Alternate High School which he is attending pursuant to the discipline imposed in June 2016. The Director of the Bureau of Controversies and Disputes of the New Jersey Department of Education transmitted the matter to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), where it was filed on August 31, 2016 as a contested case.

N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15; N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13. Thereafter on August 31, 2016,

New Jersey is an Equal Opportunity Employer

petitioner filed an application seeking emergent relief. Oral argument was heard on the matter before the undersigned on October 7, 2016, and the record closed on the emergent matter after submissions by the parties on October 11, 2016.

FACTUAL BACKGROUND

S.P. is a ninth grade student enrolled in the Alternative High School in City of Millville. He attended the eighth grade at Lakeside School in the City of Millville for the 2015-2016 school year. In the spring of 2016, S.P was found in possession of marijuana in school. The parents were notified and a disciplinary hearing was scheduled for May 26, 2016. The hearing was held on June 3, 2016. Both parents attended the hearing and the student did not contest the possession of marijuana as alleged and the following discipline was imposed:

> "[S.P.] would be placed in the alternative school program from September 7, 2016 through January 24, 2017 and complete a drug education program with random drug screening. If he successfully completes the drug program and the alternative school program including academic performance, he would be returned to the regular school program on January 24, 2017."

There was no objection made to the imposition of the above discipline until the petition was filed in the within matter. The petitioner challenges the expulsion as well as the placement of S.P. in the alternate high school. The petition raises due process questions and challenges the underlying discipline imposed on S.P. The petitioner seeks to have S.P. reinstated in his normal school, alleging deficiencies in the Alternate Program for a college bound student. The respondent maintains that the discipline imposed is consistent with the discipline imposed for all drug offenders as well as the two other students caught with S.P. in possession of marijuana. Allowing S.P. to return to the normal high school is inconsistent with their policy.

LEGAL DISCUSSION

The standards which must be met by the moving party in an application for emergent relief are embodied in N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.6 and Crowe v. DeGoia, 90 N.J. 126, 132-34 (1982). Emergency relief may only be granted if the judge determines that the following is demonstrated by clear and convincing evidence.

1. The petitioner will suffer irreparable harm if the relief is not granted;
2. The legal right underlying the petitioner's claim is settled;
3. The petitioner has a likelihood of prevailing on the merits of the underlying claim; and
4. When the equities and interests of the parties are balanced, the petitioner will suffer greater harm than the respondent will suffer if the requested relief is not granted.

The petitioner must satisfy all four prongs of the test by clear and convincing evidence.

In this matter, the first prong of the test requires the petitioner to demonstrate that S.P. will suffer irreparable harm if the requested relief is not granted. The petitioner has argued that the courses that are offered at the alternative high school are online and they are not taught by a live teacher. S.P. confirmed this fact in a letter submitted at the oral argument on October 7, 2016. Counsel for S.P. argues that S.P. is a college bound student and that this semester at an alternative high school will negatively impact his ability to get into college. In terms of extracurricular activities, S.P. has being permitted to participate in the band. Petitioner presents no evidence, testimony, or even an allegation that S.P.'s transcript will indicate that the courses were taken at an alternate high school, or how one semester at the alternate school will irreparably harm him.

The second prong of the requirement for obtaining emergent relief is that "[t]he legal right underlying petitioner's claim is settled." N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6(b)(2). In other words, such relief may "not be granted when the principal of law on which it depends is disputed, and has not been settled in this state." Stevens v. Paterson & N.R. Co., 20 N.J. Eq. 126, 132 (Ch. 1869). In this matter, the petitioner seeks to have S.P. placed back in the District's high school, but fails to set forth any legal basis for such relief.

Accordingly, the second prong of the test for emergent relief has not been met.

The third prong of the test for emergent relief requires a petitioner to demonstrate a likelihood that they will prevail on the merits of the underlying claim. Petitioner argues that S.P. is a good student and has not been in trouble in the past and thus, the discipline imposed to severe. The District argues that they have a no tolerance policy to drugs and this discipline is consistent with that imposed on all other student. The District also points out that it is consistent with the discipline imposed on the two other students who were caught with S.P. in possession of marijuana. The petitioner does not provide any legal basis for finding that the discipline imposed will be overturned on substantive or procedural grounds, and thus, has failed to demonstrate a likelihood of success on the merits.

Finally, in order to obtain emergent relief, the relative equities of each party must be balanced to determine who will suffer greater harm if they do not prevail on the question of emergent relief. The District has a no tolerance to drugs policy and imposed discipline that is consistent with that imposed on all other students. There is no evidence to dispute this claim. The District also argues that imposing discipline which is inconsistent with their policy, and would present problems for all discipline in the future.
Accordingly, I CONCLUDE that the balance of equities argument favors respondent.

CONCLUSION

Based on the foregoing, I CONCLUDE that petitioner has not demonstrated that emergent relief is appropriate in this matter. Petitioner's request is DENIED.

ORDER

Having CONCLUDED that petitioner is not entitled to the requested emergent relief and that the petitioner's request for emergency relief is DENIED, it is ORDERED that the underlying petition in this matter will proceed on a non-emergent track.

This order on application for emergency relief may be adopted, modified or rejected by COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. The final decision shall be issued without undue delay, but no later than forty-five days following the entry of this order. If COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION does not adopt, modify or reject this order within forty-five days, this recommended order shall become a final decision on the issue of emergent relief in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

D.M.T., the parent of A.R.T. (the petitioner), a student at the Cumberland County Technical Education Center (CCTEC) and a resident within the Cumberland County Regional High School District (CRHS), seeks an emergent order compelling the respondent, the Board of Education of the Cumberland County Regional High School District (CRHS), to permit A.R.T. to participate in CRHS's athletic programs effective during the 2016–2017 school year.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On September 8, 2016, the petitioner filed a Petition for Emergent Relief arguing that respondents' decision not to allow A.R.T. and other students to participate in respondents' athletic programs was arbitrary, capricious, and unreasonable. The matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law on September 13, 2016. N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15; N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13.

Letter briefs were filed by each party with supporting certifications. Oral argument was heard on September 21, 2016.[2]

FACTUAL DISCUSSION

Background

CCTEC operates one of the five public high schools in Cumberland County. In September 2016 it began a full-time program consisting of both vocational and academic courses for ninth-graders.[3] Within four years, all of CCTEC's students from ninth through twelfth grade will be full-time students.

[2] The petitioner objected to the submission of respondents' brief on the eve of oral argument and was permitted to file a brief reply on September 21, 2016.

[3] Students in grades ten, eleven and twelve will continue their part-time program until graduation, as the new full-time program is phased in.

CCTEC will not presently be offering an athletic program to its students. The CRHS claimed that no representative from CCTEC contacted their superintendent or principals to meaningfully discuss the possibility of an agreement to allow CCTEC's students to participate in CRHS's athletic programs.

In April 2016 the superintendent of the CRHS district sent a letter to all eighth-grade students stating that if they chose to attend CCTEC, they would be unable to participate in CRHS's athletic programs.

On August 11, 2016, CCTEC filed a Petition for Emergent Relief (docketed as EDU 12252-16) arguing that CRHS's decision to not allow CCTEC's full-time students to participate in CRHS's athletic programs was arbitrary, capricious, and unreasonable. On August 23, 2016, an Order was entered which denied the emergent relief requested and denied students at CCTEC from participating in athletic activities at CRHS. On September 20, 2016, the Commissioner adopted the Order.[4]

Facts

A.R.T. is a ninth grader at CCTEC who resides with her parents in a township in Cumberland County, New Jersey. A.R.T.'s home school is CRHS. CRHS is paying for the cost of tuition and transportation of A.R.T.'s attendance at CCTEC. (Verified Petition at 1.) A.R.T. is a member of the first full-time class at CCTEC. (Petitioner's Brief in Support of Motion for Emergent Relief at 1.)

A.R.T. was admitted to CCTEC and accepted to attend on March 17, 2016. (Id. at 2.) A.R.T. wishes to play high-school sports, specifically, tennis and track. (Id. at 3.) CCTEC does not offer any sports teams. (Id. at 1.) Although it does not have an interscholastic athletics program, CCTEC had advised prospective students that they would be able to participate in sports and extracurricular activities in their "home" districts. (Id. at 3.) However, CCTEC representatives did not initiate discussions with and extracurricular activities at CRHS. (Petitioner's Brief in Support of Motion for Emergent Relief at 4.) Aiello responded on the same day, stating that only CRHS students were permitted to participate in these programs and that A.R.T. would not be able to participate if she was not a student at CRHS. (Ibid.) On July 6, 2016, after receiving an email from A.R.T.'s father requesting a response, Superintendent Price e-mailed A.R.T.'s father stating that A.R.T. would not be able to participate in CRHS's athletic or extracurricular programs and that the decision was because it was not practical or reasonable "due to various issues, including but not limited to unforeseen related costs and logistical difficulties." (Ibid.; Respondent's Brief at 8.)

A.R.T.'s father then filed this Petition appealing the decision of the CRHS district to not allow CCTEC students to participate in CRHS's athletic programs, and also filed this motion for emergent relief, contending that the child would suffer irreparable harm if she were not permitted to participate in CRHS's athletic activities. (Ibid.)

LEGAL ANALYSIS AND CONCLUSION

The petitioner advances several arguments: he contends that this matter is factually distinguishable from EDU 12252-16 because this involves a particular student who wishes to participate in athletics; that the evidence is different because the CRHS district is one of very few districts in the state that does not permit vo-tech students to participate in athletics; and also that the petitioner does not have the individual capability of addressing the issues between the CCTEC and CRHS. He argues that based upon these three distinctions he is entitled to emergent relief, unlike the CCTEC/CRHS decision.

Emergent Relief

Pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6(b), an application for emergent relief shall not be granted unless it satisfies the following four standards:

> 1. The petitioner will suffer irreparable harm if the requested relief is not granted;

2. The legal right underlying petitioner's claim is settled;

3. The petitioner has a likelihood of prevailing on the merits of the underlying claim; and

4. When the equities and interests of the parties are balanced, the petitioner will suffer greater harm than the respondent will suffer if the requested relief is not granted.

[See Crowe v. DeGioia, 90 N.J. 126, 132–34 (1982).]

The petitioner must meet all four criteria to prevail on its motion. See Crowe, supra, 90 N.J. 126; DEC Electric, Inc. v. Bd. of Educ. of the S. Gloucester Cnty. Reg'l High Sch. Dist. and USA Elec. Contractors, Inc., 96 N.J.A.R.2d (EDU) 789, 790 (citing DEC Electric, Inc. v. S. Gloucester Cnty. Reg'l High Sch. Dist. Bd. of Educ. and USA Elec. Contractors, Inc., EDU 10833-95, Order Denying Emergent Relief (Dec. 6, 1995), adopted, Comm'r (Dec. 26, 1995) (denied unsuccessful bidder's request for emergent relief because it was unable to establish that it would suffer immediate and irreparable harm, although it was able to establish a reasonable likelihood of success on the merits and that the parties opposing the motion would not suffer undue harm)). The moving party bears the burden of proving each of the Crowe elements "clearly and convincingly." Waste Mgmt. of N.J. v. Union Cnty. Utils. Auth., 399 N.J. Super. 508, 520 (App. Div. 2008).

Accordingly, each prong of the test must be analyzed and satisfied if emergent relief is to be granted:

1. Whether A.R.T. will suffer irreparable harm if she is not permitted to participate in CRHS's athletic programs.

One of the principles for emergent relief is that relief should only be ordered to prevent irreparable harm to the petitioners. Crowe, supra, 90 N.J. at 132–32. Harm is irreparable when it cannot be addressed with monetary damages. Ibid. This standard contemplates that the harm also be both substantial and immediate. Subcarrier Commc'ns, Inc. v. Day, 299 N.J. Super. 634, 638 (App. Div. 1997).

"In certain circumstances, severe personal inconvenience can constitute irreparable injury justifying issuance of injunctive relief." Crowe, supra, 90 N.J. at 133. "Pecuniary damages may be inadequate because of the nature of the injury or of the right affected." Ibid.

"[T]he Commissioner has repeatedly held that students do not suffer irreparable harm if they are prohibited from participating in extracurricular activity, including sport activities. "S.L. ex rel. A.L. v. Bd. of Educ. of W. Orange, EDU 1729-03 (Mar. 11, 2003), adopted, Comm'r (April 15, 2003), <http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/final/edu1729-03.pdf>; Bd. of Educ. of Trenton v. N.J.S.I.A.A., 91 N.J.A.R.2d (EDU) 158; Elmwood Park Bd. of Educ. v. N.J.S.I.A.A., 94 N.J.A.R.2d (EDU) 106. "Indeed it has been held that participation in an extracurricular activity is not a fundamental right under the federal or state constitution." Ibid.; Camden Co. Bd. of Educ. v. N.J.S.I.A.A., No. A-2802-91T2 (App. Div. 1992). "While the importance of sports cannot be lost on the education process, there is no evidence that irreparable harm will be suffered." Ibid.

In the related matter of Board of Education of the Cumberland County Technical Education Center v. Board of Education of the Cumberland Regional High School District, OAL Dkt. No. EDU 12252-16, Initial Decision (August 23, 2016) adopted, Comm'r (September 20, 2016), the Commissioner adopted the administrative law judge's determination that concluded that vocational-school students do not suffer irreparable harm when a sending school does not allow the vocational-school students to participate in its interscholastic sports.

Here, petitioner claims that A.R.T. will suffer irreparable harm if she is unable to participate in interscholastic sports because she will be deprived of the opportunity for physical exercise, developing relationships with peers, and learning teamwork, problem-solving, and leadership skills. However, as decided in Cumberland County, while participation in sports is important for the educational process, denial of participation does not result in irreparable harm. Thus, petitioner has not satisfied this element.

Petitioner claims that the legal right underlying its claim is well-settled because the Appellate Division stated in Burnside v. N.J.S.I.A.A., No. A-625-84T7 (App. Div. Nov. 15, 1984), certif. denied., 101 N.J. 236 (1985), that "each pupil has a right to the opportunity to participate in interscholastic athletics and other extracurricular activities." Petitioner claims that since Burnside, the courts and the Legislature have determined that interscholastic athletics are integral components to a student's education. N.J.S.A. 18A:11-3.2; Joye v. Hunterdon Cent. Reg'l High Sch. Bd. of Educ., 176 N.J. 568, 645 (2003) (LaVecchia, J., dissenting).

Here, the benefits of interscholastic sports to a student's education are not being disputed. Instead, the question is whether there is a legal right to participation in interscholastic athletics. Petitioner's reliance on Burnside is misplaced. While the court in Burnside stated that "each pupil has a right to the opportunity to participate in interscholastic athletics and other extracurricular activities," it also stated that "participation [in these activities] is subject to eligibility requirements or other preconditions." "Eligibility requirements are within control of the N.J.S.I.A.A. subject to review and approval of the Commissioner of Education."

The NJSIAA Bylaws state, "[i]f a Vocational/Technical High School/Public Academy does not offer the particular sport in which one of its full-time students desires to participate, that student may participate in that sport at his/her sending school upon agreement of both Principals, regardless of the number of sports programs offered at the Vocational/Technical High School/Public Academy. NJSIAA Bylaws, Article V, Section 4(G)(2), CL3 (emphasis added).

Under Burnside, the NJSIAA may impose the precondition of an agreement between the principals of CCTEC and CRHS to determine eligibility of students for interscholastic sports in respondent's school. It is within CRHS's principal's discretion whether to enter into an agreement to allow CCTEC's full-time students to participate in its athletic programs. Thus, the legal right underlying petitioner's claim is not well-settled.

3. Whether A.R.T. is likely to be successful on the merits of her claim.

A.R.T. claims that she is likely to succeed on the merits because the decision to not allow her to participate on CRHS's interscholastic sports teams is arbitrary, capricious, and unreasonable.

Article V, Section 4(G)(2), CL3, of the NJSIAA Bylaws gives the sending school's principal the discretion to permit a full-time county vocational/technical student to participate in interscholastic sports in the sending school if the vocational/technical school does not offer the particular sport. This "discretionary authority must be reasonably exercised based on bona fide, legitimate considerations." G.W.S. ex rel. A.F.S. v. Petrino and Rahway Bd. of Educ., Union Cnty., EDU 09797-99, Final Decision, Comm'r (Nov. 29, 1999), <http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/>.

In Cumberland County, the Commissioner decided that budgetary constraints and the ability to ensure the eligibility of a vocational school's students for interscholastic sports to avoid NJSIAA sanctions were legitimate considerations upon which a decision to deny participation by the vocational school's students could be made. Cumberland Cnty., supra, EDU 12252-16, Comm'r. (September 20, 2016). Because there was no agreement between the principals of the vocational school and the sending school, and because consideration of the budget and NJSIAA sanctions was an exercise of reasonable discretion, the Commissioner concurred that the vocational school was unlikely to be successful on the merits of its claim that its students must be allowed to participate in the sending school's sports program. Ibid.

Here, the Board claims that it is impractical and not reasonable to allow CCTEC students to participate in its athletic programs for various reasons including, but not limited to, costs and logistical difficulties.

Petitioner claims that it will be able to prove that the decision was not based on legitimate considerations but was for the purpose of discouraging students to attend CCTEC to minimize the amount of money the Board would have to pay for the tuition of students attending CCTEC. Petitioner argues that the letter from Superintendent Price shows this purpose because the letter was sent to students after they had accepted attendance at CCTEC; it was addressed to students rather than the parents; and it told these students that they would not be able to participate in CRHS's athletic programs if they attended CCTEC.

During argument, petitioner's attorney also argued that CRHS's decision was arbitrary because CCTEC would provide busing for A.R.T., and CCTEC could designate an officer to gather A.R.T.'s medical and disciplinary information and relay that information to CRHS. However, these terms are not outlined by any formal agreement between the schools. Under NJSIAA Bylaws, Article V, Section 4(G)(2), CL3, an agreement between the principals of CCTEC and CRHS is required to allow students from CCTEC to participate in CRHS's athletic programs. The few terms discussed by petitioner's attorney highlight the need for discussions to commence between CCTEC and CHRS so an agreement can be reached.[6]

Petitioner has not established that she is substantially likely to succeed on the merits of her claim. While petitioner discussed the substance of the letter notifying students that they will not be able to participate in CRHS's athletic programs, she does not offer evidence to refute the Board's claim that the decision to deny participation was based on costs and logistical difficulties. As in Cumberland County, these appear to be legitimate considerations that must be addressed before an agreement to allow CCTEC students to participate in CRHS's athletic programs can be reached.

Because there was no agreement between CCTEC's and CRHS's principals, and because CRHS's principal is reasonably exercising discretionary authority, petitioner is not likely to be successful on the merits.

[6] According to respondent, a meeting has been scheduled for October 4, 2016, between CCTEC and CRHS, to begin discussions about permitting CCTEC students to participate in CRHS athletic activities.

4. Whether A.R.T. will suffer greater harm than the Board if she is not permitted to participate in CRHS's athletic programs.

A.R.T. claims that she will suffer greater harm if the requested relief is not granted because she will suffer irreparable harm, and the Board's harm is merely the cost of an additional uniform.

As discussed above, students do not suffer irreparable harm if they are prohibited from participating in extracurricular activities, including sport activities. Further, the Board's cost likely far exceeds the cost of a uniform. If students from CCTEC were permitted to participate in CRHS's athletic programs, CRHS will likely be forced to incur more administrative costs and may be vulnerable to penalties from the NJSIAA. Therefore, it is likely that the balance of interests tips in favor of the Board. Accordingly, A.R.T. has not shown that she will suffer greater harm if her requested relief is not granted.

CONCLUSION

Petitioner has not satisfied the four prongs required to obtain emergent relief. He has not shown that his daughter will suffer irreparable harm, that the legal right underlying his claim is well-settled, that he is likely to be successful on the merits, or that the child will suffer greater harm than respondents if the requested relief is not granted. The petitioner has also not demonstrated that the determination of the CRHS was arbitrary or capricious.

ORDER

The petitioner's application for emergent relief is DENIED.

The matter shall be scheduled for a telephone conference so that a hearing date may be set.

This order on application for emergency relief may be adopted, modified or rejected by THE COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. The record of this matter, the proposed settlement agreement and general release, and Initial Decision issued by the Office of Administrative Law pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1, have been reviewed – mindful of the Commissioner's August 3, 2016 determination that the prior settlement agreement did not comply with N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.13 as it was neither signed by the Board attorney, nor contained a copy of the Board's resolution approving the settlement and designating the Superintendent to sign the agreement on its behalf. Since the settlement agreement now contains the signature of the Board attorney, the Commissioner can approve the within settlement agreement in its present form.

Accordingly, the Commissioner approves the settlement terms and adopts the Initial Decision as the final decision in this matter. The case is hereby dismissed, subject to compliance with the terms of the settlement.

Re: In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Sabino Valdes, Board of Education of the City of Union, Hudson County, Agency Dkt. No.328-9/00.

Dear Parties:

I have reviewed the materials filed in connection with Sabino Valdes' motion to reopen the tenure charges filed against him by the Union City Board of Education (Board).[1] It is well established that administrative agencies have an inherent authority to reconsider, reopen or revise a prior decision made by the agency. A motion to reopen, however, will only be granted when good cause is shown and the motion is made with reasonable diligence. See, Duvin v. State of New Jersey, Dep't of the Treasury, Public Employees' Retirement System, 76 N.J. 203, 207 (1978).

Upon review and consideration of the parties' submissions, I find that Mr. Valdes has not satisfied the requirements necessary to reopen the tenure charges filed against him by the Board. First, Mr. Valdes' motion to reopen was not made with reasonable diligence. The motion to reopen was filed 12 years after the State Board of Education's August 4, 2004 decision affirming the decision of the Commissioner removing Mr. Valdes from his tenured employment with the District for insubordination and unbecoming conduct.

Despite his endless assertions to the contrary, Mr. Valdes has not provided any new evidence nor has he alleged the existence of any new information that was not previously argued throughout the litigation of this matter. Among a myriad of other things, Mr. Valdes argues that [1] This is the second motion to reopen the tenure charges that has been filed by Mr. Valdes. In a decision dated June 14, 2014, the Commissioner denied Mr. Valdes' first motion to reopen the tenure charges.

– since the Board did not certify the tenure charges within the 45-days that is required by N.J.S.A. 18A:6-13 – the charges filed against him should be dismissed. Additionally, Mr. Valdes contends that the adoption of N.J.A.C. 6A:3-5.1(b)4 and N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.16 on April 3, 2000 nullifies the tenure charges certified against him on September 13, 2000.[2] The arguments raised by Mr. Valdes in his current motion do not amount to new evidence or information that would suggest a need to revisit the tenure charges filed against him in 2000. In fact, Mr. Valdes has already had the opportunity to raise his 45-day defense before various tribunals in connection with these charges. Therefore, it is unequivocal that no good cause has been shown to compel the reopening of this case after more than a decade.

Accordingly, the motion to reopen the tenure charges filed against Mr. Valdes by the Union City Board of Education is hereby DENIED.[3]

Sincerely,

Kimberley Harrington

[2] The provision in N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.16 upon which Mr. Valdes relies is nothing more than a recitation of the legal principle – true long before April 2000 – that an agency head may not relax a statutorily imposed timeframe.

DECISION

SYNOPSIS

Petitioner filed a pro se residency appeal on behalf of her children in January 2016, seeking a determination that F.S., T.S., and K.S. were entitled to a free public education in South Orange-Maplewood Schools. The matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law as a contested case, and hearings were scheduled and conducted. Prior to the last hearing date, a telephone conference was conducted wherein the petitioner advised that she had moved out of the district and wished to withdraw her appeal. The respondent Board's counsel submitted a letter stating that the Board would withdraw its counterclaim seeking tuition. Petitioner, to date, has not submitted a letter withdrawing her request for a hearing, despite being directed by the ALJ to do so.

The ALJ concluded that this matter is no longer a contested case before the Office of Administrative Law. Accordingly, the ALJ issued an Initial Decision in which she ordered the matter dismissed.

Upon review of the record in this matter, the Commissioner concurred with the ALJ conclusion and adopted the Initial Decision as the final decision in this matter for the reasons expressed therein. Accordingly, the petition was dismissed.

This synopsis is not part of the Commissioner's decision. It has been prepared for the convenience of the reader. It has been neither reviewed nor approved by the Commissioner.

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Petitioner, M.M., challenges the South Orange-Maplewood School District (Board) residency determination. The Board filed a counterclaim seeking tuition. The matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law on February 18, 2016 as a contested case. Hearings were scheduled and conducted, the last one being September 8, 2016. Prior to the September hearing date a telephone conference was conducted wherein petitioner advised that she moved out of the District and wished to withdraw her hearing request. Respondent's counsel stated that the Board would withdraw their counterclaim seeking tuition. The parties were directed to submit a letter withdrawing their requests for hearing. Respondent's counsel submitted a letter stating same, which is attached hereto for reference. My secretary made several attempts to contact petitioner regarding her letter. Petitioner advised that she was out of state at the time of the conference but she is now in New Jersey and will submit the letter via fax. To date, petitioner has not submitted a letter withdrawing her request for a hearing.

CONCLUSION AND ORDER

I CONCLUDE that this matter is no longer a contested case before the Office of Administrative Law. It is therefore ORDERED that this matter be and is hereby DISMISSED.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

SYNOPSIS

Petitioner – a tenured teacher employed in respondent's school district – filed an appeal alleging that a statement placed on the respondent Board's website, following an Appellate Division decision that reinstated petitioner to his teaching position, was factually inaccurate, misleading and defamatory. The website statement expressed the Board's concern that it was required "to put back in to the classroom a teaching staff member found guilty of utilizing his school district computer and school district email account to engage in conduct of a highly inappropriate nature, including sending and receiving nude photographs and soliciting sexual liaisons and services." The petitioner sought an order declaring that all of the named respondents engaged in conduct unbecoming when they approved and posted the website statement; petitioner further sought to have the respondents removed from their positions. The Board filed a motion to dismiss on the grounds that petitioner alleged no violations of the school laws, and the matter is therefore not within the jurisdiction of the Commissioner of Education.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: petitioner sought an order declaring that members of the Board and administrators in the school district engaged in unbecoming conduct for their role in posting what petitioner contended was a willful and malicious statement on the district's website; even if petitioner's contention was factually accurate, it does not create a cause of action under New Jersey school laws against the Board and/or its administrators; any action to remove school administrators must be brought under the tenure provisions of N.J.S.A. 18A:6-10; any action against individual school board members should be brought before the School Ethics Commission pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:12-21 et seq.; and any action alleging a willful and malicious interference with petitioner's employment, and/or a claim for defamation – including a claim for damages – must be brought in the Superior Court. The ALJ concluded that there is not cause of action that falls under the school laws in this matter. Accordingly, the Board's motion to dismiss was granted.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurred with the ALJ's determination that the within petition must be dismissed for lack of jurisdiction. In so finding, the Commissioner noted that – while N.J.S.A. 18A:6-9 grants the Commissioner jurisdiction to hear and decide controversies arising under the school laws – the Commissioner's jurisdiction does not extend to all matters involving school personnel, nor does N.J.S.A. 18A:6-9 authorize the Commissioner to ignore the requirements contained in the school law statutes. Accordingly, the Initial Decision was adopted as the final decision in this matter, and the petition was dismissed.

| RESPONDENT. | : | |

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed, as have the exceptions filed pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4 by the petitioner, Glenn Ciripompa, and the Board of Education's reply thereto. This matter stems from a statement that was placed on the Board's website following an Appellate Division decision that reinstated the petitioner to his teaching position. The statement expressed the Board's concern that it was required "to put back in to the classroom a teaching staff member found guilty of utilizing his school district computer and school district email account to engage in conduct of a highly inappropriate nature, including sending and receiving nude photographs and soliciting sexual liaisons and services."[1] The petitioner seeks an Order declaring that all individuals responsible for the website posting – including various Board members and school personnel – engaged in unbecoming conduct contrary to their individual and collective responsibilities as required under Title 18A of the New Jersey Statutes. The Administrative Law Judge found that the Commissioner's jurisdiction is limited to matters falling under the school laws and, even if the alleged facts are true, there is no cause of action under the school laws. As a result, the ALJ granted the Board's motion to dismiss the petition for lack of jurisdiction.

[1] The full statement was included in the Initial Decision and will not be restated here.

In his exceptions, the petitioner maintains that the reasoning outlined in the Initial Decision improperly limits the Commissioner's authority in the context of remedies available to the petitioner. The petitioner emphasizes that the petition does not seek to merely remove the respondents from their positions, but rather seeks broader relief in the form of an Order declaring that the respondents have engaged in unbecoming conduct pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A. Instead of submitting to the Commissioner's primary jurisdiction, the Initial Decision wrongfully suggests that the petitioner seek relief from multiple, non-primary sources. Therefore, the petitioner contends that the Initial Decision should be rejected and the matter should proceed at the OAL.

In reply the Board contends that the arguments raised by the petitioner are essentially the same arguments made in his opposition to the Board's motion to dismiss. Despite the fact that the petitioner alleges that school laws have been violated, the petitioner points to no specific violation of any statute. Additionally, the cases relied upon by the petitioner in his exceptions and before the ALJ are wholly inapposite to the within situation. Under the circumstances, the ALJ correctly held that the petitioner has failed to state a cause of action under the school laws, and the petition of appeal was appropriately dismissed.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurs with the ALJ's determination – for the reasons stated in the Initial Decision – that the petition of appeal must be dismissed for lack of jurisdiction. Under N.J.S.A. 18A:6-9, the Commissioner has jurisdiction to hear and decide controversies arising under the school laws. However, that jurisdiction does not extend to all matters involving school personnel. Bd. of Educ. v. Twp. Council of E. Brunswick, 48 N.J. 94, 102 (1966) ("Where the controversy does not arise under the school laws, it is outside the Commissioner's jurisdiction even though it may pertain to school personnel"). Furthermore, N.J.S.A. 18A:6-9 does not authorize the Commissioner to make declarations without conforming to the requirements contained in the school law statutes. For instance, a potential charge of unbecoming conduct against a tenured employee must be filed by the board of education and proceed under the applicable statutory and regulatory provisions; the Commissioner may not simply declare that an employee has engaged in unbecoming conduct. See, N.J.S.A. 18A:6-10 and N.J.A.C. 6A:3-5. Likewise, in order to allege a violation of the School Ethics Act against a school board member, a complaint must be filed with the School Ethics Commission in accordance with N.J.S.A. 18A:12-29. Finally, the Commissioner is not persuaded that the exceptions submitted by the petitioner dictate a different result, as the arguments advanced therein were considered and fully addressed by the ALJ in the Initial Decision. Accordingly, the Initial Decision is adopted as the final decision in this matter and the petition of appeal is hereby dismissed.

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Petitioner, Glen Ciripompa filed a verified petition on November 24, 2015, seeking to have the respondents found to have engaged in conduct unbecoming, conduct contrary to their collective responsibilities under Title 18A, and seeking to have them all removed from their public positions. The respondents filed a Motion to Dismiss in lieu of an answer on December 14, 2015. The Director of the Bureau of Controversies and Disputes of the New Jersey Department of Education transmitted the matter to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), where it was filed for hearing as a contested case on December 21, 2015. N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15; N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13. Petitioner filed opposition to the Motion to Dismiss on May 27, 2016, and respondents filed a reply brief on June 15, 2015.

FACTUAL BACKGROUND

The petitioner Glenn Ciripompa is a tenured teacher in the School District of the Borough of Bound Brook (the Board). On or about July 14, 2015, the Board certified tenure charges against petitioner pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-10, seeking his removal for charges of unbecoming conduct. On October 20, 2014, an arbitration award was issued in the matter. The arbitrator determined that the Board had proven the charges of improper use of the Board-provided laptop and iPad to send and receive sexually explicit emails and nude photographs of women and of himself via the internet in violation of the Board computer and internet use policy. The second charge of inappropriate behavior towards female staff member was not sustained. The arbitrator imposed a 120 day suspension without pay. The Board filed an action in Superior Court, Chancery Division challenging the arbitrator's award, and on January 8, 2015, the Chancery Court vacated the award and remanded the matter for a new hearing. The petitioner appealed and the Appellant Division reversed the Chancery Division decision and reinstated the arbitration penalty of 120 day suspension.

Following the decision by the Appellate Division, the District[1] posted the following statement on its web site:

> The Bound Brook School District is extremely disappointed with the decision of the Appellate Division to reverse the well-reasoned decision of [1] Although the Board of Education was named in the within action, there is no allegation that the Board of Education considered and/or approved of the subject posting either formally or informally.

> Judge Coleman and, thereby, reinstate the Arbitrator's ruling which will require the Board to put back in to the classroom a teaching staff member found guilty of utilizing his school district computer and school district e-mail account to engage in conduct of a highly inappropriate nature, including sending and receiving nude photographs and soliciting sexual liaisons and services. The District is particularly disturbed the Appellate Court's apparent minimization of the seriousness of a staff member's inappropriate conduct and behavior towards co-workers. The District believes that by this decision, the Appellate Court has sent a very clear message that engaging in inappropriate conduct and behavior towards one's co-workers, even in the presence of students, does not provide a basis for the discipline of a teacher. The District can only hope that the tenure laws will be reviewed and revised to make sure that teachers who engage in such irresponsible and inappropriate behavior can be removed, and will not be reinstated by Arbitrators who can apparently act without any accountability to the public. The District and the Board of Education will consider all available options and will take every step possible to protect the students and staff of the District from employees who engage in the type of behavior demonstrated in this matter.

Based on the foregoing entry on the Board's website[2], the within petition was filed alleging that the statement was factually inaccurate, misleading, and defamatory. The petitioner alleges that it was a willful and malicious statement made with the intent to interfere with petitioner's quiet enjoyment of his job. The petitioner seeks an order declaring the conduct of all the named respondents unbecoming and having them all removed from their positions. The petitioner maintains that the Commissioner of Education has jurisdiction to hear disputes concerning these actions, and it is incumbent on the Commissioner of Education to intervene.

The respondent has filed a motion seeking to dismiss on the grounds that the petition has failed to set forth a legal basis for which relief can be granted under the Educational Laws of the State of New Jersey. The respondents claim that the petitioner is seeking an advisory opinion that this tribunal is not authorized to issue. Respondent further argues that the petitioner has not alleged any violations of the school laws and that there is no claim for relief under the jurisdiction of the Commission of Education.

[2] The undersigned has been advised that the entry has been removed from the District website.

LEGAL ANALYSIS

The issue presented here is whether the respondent is entitled to a decision dismissing the petition as a matter of law. The respondent has filed a motion to decision pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.10 which provides: "at any time prior to transmittal of the pleading to the OAL, in the Commissioner's discretion or upon motion to dismiss filed in lieu of answer, the Commissioner may dismiss the petitioner on the grounds that the petitioner has advanced no cause of action even if the petitioner's factual allegations are accepted as true or for lack of jurisdiction for failure to prosecute or other good reason." The motion was filed with the Department of Education and has been transmitted here for consideration. The basis of the motion is that the petitioner has alleged no claim under the education laws of the state of New Jersey and thus, the undersigned has no jurisdiction to hear the matter.

The first allegation in the verified petition is that the statement on the District's website regarding the petitioner's tenure matter is a willful and knowingly malicious misstatement of the facts. Petitioner therefore, seeks an order declaring and adjudging that all the school board members and the administrators in the District have engaged in unbecoming conduct, and further seeks their removal. Even assuming that the statement is factually inaccurate, it does not create a cause of action under School Law against the Board and/or administrators. An action to remove the administrators must be brought under the tenure provisions of Title 18A:6-10. Moreover, an action against the individual school board members should be brought before the School Ethics Commission pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:12-21 et seq. Finally, an action for a willful and malicious interference with petitioner's employment and or a claim for defamation, including a claim for damages, must be brought in the Superior Court.

The undersigned's jurisdiction is limited to those matters falling under the Education Laws in the State of New Jersey, and even assuming all facts alleged as true, I FIND no cause of action under the Education Laws in the State of New Jersey. Accordingly, the respondent's motion to dismiss pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.10 is hereby granted.

ORDER

It is ORDERED that the Motion to Dismiss is hereby GRANTED and the petition is DISMISSED.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Dear Parties,

I have reviewed the record in the contested case entitled *In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Lisa Crowe, State-Operated School District of the City of Camden, Camden County, Agency Dkt. In light of this information, I find that no purpose would be served by further proceedings in this matter.

Accordingly, I approve the dismissal of the tenure charges with prejudice, and dismiss the matter as a contested case before me.

SYNOPSIS

Petitioner filed an appeal challenging the Board of Examiners' determination to deny her application for a Certificate of Eligibility with Advanced Standing (CEAS) in the State of New Jersey, on the basis of her failure to meet the grade point average (GPA) requirement pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-8.1(a)(2)(i) (2015). This regulation went into effect on September 1, 2014, and the GPA requirement is currently codified at N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-8.2(c)(1). Petitioner asserted that she did meet the licensure requirements for the CEAS as published on the Department's website and as represented to her by Board employees. The Board of Examiners (Board) filed a motion to dismiss, contending that the regulations clearly outline the GPA requirement, which cannot be waived.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: the articulated standard of review for the within controversy is whether the Board's ruling was reasonable, or whether it was arbitrary, capricious, an abuse of discretion, or otherwise not in accordance with the law; the statute governing the Board's decision herein is clear, and states that the Board of Examiners shall not "waive any test, GPA, degree completion, or approved educator preparation program completion requirements"; petitioner's GPA of 2.54 falls below the minimum GPA requirement for certification of 2.75; and petitioner failed to exercise her option to supplement the GPA requirement by submitting a Praxis test score of passing plus ten percent, as permitted by regulation. The ALJ concluded that the petitioner failed to meet her burden to prove that the Board's determination to deny her application for a CEAS was arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable. Accordingly, the ALJ granted respondent's motion to dismiss the petition.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurred with the ALJ's findings and conclusion. Accordingly, the Initial Decision of the OAL was adopted as the final decision in this matter. The petition was dismissed.

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed. The parties did not file exceptions.

Upon such review, the Commissioner agrees with the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) that the New Jersey State Board of Examiners (Board) did not act in an arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable manner when it denied petitioner's application for a Certificate of Eligibility with Advanced Standing (CEAS) for failing to meet the grade point average (GPA) requirement. The regulation at the time of petitioner's application required that applicants for a CEAS who graduated before September 1, 2016 achieve a cumulative GPA of at least 2.75, and petitioner's 2.54 GPA fell short of this requirement. N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-8.1(a)(2)(i) (2015).[1] Further, the Commissioner is in accord with the ALJ that the Board did not have authority to waive the GPA requirements for certification. See N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-4.16(b) (2015)[2] (stating that [1] This regulation went into effect on September 1, 2014. Currently, this requirement is codified at N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-8.2(c)(1).

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Petitioner submitted an application for a Certificate of Eligibility with Advanced Standing (CEAS) in the State of New Jersey. On or about July 1, 2015, the New Jersey State Board of Examiners informed Petitioner that she did not meet the eligible grade point average (GPA) requirement. On or about February 1, 2016, Petitioner appealed this decision to the Commissioner of Education, Bureau of Controversies and Disputes.

On or about March 21, 2016, the Board of Examiners requested a sixty-day extension of time to answer the petitioner or to otherwise respond to the appeal. On or about May 19, 2016, the Board of Examiners filed a Motion to Dismiss in Lieu of Answer.

On May 23, 2016, the Commissioner of Education transmitted this matter to the Office of Administrative Law on May 23, 2016, for hearing as a contested case pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13. On or about July 13, 2016, Petitioner filed a reply to the Motion to Dismiss. On or about August 1, 2016, Respondent filed a reply in support of the Motion to Dismiss and the record closed.

STATEMENT OF FACTS

Petitioner, Nicole Flynn, was issued a Florida PreK-3 and K-6 Certification through an online graduate program called TeacherReady. Before enrolling in the program, she spoke by phone and e-mail to representatives of the New Jersey Department of Education (NJDOE) to confirm her eligibility for receiving a reciprocal CEAS in New Jersey through the Florida Certificate, despite her 2.54 GPA. Each representative confirmed her eligibility. She consulted with the representatives again after the receipt of the Florida Certification and reviewed the New Jersey Teacher Certification Information System. The online manual reflected the same assertions, and stated that a 2.50 GPA for candidates graduating prior to September 1, 2004, is sufficient to meet the requirement.

On or about June 11, 2015, Petitioner submitted her application for Teacher of Preschool through Grade 3 and Teacher of Elementary Certificates of Eligibility with Advanced Standing. On July 1, 2015, she was informed by mail that she did not meet the required GPA of 2.75 standards for certification and was denied. In fact, despite what she was told, the required GPA for candidates for certification graduating before September 1, 2016, was changed to 2.75 as mandated by N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-8.1(a)(2)(i). Ms. Flynn then appealed this decision to Respondent State Board of Examiners. The Petitioner's appeal was denied by the Board on October 30, 2015. Specifically, the decision read as follows:

> The regulations governing eligibility for certification are clear and are carried out with consistency and objectivity. The Board cannot waive the GPA requirement despite a misunderstanding regarding disseminated information. N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-4.16(b). The regulations are unambiguous in this regard. Under no circumstances may the Board waive any test, GPA, or degree requirements for certification. N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-4.16(b).

Ms. Flynn sent a petition challenging the decision of the Board of Examiners' denial on January 25, 2016, to the Commissioner of Education. The Board of Examiners submitted a Notice of Motion to Dismiss in Lieu of Answer on May 19, 2016.

Parties' Arguments

Petitioner

Petitioner argues that she did, in fact, meet the licensure requirements for the Certificate of Eligibility for Advanced Standing as published by the NJDOE. Furthermore, she argues that the Board did not properly evaluate the evidence provided in the initial appeal, and should use its discretion to grant the applied for certificate. She followed the guidelines and the published procedures using the proper channels of The Department's recommendation. She asserts that it is the Board's responsibility to keep the standards that it publishes up to date and current. It would be unfair to expect the average user to be aware of every change to the website.

Petitioner asserts that as a direct result of relying on the representations of both Board employees and its website, she was misled and expended time and financial resources to her detriment. Petitioner argues that, while the Board cites that the eligibility regulations are clear and are carried out with "consistency and objectivity," that should not be an excuse for erroneous communications or misrepresentations. Petitioner claims that the Board has the ability and authority to determine that she is entitled to the certificate when the denial is due to its error.

Respondent

Respondent argues that Petitioner has failed to advance a cause of action, and the Petition of Appeal should be dismissed. Petitioner was clearly advised that the Board does not "waive requirements." It instead is responsible for determining if Petitioner fulfilled the requirements and should therefore receive equitable consideration. Accordingly, in its written decision, the Board determined that the guidelines are very clear pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-4.16(b). The statute states that under no circumstances may the Board waive any GPA or degree requirements for certification. The regulation change regarding the minimum GPA requirements was listed in several locations on the Department's website, as well as on other public forums.

Respondent relies on Walder v. N.J. State Board of Examiners, Agency Dkt. No. 124-5/14, Commissioner (December 29, 2014), http://www.nj.gov.education/legal/commissioner/2014/, which states that the Board's denial of a request to issue a certificate will not be disturbed so long as the decision "is consistent with the applicable statutory and regulatory provisions." It is undisputed that the Petitioner has an undergraduate GPA of 2.54, falling below the GPA requirement of 2.75 as set forth in N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-8.1(a)(2)(i), which was in affect at the time of her application. Since the regulatory requirement was not met, this falls well within the applicable statutory and regulatory provisions. The board is not permitted to waive this requirement.

Additionally, the Board foresaw possible implications with the change in GPA requirement. In a willingness to accommodate, those applicants who have a minimum GPA of 2.5 and have a "passing plus ten percent score" on the appropriate content-area Praxis examination will automatically meet the requirements for certification. Petitioner also could have taken a teacher preparation program that awarded grades, unlike the program that she enrolled in. Petitioner took none of these steps.

LEGAL ANALYSIS AND DISCUSSION

Petitioner argues that the main issue is whether the regulations for certification eligibility were "clear and carried out with consistency and objectivity." However, in most decisions where the Commissioner has reviewed determinations by a governing board, the articulated standard of review has been an assessment of whether the Board's ruling was reasonable, or whether it was "arbitrary, capricious, an abuse of discretion, or otherwise not in accordance with law." In re Proposed Quest Acad. Charter Sch. of Montclair Founders Gr., 216 N.J. 370, 385 (2013). This will result in three inquiries:

> (1) whether the agency's action violates expressed or implied legislative policies, that is, did the agency follow the law; (2) whether the record contains substantial evidence to support the findings on which the agency based its action; and (3) whether in applying legislative policies to the facts, the agency clearly erred in reaching a conclusion that could not reasonably have been made on a showing of the relevant factors.

In In re Proposed Quest Academy Charter School, the Court upheld the denial of a certification as a charter school. Id. at 390. There, the statutory and regulatory program requirements provided no guidance to the Commissioner on how to assess the application. Id. at 377. Petitioner applicant argued that the Commissioner's denial should be supported by "substantial credible evidence." Id. at 382. However, the Court instead articulated the "arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable" standard for reviewing administrative agency decisions. Id. at 385. The Commissioner used her administrative expertise and commentary from the Superintendent of Montclair Public Schools in weighing her decision to deny the certification. Id. at 389. In light of this sound reasoning, the court found her decision satisfied the "deferential" arbitrary and capricious standard. Id. at 385-89.

In the present case, the statute governing the Board of Examiners' decision is quite clear. "[t]he Board of Examiners shall not: 1. [w]aive any test, GPA, degree completion, or approved educator preparation program completion requirements."

N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-4.12(c)(1). With a GPA of 2.54, Petitioner falls below the minimum GPA requirement for certification of 2.75. See N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-8.1(a)(2)(i). Furthermore, Petitioner failed to exercise her option to supplement the GPA requirement by submitting a praxis score of passing plus ten percent. N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-8.2(c). In light of all these facts, despite a showing of unfortunate miscommunications between Petitioner and the NJDOE, the record does not show that Respondent carried out its decision in any way to violate the "arbitrary and capricious" standard. The Board followed codified standards to reach its decision.

Petitioner may have a claim for equitable fraud. In general, equitable fraud requires proof of (1) a material misrepresentation of a presently existing or past fact; (2) the maker's intent that the other party rely on it; and (3) detrimental reliance by the other party." Jewish Center of Sussex Cty v. Whale, 86 N.J. 619, 624 (1981). Additionally, "[e]ven an innocent misrepresentation can constitute equitable fraud justifying rescission." Ledley v. William Penn Life Ins. Co., 138 N.J. 627, 635 (1995).

In the present case, Petitioner has offered evidence that supports the three elements of equitable fraud. A misrepresentation was made on the NJDOE website stating that the required cumulative grade point average for candidates graduating prior to 2004 was "at least 2.50." Petitioner provided email correspondence from individuals at the NJDOE that a GPA of 2.50 satisfies an eligibility requirement. Finally, Petitioner relied on those representations to her detriment by incurring the cost of the online teaching program, and ultimately being denied the NJ certificate.

CONCLUSION

Although Petitioner may have a separate claim for equitable fraud, the Board of Examiners did not err in its decision to deny her application for a Certificate of Eligibility with Advanced Standing in the State of New Jersey. Although the guidelines may have been listed and dictated in a "haphazard fashion," N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-4.12(c)(1) clearly states that the Board of Examiners shall not waive on GPA requirements for certification.

For the foregoing reasons I CONCLUDE that Petition did not meet her burden of proof that Respondent's decision to decision to deny her application was arbitrary, capricious, an abuse of discretion, or otherwise not in accordance with law.

| BEVERLY CITY BOARD OF EDUCATION | : | COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION |
| BURLINGTON COUNTY. | : | DECISION |
| | : | |

The Commissioner has reviewed the record of this matter and the decision of the School Ethics Commission – finding that respondent violated the School Ethics Act for failure to timely file his Personal/Relative and Financial Disclosure statements in accordance with N.J.S.A. 18A:12-25 and 26. The Commission's decision was forwarded, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:12-29, for the Commissioner's final determination on the recommended penalty. The Commission advises that the respondent ultimately filed disclosure statements after the issuance of its July 26, 2016 Order to Show Cause, but prior to the Commission's August 23, 2016 meeting; the Commission, therefore, recommends a penalty of reprimand. Respondent has neither filed exceptions to the recommended penalty nor instituted an appeal, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:4, of the Commission's underlying finding of violation.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurs with the penalty recommended by the Commission in consequence of respondent's failure to timely honor an obligation placed upon school board members by law. Additionally, respondent is admonished for causing the unnecessary expenditure of administrative and adjudicative resources at both State and local levels.

Accordingly, respondent is hereby reprimanded as a school official found to have violated the School Ethics Act.

FOR THE RESPONDENT:

James J. Uliano, Chamlin Rosen Uliano & Witherington

BACKGROUND

This dispute concerns a charge of unbecoming conduct, dated July 6, 2016.[1] It was brought against tenured teacher Robert Klein under Section 25 of the Teacher Effectiveness and Accountability for the Children of New Jersey Act ("TEACHNJ"), N.J.S.A. 18A:6-17.3. The charge[2] reads as follows:

> I, Joseph Isola, of full age and capacity, having been duly sworn, depose and say as follows:
> 1. I am the Superintendent of Schools of the Howell Township Board of Education, which has administrative offices at 200 Squankum/Yellowbrook Road, Howell, New Jersey, 07731. I am fully familiar with the facts and circumstances surrounding this matter and have personally reviewed the evidence in support of the accompanying charges against Robert Klein, a tenured teacher employed by the Howell Township Board of Education ("HTBOE").

2. Robert Klein is a physical education and health teacher at Middle School South. He has been employed by the HTBOE since January 5, 1998.

2. I hereby file tenure charges against Robert Klein for conduct unbecoming a teacher in accordance with N.J.S.A. 18A:6-11 and N.J.A.C. 6A:3-5.1 et

3. The Charges stated herein are based upon my personal knowledge, information and belief derived from personnel and other files and records maintained by the HTBOE, and information imparted to me and staff members by internet websites, social media sources and news organizations.

CHARGE: CONDUCT UNBECOMING A TEACHER

While attending the 2015 New Jersey Education Association Conference in Atlantic City in November 2015, Robert Klein invited undercover journalists up to his room at the Borgata Hotel and was filmed (a) offering cocaine to the undercover journalists, (b) describing how he keeps cocaine in his home, (c) describing how he avoids being caught with drugs and (d) describing how his job as a teacher, which requires him to work with the local police department and tutor students on the dangers of drugs, taught him how to avoid getting caught with drugs. In the 8.38 minute video, Mr. Klein is filmed making the following statements:

"If you want blow you can have a bump. You can have whatever you want"

"Dude, if you want some I'll give you a taste, don't be embarrassed:"

"Have some."

"You come to my home at night, you come to my room now. I have booze, I have water, I have blow at the house, whatever it is, whatever anybody wants, I have it there, " "and I don't mind having it here"

"Yes I'm a good host and I have this s at my house when you come. "

"Like I work with the police in the school district with the drug dogs and they teach us, and they teach our kids how the drug dogs sniff out drugs"

"We're not putting drugs in my car. Blow — different. You put it in your pocket, it's nothing."

"Blow, people mix it with different things so it has different scents."

On or about June 15, 2016 the video of Mr. Klein speaking about his drug use was posted on multiple news and social media sites worldwide on the internet. The following is list of some of the many websites where the video and/or print news stories about the video may be found:

www.njschoolchoice.com
www.nbcnewyork.corn www.abcnewyork.corn
http://newyork.cbslocal.corn

Each of these sites is accessible by student and parents and in the case of YouTube.com was viewed more than 13,000 times.

In addition to the posting of the video on numerous internet sites, the video was the subject of several news articles, such as the article posted on the website of the Daily Mail under the headline "Middle School health teacher caught on hidden camera offering cocaine to undercover reporters and boasting his job had taught him how to avoid getting caught".

Teachers serve as role models for their students. Mr. Klein's statements and admissions concerning his drug use and its involvement with his duties as a health teacher in the school district falls well below the "role model" status expected of teachers. The statements and admissions by Mr. Klein violate Board Policy 3150 "Discipline" and Board Policy 3281 "Inappropriate Staff Conduct" and constitute conduct unbecoming a teacher.

[Joint Exhibit 1]

The charge was accompanied by a statement of evidence, dated the same day:

[Joint Exhibit 3]

The charges, statement of evidence, and exhibits were served on the teacher and his attorney on July 7, 2016. The teacher was advised of "his right to submit a written statement of position and evidence within 15 days."

On August 24, 2016, the board of education determined in closed executive session "that there was probable cause to credit the evidence" against the teacher. The teacher was notified of the district's intent to a certify tenure charges with the Commissioner of Education. The charge and supporting material were filed with the Commissioner on August 26 [Joint Exhibit 3].

On September 22, 2016, the parties were notified by the Director of the Bureau of Controversies and Disputes that > following receipt of respondent's answer on September 12, 2016, the...charges have been reviewed and deemed sufficient, if true, to warrant dismissal or reduction in salary, subject to determination by the arbitrator of respondent's defenses and any motions which may be filed with the arbitrator. The arbitrator shall review those charges brought pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-16—which are not dismissed as the result of a motion—under the preponderance of the evidence standard.

> Accordingly, on this date, the charges are being referred to Arbitrator Tia Schneider Denenberg pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-16 as amended by P.L. 2012, c. 26 and P.L. 2015, c. 109.

The arbitrator conducted a conference call with the parties on September 16, 2016, to discuss scheduling and other preliminary matters. Hearings were scheduled for November 10 and November 11, 2016. On October 12, the arbitrator was granted an extension by the Director of the Bureau of Controversies and Disputes until December 27 to conduct the hearing.

On November 1, during another conference call, the parties informed the arbitrator that they had reached a settlement. It was agreed to conduct a hearing on November 11, 2016, with the arbitrator presiding by speaker phone. The sole witness was the respondent, who testified under oath. The record was transcribed.

In order to ensure that the teacher understood and agreed with the terms of the settlement, he was questioned on the record by his counsel:

Q. Mr. Klein, I have in front of you? Something that we've identified as Exhibit 5, it is a Stipulation of Settlement. Have you had an opportunity to review this document?
A. Yes.
Q. You understand what we are doing here today?
A. Yes.
Q. So, the purpose of today is that you have had an opportunity to review the Stipulation of Settlement, we have gone over it together and it is something that you are willing to do to resolve this case, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. Now, you are aware that, under the law, to discharge you from the employment the District has an affirmative duty to prove their case. Are you aware of that?
A. Yes.
Q. And you are aware that you had an opportunity to answer the charges, present witnesses and, ultimately, the arbitrator would render a written decision regarding this matter?
A. Yes.
Q. And you are willing to give up your right to that for the settlement that we have today?
A. Yes.
Q. As a result of that settlement, you will be resigning your position as a tenured teaching employee of the District?
A. That's correct.
Q. As a result of that, you are going to be paid, approximately, $15,000, or as you heard earlier, one-and-a-half months via pay period?
A. That's correct.
Q. No one has made any promises to you outside this document regarding this settlement?
A. No.
Q. Nobody is forcing you to do this?
A. No.
Q. You have had ample time to review it with me, and you don't have any further questions of myself or the Arbitrator?

A. Yes, I've had ample time and I have no further questions.
Q. You understand, as a result of this, the District will be withdrawing the current tenured charge?
A. Yes.
Q. The stipulation of dismissal will be filed with the Commissioner of Education?
A. Yes.
Q. And the State of New Jersey, Department of Education?
A. Yes.
Q. And you understand that they are going to notify the Board of Examiners that you are resigning a tenured teaching position?
A. Yes.
Q. You have been represented by myself, have I represented you fairly?
A. Yes.
Q. Do you have any questions for anyone?
A. No.

MR. ULIANO: I have nothing further.
MR. WOUTERS: I have no questions of Mr. Klein.
MS. SCHNEIDER-DENENBERG: I guess the only question I had was the sixth Cardonick factor seems to go a little bit further, "If the charged party is a teaching staff member, assuring the teaching staff member has been advised the Commissioner's duty to [refer tenure] determinations resulting in loss of position to the State Board of Examiners for possible suspension or revocation of certificate." In this case, because he is resigning, how does that affect that factor?
MR. ULIANO: We just covered that in the settlement.
MR. WOUTERS: Actually, the law is a little confusing....There is actually an administrative code regulation, that absolutely requires the Chief School Administrator to forward this [i]nformation to the State Examiners, whenever a tenured employee is either terminated or resigns as a result of tenure charges. That requirement has been included within the Stipulation of Settlement.
MS. SCHNEIDER-DENENBERG: Right.
MR. WOUTERS: I think Mr. Klein acknowledges that. So, it is what it is.
MR. ULIANO: I have one further question for Mr. Klein.
MS. SCHNEIDER-DENENBERG: Okay.
BY MR. ULIANO:
Q. Mr. Klein, you have agreed to settle this case, but you have made no admissions regarding the truth or [veracity] of any of the charges that you have been filed against you, correct?
A. That is correct.
MR. WOUTERS: The Board acknowledges that Mr. Klein has refuted[3] the charges that were filed against him.

[Tr., pp. 14-19]

[3] The arbitrator understands "refuted" in this context to mean disputed, not disproved.

The Stipulation of Settlement[4] provides:

The Howell Township Board of Education ("District") has pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-11 heretofore filed tenure charges for unbecoming conduct against Robert Klein ("Klein"), a tenured teacher employed by the District. Klein has responded to the charges and refuted same. After reviewing their respective positions with their counsel, the parties have determined that it will be in the best interest of each party for Klein to resign as a tenured teaching employee and the District to withdraw the tenure charges under the following terms and conditions:

1. The District will withdraw the tenure charges filed against Klein.

2. Klein by this Stipulation of Settlement resigns his position as a tenured teaching employee of the District. The resignation to be effective on a date to be determined.

3. Klein is currently on leave without pay. Upon the approval of this Stipulation of Settlement in accordance with N.J.C.A. 6A:3-5.6, the District will change Klein's status to be on leave with pay for three (3) pay periods during which Klein will receive gross salary in the amount of $15,000. Payments will be made to Klein, net of all appropriate deductions according to the District's current payroll practices. The details of the gross amounts and deductions are set forth in the payroll abstracts attached hereto and made a part of as Exhibit A.

4. Payroll payments to Klein detailed in paragraph 3 above shall commence the first pay period following the District's receipt of written approval of this Stipulation of Settlement by the Commissioner of Education.

5. This Stipulation of Dismissal shall be filed with the Commissioner of Education,

6. State of New Jersey Department of Education.

7. Klein acknowledges that pursuant to N.J.A.C.6A:9-17.4, the chief school administrator of the District shall notify the Board of Examiners that Klein, a tenured teaching staff member who was charged with unbecoming [conduct] has resigned his position.

8. District and Klein represent and warrant that they have the authority to enter into this Stipulation of Settlement and that they have complied with all legal requirements to exercise that authority.

[Joint Exhibit 5]

[4] The paragraph numbering system appears in the original document.

DISCUSSION

The sole question is whether the settlement meets the Cardonick standards. Statutory language in N.J.A.C. 6A:3-5.6(a) provides as follows:

> Any proposed...settlement, whether submitted to the Commissioner or to the arbitrator, shall address the following standards established by the State Board of Education in the matter entitled In re Cardonick, State Board decision of April 6, 1983 (1990 School Law Decisions (S.L.D.) 842, 846):
>
> 1. Accompaniment by documentation as to the nature of the charges;
>
> 2. Explication of the circumstances justifying settlement or withdrawal;
>
> 3. Consent of both the charged and charging parties;
>
> 4. Indication the charged party entered into the agreement with full understanding of his or her rights;
>
> 5. A showing the agreement is in the public interest; and
>
> 6. If the charged party is a teaching staff member, a showing the teaching staff member has been advised of the Commissioner's duty to refer tenure determinations resulting in loss of position to the State Board of Examiners for possible suspension or revocation of certificate.

As analyzed in detail below, the settlement agreement satisfies each of the Cardonick standards:

No. 1–When the settlement was reached, the arbitration file included the charge and supporting documentation.

No. 2–The circumstances were favorable for a settlement, inasmuch as it brought a degree of certainty about the outcome that benefitted both parties. The district could ensure that the teacher would leave its employ, while the teacher received payment for three pay periods without admitting guilt. The cost of pursuing a full tenure hearing would undoubtedly exceed the cost of the settlement.

No. 3–The consent of both the charged and charging parties was confirmed by both parties on the hearing record.

No. 4–There is ample evidence that the charged party entered into the agreement with full understanding of his rights, since the teacher was questioned on the record about his knowledge of those rights and what he was surrendering. He was examined by his attorney, and the transcript demonstrates that he was well aware of the costs and benefits of accepting the agreement.

No. 5–Among the statute's objectives is the expeditious resolution of tenure disputes. A settlement advances that purpose, shortening the time needed to achieve an outcome. In the arbitration process a settlement is typically welcomed and considered superior to an imposed decision, because the parties play an active role in fashioning the terms.

No. 6–Under the terms of the settlement, the teacher was advised that the Commissioner may forward the tenure charge to the State Board of Examiners, which will review it [Tr., pp. 16-18], an action that could impact his certification. The settlement also provides that the district will notify the Board of Examiners that he has resigned his position.

Since the Cardonick standards have been satisfied, the arbitrator approves the settlement.

For the reasons discussed above, and after considering all arguments and the entire record, the arbitrator concludes that the just, practical, and proper outcome of the tenure dispute is to give effect to the Stipulation of Settlement, as the terms have been explicated under oath in the stenographic transcript of the hearing on November 11, 2016.

S.A., on behalf of minor child, N.A. v. New Jersey State Interscholastic Athletic Association, Dkt. No. 291-11/16.

Dear Counsel:

I have reviewed the materials filed by all of the parties in connection with the motion for emergent relief filed by the petitioners in the above-captioned matters. The petitioners[1] are seeking a stay of the New Jersey State Athletic Association's decision excluding the Wayne Hills football team from the 2016 Football State Championships due to the playing of ineligible players during the 2016 football season. After reviewing certain documents on November 7, 2016, the NJSIAA's Executive Director declared that two student athletes were ineligible to play football because they did not establish a bona fide change of residence. As a result, the NJSIAA determined that all 2016 season games in which these student athletes played that resulted in wins for Wayne Hills shall be forfeited.

[1] The matter of T.H., on behalf of minor children, T.H., H.H. and J.H. v. New Jersey State Interscholastic Athletic Association, Dkt. No. 292-11/16, was filed by the parent of the student athletes that were deemed to be ineligible to play for the Wayne Hills football team. The matter of S.A., on behalf of minor child, N.A. v. New Jersey State Interscholastic Athletic Association, Dkt. No. 291-11/16, was filed by the parent of another player on the Wayne Hills football team.

Upon review of the submissions, I find that the NJSIAA's decision to declare the two student athletes ineligible for failure to establish a bona fide residence was procedurally flawed, as the students were not afforded any due process[2]; further, there is not sufficient credible evidence in the record to serve as a basis for the decision reached by the NJSIAA. Although representatives from the NJSIAA and the Wayne Hills School District held a meeting on November 8, 2016 to discuss potential residency concerns, neither the student athletes nor their parents were given an opportunity to provide evidence of their residency status. In fact, the student athletes were not provided with any notice of the meeting, nor were they informed that the NJSIAA was reviewing their residency status. Instead, the student athletes became aware of the NJSIAA's determination via a press release. Until the student athletes are afforded due process, I cannot determine whether the NJSIAA applied its rules in a patently arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable manner. N.J.A.C. 6A:3-7.5(a)(2)

Accordingly the NJSIAA is temporarily enjoined from declaring that T.H., H.H. or J.H. are ineligible to participate in football at Wayne Hills. The disqualification of the Wayne Hills football team from the 2016 Football State Championships and the forfeiture of any wins by the Wayne Hills football team for 2016 is hereby stayed pending further proceedings before the NJSIAA whereby the student athletes are given an opportunity to present evidence concerning their residency status.

IT IS SO ORDERED.[3]

Kimberley Harrington

| IN THE MATTER OF NICAURY MILLER, | : | |
| THE GRAY CHARTER SCHOOL, | : | COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION |
| ESSEX COUNTY. | : | DECISION |
| | : | |

The record of this matter and the decision of the School Ethics Commission (Commission), forwarded to the Commissioner pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:12-29 for final determination on the Commission's recommended penalty, have been reviewed. The Commission determined that the respondent violated the School Ethics Act by filing disclosure statements that were identified as incomplete, and by failing to correct or re-submit those statements in accordance with N.J.A.C. 6A:28-3.4. The Commission recommended a sanction of suspension for 30 days or until the respondent corrects and submits her disclosure statements. If the respondent fails to file her disclosure statements at the end of the 30 day period, the Commission recommends that the respondent be removed from her position. Alternatively, if the requisite disclosure statements are filed within the 30 days, the Commission recommends a penalty of reprimand. Respondent did not file exceptions, nor has she submitted proof that she has corrected and re-filed her disclosure statements. Respondent also did not appeal the Commission's underlying finding of violation pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:4.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurs with the penalty recommended by the Commission and additionally admonishes respondent for failing to honor an obligation placed upon school officials by law, since such failure has resulted in unnecessary expenditure of administrative and adjudicative resources at both State and local levels. Accordingly, the respondent is suspended from her position as a school official and is hereby ordered to correct and re-file her disclosure statements within 30 days from the date of this decision. If the respondent files the disclosure statements within 30 days she shall be reprimanded as a school official found to have violated the School Ethics Act. Alternatively, if the respondent does not file the disclosure statements within 30 days from the date of this decision, the respondent shall be removed from her position as a school official found to have violated the School Ethics Act.

| BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE MORRIS SCHOOL DISTRICT, MORRIS COUNTY, | : | |
| RESPONDENT. | : | |

The record, proposed settlement agreement and Initial Decision issued by the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1, have been reviewed.

Upon review, the Commissioner observes that the Superintendent and Board Secretary of the Morris School District Board of Education signed the agreement on behalf of the Board. The file does not contain a copy of the Board's resolution approving the settlement and designating the Superintendent or Board Secretary to sign the agreement on its behalf – as required by N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.13 under these circumstances – nor is the resolution attached to the settlement agreement itself. In the alternative, the agreement is not signed by the Board attorney, who is the Board's duly authorized representative in litigation. Without either the Board attorney's signature or the appropriate Board resolution designating the Superintendent or Board Secretary to sign the agreement on its behalf, the Commissioner cannot approve the within settlement.

Additionally, the Commissioner notes that the settlement makes reference to a payment intended to be made on September 15, 2016. The parties are reminded that a settlement of litigation before the Commissioner is not binding until the Commissioner approves the proposed terms.

Accordingly, the Commissioner hereby remands this matter to the OAL for revision of the settlement agreement consistent with the concerns set forth above. If the parties are unwilling or unable to reach accord on a modified agreement for submission to the Commissioner, the matter shall proceed to hearing.

IT IS SO ORDERED.

SYNOPSIS

Pro se petitioner challenged the determination of the Board that his son, D.K., was not the subject of acts of harassment, intimidation or bullying (HIB) by several students in violation of the New Jersey Anti-Bullying Act (Act), N.J.S.A. 18A:37-13 et seq. This case stems from two separate incidents of alleged HIB against D.K. in May of 2014, when D.K. was in seventh grade. D.K. is now in high school and did not attend or testify at the hearing in this matter. Petitioner D.D.K. testified on his son's behalf. He alleged that the HIB investigation was not properly conducted, and sought an order reversing the "no HIB" determination. The Board asserted that the petitioner failed to show that D.K. was mistreated by the other students based on his race, gender or other distinguishing characteristic; further, petitioner failed to prove that the conduct substantially disrupted or interfered with the orderly operations of the school.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: the Commissioner will not overturn a decision of a local board unless the action is determined to be arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable; petitioner bears the burden of proof to show that the investigation of the alleged incidents of HIB was conducted improperly; the first incident – in which students on the school bus referred to D.K. as a "know it all" – did not rise to the level of HIB, as the investigation found that this was a conflict between students regarding their comparative abilities in math, and was not motivated by an actual or perceived characteristic; D.D.K.'s assertions that D.K. had been called a "smarty pants" and a "dumb ass Asian" on the bus were not substantiated at the hearing; the second incident – in which a student "joked" in homeroom with D.K., who was wearing a yellow shirt, by saying "you're already yellow, you're Asian" – was judged in the investigative report to be motivated by D.K's race and color; however, while this substantiated statement had the effect of insulting or demeaning D.K., his response was to say "fortunately, this was not problematic for my learning experience, but it ticked me off at the time"; therefore, this incident did not substantially disrupt or interfere with the orderly operations of the school or the rights of other students. The ALJ concluded that the petitioner did not meet his burden of proof that the Board acted in an arbitrary manner in finding that D.K. was not the target of HIB as defined in the Act. Accordingly, the petition was dismissed.

