Record Closed: December 6, 2004 Decided: December 6, 2004

BEFORE JESSE H. STRAUSS, ALJ:

The matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) on October 26, 2004 for determination as a contested case. A hearing was scheduled for November 16, 2004.

On the date of the hearing the parties were able to resolve the matter and submitted the attached Settlement Agreement. On December 6, 2004, the parties submitted the attached Board resolution approving the Settlement Agreement. Having reviewed the record and the settlement terms, I FIND:

1. The parties have voluntarily agreed to the settlement as evidenced by the signature of the parties and/or signatures of their representatives.

2. The settlement fully disposes of all issues in controversy and is consistent with the law.

I CONCLUDE that this agreement meets the requirements of N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1 and that the settlement should be approved. I approve the settlement and, therefore, ORDER that the parties comply with the settlement terms and that these proceedings be concluded.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

WHEREAS, this matter was brought before the court by emergent application of the Petitioner, D.W., and the Respondent, Belleville Board of Education, having filed an Answer and Counterclaim and a Motion for Summary Disposition, and this matter having been set down for a hearing on November 16, 2004, and the parties having reached a settlement to amicably adjust their differences as follows:

1. D.W. shall pay the Belleville Board of Education the sum of $1,196.00 beginning on December 1, 2004 and continuing on the first day of each month thereafter through June 1, 2005 in payments of tuition of eight thousand three hundred and seventy two dollars ($8,372.00) for the 2004-2005 school year so that her daughter, S.W., may continue to attend the Belleville High School during this, her senior year.

2. Petitioner acknowledges that neither she or her daughter, S.W., reside in the Township of Belleville and that they have not resided in Belleville since the beginning of the 2004-2005 school year.

3. In the event payment is not received by the Belleville Board of Education at 102 Passaic Avenue, Belleville, New Jersey 07109 on or before the first day of each month (with a four day grace period) for the remainder of the school year, S.W. shall be disenrolled from the Belleville Public Schools immediately. D.W. waives her right to file for relief from such disenrollment.

4. This Agreement pertains to the 2004-2005 school year and the claims which were or could have been brought in this action.

5. The Petitioner, of course, may pay tuition in advance.

6. The parties hereby release each other from any claims which were or could have ben asserted in this action, except as set forth in this Agreement.

7. Nothing in this Agreement shall be construed as absolving S.W. from meeting all requirements of the Belleville Public Schools to graduate.

8. This Agreement is subject to Board approval.

SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT AND RELEASE

2004 NOV 24 A 10:12

WHEREAS, Robert Natiello ("Petitioner") has made certain claims against the Paramus Board of Education ("Paramus" "Board" or "Respondent") in two separate Actions entitled "Robert Natiello v. Borough of Paramus Board of Education," filed in the Office of Administrative Law and transferred to the Department of Education, bearing Docket Nos. EDUOR-01801-2004N (for the 2003-2004 increment withholding) and EDUOR-05901-2004N (for the 2004-2005 increment withholding) (collectively the "Claims"); and

WHEREAS, Petitioner and Respondent desire to reach an amicable and final resolution of all claims of Petitioner against Respondent, its employees, agents, representatives and board members, divisions, affiliated entities and their present and former employees, agents, representatives, and board members and the agents, successors, assignees, trustees, heirs, administrators, executors, representatives and principals thereof (hereinafter referred to as "Releasees");

NOW, THEREFORE, in consideration of the obligations upon Petitioner and Respondent set forth in this Settlement Agreement and Release (the "Agreement"), and in full settlement of such claims, Petitioner and Respondent agree as follows:

1. Without admitting any liability or wrongdoing whatsoever, Paramus agrees to:

(a) Restore Petitioner's salary increments which were withheld for the 2003-2004 and 2004-2005 school years. Specifically, the Board shall pay Petitioner the sum of two thousand twenty-nine dollars and zero cents ($2,029.00), less applicable federal, state, and local withholdings and deductions, to reinstate Petitioner's increment for the 2003-2004 school year. In addition, the Board shall provide Petitioner with the appropriate salary for the 2004-2005 school year as if the increment withholdings had not occurred. Specifically, pursuant to the

Collective Bargaining Agreement between the Paramus Education Association and the Board, Petitioner's salary for the 2004-2005 school year shall be $80,720.00; (his salary shall include the base salary provided in the collective bargaining agreement for his years of service in the district and any applicable advanced education and longevity supplement provided in the agreement for the 2004-2005 school year) and

(b) To provide Petitioner with the pension credits for the salary he would have received if the withholding did not occur for the 2003-2004 school year and to make appropriate pension contributions for the 2004-2005 school year based on Petitioner's salary as set forth above; and

(c) To employ Petitioner as a permanent substitute for the 2004-2005 school year at the salary set forth above and with those benefits provided to full-time teaching staff members employed by the Board. Petitioner understands that he may be assigned to any school in the District at Respondent's discretion and shall work in accordance with the schedule for that school building.

2. The consideration set forth in paragraph 1 is being provided in full settlement of any and all claims Petitioner may have against Respondent and Releasees relating to his employment with the Paramus Board of Education, including any attorneys' fees he claims he incurred.

3. In exchange for the consideration set forth in paragraph 1, and other promises contained herein, Petitioner further agrees as follows:

(a) To tender his resignation effective June 30, 2005 and, simultaneous with the execution of this Agreement, to provide the Board with an irrevocable letter of resignation effective on June 30, 2005, subject to the full performance of the terms of this settlement agreement.

(b) To immediately dismiss with prejudice the Claims against Respondent. Petitioner hereby warrants, represents and certifies that he has not filed or instituted, jointly or individually (and no person or agency has filed or instituted on his behalf), any other complaints, suits, actions, charges, grievances, claims and/or proceedings against Respondent or Releasees in any forum including, but not limited to, the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, the New Jersey Division on Civil Rights, the United States Department of Labor, the New Jersey Department of Labor, the New Jersey Public Employment Relations Commission or any other state or federal court or agency; and and/or any other federal, state or local employment, human rights, civil rights, wage-hour, pension or labor law, rule, statute, regulation, constitution or ordinance and/or public policy, contract or tort law, or any claim of retaliation under such law, or any claim of breach of any contract or promise (whether express, oral, written or implied from any source), or any claim of intentional or negligent infliction of emotional distress, tortious interference with contractual relations, wrongful or abusive discharge, constructive discharge, common law retaliation, defamation, prima facie tort, fraud, misrepresentation, negligence, estoppel, loss of consortium, or any claims similar thereto against Respondent and Releasees, including any claim for attorneys' fees and/or costs, that Petitioner, his heirs, executors, administrators, successors, and assigns now have, ever had, or may hereafter have, whether known or unknown, suspected or unsuspected, based upon any conduct up to and including the date of execution of this Agreement and shall not, from any source or proceeding whatsoever, seek, or in any way personally obtain or accept any monetary award, recovery, settlement or relief therefrom; and As an exception, Petitioner may pursue pending claims under the New Jersey Workers' Compensation Act. J.F.

(d) To immediately seek and obtain dismissal with prejudice of any complaint, suit, action, charge, claim or proceeding (unless such proceeding is a class action in which case Petitioner agrees to "opt out" of the class and not participate in the class action) in the event that, for any reason, any complaint, suit, action, charge, claim or proceeding covered by paragraph 3(b) or (c) is pending or is instituted on his behalf, and to not, unless required by law to do so (and then subject to the terms of paragraph 6 below), testify, provide documents or otherwise participate or permit others to participate on his behalf in any such proceedings or litigation arising therefrom or associated therewith, and, in no event, from any such source or proceeding whatsoever, to seek, or in any way obtain or accept any award, recovery, settlement or monetary or equitable relief therefrom. Should Petitioner fail to seek and obtain such dismissal, he will, at the option of Respondent, be considered in breach of this Agreement; and

(e) To perform his job duties as a permanent substitute to the best of his abilities and in a satisfactory manner. Petitioner shall be subject to the same rights and obligations as all teaching staff members. The Board specifically retains the right, in accordance with statute and the Collective Bargaining Agreement, to request a doctor's note in connection with the use of any sick days.

(f) To comply with all other obligations provided for by this Agreement.

4. Petitioner and Respondent agree that they will not at any time disparage or impugn the reputation of the other party. Regarding employment references, the Board agrees that it will place a note in Petitioner's personnel file identifying his dates of employment, positions held, final salary, and that he retired in good standing from his employment with the Board. This note will instruct Board employees to provide only this information to prospective employers.

5. Petitioner shall not apply in the future for employment with the Paramus Board of Education or its subsidiaries, affiliates, or related entities operated or controlled by the Board and agrees that this Agreement shall be a complete bar to any such application. Petitioner further agrees that neither Paramus nor its subsidiaries, affiliates, or related entities have any obligation, contractual or otherwise, to hire or employ him in the future.

6. Both parties agree not to disclose or cause to be disclosed to, directly or indirectly, any person including, but not limited to, members of the general public and current and former employees of the Paramus Board of Education, the existence of or terms of this Agreement except as required by applicable law. If anyone with prior knowledge of the pursuit of legal claims in this matter asks about the status of Petitioner's claims against Respondent, Petitioner and Respondent agree to state solely "The matter has been resolved." As an exception to this provision, it is understood that either party may disclose the terms of this Agreement to his counsel and tax preparer, provided that those persons are instructed to comply with the non-disclosure terms of this Agreement. Additionally, should either party be required by law, legal process or subpoena to provide information related either to his or to anyone else's employment or application for employment with Paramus, the parties shall, to the extent reasonably practicable, in advance of providing any response to such law, legal process or subpoena, and, provide written notice of such law, legal process or subpoena by facsimile, delivery service or other reasonable means to the other party's counsel; Steven M. Fleischer, Esq. of Sills Cummis Epstein & Gross P.C., One Riverfront Plaza, Newark, New Jersey 07102-5400, for Respondent, Alfred F. Maurice, Esq., of Springstead & Maurice, 39 Hudson Street Hackensack, New Jersey 07601 for Petitioner so that either party may seek to assert its rights and interests in connection therewith.

7. Petitioner agrees and understands that he will fully assume all tax obligations, if any, on the Sum provided to him as set forth in paragraph 1 of this Agreement, and that he shall be exclusively liable for the payment of all federal, state and local taxes which may be determined to be due as a result of any consideration or payment received by him pursuant to this Agreement. Petitioner agrees to fully indemnify and hold harmless Respondent and Releasees from payment of any and all taxes, interest or penalties that may be required of him by any government agency at any time as a result of any consideration provided pursuant to this Agreement, except, however, that Respondent agrees to withhold and pay to all relevant taxing authorities all sums required to be so withheld and paid on behalf of all other employees in the district. Petitioner further acknowledges that neither Respondent nor any representatives of Respondent have made any promise, representation or warranty, express or implied, regarding the tax consequences of any consideration provided pursuant to this Agreement.

8. Neither party's breach of any of the paragraphs of this Agreement, nor either party's pursuit of any remedies for such breach, shall release either party from any other obligations under this Agreement.

9. Petitioner understands and acknowledges that, the consideration is accorded in exchange for his agreement to the terms and conditions set forth in this Agreement and is in full and final settlement of any and all claims, known or unknown, suspected or unsuspected, that Petitioner may have against Respondent and Releasees; and that Respondent's obligations under this Agreement are in lieu of any and all other amounts to which Petitioner might be or is now entitled to receive from Respondent and Releasees upon any claim whatsoever.

10. If either party should bring any action arising out of the subject matter of this Agreement, the prevailing party shall pay the other party's costs and expenses of the defense of such issues authorized by law. This paragraph is not intended to preclude Petitioner from: (1) enforcing the terms of this Agreement; (2) challenging the knowing and voluntary nature of the Agreement; or (3) participating in any investigation or proceeding conducted by the EEOC with respect to any claims under the Age Discrimination in Employment Act.

11. Petitioner agrees and acknowledges that he has the right to reflect upon this Agreement for a period of twenty-one (21) days before executing it, and will have an additional period of seven (7) days after executing the Agreement to revoke it under the terms of the Older Workers Benefit Protection Act. Petitioner has seven (7) days after he signs this Agreement to revoke it under the terms of the Older Workers Benefit Protection Act by notifying in writing: Steven M. Fleischer, Esq. of Sills Cummis Epstein & Gross P.C., One Riverfront Plaza, Newark, New Jersey 07102. Petitioner understands and acknowledges that if he signs this Agreement prior to the expiration of the twenty-one day review period, he is voluntarily and knowingly waiving his twenty-one (21) day review period. This Agreement shall not be effective nor shall the Board take any actions hereunder until after the expiration of the seven (7) day revocation period set forth in the Older Workers Benefit Protection Act.

12. Petitioner and Respondent further agree that this Agreement will be governed by the laws of the State of New Jersey and the parties will submit to the jurisdiction of the state and/or federal courts located within the State of New Jersey for the resolution of any dispute that may arise hereunder.

13. Petitioner and Respondent further agree that if any of the provisions, terms, clauses, waivers or releases of claims and rights contained in this Agreement are declared illegal, unenforceable, or ineffective in a legal forum of competent jurisdiction, such provisions, terms, clauses, waivers or releases of claims and rights shall be modified, if possible, in order to achieve, to the extent possible, the intentions of the parties. If any such provisions, terms, clauses, waivers and releases of claims and rights contained in this Agreement cannot be modified, the remaining provisions, terms, clauses, waivers and releases of claims and rights contained in this Agreement shall remain in full force and effect, except that Petitioner's restoration and payment of his withheld 2003-2004 increment, the payment of the stated salary for the 2004-2005 school year, and Petitioner's agreement to retire June 30, 2005 are of the essence of this agreement. In the event these provisions are determined to be void or of no effect than this agreement shall be void in its entirety.

14. Petitioner and Respondent further agree that this Agreement may not be altered, amended, modified, superseded, canceled or terminated except by an express written agreement duly executed by all of the parties or their attorneys on their behalf, which makes specific reference to this Agreement.

15. This Agreement sets forth the entire agreement between Petitioner and Respondent, and fully supersedes any and all prior agreements or understandings between them pertaining to the subject matter thereof, if any.

16. By signing this Agreement, Petitioner and Respondent acknowledge:

i. THEY HAVE READ THIS AGREEMENT COMPLETELY.

ii. THEY HAVE HAD AN OPPORTUNITY TO CONSIDER THE TERMS OF THIS AGREEMENT.

iii. THEY HAVE CONSULTED WITH AN ATTORNEY OF THEIR CHOOSING, INCLUDING, BUT NOT LIMITED TO, ALFRED MAURICE, FOR PETITIONER AND STEVEN FLEISCHER FOR RESPONDENT, PRIOR TO EXECUTING THIS AGREEMENT TO EXPLAIN THIS AGREEMENT AND ITS CONSEQUENCES.

iv. THEY KNOW THAT THEY ARE GIVING UP IMPORTANT LEGAL RIGHTS BY SIGNING THIS AGREEMENT.

v. THEY UNDERSTAND EVERYTHING THAT IS STATED IN THIS AGREEMENT, AND THEY UNDERSTAND AND AGREE TO ALL ITS TERMS.

vi. THEY HAVE NOT RELIED UPON ANY REPRESENTATION, WRITTEN OR ORAL, NOT SET FORTH IN THIS AGREEMENT.

vii. THEY HAVE SIGNED THIS AGREEMENT VOLUNTARILY AND ENTIRELY OF THEIR OWN FREE WILL.

To signify their agreement to the terms of this Agreement, the parties have executed this Agreement on the dates set forth below.

Record Closed: November 24, 2004 Decided: December 6, 2004

BEFORE JESSE H. STRAUSS, ALJ:

The matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) on June 23, 2004 for determination as a contested case. A hearing was scheduled for December 16, 2004.

The parties were able to resolve the matter before the hearing date. On November 24, 2004, the parties submitted the attached Original Settlement Agreement indicating the terms of the agreement along with the original Board resolution adopting and approving the Agreement. Having reviewed the record and the settlement terms, I FIND:

1. The parties have voluntarily agreed to the settlement as evidenced by the signature of the parties and/or signatures of their representatives.

2. The settlement fully disposes of all issues in controversy and is consistent with the law.

I CONCLUDE that this agreement meets the requirements of N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1 and that the settlement should be approved. I approve the settlement and, therefore, ORDER that the parties comply with the settlement terms and that these proceedings be concluded.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT AND RELEASE

WHEREAS, Robert Natiello ("Petitioner") has made certain claims against the Paramus Board of Education ("Paramus" "Board" or "Respondent") in two separate Actions entitled "Robert Natiello v. Borough of Paramus Board of Education," filed in the Office of Administrative Law and transferred to the Department of Education, bearing Docket Nos. EDUOR-01801-2004N (for the 2003-2004 increment withholding) and EDUOR-05901-2004N (for the 2004-2005 increment withholding) (collectively the "Claims"); and

WHEREAS, Petitioner and Respondent desire to reach an amicable and final resolution of all claims of Petitioner against Respondent, its employees, agents, representatives and board members, divisions, affiliated entities and their present and former employees, agents, representatives, and board members and the agents, successors, assignees, trustees, heirs, administrators, executors, representatives and principals thereof (hereinafter referred to as "Releasees");

NOW, THEREFORE, in consideration of the obligations upon Petitioner and Respondent set forth in this Settlement Agreement and Release (the "Agreement"), and in full settlement of such claims, Petitioner and Respondent agree as follows:

1. Without admitting any liability or wrongdoing whatsoever, Paramus agrees to:

(a) Restore Petitioner's salary increments which were withheld for the 2003-2004 and 2004-2005 school years. Specifically, the Board shall pay Petitioner the sum of two thousand twenty-nine dollars and zero cents ($2,029.00), less applicable federal, state, and local withholdings and deductions, to reinstate Petitioner's increment for the 2003-2004 school year. In addition, the Board shall provide Petitioner with the appropriate salary for the 2004-2005 school year as if the increment withholdings had not occurred. Specifically, pursuant to the

Collective Bargaining Agreement between the Paramus Education Association and the Board, Petitioner's salary for the 2004-2005 school year shall be $80,720.00; (his salary shall include the base salary provided in the collective bargaining agreement for his years of service in the district and any applicable advanced education and longevity supplement provided in the agreement for the 2004-2005 school year) and

(b) To provide Petitioner with the pension credits for the salary he would have received if the withholding did not occur for the 2003-2004 school year and to make appropriate pension contributions for the 2004-2005 school year based on Petitioner's salary as set forth above; and

(c) To employ Petitioner as a permanent substitute for the 2004-2005 school year at the salary set forth above and with those benefits provided to full-time teaching staff members employed by the Board. Petitioner understands that he may be assigned to any school in the District at Respondent's discretion and shall work in accordance with the schedule for that school building.

2. The consideration set forth in paragraph 1 is being provided in full settlement of any and all claims Petitioner may have against Respondent and Releasees relating to his employment with the Paramus Board of Education, including any attorneys' fees he claims he incurred.

3. In exchange for the consideration set forth in paragraph 1, and other promises contained herein, Petitioner further agrees as follows:

(b) To immediately dismiss with prejudice the Claims against Respondent. Petitioner hereby warrants, represents and certifies that he has not filed or instituted, jointly or individually (and no person or agency has filed or instituted on his behalf), any other complaints, suits, actions, charges, grievances, claims and/or proceedings against Respondent or Releasees in any forum including, but not limited to, the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, the New Jersey Division on Civil Rights, the United States Department of Labor, the New Jersey Department of Labor, the New Jersey Public Employment Relations Commission or any other state or federal court or agency; and

and/or any other federal, state or local employment, human rights, civil rights, wage-hour, pension or labor law, rule, statute, regulation, constitution or ordinance and/or public policy, contract or tort law, or any claim of retaliation under such law, or any claim of breach of any contract or promise (whether express, oral, written or implied from any source), or any claim of intentional or negligent infliction of emotional distress, tortious interference with contractual relations, wrongful or abusive discharge, constructive discharge, common law retaliation, defamation, prima facie tort, fraud, misrepresentation, negligence, estoppel, loss of consortium, or any claims similar thereto against Respondent and Releasees, including any claim for attorneys' fees and/or costs, that Petitioner, his heirs, executors, administrators, successors, and assigns now have, ever had, or may hereafter have, whether known or unknown, suspected or unsuspected, based upon any conduct up to and including the date of execution of this Agreement and shall not, from any source or proceeding whatsoever, seek, or in any way personally obtain or accept any monetary award, recovery, settlement or relief therefrom; and

(d) To immediately seek and obtain dismissal with prejudice of any complaint, suit, action, charge, claim or proceeding (unless such proceeding is a class action in which case Petitioner agrees to "opt out" of the class and not participate in the class action) in the event that, for any reason, any complaint, suit, action, charge, claim or proceeding covered by paragraph 3(b) or (c) is pending or is instituted on his behalf, and to not, unless required by law to do so (and then subject to the terms of paragraph 6 below), testify, provide documents or otherwise participate or permit others to participate on his behalf in any such proceedings or litigation arising therefrom or associated therewith, and, in no event, from any such source or proceeding whatsoever, to seek, or in any way obtain or accept any award, recovery, settlement

or monetary or equitable relief therefrom. Should Petitioner fail to seek and obtain such dismissal, he will, at the option of Respondent, be considered in breach of this Agreement; and

(e) To perform his job duties as a permanent substitute to the best of his abilities and in a satisfactory manner. Petitioner shall be subject to the same rights and obligations as all teaching staff members. The Board specifically retains the right, in accordance with statute and the Collective Bargaining Agreement, to request a doctor's note in connection with the use of any sick days.

(f) To comply with all other obligations provided for by this Agreement.

4. Petitioner and Respondent agree that they will not at any time disparage or impugn the reputation of the other party. Regarding employment references, the Board agrees that it will place a note in Petitioner's personnel file identifying his dates of employment, positions held, final salary, and that he retired in good standing from his employment with the Board. This note will instruct Board employees to provide only this information to prospective employers.

5. Petitioner shall not apply in the future for employment with the Paramus Board of Education or its subsidiaries, affiliates, or related entities operated or controlled by the Board and agrees that this Agreement shall be a complete bar to any such application. Petitioner further agrees that neither Paramus nor its subsidiaries, affiliates, or related entities have any obligation, contractual or otherwise, to hire or employ him in the future.

6. Both parties agree not to disclose or cause to be disclosed to, directly or indirectly, any person including, but not limited to, members of the general public and current and former employees of the Paramus Board of Education, the existence of or terms of this Agreement except as required by applicable law. If anyone with prior knowledge of the pursuit of legal claims in this matter asks about the status of Petitioner's claims against Respondent, Petitioner and Respondent agree to state solely "The matter has been resolved." As an exception to this provision, it is understood that either party may disclose the terms of this Agreement to his counsel and tax preparer, provided that those persons are instructed to comply with the non-disclosure terms of this Agreement. Additionally, should either party be required by law, legal process or subpoena to provide information related either to his or to anyone else's employment or application for employment with Paramus, the parties shall, to the extent reasonably practicable, in advance of providing any response to such law, legal process or subpoena, and, provide written notice of such law, legal process or subpoena by facsimile, delivery service or other reasonable means to the other party's counsel; Steven M. Fleischer, Esq. of Sills Cummis Epstein & Gross P.C., One Riverfront Plaza, Newark, New Jersey 07102-5400, for Respondent, Alfred F. Maurice, Esq., of Springstead & Maurice, 39 Hudson Street Hackensack, New Jersey 07601 for Petitioner so that either party may seek to assert its rights and interests in connection therewith.

7. Petitioner agrees and understands that he will fully assume all tax obligations, if any, on the Sum provided to him as set forth in paragraph 1 of this Agreement, and that he shall be exclusively liable for the payment of all federal, state and local taxes which may be determined to be due as a result of any consideration or payment received by him pursuant to this Agreement. Petitioner agrees to fully indemnify and hold harmless Respondent and Releasees from payment of any and all taxes, interest or penalties that may be required of him by any government agency at any time as a result of any consideration provided pursuant to this Agreement, except, however, that Respondent agrees to withhold and pay to all relevant taxing authorities all sums required to be so withheld and paid on behalf of all other employees in the district. Petitioner further acknowledges that neither Respondent nor any representatives of Respondent have made any promise, representation or warranty, express or implied, regarding the tax consequences of any consideration provided pursuant to this Agreement.

8. Neither party's breach of any of the paragraphs of this Agreement, nor either party's pursuit of any remedies for such breach, shall release either party from any other obligations under this Agreement.

9. Petitioner understands and acknowledges that, the consideration is accorded in exchange for his agreement to the terms and conditions set forth in this Agreement and is in full and final settlement of any and all claims, known or unknown, suspected or unsuspected, that Petitioner may have against Respondent and Releasees; and that Respondent's obligations under this Agreement are in lieu of any and all other amounts to which Petitioner might be or is now entitled to receive from Respondent and Releasees upon any claim whatsoever.

10. If either party should bring any action arising out of the subject matter of this Agreement, the prevailing party shall pay the other party's costs and expenses of the defense of such issues authorized by law. This paragraph is not intended to preclude Petitioner from: (1) enforcing the terms of this Agreement; (2) challenging the knowing and voluntary nature of the Agreement; or (3) participating in any investigation or proceeding conducted by the EEOC with respect to any claims under the Age Discrimination in Employment Act.

11. Petitioner agrees and acknowledges that he has the right to reflect upon this Agreement for a period of twenty-one (21) days before executing it, and will have an additional period of seven (7) days after executing the Agreement to revoke it under the terms of the Older Workers Benefit Protection Act. Petitioner has seven (7) days after he signs this Agreement to revoke it under the terms of the Older Workers Benefit Protection Act by notifying in writing: Steven M. Fleischer, Esq. of Sills Cummis Epstein & Gross P.C., One Riverfront Plaza, Newark, New Jersey 07102. Petitioner understands and acknowledges that if he signs this Agreement prior to the expiration of the twenty-one day review period, he is voluntarily and knowingly waiving his twenty-one (21) day review period. This Agreement shall not be effective nor shall the Board take any actions hereunder until after the expiration of the seven (7) day revocation period set forth in the Older Workers Benefit Protection Act.

12. Petitioner and Respondent further agree that this Agreement will be governed by the laws of the State of New Jersey and the parties will submit to the jurisdiction of the state and/or federal courts located within the State of New Jersey for the resolution of any dispute that may arise hereunder.

13. Petitioner and Respondent further agree that if any of the provisions, terms, clauses, waivers or releases of claims and rights contained in this Agreement are declared illegal, unenforceable, or ineffective in a legal forum of competent jurisdiction, such provisions, terms, clauses, waivers or releases of claims and rights shall be modified, if possible, in order to achieve, to the extent possible, the intentions of the parties. If any such provisions, terms, clauses, waivers and releases of claims and rights contained in this Agreement cannot be modified, the remaining provisions, terms, clauses, waivers and releases of claims and rights contained in this Agreement shall remain in full force and effect, except that Petitioner's restoration and payment of his withheld 2003-2004 increment, the payment of the stated salary for the 2004-2005 school year, and Petitioner's agreement to retire June 30, 2005 are of the essence of this agreement. In the event these provisions are determined to be void or of no effect than this agreement shall be void in its entirety.

14. Petitioner and Respondent further agree that this Agreement may not be altered, amended, modified, superseded, canceled or terminated except by an express written agreement duly executed by all of the parties or their attorneys on their behalf, which makes specific reference to this Agreement.

15. This Agreement sets forth the entire agreement between Petitioner and Respondent, and fully supersedes any and all prior agreements or understandings between them pertaining to the subject matter thereof, if any.

16. By signing this Agreement, Petitioner and Respondent acknowledge:

i. THEY HAVE READ THIS AGREEMENT COMPLETELY.

ii. THEY HAVE HAD AN OPPORTUNITY TO CONSIDER THE TERMS OF THIS AGREEMENT.

iii. THEY HAVE CONSULTED WITH AN ATTORNEY OF THEIR CHOOSING, INCLUDING, BUT NOT LIMITED TO, ALFRED MAURICE, FOR PETITIONER AND STEVEN FLEISCHER FOR RESPONDENT, PRIOR TO EXECUTING THIS AGREEMENT TO EXPLAIN THIS AGREEMENT AND ITS CONSEQUENCES.

iv. THEY KNOW THAT THEY ARE GIVING UP IMPORTANT LEGAL RIGHTS BY SIGNING THIS AGREEMENT.

v. THEY UNDERSTAND EVERYTHING THAT IS STATED IN THIS AGREEMENT, AND THEY UNDERSTAND AND AGREE TO ALL ITS TERMS.

vi. THEY HAVE NOT RELIED UPON ANY REPRESENTATION, WRITTEN OR ORAL, NOT SET FORTH IN THIS AGREEMENT.

vii. THEY HAVE SIGNED THIS AGREEMENT VOLUNTARILY AND ENTIRELY OF THEIR OWN FREE WILL.

To signify their agreement to the terms of this Agreement, the parties have executed this Agreement on the dates set forth below.

RESPONDENT.	:

The record, Settlement Agreement, and Initial Decision issued by the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1, have been reviewed.

Upon review, the Commissioner observes that the agreement is not signed by the Board attorney, who is the Board's duly authorized representative in litigation, but rather by the President of the Chathams Board of Education. In that neither the file nor the agreement itself incorporates any resolution of the Board approving the settlement and designating the Board President to sign on its behalf, the Commissioner cannot approve the settlement agreement.[1]

Accordingly, the Commissioner hereby remands this matter to the OAL for revision of the Settlement Agreement consistent with the aforementioned concerns. If the parties cannot reach accord on a modified agreement, the matter shall proceed to hearing.

IT IS SO ORDERED.[2]

Dear Parties:

S.A., on behalf of minor child, C.M. V. BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE SCHOOL DISTRICT OF CHATHAMS, MORRIS COUNTY, AGENCY DKT. NO. 241-7/04, OAL DKT. NO. EDU 7593-04

We are enclosing a copy of the decision of the Commissioner of Education dated January 11, 2005 in the above-captioned matter. Appeals of Commissioner decisions, other than State Department of Education employee contractual determinations and matters involving the New Jersey State Interscholastic Athletic Association, may be filed with the State Board of Education pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:4-1.1 et seq.

Please note that this office is no longer preparing a synopsis or summary of the Commissioner's decision or providing an additional copy of the initial decision to the parties in this case.

Additionally, please note that, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:4-1.4(a), the Commissioner's decision is mailed to the parties three days prior to the date it is deemed officially filed. This provides counsel and pro se litigants with the decision before it is made public by the Department. Parties and counsel are requested to refrain from making Commissioner decisions public prior to the filing date. Your cooperation is appreciated.

Very truly yours,

Record Closed: November 18, 2004 Decided: November 22, 2004

BEFORE BARRY N. FRANK, ALJ:

This matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) from the Department of Education on August 4, 2004, for hearing as a contested case, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13.

A hearing was scheduled for October 26, 2004, at the OAL, 33 Washington Street, Newark, New Jersey. At the hearing, settlement discussions were held and a settlement was reached.

The parties have agreed to a settlement and have prepared a Settlement Agreement indicating the terms thereof, which is attached and fully incorporated herein.

I have reviewed the record and the terms of settlement and I FIND:

1. The parties have voluntarily agreed to the settlement as evidenced by their signatures or their representatives' signatures.

2. The settlement fully disposes of all issues in controversy and is consistent with the law.

I CONCLUDE that this agreement meets the requirements of N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1 and that the settlement should be approved. I approve the settlement and, therefore, ORDER that the parties comply with the settlement terms and that these proceedings be concluded.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT

This Settlement Agreement ("Agreement") is made by and between S.A. and C.M. ("Petitioners"), and the School District of the Chathams ("District"). In consideration of the mutual promises and undertakings contained in this Agreement, and for good and valuable consideration, the receipt of which is hereby acknowledged, the undersigned state:

WHEREAS, on or about July 16, 2004, Petitioners filed a Petition of Appeal ("Petition") with the Commissioner of Education against the District captioned, S.A. o/b/o C.M. vs. School District of the Chathams, which Petition was transmitted by the Commissioner to the Office of Administrative Law and docketed as EDUOS 07593-2004N; and

WHEREAS, the parties have worked cooperatively in an effort to reach an amicable resolution of the subject matter of said Petition; and

WHEREAS, the resolution reached by the parties was entered into the record during a hearing conducted by Administrative Law Judge Barry Frank on October 26, 2004; and

WHEREAS, the parties wish to memorialize the terms of their resolution in a formal writing to be signed by both parties;

NOW, THEREFORE, IT IS on this 26th day of October 2004, agreed that:

1. The final grade received by C.M. on the Honors English 11 assignment at issue herein, which was calculated by averaging the zero received on the initial assignment with the grade received on the substitute assignment, shall remain on his record unchanged.

2. The grade of zero received by C.M. for the A.P. U.S. History test which he missed due to cutting the class shall remain on his record unchanged.

3. C.M. shall not be permitted to complete any make up work of any kind to improve his final grades in either Honors English 11 or A.P. U.S. History, and the final grades for those respective courses shall remain on his record unchanged.

4. Except as explicitly set forth herein, no records pertaining to C.M. shall be expunged or modified in any way.

5. C.M. shall be permitted to submit a new application to the National Honor Society Committee of Chatham High School. C.M. shall not be required to check the box under the portion of the application (ART. VI (a)) pertaining to involvement in cheating incidents. Rather, in lieu of checking the box, C.M. shall write the words "See Below". On the lines available for further comment under that section of the application, C.M. shall write, "I failed to follow a teacher's directions not to consult an outside source during the completion of an assignment."

6. Petitioners understand and accept the fact that there are no guarantees that the new application to the National Honor Society Committee of Chatham High School submitted by C.M. will be recommended by the Committee for admission into the National Honor Society. Petitioners agree to be bound by the determination of the National Honor Society Committee of Chatham High School and hereby waive their right to appeal that determination and file any action of any kind against Respondent and its employees in any forum for any reason whatsoever associated with said decision. The National Honor Society Committee is to be comprised of the same members who consider all other applications to the National Honor Society and are to have no input outside the Committee or the application.

7. Petitioners agree that within five days following the Board's formal approval of this Agreement, C.M. shall submit a letter of apology to teaching staff member Howard Glatt.

The letter of apology shall state that C.M. expresses his remorse for "failing to follow Mr. Glatt's directions not to consult an outside source during the completion of an assignment."

8. By signing a separate Release, Petitioners shall release the Board, its trustees, officers, employees, agents, servants, representatives, attorneys, successors and assigns from liability for any action relating in any way to the subject matter of the within matter and shall abandon, waive, and remise all claims they may have against the foregoing, including but not limited to withdrawal with prejudice of the instant Petition of Appeal. Additionally, Petitioners shall immediately withdraw their Notice of Tort Claim dated August 25, 2004, with prejudice.

9. Petitioners acknowledge that they have consulted with an attorney of their own choosing prior to signing this Agreement and the associated Release, and that they sign the said Agreement and Release as their own voluntary act and deed, and that they fully understand the duties and obligations enumerated herein; and

10. The terms and conditions set forth herein constitute the entire understanding of the parties.

11. All terms of this Agreement are deemed material. This document may not be altered, amended, modified or revoked except by an instrument executed in writing by the parties.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the parties have hereunto set their hands and seals as of the date and year aforesaid.

Record Closed: November 17, 2004 Decided: December 6, 2004

BEFORE DIANA C. SUKOVICH, ALJ:

Petitioner filed a petition with the State Department of Education (DOE) on or about September 12, 2000, pertinent to claimed tenure and seniority rights, vis-à-vis respondent. Respondent filed an answer on or about November 29, 2000, and the DOE transmitted the matter to the Office of Administrative Law on December 21, 2000 for determination as a contested case pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to-13.

Throughout the proceedings, telephone conferences were conducted and scheduled hearing dates were adjourned at the requests of the parties for various reasons. Additionally, this Judge issued two orders on motions for summary decision filed on behalf of respondent. The parties conducted settlement negotiations throughout the proceedings and ultimately reached a resolution of the matter. An in-person conference was conducted on September 15, 2004, at which time the terms of the settlement agreement were stated on the record. An executed Stipulation of Settlement and a certified copy of minutes of a meeting of respondent, at which respondent approved the settlement, were filed on November 17, 2004. Attached herewith are copies of the Stipulation and the minutes.

Having reviewed the terms of the Stipulation of Settlement, I FIND the parties voluntarily have agreed to the terms and conditions of the settlement as evidenced by the signatures contained thereon and that the settlement fully disposes of all issues in controversy and is consistent with the law.

Therefore, I ORDER that the parties comply with the terms of the settlement and that these proceedings be and are hereby CONCLUDED.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

JAY M. LIPPER, Petitioner, v. BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE MORRIS SCHOOL DISTRICT, MORRIS COUNTY, Respondent.	BEFORE THE COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION/OFFICE OF ADMINISTRATIVE LAW OAL Dkt. No. EDUOR 10215-00N Agency Ref. No. 363-9/00 STIPULATION OF SETTLEMENT

The above-captioned matter having been brought before the Commissioner of Education upon the Petition of Appeal filed by Jay M. Lipper (the Petitioner) against the Board of Education of the Morris School District, Morris County (the Board), and the parties having agreed to resolve the dispute between them now pending before the court, subject to the terms and conditions set forth below:

1. Petitioner is the holder of an instructional certificate with endorsements as a secondary school teacher of math and secondary school teacher of science, and an administrative certificate with endorsements as a Supervisor and Principal/Supervisor.

2. Petitioner has been employed by the Board from on or about September 1, 1968 to the present in a number of full-time positions, as follows: teacher of mathematics (the 1968-69 school year through the 1994-95 school year), Mathematics Department Chairperson (the 1986-87 school year through the 1994-95 school year when the position was abolished), Supervisor of Applied Sciences (K-12) (the 1995-96 school year through the 1998-99 school year when the position was abolished), and full-time teacher of mathematics (the 1999-2000 school year to the present).

3. Before the start of the 2000-01 school year, the Board created the 12-month position of Supervisor of Curriculum (and thereafter Director of Curriculum) to which Petitioner asserted tenure and seniority rights. When the Board appointed someone other than Petitioner to the position for the 2000-01 school year and thereafter, he filed the within Petition of Appeal, alleging a violation of his tenure and seniority rights and seeking assignment to the position of Supervisor of Curriculum (and thereafter Director of Curriculum) along with the additional compensation, pension credit, and any other emoluments attendant to that position. The Board filed an answer denying the allegations of the Petition of Appeal and the dispute was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law for a hearing.

4. Inasmuch as the Petitioner and the Board are desirous to spare each other and the public the cost and uncertainties of continued litigation, and without admitting any liability or wrongdoing on behalf of either party but solely to bring this matter to a prompt and amicable resolution, the parties have agreed that this matter shall be resolved by adjusting Petitioner's salary for the past several years to reflect additional monies he would have earned in the position(s) of Supervisor of Curriculum and/or Director of Curriculum based upon comparable salary paid by the Board to another individual with a comparable history of employment serving in a similar Supervisor of Curriculum and/or Director of Curriculum position, and to award him the difference in these sums as full back pay, as follows:

5. The award of back pay, less standard and ordinary salary deductions, shall be made to the Petitioner within forty-five (45) days following the execution of this agreement and approval of its terms by action of the Board and approval by the Commissioner of Education.

6. The parties agree that Petitioner shall pay the employee's share of any additional pension contributions to the Teachers' Pension & Annuity Fund for this period of time based upon the Petitioner's adjusted gross annual salary for the 2001-02, 2002-03 and 2003-04 school years as set forth in paragraph 4 above, that the employer shall not be liable for the employee's share thereof, that the employee shall not be liable for the employer's share thereof, that the State will contribute the employer's share of pension contributions if it agrees to do so, and that if the State does not contribute the employer's share of pension contributions, the Board shall contribute the employer's share of such contributions. The District makes no representations about how the Teachers' Pension and Annuity Fund will address or handle this Settlement.

7. In addition, Petitioner shall submit his irrevocable resignation from his position as Teacher in the Morris School District as a condition of this Stipulation of Settlement, by executing the letter attached hereto as Exhibit A. The Petitioner's resignation shall be effective January 1, 2005, and the Board will act to accept the resignation of Petitioner at the time that the Board approves this settlement. It is further agreed that Petitioner's resignation is expressly contingent upon the Commissioner of Education's approval of the terms and conditions of this Stipulation of Settlement and, that if the Commissioner of Education does not approve this Stipulation of Settlement, then Petitioner's resignation shall be null and void and of no force and effect.

8. The parties agree that this Stipulation of Settlement is contingent upon the approval of the Commissioner of Education, and that, upon the approval of the Commissioner of Education, the Petition of Appeal presently pending before the Office of Administrative Law and Commissioner of Education shall be deemed to be dismissed with prejudice.

9. The parties agree that neither party is responsible for the payment of the other party's attorney fees in connection with this matter.

10. Through this Settlement Agreement, Jay M. Lipper releases and waives any and all claims, including but not limited to these claims related to the positions of Supervisor of Curriculum and Director of Curriculum that Petitioner has or may have against the Morris School District accrued to date.

11. This Settlement Agreement contains all the terms of the parties' agreement and cannot be modified or changed unless all parties agree to do so in writing. In the event, however, that this Agreement requires some modification to facilitate its acceptance by the Teachers' Pension and Annuity Fund and its approval by the Commissioner of Education, the parties agree to make such modification in a timely fashion in order to effectuate the intent of the parties as to this agreement.

12. Each party acknowledges that he/it has consulted with an attorney or representative of his/its own choosing prior to signing this Settlement Agreement, and that each party signs this Agreement as his/its own voluntary act and deed, and that each Party fully understands the duties and obligations enumerated herein.

13. Nothing in this Settlement Agreement shall be deemed to constitute precedent, past practice or policy as to the rights of any employee, now or in the future, other than Mr. Lipper.

Morris School District Board of Education
31 Hazel Street
Morristown, NJ 07960

Ladies & Gentlemen of the Morris School District Board of Education:

It is with both trepidation and optimism for many new opportunities and new challenges, that I resign from the Morris School District faculty, in order to enter retirement. This will be effective January 1, 2005.

As a life-long employee of the District, I have fully enjoyed teaching many students and their children over a long career. I have had the opportunity to revamp the mathematics program several times. I have also had many opportunities to innovate by designing, implementing and operating our K-12 Computer Education Program for a number of years. My administrative roles were equally challenging and rewarding.

I wish to thank the Board for all of the opportunities you have provided . I would like to think that I have given as much as I received. In particular, I wish to thank you providing an outstanding education for my two children, Elliott and Allison. I don't believe they could have received a better education anywhere in New Jersey. Both are proud alumni of MHS.

Sincerely,

Jay M. Lipper

BEFORE SANDRA ANN ROBINSON, ALJ:

This matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law on June 24, 2004, for determination as a contested case.

Prior to hearing, the parties agreed to an amicable resolution of the matter and submitted the attached Agreement to Settle and Withdraw. Having reviewed the record and the settlement terms, I FIND:

1. The parties have voluntarily agreed to the settlement as evidenced by their signatures or the signatures of their representatives.

2. The settlement fully disposes of all issues in controversy and is consistent with the law.

Therefore, I CONCLUDE that the agreement meets the requirements of N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1 and that the settlement should be approved. Accordingly, it is ORDERED that the parties comply with the settlement terms, and it is FURTHER ORDERED that the proceedings in this matter be concluded.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

AGREEMENT TO SETTLE AND WITHDRAW

Re: Sonia Smith on behalf of minor children, J.A.S., C.M.S. & D.J.S.
OAL Docket No. EDUDS 05988-2004N
Our File No. C15327

Dear Judge Robinson:

In accordance with the agreement made during the September 16, 2004 hearing before Your Honor and during the November 18, 2004 telephone conference, the above captioned matter has been resolved between the parties. The Board of Education of the Township of Irvington, Essex County, has agreed that Sonia Smith and her children currently reside in Irvington and that her children are permitted to attend Irvington Township public schools. In addition to the documents that were presented during the September 16, 2004 conference, Sonia Smith has provided proof of residence through her motor vehicle registration and motor vehicle insurance card and through her Blue Cross & Blue Shield bills. Petitioner Sonia Smith agrees to fill out an Affidavit of Residence when same is provided by counsel for the Township of Irvington. The parties agree that this matter is now resolved and petitioner is withdrawing her claim. The parties agree that this matter is now settled pursuant to the above conditions.

DOREEN TERLETZKY, Petitioner, v. NORTH ARLINGTON BOARD OF EDUCATION, Respondent.	BEFORE THE COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION/OFFICE OF ADMINISTRATIVE LAW OAL Dkt. No. EDUOA-1270-2004N Agency Ref. No. 452-11/03 SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT

WHEREAS, Doreen Terletzky (hereinafter referred to as "Terletzky" or Petitioner) is currently employed by the North Arlington Board of Education (hereinafter referred to as "the Board" or Respondent) as a certified school nurse; and

WHEREAS, on or about November 25, 2003, Terletzky filed a Verified Petition with the Commissioner of Education, bearing Agency Reference No. 452-11/03, alleging, among other things, that the Board was violating N.J.S.A. 18A:40-3.2 et seq. and N.J.A.C. 6A:16-2.1 by improperly allowing non-certified school nurses to perform certain nursing services in the district, and that she was impermissibly assigned the title "Supervisor of Nurses"; and

WHEREAS, the Board filed an Answer to the above-referenced Verified Petition denying Terletzky's allegations; and

WHEREAS, the matter was transferred to the office of Administrative Law and was assigned Docket No. EDUOA-1270-2004N; and

WHEREAS, circumstances have changed since Terletzky filed the Verified Petition of Appeal such that for the 2004-05 school year the Board currently employs two (2) certified school nurses, including Terletzky, to provide nursing services to students in the district and has advertised to hire a third certified school nurse; and

WHEREAS, Terletzky is currently assigned for the 2004-05 school year to serve as the certified school nurse at the Board's three elementary schools with the assistance of Judy Kommer, an uncertified nurse employed by the Board on a part-time basis; and

WHEREAS, in light of the current assignment of certified school nurses and allocation of nursing duties, the parties find it to be in their best interest to reach an amicable resolution to avoid the time and expenses associates with litigation;

NOW, THEREFORE, in consideration of the promises and mutual covenants, understandings and agreements contained in this Settlement Agreement, it is hereby agreed by and between the parties as follows:

1. SETTLEMENT TERMS.

   A. Terletzky shall withdraw, with prejudice, all claims asserted in her Verified Petition of Appeal against the Board, which have accrued as of the date of this Settlement Agreement.

   B. The Board shall officially note in writing that the title "Supervisor of Nurses" has officially been removed from Terletzky, and further stipulates that she does not currently serve, and has not served, and will not in the future be required to serve, in such a capacity. Nothing in this Settlement Agreement shall limit Terletzky's right to file a Petition of Appeal with the Commissioner of Education should the Board ever assign her in the future to serve in the capacity of "Supervisor of Nurses."

C. Notwithstanding the above, nothing in this Settlement Agreement shall limit the Board's ability to either (a) employ non-certified school nurses to assist certified school nurses as permitted under N.J.S.A. 18A:40-3.3; or (b) assign to Terletzky such duties as are permitted by law. However, nothing in this Settlement Agreement shall limit Terletzky's right to file a Petition of Appeal with the Commissioner of Education should the Board violate N.J.S.A. 18A:40-3.2 et seq. and N.J.A.C. 6A:16-2.1, in the future, by improperly employing and/or allowing non-certified school nurses to perform nursing services in the district which are restricted by law to certified school nurses.

2. NO RELIANCE. The parties hereto represent and acknowledge that, in executing this Settlement Agreement, they have not relied upon any representation or statement, written or oral, made by any of the parties' agents, attorneys or representatives with regard to the subject matter, basis or effect of this Settlement Agreement or otherwise.

3. PARTIAL INVALIDITY. Should any part, term or provision of this Settlement Agreement be declared or determined by a Court of competent jurisdiction, applying New Jersey law, to be illegal, invalid or unenforceable, the legality, validity or enforceability, of the remaining parts, terms or provisions shall not be affected thereby.

4. REPRESENTATION BY COUNSEL. Each party is represented by competent counsel of its choosing and each party states that she/it has signed this Settlement Agreement as her/its own voluntary act and deed, and that she/it fully understands the duties and obligations enumerated herein.

5. NO ADMISSION. This Settlement Agreement and compliance with this Settlement Agreement shall not be construed as an admission by any party of any liability whatsoever with respect to any matter.

6. GOVERNING LAW. This Settlement Agreement and all provisions hereof shall be governed by and construed under the law of the state of New Jersey.

7. ENTIRE AGREEMENT. This Settlement Agreement sets forth the entire agreement between the Board and Terletzky, and fully supercedes any and all prior agreements or understandings, written or oral between the parties pertaining to the subject matter hereof.

8. COUNTERPARTS. This Settlement Agreement may be signed in counterparts, which, when taken together, shall constitute but a single document when executed by all parties. This Settlement Agreement shall not be effective until such time as it has been duly authorized and executed by all parties.

9. RATIFICATION. This Settlement Agreement is subject to ratification by the Board and is also contingent upon the approval of the Commissioner of Education, and is without prejudice to any party if the terms are not agreed upon.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the parties hereto have duly executed this Settlement Agreement as of the date written below.

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law have been reviewed. No exceptions were filed by the parties.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurs with the Administrative Law Judge that the Petition of Appeal is both untimely filed[1] and beyond the scope of the Commissioner's jurisdiction.

Accordingly, for the reasons expressed therein, the Initial Decision is adopted as the final decision in this matter and the Petition of Appeal dismissed.

AGENCY DKT. NO. 226-6/03

MARSHA B. WILKERSON,
Petitioner,
v.
BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE CITY OF ORANGE TOWNSHIP,
Respondent.

J. Clifton Wilkerson, Esq., for Petitioner

Chandra Rainey Cole, Esq., for Respondent (Love & Randall, attorneys)

Record Closed: October 29, 2004 Decided: December 13, 2004

BEFORE MARIA MANCINI LA FIANDRA, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Petitioner asserts the Board employee acknowledged her injury was sustained in the course of employment and she relied on this acknowledgement, thereby failing to file a claim at the Division of Workers' Compensation. Thereafter, the Board charged Petitioner her sick time, contrary to N.J.S.A. 18A:30-2.1. On November 7, 2003, the Department of Education transmitted the matter to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) for determination as a contested case pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to –15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to –13.

This matter was originally assigned to Honorable Margaret M. Hayden and was reassigned upon Judge Hayden's appointment to the Superior Court. Respondent Orange Township Board of Education moved for summary dismissal by way of application received in this office on July 13, 2004 prior to the case being transferred to the undersigned. Upon transfer, I requested the parties provide me with the schedule as determined by Judge Hayden and, after requests for extensions, the record closed on or about October 25, 2004. There are two threshold issues which must be determined. The first is whether the petition was filed timely. The second issue to be determined is whether the Commissioner has jurisdiction to make a determination in this case.

FINDINGS OF FACT

For purposes of this application, I FIND the following materials FACTS to be relevant and undisputed.

1. Petitioner is a tenured teaching staff member employed by Respondent

2. For the 1999-2000 school year, Petitioner, a librarian, was assigned to the District's Park Avenue School and Oakwood Avenue School.

3. Petitioner was absent from work for 38 days during the 1999-2000 school year. Sometime in or about April 2000, she was hospitalized for a severe asthma attack. She was in and out of the hospital until May 31, 2000.

4. Petitioner's primary care physician cleared her to return to work on September 1, 2000.

5. Petitioner was notified, during her hospitalization, she had 79 accumulated days of sick leave. Petitioner was advised by memo on or about May 2, 2002 that she had 41 sick days remaining for the 2000-2001 school year.

6. In April 2003, Petitioner was advised that her absences for the 1999-2000 school year would be assessed against her personal sick leave. The petition in this matter was filed on June 30, 2003. An amended petition was filed on September 25, 2003.

7. Petitioner did not file a Worker's Compensation claim.

ANALYSIS AND CONCLUSION

As noted above, there are two threshold issues to be determined before reaching the substantive issues presented by this application. Both threshold issues are determinative and dispositive of the matter if the determination is in favor of Respondent.

The first issue is whether Petitioner's claim is time barred because Petitioner failed to adhere to the 90-day statute of limitation pursuant to the regulations. N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(d). The pertinent regulation provides that a party who is aggrieved by a determination of a district board of education shall file a petition no later than the 90th day from the date of receipt of notice of a final order, ruling or other action of the district board on the matter at issue. N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(d). The New Jersey Supreme Court has affirmed the validity and forcibility of the 90-day limitation period. Kaprow v. Board of Educ. of Berkley Twp., 131 N.J. 572 (1993).

The Court recognized that a statute of limitation serves two purposes; the first is to encourage litigants to pursue their rights within a reasonable time so that the opposing party has a fair opportunity to defend; the second is to penalize a Petitioner for unreasonable delay and to provide security and stability in human affairs. Id. Given these considerations with regard to a statute of limitation, it would appear Petitioner voluntarily slept on her right to appeal the determination made in March 1969. She waited 34 years before filing a claim with the Commissioner. This lapse of time gives rise to a presumption that Petitioner had abandoned her right to file a petition.

A limitation period, however, requires Petitioner to have had adequate notice of the action. The case law regarding adequate notice under this regulation provides that such notice taken by the Board must be sufficient to inform an individual of some fact that he/she has a right to know and the communicating party has a duty to communicate. New Jersey Supreme Court has held when a Petitioner knows or has reason to know that she has a cause of action against an identifiable party and voluntarily sleeps on rights so long as to permit the customary period of limitation to expire, the considerations of individual justice and the broader consideration of repose coincide to bar the action. Id.

In this case, Petitioner had reason to know of the determination of the District in May 2002 when she was apprised of the fact that she had only 41 days of sick for the 2000-2001 school year. In her affidavit, at ¶ 20, Petitioner states that she was told during her hospitalization (in May 2000) that she had 79 sick days. Later, on or about May 2, 2002, she was advised she had 41 sick days for the 2000-2001 school year. Basic arithmetic shows that the difference between 79 and 41 is 38. Consequently, I FIND Petitioner had noticed on or about May 2, 2002, that her sick days had been charged for the 38 days. I further FIND, therefore, that her petition is not timely filed and therefore, is time barred.

Although it is not necessary to address the issue of the Commissioner's jurisdiction to hear this matter, I note that Petitioner is seeking, essentially, a determination that her illness was work related or work caused. Such a determination, with limited exceptions not applicable in this case, are the under the exclusive jurisdiction of Workers' Compensation. Petitioner does not dispute that she chose not to file a Worker's Compensation claim and, instead, she chooses to rely on representations she asserts were made to her by District personnel that the illness was work related.

I note, however, the even the language in her affidavit is somewhat ambiguous in that she states that ¶ 29 "It was made clear to Mr. Chon that the condition was noted to be caused by the school environment as per discussion with my treating physicians. At ¶ 30 again Mr. Lee was clearly advised of the claim causal relationship of my illness and my library environment."

It is a well-established fundamental principle; ignorance of the law is no defense for failing to meet requirements. In this case, Petitioner relies on her perception that no one advised her to file a Workers' Compensation claim. Petitioner is a tenured librarian of at least 10 or more years experience in the District. It strains credulity to believe that she had no knowledge of how to go about preserving her rights. Be that as it may, based on the exclusive jurisdiction of Workers' Compensation Court to determine issues such as these, I CONCLUDE the Commissioner lacks jurisdiction in this matter.

I further CONCLUDE Respondent's application for summary decision should be granted.

ORDER

I hereby ORDER summary decision in favor of Respondent be and hereby is GRANTED; I further ORDER this petition be and hereby is DISMISSED WITH PREJUDICE.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen (13) days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

JOHN T. LAMKIN,

Petitioner,

v.

SOUTH ORANGE-MAPLEWOOD BOARD OF EDUCATION SCHOOL DISTRICT,

Respondent.

John T. Lamkin, pro se

Sidney Sayovitz, Esq., for Respondent
(Schenck, Price, Smith & King, attorneys)

Record Closed: October 29, 2004 Decided: December 8, 2004

BEFORE MARIA MANCINI LA FIANDRA, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Petitioner, John T. Lamkin, filed a petition against Respondent, South Orange-Maplewood Board of Education, claiming the Board unjustly received a Spending Growth Adjustments (SGLA) for enrollment and transportation in the 2002-03 school year. Petitioner further asserts these adjustments will affect all future District budgets. Moreover, Petitioner asserts the Board improperly included in the 2003-04 school budget separate proposals for items that which were included in the 2002-03 T&E Budget.

On May 30, 2003, the Department of Education transmitted the matter to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) for determination as a contested case pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to –15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to –13.

A telephone prehearing conference was held in the matter on August 13, 2003, and the issues to be resolved were delineated in the prehearing order as:

1) Has the District correctly calculated the 2003-04 T&E Budget based on perceived errors in a prior budget?

2) Can an item appearing in a separate proposal in one budget be included in the next T&E Budget in the following years budget.

The matter was originally scheduled for hearing on March 2 & 3, 2004; however, those dates were subsequently adjourned. On February 13, 2004, Respondent Board filed an application for summary dismissal. A briefing schedule was established and Petitioner made his cross application. Petitioner filed answering papers on March 15, 2004, and filed a cross application for summary decision to which Respondent replied on March 25, 2004. Petitioner responded to the Board's opposition to the application for summary decision on May 17, 2004. Before a determination could be made, Petitioner filed a second petition in August 16, 2004 under OAL Dkt. No. EDU 7872-04 in which he asserts the same claim, i.e., the District is impermissibly using the statutory SGLA process to increase the District's maximum net T&E Budget for 2004-05 school year.

The parties agreed that the two cases should be consolidated and an Order of Consolidation was entered on September 29, 2004. The parties were given until October 22, 2004 to supplement their submissions. Thereafter, the record closed on October 29, 2004, after the court had an opportunity to review the submissions to ensure they were complete.

FINDINGS OF FACT

The parties agree, although there is no stipulation in the record, the facts are not in dispute. The relevant facts, appearing in the record before me, including the affidavit of Karla Millanette and those documents submitted by both sides are incorporated herein as findings of fact in this matter as follows:

1) The school budget process begins, in New Jersey, with a filing of an Annual Application for State School Aid (ASSA) on or about October 15 each year.

2) Each public school district is required to utilize the Department of Education (DOE) computerized budget program when submitting budget documents. All documents are transmitted electronically to DOE and each district must also submit a copy of the budget documents to the County Superintendent of Education.

3) On or about October 15, 2001, the District submitted its 2002-03 ASSA to the DOE and to the county office in compliance with the mandates set forth above. As of October 15, 2001, the actual enrollment in the District was 6488.50.

4) The 2002-03 budget guidelines required each school district to provide DOE with projections for enrollment for future years. The District retained the services of a demographer to assist in development enrollment projections and the demographer utilized a standard cohort analysis to project enrollment in future years.

5) The District entered the projected figures into the DOE budget program; the figures were reviewed and approved by DOE, which then calculated the projected enrollment figures. Although, at all times during the process, DOE is aware of discrepancies between projected and annual enrollment figures, DOE basis the projected enrollment figures in accordance with the district's submissions.

6) DOE's review process does not include a reconciliation of enrollment discrepancies from year-to-year.

7) DOE determined the Board was entitled to SGLA for enrollment for the 2002-03 school year in the amount of $535,282.

8) The District applied for the SGLA for enrollment.

9) The District also applied for a SGLA for transportation cost for non-remote students. This particular SGLA is based upon the cost of transporting non-remote students.

10) The District submitted a report to DOE containing the names and addresses of all transported non-remote students, the mileage to transport them to and from school, the route and the license plate of the bus transporting them.

11) A summary of this report was entered into the budget program which then generated the District report of transported resident students (DRTRS).

12) According to the calculation set forth in the generated DRTRS, the District was entitled to SGLA for transportation for the 2002-03 school year in the amount of $488,500.

13) DOE approved the SGLA for transportation cost for non-remote students.

14) In the 2003-04 budget year, the District submitted a separate proposal to raise additional general tax fund levies in the amount of $1,272,555 for items included in the prior year's budget. The Board approved the separate proposal to be used for the following items: salary and benefits for one K-8 social studies supervisor; five technology facilitators; three enrichment program teachers, two project head teachers; two middle schools assistant principals; 1.8 middle school social worker; and four elementary world language teachers. The budget statement additional certification for the separate proposal was reviewed and approved on April 24 by the County Superintendent.

15) The approved $535,282 SGLA, which became part of the 2002-03 net budget, was used in the creation of the 2003-04 and 2004-05 maximum net T&E Budget committed before adjustments.

ANALYSIS AND CONCLUSION

In this matter, there are two issues to be resolved:

1) Whether the District correctly calculated the 03-04 net T&E Budget based on perceived errors in prior budgets; and

2) Whether items appearing in a base budget in one year may be submitted as a separate proposal in a subsequent budget.

Respondent Board asserts summary disposition is appropriate because the undisputed facts demonstrate the Board applied for and received SGLAs for enrollment and transportation in accordance with the law. Moreover, the separate proposal in the 2003-04 school budget was also approved in accordance with the law. Thus, asserts Respondent, the Board is entitled to a favorable determination of its application for summary disposition as a matter of law.

Petitioner, on the other hand, seeks summary disposition on his cross application, asserting the Board has misconstrued the applicable law and, further, under a proper construction of the law, summary disposition in favor of Petitioner is appropriate.

In this forum, an application for summary decision is initiated by the filing of initial papers by the moving party. The non-moving party, to prevail, must then demonstrate, by the filing of a response, including an affidavit setting forth specific facts showing there is a genuine issue, which can only be determined in an evidentiary hearing. N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(b).

In this case, the parties have agreed there is no genuine issue of material fact to be determined. Accordingly, one side or the other is entitled to summary disposition as a matter of law.

Petitioner relies on the undisputed fact that the Board submitted and relied on "hypothetical population" figures in calculating the 2003-04 Maximum Net T&E Budget before Adjustments. The Board, on the other hand, asserts the DOE 2002-03 budget guidelines required the Board to supply enrollment projection in the ASSA and, further, Respondent supplied all budgetary information in accordance with those guidelines. Moreover, DOE budget review process does not require the reconciliation of projected and actual enrollment figures. Petitioner fails to rebut this assertion by citing to any statute or regulation, which would require Respondent to reconcile the two figures.

Petitioner raises a similar objection with respect to the SGLA for transportation. In this case, however, Petitioner himself acknowledges the "New Jersey State Department of Education allows the district to increase the Maximum Net T&E Budget through the use of a Transportation SGLA." (Petitioner's brief, The Ides of March 2004, Exhibit 5).

With respect to the first issue, whether the District correctly calculated the 03-04 net T&E Budget based on perceived errors in prior budgets, I FIND the District calculated its budget in accordance with the established requirements of the DOE.

Petitioner also raises an objection to the inclusion of items in a separate proposal for consideration by the Board of School Estimate in the 2003-04 budget review because those same items had been included in the 2002-03 base budget. Here, Petitioner ignores the statutory authority for a district to submit separate proposal for consideration by a Board of School Estimate in addition to the base budget except for three specific items, which may not be contained in separate proposals. N.J.S.A. 18A: 7F-5d. None of the three were included in the separate proposal submitted by Respondent in the 2003-04 school budget. Respondent submitted its separate proposal to DOE through the County Superintendent and obtained all necessary approvals. (Board's Exhibit N). Accordingly, I FIND the inclusions of items in the base 2002-03 budget as a separate proposal in the 2003-04 budget to be in conformity with the law.

I CONCLUDE, therefore, Respondent is entitled to summary disposition as a matter of law.

ORDER

I hereby ORDER summary disposition be and hereby is entered in favor of Respondent; I further ORDER this petition be and hereby is DISMISSED WITH PREJUDICE.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen (13) days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

STATEMENT OF CASE

Petitioners are the parents of a fifth grade student attending the Hubbard School in the Ramsey School District. Hubbard offers an optional instrumental music program to their fifth grade students. Students choosing to participate are asked to select an instrument that they would like to learn how to play. Instrumental lessons are offered 30 minutes each week on a rotating schedule. Ultimately, a fifth grade band will form composed of participants in the optional instrumental music program.

Petitioners' daughter, J.V.C., chose to participate in the optional program and selected drums/percussion as her instrument. The popularity of J.V.C.'s selection resulted in a lottery for percussion participants. J.V.C.'s name was not chosen in the lottery.

Petitioners' contends that the selection process was in violation of N.J.A.C. 6A:7-1.7 "Equality in School and Classroom Practices" and it should be abolished and that all those, including J.V.C., requesting percussionist instruction should receive it.

Respondent board contends that the instrumental music program is an elective band program which should be differentiated from their "general music program" which is designed to provide a thorough and efficient education to all students and satisfies the Core Curriculum Content Standards of N.J.A.C. 6A:8-1.1 et seq. The Board further contends that parents are advised that the popularity of certain instruments requires a limitation in the number of those students who can participate in the instruction of that instrument and alternative choices should be submitted to ensure participation in the event of unsuccessful participation in a lottery for the most popular choices.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On or about August 25, 2004, a Petition of Appeal with a Motion for Emergent Relief was filed with the Department of Education. On or about August 27, 2004, the Petition and request for Emergent Relief were forwarded to the Office of Administrative Law for hearing.

The matter was assigned to the Honorable Judge Elinor Reiner who on September 14, 2004 denied the application for Emergent Relief.

On October 7, 2004, the matter was forwarded to the undersigned for hearing which was conducted on November 8, 2004.

TESTIMONY AND FACTS

Rosemary Pilonaro, the Hubbard School Band Director, Frank Philips, Director of the Music Department for the Ramsey School District and Bruce DeYoung, the Chief School Administrator of the Ramsey School District testified along with J.V.C.'s mother, P.A.C.

The facts in this matter are not in serious dispute. The testimony of the witnesses and the Exhibits marked in evidence lead me to the following FINDINGS OF FACT:

1. Parents of fourth grade students are advised of the band program setting forth the parameters of the instrumental music lessons which will be offered in fifth grade. (See P-1 in Evidence).

2. On or about May 17th, P.A.C. e-mailed Rosemary Pilonaro acknowledging receipt of information about the band program for fifth grade and advised of her daughter's interest in drums/percussion.

   On May 18th, Pilonaro e-mailed P.A.C. advising her that since percussion was so popular a lottery was used to limit the number of participants to eight. She advised P.A.C. to have her daughter make a back-up choice. (See P-2 in Evidence).

3. P.A.C. advised Pilonaro that her daughter's only choice was drums/percussion and acknowledged the lottery. (P-3 in Evidence).

4. On or about June 13, 2004, P.A.C. sent an e-mail to Pilonaro questioning the selection process that resulted in her daughter's elimination from the percussion/drum category and sought further information. (P-4 in Evidence)

5. P.A.C. contacted Pilonaro and requested a list of those students who had selected percussion/drums as their instrument and those who had been selected.

6. Pilonaro conferred with Michael Gratale, Principal of Hubbard School and after some initial reluctance, the list requested by petitioners' was forwarded on or about June 24, 2004. (P-6 in Evidence).

7. After receiving the list, P.A.C. wrote a two page letter to Superintendent Bruce DeYoung questioning the validity of the selection process and contending that her daughter was being deprived of the opportunity to learn the instrument of her choice. (See P-7 in evidence)

8. After a meeting with Mr. DeYoung, he forwarded a letter dated July 8, 2004 to the petitioners indicating that after a meeting with Frank Philips, Director of the Music Department for the Ramsey School District, he concluded that the limitation on the number of percussionist was based on sound reasoning. (See P-8 in Evidence).

9. On or about July 28, 2004, E.M.C., III forwarded a letter to Mr. DeYoung which he copied to William Librera, Commissioner of New Jersey Department of Education, seeking documentation of the Ramsey Band Program policies along with the guidelines used by the Department to limit the number of participants for the percussion instrument. (See P-9 in Evidence).

10. By letter dated August 2, 2004, Superintendent DeYoung responded to E.M.C.'s request indicating that there was no specific document describing the Fifth Grade Band Program, the Federal "No child Left Behind" Act is not pertinent to the discussion, guidelines for instruments in various band sizes was attached and an explanation of the lottery conducted by Pilonaro and Cordoba was described. (See P-10 in Evidence).

11. Petitioners then contacted Doctor Aaron R. Graham, Bergen County Superintendent of Schools by letter on or about August 4, 2004. (See P-11).

12. Dr. Graham wrote a letter to Mr. DeYoung dated August 12, 2004 in which he advised Mr. DeYoung that he was providing a Petition of Appeal to the parents of J.V.C. (See P-12 in Evidence).

The testimony from the witnesses at the hearing confirmed all of the above facts all of which were corroborated by documentation.

By inference, petitioners contend that the results of the lottery were suspicious and conducted in such secrecy that they should not be countenanced. Petitioners point to the fact that three of the successful lottery participants were either related to teachers or sons or daughters of classroom mothers. In essence, they argue that the probability of all those with more than a casual relationship to the school system being chosen for the lottery is so remote as to be suspicious if it occurs.

Balanced against this mathematical improbability contention is the testimony of Pilonaro which, as a matter of fact, I FIND credible, indicating that slips of paper were randomly pulled from a pool of all those who chose drums/percussion. Petitioners' on the other hand, point to Pilonaro's hesitancy in providing the final list and the absence of any public posting or public observation of the drawing as indications that it may not have been conducted fairly or for that matter at all. These accusations did not become apparent however until after the lottery had been conducted and the results reported. Petitioners did not dispute the conducting of the lottery and in fact sought to circumvent it by indicating that their daughter sought only instruction in one instrument and would not choose an alternative. The negative inferences which petitioners seek this fact finder to acknowledge are thoroughly refuted by Pilonaro whose testimony was not only credible but unrebutted by anything other than conjecture offered by petitioners.

Petitioners contend that music instructions including instrumental instruction is an educational program and service that the Ramsey District Board of Education must provide fairly pursuant to the provisions of the Equal and Equitable Educational Opportunity Requirements Code, N.J.A.C. 6A:7.

Petitioners further contend that once the school district offers percussionist instruction, it must allow all those students that elect to learn the percussionist instruments the opportunity to do so. Petitioners contend that the "coincidence" of probability resulting in students whose mothers were teachers and/or class mothers being chosen amounted to "invisible biases" contravening N.J.A.C. 6A:7-1.7(a). Of the eight students successful in the lottery, only one had a mother who is presently a teacher, a second was the son of a substitute teacher and one was the son of a class mother.

There can be little doubt that a more public drawing of the lottery is preferable and a less secretive disclosure policy concerning when and how it would be conducted would also be wise. Nonetheless, there is simply no reason to conclude that Pilonaro's testimony was untrue or contrived.

N.J.A.C. 6A:7-1.7 Equality in School and Classroom Practices was put in place to avoid discrimination. Race, Creed, Color, National Origin, Ancestry, Age, Marital Status, Affectional or Sexual Orientation, Gender, Religion, Disability or social Economic Status, shall not be used in the selection process for any program. Petitioners in this matter alleged "bias" in the conduct of the lottery. Their allegation is unsubstantiated and unproven.

Petitioners then argue that even if the contention that the lottery was unfair in some manner is not accepted, the next contention is that there should be no lottery at all for once a program is offered, all those who chose it should be able to participate. Petitioners offer absolutely no support for this contention. The purpose of the Instrumental Music Program is to eventually result in a performing band. Although the School Board may want to consider the restrictions presently in place limiting the number of specific participants in the band program, none of the statutes or code provisions cited by the petitioners, lead to the conclusion that petitioners' daughter was discriminatorily prevented from playing the drums. Limiting the number of participants in an activity for practical reasons is not prohibited by code, regulation or statute. Ramsey contends that 8 percussionists will be necessary for the size of the band they ultimately contemplate. The wisdom of that number can be challenged and second guessed, but there has been no showing that the unsuccessful lottery participants were eliminated because of any invidious intentions, nor have petitioners offered any convincing contentions supported by law or evidence that Ramsey cannot limit the number of participants in the voluntary band program or limit the number of participants for a specific instrument.

ORDER

It is ORDERED that the petition in this matter be dismissed.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen (13) days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

IN THE MATTER OF	:
CHRISTINA WENZEL, SADDLE BROOK	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
BOARD OF EDUCATION,	:	DECISION
BERGEN COUNTY.	:

The record of this matter and the decision of the School Ethics Commission ("Commission"), finding Saddle Brook Board of Education member Christina Wenzel violated the School Ethics Act, N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(d), when, on several occasions, she was paid as a substitute school nurse by the District while serving as a member of the Board, and recommending a penalty of reprimand have been reviewed. Upon issuance of the decision of the Commission, Ms. Wenzel was provided 13 days from the mailing date of the decision to file written comments on the recommended penalty for the Commissioner's consideration.

No comments were filed by or on behalf of Ms. Wenzel.

Initially, it must be emphasized that, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:12-29(c) and N.J.A.C. 6A:3-9.1, the determination of the Commission as to violation of the School Ethics Act is not reviewable by the Commissioner herein. Only the Commission may determine whether a violation of the School Ethics Act occurred. The Commissioner's jurisdiction is limited to reviewing the sanction to be imposed based upon a finding of a violation by the Commission. Therefore, this decision is restricted solely to a review of the Commission's recommended penalty.

Upon a thorough review of the record, the Commissioner determines to accept the Commission's recommendation that reprimand is the appropriate penalty in this matter for the reasons expressed in the Commission's decision. In so ruling, the Commissioner is satisfied that in recommending a penalty for the violations it found, the Commission fully considered the nature of the offense and weighed the effects of aggravating and mitigating circumstances. Therefore, the Commission's recommended penalty in this matter will not be disturbed.

Accordingly, IT IS hereby ORDERED that Christina Wenzel be reprimanded as a school official found to have violated the School Ethics Act.

IT IS SO ORDERED.*

IN THE MATTER OF	:	BEFORE THE SCHOOL ETHICS COMMISSION
CHRISTINA WENZEL	:	Docket No. C46-04
SADDLE BROOK	:
BOARD OF EDUCATION	:
BERGEN COUNTY	:	DECISION

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

This matter arises from a complaint filed on July 9, 2004, by Sebastian P. Salierno, a member of the Saddle Brook Board of Education (Board), alleging that Christina Wenzel, also a member of the Board, violated the School Ethics Act (Act), N.J.S.A. 18A:12-21 et seq. when, on several occasions, she was paid as a substitute school nurse by the District while serving as a member of the Board. Specifically, he alleges that the above conduct was in violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(b) and (d).

Ms. Wenzel submitted a response by way of counsel, Deborah Gross-Quatrone, Esq., wherein she admitted that, due to an emergency situation in the District, she worked for the Saddle Brook School District (District) as a substitute school nurse on May 5, 2004.

The Commission invited the parties to attend its September 30, 2004 meeting to present witnesses and testimony to aid in the Commission's investigation, but did not require that they be present. Neither party attended the hearing. Ms. Wenzel submitted a statement from the superintendent on the day of the meeting, but it was not received until after the Commission meeting. The Commission was advised that counsel represented to the executive director that the statement would be forthcoming by the time of the meeting, but the Commission ultimately determined that such a statement would not affect its ruling on probable cause.

At its September 30, 2004 meeting, the Commission voted to find probable cause to credit the allegations that Ms. Wenzel violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(d) of the Act. The Commission did not find probable cause to credit the allegations that Ms. Wenzel violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(b).

The Commission found that the material facts were not in dispute with respect to the issue upon which it found probable cause and, therefore, the Commission advised respondent that it would decide the matter on the basis of written submissions. Ms. Gross-Quatrone was invited to provide a written submission to the Commission within 30 days of the date of the probable cause decision to set forth why the Commission should not find Ms. Wenzel in violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(d). Ms. Gross-Quatrone was also told that her written submission should include the respondent's position on an appropriate sanction should the Commission determine that the Act was violated.

Ms. Gross-Quatrone submitted a timely response on November 17, 2004, wherein she contends that since both allegations revolve around the same events that it is clear that the Commission did not believe that Ms. Wenzel acted with intent or probable cause would have been found on both counts of the complaint. She also contends that Ms. Wenzel did not undertake employment, which is defined as a working relationship over the course of time; but that, at best, she was a casual employee. To support her contention that Ms. Wenzel was not an employee, she points out that Ms. Wenzel did not qualify for employment in terms of Workers Compensation or New Jersey State disability benefits. She further contends that Ms. Wenzel's service as a substitute school nurse did not prejudice her independence of judgment in the exercise of her official Board duties. She submits that if the Commission believes that there is a violation of the Act, then Ms. Wenzel should receive a private reprimand.

FACTS

The Commission based its finding of probable cause on the following facts. At all times relevant to this complaint, Ms. Wenzel was a member of the Board having served since 1998. Ms. Wenzel has been a registered nurse since 1994. The Superintendent and Ms. Wenzel had an agreement that she would be available to work as a substitute school nurse in the Saddle Brook School District (District) on an emergent basis since the substitute school nurse list had declined drastically.

Ms. Wenzel admitted to working as a substitute school nurse for the district on May 5, 2004 because the high school nurse was out for one week and there was no other nurse available for that day. Ms. Wenzel was paid by the District for working as a substitute school nurse. She was also paid as a substitute school nurse during the second quarters of 2003 and 2004 and during the fourth quarter of 2004. She indicated that she stands by her decision to serve in the District as a substitute school nurse.

The Commission found probable cause that Ms. Wenzel violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(d), which provides:

> No school official shall undertake any employment or service, whether compensated or not, which might reasonably be expected to prejudice his independence of judgment in the exercise of his official duties;

In order to find probable cause under N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(d), the Commission must determine whether Ms. Wenzel's employment by the District as a substitute school nurse might reasonably be expected to prejudice her independence of judgment in the exercise of her official duties as a Board member. Ms. Gross-Quatrone maintains that Ms. Wenzel was, in fact, not employed by the District, but that, at best, she was a casual employee that was not eligible for Workers' Compensation or disability benefits. Casual employment is defined as "employment at uncertain or irregular times." See Black's Law Dictionary Fifth Edition, West Publishing Company, 1983. The Commission notes that employment is inherent in the definition. Even if Ms. Wenzel was a casual employee, she was still employed by the District on those days that she worked as a substitute school nurse. Even if Ms. Wenzel was ineligible for Workers Compensation or disability benefits as she contends, she was still employed by the District.

The Commission notes that N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(d) applies to service as well as employment. In this case, Ms. Wenzel provided services to the District for which she was paid.

