A big thank you to United Airlines for being the travel sponsor of the New Jersey Economic Mission to India! ✈️

United's commitment to excellence is evident, especially after celebrating its best operational summer ever at Newark Liberty International Airport. With over 6 million passengers flying on-time through Newark this ogy hub — with Hyderabad at the forefront of IT, life sciences, biotechnology, and pharmaceuticals — mirrors New Jersey’s own strengths.

Together, we can open new doors for New Jersey-based companies to thrive on a global stage.

New Jersey and India are natural partners — two innovation-driven regions shaping the future of technology, health care, and beyond.

The results speak for themselves:

New Jersey is home to 211 Indian companies — the most of any U.S. state — spanning life sciences, technology, logistics, and more.

In just the first quarter of 2025,

PHARMA LTD — A brand-new 170,000 sq. ft. warehouse in East Windsor.

Biocon — A new manufacturing facility in Cranbury.

These investments highlight the strength of New Jersey and India's partnership — and the payoff of Governor Phil Murphy's leadership and Choose New Jersey, Inc.'s global outreach.

As we set off on the New Jersey Economic Mission to India, we're excited to build on this momentum and continue opening new doors for innovation, growth, and collaboration.

Did you know?

👉 New Jersey proudly has the second-largest Indian-born population in the U.S.

👉 We're also home to the fourth-largest population of people of Indian origin.

From festivals that light up the streets to businesses that fuel our economy, New Jersey is home to some of America's most vibrant Indian communities. We can't wait to head back to India in September for the #NJIndiaMission2025.

India Square in Jersey City isn't just a neighborhood—it's a vibrant cultural community that hundreds of Indians call home.

☀️ Before we embark on the #NJIndiaMission2025 in September, we're highlighting Indian communities in New Jersey, including Jersey City's bustling India Square.

Home to one of the highest concentrations of Asian Indians in the Western Hemisphere, this pedestrian-friendly stretch of Newark Avenue is alive with tradition. Residents come together to celebrate festivals like Navratri, nities in New Jersey!

Robbinsville is home to the largest active Hindu temple in the world, the stunning BAPS Swaminarayan Akshardham. This newly built mandir is open to the public and completely free of charge, welcoming visitors from all walks of life to experience its beauty, peace, and inspiration. Mercer County truly blends opportunity with culture, making it a standout destination for Indian families seeking a vibrant and well-rounded community.