Upon review, the Commissioner agreed that the school bus incident did not rise to the level of HIB. With respect to the second incident, the Commissioner observed that the Board's HIB report specifically found that comments made to D.K.: could reasonably be perceived as motivated by D.K.'s race; happened on school property; and had the effect of being insulting or demeaning to D.K. However, the Commissioner was constrained to agree with the ALJ that the petitioner failed to meet his burden of demonstrating that these incidents substantially disrupted or interfered with the orderly operation of the school or the rights of other students. Accordingly, the Commissioner adopted the Initial Decision, as modified, as the final decision in this matter.

| V. | : | COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION |
| BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE TOWNSHIP OF READINGTON, HUNTERDON COUNTY, AND BARBARA SARGENT, | : | DECISION |
| RESPONDENTS. | : | |

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed. The parties did not file exceptions.

This case involves a challenge by petitioner to the Board's determination that his son was not the victim of acts of Harassment, Intimidation and Bullying (HIB) pursuant to the Anti-Bullying Bill of Rights Act (Act), N.J.S.A. 18A:37-13 et seq. Petitioner alleges that in the first incident, on May 20, 2014, his son was called a "know it all" on the school bus. (Initial Decision at 2) He alleges that another student bumped D.K. with his school bag and said, "I hope you get brain damage." Ibid. In the second incident – on May 21, 2014, in homeroom – petitioner alleges that a student made comments regarding D.K.'s Korean descent, asking him why he was not wearing yellow for spirit day because "you're already yellow . . . you're Asian." Id. at 3. Petitioner alleges that the same student also referred to D.K. as a "dumb ass Asian." Id. at 2-3.

The Board determined that the incidents did not amount to HIB. According to the report, the school bus incident was not reasonably perceived as being motivated either by an actual or perceived characteristic, and instead was a conflict between students. (Exhibit J-2) With respect to the second incident, the report indicated that although there was evidence that the comments could reasonably be perceived as being motivated by D.K.'s race and color, and had the effect of being insulting or demeaning to D.K., it did not substantially disrupt or interfere with the orderly operations of the school or the rights of other students. (Exhibit J-1) The Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) found that the Board's decision in finding no HIB was not arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable because "it has not been established that the alleged aggressors' actions were motivated either by any actual or perceived characteristic . . . or by any other distinguishing characteristic." (Initial Decision at 10)

Upon a comprehensive review of the record, the Commissioner notes at the outset that petitioner – who did not witness either incident – did not propound discovery despite multiple opportunities to do so, nor did petitioner call any witnesses besides himself at the hearing. It is clear that petitioner had the burden to prove by a preponderance of the evidence that the Board acted in an arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable manner in rendering its HIB determination. See T.B.M on behalf of M.M. v. Moorestown Board of Education, OAL Dkt. No. EDU 12780-07, decided February 6, 2008 (citing Thomas v. Morris Township Board of Education, 89 N.J. Super. 327, 332 (App. Div. 1965), aff'd 46 N.J. 581 (1966)), adopted Commissioner Decision No. 157-14, April 7, 2008. The Commissioner agrees with the ALJ that petitioner did not meet his burden.

Specifically, the Commissioner is in accord with the ALJ's determination that the Board's finding of no HIB with respect to the school bus incident was not arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable. With respect to the second incident, the Commissioner agrees with the ALJ's finding that the Board was not arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable, but disagrees with the ALJ as to the reasoning. The elements of HIB are set forth at N.J.S.A. 18A:37-14:

> "Harassment, intimidation or bullying" means any gesture, any written, verbal or physical act, or any electronic communication, whether it be a single incident or a series of incidents, that is reasonably perceived as being motivated either by any actual or perceived characteristic, such as race, color, religion, ancestry, national origin, gender, sexual orientation, gender identity and expression, or a mental, physical or sensory disability, or by any other distinguishing characteristic, that takes place on school property, at any school-sponsored function, on a school bus, or off school grounds as provided for in section 16 of P.L.2010, c.122 (C.18A:37-15.3), that substantially disrupts or interferes with the orderly operation of the school or the rights of other students and that:
>
> a. a reasonable person should know, under the circumstances, will have the effect of physically or emotionally harming a student or damaging the > student's property, or placing a student in reasonable fear of physical or emotional harm to his person or damage to his property;

>
> b. has the effect of insulting or demeaning any student or group of students; or
> c. creates a hostile educational environment for the student by interfering with a student's education or by severely or pervasively causing physical or emotional harm to the student.

Here, the alleged aggressor admitted to asking D.K. why he was not wearing yellow for spirit day because "you're always yellow." (Exhibit J-1) The HIB report specifically found that "[t]here is evidence that Alleged Aggressor's comments could reasonably be perceived as being motivated by D.K.'s race and color." Ibid. Accordingly, the Commissioner disagrees with the ALJ that such comments were not motivated by any actual or perceived characteristic, as the report found otherwise. The report also found two additional elements of the HIB test were met because (1) the incident happened on school property; and (2) had the effect of being insulting or demeaning to D.K.

However, the report determined that the incident did not amount to HIB because the comments did not substantially disrupt or interfere with the orderly operation of the school or the rights of other students. In support of this finding, the report noted that D.K. stated in his interview that "fortunately, this was not problematic for my learning experience, but it ticked me off at the time." (Exhibit J-1) The student witness observed the alleged aggressor make an "embarrassed laugh" to himself when he realized what he had said had come out wrong, but did not hear anyone else laugh and did not think D.K. was upset as a result of the comment. Ibid. The teachers did not hear any of the alleged comments.

Previously, conduct has been determined to substantially disrupt the orderly operation of the school when students are so upset or embarrassed that they are "not fully available for learning." G.H. and E.H. on behalf of K.H. v. Board of Education of the Borough of Franklin Lakes, Bergen County, OAL Dkt. No. EDU 13204-13, decided February 24, 2014, adopted Commissioner Decision No. 157-14, April 10, 2014. Additionally, when other students are "so affected" by behavior that they report it, the orderly operation of the school may be substantially disrupted. T.R. and T.R. on behalf of E.R. v. Bridgewater-Raritan Regional Board of Education, OAL Dkt. No. EDU 10208-13, decided September 25, 2014, adopted Commissioner Decision No. 450-14, November 10, 2014. Given that D.K. indicated that the comments were not problematic for his learning experience and other students did not appear to be affected by them – combined with a lack of any other evidence to the contrary – the Commissioner is constrained to agree that petitioner failed to meet his burden of demonstrating that the comments substantially disrupted or interfered with the orderly operation of the school or the rights of other students. As such, petitioner has not demonstrated that the Board was arbitrary, capricious, and unreasonable in finding no HIB.

Accordingly, the recommended decision of the ALJ is modified as stated above and the petition of appeal is hereby dismissed.

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Petitioner, the father of D.K., alleges that his son was subject to acts of harassment, intimidation or bullying (HIB) by several students in violation of the New Jersey Anti-Bullying Law, N.J.S.A. 18A:37-13 et seq. The Board of Education of the Township of Readington (District or Board) conducted an investigation and determined that the student's conduct did not constitute HIB. Petitioner seeks an order reversing the Board's determination.

The Department of Education transmitted the matter to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), where it was filed on June 7, 2013. N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15; N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13. A hearing was held on June 20, 2016, and the record was kept open for each of the parties to submit closing summations. Petitioner failed to submit a written summation. On August 22, 2016 respondents submitted a written summation and the record was closed.

FACTUAL DISCUSSION

D.D.K. is the father of D.K. and testified on behalf of D.K. D.K. graduated from the District in May 2015, and is now in high school. It is presumed that D.K. wants to put this whole issue behind him and does not wish to relive the events that occurred in 2014. As a result, D.K. was not present and did not give testimony at this hearing. D.D.K. asserted that the District mishandled the HIB investigation, did not properly interview all of the witnesses and covered up the aggressors' actions to protect them. The Board did not conduct a thorough enough investigation, and should have permitted the parents to obtain all of the angles of video from the bus surveillance system. D.D.K. is seeking a finding that the students violated the District's HIB policy and an apology from the District.

D.D.K. described two separate incidents of alleged HIB involving D.K.. The first incident was on May 20, 2014, while D.K. was on the school bus. At the time, D.K. was twelve years old and was in seventh grade. D.K. was assisting a fifth grader and the aggressor said "why you got to be a know it all, I hope you get brain damage". Thereafter he bumped into D.K. with a school bag.

D.D.K. also testified that there were comments made by the aggressors that D.K was a "smarty pants" and a "dumb ass Asian". Those comments were particularly harassing and disturbing to D.K.. "Smarty pants if looked up in the urban dictionary is a derogatory term for an Asian. I looked it up last night." This tribunal requested that that information be provided to the court, however, D.K. could not reproduce or substantiate his allegation.

The second incident occurred in homeroom on May 21, 2014, which was Spirit Day at the school. According to D.D.K., a student "joked" to D.K. who was wearing a yellow shirt and said "you're already yellow, you're Asian." The same student referred to D.K. as a "dumb ass." The incident was investigated by the District who found that the incident did not meet the criteria in the HIB definition. D.D.K pointed out the investigation in this case was flawed. According to the Report for Harassment, Intimidation, and Bullying, the following conclusion were made: "Although there was evidence that the alleged aggressor's comments could reasonably be perceived as being motivated by D.K.'s race and color; and at least one of the incidents, the homeroom incident, was confirmed as having occurred on school property." D.K. made it clear, in the interview process that "fortunately, this was not problematic for my learning experience, but it ticked me off at the time." Therefore, while the substantiated statement in homeroom, whether intentional or unintentional, had the effect of being insulting or demeaning to D.K., it did not substantially disrupt or interfere with the orderly operations of the school or the rights of other students, as per D.K.'s own statement. (J-1 Tab 11). This is proof that the investigation was severely lacking and D.K. is owed and apology.

Although D.K. is now in high school he still feels like a victim. D.D.K. recalled that he grew up in the 1970's and experienced a high degree of harassment because of his Korean descent.

On cross-examination, it was conceded that D.K. never missed a day of school, his 7$^{th}$ grade grades were A or A+ average, he never went to the doctor or counselor for care as a result of the alleged HIB in five years in Readington school district, and he was a great success story of the Readington school system. The District investigated each incident and had suggestions for follow-up including but not limited to:

- Consideration should be given to having Alleged Aggressor formally apologize to D.K., as Alleged Aggressor did acknowledge making the statement accidentally.

- The school counselor should meet with Alleged Aggressor and complete an individualized lesson that reviews issues of diversity and character education.

- Should inappropriate/accidental commenting become a pattern with Alleged Aggressor in the future, then disciplinary action would be recommended.

- Counselor should check with D.K. to insure that the commenting has stopped and review strategies and actions he could take if future events like this occur.

- At the next Safety Committee Meeting, increased awareness of HIB issues, as it relates to specifically to minorities will be discussed.

Dr. Barbara Sargent testified for the respondent. She is the Superintendent of District for the last five years. She oversees 1600 Kindergarden through Eighth Grade students and has thirty years in education. She has a B.A. from Rutgers University, a Masters from Rider University in Reading and Language Arts as well as a Ph.D. from Seton Hall University. Aside from multiple teaching certifications, Dr. Sargent began the HIB program in Readington five years ago.

Mrs. Fieri is the HIB specialist at Readington Middle School. She received training on reporting and investigation of incidents. Mrs. Fieri is licensed social worker and works well with the students. As to both of the incidents involving D.K., her investigation was thorough and the reports comprehensive. The findings for both incidents was that there was no HIB.

In the first incident, D.K. reported that, while riding home on the bus on May 20, 2014, he felt like he was "ganged up on" by some of his peers. He was upset by this, indicating that he felt all alone without anyone to come to his defense. D.K. relayed that while on the bus engaging in an "encouraging conversation with a 6$^{th}$ grader about what it was like to be in 7$^{th}$ grade," his conversation was disrupted by an alleged aggressor who told him to stop "acting like you know everything." The alleged aggressor then commented to everyone who was sitting nearby, "I bet everyone on this bus doesn't like you because you act like you know it all." Of all the students on the bus within earshot, the only student to allegedly acknowledge the alleged aggressor was another alleged aggressor.

This other alleged aggressor joined the conversation at that point and told D.K. that they hoped that he would "fail the math test tomorrow"... and that they hoped his "brain would get damaged." D.K. was confused by the comments but retaliated by reminding the person and those within earshot that he does well in math and had gotten straight "A's since entering Middle School." He shared that he did hear them talking about the upcoming math test and couldn't understand what they were all worried about, because he "took that test this morning and it was easy."

Several student witnesses painted a different picture. One witness indicated that D.K. likes to lecture the other 7th graders on the bus whenever he rides, which is not that frequently. According to this witness, when D.K. does ride the bus, he usually tries to inquire about other's grades on the math quizzes, in an effort to "make us all feel dumb." The witness pointed out that they are not in that level of math and on the day in question, even when asked to stop talking about math by the two alleged aggressors, D.K. did not stop. They did tell him to "stop acting like a know it all."

Another student witness shared that the people on the bus feel that D.K. can be annoying because he thinks he is smart and uses big words when he talks. He likes to brag about his grades, and on this day, the alleged aggressors were reacting to his math comments by telling him that he "acts like he knows it all" and were asking him to stop.

That incident did not meet the criteria in the HIB definition. This incident is not reasonably perceived as being motivated either by an actual or perceived characteristic. Based on investigative findings, this was a conflict between students regarding their comparative math abilities. Consequently, there was no discipline because nothing was done wrong and D.K. was not a victim of HIB.

The second incident likewise did not meet the criteria in the HIB definition. There is evidence that alleged aggressor's comments could reasonably be perceived as being motivated by D.K.'s race and color; and at least one of the incidents, the homeroom incident, was confirmed as having occurred on school property. However, D.K. made it clear, in the interview process that "fortunately, this was not problematic for my learning experience, but it ticked me off at the time." Therefore, while the substantiated statement in homeroom, whether intentional or unintentional, had the effect of being insulting or demeaning to D.K., it did not substantially disrupt or interfere with the orderly operations of the school or the rights of other students, as per D.K.'s own statement. Nevertheless, the district made suggestions for follow-up:

- Consideration should be given to having Alleged Aggressor formally apologize to D.K., as Alleged Aggressor did acknowledge making the statement accidentally.
- The school counselor should meet with Alleged Aggressor and complete an individualized lesson that reviews issues of diversity and character education.
- Should inappropriate/accidental commenting become a pattern with Alleged Aggressor in the future, then disciplinary action would be recommended.
- Counselor should check with D.K. to insure that the commenting has stopped and review strategies and actions he could take if future events like this occur.
- At the next Safety Committee Meeting, increased awareness of HIB issues, as it relates to specifically to minorities will be discussed.

FINDINGS OF FACTS

Having carefully considered the relevant evidence, including the testimony, and observed the demeanor of the witnesses, I FIND the following FACTS:

D.D.K., complained to the District regarding two instances of alleged HIB. HIB specialist Mrs. Fieri received HIB Complaints from the school principal and she conducted an investigation and interviewed D.K., the alleged aggressors and witnesses.

After concluding the investigations, Mrs. Fieri felt that the incidents did not meet the criteria in the HIB definition. This incident is not reasonably perceived as being motivated either by an actual or perceived characteristic and it did not substantially disrupt or interfere with the orderly operations of the school or the rights of other students.

D.K. graduated from the District in May 2015.

LEGAL ANALYSIS AND CONCLUSIONS

Petitioner challenges the determination of the Board that the conduct of several students towards D.K. did not constitute harassment, intimidation or bullying (HIB).

New Jersey enacted the Anti-Bullying Bill of Rights Act (Act) to "strengthen the standards and procedures for preventing, reporting, investigating, and responding to incidents of harassment, intimidation, and bullying" occurring both on and off of school grounds. N.J.S.A. 18A:37-13.1(f). Definitions relative to adoption of harassment and bullying prevention policies are found in N.J.S.A. 18A:37-14, which states in part:

> "Harassment, intimidation or bullying" means any gesture, any written, verbal or physical act, or any electronic communication, whether it be a single incident or a series of incidents, that is reasonably perceived as being motivated either by any actual or perceived characteristic, such as race, color, religion, ancestry, national origin, gender, sexual orientation, gender identity and expression, or a mental, physical or sensory disability, or by any other distinguishing characteristic, that takes place on school property, at any school-sponsored function, on a school bus, or off school grounds as provided for in section 16 of P.L.2010, c.122 (C.18A:37-15.3), that substantially disrupts or interferes with the orderly operation of the school or the rights of other students and that:
>
> > (a) a reasonable person should know, under the circumstances, will have the effect of physically or emotionally harming a student or damaging the student's property, or placing a student in reasonable fear of physical or emotional harm to his person or damage to his property;

> (b) has the effect of insulting or demeaning any student or group of students; or
> (c) creates a hostile educational environment for the student by interfering with a student's education or by severely or pervasively causing physical or emotional harm to the student.

The District's HIB Policy, "Prohibiting Harassment, Intimidation and Bullying," essentially mirrors the New Jersey law. Additionally, the policy also sets forth a detailed process by which complaints are investigated to determine whether an action meets the definition of HIB as set forth in the policy and Act.

Petitioner alleges that the HIB investigation was conducted improperly. He asserts that Mrs. Fieri failed to interview witnesses and properly investigate two separate instances of harassment and demeaning contact with D.K. Petitioner urges this tribunal to conclude that the HIB investigation was conducted improperly and therefore the determination should be reversed.

The Board argues that incidents of HIB must be based on a distinguishing characteristic and substantially disrupt or interfere with the orderly operation of the school or the rights of students. Further, the incident must have physically or emotionally harmed the student, insulted or demeaned the student, or created a hostile educational environment for the student. The Board asserts that petitioner has failed to show that D.K. was mistreated by the students based on his race, gender or any other characteristic. Moreover, petitioner has not shown that D.K. was insulted or demeaned, or that he was physically or emotionally harmed.

The Board urges this tribunal to conclude that the Board was not arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable in its determination that the HIB investigation was conducted properly and that the student's conduct did not constitute HIB.

The Commissioner of Education will not overturn the decision of a local board in the absence of a finding that the action below was arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable. T.B.M. v. Moorestown Bd. of Educ., EDU 2780-07, Initial Decision (February 6, 2008)

(citing Thomas v. Morris Twp. Bd. of Educ., 89 N.J. Super. 327, 332 (App. Div. 1965), aff'd, 46 N.J. 581(1966)), adopted, Comm'r (April 7, 2008), <http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/>. Further, the Commissioner will not substitute his judgment for that of the board of education, whose exercise of its discretion may not be disturbed unless shown to be "patently arbitrary, without rational basis or induced by improper motives." Kopera v. W. Orange Bd. of Educ., 60 N.J. Super. 288, 294 (App. Div. 1960). New Jersey courts have held that "[w]here there is room for two opinions, action is not arbitrary or capricious when exercised honestly and upon due consideration, even though it may be believed that an erroneous conclusion has been reached." Bayshore Sewage Co. v. Dep't of Envtl. Prot., 122 N.J. Super. 184, 199–200 (Ch. Div. 1973), aff'd, 131 N.J. Super. 37 (App. Div. 1974). Thus, in order to prevail, the petitioner must demonstrate that the Board acted in bad faith, or in utter disregard of the circumstances before it. T.B.M., supra, EDU 2780-07, Initial Decision (February 6, 2008), <http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/>; see W.C.L. and A.L. ex rel L.L. v. Tenafly Bd. of Educ., OAL Dkt. No. EDU 3223-12 (2013) (The petitioner challenged the school board's decision that a student committed an act of HIB. The Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) found that the board's actions were consistent with the letter and spirit of the law and were not taken in bad faith or in disregard of the circumstances. The ALJ concluded that the petitioner failed to establish that the board's actions were arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable. The Commissioner affirmed the ALJ's decision to dismiss the petition of appeal.); J.M.C. ex rel A.C. v. E. Brunswick Bd. of Educ., OAL Dkt. No. EDU 4144-12 (2013) (The petitioner challenged the board's determination that the actions of the petitioner's son constituted HIB. The board found that the student called another student "gay" and said he "danced like a girl." The demeaning remarks constituted HIB.). In both cases, the petitioners failed to satisfy their burden to show that the board's actions were arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable.

Here, petitioner filed a complaint and school personnel responded to D.K.'s HIB complaint. The District investigated the HIB complaint in a timely manner in accordance with the statute, and once the investigation was conducted all timelines in the Anti-Bullying Bill of Rights were followed. Petitioner asserts that the initial investigation omitted interviews of key witnesses. He points to inconsistencies in the reports and testimony. However, those assertions are unfounded.

Petitioner bears the burden of proof by a preponderance of the credible. Atkinson v. Parsekian, 37 N.J. 143, 149 (1962); DYFS v. M.R., 314 N.J. Super. 390, 414 (App. Div. 1998); In re Allegations of Sexual Abuse at E. Park High Sch., 314 N.J. Super. 149, 168 (App. Div. 1998). This tribunal has the duty to decide in favor of the party on whose side the weight of the evidence preponderates, and according to a reasonable probability of truth. Jackson v. Del., Lackawanna and W. R.R., 111 N.J.L. 487, 490 (E.&A. 1933). Evidence is said to preponderate "if it establishes 'the reasonable probability of the fact.'" Jaeger v. Elizabethtown Consol. Gas Co., 124 N.J.L. 420, 423 (Sup. Ct. 1940) (citation omitted). The evidence must "be such as to lead a reasonably cautious mind to the given conclusion." Bornstein v. Metro. Bottling Co., 26 N.J. 263, 275 (1958).

I have carefully reviewed the record. Petitioner has presented no credible evidence that the Board acted in an arbitrary manner. I am mindful of D.D.K.'s strong desire to protect his son from harm. Indeed, a parent's most basic instinct is to protect their children. However, petitioner provided no testimony from D.K. or any other eyewitness to refute the testimony of the respondent's witnesses. I am more persuaded by the evidence presented by the respondent than by that presented by petitioner. Furthermore, it has not been established that the alleged aggressors' actions were motivated either by any actual or perceived characteristic, such as race, color, religion, ancestry, national origin, gender, sexual orientation, gender identity and expression, or a mental, physical or sensory disability, or by any other distinguishing characteristic.

Based on the whole of the credible evidence presented, I CONCLUDE that petitioner has not met his burden of proof that the Board acted in an arbitrary manner in concluding that the students conduct did not constitute harassment, intimidation or bullying under the Act.

| IN THE MATTER OF ALEX JANKLOWICZ, | : | |
| LAKEWOOD TOWNSHIP BOARD OF | : | COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION |
| EDUCATION, OCEAN COUNTY. | : | DECISION |
| | : | |

The Commissioner has reviewed the record of this matter and the decision of the School Ethics Commission, finding that respondent violated the School Ethics Act for failure to timely file his Personal/Relative and Financial Disclosure statements in accordance with N.J.S.A. 18A:12-25 and 26. The Commission's decision was forwarded pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:12-29 for the Commissioner's final determination on the recommended penalty. The Commission advises that the respondent ultimately filed disclosure statements after the issuance of its July 26, 2016 Order to Show Cause, but prior to the Commission's August 23, 2016 meeting and it, therefore, recommends a penalty of reprimand. Respondent has neither filed exceptions to the recommended penalty nor instituted an appeal, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:4, of the Commission's underlying finding of violation.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurs with the penalty recommended by the Commission in consequence of respondent's failure to timely honor an obligation placed upon school board members by law. Additionally, respondent is admonished for causing the unnecessary expenditure of administrative and adjudicative resources at both State and local levels.

Accordingly, respondent is hereby reprimanded as a school official found to have violated the School Ethics Act.

SYNOPSIS

Petitioning Board certified tenure charges of abandonment, conduct unbecoming, and incapacity against respondent – a tenured social worker under the Board's employ – and sought to terminate her employment with the district. Neither respondent nor any attorney acting on her behalf filed an answer to the tenure charges following notice pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-5.3 and 6A:3-5.4.

The Commissioner concluded that, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-5.3(c), the allegations – which respondent has chosen not to deny – may be deemed admitted and warrant the termination of the respondent from her tenured position. Accordingly, the Commissioner granted summary decision to the petitioner, dismissed the respondent from her tenured position in petitioner's school district, and forwarded a copy of this decision to the State Board of Examiners for review and action as that body deems appropriate.

| OF LAUREN KRESLOFF, SCHOOL DISTRICT | : | COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION |
| OF THE TOWNSHIP OF MOUNT LAUREL, | : | DECISION |
| BURLINGTON COUNTY. | : | |

For the Petitioner, Andrew W. Li, Esq.
No appearance by or on behalf of Respondent, Lauren Kresloff

This matter was opened before the Commissioner of Education on September 29, 2016 through tenure charges of abandonment, conduct unbecoming, and incapacity certified by George Rafferty, Superintendent of the School District of the Township of Mount Laurel, together with supporting evidence against respondent Lauren Kresloff, a tenured social worker in the petitioner's employ. The petitioner provided respondent with written notice of such certification at her last known address – via regular and certified mail – on September 28, 2016.

On September 30, 2016, the Commissioner directed respondent – via both certified and regular mail – to file an answer to the charges. This communication provided notice to respondent that, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-5.3 and 6A:3-5.4, an individual against whom tenure charges are certified "shall have 15 days from the date such charges are filed with the Commissioner to file a written response to the charges with the Commissioner," and that failure to answer within the prescribed period would – absent granting of an extension for good cause shown – result in the charges being deemed admitted.

The certified tenure charges and statement of supporting evidence filed by the petitioner in this matter indicate that respondent has engaged in a pattern of chronic and excessive absenteeism beginning in January 2016, when respondent was absent from work for approximately two days per week and failed to contact the District to report her absences. On April 28, 2016, respondent underwent testing for drugs and alcohol, which indicated the presence of then-unspecified drugs in respondent's system. Following an administrative leave in which respondent advised that she would seek treatment, respondent failed to contact the District – despite receiving numerous notifications by District employees – to make arrangements to return for the 2016-17 school year and schedule a physical examination. To date, respondent has not contacted the district, nor has respondent demonstrated that she has undergone medical treatment or a fitness for duty examination.

Deeming the allegations to be admitted and noting that respondent has failed to respond to the charges certified against her, the Commissioner finds that petitioner's charges of abandonment of her teaching position, conduct unbecoming a school employee, and incapacity to perform her job functions have been proven and warrant the respondent's dismissal from employment.

Accordingly, summary decision is hereby granted to the petitioner, and the respondent is dismissed from her tenured position with the District. This matter will be transmitted to the State Board of Examiners for action against respondent's certificate(s) as that body deems appropriate.

| RESPONDENT. | : | |

The record, proposed settlement agreement and Initial Decision issued by the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1, have been reviewed.

Upon review, the Commissioner observes that the Business Administrator/Board Secretary of the Hamilton Township Board of Education signed the agreement on behalf of the Board. The file does not contain a copy of the Board's resolution approving the settlement and designating the Business Administrator/Board Secretary to sign the agreement on its behalf – as required by N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.13 under these circumstances – nor is the resolution attached to the settlement agreement itself. In the alternative, the agreement is not signed by the Board attorney, who is the Board's duly authorized representative in litigation. Without either the Board attorney's signature or the appropriate Board resolution approving the settlement agreement and designating the Business Administrator/Board Secretary to sign the agreement on its behalf, the Commissioner cannot approve the within settlement.

Accordingly, the Commissioner hereby remands this matter to the OAL for revision of the settlement agreement consistent with the concerns set forth above. If the parties are unwilling or unable to reach accord on a modified agreement for submission to the Commissioner, the matter shall proceed to hearing.

STATE OF NEW JERSEY
OFFICE OF THE COMMISSIONER

1. No Admission of Wrongdoing. Releasor acknowledges and agrees that the consideration by Releasees to her as described below, her acceptance of such consideration, and the Parties' execution of the Agreement and making promises and representations as set forth herein, are the result of compromise, and that the Agreement shall never be considered at any time or for any purpose as an admission by Releasees of any liability, wrongdoing or unlawful conduct of any kind with respect to Releasor or any other person. Indeed, Releasees expressly deny that they violated any contract, rule, law or regulation related to the underlying matter.

2. Consideration. In consideration for Releasor signing the Agreement, not revoking it, and fully complying with the terms, conditions and promises made herein, Releasee agrees that the HIB decision and the investigatory documents related thereto shall not become part of M.G.'s permanent student record, shall not be passed from his current school to his next school whether in or outside the Hamilton Township School District, Mercer County, and that said records shall only be maintained consistent with Hamilton's obligations under any law or applicable statute for the retention of records. The records shall not be produced to any requesting individual or entity other than M.G.'s parents or guardians or as required by any statute or law. All physical and electronic copies of the HIB decision and investigatory documents will be destroyed upon M.G.'s leaving of Crockett Middle School by way of transfer out of the school, transfer out of the Hamilton Township School District, or promotion to high school. Notice of destruction shall be given to the parents of M.G. by way of certified mail.

3. General Release of Claims. In consideration for Releasees promises and representations made herein, Releasor, individually and on behalf of her heirs, representatives, immediate family members (including but not limited to her spouse and children), agents, successors and assigns, hereby releases Releasees, their parents, board members, subsidiaries, shareholders, directors, officers, employees, agents, attorneys, insurers, affiliates, predecessors, successors, assigns, heirs, and all persons acting by, through, under or in concert with any of them (collectively, the "Released Parties"), release from any and all charges, complaints, claims, liabilities, obligations, promises, agreements, controversies, damages, actions, causes of action, suits, rights, demands, costs, losses, debts and expenses, and from any claims of any nature whatsoever, known or unknown, which Releasor now has, claims to have, owns, holds or which Releasors at any time heretofore had, held, or claimed to have based on events occurring through the date of execution of the Agreement, to the fullest extent allowed by law. The release includes, without limitation, claims arising under 42 U.S.C. § 1981, Title VII of the Civil Rights Act, the Americans with Disabilities Act, the Age Discrimination in Employment Act, the Americans with Disabilities Act, the Family Medical Leave Act, the National Labor Relations Act, the Employee Retirement Income Security Act (save for claims related to vested benefits, which are exempted from the release), the Equal Pay Act, the New Jersey Law Against Discrimination, The New Jersey Conscientious Employee Protection Act, the New Jersey Workers' Compensation Act, as well as any other federal, state, local, or municipal statute, ordinance or regulation that prohibits improper discrimination, harassment or retaliation in the workplace or otherwise relates to or regulates employment relationships. In addition, the release extends to and covers claims for tortious conduct or breach of express or implied contract, including wrongful discharge, breach of covenant of good faith and fair dealing, intentional or negligent infliction of emotional distress, breach of contract or implied contract, negligence, misrepresentation, fraud, detrimental reliance, promissory estoppel, defamation, invasion of privacy, breach of laws governing safety in the workplace, loss of consortium, or any claims under federal, state, and local statutory and common law.

4. Inquiry. Hamilton agrees, through its Administration, to respond to inquiries for M.G.'s HIB file by providing all such information as it may be legally required to provide to any governmental agencies or pursuant to Court Order. Otherwise, Hamilton shall not produce said documents to any individual or entity and shall classify same as a confidential student record. Hamilton shall not produce said file to any other school within or outside the Hamilton Township School District, Mercer County, prior to, at the time of, or after M.G. leaves Crockett Middle School.

5. Confidentiality. The Parties mutually agree that the existence of the Agreement, and the terms hereof, are to be held confidential, and agree not to disclose it to anyone except for their attorneys, members of their immediate family, and any person required by law or order of court to receive such information. To the extent the Parties reference the Agreement in discussions with persons not permitted to receive information about the Agreement, they shall inform such persons that the claims "have been discontinued" or "have been closed." Hamilton shall not disseminate or produce copies of the Agreement except pursuant to Court Order or a lawful request under the Open Public Records Act.

6. Non-Disparagement. The parties agree not to make, publicly or privately, through any media or medium (including, without limitation, comments on social networking sites), any disparaging or derogatory remarks or otherwise make statements that could injure the business or reputation of any of the Released Parties.

7. Additional Covenants and Acknowledgments. Releasor further understands and agrees that:

(a) By signing the Agreement she is voluntarily making a full and final compromise and settlement of any and all claims, disputed or otherwise, arising out the Action, and that the Agreement will preclude any further or additional claims arising out of the Action;

(b) She has the right to consult any attorney prior to signing the Agreement and has been encouraged to do so by Releasees;

(c) The Agreement is contractual, is not a mere recital, shall be given full force and effect, and shall be binding upon her, her heirs, executors, successors, administrators and assigns.

8. Disputes. The validity, performance, construction, and effect of the Agreement shall be governed by the substantive laws of the United States and the State of New Jersey. The New Jersey Superior Court shall retain jurisdiction to implement and enforce the Agreement and its terms.

9. Severability. The invalidity or unenforceability of any provision of the Agreement, whether in whole or in part, shall not in any way affect the validity or enforceability of any other provision contained herein.

10. Counterparts; Exchange by Electronic Means. The Agreement may be executed in counterparts, which shall be taken together as the entire agreement of the Parties hereto. The Agreement may also be exchanged by the Parties via electronic mail for the purposes of securing signatures and will be fully enforceable as an original document.

RELEASOR ACKNOWLEDGES THAT SHE HAS READ THIS AGREEMENT, UNDERSTANDS IT AND IS ENTERING INTO IT KNOWINGLY AND VOLUNTARILY AND NOT AS A RESULT OF ANY PRESSURE, COERCION OR DURESS.

RELEASOR AGREES THAT SHE HAS HAD A REASONABLE AND SUFFICIENT TIME AND OPPORTUNITY TO CONSULT WITH COUNSEL, AND THAT SHE HAS FULLY DISCUSSED AND REVIEWED THE TERMS CONTAINED IN THE AGREEMENT WITH COUNSEL PRIOR TO EXECUTING IT, OR FREELY CHOSEN NOT TO DO SO.

RELEASOR FURTHER UNDERSTANDS, ACKNOWLEDGES AND AGREES THAT THE AGREEMENT CONTAINS A GENERAL RELEASE OF CLAIMS AS TO ALL RELEASED PARTIES, AND THAT THE AGREEMENT SETTLES, BARS, AND WAIVES ANY AND ALL CLAIMS THAT SHE HAS OR COULD POSSIBLY HAVE AGAINST THE RELEASED PARTIES THROUGH THE DATE OF THE AGREEMENT.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, and intending to be legally bound, the Parties agree to the terms of the Agreement.

| BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE TOWNSHIP OF HAMILTON, MERCER COUNTY, | : | DECISION |
| RESPONDENT. | : | |

The record, proposed settlement agreement and Initial Decision issued by the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1, have been reviewed.

Upon review, the Commissioner observes that the President of the Hamilton Township Board of Education signed the agreement on behalf of the Board. The file does not contain a copy of the Board's resolution approving the settlement and designating the Board President to sign the agreement on its behalf – as required by N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.13 under these circumstances – nor is the resolution attached to the settlement agreement itself. In the alternative, the agreement is not signed by the Board attorney, who is the Board's duly authorized representative in litigation. Without either the Board attorney's signature or the appropriate Board resolution approving the settlement agreement and designating the Board President to sign the agreement on its behalf, the Commissioner cannot approve the within settlement.

Accordingly, the Commissioner hereby remands this matter to the OAL for revision of the settlement agreement consistent with the concerns set forth above. If the parties are unwilling or unable to reach accord on a modified agreement for submission to the Commissioner, the matter shall proceed to hearing.

IT IS SO ORDERED. Kimberley Harrington

SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT AND GENERAL RELEASE

This SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT AND GENERAL RELEASE (hereinafter "Agreement", "Settlement" and/or "Release") is being entered into among and between DR. DAVID PERRY (hereinafter "Dr. Perry" or "Releasor") and HAMILTON TOWNSHIP BOARD OF EDUCATION shall hereinafter collectively be referred to as the "Releasees". Dr. Perry and Releasees shall hereinafter collectively be referred to as the "Parties".

WHEREAS, Dr. Perry was previously employed by HAMILTON TOWNSHIP BOARD OF EDUCATION in the position of Varsity Boys' Basketball Coach at Steinert High School, (hereinafter "Employment Contract"); and

WHEREAS, HAMILTON TOWNSHIP BOARD OF EDUCATION, did not renew Dr. Perry in the position of Head Coach of the Varsity Boys' Basketball at Steinert High School for the 2015-16 school year (hereinafter "Action"); and

WHEREAS, Dr. Perry initiated litigation against HAMILTON TOWNSHIP BOARD OF EDUCATION, alleging that the non-renewal of his employment as Head Coach of the Varsity Boys' Basketball Position was in violation of the Open Public Meetings Act and was done for arbitrary and capricious reasons; and

WHEREAS, the Parties wish to resolve the litigation initiated by Dr. Perry in the interest of the public without the need for further litigation, and all of Dr. Perry's claims and potential claims against Releasees, hereby stipulate to settle same, subject to the terms and conditions set forth herein; and

WHEREAS, the meaning, effect and terms of this Agreement have been fully explained to Dr. Perry, who understands that this Agreement settles, bars, and waives any and all claims that he could possibly have against Releasees as of the date of this Agreement;

NOW, THEREFORE, in consideration of the mutual promises, covenants, agreements and representations contained herein, the legal sufficiency of which is acknowledged by the Parties, and intending to be legally bound hereby, the Parties agree as follows:

1. Settlement and General Release of Dr. Perry's Claims. In consideration for Releasees promises and representations made herein, Dr. Perry, individually and on behalf of his heirs, representatives, immediate family members (including, but not limited to, his spouse and children), agents, successors and assigns, hereby releases Releasees, board members of the HAMILTON TOWNSHIP BOARD OF EDUCATION, subsidiaries, shareholders, directors, officers, employees, agents, attorneys, insurers, affiliates, predecessors, successors, assigns, heirs, and all persons acting by, through, under or in concert with any of them (hereinafter collectively referred to as "Released Parties"), from any and all charges, complaints, claims, liabilities, obligations, promises, agreements, controversies, damages, actions, causes of action, suits, rights, demands, costs, losses, debts and expenses, and from any claims of any nature whatsoever, known or unknown, which Dr. Perry now has, claims to have, owns, holds or which Dr. Perry at any time heretofore had, held, or claimed to have based on events occurring through the date of execution of this Agreement, to the fullest extent allowed by law. This release includes, without limitation, claims arising under 42 U.S.C. § 1981, Title VII of the Civil Rights Act, the Americans with Disabilities Act, the Age Discrimination in Employment Act, the Americans with Disabilities Act, the Family Medical Leave Act, the National Labor Relations Act, the Employee Retirement Income Security Act (save for claims related to vested benefits, which are exempted from this release), the Equal Pay Act, the New Jersey Law Against Discrimination, The New Jersey Conscientious Employee Protection Act, the New Jersey Workers' Compensation Act, as well as any other federal, state, local, or municipal statute, ordinance or regulation that prohibits improper discrimination, harassment or retaliation in the workplace or otherwise relates to or regulates employment relationships. In addition, this Release extends to and covers claims for tortious conduct or breach of express or implied contract, including wrongful discharge, breach of covenant of good faith and fair dealing, intentional or negligent infliction of emotional distress, breach of contract or implied contract, negligence, misrepresentation, fraud, detrimental reliance, promissory estoppel, defamation, invasion of privacy, conspiracy, breach of laws governing safety in the workplace, loss of consortium, or any claims under federal, state, and local statutory and common law relating in any manner whatsoever to his employment with HAMILTON TOWNSHIP BOARD OF EDUCATION or the non-renewal of that employment relationship in the position of Head Coach of Varsity Boys' Basketball at Steinert High School. Dr. Perry represents and warrants that he has not sold, assigned, transferred, conveyed or otherwise disposed of any claim, demand or cause of action, including any claim for attorneys' fees, against Releasees that relate to the matters stated above.

2. Payment. Releasees, or their agent, shall remit a check to Dr. Perry, or his attorney, in the amount of one year's coaching stipend for the position of Head Coach of Varsity Boys' Basketball as set forth in the Collective Bargaining Agreement between the Hamilton Township Education Association and Hamilton Township Board of Education as applicable to the 2015-16 school year in full payment for this Release, inclusive of attorney's fees. The settlement proceeds are for pensionable income. The settlement amount shall be reduced by all lawful deductions.

3. No Admissions. The Parties agree that this Settlement, including the Releasees approval of same, does not constitute an admission of liability or wrongdoing by either party.

4. Liens. It is further understood that as a condition of this Settlement, all claims and/or liens, past, current and/or future arising out of this Settlement or asserted against the proceeds of this Settlement are to be satisfied by Releasor and/or his attorneys, including but not limited to any Child Support Judgment liens, Medicare or Medicaid claims and/or liens, Worker's Compensation claims and/or liens, Social Security claims and/or liens, hospital/healthcare insurer claims and/or liens, physician or attorney claims and/or liens, or any of the statutory, equitable, common law or judgment claims and/or liens, including, but not limited to, claims based on subrogation or any other legal or equitable theory. Releasor therefore agrees, upon prompt presentation of any such claims and/or liens, to defend Releasees against any such claims and/or liens, and to indemnify and hold Releasees harmless against any judgment entered against Releasees based on such claims and/or liens, including the payment of any fines, charges and/or attorney's fees incurred as a result of any such lien. Failure to satisfy any such lien shall be considered a breach of this Agreement and Releasor and his attorney(s) agree to pay all costs, interest and attorney's fees relative to any such lien.

5. Confidentiality. This Agreement shall be treated as confidential and shall not be disclosed to anyone other than the Parties, their accountants and their counsel. Upon any inquiry into the status of this case, all Parties to this Agreement shall state, "The Matter has resolved." To the extent that the Board must comply with a lawful request for a copy of this Release, the Parties agree that the Board's disclosure of this Release shall not violate this Agreement.

6. Public Interest Served. The within Settlement will serve the public interest, eliminating additional litigation costs.

7. No Other Legal Action by Dr. Perry. Dr. Perry confirms that he does not have any charge, complaint or action pending in any forum or form against any of the Released Parties as of the date hereof. Further, Dr. Perry covenants and agrees not to bring any charge, complaint, action, suit, or administrative proceeding in any forum before any federal, state, or local administrative agency or in any federal, state or local court against any of the Releasees, including members HAMILTON TOWNSHIP BOARD OF EDUCATION's board of trustees, for any actions that could or did arise or accrue prior to and including the date of this Agreement. This covenant extends to, but is not limited to, proceedings to negate, modify or reform this Agreement, though nothing in this paragraph is intended to limit Dr. Perry from instituting legal action for the sole purpose of enforcing Releasees' obligations to him under this Agreement. Dr. Perry understands that, by signing this Agreement, he waives any rights he may have to recover money or other relief in any lawsuit or proceeding he brings, or that is brought on his behalf, by any agency or third party against any of the Releasees based on events arising out of or relating to his employment with HAMILTON TOWNSHIP BOARD OF EDUCATION through the date of this Agreement. Except where otherwise permitted under this paragraph, Dr. Perry agrees that any action he may file against any of the Released Parties based on events that transpired on or before the effective date hereof shall be dismissed with prejudice upon presentation of this Agreement.

8. Assent to Terms. The parties hereby acknowledge that they have entered into this Agreement with a full understanding of their rights and obligations and that they were fully informed of the implications of this Agreement by their respective attorneys, and they do so without duress, of their own free will and volition.

9. Non-Disparagement. Dr. Perry and his immediate family agree not to make, publicly or privately, through any media or medium (including, without limitation, comments on social networking sites), any disparaging or derogatory remarks or otherwise make statements that could injure the business or reputation of any of the Released Parties and\or the Board Members of the Released Parties relative to this Agreement or related to the Board Members' votes upon the Superintendent's recommendation to appoint him to the Head Coach of Varsity Boys' Basketball occurring on August 26, 2015. The Board, including the Board Members and the central administration, agree not to make, publicly or privately, through any media or medium (including, without limitation, comments on social networking sites), any disparaging or derogatory remarks or otherwise make statements that could injure the business or reputation of any of the Released Parties and\or the Board Members of the Released Parties relative to this Agreement or related to the Board Members' votes upon the Superintendent's recommendation to appoint him to the Head Coach of Varsity Boys' Basketball occurring on August 26, 2015.

10. Entire Agreement. This Agreement sets forth the entire agreement between Dr. Perry and Releasees. Dr. Perry acknowledges and agrees that Releasees have not made any promises to him other than those set forth in this Agreement. This Agreement may be modified only upon an express written agreement between the Parties. Because counsel for Dr. Perry had a full opportunity to review this Agreement with him before he signed it, the language of this Agreement shall in all cases be construed as a whole, according to its fair meaning and not strictly for or against any of the Parties.

11. Disputes. The validity, performance, construction, and effect of this Agreement shall be governed by the substantive laws of the United States and the State of New Jersey. The Superior Court of New Jersey, Mercer County, shall have jurisdiction to implement and enforce this Agreement and its terms.

12. Severability. The invalidity or unenforceability of any provision of this Agreement, whether in whole or in part, shall not in any way affect the validity or enforceability of any other provision contained herein.

13. Counterparts; Exchange by Electronic Means. This Agreement may be executed in counterparts, which shall be taken together as the entire agreement of the Parties hereto. This Agreement may also be exchanged by the Parties via electronic mail for the purposes of securing signatures and will be fully enforceable as an original document.

DR. PERRY ACKNOWLEDGES THAT HE HAS READ THIS AGREEMENT, UNDERSTANDS IT AND IS ENTERING INTO IT KNOWINGLY AND VOLUNTARILY AND NOT AS A RESULT OF ANY PRESSURE, COERCION OR DURESS.

DR. PERRY AGREES THAT HE HAS HAD A REASONABLE AND SUFFICIENT TIME AND OPPORTUNITY TO CONSULT WITH COUNSEL, AND THAT HE HAS FULLY DISCUSSED AND REVIEWED THE TERMS CONTAINED IN THIS AGREEMENT WITH COUNSEL PRIOR TO EXECUTING IT, OR FREELY CHOSEN NOT TO DO SO.

DR. PERRY FURTHER UNDERSTANDS, ACKNOWLEDGES AND AGREES THAT THIS AGREEMENT CONTAINS A GENERAL RELEASE OF CLAIMS AS TO ALL RELEASED PARTIES, AND THAT THIS AGREEMENT SETTLES, BARS, AND WAIVES ANY AND ALL CLAIMS THAT HE HAS OR COULD POSSIBLY HAVE AGAINST THE RELEASED PARTIES THROUGH THE DATE OF THIS AGREEMENT.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, and intending to be legally bound, the Parties agree to the terms of this Agreement.

| PETITIONER, | : | |
| V. | : | COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION |
| BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE TOWNSHIP OF PLUMSTED, OCEAN COUNTY, | : | DECISION |
| RESPONDENT. | : | |

SYNOPSIS

Pro se petitioner challenged the determination of the respondent Board that his son, S.J., was not the subject of acts of harassment, intimidation or bullying (HIB), in violation of the New Jersey Anti-Bullying Act (Act), N.J.S.A. 18A:37-13 et seq. Petitioner alleged that his son had been harassed and bullied as a tenth grader by way of a series of internet postings which targeted S.J. The Board and the Ocean County Prosecutor's office conducted an investigation of the postings, but were unable to identify any of the responsible parties. S.J.'s parents were advised by letter in April 2015 of the results of the HIB investigation, and the Board's conclusion that the investigation had not sustained any findings of HIB. Subsequent to an unsuccessful appeal before the Board in November 2015, the petitioner filed the instant matter, which also sought an order compelling the Board to conduct further investigation into the continued harassment of S.F. The Board filed a motion for summary decision.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: there are no genuine issues of material fact in this case, and the matter is ripe for summary decision; the Commissioner will not overturn a decision of a local board unless the action is determined to be arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable; petitioner bears the burden of proof to show that the Board failed to comply with the requirements of the Act; in the instant matter, S.J. was the subject of numerous inappropriate internet communications, the content of which constituted harassment and/or bullying; the Board timely conducted an investigation of the internet postings, including interviews with nine students as well as S.J. and his father; the Board's technology team was unable to identify any parties responsible for the harassing posts; the County prosecutor's office was brought in to conduct their own investigation; again, the responsible parties could not be identified; N.J.S.A. 18A:37-13 et seq lays out a board of education's obligations in responding to an HIB complaint; here, undisputed facts indicate that the Board complied with all substantive and procedural requirements of the Act; after both investigations failed to identify the individuals responsible for the internet postings, the Board prepared an HIB report and met with S.J. and his parents to discuss the investigation. The ALJ concluded that the Board followed all hearing and appeal protocols in this matter; accordingly, the petitioner failed to carry his burden to demonstrate that the Board failed to comply with the provisions of the HIB law. The ALJ granted summary decision to the Board, and dismissed the petition.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurred with the ALJ's findings and conclusions. Accordingly, the Initial Decision of the OAL was adopted as the final decision in this matter for the reasons expressed therein, and the petition of appeal was dismissed.

This synopsis is not part of the Commissioner's decision. It has been prepared for the convenience of the reader. It has been neither reviewed nor approved by the Commissioner.

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law have been reviewed. The parties did not file exceptions to the Initial Decision.

Upon such review, the Commissioner concurs with the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) that the Board's decision in connection with S.J. was not arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable, and the Board is entitled to summary decision. Accordingly, the recommended decision of the ALJ is adopted for the reasons expressed therein and the petition of appeal is hereby dismissed.

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On March 15, 2016, petitioner G.J. on behalf of his son, S.J. filed a Petition of Appeal with the Commissioner of Education (Commissioner) seeking to have the decision of the respondent Board of Education of the Township of Plumsted (Board) finding of no HIB under the Anti-Bullying Bill of Rights Act reversed. The matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law as a contested matter on March 15, 2016. N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 14F-1 to -13. Petitioner also seeks an order compelling the Board to conduct further investigation of the continued harassment of S.J. The Board filed a Motion for Summary Decision on September 15, 2016. The petitioner filed a response on September 27, 2016. For the reasons discussed below, and finding no material facts in dispute, the Board's Motion to Dismiss is GRANTED and the matter is, therefore, DISMISSED.

FACTUAL DISCUSSION AND FINDINGS OF FACT

Petitioner alleges that his son, S.J., a tenth grade student at the time, was being harassed and bullied. A series of internet postings which targeted S.J. were posted in January 2015. The Board and the County Prosecutor's office conducted an investigation but were unable to identify any of the responsible parties. The anti-bullying coordinator at the school met with G.J. in February 2015. The Board advised S.J.'s parents of the results of their HIB investigation by letter dated April 15, 2015. The Board concluded that their investigation did not sustain any findings of HIB. After an unsuccessful appeal in person to the Board on November 18, 2015, the within appeal was filed.

The following facts are undisputed and I FIND as FACT:

1. S.J. is an eleventh grade student at Plumsted High School. S.J. was a tenth grader when the HIB complaint was filed.

2. In January 2015, S.J. was the subject of numerous inappropriate internet communications which constituted harassment and/or bullying.

3. The internet postings consisted of photographs or pictures with overlaid text which contained inappropriate messaged about S.J. There were numerous postings, all directed at S.J.

4. The Board conducted an investigation of the postings. The investigation included interviews with nine students, and interviews with S.J. and his father, G.J.

5. Extensive efforts were made by the Board's technology team to ascertain who the creators of the inappropriate internet postings were. They were unable to identify the responsible parties.

6. In addition to the Board's technology team, the Board contacted the County prosecutor's office, who conducted their own investigation. They were also unable to identify any responsible parties.

7. On February 19, 2015, the Board determined that they had insufficient evidence to attribute a violation of the HIB policy to any individuals.

8. The parents of S.J. were notified of the results of the investigation by letter dated April 20, 2015.

9. On October 14, 2015, the petitioner appeared at the board of education meeting and made a statement regarding the alleged bullying and the investigation by the Board.

10. On November 9, 2015, the Board met with G.J. and his son to further discuss the matter. At that time, G.J. formally requested an appeal of the findings.

11. An appeal hearing was conducted before the Board on November 18, 2015. At the hearing, the Board reiterated that there was insufficient information to identify a responsible party and therefore, a HIB action could not be instituted. A copy of the HIB report was provided to G.J.

12. The Board advised G.J. that if additional information came to light which could identify the individuals responsible for the postings the investigation would be reopened.

13. G.J. filed an appeal seeking to have the finding of the Board of no HIB action reversed and a further investigation conducted.

LEGAL ANAYLSIS AND CONCLUSION

Summary decision is the administrative counterpart to summary judgment in the judicial arena. N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5 provides that summary decision should be rendered "if the papers and discovery which have been filed, together with the affidavits, if any, show that there is no genuine issue as to any material fact challenged and that the moving party is entitled to prevail as a matter of law." This language is substantially similar to the guidelines for summary judgment under R. 4:46-2(c), which provides in part that the judgment or order sought shall be rendered if the pleadings, depositions, answer to interrogatories and admissions on file. Together with the affidavits, if any, show that there is no genuine issue as to any material fact challenged and that the moving party is entitled to a judgment or order as a matter of law.

The New Jersey Supreme Court has encouraged trial-level courts "not to refrain from granting summary judgment when the proper circumstances present themselves." Brill v. Guardian Life Ins. Co. of Am., 142 N.J. 520, 541 (1995). While cautioning that a judge should not weigh the truth of the evidence or resolve factual disputes at this early stage of the proceedings, the Court clarified that "when the evidence 'is so one-sided that one party must prevail as a matter of law,' the trial court should not hesitate to grant summary judgment." Id. at 540 (citations omitted).

The burden of proving unreasonableness for actions that is within the management's prerogative for a local board of education is on petitioner. G.M. v. Roselle Park Borough Bd. of Educ., 95 N.J.A.R.2d (EDU) 107, 109. Local board action will not be "usurped or assumed by the Commissioner of Education absent a definitive showing of bad faith or arbitrary actions taken in bad faith without a rational basis." Ibid. Local boards of education have reasonable discretion for various managerial matters. Boult and Harris v. Bd. of Educ. of Passaic, 1939-49 S.L.D. 7, 13, affirmed, State Board of Education 15, affirmed, 135 N.J.L. 329 (Sup. Ct. 1947), 136 N.J.L. 521 (E. & A. 1947).

The Anti-Bullying Act was enacted to "strengthen the standards and procedures for preventing, reporting, investigation and responding to incidents of harassment, intimidation and bullying" occurring both on and off of school grounds. N.J.S.A. 18A:37-13.1(f). The Act defines "harassment, intimidation or bullying" (HIB) as:

> Any gesture, any written, verbal or physical act, or any electronic communication, whether it be a single incident or a series of incidents, that is reasonably perceived as being motivated either by any actual or perceived characteristic, such as race, color, religion, ancestry, national origin, gender, sexual orientation, gender identity and expression, or a mental, physical or sensory disability, or by any other distinguishing characteristic, that takes place on school grounds . . . that substantially disrupts or interferes with the orderly operation of the school or the rights of other students and that:
> (a) A reasonable person should know, under the circumstances, will have the effect of physically or emotionally harming a student or damaging the student's property, or placing a student in reasonable fear of physical or emotional harm to his person or damage to his property;
>
> (b) Has the effect of insulting or demeaning any student or group of students; or
>
> (c) Creates a hostile educational environment for the student by interfering with a student's education or by severely or pervasively causing physical or emotional harm to the student.
>
> [N.J.S.A. 18A:37-14.]

In addition the above definition of HIB, the Act provides for a specific procedure for investigating and reporting allegations of HIB events. When information identifying an incident of HIB is reported to the school principal, "the investigation shall be initiated by the principal or the principal's designee within one school day of the report of the incident and shall be conducted by a school anti-bullying specialist." N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(b)(6)(a). The investigation must be completed within "ten school days from the date of the written report of the" HIB incident. Ibid. Thereafter, a parent or guardian may request a hearing before a school board. N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(b)(6)(d). Among the obligations of a board of education is to respond to a complaint of HIB, and to issue a written decision affirming, rejecting, or modifying a superintendent's decision which the parents/guardians have ninety days to appeal to the Commissioner of Education. N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(b)(6).

In this case, the Burden is on the petitioner to demonstrate that the Board failed to comply with the foregoing provision of the HIB law. However, the undisputed facts indicate that the Board complied with the entire substantive and procedural requirement of the Act. The Board immediately instituted an investigation into the matter which was reported by G.J. on behalf of his son, S.J. The Board interviewed nine separate witnesses as well and G.J. and his parents. The Board engaged the technology department to try to ascertain who was responsible for the postings. When the Board was unable to ascertain who was responsible, they contacted the prosecutor's office to see if they had some technology that was more advanced to try to identify who had made the postings. After the prosecutor's office was unable to identify who was responsible for the postings, the Board prepared a HIB report dated February 11, 2015. The Board also met with S.J. and his parents to discuss the investigation and the issues that they were facing in terms of identifying the individuals responsible for the postings. All hearing and appeal protocols were followed.

Accordingly, I CONCLUDE that the petitioner's appeal of the finding of no HIB is hereby DISMISSED and the request for an additional investigation is hereby DENIED.

ORDER

It is hereby ORDERED that the Board's Motion to Dismiss is supported by the facts and the supporting law and is, therefore, GRANTED and the petition of appeal is DISMISSED.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

Re: J.J., on behalf of minor child, M.J. v. New Jersey State Interscholastic Athletic Association, Dkt. No. 303-12/16.

Dear Counsel:

I have reviewed the materials filed in connection with the motion for emergent relief filed by the petitioner in the above-captioned matter. The petitioner is appealing the decision of the Executive Committee of the New Jersey State Interscholastic Athletic Association (NJSIAA) affirming the decision of the Eligibility Appeals Committee (EAC), which found that M.J. transferred from Shawnee High School to Timber Creek Regional High School (Timber Creek) for athletic advantage, and ruled that M.J. is ineligible to participate in football for the 2016 season.

Pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-7.4 and N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6(b), a grant of emergent relief is considered an extraordinary remedy that can only be issued upon a finding that petitioner has met the four-pronged standard set forth in Crowe v. DeGioia, 90 N.J. 126 (1982). The party seeking such relief must demonstrate the existence of each of the following: 1) the movant will suffer irreparable harm if the requested relief is not granted; 2) the legal right underlying the movant's claim is settled; 3) the movant has a likelihood of prevailing on the merits of the underlying claim; and 4) when the equities and interests of the parties are balanced, the movant will suffer greater harm than the other party if the requested relief is not granted. N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6(b).

Upon review of the parties' submissions, I find that the petitioner has failed to meet the standard required for emergent relief. Most notably, the petitioner has failed to demonstrate a likelihood of success on the merits of the underlying appeal. The Commissioner's scope of review in matters involving NJSIAA decisions, including determinations made by the Executive Committee and the EAC, is appellate in nature. N.J.S.A. 18A:11-3; Board of Education of the City of Camden v. NJSIAA, 92 N.J.A.R. 2d (EDU) 182, 188. That is, the Commissioner may not overturn an action by the NJSIAA in applying its rules, absent a demonstration by the petitioner that it applied such rules in a patently arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable manner. N.J.A.C. 6A:3-7.5(a)(2); B.C. v. Cumberland Regional School District, 220 N.J. Super. 214, 231-232 (App. Div. 1987). Nor may the Commissioner substitute his own judgment for that of the NJSIAA, where due process has been provided and where there is sufficient credible evidence in the record as a whole to serve as a basis for the decision reached by the NJSIAA. N.J.A.C. 6A:3-7.5(a)(1).

Generally, when a student-athlete transfers from one school to another without a bona fide change of residence by the student's parent or guardian, there is a 30-day period of ineligibility in any sport in which the student has previously participated. Article V, Section 4 (K)(2) (a) of the NJSIAA Bylaws, Rules and Regulations. New Jersey high schools have agreed that students should not transfer from one school to another for reasons of athletic advantage. Pursuant to Article V, Section 4 (K)(5),

> Any evidence of a transfer for athletic advantage shall subject the athlete to a prompt determination of eligibility by the Eligibility Appeals Committee and may subject the school and the athlete to disciplinary proceedings as set forth in Article X herein. A transfer for athletic advantage is defined as, but not limited to:
>
> a. Seeking a superior athletic team;
> b. Seeking relief due to a conflict with the philosophy or action of an administrator, teacher or coach relating to sports;
> c. Seeking a team consistent with the student's athletic abilities;
> d. Seeking a means to nullify punitive action by the previous school; or > e. Seeking to be coached by the coach at the new school.

Therefore, if it is determined that the athlete transferred to another school for an athletic advantage, the athlete is subject to an extended period of ineligibility beyond 30 days.

In this case, after hearing testimony from an investigator from the Camden County's Prosecutor's Office,[1] as well as from M.J. and his parents, the EAC found that the explanations for transferring other than for athletic advantage were inadequate.[2] The petitioner maintains that his son's transfer was based on financial reasons; however, there is evidence in the [1] There was an independent investigation being conducted by the Camden County Prosecutor's Office as to students transferring to Timber Creek who may not have actually resided in the school district.

[2] The Black Horse Pike Regional School District concurs with the EAC's decision that M.J. transferred to the district for athletic advantage.

record to support the EAC's finding that M.J. transferred for athletic advantage. In its decision, the EAC cited excerpts from an interview between the investigator and the petitioner whereby he indicated that his son was playing football "where he wants to play" and that he was arranging to give his son what "my son wanted to do and what I wanted him to do." During the interview, the petitioner also stated that his son was happy to play football at Timber Creek because the school has one of the best quarterbacks in the State.[3] Additionally, despite the petitioner's argument to the contrary, there is no evidence in the record indicating that the NJSIAA applied its rules differently to the other student athletes that transferred to Timber Creek. Petitioners seeking to overturn decisions of the NJSIAA bear a heavy burden, and – considering the record of this matter in light of the prescribed standard of review – the Commissioner finds that the petitioner has failed to demonstrate a likelihood of success on the merits.

In light of the fact that all of the Crowe prongs must be met in order for emergent relief to be granted, it is not necessary to analyze the three remaining factors. Accordingly, the petitioner's request for emergent relief and an Order permitting M.J. to participate in the Timber Creek football program is hereby DENIED. [4]

Sincerely,

Kimberley Harrington

DECISION

SYNOPSIS

These consolidated petitions sought various forms of relief in regard to the renewal or nonrenewal of the contract of the Superintendent of the Jersey City Public Schools, Dr. Marcia Lyles. The matter involves a determination as to whether the Superintendent's contract was renewed by operation of law in accordance with N.J.S.A. 18A:17-20.1. The Jersey City Education Association filed a motion for summary decision on the second petition, while motions to dismiss were filed by respondents in both consolidated matters.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: these consolidated cases raised the question as to whether the parties may alter the provisions of N.J.S.A. 18A:17-20.1 by contract; Dr. Lyles' contract expired on June 30, 2016 and, in accordance with N.J.S.A. 18A:17-20.1, the Board had up until March 2, 2016 to inform her as to the nonrenewal of her contract; however, the terms of Lyle's contract altered the date for the Board to advise her of impending renewal or nonrenewal to December 31, 2015; the effect of this contract provision was to give the outgoing Board the authority to make the determination of renewal or nonrenewal of the Superintendent's contract prior to the successor Board taking office; further, Lyle's contract concerning renewal or nonrenewal – which stated that "failure to notify the Superintendent by December 31, 2015 of an intention to renew will mean that an offer of renewal is not being made" – was contrary to the requirements of N.J.S.A. 18A:17-20.1, which provides that the superintendent is deemed reappointed for another term unless the board provides her with timely written notice that she will not be renewed. The ALJ determined that the Board failed to provide Dr. Lyles with written notice that she was not being renewed; accordingly, her contract was renewed by operation of law on March 2, 2016. The ALJ recommended that the within petitions be dismissed.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurred with the ALJ's findings and conclusions. Accordingly, the recommended decision of the OAL was adopted as the final decision in this matter. The petition was dismissed.

This synopsis is not part of the Commissioner's decision. It has been prepared for the convenience of the reader. It has been neither reviewed nor approved by the Commissioner.

COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION

DECISION

The record of this consolidated matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed, as have the exceptions filed pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4 by the petitioners, Lorenzo Richardson and the Jersey City Education Association (JCEA), and the respective reply exceptions filed by the respondents: the Jersey City Board of Education; Dr. Marcia Lyles and Vidya Gangadin; and Ramon Rivera.

This matter involves a determination as to whether the contract of Dr. Lyles, Superintendent of the Jersey City Public Schools, was renewed by operation of law in accordance with N.J.S.A. 18A:17-20.1. Pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:17-20.1:

> At the conclusion of the term of the initial contract or of any subsequent contract as hereinafter provided, the superintendent shall be deemed reappointed for another contracted term of the same duration as the previous contract unless either:
>
> a. the board by contract reappoints him for a different term which term shall be not less than three nor more than five years, in which event reappointments thereafter shall be deemed for the new term unless a different term is again specified; or
> b. the board notifies the superintendent in writing that he will not be reappointed at the end of the current term, in which event his employment shall cease at the expiration of that term, provided that such notification shall be given prior to the expiration of the first or any subsequent contract by a length of time equal to 30 days for each year in the term of the current contract. (Emphasis added)

The Administrative Law Judge determined that the Board failed to provide the Superintendent with written notice that she was not being renewed and, as a result her, contract was renewed by operation of law. In reaching this conclusion, the ALJ found that the non-renewal provision in the Superintendent's contract was contrary to the mandatory written notice requirement in N.J.S.A. 18A:17-20.1, and therefore void. As a result, the ALJ recommended that the petitions of appeal be dismissed.

In his exceptions, Mr. Richardson maintains that the ALJ improperly dismissed his petition of appeal. Mr. Richardson argues that the failure of Vidya Gangadin, Board President, to follow the appropriate procedures that would have enabled the Board to make a decision to renew or non-renew the Superintendent's contract was unethical and a manipulation of the law. The Initial Decision should have left it up to the majority of the full Board to decide whether to renew the contract of the Superintendent, not an individual Board member or the Board attorney. In the alternative, Mr. Richardson contends that a full hearing is necessary so all of the facts can come out and a fully informed decision can be made in this matter.

The JCEA and its named members also take exception to the ALJ's finding that their petition of appeal should likewise be dismissed. The JCEA argues that the ALJ erroneously found that the non-renewal provision in the Superintendent's contract was invalid. The JCEA contends that the statutory written notice of non-renewal referenced in N.J.S.A. 18A:17-20.1 was provided to the Superintendent by virtue of a contract provision negotiated by her with the Board. According to the Superintendent's contract, the Board agreed "that by December 15, 2015 it shall notify the Superintendent in writing whether it desires to renew this Agreement for an additional period of time, and of the terms and conditions proposed for that period. Failure to notify the Superintendent by that date of an intention to renew will mean that an offer of renewal is not being made." The JCEA argues that the contract provision is in writing and it constitutes written notice of non-renewal if the required affirmation expression of a desire to renew is not present. The Board did not notify the Superintendent prior to December 31, 2015 that it had a desire to renew her contract.

The JCEA also argues that the ALJ incorrectly found that the non-renewal provision in the contract improperly alters the statute. The use of the written contract notice provision, which is triggered by a failure to state a desire to renew, is not inherently illegal and does not violate any term of N.J.S.A. 18A:17-20.1. The JCEA emphasizes that nothing in the statute specifies what form the written notice of non-renewal must take and the Commissioner has held that the failure to adopt a resolution to renew a superintendent's contract is, in and of itself, a sufficient basis to give statutory notice of non-renewal. See, Jose Negron v. Board of Educ. of the Borough of South Plainfield, Middlesex County, Commissioner Decision No. 137-11, decided March 28, 2011, Aff'd Superior Court App. Div. (December 3, 2012). Moreover, there is nothing in the statute or elsewhere that prevents the exercise of discretion by a board of education to give more notice of potential non-renewal to the superintendent. The JCEA also notes that there could be no finding of automatic renewal of the Superintendent's contract prior to December 31, 2015 because it would be a violation of common law in that it would have been binding on a future Board which was to take office in January 2016 – well before the expiration of the Superintendent's existing contract. Finally, the JCEA states that the ALJ improperly inferred facts not in the record concerning the intentions of the Board members.

In reply, the respondents argue that the ALJ correctly dismissed the petitions of appeal because, by operation of law, the Superintendent's contract was renewed pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:17-20.1.[1] The respondents assert that the petitioners' exceptions are based almost entirely on a regurgitation of their previous arguments. Additionally, the JCEA illogically relied upon Negron, supra, for the erroneous proposition that the Board's inaction is a sufficient basis to give statutory notice of non-renewal of the Superintendent's contract. In this case, it has been admitted that there was no notice whatsoever provided to the Superintendent of the non-renewal of her contract within the statutory time frame. In contrast, in Negron, supra, there was no question that after the board failed to adopt the resolution for renewal, the superintendent had received written notice of non-renewal within the statutorily-prescribed time period. Negron, supra at 3.

The respondents also contend that the ALJ properly held that the language in N.J.S.A. 18A:17-20.1 is mandatory in nature, and that the contract provision at issue impermissibly altered the Board's obligation to provide written notice of non-renewal under N.J.S.A. 18A:17-20.1. The ALJ's finding was not based upon any provision in the contract lengthening the time within which the Board was required to provide written notice; rather, the language in the contract states the opposite, and reverses the Board's mandatory obligation under the statute. Thus, there was no error in the Initial Decision finding that the entirety of the contract provision which excused the Board from providing any notice whatsoever, by the deadline of December 31, 2015, was contrary to the mandatory terms of the statute and therefore void.