As an employed substitute school nurse for the District, Ms. Wenzel had significant entanglements with students, staff, and the administration. In working with children who have medical conditions or accident related injuries, she may unwittingly find herself being called as a witness against the Board on which she serves, or worse, a named defendant. She was also paid by the District for her services. When a board member works for and is paid by the District in which she serves, she is, in effect, working for the board. Thus, the Commission finds that anytime a board member is on the payroll of the District for which the board member serves, it is reasonable to expect it will prejudice that board member's independence of judgment in the exercise of official board member duties. Therefore, the Commission finds probable cause to credit the allegations that Ms. Wenzel violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(d) when she worked for the District as a substitute school nurse on May 5, 2004 and prior occasions.

The Commission previously found no probable cause that Ms. Wenzel violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(b), which provides:

> No school official shall use or attempt to use his official position to secure unwarranted privileges, advantages or employment for himself, members of his immediate family or others;

Ms. Wenzel had an agreement with the Superintendent to be available to work as a substitute school nurse on an emergent basis since the substitute school nurse list had declined drastically. Ms. Wenzel was offering her services in an attempt to assist the District. There is no evidence to show that Ms. Wenzel used her official position to secure employment with the District. Furthermore, since Ms. Wenzel has been a registered nurse since 1994, her employment as a substitute school nurse was not unwarranted. Therefore, the Commission finds that there is no probable cause to credit the allegation that Ms. Wenzel violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(b).

The Commission notes that Ms. Gross-Quatrone contends that since both allegations revolve around the same events that it is clear that the Commission did not believe that Ms. Wenzel acted with intent or the Commission would have found probable cause on both counts of the complaint. The Commission agrees that that both allegations concern the same event. However, the Commission notes that a different standard is applied to each of the provisions of the Act that complainant alleges were violated. While intent is relevant to each of those standards, it is not dispositive of the issue raised under each standard. Thus, the same events can trigger a violation of one provision and not another. She may not have intended to use her position to secure the employment, but she intended to take the job.

DECISION

For the reasons discussed above, the Commission finds that Christina Wenzel violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(d) when, on several occasions, she was paid as a substitute school nurse by the District while serving as a member of the Board. The Commission advises Ms. Wenzel that she cannot continue to serve as a Board member and a substitute school nurse for the District. The Commission recommends that the Commissioner of Education impose a penalty of reprimand because Ms. Wenzel was offering her services in an attempt to assist the District.

This decision has been adopted by a formal resolution of the School Ethics Commission. This matter shall now be transmitted to the Commissioner of Education for action on the Commission's recommendation for sanction only, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:12-29. Within 13 days from the date on which the Commission's decision was mailed to the parties, Ms. Gross-Quatrone may file written comments on the recommended sanction with the Commissioner of Education, c/o Bureau of Controversies and Disputes, P.O. Box 500, Trenton, NJ 08625, marked "Attention: Comments on Ethics Commission Sanction." A copy of any comments filed must be sent to the School Ethics Commission and all other parties.

IN THE MATTER OF DAVID HATCHETT, :
SCHOMBURG CHARTER SCHOOL : COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION BOARD OF TRUSTEES, HUDSON COUNTY. : DECISION

The record of this matter and the decision of the School Ethics Commission (Commission) finding that Schomburg Charter School Board of Trustees member David Hatchett violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(c) of the School Ethics Act (Act), and recommending a penalty of reprimand, have been reviewed. Upon issuance of the Commission's decision, Mr. Hatchett was provided 13 days from the mailing date of the decision to file written comments on the recommended penalty for the Commissioner's consideration; however, no comments were filed.

Initially, it must be emphasized that, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:12-29(c) and N.J.A.C. 6A:3-9.1, the determination of the Commission as to violation of the School Ethics Act is not reviewable by the Commissioner herein. Only the Commission may determine whether a violation of the School Ethics Act has occurred, with the Commissioner's jurisdiction being limited to review of the recommended sanction to be imposed based upon the Commission's finding. Therefore, this decision is restricted solely to review of the Commission's recommended penalty.

With this standard in mind, the Commissioner accepts the Commission's recommendation that Mr. Hatchett be reprimanded as a member of the Board of Trustees, since the Commissioner is satisfied that, in recommending a penalty for the violation it found, the Commission considered the nature of Mr. Hatchett's offense and weighed the mitigating factors it determined to be present in his case. Therefore, the Commission's recommended penalty in this matter will not be disturbed.

Accordingly, IT IS hereby ORDERED that David Hatchett be reprimanded as a member of the Schomburg Charter School Board of Trustees.

DAVID HATCHETT	:	Docket No. C35-04
SCHOMBURG CHARTER SCHOOL	:
BOARD OF TRUSTEES	:
HUDSON COUNTY	:	DECISION

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

This matter arises from a complaint filed on May 25, 2004, by Yasche Glass, Rebecca Posey, Crencenthia Brown, and Sheila Wilson-Tamborra against David. Hatchett, a member of the Schomburg Charter School Board of Trustees (Board). Complainants allege that Mr. Hatchett failed to attend board member training as required by N.J.S.A. 18A:12-33, and that he violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(b) and N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(d) by appointing Mrs. Hatchett, his former wife, as the acting Chief School Administrator at an unpublicized emergency meeting on Monday May 24, 2004. Complainants also allege that Mr. Hatchett violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(b), (c) and (k) when he voted on the hiring and salary approval of his son on October 21, 2003.

Mr. Hatchett submitted a timely response by way of counsel, Tonya A. Smith, Esq., wherein he certified that he attended board member training. Mr. Hatchett further certified that there was no emergency meeting on May 24, 2004, and that the Board President asked Mrs. Hatchett to serve as acting Chief School Administrator because Karen Jones, the Chief School Administrator, was absent due to a family emergency. Mr. Hatchett argued that Board counsel instructed him to abstain from voting on his son's hiring and salary, that he abstained as instructed, and that he was surprised to see that his abstention was not noted in the minutes for the October 21, 2003 Board meeting.

The Commission invited the parties to attend its August 24, 2004 meeting to present witnesses and testimony to aid in the Commission's investigation, but did not require that they be present. Mr. Hatchett and his attorney, Tonya M. Smith, Esq. attended the meeting and Mr. Hatchett testified before the Commission. Complainants advised the Commission that they were unable to attend the meeting. At its public meeting on August 24, 2004, the Commission dismissed the allegation that Mr. Hatchett did not attend training as required pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:12-33. The Commission also voted to find no probable cause to credit the allegations that Mr. Hatchett violated either the Act or the Code of Ethics for School Board Members regarding the appointment of Mrs. Hatchett. The Commission also found no probable cause to credit the allegations that Mr. Hatchett violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(b) or (k) regarding the hiring of his son. However, the Commission voted to find probable cause that Mr. Hatchett violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(c) regarding the hiring of his son at the October 21, 2003 Board meeting.

The Commission found that the material facts were not in dispute with respect to the issue upon which it found probable cause and, therefore, the Commission advised respondent that it would decide the matter on the basis of written submissions. Ms. Smith was invited to provide a written submission to the Commission within 30 days of the date of the probable cause decision to set forth why the Commission should not find Mr. Hatchett in violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(c) in relation to the hiring of his son. Ms. Smith was also told that her written submission should include the respondent's position on an appropriate sanction should the Commission determine that the Act was violated.

Ms. Smith submitted a timely response on October 20, 2004, averring that the vote on respondent's son was improperly recorded in the minutes. However, respondent admitted that the incorrect recording was further compounded by his failure to notice and correct same. Ms. Smith noted that respondent stood by his testimony at the Commission's August 24, 2004 meeting that he abstained from the vote on the hiring of his son. Ms. Smith submitted that due to these circumstances, the appropriate sanction would be at most a reprimand.

The Commission based its finding of probable cause on the following facts.

Mr. Hatchett testified that, at the October 21, 2003 Board meeting, prior to the vote, Board counsel instructed him to abstain from voting on his son's appointment and salary. Mr. Hatchett also testified that he abstained from voting on his son's appointment and hiring. The minutes from the October 21, 2003 Board meeting show that Mr. Hatchett voted on his son's appointment and salary. In response to a question from the Commission, Mr. Hatchett testified that it is Board practice to approve the minutes of Board meetings and that he did not read the minutes before he voted to approve them. Mr. Hatchett further testified that he did not ask for the minutes to be corrected because he was unaware that they were incorrect.

The Commission found probable cause that Mr. Hatchett violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(c) of the Act in relation to the hiring of his son at the October 21, 2003 Board meeting.

N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(c) provides:

> No school official shall act in his official capacity in any matter in which he, a member of his immediate family, or a business organization in which he holds an interest, has a direct or indirect financial involvement that might reasonably be expected to impair his objectivity or independence of judgment. No school official shall act in his official capacity in any matter where he or a member of his immediate family has a personal involvement that is or creates some benefit to the school official or member of his immediate family.

Mr. Hatchett has testified that he abstained from voting on his son's hiring and salary. However, the Board minutes of October 21, 2003, indicate that he voted on his son's hiring. Mr. Hatchett did not review the Board minutes nor request for them to be changed to reflect his abstention. While Mr. Hatchett asserts that he abstained from the vote, the minutes, which are the public record of the meeting, indicate otherwise. In making its probable cause determination, the Commission considered the Open Public Meetings Act (OPMA), which provides:

> Each public body shall keep reasonably comprehensible minutes of all its meetings showing the time and place, the members present, the subjects considered, the action taken, the vote of each member, and any other information required to be shown in the minutes by law, which shall be promptly available to the public to the extent that making such matters public shall not be inconsistent with N.J.S.A. 10:4-12. [N.J.S.A. 10:4-14].

The Commission has already noted in its probable cause determination in this matter that construction of any statute must necessarily begin with consideration of its plain language. Merin v. Maglaki, 126 N.J. 430, 434 (1992). The plain language of the above statute is clear that the minutes of a public body are to show the action taken and the vote of each member. If, after the minutes are approved and made available for dissemination to the public, a board member argues that he did not vote in the way that the minutes indicate, the OPMA is undermined. In such a case, the public would have received information that the board member has voted a certain way, while the board member argues to another agency in a closed proceeding that it should find that he did not vote in the way that the official minutes indicate. See I/M/O Mary Adams, C44-02 (May 1, 2003). It would not be acceptable to make such a finding. The purpose of the Open Public Meetings Act is to give full access to all public meetings of governmental bodies and to protect against secrecy in public affairs. Aronowitz v. Planning Bd. of Twp. of Lakewood, 257 N.J. Super. 347 (Law Div. 1992).

Ms. Smith argues that notwithstanding the OPMA, Mr. Hatchett testified honestly and credibly that he abstained from voting on his son and the minutes are in error, compounded by his failure to change them. While the Commission found Mr. Hatchet to be credible, it is faced with the competing interest of the public in being able to trust the minutes of a public meeting to accurately reflect the actions taken and votes made. Therefore, the Commission is constrained to find that because the minutes indicate that he voted for his son and he voted to approve the minutes, he violated the Act by his vote. His vote violates the Act because of his personal involvement related to the hiring of his son. This involvement is a benefit to him in that he receives personal satisfaction because his involvement ensures that his son obtains employment. The Commission therefore finds probable cause to credit the allegation that Mr. Hatchett voted to approve the hiring and salary of his son at the October 21, 2003, Board meeting and that conduct violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(c).

DECISION

For the reasons discussed above, the Commission finds that David Hatchett violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(c) for his vote on the hiring of his son at the October 21, 2003 Board meeting. The Commission recommends that the Commissioner of Education impose a penalty of reprimand due to the circumstances regarding the minutes and the credible testimony of Mr. Hatchett.

This decision has been adopted by a formal resolution of the School Ethics Commission. This matter shall now be transmitted to the Commissioner of Education for action on the Commission's recommendation for sanction only, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:12-29. Within 13 days from the date on which the Commission's decision was mailed to the parties, Ms. Smith may file written comments on the recommended sanction with the Commissioner of Education, c/o Bureau of Controversies and Disputes, P.O. Box 500, Trenton, NJ 08625, marked "Attention: Comments on Ethics Commission Sanction." A copy of any comments filed must be sent to the School Ethics Commission and all other parties.

AGENCY DKT. NO. 401-9/98

BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE TOWNSHIP OF LACEY, OCEAN COUNTY,	:
PETITIONER,	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
V.	:	DECISION
NEW JERSEY STATE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION,	:
RESPONDENT.	:

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed. Pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4, the Lacey Township Board of Education (Board) filed timely exceptions, to which the Department of Education (Department) duly replied.

In its exceptions, the Board contends that the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) erred in concluding that the Department did not engage in unlawful rulemaking. According to the Board, the ALJ focused on only one of the six criteria enumerated by the Court for determining whether an agency action must be rendered through rulemaking, while ignoring the other five, all of which weigh in the Board's favor for the reasons expressed in briefing before the ALJ. (Board's Exceptions at 3-5) The ALJ further erred, the Board avers, in relying on a conclusion that the Department's determinations were statutorily authorized, which the Board has never contested, without going on to examine the manner in which the Department exercised its discretion; such examination, according to the Board, clearly demonstrates that the determinations at issue should have been promulgated by rule. (Id. at 5-7) Finally, the Board argues that the ALJ erred in considering factors irrelevant to an assessment of whether unlawful rulemaking occurred, specifically the lack of factual evidence that the calculations resulting from the Department's determinations were erroneous, and the fact that the Board could raise local property taxes in the event of an insufficient school budget. (Id. at 8-10)

In reply, the Department urges adoption of the Initial Decision. Contrary to the Board assertions, the Department states, the ALJ did indeed consider the full holding of, and the six-factor test set forth in, Metromedia, supra:

> ALJ Miller noted that this was not a case where an agency acted beyond its legislative authorization. Thus, as ALJ Miller found, the fourth factor of Metromedia was inapplicable since Treasury did not prescribe a legal standard or directive that is not otherwise expressly provided by or clearly inferable from the enabling statute. Rather, Treasury acted within the broad authority granted to it under CEIFA. ALJ Miller also held that neither the fifth [n]or sixth factors of Metromedia were present, since he concluded that Treasury "did not create policy nor did it deviate from existing policy." Additionally, although ALJ Miller may not have specifically mentioned it, Treasury's methodology in providing municipal income estimates was applicable at the time of the 1998-1999 CEIFA calculation, and thus did not violate the third Metromedia factor either, since it was not merely prospective. Therefore, contrary to Lacey's arguments, ALJ Miller properly considered Metromedia to reach his conclusion that neither Treasury nor the Department violated the APA.
> (Department's Reply at 3-4, citations omitted)

In response to the Board's contention that the ALJ erred by considering irrelevant factors, the Department counters that the ALJ properly encompassed in his decision the entire controversy concerning the Board's claim of entitlement to additional State aid, rather than limiting himself to the Board's legal argument based on Metromedia, and further, that the Board misunderstands its full burden in this matter:

> In its petition, Lacey claimed that the March 1998 Core Curriculum Content Standards Aid ("CCSA") and Debt Service Aid [DSA] awards were incorrect and that it should be awarded the State aid that was originally calculated in February 1998. However, as ALJ Miller stated, "[t]here is no dispute that an error occurred in the initial calculation of the funding amount." Thus, the evidence clearly established that the original numbers issued in February 1998 were in error, and that Lacey Township was not entitled to the original award. Lacey's assertion that it does not possess the burden to demonstrate that the State aid numbers provided to it in March 1998 were in error is meritless. It was Lacey's burden, as petitioner, to demonstrate that the subsequently corrected award was erroneous. It failed to do that. Contrary to Lacey's assertions, ALJ Miller's finding that "petitioner failed to put forth any evidence of its own that the aid calculations were skewed, unfair or unreasonable," is relevant, since Lacey utterly failed to meet its burden to demonstrate that the CCSA and [DSA] awards provided in March 1998 were in error, or that they were unreasonable. Also, ALJ Miller's consideration of the municipality's ability to raise tax levy is relevant to an inquiry of an improper State aid calculation since it could affect the assessment of harm, if any, to the district, and a determination of an appropriate remedy.
> (Department's Reply at 4-5, citation omitted)

Upon review, the Commissioner concurs with the ALJ that, under the undisputed facts of this matter, no rulemaking occurred with respect to the determination of State Aid for the 1998-99 school year in violation of Metromedia, supra, or the Administrative Procedure Act. Indeed, under the circumstances here presented, where the responsible State agency devised a facially reasonable method for culling and analyzing the mass of raw data necessary for first-time calculation of State aid under the Legislature's post-1997-98 formula, and such method was found upon application to require adjustment because it clearly resulted in error, the Board cannot reasonably seek to invalidate the revised methodology developed immediately thereafter so as to provide, on a timely basis, more accurate State aid figures to school districts because such methodology was not promulgated by rule in accordance with the Administrative Procedure Act.[1] Moreover, the Commissioner concurs that, while the factors the Board contends the ALJ should not have considered are not germane to legal analysis strictly based on Metromedia, supra, they are directly pertinent to the Board's claims overall and to assessment of the Board's entitlement to relief.

Accordingly, the Initial Decision of the OAL is adopted for the reasons expressed therein and the Petition of Appeal is dismissed.

IT IS SO ORDERED.[2]

[1] It is interesting to note that the relief sought by the Board is the difference in aid between the State's first calculation and its second, notwithstanding that the method used for the first calculation was likewise newly developed and not promulgated by rule.

[2] This decision may be appealed to the State Board of Education pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-27 et seq. and N.J.A.C. 6A:4-1.1 et seq.

INITIAL DECISION

OAL DKT. NO. EDU 8659-98

(On Cross-Motions for Summary Decision)

AGENCY DKT. NO. 401-9/98

BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE TOWNSHIP OF LACEY, OCEAN COUNTY, Petitioner,

v.

NEW JERSEY STATE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION,

Respondent.

Michael W. Hoffman, Esq., for petitioner (Stein, Supsie & Hoffman, attorney)

Allison Eck, Deputy Attorney General, for respondent (Peter C. Harvey, Attorney General of New Jersey, attorney)

Record Closed: November 15, 2004 Decided: November 30, 2004

BEFORE W. TODD MILLER, ALJ

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

On September 3, 1998, the Commissioner of Education ("Commissioner") received a Verified Complaint filed by the Lacey Township Board of Education ("petitioner" or "Board"). The Verified Complaint asserts that the New Jersey Department of Education ("respondent" or "DOE") failed to provide petitioner with the appropriate level or amount of funding pursuant to the Comprehensive Education Improvement and Financing Act, N.J.S.A. 18A:7F-1, et seq. ("CEIFA" or "Act"). The petitioner requested a fair hearing and the matter was received by the New Jersey Office of Administrative Law ("OAL") on October 6, 1998, to be heard as a contested case pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to 15 and 14F-1 to 13. The matter was initially assigned to the Honorable Joseph Martone, ALJ. Telephone conferences were scheduled with Judge Martone and held on December 1, 1998, December 10, 1998, January 27, 1999, March 3, 1999, April 15, 1999, May 19, 1999, July 27, 1999, and September 9, 1999. At issue during these conferences were the nature, extent and scope of discovery. Since petitioner was challenging the CEIFA funding formula and it involved other State agencies, including the Department of Treasury (Treasury), various contested discovery issues arose. Petitioner sought to explore the components of the funding formula, which were developed either through the Department of Education and/or through information obtained from Treasury.

The case was subsequently reassigned to the Honorable Judge Kathleen Duncan, ALJ. From 1999 through 2001, the parties engaged in extensive discovery efforts and motion practice. Various motions and cross-motions to compel discovery and/or to engage in depositions were filed. The depositions of various State employees from the Department of Education and the Department of Treasury followed. Subsequent to discovery, the parties engaged in serious and meaningful settlement negotiations. Although a settlement seemed promising, the matter ultimately remained unresolved. Judge Duncan retired and, thereafter, the matter was assigned to this ALJ in or around August 2002 for final disposition.

Subsequent to the unsuccessful settlement negotiations, the parties engaged in additional discovery and depositions. Telephone conferences were held on September 9, 2002, April 2, 2003, February 17, 2004, March 1, 2004, and July 1, 2004. Hearings were scheduled for July 12, 2004, and July 13, 2004, at the OAL offices in Atlantic City, New Jersey. In lieu of an evidentiary presentation, the parties agreed and consented to cross-motions for summary disposition. Petitioner and respondent filed initial briefs on on September 17, 2004. Each party filed reply or opposition briefs on November 15, 2004. The briefs, exhibits and depositions transcripts sufficiently articulated the issues and defenses. No oral argument was necessary. The record closed on November 15, 2004.

SUMMARY OF RELEVANT FACTS

Lacey Township provides educational services for grades K-12. Lacey is not a special needs (Abbott) district. On February 11, 1998, State aid numbers were provided to school districts, including Lacey Township. The amount of Core Curriculum Standards Aid (CCSA) to be paid to Lacey Township for the 1998-1999 school year was $13,345,013 and the amount of debt service aid was $667,221. For the 1998-1999 school year, DOE was required to compute the CEIFA State aid numbers twice. This occurred because Treasury discovered an inadvertent error in the coding of 99 municipalities. (4T23:10-25; 4T24:1-10).[1] The second computation by DOE was based on a revised data received from Treasury. (4T24:4-5). On March 3, 1998, DOE released revised State aid numbers to all of the school districts in the State of New Jersey. Consequently, Lacey Township's State aid was reduced to $12,352,037 in CCSA and $611,297 in debt service aid. Based upon the revised aid numbers, Lacey Township challenges DOE's State aid calculation for CCSA and debt service aid for the 1998-1999 school year.

The Nature Of The Error

The State of New Jersey, Division of Taxation processes approximately 4 million income tax returns per year. According to Dr. Richard Kaluzny[2], Director of Office of Revenue and Economics Analysis for the New Jersey Department of Treasury, the tax returns filed by the citizens of New Jersey provide Treasury with a significant source of the information for purposes of calculating CEIFA aid. Treasury utilized two methods for retrieving the pertinent financial information. Treasury uses the county-municipality (Tax Return, Tax Reg. or TR) code or a geocode (Mail Address Verification Geocode or MAVGP) for purposes determining income information for the 567 municipalities. When a tax return is filed, it contains either a county/municipal code and/or it contains the taxpayer's street address. These tags are used to pull data from the source documents. As expected, neither the TR code nor the MAVGP code is 100% accurate. The TR code is about 80% accurate while the MAVGP code is about 90%

[1] Deposition transcripts were submitted with the motions for summary decision. They are in date order as follows: 1T-April 18, 2000; 2T-April 19, 2000; 3T-August 19, 2003; 4T-November 14, 2003.

[2] Based upon the extent and scope of Dr. Kaluzny's knowledge, petitioner's motion to take his deposition was granted. Kaluzny was deposed for three days. The deposition transcripts are included in the record. Additionally, Yut Se Thomas, Planning Associate for the Department of Education, was deposed.

accurate. There are various reasons for the inaccuracies. These include typographical errors, fields that are left blank, post office boxes in lieu of street addresses, as well as other reasons. Treasury initially used the TR method in acquiring the necessary financial information. In those instances where a TR code did not provide sufficient information, the MAVGP code was used as a secondary source. (1T67-75).

DOE clearly described the error and the corrective action in its brief. DOE discovered the error when it started receiving telephone calls from municipalities, especially in Ocean County, claiming that something was wrong with their information. 1T96:16-21; 3T162:7-25; 3T163:1-24). Municipalities complained that they were assigned too many people and that too much income was being attributed to their communities. (1T100:21-25; 1T101:1) As a result of these complaints Treasury examined its data and discovered that in 99 communities the municipal codes listed in the GIT return preparation booklet were different from the municipal codes that were used in the OTIS MAVGP procedure. (1T97:20-25; 1T98:1-7). Thus, in this case, the TR code for Lacey is 1513. (1T99:4-5; S031). However, the geocode program relied on the municipal code listing provided by the Department of Community Affairs ("DCA") which coded Lacey as 1512. (1T99-9-10; S051). The impact upon the District was that some of its information went into the Jackson Township calculation. (1T102:5-10).

Treasury selected for each municipality the source that provided a population estimate that was most reasonable when compared to the census estimate of population. 2T13:12-25; 2T14:1-25; 2T15:1-19). As Dr. Kaluzny explained, after the municipalities started complaining about errors in population and income, Treasury developed a correction for the initial mistake.[3] The TR code was corrected so that it matched the municipal code used in the MAVGP procedure for the 99 communities with the miscoding (2T79:13-24) – and also recognized that there were other situations where the two different sources gave different estimates of municipal income. (2T14:10-25; 15:1-6). That resulted in Treasury relying upon census population estimates for comparison as they are an objective source of information with which to compare Treasury's assignment of population and, hence, of municipal income. (2T15:7-19). This revised methodology was applied to all 567 municipalities. (2T17:10). All of the towns in Ocean

[3] All of the numbers of municipal income for Ocean County changed as a result of correcting the error. (2T10:18-19).

County were affected by this miscoding. (1T100:4-8). After discovering the error, Treasury immediately prepared another assignment of tax returns to all 567 municipalities to collate corrected municipal income estimates.

LEGAL DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS

The rules governing practice in the OAL provide that a Motion for Summary Decision may be granted if there is no genuine issue of material fact and the moving party is entitled to prevail as a matter of law. This provision mirrors the language of Rule 4:46-2 and the Supreme Court's decision in Judson v. Peoples Bank and Trust Co. of Westfield, 17 N.J. 67 (1954). Under N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(b), the determination to grant Summary Judgment should be based on the papers presented as well as any affidavits, which may have been filed with the application. In order for the adverse, i.e., the non-moving party to prevail in such an application, responding affidavits must be submitted showing that there is indeed a genuine issue of fact, which can only be determined in an evidentiary proceeding. The Court in Brill v. Guardian Life Insurance Co. of America, 142 N.J. 520, 523 (1995), set the standard to be applied when deciding a Motion for Summary Judgment. Therein, the Court stated:

> The determination whether there exists a genuine issue with respect to a material fact challenged requires the Motion Judge to consider whether the competent evidential materials presented, when viewed in the light most favorable to the non-moving party...are sufficient to permit a rational fact finder to resolve the alleged disputed disputed issue in favor of the non-moving party.

If the non-moving party's evidence is merely colorable, or is not significantly probative, summary judgment should not be denied. See Bowles v. City of Camden, 993 F.Supp. 255, 261 (D.N.J. 1998).

Based on the briefs and affidavits presented by the parties, I FIND that there is no genuine issue of material fact and the matter can be decided on summary decision.

CEIFA was adopted in 1996 to comply with New Jersey's constitutional mandate to provide a "thorough and efficient education" under N.J. Const. art. VIII, Section 4. N.J.S.A.

18A:7F-2; L. 1996, c. 138.; Robinson v. Cahill, 69 N.J. 449, 473 (1975). It established a "prototypical program that the Legislature believed would satisfy the thorough and efficient (hereinafter "T & E") constitutional requirements. Stubaus v. Whitman, 339 N.J. Super. 38, 45 (App. Div. 2001). In the matter at hand, Lacey Township's State CEIFA was reduced from $13,340,513 to $12,352,037 in CCSA and from $667,221 to $611,297 in debt service aid. Based upon the revised aid numbers, Lacey Township challenges DOE's State aid calculation for CCSA and debt service aid for the 1998-1999 school year.

Under CEIFA, core curriculum standards have been established which "provide a substantial framework detailing what children need to know in order to participate as workers and citizens in contemporary society, which is the goal of the T & E public education system. Stubaus, supra., 339 N.J.Super. at 45. CEFIA sets forth a model of prototypical school district that efficiently provides the programs and services necessary for pupils to achieve the core curriculum standards and it is the program that the Legislature believed would satisfy the T & E constitutional requirements. Ibid. The basis for distributing State education aid is then derived from the per pupil cost to implement the prototypical model, combined with the local school district's ability to contribute to that cost. Ibid.

In Stubaus, the Appellate Court succinctly set forth the framework for deriving state aid under CEIFA as follows: In order to implement CEIFA, the Commissioner is required under the Act to establish what is called the T & E amount which is "based on the costs necessary to provide the programs and services that will enable an elementary school pupil to achieve the core curriculum standards. N.J.S.A. 18A:7F-3; N.J.S.A. 18A:7F-12. The T & E amount is then weighted for the additional cost of middle and high school pupils and a half-day kindergarten program. Ibid. The T & E weighted amount is then multiplied by the number of pupils in the district to arrive at the T & E budget. N.J.S.A. 18A:7F-3; N.J.S.A. 18A:7F-13." Ibid. In Hammonton Board of Education v. New Jersey Department of Education, et al, OAL DKT. NO. EDU 4614-02, (Decided September 12, 2003) Honorable Lillard Law, ALJ observed:

> The Legislature expressed legislative intent that CEIFA would be a permanent funding formula when it stated that CEIFA provides and establishes "a funding mechanism" to ensure a thorough and efficient education. N.J.S.A. 18A:7F-2b(4). It is through CEIFA that the Legislature answered its constitutional obligations, > and it is CEIFA which directs how to answer the Legislature's constitutional obligations.

CEIFA calculations are derived from various sources of information. The New Jersey Department of Treasury plays a significant and critical role in this process. Treasury collects information from the New Jersey Department of Human Services (DHS), the New Jersey Gross Income Tax Returns, Federal Census, Division of Community Affairs (DCA), Office of Information and Technology Services (OTIS) and the U.S. Postal System. Treasury collects and assembles the necessary data. Thereafter, the information is sent to the DOE. The DOE determines the final CEIFA calculations.

There are two key components to the CEIFA calculations. They are: 1) real estate or property values; and 2) income values. N.J.S.A. 18A:7F-14. In the matter at issue, Lacey Township is not challenging the real estate or property wealth component. Rather, it contends that the municipal income component, as determined by the Department of Treasury, violates the Administrative Procedure Act (APA). Petitioner contends the Department of Treasury's calculations, particularly as it pertained to the correction of the error, constitutes administrative rule-making in violation of N.J.S.A. 52:14B-2e and Metromedia, Inc. v. Director, Div. of Taxation, 97 N.J. 313 (1984).

In Metromedia, Inc., supra. the Court outlined six factors necessary to determine if an agency engaged in rule-making. The Court held that:

> [A]n agency determination must be considered an administrative rule when all or most of the relevant features of administrative rules are present and preponderate in favor of the rule-making process. Such a conclusion would be warranted if it appears that the agency determination, in many or most of the following circumstances, (1) is intended to have wide coverage encompassing a large segment of the regulated or general public, rather than an individual or a narrow select group; (2) is intended to be applied generally and uniformly to all similarly situated persons; (3) is designed to operate only in future cases, that is, prospectively; (4) prescribes a legal standard or directive that is not otherwise expressly provided by or clearly and obviously inferable from the enabling statutory authorization; (5) reflects an administrative policy that (i) was not previously expressed in any official and explicit agency determination, > adjudication or rule, or (ii) constitutes a material and significant change from a clear, past agency position on the identical subject matter; and (6) reflects a decision on administrative regulatory policy in the nature of the interpretation of law or general policy. These relevant factors can, either singly or in combination, determine in a given case whether the essential agency action must be rendered through rule-making or adjudication.

The CEIFA legislation was promulgated in December 1996. The 1997-1998 school year was the first year it was implemented. As noted above, the formula requires an analysis of the property wealth and income wealth for the various municipalities and the population at large. The focus of this matter is on the income wealth calculations. A substantial portion of the components for the aid calculation is derived and assembled by the Treasury employees.

Petitioner relies upon the CEIFA definitions contained in N.J.S.A. 18A:7F-3 in asserting that Treasury and DOE engaged in improper rule-making. This statute provides, in part:

> "District income" for the 1997-98 school year means the aggregate income of the residents of the taxing district or taxing districts, based upon data provided by the Bureau of the Census in the United States Department of Commerce for 1989. Beginning with the 1998-99 school year and thereafter, district income means the aggregate income of the residents of the taxing district or taxing districts, based upon data provided by the Division of Taxation in the New Jersey Department of the Treasury and contained on the New Jersey State Income Tax forms for the calendar year ending prior to the prebudget year. The commissioner may supplement data contained on the State Income Tax forms with data available from other State or federal agencies in order to better correlate the data to that collected on the federal census.

Petitioner contends that Treasury and DOE violate Metromedia as well as the APA. Petitioner particularized the violations as follows:

> 3. Dr. Kaluzny, as an employee of the Department of Treasury, on his own, provided Respondent with district income figures for entry into the CEIFA aid formula. (T1:15-18)
> 4. Dr. Kaluzny, as an employee of the Department of Treasury, on his own and without consulting the Respondent, determined that solely income

information from tax returns (as opposed to correlating that information with census data regarding income) should be used to determine the income to be assigned to a particular municipality. (T3:123, 150)

5. Dr. Kaluzny, as an employee of the Department of Treasury, on his own and without consulting the Respondent, determined to use one coding method (referred to as the TR Code) verses using another coding method (referred to as the MAVGP Code) or a combination thereof to assign tax returns to a specific municipality. (T1:66-78; T2:41-42, 47-48, 57; T3:11-157)

6. Dr. Kaluzny, as an employee of the Department of Treasury, on his own and without consulting the Respondent, determined to use the MAVGP Code as the primary coding method and the TR Code as the secondary source for assigning tax returns to municipalities. (T1:66-78, 87-88; T2:13-14, 18-20, 73-83, 126, 141; T3:52).

7. Dr. Kaluzny, as an employee of the Department of Treasury, on his own and without consulting the Respondent, determined to operate under the premise/rule that, when using tax returns to achieve a population count for a certain municipality, the tax return population count should be lower in comparison than the census population count for that same municipality. T2:15-17, 71-72, 87).

8. Dr. Kaluzny, as an employee of the Department of Treasury, on his own and without consulting the Respondent, determined to operate under the premise/rule that, when the tax return population was greater than 15% of and/or more than 100 people compared to the census population for a particular municipality, further analysis should be undertaken to determine the proper population and, then, district income for that municipality. (T2:67-72)

9. Dr. Kaluzny, as an employee of the Department of Treasury, on his own and without consulting the Respondent, determined not to concern himself with district income situations where the tax return population was lower than the 1996 census population for a particular municipality and, therefore, district income was presumptively lower than it should be. (T3:69-71)

10. Dr. Kaluzny, as an employee of the Department of Treasury, on his own and without consulting the Respondent, determined that unassignable tax returns should simply be discarded from the calculation of district income for municipalities. (T2:31-35, 81, 103-104; T3:48)

11. Dr. Kaluzny, as an employee of the Department of Treasury, on his own and without consulting the Respondent, determined that social security income, which is not reported on tax returns but is reported on census information and thereby may be correlated with tax return income data, should be disregarded from the calculation of district income for municipalities. T2:29-31, 63-68, 72)

12. Dr. Kaluzny, as an employee of the Department of Treasury, on his own and without consulting the Respondent, determined to use a certain database (called the MOD-4 property tax records database) as a substitute for the coding procedures noted above in order to determine district income figures for a select/certain 40 some odd municipalities that were remarkable "anomalies" in terms of taxpayer population count compared to census population count. (T2:54, 108-109, 133; T3:87-103)

13. Respondent did not actively or competently engage in the process or analysis resulting in the determinations set forth above reached by Dr. Kaluzny at the time those determinations were initially in fact made. (t2:59-60, 68-70, 95-96, 99-100; T4:16-22; T5:17-18, 21-23)

As required by law, Treasury provided the aggregate income of the residents of the taxing district for the CEIFA calculation. N.J.S.A. 18A:7F-3, supra. Much of the financial data is collected in a raw form and assembled by Treasury. Petitioner suggests that Dr. Kaluzny engaged in rule-making by failing to correlate tax data with census data and by using the MAVGP for primary coding in lieu of the TR code, without consulting DOE. It's also asserted that Kalunzy failed to properly resolve issues involving social security income and unassignable tax returns. These failures allegedly resulted in skewed data derived from tax returns rather than from census data, according to petitioner.

The depositions of Kaluzny and Thomas, a Planning Associate for DOE, do not support petitioner's assertions that respondent engaged rule-making as outlined in Metromedia. Notably, petitioner did not provide its own expert report or affidavit, in opposition to the depositions of Kaluzny and Thomas. Rather, petitioner attempted to establish deviations or defects through examination of respondent's witnesses. It is clear from the deposition transcripts and briefs that the aid formula is complex. It incorporates a panoply of information from a variety of sources. There are numerous sources of raw data that are not initially compatible with each other. The data must be culled and analyzed before it becomes useful. Therefore, no rigid formula could possibly be dictated by the Legislature regarding the financial data and methodology used in determining CEIFA. In fact, the legislation broadly defines "District income" as "data provided by the Division of Taxation" N.J.S.A. 18A:7F-3. It appears that the Legislature left Treasury with sufficient discretion for compiling the data in order to competently complete the task. The ultimate goal is to have a funding formula that is reasonably fair, uniform and in keeping with the legislation. The final measure is not perfection, but rather is reasonable reliability and fairness. Finally, if it school budget is deficient, each municipality may also change its property tax levy. N.J.S.A. 18A:7F-5. It is against this backdrop that respondent's actions must be measured and weighed against the constraints of Metromedia.

The actions of Treasury and DOE are generally authorized by the CEIFA funding legislation. N.J.S.A. 18A:7F-2. Thus, as a threshold matter, both agencies are authorized and required to generate CEIFA calculations. The calculations must be prepared consistent with the Legislative mandate. This is not matter where the agency acted without or beyond such authorization. Metromedia; N.J.S.A. 18A:7F-1, et seq. The CEIFA implications are broad. Uniformity and fairness throughout the State are necessary components. Here, Treasury did not create policy or nor did it deviate from existing policy. It engaged in a statutorily mandated process of developing a funding formula. The process involves complex decision-making regarding an enormous amount of data from a variety of sources. Petitioner portrays the process as necessitating a fixed or rigid methodology. But it can't be developed under such conditions. Petitioner suggests that Treasury unilaterally ignored critical census data. Consequently, population and income figures may be under reported, according to petitioner. (Petitioner's brief at 12). The facts offered by petitioner do not support such a finding. Petitioner's argument is mere speculation. Petitioner offered no direct proof substantiating under reporting of population or income data in the revised calculations. Rather, petitioner posed an accusation but never backed it up.

There is no dispute that an error occurred in the initial calculation of the funding amount. In correcting the error, Treasury decided to utilize the method that minimized the difference between the census estimate and the estimate generated by either the TR primary source code methodology or MAVGP methodology. (2T57:4-25; 2T58:1-25; 2T59:1-4). Although Dr. Kaluzny conceded that Treasury knew that census data is not 100% accurate, he stated that because census population data was generated by the United States Census Bureau, and was not a number that Treasury generated and there would be no bias in the Census population count and the Census data was the best standard available to Treasury to measure the reasonableness of the assignment of GIT returns. (2T62:14-25; 2T63:1-11).

Based upon the foregoing, I FIND neither Treasury nor DOE violated the spirit of Metromedia. Both agencies acted within the Legislative mandate. N.J.S.A. 18A:7F-1, et seq. They developed a formula that was fair and reasonable. During the process, Treasury identified an error in the coding that ultimately affected aid for numerous municipalities. Treasury reviewed the methodology further. Coding errors were identified and fixed. The aid formula was improved by comparing the NJ-GIT information with Federal census information. The aid calculations were painstakingly revised and new aid calculations were generated. Ultimately, the aid calculations were re-computed. The coding error was identified in February 1998 and in March 1998; CCSA and debt service aid for 610 school districts was corrected. Both Treasury and DOE proceeded appropriately and did not engage in rule-making. There was no violation of Metromedia or the APA, N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 et. seq. when the error was corrected by Treasury and DOE. I SO FIND. Petitioner failed to put forth any evidence of its own that the aid calculations were skewed, unfair, or unreasonable.

The District's initial aid calculation unfortunately contained an error. The revised aid amounts were significantly lower. This raised a red flag. However, the error was an inadvertent mistake that was corrected. The District challenged the correction of the error as inappropriate rule-making. Metromedia. The District did not establish a nexus between the correction and a violation of Metromedia. In other words, the correction was a reasonable administrative response to a statutorily mandated obligation. I FIND and CONCLUDE that no rule-making occurred as a result of the correction process. DOE and Treasury had an affirmative obligation to correct the error in the funding and did so in a reasonable and sound manner. N.J.S.A. 18A:7F-1, et seq..

ORDER

For the reasons set forth above, it is hereby ORDERED that the relief sought be petitioner, Township of Lacey, Board of Education is DENIED. It is further ORDERED that the action filed by petitioner is DISMISSED.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen (13) days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

The recommended Order of Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) Bruce M. Gorman, granting petitioners' application for emergent relief in this matter, has been reviewed.

Upon such review, the Commissioner adopts the recommended Order of the ALJ as he is persuaded, by the particular circumstances of this case, that such Order affords E.B. an appropriate education during the pendency of this matter.

Accordingly, the recommended decision on motion is adopted for the reasons stated therein. This matter shall proceed to hearing on its merits on January 26, 2005 as contemplated by the ALJ.

ORDER – EMERGENT RELIEF

AGENCY DKT. NO. 421-11/04

E.B. & B.J.B. O/B/O
MINOR CHILD, E.B.,

Petitioners,

v.

TOWNSHIP OF EGG HARBOR BOARD OF EDUCATION, ATLANTIC COUNTY,

Respondent.

Robert P. Merenich, Esq., for petitioner (Gemmel, Todd & Merenich, attorneys)

James Arsenault, Esq. and Emily A. Buonadonna, Esq., for respondent (Cooper Levenson, attorneys)

BEFORE BRUCE M. GORMAN, ALJ:

The New Jersey Department of Education, Bureau of Controversies and Disputes, received a petition for emergent relief on or about December 23, 2004. The matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) on December 30, 2004, to be heard as an emergent contested case. The Director of the OAL assigned the undersigned to hear this matter pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14F-5o.

The matter was scheduled for hearing on January 11, 2005, at the OAL office in Atlantic City, New Jersey. The hearing proceeded on that date.

The facts of the case are substantially undisputed. Petitioner's son, E.B., was caught in respondent's school with marijuana on his person. He was subjected to school discipline and suspended for ten days.

The dispute concerns what followed. Respondent's policy, Exhibit A annexed to petitioner's moving papers, specifies:

> 8. DRUG/ALCOHOL POLICY and PROCEDURES (This includes Anabolic Steroids):
>
> Possession, use and distribution of alcoholic beverages, controlled dangerous substances, inhalants, over-the-counter medications or unauthorized prescription drugs are strictly prohibited.
>
> A. The student will attend Eagle Academy Alternative School for one full semester (90) days if he/she:
>
> 1. Is found to be in possession of controlled dangerous substances and/or alcohol (and/or)
>
> 2. Is found in possession of drug paraphernalia (and/or)
>
> 3. Tests positive for drugs or alcohol as a result of a second administrative referral (and/or)
>
> 4. Refuses to have a mandatory drug screening in addition to a previous refusal or a previous positive drug screening result.

Because E.B. was found with drugs in his possession, he has been transferred to Eagle Academy. Eagle Academy is an alternative school operated by respondent school district. Petitioner appeals, asserting variously that the placement is educationally inappropriate, the procedure followed violates E.B.'s due process rights, and respondent's policy is arbitrary and capricious. Petitioner seeks E.B.'s immediate return to Egg Harbor Township High School.

Petitioner carries the burden in seeking emergent relief. The standard necessary for the awarding of this relief is set forth in Crowe v. DeGioia, 90 N.J. 126 (1982). See also, Princeton Ins. Co. v. 349 Associates, L.L.C. 147 N.J. 337, 340(1997). Crowe requires a showing of each of the four specific criteria:

1. The relief must not be granted except when necessary to prevent irreparable harm, or harm for which there is no adequate legal remedy;

2. Relief should not be granted when the legal right underlying the applicant's claim is unsettled;

3. The applicant for relief must make a preliminary showing of a reasonable probability of ultimate success on the merits; and

4. The relative hardship to the parties in granting or denying relief must be considered. Id. at 132-34.

For the reasons set forth below, I GRANT petitioner's application for emergent relief.

IRREPARABLE HARM

Respondent's policy requires petitioner's placement at Eagle Academy without consideration for the placement's impact on his education. Eagle Academy is an Alternative School. According to respondent's Application for Approval to Operate an Alternative Education Program (Exhibit B), Eagle Academy was set up to handle the following population (Exhibit B):

> Fifty junior high and secondary students are referred to our alternative school setting for the following reasons: at risk and/or dropping out of school, in need of a non-traditional educational schedule, poor school attendance, chemical dependence, involvement in the juvenile justice system, and inability to follow traditional methods of instruction.

Further, the State Board of Education's Guide and Application for the Operation and Approval of Alternative Education Programs promulgated in September of 2004 (Exhibit C), states as follows:

> Generally, the target population for alternative education programs are those students who are disruptive, disaffected or at-risk of dropping out. These students may experience educational and behavioral problems in school, become disengaged in the regular academic setting, and are at-risk of dropping out. These adolescent are normally students between the ages of 11 and 18 who have had a history of negative school experiences and patterns of behavior that have been disruptive to their own education, as well as to that of their classmates. The causes of their problems are often complex and generally are difficult to overcome. They stem partially from personal and family problems and from a school climate that may be ill-suited to address their educational and social needs. These adolescents oftenexhibit chronic problems such as:
> - Persistent and consistent disciplinary issues;
> - Truancy;
> - Absenteeism; or
> These issues are evident through basic skills deficiencies and a sense of frustration, alienation and/or negative self-concept by the student. School environments that provide insufficient encouragement for these students are also contributing factors. These at-risk students may benefit from alternative education programs.

It is undisputed that E.B. is a college-bound student who has functioned well in the standard high school setting. Prior to this incident, E.B.'s disciplinary record contained only one minor infraction. Nothing before me indicates, nor does respondent assert, that E.B. is "disruptive, disaffected or at-risk of dropping out." At this juncture, I can only preliminarily conclude that E.B. is exactly the type of student for whom the alternative school was not intended.

Petitioner's certification raises the question of whether the program at Eagle Academy is appropriate for E.B.. According to petitioner, with the exception of Math class, none of the teachers at the Alternative School has a program for E.B. E.B. has already completed the class work being studied by the other students. He is left to work on his own, primarily outlining chapters in the textbook. While I make no factual finding on that issue at this juncture, there is little before me now to indicate E.B.'s educational needs are being met. It is instructive to note that the State Board Guide, supra, specifies that,

> The scope of alternative education programs should be tailored to fit the ages and grade levels of the students served. Ideally, middle school alternative education programs should focus on reintegrating students back into a traditional academic environment. These programs should focus on helping students reconnect with the learning experience and with their learning environments. Middle school programs should not only educate students, but also nurture students and acknowledge the intellectual and social development that students are experiencing as young adolescents. High school programs should also pay attention to the individual social and developmental needs of the students, while assisting students in their efforts to complete their education, successfully transition into independent adulthood and obtain and maintain employment.

Nothing before me indicates that any sort of alternative education program has been developed and tailored to meet E.B.'s educational needs.

Further, E.B. does not fit any of the criteria for placement at Eagle Academy as set forth in respondent's population description, supra. He is not and does not meet any of these categories: at risk and/or dropping out of school, in need of a non-traditional educational schedule, poor school attendance, chemical dependence, involvement in the juvenile justice system, and inability to follow traditional methods of instruction.

Based upon the record before me, the only possible category into which E.B. could fall is "chemical dependence." He was found to have marijuana in his possession. However, in his moving papers, petitioner avers that E.B. has been subjected to a drug screen at respondent's insistence and found not to be chemically dependent. Respondent's counsel denied knowledge of the school's participation in such a screening, but could offer nothing to refute petitioner's contention that the screening had been conducted, and that E.B. had been found not to be chemically dependent.

Accordingly, there is nothing in the record which places E.B. in any of the categories delineated by respondent in its policy for placement at Eagle Academy. While subsequent evidence may prove to the contrary, at this juncture his placement there appears to be the exclusive result of respondent's "zero tolerance" policy, and bears no relationship to any educational or remedial purpose.

Therefore, I am forced to FIND and CONCLUDE that the placement of E.B. at Eagle Academy is likely to prove inappropriate, and, in consequence, E.B. may suffer irreparable harm to his educational program.

LEGAL RIGHT AND REASONABLE PROBABILITY OF SUCCESS

Respondent's defense turns on the validity of its policy, and the procedure followed in effectuating E.B.'s placement at Eagle Academy. It is undisputed that E.B. was afforded none of the due process protections normally required when punitive action is taken against a student. Respondent omitted those protections based upon the so-called "ten day rule" set forth in Goss v. Lopez, 419 U.S. 565 (1975), wherein the Supreme Court mandated due process protection for suspensions in excess of ten days.

Petitioner argues that E.B.'s punishment has been fashioned to circumvent Goss. He was given a ten-day suspension, which did not require those protections. Respondent urges that the subsequent 90-day transfer to Eagle Academy was "not punitive," and therefore requires no due process protection. Respondent states that the situation is analogous to someone charged with vehicular homicide who subsequently has his license suspended by the Motor Vehicle Commission. The suspension is a non-punitive result of the offense committed, opines respondent.

The problem with that analogy is that such a person whose driving privileges are suspended is entitled to due process in New Jersey. Such cases are heard here at the Office of Administrative Law.

The unilateral transfer of E.B. to Eagle Academy without any form of due process is troubling. While I make no final determination regarding this issue, I FIND and CONCLUDE there exists a reasonable probability petitioner will prevail on the issue of E.B.'s entitlement to due process protection before he can be consigned to Eagle Academy.

Further, for the reasons outlined under Irreparable Harm, supra, there appears to be reasonable probability that petitioner will prevail on the issue of the educational appropriateness of the Eagle Academy placement.

Therefore, I FIND and CONCLUDE that petitioner has established a reasonable likelihood he will prevail on the legal issues before me.

RELATIVE HARDSHIP

Respondent will suffer no demonstrable irreparable harm if E.B. is reinstated at Egg Harbor Township High School. If I subsequently find for respondent in the case in chief, E.B. can be returned to Eagle Academy to serve out the balance of his placement there. Conversely, if I allow E.B. to remain at Eagle Academy, the duration of this litigation may be such that he will have completed his time there, and the issue will be moot. In such event, E.B. will have been deprived of a semester of high school, a semester which cannot be restored to him.

Accordingly, I FIND and CONCLUDE that the balancing of relative hardship weighs in favor of petitioner.

In balance, I FIND that petitioner has met the standards imposed by Crowe v. DeGoia, supra. The deciding factor is the absence of anything in the record tending to show that there exists any educational purpose to the placement of E.B. at Eagle Academy. The New Jersey State Constitution requires that E.B. be provided with a thorough and efficient education. If E.B. is compelled to remain at Eagle Academy for the duration of this case, his education may suffer irreparable harm. Absent countervailing, non-punitive reasons for the placement, it would be inappropriate to risk such harm until this matter has been fully adjudicated.

Accordingly, I FIND and CONCLUDE that emergent relief should be granted.

ORDER

I ORDER that E.B. be immediately returned to Egg Harbor Township High School until this matter can be fully adjudicated. A plenary hearing is scheduled for January 26, 2005, at 9:30 a.m. at the OAL office located at 1601 Atlantic Avenue, Atlantic City, New Jersey.

This order on application for emergency relief may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who/which by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. The final decision shall be issued without undue delay, but no later than forty-five (45) days following the entry of this order. If the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION does not adopt, modify or reject this order within forty-five (45) days, this recommended order shall become a final decision on the issue of emergent relief in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

RECORD SEALED

SHAHRYAR SHROFF,	:
PETITIONER,	:
V.	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE TOWNSHIP OF WOODBRIDGE, MIDDLESEX COUNTY,	:	DECISION ON MOTIONS
RESPONDENT.	:

This matter was opened by way of a Petition of Appeal and Motion for Emergent Relief, filed on December 21, 2004, wherein petitioner seeks both interim relief and a summary decision vacating the Board's decision to continue his suspension from school as the result of allegations and charges that he assaulted another student on November 4, 2004. (Petition of Appeal at 1 and Motion for Emergent Relief at 1)

Petitioner, an 18-year-old senior at the District's Colonia High School, claims that the Board acted arbitrarily and capriciously in considering allegations against him of criminal restraint and assault of another student, and in determining to suspend him indefinitely. Petitioner argues that: 1) the Board's decision to credit the allegations against him was based solely and exclusively on hearsay; 2) the Board failed to present the testimony of petitioner's accusers, thus depriving petitioner of his rights; 3) the Board drew an improper inference from petitioner's exercise of his Fifth Amendment rights; 4) the Board failed to conduct any study or to present any professional evaluation in considering the punishment to be imposed; and 5) the Board violated its own rules and regulations by holding petitioner's hearing on December 6, 2004, 24 days from the date of petitioner's suspension on November 12, 2004, rather than within 21 days, as required. (Petition of Appeal at 1-3, Brief in Support of Motion for Emergent Relief at 1-3)

In support thereof, petitioner points out that, at the hearing on December 6, 2004, the Board heard testimony from a single witness in deciding whether to credit the charges, the investigating officer, who testified that he was not present at the scene when the alleged crime occurred, and there was no video or audio tape of the incident. (Brief in Support of Motion for Emergent Relief at 1, 3) Moreover, petitioner was not given the investigating officer's reports in order to cross examine him on what occurred that day. (Id. at 5) Notwithstanding that the investigating officer's testimony was based entirely on hearsay, petitioner asserts, the Board decided that petitioner had restrained the boy in question at the high school on November 4, 2004. (Ibid.) Additionally, citing from the hearing transcript, petitioner argues that the Board inferred corroboration of its finding that the charges were substantiated from his decision to exercise his Fifth Amendment rights by declining to testify at the hearing due to the pending criminal charges based on this same conduct and his failure to offer evidence on his own behalf. (Id. at 5-6)

With respect to the penalty imposed, which petitioner claims is "the education system's functional equivalent of the death penalty—expulsion,"[1] petitioner argues that the principal's recommendation to continue his removal because of major disruptions in the school, was reached without consideration of any study of the impact petitioner would have on the school if he returned, the Board's policies dealing with disciplinary issues, the victim's own situation and the extent of punishment for similar offenses. (Id. at 6-7)

[1] It is noted that the principal did not recommend, nor did the Board approve expulsion as a penalty. Instead, the Board determined that "the student will remain on home instruction for the remainder of his senior year, that's (sic) the 2004-2005 school year, will have the opportunity to complete his course work and receive his diploma upon earning the appropriate number of credits." (Petitioner's Exhibit A, Tr. at 98) The Board also stated that "[i]f the parents indicate that there will be no appeal in this matter and that they accept the board's decision, the board will permit S. to walk in the graduation ceremony; that is, participate in the graduation ceremony from Colonia High School in June 2005." (Id. at 99)

In its response, filed January 4, 2005, the Board requests that the record in this matter be sealed to protect the identities of student victims, that petitioner's requests for emergent relief and summary decision be denied and that the Commissioner remand this matter to the Board for further hearing or transmit the matter to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) for a de novo hearing on an expedited basis. (Board's Response to Petitioner's Motion for Emergent Relief at 13) The Board avers that, based on information currently available, it appears that, on November 4, 2004, petitioner, in concert with four other student members of the boys' soccer team, participated in attacks that resulted in the forcible restraint and assault of two younger members of their soccer team and the placing of a banana between the buttocks of each victim. (Id. at 4) As a result of this incident, petitioner was arrested and incarcerated and was suspended from school effective November 15, 2004. (Id. at 3)

The Board further notes that it subsequently scheduled disciplinary hearings for all the students charged by the police for this incident on December 6, 2004, but, because the matter was still being investigated by the Prosecutor's Office and discovery was not yet available, offered to adjourn the hearings. (Ibid.) The four charged juvenile students agreed to postpone their hearings, but petitioner "insisted that his hearing go forward, apparently to force the Board to conduct the hearing without the benefit of the aforementioned discovery and the testimony of the minor victims." (Ibid.) It is disingenuous, therefore, the Board avers, for petitioner to complain that the testimony offered against him at the hearing on December 6, 2004 consisted of hearsay. (Id. at 4) In this regard, the Board contends that it had been advised by the Prosecutor's Office that "the student victims would not be available to testify due to the pendency of juvenile proceedings arising from the incident." (Id. at 4) Thus, the Board asserts, it acted reasonably in cooperating with the Prosecutor's Office by not seeking to require the student victims to testify at petitioner's disciplinary hearing on December 6, 2004. (Id. at 3) The Board also explains that it acted on December 6, 2004 with respect to the charge against petitioner for assaulting only one of the students because information regarding petitioner's participation in the attack on the other student was not available and the investigation was ongoing. (Id. at 4) The Board contends that it now has copies of discovery from the Prosecutor's Office that includes, among other things, statements from witnesses, the victims, petitioner and two other students charged in the incidents,[2] and that the victims will be available to testify upon the disposition of the pending juvenile delinquency matters, which is expected to occur January 7, 2005. (Ibid.) The Board also asserts that the discovery indicates that petitioner was an active participant in the assault on the other student, an allegation that the Board claims it did not have the opportunity to consider on December 6, 2004. (Id. at 7) Accordingly, the Board asks that petitioner's request for emergent relief and summary judgment be denied and that the matter be remanded to the Board for further hearing or transmitted to the OAL for a de novo hearing. (Ibid.)

With respect to whether petitioner's hearing was conducted in a timely manner, the Board maintains that petitioner's hearing was held within 21 days of his suspension, noting that petitioner did not attend school on November 12, 2004, and that any delay over the weekend between Friday, November 12, when he was notified of the suspension, until Monday, November 15, is de minimus. (Id. at 12) The Board further asserts that there is a good argument that the hearing could have been held as late as December 9, 2004, the date of the second Board meeting after petitioner's suspension. (Ibid.)

On January 5, 2005, petitioner responded to the Board's submission, claiming that the Board "based its response on further 'hearsay' evidence that: 1) was not part of the record below; 2) was never disclosed to Petitioner at any stage of this matter; and 3) was not considered by Respondent when violating petitioner's rights and inflicting the excessive punishment upon him." (Petitioner's Letter Brief of January 5, 2005 at 1) Petitioner also takes issue with what he claims is the Board's attempt to infer that some type of sexual assault occurred, averring that "[p]etitioner has never been charged by any authority with sexual assault (or any variation of a sex crime) nor have any of the juveniles been fully prosecuted under such laws. (Id. at 2) Moreover, petitioner claims that the juvenile cases are nearing conclusion with pleas to de minimus offenses and "the only logical inference to be drawn is that the Prosecutor's Office could not sustain more serious charges and saw the incident for what it was, 'kids fooling around in the locker room that allegedly crossed the line, albeit just barely.'" (Ibid.) With respect to the Board's assertion that it did not have information with respect to petitioner's alleged participation in the assault on the other student victim at the time of petitioner's hearing, petitioner avers that, at the December 6 hearing the investigating officer testified that he had information linking petitioner to the other student victim which did not rise to such a level to lead him to file a complaint against petitioner with respect to the second victim. (Id. at 3) Petitioner further notes that he has not been charged with an assault on the other victim. (Ibid)

[2] The Board attached Exhibits B-G containing excerpts of statements made to the Middlesex County Prosecutor's Office by student witnesses, the alleged victims, two of the charged juveniles and petitioner. These exhibits and the references thereto in the brief have not been considered in making this determination.

Additionally, petitioner contends, inter alia, that proof problems were never discussed with respect to the hearing date and that the timetable for the hearing was open ended, leaving him to sit on his rights until at least January. (Ibid.) Just because he exercised his right to go forward to hearing, petitioner argues, does not mean that he is entitled to less due process. (Ibid.) With respect to the Board's claim that the victims will now be free to testify, petitioner points out that the criminal proceedings against him have not yet begun and it is likely that the same reasons that kept the victims from testifying in the juvenile cases will undoubtedly resurface with the adult prosecutor. (Id. at 4) Finally, petitioner avers that the Board failed to address the issue raised by him that the unreasonable punishment imposed was not supported by the facts. (Id. at 6)

The Board responded by letter brief, dated January 7, 2005, denying petitioner's allegations of impropriety and stating that, despite petitioner's statements to the contrary, the Board did not "attempt to poison the well" in this matter. (Board's Letter Brief of January 7, 2005 at 2) The Board argues that it acted properly in attaching to its brief new information that has since become available from the Prosecutor's Office with respect to the incident that occurred on November 4, 2004, and claims that this new information compels the Board to conduct both further hearings on the initial charges against petitioner and to institute new charges. (Ibid.) Moreover, the Board reasons, the Commissioner should have this information in making his determination as to how to proceed in this matter. (Ibid.)

With respect to petitioner's assertions that the juvenile cases are being handled lightly by the prosecutor, the Board avers that whether or not this is true is irrelevant to the instant matter and that "[t]he Board has legitimate concerns beyond punishment alone, e.g., the provision of a safe school environment for all of its students." (Ibid.) Petitioner further points out that the fact that law enforcement charged petitioner with an assault against only one of the students is of no consequence in this matter as petitioner has been charged with misconduct against one student and new information indicates misconduct toward another. (Id. at 3) Finally, the Board takes issue with petitioner's assertion that there is a veiled undercurrent throughout the Board's papers that some type of sexual assault occurred with a banana, averring that the Board has never accused the students of being sexual offenders, but that it disputes petitioner's characterization of this matter as "kids fooling around in a locker room" as "[t]he perpetrators in this matter did, in fact, capture, restrain and commit undignified assaults on their younger schoolmates." (Ibid.)

Turning initially to the Board's request that the record be sealed to protect the identity of the minor victims and to prevent access by members of the public to additional facts that would cause these students further embarrassment and deprivations of privacy (Board's Response to Petitioner's Motion for Emergent Relief at 8), the Commissioner determines, in the absence of objection by petitioner and given the sensitive nature of the incident underlying this dispute, to grant the Board's request to seal the record in this case. Accordingly, the record of this matter is hereby sealed as of the date of this decision.

Secondly, with respect to petitioner's application for emergent relief, as set forth in the State Board regulations found at N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6, the standard for granting emergent relief is established by Crowe v. DeGioia, 90 N.J. 126 (1982). Emergent relief is considered an extraordinary remedy and may be granted only where necessary to prevent irreparable harm; where the legal right underlying petitioner's claim is settled; where there is a likelihood of success on the merits; and where the relative hardship to the moving party favors granting such relief. Crowe at 132-134.

In addressing irreparable harm, petitioner asserts that he has already been harmed because he has missed over thirty days of school and that each day that passes makes it worse. (Petitioner's Brief in Support of Motion for Emergent Relief at 15) Petitioner also claims that he has been unduly punished for an infraction the school has failed to prove, and that, if it occurred at all, it should have been punished by a five-day suspension, if it was petitioner's third offense, and that "[s]uch a grave injustice comes at a time when Petitioner is applying to colleges, seeking scholarships and charting a course for his future." (Id. at 16) The petitioner, therefore, claims that he has been, and continues to be, damaged by the arbitrary and capricious decision issued against him. (Ibid.)

In response, the Board sets forth its position that petitioner will not suffer irreparable harm if emergent relief is not granted, in that petitioner has been receiving home instruction services since November 19, 2004, and that, at the conclusion of the marking period on January 31, 2005, petitioner will have attained all of the academic credits he needs to graduate in June 2005, with the exception of health, which he can easily complete on home instruction.

(Board's Response to Petitioner's Motion for Emergent Relief at 9) The Board further points out that the social activities petitioner is missing are privileges and that loss of these privileges on a temporary basis does not warrant emergent relief. (Ibid.)

Upon a thorough review of the parties' arguments as set forth above, the Commissioner finds that petitioner cannot establish that he will suffer irreparable harm absent the grant of emergent relief. Petitioner is receiving all the educational services to which he is entitled and petitioner's loss of any social activities are privileges to which petitioner has no entitlement. Moreover, the Commissioner cannot conclude that the Board acted arbitrarily and capriciously in continuing petitioner's suspension, given petitioner's decision to go forward with his hearing before discovery was complete and in light of the serious criminal charges filed against him of holding a younger student in a condition of involuntary servitude, specifically by restraining him, in violation of N.J.S. 2C:13-2b, and committing assault by attempting to cause bodily injury on that same student by restraining him in violation of N.J.S. 2C:12-1a. (Board's Exhibit A, Criminal Complaint, dated November 10, 2004) Notwithstanding petitioner's implication that this incident was "kids fooling around in the locker room that allegedly crossed the line, albeit just barely," and his speculation that "the juvenile cases are nearing conclusion with pleas to de minimus offenses" and 'the only logical inference to be drawn is that the Prosecutor's Office could not sustain more serious charges," the Commissioner observes that the serious charges against petitioner in adult court have not yet been resolved.

The Commissioner, therefore, concludes that petitioner has not met his burden of establishing irreparable harm. In that petitioner is required to satisfy all four prongs of Crowe, supra, for the grant of emergent relief, and given the conclusion that petitioner has failed to establish irreparable harm, it is not necessary to reach a conclusion as to whether petitioner satisfies the other three prongs of Crowe in determining that petitioner's application does not meet the criteria for the grant of the requested relief. Accordingly, petitioner's application for emergent relief is hereby denied.

Turning to petitioner's request for summary decision, the Commissioner concludes that this matter is not amenable to summary decision at this juncture, given the factual disputes raised and the additional information now available with respect to the incident at issue. Accordingly, petitioner's request for summary decision is denied. Moreover, in light of the additional information that is now available to the parties, the Commissioner has determined to grant the Board's request that the matter be remanded to it for further hearing. The Board is, therefore, directed to conduct further disciplinary hearing(s) with respect to the allegations against petitioner and the penalty, if any, to be imposed, commencing within 15 days of the date of this decision.

The Commissioner does not retain jurisdiction.

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed. The parties did not file exceptions.

Upon a careful and independent review of the record in this matter, the Commissioner concurs that the Special Education Settlement attached to the Initial Decision, dated September 29, 2004, fully disposes of this matter as one within the jurisdiction of the Office of Special Education Programs.[1]

Accordingly, the Initial Decision, which finds that this matter does not involve a contested case or controversy within the Commissioner's jurisdiction, is adopted for the reasons expressed therein. The petition in this matter is, therefore, dismissed, with prejudice.

Record Closed: September 29, 2004 Decided: December 7, 2004

BEFORE ISRAEL D. DUBIN, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF CASE

This matter seeking reinstatement of certain academic credits denied to a student deemed eligible for accommodations pursuant to Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, 29 U.S.C.A. § 794, was filed with both the Office of Special Education Programs and the Bureau of Controversies and Disputes within the Department of Education. On April 23, 2004, the Commissioner of Education transmitted both filings to the Office of Administrative Law, where the Special Education matter was assigned OAL Docket No. EDS 2630-04 and the regular education matter was assigned OAL Docket No. EDU 2631-04.

In accordance with 20 U.S.C.A. § 1415 and 34 C.F.R. §§ 300.500 – 300.587, the Commissioner requested that this matter be assigned to an Administrative Law Judge for hearing as a Special Education petition for emergent relief and request for due process. In so doing, the Commissioner expressly directed that the matter proceed as a regular education matter only if the Administrative Law Judge concluded that the Office of Special Education Programs did not have jurisdiction.

The Director of the Office of Administrative Law assigned this case to me for hearing. N.J.S.A. 52:14F-5(o) and oral argument on the petition for emergent relief was scheduled for June 28, 2004. However, oral argument was adjourned at the request of both parties, who indicated that they had reached a tentative settlement based upon the accommodations the student was to have received pursuant to Section 504. They also asked that the matter be held in abeyance while they negotiated the final terms of that settlement.

The parties subsequently finalized the settlement agreement, the terms of which were reduced to writing in the Settlement Agreement and General Release appended to the Decision – Special Education Settlement dated September 29, 2004, a copy of which is attached hereto. The Decision fully disposed of this matter as one within the jurisdiction of the Office of Special Education Programs. Therefore, consistent with the Commissioner's instructions, I CONCLUDE that the matter bearing an OAL Docket No. of EDU 2631-04 and Agency Reference No. of 141-4/04 should be dismissed with prejudice as not involving a contested case or controversy within the jurisdiction of the Department of Education. It is so ORDERED.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen (13) days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT AND GENERAL RELEASE

This Settlement Agreement and General Release ("Release") dated this 12th day of July ~~April~~, 2004 is between

The Petitioner, D. B. on behalf of her minor child, A.B., and

The Respondent, MOORESTOWN TOWNSHIP BOARD OF EDUCATION, together referred to as the "Parties."

RECEIVED
2004 JUL 14 A 11: 15
STATE OF NEW JERSEY
OFFICE OF ADMIN LAW

BACKGROUND

D.B., on behalf of her minor child, A.B. filed two petitions, one for due process seeking relief under §504, as well as a petition of appeal before the Commissioner of Education requesting emergency relief based on the alleged improper actions of Respondent in denying A.B. academic credit. Respondent has denied any improper actions.

A.B. has moved to, and enrolled in, the Haddonfield Public School District, and has expressed her intention not to return to Respondent's district. As a result of her academic ineligibility, A.B. has been unable to play softball for the Haddonfield Public School District. In the interest of avoiding the expense and inconvenience of continued litigation, the parties have determined to amicably resolve their differences as follows:

1. Release: A) Petitioners give up any and all claims and/or rights which Petitioners have or may have against Respondent, which claims were raised or could have been raised in connection with two Petitions entitled D.B. on behalf of her minor child, A.B., Petitioners, v. MOORESTOWN TOWNSHIP BOARD OF EDUCATION, Respondent, one filed in the Office of Special Education, New Jersey, and another, with the identical caption, filed before the Bureau of Controversies and Disputes, ("Petitions").

This Release applies to claims resulting from anything which has happened up to now, as same relate to the claims in the Petitions, and specifically, any and all claims of any kind, whether contractual, common law or statutory, including but not limited to all claims for injunctive relief for alleged discrimination in violation of Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, 29 U.S.C.§794(a), as well as recovery for damages, costs and attorneys fees under the Family Education Rights and Privacy Act, 20 U.S.C. §1232g, et seq., 29 U.S.C. §794(a), 42 U.S.C. §1983, 42 U.S.C. §1988, 29 U.S.C. §705(20), N.J.A.C. 6A:14-3.5, the Individuals with Disabilities In Education Act ("IDEA"), 20 U.S.C. §1400, et seq., and N.J.A.C. 6A:14-3.5 and/or N.J.A.C. 6A:14-3.6, Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act, 29 U.S.C. §705(8), the Americans with Disabilities Act, 42 U.S.C. §12132, et seq., the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, 20 U.S.C. §7801, Title II of the Americans with Disabilities Act, 42 U.S.C. §12132, et seq., N.J.A.C. 6A:14-1.1, et seq., N.J.A.C. 6A:14-3.7, Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, 42 U.S.C. §2000, et seq., the Americans with Disabilities Act, 42 U.S.C. §621, et seq., all as amended, any statutes of New Jersey, including but not limited to the New Jersey Law Against Discrimination, N.J.S.A. 10:5-1, et seq., or any other claims which have been or could have been asserted by Petitioners or on the behalf of Petitioners in any forum arising out of or connected with A.B.'s education with the Respondent, and from all liability whatsoever with respect thereto, whether known or unknown, and to the extent permitted by applicable law, as of now.

Petitioners specifically, but not by way of limitation, release the following claims: any and all claims for counsel fees and costs arising from or in the course of Petitioners' education by the Respondent as of now.

It is specifically understood that Respondent, by agreeing to this compromise and settlement, in no way admits liability of any kind to Petitioners. Petitioners understand that Respondent has not agreed or promised to do or omit to do any act or thing not contained in this Release.

Petitioners represent that they have not filed, and promise that they will not file, any other Petition, administrative charge or any other claim or complaint relating to Petitioners' education by the Respondent and the claims and/or rights referred to above, and Petitioners agree that any such Petition, charge, claim or complaint, if filed, shall be dismissed immediately with prejudice.

Petitioners represent and acknowledge that in executing this Release, Petitioners do not rely and have not relied upon any representation or statement not set forth herein made by the Respondent or its attorneys with regard to the subject matter, basis or effect of this Release or otherwise.

B) Respondent shall immediately excuse the appropriate absences based on the medical documentation provided to Respondent, and shall restore A..B.'s academic credit for the two courses previously denied credit. A revised transcript restoring the academic credits in question, with raised seal, has been, or promptly will be, issued to Petitioners.

Respondent represents and acknowledges that in executing this Release, Respondent does not rely and has not relied upon any representation or statement not set forth herein made by the Petitioners or her attorneys with regard to the subject matter, basis or effect of this Release or otherwise.

2. Consideration: Petitioners agree to dismiss the Petitions referred to above with prejudice in return for the restoration of academic credits in accordance with the agreements contained herein. Petitioners agree that they will not seek anything further, including any payment from or on behalf of Respondent, specifically any payment of attorney's fees and costs.

Since A.B. has moved to the Haddonfield Public School District, and in lieu of continuing her education at Respondent, the Moorestown Township School District, and accepting the services and accommodations provided, D.B. and A.B. have withdrawn A.B. from Respondent, the Moorestown Township School District.

D.B., PARENT OF A.B., AND A.B. UNDERSTAND AND ACKNOWLEDGE THAT A.B. IS ENTITLED TO A THOROUGH AND EFFICIENT EDUCATION TO BE PROVIDED BY THE RESPONDENT, PURSUANT TO THE NEW JERSEY CONSTITUTION AND N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1. D.B. AND A.B. ALSO UNDERSTAND AND ACKNOWLEDGE THAT A.B. IS ENTITLED TO SUCH AN EDUCATION BY THE RESPONDENT UNTIL A.B. GRADUATES FROM HIGH SCHOOL OR UNTIL A.B.'S TWENTY FIRST BIRTHDAY, WHICHEVER EVENT COMES FIRST.

Notwithstanding these rights, D.B. and A.B., with full knowledge of these rights, and with a deliberate intent to relinquish and/or surrender these rights, HEREBY WAIVE SUCH RIGHTS.

D.B., parent of A.B., and A.B., from and after the date of this Release, agree that A.B. shall no longer be carried on the rolls as a student of the Moorestown Township School District, and shall not be entitled to any further services or accommodations from the Moorestown Township School District; and, D.B. and A.B. hereby release and discharge Respondent from any further responsibility or obligations under previous, temporary §504 plans, agreements, the IDEA or otherwise.

Respondent agrees that A.B.'s student records shall be maintained in accordance with the law, including N.J.A.C. 6:3-6.1 through N.J.A.C. 6:3-6.8, 34 C.F.R. § 99, and 20 U.S.C. § 1232g (Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974).

3. In the Event of Breach: In the event that Petitioners breach this Agreement, or otherwise seek to bring a claim that is waived and released herein, Respondent will be entitled, without releasing any of its rights hereunder, to obtain all other relief provided by law or equity in addition to the Respondent's attorneys' fees and costs.

In the event the Respondent breaches this Agreement, or otherwise seeks to bring a claim that is waived and released herein, Petitioners will be entitled, without releasing any of their rights hereunder, to obtain any and all relief provided by law or equity, in addition to Petitioners' attorneys' fees and costs.

4. Partial Invalidity/Severability: If any section of this Release should be held invalid by operation of law or by a tribunal of competent jurisdiction, or if compliance with or enforcement of any section is restrained by such tribunal, the application of any and all other sections, other than those which have been held invalid, shall not be affected.

5. Miscellaneous: All executed copies of this Release, and photocopies thereof, shall have the same force and effect and shall be as legally binding and enforceable as the original.

6. Entire Release; Amendments: This is the complete and final Release between the Parties with respect to any subject matter of this Release. No representations, warranties or promises have been made by or to any party to this Release with respect to the subject matter of the Release other than as expressly set forth herein. In deciding whether to enter into this Release, Petitioners are not relying on any promises, statements or representations other than those that are expressly set forth herein. This Release shall not be modified or amended except by a further written Release signed by the Parties.

This Release shall be construed as having been entered into and made in the State of New Jersey and shall be governed by and construed in accordance with the laws of the State of New Jersey.

7. Settlement of Action: In consideration for the promises made by the Parties as set forth in this Release, the Petitioners hereby release and give up any and all claims and rights, known and unknown, as of now, which are related in any way to the subject matter referenced in this Release and in the Petitions filed on behalf of Petitioners, D.B. on behalf of her minor child, A.B., as referenced in paragraph 1 of this Release.

8. Signatures: PETITIONERS, BY SIGNING THIS RELEASE, UNDERSTAND AND INTEND THAT PETITIONERS HAVE WAIVED ALL CLAIMS AGAINST RESPONDENT, INCLUDING ALL CLAIMS FOR PAYMENT OF ATTORNEYS FEES AND COSTS AND CERTIFY THAT PETITIONERS ENTER INTO THIS RELEASE KNOWINGLY, VOLUNTARILY AND AFTER HAVING CONSULTED WITH AND HAVING THE OPPORTUNITY TO CONSULT WITH PETITIONERS' ATTORNEY AND REVIEW THIS DOCUMENT IN ITS ENTIRETY.

RESPONDENT, BY SIGNING THIS RELEASE, CERTIFIES THAT RESPONDENT ENTERS INTO THIS RELEASE KNOWINGLY, VOLUNTARILY AND AFTER HAVING CONSULTED WITH AND HAVING THE OPPORTUNITY TO CONSULT WITH RESPONDENT'S ATTORNEYS AND REVIEW THIS DOCUMENT IN ITS ENTIRETY.

ANNE MARIE ABERCROMBIE,	:
PETITIONER,	:
V.	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE CITY OF ELIZABETH, UNION COUNTY,	:	DECISION
RESPONDENT.	:

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed. Petitioner's exceptions were filed in accordance with the requirements of N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4. The Board did not file reply exceptions.

Petitioner's exceptions reiterate her argument advanced below, i.e., the letter she received from the district on June 7, 1999 only denied her workers compensation benefits and did not address or operate to deny sick leave benefits, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:30-2.1, which she, at that point in time, had never requested. Petitioner, therefore, urges reversal of the Initial Decision.

Upon his full and independent review, the Commissioner concurs with the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) that, pursuant to Verneret v. BOE Elizabeth, 95 N.J.A.R. 2d (EDU) 134, petitioner's claim for benefits under N.J.S.A. 18A:30-2.1 is untimely since it was not filed within the 90 days prescribed by N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(d)(1). The Commissioner further finds that the record before him reveals no unusual or compelling circumstance which would warrant the relaxation of the 90-day rule, and, therefore, as concluded by the ALJ, the instant petition of appeal must be dismissed.

It is noted that in Verneret the State Board was clear in its holding that, even if an alleged work-related injury is also the subject of a workers' compensation action, an individual seeking to claim benefits under N.J.S.A. 18A:30-2.1 must file a petition before the Commissioner of Education within 90 days of the district board's action that has the effect of denying benefits to petitioner. It further held that strict adherence to this regulatory timeline was required even if the Commissioner chose to defer exercise of his jurisdiction to hear the school law claim until the conclusion of the workers' compensation case. Here, the action of respondent which operated to trigger the running of the 90-day timeline of N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(d)(1) was when petitioner received notice, in June 1999, that her absences on the dates at issue would be treated as ones due to personal illness, rather than work-related illness, and these days were deducted from petitioner's accumulated sick leave bank. Contrary to the position espoused by petitioner, the fact that she did not specifically apply to the Board for benefits pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:30-2.1 in 1999 is of no moment. The very nature of the Board's determination and action at this time served to advise her unequivocally that any claim she might have based on an allegation of a work-related injury was being denied. Consequently, there can be no question that the instant petition, filed in April 2004, some five years after petitioner's receipt of the June 7, 1999 notice from the Board, was time-barred pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(d)(1).

Accordingly, the Initial Decision of the OAL is adopted as the final decision in this matter for the reasons articulated therein, as clarified above, and the instant Petition of Appeal is hereby dismissed.

IT IS SO ORDERED.*

BEFORE STEPHEN G. WEISS, ALJ:

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

This matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) by the Department of Education, Bureau of Controversies and Disputes, on June 23, 2004, following the filing of a Verified Petition by Anne Marie Abercrombie on April 4, 2004, challenging respondent's determination to charge her sick days for a work related injury. According to Abercrombie, this action constituted a violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:30-2.1.

Following receipt of the Answer, the Director, Bureau of Controversies and Disputes, wrote to counsel to request that petitioner submit a letter indicating why the matter should not be dismissed as "untimely" under the State Board's decision in Verneret v. BOE Elizabeth, 95 N.J.A.R. 2d (EDU) 134. Respondent was provided ten days to file a response.

Thereafter, memoranda were submitted by both sides and were included in the file transmitted to the OAL. Thus, the issue to be determined, preliminarily, is whether under the "90 Day Rule" (N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(d)(1)) the Petition was untimely filed and should be dismissed.

In late July 2004, I wrote to counsel noting the pendency of the motion and advising them to let me know whether they intended to submit any additional or supplemental legal memoranda. In reply, counsel for petitioner resubmitted the memorandum he had sent to Director Duncan concerning the Verneret decision. No further submission was received from counsel for the Board.

Finally, by letter dated November 22, 2004, counsel for the Board wrote to advise me that he had provided counsel for petitioner with additional documentation concerning the events surrounding the notice given to petitioner with respect to denial of her claims for benefits, and reiterating the Board's position that her claims were time-barred. Counsel also provided a follow-up letter to the undersigned informing me that since the New Jersey Superior Court, Appellate Division, recently had affirmed a worker's compensation judgment on behalf of the petitioner, there was no issue before me related to whether petitioner's condition was work-related. However, he reiterated that with regard to sick leave injury benefits claimed in the Petition, as was previously argued they were time-barred. The recent decision to which counsel referred, Superior Court, Appellate Division, Docket No. 39-2-8387 (decided November 16, 2004) affirmed that Abercrombie was entitled to the award of partial total pulmonary disability, temporary disability benefits and that a penalty should be assessed against the Board for its delay in paying temporary benefits to her.

DISCUSSION

In the Verified Petition filed by Abercrombie in April 2004, she alleged that after approximately fourteen years of employment by the Board as a teacher, she began to develop disturbing pulmonary symptoms, including difficulty in breathing, a rash, swelling, chest pains and sinus problems, all of which she attributed to the presence of mold. On January 12, 1999, she had been diagnosed with allergic rhinitis and sinusitis and requested a transfer to another school building. That transfer request was denied and she was also advised by the Board's Worker's Compensation Administrator that her claim for worker's compensation benefits also were denied. Thereafter, according to the petition, petitioner was treated by her own doctor, retained an attorney and brought the action which culminated in a decision in the Division of Worker's Compensation in January 2004 determining that her illness arose out of and in the course of her employment with respondent. Thus, she was awarded temporary disability and partial total disability payments, as well as the penalty which the Appellate Division very recently affirmed.

Previously, in a letter dated January 21, 2004, Abercrombie's attorney submitted a claim to respondent on her behalf for sick leave injury benefits under N.J.S.A. 18A:30-2.1 based upon the Worker's Compensation finding that her illness was work-related and stating that she was forced to use 59 and 1/2 sick days during the time of her absence. By letter dated March 31, 2004, her request was denied. Thus, in the Petition filed in April 2004, she asks the Commissioner to order payment of sick leave injury benefits for a period of one year pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:30-2.1, and to order restoration of her 59 and 1/2 sick days, together with attorney fees.

In its Answer, the Board admitted most of the underlying background circumstances, but pointed out that in a letter sent to Abercrombie dated June 7, 1999 (which was attached to the Petition), there had been a final action denying her claim. That June 7, 1999 letter was sent to Abercrombie by David W. Russo, Claims Adjuster, and advised that her claim was denied under N.J.S.A. 34:15-7 and no further benefits of any kind would be paid to her. According to the Board, the Russo letter clearly constituted final notice to petitioner by the Board of a denial of any sick leave related claim and immediately triggered the 90 Day Rule for a petition of appeal to be filed. Thus, the Board argues that any petition filed after September 7, 1999, was out of time. For the following reasons, I agree.

In the Verneret, case, supra, the Commissioner held, and the State Board affirmed, that the filing of a worker's compensation claim does not "toll" the obligation of a teaching staff member seeking sick leave benefits under Title 18A to file a petition with the agency within the regulatory timeline of 90 days. As noted, Abercrombie was made aware in June 1999 that her benefits request had been denied, yet it was not until nearly five years later (April 2004) that she filed the instant petition. Thus, Board counsel points out that if Abercrombie's position is sustained, all an employee has to do to avoid the impact of Verneret and other cases is simply to refrain from making a claim for benefits for as long as he or she wants to, so long as it is not so untimely delayed as to raise the possibility of a "laches" defense. Thus, when she was advised in June 1999 of the benefits' denial, Abercrombie clearly was put on notice that the Board's action was final and from that point she had an obligation to file with the Commissioner within 90 days.

In the memorandum to Director Duncan, counsel for Abercrombie argued that Verneret should not apply since petitioner did not specifically mention "sick leave injury benefits" in her request in January 1999, nor did Russo's denial letter specifically refer to that subject, as such. I disagree with this interpretation. Realistically, there is no doubt that Abercrombie requested the statutory benefits which she now seeks and she was notified in plain and unmistakable terms that they were denied. Verneret is not distinguishable simply because the board there had begun to pay sick leave injury benefits and only later determined they should be stopped. The fact that no benefits were paid to Abercrombie is irrelevant - the critical factor is the adequacy of the notification she received that they would not be paid. That denial, contrary to counsel's assertion in his memorandum, was not "vague" and contrary to counsel's claim, the Board's reliance upon Verneret and other cases does not constitute "legal gymnastics". In 1999 petitioner requested that she receive benefits to which she believed she was entitled, including sick leave injury benefits. In June 1999 her request was denied and she never pursued the issue until 2004. To allow Abercrombie to wait nearly five years before filing a petition raising a claim for sick leave injury benefits under Title 18A is not tolerable.

Indeed, what Abercrombie is attempting to do is precisely what I determined was no longer appropriate in an initial decision which I issued in 1996 in Mederios v. State-Operated School District of Jersey City, Hudson County, 97 N.J.A.R. 2d (EDU) 276. In that case I noted that the Verneret decision clarified some arguably existing confusion by holding that even if an alleged work-related injury also is the subject of a worker's compensation petition, any school law claim under N.J.S.A. 18A:30-2.1 must still be filed within ninety days of the Board's denial under the predecessor 90-Day Rule (N.J.A.C. 6:24-1.2(c)). I also went on to note in Mederios that although previous school law decisions apparently had been construed by some to mean that a companion Title 18A claim need not be filed until after the Worker's Compensation case was decided,* Verneret put that notion firmly to rest.

Clearly then, under the circumstances in this case, the exchange of correspondence between Abercrombie and Russo in 1999 constituted adequate final notice to her of the denial of any claim she might have for sick leave injury benefits and absent compelling reasons to relax the "90 Day Rule", under the decisions in Verneret, Mederios and other cases cited by counsel, her Verified Petition must be DISMISSED as untimely filed pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(d)(1).

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

*Also involved in Mederios, supra, was the issue of prospective vs. retroactive application of the State Board decision in Verneret. That issue, of course, does not exist here. Nor has petitioner raised any issue of "relaxation" in the event the regulatory limitations period applies.

Within thirteen (13) days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

BEFORE ISRAEL D. DUBIN, ALJ:

This matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law on September 12, 2002 for determination as a contested case, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13. Upon receipt, the matter was assigned OAL Docket No. 6437-02. The hearing was scheduled for and commenced on May 16, 2003. However, the parties subsequently met and negotiated a "SEPARATION AGREEMENT/RELEASE" that obviated the necessity of completing the hearing.

NEW JERSEY IS AN EQUAL OPPORTUNITY EMPLOYER

By Initial Decision – Settlement dated July 1, 2004, I found that the parties had voluntarily agreed to the settlement as had been evidenced by their signatures and/or representatives' signatures and that the settlement fully disposed of all issues in controversy and was consistent with the law. Consequently, I concluded that the agreement met the requirements of N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1, approved the settlement, ordered the parties to comply with the terms of the settlement, and closed the file in this matter.

By Decision dated August 5, 2004, the Commissioner of Education found that the President of the City of Perth Amboy Board of Education had signed the "Separation Agreement/Release." However, he also found that neither the file nor the settlement agreement contained a copy of the Board's resolution approving the settlement and designating the Board President to sign the agreement on its behalf. Since the agreement had not been signed by the Board attorney either, the Commissioner concluded that he could not approve it and ordered the matter remanded to the OAL for revision of the agreement.

Under cover letter of December 1, 2004, the Board's attorney submitted a copy of the Minutes for the March 31, 2004 Board of Education meeting in which the Board accepted petitioner's resignation effective July 1, 2004, "for the purpose of retirement," as well as a revised copy of the "SEPARATION AGREEMENT/RELEASE" signed by him. Since the agreement has now been signed by Philip E. Stern, Esq., the Board's counsel and duly authorized representative in this litigation, I CONCLUDE that it fully conforms with the requirements of N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1 and should be approved.

Accordingly, it is ORDERED that the parties comply with the terms of the "SEPARATION AGREEMENT/RELEASE" and that these proceedings be and are hereby concluded.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. STATE OF NEW JERSEY
OFFICE OF ADMIN LAW

This Separation Agreement and Release ("Separation Agreement") is made this day of March, 2004 by and between Brenda Stith ("Ms. Stith"), and the Board of Education of the City of Perth Amboy ("Board").

RECITALS

WHEREAS, Ms. Stith is an employee of the Board, serving as a tenured teaching staff member; and

WHEREAS, the Board and Ms. Stith have concluded that, effective at the close of business on June 30, 2004, Ms. Stith shall retire and/or resign from employment with the Board; and

WHEREAS, the Board and Ms. Stith desire to resolve amicably and in good faith all matters and issues arising out of Ms. Stith's employment relationship with the Board;

NOW, THEREFORE, in consideration of the foregoing and in consideration of their respective rights and obligations set forth herein and for other good and sufficient consideration, receipt of which is hereby acknowledged, Ms. Stith and the Board agree as follows:

ARTICLE I
Retirement and/or Resignation and Release

1. Retirement and/or Resignation From Employment – Ms. Stith and the Board hereby agree that, effective at the close of business on June 30, 2004, Ms. Stith shall retire and/or resign from her employment with the Board.

2. Mutual Releases – In return for their obligations pursuant to this Separation Agreement, Ms. Stith and the Board hereby release and discharge each other as well as any and all of their former and current trustees, officers, employees, agents, contractors, representatives, predecessors, successors and assigns, as well as their heirs, executors and administrators, from liability on or for all claims, demands, causes of action, damages, costs, expenses, accounts, contracts, agreements, promises, compensation and all other liabilities of any kind or nature whatsoever, direct or indirect, known or unknown, which they may have had, now as or may hereafter have for any reason whatsoever on account or arising out of or in consequence of their employment relationship, including, but not limited to:

A. Any pending litigation, including, but not limited to Brenda Stith v. Perth Amboy Board of Education, Office of Administrative Law Docket Number EDUOR 06437-02s, Agency Reference Number 246-8/02, which the parties agree will be withdrawn and dismissed, with prejudice upon execution of this Agreement..

B. Any claims or actions under Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, the Age Discrimination and Employment Act, the Worker Adjustment and Retraining Notification Act, the Public Employee Relations Act the Employee Retirement Income Security Act, the Older Worker's Benefit Act, the Americans With Disabilities Act, the Family and Medical Leave Act, the National Labor Relations Act, the Fair Labor Standards Act, Section 1981-1988 of Title 42 of the United States Code, the Equal Pay Act of 1963, the Vocational Rehabilitation Act of 1973, the Occupational Safety and Health Act of 1977; the Education Laws and Regulations;

C. Any other claims or actions under the New Jersey Equal Pay Act, the New Jersey Law Against Discrimination, the New Jersey Wage-Hour and Wage-Payment Laws, the New Jersey Worker Health and Safety Act, the New Jersey Family Leave Act, the New Jersey Conscientious Employee Protection Act; which they ever had, or have or hereafter can, shall or may have against each other for, upon or by reason of any act, omission, transaction or occurrence up to and including the effective date of this Separation Agreement.

Ms. Stith does not waive or release her right to seek indemnity pursuant to NJSA 18A:16-6 and/or NJSA 18A:16-6.1 in the event of a claim or accusation by a third party. Nothing in this release shall be construed as waiving or releasing the Board's right to assert any defenses it may have to such a claim or indemnity.

ARTICLE II
Terms of Settlement

2.1 Retirement and/or Resignation - Simultaneously upon the execution of this Separation Agreement, Ms. Stith shall submit an irrevocable letter of retirement and/or resignation, effective at the close of business on June 30, 2004.

2.2 Consideration - As consideration for Ms. Stith's retirement and/or resignation and Release as set forth herein, the Board agrees to the following:

a.) Contemporaneously upon the signing of this Agreement, the Board shall reinstate Ms. Stith's salary increment which was withheld for the 2002-2003 school year. Within thirty (30) days of the signing of this Agreement, the Board shall pay Ms. Stith the sum of one thousand eight hundred fifty ($1,850.00), representing the amount lost as a result of the increment withholding set forth above.

b.) Upon Ms. Stith's retirement and/or resignation from the Board, Ms. Stith shall receive all benefits and emoluments due her pursuant to the Collective Bargaining Agreement between the Board and the Perth Amboy Federation/AFT Local 857, AFT, NJSFT, AFL-CIO.

c.) The Board will expunge and remove from Ms. Stith's personnel file and its records any alleged incidents where she has been accused or charged with improper distribution of student grades.

d.) The Board will expunge and remove from Ms. Stith's personnel file and its records any references to the disciplinary charge and decision to withhold her increment raise for the 2002-2003 school year.

e.) As consideration for the above, the Board shall pay Mr. Stith the additional sum of twenty thousand ($20,000.00) dollars within thirty f.) The Board shall furnish Ms. Stith with a letter of recommendation.

(30) days following her retirement and/or resignation from the Board on June 30, 2004.

Ms. Stith expressly acknowledges and represents that she will neither seek nor be entitled to any further consideration from the Board in connection with this Separation Agreement other than the consideration as detailed in this subsection.

ARTICLE III
Miscellaneous

3.1. Entire Agreement – This Separation Agreement sets forth the entire agreement between the parties with respect to the subject matter hereof and supersedes any and all prior agreements relating thereto. There are no other understandings or agreements between or among the parties with respect to the subject matter hereof, except as set forth herein, and as set forth in any other documents executed directly or in connection with this Separation Agreement. No condition or provision of this Separation Agreement may be modified, waived or revised in any way except in writing executed by all parties and referring specifically to this Separation Agreement.

3.2. No Admissions – Nothing contained in this Separation Agreement shall be construed to constitute an admission or acknowledgment by any party hereto of any wrongful or improper conduct, nor of any liability to any other party.

3.3 Binding Effect – This Separation Agreement and all rights and duties set forth herein shall be binding upon and inure to the benefit of the parties hereto, as well as their respective successors and assigns.

3.4 Governing Law and Choice of Forum – This Separation Agreement and its interpretation and performance shall be governed by the laws of the State of New Jersey, without giving effect to its conflicts of law rules.

3.5 Captions – The captions set forth in this Separation Agreement are intended solely for the parties' convenience and ease of reference and are not intended to modify, limit, describe or affect in any way the scope, content or intent or this Separation Agreement.

3.6 Signature in Counterpart – This Separation Agreement may be executed simultaneously in counterparts, each of which shall be deemed to be an original, but all of which shall constitute one and the same instrument.

3.7 Authorization – The Board hereby represents and warrants that the undersigned officer of the Board is fully authorized to execute this Separation Agreement on the Board's behalf.

3.8 Acknowledgments – The parties to this Separation Agreement acknowledge and agree that they have entered into this Separation Agreement and have executed it without duress or coercion, and have done so with the opportunity to consult counsel. Each party further acknowledges and agrees that no other party has made representations, warranties, promises or agreements not set forth herein and no party relies in any way upon any representation, warranty, statement of fact or opinion, understanding, disclosure or non-disclosure not set forth herein in entering into this Separation Agreement and executing it, no party has been induced in any way, except for the consideration, representations, warranties, statements and covenants recited herein, to enter into this Separation Agreement.

2.9 Construction and Enforcement – The terms of this Separation Agreement are the product of negotiations between the parties, and shall be construed without regard to any presumption or other rule requiring construction against the party causing this Separation Agreement to be drafted.

3.10 Confidentiality -- The parties agree, with respect to the confidentiality of this Agreement, to the extent permitted by applicable law and regulation, not to disclose or cause to be disclosed to, directly or indirectly, any person the existence of or terms of this Agreement.

OAL Docket No.: EDU-OR 06437-02S
Agency Ref. No.: 246-8/02

Dear Judge Dubin:

As you are aware, we are the attorneys for the Perth Amboy Board of Education ("Board") in the above-referenced matter. Pursuant to the August 5, 2004, Commissioner's Decision, please find enclosed the minutes of the March 31, 2004, meeting of the Board, in which the Board authorized execution of the settlement agreement in this case.

As Your Honor will see from the enclosed Board minutes, the Board unanimously passed the following:

"1). Acceptance of the following resignations:

c). Brenda Stith, Science Teacher, Perth Amboy High School, effective July 1, 2004, for the purpose of retirement. Contingent upon execution of Separation Agreement.

Geneske	Gonzalez
Motion	Seconded	CARRIED UNANIMOUSLY

Board Minutes of March 31, 2004 (emphasis added).

On behalf of the Board, I trust that the attached minutes will satisfy the Commissioner's requirement for "a copy of the Board's resolution approving the settlement and designating the Board President to sign the agreement on its behalf."

Moreover, the undersigned has also executed the settlement agreement, an original of which is attached hereto for Your Honor's reference.

Please let me know if I can be of any further assistance to Your Honor in finally resolving this matter. Best wishes for a healthy and happy holiday season.

Respectfully submitted,

The record of this matter, the proposed Stipulation of Settlement, and Initial Decision issued by the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1, have been reviewed.

Upon review, the Commissioner is unable to approve settlement of this matter at the present time. Notwithstanding that the Stipulation was signed by counsel for both parties, one of its terms (Paragraph 18) expressly states that "[t]his Stipulation must be approved by the Board by resolution prior to being effective and final." Because the record contains no indication whatsoever that such approval actually occurred, and because acceptance by the Commissioner would render this agreement a final decision pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1(d), the Commissioner must ensure that the Board has, in fact, approved the settlement prior to his own acceptance of it.

Accordingly, this matter is remanded to the OAL for appropriate Board action, or supplementation of the record, as the case may be, in light of this decision. Should the parties be unable to reach agreement for submission to the Commissioner, the matter shall proceed to hearing.

BEFORE JAMES W. FAISON, III, ALJ:

This matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law on August 20, 2004, for determination as a contested case, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13.

The parties have agreed to a settlement and have prepared a Stipulation of Settlement indicating the terms thereof, which is attached and fully incorporated herein.

I have reviewed the record and the terms of settlement and I FIND:

1. The parties have voluntarily agreed to the settlement as evidenced by their signatures or their representatives' signatures.

2. The settlement fully disposes of all issues in controversy and is consistent with the law.

I CONCLUDE that this agreement meets the requirements of N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1 and that the settlement should be approved. I approve the settlement and therefore ORDER that the parties comply with the settlement terms and that these proceedings be concluded.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

STEPHEN J. BLEISTINE, Petitioner, v. BLACKHORSE PIKE REGIONAL SCHOOL DISTRICT Respondent.	BEFORE COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION OF THE STATE OF NEW JERSEY OAL Docket No.: EDU-06665-2004S Agency Ref. No.: 253-7/04 CIVIL ACTION STIPULATION OF SETTLEMENT

The Blackhorse Pike Regional School District, hereinafter referred to as "Board," with offices located at 580 Erial Road, Blackwood, New Jersey 08012, represented by John D. Wade Esq., at 1250 Chews Landing Road, Laurel Springs, New Jersey 08021 and Stephen J. Bleistine, hereinafter referred to as Mr. Bleistine, whose residence is located at 4 Greenbriar Road, Mullica Hill, New Jersey 08062, represented by Robert M. Schwartz, Esq. with offices located at 12 Centre Drive, Monroe Township, New Jersey 08831, by way of this Stipulation of Agreement say:

WHEREAS, on or about July 23, 2004 Mr. Bleistine initiated a contested case in the Office of Administrative Law with the filing of a Petition of Appeal challenging the Board's withholding of increment for the 2004-2005 school term, which took affect on July 1, 2004, and

WHEREAS, the outcome of this matter is uncertain, and

WHEREAS, both parties are expected to incur further extensive litigation, and

WHEREAS, both parties believe that an amicable settlement is in their respective best interests,

NOW, THEREFORE, in consideration of the agreements and covenants and conditions contained herein, the adequacy and sufficiency of which is hereby expressed and acknowledged by the parties hereto, the parties agree as follows:

1. Mr. Bleistine shall withdraw his petition of appeal contesting the Board's increment withholding for the 2004-2005 school term.

2. Mr. Bleistine shall forward to the Board a letter of resignation to be made effective at the end of the day on June 30, 2005.

3. In consideration therefore, the Board agrees to immediately reinstate Mr. Bleistine's employment and adjustment increment, consisting of $4,500.00, retroactive to July 1, 2004.

4. Commencing on September 7, 2004 Mr. Bleistine shall begin a medical leave of absence. In this regard, Mr. Bleistine shall provide to the Board a physician's note explaining the need for the medical leave of absence, and by execution of this Agreement, upon receipt of a physician's note requesting same, the Board agrees to provide Mr. Bleistine the requested medical leave of absence.

5. For the balance of the 2004-2005 school term, commencing on or about September 7th, 2004 through June 30, 2005, Mr. Bleistine shall remain on a medical leave of absence during which time he shall receive his full compensation, inclusive of the increment withheld by the Board for the 2004-2005 school term, together with all benefits and emoluments he is entitled to in accordance with his contract and collective bargaining agreement, with the exception of vacation days, sick days and personal days,

6. In the event that Mr. Bleistine obtains other employment with another school district requiring his release of employment with the Board, the Board agrees to provide such release of employment, which shall result in a commensurate modificat n of his termination date of June 30 with any balance of his salary compensation to be paid by the Board in no more than two installments, the last installment of which to be paid no later than August 1, 2005.

7. The Board further agrees that if any prospective employee requests a reference from the Board, or from any agent of the Board, it will provide a reference for and on behalf of Mr. Bleistine, in accordance with the central office policy which is to provide the date(s) of employment, position held, certificate required and the salary paid. In no event shall the Board, or any of its agents, transmit or communicate in any way whatsoever a negative reference of Mr. Bleistine, the commission of which shall be a material breach of this Agreement. Agents of the Board shall mean the/a person acting in an official capacity sanctioned by the Board to give references to prospective employers.

8. In consideration of the benefits and payments made pursuant to this Agreement, Mr. Bleistine, personally and for his estate and/or his heirs, and the Board, on behalf of its collective officials, agents, administrators, employees and representatives, each waive, release and give up any and all claims, demands, obligations, damages, liabilities, causes of action and rights in law or in equity, known or unknown, each may have against the, based upon any act, event or omission occurring before the execution of this stipulation, including, but not limited to any events related to, arising from or in connection with Mr. Bleistine's employment and/or association with any of the parties subject to this release. Specifically, as to the release to the Board by Mr. Bleistine it shall include the Board's agents, employees, and officers, in their official capacity and in their individual capacity.

9. It is expressly understood that neither the execution of this stipulation, nor any other action taken in connection with the release provided by both parties and this settlement agreement constitutes an admission.

10. This stipulation contains the sole and entire agreement among the parties hereto, and fully supercedes any and all prior agreements and understandings pertaining to the subject matter hereof. No other promises or agreements shall be binding, unless in writing, signed by the parties hereto and expressly stated to represent an amendment to this stipulation.

11. This stipulation shall be governed by and be construed in accordance with the laws of the State of New Jersey.

12. This stipulation may be executed in counter parts. The parties agree that any action to enforce or interpret this Stipulation shall only be brought in a court of competent jurisdiction in the State of New Jersey, which the parties hereby acknowledge and agree to be the Superior Court of New Jersey, venued in Camden County.

13. Mr. Bleistine and the Board acknowledge that they have been represented by and have consulted with counsel throughout the negotiations of the terms of this Stipulation and that they have each have reviewed the Stipulation in detail with their respective counsel and that they each fully understand its requirements and limitations.

14. Mr. Bleistine hereby states that he is signing this Stipulation voluntarily, of his own free will, and not under duress or coercion of any kind. Mr. Bleistine also states that he is satisfied with the representation provided by his counsel.

15. This Stipulation shall be construed fairly and according to the plain language of its terms.

16. If its determined that a specific clause(s) of this Stipulation is/are illegal under Federal or State Law, then the remainder of the Stipulation not affected by such a ruling shall remain in full force and effect.

17. This Stipulation and each of its provision binds the parties to this Stipulation. Anyone who succeeds to their rights and responsibilities, such as their successors and assigns also are bound. This Stipulation is made for the benefit of all parties hereto and all who may succeed to their rights and responsibilities, and expressly includes their officials, representatives, employees, agents, attorneys, successors and assigns.

18. This Stipulation must be approved by the Board by resolution prior to being effective and final.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the parties hereto set their hands to the Stipulation as follows:

vs.	AGENCY REF. NO. 385-11/02
	OAL DKT. NO. EDU 1354-03N
WOOD-RIDGE BOARD OF EDUCATION,
Respondent.	STIPULATION OF SETTLEMENT

This Stipulation of Settlement is made by and between the petitioner, Carol Gottlieb (hereinafter 'Ms. Gottlieb") residing at 245 Rock Avenue, Park Ridge, New Jersey 07656, and the Wood-Ridge Board of Education (hereinafter "the Board"), with its offices located at 89 Hackensack Street, Wood-Ridge, New Jersey 07075. In consideration of the mutual promises and undertakings contained in this Agreement, and for good and valuable consideration, the receipt of which is hereby acknowledged, the undersigned state:

WHEREAS, Ms. Gottlieb has been employed by the Board since September 1, 1996; and,

WHEREAS, Ms. Gottlieb gained tenure as the result of her employment with the Board; and

WHEREAS, Ms. Gottlieb filed a verified petition with the Commissioner of Education alleging that the Board's assignment of English as a Second Language ("E.S.L.") instructional classes to her for the 2002-2003 school year violated her tenure rights as a guidance counselor; and

WHEREAS, the Board filed an answer to the petition denying that it violated Ms. Gottlieb's tenure rights; and

WHEREAS, for the 2003-2004 school year, the Board has appointed Ms. Gottlieb as a full-time guidance counselor and she is not being required to teach any E.S.L. classes; and

WHEREAS, the parties have expressed a desire to reach an amicable resolution of this matter; and

NOW, THEREFORE, the parties hereby agree to the following terms on this _____ day of _____, 2004:

1. The Board intends to continue the appointment of Ms. Gottlieb as a full-time guidance counselor for the 2003-2004 school year.

2. Based on the current status of Ms. Gottlieb's assignment for the 2003-2004 school year, the parties acknowledge that the underlying dispute is now moot because Ms. Gottlieb is presently in the position requested in the petition and there is no claim for additional salary or benefits.

3. The parties agree that this action will be dismissed without prejudice.

4. The parties agree that, except as provided in this Agreement, the dismissal of this action shall not limit or restrict in any way, the ability of the petitioner to file and pursue any future actions before the Commissioner of Education based upon an alleged future violation of her tenure and/or seniority rights.

5. The parties agree that, except as provided by this Agreement, the dismissal of this action shall not prevent, limit or restrict the Board in any way in the presentation of its defenses against any future actions brought by Ms. Gottlieb before the Commissioner of Education alleging a violation of her tenure and/or seniority rights.

6. Ms. Gottlieb acknowledges that she has been advised that she has the right to consult with an attorney or a representative of her own choosing prior to signing this Agreement, and has done so, and that she signs this Agreement as her own voluntary act and deed, and that she fully understands the duties and obligations enumerated herein.

7. The undersigned representatives of the Board hereby acknowledges that the terms and conditions of this Agreement was ratified by the Respondent, Board of Education at its April 28, 2004 meeting as indicated by the Board minutes attached hereto and made a part hereof as Exhibit A.

8. All terms of this Agreement are deemed material. This document may not be altered, amended, modified or revoked, except by an instrument executed in writing by the parties.

9. Both parties acknowledge that their agreement to dismiss the petition is subject to the approval of the Office of Administrative Law and the Commissioner of Education. If such approval is not given, this Agreement and all of the stipulations, releases and acknowledgements shall be rendered null and void and the parties shall be returned to the status quo existing prior to this Agreement.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the parties have hereunto set their hands and seals the date and year aforesaid.

BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE BOROUGH OF MILFORD, HUNTERDON COUNTY,	:
PETITIONER,	:
V.	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
NEW JERSEY STATE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION,	:	DECISION
RESPONDENT.	:

The record and the Initial Decision issued by the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed. Petitioner's exceptions and respondent's reply thereto were submitted in accordance with N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4,[1] and were considered by the Deputy Commissioner to whom this matter has been delegated for decision, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:4-33, in reaching his decision to remand this matter to the OAL for revision of the Initial Decision, and/or further proceedings as necessary, for the reasons set forth below.[2]

Upon a thorough review of the Initial Decision, the Deputy Commissioner finds that the ALJ: 1) failed to set forth any explanation as to his reasoning in concluding that the

[1] Notwithstanding petitioner's assertion in its letter of January 12, 2005 that respondent's reply exceptions, filed on January 7, 2005, were not timely, as respondent correctly points out in its responsive letter of January 14, 2005, N.J.A.C. 1:1-1.4 specifies that "[i]n computing any period of time fixed by rule or judicial order, the day of the act or event from which the designated period begins to run is not to be included" and further provides that "[i]n computing a period of time of less than seven days, Saturday, Sunday and legal holidays shall be excluded." In that it is undisputed that respondent received petitioner's exceptions on December 30, 2004, and the next day (December 31) was a holiday, followed by a Saturday (January 1) and a Sunday (January 2), respondent's five days for reply did not commence until January 3, 2005. Accordingly, respondent's reply exceptions were timely filed on the fifth day, January 7, 2005, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4(d).

[2] Given the deficiencies in the Initial Decision, the Deputy Commissioner was unable to conduct the necessary review of the Administrative Law Judge's (ALJ) findings of fact, legal conclusions and final determination. The Deputy Commissioner, therefore, considered only the arguments set forth by the parties with respect to whether the ALJ provided a reasonable articulation for his determinations and has not considered the parties' exception arguments on the merits in this matter.

grant of summary decision is appropriate in this instance;[3] 2) failed to set forth findings of fact and the basis for his legal conclusions, pursuant to the requirements at N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.3(c), in order for the Deputy Commissioner to determine whether the recommendations in the Initial Decision are sufficiently (and solidly) grounded in fact and law; and 3) failed to provide reasons for the rejection of petitioner's claim of a continuing violation of public rights. Additionally, the ALJ did not provide a full articulation of the relief requested by petitioner in the Initial Decision so as to enable the Deputy Commissioner to assess petitioner's assertion that the ALJ "erred in disregarding the nature of the relief sought." (Petitioner's Exceptions at 14)

Accordingly, in that the Initial Decision does not contain the essential elements for adequate agency review, the Deputy Commissioner hereby remands this matter to the OAL for revision of the Initial Decision and/or further proceedings as necessary, consistent with the concerns set forth above.

IT IS SO ORDERED.[4]

It is noted that the ALJ does not address petitioner's claims that it has alleged facts sufficient to sustain a judgment in its favor and that "discovery in this matter has not even begun, and is necessary to resolve material facts that are in dispute (Petitioner's Opposition to Motion to Dismiss at 14-15), nor is there any discussion by the ALJ with respect to how his determination comports with N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(b) and Contini, supra.

BEFORE DOUGLAS H. HURD, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On May 13, 2004, Petitioner, the Milford Borough Board of Education, filed a Verified Petition of Appeal to recalculate State aid pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:7F-15. On June 4, 2004, Respondent, the State Department of Education, filed a motion to dismiss. The Bureau of Controversies and Disputes in the Department of Education transmitted the matter to the Office of Administrative Law, where it was filed on July 14, 2004.

On October 7, 2004, the Petitioner filed a brief in opposition to Respondent's Motion to Dismiss. Respondent's reply brief was filed on November 15, 2004. This Initial Decision grants Respondent's Motion to Dismiss.

Petitioner challenges the calculation of the Core Curriculum Standards Aid component of its Comprehensive Education Improvement and Financing Act aid for the years 2002-2003, 2003-2004 and 2004-2005.

With respect to the challenge to the 2002-2003 and 2003-2004 calculation, the Department contends that the Petitioner's claim is time barred because the petition was not filed within ninety days of the date it received notice of its State aid awards. N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(d). The Petitioner agrees that the 90-day limitation applies, but argues it should be enlarged in the interests of justice since the matter involves a continuing violation of public rights. Petitioner, however, provides no explanation justifying or explaining its prolonged delay in filing the appeal for 2002-2003 and 2003-2004 aid calculations. Furthermore, I find that the 90-day rule should not be relaxed since the Petition does not raise any issue of significant public interest.

With respect to the challenge to the 2004-2005 calculation, the Department contends that it properly calculated Petitioner's aid for that school year. The Department contends that the FY05 Appropriations Act suspended the statutory provisions of CEIFA. I agree with the Department that the Legislature has clearly suspended the CEIFA statute for FY05 (as well as for FY03 and FY04). The Legislative language at issue in the FY05 Appropriations Act provides that each district shall receive no less of a total State aid amount payable for the 2003-2004 school year in various State aid categories. The Legislature appropriated the same amount in FY05 that it did for FY04 and FY03. Thus, the appropriation language, when viewed together with the amount actually appropriated for FY05, evidences a clear Legislative intent to suspend CEIFA.

ORDER

For the foregoing reasons, I hereby GRANT Respondent's Motion to Dismiss and ORDER that Petitioner's Verified Petition of Appeal be DISMISSED.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen (13) days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

The record of this matter and advisement of petitioner's failure to appear transmitted to the Commissioner by the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-14.4, along with a copy of the notification sent to the parties by OAL on January 12, 2005, providing petitioner ten days to submit an explanation for such nonappearance, have been reviewed. There being no explanation filed by petitioner, the petition of appeal is hereby dismissed with prejudice due to petitioner's failure to appear at hearing or provide an explanation for her nonappearance.

Notwithstanding the dismissal of the petition, the Commissioner notes that the Board's Answer in this residency matter contained a counterclaim for tuition which was left unresolved by the Administrative Law Judge. In that the record before the Commissioner contains no affidavit of a responsible Board official attesting to the amount of tuition claimed by the Board as a consequence of the ineligible attendance of petitioner's children in its schools, this matter is hereby remanded to the OAL for supplementation of the record in this regard and an appropriate recommended order regarding the payment of tuition.

STATE-OPERATED SCHOOL DISTRICT OF THE CITY OF NEWARK, ESSEX COUNTY,	:	DECISION
RESPONDENT.	:

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed. Petitioners sought and were granted two extensions of time within which to file exceptions to the Initial Decision and such exceptions were filed pursuant to the extended timeframe. These and the District's reply submission were fully considered by the Deputy Commissioner, to whom this matter has been delegated pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:4-33, in reaching his determination herein.

Upon careful and independent review of the record, the Deputy Commissioner concurs with the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) that the instant Petition of Appeal was filed well outside the 90-day mandatory timeline prescribed by N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(d)(1). The Deputy Commissioner further finds that the record before him reveals no unusual or compelling circumstance which would warrant the relaxation of the 90-day rule and, therefore, as concluded by the ALJ, the petition must be dismissed. In so determining, the Deputy Commissioner rejects, as wholly without merit, petitioners' suggestion that their claim in this matter was a statutory right and, therefore, not subject to any statute of limitations. It is noted that N.J.S.A. 18A:16-6.1 requires a board to reimburse its employees for counsel fees and expenses incurred in defending against certain criminal actions. If the requisite statutory standard is satisfied, such indemnification is mandatory. N.J.S.A. 18A:16-6.1, read in conjunction with the correlative provisions of the immediately preceding statutory section, N.J.S.A. 18A:16-6, sets forth a two-pronged test for determining whether board employees are entitled to indemnification in this regard, i.e., 1) the underlying criminal action must be dismissed or result in a final disposition in favor of the employee and 2) any act or omission upon which the criminal charge is based must arise out of and during the course of the employee's performance of the duties and responsibilities of his position.

Here, there is no dispute that the first prong of the requisite test was satisfied by petitioners' acquittal of the federal charges and dismissal, with prejudice, of the state charges against them. Thus, the remaining issue is whether the underlying criminal charges arose within the legitimate scope of the petitioners' employment with the District. The Deputy Commissioner concludes that it cannot be credibly argued that the specific conduct of petitioners which formed the basis of the criminal charges brought against them, i.e., concealed ownership of a building which they were leasing to the District, arose out of the performance of the duties and responsibilities of their employment with the District. See Scirrotto v. Warren Hills Board of Education, 272 N.J. Super. 391 (App. Div. 1994). Consequently, petitioners have not satisfied the requisite legal standard which would serve to entitle them to indemnification of their legal fees and expenses pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:16-6.1.

Accordingly, the Initial Decision of the OAL is adopted for the reasons stated therein. Summary decision is hereby granted to the District and the instant Petition of Appeal is dismissed.

SUMMARY DECISION

OAL DKT. NO. EDU 9526-04

JOSEPH C. PARLAVECCHIO and

Petitioners,

v.

STATE-OPERATED SCHOOL DISTRICT

OF THE CITY OF NEWARK,

Respondent.

Stephen J. Edelstein, Esq., for petitioner
(Schwartz, Simon, Edelstein, Celso & Kessler, attorneys)

Vito A. Gagliardi, Jr., Esq., appearing for respondent
(Porzio, Bromberg & Newman, attorneys)

Record Closed and Decided: December 21, 2004

BEFORE BARRY N. FRANK, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Petitioners, Joseph C. Parlavecchio and Alfonse R. Rossi, were both employees of the Newark Board of Education from 1972 to 1994. Newark became a State-

Operated School District in 1995. In addition, in 1995, petitioners were indicted by both Federal and State Grand Juries on a variety of charges stemming from their concealed ownership of a building, which they were leasing to the school district. Petitioners were acquitted of all federal charges on January 18, 1996, and the state charges that had been brought against petitioners were dismissed with prejudice on December 24, 1996.

Thereafter, William D. Sayers, Esq., then attorney for the petitioners, demanded indemnification from Newark pursuant to N.J.A.C. 18A:16-6.1 for reasonable attorney's fees regarding the federal and state indictments. The total amount due at that time was alleged to be in excess of $400,000. On April 29, 1997, Newark, through its Senior Associate Counsel, Hope R. Blackburn, Esq., denied petitioners' request for indemnification (See Respondent's Exhibits A & B). Ms. Blackburn cited relevant New Jersey case law and opined that in order to qualify for such reimbursement, the employee "must have been acting in a manner which the corporation has an interest, he must have been acting in the discharge of a duty imposed or authorized by law and he must have acted in good faith." (See Respondent's Exhibit B, citing Scirrotto v. Warren Hills Board of Educ., 272 N.J. Super. 391, 396 (App. Div. 1994). p. 397 directly Errington v. Mansfield Twp. Board of Educ., 81 N.J. Super. 414, 420 (App. Div. 1963)).

Five months after receipt of this letter from Ms. Blackburn, petitioners' attorney filed a complaint on September 15, 1997, in Superior Court Law Division, Essex County. This complaint sought indemnification for all counsel fees and costs, including both the state and federal actions and interest on all sums due (at this point, allegedly in excess of $500,000) and the cost of bringing the current complaint in Superior Court.

On appropriate motion, an order was entered by the Honorable F. Michael Caruso, J.S.C., on January 23, 1998, dismissing the complaint without prejudice and ordering the complaint be transferred to the Commissioner of Education, who had original jurisdiction in such matters involving schools.

Nothing further appeared to occur on the record until the filing of this matter was perfected on May 14, 2004, with the Department of Education. Shortly thereafter, on September 16, 2004, the Department of Education transmitted this matter to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) for determination as a contested case and also to make a determination with regard to the motion for summary decision filed by respondent.

STANDARDS FOR SUMMARY DECISION

The standards to be applied in disposing of a case presenting no issue of material fact and not requiring a plenary hearing are set forth in both the New Jersey Administrative Code and New Jersey Court Rules. N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(b) states that:

> "Summary decision may be rendered if the papers and discovery which have been filed, together with the affidavits if any, show that there is no genuine issue as to material fact challenged and that the moving party is entitled to prevail as a matter of law." This section of the Administrative Code follows a similar rule as set forth in New Jersey Court Rule at R. 4:46-2(c) stating in part:
> "The judgment or order sought shall be rendered forthwith if the pleadings, depositions, answers to interrogatories and admissions on file, together with affidavits, if any, show that there is no genuine issue of material fact challenged and that the moving party is entitled to a judgment or order as a matter of law." This rule further defines what constitutes a genuine issue of fact. The rule indicates that:
> "An issue of fact is genuine only if, considering the burden of persuasion at trial, the evidence submitted by the parties on motion, together with all legitimate inferences therefore favoring the non-moving party, would require submission of the issue to the trier of fact." Id.

Judson v. People's Bank & Trust of Westfield, 17 N.J. 67 (1954) has been the standard by which all summary decision motions have been measured for a substantial period of time. In 1995, the standard set forth in Judson was supplemented by the decision in Brill v. Guardian Life Insurance, 142 N.J. 520 (1995). The result is that not only was the determination made as to whether or not a material issue of fact exists, but also Brill further requires that the evidence be viewed in the light most favorable to the non-movant. The non-movant party must demonstrate that a dispute exists, and, if resolved in the non-movant's favor, will entitle said non-movant to a favorable judgment. This case goes on to state:

> The 'judge's function is not . . . to weigh the evidence and determine the truth of the matter but to determine whether there is a genuine issue for trial' . . . . If there exists a single, unavoidable resolution of the alleged disputed issue of fact, that issue should be considered insufficient to constitute a 'genuine' issue of material fact for purposes of Rule 4:46- 2 . . . . The import of our holding is that when the evidence 'is so one-sided that one party must prevail as a matter of law'. . . the trial court should not hesitate to grant summary judgment. (See Brill,142 N.J. at 540).

The only way a non-movant party may prevail is if that party "by responding affidavit sets forth specific facts showing that there is a genuine issue which can only be determined in an evidentiary proceeding." See N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(b). It has further been noted that "if the adverse party does not respond, an absence of a material factual dispute may be presumed and the movant will prevail if the law supports the movant's position." See 37 New Jersey Practice, Administrative Law and Practice §5.18 (Steven L. LeFelt, Anthony Miragliotta and Patricia Prunty) (2d ed. 2000). Respondent in this case, makes its motion predicated on a purely procedural issue, alleging that petitioners failed to diligently pursue their claim for reimbursement of attorney's fees expended in the defense of criminal matters, and that the 90-day rule set forth in N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.4(d), limiting the timeframe in which to initiate an action under the school laws, time bars petitioners' claim. Respondent makes the argument that the clock started ticking once the petitioners received the letter from Ms. Blackburn denying their demand for reimbursement. The argument goes on to allege that the petitioners failed to take any action within this 90-day timeframe and that it was not until the passage of approximately five months after receipt of Ms. Blackburn's letter that they then filed an appropriate complaint in Superior Court. In their Statement of Facts, the petitioners seem to confirm this timeframe as being totally accurate. However, petitioners argued that despite the timeframe to which they have agreed, indemnification is a statutory entitlement, and, as a result, the 90-day rule is inapplicable.

NINETY-DAY RULE

N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(d) mandates when the filing of an action that arises under the school laws must take place and states in pertinent part:

> The petitioner shall file a petition no later that the 90th day from the date of receipt of the notice of a final order, ruling or other action by the district board of education, individual party, or agency, which is the subject of the requested contested case hearing. This rule shall not apply in instances where a specific statute provides for a period of limitation shorter than 90 days for the filing of a particular type of appeal.

Kaprow v. Board of Educ. of Berkeley Twp., 131 N.J. 572 (1993) determined that the Commissioner and the State Board of Education have the authority to establish a time limitation for the resolution of disputes arising under the school laws and addressed the public policy reasons behind this 90-day rule. In this decision, the Supreme Court held:

> The limitation period provides a measure of repose, an essential element in the proper and efficient administration of the school laws. It stabilizes the relationship between the teachers and the administration . . . . The limitation period gives school districts the security of knowing that administrative decisions regarding the operation of the school cannot be challenged after 90 days . . . . N.J.A.C. 6:24-1.2(c) represents a fair and reasonably necessary requirement for the proper and efficient resolution of disputes under the school laws. Kaprow at 582.

There is no question that the petitioner must be notified if the school board is taking a position or made an adverse decision to the petitioner's request. As a result, the public policy that favors providing school districts with a measure of finality with regard to claims must be balanced against the right of the petitioner to receive proper notification of an adverse decision.

In Kaprow, supra, petitioner was notified by a secretary of the respondent board of education that other employees have assumed positions for which the tenured petitioner asserted he was qualified. In this case, the petitioner had been terminated in a reduction of force. The court held that this type of informal notification satisfied the "notice of a final order, ruling or other action" by the respondent, as required by N.J.A.C. 6:24-1.2(c). Id. at 588. The court also stated:

> Adequate notice must be sufficient to inform an individual of some fact that he or she has a right to know and that the communicating party has a duty to communicate. Moreover, adequate notice under the regulation must be sufficient to further the purpose of the 90-day limitations period . . . . [T]he notice requirement should effectuate concerns for individual justice by not triggering the limitations period until the petitioner has been alerted to the existence of facts that would be adverse to it. At the same time, it should further considerations of repose by establishing an objective event to trigger the limitations period in order "to enable the proper and efficient administration of the affairs of government." Borough of Park Ridge v. Salimone, 21 N.J. 28, 48 (1956).

In the case at bar, the letter forwarded to petitioners by Ms. Blackburn clearly constitutes the type of notification the court had in mind. Furthermore, respondent argues that petitioners' delay in pursuing this matter total approximately six years during which time petitioners' right apparently languished or was nearly forgotten. Other than a vague illusion of dismissal by the Superior Court and alleged failure of this court to transmit the case in question, petitioners, through counsel, offered no cogent reason for effectively sitting on their rights well beyond any reasonable statutory or regulatory timeframe.

Historically, a 90-day requirement has been strictly followed and applied almost without exception. In Dreher v. Jersey City Board of Educ., 1987 S.L.D. 1706 aff'd, State Board, 1988 S.L.D. 2439, rev'd App. Div. A-6120-82 (Feb. 28, 1985) (reversed for further fact-finding to determine if Dreher was a 10 or 12 month employee, which did not affect the 90-day limitation holding) a petition filed just two days after the 90-day period was dismissed. Other cases have also strictly applied this 90-day rule. See, Eisenberg v. Board of Educ. of the Borough of Ft. Lee, EDU 9451-01, Final Decision (Nov. 5, 2003) 2003 W.L. 2364-3569 (State Board of Educ.), http://www.newjersey.gov/njded/legal/sboe/index.html, see also, Nissman v. Board of Educ. of the Twp. of Long Beach Island, 272 N.J. Super. 373, 382 (App. Div. 1994), cert. denied, 137 N.J. 315 (1994).

I must reemphasize that in the case before this court, petitioners have absolutely failed to comply with the 90-day requirement for filing the original action in Superior Court. Petitioners received a letter from Newark on April 29, 1997, denying their indemnification request. No action was taken and petitioners failed to file any kind petition or action in any court until they filed the initial action in Superior Court on September 15, 1997, which is approximately five months after Newark denied their initial request for indemnification. Once this action was taken and the Superior Court dismissed without prejudice petitioners' application so that same might be pursued before the Department of Education, which has original jurisdiction in such matters, petitioners failed to pursue the matter and to see that it was transferred or filing perfected until March 2004, well over six years subsequent to when the matter was dismissed from Superior Court and certainly contrary to the mandatory timeframe set forth in the 90-day rule clearly defined in N.J.A.C. 6A:3-3(d).

Under certain circumstances, provisions have been made for relaxing of the rule in permitting a petitioner to file after 90 days has lapsed. Kaprow, 232 N.J. supra. at 590, states that the 90-day rule may be relaxed under exceptional circumstances or if there is a "compelling" reason to do so. It is also indicated that certain types of cases are exempted from this rule, namely those which involve "(1) important and novel constitutional questions; (2) informal or ex parte determinations of legal questions by administrative officials; and (3) important public rather than private interests which require adjudication or clarification." See, Brunetti v. Borough of New Milford, 68 N.J. 576, 586 (1975). This case goes on to state "the authority to relax or waive the 90-day rule is rarely invoked and is generally unsuccessful unless strict adherence would be inappropriate, unnecessary or where injustice would occur." See also, DeMaio v. New Providence Board of Educ., 96 N.J.A.R. 2d (EDU) 449, 453 (citing Gordon v. Passaic Board of Educ., 1985 S.L.D. 1929, 1931, aff'd., A-3294-84T7 (App. Div. May 27, 1986) (unreported), cert. denied, 105 N.J. 534 (1986).

Petitioners in defense to the motion for summary decision, raise no constitutional issues, cite no ex parte or legal determination by administrative officials informal or otherwise, and in addition, the interest to be served if the petitioners were successful are private and not public monetary issues. Petitioners are pursuing a private right. Therefore, petitioners' best interest should be to pursue private remedies in an expeditious manner within the timeframe set forth by the regulations. Petitioners were not merely slightly out of time, they were out of time by a number of years. Petitioners by any measurable standard, have sat on their rights for too long a timeframe for these rights to now be appropriately considered.

Petitioners did not diligently pursue their remedies in a timely manner; therefore, they should not now be permitted to complain they should be exempted from the well-established 90-day limitation period. After review of all the above case law and regulations and given there is no material issue of fact, I must CONCLUDE that the petitioners are time-barred from further pursuing their claims.

Is the claim a statutory entitlement. It is clear that petitioners throughout their brief do not dispute the fact that they first made their demand for indemnification on April 28, 1997; however, petitioners defend the late filing of their claim utilizing the argument that indemnification is a statutory entitlement. As a result, petitioners' claim that they should not be bound by the 90-day rule as set forth in the regulations.

N.J.S.A. 18A:16-6.1 states:

> Should any criminal or quasi-criminal action be instituted against any such person for any such act or omission and should such proceeding be dismissed or result in a final disposition in favor of such person, the board of education shall reimburse him for the cost of defending such proceeding, including reasonable counsel fees and > expenses of the original hearing or trial and all appeals. No employee shall be entitled to be held harmless or have his defense costs defrayed as the result of a criminal or quasi-criminal complaint filed against the employee by or on behalf of the board of education.

In stands to reason that in order for a so called statutory entitlement to take petitioners outside of the 90-day rule, that there has to be some connection to the services rendered by petitioners' employees for said statutory entitlement to be applicable. This being the case, it stands to reason that petitioner seek reimbursement for defending their indictments because their actions allegedly arose out of the course of their employment. This does not appear to be the case here because the indictments had nothing to do with the course of petitioners' employment but had to do with an alleged omission and hidden ownership actions taken by petitioners, which allegedly was improper due to their status as employees for the district. These complaints were dismissed, and reimbursement sought by petitioners constituted a private cause of action under the regulations in the 90-day rule. This being the case, it would have made sense for petitioners to expeditiously pursue their claims. Also, since the indictments had nothing to do with petitioners' employment, at least directly, I can find no factual basis for the indemnification to be a statutory entitlement. I must CONCLUDE that the 90-day rule as set forth in regulations time-bars petitioners' claim for failing to act within a reasonable timeframe. Notification to petitioners by Ms. Blackburn triggered the 90-day rule effective April 29, 1997. I will not get into the laches argument for summary decision as reaching that argument is not necessary under the circumstances.

ORDER

It is hereby ORDERED that the motion by respondent for summary decision predicated upon petitioners' failure to file for an appeal pursuant to the requirements of N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(b) is hereby GRANTED; it is further ORDERED that petitioners' claims against Newark Public Schools be and hereby are DISMISSED WITH PREJUDICE.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen (13) days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." RESPONDENT.	:

The record, Stipulation of Settlement (Separation Agreement and Release), and Initial Decision issued by the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1, have been reviewed.

Upon review, the Commissioner observes that the President of the Westfield Board of Education signed the settlement agreement on behalf of the Board. In that neither the file nor the settlement agreement contains a copy of the Board's resolution approving the settlement and designating the Board President to sign the agreement on its behalf, and the agreement is not signed by the Board attorney, who is the Board's duly authorized representative in litigation, the Commissioner cannot approve the within settlement agreement.

Moreover, the Commissioner observes that the settlement included with the Initial Decision was signed in June 2003, and neither the Initial Decision nor the record provides any explanation for the extraordinary delay in reviewing the parties' agreement. Additionally, it is noted that the agreement appears to set forth terms that were to be effectuated prior to approval of the settlement by the Commissioner pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1. The Administrative Law

Judge and the parties are cautioned against effectuating any term of a settlement agreement in a controverted matter that has been duly transmitted to the OAL prior to its submission to, and approval by, the Commissioner.

Finally, although Item Number 3 states that a letter of reference for Carlos Fernandez is attached to the agreement, the Initial Decision/Settlement provided by the OAL does not contain a copy of such letter.

Accordingly, the Commissioner hereby remands this matter to the OAL for revision of the settlement agreement and Initial Decision consistent with the concerns set forth above. If the parties are unwilling or unable to reach accord on a modified agreement for submission to the Commissioner, the matter shall proceed to hearing.

Record Closed: December 10, 2004 Decided: December 20, 2004

BEFORE MUMTAZ BARI BROWN, ALJ:

On September 22, 2000 this matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) for hearing as a contested case pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F1 to -13. After several adjournments, the matter was scheduled for hearing on December 9, 2004. Prior to hearing, the parties agreed to settle the matter. A Stipulation of Settlement indicating the terms of settlement was signed by the parties and a copy is attached hereto.

I have reviewed the record and terms of the settlement and FIND:

1. The parties have voluntarily agreed to the settlement as evidenced by the signatures of the parties or their representatives.

2. The settlement fully disposes of all issues in controversy and is consistent with law.

I CONCLUDE that the agreement meets the safeguard requirements of N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1 and, accordingly, I approve the settlement and ORDER that the parties comply with the settlement terms and that these proceedings be CONCLUDED.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

iii. Any claims arising out of the terms and conditions of Carlos Fernandez's employment with the Board, the termination of such employment, and/or any of the events relating directly or indirectly to or surrounding that termination;

iv. Any and all claims related to compensation of any kind, including but not limited to, bonuses, incentive payments, severance pay and vacation pay;

v. Any and all claims for damages of any kind;

vi. Any and all claims arising out of the execution of this Separation Agreement;

vii. Any and all claims for attorney's fees, costs, disbursements or the like which Carlos Fernandez ever had, or has or hereafter can, shall or may have against the Board for, upon or by reason of any act, omission, transaction or occurrence up to and including the effective date of this Separation Agreement.

8. Release by the Board. For his obligations pursuant to this Separation Agreement, the Board hereby releases and discharges Carlos Fernandez, and any and all of his agents, contractors, representatives, predecessors, successors and assigns, as well as his heirs, executors and administrators, from liability on or for all claims, demands, causes of action, damages, costs, expenses, accounts, contracts, agreements, promises, compensation and all other liabilities of any kind or nature whatsoever, direct or indirect, known or unknown, which the Board may have had, now has or may hereafter have for any reason whatsoever on account or arising out of or in consequence of its employment relationship with Carlos Fernandez, including, but not limited to:

(i) Any claims or actions under Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, the Age Discrimination in Employment Act, the Worker Adjustment and Retraining Notification Act, the Employee Retirement Income Security Act, the Older Worker's Benefit Protection Act, the Americans With Disabilities Act, the Family and Medical Leave Act, the National Labor Relations Act, the Fair Labor Standards Act, Section 1981-1988 of Title 42 of the United States Code, the Equal Pay Act of 1963, the Vocational Rehabilitation Act of 1973, the Occupational Safety and Health Act of 1977;

(ii) Any other claims or actions under the New Jersey Equal Pay Act, the New Jersey Law Against Discrimination, the New Jersey Wage-Hour and Wage-Payment Laws, the New Jersey Worker Health and Safety Act, the New Jersey Family Leave Act, the New Jersey Conscientious Employee Protection Act;

(iii) Any claims arising out of the terms and conditions of Carlos Fernandez's employment with the Board, the termination of such employment, and/or any of the events relating directly or indirectly to or surrounding that termination

(iv) Any and all claims related to compensation of any kind, including but not limited to, bonuses, incentive payments, severance pay and vacation pay;

(v) Any and all claims for damages of any kind;

(vi) Any and all claims arising out of the execution of this Separation Agreement;

(vii) Any and all claims for attorney's fees, costs, disbursements or the like which the Board ever had, or has or hereafter can, shall or may have against Carlos Fernandez for, upon or by reason of any act, omission, transaction or occurrence up to and including the effective date of this Separation Agreement.

ALL OF THE TERMS OF THIS SEPARATION AGREEMENT are deemed material. This document constitutes the entire understanding of the parties and may not be altered, amended, modified or revoked except by an instrument in writing executed by the parties.

The parties acknowledge that each has received independent legal advice of his/its own selection, that each fully understands this Separation Agreement, that each has been fully informed of his/its legal rights and obligations. Having such advice and knowledge, each is signing this Separation Agreement freely and voluntarily.

BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE CITY OF PERTH AMBOY, MIDDLESEX COUNTY, PETITIONER, V. NEW JERSEY STATE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, DIVISION OF FACILITIES AND TRANSPORTATION, RESPONDENT.	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION DECISION

The record and the Initial Decision issued by the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed. Petitioner's exceptions and respondent's reply thereto were submitted in accordance with N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4, and were considered by the Commissioner in reaching his decision to remand this matter to the OAL for revision of the Initial Decision, and/or further proceedings as necessary, for the reasons set forth below.[1]

Upon a thorough review of the Initial Decision, the Commissioner finds that the ALJ fails to set forth findings of fact and the basis for his legal conclusions, pursuant to the requirements set forth at N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.3(c), in order for the Commissioner to determine whether the recommendations in the Initial Decision are sufficiently (and solidly) grounded in fact and law. Moreover, the ALJ does not provide a summary of petitioner's arguments and the reasons for their rejection. In fact, there is no mention of petitioner's arguments at all in the [1]Given the deficiencies in the Initial Decision, the Commissioner was unable to conduct the necessary review of the Administrative Law Judge's (ALJ) findings of fact, legal conclusions and final determination. The Commissioner, therefore, considered the parties' arguments only in the context of determining whether the ALJ provided a reasonable articulation for his determinations. The parties' exception arguments on the merits were not considered.

Initial Decision and the only references to petitioner's position in the entire Decision are the following two sentences:

> Petitioner, the City of Perth Amboy Board of Education, challenges the State Department of Education's decision denying retroactive funding for an early childhood education facility, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:7G-1 (Initial Decision at 1)

and

> The Board challenges the Department's denial of its application for retroactive funding for the acquisition of the property. (Id. at 3)

Accordingly, in that the Initial Decision does not contain the essential elements for adequate agency review, the Commissioner hereby remands this matter to the OAL for revision of the Initial Decision and/or further proceedings as necessary, consistent with the concerns set forth above.

Record Closed: November 18, 2004 Decided: December 20, 2004

BEFORE DOUGLAS H. HURD, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Petitioner, the City of Perth Amboy Board of Education, challenges the State Department of Education's decision denying retroactive funding for an early childhood education facility, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:7G-1. Respondent contends that the funding was appropriate and consistent with State law and implementing regulations. The matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law, where it was filed on March 8, 2004.

Petitioner and Respondent filed motions for summary decision on September 29, 2004. Responses were simultaneously filed on November 18, 2004. This Initial Decision denies Petitioner's summary decision motion and grants Respondent's summary decision motion.

This matter is appropriate for summary decision because there are no material facts in dispute.

On April 28, 1999, the Middlesex County Superintendent of Schools recommended approval for the acquisition of property in Perth Amboy for the construction of a new early childhood education center. On June 14, 1999, the Office of School Facility Financing sent correspondence approving the land acquisition project pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6:22-2.1. On July 18, 2001, the Board submitted an application to amend the school district's 5-year Long Range Facility Plan to the Department requesting retroactive funding for the land acquisition. On August 21, 2001, the Department approved the school facilities project.

On September 20, 2001, the Department made the following determination: (1) the Board's application requesting retroactive funding for land acquisition was not received prior to the Department's June 30, 2001, deadline for such submissions, and that (ii) the submitted land acquisition alone does not meet the requirements of the law because the application is inconsistent with the definition of a school facilities project. On October 14, 2003, the Department again denied the Board's application for retroactive funding. Once again, the Department determined that it approved the school facilities project, including educational specifications, on August 21, 2001, which was over one-year beyond the July 18, 2000, deadline for funding eligibility under N.J.S.A. 18A:7G-9(c), and a land acquisition alone did not constitute a school facilities project.

The Board challenges the Department's denial of its application for retroactive funding for the acquisition of the property. However, I find and conclude that the Department's decision to deny the Board's application for retroactive funding for a school facilities project was not arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable. Simply put, the Department did not approve a school facilities project prior to the statutory deadline imposed for funding eligibility pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:7g-9(c). Indeed, the Board did not even amend its Long Range Facilities Plan to add such a project until July 18, 2001. The Department approved the school facilities project, including educational specifications, on August 21, 2001, which was over one-year beyond the statutory deadline. Furthermore, the Department's decision denying the Board's request was correct because under the regulations a land acquisition alone does not constitute a school facilities project that would be eligible for such funding. There is no question that prior to July 18, 2001, the Board had not received approval for the construction, rehabilitation or acquisition of a school facility on the site.

ORDER

In conclusion, the Department's denial of retroactive funding is consistent with Educational Facilities Construction and Financing Act and its implementing regulations, and does not violate the New Jersey Constitution or the Abbott cases. Accordingly, I hereby DENY the Board's motion for summary decision and GRANT the Department's motion for summary decision. The Board's Petition of Appeal is DISMISSED.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen (13) days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed. The parties filed no exceptions to the Initial Decision.

Upon careful and independent review of the record in this matter, and based on the Administrative Law Judge's (ALJ) credibility assessments, N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10(c), the Commissioner agrees with the ALJ that petitioner has failed to sustain her burden of establishing that J.C. was a domiciliary of Westampton and, thus, entitled to a free public education in that District's schools.

Accordingly, the Initial Decision of the OAL is adopted for the reasons expressed therein, and the within Petition of Appeal is dismissed. The Commissioner directs that petitioner pay the Board tuition for the period of J.C.'s ineligible attendance in its schools, February 9, 2004, to December 2, 2004, at the per diem rate of $38.89.

IN THE MATTER OF THE TENURE	:
HEARING OF JENNIFER TURNER,	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
SCHOOL DISTRICT OF THE CITY OF	:	DECISION
OCEAN CITY, CAPE MAY COUNTY.	:

For the Board, Michael P. Stanton, Esq., Taht, Stanton & McCrosson

Jennifer Turner, Pro Se

This matter was opened before the Commissioner of Education on December 30, 2004, through the certification of tenure charges against Jennifer Turner, a tenured teacher with the Board of Education of the City of Ocean City, alleging insubordination, and incapacity, and seeking her removal.

By notice dated January 3, 2005, the Commissioner directed respondent, via both certified and regular mail, the certified copy having been returned as unclaimed, to file an Answer to the tenure charges against her. The communication from the Bureau of Controversies and Disputes, sent regular mail and presumed received, clearly provided respondent notice that, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-5.3 and 6A:3-5.4, an individual against whom tenure charges are certified shall have 15 days from the date such charges are filed with the Commissioner to file a written response to the charges, and that failure to answer within the prescribed period, where no extension has been applied for and granted, will result in the charges being deemed admitted by the charged employee. Because no reply has been received from respondent, or any attorney on her behalf, in response to the District's charges, each count of the charges against respondent is deemed to be admitted. N.J.A.C. 6A:5-3(c).

The Commissioner has reviewed the tenure charges certified against respondent by the Board and the statement of evidence in support of those charges, including memoranda, observations, anecdotal records, letters, inter-departmental correspondence and other documents, which specify that respondent has consistently refused to follow the directives and instructions of a supervisor; has demonstrated a lack of capacity to properly serve students by her actions and remarks; and, despite prior warnings, has demonstrated she is unfit to engage in the teaching of students in the District. (Certification of Donald E. Dearborn, Ed.D., Superintendent of Ocean City Public Schools)

Deeming the within charges to be admitted, and noting that respondent has chosen not to deny the allegations against her, the Commissioner finds that the Board has demonstrated that respondent is guilty of insubordination and incapacity.

IT IS ORDERED this 10th day of February 2005 that summary decision shall be granted to the District, and Jennifer Turner shall be dismissed from her tenured position as a teacher in the Board's employ as of the date of this order.*

THOMAS F. GRIGGS,	:
PETITIONER,	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
V.	:	DECISION
BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE BOROUGH OF MAGNOLIA, CAMDEN COUNTY,	:
RESPONDENT.	:

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), including the November 10, 2003 Order of the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) incorporated into the Initial Decision by reference, have been reviewed. The Commissioner has additionally considered petitioner's exceptions to both the Initial Decision and the incorporated Order, as well as the replies to these filed by respondent (the Board). [1]

On exception, petitioner urges adoption of the ALJ's conclusions that 1) the terms of petitioner's 1999 written employment contract were carried forward by operation of law to the 2001-02 school year; 2) contractual notice provisions must be honored in the event of an abolishment of position; and 3) petitioner lawfully accepted continued employment for the 2002-03 school year by virtue of his letter of acceptance

[1] The referenced Order was submitted to the Commissioner for immediate review, whereupon the parties duly filed exceptions and replies. However, by decision dated December 17, 2003, the Commissioner declined to review the Order on an immediate basis and elected instead to review it at the end of the contested case. See Initial Decision at 2.

faxed on May 28, 2002.[2] (Petitioner's Exceptions to Order at 3 and passim) Petitioner excepts, however, to the ALJ's conclusions as to the character and effect of the termination clause in petitioner's contract (Id. at 4-8), and as to whether the Board's action in abolishing petitioner's position was arbitrary, unreasonable or taken in bad faith (Petitioner's Exceptions to Initial Decision at 2-6).[3]

With respect to his contract's termination clause, petitioner contends that the ALJ erred in finding it "vague and unclear" (Order at 12), thus permitting termination of the contract "at will or after a reasonable time." (Ibid.) To the contrary, petitioner avers, the language in question is perfectly clear and its only reasonable interpretation is as a promise, in the event of termination by the Board, to reach a mutual agreement with petitioner as to length of notice to be provided. While the Board may no longer like this agreement, petitioner argues, it cannot avoid its obligation thereunder, and, while the ALJ or Commissioner might prefer a different arrangement, they may not use this proceeding to attempt to make a better contract or twist plain contractual language to create ambiguity where none exists. (Petitioner's Exceptions to Order at 4-7) Alternatively, if the Commissioner concurs with the ALJ that the contractual language is, in fact, vague and unclear, the Commissioner must not repeat the ALJ's error in failing to construe such ambiguity against the drafting party (the Board), and he must then award petitioner the requested one year's compensation (less mitigation), rather than accepting as sufficient the 60-day notice provided by the Board. (Id. at 8-9)

[2] Petitioner withdraws his claim, as well as his prior objection to the ALJ's failure to include it in the November 10, 2003 Order, regarding payment for unused sick leave. Petitioner confirms that the Board has since made the required payment. (Petitioner's Exceptions to Initial Decision at 1)

[3] Petitioner also notes a non-material error in the Initial Decision's recitation of facts, clarifying that at no time did he serve as principal in an acting capacity. (Petitioner's Exceptions to Order at 9-10)

With respect to his allegations that the Board acted arbitrarily and/or in bad faith in abolishing his position of Principal, petitioner contends that evidence on record, but ignored by the ALJ, amply demonstrates the truth of his claims. Petitioner points to evidence showing, among other things, that there was, in fact, no cost savings to the Board as a result of the reorganization notwithstanding that it was justified by claims of reducing administrative costs by 50%; that Dr. Gibson received at least $10,000 in additional compensation for assuming the duties of Principal and retired one year after doing so, whereupon the Board restored the full-time Principal position; that Dr. Gibson recommended a teacher she had personally mentored for the restored principalship;[4] that the School Business Administrator's salary was doubled by extending his position to full-time, ostensibly to relieve Dr. Gibson of central office duties notwithstanding that he was not certified to supervise teaching staff or students, and, upon his indictment, the Board returned to the previous part-time structure; and that the only minutes of Board finance and personnel committees that purportedly made the decision to recommend elimination of petitioner's position surfaced after the hearing with the certification of Dr. Gibson. (Petitioner's Exceptions to Initial Decision at 3-6) Petitioner also reiterates that Dr. Gibson was annoyed with petitioner for requesting additional compensation for the many times he performed her duties in her absence, that the mayor and council did not recommend elimination of petitioner's position despite the budget defeat, and that the Board could have eliminated the Director of Special Services position and assigned its duties to petitioner, who was qualified to perform them. (Ibid.)

[4] Petitioner notes a factual error in the ALJ's recitation of the testimony of Dr. Warren Pross at 9-10, which states that Dr. Pross elevated the teacher in question to the principalship, when, in fact, his testimony along with that of Kathleen Hovern establishes that this was done by his predecessor, Dr. Gibson. (Petitioner's Exceptions to Initial Decision at 2, referencing transcripts of 10/28/04 hearing at 115 and 10/27/04 hearing at 147).

In reply, while noting its continuing disagreement that petitioner's contract rolled over for the years 2000-02, the Board urges adoption of the ALJ's reasoning and determinations with respect to the contract's termination clause and the sufficiency of the notice provided by the Board. (Board's Reply to Petitioner's Exceptions to Order at 1-2) The Board further supports the ALJ's conclusions with respect to petitioner's allegations of arbitrariness and bad faith, noting that petitioner's exceptions reiterate argument and proposed fact-finding presented in post-hearing submissions which were rejected by the ALJ for the reasons cogently stated in the Initial Decision. (Board's Reply to Petitioner's Exceptions to Initial Decision at 1-2)

Having thoroughly reviewed the record and considered the arguments of the parties, the Commissioner determines to adopt the Initial Decision as clarified herein.

Initially, the Commissioner notes, and neither party disputes, that the Board had the authority to abolish petitioner's position so long as it did not do so for unlawful reasons.[5] In this instance, notwithstanding petitioner's contention to the contrary and his selective recitation of facts in support thereof, the record as a whole, including extensive testimony judged credible by the ALJ,[6] amply supports the conclusion that the Board acted lawfully and in good faith.[7]

[5] The Commissioner here clarifies that it is not necessary, as the ALJ appears to assume in the Initial Decision at 14-15, to treat a staff member as though he or she is tenured in order to ascertain the legitimacy of a reduction in force.

[6] There is no basis in the record that would enable the Commissioner to disturb the ALJ's credibility determinations pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10(c).

[7] The Commissioner notes that the after-the-fact "finance and personnel committee minutes" referenced in petitioner's Exceptions are nothing more than Dr. Gibson's personal notes from an executive session where administrative reorganization and reallocation of savings was discussed. These notes were entered into the record by certification under cover letter dated December 7, 2004, in response to testimony by Karen Sorbello (Transcript of 10/28/04 hearing at 200-201) to the effect that, although actual minutes of committee meetings were not taken, Dr. Gibson generally took personal notes as memory aids to prepare her various reports to the Board. (Certification of Frances Colon Gibson, November 13, 2004)

As to the question of the notice due petitioner prior to termination of his contract, the Commissioner concurs with the ALJ that the contract is, indeed, vague and unclear with respect to the notice required upon termination of the contract by the Board. In fact, taken literally, the contract, which does not follow the standard model, makes no provision whatsoever for unilateral termination on the part of the Board, only for unilateral termination on the part of petitioner, or for termination by mutual agreement. In this regard it is clearly distinguishable from the precedent relied upon by petitioner, a matter specifically decided on "unique circumstances" where a standard notice clause was left blank and the contract's general provisions expressly required the agreement to run for its full term in the absence of any provision for a definite number of days' notice. (Siegel, supra, at 766; Order at 10-11)

Under these circumstances, where petitioner's contract made no express provision for termination by the Board and where petitioner was notified before the end of the school year that he would not be employed for the following year,[8] the Commissioner also agrees with the ALJ that it was reasonable for the Board to apply the 60-day notice provision found in standard contracts, numerous school law decisions, and petitioner's counter-obligation to the Board. In so holding, the Commissioner is not unmindful of the principle, cited by petitioner, that contractual ambiguities are to be construed against the drafter, In re Miller, supra; for the Commissioner to find, however, as petitioner would have him do, that this principle acts to prevent a board of education, during the life of a teaching staff member's individual employment contract, from terminating employment or ending the board's salary obligation following termination unless the employee first agrees to the length of notice to be provided, would compromise both boards' legitimate managerial authority and their discretion to adjust staffing for lawful reasons, as occurred in the present instance. Such a result is clearly contrary to law and sound public policy, and the Commissioner cannot countenance it herein.

[8] Indeed, had the Board elected, or been in a position, to effectuate reorganization by nonrenewing petitioner's contract pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:27-10 rather than by terminating it, petitioner's May 15 notice of nonrenewal would have afforded him two weeks more notice than he actually received and would not have afforded him pay beyond the end of the school year on June 30.

Accordingly, the Initial Decision of the OAL, including the incorporated Order, is adopted as the final decision in this matter for the reasons expressed therein and clarified above. The Board is reminded, in view of what the record has revealed about its past contractual practices, of the need to review and reform such practices to any extent yet necessary to ensure that its contracts of employment are issued consistent with the requirements of law.

IT IS SO ORDERED.[9]

BEFORE W. TODD MILLER, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

The New Jersey Department of Education Bureau of Controversies received a request for relief on August 6, 2002. Petitioner, a School Principal for the Borough of Magnolia School District, contends that the non-renewal of his alleged contract was improper and unlawful. The District asserts that the position was eliminated pursuant to a reduction in force (RIF). Petitioner asserts that the RIF was not done for reasons of efficiency or economy. The matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law ("OAL") on September 11, 2002. The Director of the OAL assigned the undersigned to hear this matter pursuant to pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13. A prehearing telephone conference was held on January 3, 2003. A settlement conference was scheduled for May 27, 2003, and hearing dates for June 11 and 12, 2003. On May 7, 2003, petitioner submitted a letter motion seeking to compel discovery of information in certain personnel files. The letter motion was preceded by a telephone conference regarding the discovery request and procedure.

On August 27, 2003, petitioner submitted a motion for partial summary judgment concerning the contract claims and issues. On November 10, 2003, an Order was issued holding that petitioner's employment contract rolled over for the years 2000, 2001 and 2002. (hereinafter "Order") It was further held that the contract termination clause was vague and unclear and therefore, sixty (60) days notice of termination was reasonable. (The November 10, 2003, Order is incorporated herein by reference.) Pursuant to petitioner's request, the Order was submitted to the Commissioner of Education pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(e) seeking immediate review as if it were a final decision. On December 17, 2003, the Commissioner denied petitioner's request.

The matter was scheduled for a plenary hearing regarding the RIF issues on October 27 and 28, 2004, at the OAL office in Atlantic City, New Jersey. The record remained open until December 21, 2004 for post hearing submissions and the record closed on that date.

UNDISPUTED FACTS

1. Petitioner, Thomas F. Griggs (hereinafter "Griggs" or "petitioner") is a former employee of respondent, Board of Education of the Borough of Magnolia (hereinafter "respondent," "Board" or "District"). From July 1, 1999 to June 30, 2002, Griggs was employed by the Board as Principal of its elementary school.

2. During the 2001-2002 school year, Griggs was the Acting Principal pursuant to an unsigned contract. It is apparent from the submissions of the parties that at no time did Griggs or the Board ever formally execute a written agreement.

3. On May 28, 2002, the nine (9) member Board voted 8 to 1 to eliminate Griggs' position effective June 30, and to continue the position of Principal with the position of Superintendent of Schools.

4. The school budget, which had been approved on March 26, 2002, by the Board, was defeated in an election held in April 2002. Once the budget was defeated, there were legitimate concerns regarding numerous programs and services being slated for elimination from the budget due to its defeat in the April election.

5. On May 28, 2002, the Board approved the reduction of force with abolishment, for economic reasons, of the Principal's position, effective June 30, 2002.

6. In accordance with the RIF, the Superintendent's job title and description was revised to reflect the chief school administrator's duties and responsibilities. By letter dated May 29, 2002, Dr. Gibson advised Griggs that the Board of Education had met on May 28, 2002, and had abolished his position as part of a RIF procedure. Dr. Gibson informed petitioner that a letter of May 29, 2002, would serve as a 60 day notice of termination wherein he would receive compensation until July 30, 2002.

7. During the period 2001 through May 2002, Griggs and the Board, through its agents and representatives, had been actively negotiating contractual terms and provisions. On May 28, 2002, Griggs notified the Board and the Superintendent, in writing, that he accepted continued employment in the District for the 2002-2003 school year. The written notification was forwarded to the Superintendent's office via telefax and it provided as follows:

> Based on my attorney's advice, I accept the employment contract as Principal for the 2002-2003 school year. Respectfully, Thomas F. Griggs

The fax indicates that it was transmitted at approximately 2:25 p.m. on May 28, 2002.