Upon a comprehensive review of the record, the Commissioner concurs with the ALJ's determination that Superintendent Lyles's contract was renewed by operation of law under N.J.S.A. 18A:17-20.1 because the Board did not provide her with written notice that she was not being renewed by the statutory deadline. The Commissioner is also in accord with the ALJ's finding that the nonrenewal provision contained in the Superintendent's contract cannot be used as a substitute for the written notice that is required by N.J.S.A. 18A:17-20.1.

N.J.S.A. 18A:17-20.1 establishes a mechanism whereby a superintendent is reappointed by operation of statute for another contracted term of the same duration when the Board neither reappoints – by contract – to a new term, nor provides written notice of the board's intent not to reappoint by the applicable deadlines. In this case, the Board was required to provide written notice of nonrenewal to the Superintendent by March 2, 2016 and it is undisputed that the Board did not provide such written notice.[2] Despite the JCEA's argument to the contrary, the non-renewal provision contained in the Superintendent's contract did not constitute the required written notice of non-renewal mandated by N.J.S.A. 18A:17-20.1.[3] Under the contract provision relied on by the JCEA, the Board's failure to notify the Superintendent by December 31, 2015 of an intention to renew her contract means that an offer of renewal is not being made. That provision is inconsistent with N.J.S.A. 18A:17-20.1, which requires an affirmative obligation by the Board

[2] N.J.S.A. 18A:17-20.1 requires written notice "shall be given prior to the expiration of the first or any subsequent contract by a length of time equal to 30 days for each year in the term of the current contract." In this case it is undisputed that the notice was required to be provided to the Superintendent by March 2, 2016.

[3] The Commissioner also finds that the contents of the Board's agenda on January 21, 2016 and February 18, 2016 did not satisfy the notice requirement.

to provide the Superintendent with written notice of nonrenewal prior to March 2, 2016. The parties were not permitted to agree to a contractual provision that effectively negated the statutory requirement of written notice by including a provision in the Superintendent's contract that was inconsistent with the type of notice mandated by N.J.S.A. 18A:17-20.1. See, Rita Spiewak, et al. v. Board of Educ. of Rutherford, et al., 90 N.J. 63, 76 (1982) ("It is now well settled that public employees and employers may not agree to contractual terms that contravene a specific term or condition of employment set by a statute.")

Accordingly, the Superintendent was reappointed by operation of law for another contracted term of the same duration as the previous contract.[4] The Initial Decision of the OAL is adopted as the final decision in this matter and the petitions of appeal are hereby dismissed.

IT IS SO ORDERED.[5]

BEFORE RICHARD McGILL, ALJ:

This consolidated proceeding involves two petitions seeking various forms of relief in regard to the renewal or nonrenewal of the contract of the Superintendent of the Jersey City Public Schools. In one petition, Lorenzo Richardson, who is a member of the Jersey City Board of Education ("Board"), argues primarily that the Board should be required to vote on the renewal of the contract. Respondents Vidya Gangadin and Ramon Rivera maintain that the case is moot and that the petition is without merit as a matter of law.

In the other petition, the Jersey City Education Association ("JCEA") and three individuals contend that the Superintendent's contract was not renewed by the Board or by operation of law. Respondents Dr. Marcia V. Lyles and the Board maintain that these petitioners lack standing and that the Superintendent's contract was renewed by operation of law and seek dismissal of the petition.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Richardson filed his petition with the Department of Education on March 1, 2016, pursuant to the authority of the Commissioner of Education under N.J.S.A. 18A:6-9 to hear and determine controversies and disputes arising under the school laws. Along with the petition, Richardson filed a motion for emergent relief. The matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law for determination as a contested case.

On March 7, 2016, Gangadin filed a motion to dismiss and opposition to petitioner's request for emergent relief. An oral argument in regard to the motion for emergent relief was conducted on March 8, 2016, at the Office of Administrative Law in Newark, New Jersey. The undersigned's Order dated March 9, 2016, denying the request for emergent relief, was adopted by the Commissioner in a Decision on Application for Emergent Relief dated April 6, 2016.

Rivera joined in Gangadin's motion to dismiss, and Richardson submitted papers in opposition. Both respondents filed replies to Richardson's opposition papers.

On March 14, 2016, JCEA and the three individuals filed a petition of appeal with the Commissioner of Education challenging the view that Dr. Lyles' contract was renewed by the Board or by operation of law. On April 4, 2016, Dr. Lyles filed a motion to dismiss in lieu of answer pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.5(g). The Board filed a similar motion on the same date.

On April 7, 2016, JCEA's petition was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law for determination as a contested case. On May 5, 2016, JCEA filed a motion for summary decision and a brief in support thereof and in opposition to the motion to dismiss. On May 16, 2016, the undersigned moved sua sponte to consolidate the two matters. An Order consolidating the two matters was issued on June 3, 2016.

By letter dated July 6, 2016, the undersigned advised the parties that the motions to dismiss would be considered first and set a schedule for additional submissions and that JCEA's motion for summary decision would be held in abeyance. In accordance with the schedule, the Board and Dr. Lyles submitted separate replies to JCEA's opposition to their motions to dismiss.

The two petitions in this matter are similar, but they are sufficiently different that it is more appropriate to consider them separately. The motion to dismiss Richardson's petition will be considered first.

PETITION OF LORENZO RICHARDSON

Richardson's petition is not set forth in separate counts, but there are in effect two main contentions. The first contention is that the failure to vote on Dr. Lyles' new contract violated N.J.S.A. 18A:17-15, which relates to appointments of superintendents. The second contention is that Dr. Lyles' contract was nonrenewed pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:17-20.1, which concerns reappointments of superintendents.

The petition states that it seeks to summon a special meeting of the Board to convene and vote on the renewal of the Superintendent's contract before March 1, 2016, in accordance with a Resolution, which provides in pertinent part as follows: "THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED that the Jersey City Board of Education hereby approves the renewal of the Superintendent's employment contract for a term to be decided before the end of the current contract."

Respondent Gangadin's motion to dismiss in regard to this matter is based primarily on mootness. Respondent Rivera adds failure to state a claim upon which relief can be granted. For purposes of the latter type of motion, all facts alleged in the complaint and all legitimate inferences therefrom are deemed admitted. Rieder v. Dep't of Transp., 221 N.J. Super. 547, 552 (App. Div. 1987).

The essential factual allegations as set forth in the petition are as follows: Vidya Gangadin is the president of the Board, Richardson and Gerald Lyons are members of the Board, and Ramon Rivera is the Board attorney. Dr. Marcia V. Lyles has been the Superintendent since August 2012, and her contract was due to expire on June 30, 2016. A provision of Dr. Lyles' contract states as follows:

> 11. RENEWAL OR NON-RENEWAL
> The parties agree that prior to October 31, 2015, the Superintendent shall notify the Board of her desire to extend her employment on the terms offered or upon other terms upon which the parties may agree. The Board agrees that by December 31, 2015 it shall notify the Superintendent in writing whether it desires to renew this Agreement for an additional period of time, and of the terms and conditions proposed for that period. Failure to notify the Superintendent by that date of an intention to renew will mean that an offer of renewal is not being made.

At a caucus meeting on December 15, 2015, Lyons and Richardson demanded that the Superintendent's contract be placed on the agenda for a Board meeting scheduled for December 17, 2015. With three of the nine members not voting due to conflicts and Lyons and himself opposed, Richardson anticipated that the resolution to renew would fail to receive the five-vote majority of the entire membership needed for approval. Contrary to the request of Richardson and Lyons, the resolution as prepared for the December 17 Board meeting said "not renew" as opposed to "renewal." This resolution was also likely to fail to receive five votes and in effect be reason for renewal.

Richardson does not mention the December 17, 2015 meeting itself, but Gangadin's certification indicates that Richardson and Lyons were not present for that meeting. With only four non-conflicted Board members present for the meeting, Gangadin pulled the resolution from the Board's agenda. As a result, there was no vote on any resolution in regard to the Superintendent's contract.

On December 31, 2015 and thereafter, Board attorney Rivera advised the Board that the Superintendent's contract was automatically renewed because the Board failed to notify her of nonrenewal by the December 31, 2015 deadline in her contract.

Lyons attempted to add his resolution to the agenda for the Board meeting on January 21, 2016, but was unsuccessful. Richardson made another request to Gangadin to place a resolution concerning the Superintendent's contract on the agenda for the February 18, 2016 Board meeting. The resolution was not placed on the agenda. Richardson made a motion during that meeting to place the resolution on the agenda. Lyons was willing to second the motion, but due to difficulties with his connection from a remote location, he was unable to do so. As a result, the resolution was not placed on the agenda and was not considered at the Board meeting on February 18, 2016.

There were three opportunities, i.e., the Board meetings in December 2015 and January and February 2016, to vote on the Superintendent's contract. Nonetheless, the Board members were not given the opportunity to vote on the contract.

Richardson relies on N.J.S.A. 18A:17-15, which provides that a board of education may by contract appoint a superintendent of schools "by the recorded roll call vote of the full membership of the board." Based upon this statute, petitioner argues that the president of board must schedule, and that there must be, a vote of the members of the board on the Superintendent's contract. Richardson also cites N.J.S.A. 18A:17-20.1, which provides as follows:

> At the conclusion of the term of the initial contract or of any subsequent contract as hereinafter provided, the superintendent shall be deemed reappointed for another contracted term of the same duration as the previous contract unless either: a. the board by contract reappoints him for a different term which term shall be not less than three nor more than five years, in which event reappointments thereafter shall be deemed for the new term unless a different term is again specified; or b. the board notifies the superintendent in writing that he will not be reappointed at the end of the current term, in which event his employment shall cease at the > expiration of that term, provided that such notification shall be given prior to the expiration of the first or any subsequent contract by a length of time equal to 30 days for each year in the term of the current contract.

The difficulty with Richardson's first argument is that N.J.S.A. 18A:17-15 uses the word "may" and is therefore permissive by its terms. Nonetheless, in the case of an original appointment, there does not appear to be any alternative to an appointment pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:17-15. A reappointment differs in that N.J.S.A. 18A:17-20.1 provides that a superintendent may be deemed reappointed under certain circumstances. In effect, a superintendent can be deemed reappointed by operation of law.

As a general principle of statutory construction, a specific provision controls over a general one. Williams v. Am. Auto Logistics, 226 N.J. 117, 126 (2016). This case involves a reappointment of a school superintendent. Because N.J.S.A. 18A:17-20.1 specifically relates to reappointments, it is the applicable statute in this case. It follows that N.J.S.A. 18A:17-15 does not mandate a vote under the circumstances of this case.

Gangadin and Rivera further argue that the issue is moot because the last date for a vote would have been March 2, 2016, which is 120 days prior to the expiration of the contract of Dr. Lyles in accordance with N.J.S.A. 18A:17-20.1. A case is moot when the decision sought will have no practical effect on the controversy. Greenfield v. New Jersey Dep't of Corrections, 382 N.J. Super. 254, 257-58 (App. Div. 2006). Here, the deadline of March 2, 2016, for a vote in regard to the renewal of Dr. Lyles' contract is now in the past, and a timely vote is not possible. It follows that Richardson's request that the Commissioner allow a vote on a resolution concerning Dr. Lyles' contract is now moot.

Richardson also relies on N.J.S.A. 18A:17-20.1. In the petition, Richardson requested recognition of December 31, 2015, as the contract notification deadline and a determination that Dr. Lyles' contract was not renewed in accordance with its terms because the Board did not give notice of its intention to renew the contract by that date.

The main difficulty with this request is that the relief would adversely affect the Board and Dr. Lyles. It is noteworthy that JCEA seeks substantially the same relief against the Board and Dr. Lyles. While Gangadin and Rivera are the proper respondents in regard to the question of a vote, the same cannot be said for this type of relief. Because the requested relief cannot be granted in a petition naming Gangadin and Rivera and not the Board and Dr. Lyles as respondents, this portion of the petition must be dismissed. Under the circumstances, I CONCLUDE that Richardson's petition must be dismissed in its entirety with prejudice.

PETITION OF JCEA

The petition of JCEA, Ronald F. Greco, Jr., Monique K. Andrews and Ellen Zadroga (collectively "JCEA") is set forth in four counts. Count I requests a determination that Dr. Lyles' contract was not authorized for renewal by December 31, 2015, and that the terms of her contract stand as written notice to her of her nonrenewal, barring the application of N.J.S.A. 18A:17-20.1 to create an automatic renewal of her contract. Count I seeks to enjoin the Board from continuing the employment contract of Dr. Lyles as Superintendent after June 30, 2016, unless the Board votes on a resolution to extend her contract by a majority vote of its full membership. In the event that the matter is not resolved by June 30, 2016, JCEA seeks an order requiring the immediate termination of the employment contract of Dr. Lyles as Superintendent of Schools.

Set forth in the alternative to Count I, Count II requests a determination that if any notice of contract renewal was issued by an agent of the Board to Dr. Lyles before or after December 31, 2015, it was null and void as outside the authority of the issuing party due to a lack of Board action or authorization. JCEA again seeks the same relief as set forth in Count I.

Set forth in the alternative to Counts I and II, Count III alleges that an election of Board members was held in November 2015 and that the Board's organizational meeting with the newly elected board members took place on January 5, 2016. JCEA further alleges that allowing the lame duck Board sitting in December 2015 to automatically renew Dr. Lyles' contract, which was not due to renew until June 30, 2016, after the new board took office in January 2016, constitutes a violation of the common law prohibition barring a sitting board from binding a successor board to a contract which will begin during the new Board's term. As a result, alteration of the timelines specified in N.J.S.A. 18A:17-20.1 to set December 31, 2015, as the deadline for automatic renewal would be contrary to the intent of that statute and create a violation of the prohibition barring a sitting board from binding a successor board. JCEA again seeks the same relief as set forth in Count I.

Set forth in the alternative to Counts I, II and III, Count IV alleges that the requested relief must be granted based upon events that have transpired since the Board's reorganization meeting on January 5, 2016. JCEA alleges that on two occasions, January 21, 2016, and February 18, 2016, motions to add renewal of the Superintendent's contract to the agenda were rejected or failed to come to a vote. In each case, Dr. Lyles was present at the meeting and observed the Board's failure to agree to even vote on the renewal of her contract. According to JCEA, each of these instances constituted clear and adequate notice prior to March 2, 2016, such that Dr. Lyles' contract was not subject to automatic renewal under N.J.S.A. 18A:17-20.1. Based upon the allegations in Count IV, JCEA requests the same relief as in Counts I, II and III.

As respondents in this matter, the Board and Dr. Lyles have filed motions to dismiss JCEA's petition. First, respondents maintain that JCEA lacks standing to challenge the Board's conduct as it relates to the continued employment of Dr. Lyles as Superintendent of Schools. Second, respondents maintain that JCEA's challenge is moot. Third, respondents contend that Dr. Lyles' contract has automatically renewed by operation of law. The Board also maintains that the petition should be dismissed because the District should not be required to provide separate defenses to the same claim.

Standing will be considered first. In Count I of its petition, JCEA set forth the facts in regard to itself and the three individual petitioners as follows:

1. Petitioner Ronald F. Greco Jr. is a citizen and taxpayer of the City of Jersey City and the President of the Jersey City Education Association ('the Association'). The Association is the majority representative for grievances and collective negotiations for non-supervisory and non-administrative certificated and certain non-certificated employees of the Jersey City Public School District.

2. Petitioner Monique K. Andrews is a citizen and taxpayer of the City of Jersey City whose children attend the Jersey City public schools.

3. Petitioner Ellen Zadroga is a citizen and taxpayer of the City of Jersey City.

Standing is a threshold justiciability determination whether the litigant is entitled to initiate and maintain an action before a court or other tribunal. In re Six Month Extension of N.J.A.C. 5:91, 372 N.J. Super. 61, 85 (App. Div. 2004), certif. denied, 182 N.J. 630 (2005). New Jersey cases have historically taken a liberal approach to the issue of standing. Crescent Park Tenants Ass'n v. Realty Equities Corp. of N.Y., 58 N.J. 98, 101 (1971). Wide recognition has been given to suits by associations. Id., at 109. To have standing, a party must present a sufficient stake in the outcome of the litigation, a real adverseness with respect to the subject matter and a substantial likelihood that the party will suffer harm in the event of an unfavorable decision. In re Camden County, 170 N.J. 439, 449 (2002). When a case presents a question of substantial public interest, any slight additional private interest harmonizing with the public interest is sufficient to give standing. Falcone v. De Furia, 103 N.J. 219, 226 (1986).

Here, Greco, Zadroga and Andrews are residents of Jersey City and taxpayers. These individuals have a legitimate interest in the orderly, efficient and legally sound administration of the Jersey City public schools. Andrews has a child who attends the Jersey City public schools as well as a niece and a nephew. Greco is an employee of the Jersey City School District and the Association President. The Association represents its members who are likely to be impacted by determinations made by the Superintendent. Zadroga has two children who are employed by the Board and two grandchildren who are students in the District. Finally, the appointment of the superintendent has a substantial impact on the public interest as the position of superintendent affects the quality of the public schools and their administration. It follows that JCEA has standing to bring the petition in this matter.

The Board and Dr. Lyles maintain that JCEA's petition should be dismissed as the claims are moot since Dr. Lyles maintains a statutory right to employment because her contract was already renewed by operation of law. Further, JCEA's alternative contentions are irrelevant and meritless.

The law in regard to mootness is set forth above. The motions to dismiss on the basis of mootness prematurely assume that Dr. Lyles' contract has been renewed by operation of law. This assumption is unwarranted without full consideration of the issue on its merits. It follows that the motions to dismiss on the basis of mootness are without independent merit.

Pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.10, a petition may be dismissed on the grounds that petitioner has advanced no cause of action even if petitioner's factual assertions are accepted as true. This rule is analogous to a motion to dismiss for failure to state a claim upon which relief can be granted under R. 4:6-2. With this type of motion, all alleged facts and legitimate inferences that may be drawn therefrom are deemed admitted. Rieder v. Dep't of Transp., 221 N.J. Super. at 552.

Counts I, II and III relate to Dr. Lyles contract and specifically the section, which is set forth above, pertaining to renewal or nonrenewal. In Count I, JCEA maintains in essence that the Board did not vote to renew Dr. Lyles' contract and that in accordance with the terms thereof the failure to notify the Superintendent by December 31, 2015, means that an offer of renewal is not being made. Since the litigation has not been resolved by June 30, 2016, JCEA seeks the immediate termination of Dr. Lyles as the Superintendent of Schools.

In Count III, JCEA maintains that allowing the lame duck Board sitting in December 2015 to renew Dr. Lyles' contract, which remained in effect until June 30, 2016, which is after the new board took office in January 2016, would constitute a violation of the common law prohibition barring a prior board from binding a successor board to a contract which will begin during the new board's term. Further, the alteration of the timelines specified in N.J.S.A. 18A:17-20.1 to set December 31, 2015, as the deadline for automatic contract renewal would be contrary to the intent of the statute. JCEA seeks the same relief as in Count I.

JCEA's position raises two concerns as to the validity of the section of Dr. Lyles' contract pertaining to renewal or nonrenewal. The first concern is that this section violates the prohibition barring a sitting board from binding a successor board. The second concern is that the section is inconsistent with N.J.S.A. 18A:17-20.1.

The common law rule is that "an official empowered to appoint a public officer may not forestall the rights and obligations of his successor by making an appointment where the term of the appointee will not take effect until after the expiration of the term of the appointing officer." Georgia v. Suruda, 154 N.J. Super. 439, 448 (Law. Div. 1977). This principle was applied in Gonzalez v. Bd. of Educ. of the Elizabeth Sch. Dist., 325 N.J. Super. 244 (App. Div. 1999), where a board of education gave its superintendent notice one year before the expiration of his term, as was required by N.J.S.A. 18A:17-20.1 at the time, that his contract would not be renewed. Thereafter, on February 8, 1995, the board of education appointed a new superintendent for a term of three years beginning on July 1, 1996, when the prior superintendent's term expired. After the annual school board election on May 1, 1996, the newly constituted board reappointed the former superintendent to that position and returned the individual appointed by the old board to his prior position as assistant superintendent. On appeal by the individual appointed superintendent on February 8, 1995, the court determined that N.J.S.A. 18A:17-20.1 did not empower the old board to appoint a new superintendent at the time that it gave notice of nonrenewal to the prior superintendent. The principle barring an outgoing board from binding its successor applied in this situation, and the appointment of the new superintendent on February 8, 1995, was void ab initio.

Here, Dr. Lyles' contract expired on June 30, 2016, and in accordance with N.J.S.A. 18A:17-20.1, the Board had until March 2, 2016, to inform her as to nonrenewal of her contract. According to the terms of Dr. Lyles' contract, the date for the Board to advise her as to renewal or nonrenewal was extended to December 31, 2015. While a board of education may give notice at any time prior to the expiration of the minimum period for notice required by N.J.S.A. 18A:17-20.1, the effect of the contract provision was to give the old board the authority to make the determination as to renewal or nonrenewal of the Superintendent's contract for term to begin after the new board takes office. This result is fundamentally inconsistent with the principle that an outgoing board cannot bind its successor by making an appointment which does not take effect until after the expiration of the term of the appointing officer. It follows that the section of Dr. Lyles' contract concerning renewal or nonrenewal is not valid.

The second concern is whether the section of Dr. Lyles' contract concerning renewal or nonrenewal is consistent with N.J.S.A. 18A:17-20.1, which provides in pertinent part that the superintendent is deemed reappointed for another term, unless the board provides him with timely written notice that he will not be renewed. Reversing the consequences of lack of notification, the contract provides that "[F]"ailure to notify the Superintendent by [December 31, 2015] of an intention to renew will mean that an offer of renewal is not being made."

The question is whether the parties may alter the provisions of the statute by contract. In some instances, the provisions of a statute may not be altered by contract. In Spiewak v. Rutherford Bd. of Educ., 90 N.J. 63, 66 (1982), the Court stated as follows:

> [P]ublic employees and employers may not agree to contractual terms that contravene a specific term or condition of employment set by a statute. "If the legislature establishes a specific term or condition of employment that leaves no room for discretionary action, then negotiation on that term is fully preempted." [Id., at 76 (citation omitted)]

In Spiewak, the Court determined that this principle applies to tenure rights. In contrast, where a statute by its terms provides for discretion, the parties may agree to contract provisions within the range thereof. Wright v. Bd. of Educ. of the City of East Orange, 99 N.J. 112, 119 (1985).

N.J.S.A. 18A:17-20.1 states in part that the superintendent "shall" be deemed reappointed. This language is mandatory in nature, but the term "shall" is modified by the word "unless" which applies in two situations. One is not relevant to this case, and the second relates to a situation where the board provides timely notice in writing that the superintendent will not be reappointed at the end of the current term. The provision as to notice allows some discretion in that a board could provide a longer period for notice provided that it did not violate some other provision of law such as the rule barring a sitting board from binding a successor board as to an appointment which takes effect during the term of the latter. Nonetheless, the discretion does not extend to reversing the statutes central purpose which was to provide that in the absence of timely written notice, the superintendent is deemed reappointed for another contract term. It follows that the section of Dr. Lyles' contract related to renewal and nonrenewal is invalid because it conflicts with a mandatory provision of N.J.S.A. 18A:17-20.1.

These principles can now be applied to Counts I, II and III. With respect to Count I, JCEA maintains that the Board did not give Dr. Lyles notice of its intention to renew the contract by December 31, 2015, and therefore, the terms of Dr. Lyles' contract give her written notice of her nonrenewal, barring the application of N.J.S.A. 18A:17-20.1 to renew her contract automatically. The difficulty with JCEA's argument is that the section of Dr. Lyles' contract concerning renewal or nonrenewal is invalid and has no effect. It follows that Count I of JCEA's petition must be dismissed.

Count II is set forth in the alternative to Count I and states in part "If any notice of contract renewal was issued by an agent of the board to Dr. Lyles before or after December 31, 2015, petitioners submit it is null and void as outside the authority of the issuing party due to lack of board action or authorization . . . ." It is noteworthy that Count II does not actually allege additional facts and that there is no indication in the other papers that any such notice was ever issued to Dr. Lyles. It follows that Count II does not state any cause of action and should be dismissed.

Count III is set forth in the alternative to Counts I and II and states in essence that allowing the lame duck Board sitting in December 2015 to automatically renew the contract of Dr. Lyles would constitute a violation of the common law principle barring a prior board from binding a successor board to a contract which will begin during the new board's term. JCEA's assertion that the section of Dr. Lyles' contract pertaining to renewal or nonrenewal violates the above-mentioned common law principle has been accepted as correct. Nonetheless, that assertion does not lead to the conclusion that the requested relief should be granted. Rather, the present situation is governed by N.J.S.A. 18A:17-20.1 without regard to the contract provision. Because Count III does not warrant any relief, it should be dismissed.

In Count IV, JCEA alleges that events in January and February 2016 constitute clear and adequate notice to Dr. Lyles that the Board did not intend to renew her contract. According to JCEA, Dr. Lyles was present at Board meetings on January 21, 2016, and February 18, 2016, where motions to add renewal of her contract to the agenda were rejected or did not come to vote.

The question is whether it can legitimately be inferred from the meetings in January and February 2016 that the Board did not intended to renew Dr. Lyles' contract. A key consideration with respect to this question is that at the meeting on December 17, 2015, its attorney had advised the Board that the notice of nonrenewal had to be given to the Superintendent by December 31, 2015, or her contract would be renewed under State law. In view of this advice, the only reasonable inference is that the Board did not address Dr. Lyles' contract during the meetings in January and February 2016, because members believed that the contract was already renewed. It is not a legitimate inference that the Board did not address the matter during its meetings in January and February 2016 because members had the intention to advise Dr. Lyles of nonrenewal of her contract. Additionally, the Board never gave Dr. Lyles notification that her contract would not be renewed. It follows that Count IV must be dismissed.

The purpose of N.J.S.A. 18A:17-20.1 is to give superintendents a measure of job security. Gonzalez v. Bd. of Educ. of the Elizabeth Sch. Dist., 325 N.J. Super. at 254. This case presents a good example of a situation where a superintendent should not lose her employment because two members oppose her and the board of education cannot make a decision requiring a majority its full membership as the result of conflicts. It follows that JCEA's petition should be dismissed in its entirety with prejudice.

Based upon the above, I CONCLUDE that both petitions in this matter should be dismissed. Accordingly, it is ORDERED that:

1. Richardson's petition be dismissed in its entirety with prejudice.
2. JCEA's petition be dismissed in its entirety with prejudice.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. ## SYNOPSIS

Petitioner challenged the determination of the respondent Board that his daughter, A.L., engaged in harassment, intimidation and bullying (HIB) pursuant to New Jersey's Anti-Bullying Bill of Rights Act (Act), N.J.S.A. 18A:37-13 et seq. The Board alleged that A.L., who was seven years old during the period pertinent to this matter, was one of several girls who bullied a classmate on the school bus because of her speech disability. Petitioner sought an order reversing the Board's determination that A.L. committed an HIB offense, and removing any reference to the alleged incident from A.L.'s school records. Petitioner maintained that the Board violated the Act's mandatory procedural requirement and that A.L.'s conduct did not rise to the level of HIB under the statute. The Board argued that it conducted an adequate investigation and that its determination was not arbitrary or capricious. The petitioner filed a motion for summary decision.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: summary decision is appropriate, as there are no material facts at issue in this case; petitioner herein asserted that the Board committed four procedural errors: 1) failed to issue a written decision as required in the Act, 2) failed to review the investigation report prior to affirming the HIB charge against A.L., 3) failed to provide the required information about the HIB investigation to petitioner in writing, and 4) incorrectly advised petitioner that there was a ten-day limitation on requesting an "appeal" before the Board, and that such request must be made in writing; the respondent Board's argument that its decision to affirm the superintendent's recommendation of HIB was memorialized in writing – in both a letter from the school principal to petitioner and in the minutes of its March 24, 2015 Board meeting – is without merit, as these documents cannot be construed as the written decision required under the Act; the Board's use of the HIB Committee to fulfill its responsibility of reviewing the investigation report was permissible under the Act; the principal's letter to petitioner did not provide information about the nature of the HIB investigation or about the discipline imposed and, accordingly, did not meet the Act's requirement to provide petitioner with this information in writing; and the Board incorrectly advised A.L.'s parents of their rights under the statute by representing that there was a ten-day limitation on requesting a hearing. The ALJ concluded that the Board did not comply with the procedural safeguards provided under the Act, and the determination of an HIB violation under these circumstances was arbitrary and capricious. Accordingly, the ALJ ordered that the HIB determination be reversed and any reference to HIB be deleted from A.L.'s school record.

Upon review, the Commissioner, inter alia, concurred that there were procedural errors made in this case, but found that the ALJ erred in ordering the reversal of the HIB finding and the removal of reference to HIB from A.L.'s record. Accordingly, the Commissioner ordered the Board to conduct a hearing and issue a proper written decision in this matter.

| BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE BRIDGEWATER-RARITAN REGIONAL SCHOOL DISTRICT, SOMERSET COUNTY, | : | DECISION |
| RESPONDENT. | : | |

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law ("OAL") have been reviewed, as have the exceptions filed pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4 by the parties. In this matter, petitioner alleges that the Board's determination that A.L. violated its harassment, intimidation and bullying ("HIB") policy is arbitrary and capricious because the Board failed to comply with the procedural safeguards under the Anti-Bullying Bill of Rights Act ("the Act"). Petitioner also argues that A.L.'s conduct did not rise to the level of HIB under the statute, and seeks removal of any reference to the alleged incident from A.L.'s school records. Respondent contends that the Board did not violate the procedural requirements under the Act, and that it conducted a proper investigation.

The ALJ found that the Board made three of the four procedural errors alleged by petitioner. The ALJ concluded: the Board did not issue a written decision pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(b)(6)(e); the Board did not provide the parents with written information about the HIB investigation pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(b)(6)(d); the Board incorrectly advised the parents of their rights under the statute when it notified the parents of a 10-day timeframe within which to request a hearing; and the Board's utilization of a committee to review the HIB matter and subsequently report to the Board was a procedurally acceptable practice. Although the ALJ did not make a determination as to whether A.L.'s actions constituted a violation of the HIB policy, the Initial Decision recommended that the HIB determination against A.L. be reversed and any reference to HIB be deleted from A.L.'s school records because the Board failed to comply with the procedural safeguards under the Act.

Respondent takes exception to the ALJ's conclusion that the Board violated procedural requirements of the statute because it did not issue a written decision, did not provide the parents with written information about the HIB investigation, and incorrectly advised the parents of their rights under the statute. The Board further argues that the ALJ erred in concluding that the only remedy in this matter is to reverse the decision and remove any reference to same in A.L.'s file. Respondent submits that "remand" of the matter to the Board for a hearing on the substantive HIB issues is the appropriate remedy. Petitioner has filed a reply to respondent's exceptions, arguing that the ALJ correctly found that the Respondent violated the procedural requirements of the Act, and the only appropriate remedy in this case is reversal of the HIB finding.

Upon a comprehensive review of the record, the Commissioner agrees in part and disagrees in part with the ALJ's determination. Specifically, the Commissioner agrees that the Board's utilization of an HIB committee to review the matter and report to the Board was an appropriate practice. The Commissioner further agrees that the Board failed to properly comply with the procedural requirements set forth in N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(b)(6); however, the Commissioner finds that such noncompliance did not deprive petitioner or A.L. of their due process rights under the Act. The Commissioner disagrees with the ALJ's conclusion that the Board erroneously advised the parents of a timeframe within which to request a hearing. The Commissioner finds that although there is no time limit set forth in the statute, it was necessary for the Board to establish a deadline, as will be discussed below. Furthermore, the fact that the Board continued to provide the parents with opportunities for a hearing beyond the 10-day deadline mitigates any adverse consequence of "misinformation." Lastly, the Commissioner finds that the appropriate remedy is to order the Board to conduct a hearing and to issue a proper decision.

N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(b)(6)(d) provides in relevant part, "parents or guardians of the students who are parties to the investigation shall be entitled to receive information about the investigation . . . this information shall be provided in writing within 5 school days after the results of the investigation are reported to the board." Additionally, N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(b)(6)(e) provides, "at the next board of education meeting following its receipt of the report, the board shall issue a decision, in writing, to affirm, reject, or modify the superintendent's decision." Here, respondent argues that the Board minutes and Principal Kerr's March 25, 2015 letter – which followed the HIB Committee's review of the matter on March 19, 2015 – and a reporting of the matter to the full Board's review on March 24, 2015, satisfy the requirements under N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(b)(6)(e). Respondent also argues that phone calls and correspondence between the parents and the District, as well as the March 25, 2015 letter, meet the requirements of N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(b)(6)(d). Petitioner argues that the March 25, 2015 letter did not fully inform the parents of the nature of the investigation or the decision imposed, as required under N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(b)(6)(d), and that the same letter did not satisfy the Board's responsibility to issue a written decision pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(b)(6)(e).

The Commissioner finds that neither the Board minutes nor the March 25, 2016 letter constitute a written decision by the Board in accordance with N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(b)(6)(e). First, under no circumstances can any board minutes be substituted for a requirement of a written decision by a board on an HIB matter. Second, a school principal is not a proper agent to issue a HIB decision on behalf of the Board. Here, the content of the March 25, 2015 letter also does not explicitly set forth the Board's consideration of the matter and its decision to affirm, reject or modify the superintendent's determination.[1] Someone who is authorized to speak on behalf of the board must notify the parents of the Board's decision on the superintendent's determination/recommendation; had that been done, the March 25, 2015 letter would have constituted a Board decision meeting the requirements of N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(b)(6)(e). Absent this criteria, the Board failed to issue a proper written decision.

The Commissioner further finds that the March 25, 2015 letter – which was intended to satisfy the requirements of N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(b)(6)(d) – informed the parents of the nature of the investigation and the finding of HIB, but did not set forth in writing the discipline imposed. Based on the HIB investigation report and correspondence in the record, it is evident that the parents were in frequent communication with the District and were aware of the details (and on notice) of the HIB matter and investigation, as well as the discipline imposed. Therefore, failure to include the discipline imposed in the March 25, 2015 letter is de minimus.

With regard to the deadline established by the District in its March 25, 2015 letter, the Commissioner finds that it was necessary for the Board to do the same. N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(b)(6)(c) provides, "the results of each investigation shall be reported to the board of education no later than the date of the board of education meeting next following the completion of the investigation. . . ." The parents or guardians need to be notified within five school days after the results of the investigation are reported to the board, and "a parent or guardian may request a hearing before the board after receiving the information." N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(b)(6)(d). Significantly, N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(b)(6)(e) provides, "at the next board of education meeting following receipt of the report, the board shall issue a decision. . . ." The present language of the statute does not set forth a specific number of days within which a parent should request a hearing, nor does it prohibit a board of education from setting forth a timeline within which to receive requests of a hearing, which has led to considerable disagreement between the parties in the matter. As noted in N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(b)(6)(d), the parents may request a hearing after they receive the investigation information, e.g, the superintendent's recommendation: in essence, the parents are appealing the superintendent's decision to the board. Thus, it simply would not make sense for parents to request a hearing after the board has considered and affirmed the superintendent's decision at its "next" meeting. Additionally, without any time limit on the parents' option to request a hearing, HIB matters would remain "open" on the district level for an extensive period of time, at the detriment of the students involved. Therefore, a clear reading of the statute suggests that the request for the hearing should be made as soon as possible following the parents' receipt of the investigation information because a board has to render a decision at the "next" board meeting after its receipt of the report. As such, it follows that the parents need to request a hearing before the "next" board meeting takes place – in the time period between receipt of the investigation information and the next board meeting. This timeframe is logical and practical based on the language of the statute, and therefore a deadline to request a hearing – set forth by a board – would not violate a parent's procedural due process rights under the Act.

In this case, the investigation was completed on or about March 17, 2015; the results were reported to the HIB Committee on March 19, 2015 and to the full Board during its March 24, 2015 meeting. Therefore, the Board should have rendered a decision at its next meeting, on April 14, 2015; [2] this means that the parents needed to request a hearing in advance of the April 14, 2015 meeting. In this situation, the onus is on the school district to provide the parents with proper information: the District should have provided the parents with the date of the next Board meeting, and clarified the process for requesting a hearing. The Commissioner does not construe the deadline set forth by the District in this case to be a limit on the parents' rights, in light of the fact that the timeline coincided with the next Board meeting and would allow for both parties to prepare for a hearing. More importantly, through correspondence in May, June, and July, the Board provided petitioner multiple opportunities to appear for a hearing before the Board, which petitioner declined. In other words, petitioner was never denied a hearing before the Board and the record reflects that the petitioner was on notice throughout the duration of the HIB investigation process. Therefore, the Commissioner cannot find a deprivation of due process rights under such circumstances.

Finally, in the Initial Decision, the ALJ relied on Edward Sadloch, et. al. v. Board of Education of the Township of Cedar Grove, Bergen County, Commissioner Decision No. 216-15 (June 23, 2015), in determining the possible remedies to the procedural violations by the Board. The ALJ concluded that, like Sadloch, the Board failed to follow the procedures under the Act, and the sole remedy under the law is to reverse the HIB determination and to remove any reference of HIB from A.L.'s records. In Sadloch, however, the Commissioner was in accord with the ALJ's conclusions and ordered removal of reference to HIB from the records of all the named petitioners because that board failed to comply with basic investigatory procedures under the Act. Additionally, the state of the record in that case was such that a fact finder could not properly determine whether an act of HIB had occurred. Here, the Board gave petitioner notice of the allegations, conducted a thorough investigation and completed a comprehensive investigation report, and also afforded the petitioner with an opportunity to appear before the Board. See Stephen Gibble v. Board of Education of the Hunterdon Central Regional School District, Hunterdon County, Commission Decision No. 254-16 (July 13, 2016). Therefore, the Commissioner finds that the ALJ erred in ordering that the HIB finding be reversed, and that all reference to HIB be removed from the petitioner's file; instead, the proper remedy for the procedural errors set forth herein is to return the matter to the Board to provide the petitioner with a hearing on the HIB allegations. In an HIB appeal where the record is sufficient for a fact finder to determine whether an act of HIB occurred, and where the procedural violations did not deprive the petitioner of their right to notice and a hearing, any other remedy would curtail the legislative intent behind the Act.

Accordingly, the recommended decision of the ALJ is modified as stated herein and the Board is directed to provide the petitioner with a hearing and issue a proper decision.

IT IS SO ORDERED.[3]

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

In this matter, petitioner, J.L., the father of A.L., a seven-year-old during the period pertinent to this matter, challenges the determination of respondent Bridgewater-Raritan Regional School District Board of Education ("Board" or "District") that his daughter engaged in harassment intimidation bullying (HIB) under N.J.S.A. 18A:37-14 while a student at the Crim Primary School. J.L. petitioned the New Jersey Commissioner of Education seeking an order reversing Respondent's determination that A.L. committed a HIB offense and removing any reference to the alleged incident from A.L.'s school records. Petitioner maintains that that the Board's determination of a violation of HIB policy against A.L. is arbitrary and capricious[1], as a result of A.L.'s young age, and the Board's failure to perform an appropriate review or keep any record of the review process. Respondent argues that it conducted an adequate investigation of A.L.'s actions and the Board's determination is not arbitrary and capricious.

On August 3, 2015, the New Jersey State Department of Education, Bureau of Controversies and Disputes, transmitted the matter to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-8.2. On July 15, 2016, the petitioner moved for summary judgment (sic), seeking to reverse the HIB determination and removing the determination from A.L.'s school record. Respondent opposed said motion, petitioner received time to submit a reply to respondent's opposition. Petitioner submitted a reply brief on August 11, 2016. The record closed on September 15, 2016 after an initial review of the documents submitted.

FACTS

On March 4, 2015, Margaret Kerr, Principal of the Board's Crim Primary School, received an email from C.D., father of E.D. Respondent's Brief (RB), 7; Geppert Cert., Exh. B. In this email, C.D. indicated that, for about one month, his daughter had been coming home crying because some girls on the bus were "being very mean to her." Id. C.D. mentioned that his daughter had a problem pronouncing certain words and letters and that the girls on the bus were bullying her because of her speech disability. Id. E.D. named four girls as alleged perpetrators, one of whom was A.L. Id. at 7-8.

[1] Petitioner argues that the review should not be based upon whether the Board's actions were arbitrary or capricious. A determination of the scope of the review is not yet determined. Initial indications and respondent's position are that the scope of the OAL review of the Board's action is subject to a limited arbitrary and capricious analysis.

Principal Kerr referred the HIB report to the Crim School's Anti-Bullying Specialist, Jacquelyn Spagnolo, and an investigation began on March 6, 2015 (after a snow day on March 5, 2015). Id. at 8. On that day, Ms. Spagnolo spoke with E.D. regarding the alleged bullying. Id. During the conversation, E.D. identified A.L. as one of the girls who was making fun of her. Id.; Geppert Cert., Exh. C at BWRL 0059. Later, after indicating that the comments were mostly coming from another student, E.D. stated that A.L. was "not really" saying anything to her. Id.

On that same day, Ms. Spagnolo spoke with E.G., one of the alleged HIB aggressors. Id. E.G. indicated that A.L. was among the group of students who would talk about how "[E.D.] has trouble saying some words." Id.; Geppert Cert., Exh. C at BWRL 0060. Ms. Spagnolo also spoke to A.M., another alleged aggressor, who identified A.L. as one of the students "talking about [E.D.'s] voice because she had a weird accent." Id. at 9; Geppert Cert., Exh. C at BWRL 0061. Additionally, on March 6, 2015, Principal Kerr spoke with R.L., petitioner's wife, about the HIB investigation. Id. R.L. also called the Superintendent's office and spoke with Dr. Hayek's secretary. Id. On March 9, 2015, Ms. Spagnolo spoke with A.L. Id. During that conversation, A.L. stated, "Like [E.D.] has a speech problem and the girls were making fun of her and since they were doing it and I was bored, I did it also, I made fun of her speech." Id.; Geppert Cert., Exh. C at BWRL 0063. On March 11, 2015, Ms. Spagnolo again spoke to R.L., petitioner's wife, about the HIB investigation. Id. The following day, Ms. Spagnolo forwarded a separate voicemail received from R.L. to Principal Kerr's office. Id. at 10.

On March 17, 2015, Ms. Spagnolo completed the HIB Investigation Report and forwarded it to Principal Kerr for review. Id. at 10. The report concluded that A.L.'s conduct constituted HIB based on the distinguishing characteristic of E.D.'s "speech error." Id. The recommended action consisted of: 1) a verbal reprimand; 2) telephoned parents; and 3) changed bus seating. Id.; Geppert Cert., Exh. C at BWRL 0065-66.

On March 18, 2015, petitioner and his wife submitted correspondence to Superintendent Hayek acknowledging that there was an HIB investigation that involved their daughter. Id. Among other things, the petitioner wrote, "The incident on the bus was an isolated incident; if it was an ongoing problem we should have been notified." Id. at 11; Geppert Cert., Exh. D.

The results of the investigation were set forth in a report, which was received by the Superintendent on March 18, 2015. Petitioner's Brief (PB), 3. The next day, the results of the HIB investigation were considered by the Board's HIB Committee (Committee), which consists of three Board members. Id. at 3, 5-6. The Committee rendered a report, dated March 19, 2015, recommending that the HIB finding involving A.L. be affirmed. Id. at 3-4.

On March 24, 2015, the results of the investigation were unanimously affirmed at a meeting of the full Board. Id. at 4. Petitioner contends that, at this time, the Board members did not possess the actual investigation report. Id. at 5. Rather, they possessed only a summary of the HIB finding, as contained in the HIB Committee report dated March 19, 2015, stating "Target's [name redacted] father reported that aggressors are making fun of target's speech disability." Id.; Doc. 22-24. Respondent asserts that the Board possessed information beyond this summary, including the information obtained by Committee members during the HIB Committee meeting. See RB, 14.

The Board's meeting minutes reflect that a motion was made and seconded to approve a series of action items, including Item E: "Approval of the Superintendent's report of alleged HIB incidents and investigations for March 19, 2015, as well as the recommendation of the Committee to affirm the determinations and actions specified." See RB, 12; Geppert Cert., Exh. F at 0018. The minutes subsequently record the Board's vote on all action items. Id. at 12-13. However, no formal written decision was issued to affirm the HIB finding involving A.L. See PB, at 4-5.

The following day, March 25, 2015, Principal Kerr wrote to petitioner and his wife, informing them that "it was determined that your child did commit an act of harassment, intimidation, or bullying." See PB, 6; Doc. 25. The letter did not provide A.L.'s parents with information about the nature of the investigation or about the discipline, which was imposed for the HIB violation. Id. Respondents note that, prior to this date, petitioner and his wife had multiple conversations with Principal Kerr regarding the HIB investigation and that they were fully aware of the nature of the investigation and the action taken as a result. See RB, 17-18.

Additionally, Principal Kerr's letter advised A.L.'s parents that "[i]f you do not agree with the [HIB] finding(s), you have a right to appeal this decision by written request to the Superintendent within 10 days of receipt of this letter." See PB, 7; Doc. 25. Respondents point out that the parents of the three other alleged aggressors appeared before the Board at its April 14, 2015 meeting, while A.L.'s parents did not. See RB, 20. According to Respondents, A.L.'s parents never requested a hearing before the Board. Id. at 45.

LEGAL DISCUSSION

Summary decision, or as it is known in judicial matters, summary judgment, is a well-recognized procedure for resolving cases in which the facts that are crucial to the determination of the matters at issue are not actually in dispute and the application to that set of material facts of the applicable law and standard of proof lead to a determination of the case without the necessity of a hearing at which evidence and testimony need be taken. The procedure is equally applicable in judicial and executive-branch administrative cases. N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5. The standards for deciding motions for summary decision are contained in Judson v. People's Bank and Trust Co. of Westfield, 17 N.J. 67, 74–75 (1954). The Supreme Court later elaborated on the motion and its standard in Brill v. Guardian Life Insurance Co. of America, 142 N.J. 520 (1995). Under the Brill standard, as in Judson, a motion for summary decision may only be granted where there is no "genuine issue" of "material fact." The determination as to whether genuine issues of material fact exist is made after a "discriminating search" of the record, consisting as it may of affidavits, certifications, documentary exhibits and any other evidence filed by the movant and any such evidence filed in response to the motion, with all reasonable inferences arising from the evidence being accorded to the opponent of the motion. In order to defeat the motion, the opposing party must establish the existence of "genuine" issues of material fact. The facts upon which the party opposing the motion relies to defeat the motion must be something more than

"facts which are immaterial or of an insubstantial nature, a mere scintilla, 'fanciful, frivolous, gauzy or merely suspicious.'" Judson, supra, 17 N.J. at 75 (citations omitted). The Brill decision focuses on the analytical procedure for determining whether a purported issue of material fact is "genuine" or is of an "insubstantial nature." Brill, supra, 142 N.J. at 530. Brill concludes that the same analytical process used to decide motions for a directed verdict is used to resolve summary-decision motions. "[T]he essence of the inquiry in each is the same: 'whether the evidence presents a sufficient disagreement to require submission to a jury or whether it is so one-sided that one party must prevail as a matter of law.'" Id. at 536 (quoting Anderson v. Liberty Lobby, Inc., 477 U.S. 242, 251–52, 106 S. Ct. 2505, 2512, 91 L. Ed. 2d 202, 214 (1986)). In searching the proffered evidence to decide the motion, the judge must be guided by the applicable substantive evidentiary standard of proof, that is, the "burden of persuasion" that would apply at trial on the merits, whether that is the preponderance-of-the-evidence standard or the clear-and-convincing-evidence standard. If a careful review under this standard establishes that no reasonable fact finder could resolve the disputed facts in favor of the party opposing the motion, then the uncontracted facts thus established can be examined in the light of the applicable substantive law to determine whether or not the movant is clearly entitled to judgment as a matter of law. However, where the proofs in the record are such that "reasonable minds could differ" as to the material facts, then the motion must be denied and a full evidentiary hearing held. Id. at 535 (citation omitted).

Petitioner's two main arguments are that respondent violated the Anti-Bullying Bill of Rights Act's mandatory procedural requirements and that, in any event, A.L.'s conduct did not rise to the level of HIB under the statute. See PB, 2. Respondent contends that petitioner is not entitled to prevail as a matter of law on any of his legal arguments, as proper procedures were followed, and that the Board did not act arbitrarily, capriciously, or unreasonably in finding that A.L.'s conduct constituted HIB. See RB, 21, 51.

Whether A.L.'s conduct amounted to HIB is not an appropriate issue to be decided at this time. Rather, the alleged procedural errors and the possible remedies for these procedural errors must be addressed.

Under the New Jersey Anti-Bullying Bill of Rights Act, each school district must adopt a policy that prohibits HIB and provides for a prompt response to any alleged HIB incident. N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15. Once an alleged HIB incident is reported to the school principal, the principal must initiate an investigation within one school day of the report. N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(b)(6)(a). The investigation must be conducted by a school anti-bullying specialist and must be completed no later than ten school days from the date of the written report of the incident. Id.

Within two school days of the completion of the investigation, the results must be reported to the superintendent of schools, who may take certain remedial action. N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(b)(6)(b). The results shall also be reported to the board of education "no later than the date of the board of education meeting next following the completion of the investigation, along with information on any services provided, training established, discipline imposed, or other action taken or recommended by the superintendent." N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(b)(6)(c).

The parents of the students involved in any alleged HIB incident are entitled to receive information about the nature of the investigation, whether the district found evidence of HIB, and whether discipline was imposed. N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(b)(6)(d). This information must be provided in writing within five school days after the results of the investigation are reported to the board. Id. The parents may request a hearing before the board, and the hearing must be held within ten days of the request. Id. Any hearing shall be held in executive session to protect the identity of any students involved. Id. The board may hear from the anti-bullying specialist about the incident, recommendations for discipline or services, and any programs instituted to reduce such incidents. Id.

The board must issue a decision, in writing, at the first meeting after its receipt of the investigation report. N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(b)(6)(e). The board may affirm, reject, or modify the superintendent's decision. Id. The board's decision may be appealed to the Commissioner of Education within ninety days. Id.

Petitioner's main contention is that respondent violated the Anti-Bullying Bill of Rights Act's mandatory procedural requirements. See PB, 7. In essence, petitioner asserts that respondent committed four procedural errors: 1) Respondent failed to issue a written decision; 2) respondent failed to review the investigation report prior to affirming the HIB violation against A.L.; 3) respondent failed to provide the required information about the HIB investigation to petitioner in writing; and 4) respondent incorrectly advised petitioner that there was a ten-day limitation on requesting an "appeal" before the Board and that such a request had to be in writing.

A. Whether the Board issued a written decision

Petitioner first argues that respondent never issued a decision in writing to affirm the HIB violation against A.L. The HIB statute requires that:

> [A]t the next board of education meeting following its receipt of the report, the board shall issue a decision, in writing, to affirm, reject, or modify the superintendent's decision. N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15b(6)(e) (emphasis added). Respondent contends that this procedural requirement was met when Principal Kerr wrote a letter to Petitioner and his wife on March 25, 2015, informing them of the Board's determination that E.D. had committed an act of HIB. See RB,13. According to Respondent, "Principal Kerr was an appropriate Board agent to be delegated the responsibility of communicating the Board's decision in writing . . ." Id. at 31. However, this correspondence was not "a decision" issued by "the board," as required by the statute. As discussed further below, Principal Kerr's letter provided no information about the investigation and failed to explain the Board's rationale for its determination.

Additionally, according to respondent, "[t]he Board's decision to affirm the superintendent's recommendation in the A.L. HIB matter was also memorialized in writing by the Board Secretary, Peter Starrs, who kept the minutes of the March 24, 2015 Board meeting reflecting the Board's vote to affirm the HIB determination regarding A.L." See RB, 32. However, a record of a vote is not the same as "a decision." Again, this "writing" falls short of the statute's procedural requirements.

Thus, the Board did not issue "a decision, in writing" as required by the HIB statute. Respondent has failed to meet the procedural requirements of the Act in this respect.

B. Whether the Board reviewed the investigation report prior to affirming the HIB violation

As previously stated, the HIB statute requires that the Board issue a decision "at the next board of education meeting following its receipt of the report[.]" N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15b(6)(e). Petitioner argues that this wording indicates that 1) the Board members must actually receive "the report" before rendering a decision, and 2) the Board members must have reviewed and considered the report prior to deciding whether HIB occurred. See PB, 11-12. Respondent argues that the plain language of the statute suggests, "It is not a physical copy of the report which the Board members must be provided. Instead, the Board members must have been informed about the results of the investigation along with the information regarding the services provided, training established, discipline imposed, or other action taken or recommended by the superintendent." See RB, 28.

On March 19, 2015 the Board's HIB Committee met and discussed the recommendation of the Board's Superintendent. See RB, 13-14. According to respondent, "the Board established a HIB Committee to meet with the Superintendent and receive information about the investigation and make a recommendation regarding all HIB investigations" in order "[t]o ensure adequate attention and full and meaningful review of each HIB determination in the District." Id. at 29-30. The HIB regulations do not specifically allow or prohibit school boards from setting up committees to review HIB investigation reports and make recommendations. Districts are explicitly allowed to use such a system in other contexts. For example, regulations addressing the removal of currently enrolled students state: If district board of education policy allows, a board committee shall conduct hearings required pursuant to this subchapter and then shall make a recommendation to the full board. However, no student shall be removed except by vote of the district board of education taken at a meeting duly convened and conducted pursuant to N.J.S.A. 10:4-6 et seq., the Open Public Meetings Act. N.J.A.C. 6A:22-4.3(e). Thus, in the context of removals, a committee of the board is permitted to conduct a hearing and make a recommendation to the full board, as long as the full board is responsible for the ultimate vote. Although the HIB statute and regulations are silent regarding the use of such a committee system, this procedure is not unheard of in other areas of school board decision-making and is likely permissible.

C. Whether the Board provided the required information about the HIB investigation to A.L.'s parents in writing

The HIB statute states in relevant part:

> [P]arents or guardians of the students who are parties to the investigation shall be entitled to receive information about the investigation, in accordance with federal and State law and regulation, including the nature of the investigation, whether the district found evidence of harassment, intimidation, or bullying, or whether discipline was imposed or services provided to address the incident of harassment, intimidation, or bullying. This information shall be provided in writing within 5 school days after the results of the investigation are reported to the board. N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15b(6)(d) (emphasis added).

Here, following the Board's meeting on March 24, 2015, Principal Kerr sent a letter to A.L.'s parents dated March 25, 2015. Geppert Cert., Exh. G. In this document, Principal Kerr informed petitioner and his wife that A.L. "did commit an act of harassment, intimidation or bullying." Id. Petitioner argues that the letter did not provide him and his wife with information about the nature of the investigation or about the discipline imposed. See PB, 6. These assertions are not without merit, as the letter contains no such information.

Respondent argues that petitioner and his wife already had all of the necessary information about the investigation because of previous correspondence with Principal Kerr, Anti-Bullying Specialist Spagnolo, and the Superintendent's office. See RB, 17. Even if this is true, the statute clearly states that the information about the investigation must be provided to the child's parents or guardians in writing within five school days after the results of the investigation are reported to the board. N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15b(6)(d). The respondent did not meet this requirement.

D. Whether the Board incorrectly advised A.L.'s parents that there was a ten-day limitation on requesting an "appeal" before the Board and that such a request had to be in writing

Finally, petitioner argues that respondent communicated inaccurate information about the investigation process to petitioner in violation of petitioner's due process rights as guaranteed by the statute. See PB, 15. Pertinently, the statute provides, "A parent or guardian may request a hearing before the board after receiving the information, and the hearing shall be held within 10 days of the request." N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15b(6)(d).

In her March 25, 2015 letter to petitioner, Principal Kerr wrote, "If you do not agree with the finding(s), you have a right to appeal this decision by written request to the Superintendent within 10 days of receipt of this letter." Geppert Cert., Exhibit G. Respondent argues that the reason for this deadline is to ensure that the parent "make the request for a hearing prior to the next Board meeting when the Board is statutorily required to issue its decision." See RB, 41. However, this argument is contrary to the Commissioner of Education's guidance on the matter, which explicitly states, "There is no time limit on requesting a hearing; however, parents may want to take action as close to the investigation as possible." Petitioner's Reply Brief, 10-11; Exh. A, Doc. 187. Thus, the Board incorrectly advised A.L.'s parents of their rights under the statute.

In Sadloch, et. al v. Bd. of Educ. of the Twp. of Cedar Grove, OAL Dkt. No. EDU 00619-14, initial decision, (March 26, 2015), adopted Comm'r (June 23, 2015), http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/,http://www.nj.gov/education/legal/commissioner/2015/jun/216-15.pdf a HIB investigation was initiated when a student athlete complained that the school's football coaches were engaging in a pattern of conduct that made the football program uncomfortable for him. Id. at 2. The school board determined that the coaches had violated the HIB policy, and the coaches appealed this finding. Id. at 1, 4. Importantly, the court found that the school board failed to issue a written decision about the HIB and that the board's meeting minutes were insufficient to qualify as a "written decision by the Board." Id. at 5. Further, the Board's written communications to the parents failed to explain the rationale for the superintendent's findings, and they lacked both a description of the precise conduct at issue and the "distinguishing characteristic" that met the statutory definition of HIB. Id. at 8.

When considering the possible remedies for these procedural violations, the ALJ noted, "In theory, a remand to the Board, or allowing a hearing before me to serve as a substitute for the required local investigatory steps, are possible remedies." Id. at 19. The ALJ reasoned that such remedies would unfairly prejudice the alleged harassers because the events in question had taken place well over a year earlier. Id. The ALJ concluded, "the law permits no other remedy but the removal of any reference to HIB from these coaches' files." Id. The coaches also asserted that their conduct did not rise to HIB as defined by the law. Id. at 18. However, the ALJ noted, "the record created via the Board's internal investigation does not permit me to properly make a determination relative to this critical issue." Id. The Commissioner of Education adopted the reasons expressed in the ALJ's opinion.

Here, like in Sadloch, supra, the Board failed to follow the procedures required by the HIB statute, such as issuing a written decision and providing A.L.'s parents with a written explanation of the nature of the alleged conduct and the rationale for the superintendent's findings.

Respondent's misguided reliance on R.A. v. Bd. Of Educ., Twp. of Hamilton, EDU 10485-15, Initial Decision (May 12, 2016) adopted Comm'r. (June 22, 2016) http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/,http://www.nj.gov/education/legal/commissioner/2016/jun/223-16.pdf provides no support for its position that a decision issued, in that case the Board conducted a hearing, and issued a decision finding no HIB violation, the principal delivered the decision. Here neither the principal nor the Board's attorney can deliver a written decision issued by the Board in compliance with the regulations. Petitioner's counsel promptly questioned the procedural safeguards early on in the process on April 6, 2015. Respondent disregarded the procedural concerns raised at that time, they were in the best position to timely address same.

This tribunal makes no determination regarding whether petitioner's actions constituted an HIB violation as the respondent's violations of procedure makes determination of that issue moot. Note that the allegations are serious. A.L.'s parent(s), if they have not already done so, should discuss the consequences to the mental well-being of a student suffering from a disability, and the cruelty of those who fail to contemplate how one's words can harm.

CONCLUSION

I CONCLUDE the respondent did not comply with the procedural safeguards provided under the New Jersey Anti-Bullying Bill of Rights Act.

I CONCLUDE the determination of an HIB violation under these circumstances is arbitrary and capricious.

I CONCLUDE that the law permits no other remedy but the reversal of the HIB determination and the removal of any reference to HIB from this student's file. The Anti-Bullying statute is quite specific regarding the sort of investigation required, and it includes tight timelines for completing the steps needed to properly investigate a claim that bullying took place. These timelines are in place for several reasons; first and foremost, to ensure that victim's concerns are promptly addressed, but also because charges of this nature are best explored promptly, when memories are fresh. Here, the events at issue took place well over a year ago. In theory a remand to the Board, or allowing a hearing before me to serve as a substitute for the required local investigatory steps, are possible remedies. I CONCLUDE that such remedies would unfairly prejudice this student.

ORDER

Base on the foregoing, it is ORDERED that the HIB determination against A.L. be REVERSED, and any reference to HIB be deleted from the school record of A.L.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." By means of the mutual covenants and understandings contained herein state as follows:

1) Thurston was previously injured at the place of employment on or about November 1, 2013, and filed a worker's compensation claim CP-2014.4030 which required absences from her employment with the School. The reasons were medical in nature, and numerous days off were taken by Thurston.

2) The workers compensation case was subsequently resolved on September 17, 2015.

3) Pursuant to NJSA 18A:30-2.1, the days Thurston was absent for related disability are days which she shall receive full pay, without being charged as sick days or without pay.

4) The School has an obligation under contract, rule, regulation, statute or otherwise to provide Thurston with those days and the parties discussed and reviewed the appropriate number of days to return to Thurston following completion of the workers compensation matter.

5) The parties jointly reviewed the schedule of days previously utilized by Thurston and agree that fifteen (15) total days will be returned to Thurston.

6) Thurston shall not receive any additional days, monies, salary or otherwise, from the BOE other than what is specifically referenced herein.

The record of this emergent matter, the sound recording of proceedings at the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), and the recommended Order of the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) have been reviewed.

Upon such review, the Commissioner concurs with the ALJ – for the reasons thoroughly set forth in the recommended Order – that petitioner has demonstrated entitlement to emergent relief pursuant to the standards enunciated in Crowe v. DeGioia, 90 N.J. 126 (1982), and codified at N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6. Therefore, the Board is directed to rescind the contract with Willis of New Jersey, Inc. and award the contract for insurance brokerage services to one of the four vendors who submitted timely responses to the request for proposals, or reject all of the proposals if one of the criteria set forth in N.J.S.A. 18A:18A-22 is satisfied.

Accordingly, the recommended Order of the OAL granting petitioner's application for emergent relief is adopted for the reasons expressed therein. This case shall proceed at the OAL with such proceedings as the parties and the ALJ deem necessary to bring it to closure.

Robert A. Mintz, Esq., for Willis of New Jersey, Inc. d/b/a Willis Towers Watson (McCarter & English, attorneys)

BEFORE RICHARD McGILL, ALJ:

Business and Governmental Insurance Agency ("petitioner") filed a petition with the Commissioner of Education challenging a determination by the Board of Education of the Township of Union ("respondent") to award a contract for insurance brokerage services to Willis of New Jersey, Inc. d/b/a Willis Towers Watson ("Willis"). In conjunction with the petition, petitioner filed a motion for emergent relief.

Petitioner filed its petition with the Commissioner of Education on October 31, 2016, and the matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law on November 1, 2016, for determination as a contested case. An oral argument in regard to petitioner's motion for emergent relief was conducted on November 21, 2016, at the Office of Administrative Law in Newark, New Jersey.

Petitioner filed its motion for emergent relief pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6(a). As set forth in N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6(b), the factors to consider in regard to an application for emergent relief are as follows:

1. The petitioner will suffer irreparable harm if the requested relief is not granted;
2. The legal right underlying the petitioner's claim is settled;
3. The petitioner has a likelihood of prevailing on the merits of the underlying claim; and
4. When the equities and interests of the parties are balanced, the petitioner will suffer greater harm than the respondent will suffer if the requested relief is not granted.

In its petition, petitioner alleges that in early 2016 respondent issued a Request for Proposal for Insurance Brokerage Services. In regard to the timing of any proposal, the request states as follows: "Proposal shall be submitted no later than MARCH 15, 2016. . . . Proposals will be opened . . . at 11:00 a.m. on MARCH 15, 2016. Your proposal must be received prior to that date and time." On March 15, 2016, petitioner submitted a fully responsive proposal. In addition, timely proposals were submitted by three other vendors including Brown & Brown Metro, LLC, Atlantic Associates Insurance Agency, Inc., and Arthur J. Gallagher & Co. Despite the four timely responses, respondent awarded the contract to Willis, which did not submit a proposal until September 2016.

Further, Willis served as a consultant to review insurance options and met with respondent's Finance Committee on several occasions after proposals were received from the other vendors but before the contract was awarded. After discussing insurance options with respondent and reviewing the proposals submitted by petitioner and the other vendors, Willis subsequently submitted its own untimely response to provide insurance brokerage services.

On September 20, 2016, respondent adopted a resolution to accept the proposal of Willis. Prior thereto, respondent did not receive consent to extend the deadline to award the contract beyond the sixty days set forth in N.J.S.A. 18A:18A-36. Further, respondent did not take any action to reject the proposals of petitioner and the other vendors that submitted timely responses.

On October 5, 2016, petitioner which had provided the services in question for twenty-three years received notice from Flagship Dental Plans, a third-party provider of dental benefits to respondent, that petitioner was removed as broker of record for respondent effective October 1, 2016.

As relief, petitioner seeks an Order (1) enjoining respondent from awarding and/or proceeding with any contract in regard to the request for proposal; (2) rescinding any contract already awarded to Willis; and (3) requiring respondent to award the 2016 contract for insurance brokerage services to one of the four vendors that submitted timely responses to the request for proposals.

Respondent disputes petitioner's factual and legal contentions. In regard to the facts, respondent maintains that savings from the contract awarded to Willis would save the school district approximately $130,000 relative to petitioner's proposal. Further, petitioner participated in the entire process and never objected to the alleged legal deficiencies in awarding the contract to Willis. Petitioner itself submitted a second proposal on July 7, 2016. Petitioner's president made a presentation to respondent on September 13, 2016. Throughout the process, petitioner slept on its rights. Willis was not contractually retained by respondent, and Willis did not prepare specifications. Willis did not review the proposal from other vendors and did not have an unfair advantage.

Willis maintains that it was never retained by respondent in a consulting capacity and at no time reviewed the proposals of the other vendors prior to submitting its own proposal. According to Willis, it was requested by respondent to submit a proposal. Willis and respondent executed and entered into the contract on October 18, 2016. Willis became the broker of record for respondent on September 27, 2016. Since that time, Willis has performed a significant amount of work for respondent.

The first factor is whether petitioner will suffer irreparable harm if the requested relief is not granted. N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6(b)1. Harm is considered to be irreparable if it cannot be remedied by money damages. Crowe v. DeGioia, 90 N.J. 126, 132-33 (1982). Moreover, the harm must be substantial and immediate; risk of harm alone is not sufficient.

An unsuccessful bidder may attack the award of a contract but may not recover money damages, even if the challenge is successful. Delta Chem. Corp. v. Ocean County Utils. Auth., 250 N.J. Super. 395, 400 (App. Div. 1991). As the incumbent provider of the service in question for twenty-three years, petitioner has suffered real, substantial and immediate harm through the loss of the contract. It follows that petitioner meets the requirement of irreparable harm.

The next requirement is that the legal right underlying petitioner's claim is settled. N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6(b)2. Petitioner's claim is based upon alleged violations of three provisions of the Public Schools Contract Law, N.J.S.A. 18A:18A-1 to -59. Petitioner cites numerous cases under the Local Public Contracts Law, N.J.S.A. 40A:11-1 to -51, as there are relatively few in regard to the Public Schools Contract Law. Citation to these cases is reasonable in view of the similarity of the statutory provisions and the policies in regard to public bidding. It follows that petitioner satisfies the requirement that the legal right underlying its claim is settled.

The next consideration is whether petitioner has a likelihood of prevailing on the merits of the underlying claim. N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6(b)3. Emergent relief is not appropriate where material facts are in dispute. Crowe v. DeGioia, 90 N.J. at 133.

Petitioner's first legal theory is that respondent violated N.J.S.A. 18A:18A-36 by failing to award the contract within sixty days. N.J.S.A. 18A:18A-36 provides in pertinent part as follows:

> a. The board of education shall award the contract or reject all bids within such time as may be specified in the invitation to bid, but in no case more than 60 days, except that the bids of any bidders who consent thereto may, at the request of the board of education, be held for consideration for such longer period as may be agreed.

It is noteworthy that a similar provision is contained in N.J.S.A. 18A:18A-4.5e, N.J.S.A. 40A:11-4.5 and N.J.S.A. 40A:11-24.

Respondent maintains that petitioner in effect consented to respondent's holding the proposal for consideration for a longer period by its silence throughout the entire process. Respondent's contention raises a question of material fact such that emergent relief cannot be granted on the basis of this legal theory.

Petitioner's second legal theory is that respondent violated N.J.S.A. 18A:18A-22 by failing to properly reject any of the timely filed responses. N.J.S.A. 18A:18A-22 allows a board of education to reject all bids under certain circumstances. Here, respondent accepted the bid of Willis. In view of this circumstance, it cannot be said that respondent rejected all bids. It follows that N.J.S.A. 18A:18A-22 does not appear to be applicable to this case.