SUMMARY OF RELEVANT TESTIMONY

Petitioner offered the testimony of Dr. Frances Gibson, former Superintendent of Schools. Petitioner contends that Dr. Gibson improperly RIF'd him. Dr. Gibson had been Superintendent since 1993. She retired on June 30, 2003. Dr. Gibson explained that Magnolia has an elected school board. It is a Type II District. The 2002-2003 budget was defeated on April 16, 2002. Consequently, the Board voted to eliminate the principal's position pursuant to reduction in force on May 28, 2002.

Elections for the Board of Education and school budget were held on April 16, 2002. The taxpayers voted down the school budget. This was not an uncommon event in Magnolia. Dr. Gibson explained that once a budget is defeated, it is then turned over to the Borough Mayor and Council for resolution and approval. Dr. Gibson also emphasized that at no time prior to the defeated budget was petitioner's position considered for a RIF. Notably, even after the budget was defeated, petitioner's position was not considered for elimination. It was not until the Board of Education met with the Borough Mayor and Council in May 2002 that a RIF was conceived. In fact, the District prepared a budget as late as May 16, 2002. The line item entitled Principal/Assistant Principal provides for the position of principal to remain for the budget year 2002-2003. (R-26). However, on May 14, 2002, Peter Martorana, non-tenured staff member, was notified that he would not be rehired for the 2002-2003 school year. (R-25).

Dr. Gibson discussed the budget process for the 2002-2003 school year. The budget process commenced in October or November of the preceding year and took several months to complete. The Board, staff members, Business Administrator, Principal and various Board of Education committees were all involved in developing the budget. The prior year's budget became the base for the ensuing year's discussions. Materials, curriculum, supplies and staff needs are all factors that are considered. Dr. Gibson explained that she typically meets with the Business Administrator at least once or twice per week during the budget process. James Hayden[1], Business Administrator was charged with compiling the budget after receiving input from staff and management.

Dr. Gibson explained the decision-making process that resulted in RIF. The Mayor and Borough Council arranged for two separate meetings with the Board in response to the defeated budget. During these meetings, members of the Board were criticized for eliminating various programs in the defeated budget. Assertions were made that the District was top heavy in administrative staff. The Borough Mayor and Council urged the District to restore the programs that had been eliminated. This included the T-1 program, schoolyard aides and honors program. The T-1 program was an intermediate program for students who participated in kindergarten but were not ready for first grade in the subsequent year. The schoolyard aides provided supervision before and after school. Thus, the finance committee and the Board members took the comments of the Mayor and Council and discussed them at the committee and Board level. The decision-making for the making budgetary adjustments and cuts involved various factors. Dr. Gibson explained that cuts in staff usually invoke a response from the union. Cuts in programs brought on criticism from parents and staff. Moreover, the union, staff, parents and other members of the public ultimately urge that cuts be made at the administrative level so as not to affect classroom services, school services or in-class educational components. Again, Gibson stated that the Borough believed that the District was top heavy at the administrative level. The Mayor and Borough Council suggested that they would approve the budget in the amount that was defeated by the voters so long as the programs and services that were eliminated from the prior year were restored.

Dr. Gibson described the committee process, subsequent to the defeated budget. In particular, the finance committee had explored various alternatives or options to reduce the budget and bring back numerous programs that had been eliminated. Dr. Gibson noted that the

[1] In July 1997, the District employed James Hayden as their Business Administrator. In September 1998, Hayden resigned. The Somerdale Board of Education employed him as their Business Administrator. Effective November 1, 2000, through June 30, 2001, Hayden returned to the Magnolia District as a part-time or shared Business Administrator. Magnolia and Somerdale negotiated a Shared Agreement for these services. (P-13). In May or June 2002, Hayden returned to his position as full-time Business Administrator for the Magnolia District. The full-time Business Administrator position was created as a result of the RIF action involving Principal Griggs. When Griggs was RIF'd, the District decided to fill the void by making the Business Administrator's position full-time. On September 12, 2002, a criminal compliant was filed against the Business Administrator for work relating to the District is very small. It only has 400-500 students in kindergarten through eighth grade. The committee focused on the instructions received from Borough Mayor and Council. Gibson explained that they explored and exhausted all options and alternatives. After discussing the situation with the Business Administrator and the finance committee over several dates, Gibson stated that the following alternatives remained on the table: 1) eliminate the Superintendent; 2) eliminate the Principal; 3) eliminate the Business Administrator who was currently employed in a part-time shared position; or 4) eliminate the Director of Special Education Services. These were the only four administrative positions in the District.

The finance committee made the initial recommendation and the Board of Education made the final decision. The decision involved a reduction in force at the Principal's level, returning the Business Administrator's position to full-time and changing the Superintendent's position to Chief School Administrator. Financially, these changes saved the District approximately $25,000 - $35,000. The savings allowed the District to restore the T-1 program and playground aides without increasing the budget. The savings resulted from the elimination of the Principal's salary of $80,000, offset by the increase of the Business Administrator's salary from $40,000 to $80,000 (an approximate $40,000 net savings). The Superintendent received a $10,000 increase for assuming the title of Chief School Administrator, which would incorporate the Superintendent and Principal's duties. The Business Administrator estimated that it would cost $45,000 to restore the T-1 program. The savings of $25,000 to $35,000 allowed the Board to reinstitute the desired programs without affecting the overall budget. Finally, Gibson explained that she and petitioner had an excellent working relationship. Petitioner did not dispute this Gibson assessment of their relationship.

Board President, Karen Sorbello explained the rationale that went into the RIF decision. She did not believe that petitioner could serve a dual role as Principal and Business Administrator. Therefore, the Business Administrator had to remain. The District needed an experienced Business Administrator. Petitioner was not certified to hold this title according to Sorbello. Further, Gibson had been with the District since 1993. It made more sense to keep a superintendent who was familiar with the District's business that to elevate the principal to the title of superintendent. Petitioner had less experience and had not been tested in that title with this District. Gibson had already served as a principal in Camden County. Therefore, she possessed more experience than petitioner. Sorbello reasoned that Gibson would better serve the District in the capacity of Chief School Administrator. Gibson would assume the duties of superintendent and principal. Therefore, Sorbello urged that keeping Gibson and Hayden made the most sense. Critical titles would be filled with experienced and certified personnel. On May 28, 2002, the Board voted 8 in favor and 1 against the action to RIF petitioner for economic reasons. (R-29, p. 3). The vote was taken after exploring all of the options proposed by the finance committee, personnel committee and superintendent.

Petitioner, Thomas Griggs testified. Mr. Griggs possesses a Bachelors of Arts degree in General Elementary Education and Special Education. He holds a Masters Degree in School Information Services. Griggs also holds New Jersey certifications as a Supervisor, Principal, Director of Education, and Chief School Administrator. In addition to the New Jersey certifications, Mr. Griggs is also certified in Special Education and Supervisor of Special Education in the State of Pennsylvania.

The Magnolia Board of Education hired Mr. Griggs on July 1, 1999. He entered into a two-year contract. (See Order regarding to details and problems encountered with petitioner's contract.) Griggs testified that at no time prior to May 2002 did he encounter any discussions regarding the elimination of his position. Griggs stated that he had an excellent working relationship with Dr. Gibson. He explained that this good relationship extended from 1999 all the way through May 2002. The relationship soured when Griggs requested a stipend while he was purportedly covering for Dr. Gibson during her medical absences. Griggs calculated that Gibson was absent approximately 25% of the time. Dr. Gibson had two or three heart attacks that caused her to be absent for a substantial period. In addition, she served on several outside boards. Collectively, she was out of the District at least one day per week while she was healthy and for several extended periods while on medical leave. As a result, he was required to cover many of her Superintendent's duties. As a result of her medical absences and his increased responsibility, Griggs believed that he was entitled to additional compensation. He brought this to the attention of Dr. Gibson in early 2002. Griggs speculated that if he were compensated it would reveal the magnitude Gibson's absences. Therefore, upon making this request, Griggs claims their relationship immediately turned bad. Griggs believed that if he were compensated, it would expose the extent of Gibson's absences to the administration and school board members. It would put her job or title at risk. Griggs urged that Gibson retaliated against him. This was evident by her insistence that his title be eliminated through a RIF.

Griggs stated that there was no other reason for his title to be eliminated. He had excellent evaluations and a good relationship with the Board of Education and administration. In May 2002, he expected to be re-employed. The fact that the budget was defeated did not surprise him. The budget had ordinarily been defeated and he did not view this as a threat to his title.

May 28, 2002, was the first time that Griggs learned that his title would be eliminated. It occurred approximately six hours before the school board meeting. He was served with a "RICE" notice shortly before the meeting. (R-28). Mr. Griggs immediately contacted his attorney. On the advice of counsel, Griggs faxed a letter stating that he accepted employment on May 28, 2002. (R-32).

The RIF forced Griggs to file for early retirement. He could not procure a teaching position in a short period. He needed medical benefits. In 2000, his wife was ill and he was concerned about continued medical coverage. The submission of retirement papers secured the appropriate medical coverage for his family. However, the effect of filing for early retirement had significant consequences. His salary was effectively cut in half. Additionally, he had car payments and a mortgage. His monthly debts exceeded his income. Accordingly, he had to eliminate one car and sell his house to reduce his debt. He would have preferred to retire in June 2004. Griggs agreed that early retirement was good for his wife because he could assist her through her medical problems.

Griggs was subject to cross-examination. The District challenged his testimony that he performed many of Dr. Gibson's duties in her absence. During Gibson's absence the administrative staff included the Director of Special Education Services, Business Administrator and Guidance Counselor. Griggs acknowledged that it was commonly known by all staff that Dr. Gibson was frequently out of the office. Therefore, if Griggs were paid a stipend, it would not draw any additional attention to Gibson, while she was on medical leave. Griggs conceded that the Board of Education, teachers, parents and staff all knew that Dr. Gibson had several serious medical setbacks in the past year. Therefore, the District urged that the payment of a stipend to Griggs would not have revealed anything more than that which was already known about Dr. Gibson's medical leave.

Merri Hansen testified. Ms. Hansen is the former Secretary for Superintendent Gibson. The District has employed her for five years. While working for Dr. Gibson, her duties included preparing administrative reports, personnel and discipline matters, as well as performing other secretarial duties. Ms. Hansen's testimony was offered to illustrate that Dr. Gibson continued to perform most of her duties, even while on medical leave. Ms. Hansen explained that most of Dr. Gibson's responsibilities included preparing, reviewing, and signing official documents, reports, and other similar matters. Hansen personally delivered matters of this nature to Gibson while she was convalescing at home. If the matters were not hand-delivered, e-mails and telephone contact were used. Hansen stated that there was no significant reduction in the work performed by Gibson while she was convalescing at home in terms of official reports and paperwork. Otherwise, the various administrative staff performed routine functions ordinarily done by Dr. Gibson. The Superintendent's position did not require direct contact with the teachers or students. Her duties consisted of administrative responsibilities and most of those were performed through accommodations such as home deliveries, telephone and e-mail.

Hansen was subject to cross-examination. She was asked to delineate the extent of Dr. Gibson's absences that were within her knowledge. During the school year 1999-2000, Dr. Gibson was not absent very often. However, during the school year 2000-2001, Hansen approximated that Gibson was absent for 90 days. For the school year 2001-2002, Hansen could not recall with specificity the numbers of days Dr. Gibson was absent. Hansen was asked who was the person in charge in Dr. Gibson's absence. Hansen stated that it would either be Principal Griggs or Linda Maciewcz, Director of Special Education Services. James Hayden had some supervisory authority as the Business Administrator; however, he was only serving part time.

Petitioner offered the testimony of Dr. Warren Pross. Dr. Pross was hired as the school's Superintendent in July 2003. Dr. Gibson retired on June 30, 2003. Business Administrator Hayden's contract was not renewed as of March 2003. Therefore, Dr. Pross elevated Dale Horner to Principal in June 2003 at a salary of $70,000. This was substantially less that the $90,000 plus that Dr. Gibson received. The new Business Administrator, Henry Burmann, was hired on a part-time or shared basis. Accordingly, the present structure of the school administration is a Superintendent, Principal and part-time Business Administrator. This is the identical organization that existed prior to petitioner's termination. However, the salary figures were significantly less because the new hires had less experience.

Dr. Pross explained that the T-1 program, originally restored for the 2002-2003 budget year, was eliminated. Dr. Pross found this program to be educationally unnecessary. However, the school playground aides remain. The aides serve approximately one hour a day. They receive approximately $7.50 to $8.00 per hour. The school Honor Club also remains. The teacher who supervises the program receives an annual stipend of $2,000. Pross made additional budgetary adjustments during the 2003-2004 budget year. He reduced the guidance counselor from a full-time position to a part-time position. Further, the school psychologist was reduced from three days to two days per week. Thus, under Pross, the T-1 program was eliminated and the staff positions of guidance counselor and school psychologist were reduced. This allowed the tile of Principal to be restored. These organizational changes represented a fresh approach and were within the educational judgment of Dr. Pross.

Sandra Manning testified for petitioner. Ms. Manning was a Board member from 1998-2002. Manning served on the liaison and personnel committees. She resigned after the school board elections in April 2002. This was before petitioner was RIF'd. Manning was not particularly fond of Board President Sorbello or Dr. Gibson. She recalled the Board expressing concern about Dr. Gibson's extended medical leave and its impact upon the school.

Kathleen Hovern testified for petitioner. Ms. Hovern was a Board member for 12 years. She served on the finance, curriculum, public relations and legislation committees. In 2001-2002 she was the finance committee chairperson. Hovern was not on the finance committee when the RIF was finalized. She recalled that Griggs requested a stipend and Dr. Gibson was defensive after the request was made. Hovern believed the stipend request by Griggs was justified.

Ms. Hovern recalled the discussions leading up to the RIF. She first learned of the RIF at the May 28, 2002, Board meeting. The Board met in closed session for 30-60 minutes. Most of the discussion centered on RIFing petitioner. They discussed the Mayor and Borough Council demands that the programs eliminated in the budget be restored. If petitioner was RIF'd and Gibson was out on medical leave, the Business Administrator or Director of Special Services could cover in her absence. Hovern believed petitioner should not be terminated. The school was headed in the right direction. She attributed this to petitioner's leadership. Ms. Hovern was the only Board member to vote against the RIF. She did not believe that staff cuts were necessary. Rather, she would not have re-instituted the T-1 program. The program was not financially prudent. She also believed the board members elected in April 2002, were not as informed as they should have been before the RIF vote.

Hovern was subject to cross-examination. She admitted being friendly with petitioner. She had children in the school. She met with Griggs in his office once a week on issues related to her children.

Marie Lavigne testified. Ms. Lavigne was a member of the Board since April 2001. She recalled both May 2002 meetings with the Mayor and Borough Council after the budget was defeated. She stated that the Mayor and Council "maligned" the Board because of the program cuts. Lavigne referred to the second meeting as a "public bashing." She believed the municipal body wanted the budget increased, if necessary, so as to restore the programs. The meetings concluded with a directive that the programs be brought back. After the meetings with the municipal body, the Board evaluated Dr.Gibson's performance. They concluded that Dr. Gibson was getting her work done, in spite of her medical problems. The Board consulted with the County officials before reaching this conclusion. Lavigne stated that she felt pressured from the Borough to restore the programs. She did not feel pressured by Dr. Gibson or from any other Board members. Lavigne did not observe any scheme, plan or improper motives to RIF petitioner.

Borough Mayor, Betty Ann Cowling-Carson testified. Ms. Cowling-Carson has been Mayor of Magnolia for 13 years. She served on Council for 9 years. She knows petitioner. She recalled meeting with the Board of Education on two occasions in May 2002. She recalled recommending that the school aids be reinstated. She had no recollection if the Borough insisted that the T-1 and Honors programs be restored. The Borough did not recommend downsizing the educational staff. After petitioner was RIF'd, she did recall mentioning that if anyone was RIF'd it should have been Dr. Gibson. Mayor Cowling-Carson was stunned when the Board RIF'd petitioner.

LEGAL ANALYSIS AND DISCUSSION

Respondent, Board of Education approved a reduction in force in May 2002. Consequently, petitioner's title was eliminated. The pertinent statute entitled "Reduction of force; power to reduce and reasons for reduction" provides:

> Nothing in this title or any other law relating to tenure of service shall be held to limit the right of any board of education to reduce the number of teaching staff members, employed in the district whenever, in the judgment of the board, it is advisable to abolish any such positions for reasons of economy or because of reduction in the number of pupils or of change in the administrative or supervisory organization of the district or for other good cause upon compliance with the provisions of this article.
> N.J.S.A. 18A:28-9.

The New Jersey Supreme Court has recognized that a local board of education has the authority to reduce its teaching force as long as that reduction is genuinely `for reasons of economy.' Impey v. Board of Educ. of Shrewsbury, 142 N.J. 388, 399 (1995). Whether those services are eliminated, reduced or modified, however, may be a relevant factor in determining whether abolition of a position genuinely advances the goals of economy and efficiency and was undertaken in good faith. Id. at 399-40. Substance, rather than the form of a change in employment, is the controlling factor in making this determination, and if a position is replaced with an identical position but a different title, that action does not constitute a valid RIF. See Viemeister v. Prospect Park Bd. of Educ, 5 N.J. Super. 215, 218 (App. Div. 1949).

The District argues that the Board of Education has complete authority to determine if a RIF should be implemented for reasons of economy. In Re Maywood Board of Education, 168 N.J. Super. 45 (App. Div. 1979); cert. denied 81 N.J. 292 (1979). Furthermore, the RIF is non-negotiable and non-grievable. Jamison v. Morris School District Board of Education, 198 N.J. Super. 411 (App. Div. 1985). The District suggests that each and every contract between the Board of Education and teaching staff member must be in writing and signed by the President and the Secretary of the Board of Education, in addition to being signed by the teaching staff member. N.J.S.A. 18A:27-5. The RIF statute, if properly executed, "trumps" a non-teaching staff member's contract rollover provisions contained in N.J.S.A. 18A:27-11. Therefore, so long as the RIF was performed in good faith and for economic reasons, a teaching staff member can be terminated.

Courts have held that Districts have discretion in dealing with the management of the public schools.

> The School Law vests the management of the public school ... in the local boards of education, and unless they violate the law, or act in bad faith, the exercise of their discretion in the performance of the duties imposed upon them is not subject to interference or reversal. Kenney v. Montclair BOE, 1 938 S.L.D 647 (1935), aff'd., St. Bd. at 653

A board of education has broad discretionary authority and its actions are entitled to a presumption of lawfulness and good faith. Quinlan v. North Bergen BOE, 73 N.J. Super. 40, 46 (App. Div. 1962); see also Schinck v. Westwood BOE, 60 N.J. Super. 448 (App. Div. 1960). This presumption extends to a board's determination that, for reasons of economy, a tenured employee may be subject to a reduction in force. Jamison v. Morris Sch. Dist. BOE, supra. at 415. Actions of a board of education are entitled to a presumption of correctness, as well as a presumption that such actions will be upheld by the Commissioner of Education, absent a showing of bad faith, illegal motive or a lack of rational basis. See Kopera v. West Orange BOE, 60 N.J. Super. 288 (App. Div. 1960). Bad faith has been explained as meaning improper or evil purpose or motive. Thompson v. Pleasantville BOE, 95 *N.J.A.R. 2*d (EDU) 278, 282 (citation omitted).

While a District has the power and authority to reduce the work force, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:28-9, the courts have held that the Board's decisions are subject to review, to determine if the position was in fact abolished or merely transferred to another person in violation of the incumbent's tenure rights. See Viemister v. Prospect Park Bd. Of Ed., supra. at 215. Petitioner has the burden of proving, by a preponderance of the credible evidence, that the abolition of the position was undertaken in bad faith or was arbitrary and capricious or was in any other fashion contrary to the dictates of N.J.S.A. 18A:28-9. Dearden v. Trenton BOE, 96 N.J.A.R. 2d (EDU) 321, 323; Wollman v. Trenton BOE, 96 N.J.A.R. 2d (EDU) 20, 22, aff'd, Comm'r at 27. The specific burden was espoused in Wollman wherein the Court stated:

> [I]n order for an aggrieved party to prevail where there has been a reduction in force, it is necessary that he or she demonstrate that the decision is clearly improper, arbitrary and capricious and he will be [sic] generally not prevail in situations where there exists any reasonable justification for the reduction absent such proof of bad faith. See Klig v. Borough of Palisades BOE, 1 95 S.L.D. 168, 173-174. In re Maywood Board of Education, supra.

Here, the District failed to timely provide petitioner with notice of non-renewal of his employment contract by May 15, 2002. Consequently, the provisions of N.J.S.A. 18A-27-11 were triggered and petitioner was deemed to have been offered employment for the succeeding school year under the same terms and conditions as the preceding year. Petitioner was offered and accepted employment (P-32) for what would be his tenure year 2002-2003. In the Order, this ALJ held that petitioner's employment contract rolled over on or after May 15, 2002, (Order at page 10). The District's termination of petitioner's employment agreement effective June 30, 2002, was upheld, subject to the implications of the RIF statute. N.J.S.A. 18A:28-9. Thus, the analysis that follows must be done as though petitioner was a tenured teacher. N.J.S.A. 18A-27-11. Even though petitioner did not start of his fourth year of teaching service, it is undisputed that the District did not provide petitioner with notice of non-renewal in accordance with N.J.S.A. 18A-27-10 and -11. In Canfield v. Board of Ed. of Borough of Pine Hill, 51 N.J. 400 1968, the Court stated "tenure is designed to aid in the establishment of a competent and efficient school system by affording to teachers a reasonable measure of security after a reasonably fixed probationary period. With this goal in mind, the provisions of the Tenure Act should be construed and administered fairly and sensibly rather than harshly." See Bd. of Ed. of Manchester Tp., Ocean County v. Raubinger, 78 N.J.Super. 90 (App.Div.1963); See also, Jamison v. Morris Sch. Dist. BOE, 198 N.J.Super. at 415 (App. Div. 1985). Furthermore, the District defended this matter on the basis of the RIF action (N.J.S.A. 18A:28-9) rather than on the basis of the rights of a non-tenured teacher staff member N.J.S.A. 18A:27-4.1.

Thus, I FIND and CONCLUDE that the RIF action must be resolved as though petitioner was a tenured teacher. If petitioner was not tenured, the provisions of N.J.S.A. 18A:27-4.1 would apply and he could have been non-renewed without cause, leaving him with limited relief. (See Order, November 10, 2003 resolving the contract claims). A board of education has broad discretionary authority in regard to the granting of tenure. Donaldson v. Board of Educ. of North Wildwood, 65 N.J. 236, 240-41 (1974); Dore v. Bedminster Board of Educ., 185 N.J. Super. 447, 453-54 (App. Div. 1982). In Dore the Appellate Division concluded:

> The decision of the Commissioner recognized a local board's right to base its decision not to re-employ on matters outside of a teacher's evaluations due to a board's virtually unlimited discretion in hiring or renewing nontenured teachers.
> [185 N.J. Super. at 453.]

The contract issues have been addressed above and in the November 10, 2003, Order. The thrust of the remaining dispute is the validity of the RIF action. Petitioner advanced two charges attacking the District's actions. First, that Superintendent Gibson and Business Administrator Hayden conspired to eliminate petitioner's position for their benefit. Second, the District did not eliminate the position of principal to promote real economic savings or efficiency. I FIND that petitioner did not meet his burden in establishing bad faith in that the Board or administration conspired to eliminate his position or that the RIF was arbitrary or capricious.

There was no evidence of a conspiracy to RIF or eliminate petitioner before or after the budget was defeated in April 2002. The 2002-2003 budget, prepared in part by Gibson and Hayden, included funding for petitioner's title through the period until the budget was defeated. Prior to the defeated budget, Board minutes do not reflect any consideration or discussion to eliminate petitioner's title. (R-18, March 26 meeting). The budget process was then statutorily shifted to the Borough for consultation and resolution. N.J.S.A. 18A:22-37. Even after the taxpayers defeated the budget, petitioner's title was included in the budget. (R-21, April 25, 2002 meeting; R-26, proposed budget). Neither the Board, Gibson nor Hayden initiated any action to RIF petitioner until after the joint meeting between the Borough and the Board. This meeting occurred on May 16, 2002. Witnesses from the District described the meeting as contentious. Board members received a "scolding" or were "berated" by the Mayor and Council. This set in motion a series of reactions by the Board. Council inferred that the District was to top heavy with administrative salaries. In the end Council approved the defeated budget with the caveat that: the T-1 program, playground aides and/or the honors programs be reinstated for 2002-2003. Based upon the defeated budget and Council's recommendation, the Board sought more money to restore these programs. The Board was compelled to react to the stern message from Mayor and Council.

Subsequent to the joint meeting, the District's finance committee met several times to develop a new budget consistent with the conditions set by Borough. The committee discussed eliminating the titles of Superintendent, Principal, Business Administrator or the Director of Special Services in order to restore the programs. This action would not generate a gross budget dollar change but rather shifted monies around. The committee explored each option. The committee included Dr. Gibson, Hayden, Board Vice President, Adrianne Boice and others. Boice stated that the committee called the New Jersey School Board Association and consulted with their solicitor. They explored as many options as possible. Dr. Gibson then presented the options to the full Board on May 28, 2002. Her recommendation was to eliminate the principal's position and make the Business Administrator full-time. Gibson characterized this action as saving 50% in administrative cost. (R-35). This calculation was not in line with the real savings in dollar terms. But the savings generated from the budgetary adjustments were clearly intended to return the T-1 program, school aides and Honor's program as expressed the May 31, 2002, memorandum of Gibson. (R-35). This was consistent with the testimony of Board members Sorbello and Boice. This was also what the Mayor and Council demanded.

Hence, I FIND that Hayden and Gibson did not conspire to RIF petitioner for their benefit. Their action, as well as the Boards (vote 8 to 1 for RIF), was driven by economic and efficiency considerations fostered by the budget defeat and Mayor/Counsel comments. The Board never intended to RIF petitioner prior to the budget defeat or meeting with the Borough. Petitioner suggests that once the RIF was put into play, he became the likely, but unnecessary, target. This may be true; however, the public defeat of the budget and the subsequent meeting with the Mayor and Borough Council, stimulated the RIF concept. It was not Dr. Gibson or Hayden. The Board had to submit the defeated budget to the Mayor and Council as a matter of law. N.J.S.A. 18A:22-37. Gibson and Hayden had a duty to find ways to restore certain programs that were eliminated. They presented various options for what they believed was appropriate. These options were developed from committees that involved several Board members. It was the Board that made the final decision, not Gibson or Hayden. The Board made a painful decision to RIF petitioner. There were many other ways the programs could have been restored that may not have resulted in petitioner being RIF'd. However, that does not mean the Board members acted without good intentions or violated the RIF guidelines. They did restore certain programs without increasing the budget. That was the end product sought by the Mayor and Council and by the taxpayers.

Hence, the Board did not act in bad faith when it voted to eliminate the position of principal in May 2002. I agree with petitioner that many other options might have been available to the District as evidenced by the actions taken by Dr. Pross in subsequent years. Dr. Pross faced a different set of circumstances. The Business Administrator's contract was not renewed. Dr. Pross reduced costs in other areas, such as special services and guidance. In his educational judgment he eliminated the T-1 program. However, based upon the information available to the Board in May 2002, together with the constraints imposed by the Mayor and Borough Council once the budget was defeated, I FIND the RIF action was within the realm of management's discretion. G.M. v. Roselle Park Borough Board of Education, 95 N.J.A.R. 2d. (EDU) 107, 109.

There was no persuasive evidence, beyond inference or speculation, that Dr. Gibson or James Hayden improperly influenced the entire Board's the final vote on the RIF.

CONCLUSION AND ORDER

Based upon the foregoing, I CONCLUDE that petitioner has not satisfied his burden that the reduction in force imposed by the District in May 2002, was done in bad faith or not for reasons of efficiency or economy. N.J.S.A. 18A:28-9. Therefore, I ORDER that the action filed by petitioner be DISMISSED.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen (13) days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

BEFORE W. TODD MILLER, ALJ:

The New Jersey Department of Education Bureau of Controversies received a request for relief on August 6, 2002. Petitioner, a School Principal for the Borough of Magnolia School District contends that the non-renewal of his alleged contract was improper and unlawful. The district asserts that position was eliminated pursuant to a reduction in force (RIF). The matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) on September 11, 2002. The Director of the OAL assigned the undersigned to hear this matter pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13. A prehearing telephone conference was held on January 3, 2003. A settlement conference was scheduled for May 27, 2003, and hearing dates for June 11 and 12, 2003. On May 7, 2003, petitioner submitted a letter motion seeking to compel discovery of information in certain personnel files. The letter motion was preceded by a telephone conference regarding the discovery request and procedure. During the May 27, 2003, conference the plenary hearing was adjourned until October 1, 2003. Thereafter, on August 27, 2003, petitioner submitted a motion for partial summary judgment concerning the contract claims and issues. Respondent filed opposition and oral argument was heard on October 27, 2003.

Petitioner requested, in the interest of avoiding unnecessary litigation and expense, that this Order be submitted to the Commissioner of Education for immediate review as an initial decision, as it makes up the primary claims sought to be adjudicated by petitioner. N.J.A.C. 1:1-15.5(c).

UNDISPUTED FACTS

1. Petitioner, Thomas F. Griggs (hereinafter "Griggs" or "petitioner") is a former employee of respondent, Board of Education of the Borough of Magnolia (hereinafter "respondent" or "Board"). From July 1, 1999 to June 30, 2002, Griggs was employed by the Board as Principal of its elementary school.

2. During the 2001-2002 school year, Griggs was the Acting Principal pursuant to an unsigned contract.

3. On May 28, 2002, the seven member Board voted 6 to 1 to eliminate Griggs' position effective June 30, and to continue the position of Principal with the position of Superintendent of Schools.

4. The school budget, which had been approved on March 26, 2002 by the Board, was defeated in an election held in April 2002. Once the budget was defeated, there were legitimate concerns regarding numerous programs and services being slated for elimination from the budget due to its defeat in the April election.

5. On May 28, 2002, the Board approved the reduction of force with abolishment, for economic reasons, of the Principal's position, effective June 30, 2002.

6. In accordance with the RIF, the Superintendent's job title and description was revised to reflect the chief school administrator's duties and responsibilities. By letter dated May 29, 2002, Dr. Gibson advised Griggs that the Board of Education had met on May 28, 2002 and had abolished his position as part of a RIF procedure. Dr. Gibson informed petitioner that a letter of May 29, 2002 would serve as a 60 day notice of termination wherein he would receive compensation until July 30, 2002.

7. During the period 2001 through May 2002, Griggs and the Board, through its agents and representatives, had been actively negotiating contractual terms and provisions. On May 28, 2002, Griggs notified the Board and the Superintendent, in writing, that he accepted continued employment in the district for the 2002-2003 school year. The written notification was forwarded to the Superintendent's office via telefax and it provided as follows:

> Based on my attorney's advice, I accept the employment contract as Principal for the 2002-2003 school year. Respectfully, Thomas F. Griggs

The fax indicates that it was transmitted at approximately 2:25 p.m. on May 28, 2002.

SUMMARY OF LIMITED TESTIMONY

The present motion for partial summary judgment revolves around contract law in a school law setting. Petitioner also asserts that respondent violated the RIF provisions, but has chosen to submit the contract issues for summary decision in the interest of judicial economy and cost savings. The testimony of Superintendent Gibson and Petitioner Griggs were offered at oral argument. From their testimony the following facts were developed.

It is undisputed that, in or around June 1999, petitioner and the district entered a two-year agreement wherein petitioner would serve as the principal. This agreement was executed and its term was from July 1, 1999 to June 30, 2001. There remains a legal question as to whether it was appropriate for the district to enter into a multi-year contract for the position of principal. (Petitioner's letter dated October 6, 2003, page 2.) This agreement expired on June 30, 2001, pursuant to its terms, or on June 30, 2000, if multi-year contracts are prohibited as a matter of law.

On June 26, 2001, the Board of Education authorized the hiring of petitioner as its principal for another two years. The Board solicitor was authorized and directed to prepare the necessary contract. No contract was ever prepared by the solicitor. In or around January 2002, petitioner marked up his old 1999-2001 contract and submitted it to Superintendent Gibson. Gibson and petitioner met sometime between January 2002, and April 2002, to discuss the marked up contract. Petitioner's proposed changes were generally minor, except that he wanted to be paid at the superintendent's daily rate in situations where he temporarily served in that capacity. Petitioner was advised by Dr. Gibson that this modification "would not fly" because it was contrary to school law. Also, at this time, the district was preparing the 2002-2003 budget. Petitioner's title as principal was contained in the budget.

In or around May 2002, Gibson also marked up the draft agreement and forwarded it to the solicitor for review and comment. The district did not provide petitioner with notice on or before May 15, 2002, that it intended not to renew his agreement N.J.S.A. 18A:27-10. On May 28, 2002, petitioner faxed a handwritten note to Dr. Gibson stating that he accepted the employment contract for the 2001-2003 school year. On May 28, 2002 the Board voted 6 to 1 to eliminate petitioner's position pursuant to a RIF. The position was abolished as of June 28, 2002. The Board however, gave petitioner 60 days notice and, therefore, paid his salary until July 30, 2002.

ARGUMENTS OF THE PARTIES

Petitioner Griggs argues that he is entitled to all the rights and benefits that flow from the unexecuted or unsigned employment contract for the 2002-2003 school year, citing N.J.S.A.

18A:27-11. This includes, but is not limited to, full salary, vacation, sick time and other benefits arising from the district's failure to provide notice of termination pursuant to what petitioner argues is a valid contract. More specifically, petitioner relies upon N.J.S.A. 18A:27-11, which provides as follows:

> Should any Board of Education fail to give any non-tenured teaching staff member either an offer of contract for employment for the next succeeding year or notice that such employment will not be offered, all within the time and manner provided by this Act, then the Board of Education shall be deemed to have offered to the teaching staff member continued employment for the next succeeding school year upon the same terms and conditions but with such increases in salary as may be required by law or policies of the Board of Education.

Petitioner's argument is that the board is required to provide him with notice by May 15, 2002, of its intention not to renew his employment contract. N.J.S.A. 18A:27-10. If the district failed to provide such notice of non-renewal, his contract is automatically renewed. The contract that would be renewed is the agreement that was signed back in 1999. Petitioner refers to termination provisions in the unexecuted 2001-2003 contract and places significant reliance thereupon. The termination provisions in the unexecuted contract provide as follows:

> 8. TERMINATION OF EMPLOYMENT CONTRACT.
>
> A. Mutual Agreement. This contract may be terminated by mutual agreement of the parties.
> B. Notice of Termination. By notice of the Principal, this contract may be terminated upon giving 60 days notice to the Board.

Petitioner argues that he cannot be terminated unless it is reached by mutual agreement as expressed in the unsigned 2001-2003 contract. Again, petitioner urges that if the Board fails to notify him by May 15th of the given calendar year, his employment contract is automatically renewed.

In the present matter, petitioner argues that he never agreed to be terminated. Petitioner also argues that, while the present matter arose pursuant to the RIF statute, the Board does not have unfettered authority to override contractual notice provisions, even if it is proceeding pursuant to a good faith RIF action, citing, Siegel v. Board of Education of the City of Garfield, 93 N.J.A.R. 2d (EDU) 766, aff'd, 94 N.J.A.R. 2d (EDU) 319. Petitioner offers the aforementioned authority to support the theory that the district must honor the notice and termination provisions of a non-teaching staff member's employment contract.

In opposition, respondent district argues that the board of education has complete authority to determine if a RIF should be implemented for reasons of economy. In Re Maywood Board of Education, 168 N.J. Super. 45 (App. Div. 1979); cert. denied 81 N.J. 292 (1979). Furthermore, the district argues that a reduction in force is non-negotiable and non-grievable. Jamison v. Morris School District Board of Education, 198 N.J. Super. 411 (App. Div. 1985). The district suggests that each and every contract between the board of education and teaching staff member must be in writing and signed by the President and the Secretary of the Board of Education, in addition to being signed by the teaching staff member. N.J.S.A. 18A:27-5. The district argues that the RIF statute and provisions supercede the non-teaching staff member's contract rollover provisions contained in N.J.S.A. 18A:27-11. Therefore, so long as the RIF was performed in good faith and for economic reasons, a teaching staff member can be terminated.

STANDARD FOR SUMMARY DECISION

The rules governing practice in the OAL provide that a Motion for Summary Decision may be granted if there is no genuine issue of material fact and the moving party is entitled to prevail as a matter of law. This provision mirrors the language of Rule 4:46-2 and the Supreme Court's decision in Judson v. Peoples Bank and Trust Co. of Westfield, 17 N.J. 67 (1954). Under N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(b), the determination to grant summary judgment should be based on the papers presented as well as any affidavits, which may have been filed with the application. In order for the adverse, i.e., the non-moving party to prevail in such an application, responding affidavits must be submitted showing that there is indeed a genuine issue of fact, which can only be determined in an evidentiary proceeding. The Court, in Brill v. Guardian Life Insurance Co. of American, 142 N.J. 520, 523 (1995), set the standard to be applied when deciding a Motion for Summary Judgment. Therein the Court stated:

> The determination whether there exists a genuine issue with respect to a material fact challenged requires the Motion Judge to consider whether the competent evidential materials presented, when viewed in the light most favorable to the non-moving party... are sufficient to permit a rational fact finder to resolve the alleged disputed issue in favor of the non-moving party.

If the non-moving party's evidence is merely colorable, or is not significantly probative, summary judgment should not be denied. See Bowles v. City of Camden, 993 F. Supp. 255, 261 (D.N.J. 1998).

Based upon the testimony, briefs, affidavits and interrogatory answers and having considered the oral argument of the parties, I FIND that there are no genuine issues of material facts and the contract issues and claims can be decided by summary decision. Petitioner's claims and issues concerning the validity of the RIF action have not been submitted with this motion. They are reserved for a plenary hearing.

LEGAL ANALYSIS AND DISCUSSION

Petitioner filed a Motion seeking an Order for Partial Summary Judgment carrying forth the terms and condition of petitioner's employment contract for the 2000-01 school year to the 2001-02 school year; binding the Board by contractual notice provisions and not arbitrarily determining the length of notice to be given; granting the equivalent of one year's compensation (less mitigation); and compensation for petitioner's unused sick leave days.

Petitioner argues that his contract automatically rolls over pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:27-11. Specifically, the statute provides that if the district fails to give a nontenured teaching staff member either an offer of a contract for employment for the next succeeding year or notice that such employment will not be offered, then the board of education shall be deemed to have offered continued employment under the same terms and conditions. The only executed agreement between petitioner and the district was in June 1999. Neither the original nor a copy of that agreement could be located. The parties agreed that multi-year contracts are generally forbidden, except for the position of superintendent. See, N.J.S.A. 18A:17-15. Therefore, the district was required to offer employment and prepare agreements for 2000, 2001, 2002 and 2003. The district did not comply with the applicable statutes in 2000, 2001 and 2002. It prepared multi-year agreements and therefore, skipped 2000, 2001 and 2002. It did not retain on file or cannot locate the original agreement from 1999. The solicitor was authorized to prepare the 2001-2003 employment agreement, but did not do so. Dr. Gibson summarized the contract status in her September 5, 2002, memorandum as follows:

> The original contracts were with Mr. Wade and were to be forwarded to Mr. Sahli so that renewal contracts could be prepared. Believe it or not, we tried but we were not able to get them. As a last resort, Mr. Sahli asked that I do the changes by hand and his office would re-type the re-newal contracts. As you and former board members know, all of our contracts were up in the air for that one year and with no signatures. We can blame the former Board, we can blame the Solicitors, the administrators, the current Board and everyone else till doomsday, but the bottom line is that neither Mr. Griggs nor I had any legally signed contract at the time that the Board made a decision to restructure the school district and abolish the Principal's position. I know you recognize that a Board has the authority to restructure, abolish, or cut positions as needed and I did personally call and advise the County Superintendent of their intent to re-structure in order to downsize administration and free up funds to bring back other services. The current Board has complied with getting all current administrative and association contracts completed and signed.
> Respondent's Brief –Exhibit 5

For purposes of employment in 2001-2002, petitioner was left to mark up and submit his old 1999 contract almost 6 months after the official Board action. This was done in January 2002. The marked up version was reviewed by Dr. Gibson and the Board and than sent to the solicitor in May 2002. This occurred substantially after the board directed the solicitor to prepare agreements in June 2001. Almost one year passed and a simple six-page employment contract was left unfinished. The administrative contracts for this title were poorly handled.

Petitioner complicated matters when he marked up the agreement in January 2002, and added a material change to the former agreement. He effectively made a new offer or a counter offer when he requested payment at the superintendent's daily rate. This proposal caused the district and its solicitor, to further mishandle petitioner's employment agreement.

In spite of all of the inappropriate handling of the employment agreement, petitioner served the district for the 2001-2002 school year pursuant to the terms of the original 1999 contract. Similarly, petitioner and the district operated pursuant to the terms in the 1999 agreement in all subsequent years even though they never signed the contract. Therefore, when the May 15, 2002, deadline passed, the district was obligated to have responded in some fashion. N.J.S.A. 18A:27-10 and -11. There were unequivocally ongoing contract negotiations. Superintendent Gibson sent the Board solicitor a memorandum regarding this subject on May 2, 2002. (Respondent's Brief exhibit 2.) But, by all indications, the material terms from 1999 were operational. Therefore, the Board either had to reject petitioners marked up counter offer, reject the 1999 agreement in its original form or provide notice that employment would not be offered.

The district's lack of diligence in finalizing its administrative contracts is analogous to W.V. Pangborne & Co. v. New Jersey Dept. of Trans., 116 N.J. 543 (1989). In Pangborne, the Court held that government bodies must "turn square corners" when dealing with taxpayers. The "square corners" doctrine applies even where the party cannot satisfy the stricter evidentiary requirements that justify equitable estoppel. The Court, in Pangborne, stated:

> [W]e have insisted that in the exercise of statutory responsibilities, government must "turn square corners' rather than exploit litigational or bargaining advantages that might otherwise be available to private citizens. [Citing to FMC Stores Co.] ["The government's primary obligation is to comport itself with compunction and integrity, and in doing so government may have to forego the freedom of action that private citizens may employ in dealing with one another."]

Here, the district, a government body, neglected to finalize the 2001-2002 administrative contract for petitioner for almost an entire year. It did not deal fairly with petitioner in terms of preparing his employment contract. It is inexcusable that his employment contract was not reduced to writing and executed. Having done very little on or before May 15, 2002, I FIND and CONCLUDE that the 1999 original employment contract rolled over pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:27-10 and -11. The district was in the better position and is statutorily obligated to maintain executed employment contracts on file. N.J.S.A. 18A:27-5. It failed to fulfill its statutorily obligation for all years. The original contract cannot be located and admittedly no formal contracts were prepared and executed in any years after 1999. The district improperly prepared multi-year contracts.

Having determined that petitioner's 1999 agreement rolled over on or after May 15, 2002, the question remains what contractual notice is petitioner entitled to a since the contract was terminated pursuant to a RIF. The actual contract terms provide that the agreement may be terminated by mutual agreement of the parties and the principal of this contract may unilaterally terminate it by giving sixty (60) days notice to the board.

Petitioner argues that, notwithstanding the RIF action, the board, only upon mutual agreement of the parties, can terminate the contract. Therefore, the RIF action does not "trump" the contract termination notice requirements. Petitioner suggests that he is entitled to one-years notice as a mutually agreeable termination date and, therefore, he is entitled to one-years salary and benefits. The district argues that its RIF action supersedes an employment contract and awarding a full years salary would, in effect, nullify the important function of the RIF statute. Old Bridge Twp. Bd. Of Educ. v. Old Bridge Educ. Ass'n, 98 N.J. 523, 531-533 (1985); N.J.S.A 18A:29-9. Moreover, the district contends that 60 days notice is reasonable absent mutual agreement of the parties. Sixty days notice is also consistent with other RIF actions for nontenured teaching staff members. Old Bridge, supra. Finally, the district urges that 60 days notice is reasonable because it is the same period of time petitioner proposed to give the board if he terminated the contract.

Since the parties did not reach a mutual agreement as to the length of notice before effective termination, it has been submitted to this tribunal for determination. Petitioner relies upon Siegle v Garfield Board of Education, 93 N.J.A.R. (EDU) 766, decided August 10, 1993. In Siegle, the boilerplate employment contract contained notice provisions that were left blank at the time the agreement was executed. The ALJ observed:

> Here, however, the contractual language is not susceptible of such interpretation. Language chosen by the Board itself plainly provides that "[I]n the absence of any provision herein for a definite number of days' notice, the contract shall run for the full term[.]" Under these unique circumstances, where the Board could have easily limited its liability by using the appropriate language in its contract, it does > not seriously interfere with managerial prerogatives to require the Board to honor the commitment that it voluntarily made.

The ALJ and Commissioner agreed that since the notice clause was left blank and the general provisions in the agreement specifically required the agreement to run for its full term, the teacher was entitled to entire years salary. The decision was an exception to the more typical 60 day notice requirement set forth in Old Bridge. Siegle also turned on the fact that the teacher was terminated in October. The teacher was unable to obtain a new teaching position because of the timing of the RIF in October.

In Seigle the ALJ stated:

> Had this been a non-tenured teacher, the Commissioner of Education would have looked to the standard contract of employment to find the correct resolution. 98 N.J. at 531. Relying on prior school law decisions, the Court elaborated:
>
> > To determine the amount of the award the State Board has drawn upon the provisions in the standard contract of employment for non-tenured teachers requiring 60 days. Armstrong v. East Brunswick Bd. of Educ., 1975 SLD 117, aff'd 1976 SLD 1104 (App. Div. 1976) (non-tenured teacher who did not receive notice of nonrenewal until two days after statutory deadline awarded 60 days salary). Had the reduction in force occurred in mid-term to a non-tenured teacher, the Commissioner would presumably draw upon the same provisions in teachers' contracts calling for 60 days notice of termination to value the claim. Cf. Contaldi v. Board of Educ. of Jersey City (Commissioner of Education, January 23, 1981) (non-tenured teacher awarded 60 days pay when he was not properly notified of his dismissal until the new school year had begun and he had already taught for one school day). 98 N.J. at 532.
> While 60 days' notice of cancellation seems to have become the generally-recognized practice in the educational field, it is not enshrined in any statute or regulation. Review of the two administrative decisions cited by the Supreme Court reveals that in each instance the underlying contract or salary policy specified 60 days' notice. Armstrong, 1975 S.L.D. at 1104. Contaldi, slip op. at 4. Accord, Mozier, 450 F.Supp. at 748 n.4, where it was said that the presence of an express 60-day notice provision in a teacher's contract "vitiates any expectancy of year long employment." See also, Canfield v. Pine Hill Bd. of Educ. 97 N.J. Super. 483, 492 (App. Div. 1967) (Gaulkin, S.J.A.D. dissenting), rev'd for reasons expressed in the dissent, 51 N.J. 400 (1968), suggesting that, absent a > cancellation clause, "the teacher would, at most, be entitled to his salary for the full term of the contract, but not to tenure."

Nothing prohibits the parties from negotiating a shorter or longer notice period. Rahway Educ. Ass'n v. Rahway Bd. of Educ, 1986 S.L.D. 1588, 1600 (wherein the Commissioner declared that any agreement which extends salary benefits to nontenured teachers beyond the 60-day termination provision included in their employment contracts is contrary to law.) Even if the cancellation clause was silent as to time, the Commissioner would be likely to impute 60 days as a "reasonable" time period. Ordinarily, if a contract contains no express terms as to its duration, it is terminable at will or after a reasonable time. In re Miller's Estate, 90 N.J. 210, 219 (1982); West Caldwell v. Caldwell, 26 N.J. 9, 27 (1958).

Here, petitioner was RIF'd before the start of the next school year (2002-2003) and compensated through July 30, 2002, while only obligated to work through June 28, 2002. Moreover, there was no specific contract clause that required the agreement to run for its full term as in Seigle. These facts distinguish this matter from Siegle and make it more analogous to Old Bridge. Finally, petitioner included 60 days a reasonable period to give the board notice if he terminated the agreement. Absent more specific language, 60 days is reasonable for both parties.

In sum, petitioner's original 1999 contract rolled over each year, but remained subject to a good faith RIF action. The RIF action is a statutorily sanctioned breach of the agreement. Petitioner may be entitled to the full benefit of the termination clause in his employment agreement. However, in this matter, the termination provisions were left vague and unclear. Therefore, if a contract contains no clear expressed terms as to its duration, it is terminable at will or after a reasonable time. In re Miller's Estate, supra. There is sufficient decisional law citing 60 days as a reasonable period for notice for termination, if the notice was given in a way the future employment opportunities were not adversely impacted. A RIF'd teacher should be given notice at or near the end of one school year so that future employment may be explored during the summer recess for the start of the next year. Petitioner was given notice of the RIF in May 2002. Accordingly, in the school law tradition, 60 days notice and compensation was reasonable. I so FIND.

CONCLUSION AND ORDER

For the reasons set forth above, I CONCLUDE that petitioner's employment contract rolled over for the years 2000, 2001 and 2002. I further CONCLUDE that the contract termination clause was vague and unclear and therefore, sixty (60) days notice of termination was reasonable. Accordingly, petitioner's motion for summary decision is GRANTED, in part and DENIED, in part.

Petitioner requested that this Order be submitted to the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for immediate review as if it were an initial decision. N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(e).

This order granting petitioner's motion for summary judgment in part and denying petitioner's motion for summary judgment in part is being submitted under N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(e) for immediate review. This recommended order may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make the final decision in this matter. If the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION does not adopt, modify or reject this order within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended order shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen (13) days from the date on which this order was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, P.O. Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

AGENCY DKT NO. 238-7/04

IN THE MATTER OF THE TENURE	:
HEARING OF STEPHEN FOX,	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
SCHOOL DISTRICT OF THE	:	DECISION
BOROUGH OF NEW PROVIDENCE,	:
UNION COUNTY.	:

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed. Respondent requested and was granted two extensions of time within which to file exceptions to the Initial Decision and such exceptions were filed pursuant to the extended timeframe. These and the District's reply submission were fully considered by the Commissioner in making his determination herein.

Respondent's exceptions charge that, in reaching her recommended penalty determination, the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ), at pp. 2-7 of her decision, made certain factual findings which were neither based on hearing testimony nor supported by any competent evidence, wholly ignoring the requirements of the residuum rule. (Respondent's Exceptions at 9-13) Specifically, according to respondent, the ALJ found:

> that the Respondent told Scott Brogan, Director of Color Guards at New Providence High School, on several occasions that he felt bad about kissing the student, that Brogan asked the student if he should report the matter to the administration, but the student asked him not to, (A.L.J. Decision, pp. 2-3); that the student was involved with an older man (not Resplondent (sic)) for a considerable period of time, that some other student told Brogan that J.F. was in big trouble, that Brogan reported the affair with the older man to the State Police, that the student was taken to the Police Station and questioned about the relationship, that the student threatened suicide, that the student believed he and the > adult were in a loving relationship, that other students taunted J.F. about the relationship with the older man, that Brogan asked J.F.'s permission to report the kiss with Fox to the administration, that J.F. asked him not to do so, that the adult entered into a plea bargain and revealed Fox's name to the police, that Brogan brought the incident with the Respondent to the attention to (sic) the School District when he found out the District would learn from others about the incident, that J.F. was terrified of returning to school for his senior year because of the adult being released from prison, that J.F. told Brogan he did not want to face Fox, that the incident with Fox could be placed in time with J.F.'s mother finding his diary, that J.F.'s conduct, after the incident with the Respondent, shows that it "changed his already difficult school environment for the worse" (A.L.J. decision, pp. 2-7)

> (Respondent's Exceptions at 7-8)

To the extent there is any evidentiary support for these factual findings, respondent argues, such evidence can be found "in statements identified by Feinberg and Pepper as documents provided to them by other individuals who did not testify" (Id. at 9) and, therefore, these findings are pure hearsay and should be dismissed by the Commissioner.

Respondent further challenges the ALJ's conclusions that respondent took the role of counselor for which he was untrained and unqualified and that the damage to J.F. as a result of respondent's conduct was immeasurable (Initial Decision at 9-10) as justification of her dismissal recommendation, contending such conclusions are based on a presumption of facts rather than on facts in the record. (Respondent's Exceptions at 16)

Finally, respondent urges that the penalty assessed by the ALJ is too harsh in light of his exemplary employment history with the District, his admission of the act and acknowledgement that his behavior was improper, and the realization that there is no likelihood of a repetition of his behavior. (Id. at 17) In support of this contention, he cites a series of school law decisions where it was determined that one incident of inappropriate behavior by an educator with an otherwise unblemished employment history does not warrant the individual's termination but, rather, calls for reinstatement with the imposition of some lesser penalty, which, respondent contends, should be the case here. (Respondent's Exceptions 17-22)

In reply, the District charges that respondent's exceptions attempt to obfuscate the application of both the hearsay and the residuum rules. Pointing to N.J.A.C. 1:1-15.5(b), the District submits that it is without question that the use of hearsay evidence is permissible in an administrative proceeding. Further, citing the Appellate Division's decision in In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of M. William Cowan, 224 N.J. Super. 737 App. Div. (1988), the District proffers that "the residuum rule comes into play pursuant to that same rule only when hearsay evidence is the basis for each ultimate finding of fact, and application of that residuum rule requires identifying the ultimate finding of fact made by the Administrative Law Judge." (District's Reply Exceptions at 3)

Here, the District urges that the ultimate factual finding upon which the ALJ based her conclusion was that the respondent kissed the student, a fact which was uncontested and specifically admitted by respondent. (Ibid.) It further cites to the hearing transcript to establish other direct admissions made by respondent in his testimony, including:

> from the time he met the student he developed a relationship whereby he was someone whom the student could come and talk to about his struggle with sexual orientation, bullying, and his home life[;] that this relationship was continuous until the kissing incident occurred at which point the student immediately left the room, and thereafter there were no further personal conversations. (citations omitted) (District's Reply Exceptions at 3-4)

In addition to his direct testimony, the District urges that respondent made various other admissions during his interview with Assistant Superintendent Pepper, who testified at hearing. Such admissions, which were reduced to writing and placed into evidence (Exhibit P-4) included:

> that in the later Spring of 2004 J.F. had confided in him about the relationship with the adult P.B. and had asked for confidentiality[;] that he had general concerns about J.F., but never reported the P.B. matter to Administration[;] that he saw himself as a mentor for J.F., someone J.F. could use as a sounding board for dealing with the issues he was facing. (Id. at 4-5)

The District, therefore, submits that each of the ALJ's ultimate findings of fact, on Page 6 of the Initial Decision, is based on either respondent's own testimony or admissions made to Pepper, and, therefore, is properly grounded in competent evidence and not hearsay.

As to respondent's exception challenge to the ALJ's conclusions as to the severity of his admitted conduct, as a consequence of the role he assumed and the damage done to J.F., being unsupported by competent evidence in the record, the District charges that respondent is attempting to obfuscate the line between the ALJ's factual findings and her conclusions regarding these. In this regard, the District points out that respondent's testimony at hearing and his admissions to Mr. Pepper establish:

> that Mr. Fox was aware of the student's relationship with [P.B.], was aware that the youngster was deeply conflicted as to his sexuality, had problems dealing with both his school experience and his home life resulting from the relationship with [P.B.], and yet, in Mr. Fox's own words, served as mentor and confidante to this student from his initial contact through the time of the incident wherein the kiss took place. Fox admits to his repeated meetings with the youngster and, perhaps most tellingly, sets forth the fact that immediately before he kissed the youngster they were engaged in a hug. (District's Exceptions at 7-8)

In light of this direct evidence, the District professes that the ALJ's conclusion that respondent placed himself in the role of counselor to an extremely troubled adolescent was entirely proper.

Similarly, it argues, respondent's objection to the ALJ's conclusion that the damage to J.F. was immeasurable as being unsupported in the record is misplaced. Rather, > as Dr. Feinberg testified, when she met with the youngster to discuss the incident of the kiss, he stated to his therapist and to the others present, "Now you understand why I don't trust adults." He went on to state that the fact that Fox was an icon in the district was what led him to believe that he thought nothing would happen regarding the incident. Clearly, it was not inappropriate for the Administrative Law Judge to take note of the fact that the youngster was still in therapy at the time of this meeting with Dr. Feinberg, some two years after the kiss incident, that the child had expressed an interest in leaving the New Providence School District to change his educational environment and, finally, the > child's evident belief in his inability to trust adults because of his experiences in which he had been taken advantage of.

> (District's Reply Exceptions at 11)

In light of the above, the District contends the conclusion of the ALJ that respondent willingly engaged in a personal relationship with J.F., a youngster whom he knew had significant emotional problems, which led to respondent's unbecoming conduct, which contributed to the young student's difficulties, was well grounded. (Id. at 12-13)

As to the penalty in this matter, the District charges that the series of cases cited by respondent as justification for mitigation of penalty are inapposite in that, although they deal with a wide variety of unbecoming conduct, none involves "physical sexual contact between a teacher and a student." (District's Reply Exceptions at 14). It further contends that determination as to penalty is based on the particular nature and severity of what is under review. Here, it advances, respondent > used his position of trust as a teacher to invite a youngster whom he knew to have recently undergone a traumatic event in terms of the child's sexual relationship with an adult male, encouraged conversations involving the child's sexuality and parental problems, and culminated in his having inappropriate sexual contact with the child.

Citing In re Fulcomer, 93 N.J. Super. 404 App. Div. (1967), the District argues that this behavior is sufficiently flagrant, notwithstanding that it may have been a single incident or that respondent had a heretofore unblemished record and positive evaluations in the District, that nothing short of his termination is warranted. (District's Reply Exceptions at 19-21)

Upon a careful and independent review of the record, the parties' exception submissions and the transcript of the one day of hearing held in this matter,[1] the Commissioner determines to adopt the Initial Decision of the ALJ, as he finds that respondent's admitted behavior with respect to fifteen-year-old student, J.F., is wholly outside the boundaries of professional propriety and inimical to the expectations placed on teaching staff members, and hence is unquestionably conduct unbecoming a teacher. He further concurs with the ALJ that respondent's dismissal from his tenured teaching position is the appropriate penalty.

In so determining, the Commissioner rejects respondent's challenge to certain of the ALJ's factual findings as justification for imposition of a penalty less than termination. Rather, even assuming, aguendo, such identified findings were improper and should be excluded from consideration in this matter, the Commissioner finds that, as persuasively argued by the District, the ALJ's underlying factual findings which formed the basis of her conclusions, i.e., that respondent kissed minor child J.F. on the lips in April 2002; that he engaged in this conduct while presenting himself to the young boy as a concerned adult and counselor and encouraging his confidences; that this sexual physical contact occurred during a period when respondent knew that J.F. was in great emotional distress for a number of reasons, including his home life, concerns about his sexual orientation, his harassment by other students and, quite probably, his relationship with P.B.; and that respondent's unwelcome physical contact altered J.F.'s educational environment in an offensive way (Initial Decision at 6-7), are well established by a preponderance of the credible, competent evidence in the record and, in and of themselves, amply justify respondent's removal from his position.

Similarly rejected are the prior school law decisions cited by respondent in support of mitigation of penalty in consideration of what he apparently believes is the less serious nature of his offense and his exemplary prior work record. Rather, the Commissioner finds that these cases are not particularly beneficial to respondent in the context of this matter. As recognized in In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Frederick L. Ostergren, School District of Franklin Township, Somerset County, 1966 S.L.D at 188.:

> the Commissioner finds significant differences between these cases and the matter herein. The circumstances under which the episode occurred, its provocation, the nature of the incident > itself, the age of the pupil, the teacher's record, his attitude and the prognosis for his continued effective performance and usefulness in the school system, varied materially in these cases. In the Commissioner's opinion each such matter must be judged in light of all of the circumstances. The kind and degree of penalty will necessarily vary also according to the particular problem. (emphasis added)

Said differently, because in tenure matters each case is extremely fact sensitive, meaningful comparisons between cases can be difficult to make. The Commissioner's full review persuades him that none of the cases advanced by respondent is similar enough in nature or factual circumstances to the instant matter so as to provide precedential support for respondent's position.

It is well-established that the obligation and responsibilities of a public school teacher impose a heavy duty of self-restraint and controlled behavior "rarely requisite to other types of employment." In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Jacque L. Sammons, 1972 S.L.D. 302, 321. As an educator, respondent stands in a fiduciary relationship with all of his students. As such, he owes each of them a duty of trust and loyalty which means that he is responsible, at all times, to act in the best interests of his students and may not engage in any activity which would serve his own self interests to the detriment of his students. That respondent here abrogated his duty of trust to J.F. is undeniable. That he did so knowing J.F. was already an extremely conflicted and troubled young man makes his actions here all the more outrageous and reprehensible.

Although duly considering respondent's unblemished prior record, his positive performance evaluations and letters from individuals attesting to his many laudable contributions to students, the school and the community, the Commissioner concludes that these factors, which ordinarily might serve to mitigate against respondent's dismissal, are greatly outweighed by the seriousness of his admitted conduct in this matter. In light of the fact that respondent's behavior reflects a clear violation of his obligation to educate, not endanger, and protect, not exploit, vulnerable children (Frugis v. Bracigliano, 177 N.J. 250, 268 (2003)), the Commissioner finds that such behavior is "sufficiently flagrant" to warrant respondent's dismissal from his tenured position. In re Fulcomer, 93 N.J. Super. 404, 421 (App. Div. 1967).

Accordingly, the Initial Decision of the ALJ is adopted as the final decision in this matter. Stephen Fox is hereby dismissed from his tenured teaching position in the New Providence School District as of the date of this decision. This matter is being referred to the State Board of Examiners for action against respondent's certificate as that body deems appropriate.

IT IS SO ORDERED.[2]

INITIAL DECISION
OAL DKT. NO. EDU 7955-04
AGENCY DKT. NO. 238-7/04

IN THE MATTER OF THE TENURE HEARING OF STEPHEN FOX, SCHOOL DISTRICT OF THE BOROUGH OF NEW PROVIDENCE, UNION COUNTY

Martin R. Pachman, Esq., for petitioner, New Providence Board of Education

Nancy I. Oxfeld, Esq., for respondent, Stephen Fox (Oxfeld Cohen, attorneys)

Record Closed: November 29, 2004 Decided: December 10, 2004

BEFORE EDITH KLINGER, ALJ:

On July 12, 2004, petitioner, the New Providence Board of Education (Board), certified tenure charges against respondent, Stephen Fox, with the Commissioner of Education (Commissioner) alleging that respondent established a personal relationship with a fifteen-year-old student, J.F., which culminated in physical contact between the two. On July 26, 2004, respondent filed his answer. On August 17, 2004, the Commissioner transmitted the matter to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) as a contested case pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13.

The evidentiary hearing was held on October 14, 2004, at which time a briefing schedule was established. The record closed on November 29, 2004, when the final submissions were received from the parties.

Fox was hired by the Board as a music teacher on September 1, 1993. Since the 1995-1996 school year, he has also served as chairman of the music department.

At all relevant times, Fox was the choir director for the New Providence middle school and high school. J.F. began to participate in the choir when he was a student in the seventh grade and this was when Fox first became acquainted with him.

Fox testified that J.F. confided in him. The student was struggling with his sexual orientation and a difficult home life. He was also being bullied at school. This relationship continued after the seventh grade through the 2002-2003 school year. Respondent said that in other respects, on the professional level, J.F. was just one of many students in his class.

In April 2002, Fox was working in the school's music library to reorganize it after ongoing construction. He testified that he was just about to leave when J.F. entered. When the student hugged him, Fox kissed him on the lips. J.F. pulled away and said he had to leave.

After that, their relationship became strained. J.F continued to participate in the choir but there was little conversation between them. Fox was on a sabbatical leave during the 2003-2004 school year and J.F. switched to another school for his senior year before Fox returned.

At all relevant times, Scott Brogan was the director of Color Guards at New Providence High School. He has never been a member of the teaching staff. In September 2002, Fox confessed to Brogan that he kissed J.F. in April 2002. According to Brogan's written statement of May 2004 to Deborah Feinberg, Ed.D., the principal of New Providence High School, Brogan discussed the incident with Fox several times subsequently because Fox said he felt bad about it. Brogan asked J.F. whether he should report the matter to the administration, but, for reasons that will become clear later, J.F. asked him not to do this.

As a result, Brogan did not mention the incident until the summer of 2003 when he spoke to Michael Niedziejko, a high school music teacher and the acting head of the music department while Fox was on sabbatical leave.

On April 7, 2004, Niedziejko disclosed this information to the administration for the first time. He explained to Feinberg that Brogan told him this in confidence but Niedziejko was concerned that external circumstances would now bring the matter into the open and he did not want the school district to be "blindsided" by the revelations when Fox returned from his sabbatical. He provided Feinberg with a written statement on May 10, 2004.

Scott Pepper is now the superintendent of schools in Hanover Township. At the relevant time he was the assistant superintendent of schools in New Providence. Pepper was also the affirmative action officer and was therefore given the job of investigating the allegations against Fox.

On May 21, 2004, Pepper met with Fox and Ken Hess, Fox's union representative. Fox was advised that he could have an attorney present but he chose to proceed with the interview. During the course of the interview, respondent admitted kissing J.F. and alleged that the boy was flirting with him. Following the meeting, Pepper hand-delivered a letter to Fox directing him not to attend any further school events until and unless the matter was resolved in his favor.

The Board of Education of New Providence had a policy on sexual harassment in effect at the time. According to the policy:

> An employee who engages in the sexual harassment of a pupil will be subject to stringent discipline and may be terminated.

The policy defines sexual harassment as follows:

> The sexual harassment of a pupil includes all unwelcome sexual advances or suggestions, requests for sexual favors, and verbal or physical contacts of a sexual nature that would not have happened but for the pupil's gender. Whenever such conduct has the purpose or effect of intimidation or tends to create or alter the educational environment in ways that are intimidating, hostile, or offensive, such conduct shall be construed to be sexual harassment.

In order to properly evaluate Fox's conduct and place the incident in the appropriate context, it is unfortunately necessary to review the external events surrounding the participants that were referred to briefly above.

According to Brogan, in 2001 and 2002 J.F. was the victim of ongoing sexual abuse at the hands of a thirty-nine-year-old man, P.B. The perpetrator was in no way connected with the school system. As Brogan later learned, in the late winter of 2002 J.F.'s mother found his diary, which described his "love affair" with P.B.

The discovery of the diary apparently caused great distress to J.F. because another student later told Brogan that J.F. said he was in big trouble and did not know what to do. Since J.F. would not tell Brogan what was wrong, Brogan advised him to talk to Fox, who might be able to help if it were a school problem. Fox subsequently told Brogan that the trouble involved J.F.'s mother and some students harassing him at school.

Brogan only learned of the situation with P.B. in August 2002 and he contacted a friend in the State Police for advice. In late August, Brogan reported the matter to law enforcement. J.F. was taken to the police station and questioned but would not admit anything. He later threatened suicide if P.B. were arrested.

Brogan explained that J.F. was extremely upset about the situation because he believed that he and P.B. were engaged in a loving relationship. Brogan thought that J.F. might have confided this to Fox in the late winter of 2002. Fox told Pepper that he only learned about P.B. in the late spring of 2002.

Brogan obtained permission from J.F.'s parents and then convinced J.F. to tell his story to the police. He was present when J.F. gave his statement.

After P.B. was arrested and charged, the other students learned from the newspapers that J.F. had been molested by P.B. and they taunted him. All during this time, J.F.'s parents said nothing about the situation to the school administration.

As stated above, Brogan found out about the incident between J.F. and Fox in September 2002. In November 2002 he asked J.F.'s permission to report it to the school. J.F. asked him not to because he was going to have to testify against P.B and he did not want to go through the same interrogation and notoriety again with respect to Fox.

J.F. felt that no one would believe him because of Fox's standing in the school and the community. When Fox's accomplishments are described below, it can be seen what a formidable obstacle this would have been for a vulnerable fifteen-year-old boy to face.

At the end of August 2003, P.B. entered into a plea bargain. One of the conditions of the bargain was that he reveal the names of any other adults that had molested J.F. and P.B. named Fox. When Brogan learned this, he realized that the matter would now be brought to the attention of the school. As a result, he broke his silence and told Niedziejko what he knew, including the incident with Fox.

P.B. was finally convicted in October 2003. However, in January 2004 he was released from custody for good behavior. J.F. was terrified and decided to change schools for his senior year. In addition to being frightened of P.B., he told Brogan that he could not face Fox, who was scheduled to return to school from his sabbatical in the fall.

J.F. did switch schools. In June 2004, Feinberg met with J.F., his father, Pepper and the boy's therapist. When he was asked about the incident with Fox, J.F. nodded and said, "Now you understand why I don't trust adults." He told Feinberg that Fox was considered an "icon" in the school district and he believed nothing would happen to Fox if he reported the incident.

Feinberg testified that, when she met with Fox, he admitted to her that he had kissed J.F.

The parties stipulated that J.F. was not available to testify.

At hearing, respondent raised the issue of why the Board took no disciplinary action against Brogan and Niedziejko for failing to bring the matter to the attention of the District in a timely manner. I FIND this issue to be irrelevant to the charges brought against Fox. The present hearing does not concern Brogan and Niedziejko and the Board's action or inaction with respect to these men is not evidence that it failed to take the allegations against Fox seriously.

Based upon the testimony of the witnesses, respondent's admissions and the undisputed documentary evidence, I FIND that Fox kissed J.F. on the lips in or about April 2002. I FIND that he engaged in this conduct while presenting himself to the boy as a concerned adult and counselor and encouraging his confidences. I FIND that this contact occurred during a period when Fox knew that J.F. was in great emotional distress for other reasons, including his home life, his concerns about his sexual orientation, his harassment by other students and, quite probably, his relationship with

P.B. This last is suggested because, if Brogan's chronology is approximately correct, J.F.'s mother had already found his diary by April 2002.

I FIND that Fox's conduct constituted sexual harassment pursuant to the District's policy since it was an unwelcome physical contact that altered J.F.'s educational environment in an offensive way. J.F.'s reported conduct subsequent to the incident provides sufficient insight into his mental state to show that the contact was unwelcome and changed his already difficult school environment for the worse. I further FIND that the policy gave Fox sufficient warning that such conduct could lead to termination.

N.J.S.A. 18A:6-10 provides:

> No person shall be dismissed or reduced in compensation,
>
> > (a) if he is or shall be under tenure of office, position or employment during good behavior and efficiency in the public school system of the state, . . .
> except for inefficiency, incapacity, unbecoming conduct, or other just cause . . . .

In the present matter, the Board alleges that the conduct of Fox violates the public trust and renders him unfit to serve as a member of the teaching staff.

It is the clear responsibility of the Board to protect the public trust:

> The law imposes a duty on children to attend school and on parents to relinquish their supervisory role over their children to teachers and administrators during school hours. While their children are educated during the day, parents transfer to school officials the power to act as the guardians of those young wards. No greater obligation is placed on school officials than to protect the children in their charge from foreseeable dangers, whether those dangers arise from the careless acts or intentional transgressions of others. Although the overarching mission of a board of education is to educate, its first imperative must be to do no harm to the children in its care. A board of education must take > reasonable measures to assure that the teachers and administrators who stand as surrogate parents during the day are educating, not endangering, and protecting, not exploiting, vulnerable children.

> [Frugis v. Bracigliano, 177 N.J. 250, 268 (2003).]

In addition to its general responsibility toward the children in its care, the New Providence Board promulgated a specific policy to prevent the sexual harassment of students by faculty. This policy spelled out in unambiguous terms that certain forms of conduct were prohibited and could result in the loss of employment and Fox was in clear violation of the policy.

I, therefore, CONCLUDE that Fox's conduct constitutes unbecoming conduct and "other just cause" for discipline pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-10(a) since it constitutes sexual harassment of a student in violation of the Board's policy.

PENALTY

It must now be determined whether dismissal is the appropriate penalty.

The esteem in which Fox was held is obvious from his annual evaluations as department head at the relevant times. In his evaluation for 1999-2000, the evaluator wrote the following comment:

> Mr. Fox has earned the respect of students, staff, and community for his outstanding achievements in maintaining the highest standards of excellence for his students. In and out of the classroom, Mr. Fox works to ensure that every student has the opportunity to develop his/her fullest potential.

In Fox's Annual Evaluation for the 2000-2001 school year, the evaluator commented:

> Mr. Fox is a teacher who inspires students to develop to their fullest potential. He utilizes instructional strategies that reflect a clear understanding of the learning process and student-centered performance.

During the course of Fox's teaching career, the reports of his classroom observations and his annual evaluations show him to be satisfactory in every respect. His accomplishments are listed and highly praised. A packet in evidence contains letters and other communications from students, families, members of the community and various organizations which applaud his outstanding contributions to his students, the school and the community.

Respondent argues that, based upon his excellent record as a teacher in the District, some penalty less than removal is appropriate. He cites cases where teachers with long unblemished records were reinstated after isolated instances of corporal punishment or other inappropriate conduct. Nevertheless, an unblemished record does not prevent removal. It has long been the case that "unfitness to remain a teacher may be demonstrated by a single incident if sufficiently flagrant." In re Fulcomer, 93 N.J. Super. 404, 421 (App. Div. 1967).

The facts in this matter show that Fox placed himself in the role of counselor, as well as teacher, to an extremely troubled adolescent and this role was made possible by his excellent and unblemished record. It will be recalled that J.F. regarded him as an "icon" and, for that and other reasons, J.F. was afraid to report respondent's conduct. He was convinced that no one would believe him on account of Fox's reputation.

Respondent himself established the circumstances leading to the ultimate outcome when he undertook the role of counselor lacking the ability or training to provide guidance without personal involvement. As a result, the fact that he meant well provides no excuse. The damage to J.F. was immeasurable because of the student's overwhelming emotional problems and Fox's special position of trust, over and above even that of a teacher.

I, therefore, CONCLUDE that Fox's conduct renders him unfit to remain a teacher and was sufficiently egregious to warrant removal from his position. In re Fulcomer, supra, 93 N.J. Super. at 421. The Board must remove this teacher because an extremely vulnerable child in his care was exploited and further damaged as a result of Fox's thoughtless acts. Bracigliano, supra, 177 N.J. at 268.

ORDER

Accordingly, it is ORDERED that Stephen Fox be removed from his position for unbecoming conduct and other just cause pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-10(a).

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen (13) days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, P.O. Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

RESOLUTION CONCERNING SETTLEMENT OF THE MATTER
L.A. on behalf of minor children, T.J.A. and P.M.A. v. Board of Education of the City of Port Republic

WHEREAS, the Board of Education of Port Republic School District went to trial before the Honorable Bruce M. Gorman, A.L.J., on emergent relief from a determination by the Port Republic Board of Education that L.A.had not satisfied the condition of establishing residency in the district; L.A. was not domiciled in the district and within 60 days of her request to have her children attend school in the district based upon entering into a contract for the purchase of a home in Port Republic; and the Court, after hearing from counsel for the parties, Clement F. Lisitski, Esquire for the Port Republic School District and Duane T. Phillips, Esquire for L.A. and the parties having reached a settlement before trial;

WHEREAS, the Board has considered a resolve of the matter and has entered into a Consent Agreement concerning the issues of establishing residency and tuition owed by L.A. to the Port Republic School District for attendance of her children, T.J.A. and P.M.A. for the school year 2004/2005, a copy of which is attached to this resolution as Exhibit A; and

WHEREAS, the Board has considered the Consent Agreement and approves the terms,

NOW THEREFORE on this 19th day of January 2005, at a regularly scheduled meeting, be it RESOLVED that:

The matter concerning the attendance of T.J.A. and P.M.A.. is memorialized in the Consent Agreement attached as Exhibit A, and the Board approves the form and substance of the Consent Agreement requesting it to be signed by Honorable Bruce D Gorman, A.L.J. and filed with the Office of the Administrative Law; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that this matter is now concluded, all parties waiving any rights to appeal and relying on the terms of the Consent Agreement.

The parties agree to the following to resolve this matter:

1) Petitioner shall establish residency within 30 calendar days from January 10, 2005, time being of the essence (including settling on home and children sleeping in home). Should Petitioner fail to do this, she shall remove the children from Port Republic schools and enroll them elsewhere and she waives any rights to appeal this decision or the removal of the children if she does not meet this condition.

2) On Monday, January 10, 2005, Petitioner shall [redacted] pay to Port Republic

School Board $680 to be held in escrow. This represents the tuition rate for January 10, 2005 through February 10, 2005. If the terms of paragraph one are met, then the School Board shall return these monies to Petitioner by March 10, 2005.

3) Petitioner shall pay to Port Republic by January 18, 2005 School Board $1,360, to be held in escrow. This represents the tuition rate for the 60 days the children attended in Fall 2004. The Port Republic school board shall pay these funds to the title or mortgage company at the closing on the Port Republic house to be occupied by Petitioner. If Petitioner does not meet the terms of paragraph one, these funds compensate the Port Republic School Board. It is the responsibility of the Port Republic School Board to put these funds in the closing with 48 hours written notice (2 business days).

4) Petitioner shall submit the paperwork for non-residents that was given her by January 14, 2005 (emergency numbers and updated health records) ~~etc.~~

5) The children shall return to school on January 10, 2005. ~~The Petitioner shall pick up homework and books today, on 4:00 PM~~ Friday, January 7, 2005. The oldest child may attend the dance tonight.

6) Petitioner shall present evidence of residency which is defined as an electric bill within 45 days of settlement.

~~petitioner after saying she did as per paragraph one and establish~~ residency

7) If the Port Republic School Board is able to prove in a court of law OR ADMINISTRATIVE TRIBUNAL that Petitioner has not established residency during the 2004-2005 School Year then Petitioner shall be responsible for investigation fees and attorneys fees and tuitions (at the cost per pupil tuition rate) from Oct. 28th, 2004 and Petitioner agrees to remove the children from the school upon the day after the date of such a finding. This paragraph does not apply if petitioner fails to settle and establish residency pursuant to the terms of paragraph one.

8) This agreement resolves this ~~action~~ appeal with prejudice. Both parties make releases to the other regarding this appeal.