Petitioner's third legal theory is that respondent acted arbitrarily, capriciously and unreasonably by awarding the contract to Willis, which did not submit a timely response to the request for proposals, in violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:18A-21(b), which relates to submitting and receiving bids.

The Local Public Contracts Law has been interpreted to curtail the discretion of local authorities by demanding strict compliance with public bidding guidelines. L. Pucillo & Sons, Inc. v. New Milford, 73 N.J. 349, 356 (1977). Strict compliance is required, and there is no discretion to accept a defective bid. Meadowbrook Carting Co. v. Borough of Island Heights, 138 N.J. 307, 314 (1994). All bids must comply with the terms imposed, and any material departure invalidates a nonconforming bid as well as any contract based thereon. Ibid. It is firmly established that a material condition may not be waived; however, minor or inconsequential discrepancies and technical omissions are subject to waiver. Ibid. The two-pronged test for materiality was stated in Township of River Vale v. R.J. Longo Constr. Co., 127 N.J. Super. 207 (Law Div. 1974) as follows:

> There must, therefore, be applied two criteria in determining whether a specific noncompliance constitutes a substantial and hence nonwaivable irregularity - - first, whether the effect of a waiver would be to deprive the municipality of its assurance that the contract will be entered into, performed and guaranteed according to its specified requirements, and second, whether it is of such a nature that its waiver would adversely affect competitive bidding by placing a bidder in a position of advantage over other bidders or by otherwise undermining the necessary common standard of the competition. [Id., at 216.]

The purpose of the public bidding laws is to secure for the public the benefits of unfettered competition Terminal Constr. Corp. v. Atlantic County Sewerage Auth., 67 N.J. 403, 410 (1975). Further, the purpose of competitive bidding is not protection of individual interests of bidders but rather the advancement of the public interest in securing the most economical result by inviting competition in which all bidders are placed on an equal basis. Township of River Vale v. R.J. Longo Constr. Co., 127 N.J. Super. at 215. The statutes promote competition by placing all bidders on equal footing and guarding against "favortisim, improvidence, extravagance and corruption." Township of Hillside v. Sternin, 25 N.J. 317, 322 (1957).

Bidders must comply with substantive and procedural requirements. Meadowbrook Carting Co., Inc. v. Borough of Island Heights, 138 N.J. at 317. A brief delay relative to a filing deadline is not a material violation of public bidding law particularly where there is no evidence of fraud, favoritism, corruption or improper competitive advantage, e.g., Turner Constr. Co. v. New Jersey Transit Corp., 296 N.J. Super. 530 (App. Div. 1997) (bidder's representatives were in the building before deadline but were sent to the wrong location by a security guard); William M. Young & Co. v. West Orange Redevelopment Agency 125 N.J. Super 440 (App. Div. 1973) (bidder's representative was two minutes late due to inclement weather).

Here, the undisputed facts are that the proposals were due March 15, 2016, and that Willis submitted its proposal in September 2016. The lateness by five to six months is far removed from the periods of a few minutes that were found to be brief delay that was not a violation of the public bidding laws. Moreover, there are indications of collusion and favoritism in that according to Willis, it was asked by respondent to submit a proposal. Further, Willis did so and was awarded the contract. Under the circumstances, petitioner has established a likelihood of prevailing on the merits.

The final requirement is that when the equities and interest of the parties are balanced, petitioner will suffer greater harm than respondents will suffer if the requested relief is not granted. N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6(b)4. Petitioner maintains that the requested relief will preserve the status quo as it is already the incumbent vendor. Respondent will suffer no harm whatsoever during the interim, because petitioner will continue to provide the service. Further, the public will be harmed if the requested relief is not granted in that a decision to allow respondent to proceed in this fashion will undermine the purpose and spirit of public bidding laws, harm the public's confidence and discourage competition.

Respondent maintains that the relief requested by petitioner exceeds what is necessary to preserve the status quo pending a full hearing on the merits. Moreover, respondent will be placed in a position where it will function without the services of a health insurance broker for a significant amount of time.

Willis contends that contrary to petitioner's claim, the requested relief would do more than preserve the status quo as of the commencement of the proceeding. Rather, the requested relief would alter the status quo in favor of petitioner. Further, Willis has already performed a substantial part of the contract.

Emergent relief is not limited to preservation of the status quo. In regard to the equities, the foremost consideration is that respondent has disregarded a gross deficiency in the proposal of Willis in that it was filed five or six months after the deadline. Moreover, there are indications of collusion and favoritism in that Willis filed its proposal at the urging of respondent and was awarded the contract. As noted above, the conditions and specifications must apply equally to all prospective bidders. The principle was not followed in this case. It follows that petitioner satisfies this requirement.

In order to prevail on a motion for emergent relief, the movant must satisfy all four requirements under N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6(b). Here, petitioner meets all four requirements. Under the circumstances, I CONCLUDE that petitioner satisfies the applicable standard for emergent relief.

The emergent relief should be granted only to the extent necessary to achieve its purposes. As the contract in question is only for one year, meaningful emergent relief cannot allow respondent and Willis to benefit from an obvious and gross material defect in the proposal. Therefore, I CONCLUDE that the contract must be rescinded promptly.

Accordingly, it is ORDERED that:

1. The contract between respondent and Willis be rescinded and deemed null and void.
2. Respondent may award the contract for insurance brokerage services to any of the four vendors who submitted timely responses to the request for proposals or reject all of the proposals if the circumstances satisfy the criteria in N.J.S.A. 18A:18A-22.

This order on application for emergency relief may be adopted, modified or rejected by the Commissioner of Education, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. The final decision shall be issued without undue delay, but no later than forty-five (45) days following the entry of this order. If the Commissioner of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this order within forty-five days, this recommended order shall become a final decision on the issue of emergent relief in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Factual Findings

On or about Jan. 1, 2001, the District hired Geraldine Chapman as an elementary school teacher.[1] During the next decade, she served as in four elementary schools, attaining tenure during the first part of this period.

Starting in the 2011–12 school year, the District assigned Chapman to teach kindergarten at the Forest Hills Elementary School. She continued at Forest Hills thereafter until the pertinent period. More specifically, in 2014–15, she co-taught a grade 2 inclusion class[2] with special education teacher Laura Colligan,[3] and in 2015–16, she taught a regular grade 2 class on her own.

On June 26, 2013, per a consent order between the Commissioner of Education and the District board of education in March 2016, the District changed to state-operated status.[4] A primary resulting priority was on improving student outcomes.

In the 2013-14 school year, the District initiated its implementation of the Teacher Accountability for the Children of New Jersey (TEACHNJ) Act.[5] With Commissioner approval, the District selected the Danielson framework for the practice part[6] of its evaluation rubric. This framework consists of four domains, each with specified components. The domains are planning and practice, classroom environment, instruction and student engagement, and professional responsibilities. The District provided for training for principals concerning implementation of the Danielson framework, including computerized documentation via the Teachscape digital platform, in December 2012 and spring 2013, with the principals providing training to their teachers in September 2013 and periodic follow-up meetings in fall 2013.

For implementation of the student learning[7] part of the evaluation rubric in the affected elementary grades in 2014-15,[8] the District obtained approval for the Northwest Evaluation Association's (NWEA's) Measures of Academic Performance (MAP) assessment for the student learning[9] part of the evaluation rubric, specifically for what New Jersey's relevant legal requirements refer to as "student growth objectives" (SGOs).[10] The MAP assessment includes on-line testing in reading and math in September/October (referred to herein as "pre-"), January (referred to as "winter" or "mid"), and April/May (referred to herein as "post-")[11]; multi-format reporting of the results[12]; and the use of post-test target scores, referred to under the rubric of "RIT," based on the pre-test scores.[13] Prior to the start of the school year, the District's office of evaluation used the NWEA PowerPoint to provide MAP training to the implementing administrators, including the elementary school principals and assistant principals. On a turnkey basis, the principals next provided the training to the teachers in their respective schools.

[7] See infra note 52 and accompanying text.

[8] The District used a different assessment for kindergarten and subsequently instituted an alternative at the high school level, but the MAP assessment applied to the grades that Chapman taught for the two years in question, 2014–15, and 2015–16. Conversely, the District's use of MAP in 2013–14 only applied to grades 6 and above, thus not pertinent to the instant case.

[11] The reading and math tests are each 52 items on an adaptive basis, i.e., with the difficulty level adjusted of subsequent items adjusted based on the child's performance on the previous items.

[12] The format for the first report is a summary listing the pre-test, RIT, and post-test scores of all of the student's in the teacher's class.

[13] This acronym is derived from the statistical concept of the Rasch Unit scale. See, e.g., https://www.nwea.org/assessments/map/scale-and-norms/

During the mandatory days before classes started in 2014–15, Forest Hills principal Daniel Corvi included training on the Danielson and MAP components for the school's teaching staff. The contractually specified regular faculty meetings[14] also included, along with various other administrative and instructional matters, follow-up training on these components of the mandatory evaluation process. For example, at the follow-up meeting on Oct. 6, 2014, which Chapman attended, he reviewed SGOs via the MAP system, including the access procedures for the summary and other reports at the NWEA dashboard for the MAP assessments.[15] The final, "Updates Reminder" slide of the PowerPoint, which he customized from the turnkey NWEA training material,[16] included the following statement: "SGO Draft Due: Tuesday, October 15th by midnight - based on RIT Projected Score."[17] The same slide also identified "Friday, October 31" as the final deadline.

Shortly before the Oct. 31 deadline, Colligan, on behalf of herself and Chapman, sought assistance from Corvi. He provided her with a sample SGO as an example.[18] With Colligan in the lead, they developed SGOs for math and reading in a tiered format, grouping the students in [14] For 2014–15, these after-school faculty meetings were for 45 minutes on approximately a weekly basis, whereas for the following school year, they were changed to 90 minutes each approximately every two weeks.

[15] E.g., Petitioner exhibit 10; Tr.-I at 192.

[16] The incorporated NWEA slides included one that claimed that "SGOs are driven by teachers" rather than being "administrator-driven." Petitioner exhibit 10, at 00816. Another NWEA slide identified as a misconception that "SGOs are a statistically precise measure of growth based on a pre-test/post-test model of performance." Id. at 00818. The accompanying slide identifies some of the flaws of a pre-test/post-test model, including problems with the reliability of the results and the impossibility of extrapolating learning "from one data point." Id. Instead, the slides claim that the MAP system for SGOs uses multiple measures for the starting point, and the illustrated format is a tiered approach, with 3–4 preparedness groups and with each group having a minimum target score that is "ambitious and achievable." Id. at 00821-00822. The accompanying NWEA reference document only provides RIT means, or averages, for the beginning, middle, and end of each grade rather than individually determined RIT scores. Id. at 00265. Finally, the "frequently asked questions" sheet is quite clear that the SGO is worth 20% of the summative evaluation, but it is not at all reasonably clear that the target score will be based solely and individually on the child's pre-test score. Id. at 00266.

four tiers in successive ranges of MAP pre-test scores.[19] The tiered format was similar to the aforementioned[20] illustrations. However, rather than being based on individual RIT projected scores, per the summary report available for reading and math, respectively, from the NWEA MAP dashboard,[21] the target score for every tier, or group, was one point above the group's designated range.[22] Additionally although incidentally, the number of students in each group was not completely accurate.[23]

On Oct. 31, 2014, Chapman and Colligan submitted their two joint SGOs to Corvi. He signed the SGOs as approved after a quick immediate review.[24]

During the rest of the 2014–15 school year, the three Chapman observations, including posthearing conferences, that Corvi and the assistant principal conducted are not at issue in this case.[25] The Jan. 12, 2015 training session, which both Chapman and Colligan attended, provided a sample SGO form that, although again using a tiered format, referred more specifically to RIT

[20] See supra notes 16 and 18.

[21] Petitioner exhibit 16. This report includes for each student in the class the pre-test score along with its standard error (e.g., 173 and 3.0 for the first student on the list for math); the projected, or target, RIT score (e.g., 187 for this same student in reading) along with the corresponding growth projection and its standard error (14 and 4.2 for this student); and, after the post-testing, the post-test score and its standard error (173 and 2.9 for this student). The growth projection is based on the national sample of students at the same grade who participated in NWEA's MAP program. See, e.g., Respondent exhibit 33, at 00784.

[22] Petitioner exhibit 11/Respondent exhibit 6. For both reading and math, not only the target but also the range for each group was uniform. For example, for the "medium" group in math, the selected range was 175–184, and the target score was 185. Id. at 0045–0046.

[23] For reading, the SGO identified the sizes of the first and third groups as 7 and 5 respectively, whereas the actual number of students in the SGO's specified ranges of pre-test scores was 8 and 6. For math, the SGO identified the sizes of the first and second groups as 9 and 6, whereas the actual sizes were 8 and 7. Id.

projected, or target, scores.[26]

On Saturday, May 2, 2015, Colligan e-mailed the joint SGO results to Corvi, "I just realized that Ms. Chapman and I never handed in our SGO spreadsheet."[27] Early the following week when Colligan was at the principal's office to pick up her mail, Corvi notified her that the results she had submitted were not in compliance with District requirements and had to be revised based on each student's RIT target score in reading and math, respectively, as available on the testing reports accessible via the NWEA dashboard since soon after the MAP pre-testing. Revision of their SGOs based on the individual RIT target scores resulted in much lower overall summative SGO scores.[28] Corvi checked with District central officer administrators, who directed him to use the revised SGOs for the summative evaluation.[29] As a result, based on the revised scores, Corvi conducted a summative conference with Chapman on June 8, 2015, which he had postponed from the originally scheduled date of June 1, 2015 upon her request. The summary report showed the specific scores for the practice part (i.e., for the four Danielson domains and their respective components) and—per the aforementioned revision—for the [26] Petitioner exhibit 18. Specifically, for example, the form for reading repeated the following SGO: "At least 70–84% of students in each preparedness group will achieve at least 1 year's growth according to the individual projected MAP Language RIT Scale Norm." Id. at 00250–00251. Yet, the use of multiple measures for each preparedness group (here, NJASK and DRA in addition to MAP) is illusory and confusing, because (1) only the MAP score counts for this growth calculation, and (2) the score ranges of the other two measures do not at all necessarily align with the specified range for MAP.

[27] Petitioner exhibit 44/Respondent exhibit 8. Again, their joint report was not carefully accurate. In reading, the group 1 results omitted the data for the student who had a pre-test score of 149 and a post-test score of 131; the group 2 results included a student who should not have been listed due to the absence of any pre-test score; the group 3 results listed post-test scores that were erroneously high for two students (181 and 175 rather than 177 and 172, respectively); and the single student in group 4 identified the post-test score as 201 whereas it was actually 188. The overall summative SGO score in reading should have been 3.55 rather than 3.70. Id. In math, the only error, although not materially affecting the summative SGO score, was again in the teachers' direction; their listing of group 2 included a student who did not have a pre-test score but was counted as meeting their target. Id.

[28] Petitioner exhibits 12 and 14. The summative scores were 1.00 in reading and 1.00 in math. Id. If corrected for the errors attributable to the originally submitted SGOs (supra notes 19–23 and accompanying text), which were all in favor of the two teachers, these revised summative scores would remain the same because they were already at the lowest possible level on the four-point scale.

student learning part (i.e., the SGOs in reading and math) per their prescribed weights.[30] The resulting reported overall rating was Partially Effective.[31] Consequently, he followed up at the same meeting with a corrective action plan (CAP).[32]

In the summer of 2015, the District's turnkey evaluation training for principals included various revisions and refinements, such as adjusted domain weights for the teacher practice part and median student growth percentiles for the student learning part, but no notable clarification regarding the RIT format for SGOs.[33] The follow-up District training for principals in September 2015 noted inconsistencies in implementation of SGO's during the previous year.[34] To improve the process, the training provided additional information about SGOs, including a recommended the simple rather than tiered format (i.e., for the entire class rather than for subgroups of the class) for elementary teachers.[35] Yet, perhaps due to the introduction of an alternative assessment (which was not applicable to teachers on CAPs), this training did not specifically show the otherwise mandated individual RIT projection format.

During the 2015–16 school year, when Chapman had a grade 2 regular class of approximately 14 students, Corvi implemented the CAP,[36] and the District conducted the three requisite observations,[37] along with an additional one on May 25, 2016, at Chapman's request. Christie Whitzell, who was then senior lead teacher at the District's central office, conducted the additional observation.[38] In the interim, specifically on Feb. 1, 2016, Chapman and Corvi signed the SGO revision form based on a change in her class size.[39] Chapman's SGO for this school year was in the simple rather than tiered format and based on individual RIT target scores, with the specified ranges for the four rating categories based on a District-wide mandated minimum of 75% rather than 70% for full, as compared with partial, effectiveness.[40]

At the end of the year, Chapman's calculated SGO level was 71% for reading and 71% for math, thus fitting in the Partially Effective range of 60%–74%.[41] The resulting summative evaluation report, which included this SGO result for its designated 20% weighting and the practice domain scores for their designated weights within the remaining 80%, showed an overall score of 2.62, which was in the Partially Effective range (1.85–2.64).[42]

As a result of the two consecutive annual summative ratings of Partially Effective, the District superintendent filed charges for termination based on inefficiency. The charges were duly processed through the requisite steps to this arbitration.[43]

Applicable Statutes and Regulations

The TEACHNJ Act[44] includes various relevant requirements, including, for example:

- an evaluation "that incorporates analysis of multiple measures of student progress and multiple data sources"[45]
- annual summative efficiency ratings of "ineffective," "partially ineffective," "effective," and "highly effective"[46]
- a "corrective action plan"[47]
- a "school improvement panel"[48]
- a Commissioner-approved "evaluation rubric"[49] that must include, inter alia, (1) the four aforementioned[50] summative rating categories[51]; (2) "multiple measures of practice and student learning," with standardized achievement as a required but not predominant factor[52]; (3) "multiple observations during the school year," including an ongoing process for consistency[53]; and (4) a pilot implementation program by Jan. 31, 2013.[54]

The regulations for TEACHNJ specific to student growth objectives (SGOs), which are one of the two alternative methods for measuring the student learning component,[55] include the following excerpted provisions:

> (a) Measures of student achievement shall be used to determine impact on student learning. The student achievement measure shall include the following components:
>
> . . . .
> 2. [SGO(s)], which shall be specific and measurable, based on available student learning data, aligned to New Jersey Student Learning Standards, and based on growth and/or achievement. . . .

3. Each teacher shall develop, in consultation with his or her supervisor or a principal's designee, each [SGO]. If the teacher does not agree with the [SGOs], the principal shall make the final determination.
4. [SGOs] and the criteria for assessing teacher performance based on the objectives shall be determined, recorded, and retained by the teacher and his or her supervisor by October 31 of each academic year . . . .
5. Adjustments to [SGOs] may be made by the teacher in consultation with his or her supervisor only when approved by the chief school administrator or designee. Adjustments shall be recorded in the teacher's personnel file on or before February 15.
6. The teacher's designated supervisor shall calculate each teacher's SGO score. The teacher's SGO score, if available, shall be discussed at the teacher's annual summary conference and recorded in the teacher's personnel file. . . .[56]

The companion regulations for teacher evaluations require each school district to follow specified training procedures that include, inter alia, the following:

4. Annually require each supervisor who will conduct observations for the purpose of evaluation of a teacher to complete two co-observations during the academic year.
   i. Co-observers shall use the co-observation to promote accuracy in scoring, and to continually train themselves on the instrument. . . .
5. Chief school administrators shall annually certify to the Department that all supervisors of teaching staff members in the school district who are utilizing educator practice instruments have completed training on the instrument and its application and have demonstrated competency in applying the educator practice instruments.[57]

These regulations also have various requirements for the evaluation observations, including the following:

(c) Each teacher shall be observed . . . at least three time during each school year but not less than once during each semester. For all teachers, at least one of the required observations shall be announced and preceded by a pre-conference, and at least one of the required observations shall be unannounced. . . . The following additional requirements shall apply: . . . .

6. The teacher shall submit his or her written objection(s) of the evaluation within 10 teaching staff member working days following the conference. The objection(s) shall be attached to each party's copy of the annual written performance report.[58]

The related statutory provisions for the termination of tenured teachers include the following:

a. [Tenured teachers] shall not be dismissed . . . except for inefficiency, incapacity, or conduct unbecoming such a teaching staff member of other just cause . . . .[59]

2) if the employee is rated partially effective in two consecutive annual summative evaluations . . ., the superintendent shall promptly file with the secretary of the board of education a charge of inefficiency, except that the superintendent upon a written finding of exceptional circumstances may defer the filing of tenure charges until after the next annual summative evaluation. . . .[60]

The related applicable arbitration provisions provides the following considerations for the arbitrator in rendering a decision:

a. [In an inefficiency case] in rendering a decision the arbitrator shall only consider whether or not:
   (1) the employee's evaluation failed to adhere substantially to the evaluation process, including, but not limited to providing a corrective action plan;
   (2) there is a mistake of fact in the evaluation;
   (3) the charges would not have been brought but for considerations of political affiliation, nepotism, union activity, discrimination as prohibited by State or federal law, or other conduct prohibited by State or federal law; or
   (4) the district's actions were arbitrary and capricious.

b. In the event that the employee is able to demonstrate that any of the provisions of paragraphs (1) through (4) of subsection a. of this section are applicable, the arbitrator shall then determine if that fact materially affected the outcome of the evaluation. If the arbitrator determines that it did not materially affect the outcome of the evaluation, the arbitrator shall render a decision in favor of the board and the employee shall be dismissed.

c. The evaluator's determination as to the quality of an employee's classroom performance shall not be subject to an arbitrator's review.

d. The board of education shall have the ultimate burden of demonstrating to the arbitrator that the statutory criteria for tenure charges have been met.

e. The hearing shall be held before the arbitrator within 45 days of the assignment of the arbitrator to the case. The arbitrator shall render a written decision within 45 days of the start of the hearing.[61]

Discussion

Rather than separately reciting the parties' arguments, I shall address them based on the foregoing factual findings and applicable legal standards under headings that correspond to the three challenges in the Respondent's posthearing brief.[62] I address the respective challenges in ascending order of their arbitrally assessed strength. As an important contextual matter, this case arose during the transitional period of this state-operated district's implementation of TEACHNJ.[63]

Exceptional Circumstances[64]

The Respondent claims that "the District should have found exceptional circumstances and granted her a third year."[65] The statutory basis is the over-arching statutory allowance for districts to defer a tenure charge for inefficiency for an additional year after two consecutive summative evaluations of Partially Effective.[66]

The Respondent argues that her particular pattern within the two consecutive summative

[62] The Respondent's prehearing arguments obviously were akin to a shotgun, but in light of the parties' waiving of closing oral arguments, the prudently rifle-style after the evidentiary phase provide the controlling framework.

[63] The act, singed in August 2012, went into effect for the 2012–13 school year. http://www.njleg.state.nj.us/2012/Bills/PL12/26_.PDF However, full implementation was pending a pilot program and regulations. See supra note 54 (N.J. REV. STAT §§ 18A:6-123 – 18A:6-124). Moreover, the District did not become state-operated until the end of 2012–13 and initiate its implementation until 2013–14. See supra notes 4–5 and accompanying text. Finally, the application of the District's MAP-based student component to Chapman and similarly situated elementary teachers was not until 2014–15. See supra notes 8–10 and accompanying text.

[64] The Respondent's posthearing brief (at 47) uses a broad "and/or" subheading for this challenge. As explained in this section, the primary focus is this particular statutory ground, and any cognizable alternate bases are subordinated and addressed within this section of the Opinion.

[65] The Respondent circularly argues that "the District, by and through [its superintendent], abused its discretionary powers and acted arbitrarily and capriciously by failing to investigate and find exceptional circumstances applicable to the within matter." To the subordinated extent that the Respondent is raising the statutory ground of "arbitrary and capricious" conduct (supra note 61 and accompanying text: N.J. REV. STAT § 18A:6-17.2(a)), the arbitrator concludes that it has no separable successful application in this case. Assuming arguendo that there is a duty to investigate under the exceptional circumstances provision, the evidence in the case lacks the requisite trigger—whether it is reasonable suspicion or probable cause—to activate such a duty.

evaluations of Partially Effective constitutes exceptional circumstances. More specifically she points to (1) the overall practice scores of Effective for both years, (2) the increase in the overall SGO scores, and (3) and the resulting overall summative score for the second of the two year being only .03 below the requisite minimum for the Effective category. This argument fails for two successive but independent reasons. First, such calculations are not exceptional, instead being part and parcel of the overall process, which includes a whole host of carefully weighted factors specified in state law and District policy. Second, even if this particular pattern did qualify as an exceptional circumstance, the applicable law specifically delegates the matter—via the clear statutory language of "may defer"[67]—to school district discretion. Certainly in the context of a large state-operated district, this strict emphasis on teacher accountability and student achievement, does not constitute an abuse of that discretion.

Observational Violations

The Respondent targets three alleged fatal observer deficiencies in its second challenge: (1) the various observers' alleged violation of the requirement for annual training/competency; (2) the observers' alleged violation of the requirement to complete two observations annually; and (3) Whitzell's failure to review Chapman's observation rebuttal.

First, the aforementioned[68] regulatory requirement is for annual reporting that the supervisor-observers have completed training and demonstrated competency with regard to the teacher-practice instruments. Even if the regulation is interpreted to require annual training and competency, the evidence is sufficient that Chapman's observers received regular training and exhibited competency in the Danielson instrumentation.[69] It is clear that proof does not come close to preponderant to fulfill one or more of the limited arbitral standards, such as arbitrary and capricious conduct, much less a resulting material effect on the Respondent's evaluation.[70]

Second, the aforementioned[71] regulatory requirement of two annual co-observations is expressly for the purpose of accuracy and training in scoring. Although the evidence is preponderant that none of the observers met this requirement in 2013-14,[72] for the two years at issue for Chapman's evaluation the only identified violation is for Whitzell; her co-observations were limited to one in 2014–15.[73] On balance, the evidence is preponderant that this violation did not materially affect the outcome of Chapman's 2015–16 evaluation, which was the year in which she conducted an additional, final observation at Chapman's request. Although her observation scores were lower than the other observers, the difference was relatively modest,[74] and this difference may be reasonably attributable to other factors, such as the acceptable range for inter-observer agreement,[75] Whitzell's district-wide perspective, and this observation's

[69] The only evidence that Respondent identifies that arguably was to the contrary was the one-time completion of the Danielson proficiency exam. However, this exam was obviously for the initial threshold to perform observations, and competing it successfully at the end of the 2012–13 school year (e.g., Tr.-I at 48) is timely for purposes of conducting the observations at issue. The regular training of supervisors and administrators starting in December 2012 (Tr.-I at 23) and continuing the summers of the pertinent period (e.g., Tr.-II at 164) was certainly sufficient in the absence of any proof of nonproficiency.

[70] See supra note 61 and accompanying text (N.J. REV. STAT § 18A:6-17.2(a)).

[71] See supra note 57 and accompanying text (N.J. ADMIN. CODE § 6A:10-2.2(b)(4)).

[72] E.g., Tr.-I at 88; Tr.-II at 166.

[73] Tr.-I at 87–88. There is no evidence that the relationship of her scores with those of the co-observer indicated any inaccuracy or other lack of training, an area that the Respondent could have explored during the cross-examination.

[74] For the 1.0 to 4.0 scale, her domain 1 score was .1 less than the lowest other observer; for domain 2, the corresponding difference was .2; and for domain 3, it was .25. Petitioner exhibit 45. The principal was the major contributor for the final domain. E.g., Tr.-II at 240.

[75] Akin to the standard error of measurement for normed instruments such as MAP, inter-observer agreement is also known as interrater reliability, and its measurement does not have one consensus formula. E.g., KILEM LE GWET, HANDBOOK OF INTER-RATER RELIABILITY (2014).

unannounced status.[76] Additionally, she was a credible witness whose demeanor and testimony conveyed respectable professional expertise and diligence rather than any indication of evaluative bias or error with regard to the disputed observation. Finally, her extensive experience conducting the Danielson observations[77] and her reallocated responsibilities during 2015-16, upon her promotion to senior lead teacher,[78] mitigated the effect of her limited number of co-observations. Although this shortfall for the co-observation requirement is of concern and merits requisite attention, in this case it does not provide the basis for revising or reversing the summative evaluation for the second year, particularly in light of the statutory limitation of the arbitrator's authority in terms of the quality of an employee's classroom performance.[79]

The final alleged observation violation pertains to the regulatory requirement for any written teacher objections after the post-observation conference.[80] The Respondent characterizes the objections as "rebuttals" and claims that Whitzell's failure to review and respond to Chapman's timely objections circumvented their "entire purpose." However, the regulation does not express or imply the purpose of being a debate, requiring in effect a surrebuttal. Rather, it merely provides for a teacher to add her perceptions to those of the observer for review at the summative and any subsequent stages.[81] Although it would have been best practice for Whitzell to review and respond to Chapman's objections, the regulation does not require this action, and

[76] For the regulatory requirements for announced and unannounced observations, see supra note 58 (N.J. ADMIN. CODE § 6A:10-2.4(c)). In the District for the 2015–16 school year, unannounced observations were additionally different due to their length—a minimum of 20 minutes compared to a minimum of 40 minutes for the announced observations. Tr.-I at 33.

[77] She had performed well over 100 such observations since 2013-14. Tr.-I, at 39.

[78] She conducted less observations n 2015–16 because her position required more time with curriculum and professional development. Id. at 88.

[79] See supra note 61 and accompanying text (N.J. REV. STAT. § 18A:17.2(c)).

[80] See supra note 58 and accompanying text (N.J. ADMIN. CODE § 6A:10-2.4(c)(6))

[81] There was no evidence that Corvi did not consider Chapman's side of the story or that Chapman raised the issue at or before her summative conference for 2015–16. Moreover, the contents of her objections largely amount to a difference of professional perception as to the quality of her performance, which—again (supra note 79)—is beyond arbitrator's authority.

its absence does not meet the applicable, restricted two-part standard,[82] such as being not only arbitrary and capricious but also prejudicial to Chapman's summative evaluation for 2015-16.

In sum, although the Respondent partly proved two of the three alleged observation deficiencies, neither one nor their combination met the requisite standard for reversal. They did not amount to substantial noncompliance, mistaken fact, or arbitrary and capricious conduct that materially affected the outcome of the Chapman's evaluation for 2014–15 and/or 2015–16.[83]

2014–15 SGO

The Respondent's final challenge presents a close call.[84] The factual basis for the challenge is relatively simple: (1) relying on the principal's training and assistance, Chapman and Colligan developed their joint SGOs for 2014–15 and submitted them to Corvi by the designated deadline in October; (2) Corvi promptly approved them; and (3) upon submission of the results of the SGOs in May, Corvi unilaterally rejected and revised them to scoring based on the students' RIT projected scores.

The preliminary part of analysis is to eliminate two distractors, or red herrings. First, the Respondent argues that, under the applicable regulations, "only a teacher" may initiate changes to his or her SGO and that no such changes are allowable after February 15, especially without

[82] See supra note 61 and accompanying text (N.J. REV. STAT § 18A:6-17.2(a)).

[83] Id. There was no allegation with regard to the other statutory standard, which concerns various civil rights or "other conduct prohibited by State or federal law." Id.

[84] Although preponderant proof is indisputably applicable quantum, the evidence, however, is not so closely balanced as to be in "equipoise." See, e.g., Schaffer ex rel. Schaffer v. Weast, 546 U.S. 49, 58 (2005). Thus, burden of proof is not determinative for this issue, much less for the previous two issues. This situation is fortunate here because the TEACHNJ statute, although expressly putting the burden of persuasion on the District for the tenure charges, is not clear as to whether the teacher's burden to "demonstrate" one or more of the four arbitral standards signifies burden of production, burden of persuasion, or burden shifting. See supra note 61 and accompanying text (N.J. REV. STAT. § 18A:6-17.2(b) and id. § 18A:6-17.2(d)).

any written memorialization of the amendment."[85] Yet, the regulations expressly leave the final determination of the SGOs to the principal, and they establish a Feb. 15 deadline for adjustments "made by the teacher."[86] Thus, the regulations do not prohibit the administration from correcting an improper SGO at any time during the school year, with the inferable proviso of sufficient justification.[87] Moreover, notice is not the key in this case because Chapman received effective notice inasmuch as Colligan, as her delegated intermediary, immediately communicated the situation to her.

Second, in light of the commissioner's approval,[88] the Respondent's broad-based contention about the legality of the District's MAP assessment is, like any corresponding challenge to TEACHNJ, belongs in another forum. More specifically, the extent that the Respondent's challenge extends on a system-wide policy basis to TEACHNJ as applied via the District's use of MAP RIT projected scores, this issue, like the fairness or legality of TEACHNJ on its face, is either for the state legislature or the courts, which have been notably deferential to the defendants.[89]

Instead, a careful review of the evidence in relation to the applicable legislation and [85] Respondent's posthearing brief at 33. For the notice, Respondent alternatively relies on basic notions of fairness and due process, citing confirmation in the testimony from the District's evaluation director. Id. Yet, the evaluation director's testimony neither supported the limitation to written notice nor the limitation to Feb. 15. Tr.-I at 233–43.

[86] See supra note 56 and accompanying text (N.J. ADMIN. CODE § 6A:10-4.2(e)(2) and id. § 6A:10-4.2(e)(5)). However, contrary to the Petitioner's posthearing brief (at 14), the chief school administrator only determines the number of the SGOs. Id. § 6A:10-4.2(e)(1).

[87] In the absence of express specifications, this determination, as shown infra, ultimately depends on the circumstances, with due weight for objective and equitable considerations.

[88] See supra text accompanying notes 9–10. Although not finding it necessary to address this issue within the confines of this case, the arbitrator cannot help but wonder whether the MAP RIT projection system meets TEACHNJ's repeated and varied references to "multiple measures" in relation to student growth. N.J. REV. STAT §§ 18A:6-119 et al. The statute allocates this determination to the commissioner on an annual basis. Id. §§ 18A:6-122 and 18A:6-122. For subsequent years and less narrowly confined cases, this issue, if not resolved more definitively and defensibly, may well become the key in future arbitral or judicial proceedings.

[89] See, e.g., Cook v. Bennett, 792 F.3d 1294 (11th Cir. 2015); Wagner v. Haslam, 112 F. Supp. 3d 673 (M.D. Tenn. 2015); State ex rel. Stapleton v. Skandera, 346 P.3d 1191 (N.M. 2015).

regulations reveals that resolving the SGO issue, within the ambit of the arbitral standards,[90] warrants in this case a two-step, flowchart-type objective analysis.[91] The first step is to determine the expectations for 2014–15 SGOs that a reasonable teacher would understand under the circumstances at Chapman's time and place. The second step is to determine whether Chapman's 2014–15 SGO fit within the reasonable range of those expectations.

For the first step, the conclusion is inescapable that the NWA turnkey training materials upon which the District relied were confusing and conflicting. The MAP system that projected RIT target scores for the post-testing based solely on pre-test scores came closer to the "misconceptions" identified in NWA's training slides[92] than the content of this training.[93] For example, the emphasis on SGOs being teacher-, rather than administrator-, driven lacks the nuance in the reality of state law and District policy.[94] Finally, the examples in the training materials and the principal's assistance were tiered,[95] thus interfering with the ultimate priority on individual RIT projected scores.[96] In contrast, the evidence about the other teachers at Chapman's school was a "wash," thus having no significant effect on reasonableness other than [90] See supra note 61 and accompanying text (N.J. REV. STAT. § 18A:6-17.2(b)). Contrary to the Petitioner's posthearing brief (at 16), if Chapman passed this two-step test, the material effect would be use of her unchanged SGOs, thus resulting in an Effective summative rating for 2014–15.

[91] This objective approach keys on reasonableness under the circumstances.

[92] See supra note 16.

[93]

[94] See supra text accompanying note 86.

[95] See supra notes 16 and 18.

[96] More specifically, while the final slide referred to the required SGO basis being RIT projected scores (supra text accompanying note 17), the preceding content referred to multiple initial sources rather than the MAP pre-test score for the baseline and showed unexplained averages per tier rather than the individual RIT projected scores (supra note 16). What is sorely missing for that year and not part of the training until 2015–16 (supra text accompanying note 35) is the basic template of a simple (i.e., nontiered) example showing the pre-test and, as otherwise available in the initial summary report, the projected MAP scores on an individual student-by-student basis.

failing to confirm the necessity of a narrow uniform understanding.[97] Thus, a reasonable range of expectations for a teacher in Chapman's circumstances, including the aforementioned[98] context of a transitional year with acknowledged inconsistencies,[99] was to produce SGOs with a tiered (or simple) format and based on RIT projected scores or target scores that were otherwise ambitious yet achievable.[100]

However, at the second step, rather than the purported formulation of the target scores based on Colligan's and Chapman's assessment of multiple sources after a month and a half of student data,[101] including tiers based on similar considerations,[102] the joint SGOs in reading and math were uniformly based solely on the MAP pre-test score, and the tiers for both SGOs were uniformly based on 10-point intervals.[103] Moreover, the target scores were uniformly and rather meagerly one point above the designated range for each tier.[104] As a result, their projected scores represented average gains of 5.3 points and 6.3 points and for reading and math, respectively,

[97] On the one hand, Colligan testified that two other pairs of co-teachers at the school had submitted SGOs that were not based on RIT projected scores and that the Principal had similarly changed two of them. Tr.-I at 406–10. However, her testimony was generally not entirely credible, being replete with one-sided overstatement. Moreover, the Chapman's response to the charges and various prehearing discovery documents, including the required "list of witnesses with a complete summary of their testimony" (N.J. REV. STAT. § 18A:6A-17.1), did not provide any warning about this evidence or request for corroborating SGOs (e.g., Joint Exhibits 7–12), and the Respondent did not provide testimony or documentation from any of these four teachers. Completing the neutralization of this factor, the principal rather vaguely testified that he had no recollection of receiving and changing such SGOs. Tr.-II at 317–19. When the arbitrator tried to elicit clarification, including whether he his recollection was definitive or, instead, he did not recall either way, he ambiguously replied: "not so even to my vivid recollection." Id. at 319.

[98] See supra note 63 and accompanying text.

[99] See supra note 34 and accompanying text.

[100] This overall standard was reasonable inferable in the focus of TEACHNJ on "improved student outcomes, including objective measures of student growth" (N.J. REV. STAT. § 18A:6-118(b)); the District's state-operated particular priority on raising student achievement (see supra text accompanying note 4); and the training materials accurate use of these reasonably rigorous terms (supra note 16).

[101] Tr.-I at 377.

[102] Tr.-II at 338.

[103] See supra text accompanying note 19. The use of the pre-test MAP scores also contradicts Colligan's testimony that she could not access the RIT data. Tr.-I at 446. Colligan's assertions apply as well to Chapman based on her proxy-like reliance on Colligan for the formulation and communication of the SGOs during 2014–15. E.g., Tr.-II at 337 and 388–89.

[104] See supra text accompanying notes 20–21.

compared to the RIT projected scores corresponding average gains of 14.3 and 15.2 points.[105] The inescapable conclusion is that the targets in Chapman's 2014–15 SGOs, which amounted to well under half of the generally applicable targets, were much too achievable but far less than ambitious, thus not at all fitting in the reasonably expected range. For Chapman to rely on the principal's cursory acceptance of her SGOs, akin to equitable estoppel, is not sustainable in light of her equal lack of diligence.[106]

Finally, the arbitrator finds that neither the District's nor the teacher's actions within this two-step analysis were intentional or in bad faith. Rather akin to negligence, under either the standard of arbitrary and capricious conduct or that of mistake in fact,[107] Chapman ultimately negated her claim with a commensurate contribution via her lack of due care in implementing her part of the accountability process. As a matter of the applicable law, with due weight to considerations of equity, this close call cannot be fairly in her favor. The arbitrator is without authority to be an angel of mercy or to apply his views of educational effectiveness and accountability to the MAP system and the District's administration of it.

[105] The arbitration calculated these results by (1) applying the target scores in the two SGOs (Petitioner's exhibits 11 and 13) to the students' pre-test scores in reading and math for 2014–15 (Petitioner's exhibit 16) and computing the corresponding averages of the "SP 15 Growth Projection" column in the same 2014–15 MAP summary report (id). Each entry in this column represents the difference between the pre-test score and the projected RIT score.

[106] Reflecting the lack of care, which further effectively lowered their SGO bar, the calculations included various errors. See supra notes 23 and 27.

[107] For the elimination of the other alternative arbitral standard that the Respondent raised, which is substantial adherence standard to the evaluation process, see supra notes 85–89 and accompanying text.

Award

In sum, after careful attention to the parties' arguments, the applicable law, and the case evidence, the arbitrator concludes that the District's tenure charges for inefficiency are sustained. The dismissal of Gerri A. Chapman is upheld.

DECISION

Denial of Interlocutory Review by the State Board of Examiners, January 11, 2016

For the Respondent-Appellant, William P. Hannan, Esq.

For the Petitioner-Respondent State Board of Examiners, Lauren A. Jensen, Deputy Attorney General (Christopher S. Porrino, Attorney General of New Jersey)

Appellant challenges the determination of the New Jersey State Board of Examiners (Board) denying interlocutory review of the December 18, 2015 Order of the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ), which granted the Board's motion to exclude appellant's expert report and preclude the expert's testimony. On appeal, the appellant maintains that the Board's denial of her request for interlocutory review was arbitrary, capricious and unreasonable. Appellant also seeks reversal of the ALJ's decision to exclude her expert's report and testimony.

Appellant argues that – following receipt of the ALJ's decision on December 28, 2015 – she filed a timely request for interlocutory review with the Board on December 29, 2015, and her request was denied on January 11, 2016, on the basis that the Board lacked a quorum during its January 8, 2016 meeting to review the matter.[1] Appellant posits that such denial was arbitrary, capricious and unreasonable, and the Board abused its discretion by not extending the ten-day timeframe, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-14.10(g), to consider her request. The Board argues that its actions were in accordance with N.J.A.C. 1:1-14.10, and therefore, were not arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable. The Board maintains that it intended to review appellant's request but was unable to do so because it lacked a quorum during its January 8, 2016 meeting. The Board further notes that it did not abuse its discretion with regard to the extension of timelines because in order for the timeframes to be extended, the Board would have had to act collectively – which it could not, due to lack of quorum at the January 8, 2016 meeting. Finally, the Board argues that appellant has failed to meet the standard for interlocutory review because there is no likelihood that such review would have an impact on the outcome of the case.

[1] The Board noted in its denial letter that appellant's request was considered denied, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-14.10(c), since the Board did not act within ten days to determine whether to review the interlocutory appeal.

In reviewing appeals from decisions of the State Board of Examiners, the Commissioner may not substitute her judgment for that of the Board so long as the appellant received due process and the Board's decision is supported by sufficient credible evidence in the record. Further, the Board's decision should not be disturbed unless the appellant demonstrates that it is arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable. N.J.A.C. 6A:4-4.1(a). The record reflects that appellant's due process rights were denied throughout the proceeding before the Board. The Commissioner concludes that the Board's denial of interlocutory review – on the basis that it lacked a quorum to review appellant's request – deprived the appellant of her due process rights. The Board failed to consider the request due to administrative issues beyond appellant's control. Therefore, the Board's decision was arbitrary, capricious and unreasonable as the denial was not based on the substance of the request for interlocutory review. "Lack of a quorum" simply is not a legitimate basis for denying such requests.

N.J.A.C. 1:1-14.10(g) provides that the time limits set forth in the regulation "may be extended by the agency head where the need for a delay is caused by honest mistake, accident, or any cause compatible with due diligence." The Board's lack of a quorum during its January 8, 2016 meeting relates to the issue of due diligence and certainly was an internal issue that should not have affected a party's due process rights. In this particular case – where appellant filed a timely request for interlocutory review, the Board failed to review the matter pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-14.10(c) for lack of quorum, the extension of timelines would not have delayed the scheduling or conduct of hearings, and the next Board meeting was scheduled for January 21, 2016 – the proper course of action would have been to extend the ten-day time limit. Therefore, the Board also abused its discretion when it did not extend the ten-day time limit pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-14.10(g).

Additionally, inclusion of the expert report would certainly have an impact on the outcome of the case because the authenticity of one of the documents is in dispute and appellant relies on the expert report to prove that both documents are authentic. Therefore, appellant met the standard for interlocutory review.

In her request for interlocutory review,[2] appellant argued that the ALJ erred in finding that the expert report relies on incorrect information and that it would not assist in determining a fact in issue, as the expert independently authenticated both documents. Appellant further argued that the ALJ erred in finding that the expert report constituted a "net opinion," and that excluding the expert's testimony was improper because the ALJ could have determined whether any weight should be given to the expert opinion after considering the testimony. Finally, appellant proffered that the expert report and testimony were critical to her defense, and should have been admitted as it did not unfairly surprise or prejudice the Board. In response, the Board maintains that the ALJ's exclusion of the expert report and testimony was proper because the report was untimely and the ALJ is allowed to exclude evidence for failure to fulfill procedural requirements. The Board also argues that the report constitutes a "net opinion" and is inadmissible because the expert made bare conclusions and failed to provide sufficient information to support his opinion. Additionally, the Board argues that the report is based on inaccurate information and does not concern any fact at issue in this case.

With regard to the ALJ's decision to exclude appellant's expert report and testimony, which appellant intended to rely on to rebut the Board's testimony that the Teacher of Elementary School Certificate was fraudulent, the ALJ found: the expert report relied on incorrect information and did not address the fact in issue, i.e. whether the disputed certificate was authentic; the expert report was a "net opinion" because it relied on unfounded speculation and reached a bare conclusion without explaining the methodology; the expert was not timely identified during discovery and the evidence was non-pivotal to the fact in issue and, thus, admission of the expert report and testimony would unfairly surprise and prejudice the Board. The Commissioner disagrees with the ALJ's findings and conclusions.

As a preliminary matter, the Commissioner finds procedural deficiencies in the determination that the expert report and testimony were inadmissible. N.J.A.C. 1:1-15.9 provides in relevant part that expert testimony is admissible if such testimony will assist the fact-finder to understand the evidence or determine a fact in issue, and the fact-finder determines whether the expert opinion or inferences are "[b]ased on facts and data perceived by or made known to the witness at or before the hearing; and within the scope of the special knowledge, skill, experience or training possessed by the witness." N.J.A.C. 1:1-15.9 further provides, "[a] witness may be required, before testifying in terms of opinion or inferences, to be first examined concerning the data upon which the opinion or inference is based." Similarly, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-15.1, when the "qualification of a person to be a witness, or the admissibility of evidence, or the existence of a privilege is subject to a condition, and the fulfillment of the condition is in issue, the judge shall hold a preliminary inquiry to determine the issue." N.J.A.C. 1:1-15.1 mirrors N.J.R.E. 104, which requires the trial judge to make a preliminary determination pertaining to the admissibility of proffered evidence when there is an issue or dispute pertaining to the admissibility of evidence. A preliminary hearing is also utilized to determine the reliability of scientific testing relied upon by an expert. See Kemp ex rel. Wright v. State, 174 N.J. 412 (2002). The expert can be questioned on his data and methodology, and the relevancy and reliability of the proffered evidence can then be appropriately considered by the fact-finder. See N.J.A.C. 1:1-15.9; N.J.R.E. 702. Therefore, the proper procedure would have been to conduct a preliminary hearing as to the admissibility of the evidence, which would allow the ALJ to explore and address any concerns about the expert's methodology, and then give the expert opinion the weight deemed appropriate.

The expert conducted an examination and analysis of both documents, and opined that both documents were authentic. As such, the expert opinion, if accepted, would assist the ALJ in determining a fact in issue – whether the Teacher of Elementary School Certificate is authentic. It is evident that the expert mixes up the two certificates in Exhibits 1 and 2. Whether this confusion is the result of misinformation from appellant's counsel or a misunderstanding by the expert is not relevant to the expert's conclusion because there is no dispute concerning the authenticity of one of the documents, and the expert's report suggests that his opinion is based on independent testing and comparison of the two documents. To the extent the expert's confusion may be relevant to his conclusion, it can be appropriately explored and clarified during a preliminary hearing. No such inquiry was made by the ALJ before excluding the expert report and testimony; therefore, finding that the evidence would not assist in determining a fact in issue was improper.

The net opinion rule allows exclusion of expert opinion if it is not based on "facts or data." See N.J.R.E. 702. An expert's opinion is construed as net opinion and deemed inadmissible when the expert makes bare conclusions, unsupported by factual evidence or other data. See State v. Townsend, 186 N.J. 473 (2006). Here, the expert purportedly conducted independent review of the two documents and opined on the authenticity of both. Therefore, the uncertainty over whether the expert's opinion was based on such data or on facts provided by the respondent's attorney, should have been explored as part of the ALJ's preliminary inquiry into the expert's qualifications, the methodology and tests used, the significance of each test, the expert's analysis, and the facts relied upon by the expert. No such opportunity was provided to the expert to explain his findings, the tests performed, or the methodology used. Without such inquiry, the expert report and testimony – which appear to be based on independent testing and analysis – were prematurely disqualified as net opinion.

The Commissioner further disagrees with the ALJ's exclusion of the expert report and testimony on the basis that it was untimely, not pivotal to the fact in issue, and that it would unfairly surprise and prejudice the Board. The Initial Decision relies on Wymbs v. Twp. of Wayne, 163 N.J. 523 (2000) in excluding the expert report and testimony. In Wymbs, the Court found that exclusion of the surprise witness was the only option because "[t]he surprise to the plaintiffs was real, the State's conduct was inexcusable, and the prejudice to plaintiffs irreparable. A continuance was not a viable option because plaintiffs had tried their case for twelve days, believing the State would offer no testimony." Id. at 545. Here, the appellant provided a copy of the expert report to her adversary on the morning of the first day of trial,

May 14, 2014, and the next scheduled hearing was on June 2, 2014. The surprise to the Board in this case was, therefore, vastly different. The Board not only had an opportunity to review the expert report between the two trial dates, but the ruling to exclude the report and testimony was also not made until over a year and a half later.

Additionally, there is no evidence that appellant sought an advantage over the Board by presenting the expert report, dated May 13, 2014, to her adversary on May 14, 2014. In Wymbs, the Court noted, "[f]actors that would 'strongly urge' the trial judge, in the exercise of his discretion, to suspend the imposition of sanctions, are (1) the absence of a design to mislead, (2) absence of the element of surprise if the evidence is admitted, and (3) absence of prejudice which would result from the admission of the evidence." Id. at 544. It does not appear that appellant intended to mislead her adversary or the tribunal. Nor is there any element of "real" surprise in this case because, unlike Wymbs, appellant presented the expert report before trial started and made it clear that she intended to rely on the expert's testimony. There would not have been any prejudice to the Board from admission of the expert report and testimony at the time because the parties would have had the opportunity to consider and rebut the proffered evidence in time for the next hearing date.

Finally, when the "testimony in question is 'pivotal' to the case of the party offering the testimony, a court should seek to avoid exclusion where possible." Id. It is clear that the expert report and testimony are pivotal to appellant's case and the opinion was essential to appellant's defense of her position, as it is intended to resolve a fact in dispute and is the only support for appellant's claim that the Teacher of Elementary School Certificate is authentic. Therefore, exclusion of the evidence as a form of sanction was improper in this matter.

In sum, determining the admissibility of expert testimony requires the fact finder to first deem the witness qualified to proffer testimony as an expert. Once qualified, the fact finder must determine whether the testimony is relevant to the issues in the case, based upon sufficient facts or data, and whether the principles and methods used are reliable. Whether an expert opinion deserves any deference – or determining how much weight should be afforded to an expert's opinion – is a separate issue, and should not have any bearing on the admissibility of the opinion. The ALJ, therefore, erred in excluding the expert report and testimony without conducting a preliminary hearing into the admissibility of the evidence. See N.J.A.C. 1:1-15.1 and N.J.R.E. 104.

Accordingly, for the reasons expressed herein, the ALJ's decision to exclude appellant's expert report and testimony is reversed and the matter is remanded to the OAL for further proceedings in accordance with this opinion.

| BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE TOWNSHIP OF HAMILTON, MERCER COUNTY, | : | DECISION |
| RESPONDENT. | : | |

SYNOPSIS

Pro se petitioners filed an appeal of the determination of the respondent Board that their child, A.P., was not entitled to a free public education in Hamilton Township schools for the 2015-2016 school year. Petitioners further appealed the Board's associated tuition claim for the period of A.P.'s ineligible attendance. Petitioners asserted that they share custody of A.P., with the child's time equally divided between G.P. – who is domiciled in Hamilton Township – and I.R.-P., who resides in Trenton. The Board contended that the results of a residency investigation proved that A.P. did not reside in Hamilton. Accordingly, the Board sought tuition reimbursement for the period from October 23, 2015 to March 16, 2016 – when petitioners filed a consent order in the Superior Court of New Jersey that designates Hamilton as the district of residency for education purposes.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(a), public schools are required to provide a free education to individuals aged 5 to 20 years who are domiciled within the school district; the domicile of unemancipated children is the domicile of their parent or guardian; in the instant case, the provisions of N.J.A.C. 6A:22-3.1(a)1ii apply, and state that in equal-time parenting situations where no court order or written agreement exists between the parents designating the school district of attendance, "the student's domicile is the present domicile of the parent or guardian with whom the student resided on the last school day prior to the October 16 preceding the application date; although petitioners' behavior indicates the existence of an agreement between them as to A.P.'s district of residence, the regulation explicitly calls for a court order or written agreement, which was not in place until the entry of the Consent Order in March 2016; on the last school day prior to October 16, 2015, A.P.'s domicile was I.R.-P.'s home in Trenton. The ALJ concluded that A.P. was not entitled to a free public education in Hamilton Township schools until the entry of the court order on March 16, 2016. Accordingly, the ALJ ordered that the Board's residency determination be affirmed, and ordered petitioners to pay respondent tuition in the total amount of $5,891.70 for the period of A.P.'s ineligible attendance.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurred with the ALJ's findings and conclusions, and adopted the Initial Decision of the OAL as the final decision in this matter.

| BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE TOWNSHIP OF HAMILTON, MERCER COUNTY, | : | DECISION |
| RESPONDENT. | : | |

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed.[1] Petitioner, I.R.-P., filed exceptions.[2]

Upon such review, the Commissioner concurs with the Administrative Law Judge's (ALJ) finding that petitioners failed to sustain their burden of establishing that A.P. was a domiciliary of Hamilton between October 26, 2015 and March 16, 2016. The Commissioner further concurs with the ALJ's conclusion that A.P. was, therefore, not entitled to a free public education in the District's schools during this time.

Pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1b, the Board is entitled to tuition reimbursement in the amount of $5,891.70 ($71.85 per day for eighty-two days) for the time period from October 26, 2015 and March 16, 2016,[3] during which time A.P. was ineligible to attend, as detailed in the ALJ's Initial Decision.

[1] The Commissioner was not provided with a transcript of the July 6, 2016 hearing at the OAL.

[2] I.R.-P.'s exceptions were not timely filed in accordance with N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4. Additionally, there is no indication that I.R.-P's exceptions were served upon the Board and G.P. Accordingly, the exceptions were not considered by the Commissioner. However, with regard to the concerns raised by I.R.-P. about payment of tuition, the Commissioner notes that both G.P. and I.R.-P. are liable for the assessed tuition, and it is the responsibility of the parties to determine the schedule and method of remittance.

[3] The Initial Decision notes that between October 26, 2015 and March 16, 2016, there were eight-five school days held, but the Board was willing to revise the days down to eighty-two school days because of a concern raised by petitioner, G.P., over the number of school days in January.

Accordingly, the Initial Decision of the OAL is adopted as the final decision in this matter. Petitioners are directed to reimburse the Board in the amount of $5,891.70 for tuition costs incurred during the time period that A.P. was ineligible to attend school in Hamilton. The petition of appeal is hereby dismissed.

IT IS SO ORDERED.[4]

Record Closed: July 6, 2016 Decided: October 28, 2016

BEFORE ELIA A. PELIOS, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Petitioners, G.P. and I.R.-P., on behalf of minor child, A.P., appeal the residency determination and tuition due associated with same, of the Board of Education of the Township of Hamilton, Mercer County (respondent, Board), disallowing their minor child, A.P., from attending public school within the respondent's school district. The Board seeks to remove A.P., from its schools pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(b)(2), and demands tuition reimbursement.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

G.P. and I.R.-P. filed a pro se residency appeal with the Department of Education, Bureau of Controversies and Disputes, appealing respondent's determination that A.P. did not reside in the District, and lived in Trenton, New Jersey. On February 19, 2016, the Board filed an answer, motion for dismissal, and cross-petition for assessment of tuition. The matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), where it was filed on February 23, 2016, for determination as a contested case pursuant to N.J..A.C. 6A:3-1 et seq. and N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to –15. A hearing was held on July 6, 2016, and the record closed.

STATEMENT OF FACTS

G.P. and I.R.-P. are the divorced parents of minor child A.P. While G.P. and I.R.-P. were married, the family resided together in Hamilton Township, Mercer County. After they divorced, G.P. remained in the house in Hamilton and I.R.-P. now resides in Trenton. The parents' divorce decree (J-3) calls for joint custody of A.P. with her time equally divided between G.P. and I.R.-P. For the 2015-2016 school year, A.P. was enrolled in third grade in the Hamilton Township School District. The Board completed a residency investigation On October 23, 2015, and conducted a residency hearing on November 30, 2015. Respondent filed its notice of final determination of ineligibility on January 6, 2016, determining that A.P. does not reside in the Township of Hamilton. In March of 2016, petitioners filed a consent order in the Superior Court of New Jersey, designating respondent District as the district of residency for education purposes. Respondent does not dispute this order, acknowledges that A.P. is entitled to attend Hamilton public schools as of the entry of that order, and limits the tuition reimbursement sought to the period of October 23, 2015, to March 16, 2016. Although this represents eighty-five school days, respondent has amended its request to eighty-two days to account for confusion over possible weather-related closings, when the issue was raised by petitioners. The tuition rate of reimbursement as filed with the State is $71.85 per day.

The preceding statements are not in dispute and are hereby FOUND as FACT.

Michael Celentana (Celentana) testified on behalf of the respondent. He has been employed by the respondent as a residency investigator for eight years. Celentana received a referral for suspicion of an out-of-district student with regard to the current matter. He described his process as performing surveillance on the property where the student resides or is alleged to reside, and writing a report of his findings. He acknowledged performing an investigation involving A.P. for the school year 2015-2016.

Celentana stated that he usually has six or seven open investigations at any one time, maybe as many as ten. He does not perform surveillance on every student on every day. He consults the school calendar for guidance in deciding what days to perform surveillance. He identified the 2015-2016 Hamilton Township School District Calendar (R-1). He noted that January 14, 2016, was crossed-out, and that a make-up day was held on May 31, 2016.

Celentana identified and referred to his investigation report (J-1, Exhibit 2). He indicated that he performed his investigation surveillance over the period of time from October 2, 2015, to October 20, 2015, during which thirteen school days were held. Celentana performed surveillance of A.P. on nine of the thirteen school days during that time. He noted that of the nine days, on October 2, 2015, he was performing surveillance at A.P.'s father's house and did not observe A.P.; the rest of the days he did observe A.P. while at her mother's house. He made a conclusion that A.P. lives in Trenton with her mother. Celentana performed two surveillances in the morning, observing the time that A.P. would be expected to leave to go to school, and confirmed her attendance in school on those days. He noted that there were no other investigators covering the present matter.

I. R.-P., the mother of A.P., testified on behalf of the petitioners. She stated that she does not understand the importance of October 15, 2015. She expressed concern that all the days that were listed for observation were days during which she was expected to have custody of A.P. She notes that A.P. spends the night every other weekend with her. She does not have $6,000 to pay the tuition, and already has to pay alimony. On cross-examination, I.R.-P. acknowledged that she did remember discussing the test for residency at the Board hearing, and noted that she understood that where A.P. is in the morning is likely to be where she had spent the night.

G. P. also testified on behalf of the petitioners. He is A.P.'s father. With regard to the divorce decree (J-3), he stated that he believed it is just a guideline that is subject to change, and that they do not need to go to court when they are in agreement to alter where A.P. spends the night on a particular night. He does note that part of the consent decree includes a memorandum of understanding which calls for equal parenting. He also questioned how Celentana, in the course of conducting ten cases, is to observe all the students he is investigating.

Mr. Celentana was recalled by petitioners. He stated that the only surveillance technique that he uses is visual observation. He stated that A.P. attends Kuser Elementary School, one of twenty-three schools located in the District. Not all the schools are elementary schools, and all the school do not start at the same time. Celentana noted that high school starts early in the morning at 7:55 a.m., while Kuser Elementary School does not start until 8:50 a.m.; because of this he was able to conduct multiple investigations concurrently.

With regard to the cross-claim for tuition, the District relied upon documents that had been admitted into evidence, including the school calendar (R-1) and the initial notice(J-1) in which the tuition assessment was made known and the per diem rate identified on page two. Respondent also relied on the final notice (J-2) which identifies the per diem rate and the possible tuition assessment. Noting that as per Celentana's report (J-1, Exhibit 2), the investigation concluded on October 23, 2015, the District conceded that on March 16, 2016, A.P. became eligible to attend the Hamilton Township schools. Referring to the school calendar (R-1), between October 26, and March 16, 2016, there were eighty-five school days held. The Board is willing to revise down to eighty-two days, based on a concern raised by petitioner G.P. over days in January which may or may not have been made-up subsequently.

FINDINGS OF FACT

The facts are essentially not in dispute in this matter. Having heard the testimony presented at the hearing, and having reviewed the documentary evidence, I additionally FIND that Celentana observed A.P. depart her mother's home in Trenton on the following days that she was confirmed to be in attendance in the Hamilton School District:

Monday, October 5, 2015
Tuesday, October 6, 2015
Friday, October 9, 2015
Monday, October 12, 2015
Tuesday, October 13, 2015
Friday, October 16, 2015
Monday, October 19, 2015
Tuesday, October 20, 2015

I further FIND that A.P. had spent the night immediately preceding the above-listed dates at her mother's home in Trenton, New Jersey.

CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

Public schools are required to provide a free education to individuals between the ages of five and twenty years in certain circumstances, including individuals who are domiciled within the school district. N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(a). Domicile has been defined as the place where a person has his true, fixed, permanent home and principal establishment, and to which whenever he is absent he has the intention of returning. State v. Benny, 20 N.J. 238, 250 (1955). The domicile of an unemancipated child is the domicile of the parent, custodian or guardian. P.B.K. ex rel. minor child E.Y. v. Bd. of Educ. of Tenafly, 343 N.J. Super. 419, 427 (App. Div. 2001). Thus, a child would routinely attend school in the district where his or her parents live. N.J.A.C. 6A:22-3.1 provides that :

> (a) A student is eligible to attend a school district if he or she is domiciled within the school district.

> 1. A student is domiciled in the school district when he or she is the child of a parent or guardian whose domicile is located within the school district.
>
>    i. When a student's parents or guardians are domiciled within different school districts and there is no court order or written agreement between the parents designating the school district of attendance, the student's domicile is the school district of the parent or guardian with whom the student lives for the majority of the school year. This subparagraph shall apply regardless of which parent has legal custody.
>
>    ii. When a student's physical custody is shared on an equal-time, alternating week/month or other similar basis so the student is not living with one parent or guardian for a majority of the school year and there is no court order or written agreement between the parents designating the school district of attendance, the student's domicile is the present domicile of the parent or guardian with whom the student resided on the last school day prior to the October 16 preceding the application date.

Petitioners' Final Judgment of Divorce (J-3) includes a memorandum of understanding (MOU) which contains the following provisions:

> The parties agree the mother shall share time with [A.P.] every Monday and Thursday overnight as well as every other weekend from Friday to Monday. The father shall share time with [A.P.] every Tuesday and Wednesday overnight as well as every other weekend from Friday to Sunday.

The record reflects that Celentana only observed A.P. at her mother's house in Trenton on Monday, Tuesday, and Friday mornings. The MOU dictates that A.P. will sleep at her mother's every Sunday, Monday, and Thursday evening. So while Celentana and the Board contend that since she was observed a total of eight times in thirteen school days during the investigation, and that A.P. lives with her mother more than with her father, such argument fails in light of the fact that every observation by Celentana of A.P. was consistent with the terms of an MOU which the Board stipulated provides for even parenting time split down the middle between G.P. and I.R.-P.

Accordingly, we must look to the provisions of N.J.A.C. 6A:22-3.1(a)1ii which state that in equal-time parenting situations "the student's domicile is the present domicile of the parent or guardian with whom the student resided on the last school day prior to the October 16 preceding the application date," in the absence of court order or written agreement between the parents designating the school district of attendance.

The last school day prior to October 16, 2015 was Thursday, October 15. The MOU renders it likely that A.P. woke up at her father's house in Hamilton that day and the record reflects she spent the night at her mother's in Trenton. In Board of Education of the Borough of Lodi v. Board of Education of the Township of Rochelle Park, OAL Dkt. No. EDU 20236-15 (Initial Decision, June 10, 2016, adopted July 21, 2016), Administrative Law Judge Ellen Bass concluded that it is reasonable to deem the home a child returns to on any given day the home in which he "resides" on that particular day.

Although petitioners' behavior certainly seems to indicate the existence of an agreement between them as to A.P.'s district of residence, the regulation explicitly calls for a court order or a written agreement, neither of which has been provided. Considering the foregoing, I am constrained to CONCLUDE that until the entry of the Consent Order in March 2016, A.P.'s domicile on any given day is to be determined in accordance with the provisions of N.J.A.C. 6A:22-3.1(a)1ii, and that on the last school day prior to October 16, 2015 A.P.'s domicile was her mother's home in Trenton. I further CONCLUDE that she was therefore not entitled to a free public education in the Hamilton Township schools until the entry of that Consent Order. The Board's residency determination should be AFFIRMED, and the petitioners' appeal DISMISSED.

With regard to the Board's cross-claim for tuition, I CONCLUDE that the Board is entitled to reimbursement of residence tuition in the amount of $71.85 per day for eighty-two days for a total of $5,891.70.

DECISION AND ORDER

It is, therefore, ORDERED that the Board's determination be AFFIRMED and that petitioners pay respondent tuition in the total amount of $5,891.70 for unauthorized attendance in the District schools for the periods stated above. Petitioners' appeal is DISMISSED.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

| PETITIONER, | : | COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION |
| V. | : | DECISION ON |
| BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE TOWNSHIP OF WEST ORANGE, ESSEX COUNTY, | : | APPLICATION FOR EMERGENT RELIEF |
| RESPONDENT. | : | |

The record of this emergent matter and the recommended Amended Order of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed.[1] Upon such review, the Commissioner concurs with the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) that petitioner has failed to demonstrate entitlement to emergent relief pursuant to the standards enunciated in Crowe v. DeGioia, 90 N.J. 126 (1982), and codified at N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6.[2] Specifically, the Commissioner concurs with the ALJ – for the reasons set forth in the recommended Amended Order – that petitioner has failed to demonstrate that he will suffer irreparable harm absent emergent relief. As petitioner must demonstrate all four Crowe factors in order to warrant emergent relief, the Commissioner need not make a determination on the remaining three factors.

Accordingly, the recommended Amended Order of the OAL – to the extent that it denies petitioner's application for emergent relief – is adopted. This case shall proceed at the OAL with such proceedings as the parties and the ALJ deem necessary to bring it to closure.

IT IS SO ORDERED.

Aileen Driscoll, Esq. for petitioner (Zazzali, Fagella, Nowak, Kleinbaum & Friedman)

Bradley Tishman, Esq., for respondent West Orange Board of Education (Cleary, Giacobbe, Alfieri Jacobs, LLC.)

BEFORE KIMBERLY A. MOSS, ALJ:

Petitioner, Ralph Salvatore, (Salvatore) filed a petition demanding the West Orange Board of Education (Board) return him to work and restore his sick time for the period of time he was placed on involuntary sick leave. The matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) and filed on June 6, 2016. On September 16, 2016, petitioner filed a motion for a temporary restraining order compelling the Board to reinstate petitioner to his position and enjoin the board from compelling petitioner to be examined by the Board's doctor. The motion was requesting emergent relief. Respondent filed a response to petitioner's motion on September 20, 2016. I denied the motion on September 22, 2016 because it was not filed with the Department of Education. Petitioner refiled her motion with the Department of Education. That motion is now before me. Respondent filed a reply to the motion on October 12, 2016. A hearing is scheduled to begin on December 6, 2016.

Petitioner was placed on Administrative Leave on January 7, 2016. He was required to undergo a fitness for duty exam with Dr. Mario Finkelstein on January 13, 2016. Dr. Finkelstein's report of January 20, 2016 found petitioner unfit to return to work and recommended petitioner undergo weekly psychotherapy with a cognitive behavioral therapist for twelve weekly sessions and return to him for reassessment. Petitioner's Administrative Leave time ended on February 4, 2016. Beginning February 8, 2016 through March 29, 2016 petitioner utilized sick leave and personal days. Petitioner treated with Mary Culley, LCSW having twelve sessions in approximately seven weeks. Petitioner utilized donated sick leave from March 30, 2016 through the end of the 2015-2016 school year.

The Board would reinstate petitioner once he was cleared by its doctor, Dr. Finkelstein. Petitioner's doctor, Dr. Gollin states that petitioner is fit for duty. Respondent will not reinstate petitioner until he is cleared by Dr. Finkelstein. Petitioner has not been to Dr. Finkelstein for a reevaluation. Respondent will continue to pay petitioner and provide medical benefits to him as if he is an active employee, without imposing any sick days or any type of unpaid leave days to his attendance record pending the outcome of this matter. Petitioner is requesting emergent relief. Petitioner alleges that he meets the criteria for emergent relief set for in Crowe v. DeGoia 90 NJ 126,132-134(1982)

The standards which must be met by the moving party in an application for emergent relief are embodied in N.J.A.C. 6A:14-2.7(m)1, N.J.A.C. 1:6A-12.1, and Crowe v. DeGoia, 90 N.J. 126, 132-34 (1982). Emergency relief may only be granted if the judge determines that:

1. The petitioner will suffer irreparable harm if the relief is not granted;
2. The legal right underlying the petitioner's claim is settled;
3. The petitioner has a likelihood of prevailing on the merits of the underlying claim; and
4. When the equities and interests of the parties are balanced, the petitioner will suffer greater harm than the respondent will suffer if the requested relief is not granted.

The petitioner must satisfy all four prongs of the Crowe v. Degoia test.

In this matter petitioner has not succeeded in the irreparable harm prong of the test. Petitioner has previously been examined by Finklestein. There is no irreparable harm in petitioner being examined by a doctor who has previously examined him. In addition petitioner will be paid as if he was an active employee pending the outcome of this matter.

The petitioner has not established that there is a likelihood of prevailing on the merits. Respondent cited two similar cases in his response Chambers v. Pleasantville Board of Education EDU-8498-97, Initial Decision (May 1, 1998) adopted, Comm'r (June 18, 1998) <http://lawlibrary.rutgers.edu/oal/search.html> and Diaz v. Board of Education of the Township of Milburn,EDU-01751-09, Initial Decision (March 2, 2010) adopted Comm'r (August 27, 2010) <http://lawlibrary.rutgers.edu/oal/search.html> In both cases the petitioner refused to submit to a reexamination by the physician who performed the initial evaluation. Those petitioners' appeals were both dismissed.

I CONCLUDE that petitioner did not meet the Crowe v. DeGoia standards.

ORDER

Based on the foregoing, it is ORDERED that petitioner's request for emergent relief is denied. If is further ORDERED that petitioner's motion for temporary restraints is DENIED.

It is further ORDERED that respondent pay petitioner and provide medical benefits to him as if he is an active employee, without imposing any sick days or any type of unpaid leave days to his attendance record pending the outcome of this matter.

This order on application for emergency relief may be adopted, modified or rejected by the Commissioner of Education, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. The final decision shall be issued without undue delay, but no later than forty-five (45) days following the entry of this order. If the Commissioner of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this order within forty-five days, this recommended order shall become a final decision on the issue of emergent relief in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

I. BACKGROUND CONSIDERATIONS

At all times that are relevant for the purposes of this proceeding, Penny Keough was employed as an Administrative Assistant/Payroll Secretary by the City of Burlington School District Board of Education, having held this position since December 1, 2011. By operation of law, she became tenured in this position as of December 2, 2014. On April 8, 2016, Superintendent of Schools Patricia T. Doloughty, Ed.D. filed tenure charges against Ms. Keough pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-10-11, alleging conduct unbecoming, incapacity, and other just cause. At its meeting of April 25, 2016, the Board of Education determined that the tenure charges and the evidence in support of the same were sufficient, if true, to warrant dismissal or a reduction in salary. By roll-call majority of the full membership, the Board thereafter voted to certify the tenure charges and suspend Ms. Keough from her position without pay for 120 days. See CERTIFICATE OF DETERMINATION by School Business Administrator/Board Secretary Coxe, dated April 26, 2016.

On April 27, 2016, M. Kathleen Duncan, Director Bureau of Controversies and Disputes, acknowledged receipt of the charges on behalf of the New Jersey State Department of Education. The boilerplate checklist advised Ms. Keough that she was required to file a written response to the same within 15 days, per N.J.A.C. 6A:3-5.3, 6A:3-5.4(f). On May 3, 2016, counsel for Respondent Alan H. Schorr, Esquire of SCHORR & ASSOCIATES, P.C. sent a representation letter to David C. Hespe, then-Commissioner of Education. This respectfully requested that the Commissioner stay the tenure proceedings per Winters v. North Hudson Regional Fire & Rescue, 212 N.J. 67 (2012), pending the outcome of a New Jersey Superior Court, Burlington County, action that had been filed that same date. The complaint in that matter alleged inter alia, violations of the New Jersey Law Against Discrimination, N.J.S.A. 10:5-1 et. seq. by the District.

On May 5, 2016, Ms. Duncan sent a correspondence to counsel, which acknowledged the May 4th receipt of the Respondent's Motion for a Stay. She went on to advise that within 7 days the Petitioner should file a response, with a reply by Respondent within 3 days. John B. Comegno, II, Esquire of the COMEGNO LAW GROUP, P.C. formally opposed the motion on behalf of the District, filing a letter brief. Mr. Schorr's May 16th reply was received by Controversies and Disputes on May 17, 2016. Then-Acting Commissioner Peter Shulman denied Respondent's request for a stay in a May 26, 2016 letter to the parties, principally citing the fact that the irreparable harm requirement of Crowe v. DeGioia, 90 N.J. 126 (1982) had not been satisfied. Mr. Shulman further concluded that Respondent had misread the import of Winters, and directed that an Answer to the tenure charges be filed within 10 days.

Mr. Schorr responded to Mr. Shulman on May 31, 2016, reporting that he had only just received the May 26th letter and requesting an additional 30 days so that an application for a stay could be made in Superior Court. On June 2, 2016, Ms. Duncan notified Mr. Schorr that his May 31, 2016 letter did not say that he attempted to obtain the consent of his adversary. She closed by stating,

"[w]hether he consents or not, please be advised that a 30-day extension will extend the 120-day period without pay pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-14. By copy of this letter I am requesting that Mr. Comegno promptly advise of any opposition to the request." Counsel for Petitioner indicated his opposition to Respondent's application that same date, while underlining that the purpose of the tenure reform laws was to streamline tenure cases.

Mr. Schorr again wrote to Mr. Shulman on July 1, 2016, informing him that as the Appellate Division's June 28, 2016 ORDER had denied the stay, Ms. Keough would be filing an ANSWER to the tenure charges no later than July 6, 2016. This was done on July 5, 2016. In a July 7, 2016 letter, Mr. Comegno responded to a July 6, 2016 email from Ms. Duncan, wherein counsel were requested to advise her of the status of Respondent's NOTICE OF MOTION seeking an emergent stay and leave to file an interlocutory appeal, filed on June 8, 2016. This recited the foregoing facts of the denial and emphatically requested that an arbitrator be assigned within the statutory time frame so that the matter could proceed.

On July 18, 2016, Ms. Duncan notified me that I had been appointed to serve as the Arbitrator in the case pursuant to P.L. 2012, c. 26. A conference call was conducted with counsel on July 28, 2016, with a correspondence sent afterwards memorializing the agreed upon discovery schedule, which included the propounding of interrogatories as well as a document exchange. Hearings were additionally set down for August 31, 2016 and September 12, 2016.

However, prior to the initial hearing, on August 30, 2016, the New Jersey Supreme Court granted temporary, emergency relief, staying the August 31, 2016 hearing. See SINGLE JUSTICE DISPOSITION ON APPLICATION FOR EMERGENT RELIEF (Rule 2:9-8) by Justice Timpone.

This led to the cancellation of the hearing on the 31st, and when no further notice by the Court was received the September 12th hearing as well. On September 19, 2016, Mr. Schorr wrote to report that the Court had apparently ruled on September 12, 2016 that the emergency stay was vacated, with a copy of the ORDER enclosed. After offering additional hearing dates to the parties on September 20, 2016 that were not mutually acceptable, a conference call was held which resulted in the selection of a number of dates.[1]

Hearings were held at the City of Burlington Board of Education, 518 Locust Avenue, Burlington, New Jersey, on November 1, 2016 and November 16, 2016. An additional hearing was also convened on November 15, 2016 at the Offices of SCHORR & ASSOCIATES, 5 Split Rock Drive, Cherry Hill, New Jersey, in order to accommodate Dr. Ballet whose offices were located nearby. All hearings proceeded in an orderly manner, and at that time counsel were provided with a full opportunity to introduce relevant and admissible documentary evidence; to engage in oral argument; and to undertake the direct and cross-examination of witnesses who testified under oath. A verbatim transcription of the proceedings was provided by MASTROIANNI & FORMAROLI, INC., with the transcripts identified as TI (11/1/16); TII (11/15/16); TIII (11/16/16).

1/ An additional conference call was conducted on October 11, 2016 in order to entertain Respondent's request for an Order to conduct a de bene este deposition of Dr. Ballet, which would obviate the need for live testimony and was opposed by Petitioner. My letter of that same date denied this motion based upon N.J.S.A. 18A:6-17.1, but requested that Mr. Schorr provide a draft affidavit to Ms. Hoffmeyer in order to explore the possibility of Dr. Ballet certifying the authenticity of Ms. Keough's medical records. Ultimately, there was no agreement on a stipulation and Dr. Ballet testified at the November 15th hearing.

At the conclusion of the November 1, 2016 hearing, Respondent made a motion to restore Ms. Keough's salary effective November 9, 2016, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-14. The parties were directed to submit their positions in writing, resulting in the issuance of a November 11, 2016 INTERIM AWARD & ORDER, which in pertinent part indicated:

> [t]he language which controls the resolution of the 120 day issue is found at N.J.S.A. 18A:6-14 Suspension upon certification of charge; compensation; reinstatement. This provides in full:
>
> > [u]pon certification of any charge to the commissioner, the board may suspend the person against whom such charge is made, with or without pay, but, if the determination of the charge by the arbitrator is not made within 120 calendar days after certification of the charges, excluding all delays which are granted at the request of such person, then the full salary (except for said 120 days) of such person shall be paid beginning on the one hundred twenty-first day until such determination is made. Should the charge be dismissed at any stage of the process, the person shall be reinstated immediately with full pay from the first day of such suspension. Should the charge be dismissed at any stage of the process and the suspension be continued during an appeal therefrom, then the full pay or salary of such person shall continue until the determination of the appeal. However, the board of education shall deduct from said full pay or salary any sums received by such employee or officers by way of pay or salary from any substituted employment assumed during such period of suspension. Should the charge be sustained on the original hearing or an appeal therefrom, and should such person appeal from the same, then the suspension may be continued unless > and until such determination is reversed, in which event he shall be reinstated immediately with full pay as of the time of such suspension.

> [Emphasis added].

As indicated by the position statements of the parties, they are in agreement that the delayed filing of Respondent's Answer to the tenure charges added 56 days to the 120 day period. They further concur that the New Jersey Supreme Court Appeal along with late notification by the Court was the source of 20 more days. Therefore, when this 76 day period is tacked on to the statutorily prescribed 120 day period, the result is the date of November 9, 2016.

There is a sharp dispute, however, as to whether or not that is the controlling date. In that regard, Respondent argues that the September 19, 2016 date should attach, as that is when counsel were notified of the lifting of the Supreme Court stay. She additionally posits that any delays are directly attributable to the Board's unavailability for a hearing. Petitioner takes a dim view of that assertion, contending that but for the Respondent's appeal to the Supreme Court, the matter would have concluded long ago. The argument is then advanced that the period of August 30th until November 1, 2016, when the first hearing took place is the correct measuring period. By Petitioner's computation, this extends the period of suspension until December 22, 2016.

My determination of the correct date of course turns upon an interpretation of the words highlighted above "excluding all delays which are granted at the request of such person." As this is a fact specific situation, the exact circumstances of the case are instructive. Hearings in the case were originally scheduled for August 31, 2016 and September 12, 2016. Petitioner is correct in that were it not for Respondent's Supreme Court appeal and resulting 11th hour stay entered on August 30th, the matter would have been heard and adjudicated by now, as my Award would have been statutorily mandated on or before October 15th.

In my view, a fair reading of this "delays" language involves delays in the case which are reasonably attributable and foreseeable. Respondent expressly recognized this by conceding that the extra 12 days until the receipt of the Supreme Court's order lifting the stay should be counted, even though it was not attributable to Ms. Keough because she had requested the stay. So it is with the exigent scheduling of hearings, which based upon the full calendars of counsel and arbitrators set months before does not happen quickly. This consideration then requires an arbitrator to utilize a rule of reasonableness in determining when to place a tenured employee back on the payroll. Simply put, was a petitioner engaging in dilatory tactics to avoid rescheduling?

Notwithstanding the muscular assertions of Respondent in this regard, the facts do not support such a conclusion vis-à-vis Petitioner. Moreover, a review of my emails reveals that on September 20, 2016 (the day after the Supreme Court stay was lifted), I offered the dates of September 28-29, 2016; October 11, 2016; October 13, 2016. Mr. Schorr responded that he was available September 28, 2016, and the morning of October 11th only. He further advised that he began a 2 week trial on October 17, 2016. When the 28th was not good for the Board due to a scheduling conflict, on September 21st, I proposed a conference call for September 27th.

During the call, various dates for the hearings were discussed. The Board advised from the outset that the only date it was available was November 1, 2016, with the rest of the month devoted to other tenure cases the firm was handling. At the time I was not available on November 1st. Respondent is correct in arguing that I had told Petitioner that response was unacceptable and that I would set down the hearing dates, if necessary. Subsequently, my out-of-state case on November 1st cancelled, and the Petitioner was able to make itself available on November 15th. The foregoing facts were contained in my September 28th letter to Ms. Duncan, which resulted in the DOE granting an extension for the submission of the Award.

The bottom line is that November 1st was the first date both parties and I were available to start the hearing. That is so, notwithstanding the fact that Respondent was available on September 28th, and Petitioner was unavailable due to the N.J.S.B.A. Conference the week of October 24, 2016. On that count, I do not perceive the former as unreasonable, since that was only a week later. As to the latter, Mr. Schorr was on trial any way.

Accordingly, based upon the discrete facts of this case, I find that any delays in rescheduling the case are reasonably attributable to Respondent's Supreme Court filing and that the period from August 30, 2016 until November 1st should stay the running of the 120 day period. That will then set the date Ms. Keough would come back on the payroll after the December 15, 2016 due date for my Award, and for these reasons, Respondent's motion is DENIED.

In lieu of oral closing argument, the parties agree to submit post-hearing briefs, which following receipt of the expedited transcripts were returnable December 5, 2016. By virtue of the delays caused by Respondent's Supreme Court appeal, the briefing schedule and at my request, on September 30, 2016, Director Duncan graciously granted an extension for the issuance of this AWARD until December 15, 2016. The same is accordingly submitted in timely fashion, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-17.1.d.

II. FRAMING OF THE ISSUE

Has the District established whether the actions of Ms. Keough, a tenured Administrative Assistant and Payroll Secretary of the Board, amount to unbecoming conduct sufficient for her termination and/or alternatively, whether she is incapacitated and unable to complete and perform her job duties? And if not, what shall the remedy be?

IV. APPLICABLE BOARD POLICIES

SUPPORT STAFF FAMILY LEAVE 4431.1 [Petitioner Exhibit 1 at Tab 9]

A. Introduction

The Board will provide family leave in accordance with the Federal Family and Medical Leave Act (FMLA) and the New Jersey Family Leave Act (NJFLA).

FMLA leave for eligible staff members shall be up to twelve weeks leave of absence in a twelve month period upon advance notice to the district for the birth of a son or daughter of the staff member and in order to care for such son or daughter; for the placement of a son or daughter with the staff member for adoption or foster care; in order to care for the spouse, son, daughter, or parent of the staff member if such spouse, son, daughter, or parent has a serious health condition; or for a serious health condition that makes the staff member unable to perform the functions of the position of such staff member, or because of any qualifying exigency arising out of the fact that the employee's spouse, son, daughter, or parent is a military member on active duty or call[ed] to active duty status (or has been notified of an impending call or order to covered active duty). In addition, eligible employees may take up to a combined total of twenty-six workweeks in a single twelve month period to care for a covered service member with a serious injury or illness.

NJFLA leave for eligible staff members shall be up to twelve weeks of leave of absence in any twenty-four month period upon advance notice to the district so that a staff member may provide care made necessary by the birth of a child of the staff member, the placement of a child with the staff member in connection with adoption of such child by the staff member, and the serious health condition of a spouse, parent, or child.

D. Eligibility

1. Federal Family and Medical Leave Act (FMLA)

   A staff member shall become eligible for FMLA leave after he/she has been employed at least twelve months in the district and employed for at least 1250 hours of service during the twelve month period immediately preceding the commencement of the leave. The twelve months the staff member must have been employed need not be consecutive months pursuant to 29 CFR §825.110(b). The minimum 1250 hours of service shall be determined according to the principles established under the Fair Labor Standards Act (FLSA) for determining compensable hours of work pursuant to 29 CFR §785. Entitlement to FMLA leave taken for the birth of a son or daughter or placement of a son or daughter with the staff member for adoption or foster care shall expire at the end of the twelve-month period beginning on the date of such birth or placement.

2. New Jersey Family Leave Act (NJFLA)

A staff member shall become eligible for NJFLA leave after he/she has been employed at least twelve months in this district for not less than 1,000 base hours, excluding overtime, during the immediate preceding twelve month period. The calculation of the twelve month period to determine eligibility shall commence with the commencement of the NJFLA leave. NJFLA leave taken for the birth or adoption of a healthy child may commence at any time within a year after the date of the birth or placement for adoption.

SUPPORT STAFF ATTENDANCE 4212 [Petitioner Exhibit 1 at Tab 18]

The regular and prompt attendance of support staff members is an essential element in the efficient operation of the school district and the effective conduct of the educational program. Staff member absenteeism disrupts the educational program and the Board of Education considers attendance an important component of a staff member's job performance.

A support staff member who fails to give prompt notice of an absence, misuses sick leave, fails to verify an absence in accordance with Board policy, falsifies the reason for an absence, is absent without authorization, is repeatedly tardy, or accumulates an excessive number of absences may be subject to appropriate consequences, which may include the withholding of a salary increment, dismissal, and/or certification of tenure charges.

In accordance with N.J.S.A. 18A:30-1, sick leave is defined to mean the absence from work because of a personal disability due to an injury or illness or because the support staff member has been excluded from school by the school medical authorities on account of contagious disease or of being quarantined for such disease in the staff member's immediate household. No support staff member will be discouraged from the prudent, necessary use of sick leave and any other leave provided for in the collective bargaining agreement negotiated with the member's majority representative, in an individual employment contract, or provided in the policies of the Board. In accordance with N.J.S.A. 18A:30-4, the Superintendent or Board of Education may require a physician's certificate to be filed with the Secretary of the Board in order to obtain sick leave.

The Superintendent, in consultation with administrative staff members, will review the rate of absence among the staff members. The review will include the collection and analysis of the attendance data, the training of support staff members in their attendance responsibilities, and the counseling of support staff members for whom regular and prompt attendance is a problem.

UNCOMPENSATED LEAVE 3431 [Respondent Exhibit 19]

The Board of Education recognizes, under certain circumstances, that the interests of the school district and of an individual employee may be served by the employee's extended absence from the school district for a purpose other than disability.

Except as may be otherwise provided by negotiated agreement, the Board reserves the right to establish the conditions under which uncompensated leaves of absence may be taken. An extended leave of absence may be granted for the purpose of study, childcare, recuperation, a special work assignment, or such other purpose as will tend to serve the best interests of the school district. No leave will be granted for a period of time longer than one school year, but may be extended following annual consideration by the Board to a maximum of one year following the completion of this year in which the leave was granted.

The Board reserves the right to require that the commencement and termination of an extended leave be such as to cause the least interruption to the instructional program of the schools. Wherever possible, partial year leaves of absence will begin and end at a division in the academic calendar and will cause not more than one interruption in teaching continuity during the school year in which the leave is taken.

A person absent from district service on an extended leave of absence does not enjoy a direct employment relationship with the Board, and the period of the leave will not accrue toward tenure and seniority, except as expressly permitted by law. No such person will receive compensation or benefits during the period of the leave.

Whenever possible, an uncompensated leave of absence will be granted for a time certain. When an employee cannot foretell the date on which the leave will terminate, the employee shall inform the Board not less than eight weeks in advance of the anticipated date of return to district employment.

A change in the purpose of a leave which has been granted must be reported to the Superintendent. The Board reserves the right to terminate any uncompensated leave of absence for which the purpose has been altered by the employee without permission.

At the expiration of the uncompensated leave of absence, the employee may return to district employment in a position for which he/she is appropriately certified.

V. CONTENTIONS OF THE PARTIES

Petitioner City of Burlington Board of Education

Ms. Keough has been employed by the Board as a Payroll Secretary since December 1, 2011, earning tenure in her position as of December 2, 2014. TI19:7; 20:20. During her time with the Board she was counseled by a prior supervisor due to her failure to transfer funds necessary to process payroll. TIII150:6-151:9. Ms. Keough's work history also shows evidence of significant and habitual absenteeism. Between January 2012 and June 2012, Ms. Keough was absent seven times (7). TI 21:22-25; Petitioner's Exhibit 1. During the 2012-2013 school year, Ms. Keough was absent twenty-eight (28) times. TI23:16-22; Petitioner's Exhibit 2. During the 2013-2014 school year, Ms. Keough was absent thirty (30) times. TI24:11-16; Petitioner's Exhibit 4. During the 2014-2015 school year, Ms. Keough was absent forty-three and a half days (43.5). TI24:18-25; Id. Finally, during the 2015-2016 school year, Ms. Keough was absent one hundred and twenty-eight and a half days (128.5), which only covers her absences through April 1, 2016. TI24:24-25:2; Petitioner's Exhibit 5. In total, Ms. Keough has been absent two hundred and sixty-seven days (267), in less than five years of employment.

Ms. Keough suffered a workplace injury in March, 2013, wherein she hit her face on a door while turning her head. Petitioner's Exhibit 6. As a result, Ms. Keough underwent jaw surgery, which was paid for by the Board's Workers'

Compensation insurance, and which required her to be out on Workers' Compensation leave beginning October 1, 2015. TI25:9-16. The Board's understanding was that Ms. Keough's Workers' Compensation leave would last anywhere from four (4) to eight (8) weeks. TI37:20; TII42:18. Due to the Board's understanding of the limited duration of Ms. Keough's leave, and the expectation that Ms. Keough would be returning to work, the Board opted not to hire anyone on a temporary basis. TI37:15-38:19. This decision was made, in part, due to the difficulty in finding a temporary employee that would be willing to undergo the background check required as a pre-requisite to employment, while not knowing how long the assignment would last. TII65:19-66:17.

Unfortunately, Ms. Keough's Workers' Compensation leave lasted beyond the originally forecasted duration, and she was not cleared to return to work until January 4, 2016. Petitioner's Exhibit 7. The Board learned of Ms. Keough's clearance to return to work on December 22, 2015, when Ms. Keough called Susan Kirk (a/k/a Susan Croce), the Board employee tasked with handling bookkeeping, health benefits, and Workers' Compensation, to advise of her ability and intent to return on January 4, 2016, the first day after winter break. TI161:11-19; 162:15; 163:11-19.

Upon being informed that the Board would require a note from her doctor, clearing her to return, Ms. Keough became frustrated, and accused Ms. Kirk and her colleagues of being useless. TI162:18-21; 163:11-19, 164:1-2. Ms. Kirk testified that Ms. Keough called several times during the day, and was "adamant" that she could return on January 4th. TI163:5-19. Ultimately, the Board received the required clearance from Ms. Keough's Workers' Compensation doctor, which stated "Mrs. Keough is medically cleared to return to work on Jan. 4, 2016. Mrs. Keough had surgery on Oct. 1, 2015 and has had several follow-up visits to demonstrate that she had the mental and physical capacity to return to work on Jan. 4, 2016." Petitioner's Exhibit 7. [Emphasis added].

Despite Ms. Keough's insistence, and her doctor's assurance, that she was fit to return to work, just eight (8) days later, Ms. Keough's story changed. On December 30, 2015, Ms. Keough texted Ray Coxe, School Business Administrator, and her immediate supervisor, and advised that she would not be returning on January 4th, as she previously promised. TII18:25-19:1; TII24:1-6; TII25:5-21. The precise text exchange went as follows:

|---|---|
| Keough (at 12:25 pm): | Hey Ray, is there a reason why I can't get into email? |
| Coxe (at 12:36 pm): | I know they were going to be taking the system down to work on issues. I'm not aware of anything else. |
| Keough (at 12:42 pm): | I have not been able to get in since I've been out.I just saw my hand doctor yesterday n [sic] he wants me out for 2-3 months cos [sic] I'm having it fused together. So effective the 4 of January I'm out so I needed to send a letter requesting a leave of absence w/o pay effective January 4thI have the Drs [sic] note |
| Coxe (at 12:44 pm): | When is your surgery? |

Keough (at 12:45 pm): 4th

Respondent's Exhibit 16.

Based upon Ms. Keough's text messages, set forth above, Mr. Coxe was led to believe that Ms. Keough's surgery was scheduled prospectively for January 4th. TII26:4-8. Mr. Coxe's belief in this regard was bolstered by the note received by the Board from Ms. Keough on January 4, 2016, the first day back after the winter break. TII27:13-21; Petitioner's Exhibit 8. Ms. Keough's note read as follows:

> Dear Ray,
>
> Per our text conversation today my request for medical leave of absence effective January 4th, 2016.
>
> Please find this letter as my formal request for my medical leave of absence without pay effective January 4th, 2016.
>
> My doctor will be keeping me out of work for approximately two to three months.
>
> Sorry for the short notice but this was beyond my control.
>
> Thank you for your time and consideration.
>
> Sincerely,
> Penny Keough.

Petitioner's Exhibit 8.

Mr. Coxe understood Ms. Keough's statement that "this was beyond [her] control" to mean that Ms. Keough was unaware that she would be having the surgery she mentioned in her December 30, 2015 texts. TII29:1-6. Likewise, Dr. Patricia Doloughty, Board Superintendent, also understood Ms. Keough's note to mean that she was having an unforeseen surgery. TI36:1-15. Ms. Keough's note was accompanied by a note from the Hand and Surgery Rehabilitation Center of New Jersey, and purportedly signed by Dr. Frederick Ballet. Petitioner's Exhibit 8. Dr. Ballet's note reflects that Ms. Keough was seen on December 29, 2015, and that she would be out of work starting January 4th, 2016, for 2-3 months. Dr. Ballet's note does not contain any diagnosis, provides no explanation of Ms. Keough's treatment, and gives no insight into why she was unable to work. Id.

Further confusing matters, on or about January 7, 2016, Ms. Keough's mother dropped off one (1) page of a disability application for Mr. Coxe to complete. TII31:11-16; TIII170: 9-10; Petitioner's Exhibit 10. The form contained no further information regarding Ms. Keough's diagnosis or the reason she was unable to work. Id. Having received clearance from her Workers' Compensation doctor on December 22, 2015, stating that she had the mental and physical capacity to return to work, Dr. Ballet's December 29, 2015 note provided little insight into the reason for Ms. Keough's supposed inability to return to work.

Both Dr. Doloughty and Mr. Coxe were confused regarding the type of leave Ms. Keough was requesting, and the justification for her request. TI35:23-36:-5; TII30:21-31:2. As a result, Dr. Doloughty sent Ms. Keough three (3) letters, seeking the information necessary to review her request for unpaid leave, as follows:

1. January 4th Letter. Petitioner's Exhibit 9. Dr. Doloughty sent Ms. Keough a letter, enclosing the Board's Family Medical Leave Policy, and advising Ms. Keough that the purpose of the letter was to respond to her leave request, and clarify the designation of her leave. Id. The letter further advised that the leave request would be reviewed by the Board, pending receipt of a medical provider's certification, referenced and enclosed with the letter. Id. At the time Dr. Doloughty wrote the letter, Ms. Keough's eligibility for Family Medical Leave was uncertain. TI39:8-16. Nonetheless, as per the Board's standard practice, Dr. Doloughty provided information about Family Medical Leave, to be sure Ms. Keough had it in the event she was eligible. Petitioner's Exhibit 9.

2. January 13th Letter. Petitioner's Exhibit 11. After determining that Ms. Keough was not eligible for Family Medical Leave, due to not having worked sufficient hours to qualify, Dr. Doloughty sent Ms. Keough a second letter on January 13, 2016. Id. Dr. Doloughty's January 13th letter advised Ms. Keough that if she was seeking leave under Board Policy 3431, entitled "Uncompensated Leave" she must specify an emergent inability to work, supported by a physician's statement. Id. The January 13th letter also enclosed the Board's anti-discrimination policy, and invited Ms. Keough to contact Dr. Doloughty in the event she required an accommodation. Id. The letter advised Ms. Keough that she was not presently authorized to take uncompensated leave at that time and that in the absence of the appropriate documentation, she must return to work on January 22, 2016. Id.

3. February 4th Letter. Petitioner's Exhibit 15. Having received no clarification from Ms. Keough, Dr. Doloughty wrote to Ms. Keough, in another attempt to gain clarity. Id. She reiterated that Ms Keough still had not provided a physician's statement supporting her request for leave, a requirement that was noted in both the January 4th Letter and the January 13th Letter. Id. Dr. Doloughty reiterated the Board's willingness to engage in the interactive process if Ms. Keough required an accommodation due to a disability. Id. Dr. Doloughty's letter also advised Ms. Keough that the Board had received information from her Worker's Compensation doctor, which created more uncertainty, as Worker's Compensation had previously cleared her to return to work. Id. Specifically the Board received a fax from the Workers' Compensation doctor, dated January 21, 2016, but not received until February 2, 2016. Id. Dr. Doloughty warned Ms. Keough, consistent with her prior letter, that in the absence of the appropriate documentation, she must return to work within ten (10) days of receiving the letter. Id.

After receiving Dr. Doloughty's January 13th Letter, Ms. Keough called the Board offices and spoke with Dr. Doloughty. TI52:4-7; TIII65:16-68-6. Dr.

Doloughty testified that she advised Ms. Keough that a physician's certification was still needed to review her leave request, and in response Ms. Keough said that she would try to get what was needed. TI57:3-7. After this phone call, the Board received no response to Dr. Doloughty's February 4th Letter. TI70:11-25.

The next time the Board received any information from Ms. Keough was on or about March 14, 2016. TII40:2-25. On March 14, 2016, the Board received three (3) pages of medical documents regarding Ms. Keough, from the Hand Surgery Rehabilitation Center of New Jersey, in an envelope postmarked March 12, 2016, by Ms. Keough. TI169:19-170:1; TIII140:1-7; Petitioner's Exhibit 17. The first page is a note dated March 1, 2016, which indicates that Ms. Keough is having surgery, and cannot work until after surgery. Id. It does not contain a diagnosis, or any other information about the surgery, other than to note that her next appointment is on March 16, 2016. Id. The next page is a note dated February 11, 2016, which reflects that Ms. Keough had surgery on December 16th and December 18th. Id. The February 11th note encloses a page of dictation from the appointment, which reflects that Ms. Keough was "unable to return to work due to the pain she is experiencing." Id.

Rather than clarifying Ms. Keough's situation, the documents received on March 14th created greater confusion. TI72:15-73:8; TI41:1-8. Based on Ms. Keough's representations, the Board believed up until this point that Ms. Keough had surgery on January 4th. Id. This was the first time they learned that she had underwent not one, but two surgeries, and that those surgeries pre-dated her representations on December 22nd that she would be returning on January 4th. Receiving the March 14th documents made clear that Ms. Keough had lied. TII41:9-43:3.

After more than two (2) months of requesting clarification from Ms. Keough, and receiving none, Dr. Doloughty recommended the certification of the Charges to the Board, as an act of last resort. TI79:2-80:5. As Dr. Doloughty testified, she waited as long as she thought she could, in the hopes that Ms. Keough would submit the necessary documentation. Id. After receiving the March 14th documents, and learning that yet another surgery was scheduled, and a return date was still not provided, the Board was left with no other option to compel Ms. Keough's compliance or be able to fill her position. Id. Ms. Keough was in violation of the Board's Attendance Policy, which puts staff on notice that if an employee fails to give prompt notice of an absence, falsifies the reason for an absence, or is absent without authorization, they will be subject to discipline, up to and including tenure charges. Petitioner's Exhibit 18; TI81:4-15.

Further, Ms. Keough's delinquency in paying both her Chapter 78 contributions, and her health insurance premiums, led to the conclusion that she would not be returning to her position. TI77:1-10; TII49:23-50:11. Mr. Coxe supported Dr. Doloughty's recommendation, referencing the pressure on the Business Office due to Ms. Keough's absence, and Ms. Keough's dishonesty. TII47:16-49:23. Mr. Coxe testified that he hoped receiving the charges would compel Ms. Keough to finally providing the clarification the Board had been requesting. TII48:1-11.

Ms. Keough's testimony demonstrates in no uncertain terms that she lied to Mr. Coxe on December 30, 2015, and has been trying to explain it away ever since. Ms. Keough acknowledges that on December 22, 2015, she told Sue Kirk that she would be returning to work on January 4, 2016. TIII41:13-20. She claims she was bound and determined to return to work, despite having already had two surgeries, unbeknownst to the Board. TIII41:22-42:2. She further acknowledges that in the text exchange on December 30, 2015 with Mr. Coxe, she told him that she was "having" surgery, as opposed to having already "had" surgery. TIII46:2-9. Ms. Keough claims that despite what she typed, she was trying to tell Mr. Coxe that she "had" surgery. TIII46:8-19. Her exact testimony, when asked about this discrepancy, was as follows:

> Q. Why did you write "having"?
>
> A. You know what, I was -- I really don't have an answer for that. The text messaging, when you text message, there is a lot of like auto correct on the text messaging, and I can't honestly begin to tell you why in God's name I would put "having".
>
> Q. You were on narcotics at the time?
>
> A. Yes. I also need glasses to read, too.
>
> Q. Did you not have your glasses on?
>
> A. I may not have, no.

TIII46:10-19.

After first attempted to blame autocorrect for her supposed mistake, Ms.

Keough, when prompted by her attorney, also attempted to attribute her lie to narcotics and/or not having her glasses on. Id. When she was asked why she told Mr. Coxe that her surgery was on the "4th," Ms. Keough claimed she was still on the previous text. TIII47:7-15. On cross examination, she admitted that she did not think any other words were autocorrected in the text, other than the word "having." TIII109:25-113:24. In fact, she testified to abbreviating words, which were not autocorrected, claiming that she was "loopy" but still functioning. Id.

Notably, Ms. Keough has given different answers each time she has been asked about the December 30th texts with Mr. Coxe. During an initial phone hearing with unemployment, in response to the claims examiner relaying the Board's understanding that Ms. Keough had surgery on January 4th, Ms. Keough said "I don't know what they're talking about." Respondent's Exhibit 12 at KEOUGH046, 22:21-25. When asked again several weeks later, this time under oath, during an appeal hearing before an unemployment hearing officer, why she told Mr. Coxe her surgery was on the 4th, Ms. Keough finally acknowledged that she lied. Id. at KEOUGH074, 55:10-17. Her explanation for lying, however, was not that she was "still on the prior text" but rather that she was "very confused" because she was on "Dilaudid and Vicodin." Id. In total, Ms. Keough has given three different explanations for why she lied, after initially denying her lie, none of which are credible.

Ms. Keough told Mr. Coxe that her inability to return to work was "beyond her control." Petitioner's Exhibit 18. Combined with her text wherein she said she "just saw [her] hand doctor," and that she was "having" her wrist fused together, Ms. Keough undoubtedly created the impression that her need for surgery had recently manifested. Respondent's Exhibit 16. Nonetheless, prior to her Workers' Compensation leave, Ms. Keough had told two (2) of her colleagues, Ingrid Walsh and Sue Kirk, that she planned on having wrist surgery over the winter break. TI168:24-169:9; TIII12:18-13:18.

Further, Ms. Keough's own doctor's records confirm that she was planning on having this surgery as far back as March 24, 2015, a fact which Ms. Keough admits. TIII40:10-19; Respondent's Exhibit 11 at KEOUGH130. Her medical records further reflect that on December 8, 2015, Ms. Keough attended a pre-operative appointment with Dr. Ballet, wherein "the procedure, the recovery and expected outcomes" were reviewed. R11 at KEOUGH183. Dr. Ballet testified that the expected recovery from a wrist fusion was eight to twelve weeks. TII177:25-178-8. As such, Ms. Keough was aware of her surgery, and recovery time well in advance of the representations she subsequently made to the Board.

Ms. Keough's attempts to characterize her surgery as emergent are further contradicted by her own request for clarification to Dr. Ballet. TII185:19-21. As evidenced by Dr. Ballet's records, even Ms. Keough, herself, was not clear on why her surgeries were "emergent." Respondent's Exhibit 11 at KEOUGH100. Dr. Ballet's records reflect that he scheduled her surgery on an "urgent" basis due to the pain Ms. Keough had been experiencing. Id. Further, Dr. Ballet described her December 16th, surgery as "urgent" rather than emergent, which he defined as "sooner than later was recommended" due to the pain Ms. Keough was experiencing. TII145:9-18. Accordingly, as Ms. Keough was aware of the underlying symptoms, and as the surgery had been discussed for months, both with Dr. Ballet, and with her colleagues, there is no credible explanation for Ms. Keough's obfuscation. While her surgery may have become urgent, it was not unforeseen, and there was no reason she could not have notified the Board.

Similarly, Ms. Keough would have been well aware of her inability to return to work on December 22, 2015, despite her representations to the contrary to the Board. Ms. Keough testified that when she saw her doctor on December 29, 2015, he told her she could not go back to work due to the narcotics she was taking and the extent of her pain. TIII43:7-16. She claims that this was the first time she learned of the 2-3 month recovery period for her surgery. Id. Even if this were believable, Ms. Keough was still aware of the underlying conditions preventing her return, per Dr. Ballet, namely her pain and her medication. Again, Ms. Keough's feigned surprise, and implausible explanations, do not detract from the fact that she was well aware of her inability to return to work, despite what she has represented to the Board.

Three (3) witnesses testified that the Board only received one (1) page of Ms. Keough's disability application, despite Ms. Keough claims that all four (4) pages, including Dr. Ballet's certification, were dropped off to the Board on January 7th. Ingrid Walsh, Assistant School Business Administrator, testified that she received a single page of a State disability application to complete on Ms. Keough's behalf. TIII11:21-12:14. Dr. Doloughty, likewise, testified that a single page of a disability form was received. TI118:2-14. Mr. Coxe testified that he only ever saw one (1) page of a disability application, with a handwritten post-it note affixed to the front from Ms. Keough's mother. Petitioner's Exhibit 10; TIII170:14-17. He further testified that he did not see the full (4) four page application until after the parties were in litigation. TIII174:1-4.

While the Board's witnesses were consistent in this regard, Ms. Keough's testimony has been far more mercurial. In prior sworn testimony, both Ms. Keough and her mother testified that the disability paperwork was dropped off on January 8, 2016. Respondent's Exhibit 12 at KEOUGH071, 44:9-15; Id. at KEOUGH075, 60:18-24. That testimony was subsequently contradicted by text message conversations between Ms. Keough and Mr. Coxe, evidencing their discussion of the disability form on January 7, 2016. Respondent's Exhibit 17.

Ms. Keough now claims that the paperwork was dropped off on January 7, 2016. TIII58:14-24. Interestingly, in her text conversation with Mr. Coxe on January 7, 2016, Ms. Keough states "You told me that the paperwork would be ready yesterday." Respondent's Exhibit 17. Ms. Keough's statement makes no sense given that she testified that the paperwork was not dropped off until January 7, 2016, and that she did not speak with Mr. Coxe in the prior days. TIII63:14-19. When questioned about this statement, Ms. Keough merely replied "I don't understand why I would put that." TIII63:23-64:2.

Ms. Keough also testified that her mom suggested she put the disability papers in an envelope to protect her social security number, and that she recalls seeing all four (4) pages of the disability application be placed in the envelope. TIII57:2-22; Respondent's Exhibit 2. In prior testimony before an unemployment hearing officer, Ms. Keough's mother testified that the disability papers were not in an envelope. Respondent's Exhibit 12 at KEOUGH076, 63:15-18.

According to Ms. Keough, regardless of when and how the disability paperwork was provided, the Board would have had the disability paperwork by the time she spoke with Dr. Doloughty on January 21, 2016. During that conversation, in addition to her January 4th and January 13th letters, Dr. Doloughty advised Ms. Keough that she needed to provide a physician's certification. Petitioner's Exhibits 9 & 11; TI57:3-7. Nonetheless, Ms. Keough admitted that she never mentioned the disability paperwork to Dr. Doloughty, or the fact that it contained the very medical certification that Dr. Doloughty was seeking. Respondent's Exhibit 12 at KEOUGH072, 47:14-18; TI57:3-7. Further, after receiving the February 4th letter, which again advised of the need for a physician's certification, Ms. Keough still never contacted the Board to inquire what was deficient in the certification contained within the disability paperwork she claims she provided, and claims, despite the numerous letters, that Dr. Doloughty never told her she needed a medical certification. Petitioner's Exhibit 15; TIII69:14-22.

Ms. Keough maintains she was in constant contact with the Board during her unauthorized absence. As proof of this, Ms. Keough testified to the phone calls she made to the Board offices during the month of January, and provided her phone records. Respondent's Exhibit 9. Ms. Keough's phone records show she made nine (9) calls in the month of January. Id. Seven (7) of those nine (9) calls were made to Sue Meredith, who was a secretary in the business office, rather than a person who held authority over Ms. Keough's leave request. Id. Two (2) of the calls were placed on January 5, 2016, for the purpose of confirming receipt of the letter Ms. Keough's mom dropped off the day before. TIII54:1-7. Four (4) calls were placed on January 7th, for the purpose of making sure the disability paperwork would be filled out. TIII58:16-60:2. The January 8th call was also for the purpose of making sure the disability paperwork would be filled out. TIII64:3-9.

As such, despite her representations about being in "constant contact" with the Board, only two (2) of the phone calls were in any way responsive to the Board's request for clarification, specifically the January 21st call with Dr. Doloughty, and the January 22nd call to Sue Meredith. TIII66:1-7; TIII71:9-19. Further, the phone calls were ultimately irrelevant, as the necessary medical certification would have to be provided in writing, from a physician.

Ms. Keough also claims that she mailed in all her doctor's notes. The Board acknowledges receiving the December 29, 2015, note. Petitioner's Exhibit 8. The Board further acknowledges receiving the March 1, 2016, and February 11, 2016, notes, both on March 14, 2016. Petitioner's Exhibit 17. Ms. Keough claims that she sent the February 11, 2016 note within a few days of receiving it, but that "something just told [her]" to send it again with the March 1, 2016 note. TIII73:1-74:22; TIII76:7-77:17. Nonetheless, the February 11, 2016 note was eventually received. Ms. Keough admits that she did not sent the Board the April 12, 2016 and May 3, 2016, notes, but that she had her lawyer do it after she commenced litigation. TIII90:14-92:19.

Accordingly, the only note whose receipt is in dispute is the March 22, 2016, note. Respondent's Exhibit 6; Petitioner's Exhibit 20. Ms. Keough claims she sent it immediately, while Mr. Coxe confirms that the first time he saw that note was after litigation commenced, in June 2016. TIII77:21-78:6; TIII180:14-25. Further, none of the notes prior to the April 12, 2016 note, provided a return to work date. As of April 12th, the Charges had been served, and were pending certification. Joint Exhibit 1; Petitioner's Exhibit 19.

Ultimately, rather than take accountability for her own request, and protect her position, Ms. Keough assumed an adversarial posture with the Board and stopped communicating in any productive way after being advised that she needed to provide a medical certification in support of her leave. Ms. Keough testified that after receiving Dr. Doloughty's January 13th letter, she called several attorneys to see what her legal rights were. TIII67:1-10. Ms. Keough claims at that time that she had not received the January 4th letter. TIII51:9-15. So by her version of the facts, she received one letter from the school, seeking clarification, and offering accommodation, and Ms. Keough's response was to immediately call an attorney, rather than try to clarify what she could do to have her leave approved.

Ms. Keough claims she can return to work in her full capacity, yet Dr. Ballet's testimony in this regard was less convincing. Dr. Ballet testified that a total wrist fusion results in permanent loss of motion. TII128:4-17. He further testified that someone with a heavily keyboard oriented job could "probably" return to that job with some modifications to the work station. TII128:18-24. Ms. Keough has acknowledged that she has not requested any modifications to her work station. TIII129:3-7.

Further, Ms. Keough points to two notes that purport to clear her to return to work. She provides an April 12, 2016, note that clears her to return on May 16, 2016, to sedentary duty. Respondent's Exhibit 14. She also provides a note from May 3, 2016, that clears her to return to work on May 4, 2016. Id. Ms. Keough testified that after receiving the Charges, she went back to the doctor to obtain a note that allowed her to return soon. TIII91:10-92:3. Dr. Ballet testified that, notwithstanding these two notes, he never performed a functional capacity examination on Ms. Keough. TII192:9-14.

Tenure is intended to protect teachers, supervisors, and employees from dismissal for "unfounded, flimsy or political reasons." Spiewak v. Rutherford Bd. of Educ., 90 N.J. 63, 73 (1982) (quoting Zimmerman v. Newark Bd. of Educ., 38 N.J. 65, 71 (1962)). Accordingly, a tenured teacher may be dismissed for "inefficiency, incapacity, unbecoming conduct, or other just cause," but only after a hearing in compliance with the Tenure Employees Hearing Law, N.J.S.A. 18A:6-10 to - 30.1. While tenure laws are designed to protect public employees from arbitrary action or political favoritism, they were never intended to perpetuate the employment of individuals who are not properly performing their jobs. In re Tenure Hearing of Giglio, EDU 11457-2003, Initial Decision (August 9, 2004).

Although tenure protections are generally reserved for those with a statutory entitlement (e.g., teachers), there is no dispute that Ms. Keough is a tenured, albeit non-certificated, secretary. Accordingly, although much of the authority regarding tenured employees does not speak specifically to tenured secretaries, it is nevertheless applicable. The Charges brought by the Board collectively demonstrate conduct unbecoming an employee, incapacity and other just cause in the form of absenteeism. In short, Ms. Keough intentionally misrepresented her medical information to the Board. Although she claims it was unintentional, and that she was confused at what the Board needed, her long history of absences demonstrates she had substantial experience in requesting time off. Further, Ms. Keough has yet to prove definitively she can return to work in her prior capacity, with or without accommodations.

Ms. Keough's has gone out of her way to ascribe motive to the Board, going so far as to accuse them of discrimination, in an attempt to avoid answering the Charges. To the contrary, the Board provided documentation of misrepresentations made by Ms. Keough's via text, leading to the certification of the Charges. As such, and in light of the conflicting testimony, the credibility of the witnesses must be evaluated. The choice of accepting or rejecting the witness' testimony or credibility rests with the finder of facts. In re Tenure Hearing of Giglio, EDU 11457-2003, Initial Decision (August 9, 2004) (citing Freud v. Davis, 64 N.J. Super. 242, 246 (App. Div. 1960). In addition, for testimony to be believed, it must not only come from the mouth of a credible witness, but it also has to be credible in itself. Id. It must elicit evidence that is from such common experience and observation that it can be approved as proper under the circumstances. Id. (citing Spagnuolo v. Bonnet, 16 N.J. 546 (1974); Gallo v. Gallo, 66 N.J. Super 1 (App. Div. 1961). A fact finder is expected to base credibility decisions on common sense, which is also referred to as intuition or experience. Id. (citing Barnes v. United States, 412 U.S. 837, 93 S. Ct. 2357, 37 L. Ed 2d 380 (1973)). A credibility determination requires an overall assessment of the witness' story in light of its rationality, internal consistency, and the manner in which it "hangs together" with the other evidence. Id. (citing Carbo v. United States, 314 F.2d 718, 749 (9th Cir. 1963)).

Ms. Keough is guilty of unbecoming conduct, due to her misrepresentations about her surgery dates, her failure to provide adequate documentation to support her leave request, and her failure to advise the Board of her wrist surgeries, thereby preventing them from filling her position and prejudicing their operations. Her bad faith conduct is further evidenced by her decision to sue the Board for discrimination, although she failed to plead discrimination as a defense, rather than provide the documentation clarifying her condition, as requested several times.

"Unbecoming conduct" is an elastic term broadly defined to include any conduct "which has a tendency to destroy public respect for [government] employees and confidence in the operation of [public] services." Giglio, supra (citing Karins v. City of Atlantic City, 152 N.J. 532, 554 (1998)). Behavior rising to the level of unbecoming conduct "need not be predicated upon the violation of any particular rule or regulation, but may be based merely upon the violation of the implicit standard of good behavior which develops upon one who stands in the public eye as an upholder of that which is morally and legally correct. Id. (citing Hartmann v. Police Dep't of Ridgewood, 258 N.J. Super. 32, 40 (App. Div. 1992). In the context of a school tenure case, "the touchstone is fitness to discharge the duties and functions of one's office or position." Id. (citing In re Tenure Hearing of Grossman, 127 N.J. Super. 13, 29 (App. Div. 1974), cert. denied, 65 N.J 292 (1974)). The determination of whether to remove an individual from a tenured position requires consideration of the nature of the act, the totality of the circumstances, and the impact on the individual's career.

Ms. Keough admits that she never told the Board about her two surgeries prior to having them. Both she and Dr. Ballet acknowledge that the surgery was scheduled well in advance, and that she was advised of the recovery time prior to submitting to surgery. Ms. Keough claims that she was "bound and determined" to return to her position, despite claiming to be in incredible pain, and "loopy" from narcotics. At best this evidences terrible judgement, and at worst, further lies. Ms. Keough was aware that she was having this surgery, and, in fact, discussed it with her colleagues prior to going out on worker's compensation leave. She has offered no credible or justifiable reason for withholding this information from the Board. In doing so, Ms. Keough prejudiced the Board's operations, as testified to by Dr. Doloughty and Mr. Coxe. Furnishing false information to the Board, and withholding critical information about her medical condition, unequivocally constitutes conduct unbecoming a public employee.

None of the notes provided to the Board provided a diagnosis, or a return date, or specified the emergent nature of Ms. Keough's inability to return to work. As Ms. Keough's initial Workers' Compensation leave was anticipated to be one (1) to two (2) months, no temporary employee was hired. That leave, which began October 1, 2015 was unexpectedly extended an additional month, until January 4th. In light of Ms. Keough's representations that should would be returning, again, no temporary employee was sought.

After Ms. Keough failed to return in January, and as the duration of her absence remained uncertain, the Board was unable to find temporary help, as none of the potential candidates were willing to undergo the fingerprinting process, and pay the application fee, for only a few months of work. Ms. Keough herself acknowledged that her position is "irreplaceable." TIII99:14-100:11. Both Dr. Doloughty and Mr. Coxe, and Ms. Walsh testified to the disruption in the Board's operations caused by a hole in this irreplaceable position. But for Ms. Keough's obfuscation of her surgeries, the Board could have secured someone for the several months of Ms. Keough's absence.

Ms. Keough holds a position of trust within the Board's operations, and yet she betrayed that trust by lying about her surgery dates, and then failing to provide the necessary documentation to support her leave request, presumably in an attempt to delay the Board's inevitable discovery of her lie. In doing do, Ms. Keough has displayed, at best poor judgement, and at worst, a willingness to lie without compunction. Ms. Keough was warned repeatedly that failure to communicate or provide information regarding her leave, in addition to her failure to return to work, may result in discipline, yet she ignored those warnings and began communicating with an attorney, rather than her employer. While Ms. Keough may paint this all as a big misunderstanding, it was her obligation as an employee to provide this information. In light of the foregoing, it is clear Ms. Keough's engaged in conduct unbecoming a public employee.

Ms. Keough's excessive absenteeism alone constitutes just cause to bring these Charges, despite her claim that her absences were permitted and/or justified. Further, Ms. Keough provided no proof of her ability to return to work until after the Charges were certified, and after she had sued the Board. To date, her ability to return remains uncertain.

There is ample authority amidst tenure cases holding that "chronic or excessive absenteeism has been found to constitute both 'incapacity' and 'unbecoming conduct,' within the meaning of N.J.S.A. 18A:6-10" justifying dismissal from employment. In re Tenure Hearing of Gillespie, EDU 09195-11, Initial Decision (April 26, 2016). Excessive absenteeism warrants dismissal, even where absences are the result of a legitimate physical ailment, and even where an employee is contractually entitled to time off. Id. (quoting Bd. of Ed. of the City of Camden v. Rucker, 94 N.J.A.R. 2d (EDU); State-Operated School District of Jersey City v. Pellecchio, 92 N.J.A.R. 2d (EDU) 267). In fact, removal of tenure can be justified even where the employee's absence is the result of a workplace injury. Id. It is within the Board's discretion to determine whether the absenteeism is excessive. Id. (Citing Trautwein v. Bd. of Educ. of Bound Brook, 1 980 S.L.D. 1539, certif. denied, 84 N.J. 469 (1980)). See also In re Tenure Hearing of Stapleton, EDU 168-13, Initial Decision (May 7, 2013). In sum, excessive or chronic absenteeism of a tenured employee, even if related to legitimate medical or health problems, has been held to constitute incapacity, unbecoming conduct, and/or just cause within the meaning of N.J.S.A. 18A:6-10, so as to warrant dismissal from employment.

Here, it is uncontested that as of April 1, 2016, Ms. Keough has been absent from her position for a total of two hundred and sixty-seven days (267). By her testimony, she was cleared to return, effective May 4, 2016, which adds and additional five weeks worth of absences to that total. The Board's witnesses testified as to the disruption in its operations occasioned by Ms. Keough's absences, and Ms. Keough herself confirmed that she plays a vital role in the Board's functioning. In fact, she confirmed that her position is irreplaceable. Accordingly, in light of the Board's need to have an employee in this position, the Board determined, in its discretion, that being absent for approximately twenty percent of working days over a less than a five (5) year period, constitutes excessive absenteeism and/or incapacity, justifying Ms. Keough's termination.

Ms. Keough claims that she is prepared to return to work, yet she admits she did not provide the Board the notes clearing her until after the Charges were filed. She further admits that they were provided by her attorney, in connection with notification that she was suing the Board for discrimination. The two (2) notes she relies upon to support her ability to return offer conflicting conditions. One appears to have no conditions, and the other requires sedentary duty.

Having established Ms. Keough's unbecoming conduct, incapacity and excessive absenteeism, there is no doubt that just cause exists to discipline Ms. Keough. The Board is limited by N.J.S.A. 18A:6-10, which prohibits the Board from imposing any discipline beyond a warning letter, or increment withholding. The Board has no independent ability to impose any greater discipline without the filing of tenure charges, such as an unpaid suspension. Here, Ms. Keough's misconduct justifies her termination, in light of the totality of the circumstances.

Just cause has been regularly defined as "[a]n adverse employment action based on facts that (1) are supported by substantial evidence; and (2) are reasonably believed by the employer to be true; and (3) not for any arbitrary, capricious, or illegal reason." See Maietta v. United Parcel Service, 749 F. Supp. 1344, D.N.J. (1990). The concept of "just cause" requires an arbitrator to make two (2) essential inquiries. "First, is the employee guilty of misconduct. Second, assuming the employee is guilty, is the discipline imposed a reasonable penalty under the circumstances of the case." Lozier Corp., 121 LA 1187 (Fitzsimmons, 2005). Put differently, the just cause standard requires that the consequence assessed in a given situation be reasonable in light of all of the circumstances. City of Portland, 77 LA 820, 826 (Axon 1981).

Here, under the above-cited authority, Ms. Keough's excessive absenteeism alone justifies her termination. The Board needs, and is entitled to have an employee in the position of payroll secretary who reliably shows up to work. The number of days Ms. Keough has been absent in her less than five year tenure is excessive, and constitutes just cause to terminate her.

More importantly, the Board has the right to trust in the honesty of its employees, and an employee's dishonest act compromises not only the Board's trust, but the public's trust. In re Tenure Hearing of Depasquale, 92 N.J.A.R.2d (EDU) 537 (N.J. Adm. Aug. 31, 1992). Ms. Keough lied by omission when she failed to advise the Board of the two wrist surgeries she underwent while out on worker's compensation leave. She again lied by omission on December 22nd when she called the Board offices and claimed to be returning to work on January 4th, again failing to mention the surgeries. Ms. Keough affirmatively lied to Mr. Coxe on December 30th when she told him she was having her wrist fused on January 4th, all the while knowing that surgery had already occurred. She lied to him again on January 7th when she claimed that Mr. Coxe told her that her disability paperwork would be ready yesterday, when they had never spoken, nor had the paperwork been dropped off. Ms. Keough claims she provided a medical certification with the disability paperwork, yet admits that she never mentioned it to Dr. Doloughty when they spoke on January 21st. Whether intentionally, or recklessly, Ms. Keough has destroyed her credibility with the Board, such that she should not be returned to the highly sensitive role of payroll secretary.

In conclusion, Ms. Keough's pattern of lies, omissions and deflections, along with her habitual absenteeism and incapacity, was amply demonstrated by both the documentation and testimony offered in these proceedings. Accordingly, the Board has carried its burden of proof in demonstrating that Ms. Keough's termination is not only appropriate, but necessary to ensure the Board can continue to function with full confidence in the honesty and capacity of its employees.

Respondent Penny Keough

N.J.S.A. 18A:6-17.2 states that "[t]he board of education shall have the ultimate burden of demonstrating to the arbitrator that the statutory criteria for

---

2/ During his cross-examination of Dr. Doloughty at the November 1, 2016 hearing, counsel for Ms. Keough pursued a line of questioning related to the New Jersey Law Against Discrimination, and whether or not it contained a leave provision that was broader than the Family Medical Leave Act. Counsel for Petitioner objected, arguing that the question was beyond the scope of the arbitration proceeding and crossing over into discrimination issues and theories that had been asserted in another tribunal. Mr. Schorr then emphatically replied that "[t]his goes to their policy, Okay? If their policy is an unlawful policy, the Department of Education has assured me that I would [be] able to have a full hearing on the discrimination issue in this tribunal. I have a letter from Acting Commissioner Shulman which says I assure you you will have a full opportunity to discuss the discrimination issues. Now, whether or not Burlington believes that the FMLA is the only law that protects Ms. Keough is one of the most relevant issues we have here, because it goes to their motive in seeking to terminate her." TI101:10-25; 102:1-6.

Arbitrator: "I don't believe Respondent raised that though, as an issue here, within this forum. I know, I read your whole Complaint in Superior Court, it's everywhere there, I understand that, but all you did in your Answer [before the Commissioner] was you just admit deny, you raise no affirmative defenses, I saw, right?" Mr. Schorr: "Correct." Arbitrator: "And in the August 5th response, your Statement of Evidence, I don't think you raised anything in there, right? Mr. Schorr: "No. I am not seeking to litigate - - I want to be clear. I am not seeking to litigate the discrimination matter here." TI102:7-22.

When I then permitted Respondent to ask the limited question posed, Mr. Comegno again objected "I think it's inappropriate to get into any policy points, any legal conclusions, any issue that's going to come up in the Superior Court matter. This cannot be used as a vehicle for taking an early deposition or further developing theories. The District has separate counsel that's appointed on the discrimination matter. Frankly, I think the District is being prejudiced if we go down that road. I just want to note it on the record." TI104:17-25; 105:1.

Similar skirmishes ensured leading to an Executive Session with counsel followed by a period of deliberation. My decision to exclude that line of questioning was then placed on the record. After reiterating my prior observations, I found that "[t]herefore, at no point in this proceeding has Respondent chosen to argue any of those affirmative defenses. The very line of cross-examination as being pursued here is attempting to in some ways get in the back door to firm up, if you will, that contention. But that contention at the choice of Respondent is being heard in Superior Court at some point. So this is not the proper forum for that on that basis. That line of questioning is not going to be permitted." TI114:20-25; 115:1-4.

At the beginning of the November 15, 2017 hearing, Mr. Schoor renewed his objection to the prior ruling, with parallel arguments made. I then responded as follows: "Since that time, I did have the opportunity to review the entire file and when Assistant Commissioner Shulman made that comment, that preceded the filing of Respondent's Answer, as well as her Statement of Evidence in this matter. And as I noted the last time, neither of those documents contains any kind of a pleading or affirmative defense regarding those discrimination claims which are properly the subject of a Superior Court action and wherever that goes. And at the risk of an editorial comment, I do not read Winters as standing for the proposition that if you don't raise that defense here that you can't raise that then in Superior Court. I read Winters to say that you don't get two tenure charges have been met." As a general rule of law, establishing the truth of the charges presented in either an administrative proceeding or in a discipline or discharge arbitration means proof by a preponderance of the believable evidence. Atkinson v. Paresekian, 37 N.J. 143, 149 (1962); In re Darcy, 114 N.J. Super. 454, 458 (App. Div. 1971). Where the standard is preponderance of the evidence, the evidence must be such as to "generate belief that the tendered hypothesis is in all human likelihood the fact." Loew v. Union Beach, 56 N.J. Super. 104 (App. Div. 1959). A trier of fact may reject testimony because it is inherently incredible, or because it is inconsistent with other testimony or with common experience or because its overborne by other testimony. Congleton v. Pura-Tex Stone Corp., 53 N.J. Super. 282, 287 (App. Div. 1958).

(n. 2 continued) bites of the apple. You don't raise it here in this proceeding and then if you're unsuccessful then try to raise it in Superior Court.

So I would like the record to be abundantly clear how Respondent repeatedly attempted to raise this defense. I have ruled that that's not proper because its been preserved, it's a - - it's in my view, very clearly an election of remedies issue and Respondent has chosen to go to Court, as is her right, but that will not be the subject of any kind of examination here." TII8:20-25; 9:1-20.

In his brief, counsel for Respondent thanked me for my courtesy and respect throughout the proceeding, and I echo those comments. He then went on to make a number of muscular arguments related to this evidentiary ruling, insisting that I had committed reversible error by barring all actions related to the District's purportedly discriminatory and retaliatory actions against Ms. Keough. See Brief at pps. 27-30. These primarily focused on Mr. Shulman's May 26, 2016 Order, as well as the Appellate Division and Supreme Court's decisions denying Respondent's motion(s) for an Interlocutory Appeal. In the interest of arbitral economy, these arguments have not been summarized, but are incorporated by reference herein.

While not specifically referenced in my bench ruling, Respondent is reminded that per N.J.S.A. 18A:6-17.1, the arbitrator is to determine the case under the American Arbitration Association labor arbitration rules unless there is a conflict with the statutory procedures in which case, the latter govern. Pursuant to AAA Labor Arbitration Rule 27, "[t]he arbitrator shall determine the admissibility, the relevance, and materiality of the evidence offered and may exclude evidence deemed by the arbitrator to be cumulative or irrelevant and conformity to legal rules of evidence shall not be necessary."

Whatever standard of proof the arbitrator determines applies in this case, it is an established tenet of law that, when evidence is in equipoise and there is no other persuasive evidence, the question in issue must go against the party who has the burden of persuasion, in this case, against the School District. In re Tenure Hearing of Clare Miller, Union County Educational Services Commission, O.A.L. Dkt. No. 5812-01, Agency Dkt. No. 240-7/01 (decided April 8, 2002).

The School District seeks to strip Ms. Keough of her tenure and terminate her employment based upon conduct which they claim is "unbecoming". The statute, N.J.S.A. 18A:6-10, provides that a tenured school employee cannot be dismissed or reduced in compensation except for inefficiency, incapacity, or "conduct unbecoming". The statute does not define "conduct unbecoming", but our Supreme Court has. Recently, the Supreme Court defined "conduct unbecoming" as "conduct which has a tendency to destroy public respect for [government] employees and confidence in the operation of [public] services. In re Young, 202 N.J. 50, 66 (2010).

"'Conduct unbecoming' is not specifically defined in the statute. It has been called an elastic standard that incorporates any conduct that adversely affects the morale or efficiency of the public entity or which has a tendency to destroy public respect for municipal employees and confidence in the operation of municipal services. The touchstone of the decision as to whether particular behavior is properly considered conduct unbecoming lies in the certificate holder's fitness to discharge the duties and functions of one's office or position.

Conduct unbecoming is a type of disciplinary charge that is determined on a case-by-case basis and can embrace a wide range of conduct. Under appropriate circumstances, unfitness to remain a teacher may be demonstrated by a single incident if sufficiently flagrant." In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Thomas Strassle, Agency Dkt. No. 131-5/16 (internal citations and quotations omitted).

Ms. Keough is not a certificate holder and she is not a teacher. Arguably, since she does not have contact with children as part of her job duties, her behavior should be required to meet a lower bar as opposed to a teacher, whose behavior directly impacts children and students. Virtually every case reported on conduct unbecoming involves the alleged bad actions of a teaching professional. Ms. Keough is not a teaching professional. She is a payroll clerk. Nevertheless, the cases and arbitrations that have found good cause to affirm a charge of conduct unbecoming have included for following behaviors:

- Having inappropriate sexual conversations with a student, resulting in 120 days without pay, In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Thomas Strassle, supra;

- Sending and receiving nude photographs on district-issued laptop and iPad, on four occasions during the school day and on multiple occasions outside of school, resulting in 120 days without pay, In the Matter of Tenure Hearing of Glenn Ciripompa, Agency Dkt. No. 177-7/14, aff'd Bound Brook Board of Education v. Glenn Ciripompa, 442 N.J. Super. 515 (App. Div. 2015);

- Helping students to exchange marijuana for money in her presence without reporting the students, resulting in termination, In the Matter of Tenure Hearing of Loretta Young, Agency Dkt. No. 8-1/14;

- Having sexual relations with a student, resulting in termination, In re Young, supra;

- Making racist statements, resulting in a decision by the Appellate Division that termination was not the appropriate penalty, In re Tenure Hearing of Geiger, 2015 N.J. Super. Unpub. LEXIS 2649 (App. Div. 2015).

The Tenure Charges for "Conduct Unbecoming" are in six separately categories:

1. Ms. Keough was cleared to return to work on or before January 4, 2016, but failed to report, thereby abandoning her position. ¶49-50.

2. Ms. Keough scheduled elective surgery while out on leave without notifying the Board, demonstrating poor judgment. ¶51.

3. Ms. Keough willfully provided false and incomplete information and intentionally withheld other information in an attempt to mislead the Board. ¶52-53.

4. Ms. Keough refused to provide a response to the Board's numerous attempts to clarify her leave. ¶54, ¶57.

5. Ms. Keough refused to provide the Board with information regarding her potential return to work date, despite being warned repeatedly. ¶55, 56.

6. Ms. Keough refused to pay her Chapter 78 contributions. ¶58.

The School District falsely alleges that Ms. Keough simply abandoned her position because she was cleared to return to work and simply decided not to do so. The evidence clearly demonstrates that this was not the case. While the Workers' Compensation physician cleared Ms. Keough to return to work after her jaw surgery caused by a work-related injury, Ms. Keough also had a wrist injury that had been causing her increasing pain and other difficulties during the previous year.

The medical records and testimony from Dr. Frederick Ballet demonstrate that Ms. Keough had urgent wrist fusion surgery on December 16, 2015 and then an emergent carpal tunnel surgery on December 18. See Dr. Ballet's medical records, KEOUGH100 and KEOUGH117-118, and Dr. Ballet's testimony, TII169:19-170:8. Ms. Keough had every intention to return to work, as scheduled, on January 4, 2016. Ms. Keough's testimony, TIII102:16-23. She believed at the time she had the surgery that she would be able to return to work on January 4, 2016. Ms. Keough's testimony, TIII41:19-42:2.

Unfortunately, she did not initially understand the severity of the surgery or the amount of recovery that would be necessary. Ms. Keough's testimony, TIII106:4-21. Dr. Ballet's records and testimony confirm that he did not tell her how long she would be out of work. While one can opine that he should have told her that she would be out of work for an extended period of time, he does not recall telling her and there is nothing in his records to indicate that she was told prior to surgery that she would out of work for any amount of time. Keough96-206; Dr. Ballet's testimony, TII125:12-24.

Ms. Keough based upon her medical history, reasonably believed on December 22, 2015 that she would be returning to work as scheduled on January 4, 2016. She based her belief upon two (2) previous procedures she had on her wrist. Ms. Keough's testimony, TIII106:8-15. On December 31, 2014,

Ms. Keough underwent arthroscopic surgery on her wrist and promptly returned back to work on the first day after break. Ms. Keough's testimony, TIII106:8-15; KEOUGH133, KEOUGH140. She also reasonably believed that the School District would accommodate her injury as they had in the past. When she had her arthroscopic surgery and returned to work one-handed, her supervisor bought her a left handed keyboard so that she could calculate her numbers left-handed. Ms. Keough's testimony, TIII38:10-39:11.