9) If any party has to enforce this order, the prevailing party receives attorneys fees and costs from the other party

10) Petitioner shall not enter the school without permission from the Superintendent or a designated person, with such permission to enter the school not being unreasonably withheld. Petitioner shall check in with the office upon entering the school through the front door. During events that parents are invited to (during the school day only), Petitioner shall report to the office prior to attending.

11) The superintendent shall accept or respond to Petitioner's phone calls on a reasonable basis. The phone calls shall not be excessive.

12) Children shall attend health class as previously agreed and as previously agreed with regard to the nurse. (See 11-10-04 letter signed by petitioner)

13) All contact with school staff and teachers shall be through the superintendant or a designated representative.

~~14) The terms of this agreement are limited to the 2004-2005 school year.~~

The audiocassette tape of the emergent hearing conducted at the Office of Administrative Law on February 24, 2005 and the recommended Order of the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) have been reviewed by the Assistant Commissioner, to whom this matter has been delegated pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:4-34.

Upon such review, the Assistant Commissioner concurs that petitioner has failed to satisfy the four-pronged standard set forth in Crowe v. DeGioia, 90 N.J. 126 (1982) for obtaining emergent relief. In accordance with N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6, a grant of emergent relief is considered an extraordinary remedy which may only be issued where petitioner has demonstrated that the relief is necessary to prevent irreparable harm, where the legal right underlying petitioner's claim is settled, where there is a likelihood of success on the merits and where the relative hardship to the moving party favors granting such relief. Crowe at 132-34.

Accordingly, the recommended Order of the ALJ is adopted for the reasons expressed on the record and petitioner's request for emergent relief is, therefore, denied. This matter shall continue at the OAL for further proceedings on the merits of petitioner's claim as may be deemed necessary.

Record Closed: February 25. 2005 Decided:

BEFORE DANIEL B. MCKEOWN, ALJ, (t/a):

Derek Orr, petitioner, filed a petition of appeal before the Commissioner of Education challenging the legal propriety of his dismissal from the High Point Regional High School wrestling team. He also filed an application for emergent relief to compel the High Point Regional Board of Education (Board) to allow him to participate on the wrestling team at the New Jersey State Interscholastic Athletic Association District

Wrestling Tournament that begins Friday, February 25, 2005. He was removed from the team for the remainder of the season on February 18, 2005 following disciplinary action taken against him. Petitioner's removal effectively end his high school wrestling career because he is to be graduated at the end of the academic year. Petitioner seeks emergency relief in the form of an Order from the Commissioner of Education by which he would be allowed to participate on the team for the tournament pending disposition on the merits of his petition.

On February 23, 2003, the matter was transferred to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) for emergent hearing or a preliminary injunction until a plenary hearing could be held. A hearing on the emergent relief was held February 25, 2005.

Attached hereto and incorporated herein is an Order signed following argument on the motion.

This order may be reviewed by COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION either upon interlocutory review pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-14.10 or at the end of the contested case, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.6.

Record Closed: December 30, 2004 Decided: January 12, 2005

BEFORE ELINOR R. REINER, ALJ:

On or about October 20, 2003, petitioner, Daisy Lazo, filed a verified petition of appeal with the Commissioner of Education, alleging that she gained tenure pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:28-5 and thus was entitled to a one-year maternity/child rearing leave of absence. On October 29, 2003, respondent Board of Education of the City of Englewood (Board) filed its answer requesting dismissal of the petition. On December 2, 2003, the Department of Education, Bureau of Controversies and Disputes transmitted this matter to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) for hearing as a contested case pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to –15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to –13.

The matter was assigned to the undersigned judge on December 18, 2003, and a telephone prehearing conference scheduled for January 27, 2004. It should be noted that on or about November 17, 2003, respondent filed a motion for summary decision in the above-referenced matter. During the telephone prehearing on January 27, 2004, the issues were isolated and, in light of the pending motion, a hearing was not scheduled. Counsel were advised to file a joint stipulation of facts on or before February 20, 2004.

Subsequent to the receipt of the stipulation of facts, oral argument on the pending motion was scheduled for April 21, 2004. However, settlement conferences held on that date and continued on July 2, 2004 resulted in a tentative settlement, which required the approval of the Board. On or about November 3, 2004, the undersigned was advised that the Board had approved the settlement, and a signed settlement agreement would be filed. The signed settlement agreement was received on December 30, 2004.

I have reviewed the record and the settlement terms and FIND:

1. The parties have voluntarily agreed to the settlement, as evidenced by their signatures or their representatives' signatures.

2. The settlement fully disposes of all issues in controversy and is consistent with the law.

I CONCLUDE that this agreement meets the requirements of N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1 and that the settlement should be approved. I approve the settlement and, therefore,

ORDER that the parties comply with the settlement terms and that these proceedings be concluded.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT AND GENERAL RELEASE

This Settlement Agreement and General Release ("Agreement") is made and entered into between the Englewood Board of Education ("Board") and Daisy Lazo ("Lazo"). This Agreement is made pursuant to the following terms and conditions.

RECITALS

WHEREAS, on or about October 17, 2003, Lazo filed a Verified Petition of Appeal with the Commissioner of Education alleging that she acquired tenure on or about September 1, 2003, and that the Board improperly concluded that she did not acquire tenure pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:28-5, thereby depriving her of a maternity/child rearing leave of absence in accordance with the parties' collective negotiations agreement; and

WHEREAS, the parties elect to settle all outstanding matters and allegations in dispute in lieu of continuing to litigate the matter, so as to avoid expending further resources and to eliminate the uncertainties of litigation; and

WHEREAS, the Board and Lazo deem it to be in their best interests to set forth in a formal written agreement their respective rights; duties and obligations regarding Lazo's position with the Board; and

WHEREAS, the Board and Lazo are now mutually desirous of settling the matters and allegations in dispute; and

WHEREAS, all parties have been afforded the opportunity to consider the terms of this Agreement with advice of counsel and/or representative of their choice.

NOW, THEREFORE, in consideration of the promises and the mutual covenants herein contained, and for other good and valuable considerations, the parties hereby agree as follows:

1. The "Board" as used herein, shall at all times mean the Englewood Board of Education, its subsidiaries, affiliates, predecessors, successors and assigns of any and all of them, their present and former directors, officials, officers, representatives, associates, partners, servants, employees, agents, attorneys, successors, executors and administrators whether in their individual or official capacities, and all other persons, firms, corporations, associations, partnerships or any other entity connected therewith.

2. "Lazo," as used herein, shall mean Daisy Lazo, her heirs, representatives, privies, executors, administrators, assigns, successors-in-interest and predecessors-in-interest.

3. The Board and Lazo agree that, on or about November 26, 2003, Lazo fulfilled the employment service and certification requirements of N.J.S.A. 18A:28-5 and acquired tenure.

4. In consideration of the Board's covenant set forth in Paragraph 3, Lazo agrees that her attendance record will reflect an unpaid leave of absence from November 27, 2003 until June 30, 2005.

5. Lazo agrees that during her unpaid leave of absence, she waives any entitlement she may have for paid health benefits as provided in any collective negotiation agreement, past practice, Board Resolution, policy or applicable statutes and regulations. Therefore, Lazo is responsible to arrange and pay for health benefits during her unpaid leave of absence. Lazo may pay the Board the full amount of the cost to the Board of providing her health benefits in order to maintain her health benefit coverage during this time.

6. Lazo shall forfeit any right she may have to accrue benefits during her unpaid leave as provided in any collective negotiations agreement, past practice, Board Resolution, policy or applicable statutes and regulations. Benefits includes, but is not limited to, seniority, vacation time, sick days, personal days, compensatory days, holidays and the like. Lazo acknowledges that any and all benefits that she may have been entitled to accrue during her unpaid leave are forfeited and she will not receive any monetary payments or credits of any kind for any benefits during her unpaid leave.

7. Lazo releases, acquits, gives up and forever discharges any and all claims and rights which she may have against the Board up to the time of the execution of this Agreement. This Agreement releases all claims, including those of which Lazo is aware or not aware and those not mentioned in this Agreement. Lazo specifically acknowledges and agrees that this is a full and complete settlement of any and all claims that had been asserted or can be asserted or may be asserted or could be asserted by Lazo for compensatory damages, pain, suffering, emotional distress, stress, humiliation, embarrassment, mental anguish, medical expenses, punitive damages, interests, attorneys fees, costs of suit, loss of sick time, loss of vacation time, loss of benefits, consequential damage, reputation damage, breach of express or implied contract, interference in any contract, economic opportunity or prospective economic advantage which arose out of or could arise out of Lazo's employment with the Board, for, but not limited to, violation of her civil rights, privileges and immunities secured by the Civil Rights Act of 1871, 42 U.S.C. §§1981, 1983, 1985, 1986, and 1988, the New Jersey Tort Claims Act N.J.S.A. Title 59, the Fourth and Fourteenth Amendments to the United States Constitution and any and all other federal, state and local constitutional, statutory, regulatory or administrative laws, ordinances or common law duties, whether enumerated herein specifically or not.

8. Lazo agrees that in consideration of the promises set forth above, neither party shall: (a) file an appeal with the Commissioner of Education seeking any type of relief whatsoever from the Board; (b) file a grievance or seek arbitration over the unpaid leave, or forfeiture of health care coverage or Benefits or any other issue whatsoever relative to Lazo's unpaid leave or the underlying facts; and (c) initiate any type of judicial or administrative action of any type or nature in connection with Lazo's unpaid leave or the underlying facts. The parties further agree and understand that this Agreement is a full and final waiver and release between them covering any and all claims between the parties.

9. The parties further agree and understand that this Agreement is a compromise settlement of all claims asserted and unasserted in connection with Lazo's unpaid leave of absence. By entering into this Agreement, neither party admits that it has violated any contractual provisions of the collective negotiation agreement or statutory provision. Thus, the furnishing of the consideration for this Agreement by the parties shall not be deemed or construed as an admission of liability or responsibility by either party at any time for any purpose. The parties hereto expressly agree that the terms of this Agreement shall be non-precedential for any purpose whatsoever.

10. Lazo expressly agrees and understands that the promises and conditions set forth herein are premised and conditioned upon her forfeiture health benefits and other benefits as provided in Paragraphs 5 and 6.

11. This Agreement shall be irrevocable, fully binding and shall inure to the benefit of the parties hereto and their respective heirs, executors, administrators, successors and assigns.

12. In the event that any one or more of the provisions of this Agreement is held to be invalid, illegal or unenforceable, the validity, legality and enforceability of the remaining provisions will not in any way be affected or impaired thereby.

13. This Agreement may be modified or amended only by a written instrument duly signed by each of the parties or their respective successors or assigns.

14. This Agreement supersedes all prior written and/or oral agreements and understandings between the parties; it contains the full understanding of the parties with respect to this subject matter; and there are no representations, warranties, agreements or undertakings other than those expressly contained in this Agreement.

15. The waiver by Lazo and/or the Board of a breach of any provision hereof shall not operate or be construed as a waiver of that breach by the other or as a waiver of any subsequent breach by the other.

16. This Agreement shall not be executed in counterparts and shall be enforceable only if executed by Lazo and the Board.

17. This Agreement shall become irrevocable and effective immediately following execution by Lazo and the Board. However, both parties acknowledge that this Agreement is subject to the approval of the Office of Administrative Law and the Commissioner of Education. If such approval is not given, this Agreement and all of the stipulations, releases and acknowledgments shall be rendered null and void and the parties shall be returned to the status quo existing prior to this Agreement.

18. This Agreement shall be construed in accordance with and governed by the laws of the State of New Jersey.

19. This Agreement contains a settlement and stipulated dismissal of claims. By signing this Agreement the parties affirm that they have read this Agreement carefully and that they fully understood the terms and the provisions of this Agreement before signing. Lazo expressly states that she has had the opportunity to consult with an attorney with respect to the terms of this Agreement and knowingly, freely and without coercion enters into the Agreement by affixing her signature hereto.

NOW, THEREFORE, the parties, by their designated representative do set forth their signatures in confirmation of the above recitals and agreements to be effective on July __, 2004.

SYNOPSIS

The Board filed a Motion for an Order to Show Cause, seeking suspension of respondent's instructional certificate for failure to provide adequate notice of resignation pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10.

The Commissioner issued an Order directing respondent to show cause why further order should not be entered suspending her certificate for unprofessional conduct. After initially filing an Answer to the Order to Show Cause, respondent later withdrew her opposition to the Order after the matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law for hearing. Based on respondent's failure to defend herself against the Show Cause Order allegations, each allegation against the respondent was deemed to be admitted.

Therefore, the Commissioner ordered that respondent's instructional certificate be suspended for a period of one year commencing as of the date of the decision, and forwarded the matter to the State Board of Examiners for the purpose of effectuating this order.

OF THE TEACHING CERTIFICATE OF	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
LEE ANNE INCALCATERRA,	:	DECISION
SCHOOL DISTRICT OF HARMONY	:
TOWNSHIP, WARREN COUNTY.	:

For the Petitioning Board: Robert J. Merryman, Jr. Esq. (Appruzzese, McDermott, Mastro & Murphy)

This matter was opened by way of Motion for an Order to Show Cause before the Commissioner of Education by the Board of Education of Harmony Township, seeking suspension of the instructional certificate of Lee Anne Incalcaterra ("respondent") for resigning from employment with the Harmony Township School District on inadequate notice; and

The Commissioner issued, on May 11, 2004, an Order directing respondent to show cause why further order should not be entered suspending her teaching certificate for unprofessional conduct pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10; and

The Order and accompanying Certification of Vicki J. Pede, Chief School Administrator, Harmony Township School District, was sent by the Board, via certified mail, to respondent; and

On July 6, 2004, respondent filed an Answer to the Order to Show Cause, so that on July 14, 2004 the matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) for hearing; and

On October 28, 2004, the Office of Administrative Law received a letter from Ms. Incalcaterra which states:

> I would like to withdraw my appeal for the suspension of my teaching license. If you have any questions please do not hesitate to contact me (610-419-XXXX). Thank you for your time.

This matter was then returned to the agency due to respondent's withdrawal of her opposition to the Order to Show Cause; and

Respondent having chosen not to defend herself against the Board's Show Cause Order allegations, each allegation against respondent is, therefore, deemed to be admitted; and

Respondent having ceased to perform her duties as a teacher in the Harmony Township School District before the expiration of the term of her employment, without the Board's consent, and under the circumstances set forth in the Certification of Vicki J. Pede, Chief School Administrator, Harmony Township School District, and, thereby engaging in unprofessional conduct, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10; now therefore

IT IS ORDERED on this 2nd day of March 2005, that Lee Anne Incalcaterra's instructional certificate shall be suspended for a period of one year, to commence upon the date of this decision. A copy of this decision is hereby forwarded to the State Board of Examiners for the purpose of effectuating this order.*

Petitioner requested a hearing challenging the Board of Education's residency determination. This matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) from the Department of Education on November 10, 2003, for hearing as a contested case, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13.

A hearing was scheduled for May 27, 2004 at the OAL, 33 Washington Street, Newark, New Jersey; however, the hearing was adjourned to September 20, 2004, to allow petitioner to retain counsel. On July 29, 2004, counsel for petitioner notified my chambers of his representation and his unavailability for the September 20, 2004, hearing due to court conflict. The hearing was rescheduled to November 1, 2004, but notices were not mail in a timely manner; therefore, the case was rescheduled to January 25, 2005. At the hearing, settlement discussions were held and a settlement was reached.

The parties have agreed to a settlement and have prepared the Settlement indicating the terms thereof, which is attached and fully incorporated herein.

I have reviewed the record and the terms of settlement and I FIND:

1. The parties have voluntarily agreed to the settlement as evidenced by their signatures or their representatives' signatures.

2. The settlement fully disposes of all issues in controversy and is consistent with the law.

I CONCLUDE that this agreement meets the requirements of N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1 and that the settlement should be approved. I approve the settlement and, therefore, ORDER that the parties comply with the settlement terms and that these proceedings be concluded.

This matter having been brought before the Court upon the filing of a petition by Anthony Cicenia, Betty Cicenia and the South Orange/Maplewood Education Association and the parties having determined to amicably resolve this matter, herein agree as follows:

1. On or before January 20, 2004, the Superintendent of Schools of Respondent shall recommend to Respondent's Policy Committee that Board Policy 5612 be amended to expand the definitions of "assault" to also include the definition under N.J.S.A. 2C:12-1(a)(3).

2. Respondent agrees that if a teaching staff member employed by Respondent is the victim of an assault, as defined under Board Policy 5612, as amended, the teaching staff member shall be notified of (i) the scheduling of a suspension/expulsion hearing before the Board and given the opportunity to submit a statement to the Board; and (ii) the Board determination, if any.

3. Respondent agrees that 68.5 sick days shall be restored to Betty Cicenia's account of accumulated, sick leave days.

4. In consideration of the foregoing, Petitioners hereby release, waive, and give up any and all claims and rights which they may have against the Board, its employees and agents, arising out of or otherwise related to the claims which were raised or could have been raised.

5. This action is hereby withdrawn with prejudice.

6. The parties acknowledge that they have been represented by counsel in this action, and that the terms of the Settlement have been fully explained to them by counsel, and that they understand the terms.

7. This Agreement is subject to the approval of the Respondent, Board of Education.

SYNOPSIS

Petitioner filed a petition of appeal seeking "complete, unlimited waiver" of N.J.A.C. 6A:23-4.3(c)iii, which sets forth the average daily enrollment (ADE) requirement of private schools for the disabled, following notification from the New Jersey Department of Education that the petitioner was in jeopardy of having its preliminary approval status as a private school rescinded unless it attained the minimum ADE of 16 students for the 2004-05 school year. Subsequent to filing the petition of appeal, the Victory School submitted an application for a waiver of these regulations through the equivalency and waiver process set forth at N.J.A.C. 6A:5-1 et seq., and requested that the matter be placed in abeyance pending decision on the waiver application.

The Commissioner considered the petitioner's request for a waiver of the ADE requirements set forth at N.J.A.C. 6A:23-4.3(c)iii under the regulations established for application for a waiver and issued a determination on that request on December 7, 2004 denying Victory School's waiver request. Subsequently, petitioner requested that its appeal be reinstated.

Having previously rendered a determination on petitioner's request for a waiver of the ADE requirements set forth at N.J.A.C. 6A:23-4.3(c)iii in the appropriate forum, i.e., under the regulation governing requests for a waiver, N.J.A.C. 6A:5-1.1 et seq., the Commissioner found that the relief requested within the instant petition is moot. Accordingly, respondent's motion was granted and the petition of appeal was dismissed, with prejudice.

VICTORY SCHOOL,	:
PETITIONER,	:
V.	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
NEW JERSEY STATE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, DIVISION OF FINANCE,	:	DECISION
RESPONDENT.	:

For Petitioner, Stephen F. Hehl, Esq. (Hehl & Hehl)[1]

For Respondent, Carolyn Grace Labin, DAG (Peter C. Harvey, Attorney General)

This matter was opened by way of a Petition of Appeal filed on May 24, 2004, wherein petitioner seeks a "complete, unlimited waiver" of N.J.A.C. 6A:23-4.3(c)iii.[2] (Petition of Appeal at 3) N.J.A.C. 6A:23-4.3(c)iii sets forth the requirement that any previously-approved private school for the disabled, whose enrollment falls below the minimum Average Daily Enrollment (ADE) of 16 full-time students in a school year, shall have its status rescinded and shall be considered preliminarily approved. Further, if it should fail to attain the minimum average daily attendance of 16 full-time students by the end of the third year after the year in question, its approval shall be rescinded and it shall no longer be considered an approved private school for the disabled. The impetus for this appeal arises from a January 20, 2004 notification from the Department's Division of Finance, advising petitioner that it must attain an ADE of 16 students for the 2004-05 school year or its preliminary approval status as a private school would be rescinded. (Id. at 1)

[1] It is noted that the within petition was filed by Mark Lasky, President/Chief Executive Officer of the Victory School, upon his notice of appearance/application to represent petitioner, a close corporation, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-5.4(a)5 and N.J.A.C. 1:1-5.5(g). Mr. Hehl entered his appearance by way of the filing of an answer to respondent's motion to dismiss on behalf of petitioner on February 8, 2005, followed by a Substitution of Attorney on February 25, 2005.

[2] Although the petition specifically asks for a waiver of N.J.A.C. 6A:23-4.1, the regulation petitioner seeks to waive is actually N.J.A.C. 6A:23-4.3(c)iii, as clarified in the arguments expressed on pages one and two of the petition and in petitioner's reply to respondent's motion.

Petitioner states that it "is appealing based on (6:3A-1.3) 6A:5-1.3"[3] and argues, inter alia, that it has been an effective, approved private secondary school since the 1986-87 school year, and that it is the only private school in Union County with a unique academic/vocational environment that assists students in completing their education, and making a smooth transition to work or the adult service continuum. Additionally, petitioner states that the spirit and intent of the applicable Federal and State laws and regulations are served by granting its request for a waiver. (Id. at 1-2)

By letter of July 13, 2004, petitioner requested that this matter be placed in abeyance pending a decision on its application for a waiver of N.J.A.C. 6A:23-4.3(c)iii, submitted to the county superintendent through the Equivalency and Waiver Process set forth at N.J.A.C. 6A:5-1.1 et seq. Subsequently, by letter of December 30, 2004, petitioner requested that its appeal be reinstated in light of the Commissioner's rejection of its request for a waiver and the "judgment" by the Division of Finance to rescind its longstanding license to operate as a private school for the disabled as of July 2005. Petitioner attached the Commissioner's determination of December 7, 2004, denying its request for a waiver of N.J.A.C. 6A:23-4.3(c)iii to continue the operation of a private school for the disabled that falls below the minimum ADE of 16 by the end of the third school year. (Attachment to Petitioner's Letter of December 30, 2004) Petitioner also attached a letter, dated November 23, 2004, from Richard Rosenberg, Assistant Commissioner, Division of Finance, noting that petitioner's ADE was 4.4, 4.1 and 4.95 in the 2001-02, 2002-03 and 2003-04 school years and stating that petitioner must attain an ADE of 16 for the 2004-05 school year or the school's approval will be rescinded, effective July 1, 2005. (Ibid.)

On January 25, 2005, respondent filed a motion to Dismiss in Lieu of Answer, claiming that the issues raised in the within petition are moot in that the Commissioner issued a decision on December 7, 2004 regarding the relief requested through his denial of petitioner's application for a waiver of N.J.A.C. 6A:23-4(c)iii, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:5-1.5(a)iii, and noting that petitioner has appealed the denial of its waiver request to the State Board. (Motion to Dismiss at 5)

[3] In that regulation N.J.A.C. 6:3A-1.3 does not exist, presumably, petitioner is referring to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3 which sets forth the procedures to be followed to initiate the contested case process for the Commissioner's determination of a controversy or dispute arising under the school laws. N.J.A.C. 6A:5-1.3 describes the criteria that must be met for the application for an equivalency or waiver of State Board regulations.

In reply, petitioner claims that a grant of respondent's motion to dismiss this matter would deny petitioner its absolute right to appeal the Commissioner's decision of December 7, 2004, "which is contrary to N.J.A.C. 6A:4-1.1." (Petitioner's Reply to Motion to Dismiss at 3) Moreover, petitioner asserts that its request for an appeal and/or waiver of N.J.A.C. 6A:23-4(c)iii is not moot in that it has not been provided the opportunity to present any evidence or witnesses in support of its contention that a wavier is appropriate in that: 1) it provides an essential service to students with disabilities ages 15 to 21 that cannot be duplicated by the sending districts and 2) the sending districts of Union County and Union County Education Services would lose an important alternate educational option for students who require a modified setting that includes vocational development and academic services with individualized support. (Id. at 4) Petitioner, therefore, concludes that "[t]o leave the Commissioner's decision would clearly deny the Claimant its right to proceed on Appeal." (Ibid.)

Respondent points out in its response that nowhere in the petition does petitioner assert that it is appealing the regulatory language of N.J.A.C. 6A:23-4.3(c)iii, but, instead, specifically states in its petition that it is seeking a waiver of the regulatory provision set forth in N.J.A.C. 6A:23-4.3(c)iii and, even now, in its response to the motion to dismiss, requests that it be heard on its application for a waiver. (Respondent's Response at 3) Respondent contends that the term waiver, as set forth in N.J.A.C. 6A:5-1.2, has the specific meaning of "approval to avoid compliance either with the specific procedures or the substantive requirements of a specific rule for reasons that are judged educationally, organizationally and fiscally sound" and that, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:5-1.5(a), a school district must submit an application to the Commissioner demonstrating why the waiver of a specific regulatory provision is warranted. (Id. at 3-4) Upon the Commissioner's review of the application and determination, respondent submits, a school district may appeal the Commissioner's decision to the State Board, if it is not satisfied with the Commissioner's determination. (Ibid.) With respect to petitioner's contention that it has not been provided the opportunity to present any evidence or witnesses in support of its waiver request, respondent avers that there is no language in the applicable code that states that a school district shall have the opportunity to present evidence and testimony regarding its waiver application. (Id. at 4) In conclusion, respondent submits that the relief requested within its petition is moot in that petitioner has had its opportunity to be heard before the Commissioner and that an appeal of the Commissioner's denial of its request for a waiver is now pending before the State Board. (Ibid.)

Upon a thorough review of the parties' submissions, the Commissioner has determined to grant respondent's motion to dismiss the within petition. In so concluding, it is emphasized that the Commissioner fully considered petitioner's request for a waiver of the ADE requirements set forth at N.J.A.C. 6A:23-4.3(c)iii and issued a determination on that request on December 7, 2004, pursuant to the procedures for consideration of equivalency and waiver requests found at N.J.A.C. 6A:5-1.1 et seq. In the instant matter, petitioner requests the same relief denied in the Commissioner's December 7, 2004 decision and provides no basis for additional consideration of this matter under N.J.A.C. 6A:3, which sets forth the procedures to initiate a contested case where there is an allegation that an action by a school district is in violation of the school laws or where the action being challenged may involve the implementation of a waiver or equivalency granted by the Commissioner. See, also, N.J.A.C. 6A:5-1.7. Having previously rendered a determination on petitioner's request for a waiver of the ADE requirements set forth at N.J.A.C. 6A:23-4.3(c)iii in the appropriate forum, i.e., under the regulation governing requests for a waiver, N.J.A.C. 6A:5-1.1 et seq., therefore, the Commissioner finds that the relief requested within the instant petition is moot.

With respect to petitioner's claim that a finding that its claim is moot under the contested case process set forth at N.J.A.C. 6A:3 would deny petitioner its absolute right to appeal the Commissioner's decision of December 7, 2004, "which is contrary to N.J.A.C. 6A:4-1.1," the Commissioner points out that N.J.A.C. 6A:4-1.1 governs appeals to the State Board, not the Commissioner, and that petitioner has preserved its right to appeal the Commissioner's decision by filing an appeal with respect to the issue herein to the State Board. Moreover, although the Commissioner finds that petitioner was provided the opportunity to which it was entitled under the regulations to present its arguments in support of its request for a waiver of the ADE requirement set forth at N.J.A.C. 6A:23-4.3(c)iii, in that an appeal of the Commissioner's decision is currently pending before the State Board, any argument that petitioner wishes to present in support of its allegation that it was not provided an adequate opportunity to present its arguments in support of its contention that a wavier was appropriate should be made to the State Board.

Accordingly, for the reasons set forth above, respondent's motion is granted and the within petition is dismissed, with prejudice.

IT IS SO ORDERED.[4]

The record of this matter, returned to the Commissioner by the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) as a withdrawal pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.2, has been reviewed. The Commissioner notes that the request for withdrawal was made by letter from petitioner dated January 25, 2005, wherein petitioner states that he and S.T. do not reside at the address previously claimed and that S.T. has been withdrawn from the respondent's school district.

However, the Board's Answer in this residency matter contained a demand for tuition which was left unresolved by the Administrative Law Judge. In that the record before the Commissioner contains neither a statement that the Board is no longer seeking tuition nor an affidavit of a responsible Board official attesting to the amount of tuition claimed by the Board as a consequence of S.T.'s ineligible attendance in its schools, this matter is hereby remanded to the OAL for supplementation of the record and, if appropriate, a recommended order regarding the payment of tuition.

Record Closed: January 24, 2005 Decided: January 26, 2005

BEFORE BRUCE M. GORMAN, ALJ:

On February 24, 2004, the Bureau of Controversies and Disputes of the Department of Education referred the present matter to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) for determination as a contested case pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14-b-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13. The Commissioner requested that an administrative law judge be assigned to conduct a hearing. The Director of the Office of Administrative Law assigned the matter to me to hear. N.J.S.A. 52:14F-5(o).

Prior to a hearing being scheduled, the parties arrived at a settlement agreement, and the terms were reduced to writing in the attached Stipulation of Settlement. The settlement was rejected by the Commissioner for technical reasons.

On December 10, 2004, the Commissioner of Education issued a Decision remanding this matter to the OAL for revision of the Settlement Agreement to include a copy of the Board of Education's Resolution approving the settlement, designating the Board President to sign the agreement on its behalf and to include the signature of the Board's attorney.

I have reviewed the record and the terms of settlement and I FIND:

1. The parties have voluntarily agreed to the settlement as evidenced by their signatures or their representatives' signatures on the attached Stipulation of Settlement and initially filed with this ALJ on October 28, 2004. The original stipulation has been amended to include the signature of Avis Bishop-Thompson, Esquire, the Board Solicitor for the Board of Education of the City of Pleasantville, and attaching a copy of the august 24, 2004 Pleasantville Board of Education Resolution authorizing the settlement and authorizing the Board President to execute the appropriate settlement documents.

2. The settlement fully disposes of all the issues in controversy and is consistent with the law.

Therefore, I ORDER that the parties comply with the settlement terms.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, why by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. WHEREAS, the Board desires to enter into settlement accordance with the following terms:

a. Ms. LaFrennie will voluntarily resign;
b. Ms. LaFrennie will receive her contracted annual salary of $40, 245 minus the appropriate withholding allowances. Additionally, the salary will be mitigated by the $9,000 earnings supported by the appropriate documentation;
c. Ms. LaFrennie will receive $14,657.500 for medical benefits;
d. Upon execution of the Release and Settlement, the OAL action will be dismissed with prejudice.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, by the Pleasantville Board of Education as follows:

1. The terms of the settlement are hereby approved by the Board.
2. The Board authorizes the Board President to execute the appropriate settlement documents having terms substantial similar to the terms as set forth above.

The approval of the settlement is subject to the execution of a mutually acceptable written settlement agreement.

RESIGNATION FROM EMPLOYMENT
SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT AND GENERAL RELEASE

This Resignation from Employment, Settlement Agreement and General Release (the "Agreement"), is entered into this ____ day of September, 2004, by and between Lori LaFrennie ("Ms. LaFrennie") and the Pleasantville Board of Education, Atlantic County (the "Board") (collectively, the "Parties"). For purposes of this Agreement, the term the "Board" shall mean and include the Pleasantville Board of Education, its elected representatives, agents, employees, insurers and attorneys, and all of their predecessors and successors (all in both their official and individual capacities). The term "Ms. LaFrennie" shall mean and include Lori LaFrennie and any and all of her executors, administrators, successors, assigns, agents and representatives. This Agreement constitutes the complete and final settlement of any and all disputes arising from or relating to Ms. LaFrennie's employment by the Board, the termination of her employment and any claims or actions she has brought or could have brought against the Board.

W I T N E S S E T H:

WHEREAS, Ms. LaFrennie filed an administrative action against the Board in the Office of Administrative Law (the "OAL"), entitled Lori LaFrennie vs. The Pleasantville Board of Education, Atlantic County, Docket No. EDUOR 0076-2004S, Agency Ref. No., 66-2/04 (the "Administrative Action"); and

WHEREAS, the Parties desire to enter into this Agreement to fully and finally resolve and dismiss with prejudice Ms. LaFrennie's Administrative Action and to fully and finally settle and resolve any and all claims, complaints, charges and actions of any kind whatsoever, whether known or unknown, which Ms. LaFrennie may have against the Board; and

WHEREAS, Ms. LaFrennie acknowledges and agrees that the payment provided for herein is provided as consideration for this Agreement to voluntarily dismiss, waive and withdraw the Administrative Action and any and all claims, complaints, charges, administrative actions and civil actions of any kind against the Board;

NOW, THEREFORE, in consideration of the promises and mutual covenants contained in this Agreement, the Parties hereby agree as follows:

1. (a) In consideration for Ms. LaFrennie's execution of this Agreement and the promises and covenants contained herein, the Board commits that it shall issue and remit to Tobin G. Nilsen, Esq. (Ms. LaFrennie's "Counsel") a check payable to Lori LaFrennie, in the gross amount of forty thousand two hundred forty-five dollars ($40,245), less applicable statutory deductions and withholding taxes which represents her contractual salary for the 2003-2004 year. The salary payment will also be mitigated by the $9,000 earned by Ms. LaFrennie during the 2003-2004 years supported by appropriate documentation. The Board will report the salary payment to the taxing authorities via an IRS Form 1099. The check will be sent to Ms. LaFrennie's Counsel after (i) this Agreement is executed and the Stipulation of Dismissal with Prejudice attached to this Agreement as Exhibit A is signed by the Parties and filed with the Court;(ii) the seven-day revocation period referred to in Paragraph 11 has expired and (iii) documentation is provided evidencing earnings of $9,000.

(b) The Board commits that it shall issue and remit to Mr. Nilsen a check payable to Lori LaFrennie and Tobin G. Nilsen, Esq. in the gross amount of fourteen thousand six hundred fifty-seven dollars and fifty cents ($14,657.50) which represents her contractual benefits for the 2003-2004 year. The Board will report the salary payment to the taxing authorities via an IRS Form 1099. The check will be sent to Ms. LaFrennie's Counsel after (i) this Agreement is executed and the Stipulation of Dismissal with Prejudice attached to this Agreement as Exhibit A is signed by the Parties and filed with the Court and (ii) the seven-day revocation period referred to in paragraph 11 has expired.

(c) In the event that it is subsequently determined that Ms. LaFrennie owes any employment taxes with respect to this payment, Ms. LaFrennie expressly acknowledges and agrees that she and/or her heirs, executors, administrators and assigns, and not the Board, will be responsible for the payment of any such taxes, liabilities, payments or costs, interest and penalties. Ms. LaFrennie agrees to indemnify and hold harmless the Board to the full extent of any such taxes, liabilities, payments or costs, interest and penalties, which may be assessed against the Board in connection with any payment made to or on behalf of Ms. LaFrennie hereunder.

2. Ms. LaFrennie, for the consideration given by the Board as set forth above, which she acknowledges is adequate and satisfactory to her, hereby commits as follows:

(a) Ms. LaFrennie agrees that by signing this Agreement she is irrevocably resigning her employment with the Board effective upon the execution of this Agreement.

(b) Ms. LaFrennie irrevocably and unconditionally remises, releases, waives and forever discharges the Board from any and all manner of liabilities, actions, causes of action, contracts, agreements, promises, claims and demands of any kind or nature whatsoever, in law or equity, whether known or unknown, which Ms. LaFrennie has ever had or now has against the Board including, but not limited to, claims arising out of or relating to or arising from or in connection with her employment with the Board, the resignation of her employment, compensation and/or benefits with the Board and the Administrative Action. Ms. LaFrennie further understands and agrees that this Agreement shall act as a complete bar to any claim, demand or action of any kind whatsoever which could be or could have been brought by her and which seeks personal, equitable or monetary relief for her against the Board, including, but not limited to: any claims of wrongful discharge; breach of express or implied contract; fraud; discrimination; retaliation; wages; benefits; other compensation; misrepresentation; defamation; liability in negligence or tort; and claims of any kind which may be brought in any court of law or equity or an administrative agency; claims for arbitration in any forum; the U.S. Constitution, as amended; the Constitution of the State of New Jersey; Title VII of the U.S. Civil Rights Act of 1964, as amended; the U.S. Age Discrimination in Employment Act of 1967; the U.S. Americans with Disabilities Act; the U.S. Age Discrimination in Employment Act; the U.S. Employment Retirement Income Security Act; the U.S. Fair Labor Standards Act; the United States Family and Medical Leave Act; the New Jersey Family Leave Act; the New Jersey Law Against Discrimination; the New Jersey Conscientious Employee Protection Act; the New Jersey Department of Personnel; and any other federal, state or local law, regulation or ordinance relating to employment; related torts; and employment discrimination; employee benefits; collective bargaining agreement; and the termination of employment and any other claim arising from or relating to Ms. LaFrennie's employment. Ms. LaFrennie understands that she is not releasing any claims she may have to enforce the provisions of this Agreement. This release covers both claims that Ms. LaFrennie knows about and those she may not know about, except for claims (i) that may arise after the date Ms. LaFrennie executes this Agreement; (ii) for a breach of this Agreement; or (iii) with respect to any benefits in which Ms. LaFrennie has a vested interest under the terms and conditions of any of the Board's employee benefit plans. Ms. LaFrennie further agrees not to file a lawsuit or administrative claim or demand for arbitration to assert any of the claims she has given up, released or waived. Any substantial or material breach of this Agreement shall entitle the non-breaching party to an injunction to remedy the breach and an award of reasonable attorney's fees, other professional fees, costs and expenses incurred to remedy and defend against said breach.

(c) Ms. LaFrennie agrees to dismiss with prejudice the Administrative Action. In that regard, Ms. LaFrennie's Counsel, in accordance with the New Jersey Rules of Administrative Practice, shall, simultaneous with the execution of this Agreement, execute the Stipulation and Order of Dismissal With Prejudice attached to this Agreement as Exhibit A, dismissing the case with prejudice for the reason of the settlement reached by the Parties. It is acknowledged and understood by Ms. LaFrennie that any and all rights and obligations set forth in this Agreement are conditioned completely and entirely upon the Court's dismissal of the Administrative Action with prejudice.

(d) Ms. LaFrennie agrees to withdraw fully and finally and to dismiss with prejudice any and all administrative, state or federal court actions, which have been filed by her against the Board which have not already been closed or otherwise terminated. Ms. LaFrennie will ask each agency or court with which she has filed an action to enter an order, without appearance by either Party, withdrawing and dismissing the action with prejudice. Any such orders shall be attached to and become a part of this Agreement. It is acknowledged and understood by Ms. LaFrennie that any and all obligations set forth in this Agreement are conditioned completely and entirely upon the withdrawal and dismissal with prejudice of any and all administrative, state and federal court actions.

(e) Ms. LaFrennie agrees that she will not talk about, discuss or consult with, advise, counsel or otherwise cooperate with or assist any employees or former employees of the Board in the pursuit of any legal or administrative action(s) against the Board, including, but not limited to, any action(s) in connection with any matters relating to her employment or the termination of her employment, unless compelled to do so by court order or lawful subpoena. Ms. LaFrennie further agrees that she will not participate, directly or indirectly, as a party, witness or otherwise, in any action at law, proceeding in equity or in any administrative proceeding in which the Board or Board personnel are Parties, unless compelled to do so by force of law.

(f) Ms. LaFrennie acknowledges and agrees that other than the consideration provided for herein, she is not entitled to and will not receive any additional compensation or benefits of any kind from the Board and that no representations have been made to her regarding any such additional compensation or benefits. Nothing in this Agreement is intended to or should be construed to affect Ms. LaFrennie's receipt of the benefits in which she is vested or to which she is entitled under the Board's current pension, disability and/or other vested plans or policies.

3. Ms. LaFrennie agrees to maintain the confidentiality of, and refrain from disclosing, making public, or discussing in any way whatsoever, the terms and conditions of this Agreement. Notwithstanding the foregoing, it is understood that as the sole exception to this Confidentiality Provision, Ms. LaFrennie may discuss or disclose this Agreement (i) with her immediate family; (ii) with her attorney(s) or tax advisor(s); and (iii) in response to inquiries from, any governmental, regulatory or self-regulatory body or agency with jurisdiction over the activities Ms. LaFrennie or the Board.

4. (a) Ms. LaFrennie agrees that she shall not issue any communication, written, verbal or otherwise, that disparages, criticizes or otherwise reflects adversely upon the Board or which encourages any adverse action, provided that Ms. LaFrennie is permitted to testify truthfully under oath pursuant to a subpoena.

(b) With respect to any inquiries regarding Ms. LaFrennie, the Board shall have responsibility only as provided below or only insofar as Mr. LaFrennie has directed inquiries to Mr. Skender T. Avrami, or his successor, of the Board's Human Resources Department. If any inquiries are made to Dr. Gail D. Brooks, Dr. Brooks will direct those inquiries to Mr. Avrami, or his successors, they will be responded to with a neutral reference consisting of Ms. LaFrennie's name, dates of employment and position held while employed with the Board.

5. This Agreement is not and shall not in any way be deemed to constitute an admission or evidence of any wrongdoing or liability on the part of the Board, nor of any violation of any federal, state or local statute, rule, regulation or principle of common law or equity. Rather, this Agreement constitutes the good faith settlement and release of disputed claims, and it is acknowledged and agreed by the Parties that this Agreement is being entered into by the Parties solely to avoid the burden, expense, delay and uncertainties of further litigation and to fully and finally resolve, settle and dismiss with prejudice, any and all claims of any kind whatsoever, whether known or unknown, which Ms. LaFrennie has ever had or now has against the Board arising out of or relating to his employment with the Board, the termination of her employment, her compensation and benefits with the Board or the Administrative Action. The Board expressly denies any wrongdoing of any kind in regard to Ms. LaFrennie's employment, the termination of her employment, her compensation and benefits with the Board and the Administrative Action.

6. This Agreement may not be changed orally and no modification, amendment or waiver of any provision contained in this Agreement, or any future representation, promise or condition in connection with the subject matter of this Agreement shall be binding upon any party hereto unless made in writing and signed by such party.

7. This Agreement contains the entire agreement and complete settlement between the Parties and supersedes any and all previous agreements of any kind whatsoever between them, whether written or oral. All prior and contemporaneous discussions and negotiations have been and are merged and integrated into, and are superseded by, this Agreement. This is an integrated document.

8. In the event that any provision of this Agreement or the application thereof should be held to be void, voidable, unlawful or, for any reason, unenforceable, the remaining portion shall remain in full force and effect, and, to that end, the provisions of this Agreement are declared to be severable.

This Agreement is made and entered into, and shall be subject to, governed by and interpreted in accordance with the laws of the state of New Jersey and shall be fully enforceable in the courts of that state, without regard to principles of conflict of laws. The Parties agree that any suit, action or other legal proceeding arising out of this Agreement shall be brought in Superior Court for the State of New Jersey, County of Atlantic.

9. Ms. LaFrennie and her Counsel agree that Ms. LaFrennie is responsible for her own attorneys' fees and costs incurred in connection with the Administrative Action and her claims against the Board and warrant that both Ms. LaFrennie and her Counsel waives and release any claims against the Board for attorneys' fees and costs, statutory or otherwise, related in any way to the matters covered by this Agreement, and covenant not to sue or otherwise proceed against the Board with respect to any such claims for attorneys' fees and/or costs. By signing this Agreement, Ms. LaFrennie and her Counsel affirm that they are waiving and releasing any claims they may have against the Board for attorneys' fees.

10. Ms. LaFrennie agrees that neither this Agreement nor any portion hereof is assignable. Ms. LaFrennie represents, warrants and covenants that she has not previously assigned or transferred, or purported to assign or transfer, to any individual or entity, any of the rights, claims, demands or causes of action being released herein, and agrees that no such assignment or transfer may occur without a written consent executed by the Board, and any attempt to do so shall be void.

11. Ms. LaFrennie certifies that she has read the terms of this Agreement, they have been explained to her by an attorney of her choice and that she understands them in full. The execution hereof by Ms. LaFrennie shall indicate that this Agreement conforms to Ms. LaFrennie's understandings and is acceptable to her as a final agreement. It is further understood and agreed that Ms. LaFrennie has been advised of the opportunity to consult with counsel of his choice and that she has been given a reasonable and sufficient period of time of no less than twenty-one (21) days in which to consider and return this document. It is further agreed and understood that, upon Ms. LaFrennie's execution and return of this Agreement, she is thereafter permitted to revoke the Agreement at any time during a period of seven (7) days. To be effective, the revocation must be in writing and hand-delivered or telecopied to counsel for the Board within the seven (7) day period.

WHEREFORE, intending to be legally bound, the Parties have agreed to the aforesaid terms and indicate their agreement by signing below.

PLEASE READ CAREFULLY. THIS AGREEMENT IS A LEGAL DOCUMENT AND INCLUDES A RELEASE OF ALL KNOWN AND UNKNOWN CLAIMS, INCLUDING, WITHOUT LIMITATION, ALL CLAIMS ARISING UNDER THE AGE DISCRIMINATION IN EMPLOYMENT ACT, THE AMERICANS WITH DISABILITIES ACT, TITLE VII OF THE ADMINISTRATIVE RIGHTS ACT OF 1964, THE EQUAL PAY ACT, THE EMPLOYEE RETIREMENT INCOME SECURITY ACT, THE FAIR LABOR STANDARDS ACT, THE OCCUPATIONAL SAFETY AND HEALTH ACT, THE NEW JERSEY LAW AGAINST DISCRIMINATION, THE NEW JERSEY CONSCIENTIOUS EMPLOYEE PROTECTION ACT, STATE AND FEDERAL FAMILY LEAVE LAWS, STATE AND FEDERAL WAGE AND HOUR LAWS AND ANY OTHER FEDERAL, STATE, LOCAL OR COMMON LAW CLAIM.

BY SIGNING THIS AGREEMENT MS. LAFRENNIE ACKNOWLEDGES AND AFFIRMS THAT SHE IS COMPETENT, THAT SHE HAS BEEN AFFORDED A TIME PERIOD OF NO LESS THAN 21 DAYS TO REVIEW AND CONSIDER THIS AGREEMENT AND HAS BEEN ADVISED TO DO SO WITH AN ATTORNEY OF HER CHOICE, THAT SHE HAS READ AND UNDERSTANDS AND ACCEPTS THIS DOCUMENT AS FULLY AND FINALLY WAIVING AND RELEASING ANY AND ALL CLAIMS, DEMANDS, DISPUTES AND ANY DIFFERENCES OF ANY KIND WHATSOEVER WHICH SHE MAY HAVE HAD OR NOW HAS AGAINST EMPLOYER ARISING OUT OF OR RELATING TO HER EMPLOYMENT WITH EMPLOYER, THE TERMINATION OF HER EMPLOYMENT, HER COMPENSATION AND BENEFITS WITH THE BOARD, THE ADMINISTRATIVE ACTION, OR OTHERWISE, THAT NO REPRESENTATIONS, PROMISES, OR INDUCEMENTS HAVE BEEN MADE TO HER EXCEPT AS SET FORTH IN THIS AGREEMENT, AND THAT SHE HAS SIGNED THESE DOCUMENTS FREELY AND VOLUNTARILY, INTENDING TO BE LEGALLY BOUND BY ITS TERMS, AND WITH FULL UNDERSTANDING OF ITS CONSEQUENCES.

AGREED AND ACCEPTED:

The record, Stipulation of Settlement and Release, and Initial Decision issued by the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1, have been reviewed.

Upon review, the Commissioner observes that the Board President and the Interim Board Secretary/Business Administrator signed the Stipulation of Settlement and Release on behalf of the Board. In that neither the file nor the settlement agreement contains a copy of the Board's resolution approving the settlement and designating these individuals to sign the agreement on its behalf, and the agreement is not signed by the Board attorney, who is the Board's duly authorized representative in litigation, the Commissioner cannot approve the within settlement.

Accordingly, the Commissioner hereby remands this matter to the OAL for revision of the settlement agreement consistent with the concern set forth above.

Record Closed: January 20, 2005 Decided: January 27, 2005

BEFORE DOUGLAS H. HURD, ALJ:

This matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law on July 6, 2004, for determination as a contested case, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13.

The parties have agreed to a settlement and have prepared a Stipulation of Settlement indicating the terms thereof, which is attached and fully incorporated herein.

I have reviewed the record and the terms of settlement and I FIND:

1. The parties have voluntarily agreed to the settlement as evidenced by their signatures or their representatives' signatures.

2. The settlement fully disposes of all issues in controversy and is consistent with the law.

I CONCLUDE that this agreement meets the requirements of N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1 and that the settlement should be approved. I approve the settlement and therefore ORDER that the parties comply with the settlement terms and that these proceedings be concluded.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

STIPULATION OF SETTLEMENT AND RELEASE

This Stipulation of Settlement is made by and between the South Plainfield Board of Education ("Board"), with administrative offices located at 125 Jackson Avenue, South Plainfield, New Jersey 07080 and Esther Baita, 3 Cooper Street, Manville, New Jersey 08835. In consideration of the mutual promises and undertakings contained in this Agreement, and for good and valuable consideration, the receipt of which is hereby acknowledged, the undersigned state:

WHEREAS, the Board has filed a Petition of Appeal with the Commissioner of Education against Ms. Baita and Mr. Natereno, jointly and severally, seeking $8,880.96 in back-tuition, plus interest, costs and counsel fees for the alleged ineligible attendance of Ms. Baita's children, B.N.H. and B.A.H., in the South Plainfield School District; and

WHEREAS, Mr. Natereno also was named as a respondent in this action for allegedly allowing his South Plainfield address to be used for the purpose of enrolling Ms. Baita's children in the District; and

WHEREAS, a hearing in this matter has been scheduled for January 26 & 27, 2005; and

WHEREAS, the parties desire amicably to resolve the matter without the necessity of further litigation;

NOW, THEREFORE, in consideration of the mutual promises and covenants contained herein, the parties agree as follows:

1. Ms. Baita will pay the Board back-tuition in the amount of $2500.00 in full and complete satisfaction of the alleged amount which is due and owing.

2. This $2500.00 tuition amount will be paid to the Board's legal counsel, Marc H. Zitomer, Esq., 10 James Street, Florham Park, New Jersey 07932, with a certified check made payable to the "South Plainfield Board of Education", by no later than June 30, 2005. If said amount is not received by the Board's legal counsel by that date, the Board will provide Ms. Baita and her legal counsel, Diane K. Smith, Esq., in writing, with a final fifteen (15) days notice period to pay the amount before the Board institutes any collection action.

3. Ms. Baita understands that if she fails to remit the agreed-upon amount by June 30, 2005, the Board will take whatever legal action is necessary to enforce this Agreement and collect the sum set forth herein.

4. Ms. Baita agrees to pay the Board's attorney's fees and costs, in addition to all collection fees, in the event that the Board must take action to collect the aforesaid sum of money.

5. Ms. Baita, in consideration of this Agreement, hereby releases the Board, individually and collectively, and its agents, servants and employees from any and all claims, causes of action, suits, actions at law and in equity, administrative proceedings, and judicial and quasi-judicial proceedings of any kind whatsoever, which have been brought, or could be brought, arising under or relating in any way to B.N.H. and B.A.H.'s attendance and subsequent removal/withdrawal from the District, now and forever, except to enforce the terms of this Settlement Agreement.

6. The Board, in consideration of this Agreement, hereby releases Ms. Baita from any and all claims, causes of action, suits, actions at law and in equity, administrative proceedings, and judicial and quasi-judicial proceedings of any kind whatsoever, which have been brought, or could be brought, arising under or relating in any way to B.N.H. and B.A.H.'s attendance and subsequent removal/withdrawal from the District, now and forever, except to enforce the terms of this Settlement Agreement.

7. Ms. Baita acknowledges that she has reviewed this agreement with independent legal counsel and that she enters into it without duress, and of her own free will and volition. She further acknowledges that she fully understands the terms of this Agreement and the duties and obligations enumerated herein.

8. The Board, in consideration of this Agreement and in full, final and complete settlement of this matter hereby withdraws, with prejudice, the above-docketed Petition of Appeal against both respondents.

9. Nothing contained in this agreement should be construed as an admission of wrongdoing by either party and neither party shall be considered a prevailing party for any reason.

10. This Agreement contains the entire Agreement between the parties, and no other representations, whether verbal or in writing shall be binding upon them.

11. All terms of this Agreement are deemed material. This document may not be altered, amended, modified or revoked except by an instrument executed in writing by the parties.

12. This Agreement is to be construed in accordance with the laws of the State of New Jersey.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the parties, or their duly authorized representatives, do set forth their hands and seal as of the date first above written.

MARIA DiCARLO,

Petitioner,

v.

BOARD OF EDUCATION OF WESTFIELD,

Respondent.

Timothy R. Smith, Esq., for petitioner (LaRocca, Feeley & Smith, attorneys)

Richard J. Kaplow, Esq., for respondent

Record Closed: January 28, 2005 Decided: February 2, 2005

BEFORE STEPHEN G. WEISS, ALJ:

This matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law by the Department of Education as a contested case in March 2003 as the result of the filing of a petition by Maria DiCarlo asserting that the respondent Board of Education of Westfield had refused to indemnify her for certain expenses incurred in defending against a criminal complaint. See, N.J.S.A. 18A:16-6.1. Hearing dates scheduled for December 2003, March 2004 and September 2004 were adjourned for a variety of reasons. Ultimately, the parties advised that they had entered into a tentative settlement.

Thereafter, a Stipulation of Settlement signed by petitioner, her attorney and the attorney for the Westfield Board of Education was submitted to me for review and is attached hereto. The settlement agreement provides for reimbursement in the amount of $2548 to petitioner and, in return, she agrees to withdraw any claims against the Board with prejudice.

I have reviewed the terms of the settlement and FIND as follows.

1. The parties have voluntarily agreed to the settlement as evidenced by their signatures or their representatives' signatures.

2. The settlement fully disposes of all issues in controversy and is consistent with the law.

I CONCLUDE that this agreement meets the requirements of N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1 and that the settlement should be approved. I approve the settlement and, therefore, ORDER that the parties comply with the settlement terms and that these proceedings be concluded.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

THIS MATTER having been brought on by the Petitioner Maria DiCarlo's complaint to the New Jersey Commissioner of Education, and the matters in dispute having been voluntarily and amicably resolved, and the parties having set forth the terms and conditions of said settlement in the form of this Stipulation;

NOW, THEREFORE, on this 20 day of January 2005,

IT IS Stipulated and Agreed by the parties as follows:

1. Respondent Westfield Board of Education agrees to pay the total lump sum amount of Two Thousand Five Hundred Forty-eight and 00/100 Dollars ($2,548.00) to Petitioner Maria DiCarlo, payment and receipt of which is hereby acknowledged.

2. All claims by Maria DiCarlo relative to and arising from the allegations set forth in the Petition filed with the New Jersey Commissioner of Education are hereby withdrawn, with prejudice as to all issues, except as set forth herein. This Stipulation of Settlement, when signed by the Petitioner Maria DiCarlo, shall have the same force and effect as a General Release executed by Petitioner in favor of Respondent.

3. This Stipulation of Settlement shall be filed with Administrative Law Judge Stephen G. Weiss and transmitted by the Office of Administrative Law to the New Jersey Commissioner of Education for similar approval.

SYNOPSIS

Petitioner filed a Petition of Appeal, challenging the Board's residency determination that her daughter, N. DeV., was not eligible for a free education in the Hamilton School District.

After directing the Board to file an Answer to the petition by notices dated December 22, 2004 and January 19, 2005, the Commissioner deemed the Board's failure to Answer the petition to be a removal of its opposition to N. DeV.'s claim of entitlement to attend its schools. Therefore, the Commissioner granted a summary decision on behalf of the petitioner, and ordered that the petitioner's daughter is entitled, for as long as circumstances remain unchanged, to attend school free of charge in the Hamilton School District pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1.

RESPONDENT.	:

This matter having been opened before the Commissioner of Education by way of a Petition of Appeal, filed on December 21, 2004, claiming that petitioner and her daughter are domiciled in the Township of Hamilton so as to entitle the child to attend school in the Hamilton School District free of charge pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1, and seeking an Order requiring the Board of Education of the Township of Hamilton to admit petitioner's child to the District's schools; and

The Commissioner having directed the Board by notices dated December 22, 2004, via facsimile and regular mail, and January 19, 2005, via certified and regular mail, to file an Answer to the petition; and

K. Loffrodo having acknowledged receipt of service of the January 19, 2005 notice by signing the certified delivery receipt on behalf of the Board; and

As of this date, neither the Board nor any attorney on its behalf has filed an Answer to the petition and, therefore, each count of the petition is deemed to be admitted; and

The Board's failure to Answer the petition is deemed to be a removal of its opposition to N. DeV.'s claim of entitlement to attend its schools; now therefore

IT IS ORDERED on this _____day of March 2005 that summary decision shall be granted to petitioner. Petitioner's daughter, N. BEFORE JESSE H. STRAUSS, ALJ:

The matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) on October 1, 2004 for determination as a contested case. A telephone prehearing conference scheduled for December 7, 2004 was adjourned upon notification that the matter had been settled.

On February 2, 2005 the parties were able to resolve the matter and submitted the attached Board Resolution and letter from counsel for petitioner confirming that the Board Resolution accurately reflects the terms of the settlement. Having reviewed the record and the settlement terms, I FIND:

1. The parties have voluntarily agreed to the settlement as evidenced by the Board Resolution and letter from counsel for petitioner.

2. The settlement fully disposes of all issues in controversy and is consistent with the law.

I CONCLUDE that this agreement meets the requirements of N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1 and that the settlement should be approved. I approve the settlement and, therefore, ORDER that the parties comply with the settlement terms and that these proceedings be concluded.

SYNOPSIS

Petitioner appealed the Board's residency determination that her nephew, C.A., was not eligible for a free education in the Borough of South Plainfield School District.

The ALJ found that the petitioner did not meet her burden of demonstrating that C.A. is entitled to attend school in respondent's district, pursuant to either the provisions of N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(a) or those of 18A:38-1(b) regarding family or economic hardship. The ALJ cited as disqualifiers the petitioner's statements at the hearing and on the district's residency application that C.A.'s parents: 1) provide financial support; 2) visit him several times a year; and 3) placed him with petitioner for education. The ALJ concluded that the Board was correct in determining that C.A. is ineligible to enroll in the district's schools.

The Commissioner concurs with the findings of the ALJ in this matter. Accordingly, the Initial Decision of the OAL is adopted for the reasons expressed therein. The Commissioner notes that no tuition was ordered because C.A. did not attend respondent's schools during the pendency of the appeal.

Record Closed: January 25, 2005 Decided: February 7, 2005

BEFORE DOUGLAS H. HURD, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

By letter dated August 31, 2004, Respondent, the South Plainfield Board of Education, advised Petitioner that it determined C.A. ineligible to attend schools of the District. Petitioner appealed this determination and the matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law, where it was filed on October 22, 2004. A hearing was held on January 25, 2005, and the record closed on that date.

C.A. is currently 11 years old. He moved to the United States from Haiti in 2000. He moved to a suburb of Philadelphia with his father. His mother stayed in Haiti because she owned her own business there. In June 2004, C.A.'s father had an accident at work. The accident resulted in C.A.'s father becoming unemployed. C.A.'s father sent C.A. to live with his sister, Petitioner, C.P. in South Plainfield in the July 2004.

Petitioner sought to enroll C.A. in the South Plainfield Public Schools. Because Petitioner was not the parent or legal guardian of C.A., she was asked to complete a Residency Affidavit. Dr. Robert Rosado, Superintendent, reviewed the affidavit (R-2) and concluded that C.A. did not meet the requirements of the statute and regulations. Of particular concern to Rosado were the Petitioner's answers to Question 11 that stated they would receive clothing and recreational expenses from the parents, Question 13 that C.A. will be visiting his parents at the end of the school year, and Question 15 that C.A. is living with Petitioner for education. Rosado was also concerned with the answers provided by the parents on R-2. In particular, Question 11 in which the parents stated they are capable of providing for the care of C.A., Question 12 regarding the reason why they are not providing for C.A., and Question 13 in which the parents state they contribute clothing and recreation.

Rosado viewed these answers, among others, as disqualifiers under the statute, N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1. Rosado, by letter dated August 31, 2004, notified Petitioner that C.A. is ineligible to enroll in the District because the residency affidavit stated he was living in South Plainfield for the sole purpose of receiving an education and because C.A.'s parents are both capable of providing for his care and support.

Based on Rosado's letter, Petitioner did not enroll C.A. in the District. Instead, C.A. was enrolled in a private school. Petitioner's answers to interrogatories state that C.A.'s father is paying for the private school, which is $380 per month. Petitioner's father moved back to Haiti in December 2004 and still resides there.

C.A. and Petitioner testified. They provided P-1, which is a document titled "Temporary Guardianship". They claim this document shows the C.A. is domiciled in the District and, therefore, the requirements of N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(b) do not need to be satisfied. However, I find and conclude that P-1 does not establish that Petitioner is C.A.'s guardian. First, the document, dated September 20, 2004, is for only temporary guardianship. Second, there is no indication that the guardianship has been approved by a court.

C.A. and Petitioner testified that C.A.'s father is not employed in Haiti due to the political unrest. They claim he is a mechanic, but that his shop in Haiti burned down. They testified that the father does make some contributions to C.A.'s private school. They said that C.A.'s brothers, sisters and other family members also contribute. They both testified that C.A.'s mother owns her own business in Haiti and, until recently, made about $50,000 per year. They said that her business is slower now due to the political unrest in Haiti. Both admitted that C.A.'s parents sometimes pay for his clothes. Both said that his parents, as well as his other family members, help with C.A.'s expenses. They also testified that C.A.'s parents visit him in the United States about 3 to 4 times per year.

Based on the evidence provided, it is clear that Petitioner has not satisfied the standards in N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(b) by a preponderance of the evidence. First, she admitted at the hearing and on the residency application that C.A.'s parents do provide some financial support. Moreover, the evidence did not demonstrate that C.A.'s reasons for being with Petitioner are due to his parent's financial or family hardship. Although C.A.'s father is allegedly unemployed and his mother is struggling with her business, the evidence also demonstrated that the father was paying, in part, for C.A.'s private school and that the mother, at least until recently, owned a successful business and had a salary of $50,000 per year. Even today, both parents provide support and visit C.A. 3 to 4 times per year – both are indicators that there is no financial hardship.

There is no question that the Board made the correct decision in August 2004 to declare C.A. ineligible to enroll in the District's schools. The residency application on its face contained numerous disqualifiers. The evidence, as presented during the hearing, confirmed that the Board continues to act appropriately in concluding that Petitioner's application does not meet the requirements of N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(b).

ORDER

Based on the foregoing, I hereby ORDER that Petitioner's appeal be DISMISSED and hat the Board of Education's decision is AFFIRMED.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen (13) days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

This matter was transmitted to the Commissioner by the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) on March 2, 2005 for consideration of petitioner's withdrawal of the petition in this matter.

Upon review, the Commissioner notes that, notwithstanding petitioner's letter of February 4, 2005 indicating his withdrawal of the within petition, the Board's Answer in this residency matter contains a counterclaim for tuition which was left unresolved by the Administrative Law Judge. In that the record before the Commissioner does not contain an affidavit of a responsible Board official attesting to the amount of tuition claimed by the Board as a consequence of the ineligible attendance of petitioner's nephew in its schools, this matter must be remanded to the OAL for supplementation of the record in this regard and an appropriate recommended order regarding the payment of tuition.

Record Closed: February 2, 2005 Decided: February 3, 2005

BEFORE JOHN R. TASSINI, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

This case concerns discipline imposed on petitioner K.W., a sixth grade student in the school system operated by the respondent Board of Education (BOE) of the Borough of Lindenwold. As detailed below, on the record made in the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), the parties entered into a settlement agreement resolving the case.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On January 28, 2005, the petitioners' letter requesting relief was filed with the Department of Education. N.J.S.A. 18A:6-9. The Department treated the letter as a petition and transmitted the contested case to the OAL where it was filed on January 31, 2005, and scheduled for a hearing. N.J.S.A. 52:14B-2(b). On February 1, 2005, the BOE filed its papers in answer to the petition. On February 2, 2005, in the OAL, Trenton, the parties appeared and on a taped record, stipulated to certain facts and entered into a settlement agreement resolving the case. The facts and terms of the settlement agreement are set forth below.

FINDINGS OF FACT

Background Facts

K.J. and K.S., who were not married, are the parents of K.W., who was born on April 21, 1992, and they resided together in Irvington. K.W. and K.S. had a good relationship and K.W. regularly saw K.S.'s family, by whom he was well loved. K.J. and K.S. separated, but, after the separation, K.W. continued to regularly see K.S. and his family.

When K.W. was in the fourth grade, K.J. began to reside with K.Wat., to whom she was not married. K.W. is capable of average or better than average academic performance, but, at about that time, he began to engage in misconduct and his grades fell.

K.J., K.W. and K.Wat. moved to Lindenwold. Given the distance between K.W. in his new home and K.S. and K.S.'s family, K.W. saw them less frequently and, during the 2003-04 school year, K.W. was a fifth grade student in the BOE's school system. K.J. is a Department of Corrections employee, temporarily disabled as a result of a fall. School records show that K.W.'s misconduct in school increased in frequency and severity, including incidents such as refusing to go to class, disrupting class, striking other students, and pushing a teacher. BOE-B.

His grades also continued to be poor. The school system reported the matters to K.J.; held mediation sessions; and, consistent with the BOE's Code of Conduct of Offenses and Range of Consequences, suspended K.W. several times for fighting. BOE-C. The BOE's Child Study Team conducted evaluations, but determined that K.W. should not be classified for Special Education and related services. Prior to the 2004-05 school year, K.W. was seen by physicians, one of whom diagnosed attention deficit hyperactivity disorder and prescribed medication, but K.J. determined that the medication was adversely affecting him and discontinued it.

During the 2004-05 school year, K.W. has been in the sixth grade. The school system created a (Rehabilitation Act of 1973) Section 504 Student Accommodation Plan for K.W., which K.J. signed and which included preferential seating within the classroom, so K.W. could be close to the teacher; implementation of a student planner; appropriate modification of assignments; and permitted K.W. to see a counselor to allow him a "cooling off" period to avoid another problematic incident. However, school records show that, in late September, October and November 2004, K.W. again engaged in misconduct, including disrupting class and fighting. School officials met with K.J. to discuss these matters and, consistent with the BOE's Code of Conduct of Offenses and Range of Consequences, suspended K.W. BOE-B. K.W.'s grades also continued to be poor.

The January 28, 2005 Incident

On January 28, 2005, in the school auditorium, K.W. and D.E., another student, argued over a seat and engaged in a fight just outside of the auditorium. Ms. Stolzer, a school staff member, attempted to break up the fight. Richard Bulicki, another school staff member assisted and they separated the students. Mr. Bulicki reported that the students admitted that they agreed to fight once they left the auditorium and this was consistent with the location of the fight, which was less than three feet from the auditorium's exit. BOE-A. This is at least K.W.'s fourth fight and, consistent with the BOE's Code of Conduct of Offenses and Range of Consequences, the school system suspended him for ten days. K.W. had served two days of the suspension when, based on petitioners' bringing this case, the school stayed the suspension.

The Settlement Terms

The parties recognize that, given K.W.'s background and circumstances, the consequences for his January 28, 2005, misconduct should be adapted to allow him to modify his behavior and to allow him an opportunity to take advantage of the educational opportunities afforded by the BOE.

On the record made February 2, 2005 in the OAL, the parties agreed to settle this case on the following terms:

I. Petitioners acknowledge that K.W. is subject to the BOE's Code of Conduct of Offenses and Range of Consequences.

II. The above-described Section 504 Student Accommodation Plan for K.W. continues and includes the following terms:

1. K.W. will receive preferential seating within the classroom, so that he is close to the teacher.
2. A student planner will be implemented for K.W.
3. K.W.'s assignments will be modified appropriately.
4. K.W. will be permitted to see a counselor to allow him a "cooling off" period to avoid another problematic incident.

III. The above-described Section 504 Student Accommodation Plan for K.W. is amended to include the following additional terms:

1. K.W. will participate in an Anger Management Group program provided by the school system.
2. K.W. will be assigned to and will cooperate with a teacher mentor who will assist him in avoiding misconduct and in academic performance.
3. K.W. will participate in the Lion's Pride proactive behavioral group, a school-wide program, which rewards good conduct.
4. K.W. will continue to participate in the school system's Extended Day Program to improve his academic performance.

IV. The school system will permit K.W. to make up all academic work lost during the period of his suspension.

V. Petitioners will schedule an appointment for K.W. to be examined by a neurologist who will prepare a report relative to his or her findings, diagnoses, etc. Petitioners will provide a copy of that report to school system officials. If necessary to comply with this term, petitioners will execute a waiver and release of confidentiality of information and such a report. If the neurologist recommends and/or prescribes medication for K.W., petitioners will notify the school system officials of that recommendation and/or prescription.

VI. The suspension for the January 28, 2005 fight is amended to provide that K.W. will serve a five-day suspension and he will receive credit for two days already served.

VII. If K.W. engages in additional serious misconduct, including fighting or any misconduct involving violence, petitioners agree that he will be referred to the school system's CST and that he will submit to evaluations to determine whether he should be classified for Special Education and related services.

Findings Relative to the Settlement

1. The parties understood the settlement agreement and voluntarily entered into it.

2. The settlement agreement fully disposes of all issues in controversy and is consistent with the law.

The case involved substantial issues of fact. The settlement agreement avoids the time and expense of full hearing and further litigation. The terms of the settlement agreement are reasonable and in the public interest.

CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

The settlement agreement meets the requirements of N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1 and N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3 and should be approved.

In any future action related to Special Education and possible suspension or expulsion, the parties retain their usual rights and duties under applicable laws. See N.J. Const., Art. VIII, § 4, ¶ 1; N.J.S.A. 18A:37-1 to -5; 20 U.S.C.A. § 1400 et seq.; N.J.A.C. 6A:14-1.1 et seq.; Tibbs v. Franklin Bd. of Educ., 59 N.J. 506 (1971); Chess v. Super. 337 (Ch. Div. 1970).

ORDER

The parties agree that there are no further issues to be decided; therefore, I ORDER that the parties comply with the settlement agreement and that these proceedings be concluded.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

IN THE MATTER OF CAROL ANN KOUPIARIS, : BOUND BROOK BOROUGH BOARD OF :
EDUCATION, SOMERSET COUNTY. :

COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION

DECISION

SYNOPSIS

The School Ethics Commission determined that Bound Brook Borough Board of Education member Carol Ann Koupiaris violated the School Ethics Act, N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(c), when she voted on the reappointment of a principal who supervised and evaluated her husband, a member of the teaching staff. After considering the nature of the charge, the Commission recommended that the Commissioner of Education impose a penalty of reprimand.

Upon a thorough review of the record, the Commissioner, whose decision was restricted solely to a review of the Commission's recommended penalty pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:12-29(c) and N.J.A.C. 6A:3-9.1, concurred with the Commission's recommendation. The Commissioner thus ordered that Carol Ann Koupiaris be reprimanded as a school official found to have violated the School Ethics Act.

AGENCY DKT NO. 36-2/05

IN THE MATTER OF CAROL ANN KOUPIARIS, BOUND BROOK BOROUGH BOARD OF EDUCATION, SOMERSET COUNTY.

DECISION

The record of this matter and the decision of the School Ethics Commission ("Commission"), finding that Bound Brook Borough Board of Education member Carol Ann Koupiaris violated the School Ethics Act, N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(c), when she voted on the reappointment of a principal who supervised and evaluated her husband, a member of the teaching staff, and recommending a penalty of reprimand, have been reviewed. Upon issuance of the decision of the Commission, Ms. Koupiaris was provided 13 days from the mailing date of the decision to file written comments on the recommended penalty for the Commissioner's consideration. No comments were filed by or on behalf of Ms. Koupiaris.

Initially, it must be emphasized that, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:12-29(c) and N.J.A.C. 6A:3-9.1, the determination of the Commission as to violation of the School Ethics Act is not reviewable by the Commissioner herein. Only the Commission may determine whether a violation of the School Ethics Act occurred. The Commissioner's jurisdiction is limited to reviewing the sanction to be imposed based upon a finding of a violation by the Commission. Therefore, this decision is restricted solely to a review of the Commission's recommended penalty.

Upon a thorough review of the record, the Commissioner determines to accept the Commission's recommendation that reprimand is the appropriate penalty in this matter for the reasons expressed in the Commission's decision. In so ruling, the Commissioner is satisfied that in recommending a penalty for the violation it found, the Commission fully considered the nature of the offense and weighed the effects of aggravating and mitigating circumstances. Therefore, the Commission's recommended penalty in this matter will not be disturbed.

Accordingly, IT IS hereby ORDERED that Carol Ann Koupiaris be reprimanded as a school official found to have violated the School Ethics Act.

IT IS SO ORDERED.*

PETITIONER,

BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE TOWNSHIP OF NUTLEY, ESSEX COUNTY,

RESPONDENT.

COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION

DECISION

SYNOPSIS

Petitioner filed a Pro Se Residency Appeal Form, challenging the Board's decision to disenroll his son, J.B., from the Nutley School District subsequent to its determination that J.B. is not domiciled within the Township of Nutley. The residency determination was based upon information provided by the District's investigator that J.B. has not resided in Nutley during the current school year, and upon the admission of the petitioner that his son lived with him in New York City.

Petitioner based his residency appeal upon his claim that a change of schools would be detrimental to J.B.'s health, as he suffers from Crohn's disease and needs to be near his doctor in New Jersey. Respondent Board asserted that J.B. was not entitled to a free public education in the Nutley School District in that petitioner had not met the burden of proof of legal residency or domicile in the Township of Nutley, pursuant to N.J.S. A. 18A:38-1, and counterclaimed for tuition in the amount of $54.46 per day for the period of J.B.'s ineligible attendance during the 2004-05 school year.

The Commissioner found that there are no material facts in dispute in this matter, in that petitioner acknowledged that he and his son are residents of New York City, and that N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1, the statute delineating those persons who are entitled to attend school within a district, contains no provision granting entitlement to attend school in a New Jersey school district to a student who is domiciled in another state. Accordingly, the Commissioner found that the petitioner failed to carry his burden of proof that J.B. is entitled to a free education in the Nutley School District, and dismissed the petition with prejudice. The Commissioner granted the Board's counterclaim for tuition in the amount of $5,936.14 for the 109 days of J.B.'s ineligible attendance from the beginning of the 2004-05 school year through March 3, 2005, plus $54.46 per day for any additional days of J.B.'s ineligible attendance between March 3, 2005 and the date of his removal pursuant to this decision.

S.B., on behalf of minor child, J.B.,	:
PETITIONER,	:
V.	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE TOWNSHIP OF NUTLEY, ESSEX COUNTY,	:	DECISION
RESPONDENT.	:

For Petitioner, S.B., Pro Se

For Respondent, Mark A. Wencel, Esq. (Gaccione, Pomaco & Malanga)

This matter was initiated by a December 28, 2004 letter from petitioner wherein he indicated that he wished to appeal the decision of the Nutley Board of Education (Board) to disenroll his son, J.B., subsequent to his move to New York City to live with petitioner. (Petitioner's Letter of December 28, 2004 at 1) Petitioner stated that J.B. had moved to New York City to live with him in December 2002 as a result of J.B.'s mother deciding "she did not want him" and that his appeal was based on the fact that J.B. has Crohn's disease, which necessitates his being near his doctor for treatment in case of a problem. (Ibid.) In support thereof, petitioner attached an undated letter from Francis Sunaryo, M.D., Director of Pediatric Gastroenterology, stating, in pertinent part:

> [J.B.] is a 14 year old male with Crohn's disease. His primary care physician and the GI specialist both are in New Jersey. His mother lives in New Jersey. Because of his disease [J.B.] requires frequent doctor visits. I recommend he attend school in the New Jersey area.

In response, the Director of the Bureau of Controversies and Disputes, by letter dated December 28, 2004, advised petitioner that "[a]lthough the communications attached to your letter suggest that you wish to file a 'residency' appeal, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1, you have not included a signed attestation as to the truth of your allegations and your understanding of responsibility for payment of tuition should your appeal not be successful." (Letter of December 28, 2004 from the Director, Bureau of Controversies and Disputes at 1) A copy of the Pro Se Residency Appeal Form was enclosed to facilitate petitioner's filing of the required information for the matter to proceed as a residency appeal. (Ibid.) Additionally, petitioner was provided detailed information and a copy of the applicable regulations, N.J.A.C. 6A:3 et seq., with respect to the filing of a Petition of Appeal through the contested case process in the event he was not claiming that his son was entitled by law to a free education in the Nutley School District, but, instead, was seeking to appeal the Board's discretionary determination not to permit his son to remain in the district as a nonresident student. (Id. at 1-2)

On January 21, 2005, petitioner filed a completed Pro Se Residency Appeal Form, stating that "[m]y son has Crohn's disease and is sick life threatity (sic) his doctor insists he stays in NJ." In its Answer, filed on January 28, 2005, the Board asserted that petitioner's son was not entitled to the education provided by the Nutley School District in that petitioner had not met the burden of proof of legal residency or domicile in the Township of Nutley, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1. (Answer at 2) Additionally, the Board counterclaimed for tuition in the amount of $54.46 per day for the days of J.B.'s ineligible attendance in the 2004-05 school year. (Id. at 3)

By letter from the Director of the Bureau of Controversies and Disputes, sent January 31, 2005 via certified[1] and regular mail, petitioner was advised that:

> Upon review of the Petition of Appeal and Answer in the above-titled residency appeal, it is noted that you do not dispute that your son lives with you in New York City. Notwithstanding your claim that a change of schools will be detrimental to your son's health in that he suffers from Crohn's disease, therefore, since you concede that you and your son, J.B., do not reside within the Nutley School District so as to entitle J.B. to a free public education with that District, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1 et seq., there appears to be no basis upon which the Commissioner can grant the relief sought and no grounds on which the Commissioner may direct further proceedings.
>
> Entitlement to a free public education is strictly established by State statute, N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1, which delineates those persons who are entitled to attend school within a district. These laws are based on domicile and residency. Such entitlement is basically limited to persons who are domiciled in the district (for minor children, this is linked to the domicile of the parent or guardian) or who are living with a district resident other than a parent or guardian for reasons not related to school attendance and who additionally meet the specific criteria listed in section (b) of the law. In other cases, the decision to admit non-resident students, and whether or not to charge tuition for such attendance, is generally left to the discretion of the local board of education.
> Accordingly, given your acknowledgement that you and your son do not reside within the Nutley School District, you are hereby requested to submit a letter brief or memorandum of law, within ten (10) days of receipt of this letter, setting forth your reasons as to why the Commissioner should not exercise his discretionary authority under N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.10 and N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.12 to dismiss the within petition and to grant the Board's counterclaim for tuition in the amount of $54.46 per day for the period of J.B.'s ineligible attendance in the Nutley School District since the beginning of the 2004-05 school year. The Board may submit its response within ten (10) days of receipt of petitioner's submission; whereupon it will be determined what further proceedings, if any, will occur in this matter. ((Letter of January 31, 2005 from Director, Bureau of Controversies and Disputes at 1-2)

[1] The "green card, marked "unclaimed," was returned on February 18, 2005. The letter sent via regular mail was not returned and was, thus, presumed received.