Similarly, in February 2015, Ms. Keough's wrist became aggravated and her arm was placed in a cast as the result of an accident. KEOUGH133-134; Ms. Keough's testimony, TIII39:12-16. Again, despite being airlifted from the accident and missing a week because of other accident-related injuries, Ms. Keough returned to work with her cast and worked. Ms. Keough's testimony, TIII39:12-40:9. Ms. Keough was shocked when she received unexpected news from Dr. Ballet on December 29, 2015 that she would not be able to return to work on January 4, 2016. Ms. Keough's testimony, TIII43:7-23.

Dr. Ballet explained that due to the significant pain from the wrist fusion surgery, Ms. Keough would need to be on morphine and oxycodone, narcotics that would render her unable to work. Dr. Ballet's testimony, TII143:2-144:4. He provided Ms. Keough with a note excusing her from work for "2-3 months". Respondent's Exhibit 1; Petitioner's Exhibit 8. Ms. Keough provided this note, along with a letter, on December 30, 2015, which Petitioner received on January 4, 2016. Respondent's Exhibit1/Petitioner's Exhibit 8. Dr. Doloughty's testimony,

TI34:24-35:22.

The School District would not wait for Ms. Keough to be medically cleared to return to work. They brought these Tenure charges for abandonment on April 26 or 28, 2016. Dr. Doloughty's testimony, TI146:8-19. As soon as Dr. Ballet cleared Ms. Keough to return to work, this office sent a copy of the Doctor's note to Mr. Comegno, who was by then already representing the School District. Respondent's Exhibit 18. Ms. Keough was ready and able to return on to work May 4, 2016, just a few days after these Tenure Charges were brought.

Nevertheless, the School District refused to permit her to return to work because the Tenure Charges had already been brought. Dr. Doloughty's testimony, TI146:8-148:8. This charge brought by the School District is false. There IS no evidence whatsoever to support the School District's claim that Ms. Keough abandoned her job. She was not cleared for work by her physician after urgent and emergent surgeries and provided medical documentation from her doctor. When she was cleared by her doctor to return to work, the return-to-work note was immediately submitted and the School District refused to allow her to work because the tenure charge was already pending and for no other reason. Accordingly, the arbitrator should reject this charge.

The School District accuses Ms. Keough of exercising poor judgment by scheduling elective surgery. First of all, the allegation is untrue. Secondly, there is a substantial difference between exercising poor judgment and engaging in conduct unbecoming a public employee. Many educational employees make decisions that in retrospect could have been wiser. That is not the standard for stripping tenure and terminating employment. Nevertheless, Ms. Keough did not exercise poor judgment. She had wrist surgery because it was urgent.

When pressed during cross-examination, Superintendent Doloughty explained that she believes that Ms. Keough's surgery was "elective" because it was scheduled and was without a diagnosis. Dr. Doloughty's testimony, TI139:6-11. By Dr. Doloughty's own definition, Ms. Keough's surgery was not elective. Dr. Doloughty then claimed that she was unaware of any diagnosis. Dr. Doloughty's testimony, TI139:12-14. That was also proven to be completely untrue. Although the parties disagree on the date that the School District received Dr. Ballet's detailed explanation of the diagnosis and surgeries, the School District admits that they received Dr. Ballet's documents no later than March 12, 2016. Dr. Doloughty's testimony, TI139:15-140:8. Therefore, on April 26, 2016, when Dr. Doloughty filed these tenure charges, the School District was well aware that there was a diagnosis and had an explanation of the reason for each of the two (2) surgeries.

Furthermore, Dr. Ballet testified in detail regarding the surgeries, which he considered to be urgent, emergent, and unavoidable. Dr. Ballet's testimony, TII145:9-146:11. Throughout his testimony, we reviewed his medical records where he had been recommending wrist fusion for almost a year. See testimony and medical records, Dr. Ballet's testimony, TII119:19-140:13. Respondent's Exhibit 11. (KEOUGH124-144, 183, 205). The second surgery, which was unexpected, was emergent and according to Dr. Ballet would have resulted in permanent injury if not performed immediately. Dr. Ballet's testimony, TII145:19-24. Dr. Ballet's definitions comport with generally understood definitions of the urgency of surgeries. See https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Elective_surgery.

In this case, the surgery had been scheduled for August 2015, but because Ms. Keough needed urgent surgery on her jaw (a surgery ordered by the District's Workers' Compensation physician), the wrist surgery needed to be postponed until the jaw was stable due to the potential complications with the anesthesia. Dr. Ballet's testimony, TII136:17-138:3. And, as stated above, the second surgery was emergent. Dr. Ballet's testimony, TII145:19-24.

Furthermore, the Board does not believe that Ms. Keough intended to return immediately after her surgery, but that contention is belied by the testimony of Sue Kirk, who spoke to Ms. Keough repeatedly on December 22 - less than a week after her two wrist surgeries - and during those conversations Ms. Keough repeatedly insisted that she was planning to return to work on January 4, 2016, as planned. Ms. Kirk's testimony, TI161:25-164:21.

Accordingly, the School District cannot prove the allegations of Paragraph 51 in that (1) the surgeries were not elective, they were urgent and emergent; (2) Ms. Keough did not exercise poor judgment; and (3) even if Ms. Keough had used poor judgment in scheduling the surgery while out on Workers'

Compensation leave, it would not rise to the level of conduct unbecoming a public employee.

The School District admitted that its sole basis for accusing Ms. Keough of providing false information to the Board is her text of the word "4th" to Raymond Coxe, allegedly in response to the question "When is your surgery". Dr. Doloughty's testimony, TI141:17-144:5. There is no other alleged false information provided.

At the outset, it is important to note that Ms. Keough text-messaged Mr. Coxe on December 30, 2015 because she could not access the School District's e-mail system. Respondent's Exhibit 16 (CITPK327). During this text message conversation, Ms. Keough advised Mr. Coxe that:

> I have not been able to get in since I've been out.
> I just saw my hand doctor yesterday n he wants me out for 2-3 months cos I'm having it fused together. So effective the 4 of January I'm out so I needed to send a letter requesting a leave of absence w/o pay effective January 4th.

This message truthfully advised the School District that her hand doctor wants her out for 2-3 months effective "the 4 of January". The text also contains a request for the reasonable accommodation of a leave of absence without pay "effective January 4th." The entire remainder of this very brief conversation was as follows:

> I have the Drs note 12:42 PM

When is your surgery? 12:44 PM

4th 12:45 PM

The School District's entire claim of fraudulent misrepresentation against Ms. Keough is based upon her typing of "4th" which appears in this text message to be in response to the question, "When is your surgery?" Ms. Keough testified, and medical records confirm, that she was under the influence of narcotics at the time this text was written. Ms. Keough's testimony, TIII46:2-17. She clearly does not remember why she responded "4th" and opined that she was answering the previous question. Ms. Keough's testimony, TIII47:7-20. She testified that she was still on the previous question, correcting where she made a typo "4 of January" to make clear she meant to say "4th of January", so she corrected it by writing "4th". Id. It was never meant to answer Mr. Coxe's question about the date of surgery.

Clearly, the purpose of the text message was to advise that Ms. Keough's physician had put her out of work and she needed a leave of absence for 2-3 months. Logically, there would be reason for Ms. Keough to lie about the dates of her surgeries. It would not matter whether the surgery was December 16th and 18th or on January 4th because she needed a 2-3 month leave of absence beginning January 4, 2016. Ms. Keough had her mother deliver the Doctor's note along with a written request for a leave of absence on January 4, 2016, the first day back from winter break. Ms. Keough's testimony, TIII50:6-51:8. The School District received it on January 4, 2016. Mr. Coxe's testimony, TII71:5-7.

We know that because the Business Administrator testified that it is the School District's policy to stamp incoming mail and deliveries so that they know when mail is received. Mr. Coxe's testimony, TII73:25-74:23.

The only other allegation of misrepresentation was made by Superintendent Doloughty at the arbitration. Dr. Doloughty alleges that Ms. Keough made a misrepresentation by stating that the physician-imposed leave of absence was beyond Ms. Keough's control. Dr. Doloughty's testimony, TI142:9-17. That allegation was fully debunked by Dr. Ballet's testimony. Dr. Ballet's testimony, TII149:21-151:2. Under cross-examination, Mr. Coxe was unable to name a single misrepresentation other than when he asked the date of surgery, Ms. Keough responded "4th". Mr. Coxe's testimony, TII66:18-67:10.

Ultimately, as will be discussed in the subsection below, Ms. Keough and her physician repeatedly provided additional information regarding the dates, but it does not change the fact that Ms. Keough was not lying or misrepresenting anything when she contacted Mr. Coxe to tell him that she could not return on January 4, 2016, and that her physician had put her out for 2-3 months. The School District has not produced any competent evidence that Ms. Keough made any knowing or intentional misrepresentations, and certainly has not demonstrated any deliberate conduct unbecoming a public employee due to typing "4th" in a text message.

The most unfair and patently untrue allegations against Ms. Keough are the Board's continued complaints that Ms. Keough never contacted the School and refused to provide information. At the arbitration it was clearly established that Ms. Keough did everything possible to keep the Board up to date on her condition. It was equally clear that the Board interfered and affirmatively prevented Ms. Keough from communicating on numerous occasions.

There is absolutely no history during her entire employment of Ms. Keough failing to provide communications to the School Board regarding her absences. Dr. Doloughty's testimony, TI88:4-8. It is uncontested that there was nothing in Ms. Keough's prior years of employment that would have caused Ms. Keough to have been disciplined or terminated from her position. In fact, Mr. Coxe testified that they were "fully prepared to welcome her back" on January 4, 2016. TII25:11-16.

Ms. Keough testified and presented documented evidence that she constantly and consistently kept communication with the School regarding her absence. She started on December 30 by immediately, as soon as she knew, notifying Raymond Coxe via text message that she would not be returning on January 4, 2016 due to wrist surgery, and that she would require a leave of absence. Respondent's Exhibit 16. She followed that text conversation with a letter which requested the leave of absence and enclosed a note from Dr. Ballet placing her out of work for 2-3 months. Respondent's Exhibit 1. The School Board admits that they received the December 30th letter, which was hand-delivered on January 4, 2016 by Ms. Keough's mother. Mr. Coxe's testimony, TII71:5-7. It was stamped received, as is the School's policy to stamp incoming documents. Mr. Coxe's testimony, TII73:25-74:23.

The School alleges that it sent Ms. Keough a letter and package on January 4, 2016, but Ms. Keough insists that she never received the letter or package. Ms. Keough's testimony, TIII51:9-15. There is ample evidence to conclude that the letter was never sent. Ms. Keough, who received all the other letters, did not receive it. The school keeps no mail log, so they cannot prove it was ever mailed. If it was sent certified as they claim, they should have some certified mail receipt. None have been produced. There is no returned mail unclaimed.

In addition, the School keeps producing different versions of this package. The package identified as an exhibit in the School's initial identification of exhibits was different than the version introduced at arbitration. The School attempted to insert a blank certification that was not part of the original package. The arbitrator correctly barred the attempt to "revise" the package that the School claimed it sent.

Even though she did not receive any January 4 letter, Ms. Keough followed up her own letter and note with a telephone call on January 5, 2016, to make sure that the School received it. That is proven by Ms. Keough's telephone records. Respondent's Exhibit 9. Ms. Keough testified that she called for the express purpose of making sure that the note was sufficient and that Ms.

Meredith told Ms. Keough that the School had all the documentation it needed. Ms. Keough's testimony, TIII54:1-10.

Ms. Keough then had four (4) pages of disability papers delivered to the school by her mother on January 7, 2016. Ms. Keough's testimony, TIII56:23-57:16. The third page of that package contained a medical certification from Dr. Ballet, explaining that Ms. Keough had wrist surgery on December 16 and 18, 2015, and provided dates that Ms. Keough was expected to need for recovery. Respondent's Exhibit 2. Ms. Keough followed that up with five (5) phone calls on January 7 and 8, 2016. Respondent's Exhibit 9. The School admits that no one ever returned any of Ms. Keough's five (5) telephone calls.

The School claims that they only received one (1) of the four (4) pages, but the School's claim is full of holes. First, there is no "received" stamp on the page it claims it received, even though it is the School policy to stamp incoming documents. Mr. Coxe's testimony, TII73:25-74:23. A logical conclusion is that the school stamped the top page of the four pages and then lost or discarded the other three pages. This theory is supported by the text message that Raymond Coxe sent Ms. Keough on January 7 regarding the disability paperwork. While referring to the disability paperwork, Mr. Coxe referred to the paperwork in the plural by stating:

> You will be contacted when they are ready if we are able to complete them.

Mr. Coxe admitted on cross-examination that he does not generally refer to one piece of paper as "they" or "them". Mr. Coxe's testimony, TII81:9-82:3.

The School claims it then sent a letter to Ms. Keough on January 13, 2016 denying Ms. Keough's request for leave and demanding that Ms. Keough must return to work by January 22, 2016 or face disciplinary action. Ms. Keough testified that she did not receive the letter until "four (4) or five (5) days later". Ms. Keough's testimony, TIII65:14-18. It was corroborated at arbitration that the School marked the letter as having been mailed on January 19, 2016. Dr. Doloughty's testimony, TI123:2-12. Ms. Keough spent the next day trying to obtain legal advice because she believed that the School was violating the law by refusing to grant her leave. Ms. Keough's testimony, TIII67:6-9.

Dr. Doloughty certified in her statement, which she signed subject to punishment for false statements, that Ms. Keough never responded to the January 13, 2016 letter. See Statement of Evidence ¶35, Joint-1. At arbitration, that statement was proven untruthful. Ms. Keough's phone records confirm a telephone call from Ms. Keough on January 21 responding to the letter. Respondent's Exhibit 9. Furthermore, Dr. Doloughty admitted that Ms. Keough spoke to her about the leave on January 21. Dr. Doloughty's testimony, TI122:15-123:1. Dr. Doloughty's statement in ¶35 that Ms. Keough never responded to the letter was knowingly false. Dr. Doloughty was well-aware that Ms. Keough responded to the letter because she spoke to her on January 21 about it.

Ms. Keough testified that Dr. Doloughty insisted that Ms. Keough must return on January 22nd. When Ms. Keough told that her physician has her out on disability, Dr. Doloughty responded that "I don't know what to tell you." Ms. Keough's testimony, TIII68:23-69:9.

Ms. Keough received another threatening letter which was mailed by the School around February 5. Petitioner's Exhibit 5. She promptly responded by scheduling an appointment with Dr. Ballet. In another attempt to keep the School District fully informed regarding her condition, on February 11, 2016, Ms. Keough saw Dr. Ballet, and promptly mailed the School an updated status report and Dr. Ballet's dictation from the visit. Respondent's Exhibit 4. Ms. Keough's testimony, TIII73:1-8. The School admits it received the report but claims it did not receive the report until March. Dr. Doloughty's testimony, TI129:21-22. Regardless, the School clearly had all of these documents prior to bringing the tenure action in late April. The School's repeated allegations that Ms. Keough never provided them with any information at all are demonstrably false.

Ms. Keough continued to keep the School updated and provided more physician's notes in March. Respondent's Exhibits 5 & 6. In direct contradiction to the School's certified statement that Ms. Keough never responded to its requests for medical information, Raymond Coxe testified that Ms. Keough "inundated" the School with a "plethora of documents". Mr. Coxe's testimony, TII48:23-5, 99:4-100:8. Mr. Coxe and Dr. Doloughty had absolutely no excuse as to why nobody ever returned any of Ms. Keough's phone calls. Mr. Coxe's testimony, TII102:12-

103:3. Nobody ever spoke to Ms. Keough to try to clarify any confusion despite her repeated calls.

The School should not have been confused. They admittedly had all of Dr. Ballet's records long before any Tenure action was taken. This tribunal should not accept the Petitioner's outlandish claim that Ms. Keough's typing of the word "4th" in a text message (which was followed up the next day with medical documentation) so confused them that all of the other medical documentation was a mystery. The letters to Ms. Keough do not indicate confusion - they reflect an employer determined to rid themselves an employee who had too many disabilities for their liking.

The burden here is upon the employer to prove their allegations that Ms. Keough never responded to their requests. They cannot come close to meeting that burden. Ms. Keough did everything possible to respond to the School's numerous requests and always did so promptly. The arbitrator should reject these meritless allegations

The final allegation of conduct unbecoming alleges that Ms. Keough refused to pay her Chapter 78 contributions. The allegation is every bit as false as the previous allegations. Ms. Keough produced at arbitration the bills that she received and her canceled checks evidencing payment in full for the Chapter 78 contributions. Respondent's Exhibit 20. The Petitioners were forced to admit that there were never any Chapter 78 contributions that were unpaid. Ms. Walsh's testimony, TIII27:10-12. The allegations are meritless and the charge accusing Ms. Keough of not paying her Chapter 78 contributions is false.

In summary, none of the allegations of conduct unbecoming a public employee are true, and none of them indicate any conduct by Ms. Keough that was unbecoming a public employee. The arbitrator should reject the meritless allegations of the Petitioner.

The Petitioner additionally does not state an actionable claim for removal due to incapacity. The Petitioner merely concludes that "Ms. Keough's abandonment of her position, her excessive absenteeism, her unprofessional conduct, her failure to cooperate, and her decision to willfully provide false information leads to only on conclusion: Ms. Keough no longer has the capacity to perform the essential functions of her job." Tenure charges at ¶62. The Petitioner's logic is fatally flawed because it begins with a series of untrue premises, assumes facts that are false, employs definitions that are erroneous, and reaches a conclusion that has absolutely nothing to do with its major premise.

First of all, as set forth in the previous sections, Ms. Keough did not abandon her job. She did not act unprofessionally, she cooperated at all times, and did not provide any false information. Most importantly for this section is that even if she had done all of the things she is alleged to have done, it still would not result in a finding of incapacity. The Petitioner confuses conduct unbecoming with incapacity.

Incapacity does not refer to the misconduct of an employee. Incapacity refers to the physical ability of the employee to perform labor. The term "incapacity" is not defined by the tenure statute but the Courts that have defined the term have always equated incapacity with the inability to perform the job due to physical or mental limitations. "Incapacity as identified in N.J.S.A. 18A:6-10 relates to the inability to perform a position, irrespective of the cause of the inability to work." In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Carson Steltz, Agency Dkt. No. 260-9/14 at 25 (internal citations and quotations omitted). For example, the inability to work due to severe depression warranted tenured clerk's dismissal for incapacity. Matter of Tenure Hearing of Stanley, 95 N.J.A.R.2d (EDU) 495.

In the absence of a statutory or regulatory definition of "incapacity", the arbitrator should be guided by the plain meaning of the word. Webster's Dictionary defines "incapacity" as "the quality or state of being incapable; especially lack of physical or intellectual power or of natural or legal qualifications". See https://www.merriam-webster.com/dictionary/incapacity.

If Ms. Keough was unable to return to work or perform her duties because her injuries prevented her from working, then a charge of incapacity might be applicable. That is not the case here. Within days of being charged with incapacity, Dr. Ballet released Ms. Keough to return to work full-duty. Respondent's Exhibit 18. The return to work note was promptly served upon the District's attorney. Id. Nevertheless, the School District refused to reinstate Ms. Keough despite the fact that Ms. Keough was not incapacitated in any way.

The only other charge of incapacity is equally faulty. The Petitioner alleges that, "[e]ven though being on Workers' Compensation leave may be a good reason to justify a number of absences, such status is irrelevant to the determination of incapacity." Tenure charge at ¶63. We agree that this is a correct recitation of the law, but it is confusing as to why the Petitioner would make such statement. Ms. Keough was cleared to return to work on January 4, 2016. Petitioner's Exhibit 7. There should be no issue or controversy regarding Ms. Keough being incapacitated due to her Workers' Compensation injury.

Apparently, the Petitioner is arguing that due to the number of days that Ms. Keough missed due to the Workers' Compensation injury, the arbitrator should declare her incapacitated and permit the School District to fire her. Such an argument is discriminatory and retaliatory on its face, and should be rejected in any event as patently false. It was admitted by Petitioner that missing time due to a Worker's Compensation injury is not a reason to be fired. Dr. Doloughty's testimony, TI89:16-18. Ms. Keough is not incapacitated and the arbitrator should reject the baseless claims of the School District.

Excessive Absenteeism has been well-defined by previous Arbitration decisions, and the language has been consistently followed. In order to terminate a tenured employee for chronic or excessive absenteeism, the Board must demonstrate that there was consideration of:

A. the particular circumstances of the absences and not merely the number of the absences;

B. the impact that the absences had on the continuity of instruction during the period of time the absences occurred, not merely after the fact; and

C. that there be some warning given to the employee that his or [her] supervisors were dissatisfied with the pattern of absences.

In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Carson Steltz, supra, at 21, citing In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Velez, OAL Dkt. No. EDU 3255-05 (2006), aff'd C.D. (April 27, 2006) and In re White, 92 NJAR 2d (EDU) 157, 161.

The Board fails to demonstrate any of these three factors. First, it was admitted that Ms. Keough's absenteeism in the prior years was not a factor in the decision to terminate. Dr. Doloughty's testimony, TI89:3-7, 90:14-17. She had never even been warned that there was a problem with her attendance. Dr. Doloughty's testimony, TI89:25-90:4. In fact, if Ms. Keough had been able to return on January 4, 2016, she would have been welcome to return without any warnings or consequences at all. Dr. Doloughty's testimony, TI90:14-17.

The allegations that Ms. Keough's absences were unexplained are patently false. The Petitioner fully knew at all times that Ms. Keough's absences in 2015-2016 were due to a Workers' Compensation jaw injury that was suffered the previous year, followed by wrist surgery. The analysis requires the arbitrator to take into consideration the reasons for the absences. Ms. Keough's absences were caused by a series of bad luck events that are not likely to occur - a car accident which aggravated an old wrist injury and a Workers' Compensation injury - and there is no basis to believe that these events would be an indicator of poor attendance in the future.

The Petitioner falsely accuses Ms. Keough of creating "bookend" weekends during the 2015-2016 school year by taking off Fridays and the following Mondays. Ms. Keough's attendance records show nothing of the sort. The school year begins July 1, 2015 and ends June 30, 2016. As Ms. Keough testified, she was out Friday, August 21 and Monday, August 24, but that was for a pre-approved vacation. Ms. Keough's testimony, TIII95:3-10. The next Friday-Monday was September 18 and September 21. But Ms. Keough was not absent that Friday. The School's physician required her to be examined that Friday so she was only able to work a ½ day. She was sick on Monday. Ms. Keough's testimony, TIII95:21-96:6. There were no other Friday-Mondays. Her last physical day of work before her Workers' Compensation leave was Thursday, September 24. Although her records reflect that Friday September 25 and Monday September 28 were personal days, they were called personal days because Ms. Keough was paid by the school rather than the Workers' Compensation carrier, but this was part of her leave of absence, not a bookended weekend. Ms. Keough's testimony, TIII96:9-21.

The Petitioner complains that Ms. Keough's absence caused the School District a hardship, but the arbitrator should take those claims with a grain of salt. The School District never hired a temporary employee. Mr. Coxe's testimony, TII65:14-15. Not a single employee incurred a minute of overtime. Mr. Coxe's testimony, TII65:4-5. Despite the fact that Ms. Keough has been out for 15 months as the result of her unpaid suspension, she has not been replaced by anyone either temporarily or permanently. Mr. Coxe's testimony, TII64:12-16. The only testimony this tribunal heard regarding the School District's claim of "a detrimental effect on the Board's operations" was that the Assistant Business Administrator, Ms. Walsh, is now working through most of her lunch periods instead of working through some of her lunch periods. Ms. Walsh's testimony, TIII19:-20:2.

Given the complete lack of hardship, it is far more likely that the real reason that the School District is so anxious to get rid of Ms. Keough is because it realized while she was out that they could complete all of their work with one less person, and this way they could save payroll.

The final step in the analysis is whether she had ever been warned before about her attendance. It was established that Ms. Keough had never before been warned or counseled regarding her attendance. Dr. Doloughty's testimony, TI89:25-90:4. She would have been welcomed back with open arms. Mr. Coxe's testimony, TII57:8-14. The Petitioner has not come close to establishing good cause for terminating Ms. Keough for excessive absenteeism. Accordingly, the Arbitrator should reject the charges in their entirety.

In conclusion, the Petitioner has not met its burden of establishing any basis for terminating the Respondent. Accordingly, Ms. Keough should be reinstated with full back pay to May 4, 2016, the date that she was cleared to return to full duty.

VI. STATEMENT OF THE CASE

It is well settled that the tenure laws of our State were originally enacted and designed to establish a "competent and efficient school system," and to protect teaching and other staff from dismissal for "unfounded, flimsy or political reasons. See generally Viemeister v. Prospect Park Board of Education, 5 N.J. Super, 215, 218 (App. Div. 1949); Spiewak v. Rutherford Board of Education, 90 N.J. 63 (1982). The statutory status of a tenured individual should accordingly not be lightly removed. See In re Tenure Hearing of Claudia Ashe-Gilkes, City of East Orange School District, 2009 WL 246266 (January 12, 2009), adopted by the Commissioner of Education (May 2, 2009).

N.J.S.A. 18A:6-10 provides that a tenured teacher may not be dismissed or reduced in compensation "except for inefficiency, incapacity, unbecoming conduct, or other just cause..." And as the moving party in this disciplinary matter, the District accepts the prefatory burden of making a prima facie showing that it has satisfied or established the sufficiency of the unbecoming conduct and/or incapacity tenure charges by a preponderance of the credible evidence. See Cumberland Farms, Inc. v. Moffett, 218 N.J. Super. 331, 341 (App. Div. 1987); In re Tenure Hearing of Grossman, 127 N.J. Super. 13, 23 (App. Div.

1974 cert. denied 65 N.J. 292 (1974)); In re Phillips, 117 N.J. 567, 575 (1990); In re Polk, 90 N.J. 550 (1982); Atkinson v. Parsekian, 37 N.J. 143 (1962); see also State v. Lewis, 67 N.J. 47 (1975) (defining preponderance as "[g]reater weight of the credible evidence"); Bornstein v. Metropolitan Bottling Co., 26 N.J. 263, 275 (1958); Spagnuolo v. Bonnet, 16 N.J. 546, 554-555 (1954); In re Polk License Revocation, 90 N.J. 550, 560 (1982); In re Tenure Hearing of Tyler, 236 N.J. Super 478 (App. Div. 1989); In re Tenure Hearing of Marrero, 97 N.J.A.R. 2d (EDU) 104 (Cmm'r of Educ. 1996). As to just cause, see e.g. Maietta v. United Parcel Service, 749 F. Supp. 1344 D.N.J. (1990); City of Portland, 77LA 820 (Axon, 1981); Lozier Corp. 121 LA 1187 (Fitzsimmons, 2005).

In that event, the burden of production will shift to Respondent to proffer and establish her affirmative or exculpatory defenses. Finally, the burden returns to the District to rebut the same with substantial, credible evidence. Additionally, once a determination has been made of whether the tenure charges have been established, Petitioner thereafter is encumbered with the additional burden of demonstrating that the dismissal of Ms. Keough for the charged conduct is warranted and proportional. In deciding whether to remove Respondent from her tenured Administrative Assistant position with the City of Burlington School District, I am required to consider the totality of the circumstances; the nature of the act(s) and the impact on her career. See In re Fulcomer, 93 N.J. Super. 404, 421 (App. Div. 1967).

As I have previously taken notice in other tenure cases, in Karins v. Atlantic City, 152 N.J. 532 (1998), the Supreme Court of New Jersey determined the phrase unbecoming conduct "is an elastic one that has been defined as 'any conduct which adversely affects the morale or efficiency of the bureau... [or] which has a tendency to destroy public respect for municipal employees and confidence in the operation of municipal services.'" citing In re Emmons, 63 N.J. Super. 136, 164 A.2d 184 (App. Div. 1990) (quoting In re Zeber, 398 Pa. 35, 156 A. 2d. 821, 825 (1959); see also Laba v. Board of Education, 23 N.J. 364, 129 A.2d 271 (1957); In re Young, 202 N.J. 50, 66 (2010); Hartman v. Police Department of Ridgewood, 258 N.J. Super. 32, 40 (App. Div. 1992).

Upon a comprehensive analysis of the evidentiary record coupled with careful consideration of the respective positions and supporting case citation, I find that the instant tenure charges are SUSTAINED IN PART, as Petitioner's prima facie showing of conduct unbecoming has not been rebutted by the Respondent. The remaining charges however have not been established and are dismissed with prejudice. The material facts of the case are both disputed and undisputed, and on balance the former must be resolved in favor of the District's witnesses, whose testimony was far more credible than that of Ms. Keough. They are found to be as follow:

1. Penny Keough has been employed by the City of Burlington School District Board of Education as an Administrative Assistant/Payroll Secretary since October 1, 2011. She earned tenure in the position as of December 2, 2014. TI19:7; 20:20.

2. District Attendance records reflect that between January 2012 and June 2012, Ms. Keough was absent seven (7) times. During the 2012 - 2013 School Year, Ms. Keough was absent twenty-eight (28) days.

During the 2013 – 2014 School Year, there were a total of thirty (30) absences. During the 2014 – 2015 School Year, Ms. Keough accumulated a total of forty-three and one-half (43.5) absences. Finally, from July 2015 until April 2016, she was out a total of one hundred twenty-eight (128) days. See Petitioner's Exhibits 1-5; TI21:22-25; 23:16-22; 24:11-16; 24:18-25; 24:24-25:2. All told, these amounted to two hundred and sixty-seven (267) days in less than five (5) years of employment.

3. Throughout the course of her employment with the District, Ms. Keough has not been counselled regarding not bringing in a doctor's note when out for more than a three (3) day period, or for attendance deficiencies. TIII35:13-25; 36:1-24; 37:1; TI89:25-90:4. The only element that appears in Ms. Keough's personnel file is a counselling by a prior supervisor due to her failure to transfer funds that were necessary to meet payroll. TIII150:6-151:9.

4. On March 1, 2013, Ms. Keough suffered an on-the-job injury when she hit her face on a door while walking out of the Board offices. She was later seen at the Concentra Urgent Care Center. See CITY OF BURLINGTON BOARD OF EDUCATION WORKERS' COMPENSATION EMPLOYEE REPORT, Petitioner's Exhibit 6.

5. The injury ultimately required Ms. Keough to undergo jaw surgery, resulting in a Workers' Compensation leave, effective October 1, 2015. Based upon a September 30, 2015 meeting she had with District personnel, the expectation was that she would be out between four (4) to six (6) weeks. TIII9:21-22; 10:1-5; TI25:9-25.

6. During the period of time that she was on the Workers' Compensation leave, Ms. Keough was required to make certain payments. Included among them was her portion of the Chapter 78 contributions, which would have covered the period of time from October through December 2015 and for which she was billed monthly. TIII14:1-22; 15:1-9; TIII25:23-25. This obligation was satisfied, with Ms. Keough sending one check on January 11, 2016 in the amount of $308.14, with the balance deducted from a retro check following the conclusion of negotiations over the 2014 – 2015 C.B.A. TIII15:1-25; 16:1-17; TIII26:1-4; See also Respondent's Exhibit 20.

7. On December 22, 2015, Ms. Keough called the phone line of Administrative Assistant Susan Meredith, who was on vacation. The call was picked-up by Bookkeeper Sue Kirk (formerly Croce). During the conversation, Ms. Keough indicated that she would be returning to work on January 4, 2016, which was the first day back after Winter break. Because Ms. Kirk handled Workers' Compensation, she knew that Ms. Keough couldn't return without formal approval or a doctor's note and there were procedures that had to be done. She therefore told Ms. Keough that a doctor's note was necessary and also contacted the District's Workers' Compensation company. TI162:1-21; TI27:13-25; TII20:21-25; 21:1-20; TIII10:11-25.

8. In a subsequent conversation with Ms. Kirk, Ms. Keough stated that she had spoken with her doctor, who assured her there would be no problem and that a note was available, if necessary. At one point Ms. Keough became frustrated because they were not able to get the doctor's note right away and was adamant that she was going to be returning on January 4th. She also expressed her belief that all the employees in that Department were useless. TI162:23-25; 163:1-25; T164:1-9.

9. The procedure that Ms. Kirk had to follow involved sending an e-mail to the Workers' Compensation company, confirming that Ms. Keough had contacted the District and was looking to come back to work. They in turn reached out to the doctor so that a note could be provided by the end of the business day, if possible. The handwritten note from the doctor clearing Ms. Keough came in at 4:21 p.m. on December 22, 2015. As this was after business hours, it was received by the District on December 23rd. TI164:10-25; 165:1-15. The note from Dr. David Sheen stated: "Mrs. Keough is medically cleared to return to work on Jan. 4, 2016. Mrs. Keough had surgery on Oct. 1, 2015 and has had several follow-up visits to demonstrate that she has the mental and physical capacity to return to work on January 4, 2016." [Emphasis in original]. See Petitioner's Exhibit 7.

10. On December 30, 2015, Raymond Coxe, School Business Administrator and supervisor of Ms. Keough, received a text message from her. After briefly inquiring as to why she could not get into the District's e-mail system, Ms. Keough texted "I just saw my hand doctor yesterday n [sic] he wants me out for 2-3 months cos [sic] I'm having it fused together. So effective the 4th of January I'm out so I needed to send a letter requesting a leave of absence w/o pay effective January 4th. I have a Drs. [sic] note." Mr. Coxe texted back asking "[w]hen is your surgery?" Ms. Keough replied "4th." TII24:1-25; TIII44:15-23; 49:1-18. See Respondent's Exhibit 16.

11. That same date, Ms. Keough wrote a letter to Mr. Coxe. This provided in full:

Dear Ray,

Per our conversation today about my request for medical leave of absence effective January 4th 2016.

Please find this letter as my formal request for my medical leave without pay effective January 4th of 2016.

My doctor will be keeping me out of work for approximately 2-3 months.

Sorry for the short notice but this was beyond my control.

Thank you for your time and consideration.

Sincerely

Penny Keough.

See Respondent's Exhibit 2/Petitioner's Exhibit 8; TII27:13-21; TI34:24-25; 35:1-10.

12. The letter, which had been hand carried by Ms. Keough's mother, included a note from Frederick L. Ballet, M.D. See Petitioner's Exhibit 8/Respondent's Exhibit 1. Dr. Ballet's note provided that Ms. Keough was seen in his office on December 29, 2015, with the box "Patient may not return to work until further evaluation" checked. It further indicated "out of work starting January 4th 2016 for about 2-3 months. Next apt 1/12/2016." Id. TI35:11-18.

13. Ms. Keough's December 30, 2015 text message to Mr. Coxe that "I just saw my hand doctor yesterday n he wants me out for 2-3 months cos I'm having it fused together," coupled with the response "4th" when the BA asked when the surgery was, created the reasonable impression in District officials that her need for surgery had recently developed. This was buttressed by the statement in her January 4, 2016 leave request letter that she was "sorry for the short notice but this was beyond my control." See Respondent's Exhibit 2/Petitioner's Exhibit 8.

14. Because she was unsure what Dr. Ballet's note was in reference to and the nature of the leave, on January 4, 2016, Superintendent of Schools Dr. Patricia T. Doloughty sent a correspondence to Ms. Keough, which indicated in whole:

Dear Ms. Keough:

I am in receipt of your leave request letter, dated December 30, 2015 and received January 4, 2016. In your letter, you requested a leave of absence without pay due to medical reasons. Specifically, you requested a leave of absence without pay beginning January 4, 2016 for approximately two to three months. The purpose of this letter is to respond to your leave request and clarify the designation of your leave by the City of Burlington Public School District ("the District").

In accordance with attached Policy 443.1 Family Leave, 'the Board may, in its discretion, permit an eligible staff member, who is on an FMLA leave for reasons of the staff member's own serious health condition, to apply his/her accumulated sick days, to the extent available, during the period of otherwise unpaid leave...' During this time, you may utilize your accumulated sick days, to the extent they remain available, in order to receive pay for days which you otherwise would have been required to work. Our records indicate that you have 10 ½ sick days available to you. Your period of disability will run from January 4, 2015 through and including March 25, 2016. During this time, you will be permitted to utilize 10 of your available sick days in order to be paid for the work within that timeframe. These ten days will be withheld by the district as payment for the two weeks that were to be reimbursed because you were being paid by [W]orkers' Compensation.

The FMLA provide[s] qualified employees with up to twelve (12) work weeks of leave for certain specified reasons, which is unpaid but with the continuation of health benefits. A work week is any week in which you would otherwise have been required to work at least one (1) day.

Please be advised that your request for leave will be submitted to the City of Burlington Board of Education ("the Board"), pending receipt of the attached Certification of Health Care Provider for Employee's Serious Health Condition (Family and Medical Leave Act) according to the following schedule. If we do not receive the Certification of Health Care Provider for the Employee's Serious Health Condition, your leave will be denied.

- Your leave will commence on January 4, 2016. Leave with pay will begin January 4, 2016 and continue during that period through January 15, 2016, which will be with pay, utilizing 10 of your available sick days, and with the continuation of medical benefits. This leave will be designated as FMLA leave based on your own disability, and you will utilize two (2) work weeks of your allotted twelve (12) work weeks of FMLA leave.

- You will be granted a leave for medical purposes from January 18, 2016 through March 25, 2016 pending the Certification of Health Care Provider for Employee's Serious Health Condition, which will be without pay but with the continuation of medical benefits. This period of leave will run under FMLA from January 18, 2016 through March 25, 2016, until the expiration of the twelfth (12th) work week of FMLA (the week of March 12, 2016).

- You have indicated your intention to inform the Board at a later date of your expected return date. Be aware that, based on the above designation and your statutory entitlement, if you were to utilize your entire statutory entitlement under FMLA, the latest possible date of your return to work would be March 29, 2016. Please advise the Board within a reasonable period of time concerning the expected date of your return. Unless you advise the Board with advanced notice within a reasonable time of your intention to return to work at an earlier date, you will be expected to return to your position at that time.

During your period of leave, you remain responsible to continually meet all obligations concerning your contributions toward health insurance premiums. Please contact the business office to make the necessary financial arrangements to ensure continued health coverage. If you are eligible for COBRA during your leave, you will receive the necessary paperwork from the business office.

> If you have any questions concerning the designation of your leave period, you may contact my office.

> Very truly yours,

Petitioner's Exhibit 9; TI36:1-15; 38:23-25; 39:1-25. [Emphasis in original].

15. On January 7, 2016, Ms. Keough's mother dropped off a one (1) page state disability application for Mr. Coxe to complete. This contained a Post-It note which read "[p]lease complete and notify as soon as possible when this can be picked up. She worked in private industry. Sandra 609 xxx-xxxx." It was only during the appeal process after the initial unemployment hearing in May or June of 2016 that Mr. Coxe saw the other three (3) pages of the packet which contained medical information. See Petitioner's Exhibit 10; TII31:11-21; 32:1-22; 33:1-18; TIII170:9-21.

16. Following submission of the January 4th and January 7th paperwork, Ms. Keough made a number of phone calls to the District. Per Respondent's Exhibit 9, two (2) calls were made on January 5, 2016 to Ingrid Walsh and Sue Meredith, respectively, to confirm receipt of the letter dropped off by Ms. Keough's Mom the prior day. The exhibit also indicates a total of four (4) calls were placed on January 7, 2016 to Ms. Meredith and Mr. Coxe to ensure that the disability paperwork was filled out. The January 8th call to Sue Meredith was also undertaken for the same purpose. Id. TIII54:1-7; 58:16-60:2' 64:3-9. A January 21, 2016 call that was ultimately routed to Dr. Doloughty and a January 22, 2016 call to Sue Meredith also appear. Id. TIII66:1-7; 71:9-19. No further calls were made to the District. TII133:1-23.

17. The phone calls to Sue Meredith and Mr. Coxe on January 7th were not returned. Mr. Coxe did initiate a text conversation with Ms. Keough that same date as follows:

> I am out today for some medical tests and was tied up with things yesterday. I looked at that form, but we can't fill it out. We do not pay into state disability. 12:45 PM
>
> I worked private company that I did pay into. I need this form filled out by my current employer. There was a note explaining this when dropped off. 12:49 PM

I didn't see a note... I'll look into it. 12:53 PM

How long will it take? I never held up anyone's disability paperwork. 12:54 PM

We've never filled out anyone's disability paperwork as we do not pay into it. 1:39 PM

I did family bonding with child so I did. 1:40 PM

You will be contacted when they are ready if we are able to complete them. 1:41 PM

Well I would appreciate it if my paperwork is not held up. I have never held up anyone's disability paperwork and I would hope that I am given the same consideration. There is nothing on that form that specifically states if you don't pay into it you are not to complete. You told me that the paperwork would be ready yesterday. I need to get it back asap so that the states [sic] gets it because it is already a long processing time with them. 1:53 PM

Respondent's Exhibit 17.

18. The January 4th letter from the Superintendent was sent to Ms. Keough via Certified and Regular Mail. While the former was unclaimed, the latter was not returned to the District. When Ms. Keough did not respond to Dr. Doloughty, on January 13, 2016, another letter was sent. See Petitioner's Exhibit 10. This provided:

Dear Ms. Keough:

On January 4, 2016, I received your request for unpaid medical leave, which you indicated would begin effective January 4, 2016. As you know, you were cleared by your physician to return to work on January 4, 2016, and stated that you would return to work on that date, but failed to do so.

Your request for unpaid medical leave has been reviewed under relevant law and Board policies. First, you do not qualify as an eligible employee for leave under the Family Medical Leave Act (FMLA) or Policy 4431.1 (Family Leave) because you have not worked the required 1,250 hours during the previous twelve-month period. Rather, our records indicate that you accrued only 1,136 hours during the relevant calendar year. If you have any information which you contend supports your eligibility for FMLA, please immediately forward same to my attention for review and consideration.

Policy 3431 (Uncompensated Leave) provides that the Board of Education may consider an employee's request for uncompensated leave under certain circumstances and for a particular purpose, other than disability. However, it is unclear from your letter whether you are requesting leave pursuant to this Policy or whether you are requesting an accommodation because of a disability, for some other purpose, or pursuant to some other policy or Agreement. Please be advised that to constitute a valid request pursuant to Policy 3431, you must specify an emergent inability to work or a reason supported or validated by a physician's statement that such leave is required. Additionally, per the policy, the request must provide dates for start or termination of the unpaid leave. If you require a disability accommodation, please contact me immediately and provide for any supporting documentation for evaluation.

At this time, the Board has not authorized you to take uncompensated leave. Accordingly, you must report to work no later than January 22, 2016. In the absence of information or documentation that you are not able to return to work, or that you require an accommodation, should you fail to return to work by the above-specified date, you may be subject to appropriate discipline.

19. The District's January 13, 2016 letter was not received by Ms. Keough until four (4) or five (5) days later, with the Superintendent confirming during her testimony that the document bore the postmark of "January 19th." TIII65:14-18; TI123:2-12.

20. On January 21, 2016 Ms. Keough phoned the District with the call eventually routed to Superintendent Doloughty. During the ensuing conversation that was short, Ms. Keough was told the District still needed the physician certification for the leave. The response was "I will try to get you what you need." At that time, Ms. Keough failed to disclose either the December surgeries or explain why she was not reporting to work. TI57:1-20.

21. On February 4, 2016, Dr. Doloughty sent another letter to Ms. Keough. See Petitioner's Exhibit 15. This stated:

Dear Ms. Keough:

On January 4, 2016, I received your request for unpaid medical leave, which you indicated would begin effective January 4, 2016. As you know, you were cleared by your physician to return to work on January 4, 2016, and stated that you would return to work on that date, but failed to do so. In my letter dated January 13, 2016, I advised you that the Board has not authorized you to take uncompensated leave pursuant to Policy 3431 and that you do not qualify as an eligible employee for leave under Family Medical Leave Act (FMLA) or Policy 4431.1 (Family Leave). As previously stated, if you have information that you contend permits eligibility for FMLA, please forward same to my attention immediately. Because you do not qualify for FMLA and have not been approved for any unpaid leave, you were directed to return to work on or before January 22, 2016.

At this time, you have failed to return to work or provide the necessary documentation to justify your absence. It was requested that you specify the nature of your emergent inability to work or provide a reason validated by a physician's statement that such leave is required. To date, this information has not been provided. The only documents we received came from Penn Medicine's Department of Oral & Maxillofacial Surgery, the same entity that previously cleared you to return to work from Workers' Compensation, in a fax dated January 21, 2016. However, we did not receive these documents until February 2, 2016. We have no information with which to verify that you are currently receiving Workers' Compensation benefits or are eligible for same. The relevance and meaning of the Penn Medicine documents is, therefore, uncertain, and we ask for clarification from you in that regard.

In the meantime, please know that if you are requesting a reasonable accommodation pursuant to Policy and Regulation 1510 (Rights of Persons with Handicaps or Disabilities/Non-Discrimination) you must do so in writing within ten (10) days of the date you receive this letter. At this time, we have no information that would lead us to believe you are disabled, but we deem it important to communicate that the Board is willing to engage in the interactive process should a reasonable accommodation be requested.

In the absence of information or documentation that you are not able to return to work, or that you require a reasonable accommodation, you must return to work within ten (10) days of the date you receive this letter. Should you fail to return to work, you may be subject to appropriate discipline.

Very truly yours,

Patricia T. Doloughty, Ed.D.
Superintendent of Schools

22. On March 14, 2016, the District received an envelope from Ms. Keough that was postmarked March 12, 2016. This contained three (3) pages of medical documentation from the Hand Surgery Rehabilitation Center of New Jersey. See Petitioner's Exhibit 17; TII40:2-25; TI169:19-170:1; TIII140:1-7. Included among them was:

- A note from Dr. Ballet indicating that Ms. Keough was seen on February 11, 2016 and explaining that "Patient had surgery on December 16, 2015 and December 18, 2015, which included a right total wrist fusion and carpal tunnel release. A copy of Dr. Ballet's dictation from today's visit is attached;"

- The dictation from the February 11, 2016 visit, reported in part:

  Assessment/Plan

  The patient is seen in follow-up today. She continues with symptoms about her distal radioulnar joint. The prior scars are well-healed. Finger and thumb motion are full. The patient has limited forearm rotation. The patient is having increasing difficulty with ADL and cannot do her complete therapy due to pain at the distal ulnar joint. The exam today demonstrates persistent pain and swelling over the distal radioulnar joint. Her forearm rotation is limited. Scars well-healed. There is still residual peak reaction phenomena.

The patient is advised of a matched distal ulnar resection arthroplasty. The patient has documented tear of TFCC and review of previous x-ray is suggestive of the distal radioulnar arthropathy as well. I advised the patient that I would like to defer such surgery however until the soft tissue has reach[ed] better equilibrium and there is more consolidation of the bone graft. We are temporizing with therapy modification and I [have] given a prescription for Vicodin. She will follow-up with us in 3 weeks.

She is unable to return to work due to the pain she is experiencing at this time.

- Dr. Ballet's note confirming that Ms. Keough was seen on March 1, 2016, and was having surgery on March 16, 2016. This went on to say: "No work until at least after surgery. She will know about how long on 1st post op apt."

23. The medical records and testimony in evidence from Dr. Ballet establish that Ms. Keough had urgent wrist fusion surgery on December 16, 2015 followed by emergent carpel tunnel surgery on December 18, 2015. See KEOUGH100 and KEOUGH117-118; TII169:19-170:8. The physician does not recall telling Ms. Keough how long she would be out of work. TII125:12-24.

24. Ms. Keough had previously discussed the fact that she was having difficulty with her hands due to carpal tunnel with her co-workers. She advised Sue Kirk and Ingrid Walsh during the Summer of 2015 that her doctor had suggested hand surgery, but said she wasn't going to do it until Winter break when they were all out on leave. TI168:24-169:9; TIII13:1-7; 47:1-2.

25. On December 8, 2015 Ms. Keough underwent a Pre-Operative Evaluation with Dr. Ballet's Physician's Assistant Jane L. Fowler. According to the Assessment/Plan "[w]e reviewed the procedure, the recovery and expected outcomes..." Respondent's Exhibit 11. KEOUGH183-184.

26. District Attendance Policy 4212 provides that: "[a] support staff member who fails to give prompt notice of an absence, misuses sick leave, fails to verify an absence in accordance with Board policy, falsifies the reason for an absence, is absent without authorization, is repeatedly tardy, or accumulates an excessive number of absences may be subject to appropriate consequences, which may include the withholding of a salary increment, dismissal, and/or certification of tenure charges."

27. On April 8, 2016, District Superintendent Patricia T. Doloughty preferred tenure charges against Ms. Keough on the grounds of: Charge One, Conduct Unbecoming, Charge Two, Incapacity, Charge Three, Other Just Cause, Excessive Absenteeism. TI79:2-80:5. By roll call majority vote of the Board of Education at its April 25, 2016 Meeting, the charges were certified and referred to the Commissioner of Education. See Joint Exhibit 1.

28. Both during the period of time after January 4, 2016, when Respondent was cleared to return from her Workers' Compensation leave and following the institution of Tenure Charges, the District was unable to find any temporary help, because none of the potential candidates were willing to undergo the fingerprinting process and pay the application fee for potentially only a few months of employment. TIII99:14-100. This caused a disruption in the operation of the Business Office and required the Assistant School Business Administrator Ingrid Walsh to perform Ms. Keough's job as well as her own, necessitating working through her lunch on a regular basis.

29. Following the initiation of tenure charges against Ms. Keough, a fact finding conference call was held by the New Jersey Department of Labor And Workforce Development, in connection with Respondent's filing for unemployment which the District had contested. After recounting the circumstances of her application, and in response to a question from Claims Examiner Traphagen, Ms. Keough replied: " And I didn't have surgery on January 4th. I don't know what they're talking about. I told them I wasn't going to be returning on January 4th because I had urgent, you know, emergency surgery December 16th and 18th." See Respondent's Exhibit 12 KEOUGH046.

30. When the initial Appeal Tribunal Hearing on June 30, 2016 had to be adjourned due to incomplete paperwork, the case was assigned to Appeals Examiner Ian Spurlock and heard August 8, 2016. At that time while under cross-examination, Ms. Keough acknowledged that she had told Mr. Coxe her surgery was on the 4th of January, but urged that she was very confused as she was on two (2) types of narcotics — Dilaudid and Vicodin. Id. at KEOUGH074. Both Respondent as well as her mother also testified that the disability paperwork had been dropped off at the District on January 8, 2016. See Respondent's Exhibit 12. KEOUGH075.

At the outset of this discussion, it is abundantly clear to me that the District's alternatively pled incapacity and other just cause charges by virtue of excessive attendance contained in Charges Two and Three have not been established and must be dismissed with prejudice. I share Respondent's posture that Petitioner has improperly conflated numerous allegations in support of its incapacity theory, which has been traditionally interpreted per N.J.S.A. 18A:6-10, as "the inability to perform a position, irrespective of the cause of the inability to work." See e.g. In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Carson Steltz, Agency Docket No. 260-9/14.

On that count, the record reveals that Ms. Keough had been previously returned to duty on January 4, 2016 by the comp physician. She was then cleared by Dr. Ballet on April 12, 2016 to come back to the City of Burlington School District Board of Education with no restrictions on May 16, 2016. Respondent then received an earlier date of May 4th. However, the District refused to take her back because the instant Tenure Charges had been filed. TI146:8-148:5. Concerning abandonment of position, notwithstanding any dilatory tactics by Respondent in providing full medical documentation, she did speak with the Superintendent on January 21, 2016 and by any measure the District had most of the requested medical documentation by March 14, 2016, which was several weeks before the charges were filed.

The District's excessive attendance allegation overlaps Charge Two into Charge Three, but is equally unavailing. One of the central tenets of industrial democracy is that an employee be placed on notice of a perceived deficiency and provided with the opportunity to correct her behavior. See I/M/O/ Tenure Hearing of Steltz, Agency Docket No. 260-9/14, supra. The Board's Attendance Policy, No. 4212 explicitly contemplates such a contingency where it discusses "[t]he counseling of support staff members for whom regular and prompt attendance is a problem."

On the record before me, there is not a scintilla of evidence that Respondent was counselled at any time or in any manner concerning perceived attendance improprieties. See Testimony of Dr. Doloughty, TI89:25-90:4. Moreover, as her counsel effectively established during his cross- examination of the Superintendent — attendance was not a factor in the District's decision to grant Respondent tenure on December 2, 2014; being out for Workers' Compensation was not a reason to fire an employee; and if Ms. Keough had come back on January 4th, she would not have been terminated for her prior absences. TI89:7-18; 90:14-17.

Rather, the record establishes that due to the increased workload, the District was willing and even anxious to accept Respondent back to work in January 2016 following her clearance by the Workers' Compensation physician. Parenthetically, Mr. Coxe recalled during his testimony on direct examination that the District was "[f]ully prepared to welcome her back into the office. Fully prepared to have a fully staffed Business Office and begin the process of business operations as usual." TII25:11-16.

There also is scant support for the proposition that Respondent purportedly bundled Fridays and Mondays together in an attempt to create "bookend weekends". Instead, many of these days were the result of Workers' Compensation doctor's appointments; pre-approved vacation days; and personal days. See Petitioner's Exhibit 5. TIII95:3-10; 95:21-96:6; 96:9-21.

As such and while recognizing that discipline may be imposed even for legitimate illnesses, from my perspective these do not fall into the generally recognized category of days counted toward incapacity charges. They are also readily distinguishable from a situation where an employee is "banging-in" sick leave with impunity to enjoy an extended weekend. A prior case of mine cited by the District is also very clearly factually inapposite. See I/M/O School District of the City of Jersey City and Adele Stapleton, DOE Docket No. 284-9/12 (District attempted to correct Ms. Stapleton's attendance irregularities over a period of years through progressive discipline, withholding her increments for 2008 – 2009; 2010 - 2011; and 2011 – 2012); see also State-Operated School District of Jersey City, Hudson County, v. Vincent Pellecchio, OAL Docket No. EDU 5129-90 at *8 ("Pellecchio had been advised during a number of years, as indicated in the record, that his absenteeism did not properly serve the District. Although he was aware of the concern of the District and indicated his willingness to improve his attendance, his record does not reflect the necessary improvement for the continued success of his students. While it may be that his increment was not withheld, he was advised on a continuing basis that his attendance was of concern and needed improvement.").

The District acknowledges the fact that absences on many of the dates were occasioned by the comp case, but nevertheless argues at Paragraph 63 that "[e]ven though being on Workers' Compensation leave may be a good reason to justify a number of her absences, such status is irrelevant to the determination of incapacity." This assertion ignores the fact that Ms. Keough had been cleared by her comp physician almost three months before the subject tenure charges were preferred.

The District additionally questions whether or not Ms. Keough is currently even able to return to her former duties. This argument suggests that there is a conflict between Respondent's return to work clearances by Dr. Ballet, with the April 12 note prescribing sedentary work and the May 4th note returning Ms. Keough to full duty with no restrictions. Concern is also expressed based on Dr.

Ballet's testimony that a total wrist fusion results in permanent loss of motion, and that someone with a heavily keyboard-oriented job could probably return to that job with some modifications to the work station. A reservation was also expressed over the fact that a Functional Capacity Test was not performed.

Dr. Ballet's testimony was clear. When asked "if your job, like Ms. Keough's job was heavily keyboard oriented, can you still do that function after you have a ...: The response was "Probably," with the explanation that "Yeah, you might have to modify the work station a little bit." He then replied affirmatively in response to the question "So people can type after they have that," stating "Oh, yeah." TII129:18-25; 130:1-2. Later in his direct examination, Dr. Ballet reiterated that Ms. Keough was able and available to work full duty. TII171:6-10. That conclusion in fact is reflected on his May 4th note as detailed above. And even assuming without deciding that Ms. Keough required a reasonable accommodation, Dr. Doloughty's letters, as recently as February 4th, all offered to engage in the interactive process in the event Respondent requested the same.

That leaves the unbecoming conduct count in Charge 1, which survives. In partial support of this allegation, the District avers in Paragraph 58 that "Ms. Keough's refusal to pay her Chapter 78 contributions or respond to the Board's attempts to obtain payments constitutes unbecoming conduct." Assistant School Business Administrator Ingrid Walsh testified regarding this topic during her direct examination at the November 16, 2016 hearing. Recalling that Respondent made one payment of roughly $300, Ms. Walsh explained that Ms.

Keough's monthly contribution would have been about $138, and said that Respondent had paid in part with the rest deducted from her retro pay following the settlement of contract negotiations for the 2014 – 2015 school year. TIII15:1-25; 16:1-17.

However, Ms. Walsh continued, once a person is out of either Workers' Comp or a protected disability, meaning Family Leave or New Jersey Family Leave which limits their contribution to their portion, the employee is required to pay the full cost contribution. Therefore after January 4, 2016, Ms. Keough had to pay the full premium. TIII16:18-25; 17:1-14. As established under cross-examination, however, when an employee isn't being paid, as was the case with Ms. Keough, those are no longer Chapter 78 payments. The assistant BA thereafter conceded that Respondent had accordingly not failed to make any Chapter 78 payments, either while she was on the Workers' Compensation leave or at any other time. TIII26:24-25; 27:1-13. Based upon these admissions, I find that the accusation of a failure to make Chapter 78 contributions has no basis in fact and was not established.

With respect to the other conduct unbecoming allegations and preliminarily, I do not read Petitioner's position to be that the sole basis for Ms. Keough being so charged was her text of the word "4th" to Mr. Coxe, allegedly in response to his question "[w]hen is your surgery?" See Respondent's Exhibit 16/Petitioner's Exhibit 23. Moreover, there is ample evidence of purposeful obfuscation on the part of Ms. Keough.

Respondent is likewise perplexed as to why the District was unclear as to Ms. Keough's medical treatment and prognosis vis-à-vis her unpaid leave request. However, I credit Paragraph 53 of Charge One which asserts that "[f]urther, Ms. Keough intentionally kept critical information regarding her medical condition a secret from the Board while at the same time requesting leave for medical disability, which constitutes conduct unbecoming a public employee." See Joint Exhibit 1. There is no evidentiary support for the premise that Ms. Keough refused to provide a response to the Board, per Paragraph 54, as previously discussed.

The medical prism through which this case must be viewed is that in the late afternoon of December 22, 2015, the District's Workers' Compensation physician returned Ms. Keough to full duty with no restrictions, effective January 4, 2016. See Petitioner's Exhibit 7. This was the end result of Respondent's repeated calls to Sue Kirk in the Business Office, at one point growing frustrated and referring to the entire department as "useless." TI64:1-2. After responding to these emphatic entreaties from Ms. Keough, District personnel then left for the Christmas holidays secure in the fact that she had recovered from the comp leave and would be back at work January 4th.

That nascent expectation was shattered by Respondent's December 30, 2015 text to Mr. Coxe, which as I have previously determined along with her January 4th letter requesting leave, created the reasonable impression that Ms. Keough's need for surgery had recently developed. Dr. Ballet's December 29, 2015 note at Petitioner's Exhibit 8/Respondent's Exhibit 1 did little to explain Ms. Keough's current medical situation. As detailed within, the Superintendent then sent a number of correspondence to Ms. Keough seeking clarification. Respondent denies receiving the January 4, 2016 letter that also explained FMLA leave entitlement, if applicable, but the record demonstrates that while the Certified Mail was unclaimed, the Regular Mail was not. A follow-up letter was then sent out on January 13, 2016 by Dr. Doloughty, advising that Respondent did not qualify for an FMLA leave because the 1,250 hours were not worked the preceding year but explaining the parameters of the District's Uncompensated Leave Policy 3431. See Petitioner's Exhibit 10.

While I do not believe that Ms. Keough had "elective surgery" in the sense that the District has used it in Paragraph 51 of the Charges, there is ample evidence that she used extremely poor judgment which falls just short of deception. Dr. Ballet's very credible testimony and the accompanying medical records demonstrate that Ms. Keough had been treating with him for a considerable period of time at least since 2014. The initial December 16, 2015 wrist fusion surgery was originally scheduled to be performed in August 2015, but had to be postponed due to anesthesia considerations attendant to the jaw condition. TII136:17-138:3. Petitioner has also properly underlined that Ms. Keough had discussed having the surgery over the Winter break with her colleagues Ingrid Walsh and Sue Kirk during the Summer of 2015. TIII13:1-7; 47:1-2; TI168:24-169:9. These considerations beg the question then of, why was this apparently a secret?

Dr. Ballet classified Respondent's December 16, 2015 surgery as "urgent" by virtue of the threshold of pain that Ms. Keough was experiencing. The December 18, 2015 carpel tunnel surgery was unexpected and thus "emergent," he testified. TII169:19-170:9; KEOUGH100; KEOUGH117; KEOUGH118. Petitioner has emphasized that on December 8, 2015, Ms. Keough attended a pre-operative appointment for the wrist fusion with Dr. Ballet's Physician Assistant. According to the progress notes at Respondent's Exhibit 11 KEOUGH183, KEOUGH184 "[w]e reviewed the procedure, the recovery and expected outcomes..."

I am aware of the fact as Petitioner highlights, that Dr. Ballet testified that the expected recovery from a wrist fusion is eight (8) to twelve (12) weeks. TII177:25; 178:8, but accept his recollection that he had not specifically discussed this with Ms. Keough. TII125:12-24. Analyzed simply in burden of proof terms, the District has accordingly not established that Ms. Keough was aware of the fact that she would be incapable of returning January 4, 2016 when she spoke to Ms. Kirk on December 22, 2015.

But even accepting for the purposes of this discussion that Ms. Keough was shocked when Dr. Ballet told her on December 29, 2015 that she could not return to work for two (2) to three (3) months, her December 30th text to Mr. Coxe was not truthful, and supports the allegations of Paragraph 52 of the charges under Karins. Rather, no mention was made of the fact that she had already undergone two (2) surgeries, and was in considerable pain taking potent narcotics. Respondent would have me perceive the texting of the date "4th" in isolation, as a byproduct of the tortured argument that this was somehow due to the "auto correct" function of her phone. Her fallback positions were that she was "loopy" because of taking the narcotics and may not have had her glasses on. TIII46:2-19; 47:7-15.

Petitioner has correctly pointed out that Ms. Keough has given different answers each time she has been asked questions about her December 30th text to Mr. Coxe. When the unemployment Claims Examiner expressed the District's understanding that she had surgery on the 4th of January during the initial phone hearing, she replied "I don't know what they're talking about." During the August 8, 2016 Appeal Hearing and under oath, Respondent acknowledged that she had told Mr. Coxe the surgery was on the 4th, but demurred that she was on "Dilaudid and Vicodin." See Respondent's Exhibit 12 KEOUGH046 and KEOUGH074.

In I/M/O Indian River Medical Center and International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Local 769, F.M.C.S. Case No. 11-51617-3 (Pecklers, 2011 at page 33, n.4), I cited with approval the analysis of a witness' credibility advanced by Arbitrator Berquist in Abbott Northwestern Hospital, 94 LA 621, 630-631 (Berquist, 1990), which includes consideration of the following:

(1) interest or lack of interest in the outcome of the case;

(2) their relationship to the parties;

(3) ability and opportunity to know, remember and relate the facts;

(4) their manner and appearance;

(5) their age and experience;

(6) their frankness and sincerity or lack thereof;

(7) the reasonableness or unreasonableness of their testimony in light of all the other evidence in the case;

(8) any impeachment of their testimony;

(9) any other factors that bear on believability and weight.

See also Hearing of Giglio, EDU 11457-2003, Initial Decision (August 9, 2004) citing Freud v. Davis, 64 N.J. Super. 242, 246 (App. Div. 1960); Spagnuolo v. Bonnet, 16 N.J. 546 (1974); Gallo v. Gallo, 66 N.J. Super. 1 (App. Div. 1961); Barnes v. United States, 412 U.S. 837, 93 S.Ct. 2357, 37 L.Ed. 2d 380 (1973); Carbo v. United States, 314 F.2d 718, 749 (9th Cir. 1963).

The totality of the record evidence convinces me that the credibility of the Respondent is unreliable at best. The Board's witnesses evidenced no apparent bias toward Ms. Keough, and their testimony was internally as well as externally consistent. For her part, Respondent's testimony was marred by prior inconsistent statements and at times incredible when considered in the context of the entire record. That was certainly true in regard to her position that she was not attempting to mislead Mr. Coxe in her December 30th text and January 4th letter, but trying to explain that she already had surgery and was not having surgery.

This conclusion is equally applicable to what is perhaps Respondent's linchpin defense — Ms. Keough's testimony that she had four (4) pages of disability papers delivered to the District by her mother on January 7, 2016, the third page of which contained a medical certification from Dr. Ballet which explained that she had wrist surgery on December 16th and December 18th and additionally provided anticipated recovery dates. Again however, Ms. Keough's proclivity for fabrication cannot be overlooked. Petitioner has again called my attention to the unemployment hearing, when Respondent maintained that this paperwork had been provided to the District on January 8th. See Respondent's Exhibit 12 KEOUGH071; TI44:9-15; KEOUGH075.

Ms. Keough also maintained that this packet had been put into an envelope to protect her social security number at the suggestion of her mother, notwithstanding the fact that contrary testimony had previously been elicited. Respondent's Exhibit 2; TIII57:2-22; Respondent's Exhibit 12 KEOUGH076, TIII63:15-18. Finally, during the January 7th email exchange with Mr. Coxe, Ms. Keough stated that he had told her the paperwork would be completed yesterday.

To underpin her position that the District had the information it sought all the time, Respondent relies upon the fact that the one (1) page that was completed had no date stamp, along with the January 7, 2016 text message of Mr. Coxe. This stated that "you will be contacted when they are ready if we are able to complete them." TII73:25; 74:23; 81:9; 82:3. I acknowledge that the BA testified on cross that he does not ordinarily refer to one (1) piece of paper as "they or them." That said, these facts must be analyzed in conjunction with the other evidence.

Three (3) of the District's witnesses testified that they had received only the 4th page of the disability packet, which was what the employer filled out — Dr. Doloughty, TI118:2-14; Mr. Cox, TIII170:14-17; Ms. Walsh, TIII11:21-12:14. It also defies logic that the Superintendent would send out her January 13th follow-up letter seeking inter alia, the very medical certification that she had been provided with. The obligation to provide the same or return to work within ten (10) days was also reinforced in the Superintendent's February 4th letter. Perhaps the most telling evidence that the entire packet was not dropped off on January 7th, however, is Respondent's failure to mention the medical certification to Dr. Doloughty during her January 21st conversation with her. See Respondent's Exhibit 12 KEOUGH072; TI57:3-20. Accordingly, given the implausibility of this theory of the case coupled with credibility concerns, this position has been discounted.

I further do not credit Respondent's position that she was in constant contact with the District due to her documented phone calls. It is true that there were many calls made during the month of January, ostensibly for the purpose of confirming that Ms. Keough's application for leave and disability paperwork were received. There was a call that was routed to the Superintendent with a conversation ensuing on January 21, 2016, and then a final one to Ms. Meredith on the 22nd. Noticeably absent from the phone records is any indication that Respondent attempted to contact anyone at the City of Burlington School District Board of Education after the Superintendent's February 4th letter was received. However, based upon this conversation, Dr. Doloughty's assertion in Paragraph 35 of the Charges that Ms. Keough did not respond to her January 13th letter is simply factually incorrect.

In conclusion, the only remaining issue is the correct penalty for Respondent's unbecoming conduct. Our Appellate Division has provided useful guidance in this regard. In re Fulcomer, 93 N.J. Super. 404, 421 (App. Div. 1967) stands for the proposition that I should take into account the totality of the circumstances; the nature of the act(s); and the impact upon Ms. Keough's career.

I do not endorse the Respondent's position that the District was not prejudiced by the absence of Ms. Keough. It is accurate that no overtime was expended or temporary manpower hired. But as Mr. Coxe credibly testified, a number of individuals contacted as potential candidates were not willing to undertake the fingerprinting and application fee for a job of indefinite duration. TIII99:14-100. That does not mean that there was not a disruption in the operation of the Business Office as pled in Paragraph 59 of Charge One, and Ms. Keough herself described her position as "irreplaceable." Ms. Walsh also credibly testified to additional time she was now required to spend in performing two (2) jobs.

Ms. Keough is apparently a good worker, as there is no evidence to the contrary in the record. I also recognize that this is a small Business Office in a relatively small district, and that there is still an ongoing Superior Court lawsuit, which may create underlying tension. Those factors however, are not dispositive in determining what discipline should be meted out. Instead, the District's Attendance Policy 4212 expressly recognizes that proportionality must anchor any penalty imposed. It is beyond dispute that Respondent violated the same, by failing to verify an absence in accordance with Board policy; falsifying the reason for an absence; and being absent without authorization.