Because petitioner failed to respond to the January 31 letter, by letter of February 14, 2005, sent via certified[2] and regular mail, petitioner was provided a final opportunity to set forth his arguments as to why the within residency petition should not be dismissed and the Board's counterclaim for tuition be granted. (Letter of February 14, 2005 from the Director, Bureau of Controversies and Disputes at 1) Petitioner responded by letter, filed on March 1, 2005, reiterating his assertion that his son needs to be near his doctor in New Jersey for treatment of Crohn's disease, noting that J.B. had been abandoned by his mother and claiming that moving his son to another school would affect him mentally and physically, particularly since the school term is three-fourths over. (Petitioner's Response at 1-2) Petitioner did not address the Board's counterclaim for tuition, except to indicate that "[m]y finances do not permit any tuition for his education on a private basis." (Id. at 2)

In its reply, filed on March 7, 2005, the Board submitted a motion for summary decision and dismissal of the petition, claiming that, "[a]s Petitioner acknowledges residing in New York City with his son, the Commissioner has no authority under N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1 to compel the district to permit J.B. to remain in the ninth grade of the Nutley High School for the balance of the school year," and urging the Commissioner "to grant the Board's counterclaim for tuition in the amount of $54.46 per day for the period of J.B.'s ineligible attendance in the Nutley School District, i.e., $5,936.14 through March 3, 2005 (108 days x $54.46)," pursuant to the attached certification of James S. Vivinetto, Ed.D., Assistant Superintendent of the Nutley Public Schools. (Letter Brief in Support of Motion at 1-2 and Certification of James S. Vivinetto, Ed.D.)

Upon a thorough review of the parties' submissions, the Commissioner has determined, pursuant to his discretionary authority under N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.2 and

[2] The signed "green card' indicates that this second notice was received on February 22, 2005.

N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.10, to grant summary decision to the Board and to dismiss the within petition. Pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(b) and Contini v. Bd. of Educ. of Newark, 286 N.J. Super. 106, 121-122 (App. Div. 1995) (citing Brill v. Guardian Life Ins. Co., 142 N.J. 520 (1995)), summary decision may be granted in an administrative proceeding if there is no genuine issue of material fact in dispute and the moving party is entitled to prevail as a matter of law. In that petitioner freely acknowledges that he and his son have been residents of New York City since November 2002, and in that entitlement to a free public education is strictly established by State statute, N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1, which delineates those persons who are entitled to attend school within a district, the Commissioner finds that there are no material facts in dispute in this matter and that the Board is entitled to prevail as a matter of law.

In so determining, the Commissioner emphasizes that entitlement to attend school within a specified school district in New Jersey is basically limited to persons who are domiciled in the district (for minor children, this is linked to the domicile of the parent or guardian) or who are living with a district resident other than a parent or guardian for reasons not related to school attendance and who additionally meet the specific criteria listed in section (b) of the law. There is no provision in the statute granting entitlement to attend school in a New Jersey school district to a student who is domiciled in another state under any circumstances. Notwithstanding petitioner's concerns for his son's health, therefore, since petitioner concedes that he and his son live in New York City, there is no basis upon which the Commissioner may conclude that J.B. is entitled to a free public education with the Nutley School District, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1 et seq.

Accordingly, the Commissioner finds that petitioner has failed to carry his burden of proof that J.B. is entitled to a free education in the Nutley School District and, thus, dismisses the petition in this matter, with prejudice. The Board's counterclaim for tuition in the amount of $5,936.14 for the 109 days of J.B.'s ineligible attendance in school in the Nutley Township School District from the beginning of the 2004-05 school year through March 3, 2005, plus $54.46 per day for any additional days of J.B.'s ineligible attendance between March 3, 2005 and the date of his removal pursuant to this decision, is granted.

This Stipulation of Settlement is made by and between the South Plainfield Board of Education ("Board"), with administrative offices located at 125 Jackson Avenue, South Plainfield, New Jersey 07080 and Yolanda VanFleet, 22 Andover Avenue, South Plainfield, New Jersey and Willie Russell, Sr., ~~233 Joan Street, South Plainfield~~, New Jersey ~~07080~~. In consideration of the mutual promises and undertakings contained in this Agreement, and for good and valuable consideration, the receipt of which is hereby acknowledged, the undersigned state:

16 Carlton Club Dr. Piscataway (Lyllie) 08854

WHEREAS, the Board has filed a Petition of Appeal with the Commissioner of Education against Ms. VanFleet and Mr. Russell, jointly and severally, seeking $56,717.08 in back-tuition, plus interest, costs and counsel fees for the alleged ineligible attendance of Ms. VanFleet's children, B.V. and J.V., in the South Plainfield School District; and

WHEREAS, Mr. Russell, the father of Ms. VanFleet, also was named as a respondent in this action for allowing his address to be used for the purpose of enrolling Ms. VanFleet's children in the District; and

WHEREAS, a hearing in this matter has been scheduled for January 18 & 20, 2005; and

WHEREAS, the parties desire amicably to resolve the matter without the necessity of further litigation;

NOW, THEREFORE, in consideration of the mutual promises and covenants contained herein, the parties agree as follows:

1. Ms. VanFleet and/or Mr. Russell will pay the Board back-tuition in the amount of $20,948.08 which represents tuition for B.V. and J.V. during the 2002-03 school year ($18,294.00) plus 52 days of attendance for ~~J.V.~~ B.V. during the 2003-04 school year at $51.04 per day ($2654.08).

2. This $20,948.08 tuition amount will be paid in consecutive installments of $349.13 per month, for sixty (60) months, with the first payment to be made on February 15, 2005. Each installment thereafter will be due no later than the 15th day of the month until the entire tuition amount is paid in full.

3. Ms. VanFleet and Mr. Russell understand that if they fail to remit the agreed-upon tuition payments in a consistently timely fashion (i.e., not later than five (5) business days after the fifteenth of each month), the aforesaid payment schedule will become null and void and the entire balance will immediately become due and owing. If the entire balance is not paid, the Board will take whatever legal action is necessary to enforce this Agreement and collect the entire tuition amount set forth herein.

4. Ms. VanFleet and Mr. Russell agree to pay the Board's attorney's fees and costs, in addition to all collection fees, in the event that the Board must take action to collect the tuition if they stop making the agreed-upon payments.

5. Ms. VanFleet and Mr. Russell, in consideration of this Agreement, hereby release the Board, individually and collectively, and its agents, servants and employees from any and all claims, causes of action, suits, actions at law and in equity, administrative proceedings, and judicial and quasi-judicial proceedings of any kind whatsoever, which have been brought, or could be brought, arising under or relating in any way to B.V. and J.V.'s attendance and subsequent removal/withdrawal from the District, now and forever.

6. Ms. Van Fleet and Mr. Russell acknowledge that they have been apprised of their right to review this agreement with independent legal counsel and that they enter into it without duress, and of their own free will and volition. They further acknowledge that they fully understand the terms of this Agreement and the duties and obligations enumerated herein.

7. The Board, in consideration of this Agreement and in full, final and complete settlement of this matter hereby withdraws, without prejudice, the above-docketed Petition of Appeal.

8. Nothing contained in this agreement should be construed as an admission of wrongdoing by either party and neither party shall be considered a prevailing party for any reason.

9. This Agreement contains the entire Agreement between the parties, and no other representations, whether verbal or in writing shall be binding upon them.

10. All terms of this Agreement are deemed material. This document may not be altered, amended, modified or revoked except by an instrument executed in writing by the parties.

11. This Agreement is to be construed in accordance with the laws of the State of New Jersey.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the parties, or their duly authorized representatives, do set forth their hands and seal as of the date first above written.

IN THE MATTER OF EILEEN QUINN,	:
BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE TOWNSHIP	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
OF WINFIELD, UNION COUNTY.	:	DECISION

SYNOPSIS

The School Ethics Commission determined that Township of Winfield Board of Education member Eileen Quinn violated the School Ethics Act, N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e), when she printed and distributed a flier during her reelection campaign which contained incomplete fiscal information regarding the board's budget, thus compromising the board's ability to pass its budget. After considering the nature of the charge, the Commission recommended that the Commissioner of Education impose a penalty of censure because the public should be aware that Ms. Quinn provided incomplete information regarding the potential tax increase of the board's proposed budget.

Upon review of the record, the Commissioner, whose decision was restricted solely to a review of the Commission's recommended penalty pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:12-29 (c) and N.J.A.C. 6A:3-9.1, concurred with the Commission's recommendation. The Commissioner thus ordered that Eileen Quinn be censured as a school official found to have violated the School Ethics Act.

IN THE MATTER OF EILEEN QUINN,	:
BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE TOWNSHIP	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION

The record of this matter and the decision of the School Ethics Commission ("Commission"), including the recommended penalty of censure, have been reviewed.

This matter comes before the Commissioner to impose a sanction upon Respondent Eileen Quinn, member of the Winfield Board of Education, based upon findings of fact and conclusions of law by the Commission that she violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e) of the School Ethics Act when she printed and distributed a flier during her reelection campaign which contained incomplete fiscal information regarding the board's budget, thus compromising the board's ability to pass its budget.

Upon issuance of the decision of the Commission, respondent was provided 13 days from the mailing of such decision to file written comments on the recommended penalty for the Commissioner's consideration. No comments were filed.

Initially, it must be emphasized that pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:12-29(c) and N.J.A.C. 6A:3-9.1, the determination of the Commission as to violation of the School Ethics Act is not reviewable by the Commissioner herein. Only the Commission may determine whether a violation of the School Ethics Act occurred. The Commissioner's jurisdiction is limited to reviewing the sanction to be imposed following a finding of a violation by the Commission.

Therefore, this decision is restricted solely to a review of the Commission's recommended penalty.

Upon a thorough review of the record, the Commissioner determines to accept the Commission's recommendation that censure is the appropriate penalty in this matter for the reasons expressed in the Commission's decision. In so ruling, the Commissioner notes that, in recommending the penalty of censure, the Commission had the opportunity to fully investigate the facts presented and, thus, was in the optimum position to determine whether respondent violated the School Ethics Act, and to weigh the effects of aggravating and mitigating circumstances. Therefore, the Commission's recommended penalty in this matter will not be disturbed.

Accordingly, IT IS hereby ORDERED that Eileen Quinn be censured as a school official found to have violated the School Ethics Act.

IT IS SO ORDERED.*

BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE BOROUGH OF LINCOLN PARK, MORRIS COUNTY,	:
PETITIONER,	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
V.	:	DECISION
BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE TOWN OF BOONTON, MORRIS COUNTY,	:
RESPONDENT.	:

SYNOPSIS

The Board of Education of the Borough of Lincoln Park filed a petition challenging the Board of Education of the Town of Boonton's classification of work performed at the respondent's high school parking lot as a "repair" rather than a "capital expenditure," and subsequent attempt to include a pro rata share of this expenditure in the tuition costs charged to Lincoln Park under the parties' Sending-Receiving Agreement.

Based on review and consideration of the evidence and testimony submitted in this matter, the ALJ found that the facts support the position of the petitioning Board that the parking lot work constituted a capital improvement. Moreover, the ALJ found that the Sending-Receiving Agreement between the parties reflects clear intent that Lincoln Park not be required to bear financial responsibility for "major capital undertakings" at Boonton High School. Accordingly, the ALJ found that the respondent's effort to include a pro rata portion of the related expenditure in Lincoln Park's tuition rate is improper.

The Commissioner concurs with the ALJ in finding that the scope of work undertaken by Boonton constitutes a capital improvement, and expands upon the ALJ's opinion by citing the rubric for "extensive improvement" found within the Department of Education's school facilities systems maintenance chart. The Commissioner emphasizes that the negotiated tuition agreement between the parties specifically protects Lincoln Park against payment for capital improvements to structures owned exclusively by Boonton without express written consent, and that this specific contractual provision controls over the standard "boilerplate" language included in the contract. Moreover, the underlying statute and the rules for the setting of sending-receiving tuition rates clearly provide for tuition to be charged not in excess of the calculated "actual cost per student". Accordingly, the Commissioner concurs that the disputed expenditure was improperly included in the tuition rate charged to Lincoln Park, and the ALJ's Initial Decision is adopted as the final decision in this matter.

BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE BOROUGH OF LINCOLN PARK, MORRIS COUNTY,	:
PETITIONER,	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
V.	:	DECISION
BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE TOWN OF BOONTON, MORRIS COUNTY,	:
RESPONDENT.	:

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed. Pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4, the respondent Board of Education (Boonton) filed exceptions to the OAL decision, to which the petitioning Board of Education (Lincoln Park) duly replied.

In its exceptions, Boonton substantially reiterates arguments made in its post-hearing submissions and contends that the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) misunderstood the central issue in this matter. In Boonton's view, the ALJ focused on inapplicable law in a misguided attempt to differentiate "capital expenditure" from "current expense," a distinction which has no meaning in the current context, where the real issue is the effect of the parties' contract on a properly budgeted and allocated facility maintenance expenditure. Boonton opines that the ALJ should have found in its favor because: 1) the disputed expenditure was correctly budgeted and allocated under school law; 2) the work it represents falls squarely within the "required maintenance" category of the Department of Education's school facilities systems maintenance chart (P-9); and 3) the parties' contract expressly states that where regulations differ from contractual provisions, the regulations will control. (Boonton's Exceptions at 1-10)

In reply, Lincoln Park urges adoption of the Initial Decision, contending that the ALJ did, indeed, understand the central issue, which was whether the expense in question constituted required maintenance or a capital expenditure, and that, having correctly concluded it was the latter, he properly applied the contractual provision exempting it from the tuition calculation. Lincoln Park proffers that the ALJ did not ignore the Department's chart of categories, but rather recognized its lack of precision and made an (accurate) assessment of whether the work in question more appropriately belonged in the "maintenance" or the "capital" category. The district also counters that Boonton's argument to the effect that contractual exclusion of an expense from the calculation of tuition is automatically void if regulation permits its inclusion, ignores the reality that parties to a contract are free to agree to whatever terms they wish so long as such terms do not violate the law. In this instance, according to Lincoln Park, because its students constitute approximately 50% of Boonton's high school enrollment, it sought and secured protection, in § (H) of the negotiated tuition agreement, against payment for capital improvements to structures owned exclusively by Boonton. Thus, Lincoln Park concludes, the ALJ correctly found that this specific contractual provision controls over the general "boilerplate" language of § (P), which is intended to do nothing more than preclude violations of law within the terms of the contract. (Lincoln Park's Reply Exceptions at 1-8)

Upon consideration, the Commissioner finds that, regardless of how this matter is characterized, Boonton cannot prevail in its defense to Lincoln Park's claim, either by arguing that the expenditure at issue was a properly allocated capital expenditure for required maintenance[1] or by contending that exclusion of the expenditure from tuition charged to Lincoln Park constitutes a "discrepancy" with rule such that § (P) of the contract mandates its payment.

With respect to the "required maintenance" argument, review of Department of Education's school facilities systems maintenance chart (P-9), upon which Boonton places heavy reliance, reveals that the line of demarcation between the "required maintenance" and "capital" categories for Item 36, Site Improvements, is fluid, with the difference in regard to parking lots being more of degree than kind: While "required maintenance" includes "repair or replacement of uneven or cracked parking areas," "new parking areas or extensive improvements to same" (emphasis supplied) is included within "capital," in addition to the provision emphasized by Boonton, that of "replacement of an entire driveway and [associated parking areas] due to end of useful life." In this instance, the Commissioner finds that the scope of the work undertaken by Boonton falls well within the rubric of "extensive improvement" as opposed to "area repair/replacement," so that it is accurate even under the standard advocated by Boonton to characterize it as a "capital" project for purposes of § (H) of the parties' contract.

Moreover, even if Boonton is correct that the disputed expenditure was properly budgeted and allocated under applicable school law,[2] that fact does not mandate

[1] See Note 2 below.

[2] In its exceptions, Boonton states that it has never disputed that the amount at issue was a "capital expenditure" in these terms. (Boonton's Exceptions at 3, inter alia) its inclusion in the tuition rate negotiated between the parties. The underlying statute and the rules for the setting of sending-receiving tuition rates, both at the time of the contract and currently, clearly provide for tuition to be charged not in excess of the calculated "actual cost per student" (N.J.S.A. 18A:38-19; N.J.A.C. 6:20-3.1, now 6A:23-3.1), so that the exclusion provided by § (H) of the contract presents no "discrepancy" with the law, let alone any violation, that would cause it to be superseded by § (P).

Accordingly, the Commissioner concurs that the disputed expenditure was improperly included in the tuition rate charged by Boonton to Lincoln Park. The Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law, as clarified above, is adopted as the final decision in this matter.

IT IS SO ORDERED.[3]

BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE BOROUGH OF LINCOLN PARK,

Petitioner,

v.

BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE TOWN OF BOONTON,

Respondent.

Dennis A. Collins, Esq., for respondent

Record Closed: December 17, 2004 Decided: January 24, 2005

BEFORE STEPHEN G. WEISS, ALJ:

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

This matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) by the Department of Education, Bureau of Controversies and Disputes, as a contested case on March 18, 2003. The transmittal was accompanied by a request that an application for emergent relief be addressed. The matter initially was assigned to Administrative Law Judge Leslie Z. Celentano.

The underlying issue is whether work performed at the respondent's high school parking lot constituted a "capital expenditure" and therefore not to be included in tuition costs under the parties Sending-Receiving Agreement; or whether, to the contrary it constituted a "repair" and therefore the Lincoln Park Board's pro rata share should be included in the cost of tuition.

Following oral argument by telephone on March 19, 2003, Judge Celentano found that no adequate basis for emergency relief had been demonstrated by petitioner. Thereafter, the matter was reassigned to the undersigned Administrative Law Judge since, at the time, I was hearing an application to sever the Sending-Receiving relationship between the two school districts.

After following several adjournments were granted due to a variety of reasons, a plenary hearing was conducted on November 15, 2004. Proposed findings of fact and conclusions of law were then submitted and the record closed on December 17, 2004.

TESTIMONY

Only one witness testified in the matter, Steven Gallo, a certified public accountant and a member of the accounting firm engaged by Lincoln Park in 2002 to review the financial aspects of its Sending-Receiving arrangement with Boonton. Although Gallo is also a public school accountant, his firm was not hired to conduct an annual audit. Rather, he was asked specifically to make sure that the tuition rate being charged to his client by the Boonton Board had been calculated properly. Gallo was qualified as an expert witness and reviewed some of the history of the tuition arrangement.

With regard to the current Sending-Receiving Agreement, dated April 14, 1999 (Exh. P-1), he noted that § (H)(3) specifically referred to "capital expenditures" and provided that those expenditures were not to be attributable to Lincoln Park in terms of a tuition calculation unless Lincoln Park expressly consented to do so in writing. The provision specifically listed several potential activities which would fall into the category of capital expenditures, but carefully noted that those examples only included, but were not limited to, the specific items mentioned. In Gallo's opinion, whether an expenditure can be considered to be "capital" rather than a "maintenance" or "repair" item depends primarily upon: (1) the cost or value attached to it; and (2), equally important, the "useful life" of the item.

On December 6, 2002, Gallo's firm issued a report to the members of the Lincoln Park Board relating the results of the procedures his firm had followed with respect to the calculation of tuition charged by Boonton (Exh. P-5). According to Gallo, that document was intended to be an original "draft" to be shared with both districts in advance of issuance of a final report. That final report (Exh. P-7), dated February 19, 2003, reflected Gallo's opinion that the cost of repair of the parking lot at Boonton High School should be allocated as a capital expenditure, not as a repair, and therefore could not be charged against Lincoln Park's tuition obligation without written consent. This conclusion coincided with a comment made on January 28, 2003 at a Lincoln Park Finance Committee meeting attended by Gallo and four Lincoln Park Board members at which one of those members raised a question concerning allocation of those paving costs. He took the position it was a capital improvement for which written approval had to be given. The minutes of the meeting further reflect that Gallo then responded that he would recheck the item and revise his report accordingly, which he did (Exh. P-6). He explained at the hearing that upon a "second look" this position was taken because of the substantial amount involved ($86,000); as well as the fact that a five year guarantee had been given by the paving contractor, thereby providing an identifiable, significant "useful life". He also commented that "useful life" was a criterion that the Internal Revenue Service looked at in terms of whether or not an expenditure was "capital" or "maintenance". Gallo also noted, in particular, that in his mind the guarantee was probably "the most significant factor" with regard to his ultimate conclusion. The reason the cost had been treated as part of the tuition calculation earlier was due to Gallo's belief that Lincoln Park had agreed to include the expenditure. Apparently, that did not take place. Thus, even though the item was not considered a capital expenditure in the draft report in December (Ex. P-5), having learned that Lincoln Park, in fact, had never consented, the change was made. However, the witness said it was always his opinion that the item constituted a capital expenditure.

Gallo also referred to an "instruction sheet" published by the Department of Education related to capital assets in which it was noted that as of July 1, 2001, a "capitalization threshold" used by school districts in the State should be increased to $2000 (Exh. P-8). Thus, according to Gallo, it was arguable that literally no expenditure in excess of that amount should be treated as anything other than capital. Although he did not, and would not, rely exclusively on that "bright line" figure, he felt it was to be considered.

On cross-examination, Gallo recalled that the Boonton Superintendent of Schools was the person who earlier had informed him that Lincoln Park had consented to inclusion of the expenditure. He, himself, entertained no doubt that based upon his own experience and the applicable regulations, the repaving project was a capital project. Again, given the cost and the useful life elements, he was sure it was not simply a maintenance or repair item.

DISCUSSION

No witnesses were presented by the respondent Boonton Board. It takes the position that given Gallo's own testimony, together with a consideration of the undisputed facts, the parking lot repair was not and could not be considered a capital expenditure requiring written consent from Lincoln Park. First, it points out school accounting regulations require that any repair cost which exceed $2000 should be placed in a segregated "Fund 12" and be designated a "Capital Expenditure". The fact that it was not in this case reveals how the parties treated the cost (Exh. P-3).

Boonton also stresses that in Gallo's "draft" report, dated December 6, 2002 (Exh. P-5), he and his firm specifically noted that all of the items, including the parking lot repair, were "found to be properly allocated or to be allowable per the agreement". The final report (Exh. P-7) represents, in Boonton's opinion, a "180° shift" in Gallo's opinion and is based on the same information available to him prior to his December report. The change from the "draft" to the "final" was simply due, according to the Boonton Board to Gallo's effort to accommodate a result which the client preferred to have.

With regard to the fact that § H of the Sending-Receiving Agreement leaves open the possibility of expenditures other than those specifically listed to be considered "capital", Boonton agrees. However, it argues that the regulation in effect both at the time of the Agreement and now (N.J.A.C. 6:23-3.1(e)(2)(5), formerly N.J.A.C. 6:20-3.1) specifically set forth that facilities acquisition and construction services are to be included in the budget approved by the County Superintendent and certified for taxes. Thus, no consent by Lincoln Park was needed, nor would it have been appropriate. Since the regulation "trumps" the Agreement, as specifically provided in § (P) the case can be disposed of as a matter of law.

Lincoln Park, in response, maintains that in fact the language of the regulation in effect at the time the Agreement was entered (.J.A.C. 6:20-3.1(d)7)left room to permissively charge for special building use under certain circumstances. However, Lincoln Park, it says, "negotiated out of the permissive charging for those special building uses and any capital expenditures". Thus, the specific intent of the parties was to allow Lincoln Park to do precisely what it has done in this case. Here, the parties negotiated at arm's length and their contract included a procedure for determining how tuition was to be calculated. Further, it reflects a clear intent that Lincoln park not be required to bear financial responsibility for "major capital undertakings" at Boonton High School. Although at first blush it might appear that § (P) must control, and the language of the Sending-Receiving Agreement superceded, Lincoln Park argues that § (P) is simply common "boiler plate" and should not nullify the clear language and intent of the parties. Lincoln Park points out, for example, that had the parties wished to do so they could specifically have provided that in determining tuition anything in the contract could be superseded by statute or regulation. This was not done. Thus, according to Lincoln Park, the resurfacing of the parking lot at Boonton High School was intended to be, and is, a capital expenditure which under the Sending-Receiving Agreement could not be included in the calculation of tuition costs without Lincoln Park's written consent.

In my view, even though the resurfacing of the parking lot was not an item specifically included in § (H) of the contract; nevertheless, it does fall into the category of a "capital expenditure" for the following reasons, at least: (1) the cost of the work far exceeds that of spot repairs or maintenance and includes a substantial project at the parking lot site; (2) the contractor guaranteed the work for a five-year period which indicates that it was not done as a regular, recurring repair or maintenance item; (3) based upon Generally Accepted Accounting Principles, (GAAP) this type of work normally would be characterized as an improvement to property because it increases the life of the asset and the value of the property; (4) the Sending-Receiving Agreement does not exclude this type of project from the capital expenditure category; and (5) there is nothing in the school accounting statutes or regulations which would specifically include or exclude this project from the capital expenditure category.

The Supreme Court of the United States has commented that distinguishing between current expenses and capital expenditures involves questions which are "of degree and not of kind" and that each case turns on its "special facts". See, INDOPCO, Inc. v. Commissioner, 503 U.S. 79 (1992). The distinction between a repair which is deductible as a current expense, and a capital expenditure, has been noted to be "a fine one". See, Fairmont Homes, Inc. v. Commissioner, 45 T.C.M. (CC) 1340 (1983). Thus, the applicable Federal Income Tax Regulations provide that incidental repairs which neither materially add to the value of the property nor appreciably prolong its life, but keep it in an ordinarily efficient operating condition, may be deducted as an expense. Repairs in the nature of replacements, to the extent that they arrest deterioration and appreciably prolong the life of the property, shall either be capitalized and depreciated or charged against a depreciation reserve if one is kept. See, Tres. Reg. (§ 1.162-4). While the IRS Code and Regulation do not square perfectly with school accounting, they are useful references.

Of course, nearly any properly performed repair normally will add to the value of property and/or appreciably prolong its life. Thus, nearly sixty years ago, a Federal District Court in Connecticut pertinently observed:

> [T]he distinction between the terms . . . 'repair' and 'replacement' is one of degree rather than of kind. We must draw the line without too much help from the definition of the two terms. Most repair would necessarily involve substitution of new parts or ingredients for old. If the substitution is of a major unit or structural part of the nature of a floor, wall or roof, or a large part thereof, so that the building as a whole may be considered to have gained appreciably in expectancy of useful life, it is a substitution so great in degree that we may well place it on the 'replacement' side of the line.
> . . . .
> Where the substitutions, though numerous, are of relatively minor proportions of the physical structure and of any of its major parts, even though high in cost, where the building as a whole may not be considered to have gained appreciably > in expectancy of useful life over its expectancy when built, it falls more naturally on the 'repair' side of the line . . .. (Buckland v. United States, 66 F. Supp. 681,683 (D.C. Conn. 1946).

Finally, in Stark v. Commissioner, 77 T.C.M. (CCH) 1181 (1999), the Tax Court determined that replacement of a roof and addition of a new drain constituted a capital expenditure since the old roof essentially was beyond repair and the replacement would last for twenty years. Although not identical to the instant case I believe that result is analogous to the situation here. In terms of change, the remilling and resurfacing of the entire parking lot clearly created, in effect, a new surface for that sort of facility. The cost was substantial and value clearly was added. When added to that mix is the fact there is a five-year guarantee from the contractor, I believe the determination that this project constituted a capital expense rather than a repair or maintenance is a proper one.

Accordingly, based upon my review and consideration of the evidence and the testimony, I FIND that the position taken by the petitioner, the Lincoln Park Board, is the correct one and that the respondent's effort to include in its tuition rate a pro rata portion for Lincoln Park, is improper.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen (13) days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

FULL AND FINAL SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT AND RELEASE

THIS AGREEMENT is made and entered into as of this 22nd day of March, 2005, among and between Petitioners D.M. and T.M., on behalf of their minor child A.M., ("Petitioners") and Respondent Washington Township Board of Education (the "Board").

WHEREAS, Petitioners commenced an action ("the Action") known as D.M. and T.M., on Behalf of Minor Child A.M. v. Board of Education of the Township of Washington, Mercer County, OAL Docket No.: EDU 10129-03, Agency Docket No.: 469-12/03, currently pending before the Commissioner of Education of the State of New Jersey (the "Commissioner"); and,

WHEREAS, Petitioners alleged in the Action that the Board arbitrarily and capriciously adopted a resolution enforcing a 2% limitation on the number of students per grade level, per year, from the Washington Township School District ("District") permitted to apply to Allentown High School under the auspices of the Interdistrict Public School Choice Program ("Program"), and by not offering siblings of District students already in the Program preference in admissions; and,

WHEREAS, Petitioners sought, inter alia, relief that would permit A.M. to apply to Allentown High School under the Program, notwithstanding that A.M. had not been selected in a lottery conducted by the Board to enforce the 2% limitation; and,

WHEREAS, Petitioners further alleged that although A.M. had not been selected in the lottery, and her parents and legal counsel were present for the lottery drawing, nonetheless A.M. was entitled to apply to the Program because the Board had failed to deliver written notification to Petitioners in accordance with the provisions of N.J.A.C. 6A:12-4.3(c); and,

WHEREAS, this matter was transferred to the Office of Administrative Law by the Commissioner and assigned to Administrative Law Judge Israel Dubin, whereupon both parties filed cross-motions for summary decision; and,

WHEREAS, Judge Dubin issued a summary decision on January 3, 2005, concluding that the Board's actions in (1) adopting a resolution limiting participation in the School Choice program to 2% per grade level, per year, of the District's students enrolled in grades K through 9; and (2) refusing to apply a sibling preference in the selection of students eligible to participate, were neither arbitrary, capricious, unreasonable nor induced by improper motives, and determining that the Board's actions should be fully affirmed and approved by the Commissioner; and,

WHEREAS, Judge Dubin further concluded that Petitioners did have sufficient notice that A.M. was not selected in the lottery, because they were present for the lottery drawing and were given personal notification of the lottery results from the Board's business administrator; and,

WHEREAS, Petitioners timely filed exceptions to Judge Dubin's decision with the Commissioner; and,

WHEREAS, notwithstanding that A.M. was not selected to participate in the Program, A.M. applied to Allentown High School based upon Petitioners' contention that they had not received the requisite written notice pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:12-4.3(c), and was permitted by the administration of the Upper Freehold Regional School District ("Upper Freehold") to attend Allentown High School for the 2004-2005 school year, along with two other District students not selected in the lottery who also received similar personal notification of their non-selection, despite the Board's numerous and vigorous protests to Upper Freehold that the admission of these students was legally improper; and,

WHEREAS, the State Board of Education has recently revised and readopted the regulations governing the Program, eliminating the previous ability of sending districts to limit the number of students attending choice schools, where the choice district offers a specialized educational program, such as Allentown High School's agricultural science program, that is not offered in the sending district, and the Board does not currently offer such an agricultural science program; and,

WHEREAS, these newly adopted regulations would permit A.M. and other similarly situated students to reapply to Allentown High School under the Program for the 2005-2006 school year, subject only to Upper Freehold's ability and willingness to accept such students; and,

WHEREAS, both Petitioners and the Board agree that it is in the best interests of A.M. that A.M. be permitted to remain at Allentown High School, if desired, considering that A.M. has already completed a significant portion of the 2004-2005 school year and would be allowed to re-apply for the 2005-2006 school year, and;

WHEREAS, the Parties hereto have agreed that it is in their mutual interest to resolve all disputes, and the aforementioned pending administrative action upon the terms and conditions more fully set forth hereinafter; and,

WHEREAS, neither Petitioners nor the Board admit any liability by entering into this Settlement Agreement ("Agreement");

NOW, THEREFORE, in consideration of the mutual promises of the Parties to this Agreement, the receipt and sufficiency of which is hereby acknowledged, the Parties jointly agree as follows:

(1) The Parties agree that, upon the approval of the Commissioner, A.M. shall be permitted to attend and remain at Allentown High School for the entirety of A.M.'s high school education, if desired, notwithstanding that A.M. was not selected in the Board's lottery to determine District students eligible to attend Allentown High School under the Program.

(2) The Parties agree that they will jointly seek permission from the Commissioner to approve this agreement as the full and final settlement of the Action, and to execute all documents and take any additional actions necessary to give full force and effect to the terms of this Agreement necessary to accomplish this settlement, provided, however, that the terms and conditions of such documents are acceptable to the Parties.

(3) In consideration for the settlement as set forth in this Agreement, Petitioners hereby release and forever discharge the Board, together with its current and former members, officers, employees and attorneys, from any and all claims existing as of the date of this Agreement first written above on page one, whether known or unknown, which were or could have been raised in connection with the facts alleged in the Action.

(4) The Parties shall bear their own costs and attorney fees incurred in prosecuting or defending the Action.

(5) This Agreement shall be construed under the laws of the State of New Jersey, without regard to its conflict of law or choice of law rules.

(6) The provisions of this Agreement are severable and if any part is found to be unenforceable, the other portion(s) shall remain fully valid and enforceable. This Agreement shall survive the terminations of any arrangements contained herein.

(7) This Agreement contains and constitutes the entire understanding and agreement between the Parties hereto respecting the subject matter hereof and supersedes and cancels all previous negotiations, agreements, commitments and writings in connection herewith. Further, the terms hereof are contractual and not by way of recital. This Agreement cannot be released, discharged, abandoned, supplemented, changed or modified in any manner, orally or otherwise, except by an instrument in writing of concurrent or subsequent date signed by a duly authorized officer or representative of each of the Parties hereto.

(8) Except to the extent necessary to enforce the Agreement, it is further agreed that neither this Agreement nor any part thereof is to be construed or used or admitted into evidence in any proceeding of any character, judicial, administrative or otherwise, now pending or otherwise instituted, except as required by law, to enforce this Agreement or pursuant to the prior written consent of the other Parties. It is understood and agreed by all Parties that this Agreement is a settlement of disputed claims and that neither this writing nor the fact of settlement constitutes an admission of liability or wrongdoing or breach of duty by any Party. This Agreement is purely an offer in compromise and by executing this Agreement, the Board is not admitting acts as alleged by Petitioners.

(9) All Parties to this Agreement represent and agree that they have had the opportunity to discuss all aspects of this Agreement with counsel or other personal advisor of their choice and that they have carefully read and fully understand all of the provisions of this Agreement, and that they are voluntarily entering into this Agreement.

(10) Each Party has participated in the drafting of this Agreement after consulting with counsel. Therefore, no Party shall maintain that the language of this Agreement should be construed against any other Parties by virtue of that Party's putative role as drafter.

(11) This Agreement may be executed in any number of counterparts with the same effect as if the signature and seals thereto and hereto were upon the same document.

(12) This Agreement shall be immediately transmitted upon execution by the Parties to the Commissioner, and shall take effect immediately upon approval of the Commissioner. In the event that this Agreement is not approved by the Commissioner, it shall be null and void.

OAL DKT. NO. EDU 11152-04
AGENCY DKT. NO. 348-9/04

IN THE MATTER OF THE TENURE	:
HEARING OF KATHLEEN DESAI,	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
SCHOOL DISTRICT OF MORRIS,	:	DECISION
MORRIS COUNTY.	:

SYNOPSIS

The Board filed tenure charges against the teaching staff member for incapacity, unbecoming conduct, and other just cause; these charges stemming from an incident in which the Board alleged that the respondent came to school under the influence of alcohol. Subsequent to the transmittal of the matter to the OAL and the scheduling of a hearing as a contested case, settlement discussions between the parties were held and a settlement reached.

The ALJ reviewed the record and the terms of settlement; found that the agreement meets the requirements of N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1; and ordered that the parties comply with the terms of the settlement agreement, and that the proceedings be concluded. The ALJ's initial decision was filed with the Commissioner of Education for consideration.

The Commissioner found that the proposed settlement does not address the standards set forth in the matter entitled In re Cardonick, 1990 S.L.D. 842, 846. Specifically, the parties failed to set forth the nature of the charges and the circumstances justifying the proposed settlement, and there is no indication in the proposed agreement that the teaching staff member was advised of the Commissioner's duty to refer tenure determinations to the State Board of Examiners where the teaching staff member has resigned subsequent to the filing of tenure charges.

Accordingly, the Commissioner rejected the proposed settlement agreement and remanded the matter to the OAL for further expansion of the record and revision of the documents consistent with these concerns.

OAL DKT. NO. EDU 11152-04
AGENCY DKT. NO. 348-9/04

IN THE MATTER OF THE TENURE	:
HEARING OF KATHLEEN DESAI,	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
SCHOOL DISTRICT OF MORRIS,	:	DECISION
MORRIS COUNTY.	:

The record, Settlement Agreement and Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), issued pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1, have been reviewed.

Initially, the Commissioner points out that, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-5.6(a), once tenure charges are certified to him, such charges may be settled only with his approval; any proposed settlement, whether submitted to the Commissioner or to the Administrative Law Judge, must address the standards established by the State Board of Education in the matter entitled In re Cardonick, 1990 S.L.D. 842, 846. Specifically, the proposed settlement must: 1) Be accompanied by documentation as to the nature of the charges; 2) Include an explanation of the circumstances justifying the settlement or withdrawal; 3) Evidence the consent of both the charged and the charging parties; 4) Indicate that the charged party entered into the agreement with a full understanding of his or her rights; 5) Demonstrate that the agreement is in the public interest; and 6) Where the charged party is a teaching staff member, indicate that he or she has been advised of the Commissioner's duty to refer tenure determinations resulting in loss of position to the State Board of Examiners for possible loss of certificate. N.J.A.C. 6A:3-5.6. Because the proposed agreement does not comport with these standards, the Commissioner is compelled to reject it and remand this matter, as specified below.

First, it is noted that the parties fail to set forth the nature of the charges and the circumstances justifying the proposed settlement. It is well-established that, having once taken up the burden of tenure charges, the agency may not lay it down without spreading forth on the record a reasonably specific explanation of why such charges can no longer be pursued or why it is now in the public interest not to pursue them. (In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Kenneth Smith, School District of the City of Orange, Essex County, decided by the Commissioner March 22, 1982, decision on remand June 16, 1983, 1983 S.L.D. 420; affirmed with modification by the State Board of Education November 2, 1983, 1983 S.L.D. 489; affirmed N.J. Superior Court, Appellate Division, January 30, 1986.)

Moreover, there is no indication in the proposed agreement that the within teaching staff member was advised of the Commissioner's duty to refer tenure determinations to the State Board of Examiners for possible revocation of her certificate, where the teaching staff member has resigned subsequent to the filing of tenure charges. N.J.A.C. 6A:9-17.6(a)1[1]

While the Commissioner does not preclude the possibility of settlement in this matter, he stresses that in order for him to meet his own obligation to the schools and children of this State, he must be assured that any settlement is consistent with appropriate standards for setting aside tenure matters as expressed in Cardonick, supra.

Accordingly, the proposed settlement is rejected for the reasons expressed herein. The Commissioner hereby remands this matter to the OAL for further expansion of the record and revision of the documents, consistent with the concerns set forth above. If the parties are unwilling or unable to reach accord on a modified agreement for submission to the Commissioner, the matter shall proceed to a hearing on the merits.

IT IS SO ORDERED.[2]

Record Closed and Decided: February 16, 2005

BEFORE BARRY N. FRANK, ALJ:

This matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) from the Department of Education on October 20, 2004, for hearing as a contested case, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13.

A hearing was scheduled for January 19, 20 & 21, 2005 at the OAL, 33 Washington Street, Newark, New Jersey. Prior to the hearing, settlement discussions were held and a settlement was reached.

The parties have agreed to a settlement and have prepared a Stipulation of Settlement indicating the terms thereof, which is attached and fully incorporated herein as well as the extract minutes by the Board approving said settlement that was held on January 24, 2005.

I have reviewed the record and the terms of settlement and I FIND:

1. The parties have voluntarily agreed to the settlement as evidenced by their signatures or their representatives' signatures.

2. The settlement fully disposes of all issues in controversy and is consistent with the law.

I CONCLUDE that this agreement meets the requirements of N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1 and that the settlement should be approved. I approve the settlement and, therefore, ORDER that the parties comply with the settlement terms and that these proceedings be concluded.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

STIPULATION OF SETTLEMENT

THIS MATTER having been brought before the Commissioner of Education through the filing of tenure charges by the Morris School District Board of Education ("Board") and the parties have agreed to enter into a settlement of the above matter, and the parties intending to fully and finally resolve all issues, matters, claims, potential claims, disputes, and potential disputes between them, except for the enforcement of the terms hereof; and

WHEREAS, the parties in good faith have engaged in negotiations concerning this matter and the parties have amicably settled and resolved the above dispute.

NOW, THEREFORE, in consideration of the mutual promises and undertakings contained in the agreement, and for good and valuable consideration, the receipt and sufficiency of which is hereby acknowledged, the parties hereby agree as follows:

1. Respondent, Kathleen Desai irrevocably and permanently resigns her employment with the Morris School District effective February 14, 2005 and will submit a letter to that effect in the form attached hereto as Exhibit A. Notice of the said resignation shall be deemed given as of December 14, 2004. The Board will act to accept the resignation of Kathleen Desai at the time the Board approves this settlement.

2. The Morris School District shall pay to Kathleen Desai all salary/wages for the period September 7, 2004 through February 14, 2005. Ms. Desai shall not receive any withheld increments. Payment in full shall be made within ten (10) days of approval of this Stipulation of Settlement by the Commissioner of Education.

3. The Morris School District shall continue to provide to Kathleen Desai and pay for all normal and applicable benefits, including but not limited to, health insurance through March 31, 2005. Subsequent to that Kathleen Desai, at her option, may purchase health insurance through the Morris School District pursuant to the provisions of C.O.B.R.A. or other applicable law. In the event of such an election by Kathleen Desai, the Morris School District shall cooperate with her obtaining coverage in all respects.

4. The Morris School District agrees that its response to all inquiries regarding Ms. Desai's employment will be limited to the information required to be provided by law, which includes upon request providing the following information pursuant to Order No. 11 (1974): name, title, position, salary, payroll record, length of government services, amount and type of pension, if any, date of separation and reason for separation. The reason for separation shall be stated as "resignation."

5. The District will not disclose the documents related to this action except as required by law. The District will notify Kathleen Desai of any disclosures made.

6. The Board makes no representations regarding Kathleen Desai's future pension status and this Agreement shall in no way be contingent upon Ms. Desai receiving pension benefits.

7. The parties agree that this Stipulation of Settlement is contingent upon the approval of the Commissioner of Education, and that, upon the approval of the Commissioner of Education, the Tenure Charges presently pending before the Office of Administrative Law and the Commissioner of Education shall be deemed to be dismissed with prejudice.

8. The parties agree that neither party is responsible for the payment of the other party's attorneys' fees in connection with this matter.

9. Through this Settlement Agreement, Kathleen Desai releases and waives any and all claims that she has or may have against the Morris School District accrued to date.

10. This Settlement Agreement contains all of the terms of the parties' agreement and cannot be modified or changed unless all parties agree to do so in writing.

11. Each party acknowledges that she/it has consulted with an attorney or representative of her/its choosing prior to the signing of this Settlement Agreement, and that each party signs this Agreement as her/its own voluntary act and deed, and that each party fully understands the duties and obligations enumerated herein.

12. Nothing in this Settlement Agreement shall be deemed to constitute precedent, past practice or policy as to the rights of any employee, now or in the future, other than Kathleen Desai.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the parties have hereunto set their hands and seals the date and year aforesaid.

SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT

This Settlement Agreement ("Agreement") is made by and between S.A. and C.M. ("Petitioners"), and the School District of the Chathams ("District"). In consideration of the mutual promises and undertakings contained in this Agreement, and for good and valuable consideration, the receipt of which is hereby acknowledged, the undersigned state:

WHEREAS, on or about July 16, 2004, Petitioners filed a Petition of Appeal ("Petition") with the Commissioner of Education against the District captioned, S.A. o/b/o C.M. vs. School District of the Chathams, which Petition was transmitted by the Commissioner to the Office of Administrative Law and docketed as EDUOS 07593-2004N; and

WHEREAS, the parties have worked cooperatively in an effort to reach an amicable resolution of the subject matter of said Petition; and

WHEREAS, the resolution reached by the parties was entered into the record during a hearing conducted by Administrative Law Judge Barry Frank on October 26, 2004; and

WHEREAS, the parties wish to memorialize the terms of their resolution in a formal writing to be signed by both parties;

NOW, THEREFORE, IT IS on this 26th day of October 2004, agreed that:

1. The final grade received by C.M. on the Honors English 11 assignment at issue herein, which was calculated by averaging the zero received on the initial assignment with the grade received on the substitute assignment, shall remain on his record unchanged.

2. The grade of zero received by C.M. for the A.P. U.S. History test which he missed due to cutting the class shall remain on his record unchanged.

3. C.M. shall not be permitted to complete any make up work of any kind to improve his final grades in either Honors English 11 or A.P. U.S. History, and the final grades for those respective courses shall remain on his record unchanged.

4. Except as explicitly set forth herein, no records pertaining to C.M. shall be expunged or modified in any way.

5. C.M. shall be permitted to submit a new application to the National Honor Society Committee of Chatham High School. C.M. shall not be required to check the box under the portion of the application (ART. VI (a)) pertaining to involvement in cheating incidents. Rather, in lieu of checking the box, C.M. shall write the words "See Below". On the lines available for further comment under that section of the application, C.M. shall write, "I failed to follow a teacher's directions not to consult an outside source during the completion of an assignment."

6. Petitioners understand and accept the fact that there are no guarantees that the new application to the National Honor Society Committee of Chatham High School submitted by C.M. will be recommended by the Committee for admission into the National Honor Society. Petitioners agree to be bound by the determination of the National Honor Society Committee of Chatham High School and hereby waive their right to appeal that determination and file any action of any kind against Respondent and its employees in any forum for any reason whatsoever associated with said decision. The National Honor Society Committee is to be comprised of the same members who consider all other applications to the National Honor Society and are to have no input outside the Committee or the application.

7. Petitioners agree that within five days following the Board's formal approval of this Agreement, C.M. shall submit a letter of apology to teaching staff member Howard Glatt.

The letter of apology shall state that C.M. expresses his remorse for "failing to follow Mr. Glatt's directions not to consult an outside source during the completion of an assignment."

8. By signing a separate Release, Petitioners shall release the Board, its trustees, officers, employees, agents, servants, representatives, attorneys, successors and assigns from liability for any action relating in any way to the subject matter of the within matter and shall abandon, waive, and remise all claims they may have against the foregoing, including but not limited to withdrawal with prejudice of the instant Petition of Appeal. Additionally, Petitioners shall immediately withdraw their Notice of Tort Claim dated August 25, 2004, with prejudice.

9. Petitioners acknowledge that they have consulted with an attorney of their own choosing prior to signing this Agreement and the associated Release, and that they sign the said Agreement and Release as their own voluntary act and deed, and that they fully understand the duties and obligations enumerated herein; and

10. The terms and conditions set forth herein constitute the entire understanding of the parties.

11. All terms of this Agreement are deemed material. This document may not be altered, amended, modified or revoked except by an instrument executed in writing by the parties.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the parties have hereunto set their hands and seals as of the date and year aforesaid.

SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT

This Settlement Agreement is entered into by and between the Petitioner Margaret Edwards ("Edwards") and the Respondent Camden City Board of Education ("Board").

WHEREAS, on or about October 15, 2003, Edwards filed a Petition of Appeal captioned Margaret Edwards v. Camden City Board of Education, Docket No. EDU 8593-03, seeking the return of certain sick days pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:30-2.1 in connection with a work injury occurring on September 2, 2003; and,

WHEREAS, the Board filed an Answer to the Petition dated November 5, 2003 denying the allegations; and,

WHEREAS, the parties having conducted a full and complete investigation of all the evidence, and the parties having had an opportunity to explore a means of resolving this dispute in a manner consonant with the public interest; and

WHEREAS, this Agreement is the end product of the investigation conducted and discussions with the parties and is intended to dispose of the issues in controversy based upon the mutual understandings set forth below;

NOW THEREFORE, it is agreed as follows:

1. The Board agrees to restore to Edwards' sick leave bank the number of sick days utilized by her beginning September 2, 2003 through September 17, 2003, September 25, 2003 through September 30, 2003 and October 1, 2003 through October 21, 2003. Salary payments made to her during that time shall be considered as having been made pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:30-2.1;

2. The Petitioner Edwards, in return for the Board's promises set forth in ¶1 above, hereby agrees to dismiss with prejudice the Petition of Appeal, OAL Docket No. EDU 8593-03 and hereby fully and completely releases the Board from any and all claims pertaining to that return of sick leave issue;

3. This Agreement shall be final and binding upon Edwards and the Board on final approval of the Commissioner of Education;

4. Both parties have read the terms of this Agreement and have had the opportunity to discuss it with counsel, and acknowledge that they are executing this Agreement of their own volition, with the full understanding of its terms, and without coercion. By signing this Agreement, each signatory represents that she or he is a party to or has been duly authorized by a party to sign on the party's behalf. The parties agree that this Agreement may be signed in counterparts and that facsimiles of signatures will have the same force and effect as original signatures;

5. The parties hereto agree that they and their officers, agents, and administrators are bound by a covenant of good faith and fair dealing with respect to this Agreement;

6. The parties recognize the right to a trial before the Office of Administrative Law and independent consideration of the case by the Commissioner of Education. The parties are waiving their right to a trial and agree to the settlement as set forth above. Edwards recognizes that the dismissal of the Petition of Appeal through settlement is final and that the case cannot be litigated. The parties have made the decision to resolve this case knowingly and voluntarily in recognition that this proposed settlement is subject to the approval of the Commissioner of Education.

Intending to be legally bound hereby, Edwards and the Board through its authorized representative execute the foregoing Agreement on the date(s) indicated below.

IN THE MATTER OF THE SUSPENSION :

OF THE TEACHING CERTIFICATE OF :

MARY ELIZABETH FARRAN, SCHOOL : COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION

DISTRICT OF THE CHATHAMS, : DECISION

MORRIS COUNTY. :

SYNOPSIS

The Board sought to suspend the instructional certificate of respondent pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10 for not providing adequate notice of her resignation from her position as a teacher at Chatham Middle School.

The Board submitted that there were no material facts in dispute, and that the Board was entitled to summary judgment pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10 and N.J.S.A. 18A:28-8. Respondent claimed she understood from a telephone conversation with the superintendent that the superintendent did not want her to return at the beginning of the school year to fulfill the 60 day notice obligation of her contract because it would be disruptive to her students, and further claimed that she was not told of the district's intent to apply for suspension of her certificate and therefore did not make arrangements to commute for the month of September in order to fulfill her contractual obligations. The superintendent denies that he told her that he did not want her to return to work.

Upon review of the parties' submissions, the Commissioner determined, pursuant to his discretionary authority under N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.12, to grant summary decision to the Board, finding that respondent is guilty of unprofessional conduct in putting her own self-interest above the interests of her students and her professional obligation to provide adequate notice to the Board. In so determining, the Commissioner noted that even assuming, arguendo, that the content of the telephone conversation between respondent and the superintendent was as certified by respondent, which the superintendent strongly disputes, respondent's assertions are not material to a determination in this matter in that it cannot be concluded that respondent relied on this conversation in giving less than 60 days notice because such conversation occurred after respondent submitted her resignation letter giving less than the required notice. Therefore, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10, the Commissioner ordered that respondent's instructional certificate be suspended for a period of one year commencing as of the date of the decision, and forwarded the matter to the State Board of Examiners for the purpose of effectuating this order.

AGENCY DKT. NO. 415-11/04

IN THE MATTER OF THE SUSPENSION : OF THE TEACHING CERTIFICATE OF :
MARY ELIZABETH FARRAN, SCHOOL : COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
DISTRICT OF THE CHATHAMS, : DECISION
MORRIS COUNTY. :

For Petitioner, Nicholas Celso, III, Esq. (Schwartz, Simon, Edelstein, Celso & Kessler)

For Respondent, Gail Oxfeld Kanef, Esq. (Oxfeld Cohen, P.C.)

On November 22, 2004, the School District of the Chathams Board of Education (Board) filed before the Commissioner of Education a Certification of Service, said certification confirming that Mary Elizabeth Farran had been served with an Order to Show Cause (Order), signed by the Commissioner on November 17, 2004, and an accompanying affidavit. The Order notified respondent that she had 20 days to submit a written answer addressing why an Order should not be entered suspending her certificate for unprofessional conduct, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10 and N.J.S.A. 18A:28-8. On December 7, 2004, respondent filed a Letter Brief and Certification in Opposition to the Board's Order to Show Cause. On December 10, 2004, the Board filed a brief with Certification by Superintendent James F. O'Neill in response to respondent's submission. By letter of December 23, 2004, the parties were advised that it appeared that the material facts in this matter were not in dispute, thus rendering the matter ripe for summary judgment. The Board was, therefore, requested to submit a Motion for Summary Decision and letter brief or memorandum of law addressing the appropriateness of summary decision in this matter and in support of its claim that respondent's teaching certificate should be suspended for her failure to give the requisite notice of her resignation, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10. Respondent was then accorded 20 days from receipt of the Board's submission to reply to same. On January 13, 2005, the Board filed a Motion for Summary Decision and on February 17, 2005, respondent filed a letter stating that she would rely on her brief and certification in opposition to the Order and the Board's accompanying affidavit.

BACKGOUND FACTS

The following facts are found to be undisputed, based on the record. On May 14, 2004, respondent signed a contract accepting employment with the School District of the Chathams Board of Education as a Language Arts Teacher for the 2004-05 school year. (Certification of Superintendent James F. O'Neill, No. 3, dated November 10, 2004, attached to the Order to Show Cause; Board's Exhibit A, Memorandum Agreement, attached to the Order to Show Cause; Respondent's Brief in Opposition to Order to Show Cause at 1; and Respondent's Certification No. 2, undated, attached to Respondent's Brief in Opposition to Show Cause) The employment contract included a provision that indicated that the contract could be terminated by either party with 60 days' written notice. (Certification of Superintendent James F. O'Neill, No. 4, dated November 10, 2004, attached to the Order to Show Cause and Ibid.)

By letter of July 28, 2004, respondent tendered her resignation from her teaching position. Respondent's letter states, in full:

> I hope you are enjoying your summer. I am writing to you with both excitement and regret. Unfortunately I was unable to notify > you any sooner than now that I will not be able to return to Chatham Middle School this fall (sic). My family and I have recently completed construction on our first new home in Marshall's Creek, Pennsylvania. We were faced with many difficult decisions about this move and have come to the conclusion that it will be the best place for our growing family and our future.

>
> I sincerely apologize for this late notification to you. I have truly enjoyed my years of teaching at Chatham Middle School. I have been so lucky to work with so many gifted professionals and great Chatham kids. The distance between our new home and the school and care for the baby would prove to be too much of a hardship for us. I will be happy to do what ever (sic) I can to help the school in any way possible.
> Again, thank you for everything you have done for me in Chatham, (sic) I truly will miss the school and teaching. Best of luck for a successful 2004-2005 school year. (Board's Exhibit B, Letter from Respondent, dated July 28, 2005, attached to the Order to Show Cause)

Respondent did not report to school at the beginning of the 2004-05 school year. (Certification of Superintendent James F. O'Neill, No. 7, dated November 10, 2004, attached to the Order to Show Cause and Board's Motion for Summary Decision at 2) Thus, the notice she provided was less than the required 60 days under her contract, N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10 and N.J.S.A. 18A:28-8. (Board's Motion for Summary Decision at 2 and Respondent's Brief in Opposition to Order to Show Cause at 1) The Board did not consent to respondent's resignation on less than 60 days' notice. (Board's Motion for Summary Judgment at 2 and 4)

RESPONDENT'S POSITION

In her certification, respondent points out that she resigned her teaching position because she believed it would be difficult to commute from her new home in Pennsylvania and notes that she will not be teaching anywhere this school year. (Respondent's Certification No. 6) Respondent claims that, shortly after she submitted her resignation, she received a call from

Mr. O'Neill, the superintendent of schools, in which he indicated "that he did not believe it would be fair to the students in the district nor to the parents if I worked for the first few weeks of September, attended back to school night, and then left the district." (Id. at 5) Petitioner contends that it was her understanding from this conversation that the superintendent did not want her to return at the beginning of the school year for a few weeks to honor her obligation. (Ibid.) Moreover, petitioner avers that Mr. O'Neill never communicated to her that if she did not report to work to fulfill the 60-day notice obligation, he would apply to the Commissioner for suspension of her certificate. (Id. at 5) Because the District failed to put her on notice that it would be filing to have her certificate suspended, respondent contends that it is not appropriate to suspend her teaching certificate in that, if the superintendent had informed her of his intent, she "likely would have" made arrangements to commute for the first few weeks of school. (Id. at 5)

Additionally, if the District had wanted her to work the month of September, petitioner maintains, then Mr. O'Neill could have suggested it to her, but he never did so. (Id. at No. 7) Respondent also claims that Mr. O'Neill declined her offer to assist the new teaching staff member in the transition to his/her new position. (Ibid.)

Respondent points to In the Matter of the Suspension of the Teaching Certificate of Vincent Montalbano, decided by the Commissioner June 11, 2001, wherein the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ), citing to Bd. of Educ. of the Black Horse Pike Regional School District v. Mooney, 1984 S.L.D. 810, 814, adopted by Comm'r, 1984, S.L.D. 821, concludes that "neither the statute nor the regulations impose an automatic one year suspension," that "the Commissioner's authority to suspend a teaching certificate has been deemed discretionary," and that, "by using the term 'may' as opposed to 'shall' in the statute it appears the legislature did not intend the suspension of a teacher's certificate to be automatic, even if the Board's consent is not obtained prior to the cessation of duties." (Respondent's Brief in Opposition to Order to Show Cause at 3) Additionally, respondent also points out that, in Mooney, supra, in rejecting the Board's application to suspend Mooney's teaching certificates, the Commissioner noted the full purpose of N.J.S. A. 18A:26-10, stating:

> Not to prevent a teaching staff member from leaving his or her teaching position; rather it is to provide the local Board of Education with a reasonable opportunity to obtain a replacement and to acquaint the replacement with the background of the students and the duties and responsibilities of that particular teaching position. (Id. at 3-4)

Moreover, in evaluating the appropriateness of suspending Mooney's certificate, the ALJ noted that Mooney: 1) provided compelling reasons for needing the early release; 2) immediately notified the Board and assisted in the development of a program for the class through the end of the year; 3) met with the successor teacher to discuss grades and lesson plans; 4) did not seek an early release to obtain employment elsewhere in New Jersey; and 5) had an above average annual performance evaluation for the final year of employment. (Id at 4) Respondent argues that, based on the factors set forth in Mooney, her certificate should not be suspended in that: 1) she did not resign to accept employment elsewhere and, in fact, will not be teaching in the current school year; 2) the District found a replacement for her; 3) she offered any assistance she could provide, but such assistance was never requested; 4) her evaluations are excellent; and 5) the District never advised her that it would seek to suspend her certificate. (Ibid.)

Respondent further maintains that, unlike Montalbano, supra, where the Board's resolution accepting Montalbano's resignation made clear that the early resignation would not be accepted, in this matter, respondent was never notified that her early resignation would not be accepted, and, to the contrary, the superintendent led her to believe that he did not want her to work in September. (Id. at 5) Moreover, respondent submits, if there was difficulty in hiring a replacement for her, she was never contacted and asked to work. (Ibid.) In conclusion, respondent contends that, given the mitigating factors in this matter as described in Mooney and given the Board's failure to warn her that the within application would be filed if she failed to report to work, the Commissioner should exercise his discretionary authority and deny the Board's application to suspend her teaching certificate. (Ibid.)

BOARD'S POSITION

Initially, the Board, relying on Brill v. Guardian Life Ins. Co. of America, 142 N.J. 520 (1995), submits that the within matter is ripe for summary judgment in that there are no material facts in dispute and the Board is entitled to prevail as a matter of law. In support thereof, the Board argues that, "[u]nder N.J.S.A. 18A:28-8 and N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10, resignation on less than 60 days' notice without consent from the local board of education to a lesser notice period, constitutes unbecoming conduct per se." (Board's Brief in Support of Motion for Summary Decision at 3-4) In that it is undisputed that respondent did not provide 60 days' notice, nor did the Board approve respondent's early release from her teaching duties, the Board asserts that respondent has violated the applicable statutes and is guilty of unprofessional conduct, warranting the penalty of a one year-suspension of her teaching certificate. (Ibid.)

In arguing the appropriateness of a one-year suspension, the Board points to Bd. of Ed. of Penns Grove-Carneys Point Reg. Sch. Dist. v. Leinen, 94 *N.J.A.R.*2d (EDU) 405, 407 wherein the ALJ cited numerous cases in observing that "[m]ost cases have resulted in the suspension of any and all teaching certificates for the maximum, one year permitted if the Commissioner finds the teacher guilty of violating N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10." (Id. at 5) The Board contends that the within matter is analogous to East Amwell Twp. Bd. of Ed v. Acken, 86 S.L.D. 2816, and Montalbano, supra. (Id. at 6) In Acken, the Commissioner ordered a one-year suspension of Acken's teaching certificate, finding that the teacher, who had moved to Florida during the summer and had only given 11 days' notice prior to the opening of school, failed to give adequate notice of her resignation for purely personal reasons related to her uncertain future, given that her husband was unemployed and her house in New Jersey had not sold. (Id. at 5) In Montalbano, the Commissioner also ordered a one-year suspension of Montalbano's teaching certificate, finding that the teacher, who had given 12 days' notice of his resignation, failed to give adequate notice of his resignation for purely personal reasons, e.g., his securing of alternate employment as a police officer in New Jersey. (Id. at 6) The Board posits that the respondent in this matter, as in Acken and *Montalba*no, failed to give adequate notice of her resignation for purely personal reasons, *e.*g., allowing the maximum time for the completion of her home in Pennsylvania before advising the Board of her resignation. (Ibid.)

The Board also submits that there are no mitigating circumstances in this matter which would warrant a penalty of less than a one-year suspension of respondent's teaching certificate. (Id. at 7) In support of this contention, the Board avers that the Commissioner rarely declines to impose a one-year suspension in matters of this type and cites three examples where a lesser penalty was imposed due to mitigating factors, claiming that none of these factors is present in the instant matter. (Ibid.) In this regard, in IMO Suspension of the Teaching Certificate of Rogers, 1989 S.L.D. 1962, adopted by Comm'r, 1989 S.L.D. 1968, the Board points out that the Commissioner imposed a three-month suspension where the teacher failed to give adequate notice of resignation, but demonstrated a "noble" purpose in resigning in order to take a position working with the severely handicapped students in a State Development Center.

(Id. at 7-8) In IMO Suspension of the Teaching Certificate of Robert J. Burgess, Sch. Dist. Of Twp. of Clinton, 1983 S.L.D. 183, adopted by Comm'r, 1989 S.L.D. 1968, the Board notes that the Commissioner declined to impose a suspension of any length because the board in that matter made promises about a possible early release date, but did not fulfill its promises, a situation not analogous to this matter, the Board asserts, because the Board herein made no promises of any kind to respondent. (Ibid.) Additionally, in Mooney, supra, the Board claims that the Commissioner declined to impose a suspension in that case because the employee had gone to extraordinary lengths to insure her successor's smooth transition. (Id. at 7) In the instant matter, the Board asserts, respondent "did not do a single thing to assist the Board." (Id. at 8) Thus, the Board asks the Commissioner to grant its Motion for Summary Decision and impose a one-year suspension of respondent's teaching certificate, commencing no earlier than the date of the Commissioner's decision. (Ibid.)

Additionally, a Supplemental Affidavit of Superintendent of Schools James F. O'Neill was submitted by the Board to address the portion of respondent's certification relating to a telephone conversation that occurred between respondent and Superintendent O'Neill subsequent to respondent's resignation, certifying, in pertinent part:

* * * * *

> 2. As set forth in Respondent's Certification, I contacted her by telephone shortly after she tendered her resignation letter. However, Respondent's Certification does not accurately reflect the substance of our telephone conversation.
> 3. During our telephone conversation, I advised Respondent that her abrupt resignation was putting the District in a bad position. Her response to me was that she simply could not fulfill her obligation to the District. She stated that she had driven from her new home in Pennsylvania once or twice and that she just couldn't do it. She also mentioned having child care issues.

4 I told her that I could file an application with the Commissioner to suspend her certificate for failing to give appropriate notice. Her response was that she hoped I wouldn't do that. Respondent clearly was aware of my concerns and the possibility that her certificates could be suspended. Nevertheless, she never came back to work.

5. During my telephone conversation with Respondent, I never told her that I did not want her to return to work.

6. At no point during our telephone conversation did Respondent offer to assist the District in any way.
(Supplemental Affidavit of James F. O'Neill at 1-2)

COMMISSIONER'S DETERMINATION

Upon a thorough review of the parties' submissions, the Commissioner has determined, pursuant to his discretionary authority under N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.12, to grant summary decision to the Board, finding that respondent is guilty of unprofessional conduct and suspending her teaching certification for a period of one year. Pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(b) and Contini v. Bd. of Educ. of Newark, 286 N.J. Super. 106, 121-122 (App. Div. 1995) (citing Brill, supra), summary decision may be granted in an administrative proceeding if there is no genuine issue of material fact in dispute and the moving party is entitled to prevail as a matter of law.

In this regard, the Commissioner finds that the relevant and material facts in this matter are those stated, supra, as "Background Facts." (See Collingswood Borough Board of Education v. Edward J. Cashel, 1988 S.L.D. 898.) These facts are not disputed. Notwithstanding respondent's claims that the superintendent indicated to her in a telephone conversation occurring subsequent to her submission of a resignation letter that: 1) he didn't want her to return to her teaching duties at the beginning of the school year; 2) he failed to inform her that he would apply to suspend her certificate if she did not return to work to fulfill her 60-day notice obligation; and 3) he declined her offer to assist her successor's transition, the Commissioner finds these assertions are not material to a determination in this matter. Even assuming, arguendo, that the content of the telephone conversation between respondent and Mr. O'Neill was as certified by respondent, which Mr. O'Neill strongly disputes, such conversation occurred after respondent submitted her resignation letter in which she gave less than the required 60 days' notice. Thus, it cannot be concluded that respondent relied on this conversation when she failed to provide less than 60 days' notice in resigning from her teaching position in the District. Moreover, respondent acknowledges that she was aware of the 60-day notice requirement, and there is nothing in the applicable statutes that requires a District to notify a teacher of its intent to seek suspension of the teacher's certification if the 60-day notice requirement is not fulfilled.

N.J.S.A. 18A:28-8 establishes the procedure by which a teaching staff member must provide notice of resignation to a board of education and authorizes the Commissioner to suspend a teacher's certificate if that teacher fails to comply, as follows:

> Any teaching staff member, under tenure of service, desiring to relinquish his position shall give the employing board of education at least 60 days written notice of his intention, unless the board shall approve or release on shorter notice, and if he fails to give such notice, he shall be deemed guilty of unprofessional conduct an the commissioner may suspend his certificate for not more than one year.

Additionally, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10, the Commissioner has both the authority and the discretion to suspend a teacher's certificate for a period of up to one year for ceasing to perform her duties before the expiration of her employment obligations. N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10 provides that:

> Any teaching staff member employed by a board of education, who shall, without the consent of the Board, cease to perform his > duties before the expiration of the term of his employment, shall be deemed guilty of unprofessional conduct, and the commissioner may, upon receiving notice thereof, suspend his certificate for a period not exceeding one year.

In the instant matter it is undisputed that respondent resigned without proper notice to the Board. Additionally, respondent admits that she was aware of her obligation to give 60 days' notice of her resignation. Accordingly, the Commissioner finds that respondent is guilty of unprofessional conduct for her failure to provide the 60-day notice required by her contract, N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10 and N.J.S.A. 18A:28-8. Moreover, the Commissioner is unable to conclude that there are factors which would mitigate the imposition of a one-year suspension of respondent's teaching certificate. In so concluding, the Commissioner rejects respondent's claim that her failure to give the required notice is mitigated by factors similar to those applied in Mooney. The situation herein is substantially different. Unlike Mooney, respondent does not provide compelling reasons for needing early release. Instead, respondent's desire for an early release from her professional obligations is based solely on personal convenience. Additionally, respondent does not make any claim that she attempted to communicate with the Board to negotiate a mutually beneficial and agreeable earlier release date than the required 60 days' notice, but, instead, respondent clearly made a unilateral decision to resign with full knowledge that her notice did not satisfy the notice requirement. Moreover, the actions taken by respondent to insure that her successor made a smooth transition were, at best, minimal. In the telephone conversation between the superintendent and respondent where it is undisputed that this issue was discussed, although the content of that conversation is disputed, both parties acknowledge that it was the superintendent, not respondent, who initiated the contact.

Additionally, although the Commissioner recognizes that "[t]he obvious purpose of N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10 is to provide notice to the school so that a suitable replacement can be hired without adversely impacting students" (Penns Grove, supra, at 407, citations omitted), even if the Board were able to find a replacement quickly, such replacement would not negate respondent's unprofessional conduct. (See In the Matter of the Suspension of the Teaching Certificate of Patricia Aiken, School District of the Township of East Amwell, Hunterdon County, 1986 S.L.D. 2816, 2821)

The Commissioner, therefore, agrees with the Board that, in resigning abruptly, respondent put her own self-interest above the interests of her students and her professional obligation to provide adequate notice to the Board. Accordingly, summary decision is granted to the Board in this matter. Pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10, Mary Elizabeth Farran is, therefore, deemed guilty of unprofessional conduct and her teaching certificate is hereby suspended for a period of one year, which period shall commence upon the date of this decision. A copy of this decision is being forwarded to the State Board of Examiners for the purpose of effectuating the within decision and taking such further action, if any, as it deems appropriate.

Record Closed: February 23, 2005 Decided: February 23, 2005

BEFORE JOSEPH F. MARTONE, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

The Pine Hill Education Association, the petitioner herein, as well as the Lindenwold Education Association, and the Winslow Township Education Association (the Education Associations), each filed petitions in which they challenged the alleged refusal of respondents Boards of Education to honor and recognize the rights of petitioners' affected members as established by contract or past practice and enjoyed by them in their former school district. Each of the petitioners alleged that these actions and failures to act violated the education laws and, in particular, N.J.S.A. 18A:13-64, and the administrative regulations promulgated thereunder. Each of the petitioners sought a determination restoring to the affected members all of the terms and conditions of employment formerly enjoyed by them as employees of the former regional school district, and requesting the restoration of all back pay, benefits and emoluments of employment which they have lost to date as a result of respondents' actions and failures to act. Each of these matters, including the within matter, were transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) on January 9, 2002, for hearing as contested cases. On April 30, 2002, these three matters were consolidated.

On March 1, 2002, each of the petitioners filed unfair practice charges with the Public Employment Relations Commission (PERC) against the same three respondents. The unfair practice charges are captioned Winslow Township Association and Winslow Township Board of Education, PERC Dkt. No. C0-2002-235, Lindenwold Ed. Association and Lindenwold Board of Ed., PERC Dkt. No. C0-2002-236; and Pine Hill Ed. Association and Pine Hill Board of Education, PERC Dkt. No. C0-2002-237.

By Order of Consolidation and Predominant Interest entered on October 21, 2002, I recommended that the three PERC matters be consolidated with the consolidated OAL matters. By an Order entered by the Chair of the Public Employment Relations Commission on November 25, 2002, and by the Commissioner of Education on December 5, 2002, this recommendation was accepted.

Following numerous discussions between the parties and a number of telephone conferences with the ALJ, the matters originally captioned Winslow Township Education Association v. Board of Education of the Township of Winslow, OAL Dkt. No. EDU 114-02, Agency Dkt No. 491-11/01 and the unfair practice charge captioned Winslow Township Ed. Association and Winslow Township Board of Education, PERC Dkt. No. C0-2002-235, Lindenwold Education Association v. Board of Education of the Borough of Lindenwold, OAL Dkt. No. EDU 112-02, Agency Dkt No. 489-11/01 and the unfair practice charge captioned Lindenwold Ed. Association and Lindenwold Board of Education, PERC Dkt. No. C0-2002-236, were settled and resolved by and between the parties as the product of contract negotiations, and they submitted Joint Stipulations of Dismissal in those matters. In order to effectuate the dismissals it was necessary to sever these two matters from the remaining ongoing matters. Accordingly, an Initial Decision Severing the Winslow Township case and accepting the Stipulation of Dismissal was issued on September 18, 2003, and an Initial Decision Severing the Lindenwold Township case and accepting the Stipulation of Dismissal was issued on June 28, 2004.

On February 23, 2005, the parties filed with the OAL a Stipulation of Dismissal as to this remaining matter. Therefore, it is ORDERED that the Stipulation of Dismissal filed herein by the parties in the contested case captioned Pine Hill Education Association v. Board of Education of the Borough of Pine Hill, OAL Dkt. No. EDU 113-02, Agency Dkt No. 492-11/01 and the unfair practice charge captioned Pine Hill Ed. Association and Pine Hill Borough Board of Education, PERC Dkt. No. C0-2002-237, is hereby accepted, and this matter is hereby DISMISSED.

I hereby FILE this Initial Decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION who by law is authorized to make the final decision on all issues within the scope of its predominant interest. If the COMMSSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision on all of the issues within the scope of predominant interest shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-17.8, upon rendering its final decision the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION shall forward the record, including this recommended decision and its final decision, to the CHAIRMAN OF THE PUBLIC EMPLOYMENT RELATIONS COMMISSION who may subsequently render a final decision on any remaining issues and consider any specific remedies which may be within its statutory grant of authority.

Upon transmitting the record, the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION shall, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-17.8(c) request an extension to permit the rendering of a final decision by the CHAIRMAN OF THE PUBLIC EMPLOYMENT RELATIONS COMMISSION within forty-five (45) days of the predominant agency decision. If the CHAIRMAN OF THE PUBLIC EMPLOYMENT RELATIONS COMMISSION does not render a final decision within the extended time, this recommended decision on the remaining issues and remedies shall become the final decision.

The Juvenile Justice Commission, Office of Education (JJC), with offices located at 1001 Spruce Street, Suite 202, Trenton, New Jersey 08625, represented by Peter C. Harvey, Attorney General of New Jersey, John Franzini, Deputy Attorney General, appearing; and Peter Scutti, a tenured employee of the JJC represented by Weissman & Mintz, LLC, Rosemarie Cipparulo, Esq. appearing; by way of this Stipulation of Agreement say:

WHEREAS, the JJC initiated the filing of tenure charges against Mr. Scutti having filed the charges with the Commissioner of Education on or about June 23, 2004; and

WHEREAS, Mr. Scutti was charged with both Corporal Punishment and Unjustified Physical Contact constituting Conduct Unbecoming a Public Employee and Other Just Cause; and

WHEREAS, the charges alleged that on November 26, 2003, Peter Scutti, a Teacher 1 within the Juvenile Justice Commission assigned to the Life Skills and Leadership Academy, while supervising a physical accountability exercise, grabbed Cadet K.B. on the wrist and attempted to twist his arm on two separate occasions and then grabbed him around the neck, all without justification; and further, that as a result of the unjustified use of physical force by Mr. Scutti, Cadet K.B. needed to be restrained by custody staff and sustained mild reddening of his left cheek; and

WHEREAS, the JJC sought the suspension of Mr. Scutti on the above charges for a period of ninety (90) days without pay; and

WHEREAS, Mr. Scutti disputed the charges; and

WHEREAS, the matter was referred to the Office of Administrative Law for a hearing on or about July 13, 2004; and

WHEREAS, the parties wish to enter into an amicable resolution of the tenure charges filed against Mr. Scutti prior to a hearing; and

WHEREAS, it is in the best interest of the parties and the public to enter into this Stipulation of Settlement;

NOW, THEREFORE, in consideration of the mutual promises contained herein, the parties agree as follows:

1. Mr. Scutti pleads guilty to the charge of Unjustified Physical Contact Constituting Conduct Unbecoming a Public Employee and Other Just Cause as described above.

2. The Juvenile Justice Commission withdraws the Charge of Corporal Punishment Constituting Conduct Unbecoming a Public Employee or Other Just Cause.

3. As the penalty for pleading guilty to the charge as described above, Mr. Scutti shall be suspended for fifteen (15) days without pay to be served at the convenience of the JJC. He shall also attend and satisfactorily complete anger management training selected by the JJC.

4. The JJC shall not schedule any suspension day on a day before a holiday.

5. The JJC shall schedule the suspension days based on the operational needs of the facility at which Mr. Scutti is employed.

6. This Agreement shall be part of Mr. Scutti's official personnel file and Mr. Scutti's admission of guilt and the penalty imposed by way of settlement may be presented and considered in any subsequent disciplinary action against him.

7. This Agreement constitutes a final and complete resolution of the tenure charges in this matter and fully disposes of all issues in controversy between the parties hereto. Mr. Scutti agrees not to appeal the tenure action or the terms of this Agreement in any administrative, arbitral or judicial forum.

8. Settlement of this matter is justified and in the public interest because it imposes the desired discipline without the need for a contested tenure hearing. With regard to the penalty, Mr. Scutti has been employed by the Juvenile Justice Commission for over 14 years and has had one other minor disciplinary infraction, an official written reprimand dated June 18, 2003, for conduct unbecoming a public employee. The reduction in the length of the suspension without pay from proposed to agreed and the requirement for anger management training is equitable in exchange for eliminating the expense and uncertainty connected with a contested tenure hearing.

9. This Agreement shall not constitute a precedent in any other matter involving Mr. Scutti or any other employee.

10. Mr. Scutti has been advised of the Commissioner's duty to refer tenure determinations resulting in loss of position to the State Board of Examiners for possible suspension or revocation of certificate (N.J.A.C. 6A:3-5.6(a)6).

11. This Agreement shall only become effective when the Commissioner of Education approves it. Any disapproval by the Commissioner shall not interfere with the rights of either party to pursue this matter further.

This Agreement is made in good faith. The parties have read the Agreement and freely and voluntarily agree to its provisions.

1. Student Y. McD. is no longer enrolled in the school district, and there is no intent to re-enroll the student either by R.M. or Wydiah McDonald, the child's legal guardian and parent, or anyone else on the child's behalf;

2. Based upon the circumstances herein, the Board takes the position that Y. McD. is not entitled to a free and appropriate education in the Orange School District, inasmuch as he is not domiciled there, and was not during the 2003-2004 or 2004-2005 school years within the intendment of N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1.

3. Based upon the Notice of Final Ineligibility R.M. has filed a Residency Appeal now pending before the Commissioner of Education with the Docket No. EDU 11348-2004N.

4. R.M. hereby agrees to a withdrawal of the Residency Appeal with prejudice.

5. The Orange Board of Education hereby agrees to waive ~~the~~ its right to recoupment of approximately $12,286.00

NEW JERSEY STATE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION,	:	DECISION
RESPONDENT.	:

SYNOPSIS

The petitioning Board, an Abbott District, filed a petition challenging the Department's denial of funding for certain items in their revised 2005-2006 Preschool Operational Plan, which the Board asserts are necessary to provide a well-planned, high quality preschool program for New Brunswick's children. Specifically, the Board challenged denial of funding for: 1) 3.5 vacant positions in the preschool intervention and referral team; 2) district-wide computers, office printers, and software; 3) the summer enrichment program; 4) an executive, fiscal and administrative support staff for the Puerto Rican Action Board (PRAB), a private preschool provider to the district; 5) an additional cook's assistant for the PRAB; 6) a security system for the PRAB; 7) fringe benefits in excess of 12.5% for non-teaching staff of the PRAB; and 8) a cleaning service contract for the PRAB. The Department transmitted the matter to the OAL as a contested case.

Prior to commencement of the hearing in this matter, the parties resolved several issues, resulting in the petitioning Board's withdrawal of challenges regarding items number 1 through 3 above. Upon consideration of the evidence presented and the arguments of the parties, the ALJ found that the Department's reasons for denying the PRAB's special requests were well-grounded in the applicable Provider Guidance or otherwise clearly rational and directly related to the mandated standard of provision of high quality preschool programs in Abbott districts. The ALJ concluded that the petitioning Board failed to meet its burden to establish that any of the PRAB's denied special requests are necessary to adequately and efficiently fund a high quality preschool educational program, and further concluded that the appeal should be dismissed.

Upon a full and independent review of this matter, the Assistant Commissioner, to whom this matter was delegated pursuant to N.J.S.A 18A:4-34, agreed with the ALJ's conclusion that petitioner failed to sustain its burden of establishing that the special requests made by the Board on behalf of PRAB are essential to an effective and efficient education in the provider's program. Accordingly, the Initial Decision was adopted for the reasons stated therein and the Petition of Appeal was dismissed.

NEW JERSEY STATE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION,	:	DECISION
RESPONDENT.	:

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed. Petitioner's exceptions and respondent's reply thereto were filed in accordance with the necessarily abbreviated exception period for Early Childhood Program appeal matters specified in the Initial Decision.

Petitioner's exceptions charge that the Administrative Law Judge's (ALJ) findings of fact and conclusions are contrary to the Provider Guidance,[1] and that "[t]he denial of the Special Requests of the Puerto Rican Action Board [PRAB] will impair the provision of a high-quality preschool education program." (Petitioner's Exceptions at 1) To support this contention, petitioner relies on its post hearing brief, contending that this document comprehensively presents the justifying rationale for each of these requests.

In reply, respondent submits that after two days of hearing, where he was able to assess the credibility of the witnesses, and fully consider all of the parties' arguments, the ALJ correctly determined that petitioner had failed to sustain its burden of demonstrating that the PRAB special requests were "warranted or necessary for the provision of a high quality preschool program." (Respondent's Reply Exceptions at 1-2). As to petitioner's claim that the ALJ's findings of fact and conclusions of law are inconsistent with the Provider Guidance, respondent advances that such allegation is without foundation. (Id. at 2) In support of its position, respondent urges that consideration be taken of its post-hearing and reply briefs.

The Assistant Commissioner, to whom this matter has been delegated pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:4-34, has conducted a full and independent review and consideration of the record herein. Upon such review, and noting that the parties' exceptions raise no new arguments but, rather, rely on those set forth in their post hearing materials, which were comprehensively presented and evaluated in the Initial Decision, the Assistant Commissioner agrees with the ALJ's conclusion that petitioner has failed to sustain its burden of establishing that any of the Special Requests made by the District on behalf of the PRAB at issue here,[2] "is essential to an effective and efficient education in the provider's program." See Provider Guidance, Exhibit R-79, at 15.

Accordingly, the Initial Decision is adopted for the reasons stated therein and the instant Petition of Appeal is hereby dismissed.

BEFORE JOSEPH F. FIDLER, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

The City of New Brunswick School District is an Abbott District, as defined by N.J.S.A. 18A:7F-3 and N.J.A.C. 6A:24-1.2. On January 14, 2005, the New Jersey Department of Education notified the district superintendent that it had reviewed the district's 2005-2006 revised Preschool Operational Plan for three and four year olds. The Department approved a total budget in the amount of $13,589,175. On February 3, 2005, the district Board of Education filed a Verified Petition with the Commissioner of Education challenging the Department's denial of funding for certain items the district asserts are necessary to provide a well-planned, high quality preschool program for New Brunswick's children. Specifically, the district challenged the Department's denial of funding for: 1) 3.5 vacant positions in the preschool intervention and referral team; 2) district-wide office computers, office printers, and software; 3) the summer enrichment program; 4) an executive, fiscal and administrative support staff for the Puerto Rican Action Board, which is one of New Brunswick's private preschool providers; 5) an additional cook's assistant for the Puerto Rican Action Board; 6) a security system for the Puerto Rican Action Board; 7) fringe benefits in excess of 12.5% for non-teaching staff of the Puerto Rican Action Board; and 8) a cleaning service contract for the Puerto Rican Action Board.

The Department transmitted the contested case to the Office of Administrative Law on February 4, 2005. On February 8, 2005, the Department's answer was filed with the OAL, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6a:10a-9.7(c). There was a telephone prehearing conference on February 16, 2005, and the hearing was held on February 24 and 25, 2005. The record remained open following the hearing to permit the parties to submit post-hearing briefs. The last of these was received on March 9, 2005, and the record closed on that date.

DISCUSSION

At commencement of the hearing, counsel for petitioner district announced that the parties had resolved several issues through discussion, resulting in the district withdrawing its challenges as to the 3.5 vacant PIRT positions, the district-wide office computer, office printers and software, and the summer enrichment program. The hearing then focused on the district's remaining challenges regarding the denied special requests of the Puerto Rican Action Board ("PRAB"). Petitioner district went forward with its proofs, presenting the testimony of its Business Administrator Richard Jannarone, PRAB Fiscal Manager Jose Figueroa, PRAB Director of Education Joyce Chase, and PRAB Executive Director Guillermo Beytagh-Maldonado. The Department presented the testimony of Program Specialist Susan Bruder, Office of Early Childhood Education, and Robert Goertz, Director, Budget and Accounting. Many of the relevant documents were admitted at the joint request of the parties.

The Department's determination letter of January 14, 2005, advised that its review had included the district's 2005-2006 revised Preschool Operational Plan for three and four-year old children residing in the district. The budget approvals and plan review were based on the Abbott Preschool Program Implementation Guidelines, Three-Year Operational Plan instructions, and the information collected from the Self Assessment Validation System. The district and the Department worked together to address issues and make revisions to the operational plan. In addition, the district was required to submit a comprehensive professional development plan and transition plan. The Department approved a total budget of $13,589,175 for the district to implement its approved Abbott Preschool Program in 2005-2006. This budget covers the six hour, 180 day minimum education program, but does not include funding for extended day or summer wrap-around, which is provided separately by the Department of Human Services.

The district plans to contract with 13 private providers in 2005-2006 to implement its Abbott Preschool Program. As one of petitioner school district's private preschool providers, PRAB operates 15 Abbott preschool classrooms at three locations. There are eleven classrooms at 18 Drift Street, two classrooms at 287 Townsend Street, and two classrooms at 74 Drift Street. PRAB also serves 40 non-Abbott preschool students in two classrooms located at 287 Townsend Street. PRAB provides other community programs and services in addition to the preschool program.

The Department reviewed each private provider budget individually and made modifications as it deemed appropriate. For PRAB, the Department corrected some calculation errors and noted that the amounts approved for office equipment and repair, building and grounds maintenance and repair, telecommunications, insurance, and staff transportation were based on reasonable and customary verified costs. The amount approved for field trips was based on the field trip plan submitted, and the amount approved for substitute teacher and substitute assistant teacher stipends was based on district policy. The amount approved for janitor benefits was based on the salaried position. The approved per pupil allocation for PRAB's projected enrollment of 225 pupils is $10,834.

The Department's determination letter also stated its reasons for not approving PRAB's special requests for additional funding. The reason given for not approving the special request for funding executive, fiscal, and administrative staff was that there is no basis for costs such as administrative staff beyond a director. The special request for an additional cook's assistant was not approved because cook's assistants are already allocated through a budget formula developed from the quantity of personnel required under a family-style model of food service. The special request for a security system was not approved because the documentation submitted by PRAB did not demonstrate a high incidence of crime in the neighborhood that poses an imminent threat to the staff, children, and property of the center.

PRAB's special request for fringe benefits in excess of 12.5 percent of the non-teaching staff salaries was not approved because the Department's budget guidance benefit allocation for provider's non-teaching positions is 12.5 percent of approved salaries. Benefits offered by a provider are not restricted by the Abbott preschool program allotment. Finally, the special request for a cleaning service contract was not approved because the provider was allocated a 2.8 janitorial function, based on Department guidance. The approved budget actually included funding for the cleaning service, but included the funding on the budget line for janitor rather than listing it as a separate item.

Funding for executive, fiscal and administrative support staff for PRAB

It is undisputed that the Department approved administrative support and indirect costs for PRAB totaling $629,638. This includes the salary and benefits for three directors, three clerical staff, and a janitor. The benefits are not to exceed 12.5 percent of salary, pursuant to the Private Provider One Year Budget Instructions and Guidance for School Year 2005-2006 (Exhibit R-79, page 13). Also included in the support cost for a janitor was the cost of a cleaning service contract. Included in the indirect costs are the cost of office equipment, office materials, food-related paper supplies, cleaning supplies, food for meetings, rent, mortgage and other costs for space, building and grounds maintenance and repairs, utilities, telecommunications services, security equipment, insurance, accounting fees, payroll preparation fees, advertising, and staff transportation. Pursuant to the Private Provider Guidance, the Department will approve administrative support and indirect costs that total up to 37 percent of the total cost of the private provider's approved Abbot Educational Costs (Exhibit R-79, page 12). The average administrative cost for all of the preschool providers in the State of New Jersey is approximately 30 percent.

With the exception of requests for security guard costs, special requests are not to be used for administrative support and indirect costs (Exhibit R-79, page 15). Nevertheless, PRAB submitted a special request in the amount of $182,995 for executive, fiscal, and administrative staff (Exhibit J-1, pages 14-15). By this request, PRAB sought to charge 60 percent of the salaries and benefits of its executive director, deputy director, fiscal manager, senior bookkeeper, part-time bookkeeper, executive administrative assistant, aide to the administrative assistant, and human resources person to the Abbott preschool program.

Petitioner district's business administrator, Richard Jannarone, testified that PRAB is different from many other private preschool providers because it also devotes efforts to other programs. He approved PRAB's special request for funding for its executive, fiscal, and administrative support staff because PRAB satisfied him that a portion of the personnel's time would be attributed to running and managing the early childhood program. Mr. Jannarone noted that PRAB has always been fiscally responsible and undergoes an annual audit. He acknowledged that the early childhood funding the district receives is called State Aid, but he considers the money a grant for accounting purposes because it is restricted in use to the early childhood programs and any part not used is returned to the Department.

Jose Figueroa, Fiscal Manager for PRAB, testified that he prepares the entity's budgets and reports to the Board on a quarterly basis. He is licensed in New York as a certified public accountant and has worked in the non-profit sector since 1974. Mr. Figueroa noted that PRAB conducts home weatherization activities using federal funds. It also provides assistance with home utility bills with federal funds. The New Jersey Department of Community Affairs funds PRAB's youth program, with the services of tutor and mentors from Rutgers University donated. PRAB also does immigration referral work with federal funding received through the Department of Human Services and the Division of Family Development. These are all non-early childhood education programs.

It was Mr. Figueroa who estimated that the eight executive and administrative staff members for whom additional funding is sought spent 60 percent of their time on the early childhood program. Their time sheets were admitted into evidence as Exhibit P-2. He calculated 60 percent of their salaries and benefits as the requested allocation to the early childhood program, for a total of $182,995 (Exhibit J-1, page 15).

Mr. Figueroa testified that PRAB's books must be maintained in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles ("GAAP"), as well as Federal Treasury Circular OMB A-122 (Exhibit P-3) and State of New Jersey Circular 05-12 OMB (Exhibit P-4) and that these require a proportioning of administrative and support expenses among the various federal and State funding sources. Mr. Figueroa stated that he spends many hours of the work day involved with the Abbott preschool program. So, for example, a portion of his salary must be attributed to the preschool program for accounting purposes. Similarly, a portion must be attributed to the Department of Human Services grants for purposes of PRAB's federal budgets. According to Mr. Figueroa, this GAAP apportionment requirement results in a funding deficiency for administrative and staff expenses unless the Department approves this special request, because PRAB is prohibited from shifting allocable costs to other programs.

Guillermo Beytagh-Maldonado has been Executive Director of PRAB since 1984. He agreed with Mr. Figueroa that the nonprofit entity distributes its costs among all its funding sources proportionally for accounting purposes. An independent audit was done in 2003 (Exhibit P-10) which Mr. Beytagh-Maldonado characterized as clean. In his opinion, PRAB's best estimation apportioning costs to the preschool program is accurate. Mr. Beytagh Maldonado also agreed with Mr. Figueroa that GAAP must be followed and that PRAB may not charge a funding source for costs inadequately funded by another source. So, if the Department does not fund its apportioned share, PRAB cannot make it up by charging the costs elsewhere.

Program Specialist Susan Bruder, of the Office of Early Childhood Education, testified that she reviewed the district's 2005-2006 Early Childhood Plan and also met in district with private providers to disseminate information and answer questions. The Private Provider One Year Budget Instructions and Guidance for School Year 2005-2006 (Exhibit R-79) give detailed instructions to providers on filling out their budgets. The guidance changes annually, based on Court holdings and for various other reasons, such as a change in the consumer price index. According to Ms. Bruder, the Department looks at the initial budget submissions carefully to see if the requested funding represents a solid plan. For example, are the professional development dollars sought for a well-thought out plan?

Ms. Bruder described a special request as an expressed need for the children that does not fit the general guidelines. Under the heading "Special Requests," the Private Provider Guidance (Exhibit R-79, page 15) states:

> The costs contained in the budget guidance do not represent maximum costs, but rather provide budgeting guidance by the DOE as to reasonable and customary costs. Providers may budget for higher amounts under the category of Special Requests. An item that does not fall within a budget worksheet line item may also be considered as a Special Request. Each Special Request must be accompanied by written justification as to how the request is essential to an effective and efficient education in the provider's program. Request justification must clearly relate to current requirements, long range educational goals of the Abbott Preschool Program, and the Preschool Teaching and Learning Expectations: Standards of Quality. Supporting documentation must include at least two written estimates for any requested materials or services. All Special Requests must be reviewed and approved at the district level prior to submission to DOE.
> [Emphasis in original.]

It was Ms. Bruder's testimony that PRAB's special request for additional funding for executive and administrative staff was not approved because the Department's funding is for an effective and efficient, high quality early education program. No matter how a provider structures itself, the approvable line items are for the early childhood program. An organization's costs beyond those Court mandated early childhood ingredients are up to the provider to pay for if it wants to incur those expenses. It is Ms. Bruder's opinion that the Department's funding of up to 37 percent of a private provider's administrative and support costs, pursuant to the Provider Guidance (Exhibit R-79, page 12), represents funding based on the ingredients necessary for a high quality preschool program.

Robert Goertz, Director, Budget and Accounting, testified that early childhood funding is included as State aid in New Jersey's appropriations act. In his opinion, Circular 05-12 OMB regarding grant agreements (Exhibit P-4) does not apply to Abbott early childhood providers, and it is his recollection that there are no federal funds supporting the Department's Office of Early Childhood Education.

Mr. Goertz agreed that Circular A-122 (Exhibit P-3) broadly deals with principles for allowable and unallowable costs in federal contracts, and can apply to state grants in aid. More specifically, the circular does have accounting principles that indirectly apply to Abbott preschool funding recipients, and Mr. Goertz agreed that allocating costs in accord with A-122 is in accord with GAAP. So, Department aid to early childhood providers is subject to generally accepted accounting principles for cost allocation. However, there is an important distinction between allocation of expenses, as required by GAAP and the Circular A-122, and the funding of those expenses. Even if PRAB properly allocates its expenses to all of its funding sources, that does not obligate the Department to fund those expenses as part of its early childhood program aid.

Funding for an additional cook's assistant for PRAB

It is undisputed that the Department approved funding for one cook and 1.83 cook's assistants. Funding for a fraction of a position recognizes that private providers employ staff on both a part-time and a full-time basis, and particular employees may share duties. Mr. Jannarone testified that as the district's business administrator, he approved PRAB's special request for an additional cook's assistant. It was his opinion that because PRAB feeds 225 children at three different locations, it was reasonable that the provider needed another cook. Mr. Figueroa testified for PRAB that one of its sites does not have a kitchen and it takes time and effort to prepare and package food and deliver it to all the sites.

PRAB's Director of Education, Joyce Chase, testified that there are five cooks for PRAB's three sites. The travel and delivery to all the classrooms is time consuming. In addition, all of the hot, nutritionally balance meals are cooked from scratch. For many of the students, these are their best meals of the day. PRAB feels the effort to prepare and deliver these meals is worth the time and effort and thus it is Ms. Chase's opinion that funding for five cooks is necessary.

Ms. Bruder testified that the additional cook issue arose in PRAB's budget last year as well, but it was not approved by the district at that time. She visited PRAB at lunch time to try to understand the special request and discovered that PRAB prepares individual meals rather than family-style meals. Preparation of individual meals requires more labor, and fewer cook staff are required for family-style meals. In any event, the funding for cooks was in accord with budget guidance. Furthermore, the Department prefers family-style meals as an important curricular feature for early childhood because it promotes pupil's conversation, vocabulary, and self-regulation. In Ms. Bruder's opinion, an additional cook was not warranted for provision of a high quality preschool educational program.

Funding for a security system for PRAB

It is undisputed that the Department approved funding for security for PRAB on the basis of $500 per classroom, for a total of $8,500. To be eligible for submitting a special request for a security guard, inclusive of salary, benefits, and employer payroll taxes, a provider must work with the school district to document a high incidence of crime in the neighborhood that poses an imminent threat to the staff, children, and property of the center. This documentation may include official police reports for crimes committed in and around the immediate vicinity of the center (Exhibit R-79, page 15). PRAB submitted one police report that indicated an allegation of property theft, but the investigating officer determined the allegation was unfounded (Exhibit J-1, pages 45-46). PRAB also submitted crime statistics for Middlesex County municipalities, including the City of New Brunswick, but these do not indicate the neighborhoods involved (Exhibit J-1, pages 48-50).

Mr. Jannarone testified for the district that he approved PRAB's special request for a security system because of the nature of the facility locations in the City of New Brunswick. Joyce Chase, PRAB's Director of Education, testified that the provider is located in a low income, high crime area of New Brunswick. Because their buildings are occupied with women and children, she wanted better security, and was thinking of a video taping surveillance system.

In her view, cameras throughout the perimeter and first floor of the buildings would be a good crime deterrent. Ms. Chase acknowledged in regard to the list of times the existing alarm system has gone off (Exhibit P-6) that these events did not result in any police reports being filed.

Ms. Bruder testified for the Department that reasonable funds for enhanced security or a security guard will be provided if an imminent threat in the neighborhood is documented. She noted that the police report submitted by PRAB indicated that the alleged theft was unfounded. The report of alarms being triggered was not supported by filed police reports, and the crime statistics submitted by PRAB also were insufficient support for the requested security system.

Funding for fringe benefits in excess of 12.5 percent for non-teaching staff for PRAB

It is undisputed that the Department will approve funding of up to 12. 5 percent of non-teaching staff salaries for the cost of their benefits, pursuant to the Provider Guidance (Exhibit R-79). It is undisputed that this figure was developed by the Department based upon a review of benefit and salary cost statistics from the United States Department of Labor. The Department has determined that 12.5 percent is a reasonable amount of funding necessary to provide benefits to non-teaching staff.

Mr. Jannarone testified for the district that he approved PRAB's special request for fringe benefits in excess of 12.5 percent for non-teaching staff. The collectively negotiated benefits for district employees are closer to 22 percent of salaries. He acknowledged that private providers may decide for themselves what level of benefits they will pay, if any, but he noted that providers are required to pay their teachers the same amount of money as the district's teachers are paid. Mr. Figueroa testified for PRAB that he feels the 12.5 percent benefit cap for non-teaching staff is unfair. He offered the example of one employee, a cook, who has a benefit cost of $6,000. 12.5 percent of the cook's $20,000 salary does not cover the benefit cost. It is PRAB's policy to cover all employees with fringe benefits, so he views the Department's limitation as unconscionable. He recognizes that it is up to PRAB to determine what benefits it will provide its employees.

Ms. Bruder testified that PRAB's special request submission for fringe benefits stated that provision of fewer benefits to support staff would be deemed discriminatory (Exhibit J-1, page 42). The Department disagreed with this rationale. It is permissible for an employer to have different classes of employees, and they may receive different levels of benefits. If a private provider wishes to pay its employees benefits beyond the 12.5 percent of salary that the Department will fund, it is free to use its own funds to do so. Ms. Bruder noted that some providers do not pay benefits to their employees even though the Department would fund fringe benefits up to 12.5 percent of salary.

Funding for a cleaning service contract for PRAB

It is undisputed that for the 2005-2006 school year, the Department approved the costs for janitors at 2.83 positions and approved the benefits for one full-time janitor. It is undisputed that PRAB has one full time janitor on its staff and that it subcontracts the rest of its cleaning service. The janitor works during the day and the cleaning service cleans all three sites at night. Mr. Jannarone testified for the district that the object of the request for a cleaning service contract was to have the funding appear in a separate line item category in the budget, rather than be included with the janitor funding. Mr. Figueroa testified for PRAB that the Department allowed PRAB to have a line item for janitor and a line item for cleaning contractor in the 2004-2005 school year budget. PRAB wants the same treatment of this expense for the 2005-2006 school year.

Ms. Bruder testified that the Department approved funding for both the janitor and the cleaning service. The Department decided that the funding should all appear on the janitor line in the budget, since the cleaning service performs the janitor function and that is the point of the line item. So the funding for 2.83 janitor positions actually reflects funding for one janitor and the cleaning service. The Department deemed an additional line in the budget to be unnecessary.

Arguments

Petitioner district contends that it has met its burden to establish that all the special requests made by PRAB and approved by the district are necessary to adequately and efficiently fund the PRAB Early Childhood Program. According to petitioner, the Department's denial of the PRAB special requests was founded on arbitrary formulas and subjective analysis, supported by neither the facts nor a proper analysis of the requirements of GAAP.

Petitioner asserts that the special request for cleaning services funding is reflective of actual expenses rather than a hypothetical formula, and is necessary to adequately support PRAB's Early Childhood Program. Petitioner further contends that the special request for funding for a cook's assistant is supported by the evidence as necessary to adequately support PRAB's Early Childhood food services at its three locations. The district maintains that it reasonably approved the necessity for security cameras based upon the high incidence of crime in the area and the uncontroverted testimony of Ms. Chase. Petitioner contends that the special request for adequate funding of benefits for all non-teaching staff is supported by the testimony of its witnesses. More particularly, it is petitioner's position that the evidence supports the special request of $31,940, rather than a fictional 12.5 percent that cannot provide adequate benefits to non-teaching support personnel.

Finally, petitioner submits that its evidence has established that in order to adequately and effectively provide for the Early Childhood Program at PRAB, a portion of its overall administrative expenses must be funded. The testimony of Messrs. Jannarone, Figueroa, and Beytagh-Maldonado supports the contention that GAAP is the accepted and followed set of standards, principles, and procedures. Further, it is the accepted way of doing accounting as required by State regulations and Abbott regulations. Petitioner contends that there is nothing in Circulars 04-04 or A-133 that excludes the obligation of a district or sub-grantee recipient of funds to properly conform to GAAP. Neither is there any indication in the circulars that the State is released from any obligation to reimburse administrative costs because of the definition of "State Aid." According to petitioner district, the Budget Guidelines document generated by the Department of Education is merely a series of convenient departmental decisions without any regulatory, legal, or policy basis, and they should be rejected.

The Department contends that it has properly disallowed the special requests submitted by PRAB. Pursuant to the Court's directives in the Abbott v. Burke litigations, the Department is required to ensure that Abbott districts and their providers develop and implement high quality preschool programs. In Abbott VIII, the Court directed the Department to establish clear guidelines and criteria for a high quality preschool program. Abbott VIII, 170 N.J. 537, 546-549, 556-559 (2002). It is the Department's position that it consequently has set forth very specific items that it believes are essential to the provision of an Abbott preschool program, while also limiting administrative and support costs and expenditures to those that are customary, reasonable and necessary for the provision of a high quality preschool program. The Department contends that it reviewed PRAB's special requests and properly determined that the requests were not consistent with Department Guidance, were not warranted, and were unnecessary for the provision of its preschool program in petitioner school district.

More specifically, the Department contends that it is not required to fund additional administrative costs merely because PRAB has allocated those costs to the Abbott preschool program. That PRAB may be required to apportion its costs to various programs it oversees, including the Abbott preschool program, to accurately reflect the time its employees have spent does not obligate the Department to reimburse PRAB in accord with that apportionment when the costs are over and above those approved by the Department as necessary for the provision of a high quality preschool program. In determining the educational and administrative elements required, the Department approved three directors and clerical staff for PRAB. The Department also approved funding for janitors, office equipment, office materials, food-related paper supplies, cleaning supplies, food for meetings, rent, mortgage and other costs for space, building and grounds maintenance and repairs, utilities, telecommunications, security, insurance, accounting fees, payroll preparation, advertising, and staff transportation.

PRAB will receive $629,638 in administrative costs, and it is requesting for administrative costs an additional $182,995. While PRAB has been permitted funding for three directors for its 15 classrooms spread over three locations, it seeks to charge to the Abbott preschool program 60 percent of the costs of an executive director and deputy director, fiscal manager, senior bookkeeper, part-time bookkeeper, executive administrative assistant, aide to the administrative assistant, and human resources employee. The Department contends that PRAB did not demonstrate why any of these additional administrative and executive staff members were required to spend any of their time overseeing the preschool program. If an administrative staff member is performing accounting or clerical or supervisory services for the preschool program, the time could be charged to the appropriate clerical, director, or accounting line items in the budget.

The Department emphasizes that the funds PRAB receives from the school district pursuant to its contract for the provision of educational services should not be characterized as a grant. Rather, early childhood funding is State aid appropriated by the Legislature. See, FY2005 Appropriations Act, L. 2004, c. 71, N.J.S.A. 18A:7F-16. The Department awards State aid to the district for the costs of its early childhood program, and the district may enter into contracts with community preschool providers for the provision of the mandated preschool services for the district's children. N.J.A.C. 6A:10A-2.2(b). Thus, any funding that the district pays to PRAB pursuant to the terms of its contract is the State aid that the district received from the Department for early childhood education or is from the local tax levy.

The Department does not dispute the assertion that GAAP and the State and Federal OMB circulars that govern PRAB's Federal and State grants require PRAB to allocate its expenses to the programs based upon the amount of time it employees work on each program or service. Further, the Department does not assert that PRAB is able to allocate costs it incurs in the Abbott preschool program to its other programs. However, merely because PRAB is required to allocate its expenses to various programs, including the Abbott preschool program, does not mean that the Department, or any other program, is required to reimburse PRAB for those allocated general and overhead costs. Accounting allocation is an insufficient justification for the additional administrative costs. In other words, there is no legal obligation for the Department to fund those costs over and above the administrative and supportive services determined by the Department to be necessary for the provision of a high quality preschool program.

The Department contends that it properly disallowed PRAB's request for additional cook's assistants. PRAB requested funding for additional cooking staff in the amount of $26,735. Under the Department's Provider Guidelines, the cooking staff deemed necessary for every 180 preschool children is one full-time cook and one full-time cook's assistant. PRAB provides services to 225 Abbott preschool children. Under the guidelines, centers serving more than 180 children should consult with their Office of Early Childhood Education liaison for guidance in determining the quantity of cooks and cook's helpers. Susan Bruder, the OECE program specialist assigned to petitioner district, consulted with PRAB and determined that in addition to one full-time cook and one full-time cook's assistant, funding for an additional .83 of a cook's assistant's salary was warranted.

The Department based its determination regarding the ratio of cooking staff to students upon its preferred model of a family-style meal service, rather than on cost. PRAB's insistence that it needs additional cooks to properly prepare and serve its meals is likely due to PRAB's provision of individual meals rather than family-style meals. The Department's preference for family-style meals is based upon the view that in a preschool setting, family-style meals serve an important curriculum function by teaching children about sharing, waiting their turn, table manners, and conversational skills. Accordingly, the Department asserts that its determination to deny PRAB's request for funding for additional cooking staff should be affirmed.

The Department contends that PRAB has failed to demonstrate that its special request for additional funding for security is warranted. PRAB was approved for $8,500 for security costs, which it may use to maintain and upgrade its existing security system. This system prompts timely responses from the New Brunswick Police Department when triggered. However, none of the alarm calls signaled to the police station resulted in the filing of a police report. The only alleged crime committed in or around the location of the preschool programs was a claim of theft that the police investigation report identified as unfounded. Pursuant to the Provider Guidelines, to warrant additional funding for security, a provider must document a high incidence of crime that poses an imminent threat to the staff, children and property of the center. It is the Department's position that in the absence of such a showing by PRAB, it properly denied PRAB's special request for additional security funding.

The Department contends that it properly disallowed PRAB's request for additional funding for fringe benefits for non-teaching staff. Funding for non-teaching staff benefits should be limited to 12.5 percent of non-teaching staff salaries, because the Department reviewed United States Department of Labor statistics regarding the cost of fringe benefits and determined that 12.5 percent was a reasonable level to enable private preschool providers to offer benefits to their non-teaching staff. Some providers do not provide benefits to their employees while other providers choose to provide more than 12.5 percent of salaries, and the Department's determination to fund non-teaching staff benefits up to 12.5 percent of non-teaching staff salaries is not meant to interfere with or prohibit providers from selecting and offering the benefits they wish. There is no legal impediment to an employer providing different benefit plans to different classes of employees.

PRAB does select its own benefit package, and the Department has no control over its terms and costs. The Department asserts that it is unreasonable to suggest that it must fund every provider's benefits package under this circumstance. Given the variety of benefits that a preschool provider may offer its employees, the Department contends that 12.5 percent represents a reasonable threshold to reimburse private providers for their non-teaching staff benefits. By establishing such a threshold, the Department is encouraging private providers to obtain cost effective benefit programs.

The Department argues that it properly denied PRAB's special request in the amount of $30,306 representing the full cost of the provider's contract with its cleaning contractor. It is undisputed that PRAB has one full-time janitor and utilizes an outside cleaning contractor. The Department approved funding for both the janitor and the cleaning contract on the budgetary line for "janitor salary." PRAB contends that an additional line must be used so that the cost of the janitor and the cost of the cleaning contractor are separate. However, this concern was raised last year and the Department advised that the costs are appropriately reflected in the one line item; the Department is aware that the line item "janitor salary" contains costs for both the janitor salary and the cleaning contractor. Since the Department approved the cost for both the janitor salary and the cleaning services, PRAB's special request for an additional $30,306 for cleaning services is unwarranted.

Findings and Conclusions

Having considered the evidence presented and the arguments of the parties, it is my view that the Department's reasons for denying PRAB's special requests were in each instance well-grounded in the applicable Provider Guidance or otherwise clearly rational and directly related to the mandated standard of provision of high quality preschool programs in Abbott districts. I so FIND. For private provider PRAB to receive funding over and above the Provider Guidance, petitioner district must establish that the funding is warranted for provision of a high quality preschool educational program. I FIND that the Department's evidence and arguments as to each of the special requests at issue in this matter were more persuasive than the evidence and arguments presented by petitioner district. For this reason, I CONCLUDE that petitioner district has failed to meet its burden to establish that any of PRAB's denied special requests are necessary to adequately and efficiently fund a high quality preschool educational program. Thus, I further CONCLUDE that this appeal should be DISMISSED.

It is so ORDERED.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within the time allowed under the existing orders of the New Jersey Supreme Court and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Notwithstanding the provisions of any rule to the contrary, exceptions to Initial Decisions of the Office of Administrative Law in Early Childhood Program appeal matters shall be filed within five (5) days of the date of mailing of the Initial Decision, and reply exceptions shall be filed within two (2) days of receipt of exceptions. File written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

IN THE MATTER OF THE TENURE	:
HEARING OF DR. JOHN HOWARD, JR.,	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE CITY OF	:	DECISION
EAST ORANGE, ESSEX COUNTY.	:

SYNOPSIS

Petitioner East Orange Board of Education certified tenure charges of unbecoming conduct and/or other just cause for dismissal against superintendent of schools, Dr. John Howard Jr. Respondent was suspended without pay for a period of 120 calendar days in accordance with the tenure employee's hearings law. N.J.S.A. 18A:6-10 et seq. Subsequently, a second set of tenure charges was filed relating to respondent's lying under oath in a deposition. The petitioning Board suspended respondent for a second period of 120 calendar days without pay. The ALJ refused the Board's application to consolidate these charges with those already pending; a hearing was held on the first set of tenure charges; an Initial Decision was issued by the OAL wherein Respondent was determined to have engaged in conduct unbecoming a superintendent of schools; the Initial Decision was affirmed by the Commissioner and the State Board of Education with some modification; and the penalty of termination was upheld. With regard to the instant set of tenure charges, the Board sought partial summary judgment, and as penalty, the forfeiture of respondent's 120 calendar days pay. Respondent sought dismissal of the second set of tenure charges, arguing, inter alia, that his voluntary recanting of his dishonest testimony mitigated his admitted behavior.

Upon consideration of the facts and submissions in this matter, the ALJ found that the respondent engaged in the behavior alleged; that the conduct in which respondent engaged was deceptive and dishonest, and warranted the imposition of the most severe sanction available, which is the forfeiture of 120 days' pay withheld at the time this suspension was imposed. The ALJ granted summary judgment in favor of the petitioning Board.

Upon a thorough and independent review of the record in this matter, including the exception arguments advanced by the parties, the Commissioner concurs with the findings and conclusions of the ALJ as expressed in the Initial Decision, and emphasizes that, despite respondent's efforts to characterize this case otherwise, this matter is first and foremost a tenure proceeding with the underlying issue being whether the respondent engaged in conduct unbecoming. Accordingly, the Initial Decision is adopted as the final decision in this matter for the reasons expressed therein. The matter shall be transmitted to the State Board of Examiners for action as that body deems appropriate.

AGENCY DKT. NO. 271-7/01

IN THE MATTER OF THE TENURE	:
HEARING OF DR. JOHN HOWARD, JR.,	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE CITY OF	:	DECISION
EAST ORANGE, ESSEX COUNTY.	:

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed. Respondent's exceptions and the East Orange Board of Education's (Board) reply thereto were submitted in accordance with N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4 and were duly considered by the Commissioner in reaching his determination.

Respondent contends that the Administrative Law Judge's (ALJ) failure to conduct a hearing, "as called for by the Commissioner," to determine whether the Board inequitably and deliberately timed the assertion of a second set of tenure charges against him so as to deprive him of an additional 120 days of salary, denied him the opportunity to conduct discovery to discern when the Board became aware of the facts pertaining to the second set of charges and why the Board delayed in bringing those charges. (Respondent's Exceptions at 1) If the second set of tenure charges had been timely asserted, respondent maintains, there would have been only one 120-day period of withholding, not two as occurred herein. (Id. at 2.) Respondent, therefore, claims that because the Board withheld the second set of charges so as to deprive him of an additional 120 days of salary, he is entitled to the 120 days of salary, regardless of whether the second set of charges are founded. (Ibid.)

Additionally, respondent argues that: 1) the record is incomplete; 2) the ALJ failed to conduct any inquiry into the "fact sensitive" timing of the Board's filing of a second set of tenure charges; 3) the record does not support the ALJ's conclusion that the earliest the Board knew of respondent's conduct was March 8, 2001; and 4) the ALJ draws an impermissible inference excusing the Board's delay. (Ibid.) In this regard, respondent contends that there is no evidence to suggest that the Board was so distracted by pending business that it could not attend to tenure charges and opines that the ALJ's ascription of an innocent motive for the Board's delay, without a hearing, has effectively denied his statutory right to be paid during the pendency of tenure charges. (Ibid.)

Moreover, respondent claims that he regrets his failure to disclose his personal romantic relationship in his September 6, 2002 deposition, but notes that he corrected his misleading statements and points to N.J.S.A. 2C:28-1(d) in arguing that recantation, or correction of misleading testimony, is an affirmative defense to perjury. (Id. at 3) In that he corrected his deposition only a day after he had been suspended by the Board and the misleading testimony had no apparent prejudicial impact on the Board, respondent reasons, the additional suspension of 120 days under these circumstances was not warranted. (Ibid.)

In conclusion, respondent asks the Commissioner to remand this matter and direct the ALJ to conduct a hearing, claiming that the Commissioner's decision of December 17, 2001 instructing the ALJ to conduct a hearing into this fact sensitive-matter was patently clear, and that the ALJ herein did not heed this instruction. (Id. at 3-4) Claiming that the aftermath of the hearing of the first set of tenure charges affected the ALJ's judgment in this matter, respondent requests that the within matter be assigned to another ALJ on remand. (Id. at 3)

In response, the Board avers, inter alia, that there is nothing in N.J.S.A. 18A:6-10 or the implementing regulations which specifies that tenure charges be certified within a specific period of time. (Board's Reply Brief at 2) Additionally, the Board points out that respondent did not submit his affidavit admitting to the conduct which forms the basis of the second set of tenure charges until March 9, 2001. (Ibid.) Given that the first set of tenure charges had been filed in January and tenure charges cannot be amended, the Board asserts, the earliest it could have certified the charges would have been the end of March, a week or so before the first 120 days of unpaid suspension was to expire. (Ibid.) The Board, therefore, concludes that respondent's argument that it purposely timed the second set of tenure charges to deprive him of another 120 days' pay is "simply a red herring." (Id. at 3)

Moreover, the Board contends, the purpose of a tenure proceeding is to determine whether the teaching staff member engaged in conduct warranting dismissal and, as the ALJ correctly noted, there is nothing in the tenure laws which "requires or permits inquiry into the motive behind the certification of the charges or the timing of certifying them." (Ibid.) The Board further points out that respondent admitted to lying under oath and argues that, once the ALJ determined that respondent's action constituted unbecoming conduct, the Board was under no obligation to return the money withheld from respondent's second unpaid suspension since it is only when tenure charges are dismissed that the charged employee is entitled to a return of the pay withheld. (Ibid.)

With respect to whether the appropriate penalty was imposed in this matter by the ALJ, the Board avers that, since respondent has already been dismissed from his position, the forfeiture of 120 days' pay is completely justified under the circumstances. (Id. at 5) In support thereof, the Board contends that respondent's retraction of his false testimony only three days before the deposition of Joyce Jackson, when the truth was going to surface, does not exonerate his misconduct, and points to In re Caruba, 139 N.J. Eq. 404 (Ct. of Chancery, 1947) in maintaining that, based upon well-settled law, there is no excuse for respondent's conduct. (Ibid.) Whether or not the Board was harmed by respondent's conduct is irrelevant, the Board argues, because, by lying under oath, respondent abused the public trust. Moreover, the Board points out, respondent fails to realize that he could have been ordered to pay monies beyond the 120 days' pay which was already withheld. (Ibid.)

Upon a careful and independent review of the record in this matter, including the exception arguments advanced by the parties, the Commissioner agrees with the findings and conclusions of the ALJ as expressed in the Initial Decision. Initially, the Commissioner notes that, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(b) and Contini v. Bd. of Educ. of Newark, 286 N.J. Super. 106, 121-122 (App. Div. 1995) (citing Brill v. Guardian Life Ins. Co., 142 N.J. 520 (1995)), summary decision may be granted in an administrative proceeding if there is no genuine issue of material fact in dispute and the moving party is entitled to prevail as a matter of law. For the reasons that follow, the Commissioner concurs that this matter satisfies the above criteria for grant of summary decision to the Board.

Notwithstanding respondent's efforts to characterize this case as a dispute over whether an additional 120 days' pay was properly withheld when the second set of tenure charges was filed, this matter is first and foremost a tenure proceeding with the underlying issue being whether respondent engaged in the behavior alleged and whether such conduct constitutes conduct unbecoming a teaching staff member. Thus, whether respondent's additional suspension without pay was inequitable under the circumstances is a secondary matter to be resolved within the context of the tenure proceedings. Respondent admits that he lied under oath, thus admitting that he engaged in the conduct which forms the basis of the tenure charge of unbecoming conduct. In that the material facts in a tenure proceeding consist of those which establish whether the individual engaged in the conduct charged, and in that respondent herein admits that he lied under oath, the Commissioner concludes that there is no material fact in dispute with regard to the tenure charge which would prevent this matter from being decided on a summary basis.

With respect to respondent's claim that the Commissioner's decision of December 17, 2001 required the ALJ to conduct a "hearing," the Commissioner also finds that his prior interlocutory decision does not preclude deciding this matter on a summary basis. The December 17 determination states, in pertinent part:

> Whether, however, the Board's certification of charges in Howard II on July 24, 2001, along with its resultant suspension of respondent without pay, was inequitable under the circumstances, remains a fact-sensitive question to be determined upon hearing. (Commissioner's Decision on Respondent's Request for Interlocutory Review, dated December 17, 2001)

The Commissioner points out that N.J.A.C. 1:1-2.1 defines "hearing" as "a proceeding conducted by a judge for the purpose of determining disputed issues of fact, law or disposition" and "plenary hearing" as "a complete and full proceeding conducted before a judge, providing the parties with discovery, the opportunity to present evidence, to give sworn testimony, to cross-examine witness and to make arguments." The Commissioner emphasizes that he did not specify that a plenary hearing was to be conducted in this matter, but, instead, indicated that the ancillary issue of the second suspension without pay was to be determined upon hearing. In this matter, the parties were provided a full opportunity to be heard through the submission of legal briefs and certifications. Accordingly, the ALJ provided respondent the due process contemplated by the Commissioner and to which he was entitled.

Turning to whether respondent's admitted conduct constitutes conduct unbecoming a teaching staff member, the Commissioner is not persuaded by respondent's contention that correcting his testimony mitigates his conduct. While recantation may be an affirmative defense to perjury, it does not excuse respondent's deceptive and dishonest conduct in a school setting. In lying under oath about a relationship with a subordinate employee of the school district, respondent not only violated the fundamental principles underlying our system of justice, but also violated the public trust placed in him as superintendent of schools. The Commissioner, therefore, finds respondent guilty of conduct unbecoming a teaching staff member. In so determining, the Commissioner emphasizes that, as noted by the State Board in In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Frank J. Napoli, 1988 S.L.D. 284, 288:

> If the standard of behavior required of teachers is stringent, the standard for high administrative personnel must be even more stringent. As was noted in In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Louis Cirangle, 1980 S.L.D. 95, 96, aff'd by the State Board, 1980 S.L.D. 97, aff'd, Docket #A-3967-79A (App. Div. Jan 30, 1981), certif. Denied, 87 N.J. 347 (1981): The position of Chief School Administrator, difficult at best, cannot be exemplified by one who displays less than the self-restraint and controlled behavior requisite as an example to the Board, teachers and pupils alike.

In assessing the penalty to be imposed, the Commissioner concurs with the reasoning of the ALJ that respondent's conduct warrants the imposition of the most severe sanction available. Given the removal of respondent from his position as a result of the first set of tenure charges, the only available penalty is the forfeiture of the 120 days' pay withheld at the time respondent was suspended for this set of tenure charges. With respect to respondent's argument that the Board deliberately timed this second set of tenure charges so as to deprive him of an additional 120 days of pay, the Commissioner finds this argument specious, given respondent's opposition to the Board's Motion to Consolidate the two sets of tenure charges.

(See Respondent's Brief in Opposition to the Board's Motion to Consolidate, dated July 21, 2001) Were it not for respondent's opposition, these two sets of charges may have been consolidated, thus conceivably dictating a different result as to whether respondent would suffer the additional withholding of 120 days' pay. Moreover, whatever the equities may have been with respect to the second 120 days of pay withheld at the time of filing of the within tenure charge, given the conclusion that respondent is guilty of unbecoming conduct as a result of this tenure proceeding, the equities clearly lie with the Board at this juncture. The Commissioner, therefore, concludes that the appropriate penalty, under these particular circumstances, is the forfeiture of the 120 days' pay withheld as the result of the Board's certification of the within tenure charges on July 24, 2001.

Accordingly, the Initial Decision is adopted as the final decision in this matter for the reasons stated therein and as set forth above. This matter shall be transmitted to the State Board of Examiners for action as that body deems appropriate.

IN THE MATTER OF THE TENURE HEARING OF DR. JOHN HOWARD, JR., BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE CITY OF EAST ORANGE, ESSEX COUNTY.

Stephen J. Edelstein, Esq., appearing for Petitioner East Orange Board of Education (Schwartz, Simon, Edelstein, Celso & Kessler, attorneys)

Robert P. Merenich, appearing for Respondent Dr. John Howard, Jr., (Gemmel, Todd & Merenich, attorneys)

Record Closed: January 11, 2005 Decided: February 18, 2005

BEFORE MARIA MANCINI LA FIANDRA, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Petitioner East Orange Board of Education certified tenure charges of unbecoming conduct and/or other just cause for dismissal against superintendent of schools, Dr. John Howard Jr., the Respondent herein. Respondent was suspended without pay for a period of 120 calendar days upon certification of the charges in accordance with a tenure employee's hearings law. N.J.S.A. 18A:6-10 et seq.

A hearing was conducted on those charges and an Initial Decision was issued wherein Respondent was found to have engaged in conduct unbecoming a superintendent of schools. The Initial Decision was substantially affirmed by the Commissioner and State Board of Education with some modification and the penalty of termination was upheld. This case, hereinafter Howard I, bore OAL Dkt. No. EDU 1528-01. In preparation for the hearing on the charges in Howard I, certified on January 9, 2001, the parties conducted discovery, including the taken of Respondent's deposition. As a result of information obtained during Respondent's deposition, a second set of tenure charges was prepared against Howard consisting of three charges. The Board determined to certify two of those three charges on July 21, 2001. The second set of charges alleged, inter alia, Respondent had lied under oath in a disposition conducted on September 6, 2000, in a case brought against the Board, Respondent and others captioned R. Leonard Moore v. The East Orange Board of Education, Law Div. – Essex Co., Dkt. #L3985-99. The Board suspended Respondent for a second period of 120 calendar days without pay.

The Board made an application to consolidate these charges with those which were pending before me at the time these were certified. However, since the hearing had commenced and since the charges in this case (Howard II) were separate and distinct from those in Howard I, that application was denied.

Respondent Howard made an application for restoration of his salary withheld for 120 days as a result of the second set of charges. In that application, he asserted the Board could not impose seriatim suspensions without pay. I denied that application by way of written order entered on November 20, 2001; my determination was affirmed by the Commissioner on December 17, 2001.

I issued an Initial Decision on the first set of tenure charges and recommended the dismissal of Respondent from his tenured position with the Petitioner Board. The decision was adopted with modification by the Commissioner, the Commissioner's decision was affirmed by the State Board of Education. Respondent did not file an appeal with the Appellate Division and the time for so doing has expired.

Respondent has requested the Board voluntarily dismiss the second set of tenure charges as moot and restore the second 120 days pay which had been withheld upon certification of the second set of charges. The Board is not willing to consent to the return of these monies, taking the position that since the issue of the 120 days pay remains in dispute, the second set of tenure charges are not moot and require adjudication on the merits. I concur with the Board's assertion and note Respondent did not dispute the assertion that the charges are not moot.

Accordingly, the Board seeks partial summary decision with regard to Charge II of the second set of tenure charges, wherein it is alleged Respondent engaged, among other things, "in a course of deception, deceit, false swearing and/or perjury which constitutes conduct unbecoming a teaching staff member and/or other just cause for dismissal". The Board seeks, as a penalty against Dr. Howard, the forfeiture of his 120 calendar days pay which was withheld upon certification of the second set of tenure charges. In addition, the Board seeks referral of this matter to the State Board of Education for possible certificate revocation.

The decision in Howard I was issued on February 6, 2002 and the parties agreed to place this case on the inactive list during the course of the appeal process; the appropriate orders were issued; the time for filing an appeal in the Appellate Division has expired and the Board has filed this motion for summary decision.

ANALYSIS AND CONCLUSIONS

The rules of this forum provide a party may move for summary decision at any time after a case is determined to be contested. A motion for summary decision shall be rendered if the submissions, including discovery and affidavits, if any, show there is no genuine issue as to a material fact challenged and that the moving party is entitled to prevail as a matter of law. In order to prevail, an adverse party must respond be setting forth specific facts showing there is a genuine issue which can only be determined in an evidentiary proceeding. N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(a).

In this case, Count II of the second set of charges against Dr. Howard alleges he provided false and misleading testimony under oath regarding his relationship with Board employee Joyce Jackson. In his verified Answer and Affirmative Defenses, Dr. Howard admits he was deposed on September 6, 2000, in a case brought against the Board and him, wherein he testified he had no knowledge about a particular Board employee, he did not know where she lived, he did not know how old she was or how long she had been employed in the district, could not describe he physically, and he did not ever date her.

Dr. Howard retracted all of these statements as well as interrogatory answers relating to these issues by admitting he did have a "personal relationship" with the employee in a certification dated March 8, 2001, submitted prior to the employee's own deposition in the civil matter. Moreover, in his deposition in the tenure matter known as Howard I, Dr. Howard admitted he had lied in his deposition on September 6, 2000. The Board relies on these uncontroverted facts to seek summary decision.

Respondent, on the other hand, in his response, asserts he corrected any impropriety in his failure to report his personal relationship with a Board employee and notes no charges, civil or criminal flowed from the correction of the record. In addition, he asserts the Board knew or should have known at least as early as March 8, 2001 that Dr. Howard had corrected his deposition testimony given in the civil case against the Board and him, among others. In his deposition, according to Respondent, he lied in order to protect the employee's reputation.

In his response to the application for summary decision, Respondent asserts there is no ". . . validated claim of prejudice due to Dr. Howard's correction of the deposition record, . . . " and, further, notes in the Commissioner's letter of December 17, 2001, then Commissioner Gagliardi noted the determination of "[w]hether the Board's certification of charges in Howard II on July 24, 2001 along with its resultant suspension without pay, was inequitable under the circumstances, remains a fact-sensitive question to be determined upon hearing.

The material facts in a tenure proceeding consist of those which establish whether the respondent in a tenure matter engaged in specific behavior which rose to the level of conduct unbecoming a member of the teaching staff. I find nothing in the statute which requires the board certifying such charges to do so within a specific period of time.

Here, according to Respondent, the Board should have either certified these charges earlier or moved to amend the earlier charges. He contends that, because "the balance of [the] tenure charges against [Respondent] arise from conduct [the Board] learned from allegations that arose from [the] 1999 lawsuit" it appears the Board deliberately waited to pose the second set of charges until July 2001. Respondent fails to consider, however, that the Board only became aware of the conduct, i.e., that Howard had lied under oath, at the earliest, in March 2001, six months after the deposition had taken place and approximately two months after the first set of charges had been certified. It is a fair inference to be drawn that the business of board elections and reorganization, as well as end of the school year preparations may have caused some delay in certifying these second charges.

The only issue to be determined by the trier of fact in a tenure hearing is, as I noted above, whether the respondent engaged in conduct unbecoming a member of the teaching staff. There is no dispute in this case; in his verified answer to these charges, Respondent admitted he lied under oath. I can find nothing in the tenure statute which requires or permits inquiry into the motive behind the certification of the charges or the timing of certifying them.

Respondent has admitted he engaged in the conduct which forms the predicate for the charges. He asserts, however, that the nature of his behavior is somehow mitigated because he retracted the untruths or because there were no charges following the behavior or because there was "no stated claim of prejudice in Petitioner's papers due to Dr. Howard's correction of the deposition record . . . ." Although all of these issues may be argued and conclusions drawn from these facts, simply put, none of this is relevant. Nor is it relevant that he retracted his statements only several days before the employee was to be deposed. The only relevant issues are whether Dr. Howard engaged in the behavior which is the basis of this charge; if so, does that behavior constitute conduct unbecoming a member of the teaching staff, and, further, if so, what is the appropriate penalty.

It is undisputed that Dr. Howard engaged in the behavior alleged, and I do so FIND. I must now determine if that conduct constitutes conduct unbecoming a member of the teaching staff.

As I noted in the Initial Decision in Howard I, the Commissioner has repeatedly and consistently affirmed the importance of holding teaching staff members to a high standard of honesty, integrity and judgment. The Board cites In re Tenure Hearing of Ortiz, 86 S.L.D., aff'd, Comm'r of Ed., 86 S.L.D. 1004, aff'd, St. Bd., 86 S.L.D. 1008, where the Commissioner of Education found that a tenured teacher's falsification of an employment application constituted conduct unbecoming as to warrant dismissal and in In the Matter of Vitacco, 97 N.J.A.R. 2d (EDU) 449, aff'd, Comm'r of Ed., 97 N.J.A.R. 2d (EDU) 454 where the Commissioner referred to the position of a school superintendent as a person in whom the public is required to place considerable reliance with respect to, among other things, his honesty and integrity. In lying during his deposition, Dr. Howard violated fundamental principles underlying our system of justice in circumstances which, as the Board points out, directly related to his employment. There is no greater breach of the public trust. I FIND, therefore, the conduct in which Respondent Howard engaged was deceptive and dishonest.

There is no question that this conduct warrants the imposition of the most severe sanction available. Since dismissal cannot be ordered and, as the Board notes, the only penalty available is forfeiture of the 120 days' pay withheld at the time this suspension was imposed, I CONCLUDE that is the penalty to be imposed in this matter. Further, I CONCLUDE this matter should be referred to the State Board for consideration of revoking Respondent's certificates.

Finally, I am cognizant of Commissioner Gagliardi's comment in his letter of December 17, 2001, affirming my determination denying Howard's application for partial summary decision seeking restoration of his salary in connection with this set of tenure charges, that the resolution of whether the certification and the resultant suspension of respondent without pay was inequitable under the circumstances, remains a fact-sensitive question to be determined upon hearing. Considering the short period of time between the discovery of the behavior and the certifying of charges in Howard II, the nature of the charges which I have already found are separate and distinct from those in Howard I,[1] and there is no dispute with regard to the material relevant facts to the issue of whether Respondent engaged in the conduct alleged in light of Dr. Howard's admission that he engaged in the behavior forming the predicate for this charge, I FIND the Board acted reasonably under the circumstances; I further FIND no inequity in imposing the second suspension without pay.

ORDER

I hereby ORDER the Board's application for summary decision be and hereby is GRANTED; I further ORDER the matter be and hereby is referred to the Stated Board of Education for consideration of the revocation of Respondent's certificates.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen (13) days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

SYNOPSIS

Petitioner challenged the non-renewal of her employment for the 2003-2004 school year by the Pequannock Township Board of Education, claiming violation of petitioner's tenure rights. Petitioner alleged that she had gained tenure in the position of Secretary and/or Office Aide pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:17-2. The Board controverted petitioner's claim to tenure, and the matter was transmitted to the OAL as a contested case. Prior to the hearing, the Board filed a motion for summary decision. Subsequently, petitioner also filed a motion for summary judgment.

The ALJ found that there were no material facts in dispute, and that the matter was ripe for summary disposition. The ALJ identified the critical debate between the parties to be the issue of whether or not the governing statute permits the petitioner to count or "tack" the time she was employed as an Office Aide to her service time as Secretary for the purpose of determining that she accrued a tenure status. Based upon a review of the certifications submitted by both parties, the exhibits attached to these certifications, the stipulated facts set forth in a supplemental submission, and the oral argument on cross motions, the ALJ found that: 1) petitioner's position as an Office Aide was tenure eligible pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:17-2, but petitioner did not accrue tenure in either the Office Aide position or the position of Secretary since her service time does not satisfy the precise conditions of the statute; 2) petitioner may not combine the time she was employed in the position of Office Aide with the time she was employed as a Secretary for purposes of accruing tenure in the position of Secretary; and 3) petitioner may not tack the time she was employed as Secretary to the time she was employed as Office Aide for the purpose of accruing tenure in a clerical position. Accordingly, the ALJ granted the Board's motion for summary judgment; denied the petitioner's motion for summary judgment; and dismissed the instant petition with prejudice.

Upon a thorough and independent review of the record in this matter, including the parties' exception arguments, the Commissioner concurs with the findings and conclusions in the Initial Decision. Accordingly, the Initial Decision, granting summary decision to the Board, is adopted for the reasons expressed therein.

BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE TOWNSHIP OF PEQUANNOCK, MORRIS COUNTY,	:	DECISION
RESPONDENT.	:

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed. Petitioner's exceptions and the Pequannock Township Board of Education's (Board) reply thereto were submitted in accordance with N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4 and were duly considered by the Commissioner in reaching his determination.

In her exceptions, petitioner reiterates the arguments expressed before the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) in support of her contention that she accrued tenure in the position of secretary or, in the alternative, in the position of a clerical employee. In setting forth her position, petitioner relies on numerous cases including, inter alia: Carlson, supra; Carnathan, supra; Euell, supra; and Sitek, supra, wherein certificated teaching staff members achieved tenure under similar circumstances, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:28-5 and N.J.S.A. 18A:28-6, which were considered and rejected by the ALJ as not applicable to the question of whether petitioner herein attained tenure under N.J.S.A. 18A:17-2.

Upon a thorough and independent review of the record in this matter, including the parties' exception arguments, the Commissioner concurs with the findings and conclusions in the Initial Decision wherein the ALJ determined that petitioner's position as an office aide is tenure eligible, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:17-2, but that petitioner did not accrue tenure in either the position of secretary or a clerical position since her service time does not satisfy the precise conditions of the statute. The Commissioner also emphasizes in reaching this conclusion his concurrence that petitioner may not combine the time she was employed in the position of office aide to the time she was employed as a ten-month secretary for purposes of accruing tenure in the position of secretary, nor may she tack the time she was employed as a ten-month secretary to the time she was employed as an office aide for the purpose of accruing tenure in a clerical position.

Accordingly, the Initial Decision, granting summary decision to the Board, is adopted for the reasons expressed therein.

DIANNE GIARDINA,

Petitioner,

v.

PEQUANNOCK TOWNSHIP BOARD OF EDUCATION, MORRIS COUNTY,

Respondent.

Gregory T. Syrek, Esq., for petitioner (Bucceri and Pincus, attorneys)

Greg K. Vitali, Esq., for respondent (Lindabury, McCormick & Estabrook attorneys)

Record Closed: October 26, 2004 Decided: February 18, 2005

BEFORE MARGARET M. MONACO, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

In this matter, the petitioner, Dianne Giardina, challenges the non-renewal of her employment for the 2003-2004 school year by the respondent, the Pequannock Township Board of Education (the Board). Petitioner alleges that she gained tenure in the position of Secretary and/or Office Aide pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:17-2 and the Board's decision not to renew her employment violates petitioner's tenure rights. The Board controverts petitioner's claim to tenure.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On July 10, 2003, petitioner filed a Verified Petition with the Commissioner of the Department of Education (the Department) alleging violation of her tenure rights and seeking reinstatement to a position of employment within the scope of her tenure status, along with back pay and benefits. The Board filed an Answer to Petition on July 25, 2003. Subsequently, the Department transmitted the matter to the Office of Administrative Law where, on August 19, 2003, it was filed for determination as a contested case. On September 15, 2003, the matter was assigned to the undersigned for disposition. A prehearing conference was held, after which a Prehearing Order was entered on October 21, 2003. The hearing scheduled for May 13 and May 14, 2004 was adjourned at petitioner's request and rescheduled for July 12, July 14, and July 16, 2004. Prior to the hearing, the Board filed a motion for summary decision. Petitioner responded by filing a cross-motion for summary decision in her favor. The undersigned heard oral argument on the cross-motions on August 20, 2004. After the receipt of supplemental submissions, the record was closed on October 26, 2004.[1]

ISSUE PRESENTED

The pivotal issue presented is whether petitioner met the statutory qualifications embodied in N.J.S.A. 18A:17-2 necessary to obtain tenure status in the position of Office Aide and/or Secretary.

FINDINGS OF FACT

The relevant facts are not in dispute. Based upon a review of the Certification of Dr. Jacqueline L. Cusack, the Superintendent of Schools for the Board (Cusack Cert.), the Certification of Greg K. Vitali, Esq. (Vitali Cert.), the Certification of Dianne Giardina (Giardina Cert.), the Certification of Gregory T. Syrek, Esq. (Syrek Cert.), the exhibits attached to the aforesaid Certifications and the stipulated facts set forth in a supplemental submission (Vitali letter dated September 13, 2004), I FIND the following undisputed FACTS:

[1] Orders were requested to extend the time within which to file this Initial Decision.

1. The Board and the Pequannock Township Education Association negotiated and entered into a collective bargaining agreement for the period July 1, 1998 to June 30, 2001 (1998-2001 CBA). (Cusack Cert. at Exhibit 1).

2. The Board and the Pequannock Township Education Association negotiated and entered into a subsequent collective bargaining agreement for the period July 1, 2001 through June 30, 2004 (2001-2004 CBA). (Cusack Cert. at Exhibit 2).

3. Both the 1998-2001 CBA and the 2001-2004 CBA contain separate salary guides for Secretaries and Aides. (Cusack Cert. at Exhibit 1, Schedule E ("Secretarial Employees' Salary Guide") and Schedule G ("Aides' Salary Guide") and Cusack Cert at Exhibit 2 ("Secretary Salary Guides" and "Aides Salary Guides")).

4. Both the 1998-2001 CBA and the 2001-2004 CBA contain separate provisions governing the work year and other matters for Secretaries and Aides. (Cusack Cert. at Exhibits 1 and 2, Article 8, Section K ("Secretarial Personnel") and Section L ("Aides").

5. By letter dated July 15, 1998, petitioner applied for the position of Office Aide with the Board. (Cusack Cert. at Exhibit 3).

6. At its July 20, 1998 meeting, the Board approved the appointment of petitioner to the position of Office Aide for the 1998-1999 school year at Step 11 of the Aides' Guide and at a salary of $19,032. (Cusack Cert. at ¶12 and Exhibit 4).

7. By letter dated July 21, 1998, the Superintendent of Schools informed petitioner that the Board approved her appointment as an Office Aide for the period September 1, 1998 through June 30, 1999 at Step 11 of the Aides' Guide and at an annual salary of $19,032. (Cusack Cert. at Exhibit 5).

8. The Board and petitioner entered into an employment contract for the period September 1, 1998 through June 30, 1999 providing for petitioner's employment in the position of Office Aide at Step 11 on the Aides' Guide and at an annual salary of $19,032. (Cusack Cert. at Exhibit 6).

9. Petitioner's salary of $19,032 is the Step 11 salary depicted on the 1998-2001 CBA's Aides' Salary Guide for the 1998-1999 school year. (Cusack Cert. at Exhibit 1, Schedule G).

10. Petitioner commenced employment with the Board as an Office Aide on September 1, 1998 and continued in this position through June 30, 1999. (Cusack Cert. at ¶2 and ¶3; Giardina Cert. at ¶3).

11. At its May 10, 1999 meeting, the Board approved the reappointment of aides, including petitioner, for the 1999-2000 school year at salaries in accordance with the CBA. (Cusack Cert. at ¶15 and Exhibit 7).

12. By letter dated May 11, 1999, the Superintendent of Schools informed petitioner that the Board approved her appointment as an Office Aide for the 1999-2000 school year at a salary to be in accordance with the CBA. (Cusack Cert. at Exhibit 8).

13. The Board and petitioner entered into an employment contract for the period July 1, 1999 through June 30, 2000 providing for petitioner's employment as an Aide at Step 11 of the negotiated salary guide and at an annual salary of $19,793. (Cusack Cert. at Exhibit 9).

14. Petitioner's salary of $19,793 is the Step 11 salary depicted on the 1998-2001 CBA's Aides' Salary Guide for the 1999-2000 school year. (Cusack Cert. at Exhibit 1, Schedule G).

15. Petitioner was employed as an Office Aide from July 1, 1999 through June 30, 2000 (Giardina Cert. at ¶4).

16. At its June 12, 2000 meeting, the Board approved the reappointment of aides, including petitioner, for the 2000-2001 school year at salaries to be in accordance with the CBA. (Cusack Cert. at ¶18 and Exhibit 10).

17. By letter dated June 13, 2000, the Superintendent of Schools informed petitioner that the Board approved her appointment as an Office Aide for the 2000-2001 school year at a salary to be in accordance with the CBA. (Cusack Cert. at Exhibit 11).

18. The Board and petitioner entered into an employment contract for the period July 1, 2000 through June 30, 2001 providing for petitioner's employment as an Aide at Step 12 of the negotiated salary guide and at an annual salary of $21,597. (Cusack Cert. at Exhibit 12).

19. Petitioner's salary of $21,597 is the Step 12 salary depicted on the 1998-2001 CBA's Aides' Salary Guide for the 2000-2001 school year. (Cusack Cert. at Exhibit 1, Schedule G).

20. Shortly after the Board appointed petitioner to the position of Office Aide for the period July 1, 2000 through June 30, 2001, the Board voted to abolish the position of twelve month school secretary at Hillview School, effective August 31, 2000, for reasons of economy, staffing and in the best interests of efficient operation of the school district. At the same meeting, the Board established the position of ten month school secretary at the Hillview School effective September 1, 2000. (Cusack Cert. at ¶4 and ¶21 and Exhibit 13). At the meeting, the Board also voted to appoint petitioner to the newly created position of ten month Secretary at a salary of $25,096 for the period September 1, 2000 through June 30, 2001. (Cusack Cert. at ¶21 and Exhibit 13).

21. Effective September 1, 2000, petitioner was promoted to the new position of ten month Secretary. (Cusack Cert. at ¶4).

22. Petitioner acknowledges that her new job title and salary increase in the 2000-2001 school year represented a promotion. (Vitali Cert. at Exhibit 4, Answer to Interrogatory Nos. 14 and 15).

23. By letter dated August 22, 2000, the Superintendent of Schools informed petitioner that the Board approved her appointment as a ten month Secretary for the period September 1, 2000 through June 30, 2001 at Step 17 on the Secretarial Guide and at an annual salary of $25,096. (Cusack Cert. at Exhibit 14).

24. The Board and petitioner entered into an employment contract for the period September 1, 2000 through June 30, 2001 providing for petitioner's employment in the position of ten month Secretary at Step 17 of the negotiated salary guide and at an annual salary of $25,096. (Cusack Cert. at Exhibit 15).

25. Petitioner's salary of $25,096 is set off of the 1998-2001 CBA's Secretarial Employees' Salary Guide for the 2000-2001 school year. (Cusack Cert. at Exhibit 1, Schedule E).[2]

26. Petitioner was employed by the Board in the position of ten month Secretary for the period of September 1, 2000 through June 30, 2001. (Cusack Cert. at ¶5; Giardina Cert. at ¶6).

27. At its May 14, 2001 meeting, the Board reappointed "non-tenured secretaries," including petitioner. The Board reappointed petitioner for the period September 1, 2001 to June 30, 2002 at a salary to be in accordance with the CBA. (Cusack Cert. at ¶24 and Exhibit 16).

28. By letter dated May 15, 2001, the Superintendent of Schools informed petitioner that the Board approved her reappointment as a Secretary for the period September 1, 2001 through June 30, 2002 at a salary to be established by the Board. (Cusack Cert. at Exhibit 17).

29. The Board and petitioner entered into an employment contract for the period September 1, 2001 through June 30, 2002 providing for petitioner's employment as a Secretary at an annual salary of $29,410. (Cusack Cert. at Exhibit 18).

30. The 2001-2004 CBA provides that "Secretarial Employees with a 10 month contract will be paid at .85 of their appropriate step on the 12 month Secretarial Guide." (Cusack Cert. at Exhibit 2, Secretary Salary Guides).

31. Petitioner's salary of $29,410 represents .85 of the Step 18 salary ($34,600) depicted on the 2001-2004 CBA's Secretary Salary Guides for the 2001-2002 school year. (Cusack Cert. at Exhibit 2, Secretary Salary Guides).

[2] Although the Board's brief states that the salary reflects .85 of the salary listed in the guide because the guide salaries are for twelve month secretarial positions, .85 of the listed Step 17 salary ($30,115) equals $25,597.75, whereas petitioner's salary was $25,096. The $30,115 Step 17 salary is equal to approximately $2,509.583 a month. Petitioner's salary equals that monthly figure multiplied by ten months (i.e., $2,509.583 x 10 = $25,095.83).

32. At its May 13, 2002 meeting, the Board reappointed "non-tenured secretaries," including petitioner, for the period September 1, 2002 through June 30, 2003. (Cusack Cert. at ¶27 and Exhibit 19).

33. By letter dated May 17, 2002, the Superintendent of Schools informed petitioner that the Board approved her reappointment to the position of ten month Secretary for the period September 1, 2002 through June 30, 2003. (Cusack Cert. at Exhibit 20).

34. The Board and petitioner entered into an employment contract for the period September 1, 2002 through June 30, 2003 providing for petitioner's employment as a Secretary at Step 19 of the negotiated salary guide and at an annual salary of $31,220.50. (Cusack Cert. at Exhibit 21).

35. Petitioner's salary of $31,220.50 represents .85 of the Step 19 salary ($36,730) depicted on the 2001-2004 CBA's Secretary Salary Guides for the 2002-2003 school year. (Cusack Cert. at Exhibit 2, Secretary Salary Guides).

36. The Board did not renew petitioner's appointment to the position of ten month Secretary. (Cusack Cert. at ¶6). Petitioner's employment with the Board ceased on June 30, 2003, after her contract for the period September 1, 2002 through June 30, 2003 was not renewed. (Cusack Cert. at ¶6 and ¶30).

37. Petitioner's service may be summarized as follows:

- September 1, 1998 through June 30, 1999 – Office Aide
- July 1, 1999 through June 30, 2000 – Office Aide[3]
- September 1, 2000 through June 30, 2001 - Secretary
- September 1, 2001 through June 30, 2002 – Secretary
- September 1, 2002 through June 30, 2003 – Secretary

[3] The parties stipulated that petitioner did not work during July and August 2000. (Vitali letter dated September 13, 2004).

38. The Board does not have a Job Description for the position of Office Aide. (Vitali letter dated September 13, 2004).[4]

39. According to petitioner's Certification, while employed as an Office Aide, petitioner's job duties and responsibilities were consistent with those found in the job description for the "Clerical Employee." (Giardina Cert. at ¶5 and Exhibit P-1). Petitioner typed, made copies of documents, engaged in bookkeeping and other office-related tasks. In addition, as directed by her supervisor, petitioner also prepared all state reports (N.J. school report cards, ASSA reports), the Free Milk Program, Insurance reports and documents, budget information, organized and supplemented the Emergency Evacuation Program, took care of petty cash, the substitute teacher payroll, staff attendance, updated student rosters (incoming and outgoing students), ordered supplies and books and organized use of the school facilities by outside groups such as the Boys and Girls Clubs, Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts. As required, petitioner also interacted with parents and students on a regular basis. (Id. at ¶5).

40. The Board's Job Description for the title Clerical Employee provides that the duties and responsibilities of the title include the following:

- Duties to include a combination of typing, stenographic, duplicating, bookkeeping, or general office tasks
- Perform assigned clerical tasks in an acceptable manner and to provide necessary support to the smooth operation of school, department, or program
- Perform other related duties which are within the scope of employment responsibilities and which may be assigned by the Building Principal, by the Program Administrator or by their designee (Giardina Cert. at P-1).

[4] Similarly, the 1998-2001 CBA, which was in effect during the years petitioner served as an Office Aide, does not describe an Aide's duties and responsibilities. (Cusack Cert. at Exhibit L). Although the 2001-2004 CBA sets forth duties and responsibilities of an Aide (Cusack Cert. at Exhibit 2, Article 8, Section L), this CBA did not take effect until after petitioner ceased being an Office Aide and was employed as a Secretary.

41. According to petitioner's Certification, when employed as a ten month Secretary, her duties were consistent with the Job Description for the position of "Building or Program Secretary (Secretary I)." (Id. at ¶6). The Certification further states that, because petitioner's responsibilities as an Office Aide had been expanding over the two years she was in that job, many of her duties and responsibilities as a Secretary were the same as her job as an Office Aide. (Ibid.).

42. The Board's Job Description for the title of Building or Program Secretary[5] provides that the duties and responsibilities of such position includes the following:

- Primary responsibility for meeting the clerical support needs of the school or program as determined by the building principal or appropriate program administrator
- Perform all necessary clerical tasks relating to the smooth operation of the school unit in concert with the overall procedures of the school district
- Distribute the clerical workload among available clerical support staff
- Supervise activities of other clerical support personnel
- Perform other related duties which are within the scope of employment responsibilities and which may be assigned by the building principal or appropriate program administrator

LEGAL DISCUSSION AND CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

The Summary Decision Standard

Pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(b), summary decision "may be rendered if the papers and discovery which have been filed, together with the affidavits, if any, show that there is no genuine issue as to any material fact challenged and that the moving party is entitled to prevail as a matter of law." This rule is substantially similar to the summary judgment rule embodied in the New Jersey Court Rules R. 4:46-2. The summary judgment procedure is designed to provide a "prompt" and "inexpensive" method of disposing of a case, which does present any genuine issue of material fact requiring disposition at a hearing. Judson v. Peoples Bank & Trust Co. of Westfield, 17 N.J. 67, 74 (1954). In connection therewith, all inferences of doubt are drawn against the movant and in favor of the party against whom the motion is directed. Id. at 75. However, to defeat the motion the non-moving party must "come forward with evidence that creates a 'genuine issue as to any material fact challenged.'" Brill v. Guardian Life Insurance Co., 142 N.J. 520, 529 (1995) (citations omitted). See N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(b) Disputed issues of fact that are immaterial or of an insubstantial nature will not suffice. Brill, supra, 142 N.J. at 529 (emphasis in original). In evaluating whether or not summary decision is appropriate, the New Jersey Supreme Court has provided the following guidance:

> [A] determination whether there exists a 'genuine issue' of material fact that precludes summary judgment requires the motion judge to consider whether the competent evidential materials presented, when viewed in the light most favorable to the non-moving party, are sufficient to permit a rational fact finder to resolve the alleged disputed issue in favor of the non-moving party. The 'judge's function is not . . . to weigh the evidence and determine the truth of the matter but to determine whether there is a genuine issue for trial'. . . . Credibility determinations will continue to be made by jury and not the judge. If there exists a single, unavoidable resolution of the alleged disputed issue of fact, that issue should be considered insufficient to constitute a 'genuine' issue of material fact for purposes of Rule 4:46-2. . . .
> [Brill, supra, 142 N.J. at 540 (citations omitted).]

Judged against these standards, I CONCLUDE that there are no material facts in dispute and the matter is ripe for summary disposition.

The Tenure Statute

N.J.S.A. 18A:17-2 defines the conditions under which secretarial and clerical employees of a board of education are entitled to the security of tenure. In general, the objective of the tenure statutes is to protect competent and qualified employees, after a probationary period, from removal for "unfounded, flimsy, or political reasons."

Zimmerman v. Bd. of Educ. of the City of Newark, 38 N.J. 65, 71 (1962), cert. den., 371 U.S. 956, 83 S. Ct. 508, 9 L. Ed. 2d 502 (1963). Tenure statutes are "designed to aid in the establishment of a competent and efficient school system by affording to . . . [covered employees] a measure of security in the ranks they hold after years of service." Viemeister v. Bd. of Educ. of the Borough of Prospect Park, 5 N.J. Super. 215, 218 (App. Div. 1949). The provisions of the statute supercede contractual terms. Spiewak v. Bd. of Educ. of Rutherford, 90 N.J. 63, 72 (1982).

To acquire the security of tenure, the precise conditions enunciated in the applicable statute must be met. See Picogna v. Bd. of Educ. of the Twp. of Cherry Hill, 143 N.J. 391, 400 (1996); Kletzkin v. Bd. of Educ. of the Borough of Spotswood, 136 N.J. 275, 278 (1993); Spiewak, supra, 90 N.J. at 72; Zimmerman, supra, 38 N.J. at 72; Ahrensfield v. State Bd. of Educ., 126 N.J.L. 543, 544 (E & A 1941). Tenure "arises only by passage of time fixed by the statute. . . ." Canfield v. Bd. of Educ. of the Borough of Pine Hill, 51 N.J. 400 (1968), rev'g on dissent, 97 N.J. Super. 483, 490 (App. Div. 1967). The employee shoulders the burden of proving an entitlement to tenure protection, which ordinarily must be clearly proven. Id. at 493.

The within matter is governed by N.J.S.A. 18A:17-2. In pertinent part the statute directs:

> Any person holding any secretarial or clerical position or employment under a board of education of any school district . . . , after
> 1. The expiration of a period of employment of three consecutive calendar years in the district or such shorter period as may be fixed by the board or officer employing him, or

> 2. Employment for three consecutive academic years,[6] together with employment at the beginning of the next succeeding academic year. . . .
> shall hold his office, position or employment under tenure during good behavior and efficiency and shall not be dismissed or suspended or reduced in compensation, except for neglect, misbehavior or other

[6] N.J.S.A. 18A:17-2b2 defines "an academic year" as "the period between the time when school opens in the district after the general summer vacation and the beginning of the next succeeding summer vacation."

The Parties' Positions

The Board maintains that the positions of Office Aide and Secretary "are two totally independent and separate positions and, in order to accrue tenure in either, an employee . . . must serve the requisite probationary period in each position." The Board contends that, even if petitioner's employment as an Office Aide qualifies as a "clerical" position eligible to accrue tenure under N.J.S.A. 18A:17-2, petitioner did not serve the necessary probationary period of time in that position. The Board further asserts that petitioner cannot combine or "tack" the years she was employed as an Office Aide with the time she served as a Secretary for purposes of accruing tenure in either position.