The policy then establishes a progressive discipline scheme of escalating penalties, beginning with the withholding of a salary increment. See Petitioner's Exhibit 18; TI81:4-15. In my considered opinion, that penalty will comport with the intended statutory scheme and fall within the acceptable range of discipline in the TEACHNJ tenure cases, some of which were cited by Respondent. Under these circumstances, Ms. Keough is entitled to back pay, retroactive to May 4, 2016, when she was medically cleared to return to duty with no restrictions by Dr. Ballet, minus an offset for appropriate mitigation. IT IS SO ORDERED.

VII. CONCLUSION

The District has established by a preponderance of the credible evidence that the actions of Ms. Keough, a tenured Administrative Assistant and Payroll Secretary of the Board, amounted to conduct unbecoming sufficient to withhold her salary increment for School Year 2016 – 2017.

AWARD

THE SUBJECT TENURE CHARGES ARE SUSTAINED IN PART, WITH CHARGE ONE, CONDUCT UNBECOMING UPHELD AND CHARGE TWO, INCAPACITY AND CHARGE THREE, OTHER JUST CAUSE, DISMISSED WITH PREJUDICE. MS. ## SYNOPSIS

Petitioners sought reimbursement from the respondent Board for costs and fees incurred in the defense of a civil lawsuit – settled with no admissions of any wrongdoing – which alleged that petitioner Logan Alexander engaged in wrongful conduct against minor student K.O. while he was employed as a security guard by the Board. Pursuant to the New Jersey Supreme Court's decision in L.A. v. Board of Education of the City of Trenton, 221 N.J. 192 (2015), the matter was remanded for an evidentiary hearing in the Office of Administrative Law to resolve the issue of whether Alexander committed the acts alleged by K.O., and whether he was acting within the scope of his employment duties when the acts at issue occurred. Petitioner Alexander contended that he was not guilty of improper actions involving K.O. and, therefore, the respondent must indemnify him against the costs incurred in his defense.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: the statute applicable to the present case is N.J.S.A. 18A:16-6, entitled "Indemnity of Officers and Employees Against Civil Actions and Proceedings," which makes clear that indemnification shall only be provided when the act or omission at issue arose out of the performance of the employee's job duties; witnesses from the Department of Children and Families Institutional Abuse Investigation Unit (DCF) testified that, based on interviews and police reports, DCF substantiated sexual abuse charges against Alexander which involved three minors – one of whom was K.O.; the testimony of K.O. regarding the incident in which she was pulled into the faculty lounge by Alexander was credible; and inappropriate touching of students clearly falls outside the scope of a school security guard's duties. The ALJ concluded that petitioner Alexander was not acting within the scope of his duties when he touched K.O. inappropriately; accordingly, the petitioners did not meet the burden required to support indemnification under N.J.S.A. 18A:16-6. The ALJ dismissed the petition with prejudice.

Upon independent review of the record and the Initial Decision of the OAL, the Commissioner concurred with the ALJ's findings and conclusions, and adopted the Initial Decision as the final decision in this matter. The petition was dismissed.

This synopsis is not part of the Commissioner's decision. It has been prepared for the convenience of the reader. It has been neither reviewed nor approved by the Commissioner.

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed, as have the exceptions filed pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4 by the Petitioners, Logan Alexander and the Horace Mann Insurance Company, and the Trenton Board of Education's (Board) reply thereto. The petitioners are seeking reimbursement for costs and fees expended in the defense and settlement of a civil lawsuit alleging that petitioner Logan Alexander engaged in wrongful conduct against minor child, K.O., while employed as a security guard by the Board.[1] A school employee's entitlement to reimbursement for his legal fees and costs in connection with the defense of a civil matter is specifically controlled by N.J.S.A. 18A:16-6 which provides in pertinent part:

> Whenever any civil or administrative action or other legal proceeding has been or shall be brought against any person holding any...employment under the jurisdiction of any board of education...for any act or omission arising out of and in the course of the performance of the duties of such...employment...the board shall defray all costs of defending such action, including reasonable counsel fees and expenses, together with costs of appeal, if any, and shall save harmless and protect such person from any financial loss resulting therefrom.

[1] At the time that he was working as a security guard for the Board, Mr. Alexander was charged with sexually assaulting two students, N.F. and K.O. Mr. Alexander pled guilty to one count of second-degree endangering the welfare of a minor (N.F.) in exchange for dismissal of all other charges, including the charges involving K.O. which arose out of the same allegations contained in the civil suit.

"The plain language of the statute requires that the underlying civil action be related to conduct falling within the employment duties of the school board employee." L.A. and The Horace Mann Insurance Company v. Board of Educ. of the City of Trenton, Mercer County, 221 N.J. 192, 202 (2015). Here, the civil case against Mr. Alexander was settled without admission or adjudication of the alleged facts; therefore, a hearing was necessary to determine if Mr. Alexander committed the acts alleged by K.O. and was consequently acting outside the scope of his employment duties.[2] Following a hearing at the OAL, the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) found that Mr. Alexander acted outside the scope of his duties as a school security guard when he inappropriately touched K.O. in a sexual manner. Therefore, the petitioners have not met the burden required to support indemnification under N.J.S.A. 18A:16-6.

In their exceptions, the petitioners maintain that the ALJ's credibility determinations should be rejected by the Commissioner because they are not consistent with the record. The petitioners suggest that the ALJ incorrectly found that a hearsay statement by another student, A.C., bolstered the credibility of K.O. because the record indicates that A.C.'s recitation of the events in question were in stark contrast to that of K.O. Additionally, the petitioners argue that the ALJ overlooked crucial details of the alleged event, namely the presence of a custodian in the faculty room at the time in question. Finally, the petitioners stress that the ALJ never found Mr. Alexander to be incredible. Therefore, the Initial Decision should be rejected and the petitioners should be awarded the stipulated costs and fees of $74,249.14, plus interest.

In reply, the Board contends that the Initial Decision was proper and that the Commissioner should find that the petitioners are not entitled to attorney fees and costs pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:16-6. The Board cites to the standard that the agency head must apply when evaluating the ALJ's fact finding and credibility determinations, and emphasizes that the ALJ – who has the benefit of hearing and seeing witnesses – is generally in a better position to access the credibility and veracity of the witnesses. The Board maintains that beyond a few minor ambiguities, the statement made by A.C. during the investigation aligns with K.O.'s account of the incident. More significantly, K.O.'s testimony of what transpired during the incident was consistent with her prior accounts provided throughout the case. Based upon her observation of K.O.'s testimony, the ALJ properly found that K.O. testified credibly. Accordingly, the ALJ found as a matter of fact that Mr. Alexander touched K.O. inappropriately – thereby precluding indemnification, as the conduct was outside the scope of Mr. Alexander's duties.

[2] This matter was originally decided on summary decision, but was later remanded by the Supreme Court to the OAL for an evidentiary hearing. L.A., supra at 206.

Upon a comprehensive review of the record in this matter, the Commissioner agrees with the ALJ's determination that Mr. Alexander acted outside the scope of his duties as a school security guard when he inappropriately touched K.O., and, as a result, the petitioners were not entitled to indemnification under N.J.S.A. 18A:16-6. The Commissioner also finds no basis in the record to reject either the ALJ's recitations of testimony or her determinations of witness credibility. The ALJ had the opportunity to assess the credibility of the various witnesses who appeared before her and made findings of fact based upon their testimony. In this regard, the clear and unequivocal standard governing the Commissioner's review is:

> The agency head may not reject or modify any findings of fact as to issues of credibility of lay witness testimony unless it is first determined from a review of the record that the findings are arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable or are not supported by sufficient, competent, and credible evidence in the record. [N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10(c)]

In this case, all of the facts related to K.O.'s allegations against Mr. Alexander were in dispute because Mr. Alexander completely denied any wrongdoing. Therefore, witness testimony and ultimate credibility is the only means available to make a determination as to the veracity of the charges. Based on her overall assessment of the alleged victim witness, the ALJ found "K.O.'s testimony concerning the difficulties she experienced [as a result of the incident] for a considerable length of time was credible. Her acknowledgement that the amount of time the incident lasted was brief, coupled with her remark that it nonetheless felt like a long time, also was credible, as was her complaint that she felt the therapy made her feel like she was being forced to relive the incident to her detriment." (Initial Decision at 7) Despite the petitioners' suggestion that K.O. provided inconsistent accounts of the incident, a review of the record – including the transcript from the hearing on May 18, 2016 – reveals that K.O. never wavered on the fact that Mr. Alexander inappropriately touched her legs and her chest in the faculty room. Therefore, the Commissioner finds the ALJ's fact-finding analysis and conclusions as to the truth of K.O.'s allegations against Mr. Alexander to be fully supported by the record.[3] Mr. Alexander's unacceptable conduct toward K.O. was not within the course and scope of his employment duties; thus, the petitioners are not entitled to indemnification for the legal fees incurred during his civil case.

Accordingly, the Initial Decision is adopted as the final decision in this matter and the petition of appeal is dismissed.

IT IS SO ORDERED.[4]

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Pursuant to the New Jersey Supreme Court's decision in L.A. v. Board of Education of the City of Trenton, 221 N.J. 192 (2015), the above matter (EDU 10410-11), which had been determined based on summary decision, was remanded for an evidentiary hearing to the Office of Administrative Law. The Court stated that "[t]he only question to be answered when a school board employee seeks civil indemnification under N.J.S.A. 18A:16-6 is whether the employee was acting with the scope of his or her employment duties; a conviction or other unfavorable disposition in a related criminal matter answers that question in the negative." L.A., supra, 221 N.J. at 205–06. However, for this matter, the indictment regarding the allegation that L.A. behaved improperly with a student at the school where he worked was dismissed. Therefore, the Court determined, a hearing was required to determine "whether L.A. committed the acts alleged by K.O. and was therefore acting outside the scope of his employment duties." Id. at 206. Petitioner L.A. contends that he was not guilty of improper actions involving K.O., and, therefore, respondent Trenton Board of Education must indemnify him.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Following the Supreme Court's remand, the matter was filed at the Office of Administrative Law on May 6, 2015. The hearing was held on May 18, 2016, and the record was left open for receipt of transcripts and briefs. The briefs having been received on September 30, 2016, the record closed on October 3, 2016.

FACTUAL DISCUSSION AND FINDINGS

Many of the undisputed facts were recited in the Supreme Court decision. Briefly, L.A. was employed by the Trenton Board of Education (the Board) as an elementary-school security guard. At a time when he was at work, L.A. allegedly sexually assaulted two students, N.F. and K.O. The allegations were referred to the Institutional Abuse Investigation Unit of the Department of Children and Families (DCF). Additionally, L.A. was indicted. In relation to N.F., the charges were one count of third-degree aggravated criminal sexual contact and one count of second-degree endangering the welfare of a minor. The K.O. indictment charged him with two counts of second-degree sexual assault and one count of second-degree endangering the welfare of a minor. L.A. pled guilty to one count of second-degree endangering the welfare of a minor (N.F.) in exchange for a dismissal of all other charges, including those involving K.O.

A civil lawsuit was filed on behalf of K.O. in the Mercer County Superior Court on May 11, 2009. It alleged that L.A. sexually assaulted K.O., and that the Board negligently hired L.A. The respondent did not provide L.A. with legal representation, but pursuant to a private insurance policy maintained by the New Jersey Education Association with the Horace Mann Insurance Company, L.A. was assigned counsel. The K.O. lawsuit ultimately settled without admissions of any wrongdoing. The instant matter arose when petitioners sought reimbursement from respondent for all costs and fees expended on behalf of L.A. in connection with the K.O. lawsuit.

At the May 18, 2016, hearing, L.A. testified on his own behalf. He explained that following his 1973 honorable discharge from the Navy during the Vietnam War period, he worked at AT&T for twenty-three years, starting in the copying center and working his way up to purchasing agent. Along the way, he earned ninety-seven credits toward a bachelor-of-arts degree at Cabrini College. Originally employed through an independent contractor to the Board as an assistant teacher, he accepted Board employment as a security officer in 2002, which is the position he occupied until spring 2007.

L.A. maintained that he had a friendly relationship with many students, and that he would go into the teachers' lounge to purchase sodas for K.O. and for others. He said that at one point K.O. asked to sit on his lap, a request he denied because she was a child. He said that when the allegations of inappropriate sexual contact arose he was really shocked. Ultimately, he agreed to plead guilty to the one count with N.F. because his lawyer convinced him he ran fewer risks by doing so.

L.A. said he did not sexually touch K.O. or make any comments that could be interpreted as a threat to her brother. He acknowledged that in his guilty plea he stated under oath that on the afternoon of March 9, 2006, he engaged in conversation of a sexual nature with two females, both of whom were minors and under his supervision.

(R-5 at 6.) On the same date, he engaged in an inappropriate touching of one of the two minors. (Ibid.) At hearing, he testified that neither of the two females was K.O.

Two witnesses testified in relation to the DCF investigation and report. Charmaine Thomas, who is currently an assistant commissioner at the DCF, at the time was an administrator for the DCF's Institutional Abuse Investigation Unit. She said that the DCF substantiated sexual abuse and sexual molestation charges against L.A. in relation to three children—K.O., N.F., and C.H.—based on interviews and police reports. Additionally, the investigator looked at the video obtained by the prosecutor's office, and talked to the school principal, who relayed what various students had said. Thomas had no independent knowledge of the events that occurred, having relied entirely on reports by others.

Colleen Burke was an investigator with the DCF's Institutional Abuse Investigation Unit. She testified that her 2007 report (J-6) of her interview with K.O. was based on her notes of what K.O. told her. "At that time, in '07, we were instructed to take down statements as people said, so I would just be typing in the field as they were telling me." (Tr. at 166.) Therefore, what she recorded was the actual words of K.O. (Id. at 172.) As of the date of hearing, she had no independent recollection of the conversation. (Ibid.) The report records the ten-year-old saying that she was walking in the hall with A., when L.A. grabbed her elbow area, walked next to her holding her arm, and then locked her in the teacher's lounge:

> He told me that he would hurt me or my brothers if I told anyone. He touched me on my chest, legs and shoulders. He touched my chest with his open hand over my shirt. He touched my legs by rubbing my right thigh with his open hand. . . . He saw another person coming towards the teacher lounge and that is when he threatened me about hurting me and my brothers. I just walked out of the lounge and went back to class.
> [J-6 at 9–10.]

Nancy Diaz, a detective in the Mercer County Prosecutor's Office, was a part of the Special Victims Unit at the time of the allegations. She interviewed K.O. on videotape on March 27, 2007. She said she was called to help with the case because of the language barrier with some of the Spanish-speaking children. She recalled K.O. telling her that L.A. had put his hands on top of her clothes over her breast and thighs. She said this occurred in the faculty lounge, and he threatened to hurt her brothers if she told anyone what happened. L.A. stopped because he realized someone was in the maintenance closet close by, and went to talk to that person. The girl said she was afraid.

Jerry L. Sherman, who retired in 2007 after a career of some thirty years with the Board, was the head custodian at the school where L.A. worked at the time of the allegations. Sherman said he had no recollection of L.A. behaving anything other than normally with students; did not see him with a child in the faculty room; and would have reported his presence with a child in that room because it would have been inappropriate.

K.O., now nineteen, testified that in 2006, after lunch, she was following her friend from the lunchroom into the main hallway, when L.A. pulled her into the faculty room, and closed the door behind them. He placed her next to the refrigerator, and started "touching on my legs, . . . on my breasts." (Tr. at 135.) He also touched her thighs through her skirt. (Id. at 138.) "I guess he realized that there was a janitor in the bathroom. When he realized [that] . . . he stepped to the side and began to speak to the guy. After speaking to the guy, he took me out of the room and told me that if I ever were to speak about this, that he would hurt my brothers that were going to the school with me." (Id. at 135–36.) She described the janitor as skinny, bald, and African-American. (Id. at 145.) There was enough space for the janitor not to see her. She said, "I was scared, I didn't know how to react to it. . . . I didn't know if I had done something wrong or like if I had provoked him to do something to me, or if I had said something that was wrong." (Id. at 139.) Although the encounter was brief, "It felt like a really long time." (Id. at 156.) Immediately afterward, she told only her friend C. Sometime later, when she heard that L.A. had touched other girls, her friend C. convinced her to talk to her teacher, Ms. Finley.

When K.O. was asked about a report that she had accused two other older men (one her grandfather) of inappropriate touching, she confirmed saying that to her mother. She said her grandfather's touching did not feel right, and her mother explained that he was probably just trying to be nice to her. (Id. at 155.) She said she "felt like everybody was going to do the same thing to me. Like I didn't feel safe around anyone." With regard to her grandfather, she acknowledged that she "probably misconstrued it." (Ibid.)

K.O. testified that although she received therapy following the incident, she stopped going because she felt it did not help. She said, "I didn't want to keep reliving that," and "they would ask me the same things over and over again, and it's just reliving it all over again." (Id. at 142.)

In this instance, only two eyewitnesses exist—L.A. and K.O.—and their testimony is in direct contradiction to each other. "The determination of factual findings thus requires a weighing of the credibility of the witnesses, i.e., an overall assessment of the story of a witness in light of its rationality, internal consistency, and manner in which it 'hangs together' with other evidence." Carbo v. United States, 314 F.2d 718 (9th Cir. 1963). "A trier of fact may reject testimony because it is inherently incredible, or because it is inconsistent with other testimony or with common experience or because it is overborne by other testimony." Congleton v. Pura-Tex Stone Corp., 53 N.J. Super. 282, 287 (App. Div. 1958).

The fact that someone pleads guilty to a crime does not necessarily link that person to another bad act. In his testimony, L.A. talked about his shock at the allegations, particularly from C.H., to whom he said he was a type of father figure. Since the prosecutor's office did not charge him in relation to C.H., it is likely that the office did not believe it had sufficient evidence to support conviction on a criminal charge. Moreover, L.A. had a long and successful working career, which would seem inconsistent with inappropriate behavior around children. Buying the occasional soda for a student with the principal's knowledge also would seem inconsistent. With regard to K.O., he referenced her wanting to sit on his lap, and generally denied any improper relationship.

Petitioners contend that the idea that L.A. was in the faculty room at the same time that Jerry Sherman was there, without Sherman ever realizing that K.O. was present, is simply incredible. Further, K.O., in various interviews, offered different dates on which the incident occurred, saying on March 23, 2007, that the incident occurred a week ago (an impossibility because L.A. at that point had been charged), and during a deposition in December 2009 that it happened months before she reported it in 2007, also highly unlikely.

K.O.'s testimony was buttressed by the hearsay statement to the DCF investigator by A., who said she lost track of K.O. for a few minutes, and then found her outside the faculty room, upset. Additionally, L.A.'s comment about her wanting to sit on his lap suggests a loss of the professional distance between staff members and students. The photos of the faculty lounge show enough room beside the refrigerator to allow a grownup to miss a child standing to the far side of it, and if it could take a while for L.A. to realize that Sherman was in the janitorial closet off the room, Sherman could equally well have missed the presence of L.A. and K.O. Despite the long period of time since the incident, K.O.'s testimony concerning the difficulties she experienced for a considerable length of time was credible. Her acknowledgment that the amount of time the incident lasted was brief, coupled with her remark that it nonetheless felt like a long time, also was credible, as was her complaint that she felt the therapy made her feel like she was being forced to relive the incident to her detriment. Additionally, her response to the question about telling her mother that her grandfather and another older man had touched her inappropriately, in which she acknowledged she probably misconstrued the situation but had been feeling unsafe around everyone, was consistent with having been victimized. (Tr. at 155.) For these reasons, I FIND as FACT that K.O. was truthful as to L.A. having touched her improperly during the school day.

LEGAL ANALYSIS

The statute applicable to the present case is N.J.S.A. 18A:16-6, which is entitled "Indemnity of Officers and Employees Against Civil Actions and Proceedings" and provides in pertinent part:

> Whenever any civil or administrative action or other legal proceeding has been or shall be brought against any person holding any . . . employment under the jurisdiction of any board of education . . . for any act or omission arising out of and in the course of the performance of the duties of such . . . employment . . . , the board shall defray all costs of defending such action, including reasonable counsel fees and expenses, together with costs of appeal, if any, and shall save harmless and protect such person from any financial loss resulting therefrom.

Analyzing the statute, the Commissioner of Education in Lonky v. Board of Education of Bayonne, EDU 07205-07, Initial Decision (May 22, 2008), adopted, Comm'r (July 7, 2008), <http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/>, stated:

> By its very terms, central to qualifying for protection afforded under this statute is that the conduct triggering the legal action against him or her must have 1) arisen out of the performance of his/her duties, and 2) occurred in the course of performing those duties. In the context of the defense of a civil action, the outcome of the litigation is irrelevant, the statute protects both successful and unsuccessful litigants as long as the above two criteria are satisfied.

There can be no doubt that inappropriate touching of students falls outside the scope of a school security guard's duties. As the Supreme Court noted in L.A., supra, 221 N.J. at 204, indemnification hinges upon the employee having met the burden of showing that he or she was acting within the scope of their employment duties. Here, I CONCLUDE that L.A. was not acting within the scope of his duties when he touched K.O. inappropriately. Therefore, he has not met the burden required to support indemnification under the statute.

ORDER

For the reasons outlined above, the petition for indemnification is hereby DENIED and DISMISSED WITH PREJUDICE.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." ## SYNOPSIS

Pro se petitioner challenged the determination of the respondent Board that M.R. was not the victim of harassment, intimidation or bullying (HIB) under the provisions of the New Jersey Anti-Bullying Bill of Rights Act, N.J.S.A. 18A:37-13 to -32.1 (the Act). M.R. – a member of the varsity cheerleading team – alleged that she and three other members of the team had been bullied by the cheerleading coach on two occasions in December of 2014. Petitioner's allegations stem from the coach's negative reaction to receiving a text message from M.R. on the afternoon of a scheduled basketball game, explaining that she could not attend the game because she had other plans. M.R. claimed that the coach responded with a "strong bullying tone", and informed her that she and three other cheerleaders who missed the same game were off the team. M.R. also alleged that the coach's behavior during half time at a basketball game on December 23, 2014 – after the cheerleaders were reinstated to the team following the launch of an HIB investigation – caused her to feel singled out and fearful that she was becoming a target; she further believed that the cheerleading team had become a hostile environment. The Board contended that the investigation did not find evidence that M.R. was the target of HIB because the coach's actions were not motivated by any actual or perceived characteristic, as defined in the Act. The Board filed a motion for summary decision. The petitioner failed to file an answer to this motion, and did not file exceptions to the Initial Decision of the OAL.

The ALJ found that: there are no material facts at issue in this case, and the matter is ripe for summary decision; the issue for resolution in this case is whether the Board's finding that there was no HIB was arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable, in light of the information the Board possessed when it made its determination; and the Act applies to any gesture, or any written, verbal or physical act, or any electronic communication – whether it be a single incident or a series of incidents – that is reasonably perceived as being motivated either by an actual or perceived characteristic, such as, inter alia: race, color, religion, national origin, gender, sexual orientation, or any other distinguishing characteristic. The ALJ concluded that consideration of the alleged actions against M.R. leads to "the inescapable conclusion…that the Board's HIB determination was correct." Accordingly, the ALJ granted the Board's motion for summary decision, and dismissed the petition with prejudice.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurred with the ALJ's conclusion in this matter, but modified his recommended decision to include a factual discussion as required by N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.3(c). Accordingly, the Initial Decision was adopted with modification, and the petition was dismissed

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed. The parties did not file exceptions.

This case involves a challenge by petitioner to the Board's determination that his daughter was not the victim of acts of Harassment, Intimidation and Bullying (HIB) pursuant to the Anti-Bullying Bill of Rights Act (Act), N.J.S.A. 18A:37-13 et seq. As the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) did not include a factual discussion, the facts of this matter are summarized as follows.[1] Petitioner filed an HIB report, alleging that his daughter and three other cheerleaders were bullied by the cheerleading coach on December 19 and 23, 2014. (Certification of Beverly MacKay, at ¶4) On December 19, 2014, M.R. sent a text message to the cheerleading coach explaining that she could not attend that night's basketball game due to other plans. Id. at ¶5. The report claimed that the coach responded with a "strong bullying tone" and informed her that she and the other cheerleaders who missed the game were off the team. Ibid. According to M.R.'s statement, she did not attend the game because her friends had planned a holiday party for that night and she did not know that there was a game until a day or two prior. Id. at ¶8. Following the launch of an investigation, the cheerleaders were returned to the team and cheered at the basketball game on December 23, 2014. Id. at ¶10. During half time, M.R. alleges that the coach singled her out – along with the other girls who missed the game – and told the team that he wants his conversations with them to be kept private and not reported to parents. Ibid. M.R. felt fearful that she was becoming a target, and believed the cheerleading team was a hostile environment. Id. at ¶11.

[1] Although the ALJ failed to make factual findings as required by N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.3(c), the Board's statement of material facts is undisputed as the petitioner did not file opposition to the Board's motion for summary decision, nor exceptions to the Initial Decision.

The HIB investigation found that the coach did not commit an act of HIB. Id. at ¶12. The Superintendent affirmed the findings, as the actions were not motivated by a distinguishing characteristic of M.R. Id. at ¶13. At a hearing before the Board, petitioner argued that the school's HIB policy did not require that the HIB action be motivated by an actual or perceived characteristic. Id. at ¶14. The Board found that the version of the HIB policy on the school's website that petitioner had seen was a draft policy which inadvertently omitted a line from the definition. (Certification of Beverly MacKay, Exhibit H) The omission made it appear as though the HIB policy only required that acts be reasonably perceived as being motivated by any actual or perceived characteristic or take place on school property, and substantially disrupt or interfere with the orderly operation of the school or the rights of other students – rather than requiring all of those elements. Accordingly, the Board rejected petitioner's arguments and affirmed the finding of no HIB. Ibid.

Upon a comprehensive review of the record, the Commissioner agrees with the ALJ that the Board did not act in an arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable manner in rendering its HIB determination.[2] There is no evidence in the record – nor did petitioner allege – that the cheerleading coach's alleged actions were motivated by a distinguishing characteristic of M.R.

Instead, petitioner alleges that the HIB policy, as written, does not require that the conduct be motivated by a distinguishing characteristic. The Commissioner finds that the Board was not arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable in determining that – regardless of the phrasing of the draft HIB policy that was inadvertently published on the Board's website – it is a requirement that alleged conduct be motivated by a distinguishing characteristic in order to be considered HIB. Such a requirement is also set forth in the Act:

> "Harassment, intimidation or bullying" means any gesture, any written, verbal or physical act, or any electronic communication, whether it be a single incident or a series of incidents, that is reasonably perceived as being motivated either by any actual or perceived characteristic, such as race, color, religion, ancestry, national origin, gender, sexual orientation, gender identity and expression, or a mental, physical or sensory disability, or by any other distinguishing characteristic, that takes place on school property, at any school-sponsored function, on a school bus, or off school grounds as provided for in section 16 of P.L.2010, c.122 (C.18A:37-15.3), that substantially disrupts or interferes with the orderly operation of the school or the rights of other students and that:
>
> a. a reasonable person should know, under the circumstances, will have the effect of physically or emotionally harming a student or damaging the student's property, or placing a student in reasonable fear of physical or emotional harm to his person or damage to his property;
>
>
> c. creates a hostile educational environment for the student by interfering with a student's education or by severely or pervasively causing physical or emotional harm to the student.
>
> [N.J.S.A. 18A:37-14.]

[2] Although the ALJ included a legal discussion in his Initial Decision, he failed to make conclusions of law as required by N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.3(c).

As the Act clearly sets forth that an action must be motivated by an actual or perceived characteristic in order to be considered HIB, the Board was not arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable in determining that the alleged conduct here did not amount to HIB.

Accordingly, the recommended decision of the ALJ is modified as stated above and the petition of appeal is hereby dismissed.

Stephen R. Fogarty, Esq., for Respondent (Fogarty & Hara, attorneys)

Record Closed: October 3, 2016 Decided: November 7, 2016

BEFORE THOMAS R. BETANCOURT, ALJ

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Petitioners seek a determination that Respondent erred in determining that the minor child M.R. was not the victim of harassment, intimidation, or bullying (HIB) within the meaning of the Anti-Bullying Bill of Rights Act, N.J.S.A. 18A:37-13.2 et seq.

The matter was transferred to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), where it was filed on April 7, 2016, as a contested case. N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15; N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13.

Respondent filed a motion for summary decision on September 13, 2016. Petitioners were ~~offered~~ had until October 3, 2016 to respond but no response was filed. The record closed that day.

ISSUE

Did Respondent err in determining that the minor child M.R. was not the victim of HIB within the meaning of the Anti-Bullying Bill of Rights Act, N.J.S.A. 18A:37-13.2 et seq.

FACTUAL DISCUSSION

The Statement of Undisputed Material Facts, as set forth in Respondent's brief in support of the motion for summary decision are adopted in their entirety and incorporated herein by reference.

LEGAL ANALYSIS AND CONCLUSION

Standard for Summary Decision

A motion for summary decision may be granted if the papers and discovery presented, as well as any affidavits which may have been filed with the application, show that there is no genuine issue of material fact and the moving party is entitled to prevail as a matter of law. N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(b). If the motion is sufficiently supported, the non-moving party must demonstrate by affidavit that there is a genuine issue of fact which can only be determined in an evidentiary proceeding, in order to prevail in such an application. Ibid. These provisions mirror the summary judgment language of R. 4:46-2(c) of the New Jersey Court Rules.

The motion judge must "consider whether the competent evidential materials presented, when viewed in the light most favorable to the non-moving party . . . , are sufficient to permit a rational fact finder to resolve the alleged disputed issue in favor of the non-moving party." Brill v. Guardian Life Ins. Co. of Am., 142 N.J. 520, 523 (1995). And even if the non-moving party comes forward with some evidence, this forum must grant summary decision if the evidence is "so one-sided that [the moving party] must prevail as a matter of law." Id. at 536 (citation omitted).

The Brill standard contemplates that the analysis performed by the trial judge in determining whether to grant summary judgment should comprehend the evidentiary standard to be applied to the case or issue if it went to trial. While it is true that a judge is not to "weigh the evidence and determine the truth of the matter," Brill, supra, 142 N.J.at 540, "there is in this process a kind of weighing that involves a type of evaluation, analysis and sifting of evidential materials." Id. at 536. Thus, a judge is to scrutinize the competent evidential materials presented, in a light most favorable to the non-moving party, and consider whether a rational fact-finder could resolve the disputed issue in favor of the non-moving party. Id. at 540.

When a motion for summary decision is made and supported, the burden shifts to the adverse party to set forth, by affidavit, specific facts showing there is a genuine issue resolvable only by an evidentiary proceeding. N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(b). Given this burden shift, a party opposing a summary-judgment motion "who offers no substantial or material facts in opposition to the motion cannot complain if the court takes as true the uncontradicted facts in the movant's papers." Burlington Cnty. Welfare Bd. v. Stanley, 214 N.J. Super. 615,622 (App. Div. 1987). Failure of the opponent to make such a showing entitles the moving party to summary judgment. Brill, supra, 142 N.J. at 529. The Court's standard for summary judgment is thus designed to "liberalize the standards so as to permit summary judgment in a larger number of cases," due to the perception that we live in "a time of great increase in litigation and one in which many meritless cases are filed." Id. at 539 (citation omitted).

I CONCLUDE there are no genuine issues of material fact and the matter is ripe for summary decision.

Anti-Bullying Bill of Rights Act

The Anti-Bullying Bill of Rights Act (Act), N.J.S.A. 18A:37-13 et seq., is designed "to strengthen the standards and procedures for preventing, reporting, investigating, and responding to incidents of harassment, intimidation, and bullying of students that occur in school and off school premises." N.J.S.A. 18A:37-13.1.(f). Under the Act, "harassment, intimidation or bullying" (HIB) is defined as:

> [A]ny gesture, any written, verbal or physical act, or any electronic communication, whether it be a single incident or a series of incidents, that is reasonably perceived as being motivated either by any actual or perceived characteristic, such as race, color, religion, ancestry, national origin, gender, sexual orientation, gender identity and expression, or a mental, physical or sensory disability, or by any other distinguishing characteristic, that takes place on school property, at any school-sponsored function, on a school bus, or off school grounds as provided for in section 16 of P.L. 2010, c. 122 (C.18A:37-15.3), that substantially disrupts or interferes with the orderly operation of the school or the rights of other students and that:
> a. a reasonable person should know, under the circumstances, will have the effect of physically or emotionally harming a student or damaging the student's property, or placing a student in reasonable fear of physical or emotional harm to his person or damage to his property;
>
>
> c. creates a hostile educational environment for the student by interfering with a student's education or by severely or pervasively causing physical or emotional harm to the student.

[N.J.S.A. 18A:37-14.]

Each school district must adopt a policy that prohibits HIB and provides for a prompt response to any alleged HIB incident. N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15. Once an alleged HIB incident is reported to the school principal, the principal must initiate an investigation within one school day of the report. N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(b)(6). The investigation shall be conducted by a school anti-bullying specialist, and shall take no longer than ten school days to be completed. The results of the investigation shall then be quickly reported to the superintendent of schools, who may take certain remedial action. The results shall also be reported to the board of education "no later than the date of the board of education meeting next following the completion of the investigation, along with information on any services provided, training established, discipline imposed, or other action taken or recommended by the superintendent." Ibid.

Pursuant to the Act, the parents of the students involved in any alleged HIB incident are entitled to receive information about the nature of the investigation and the result of the investigation. The parents may request a hearing before the board, and the hearing must be held within ten days of the request. Any hearing shall be held in executive session to protect the identity of any students involved. The board may hear from the anti-bullying specialist about the incident, recommendations for discipline or services, and any programs instituted to reduce such incidents. The board must issue a decision at the first meeting after its receipt of the investigation report. The board may affirm, reject, or modify the superintendent's decision. The board's decision may be appealed to the Commissioner of Education.

An action by a board of education "is entitled to a presumption of correctness and will not be upset unless there is an affirmative showing that such decision was arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable." Thomas v. Morris Twp. Bd. of Educ., 89 N.J. Super. 327, 332 (App. Div. 1965). Thus, in order to prevail, those challenging an HIB decision made by a board of education "must demonstrate that the Board acted in bad faith, or in utter disregard of the circumstances before it." G.H. & E.H. ex rel. K.H. v. Bd. of Educ. of the Bor. of Franklin Lakes, EDU 13204-13, Initial Decision (February 24, 2014) (citation omitted), adopted, Comm'r (April 10, 2014), <http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/>. Also, a board's decision may be overturned if its determination violates the legislative policies expressed or implied in the governing act. J.A.H. ex rel. C.H. v. Twp. of Pittsgrove Bd. of Educ., EDU 10826-12, Initial Decision (March 11, 2013) (citing Campbell v. Dep't of Civil Serv., 39 N.J. 556, 562 (1963)), adopted, Comm'r (April 25, 2013) <http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/>.

There are reported cases in which HIB determinations by boards of education have been both affirmed and overturned. In R.G.B. v. Vill. of Ridgewood Board of Education, EDU 14213-12, Initial Decision (May 15, 2013), , adopted, Comm'r (June 24, 2013), <http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/>, the ALJ found that the Board did not act in an arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable manner in determining that a student engaged in HIB when he repeatedly called a female student "fat," "fat ass," and "horse." According to the ALJ, such verbal statements satisfied all of the necessary elements under N.J.S.A. 18A:37-14. And, in G.H., supra, the ALJ also upheld a Board's finding that a white student who repeatedly called a black student "Kool-Aid" engaged in HIB. The ALJ found that the "use of the word 'kool-aid' was directed at [the other student] because of his race; insulted and demeaned [the other student]; and . . . interfered with [the other student's] education" because "[u]pset and embarrassed children are not fully available for learning." However, in J.A.H., supra, the Board's finding that an incident in which one student stuffed a crumbled piece of paper down the shirt of another student constituted an act of bullying was overturned as arbitrary, capricious, and unreasonable because the incident was merely a prank that was part of an ongoing, mutual conflict between the two boys and did not "contain the more serious and aggravating elements either 'expressed or implied' under [N.J.S.A. 18A:37-14.]" The ALJ found that the incident was not improperly motivated by a distinguishing characteristic and that the facts "only support[ed] a finding of ordinary student conflicts rather than the more serious behavior of bullying."

Here, the inescapable conclusion is that the Board's HIB determination was correct.

I further CONCLUDE that Respondent's motion for summary decision be GRANTED.

ORDER

It is hereby ORDERED that Respondent's motion for summary decision is GRANTED, and Petitioners' Verified Petition be DISMISSED with prejudice.

This Initial Decision disposes of all issues in controversy in this matter.

I hereby FILE this Initial Decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

The record of this consolidated matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed as have the exceptions filed by H.F. This consolidated matter stems from H.F.'s dispute concerning the February 3, 2015 decision of the Interim Executive County Superintendent (ECS), who concluded: 1) minor child D.F. is not a "homeless child" pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:17-1.1 et seq. and the McKinney-Vento Homeless Education Assistance Act (McKinney-Vento Act), 42 U.S.C. §§ 11431 et seq.; and, therefore 2) D.F. is not entitled to a continuation of his education in the Teaneck School District

(Teaneck).[1] H.F. contends that D.F. does meet the definition of a "homeless child" and, therefore, should be permitted to continue his education in Teaneck. Teaneck is seeking tuition reimbursement and other relief from the Cliffside Park School District (Cliffside) because it maintains that D.F. resides in Cliffside and, as such, Cliffside has the responsibility to provide D.F. with a free and appropriate education. In the Initial Decision, the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) found that the petition of appeal filed by H.F. should be dismissed for failure to comply with the July 12, 2016 discovery Order (July 2016 Order).

Upon a comprehensive review of the record, the Commissioner is in accord with the ALJ's determination – for the reasons stated in the Initial Decision – that the petition of appeal filed by H.F. should be dismissed for failure to comply with the July, 2016 Order. H.F. has inexcusably and blatantly failed to comply with requests for documents and interrogatories properly served on him by the parties, as well as various interim orders issued by the ALJs in these two consolidated cases, to the detriment of the legal process.[2] As was stated by ALJ Scollo, H.F.'s "failure to obey the Tribunal's July 12, 2016 Order is unreasonable, frustrate[s] the orderly process of the case and makes the desired findings of fact regarding whether D.F. is a 'homeless child' impossible to be determine." (Initial Decision at 5) The Commissioner is not persuaded that the exceptions submitted by the H.F. dictate a different result, as the arguments presented by H.F. did not address his failure to comply with the July 2016 Order; rather, H.F. focused his submission on several alleged conspiracy theories. Despite the dismissal of the petition filed by H.F., there appear to be outstanding issues related to the petition filed by Teaneck against Cliffside and H.F. that still must be resolved at the OAL.

[1] The ECS further determined that H.F. and D.F. are presently domiciled in the Borough of Cliffside Park.

[2] The July, 2016 Order expressly provided that if H.F. failed to comply with the discovery requests, his petition would be dismissed.

Notably, it is not entirely clear from the record which district D.F. is currently attending school in, if any, or whether tuition reimbursement is appropriate in this case.

Accordingly the petition of appeal filed by H.F. is hereby dismissed. The petition filed by Teaneck against Cliffside and H.F. shall continue at the OAL with such proceedings as the parties and ALJ deem necessary to bring it to closure.

IT IS SO ORDERED.

BEFORE JOHN P. SCOLLO, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Petitioner H.F. on behalf of his child D.F., appealed a residency decision rendered by the Interim Executive County Superintendent for the Department of Education. The Interim Executive County Superintendent determined that Cliffside Park was responsible to provide D.F. with a free and appropriate public education based upon where D.F. resided nightly for approximately one year and a half prior to the February 2015 determination, rather than in Teaneck, where D.F. had previously resided. The matter was initially transmitted to the OAL as Docket No. EDU 07964-15. Upon remand, it was transmitted to back to the OAL as Docket No. EDU 20234-15.

In OAL Docket No. EDU 09966-15, Teaneck seeks an order declaring that D.F. is or was a resident of Cliffside Park and that Cliffside Park has responsibility to provide D.F. with a free and appropriate public education. OAL Docket No. EDU 20234-15 and OAL Docket No. EDU 09966-15 were consolidated on December 14, 2015.

On March 14, 2016, an in-person pre-hearing conference of the consolidated matters were conducted. Discovery deadlines as to the "Nature of the Proceedings' were memorialized in a Pre-Hearing Order dated March 15, 2016.

The Pre-Hearing Order provided that the parties should exchange documents related solely to the "Nature of Proceedings" by April 18, 2016. It also provided that if any party needed further documentation, they could serve a document demand on or before May 13, 2016, which was to be answered on or before June 6, 2016. The Pre-Hearing Order specified: "Discovery shall close on June 20, 2016."

On June 24, 2016, counsel for the Cliffside Park Board of Education advised that OAL that H.F. on behalf of D.F. had failed to provide all parties with requested documents and answers to interrogatories, which were timely served pursuant to the Pre-Hearing Order. Counsel requested a telephone conference.

A telephone conference was scheduled with the parties for June 30, 2016. On the day of the conference, H.F. advised the OAL that he would be unable to participate in the conference and indicated that he would send a letter with his explanation. No letter was ever received either by the parties or by the OAL, nor was a meritorious reason for the failure to participate provided.

On July 8, 2016, Fogarty & Hara, on behalf of the Cliffside Park Board of Education, wrote to Judge Marose informing her that H.F. had not supplied responses to discovery requests and requested that an order Compelling Discovery be entered. (See copy of July 8, 2016 letter attached hereto) On July 11, 2016, the Machado Law Group, on behalf of the Teaneck Board of Education, wrote to Judge Marose informing her that they had not received H.F.'s discovery responses and that they too were seeking an Order compelling discovery. (See copy of July 11, 2016 letter attached hereto).

On July 12, 2016, Judge Marose issued an Order compelling H.F. to fully comply with outstanding discovery requests before July 29, 2016. (See copy of the July 12, 2016 Order attached hereto). The July 12, 2016 Order further provided that should H.F. fail to comply, the Petition would be dismissed.

On August 19, 2016 the Machado Law Group wrote to Judge Marose with copies to all parties stating (1) that H.F. had not complied with the July 12,2016 Order Compelling Discovery (hereinafter "the July 12, 2016 order"); (2) that in the interim, H.F. filed a request for interlocutory review of Judge Marose's July 12, 2016 Order; and, (3) that Machado Law Group was seeking an Order dismissing H.F.'s Petition pursuant to his failure to comply with the July 12, 2016 Order.

The Uniform Administrative Procedure Rules state:

> The purpose of discovery is to facilitate the disposition of cases by streamlining the hearing and enhancing the likelihood of settlement or withdrawal. These rules are designed to achieve this purpose by giving litigants access > to facts which tend to support or undermine their position or that of their adversary." N.J.A.C. 1:1-10.1(a).

There are sanctions available for a party's failure to comply with the tribunal's Orders, as follows:

> (a) For unreasonable failure to comply with any order of a judge or with any requirements of this chapter, the judge may:
> 1. Dismiss or grant the motion or application;
> 2. Suppress a defense or claim;
> 3. Exclude evidence;
> 4. Order costs or reasonable expenses, including attorney's fees, to be paid to the State of New Jersey or an aggrieved representative or party; or > 5. Take other appropriate case-related action.

In the case at bar, the tribunal will follow the above-cited Procedural Rules.

FINDNGS OF FACT

I FIND that H.F. has not provided discovery in accordance with the Pre-Hearing Order dated March 15, 2016 and has not provided discovery in accordance with the Tribunal's Order dated July 12, 2016. I FIND that H.F. has not filed opposition papers in response to the motion at bar, and that the time for filing opposition papers has expired. I FIND that the movant is not in default of any of its discovery obligations.

LEGAL ANALYSIS AND CONCLUSIONS

I CONCLUDE that H.F. has been afforded reasonable notice to comply with his discovery obligations and that he has failed to comply with the July 12, 2016 Order. I CONCLUDE that H.F.'s failure to supply discovery to the other parties is prejudicial to them.

In his decision dated December 14, 2015, the Commissioner of Education reversed Judge Marose's November 4, 2015 grant of Summary Decision in favor of Teaneck Board of Education; consolidated EDU 07964-15 and EDU 09966-15; and remanded the cases to the OAL for further proceedings, including the rendering of the requisite findings of fact to facilitate a determination as to whether D.F. is a "homeless child" under Federal and state law and regulations.

I CONCLUDE that D.H.'s failure to obey the Tribunal's July 12, 2016 Order is unreasonable, frustrate the orderly process of the case and makes the desired findings of fact regarding whether D.F. is a "homeless child" impossible to determine.

I CONCLUDE that there have been no circumstances-exceptional or otherwise-presented explaining or excusing H.F.'s non-compliance with the July 12, 2016 Order, and I CONCLUDE that good cause exists to dismiss the Petition with prejudice.

ORDER

It is hereby ORDERED that the Motion Dismissing the Petition filed by the Cliffside Park Board of Education is GRANTED WITH PREJUDICE.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

APPEARANCES:

FOR THE PETITIONER
ROBERT TOSTI, ESQ. — COUNSEL FOR PETITIONER

FOR THE RESPONDENT
JOSEPH FUSELLA, ESQ. — COUNSEL FOR RESPONDENT

BACKGROUND

Constance Wiley, hereinafter referred to as the Respondent, was a tenured teaching staff member of the State-Operated School District, City of Newark, hereinafter referred to as the Petitioner, and was assigned as a first-grade teacher. On April 12, 2016, Erskine Glover, Principal of Quitman Street Community Renew School, filed a Notice of Conduct Unbecoming (tenure charge) against the Respondent. That charge was filed pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-11 and N.J.A.C. 6A:3-5.2(a). On or about June 8, 2016, the above charges were served on the Respondent.

On June 8, 2016, Christopher Cerf, Superintendent of the District, filed a Certification of Determination in support of the Tenure Charge filed by Principal Erskine Glover. Superintendent Cerf also determined that, in accordance with N.J.S.A. 18A:7A-39 and N.J.S.A. 18A:6-14, the Respondent is to be suspended without pay for one hundred-twenty (120) days effective June 9, 2016. On that same day the District approved a Resolution in support of the tenure charges.

On June 21, 2016, Robert Tosti, Counsel for the Petitioner, filed the tenure charges with David Hespe, Commissioner of Education. That filing included Notice of Charge, Statement of Evidence in Support of Charge, Supporting Documents, Certification of Determination and Proof of Service.

On June 17, 2016, the Respondent filed an answer to the tenure charges. On July 5, 2016, M. Kathleen Duncan, Director of New Jersey Department of Education's Bureau of Controversies and Disputes, sent a letter to Messrs. Tosti and Fusella (counsel for Respondent) in which she indicated that the "tenure charges and Respondent's answer were reviewed and deemed sufficient, if true, to warrant dismissal or reduction in salary, subject to determination by the arbitrator of Respondent's defenses and any motions which may be filed with the arbitrator." Additionally, Ms. Duncan stated that the arbitrator "shall review those charges brought pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-16 which are not dismissed as a result of a motion – under the preponderance of evidence standard."

Accordingly, on July 5, 2016, the undersigned was appointed arbitrator in the instant matter. Hearings were scheduled for September 19, 21, 2016. At the September 19th hearing the parties entered into settlement discussions, which continued for a period of time. On December 5, 2016, the Respondent signed the stipulation of settlement, and on December 14, 2016, Superintendent Cerf signed that same stipulation, whereby the Respondent resigned her teaching position effective February 1, 2017.

I accept, acknowledge, and agree to the stipulation of settlement and it shall be incorporated into my Award. In view of the Respondent's unilateral resignation, it is my opinion that in accordance with N.J.A.C. 6A:3-5.6 the tenure charges may be considered moot and a review by the Commissioner of Education is unnecessary.[1]

AWARD

Under the auspices of N.J.A.C. 6A:3-5.6 (a), I hereby accept the December 14, 2016, consent settlement entered into evidence by the parties, and Order that the tenure charges filed against Respondent, Constance Wiley , shall be dismissed as moot.

| IN THE MATTER OF TENURE CHARGES OF CONSTANCE WILEYand theSTATE-OPERATED SCHOOL DISTRICT OF THE CITY OF NEWARK | AGENCY REF. NO. ~~91-3/16~~ 171-6/16STIPULATION OF SETTLEMENT |

The State-Operated School District of the City of Newark (the "District"), whose principal office is located at 2 Cedar Street, Newark, New Jersey 07102, and its successors, assigns, officers, employees, agents and representatives (collectively, "School District"), and Constance Wiley, residing at 5 Laurel Avenue, Maplewood, New Jersey 07040 ("Respondent") (collectively, the "Parties") have voluntarily resolved all disputed matters and enter into the following Stipulation of Settlement, which fully disposes of all issues in controversy between them in full and complete settlement of all outstanding issues as detailed below.

WHEREAS Respondent is a tenured teaching staff member employed by the District as a teacher; and

WHEREAS the State District Superintendent of the School District ("Superintendent") certified tenure charges to the Commissioner of Education of the State of New Jersey, captioned In the Matter of Tenure Charges Against Constance Wiley, State-Operated School District of the City of Newark, Essex County ("Tenure Charges"), primarily based upon allegations of a classroom incident on October 7, 2015 at the Quitman Street Community Renew School; and

WHEREAS, the charges were ultimately assigned to Arbitrator Gerard Restaino for hearing; and hearings were begun before him on September 18, 2016; and

WHEREAS, the District is an Abbott District, with stringent budget limitations and due to the uncertainty of the outcome of arbitration the Parties wish to resolve this matter in accordance with the terms set forth herein rather than continue with the arbitration; and

WHEREAS the proposed Stipulation of Settlement is in the best interest of the Parties and the public by establishing certainty of result and it avoids an uncertain conclusion after protracted and costly proceedings at the expense of the public;

NOW, THEREFORE, subject to approval by the Arbitrator, the Parties hereby agree as follows:

1. Upon final approval of the signed Stipulation by the District, the District shall and hereby does withdraw the instant Tenure Charges. The District agrees to not pursue the subject Tenure Charges against Respondent as long as this Stipulation remains in effect and is not voided by any court or administrative agency of competent jurisdiction. In the event the Stipulation is voided, the District retains the right to refile and consider for certification, tenure charges against Respondent, including those tenure charges which have been previously filed against her by the District, and Respondent reserves the right to defend same.

2. In consideration of the withdrawal of the charges, the Respondent Constance Wiley agrees to submit a binding and irrevocable resignation from all employment with the Newark Public Schools, in a form attached hereto as Exhibit A. The resignation is based upon Constance Wiley being returned to the payroll as of September 1, 2016 and thereafter shall continue on a paid administrative leave during which time she shall use her accrued time until February 1, 2017, at which time she intends to retire. Other than her salary payments and medical benefits, Ms. Wiley waives all other payment, benefits or emoluments of employment with the Newark Public Schools.

3. Except as noted above, Respondent waives all claims of any nature against the District with regard to her employment with the District including fees, or other monetary relief, with the exception of workers' compensation claims for the term of her prior employment until the date of this Agreement. This Stipulation is based upon the understanding that Respondent's separation from employment with the District, effective February 1, 2017, will be deemed a voluntary resignation in good standing. Upon inquiry from any third party to authorized employees or representatives of the District, those employee or representatives will provide no information other than to confirm Respondent's employment, position, salary and dates of employment, and state that the reason for her separation from employment was her voluntary resignation.

4. In exchange for the consideration set forth in paragraph 3 above, the sufficiency of which is hereby acknowledged, Respondent hereby waives, releases and discharges any and all claims or rights that she has or may have against the District, the State District Superintendent, its Advisory Board of Education and its Advisory Board members, and any and all other District officers, employees, representatives, agents, successors and assigns (collectively, the "Released Parties") including any claim for attorneys' fees, costs or other monetary relief. This waiver, release and discharge includes, without limitation, any and all actions, claims, and liabilities of whatsoever kind or character, in law or in equity, now known or unknown, suspected or unsuspected, directly or indirectly related to Respondent's employment with the District up to the date of this Agreement. It specifically includes, without limitation, all claims which Respondent may have regarding tenure, withholding of increment, discrimination on any basis, any federal or state civil rights law, any alleged violation of the Age Discrimination in Employment Act, as amended; the Older Worker Benefits Protection Act; Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, as amended; Sections 1981 through 1988 of Title 42 of the United States Code; the Civil Rights Act of 1991; the Equal Pay Act; the Americans with Disabilities Act; the Rehabilitation Act; the Family and Medical Leave Act; the Fair Labor Standards Act; the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974, as amended; the Worker Adjustment and Retraining Notification Act; the National Labor Relations Act; the Fair Credit Reporting Act; the Occupational Safety and Health Act; the Uniformed Services Employment and Reemployment Act; the Employee Polygraph Protection Act; the Immigration Reform Control Act; the retaliation provisions of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002; the False Claims Act; the New Jersey Law Against Discrimination; the New Jersey Conscientious Employee Protection Act; the New Jersey Family Leave Act; the New Jersey Wage and Hour Law; the New Jersey Equal Pay Law; the New Jersey Occupational Safety and Health Law; the New Jersey Smokers' Rights Law; the New Jersey Genetic Privacy Act; the New Jersey Fair Credit Reporting Act; New Jersey Wages and Hours Law, unemployment compensations laws, disability benefits laws, retaliation provisions of the New Jersey Workers' Compensation Law; the United States Constitution, the New Jersey Constitution; and/or any other alleged violation of any federal, state or local law, regulation or ordinance; any claim based on contract, implied contract, collective bargaining agreement, tort law, personal injury, or public policy, having any bearing whatsoever on her employment, including but not limited to any claim for back pay, vacation pay, sick pay, wages, attorneys' fees, costs, and/or future wage loss, except for workers' compensation claims.

5. Notwithstanding the terms of paragraph 9 of this Agreement, it is understood and agreed that the parties are not prohibited from communicating with or participating in any administrative proceeding before the United States Department of Labor, the Equal Employment Opportunity Commissioner, or any other federal, state or local law agency. However, should any entity, agency commission or person file a charge, action, complaint or lawsuit against the District based upon any of the above-released claims in Paragraph 9, Respondent agrees not to seek or accept any resulting relief whatsoever.

6. Notwithstanding the terms of paragraph 3 of this Stipulation, Respondent does not hereby waive any right she may have to workers compensation benefits or pension benefits.

7. To comply with the Older Workers Benefit Protection Act, if applicable, this Stipulation of Settlement advises Respondent of the legal requirements of the Act and fully incorporates the legal requirements by reference into this Stipulation of Settlement. Accordingly, by executing this Stipulation, Respondent acknowledges that she: (i) fully understands the terms and conditions of this Stipulation of Settlement; (ii) has consulted with an attorney to review the Stipulation of Settlement; (iii) specifically waives her right to pursue any current claims she may have under the Age Discrimination in Employment Act; (iv) has been given sufficient time within which to consider this Stipulation of Settlement; and (v) has 7 days from the date of the execution of this Stipulation of Settlement to revoke it. Respondent understands that she may rescind this Agreement within 7 calendar days of signing it, and such rescission must be in writing and delivered to counsel for the District either by hand or by certified mail within the 7 day period.

8. This Agreement shall not constitute a precedent in any matters involving other District employees.

9. This Stipulation, and all of its terms, are and will remain confidential to the maximum extent permitted by law. Respondent is expressly forbidden from discussing this Stipulation with any person, other than her accountant, tax advisor and attorney ("permitted disclosures") and any other individual or entity as necessary to implement the Stipulation or to which it is legally obligated to respond ("legally-required disclosures"). In making any permitted disclosure, Respondent agrees that she will inform the person to whom she is making the permitted disclosure that the existence and substance of this Stipulation, the settlement giving rise to this Stipulation and the sum of money paid pursuant to this Stipulation are to be held strictly confidential to the fullest extent permitted by law. Respondent specifically agrees not to discuss the nature, terms, conditions of this Stipulation with others, any representative of the media, or any past, present, or prospective employee of the District, or its agents or attorneys. Respondent understands that this provision is not a simple recital but is an important, integral part of this Stipulation. The District agrees that it will keep this Stipulation confidential to the extent permitted by law.

10. The Parties each acknowledge that counsel has advised them regarding this Stipulation and that each is signing this Stipulation freely and voluntarily, without duress, coercion or pressure from the other party, with full understanding of its terms and conditions and consents to the terms contained herein.

11. Each signatory to this Stipulation understands, acknowledges and agrees that this Stipulation constitutes the full agreement of the parties and may not be altered, amended, modified, or otherwise changed in any respect whatsoever except by a duly executed writing signed on behalf of both Parties.

12. This Stipulation shall be construed and enforced in accordance with New Jersey law. The Commissioner of Education and/or federal and state courts of the State of New Jersey, as applicable in accordance with such law, shall have exclusive jurisdiction over any dispute arising from, in connection with, or related to this Stipulation.

13. This Stipulation may be executed in counterparts with the same effect as if the signatures hereto and thereto were upon the same instrument. Each counterpart will be deemed an original, which taken together shall constitute a single instrument. Facsimile signatures or signatures in electronic Portable Document Format ("PDF") shall be construed and have the same force and effect as original signatures.

14. This Stipulation or any uncertainty or ambiguity therein shall not be construed against any party, but shall be construed as if both Parties to this Stipulation jointly prepared this Agreement.

15. Each party acknowledges that this is the entire agreement of the Parties concerning the subject matter of the foregoing paragraphs, and that there are no written or oral representations, understandings or agreements directly or indirectly connected with this Stipulation.

16. If any provision of this Stipulation is held by a court of competent jurisdiction or determined under applicable law to be invalid, void, or unenforceable, the remaining provisions will continue and remain in full force and effect.

17. This Stipulation of Settlement is subject to the final approval of the State District Superintendent of the State-operated School District of the City of Newark and will only become effective upon the final approval of the Superintendent. Any disapproval by the Superintendent shall not interfere with the rights of either party to pursue the matter.

18. Additionally, this Stipulation is subject to approval by the Arbitrator pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-5.6(c), and will become effective only upon approval by the Arbitrator. Counsel for the Parties shall jointly request the Arbitrator's approval of this Agreement and each shall take any and all necessary steps to effectuate dismissal of the Tenure Charges.

APPEARANCES

FOR THE SCHOOL DISTRICT

Teresa L. Moore, Esq., Counsel,
Riker Danzig Scherer Hyland Perretti, LLP

FOR THE RESPONDENT

Colin M. Lynch, Esq.,
Zazzali Fagella Nowak Kleinbaum & Friedman, P.C.

BACKGROUND

Notice of Tenure Charges of Inefficiency were served on the Respondent, Danielle Carroll, ("District"), a tenured teacher pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-11 and N.J.S.A. 18A:6-17.3.[1], by the State-Operated School District of the City of Newark on or about August 7, 2015. The Charges were certified by the District and referred to arbitration.

The bases for the tenure charge was that "Respondent has been rated Partially Effective and Ineffective in two consecutive annual summative evaluations as follows:

1) Respondent was rated Partially Effective in her 2013-14 annual summative evaluation;

2) Respondent was rated Ineffective in her 2014-15 annual summative evaluation."

Section 25 or N.J.S.A. 18A:6-17.3 of the TEACHNJ Act requires that in order to bring charges of inefficiency against a tenured teacher, he or she must have had two consecutive annual summative evaluation ratings of either "ineffective," "partially effective," or a combination thereof.

On November 15, 2015, the Respondent filed a Motion to Dismiss the Inefficiency Charge because "Carroll's summative evaluation is fatally flawed and, as a matter of law, may not form the basis of the instant charges."

The Motion was denied without prejudice. In his decision, the Arbitrator wrote:

[1] By letter dated October 14, 2015, the District indicated that it "is willing to proceed at hearing as if the charge had been brought solely on the basis of N.J.S.A. 18A:6-17.3."

"Since both the District's ultimate burden of proving that the tenure charges against Carroll for inefficiency brought, pursuant to Section 25 of the Act based on two consecutive years (2013-14 and 2014-15) of either partially effective or ineffective annual summative ratings were made in accordance with law and the implementing regulations, and the four statutory defenses to the tenure charges as set forth in N.J.S.A. 18A:6-17.2 can only be determined 'on the merits after a hearing and not procedurally without a hearing,' the District's Motion to dismiss must be denied." See I/M/O Tenure Charge of Leonard Yarborough, (Dkt. No. 259-9/15)(Jan. 6, 2016)(Arbitrator Arthur A. Riegel).

"In the event the District either fails to meet its burden or the Respondent establishes that either statutory defense (1) or (4) or both are applicable in the instant case, evidence that the Respondent's 'evaluation failed to adhere substantially to the evaluation process' as a result of the District's omission of a quantitative SGO score, or that such omission constitutes 'arbitrary and capricious' conduct on the District's part, the Arbitrator would be required to determine 'if that fact materially affected the outcome of the evaluation.' N.J.S.A. 18A:16-17.2. A related issue is whether a finding that a deficient SGO score 'materially affected the outcome' of the Respondent's 'evaluation process' is tantamount to a finding that but for her deficient SGO score she would have been rated effective?"

"Considering the remedy proposed by the Respondent of dismissing the tenure charge of inefficiency filed against her by the District based on a partially effective' rating for 2013-14 and an 'ineffective' rating for 2014-15 and 'restoring the Respondent to employment with full back pay, benefits, seniority, and all other emoluments of her position,' the Arbitrator finds that a factual inquiry is necessary to ascertain whether the District substantially complied with the evaluation process."

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Upon referral of the charges, Carroll was on worker's compensation disability leave related to an on-duty injury sustained by her during the course of her employment with the District and was recovering from back surgery.

"Carroll took the position that the hearing could not commence until such time she was cleared to return to work. Ultimately, she was cleared to return to part-time work and Carroll agreed to participate in the hearing which was scheduled for August 15, 2016." (Resp. brief @ 1).

Hearings were conducted on August 15th, August 23rd, August 31st, September 19th, September 27th and October 5th, 2016. The record was closed upon submission of requested documentation by Carroll on October 31, 2016.Over the objection of the Respondent, the District submitted the Certification of Quetzy Rivera dated November 29, 2016. The parties submitted post-hearing briefs dated December 5, 2016.

RESPONDENT'S EMPLOYMENT HISTORY

Respondent has been employed as a teacher by the School District since 2004, and earned tenure in 2007. She holds a standard New Jersey certification as an elementary school teacher. (Tr.@ 968).

For the first seven years that Respondent taught in the Newark Public Schools, she was assigned to Mt. Vernon, Ivy Hill and Speedway Elementary Schools, and she worked full school years. (Tr. @969-970, 982). During the next two years, Respondent taught for only two months. In the 2011-12 school year, she taught at First Avenue School, but in November 2011 she took a leave of absence that lasted for the balance of the school year. Thereafter, she was designated as having "Employee without Placement Status," known as EWPS. EWPS teachers do not occupy a budgeted role at a school; their salaries are budgeted through the School District's central office. (Tr. @504 -505). With EWPS status, Respondent was eligible to apply for open positions and be interviewed for them in the School District. (Tr. @508) In the 2012-13 school year, however, she did not obtain a teaching position; therefore, she reported to the School District's central office (and was paid).

Respondent's Teaching Performance 2013-2014 School Year

For the 2013-14 school year, the District assigned Respondent to Park Elementary School which serves approximately 900 students in pre-Kindergarten through Grade 8. She was assigned during approximately the third week of September 2013, having previously been EWPS and assigned to Human Resources in the District's Main Office.

At first, she worked as "support staff" where she could be used to serve as a substitute teacher or work in the office. When a vacancy opened up, she was assigned as a 2nd grade classroom teacher. (Tr. @ 619, 622). At some point in the fall, prior to November 27, 2013, the Respondent was designated as the permanent teacher. (Tr. @ 10002, 11138). Prior to her designation, the teacher of the class was Nataly Farias. Prior to December 7th, Carroll had conducted instruction in Ms. Farias' class on or about four occasions, three of which as a substitute teacher following Ms. Farias' substitute lesson plans. (Testimony of Respondent). Respondent attended 1-2 grade staff meetings beginning on October 10, 2013. Farias' last day on the payroll was December 6, 2013.

Once a permanent teacher, Carroll developed an Individual Professional Development Plan ("IPDP") for the 2013-14 school years. It was dated December 16, 2013. (D. Ex. #2). Every teacher in NPS is required to have an IPDP that sets forth both student learning and teacher improvement goals for the school year. (D. Ex. #38). Her professional growth plan consisted of the following two areas for improvement, both taken from the framework:

> 3b, "Persistence: ('Students show persistence in confronting demanding concepts and tasks…')."
> 2a, "Tailored Instruction: ('I will tailor instruction to move all students toward mastery')." (Ex. 2, pp. 4-5.)[2]

On or about November 27, 2013, Carroll was observed for evaluation purposes by Chief Information Officer, Terry Emperio. (D. Ex. #3). On the first observation, her teaching performance was rated as "partially effective," but her performance on the other three observations was rated as "effective." However, she did receive a "partially effective" mid-year evaluation, due predominantly to her record of excessive absences and lateness, not her classroom teaching. As

---

[2] Principal Esteves testified that IPDPs are usually developed approximately six weeks after a teacher begins teaching. (Tr. @630) Respondent's IPDP was signed on December 16, 2013, approximately six weeks after she had been assigned as a second grade classroom teacher, approximately late October-early November.

of February 2014, she had been late 48 times and absent on twelve days. (D. Ex. #5 @ 4).

When Respondent's tardiness and absence did not improve after February 2014, she was given several written warnings by Principal Esteves (D. Exs. #20, 21, 22) in accordance with the District's Attendance Improvement Plan ("AIP"). (D. Ex. #44). By May 28, 2014, Carroll had amassed 85 days tardy and 16 days absent. (D. Exs. #8, 39). In total, Respondent took 23 sick and personal days off, and was tardy 95 times in the 2013-14 school year. (D. Ex. 43). As a result, of the 190 teaching days that year, Respondent was present and on time for only 72 of them. (D. Ex. # 43) (Tr.@683).

Eventually, Ms. Esteves referred Carroll to the District's Labor Relations Department for a discipline hearing. (D. Ex. #24). Carroll was disciplined through the imposition of a fine of approximately $1,300.00.

On June 14, 2014, an educator not employed by the School District, known as a "peer validator," observed Respondent teaching an ELA lesson, and provided feedback to Respondent. (Tr. @873). Peer validators are additional forms of support provided to the School District's teachers. Their use has been negotiated in the collective bargaining agreement between Respondent's union and the School District. (Tr. @783-85).

In January 2014, the Respondent sought intermittent Family Medical Leave due to her children's medical conditions, which was approved by the District. (D. Ex. #49).

By the time of Respondent's summative performance evaluation in June 2014, she had only "partially met" the student learning goals that she had set for the year in her IPDP. (D. Ex. #8 @ 6). Her overall performance was rated as "partially effective." Notably, she received an "ineffective" rating on Indicator 5d "attendance and promptness," which resulted in six points being deducted from her overall score. Respondent and Ms. Empiro met on June 2, 2014 to discuss her summative evaluation. The Respondent did not submit a written rebuttal to her summative evaluation, although the framework permits one. Despite that rating, Carroll's subsequent principal testified that Principal Esteves informed him that Carroll was an effective teacher and the only issue involved the tardiness. (Tr. @ 58, 69, 207).

Respondent's Teaching Performance in the 2014-2015 School Year

Following the 2013-14 school year, Carroll was not reassigned to Park, but to the District's Main Office. At first, she had no placement.

Respondent interviewed with the Principal of Miller Street School, Armando Cepero, for a teaching position. Respondent was assigned to Miller Street School by mid-September 2015 and again taught second grade. Miller Street School, like Park Elementary, served students in pre-Kindergarten through Grade 8. There were approximately 540 students, including a significant Spanish-speaking population.

As of October 29, 2013, the Respondent had received a 504 ADA Accommodation, which included a restriction that she be able to use the elevator. (D. Ex. #19). The Respondent discussed her accommodation with Principal Cepero. (Tr. @ 1039). Respondent's 504 Plan for Park Elementary expired at the end of the 2013-14 school year. She may have presented the expired 504 Plan approval letter to Principal Cepero. (Tr. @ 146, 1159-1160). By March 2015, Miller Street School had not received an approved 504 Plan for Respondent. On April 6, Carroll received a 504 Plan approval. (R. Ex. #1). She advised Cepero of her need to use the elevator, which he permitted, and gave her an elevator key.

On several occasions, staff, such as Ms. Peterson, assisted Carroll in escorting her students up and down stairs. On several occasions, her students were left unattended by an adult, for which she received written warnings on March 12th and March 13, 2015. (D. Exs. #26, #27).

At Miller School, Respondent and Principal Cepero developed a Corrective Action Plan ("CAP") to address areas in which the Respondent wanted to improve. (D. Ex. #9).

Notwithstanding Respondent's Third Affirmative Defense to the Inefficiency Charges, namely, "a CAP was developed by the District and imposed upon Carroll without her input, was not tailored to Carroll's deficiencies, contained inadequate steps for Administration to assist in the improvement of her teaching performance, and failed to contain any timeframes or deadlines, among other deficiencies, as mandated by applicable law," Principal Cepero testified that he engaged Carroll in a collaborative goal setting process. He testified that "as the teacher is entering the information and the administrator is entering information (on the Bloomboard computer system where the documents are housed) a minimum of probably three conferences [were held] around this document right here to develop it." (Tr. @ 46) (D. Ex. #9).

She identified as her growth areas "Persistence and Tailored Instruction," the same growth areas she had included in her IPDP the year before at Park Elementary. As in the previous year, she set two learning goals for the 2014-15 school year, one each in English Language Arts ("ELA") and Math. (D. Ex. #9 @ 1-2). The initial goal setting conference on the CAP was held on October 8, 2014. (Tr. @ 46-48). The Respondent did not create the "action steps for administrator" section of the CAP.

Since Carroll taught Second Grade, instructing in both Math and English, her SGOs contained objective data-driven measures of student growth in both of those subject areas.

For Math, on page 2 of Carroll's five-page CAP, the students were given a "baseline" assessment. The baseline assessment was the MIF Pre-Test Numbers to 1,000 which is the district's recommended baseline assessment. Based on this assessment 9 students (60%) performed at or above grade level; 6 students performed below grade level." (D. Ex. #9). Predicated on that baseline assessment, Carroll's Math SGO was specifically established as follows:

> The student growth objective for the above students is for 9 students to maintain mastery and an additional three students to perform at or above grade level. By the mid year (sic) assessment 80% of students will be performing at or above grade level. By the May (sic) 14 students (93%) will be performing at or above grade level in mathematics.

Respondent identified several metrics in her CAP, by which she would measure whether her students met their learning goals in Math, as follows:

o Interim Assessment
o Unit Assessment
o PARCC

In her mid-year review, the metric that would be used to measure student progress in Math was changed and listed as follows: "Math in Focus Assessments."

Respondent identified several metrics in her CAP by which she would measure whether her students met their learning goals in ELA as follows:

o DRA2 ["Diagnostic Reading Assessment"]
o KLA Unit Assessments ["Core Knowledge Language Assessment"]
o Weekly Writing Assessment

"In addition to the Math SGO, the CAP also established an SGO for ELA. Here too, the CAP identifies the students' baseline assessment for measuring growth: 'At the time that the DRA 2 assessment was administered 10 students (59%) performed at the suggested DRA2 performance level of a 16 or above for students entering grade 2. 7 students (41%) fell below the suggested benchmark and therefore are performing below grade level.' (See Exhibit 'A')." Predicated on that baseline assessment, Carroll's ELA SGO was specifically established as follows:

> By June the student growth objective is for the 10 students (59%) that are performing at or above grade level to maintain mastery of their fluency skill in reading. An additional 5 students will join their classmates and be performing on a second grade reading level. This will increase the fall projection of 10 students (59%) to 15 students (88%) of students performing on grade level by the mid year (sic) assessment. The remaining two students who are significantly below grade level will move from a 6 DRA level to a > level 12 demonstrating 33% growth from October to January. At the time of reevaluation I can project that these students will leave second grade performing on second grade level with an improvement rate of 67% from January doubling their growth objective for the year.

According to the Respondent, the foregoing SGOs met the legal requirement under NJTEACH to objectively measure student growth. Section (d) of N.J.S.A. 18A:6-17.3 states that tenure charges filed against an employee alleging inefficiency may only be based on "those evaluations conducted in accordance with the rubric adopted by the board and approved by the commissioner pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-16 et al. The evaluation rubric is governed by another section of the TEACHNJ Act, N.J.S.A. 18A:6-123, which specifies the minimum requirements for its approval. Among other things, the evaluation rubric 'shall' include:

1) four defined annual rating categories for teachers, principals, assistant principals, and vice-principals: ineffective, partially effective, effective, and highly effective;

2) a provision requiring that the rubric be partially based on multiple objective measures of student learning that use student growth from one year's measure to the next year's measure;

3) a provision that allows the district, in grades in which a standardized test is not required, to determine the methods for measuring student growth;

4) a provision that multiple measures of practice and student learning be used in conjunction with professional standards of practice using a comprehensive evaluation process in rating effectiveness with specific measures and implementation processes. Standardized assessments shall be used as a measure of student progress but shall not be the predominant factor in the overall evaluation of a teacher." [emphasis added].

"Evaluation rubrics for all teachers shall include the requirements described in N.J.S.A. 18A:6-123, including, but not limited to... (1) Measures of student achievement pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:10-4.2"; (2) Measures of teacher practice pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:10-4.3 and 4.4. N.J.A.C. 6A:10-4.2 outlines detail the student achievement components, which includes the SGOs, that must be considered as part of a teacher's annual summative evaluations, as was set forth in N.J.A.C. 6A:10-4.1 as follows:

> The student achievement measure shall include the following components...Student growth objective(s), which shall be specific and measurable, based on available student learning data, aligned to Core Curriculum Content Standards, and based on growth and/or achievement... (i) For teachers who teach subjects or grades not covered by the Core Curriculum Content Standards, student growth objectives shall align to standards adopted or endorsed, as applicable, by the State Board. (emphasis added).

Evaluations underlying inefficiency charges brought pursuant to the Act must be at least partially based on objective measures of student performance, commonly referred to as SGOs.

The District's Framework for Effective Teaching policy manual, specifically the "Overview of Evaluation Components" section, instructs teachers and administrators to "start the yearly evaluation process with a goal setting conference which will focus on setting both specific learning goals (sometimes called Student Growth Objectives or SGOs) and professional development goals for the teachers...[which] are captured in the teacher's Individualized Professional Development Plan ('IPDP') or Corrective Action Plan ('CAP'). The policy goes on to define a student learning goal as a 'long-term objective on which the teacher will focus for his/her classes or groups of students. Each objective or focus area should be a skill or behavior critical to the students' success in the course and be aligned to the standards and/or curricular objectives. The goals should be measurable and based on available student learning data.'" (Id. at p. A11) (emphasis added).

Each teacher without a student growth percentile ("SGP") (such as Carroll) shall have at least two (2) SGOs developed by the teacher in conjunction with his or her supervisor or a principal's designee. SGOs "and the criteria for assessing teacher performance based on the objectives shall be determined, recorded and retained by the teacher and his/her supervisor by October 31 of each academic year." N.J.A.C. 6A:10-4.2(e)(4). In calculating Carroll's summative evaluation for the 2014-15 school year, the Respondent asserts that the District was required to include scores from Respondent's SGOs based on specific, measurable and available student learning data.

At the required "mid-year review" of Carroll's CAP, the evaluator, Dr. Kar, found that she had made "significant progress" toward her goals and was "effective" in making progress toward her SGOs. (Resp. brief, Ex. #B).

On page 5 of 10 of Carroll's summative evaluation, the Principal listed only her ELA SGO.

Respondent's summative evaluation for 2014-15 included a rating as to whether her student learning goals/student growth objectives were met. In a section called "Competency 4: Reflecting on the Student Learning Plan," the summative noted that "the finding from this section should relate to the ratings that you assigned to the teacher for Indicator(s) 4d, 4e and 4f." (Petitioner's Statement of Evidence, Ex. #15 @ 4-5). The Evaluator rated Ms. Carroll on Indicators 4d, 4e and 4f, which are subsections of Competency 4, "Student Progress Toward Mastery" as follows:

4d. Partially Effective
4e. Partially Effective
4f. Ineffective

"In addition, the 2014-15 summative includes three questions about student learning goals, and the evaluator gave the following answers to those questions:"

Q. What were the student learning goals set during the creation of the IPDP/CAP, including any revisions made at the mid-year review or after observations?

A. By June the student growth objective is for the 10 students (59%) that are performing at or above grade level to maintain mastery of their fluency skills in reading. An additional 5 students will join their classmates and be performing on a second grade reading level. By the fall 15 students (88%) of students performing on grade level by the mid-year assessment. The remaining two students who are significantly below grade level will move from a 6 DRA to a level 12 demonstrating 33% growth from October to January. At the time of reevaluation I can project that these students will leave second grade performing on second grade level with an improvement rate of 67% from January doubling their growth objective for the year. [This goal was not revised during the course of the school year.]

Q. What progress did students demonstrate specifically around the earning [stet] these student learning goals? Please describe what metrics were used to assess progress of these goals.

A. As demonstrated by formal and informal observations, Ms. Carroll has not met students' learning goals. Below is list:

AIP, PLC's, implementation of professional development, lesson plans, unit plans and yearlong plans, quality of student work samples, gradebook, MIF [Math in Focus] training, CLI training and students responses and feedback.

Q. Overall, did the teacher meet the goals?

A. Did Not Meet Goals.

The mid-year review provides the following clarification regarding the "Math in Focus Assessment" metric:

> Yes. Ms. Carroll is on track to meet the goals that were set. Yes. For the DRA, students demonstrated 38% growth from September to January. Math in Focus Mid-Year Assessment: 72% or 16 students received 70% or above on the math mid-year assessment. Additional work with word problems through modeling and guided practice is necessary, as well as continual review of calendar routines to practice value, rounding, etc.

The Respondent received four formal observations at the Miller Street School: two long announced observations, respectively by Mr. Cepero and Vice Principal Kar on October 22nd and December 8, 2014. (D. Exs. #10, #11). Two short unannounced observations were conducted by Mr. Cepero on March 18th and April 7, 2015. (D. Exs. #13 and #14). For the announced observations, both administrators held pre-and post-observation conferences with Respondent to discuss the lesson that Respondent would teach and what they had observed. (Tr. @ 80-81; 838-40). After the unannounced observations, they conducted post-observation conferences.

Respondent's performance was rated "effective" in one announced observation, "partially effective" in another announced observation, and "ineffective" in two unannounced observations. In addition to formal classroom observations, Miller Street administrators also conducted numerous brief "walkthroughs" to observe her teaching and met with her to coach her. (Tr. @ 83, 93, 833). In addition to coaching, Carroll attended grade level meetings with colleagues. A peer validator observed Respondent teach an ELA lesson and provided feedback. (Tr. @ 871-73).

She received a rating on her 2014-15 midyear evaluation (2/2/2015) of "partially effective." (D. Ex. #12). In the Summary section, Dr. Kar noted, inter alia, that "Ms. Carroll is a second grade teacher with abundant potential to move all her students toward mastery in almost all content areas...In implementing her instructional program, Ms. Carroll needs to be consistent. She needs to ensure that her instructional program is actively implemented daily in all content areas. She should be able to motivate her students and not discourage them about any particular content areas, especially mathematics." In addition to her problems regarding "attendance and promptness" discussed above, Dr. Kar wrote under competency SD: "Ms. Carroll has consistently not been punctual in submitting requested documentation and requirements as they related to student progress. Lesson plans as well as unit plans were delayed or not submitted."

Respondent was rated "ineffective" for her annual summative evaluation dated April 14, 2015. Principal Cepero, relied on non-metrics to assess progress toward the Respondent's student learning goals as set forth in the IPDP/CAP such as "AIP, PLC's implementation of professional development, lesson plans, unit plans, MIF training..." determined that the Respondent "Did not meet goals." (D. Ex. #15).

The Respondent has relied on an undated document showing "Text Level Reading/DRA-2" scores for the fall and mid-year she testified were submitted to Dr. Kar. (R. Ex. #59). "For math, she used the MIF end-of-year assessment. For ELA, the DRA-2 results are provided to the District on a District generated form and recorded by the District for data assessment. (Tr. @ 1061-1065). Carroll testified that there is no comparable form for Math in Focus ("MIF") to the DRA form. According to Carroll, the District collected the year-end MIF assessment. Dr. Kar and Ms. Quetzy Rivera came with a cart and collected the results.[3] (Tr. @ 1077-78). The District has contested this assertion. See Certification of Quetzy Rivera.

The Tenure Charge of Inefficiency

Based on the Respondent's summative evaluations of "partially effective" and "ineffective" for two consecutive years, in June 2015, Principal Cepero recommended to the State District Superintendent that a tenure charge of inefficiency be filed against the Respondent. (D. Ex. #1).

The State District Superintendent reviewed the charge and Respondent's opposition, and determined that the School District had complied with the evaluation process in all respects in the 2013-14 and 2014-15 school years.[4] He also determined that there was probable cause to credit the evidence in support of the charge, and that the charge, if credited, was sufficient to warrant dismissal or reduction in salary. Accordingly, the State District Superintendent certified the charge to the Commissioner of Education pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-17.3 and [3] These materials were produced after the hearing at the request of the Arbitrator. The District submitted the Certification of Ms. Quetzy Rivera, which is opposed by the Respondent.

[4] The State District Superintendent's Determination and Certification were enclosed with the School District's letter to the Commissioner of Education dated September 10, 2015 certifying the charge to the Commissioner of Education.

N.J.S.A. 18A:6-11. Respondent filed an Answer with the Commissioner of Education denying the charge and asserting thirteen "affirmative defenses."

By letter dated October 13, 2015, the Commissioner of Education referred the matter to arbitration, stating:

> [T]he ... tenure charges [stet] have been reviewed pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-17.3c. Upon review, the Commissioner is unable to determine that the evaluation process has not been followed. The arbitrator's decision with regard to those charges [stet] shall be made pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-17.2, subject to determination by the arbitrator of respondent's defenses and any motions which may be filed with the arbitrator.
> The balance of the charges [stet] have been reviewed and deemed sufficient, if true, to warrant dismissal or reduction in salary, subject to determination by the arbitrator of respondent's defenses and any motions which may be filed with the arbitrator .... The arbitrator shall review those charges brought pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-16 – which are not dismissed as the result of a motion – under the preponderance of the evidence standard.

In an email sent to the parties' counsel on October 23, 2015, the Arbitrator directed the School District "to begin its case...pursuant to §25 of TEACHNJ, N.J.S.A. 18A:6-17.3." He was "disinclined to permit the District to proceed on alternative grounds [as stated in the Notice of Charge and in the 10/13/15 letter of the Commissioner designee Kathleen Duncan.]

On November 15, 2015 Respondent moved before the arbitrator for summary decision to dismiss the charge, claiming that her two annual summative evaluations failed to include measures of student academic growth as required by N.J.A.C. 6A:10-4.1 and -4.2, and, thus, the charge was unsupportable. The School District vigorously opposed dismissal by demonstrating how its state-approved performance evaluation rubric included in the NPS Framework incorporated measures of annual student learning goals. In a decision dated March 28, 2016, Arbitrator Robert Simmelkjaer denied the motion without prejudice.

At the request of Respondent, arbitration was delayed almost a year due to her health, during which time she received temporary disability benefits through workers compensation.

CONTENTIONS OF THE PARTIES

District Position

The District, which has the "ultimate burden" of proving the tenure charge of inefficiency against Carroll brought pursuant to Section 25 of the Act, argues that "the tenure charge of inefficiency should be upheld." Considering the Respondent's two annual summative performance evaluations of "partially effective" and then "ineffective" for the 2013-14 and 2014-15 school years respectively, the District delineates the "four limited defenses" available to the Arbitrator pursuant to "this deferential standard of review under TEACHNJ." Assuming arguendo that "the employee demonstrates the existence of any of these four facts, a second analytical step is necessary. The Act requires the arbitrator to determine whether those facts 'materially affected' the outcome of the employee's evaluation. N.J.S.A. 18A:6-17.2(b). If the arbitrator determines that the facts had no such 'material' effect, the arbitrator is required to render a decision in favor of the School District and the employee must be dismissed. The evidence at the hearing demonstrated no factual basis for any of the four defenses in N.J.S.A. 18A:6-17.2(a)."

The District asserts that "[t]he evidence demonstrated that the School District adhered substantially to the evaluation process." In response to "several separate affirmative defenses that amount to a defense that the School District 'failed to adhere substantially' to the evaluation process," the District addressed the claim of "whether the District incorporated measures of student achievement in Respondent's evaluations." TEACHNJ requires that measures of student achievement be used as part of the performance rating of teachers. N.J.S.A. 18A:6-118 N.J.S.A. 18A:6-123(b). See also N.J.A.C. 6A:10-4.2.

The District relies on the testimony of Larisa Shambaugh, Chief Talent Officer for the District, that Competency 4 called "Student Progress Toward Mastery" addresses the student growth/achievement component in Respondent's summative evaluations. The District further argues: "The School District obtained approval from the New Jersey Department of Education to increase the weighting of Competency 4, in the form of approval of an 'equivalency' application that demonstrated how its scoring system complies with the state's requirements for weighting the student achievement component of a teacher's evaluation." (T496-503).

"The overwhelming evidence at hearing demonstrated that the School District did, indeed, incorporate student achievement in Respondent's summative evaluations. At the beginning of each school year at issue, Respondent set student learning goals in math and ELA (English Language Arts) for her second grade students to achieve during the course of the year. (D. Ex. 2@ 2 [IPDP] and D. Ex. 9@ 2 & 4 [CAP]) (Tr. @187). The student learning goals are assessed midyear to determine whether the students are on track to achieve the goals that the teacher set. (D. Ex. 5@ 4 and D. Ex. 12 @ 4). At the end of each school year, part of her summative evaluation included a measure of the extent to which she had met those goals. (D. Ex. 8@6) ["partially met goals"] and D. Ex. 15 @ 5 of 10 ["has not met students' learning goals"]). Whether her student learning goals were met was determined by assessment data that she was advised to provide to her administrators. Her administrators confirmed that they considered student achievement when Respondent's annual summative evaluations were prepared. (Tr. @612,458,489-490, 240; Tr.@ 516-517).

"In support of her position that student learning goals were not part of her evaluations, Respondent may rely in her post-hearing brief on statements of the New Jersey Department of Education that are not statutes or regulations, but that demonstrate one method of setting and measuring student learning goals, or 'student growth objectives.' The Department's statements about measuring student growth objectives look different than the method in the School District's Framework for Effective Teaching. Department of Education statements have no legal authority, and should not be used in lieu of the Department's own approvals of the School District's method of evaluating teachers, including its measures of student academic growth." (D. Exs. 40 & 41.)

With respect to the Respondent's defense that the District "failed to adhere substantially to the evaluation process" because it did not provide Respondent "adequate professional support to improve her teaching at the Park Elementary and Miller Street Schools," the District argues that it "provided numerous forms of support to her, particularly when she was on a corrective action plan in the 2014-15 school year." According to the District, "Carroll was trained in the MIF curriculum, which is highly scripted, and contains all of the materials necessary for a teacher."

"After teaching that curriculum for a year, she received coaching from several math specialists in the following school year at Miller Street School to address her aversion to teaching math. Her administrators walked through her classrooms throughout the year, and from those they gave her informal feedback on her teaching. She had pre-conferences before announced observations in which she and an administrator discussed what she would teach and how, and post-conferences to further discuss the lesson and any improvements needed. While at Miller Street School, she had the opportunity to observe a highly-performing colleague. (Tr. @ 417-418). Grade-level meetings and vertical meetings were held regularly throughout the school year in which ongoing training was provided in effective teaching practice." (Tr. @ 135-136; 414-416; 436-438).

The District further asserts that the Respondent was assisted by the School Improvement Panel, consisting of the principal, vice principal and a teacher. Both Miller Street and Park Elementary Schools had such panels when Respondent taught there. Respondent presented no evidence whatsoever that the panels did not operate as required.

The District refutes the Respondent's third affirmative defense, namely, that the CAP was "imposed on her without her input, was not tailored to her deficiencies, contained inadequate action steps for the administration to assist her and contained no timeliness or deadlines."

"By its terms, the CAP itself refutes her claims: it states that there was a 'goal-setting conference' on October 8, 2014; it was intended for a 'full year'; it contains student learning goals and teacher goals that the Respondent herself chose; and it identifies supports that the administration would provide to her. Respondent signed off on her CAP without reservation." (D. Ex. #9).

The District notes that Respondent was "observed in accordance with regulatory requirements, participated in pre-and post-observation conferences, received coaching from her administrators and informal walkthroughs to provide feedback; and she was provided on-going professional development opportunities to help improve her performance. In both Park Elementary and Miller Street Schools, she received additional feedback from peer validators who were independent of the School District."

The District discerns "No Mistake of Fact that materially affected the outcome of Respondent's two consecutive summative evaluations. Rather, the evidence demonstrated that Respondent's summative evaluation scores in 2013-14 and 2014-15 were based on formal observations of her teachers as well as her professionalism, all scored in accordance with the School District's Framework for Effective Teaching."

"The evidence at the hearing did not show any mistakes of fact, much less any supposed mistakes of fact that 'materially affected' the outcome of the Respondent's summative evaluations.

The District disputes the Respondent's Tenth and Eleventh Affirmative Defenses alleging that the charge was brought because of 'considerations of political affiliation, nepotism, union activity, discrimination as prohibited by state or federal law, or other conduct prohibited by state or federal law, and said retaliation materially affected the outcome of the evaluations.' The Eleventh Affirmative Defense claims that the charge is retaliation for Respondent filing workers' compensation claims using FMLA leave, sought and received reasonable accommodations for her disability, and for participating as a witness in a child welfare investigation of another teacher. None of these asserted bases for dismissing the charge were proven."

With respect to the claim of improper motive due to her participation as a witness in a child welfare investigation of another teacher, "[t]here is no evidence whatsoever that her evaluation was adversely affected because she gave an interview to a child welfare official in an investigation of another Miller Street School Teacher."

Also disputed is the Respondent's claim that the District failed to accommodate her disability. No improper motive was proven, given the Respondent's failure to renew her 504 Plan at Miller Street School until April 2015. The District maintains that from Respondent's delayed approval for a new 504 Plan – particularly in view of the principal's reasonable expectation that she escort her students to and from the cafeteria as part of her job responsibilities, his discovery of her students left unattended (Ex. 26, 27 and 29), her unwillingness to rest on stair landings when escorting them (T1146), and the controversy that resulted from her reliance on other staff to escort her students (T310-313) – that she really did not need an accommodation or that she was neglectful in securing a 504 Plan and preferred to act on her own instead.

The Respondent's Fifth Affirmative Defense, alleging that her "observations and/or evaluations are arbitrary or capricious" is similarly rejected. More specifically, in her answers to interrogatories Respondent contended that the School District failed to provide her with an SGO score as required by applicable law. SGOs, or student growth objectives, are components of teacher's overall performance evaluation. N.J.A.C. 6A: 10-4.2. As discussed fully in Section B above, the School District included in its summative evaluations measures of student achievement, particularly in Competencies 4d, 4e and 4f, and the state Department of Education has approved its method of doing so. Therefore, the School District's method of measuring student academic achievement as part of a teacher's performance rating cannot be found to be arbitrary or capricious."

"As the evidence clearly showed, the charge against Respondent was based on thorough and rational assessments of Respondent's teaching performance by multiple evaluators. The evidence presented at the hearing showed that Respondent's evaluations were, in fact, scored properly according to the School District's State-approved Framework and that they included measures of student learning growth or SGO's."[5]

[5] The District addressed the scoring of Competencies 1 and 3 in the observation of November 27, 2013. For both Competencies 1 and 3 she received two scores of "partially effective" and two scores of "effective" on individual subparts. The framework states that if there is a "tie" in scoring of an even number of indicators,

Finally, the Arbitrator is urged to reject the Respondent's Sixth Affirmative Defense of Failure to apply the Doctrine of Progressive Discipline. This doctrine has no bearing on a tenure charge of inefficiency since "it originated from and is applied in, an entirely different context-jurisprudence involving discipline for an employee whose employment is subject to New Jersey's Civil Service Act, N.J.S.A. 11A-1 et seq. A tenure charge of inefficiency is not a form of discipline; such a charge is the mechanism for removing a teacher from the classroom whose performance has been unsatisfactory, and who has failed to improve their performance...Furthermore, TEACHNJ provides for only one consequence for a proven tenure charge of inefficiency: dismissal of the teacher."

The District concludes that "[s]ince Respondent has not demonstrated a statutory defense to the tenure charge of inefficiency, the tenure charge of inefficiency against her should be upheld, and Respondent should be dismissed from her employment with the State-Operated School District of the City of Newark."

Respondent Position

In its initial point, the Respondent contends that "her summative annual evaluations are legally void for the lack of statutorily mandated student growth the evaluator should use the "preponderance of low-inference evidence" to arrive at a score. (Ex. 38, p. 20; see also definition of "low-inference evidence," (D. Ex. 38 @ 19). Principal Esteves testified that the evaluator must use their judgment, based on the evidence observed, to determine the "preponderance of the evidence" that supports an overall score for a Competency. (Tr. @725). Her testimony was consistent with that of Chief Talent Officer Larisa Shambaugh (Tr. @476,479-483). This policy was applied throughout the School District to reduce discretionary judgments and, thus, cannot be said to be arbitrary and capricious.

objectives and/or scores, and therefore, cannot serve as a basis for inefficiency charges."

The Respondent asserts that her "summative annual evaluation ratings for both 2013-14 and 2014-15 school years contain no SGO scores at all, or if they do, they are not based upon multiple objective measures of student progress as mandated by both statute and regulation."

Referring to the Arbitrator's Interim Decision with respect to "Respondent's Motion to Dismiss," finding that these evaluations are not "objective measures of student growth," the District bore the burden of proving that "it met the statutory mandate to generate a SGO score for a tenured teacher charged with inefficiency."

Considering the evidentiary record adduced at the hearing, the Respondent asserts that "there can be no doubt that for the 2013-14 school year, the District failed to demonstrate that it even understood what an SGO score was, much less demonstrate the existence of any SGOs established at the beginning of the year or any score for Carroll on her progress in meeting her SGOs in her annual summation. With respect to the 2014-15 school year, there is also no doubt that Carroll, with the approval of her Principal established clearly delineated SGOs in both Math and ELA and that they were simply ignored by the District in lieu of apparently subjective criteria or, at best, vague uncorroborated and factually unsupported representations of student progress absent any factual or objective support whatsoever. As such, Carroll's 2013-14 and 2014-15 annual evaluations are substantively and legally deficient and cannot be utilized in support of the instant Charges. Put differently, they are legally void and rendered a nullity such that they cannot be utilized by the District in connection with the instant Charges, requiring their dismissal."

With respect to the 2013-14 school year, the Respondent, in addition to her claim that the IPDP was imposed on her without any input from her, maintains that "it plainly contains no SGOs." (D. Ex. #2 @ 3). The IPDP does seek to establish 'student starting points,' but does not state or articulate what they are. It merely suggests a means of determining such starting points. Likewise, the IPDP asks for 'student end point,' but, again, does not establish what the end points (or 'objectives') are. (Dist. Ex. 2, at p. 3). Perhaps the SGOs are set forth on some other document or form? Not according to Carroll's Principal that year, Esteves. According to her – that year SGOs were not so 'specific.'" (Tr. @ 713). From Principal Esteves' testimony, the Respondent concludes that it corroborates her testimony that "she made no SGOs that year and no input into her IPDP."

Similarly, Carroll maintains that her annual summative evaluation "confirms the absence of any SGOs." (D. Ex. #8). The evaluation inquires, "What student learning goals were set?" (D. Ex. 8, @ 5 of 8). No "goals" as such, however, are described, only a description of those assessments which may potentially be utilized to track student progress. Likewise, the evaluation inquires, "What was the outcome of these goals? Please describe what metrics were used to assess completion of these goals.(Id.). What follows is a recitation of assessments purportedly utilized by Carroll, but no explanation of any outcome. In fact, the evaluation references indicator 4(f), which is ostensibly the section of the evaluation relating to scoring of SGOs, but instead refers to such non-objective, non-student progress centered matters, such as teacher/parent communications, etc."

Notwithstanding the "waiver" obtained by the District for 2014-15 school year, the Respondent notes that the "waiver" was not retroactive to 2013-14 as confirmed by Shambaugh. (Tr. @ 529). Moreover, the "'waiver' did not waive the mandates of the law and regulations with respect to the incorporation of objective measures of student growth into summative evaluations."

The Respondent further maintains that "[t]here is no SGO score in Carroll's Summative Annual Evaluation." Contrary to the testimony of Principal Cepero and documents submitted by him, the Respondent rejects the claim that "MIF training" and the District's "attendance improvement plan" (AIP) were somehow objective measures of student growth.

"In any event, the testimony at hearing was undisputed that Carroll established specific measurable SGO's for both Math and ELA in her CAP. It was also undisputed that her SGOs were established utilizing District approved standardized assessments, the MIF assessments for Math and the DRA-2 for ELA. It is undisputed that as of her mid-year evaluation, Carroll was meeting her SGOs and that she presented the available data necessary to demonstrate that she had done so. Even her Vice Principal, Kar, acknowledged as much during his mid-year evaluation, as well as in his testimony at hearing. So what happened at the end of the year? Did Carroll meet her SGOs? Carroll not only testified that she did so, but provided documentary support for same."

From the Respondent's perspective, "Principal Cepero was, at best, ambivalent about Carroll's SGOs. Kar never reviewed the results of the DRA-2 and MIF assessments upon which Carroll's SGOs were based. Neither did Cepero."

Despite notice of its obligations to produce evidence that Carroll did not meet her SGOs, "[i]nstead what we got was vague subjective innuendo from both Kar and Cepero – that the students did not appear to be progressing, that progress did not align with the assessments, or that they didn't trust the assessments."

Whereas Cepero and Kar, in Respondent's view, "had ample opportunity to validate Carroll's MIF and DRA-2 assessment data if they had any concerns," particularly since "Kar trusted Carroll sufficiently that he had Carroll assess the students of other teachers and provide demonstrations on the subject, at one point describing it as one of her strengths," they did not review her data, which was "openly available at all times on Carroll's data wall." (R. Ex. #73) (Tr. @ 938-939).

According to the Respondent, "[t]he lack of SGO scores render Carroll's Summative Annual substantially void as a matter of law and require dismissal of the charges against her."

In support of its position, the Respondent cites the Legislature's findings regarding the TEACHNJ Act as follows:

a. The goal of this legislation is to raise student achievement by improving instruction through the adoption of evaluations that provide specific feedback to educators, inform the provision of aligned professional development, and inform personnel decisions;

b. The New Jersey Supreme Court has found that a multitude of factors play a vital role in the quality of a child's education, including effectiveness in teaching methods and evaluations. Changing the current evaluation system to focus on improved student outcomes, including objective measures of student growth, is critical to improving teacher effectiveness, raising student achievement, and meeting the objectives of the federal "No Child Left Behind Act of 2001"; and

c. Existing resources from federal, State, and local sources should be used in ways consistent with this law. N.J.S.A. 18A:6-118.

The importance of goals is set forth in N.J.S.A. 18A:6-17.3, noting that tenure charges brought pursuant to Section 25 of the Act must be based on lawfully conducted evaluations as follows:

d. The only evaluations which may be used for purposes of this section are those evaluations conducted in accordance with a rubric adopted by the board and approved by the commissioner pursuant to P.L.2012, c. 26 (C.18A:6-117 et al.).

The Act mandates that evaluation rubrics be "partially based on multiple objective measures of student learning that use student growth from one year's measure to the next year's measure." N.J.S.A. 18A:6-123.

In turn, the DOE's implementing regulations mandate that teacher evaluations include student achievement components:

(a) The components of the teacher evaluation rubric described in this section shall apply to teaching staff members holding the position of teacher and holding a valid and effective standard, provisional, or emergency instructional certificate.

(b) Evaluation rubrics for all teachers shall include the requirements described in N.J.S.A. 18A:6-123, including, but not limited to:

1. Measures of student achievement pursuant to N.JA.C. 6A:10-4.2; and

2. Measures of teacher practice pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:10-4.3 and 4.4.

(c) To earn a summative rating, a teacher shall have a student achievement score, including median student growth percentile and/or student growth objective(s) scores, and a teacher practice score pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:10-4.4.(emphasis added).

Alluding to N.J.A.C. 6A:10-4.1(c), the Respondent notes that "a teacher cannot even earn a summative evaluation rating in the absence of a score...Without an evaluation rating, the District simply does not have the required two years of 'inefficient' or 'partially effective' performance evaluations to pursue charges under Section 25 of the Act. Indeed, N.J.S.A. 18A:6-17.2(d) places the 'ultimate burden' squarely on the District of demonstrating to the arbitrator that the statutory criteria for tenure charges have been met."

Referring to the defenses set forth in N.J.S.A. 18A:6-17.2, the Respondent argues that "defenses (1) and (4) would easily apply to the absence of SGOs. There plainly was no compliance with the 'evaluation process.' Of course, the District's actions were and are also 'arbitrary and capricious.' The substitution of subjective non-metric considerations in allegedly analyzing whether or not Carroll met her SGO's is the very height of arbitrary and capricious conduct – i.e., the District did not like the metrics establish in Carroll's CAP, so it simply thinks it can pick a new one, or none at all. That is not the way the evaluation process is designed to work under the Act and its implementing regulations, and the District knows, or should know, better."

Since "one core purpose of the Act was to infuse teacher evaluation with objective data driven measures of student growth," as noted by the Legislature, the Respondent poses the question: "How could the absence of a SGO score not materially affect the outcome of the evaluation."

The Opinion and Award of Arbitrator Stephen Bluth, Dkt. No. 277-9/15 I/M/O Joel Dawkins (October 21, 2016) is deemed relevant to the instant case as follows:

> As for the CAP itself, I see it did not provide a process for assessing student growth. The requirement for this area requires the evaluator to consider the SGO based on available student data and on growth and/or achievement. However, in this instance I find Principal Williams' testimony unconvincing, as she failed to provide a numerical score for the SGO and did not provide any evidence she factored the SGO into Respondent's score. Accordingly, I determine, during the school year 2014-15, the District committed the same error as did the administration in a different building the previous year; that is, it failed to properly compute a separate score for Respondent based on student growth and, therefore, could not have factored this into his Annual Summative Evaluation. Accordingly, I find that evaluation bears no weight in Respondent's evaluation process. It also constitutes a material error, I determine...without valid SGO's and Annual Summative Evaluations there can be no statutory basis for charges against Respondent. (emphasis added).

In its second point, the Respondent argues that "[t]he District's evaluation of Carroll was arbitrary and capricious in that it is undisputed that Carroll was a de facto effective teacher during the course of the 2013-14 school year." In support of this claim, the Respondent considers the four (4) observations Carroll received during 2013-14, with only the first observation on November 27, 2013 rated "partially effective." According to the Respondent, the November 27, 2013 observation should be "discarded as arbitrary" because "Carroll did not even arrive at Park until approximately the end of September 2013" when she was assigned as "support staff."

The 11/27/13 observation is deemed arbitrary because Carroll was "not assigned to teach the class in which she was observed, she had little to no familiarity with the class, except as a substitute and was not permanently assigned to teach the class until approximately December 7, 2013." Given the absence of any documentation showing when Carroll was actually assigned to teach the class, evidence that Farias was the teacher of record during the period circa October-November 2013 when she gave her 60-day notice of resignation ending December 6, 2013, and dubious reliance by the District on a sign-in sheet dated October 10, 2013 showing that Carroll attended a 2nd grade PLC meeting, the Respondent argues that the November 27, 2013 observation was atypical as "aptly borne out by her three other 'effective' observations occurring during the remainder of the year after she had the opportunity to know her students." Respondent contends that "[p]rior to formally taking over Farias' class on or about December 7th, she had very limited contact with the students, mostly acting as a substitute for other absent teachers, or providing cover for teachers while away from class at PLC meetings."

The Respondent cites arbitration decisions where the observation of teachers have been found to be arbitrary, such as I/M/O Jodi Thompson (Newark), Dkt. Nos. 240-8/14 and 16-1/15 (June 19, 2015) where Arbitrator Brent found the "charges arbitrary, in part, where one of the observations considered occurred on teacher's first day of student contact in the new assignment, undermining the validity of the 2013-14 summative evaluation.

The Respondent also challenges the methodology utilized by the District in weighting her observations, as illustrated by the following chart:

| Competency | 11/13 Observation | 12/13 Observation | Mid-year Evaluation | 3/14 Observation | 5/6 Observation | Final Evaluation |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| 1 | PE | | E | E | E | PE |
| 2 | PE | E | PE | E | | PE |
| 3 | E | | PE | E | E | E |
| 4 | PE | E | PE | E | | PE |
| 5 | | | PE | | | PE |
| | | | PE | | | PE |

"As the above table makes clear, in her final evaluation, Carroll received a partially effective in Competency 1, despite being rated effective in that Competency since her initial observation. She received a partially effective in Competency 2, despite being effective in observations for that Competency since her first observation. She was rated effective for Competency 3. She received a partially effective on Competency 4 but the central component of that Competency, the SGO scores, were never established or scored. And on Competency 5, she received a partially effective."

"Based on her observations, Carroll should have received an effective rating in Competencies 1, 2 and 3. This would give her 9 points. We should also credit her with a highly effective for Competency 4, since she should not be punished for the District's failure to grant an SGO. That would give her 13 points. Even if we leave Competency 5 as partially effective in light of the tardiness issues, and we deduct 2 points for the partially effective, she would still have 11 points necessary for an effective evaluation."

The Respondent claims that she should not have lost 2 points for Competency 5 notwithstanding her tardies. "If we look at her ratings for that Competency in her final evaluation, we can see that she was scored as follows: "5(c) partially effective; 5(b) effective; 5(c) effective; and 5(d) partially effective." Although Respondent concedes the partially effective for 5(d) based on her absences and tardies, she maintains that the 5(a) "commitment to continuous improvement" is erroneous because the narrative of the evaluation contains the following positive assessment:

> As per the Mid-year review, Mrs. Carroll has attended Math & Focus and Literacy workshops and concepts, strategies and techniques to be integrated into second grade students learning in order for students to demonstrate engaged and interest and develop meaning in their learning. She continues to be involved with professional readings, each utilizing various strategies to help students to learn how to read and write. She continues to read strategic segments of The Skillful Teacher and Teach Like a Champion, discussing findings with colleagues at PLC meetings. She collaborates with her colleagues on lesson planning, sharing and creating new strategies to improve students understanding towards mastery. Mrs. Carroll keeps her mind open to new teaching methods by visiting colleague's lessons. (D. Ex. #8 @ 6).

Given this example of "effective" commitment to continuous improvement, which is also listed as an area of strength in the evaluation, Respondent argues that she should have been rated effective for 5(a) and as a result "would have been rated effective in all Indicators except 5(d) and that should have earned her a 'meets expectations,' with no points deducted off her overall score. In that event, she would have far more than enough points to have been deemed 'effective.'"

The Respondent argues that "tenure charges based upon Carroll's tardies and absences during the 2013-14 school year would constitute quadruple-jeopardy and are arbitrary as based solely on the number of absences or tardies" Respondent reviews three mitigating factors that caused Carroll's absences and tardies, namely: illnesses of her children, her father-in-law had become sick with cancer, and a lack of financial resources due to the loss of her home the prior year in the 2012 Hurricane Sandy.

Moreover, the Respondent notes that she received three separate penalties for her tardies and absences: withholding of her salary increment; non-payment or docking for the time she was tardy; and a disciplinary fine of $1,300 on June 13, 2014. (D. Ex. #47). The Respondent cites various cases such as I/M/O Nikita Clarke-Huff (Elizabeth) Dkt. No. 290-9/15 (Nov. 16, 2015) (Arbitrator Moscovitch) ("finding school board could not raise issue of absenteeism where teacher previously disciplined via increment withholding and settlement for the same conduct.")

In its third point, the Respondent argues that "[t]he charges would not have been brought but for considerations of discrimination prohibited by State and federal law or other conduct prohibited by State or federal law."

The Respondent contends that Principal Cepero discriminated against her because she participated in an interview during a DYFS investigation of child abuse and neglect. As a mandated reporter, Carroll was engaged in protected activity either under New Jersey Department of Education regulations or under the Conscientious Employee Protection Act ("CEPA") when she "informed the DYFS investigator that she brought her concerns regarding the teacher, Lynderia Mansfield, to the attention of Cepero, who did not act upon it...Ultimately, the allegations led to the removal of the teacher at issue and Cepero was a witness in that case." See, I/M/O Lynderia Mansfield (Newark), Dkt. No. 64-2/16 (Sept. 26, 2016).

The Respondent further contends that Cepero discriminated against her with respect to "seeking and obtaining a reasonable accommodation for her disability." Referring to the ADA and NJ Law Against Discrimination ("LAD"), Respondent claims that Cepero discriminated and retaliated against her when "she exercised her accommodation – by having other school employees escort her students down and up the stairs to and from lunch, and did so without incident for nearly six months."

According to Respondent, prior to the DYFS interview, she had a positive relationship with Cepero, although rated "partially effective" in her mid-year evaluation in February 2015 by Dr. Kar.. Following the interview, "Cepero began a course of harassment against Carroll for her use of the 504 Accommodation she had obtained from the District and which he had allowed, without any complaint, up to that point." She received several disciplinary memoranda beginning on March 12, 2015 and continuing on March 13, 2015 and March 18, 2015. She obtained an updated 504 Accommodation on April 6, 2015.

The Respondent discerns a nexus between her receipt of an updated accommodation and Cepero's short formal observation on April 7, 2015 wherein she received another rating of "ineffective" in all competencies observed.

Cepero had previously conducted a formal short observation on March 18, 2015 where Carroll was rated "ineffective" on all competencies observed. Given this sequence of events, Respondent poses the query: "How could Carroll's performance have declined so precipitously in the space of just over a single month, since the end of February 2015. Cepero's response on direct examination to this question confirms Respondent's view that her "lawful right to use a reasonable accommodation for her disability" accounted for the transformation as follows:

> What took place was that between her not being in the classroom to attend to students, not walking students to their classes, all those type of things, lunch period, all those kind of things that were her requirements, it wasn't happening. (Tr. @ 125-126).

Since Cepero, based on Respondent's testimony, was aware of her 504 Accommodation from the previous year, fully accepted it and did not request that she review it, the change in attitude "out of the blue – on March 12th, without any prior warning, a situation which had existed without complaint for nearly six months became so intolerable that immediate, aggressive and repeated disciplinary memorandum was necessary. Not so."

"The answer is simple and obvious. His final two observations and his final evaluation of Carroll were a hit job. One was conducted on March 18, 2016, a day his disciplined Carroll in writing for her use of her accommodation. The second was on April 7, the very morning after he received a copy of Carroll's updated and renewed grant of a 504 Accommodation from Homere Breton. That is not a coincidence. The observations were a metaphorical slap in the face. No wonder Carroll may have 'shut down' as he indicated she did in his testimony.

Plainly, Cepero had determined as of March 2015 he was going to terminate Carroll, whether out of anger over her testimony to DYFS during her investigatory interview at the end of February 2015, or for simply abiding by or having the nerve to insist on using her grant of an approved accommodation. Indeed, Cepero notably completed his final summative evaluation of Carroll extremely early in the school year (in April 2015), when over two months remained in the year contrary to the District's Framework and guidance provided by the DOE guidelines."

"Of course, it goes without saying that the discrimination and retaliation evidence by Cepero materially affected the results of her evaluation ... Accordingly, because Carroll's summative evaluation for the 2014-15 school year is at best arbitrary, and at worst, discriminatory and unlawful, the District simply cannot meet its burden of proof necessary to sustain the instant charges."

In its fourth point, the Respondent argues that "Carroll's evaluations for the 2013-14 and 2014-15 school years failed to adhere substantially to the evaluation process." Carroll's 2012-13 IPDP was purportedly "untimely and unilaterally imposed on her without her input and was not individualized to her circumstances." According to Respondent, the IPDP neither created a "goal setting" conference nor was collaborative. The IPDP was untimely issued over 3 months into the school year on December 16th (after Carroll's first observation), was not part of a collaborative process and included no individualized SGOs."

The CAP was also allegedly "imposed on Carroll for the 2014-15 school year, was not individualized to her purported deficiencies and contained no meaningful 'action steps' for administration to assist in the improvement of her performance, nor any timeframes within which they would occur." Respondent's CAP addresses "persistence" and "tailored instruction," rather than issues from the 2013-2014 school year, which entailed "attendance and tardies." The CAP's generic reference to "lesson plans, unit plans, etc." as well as PD and PLCs are deemed insufficient and contrary to the District's Framework which states the "CAP should explicitly articulate actions the administrator will take to directly support the teacher." (D. Ex. #38).

Finally, on this point, Respondent argues that her 2014-15 Annual Summative Evaluation was issued prematurely on April 14, 2015. "Less than a month passed between Carroll's third formal observation on March 18, 2015 and her final observation on April 7, 2015. This schedule is at odds with the District's own Framework which provides for a third observation in January or February and the fourth observation in March. (D. 38 @ A17). With two months left in the school year ending June 30th, the Respondent did not have meaningful time to improve her performance after her fourth observation. Moreover, this annual evaluation ran counter "to guidance developed by the State Board of Education" wherein "a principal is directed to review and evaluate SGO scores (which obviously did not happen here) between May and June of a given school year."

In point five, Respondent refutes Vice Principal Kar's claim that "she informed a classroom of students that she does not like math, or that they do not need to learn math." Carroll also disputes Kar's claim that she spitefully stripped down her room at some point after the mid-year. Kar's later testimony that it may have been toward the end of the year is deemed inconsistent and lacking credibility. "The fact is, it was at the end of the year and Carroll was simply cleaning out her room with the assistance of her husband in light of her back condition." (Tr. @ 1081-85).

Lastly, she takes issue with Kar's March 16, 2015 memo describing her as crying in her room on March 13, 2015. She denies children were present "because they were at lunch." Although she was upset because "Cepero was attacking her for her use of her accommodation, upset and contacting her physician," she denies crying in the classroom. "Carroll cannot fully defend the allegations, because (other than the March 16, 2015 Memorandum) they were not referred to in the charges, the discovery, or referenced in any document, observation or evaluation."

Remedy

As a remedy, the Respondent seeks the dismissal of the Tenure Charges, reinstatement with "appropriate back pay, benefits and seniority. Since Carroll was "only cleared to return to limited part-time duty," but "may be available for full-time duty by the time this award is issued," she maintains that "back pay would include compensation for a part-time position" in accordance with "the District's obligation to accommodate her work-related disability." The Arbitrator could retain jurisdiction over that sole issue, if the parties could not work out a settlement. She also should "receive full benefits" (medical, pension credits and contributions) retroactive to the date of the Certification of the charges."

DISCUSSION

I. Respondent's Summative Evaluation for 2013-14 and 2014-15 are deficient because they lack Statutorily Mandated Student Growth Objectives ("SGOs").

Considering the evidence in its entirety, the Arbitrator is persuaded that the Respondent's 2013-14 and 2014-15 Annual Summative Evaluations are deficient because they either contain no SGO scores at all (2013-14), and to the extent they do contain SGOs (2014-15), they are not based upon multiple objectives measures of student progress as mandated by statute and regulation, including the District's Framework.

In reaching this determination, the Arbitrator reiterates his opinion set forth pursuant to Respondent's Motion to Dismiss based on her 2014-15 Annual Summative Evaluation that the District's "references to metrics used to formulate a SGO are devoid of data or measurable objective information such as standardized tests. Clearly, neither the MIF/ CLI training nor the lesson plans and student work samples measure student growth."

It is undisputed that SGO scores are a mandated and indispensable component of a teacher's Annual Summative Evaluation. As correctly noted by Respondent, a core objective of the TEACHNJ Act was "to focus on improved student outcomes, including objective measures of student growth..."

Since Section (d) of N.J.S.A. 18A:6-17.3 (Section 25) states that tenure charges filed against an employee alleging inefficiency may only be based on "those evaluations conducted in accordance with the rubric adopted by the board and approved by the Commissioner pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-16 et al." and N.J.S.A. 18A:-123, which specifies the minimum requirements for approval, states that the rubric (must) be "partially based on multiple measures of student learning that use student growth from one year's measure to the next year's measure," an annual summative evaluation lacking metrics or SGO scores is fatally flawed.

In addition, the implementing regulations delineate the student achievement components, including SGOs, "which shall be specific and measurable, based on available student learning data...and based on growth and/or achievement." N.J.A.C. 6A:10-4.1.

The District's Framework for Effective Teaching policy manual, specifically the "Overview of Evaluation Components" section, instructs teachers and administrators to "start the yearly evaluation process with a goal setting conference which will focus on setting both specific learning goals (sometimes called Student Growth Objectives or SGOs) and professional development goals for the teachers...[which] are captured in the teacher's Individualized Professional Development Plan ('IPDP') or Corrective Action Plan ('CAP')." The policy goes on to define a student learning goal as a "long-term objective on which the teacher will focus for his/her classes or groups of students. Each objective or focus area should be a skill or behavior critical to the students' success in the course and be aligned to the standards and/or curricular objectives. The goals should be measurable and based on available student learning data." (Id. at p. 11).

Moreover, the DOE's implementing regulations mandate that "[t]o earn a summative rating, a teacher shall have a student achievement score, including median student growth percentile and/or student growth objective(s) scores, and a teacher practice score pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:10-4.4."

The regulations further state that "an evaluation rating may not be provided at all to a teacher in the absence of an SGO score. "[i]f any scores for a teaching staff member's evaluation rubric are not available at the time of the annual summary conference due to pending assessment results, the annual summative rating shall be calculated once all components are available.", See, N.J.A.C. 6A:10-2.4(4)(d).

Given this context, the Arbitrator not only finds that without an SGO Score, Carroll cannot have a valid 2013-14 or 2014-15 Annual Summative Evaluation but also the absence of SGO scores constitutes clear and convincing evidence that the Respondent's evaluation "failed to substantially adhere to the evaluation process." In other words, Annual Summative Evaluations devoid of data-based SGOs in either school year preclude the District from establishing the two consecutive years of "ineffective" or "partially effective" performance evaluations necessary to pursue charges under Section 25 of the Act.

The IPDP for 2013-14 delineates "student starting points" such as "DRA2, ongoing records to show growth, pre and post tests and math in Focus First Grade assessment." The IPDP also indicates "student end points," including the DRA2, Benchmark Assessments and MIF end of the year assessments." Conceivably, some of these points such as the DRA2 and MIF subsume or contain parameters amenable to measurement; however, the objective, measureable elements necessary to establish SGOs lack clarity and specificity.

The testimony of Principal Esteves illustrates the difficulty of identifying the SGOs in the Respondent's 2013-14 IPDP. She testified as follows:

> Q. And does this IPDP identify what Miss Carroll's Student Growth Objectives were for her students in the 13/14 school year?
>
> A. In 13/14, the Student Growth Objectives were less specific than they are in today's current – ...
>
> Q. Are they, Miss Carroll's Student Growth Objectives identified in the IPDP?
>
> THE WITNESS: To my estimation, yes, they're – it's the vehicle that we will be using to assess them is there.
>
> Q. Can you identify – can you point out where they are in that document?
>
> A. Again, so the students would take the DRA. They would establish their starting point. And then at the end of the year, they would end the year with a DRA assessment and we'd have their point.
>
> Q. Do you know what the start points were and the end points were for Mrs. Carroll's students on, say, the DRA for 2013/2014?
> A. Miss Carroll and her supervisor at that point would have those documents and would be able to review how the students begin and how they end. (Tr. @ 714)

According to Esteves, "[w]e necessarily in 2013/14 did not write the actual student scores the way we do more recently as we've come to know based on TEACHNJ and Achieve. More specificity is given to SGOs now than [it] was at the time when that was first introduced this year." (Tr. @ 715). Although the District may have been evolving its practice with respect to SGOs shortly after TEACHNJ was enacted, there is no evidence that the District was excused, for example, from producing pre and post scores for the DRA2 or measurable student growth targets to be included in the Respondent's Summative Evaluation Form. Principal Esteves testified that "Ms. Carroll herself would be producing the scores on the DRA in the beginning of the year and then her assessment at the end of the end. And we'd look for students growth of one year." However, there is no evidence that such assessment took place. (Tr. @ 719).

For its part, the District notes that the "Respondent's IPDP contained student learning goals in English Language Arts and Math. Her professional growth plan consisted of the following two areas for improvement, both taken from the Framework: 3b, "Persistence"; 2a, "Tailored Instruction."

Given this documentation and testimony, the Arbitrator is compelled to find that the Respondent's SGOs – a statutorily mandated component of her annual summative rating for 2013-14 – is deficient for the purpose of sustaining inefficiency charges.

Similarly found defective are the Respondent's SGOs for the 2014-15 school year. As noted in the Arbitrator's decision on the Respondent's Motion to Dismiss the Charges, "MIF training" and the District's "AIP" do not constitute objective measures of student growth. Given evidence that Carroll not only established specific measurable SGOs for both Math and ELA in her CAP, namely MIF assessments for Math and the DRA2 for ELA, but also these measures were acknowledged by Vice Principal Kar in his mid-year evaluation and testimony at the hearing, the District's terse statement in Carroll's Annual Summative Evaluation that "Ms. Carroll has not met student learning goals" is both incomplete and dubious.

Inasmuch as Dr. Kar testified that Respondent in her CAP had set MIF baseline assessment data for her students (i.e., 9 students (60%) performed at or above grade level, 6 students (40%) performed below grade level) and utilized the MIF pre-assessment, post-assessment and unit tests/assessments, and similarly used the DRA-2 assessment to measure ELA progress (i.e., 10 students (59%) performed at the DRA-2 performance level of 16 or above...), the Arbitrator is persuaded that the Miller Street administrators had the means to validate Carroll's MIF and DRA-2 assessment data for her annual summative evaluation. Kar also wrote in the mid-year evaluation that "Yes, Ms. Carroll is on track to meet the goals that were set. Yes, for the DRA students demonstrated 38 percent growth from September to January." (Tr. @ 272).

By accepting Carroll's DRA results and crediting her with making progress toward meeting her SGOs in the mid-year evaluation as delineated in Competency 4f, Kar had the means to follow-up for her summative evaluation. Kar rated Respondent on the DRA measure of student growth (4f) for her mid-year evaluation. Although Kar accepted both her ELA and math assessments at the mid-year for her students as well as had her test the students of other teachers at his request because she was "skilled" in this area, he was uncertain whether Carroll or some other teacher tested Carroll's students in math and reading at the end of the year. (Tr. @ 953-954).

Principal Cepero placed the onus on Carroll for determining whether her students were performing above grade level at the end of the year by using an unidentified standard different from MIF. (Tr. @ 231-232). In the summative evaluation, Cepero found no growth in student performance since the mid-year, and accorded "low inference" to Kar's report.

According to Cepero, the Respondent's DRA data is missing from her summative evaluation because "Ms. Carroll failed to share her DRA results and therefore I could not determine whether her students met their performance goals. (Tr. @ 350). She established the DRA in the system, but she never provided that information to me." (Tr. @ 354). Despite Cepero's acknowledgement that as Principal he was responsible for "making sure teachers record the data they are supposed to record," she did not provide him with the data for math and he was uncertain as to whether she recorded it in the District's computer system. (Tr. @ 361).

It is noteworthy that since Principal Cepero issued the Respondent's Annual Summative Evaluation in April 2015 – at least one month earlier than the Framework recommends -- without the requisite SGO data, an inference can be drawn that he did not intend to include SGOs in the Respondent's premature summative rating. Given the regulation that "an evaluation rating may not be provided at all to a teacher in the absence of an SGO score," this action is deemed arbitrary and capricious. See, N.J.A.C. 6A:10-2.4(4)(d).

In the Arbitrator's opinion, the Miller School Administration, having confirmed Carroll's SGOs for both Math and ELA in her CAP, namely MIF assessments for Math and the DRA-2 for ELA, and having reinforced those SGOs during her mid-year evaluation in February 2015 via Competency 4(f) as "making significant progress" and "reflect[ing] growth," had an affirmative obligation to document any deficiencies Carroll had in meeting her SGOs since the mid-year evaluation. Rather than provide a perfunctory statement that Carroll "Did not meet goals" and refer to teacher programs/activities that did not constitute the requisite "metrics," the Miller School Administration had an obligation to confirm or reject her SGO results. Instead, they circumvented their Statutory and Framework responsibility to review the results of the DRA-2 and MIF assessments upon which Carroll's SGOs, and ultimately her summative evaluation, would be based.

Before rating the Respondent as "ineffective" on her SGOS and "ineffective" overall on her summative evaluation, Miller School administrators had an obligation to assess her students' growth using the metrics she had initially provided, Vice Principal Kar had deemed satisfactory, and the Respondent had made available in her classroom rather than wait for her to submit the documentation to Cepero, Kar or Rivera. Had Principal Cepero established a procedure for submitting SGO data that placed the onus for delivery on the Respondent, her non-compliance should have been documented or even subject to discipline.

Notwithstanding the testimony of the District's Chief Talent Officer, Larisa Shambaugh, that the District had obtained a waiver approving its "equivalency application" for the 2014-15 school year that enabled it to place student growth objectives or student learning objectives in competencies 4d, 4e and particularly 4f, there is no evidence that the District's mandate to incorporate SGOs in the summative evaluation were also waived. As Shambaugh testified: "An administrator must utilize the evidence specifically around the teacher's progress in meeting the student learning goals that were set in the IPDP or CAP" and factor this evidence into the "mid-year evaluation as well as the summative." She further testified that "4d, 4e and 4f reflect both the process for setting SGOs" and "the progress that they set goals, which is in 4f." (Tr. @ 488-489).

In the Arbitrator's opinion, the District's omission of measurable objective SGOs for the 2013-14 and 2014-15 school years rendered its summative evaluations of the Respondent void as a matter of law and provided a preponderance of evidence in support of her statutory defense that the Respondent's evaluation "failed to adhere substantially to the evaluation process."

The Arbitrator further finds that the absence of Carroll's SGO scores materially affected the outcome of her evaluations, particularly the 2014-15 evaluation where she received an overall score of seven (7) points placing her in the ineffective category. Conceivably, the Respondent could have been rated partially ineffective for 2013-14 anyway because six (6) points were deducted from her overall score on Indicator 5d "attendance and promptness," although she was otherwise rated effective on her teacher performance. However, the deduction of six (6) points on Competency 4f for 2014-15, with the SGOs calculated at 20% of the teachers' overall score, adversely impacted the Respondent's annual rating. Since the meeting or exceeding of the teachers' SGOs as measures on Competency 4 is inextricably connected to the summative rating and, in turn, constitutes a 20% factor in determining their summative score, the District's failure to properly evaluate the Respondent's SGOs invalidated the annual summative evaluation.

The Arbitrator further finds that the deficiency in determining the Respondent's SGOs was arbitrary and capricious. The substitution of non-metric considerations in the 2013-14 summative evaluation and the omission of any SGO score for 2014-15 was arbitrary. As noted above, the factors utilized by the District in 2014-15 such as AIP and MIF training deviated from the metrics set forth in the Respondent's CAP, namely the MIF and DRA-2, that were validated during the mid-year but not addressed in the summative. The failure of the District to review the Respondent's metrics yet rate her ineffective with respect to her SGOs was not only a material error that failed to adhere substantially to the evaluation process, it was also constituted arbitrary and capricious action on the District's part.

The Arbitrator, having found that the District failed to incorporate multiple objective measures of student growth or SGOs into either the Respondent's 2013-14 or 2014-15 summative evaluations, further finds that the District not only did not meet its statutory obligation to include SGOs as part of the Respondent's annual summative evaluations as required by N.J.A.C. 6A:10-4.1, supra, but it also failed to meet its "ultimate burden of demonstrating to the Arbitrator that the statutory criteria for tenure charges have been met."

Accordingly, the District, in the absence of two lawfully conducted summative evaluations, cannot sustain its charges of inefficiency pursuant to Section 25 of the TEACHNJ Act, N.J.S.A. 18A:6-17.3 based on two consecutive years of "ineffective" and/or "partially effective" performance.

II. Respondent's Claim that the District's Evaluation of her was arbitrary and capricious because she purportedly was a defacto effective teacher for the 2013-14 school year

The crux of the Respondent's claim is that her first observation on November 27, 2013 where she was rated as "partially effective" should be disregarded as arbitrary. While the Arbitrator concurs with the Respondent that her first observation in the 2013-14 school year was premature and probably unfair because she had recently been assigned to the class, was unfamiliar with the students except as an occasional substitute, and had not taught in the 2012-13 school year, her "partially effective" rating was due in large part to her excessive absences and tardiness.

Unlike the cases cited by the Respondent where observations have been found to be arbitrary after teachers have returned from extended leave, the Respondent's absences and tardiness, even excluding her November 27, 2013 observation, rendered her "ineffective" as an instructor who provided a continuous quality educational experience for her students. Clearly, her attendance as of May 28, 2014, 85 days tardy and 16 days absent, negate any reasonable claim to effective performance. Although Respondent was rated "effective" on three subsequent observations, her record of excess absence/tardiness disrupted her teaching practice and warranted the "partially effective" rating.

Moreover, the Arbitrator rejects the Respondent's claim of quadruple jeopardy predicated on the Respondent's attendance. There is no evidence that the District brought the Section 25 inefficiency charge because of the Respondent's absence/tardiness, but rather in assessing her entire two-year record of performance properly considered her "attendance and promptness," which is specifically identified as a competency in 5(d) of the 2013-14 summative evaluation. As the District correctly notes, had it had intended to bring inefficiency charges based on excessive absence/tardiness alone, it had the capacity to do this at the end of the 2013-14 school year.

The Arbitrator dismisses the Respondent's claim that her observation performances in 2013-14 were not properly weighted. The Respondent has recalculated the Respondent's observations for all five (5) competencies, changed the deduction for attendance in Competency 5 from 6 points to 2 points, and concluded that, based on her favorable revisions, she should have been rated effective. As the District correctly notes, "TEACHNJ expressly prohibits the arbitrator from second-guessing the evaluator's determination regarding the quality of a teacher's classroom performance." N.J.S.A. 18A:6-17.2(c). This prohibition extends to the evaluator's judgment regarding the scoring of ties between the sub-parts of a competency. As Principal Esteves, corroborated by Chief Talent Officer Shambaugh, testified, the evaluator has the discretion to determine the "preponderance of the evidence" that supports an overall score for a competency (i.e., "What is going to be driving the most amount of student learning across those competencies?") (Tr. @ 480, 725).

III. The Respondent's claims of discrimination

The Respondent alleged but did not prove that her participation in a February 2014 DYFS interview in Cepero's presence concerning allegations of abuse or neglect of students by another teacher was the impetus for her subsequent negative classroom observations. She reported to the interviewer that she had brought the situation to Cepero's attention, yet he had nothing. According to Carroll, harassment concerning her use of the 504 Accommodation, specifically the disciplinary memoranda of March 12, 13 and 18, 2015 began after and resulted from the DYFS interview.

In the Arbitrator's opinion, the Respondent failed to establish a nexus between the DYFS interview and her 504 Accommodation issue. Inasmuch as the Respondent did not have a valid 504 Accommodation renewal as of February 2014 and did not obtain one until April 7th, she cannot reasonably claim that Principal Cepero discriminated against her. While the evidence indicates that prior to March 2015 she was provided the functional equivalent of her 2013-14 504 Accommodation, which entailed relief from walking down the stairs, the use of the school's elevator, and assistance from other school employees in escorting her students up and down stairs and to lunch, this support exceeded the letter of her 504 Accommodation, which was limited to elevator access and was "provided to you as long as it does not interfere with your assignment."

Clearly, the Respondent, notwithstanding voluntary assistance she had received from other teachers in transporting her students, was not permitted to leave them unescorted – a subject that the April 23, 2015 memo addressed (i.e.

"You continue, daily, to not escort your students to and from the cafeteria"). (D. Ex. #30). The principal had an obligation to ensure the safety of the students in Respondent's class and avoid an undue burden on the staff.

On this record, the Arbitrator cannot sustain the Respondent's claim of discrimination based on her 504 Accommodation. There is no evidence that the charges would not have been brought but for considerations of discrimination because the Respondent was rated "partially effective" in 2013-14 and "ineffective" in 2014-15 and pursuant to TEACHNJ Section 25, the District was required to file inefficiency charges.

IV. 2013-14 IPDP

The Arbitrator does not sustain the Respondent's claim that her 2013-14 was unilaterally imposed on her without her input. Since the Respondent was not assigned as a permanent teacher until after approximately six weeks of the semester had elapsed, her IPDP was developed on December 16, 2013. She signed off on two areas of improvement for her professional growth plan, namely "persistence" and "tailored instruction." The record indicates that Carroll and her supervisor, Ms. Empirio, collaborated on her student growth objectives designated, "start points/end points" for 2013-14 using, inter alia, the DRA – albeit lacking specificity with respect to SGOs. The Arbitrator discerns no reason to infer that the Respondent lacked the opportunity to revise her IPDP.

On her Mid-Year Review, specifically in the section "Revisiting the Student Learning Plan," she is reported to be making progress toward meeting the targeted objectives outlined in her IPDP "centered around writing," with a focus on math. (D. Ex. #5). Here again, the Respondent signed off without any additions or subtractions. The Respondent's vague recollection about her role in developing the IPDP cannot suffice as preponderant evidence in support of this claim. (Tr. @ 1010-1013).

Accordingly, Respondent's IPDP claim is dismissed.

V. 2014-2015 CAP

The evidentiary record indicates that the same teacher growth areas set forth in the Respondent's IPDP, namely 3b, "persistence" and 4a "tailored instruction" were also incorporated into her CAP. Principal Cepero recalled "dialoguing" with Carroll regarding these teacher growth areas. A goal setting conference was held on October 8, 2014, at which time Cepero and Carroll were expected to collaborate on developing a CAP "tailored for teachers who require additional support."

In addition to her SGOs, which she admittedly prepared, the Respondent maintains that her CAP was not individualized for her deficiencies. This aspect of the CAP was problematic because, but for the Respondent's absences and tardies in 2013-14, she would have been rated effective. The Arbitrator concurs with Respondent in finding that the "action steps" for administration to assist were generic as opposed to indicating the specific help that the administration would provide. Given evidence that Carroll provided the student learning goals, the assessment metrics for ELA and Math as well as reiterated (or at least did not object to) the teacher growth objectives, the Arbitrator is not persuaded that she passively conceded to a CAP developed exclusively by the administration.

Since the action steps for the teacher growth are virtually identical in the IPDP (i.e., "I will use the first weeks of school to teach routines, procedures and expectation of how to work independently and use resources in the classroom to help them complete their assignment"), it strains credulity to propose that Carroll was an inactive bystander during the entire CAP development process. (D. Ex. #2 @ 4; D. Ex. #9 @ 4).

Inasmuch as her retention as a tenured teacher depended upon fulfillment of the goals and objectives, student and teacher, set forth in the CAP and she knew or should have known that she could make changes to meet her individual needs, the Arbitrator is disinclined to place the sole burden on the administration in a "collaborative process." On balance, the Arbitrator finds that, despite some procedural irregularities, the District substantially complied with the CAP protocol.

Accordingly, the Respondent's CAP claim is dismissed.

Finally, the Arbitrator concurs with Respondent that Carroll's 2014-15 Summative Evaluation was issued prematurely on April 14, 2015 – at least a month earlier than the State and District guidelines suggest. In contrast, Carroll's 2013-14 Annual Summative Evaluation was issued on May 28, 2014. However, there is no evidence that one (1) additional observation would have changed the outcome. Therefore, this technical deviation from practice does not rise to the level of a statutory material error in the evaluation process.

VI. Other Claims

With respect to other allegations made by the District and disputed by the Respondent, the Arbitrator expresses no opinion as they were not the subject of the inefficiency charge.

VII. Conclusion

For the reasons set forth above, the Respondent's Summative Annual Evaluations for 2013-14 and 2014-15 are legally void due to their lack of statutorily mandated student growth objectives (SGOs). The District's evaluation of the Respondent "failed to adhere substantially to the evaluation process" and this deviation from the statutorily mandated procedures and regulations materially affected the outcome of her evaluation pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-17.2(b). As such, these evaluations cannot serve as the basis for inefficiency charges pursuant to Section 25 of the TEACHNJ Act, N.J.S.A. 18A:6-17.3.

Accordingly, the tenure charge of inefficiency filed by the State-Operated School District of the City of Newark, County of Essex, Dkt. No. 261-9/15, is dismissed.

Remedy

As a remedy, the Respondent, Danielle Carroll, shall be reinstated to her position as an elementary school teacher with the State-Operated School District of the City of Newark, effective immediately. She is further awarded appropriate back pay for the period she was medically able to return to work on a full-time basis – less Worker's Compensation payments. She shall also receive commensurate benefits (medical, pension credits and contributions) retroactive to the date of the Certification of the Charges.

The Arbitrator will retain jurisdiction sine die to address any issues that may arise in the interpretation or implementation of the remedy portion of this award, including the compensatory effect of the Respondent's current availability on a limited part-time basis until such time that she is medically cleared to return to full duty.

NOW THEREFORE, as the duly selected Arbitrator, having heard the evidence presented, I hereby issue the following:

AWARD

(1) The District failed to adhere substantially to the evaluation process and engaged in actions that were arbitrary and capricious, which materially affected the outcome of the Respondent's summative annual evaluation, when it did not include statutorily mandated student growth objectives (SGOs) based on multiple objective measures of student progress in either Respondent's 2013-14 or 2014-15 summative annual evaluation.

(2) Pursuant to the TEACHNJ Statute, the Respondent, Danielle Carroll, shall be reinstated to her position as a teacher with the State-Operated School District of the City of Newark.