Petitioner avers that her employment as an Office Aide is tenure eligible as a clerical position. Petitioner advocates that she should be able to apply the time she was employed in the position of Office Aide for purposes of accruing tenure as a Secretary. Accordingly, petitioner argues that she accrued tenure in the position of Secretary at the start of her fourth academic year of employment or on the first day of the 2001-2002 school year. In the alternative, petitioner maintains that she should be allowed to apply her time in the "promoted to" Secretary position to the accrual of tenure in the "promoted from" Office Aide position.

Petitioner's Office Aide Position

Initially an issue is raised concerning whether petitioner's employment as an Office Aide qualifies as a "clerical position" eligible for tenure within the intendment of N.J.S.A. 18A:17-2. In this regard, it is well settled that "[t]he duties performed rather than the title of a position must be controlling in determining whether a position is protected by tenure." Quinlan v. Bd. of Educ. of North Bergen, 1959-1960 S.L.D. 113, 114 (Comm'r. Feb. 10, 1960), rev'd on other grounds, 1960-1961 S.L.D. 243 (State Bd. March 1, 1961), aff'd, 73 N.J. Super. 40 (App. Div. 1962).

In Barnes v. Bd. of Educ. of Jersey City, 85 N.J. Super. 42 (App. Div. 1964), certif. den. 43 N.J. 450 (1964), the Appellate Division addressed the intended meaning of the phrase "clerical position" under the predecessor statute (N.J.S.A. 18:6-27) which, similar to N.J.S.A. 18A:17-2, conferred tenure on all persons "holding any secretarial or clerical position" under any board of education. The board of education appealed the State Board's determination that certain petitioners held "clerical positions" and, therefore, attained tenure under N.J.S.A. 18:6-27. In connection therewith, the board argued that "the words 'secretarial' and 'clerical' are synonymous and must be read together to denote office workers with varying skills and responsibilities, and that 'a clerk is one who under direction performs routine, repetitive, non-complex clerical work of a varied nature, as a beginner at the entrance level of employment.'" Id. at 44-45. The Appellate Division concluded that substantial credible evidence supported the State Board's determination that six petitioners held "clerical positions" within the meaning of N.J.S.A. 18:6-27. Id. at 45. See Barnes, supra, 1963 S.L.D. 240, 245-46 (State Bd. Dec. 4, 1963) (providing a description of the petitioners' duties). In rejecting the board's interpretation of the statute, the Appellate Division stated:

> We cannot agree that the phrase 'clerical position' has the restricted meaning attributed to it by... [the board]. The legislative history of the amendment indicates that, as originally proposed, it would have conferred tenure on 'clerks engaged in a secretarial capacity.' This provision was objected to by the New Jersey Educational Association as being too narrow. As a result a committee substitute was drafted incorporating the language of the present statute. The Association approved the committee substitute which was enacted into law. . . . Thus, it clearly appears that the phrase 'clerical position' was intended to extend the statutory protection coverage beyond secretarial employment. Moreover, since tenure statutes are intended to secure public service by protecting public employees in their employment, 'the widest range should be given to the applicability of the law'.

Berardi v. Bd. of Educ. of the School District South Orange and Maplewood, 95 N.J.A.R. 2d (EDU) 239, lends further guidance as to the intended reach of the statutory provision. The petitioner in Berardi alleged that she was terminated from her position as a full-time "clerical aide" in violation of her tenure rights pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:17-2. According to the job description for clerical aides, the responsibilities of the position included checking student attendance, contacting parents regarding absences, referring problems to guidance counselors/administrators, receiving telephone calls and leaving messages for teachers, sorting mail, assisting secretarial staff (filing, Xeroxing) and maintaining appropriate relationships with students, parents and staff. Id. at 240. In addition, the petitioner's employment duties included receiving and putting emergency cards in order, mailing results of discipline referral forms to parents, writing out detention forms and providing requested information to school departments. Id. at 241.

In determining whether the petitioner's position fell within the scope of N.J.S.A. 18A:17-2, the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) observed that simply because "additional, non-clerical duties are performed does not control." Id. at 241. See Barnes, supra. Similarly, "the mere fact that an employee performs clerical duties is not controlling." Id. at 241-42. See Rossi v. Bd. of Ed. of Willingboro, Agency Dkt. No. 294-8/78 (Sept. 24, 1980), adopted (Comm'r. Nov. 7, 1980), aff'd (State Bd. August 5, 1981) (holding that, although the job duties of a learning resource center aide included clerical duties, the position was a paraprofessional, not a clerical one). As part of her analysis, the ALJ further reviewed the dictionary definition of the word "clerk." Id. at 242. The ALJ concluded that, "[t]he use of the word 'aide' in . . . [the petitioner's] job title does not control her tenure status," and "whatever her job title . . ., [petitioner] holds a 'clerical position' within the meaning of N.J.S.A. 18A:17-2, because her duties are 'clerical' within the meaning of Barnes, supra" and "[m]ost of her job duties are the same or very similar to those of the employees in that matter who were found to hold 'clerical positions.'" Ibid. The Commissioner agreed holding that, pursuant to Barnes, "petitioner holds a clerical position within the meaning of the statute based on the nature of her job duties and on the broad range of definition afforded in applying this statute." Ibid. See also Jacobsen v. Bd. of Educ. of Union City, OAL Dkt. EDU 10340-82 (August 1, 1983), adopted (Comm'r. Sept. 16, 1983), aff'd (State Bd. Feb. 1, 1984); Beute v. Bd. of Educ. of North Arlington, OAL Dkt. EDU 295-80 (July 28, 1981), adopted (Comm'r. Sept. 14, 1981), aff'd (State Bd. Feb. 3, 1982); Cummins v. Bd. of Educ. of North Bergen, 1975 S.L.D. 271 (Comm'r. May 1, 1975).

Turning to the within matter, the Board did not dispute, through the submission of an opposing certification, petitioner's description of her job duties as an Office Aide. According to petitioner's Certification, her responsibilities included typing, bookkeeping, copying documents and other office-related tasks (Giardina Cert. at ¶5 and Exhibit P-1).

Among other duties, petitioner also prepared State reports; took care of petty cash; handled substitute teacher payroll, staff attendance and student rosters; ordered supplies and books; organized use of the school facilities by outside groups; and interacted with parents and students on a regular basis. Ibid.

Succinctly stated, petitioner's job duties are akin to the employees' duties in Barnes and Berardi, who were found to hold a "clerical position" within the meaning of the tenure statute. From the evidence, it cannot be said that petitioner was employed in paraprofessional, rather than a clerical, capacity. I CONCLUDE that, consistent with the aforesaid decisional law, petitioner held a "clerical position" eligible for tenure pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:17-2 when she served as an Office Aide since the bulk of her duties was clerical in nature.

The Statutory Requirements

The pivotal issue is whether petitioner attained tenure in the position of Office Aide and/or Secretary pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:17-2b. The statute confers tenure "after" either "[t]he expiration of a period of employment of three consecutive calendar years" or "[e]mployment for three consecutive academic years, together with employment at the beginning of the next succeeding academic year . . . ." Ibid. Considering petitioner's employment in each position separately, the conclusion that her service does not meet the probationary period of time mandated by N.J.S.A. 18A:17-2b is inescapable.

Petitioner was employed as an Office Aide from September 1, 1998 through June 30, 1999 and from July 1, 1999 through June 30, 2000. This service of less than three consecutive calendar years, and less than three consecutive academic years, plainly falls short of the statutory requirements.

As a ten month Secretary, petitioner was employed on an academic year basis and worked in the position for three consecutive years (September 1, 2000 through June 30, 2001, September 1, 2001 through June 30, 2002 and September 1, 2002 through June 30, 2003). However, in order to qualify for tenure, the statute unambiguously directs that reemployment at the start of the fourth academic year is required. Petitioner's employment for only three consecutive academic years does not suffice. Indeed, that petitioner could not have served in the position for longer than three academic years is unassailable inasmuch as the Board created this new position effective September 1, 2000 and, at the same meeting, appointed petitioner to the new position.

The critical debate between the parties is whether or not the statute permits petitioner to count or "tack" the time she was employed as an Office Aide to her service as a Secretary for purposes of determining that she accrued a tenure status.

Petitioner's Claim to Tenure in the Secretary Position

Petitioner contends that she accrued tenure at the beginning of the 2001-2002 school year, after being employed for two academic years as an Office Aide and one academic year plus one day as a ten month Secretary. Petitioner postulates that she gained tenure as a Secretary since it was the position petitioner held when the service requirements of the statute were satisfied. In support of her stance, petitioner principally relies upon the decisions rendered in Carlson v. Bd. of Educ. of Cranford, 1981 S.L.D., 57 (Nov. 25, 1980), aff'd, 1981 S.L.D. 62 (Comm'r. Jan. 16, 1981), aff'd., 1981 S.L.D. 63 (State Bd. May 6, 1981), aff'd., 1982 S.L.D. 1445 (App. Div. March 24, 1982) and Carnathan v. Bd. of Educ. of Randolph OAL Dkt. EDU 7943-83 (May 27, 1983), mod. (Comm'r. July 18, 1983). The Board controverts that petitioner may combine or tack her employment as an Office Aide with her service as a Secretary to satisfy the statutory conditions of N.J.S.A. 18A:17-2b, citing Given v. Bd. of Educ. of the East Windsor Regional School District, 1978 S.L.D. 43 (Comm'r. Jan. 30, 1978), aff'd, 1978 S.L.D. 46 (State Bd. June 7, 1978), aff'd, 1979 S.L.D. 832 (App. Div. May 18, 1979). Simply put, the undersigned agrees.

In Given, the petitioner alleged that her reassignment from the position of secretary to clerk violated the petitioner's tenure rights. The petitioner had served as a twelve month senior clerk for approximately three and one-half years (January 4, 1971 to August 27, 1974), during which she was paid in accordance with the salary guide for clerks in the district. On August 27, 1974, the petitioner was appointed to the position of secretary to the Assistant Superintendent of Schools and served in that capacity through June 15, 1976. During this time frame, the petitioner was paid in accordance with the salary guide for secretaries. After serving in the position of secretary for two years, the petitioner was reassigned to the position of a twelve month clerk. Although the board of education did not dispute that the petitioner had accrued a tenure status as a clerk in the district, it denied her claim to tenure as a secretary. The petitioner contended that she immediately acquired tenure as a secretary in 1974 when she commenced this employment and no additional probationary period was required to gain tenure upon promotion or transfer.

The Commissioner rejected the petitioner's contention. In holding that the board's action in reassigning the petitioner to the clerical position was legal and proper, the Commissioner explained:

> The Commissioner agrees that there exists a legitimate interest for a local board to have a probationary period for clerical and secretarial employees in its employ who receive a promotion. The Commissioner opines that to hold otherwise would work hardship on both the board and the employee if instant tenure were to accrue to a promotional position made in good faith by the board. A clerk or secretary so promoted would likely be required to demonstrate greater technical skills in order to properly discharge more complex responsibilities and must have a probationary period in which to adequately adjust to the new position. The fact that the Legislature has not established a specific statutory probationary period for clerks and secretaries who have been promoted, such as exists in N.J.S.A. 18A:28-6 for certificated personnel, does not obviate the need for such a probationary period. The Commissioner holds that a tenured clerk or secretary, upon promotion to another position within the school district, must satisfy the precise conditions enunciated in N.J.S.A. 18A:17-2(b) and (c) to achieve a tenure status in the new position. The Commissioner further holds that tenure rights accrued in a school system in any clerical or secretarial position prior to promotion shall not be negated by such promotion and shall remain as a continuing entitlement to such employee.

The Commissioner's decision in Given, which was affirmed by the State Board of Education and the Appellate Division, militates against petitioner's "tacking" or combining of time argument. Pursuant to Given, although a promotion does not negate tenure rights which accrued prior to the promotion, the employee must serve the requisite probationary period in the new promoted position in order to gain tenure in that position. In the present case, petitioner was not employed in the secretarial position for the period of time dictated by N.J.S.A. 18A:17-2b. In addition, petitioner had not accrued tenure rights in any clerical position prior to being promoted to a Secretary.

The cases cited by petitioner do not support a contrary result. Carlson and Carnathan involved certificated teaching staff members. The tenure protection afforded to certificated employees does not implicate the statutory criteria relevant to this matter and is predicated upon the standards set forth in N.J.S.A. 18A:28-5 and –6. Although in both cases tenure was found to have accrued as to the position held by the employee when the statutory conditions were met, the issue centered on whether the teacher accrued tenure in a full or part time teaching position. In other words, unlike the present matter, the cases did not involve two separate and distinct positions. In contrast, the argument advanced by petitioner was squarely addressed and has been definitely resolved by the Commissioner's decision in Given.

I CONCLUDE that, pursuant to Given, petitioner's service time in the position of Office Aide should not be counted for purposes of satisfying the statutory requirements necessary to accrue tenure status in the Secretary position. I further CONCLUDE that petitioner did not accrue tenure in the position of Secretary since the length of her employment in this position fails to meet the necessary criteria embodied in N.J.S.A. 18A:17-2b.

Petitioner's Claim to Tenure in a Clerical Position

The undersigned does not embrace petitioner's alternative argument that, at a minimum, she must be found to have gained tenure in a clerical position. In this regard, petitioner contends that she should be able to utilize her service time in the promoted position toward calculating her entitlement to tenure in the initial clerical position. In support of this "tacking backwards" argument, petitioner cites the decisions rendered in Euell v. Board of Educ. of the Princeton Regional School District, 1978 S.L.D. 666 (Comm'r. August 11, 1978), aff'd, 1979 S.L.D. 825 (State Bd. November 8, 1979), aff'd, 1980 S.L.D. 1489 (App. Div. October 28, 1980) and Sitek v. Board of Educ. of the Southern Regional High School District, 1988 S.L.D. 2247, aff'd in part and rev'd in part, 1988 S.L.D. 2253 (Comm'r. Nov. 15, 1988), aff'd, 1989 S.L.D. 3079 (State Bd. March 1, 1989).

The decisions in Euell and Sitek provide no solace to petitioner and are readily distinguishable from the instant matter. The cases addressed whether a certificated teaching staff member could add the time served in a promoted position for purposes of accruing tenure in the employees' former promoted from position. In both cases the time served in the new position was included in determining the tenure rights in the former position. However, the statutory scheme applicable to certificated teaching staff members expressly authorizes the application of service time in this fashion. More particularly, the statute governing the tenure of teaching staff members upon transfer or promotion unambiguously instructs that "[t]he period of employment in such new position shall be included in determining the tenure and seniority rights in the former position held by such teaching staff member. . . ." N.J.S.A. 18A:28-6.

Petitioner's entitlement to tenure stems from N.J.S.A. 18A:17-2. Contextually, the plain language of N.J.S.A. 18A:17-2 does not evidence a design on the part of the Legislature to provide the same rights to a clerical employee who is promoted. Had the Legislature intended to permit the combining of service time in the two positions, it could have easily said so as it explicitly did in the context of N.J.S.A. 18A:28-6. See Shapiro v. Essex County Bd. of Chosen Freeholders, 177 N.J. Super. 87, 94 (Law Div. 1980), aff'd, 183, N.J. Super. 24 (App. Div. 1982), aff'd, 91 N.J. 430 (1982) ("[u]nder the expressio unius doctrine, it is generally held that where the Legislature makes express mention of one thing, the exclusion of others is implied."). That the positions of Secretary and Aide are separate and distinct positions is apparent from the CBA which incorporates different provisions and salary guides for each position. The Commissioner's decision in Given further supports the conclusion that the Legislature intended to create two separate probationary periods, one for clerical employees and one for secretaries, and in order to gain tenure in either position the employee must service the requisite probationary period in each position.

I CONCLUDE that petitioner may not utilize the time spent in the position of ten month Secretary for purposes of accruing tenure in her former clerical position. I further CONCLUDE that petitioner did not serve a sufficient period of time in such capacity to attain tenure protection under N.J.S.A. 18A:17-2b.

In sum, I CONCLUDE that petitioner's position as an Office Aide is tenure eligible pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:17-2. However, I CONCLUDE that petitioner did not accrue tenure in either the position of Secretary or a clerical position since her service time does not satisfy the precise conditions of the statute. In so ruling, I CONCLUDE that petitioner may not combine the time she was employed in the position of Office Aide to the time she was employed as a ten month Secretary for purposes of accruing tenure in the position of Secretary. I further CONCLUDE that petitioner may not tack the time she was employed as a ten month Secretary to the time she was employed as an Office Aide for the purpose of accruing tenure in a clerical position. Accordingly, I CONCLUDE that the Board's Motion for Summary Decision should be GRANTED.

ORDER

I ORDER that respondent's Motion for Summary Decision be and hereby is GRANTED. I further ORDER that petitioner's Motion for Summary Decision be and hereby is DENIED. I further ORDER that the Verified Petition filed on petitioner's behalf be and hereby is DISMISSED WITH PREJUDICE.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen (13) days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." Dear Ms. Kirkland:

The matter entitled D.K., on behalf of minor child, D.K. v. Board of Education of the City of Englewood, Bergen County, Agency Dkt. No. 362-10/04, wherein petitioner challenges the District's determination to place her son on home instruction pending the resolution of a disciplinary matter, was opened by way of a Petition of Appeal filed on October 12, 2004.[1] In a letter, dated January 14, 2005, the Superintendent of the Englewood School District advised the Bureau of Controversies and Disputes that D.K. returned to school in early November 2004, that he currently remains enrolled in the Englewood School District and that D.K.'s mother had informed the school district that she would formally withdraw her petition.

In that it appeared that there was no longer a controversy in this matter, by letter of January 31, 2005, served via regular and certified mail,[2] petitioner was requested to notify the Bureau of Controversies and Disputes, within ten (10) days of receipt of the letter, as to whether she wished to continue with her appeal or whether she wished to withdraw her appeal given the District's claim that her son had returned to classes within the Englewood School District in November 2004 and currently remains enrolled in the school district. Petitioner was advised that failure to respond to the January 31 letter within the time specified would be construed as a withdrawal of the appeal in this matter.

When no response was received, petitioner was provided a final opportunity to notify the Bureau of Controversies and Disputes as to whether she wished to continue with her

[1] Delays in consideration of this matter were the result of petitioner's correction of deficiencies in the filing of the petition and two notices to the Board directing it to file an Answer to the petition. It is further noted that petitioner did not file an application for emergent relief.

[2] The letter served via certified mail was returned with the reason marked as "other." The letter served via regular mail was not returned and, thus, is deemed to have been received.

appeal in a letter, dated March 1, 2005, served via regular and certified mail.[3] Petitioner was requested to respond within ten (10) days of receipt of the March 1 letter and was again advised that failure to respond with the time specified would be construed as a withdrawal of her appeal. Petitioner has not responded to either the January 31, 2005 letter or the March 1, 2005 letter.

Accordingly, as petitioner was specifically advised on two occasions, her failure to respond to the January 31, 2005 and March 1, 2005 letters is being construed as a withdrawal of the within Petition of Appeal. Consequently, this matter is no longer deemed to be a contested matter before the Commissioner and is, therefore, dismissed.[4]

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed. Petitioner's exceptions, filed on March 28, 2005, in response to an Initial Decision mailed to the parties on March 8, 2005, were untimely and, therefore, not considered herein.

Upon his careful and independent review of the record in this matter, and based on the Administrative Law Judge's (ALJ) credibility assessments, N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10(c), the Commissioner concurs with the ALJ that petitioner has failed to sustain her burden of establishing that K.F. was a domiciliary of Montclair and, thus, entitled to a free public education in that District's schools.

Accordingly, the Initial Decision of the OAL is adopted for the reasons expressed therein, and the within Petition of Appeal is hereby dismissed. The Commissioner directs that petitioner pay the Board tuition in the amount of $10,832.78[1] for the period of K.F.'s ineligible attendance in its schools, November 24, 2003 to March 1, 2005.

SYNOPSIS

Petitioner appealed the Board's residency determination that her daughter, K.F., was not eligible for a free education in the Township of Montclair School District. Petitioner alleged that the residency determination had been retaliation from the Board for petitioner's complaints that the Montclair School District did not appropriately recognize Black History Month.

Based upon the documentary evidence and the demeanor of the witnesses at hearing, the ALJ found petitioner's assertion of retaliation to be incredible and her testimony regarding residence to be unsupported by documentation and, at times, inconsistent with the documentary evidence. The ALJ furthermore found the testimony of the Board to be persuasive that the petitioner was not living in the District during the period in question, based on the testimony of the Board which asserted that: 1) the Board did not receive cooperation from B.M.; 2) the Board was unable to locate the petitioner at her alleged residence; and 3) the Board was unable to contact the petitioner at her purported address by certified mail. The ALJ concluded that the petitioner failed to carry her burden to prove by a preponderance of credible evidence that she was domiciled in Montclair during the relevant time, and that petitioner has failed to prove that K.F. was entitled to a free public education in the Township of Monclair from November 2003 to the present and is therefore owes the Board tuition for this period of ineligible attendance. The ALJ ordered that B.M. pay respondent tuition in the total amount of $10,832.78 for unauthorized attendance for the period from November 24, 2003 to March 1, 2005.

The Commissioner concurs with the findings of the ALJ in this matter. Accordingly, the Initial Decision of the OAL is adopted for the reasons expressed therein, and the Petition of Appeal is dismissed.

OFFICE OF ADMINISTRATIVE LAW

INITIAL DECISION

OAL DKT. NO. EDU 11685-04

AGENCY DKT. NO. 351-10/04

B.M. ON BEHALF OF MINOR CHILD, K.F.,

Petitioner,

v.

BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE TOWNSHIP OF MONTCLAIR, ESSEX COUNTY,

Respondent.

B.M., petitioner, pro se

Debra Shannon, Esq., for respondent (Genova, Burns & Vernoia, attorneys)

Record Closed: March 1, 2005 Decided: March 4, 2005

BEFORE EDITH KLINGER, ALJ:

On October 5, 2004, petitioner, B.M., filed a petition before the Commissioner of Education to compel the respondent, Board of Education of the Township of Montclair (Board), to provide her child, K.F., with a free public education in the Township schools pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1b. The period in dispute is from November 2003 to the present.

On November 5, 2004, the school district (District) filed its answer to the petition and its counterclaim for tuition and, on November 23, 2004, the Department of Education transmitted the matter to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) as a contested case pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13. The hearing was held on February 15, 2005 and the record closed on March 1, 2005 when the Certification of Bruce Dabney, setting forth the District's claim for tuition, was received.

In about September or October 2003, someone from the Nishuane School, located in the District, notified the central office that there was reason to believe K.F. was not residing in Montclair. This initiated an investigation and an investigator was sent to B.M.'s alleged residence on November 22, 24, and 28 and December 4, 2003 and January 13, 2004. He rang the doorbell on November 22 at 10:59 a.m. but there was no answer; he saw no one there on November 24; he did not find B.M. or K.F. there on November 28; and there was no answer when he rang the doorbell at 7:30 a.m. on December 4. On January 19, a teenager answered the door and said that neither B.M. nor K.F. were there.

On January 14, 2004, Kevin Salters, Assistant to the Superintendent of the District, wrote to B.M. His letter stated that, if he did not hear from B.M. by January 28, the Superintendent would move before the Board that K.F. "be dropped from the register of Nishuane School for non-residency."

On January 26, 2004, B.M. contacted Salters and said that she was living with her mother at 5 Claremont Place in Montclair. He told her that she had to complete a Tenant Without a Lease form and provide three additional proofs of residency, including name and new address. According to the District's records, none of these proofs were provided.

On February 6, 2004, Salters sent B.M. another letter asking her to provide the requested information by February 11, 2004. There is no record of a response to this request.

On March 1, 2004, the Board conducted a hearing and determined that K.F. should be removed from the Nishuane School for non-residency. B.M. was notified of the Board action by letter, dated March 2, 2004. A handwritten note on the Board's copy of the letter indicated that B.M. called Salters on March 3, 2004 and left him a voicemail message.

Salters responded to her voicemail message by letter, dated March 4, 2004. In the letter he stated that the District had been waiting for her proofs of residency since January and had not yet received them. He sent her a list of the documents she was required to provide and told her that the information contained therein had to prove her residency for the six weeks prior to the date of the letter. This letter was sent to B.M. by certified mail, addressee only, at 5 Claremont Place. After the post office made several attempts to deliver it to B.M., it was returned unclaimed to the District on March 23, 2004.

On March 9, 2004, Salters sent B.M. a letter enclosing a Tenant Without a Lease form to be filled out and notarized. Since she claimed to be living at 5 Claremont Place with her mother, he also requested a copy of her mother's property tax bill. These documents were to be brought to him by March 12, 2004. In addition, he told her to provide three additional proofs by April 13, 2004. These proofs were to contain her name as a person living at the 5 Claremont Place address. A handwritten note on the Board's copy of this letter states that B.M. called on March 12 and said she would drop off the documents on the following day. Salters wrote that his letter was a response to B.M.'s telephone messages. She denies making these calls.

The District provides parents or guardians with a printed list of Registration Requirements that sets forth in detail the specific types of residency proofs it requires. There is no dispute that B.M. had a copy of these requirements since she repeatedly referred to them in her testimony.

Different proofs are necessary depending upon the living arrangements of the parent and child. A child and parent living with a Montclair resident are required to provide a signed, notarized sworn statement of residency completed by the Montclair resident and the parent or guardian of the child. B.M. provided a notarized letter from her mother, V.M., which petitioner testified was given to the District in February, not March, 2004. The February date was supposedly cut off the upper right side of the first page at some point , perhaps during copying.

The document that was provided was not an affidavit; it is an unsworn, notarized letter and it was notarized in March 2004. Therefore, the document was either prepared and the signature witnessed in March 2004, in which case B.M. could not have presented it to the District in February 2004 as she claims, or the notary did not witness V.M.'s signature in February. The District stamped it "received" on March 15, 2004 and I FIND it more likely than not that it was received on that date.

In this letter, V.M. states that B.M. and her daughter K.F. were living with her in her apartment at 5 Claremont Place in Montclair for six weeks as of the alleged February 2004 date of the letter. This information is inconsistent with B.M.'s testimony that she lived at 97 Pine Street in Montclair until she lost her apartment and moved in with her mother on February 2, 2004.

On March 18, 2004, Salters wrote to B.M. acknowledging receipt of her mother's letter. His letter forwarded another copy of a Tenant Without a Lease Form to be completed by V.M.'s landlord, notarized and returned to Salters by March 24, 2004. This letter was also sent to B.M. by certified mail, addressee only, at 5 Claremont Place. After the post office made several attempts to deliver it, it was returned unclaimed to the District on April 7, 2004.

Bruce Dabney succeeded Salters as Assistant to the Superintendent of the District on July 9, 2004. He testified at hearing that Salters requested this documentation because B.M. had first to establish that her mother was a resident of Montclair and then that she was legally residing with her mother. This is the reason that the Tenant Without a Lease Form had to be completed by V.M.'s landlord and notarized. Next, B.M. had to present documentation that she was actually living with her mother, which is why Salters insisted on the other three forms of proofs. The District would not consider B.M. a resident of Montclair until all circumstances were sufficiently documented.

Dabney testified that B.M. had already presented proof of residency to the District when she completed a Magnet School Enrollment Application to kindergarten for K.F. on March 14, 2001 so she was not unfamiliar with the process.

Michael Johnson is an Operation's Aide for the Montclair Public Schools. He has been an attendance officer for the District for the past ten years and performed between two and three thousand surveillances during this time. He was assigned to conduct a surveillance at 5 Claremont Place to see if B.M. was actually living there. His surveillance lasted from April 26 through April 30, 2004.

Johnson testified that he watched the Claremont Place house from his car. The street is a narrow one so that, once he was inconspicuously positioned, he was easily able to observe the movements of people and cars and observe lights coming on and going off in the house. He conducted his observations between 6:00 a.m. and 7:45 or 8:00 a.m. On April 26, 27, 28 and 29, he watched the house and saw no lights come on and no one left. On April 30, he witnessed the same lack of activity. He rang the doorbell and it was answered by a woman of Indian descent who told him that B.M. and her child had moved out. At hearing, B.M. identified this woman as the landlady.

Petitioner claimed that she had actually moved back to 97 Pine Street and the District should have known about it because she told the District's transportation office to have the school bus pick her son up there. Therefore, it should have sent her mail and conducted its surveillance at that address. She did not formally change her address in K.F.'s school records. Further, nothing in the record documents that B.M. ever resumed residence at Pine Street and, if so, when this occurred. There is only her testimony that she had the school bus come to get him at that address but this does not prove she was living there.

She produced records showing that she had a lease on an apartment at 97 Pine Street, Montclair, from April 1, 2003 through March 31, 2004, but she already testified that she moved from that address in February 2004. This is supported by a storage rental agreement, submitted by B.M. at hearing, apparently beginning in February 2004, to store her "household items." The agreement gives her then current address as 5 Claremont Place.

B.M. offered receipts from the landlord at 97 Pine, both dated March 19, 2003. One also acknowledges receipt of a security deposit on the apartment and both are clearly from the time she took possession of it. She provided a letter from the Young Men's Christian Association of Montclair, stating that she owed $250 for pre- and/or aftercare services for K.F. while he attended Nishuane School and she went to work. The services were provided approximately from February 18, 2004 through April 30, 2004. There are also bills from Comcast for cable television service for the period from June 22, 2003 through September 15, 2003. I FIND all of these documents from 2003 to be irrelevant to the present appeal because the District only questions B.M.'s residency from November 2003.

On June 14, 2004, Salters wrote to B.M. advising her that K.F. would not be allowed to enroll in the Montclair schools for the next school year unless she presented four proofs of residency by August 19, 2004. When the District received no response to the letter by the designated date, K.F. was removed from the rolls.

Dabney testified that he attempted to meet with B.M. in September 2004, when K.F. came back to school. She was just one of five parents that were in the same position. The meeting never took place but he and B.M. did have a telephone conversation in which she alleged that the District had been harassing her over the years. When Dabney asked her to meet with him, she said that this was just more harassment.

On September 12, 2004, Dabney checked with the Hillside School in the District to see if K.F. was in attendance there. He was told that B.M. had come in and filled out a card stating that K.F. was signed out to attend a private school. B.M. claims that she never filled out such a form and someone must have forged her name to the document. The form was not brought to the hearing so that this was impossible to verify.

On October 5, 2004, B.M. filed this appeal with the Commissioner of Education. On October 7, 2004, Dabney spoke to B.M. who said that K.F. was not attending any school. He himself went to Claremont Place and found B.M. there but not the child. Based upon this and the filing of her appeal, K.F. was permitted to resume her attendance in the District schools pending the outcome of the appeal.

At this time, B.M. first presented the District with documentation, allegedly proving her residency. One of the documents is a copy of the first page of B.M.'s U.S. Individual Income Tax Return for the years 2002. It gives her address as 5 Claremont Place. The copy is neither dated nor signed and there is no evidence that it was ever filed with the Internal Revenue Service (IRS). There is one correspondence from the IRS to B.M., dated September 11, 2004, and addressed to her at 5 Claremont Place, but there is nothing in the record to identify to what this communication refers: it only contains a contact telephone number and the hours of service. She presented Dabney with a New Jersey driver's license, issued to her on June 3, 2004. The address on the license is 5 Claremont Place. Dabney did not accept the license as documentation because the photograph on the license is too dark to show that she was the person photographed.

At hearing, B.M. produced copies of the first page of her U.S. Individual Income Tax Returns for the years 2003 and 2004. Again, neither copy is dated nor signed and there is no evidence that either were ever filed with the Internal Revenue Service (IRS). Both give the Claremont Place address. She produced an invoice with that address from a medical laboratory for services rendered to K.F. on November 3, 2003. A State of New Jersey automobile insurance surcharge installment payment bill, dated April 15, 2004, was mailed to her there. Finally, she produced a check, dated October 12, 2004, from Kelly Services with the Claremont Place address. Dabney testified that he never saw these last five documents before the hearing.

According to Dabney, there were several reasons that the District determined that B.M. was not a resident. These reasons included the reports of the attendance officers and the returned certified mail. He was also skeptical of the later documentation that B.M. provided because he knew that there was another family, having the same last name as B.M., who claimed to be living at the Claremont Place address while their children attended District schools. This family later admitted that they were not residents of Montclair and withdrew the children. As a result, he believed that there were persons living at that address who permitted non-residents to use their address and receive mail there for purposes of school attendance in the District.

Dabney's belief that B.M. used of the address as a mail drop is supported by her failure to claim the "addressee only" certified mail from the District. Anyone at the address could accept her regular mail, but only she could obtain possession of the letters sent by the District in this manner.

B.M. claimed at hearing that the District was only challenging her residence because she had complained in 2002 that it held too few activities to celebrate Black History Month. Dabney testified that the District checked the residence of all parents entering the District and of those parents whose residence came into question while their children were already in attendance in the Montclair schools. Johnson testified that even he was investigated before his children were allowed to enroll. I FIND B.M.'s allegation of retaliation to be unconvincing since the record shows that other parents were in the same position and the District did not question her residence until November 2003.

N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1a provides that public schooling shall be free to any person over five and under 20 years of age who is domiciled within the school district. If the district finds that the parent or guardian of a child who is attending school in the district is not domiciled within the district, the child may, after a hearing, be removed from the school system and the parent or guardian assessed for tuition for the period of ineligible attendance. N.J.S.A. 18A:38-b(2). The parent has the burden of proving domicile by a preponderance of the credible evidence. N.J.S.A. 18A:38-b(2).

Based upon the documentary evidence and the demeanor of the witnesses, I FIND B.M.'s assertion of retaliation to be incredible and her testimony as to residence to be unsupported by documentation and, at times, inconsistent with the documentary evidence. On the other hand, I FIND the testimony by the District, of its failure to receive cooperation from B.M., its inability to locate her at her alleged residence, and its inability to contact her at her purported address by certified mail, to be persuasive that she was not living in the District during the period in question. I, therefore, CONCLUDE that B.M. has failed to carry her burden to prove by a preponderance of the credible evidence that she was domiciled in the District during the relevant time. As a result, I CONCLUDE that B.M. has failed to prove that K.F. was entitled to a free public education in the Township of Montclair from November 2003 to the present.

If the parent or guardian fails to carry the burden of proof, N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(b)(2) provides that the district can remove the child from school and assess tuition for the student prorated for the period of ineligible attendance in district schools. Accordingly, I CONCLUDE that B.M. is liable to the District for K.F.'s tuition prorated for the period of K.F.'s ineligible attendance and the District may immediately remove K.F. from the District schools pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:38-b(2).

In this case, the District seeks tuition for K.F.'s attendance in the Montclair School District from November 24, 2003 to the present date. Based upon the school calendar attached to the Certification of Bruce Dabney, dated February 23, 2005, K.F. was in unauthorized attendance for approximately 130 days during the 2003-2004 school year and for approximately 86 days during the 2004-2005 school year up to March 1, 2005. The per diem tuition rate for the 2003-2004 school year was $48.38. Therefore, I CONCLUDE that B.M. owes the District tuition in the amount of $6,289.40 for 143 days in the 2003-2004 school year. The per diem tuition rate for the 2004-2005 school year is $52.83. I CONCLUDE that B.M. also owes the District tuition in the amount of $4543.38 for 86 days in the 2004-2005 school year to March 1, 2005.

ORDER

It is, therefore, ORDERED that B.M. pay respondent tuition in the total amount of $10,832.78 for unauthorized attendance in the District schools from November 24, 2003 to March 1, 2005. It is further ORDERED that K.F. may be immediately removed from the Montclair public schools, at the discretion of the District, unless tuition is paid for her continued attendance.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen (13) days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

The record of this matter and the advisement of petitioner's failure to appear transmitted to the Commissioner by the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-14.4, along with a copy of the notification sent to the parties by OAL on February 24, 2005 and providing petitioner ten days to submit an explanation for such nonappearance, have been reviewed. There being no explanation filed by petitioner, the petition of appeal is hereby dismissed with prejudice due to petitioner's failure to appear at hearing or provide an explanation for her nonappearance.[1]

Notwithstanding dismissal of the petition, however, the Commissioner notes that the Board's Answer in this residency matter contained a counterclaim for tuition which was left unresolved by the Administrative Law Judge. In that the record before the Commissioner contains no affidavit of a responsible Board official attesting to

[1] In so holding, the Commissioner notes petitioner's letter filed on August 16, 2004, which could be read as a statement of intent to rely on the arguments therein and documents previously submitted, thereby explaining petitioner's failure to appear at hearing; even granting such an intent and reviewing the record on that basis, however, the evidence is insufficient to support a finding of entitlement for N.P. to attend the schools of respondent's district free of charge pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A: 38-1.

[2] It is noted that this matter was decided on remand from the State Board of Education, which determined, in a decision dated November 5, 2003, that the Commissioner's May 21, 2003 grant of summary decision to petitioner, due to the Board's failure to answer the petition, should be vacated. The State Board reasoned that such relief was warranted because petitioner did not oppose the Board's claim that its failure to answer was excusable under the circumstances, and because, in a matter where judgment has been entered on a default basis, it is appropriate to resolve all doubts in favor of the party seeking relief. (Slip Opinion at 2)

SYNOPSIS

Petitioner appealed the Board's residency determination that her niece, N.P., was not eligible for a free education in the City of Clifton School District, based on family and economic hardship. The Board failed to submit an Answer to the petition. Therefore, on May 21, 2003, the Commissioner granted summary decision in favor of the petitioner.

Subsequently, the Board filed an appeal to the State Board of Education, explaining that "miscommunications" in the Board's offices resulted in the petition not being forwarded to its counsel; that failure to file an answer to the petition was excusable given the "confusion within the Board offices"; and asserting that the burden in this matter is on the petitioner to demonstrate the existence of a family or economic hardship which would entitle her niece to a free public education in the Clifton schools under the standard set forth in N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1b. The petitioner failed to file an answer brief. The State Board vacated the Commissioner's decision and remanded the matter to him for further proceedings on the petition.

A hearing was subsequently scheduled at the OAL. Petitioner failed to appear, and failed to submit explanation for such nonappearance. The Commissioner therefore dismissed the petition of appeal with prejudice. However, notwithstanding dismissal of the petition, the Commissioner noted that the Board's Answer in this residency matter contained counterclaim for tuition in an unspecified amount, which was left unresolved by the ALJ. The Commissioner thereby remanded this matter to the OAL for supplementation of the record and an appropriate recommended order regarding the payment of tuition.

SYNOPSIS

Petitioner appealed the Board's determination that his children were not entitled to free public education in the district during the 2002-03 school year, contending that the children lived with him in Bloomfield during that time and not with their mother in Newark.

The ALJ found the testimony of petitioner and his witnesses to be both incredible and insufficiently supported by the documentary record. The ALJ ordered petitioner to pay $16,116.66 in tuition plus costs and interest.

The Commissioner adopted the Initial Decision, noting that, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10(c) and In re Morrison, the record provided no basis on which to disturb the factual findings and credibility determinations of the ALJ. The Commissioner ordered payment of tuition, but set aside the order for payment of costs and interest as without support or explanation in the record.

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed. Although petitioner submitted exceptions to the Initial Decision, these have not been considered because they were filed well beyond the period provided by N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4, with neither a request for extension nor an explanation for the inability to submit such request having been made in accordance with N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.8.[1]

Upon review, and in the absence of any basis in the record on which to dispute the fact-finding and credibility determinations of the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10(c), In re Morrison, 216 N.J. Super. 143, 158 (App. Div. 1987), the Commissioner concurs that petitioner has not met his burden of demonstrating that A.L., A.L. and J.L. were entitled to a free public education in the respondent's school district during the 2002-03 school year.

[1] The Initial Decision was mailed to the parties on February 22, 2005, so that exceptions, or any non-emergency request for extension, would have been due on March 7, 2005. Petitioner's submission was filed, with no prior request for extension and no claim of extraordinary circumstances, on March 16, 2004.

Accordingly, the Initial Decision of the OAL is adopted as the final decision in this matter and petitioner is directed to pay tuition to respondent in the amount of $16,116.66 for the period of his children's ineligible attendance. However, in that the record contains nothing to explain or support the ALJ's assessment of "costs and interest" (cf. N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.17), that portion of the Initial Decision's recommended Order is hereby set aside.

IT IS SO ORDERED.[2]

Record Closed: January 22, 2004 Decided: February 18, 2005

BEFORE SANDRA ANN ROBINSON, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Appellant (AOL), contests the Respondent's (Bloomfield Board of Education) determination that his three children AL, AL and JL, were not Bloomfield school district resident's, and therefore not entitled to a free public education in the Respondent's district schools. Respondent seeks reimbursement of $ 16,116.66 plus costs and fees for educational services provided to Appellant's children, for the entire 2002-2003 school year.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

This matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) on March 5, 2003, as a contested case pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to B-15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to F-13. All requests for postponements were granted by the court, due to nature of each requests and the fact that the students involved in this appeal were guaranteed enrollment in the school district pending disposition by the undersigned. Documentation remains with the case file regarding unavailability of Appellant and Respondent witnesses on certain dates; Attorney conflict with other OAL cases and mediation; and, the hospitalization of Appellant's counsel. Conference dates and de novo hearing dates were scheduled for September 12 and November 14, 2003; March 1, June 9, November 17 and December 14, 2004; and January 11, 2005. At the conclusion of testimony on January 11th the exhibits appearing in the attached Appendix, were mark accordingly, and the record was left open for submission of post-hearing briefs. The undersigned received documents from both counsel and the record closed on January 22, 2005.

ISSUES

Were Appellants' three children residents of Bloomfield, New Jersey during the 2002-2003 school year?

If the children were not residents, is Respondent entitled to reimbursement of $16,116.66 plus costs and fees for educational services provided to the children for that school year?

BACKGROUND AND SUMMARY OF TESTIMOMY

Prior to the commencement of this action, Appellant, his wife and three children resided at the marital home located at 362 Parker Street, Newark, New Jersey, within the Newark school district. Appellant and his wife were divorced on November 19, 2002 and the wife remained in the Newark marital residence until it was sold in June 2003.

(Exhibits P-4, R-6). Appellant moved out of the marital home in August 2000 and relocate to Bloomfield, New Jersey, within the Bloomfield school district and registered the children in that school district for the 2002-2003 school year. (Exhibits R-1, thru R-5). Respondent performs a door check for all new students in the district. The results of several checks by Respondent's investigations led to a determination that Appellant's children did not reside with him in Bloomfield and where not eligible for a free education in the Bloomfield school district; therefore, Respondent sought to have the children disenrolled. (R-7, R-11, R-12, R-72).

RESPONDENT'S WITNESSES

Dr. Nicholas Bruno, is the Director of Administrative Services for the Bloomfield Board of Education with supervisory responsibility for registration, re-registration, truancy and disenrollment. He testified that the door check is a routine check for all new students coming into the district. A door check is a "knock to see if student home" check (and) a visual check is a " park and wait to see child come out of house" check. Dr. Bruno noted that the 2002-2003 new student registration began in July 2002 and that Appellant came to register his children on August 28, 2002, seven days before school began in September. Based on the Investigators findings in his report, Dr. Bruno mailed letters to Appellant and his former wife to inform them of "Notice of Deficient Application" and to advise them of their right to a hearing on the matter. (Exhibits R-7, R-10). Appellant, his former wife, Dr. Bruno and Investigator Allyn were present at the December 17, 2002 Board of Education meeting and participated in the presentations and discussions on Appellant's children's domicile. There were discussions on the following articles of the Amended Dual Final Judgment of Divorce at:

> Article II 1. Custody and Support of the Children - ...the parties shall have joint legal and physical custody and control. So long as the wife has custody the husband will pay support and maintenance of the children the sum of $500. per month per child. ...
> Article II 4. c) Termination of Obligation - ... permanent residence away from the residence of wife...

Article III 2. Parties To Confer- On all matters of importance relating to the children's health and education, Wife shall consult and confer with Husband with a view of adopting and following harmonious policy.

The Amended Dual Final Judgment of Divorce, dated November 21, 2002 uses language and terms, which indicate that Appellant's children lived with their mother. Appellant's former wife said the following at the December 17, 2002 Board of Education meeting: "If I sold my house there would be no problem".

Dr. Bruno said the children completed the 2002-2003 school year in Bloomfield district schools and transferred to Boonton High School on or about August 28, 2003, simultaneous with the sale of the former marital home in Newark, New Jersey. (Exhibits R-18, R-19, R-20).

Jeff Allyn, is an Investigator employed by the Bloomfield Public Schools who has served as the district compliance officer for sixteen years. His primary responsibilities are truancy monitoring and residence verifications. On September 30, 2002 he conducted a new student door check at Appellant's residence located at 201 Watchung Avenue Unit #10 in Bloomfield, New Jersey. Appellant was at home and opened the door and told Investigator Allyn that he was divorced and his children were with their mother at 362 Parker Street, Newark, New Jersey. A second door check was completed on October 11, 2002 and Investigator Allyn was told, by a female who answered the door (around 6:30 - 7:30AM), that the children were at their mother's residence in Newark, New Jersey. The Investigator testified that between October 28, 2002 and November 22, 2002 he observed Appellant's former wife's residence in Newark, NJ to determine if the children were living there. On eleven occasions during October and November 2002 the children were seen between 7:10 AM and 7:35 AM coming out of their mother's home, getting into a vehicle driven by their mother and being driven to Brookdale School and Bloomfield High School in Bloomfield, New Jersey. He saw the mother drop-off at least five times at Bloomfield schools.

Investigator Allyn said he usually does no more than two door checks before commencing observations, because more than two checks could be considered harassment. The Investigator submitted a report of his observations which specifically sets forth twenty-two dates of observing one or more of Appellant's children leaving the Newark residence of Appellant's ex-wife and presumably heading to school in Bloomfield and that on several other occasions he observed the Newark location and did not see the children.. (Exhibit R-11).

APPELLANT'S WITNESSES

Marie Arms – is Appellant's Aunt and Appellant's mother's sister, who has lived in Bloomfield all of her life. She was sequestered during Appellant's mother's testimony. Mrs. Arms corroborated testimony about her sister's lengthy periods of visiting in Bloomfield for weeks, often up to months at a time and estimated that her sister stayed with her in Bloomfield for approximately seven or eight months out of the year. Her sister would return to Bayville to replenish her cloths, check on things and then return to Bloomfield. Information about Appellant's children being at home in Bloomfield with their father was also corroborated – "dinner is at Appellant's house, in Bloomfield, nearly every night of the week and the children ate dinner and slept overnight in Bloomfield." Mrs. Arms did not provide information on the estimated or actual number of times she actually saw the children sleep over night in Appellant's Bloomfield condo.

Maria Balzan – is Appellant's live-in girlfriend who observed the children every day. She is a co-signer with Appellant on the 201 Watchung Avenue Lease Agreement and has resided there with Appellant for four years. She said most of the time the children live with her and Appellant and Appellant takes them to school. She got her drivers licensed restored in December 2001 and thereafter she took the children to school from time to time as needed. However, it was the norm that when Appellant had to leave for work early in the morning he would drive the children to his ex-wife's home in Newark so she could take them to school.

Phyllis C. Lembo - is Appellant's widowed mother, who lives in Bayville, New Jersey, but visits Bloomfield quite often. She stays with her sister, Marie Arms, off and on for approximately seven months out of the year, for weeks at a time and even an entire month before returning to Bayville. Ms. Lembo testified that she is very close to her family in Bloomfield and when visiting she usually has dinner at Appellant's home nightly; she sees Appellant's girlfriend and the children nightly and is aware of the children's bed and bath time.

On cross-examination she explained the layout of her son's condominium – "it has an upstairs/downstairs, it is a two story". She said that the neighbors look after the mail when she is away from Bayville. Mrs. Lembo did not provide information on the estimated or actual number of times she actually saw the children sleep over night in Appellant's Bloomfield condo.

Sal Polizzi - lives in unit # 15 of the same building complex as Appellant. Mr. Polizzi's sister owns Appellant's unit. He testified that he personally saw the Petitioner take his children to school, from the Bloomfield residence throughout the 2002-2003 school year. Mr. Polizzi said he often played basketball with Petitioner's children until late at night in Bloomfield.

On cross-examination Mr. Polizzi estimated that during the 2002-2003 school year he may have seen Appellant on twenty occasions take the children to school. He said his departure time in the morning varies because he is self- employed in the construction business. Mr. Polizzi did not testify to or provide information about any date or occasion when he actually saw the children sleep over night in Appellant's Bloomfield condo.

APPELLANT

Alfred O. Lembo – Appellant, contends that his three children lived with him at his 201 Watchung Avenue residence in Bloomfield, New Jersey, during the 2002-2003 school year. When he moved to Bloomfield in February 2001 the children where not listed on the Leasing Agreement, but their occupancy was noted on the Landlord Affidavit submitted to Bloomfield Board of Education. (Exhibit P-1). The Landlord Affidavit was accepted into evidence for the limited purpose of acknowledging completion and receipt by the Board of Education for purposes of student registration. The landlord who signed the Landlord Affidavit was not called as a witness. (Exhibits P-3, R-8).

Appellant said he usually took the children to school, but when he had to arrive at work early he would drop the children at their mother's, so she could transport them to school. Appellant's former wife lives on the route to his job, which made it convenient when drop-off's were needed. Appellant works in the trucking industry and heavy construction and his hours of work vary considerably. Sometimes when the mother was going to take the children to school in the morning, she would pick them up from school the afternoon before. There where other times when mother would drop off at school and pick up in the afternoon, then father would get them from the mother's house on his way home from work.

Appellant noted that at the time he registered the children in the Bloomfield school district he disclosed that he and his wife were divorcing and they would have joint custody of the children, therefore the need for two addresses on the school forms. He said the children would be moving in with him before school commenced on September 4, 2002 because the Newark home was being prepared for sale. After listening to the reason for the Newark address appearing on the school registration documents, the secretary said that Dr. Bruno, the school administrator would look into the matter.

On cross-examination Appellant explained the layout of his apartment to be two bedroom with a pull-out bed in the family room. There were two adults and three children living at the Bloomfield address. He provided no explanation as to why the Amended Dual Final Judgment of Divorce dated November 25, 2002 spoke only of the father's visitation rights and nothing about the mother visiting should the opportunity present itself. Appellant testified initially that hopes were that the property in Newark would be sold by August 2002, then, later he noted that it was placed on the market in November 2002. Appellant acknowledged that his former wife signs all documents related to the education of their one child who is in special education and she signs almost all documents for the other two children.

BURDEN OF PROOF

Pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A: 38-1, the challenger to a Board's decision to deny a free public education within its district has the burden to prove to the Commission of Education by a preponderance of the evidence that the child is eligible for a free education under the criteria listed in the statute. The statute also provides that no child shall be denied admission while the proceeding is pending before the Commissioner and in the event the child is currently enrolled in the district, the student shall not be removed from school while the proceedings are continuing. If, however, in the judgment of the Commissioner, the evidence does not support the claim of the resident, he/she shall assess the resident tuition for the student, prorated to the time of the student's ineligible attendance in the school district.

As a result of the law cited above, in this matter, the burden rests on the Appellant by a preponderance of the evidence to show that domicile did in fact exist in the district in which the child attended school.

CREDIBILITY

The credibility of the witnesses is of paramount concern in this case. Appellant would have the undersigned to believe that after September 4, 2002 his three children lived most of the time during the school year, with him and his girl friend in a two bedroom condo. However, the weight of all testimony, including disclosures made by Appellant indicates that Appellant could not provide testimony or solid proof of the number of days the children actually resided in Bloomfield. At one point in his testimony Appellant suggested reasons as to why the several "door checks" and multiple "observation checks" could be inaccurate without offering proof for those occasions/dates, as to where the children actually where. The report of the Investigator was not refuted, but challenged in regard to the plan for observing. Most of Appellant's witnesses had an interest in protecting Appellant from paying $16,116.66 in school fees for the 2002-2003 school year - family was protecting family.

LEGAL DISCUSSION AND CONCLUSIONS

PROOF OF DOMICILE TO QUALIFY FOR PUBLIC SCHOOL EDUCATION:

Pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A: 38-1, public schools shall be free to persons over five and under 20 years of age who are domiciled within the school district. While there are certain exceptions, this case is not a case of exceptions but instead a case of questioned domicile. It is the position of Appellant that he and his three children were at all times pertinent to this case domiciled in the Bloomfield school district.

A child's domicile is normally that of his or her parents. See Mississippi Band of Choctaw Indians v. Holyfield, 490 U.S. 30, 48, 109 S.Ct. 1597, 1608, 104 *L.Ed.*2d 29, 46 (1989); Roxbury Twp. Bd. of Educ. v. West Milford Bd. of Educ., 283 N.J.Super. 505, 521-22, 662 *A.*2d 976 (App.Div.1995), certif. denied, 143 N.J. 325, 670 *A.*2d 1066 (1996); 25 Am.Jur.2d Domicil § 42 (1996); Restatement (Second) Conflict of Laws § 22 (1971). After a divorce or judicial separation, the domicile of the child is that of the parent with whom the child lives. Roxbury, 283 N.J.Super. at 521-23, 662 *A.*2d 976; 25 Am.Jur.2d Domicil § 42. The Roxbury, dispute over the child's domicile is similar to the joint physical custody arrangement in the instant case, and the fact that Appellant move to a different municipality, as in Roxbury, prompts a closer look at the outcome in Roxbury, and how it relates to this case. The Law Division Judge found in Roxbury that the child's single domicile was with his mother in West Milford and ordered West Milford to pay the child's education costs.

In the instant case, the divorced parents do not share equal parenting "time" under a joint custody arrangement. There is no court decree or entry in the Dual Amended Final Judgment of Divorce which outlines the division of the children's custody between parents so that they live with one parent for a designated portion of each year and with the other parent during the remainder. The testimony and observations in this case show that for most of the 2002-2003 school year Appellant's children lived with their mother in Newark, New Jersey.

The burden of proving that Appellant and his children were domiciled in the Bloomfield school district falls squarely upon Appellant and he must show that they were appropriately attending school there. A child's domicile is normally that of his or her parents. In this case, before and after the divorce the domicile of the children was that of the parent with whom they lived. The proof in this case by Appellant falls short of meeting the burden to show that the children lived with him for the major portion of the 2002-2003 school year. The testimony offered for the time period in question (2002-2003) lacked proof and credibility and I therefore CONCLUDE, that Appellant has not met the preponderance of the evidence to show that domicile did in fact exist in the Bloomfield school district.

TUITION REIMBURSEMENT

As a result of the Conclusions, the next question presented is that of tuition reimbursement. N.J.S.A. 18A: 38-1 permits the assessing of a parent, for tuition of a student prorated to the time of the student's ineligible attendance in the schools of the district commenced. Respondent has submitted calculations of tuition due for each child, the rate for tuition for the 2002-2003 school year, and a calendar of school class dates for the 2002-2003 school year.

ORDER

It is hereby ORDERED that Appellant's claim be and is hereby DISMISSED. It is further ORDERED that for the days AL, AL, and JL attended the schools of the Township of Bloomfield, that Appellant shall pay Respondent tuition in accordance with the provisions of N.J.S.A. 18A: 38-1(b)(2), in the sum of $16, 116.66, and with costs, and interest in favor of the Respondent Bloomfield Board of Education.

I hereby FILE this Initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen (13) days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

BEFORE ISRAEL D. DUBIN, ALJ:

This matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (hererinafter "OAL") on September 29, 2003, for determination as a contested case, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13.

The parties have agreed to a settlement and have prepared a Settlement Agreement indicating the terms thereof, which is attached and fully incorporated herein. (J-1)

I have reviewed the record and the terms of settlement and I FIND:

1. The parties have voluntarily agreed to the settlement as evidenced by their signatures or their representatives' signatures.

2. The settlement fully disposes of all issues in controversy and is consistent with the law.

I CONCLUDE that this agreement meets the requirements of N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1 and that the settlement should be approved. I approve the settlement and therefore ORDER that the parties comply with the settlement terms and that these proceedings be concluded.

I hereby FILE my initial decision with the MERIT SYSTEM BOARD for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the MERIT SYSTEM BOARD, which by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Merit System Board does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen (13) days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the DIRECTOR, MERIT SYSTEM PRACTICES AND LABOR RELATIONS, UNIT H, DEPARTMENT OF PERSONNEL, 44 South Clinton Avenue, PO Box 312, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0312, marked "Attention: Exceptions." RESPONDENT.	:

The record of this matter, returned to the agency as a withdrawal pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.2, has been reviewed.

Upon review, the Commissioner notes that, by decision dated February 2, 2005, this matter was remanded for revision of the parties' Settlement Agreement because, although the President of the Linden Board of Education signed the Settlement Agreement on behalf of the Board, neither the file nor the Settlement Agreement contained a copy of the Board's resolution approving the settlement and designating the Board President to sign the agreement on its behalf, nor was it signed by the Board attorney as the Board's duly authorized representative. The file now contains the required resolution, so that this deficiency has been cured. However, because the settlement agreement has not been approved by the Commissioner pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1, this matter may not be concluded by withdrawal.

Accordingly, the Commissioner now approves the parties' Settlement Agreement and adopts it as the final decision in this matter, reiterating, however, the previously expressed caution regarding terms that appear to have been effectuated prior to final approval of the settlement. The matter is hereby dismissed, subject to compliance with the terms of the settlement.

SYNOPSIS

This matter arose out of the dissolution of the Lower Camden County Regional High School District which was effective July 1, 2001, and involves the following issues: the employment rights of certain nontenured employees and health benefits following dissolution, and a claim of tenure rights violation by an individual employee, Joel McGuckin. The parties sought and were granted an Order of Partial Summary Decision on the first two issues by the ALJ in a decision issued July 1, 2002. The matter remained open as a contested case pending resolution of the individual employee's claim of tenure rights violation. A settlement agreement on this issue was reached by the parties, and approved in the Initial Decision of the ALJ dated January 12, 2005, ending the contested case.

Upon full and independent review of the record in this matter, the Commissioner approved the settlement terms and adopted the settlement as the final decision on the tenure rights claims associated with Joel McGuckin, and that portion of the instant matter was dismissed subject to compliance with the terms of the settlement. Regarding the ALJ's July 1, 2002 Order, the Commissioner determined that Partial Summary Decision was appropriately granted to the respondents. In so deciding, the Commissioner underscored that N.J.S.A. 18A:13-64, which establishes the rights of employees of a regional district in the event of withdrawal from or dissolution of a regional district, is intended to protect only those employment entitlements possessed prior to dissolution, and cannot be read to eviscerate the discretionary powers of a board relating to its nontenured employees nor to vest these individuals, as a result of dissolution, with an enhanced status over and above which they possessed in the Regional District. The Commissioner found and concluded that it cannot be plausibly argued that nontenured employees terminated as of June 30, 2001 enjoyed any legitimate claim to "continued" employment in the constituent districts upon the July 1, 2001 dissolution. Accordingly, the Initial Decision, along with the ALJ's July 1, 2002 Order granting Partial Summary Decision to respondents, were adopted as the final decision in this matter and the instant Petition of Appeal was dismissed.

RESPONDENTS.	:

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed. It is noted that this matter is comprised of two components: 1) a settlement agreement covering a tenure and seniority claim of petitioner, Joel McGuckin; and 2) issues with respect to the rights of certain nontenured employees following dissolution of the Lower Camden County Regional School District, decided by an Order of Partial Summary Decision granted by the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) on July 1, 2002.[1] [2] Petitioners'

[1] On July 25, 2002 the Commissioner declined to review this Order on an interlocutory basis, so that it is now subject to review.

exceptions and respondent's reply exceptions, dealing solely with the employment rights of nontenured Regional District employees, were filed in accordance with N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4, and were fully considered by the Commissioner in reaching his determination in this matter.

Petitioner's exceptions argue that, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:13-64 and the Commissioner's interpretation of this statute in Stagaard v. Contini, 97 N.J.A.R. 2d (EDU) 217 (1996), aff'd. State Board October 1, 1997, all nontenured teachers employed by the Regional District were entitled to have their employment continued in one of the constituent districts subsequent to dissolution of the Regional District. Specifically, they point to the Commissioner's discussion of what they contend is this very issue in Stagaard, supra, wherein he held:

> [t]he statute in question may not reasonably be found to create an open market where all positions at all constituent districts are subject to preferential claim by staff from the dissolving district, as such a finding would create potential chaos, confer extraordinary rights upon regional staff and effectively usurp the managerial prerogative of the constituent Boards of Education. Rather, the statute must be read to ensure that, for staff affected by the dissolution of their employing district, employment in their current position (Teacher) will be maintained. (Emphasis supplied.)
> (Petitioners' Exceptions at 4-5)

Petitioners contend this "guarantee" was violated in the case of nontenured teachers who were not offered employment in the constituent districts because "[t]heir current position" was not "maintained" as required by the statute. (Ibid.) Further supporting their position that nontenured individuals were entitled to this protection, petitioners cite to other language in Stagaard, supra, which states that the selection process for positions of employment in the constituent districts could properly be effectuated by allowing Regional District employees to select positions

[2] By letter dated January 24, 2005 from counsel for respondents and letter dated February 1, 2005 from counsel for petitioners, the Commissioner was advised that the issue with regard to employee health benefits addressed in the ALJ's July 1, 2002 Order has been resolved to the parties' satisfaction through collective bargaining and, therefore, is rendered moot, leaving only review of employment rights of nontenured individuals for the Commissioner's consideration here.

available in these districts on the basis of the employees' relative "length of service" in the Regional District. Use of this particular language, it contends, rather than the term "seniority," which only attaches after the acquisition of tenure, clearly demonstrates that a guarantee of employment pursuant to the statute was due to both tenured and nontenured staff members. (Id. at 5) Because the respondent constituent districts did not guarantee employment to all individuals with "length of service" but, rather, only did so for those enjoying tenure, petitioners charge that they have violated N.J.S.A. 18A:13-64, as interpreted by previous decisions of the Commissioner and the State Board. As a remedy, petitioners seek that each nontenured Regional District employee not employed by a constituent district be compensated his or her full salary for the entire school year subsequent to dissolution. (Id. at 6)

In reply, respondents first present the sequence of facts which they aver are necessary to the understanding of this matter:

> [b]y referendum on May 12, 1998, voters of the communities served by the Regional District voted to dissolve that district and to have its facilities and functions assumed by the Constituent Districts. From March 13, 2000 through April 6, 2000, the Regional District employees selected positions they would take in the constituent districts based on their tenure and seniority rights following dissolution, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:13-64. The Commissioner of Education established a dissolution date of July 2001.
>
> The Regional District's non-tenured employees also participated in the selection process. By way of instructions contained in an informational packet distributed to the Regional District's certificated staff on March 1, 2000, non-tenured staff members were advised that, while "they were not guaranteed a position anymore than they would be in the absence of dissolution, they [could] identify a preference for any building and subject available." (See Certification of Thomas O. Johnston, Exhibit "B")
>
> The Constituent Districts had positions available for some, but perhaps not all, non-tenured employees from the Regional District . In any event, all non-tenured employees from the Regional District received the requisite notification of non-renewal under

> N.J.S.A. 18A:27-10. (See Johnston Certif., Exhibit "F".) (emphasis in text)
> (Respondents' Reply Exceptions at 2-3)

Consequently, respondents submit, nontenured teachers were provided with all rights to which they were entitled. To accept petitioners' position that nontenured Regional District employees were "guaranteed" employment in one of the constituent districts, they argue, serves to confer tenure protection, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:13-64, upon individuals who did not otherwise possess tenure. (Id. at 3) Moreover, petitioners' reliance on the Commissioner's ruling in Stagaard, supra, for support is misplaced, respondents charge. Rather, in that decision:

> the Commissioner found that N.J.S.A. 18A:13-64 ensures that, for staff affected by a dissolution of their employing district, employment in their current position will be "maintained" and "all previously accrued tenure and seniority rights will transfer" to the constituent district. The Commissioner further noted that employees will continue employment in the constituent district "as if the entire term of employment had been with the constituent district." Thus, N.J.S.A. 18A:13-64 mandates that the Regional District's employees' rights to tenure and seniority merely be "preserved" upon continuing employment with a constituent district. In the case at bar, the Regional District's non-tenured employees had no tenure or seniority protections to "preserve." Nonetheless, petitioner requests that these employees' employment rights be enhanced through dissolution.
> (Respondents' Reply Exceptions at 4) (citations omitted)

Similarly misguided, they propose, is petitioners' ascribing of significance to the State Board's use of the words "length of service" rather than "seniority" in describing the staff selection process in Stagaard. Such reference, they assert, was merely intended "to establish an order for employees to proceed through the selection process, not to confer on them extra rights via dissolution -- rights to guaranteed continued employment -- which they would certainly not possess without dissolution." (emphasis in text) (Id. at 5-6)

Pointing to Wyckoff Bd. of Educ. v. Wyckoff Educ. Assoc., 168 N.J. Super 497 (App. Div. 1979), respondents submit that it is well-established that a board's decision whether to renew the contracts of its nontenured employees is a managerial prerogative. Further, citing Getz v. North Hunterdon-Voorhees Regional District Board of Education, 96 N.J.A.R. 2d (EDU) 606, respondents claim that it is likewise well-settled that a board has "virtually unlimited discretion in hiring or renewing non-tenured teachers." (Id. at 5) Here, respondents maintain, nontenured Regional District employees were accorded all of the protections afforded them by statute. The constituent districts were required to "preserve" tenure and seniority rights of these employees subsequent to dissolution, which they did. However, they "were under no obligation to preserve what the non-tenured employees did not have." Contrary to the contention of petitioners, respondents urge that N.J.S.A. 18A:13-64 does not operate to confer tenure protections on nontenured employees; these individuals are not guaranteed employment after a dissolution any more than they would be guaranteed continued employment without one. (Respondents' Reply Exceptions at 6).

Upon his full and independent review of the record of this matter, the Commissioner has initially considered the Settlement Agreement and General Release and Initial Decision issued by the Office of Administrative Law, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1. Upon such consideration, he approves the settlement terms and adopts the settlement as the final decision on the claims associated with Joel McGuckin in this matter. That portion of the instant matter is, therefore, dismissed, subject to compliance with the terms of the settlement.

Turning to review of the ALJ's July 1, 2002 Order, the Commissioner determines that Partial Summary Decision was appropriately granted to respondents, as he finds that nontenured Regional District employees received all of the protections to which they were entitled pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:13-64.

N.J.S.A. 18A:13-64, which establishes the rights of employees of a regional district in the event of a withdrawal from or dissolution of a regional district, in pertinent part, specifies:

> [a]ll employees of the regional district shall continue in their respective positions in the withdrawing district, or in each of the constituent districts in the event of a dissolution, and all of their rights of tenure, seniority, pension, leave of absence and other similar benefits shall be recognized and preserved and any periods of prior employment in the regional district shall count toward the acquisition of tenure to the same extent as if all such employment has been under the withdrawing district or in any of the constituent districts in the event of a dissolution.

The underlying purpose of this provision was considered and addressed in Board of Education of the Central Regional High School District v. Board of Education of Lacey Township and the Central Regional Education Association and Ronald Villano, individually, Ocean County, 1980 S.L.D. 553, 565, wherein it was recognized "that the Legislative intent [of this provision] was to protect the employment rights of those employees [of the regional district affected by the withdrawal] who have provided good and faithful service to the school district." Full consideration of this statute and its legislative intendment demonstrate that it was designed to operate, upon the dissolution of a regional district, as a "save harmless" provision to preserve and protect benefits earned by affected individuals by virtue of their service in such regional district. Balwierczak et al. v. Board of Education of Berkeley Heights, Union County, decided by the Commissioner December 8, 1999, aff'd State Board May 3, 2000. However, as recognized by the Commissioner in Stagaard, supra, N.J.S.A. 18A:13-64 "must be applied in a manner which preserves the continued employment and accrued rights of such staff, but does not result in the wholesale disruption of existing districts [or] confer extraordinary rights upon regional staff and effectively usurp the managerial prerogative of the constituent boards of education." (Stagaard at 219)

Against this backdrop, the Commissioner finds it by now well-established that N.J.S.A. 18A:13-64 guarantees "[u]pon dissolution of the regional district, a staff member is entitled to continue in the position of teacher, as it would have existed had the regional not been dissolved," Stagaard, supra, at 219, with such entitlement not being conditioned on tenure status. Central Regional, supra; Stagaard, supra. However, it is also without question that the employment protections guaranteed nontenured individuals are circumscribed by virtue of their nontenured status. ((N.J.S.A. 18A:27-10 et seq.; N.J.S.A. 18A:27-3.1 et seq.; N.J.A.C. 6 :3-4.1). Central Regional, supra. As 10-month contractual employees, nontenured individuals can harbor no expectation of continued employment from one year to the next. It is undisputed that a local board of education has the virtually unlimited discretionary authority to decline to reemploy them, pursuant to the non-renewal provisions of N.J.S.A. 18A:27-10 et seq., or to terminate their employment in accordance with the notice provision specified in the parties' contract. (See Dore v. Bedminster Twp. Bd. of Ed., 185 N.J. Super. 447 (App. Div. 1982); John Kufel, Jr. v. Board of Education of the Union County Vocational-Technical School District, Union Co., 96 N.J.A.R. 2d (EDU) 14, aff'd. State Board, 96 N.J.A.R. 2d (EDU) 446, aff'd. 97 N.J.A.R. 2d (EDU 317 (App. Div. 1997) It must, therefore, be underscored that N.J.S.A. 18A:13-64, as a save harmless provision, is intended to protect only those employment entitlements these individuals possessed prior to dissolution. Neither this statute nor any prior case law interpreting it can be read to eviscerate the discretionary powers of a board vis-à-vis its nontenured employees or operate to vest these individuals, as a result of dissolution, with an enhanced status over and above that which they possessed in the Regional District.

Here, all staff affected by the dissolution were entitled to select available positions in the constituent districts based on their relative length of service in the Regional District as of May 12, 1998, the date the voters of the constituents comprising this district voted to approve dissolution. The within record indicates that this selection process, which included both tenured and nontenured staff members, took place March 13, 2000 through April 6, 2000. The record further reflects that, by letter dated April 11, 2001, nontenured Regional District employees were notified, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:28-10, that their employment was not being renewed and "all current and future entitlements to employment" with the District would cease at the end of their current contractual term. Thus, the Commissioner finds and concludes that it cannot be plausibly argued that these individuals, terminated as of June 30, 2001, enjoyed any legitimate claim to "continued" employment in the constituent districts upon the July 1, 2001 dissolution.[3]

Accordingly, the Initial Decision, along with the ALJ's July 1, 2002 Order granting Partial Summary Decision to respondents, are adopted as the final decision in this matter and the instant Petition of Appeal is hereby dismissed.

IT IS SO ORDERED.[4]

NO. 392-10/04

IN THE MATTER OF THE TENURE HEARING OF JOSEPH MAZZZARELLA, SCHOOL DISTRICT OF RIDGEFIELD BOROUGH, BERGEN COUNTY,

---

Stanley Turitz, Esq., for petitioner (Ferrara, Turitz, Harraka & Goldberg, attorneys)

David Nash, Esq., for respondent

Record Closed: March 21, 2005 Decided: March 21, 2005

BEFORE JESSE H. STRAUSS, ALJ:

This matter involves tenure charges of sexual harassment and conduct unbecoming certified by the Ridgefield Board of Education (the "Board") against Respondent Joseph Mazzarella under the provisions of the Tenure Employees Hearing Law, N.J.S.A. 18A:6-10, et. seq.

Respondent is a tenured teaching staff member employed by the Board. By resolution adopted on October 18, 2004, the Board found the existence of probable cause to certify tenure charges against respondent, which, if credited, are sufficient to warrant a dismissal or reduction in salary. The Board further resolved to suspend respondent without pay effective October 28, 2004, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-14.

The circumstances that gave rise to the tenure charges involve complaints by several female staff members of the District that respondent improperly telephoned them at home, interfered with their teaching during school hours, and, at least on one occasion, implied to one of them that failure to comply with his requests would impact on her possible tenure.

On or about November 2, 2004, the Board filed its written tenure charges, supporting evidence and a certification of determination with the Commissioner of the Department of Education (Department) together with proof of service upon respondent. Respondent filed an answer to the tenure charges on November 22, 2004. The Department acknowledged receipt of the certified tenure charges on November 3, 2004. Thereafter, the parties were notified by letter dated November 23, 2004, that the Department was referring the matter to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) for hearing. The matter was transmitted to the OAL on December 9, 2004 and was thereafter assigned to the undersigned on December 17, 2004.

The undersigned conducted a pre-hearing conference in the matter on January 4, 2005 and issued a pre-hearing Order on January 7, 2005, establishing the requisite timeframes for proceeding in this matter in accordance with the provisions of N.J.A.C. 1:6B-1.1 et. seq. After granting a joint request for a 30-day extension of time to February 23, 2005 in which to complete discovery, the hearing commenced on March 14, 2005. On March 14 the parties proposed a settlement of the matter subject to approval of the Board at its meeting of March 17, 2005. Following that Board meeting, the parties notified the undersigned that the matter had been settled, subject to approval of the Administrative Law Judge assigned and the Commissioner of the Department of Education. They thereafter presented a proposed Settlement Agreement.

Based upon a review of the record, as well as the proposed Settlement Agreement and Board of resolution attached hereto, and the representation of the parties on the record of this matter, I make the following FINDINGS:

1. The nature of the charges has been documented by the submission of a Statement of Charges and Certificate of Determination.
2. The parties have expressed that the settlement of the matter reflects a determination by the Board that the litigation is unlikely to result in a finding of sexual harassment against respondent, and therefore is unlikely to result in his dismissal, which will mean that respondent would be required to work in the same department with complainants. The parties also desire to save the time, expense and disruption to all parties involved in the prolonged litigation of this matter.
3. The parties to the matter have consented to the terms of the Settlement Agreement as evidenced on the record and as evidenced by the signatures of the parties and/or their authorized representatives on the written Settlement Agreement. At a meeting held on March 17, 2005, the Board authorized the settlement memorialized in the attached Settlement Agreement.
4. Respondent entered into the Settlement Agreement with a full understanding of his rights as evidenced by his representations on the record as well as in the Settlement Agreement.
5. The parties have shown that the settlement of the matter is in the public interest. The terms of the agreement will satisfy the reasonable objectives of the District, will avoid interaction between the complainants and respondent and will avoid the necessity of expensive and time-consuming litigation.

I therefore CONCLUDE that this Settlement Agreement meets the requirements of N.J.A.C. 6A:3-5.6 and that approval of same is in the public interest.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT

WHEREAS the Ridgefield Board of Education, Mr. Joseph Mazzarella, teaching staff members Rosalia Fiordilino, Darla Ferdinand, Roseann Abate and Nancy Arcuri (hereinafter referred to as "complainants") and the Ridgefield Education Association (hereinafter the "Association") are the parties to this agreement;

WHEREAS Mr. Joseph Mazzarella is employed by the Ridgefield Board of Education;

WHEREAS Mr. Mazzarella has consulted with counsel and has been fully advised of his rights, including but not limited to his due process rights as a tenured employee;

WHEREAS Mr. Mazzarella has consulted with counsel and been advised that the Commissioner has a duty to refer tenure determinations resulting in loss of position to the State Board of Examiners for possible suspension or revocation of certificate;

WHEREAS allegations of sexual harassment and other conduct unbecoming were brought against Mr. Mazzarella by teaching staff members Rosalia Fiordilino, Darla Ferdinand, Roseann Abate and Nancy Arcuri (hereinafter referred to as "complainants");

WHEREAS Mr. Mazzarella has denied all allegations that he engaged in sexual harassment or other conduct unbecoming;

WHEREAS the complainants are members of the Ridgefield Education Association (hereinafter "Association");

WHEREAS the complainants have consulted with counsel and with the Association and have voluntarily consented to the terms of this agreement;

WHEREAS the Ridgefield Education Association has consulted with counsel and voluntarily consents to the terms of this agreement;

WHEREAS the Ridgefield Board of Education certified tenure charges against Mr. Mazzarella on October 28, 2004 alleging that he engaged in sexual harassment and other conduct unbecoming;

WHEREAS Mr. Mazzarella has been an employee of the Ridgefield Board of Education since 1999 and has received only positive evaluations during his employment;

WHEREAS the Ridgefield Board of Education eliminated the position of Director of Curriculum and Instruction subsequent to the certifying of tenure charges against Mr. Mazzarella and Mr.

Mazzarella would be required to work in the same department with complainants in the event this matter is adjudicated and it is determined that he is not subject to dismissal;

WHEREAS this agreement has been entered into voluntarily by the Ridgefield Board of Education, Mr. Mazzarella, the complainants and the Association after consulting with counsel;

WHEREAS a proposed settlement agreement was reached In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Joseph Mazzarella and entered into the public record at a hearing before Administrative Law Judge Jesse Strauss on March 14, 2005;

WHEREAS as part of the public record at the hearing before Administrative Law Judge Jesse Strauss on March 14, 2005, Mr. Mazzarella, the complainants and Mr. William Miller, President of the Association, indicated on the public record that they have all consulted with counsel and voluntarily consented to the terms of this agreement;

WHEREAS Administrative Law Judge Jesse Straus indicated on the public record that the proposed settlement is in the public interest;

WHEREAS Superintendent Richard Brockel indicated on the public record that he believes the proposed settlement is in the public interest and that he would recommend the approval of the agreement by the Ridgefield Board of Education at its meeting on March 17, 2005;

WHEREAS the proposed settlement agreement calls for the following:

1) The parties, for themselves and all heirs and successors in interest, agree to the mutual surrender of any and all claims that the parties may have against each other resulting from anything that has happened up to the date of this Agreement, including claims of which any of the parties is unaware and claims which are not specifically released and given up in the following language. The parties specifically release and give up any and all claims which each may have against the other arising from or relating to Mr. Mazzarella's employment and separation from employment with the District, including, but not limited to, claims arising under (1) the Constitution of the United States, (2) the Age Discrimination in Employment Act of 1967, as amended, 29 U.S.C. § 621 et seq., (3) Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, as amended, 42 U.S.C. § 2000(e) et seq., (4) the Civil Rights Act of 1866, 42 U.S.C. § 1981 et seq., (5) the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, 29 U.S.C. § 791 et seq., (6) the Americans with Disabilities Act, 42 U.S.C. § 12101 et seq., (7) the Family and Medical Leave Act, 29 U.S.C. § 2601 et seq., (8) the Family Leave Act, N.J.S.A. 34:11B-1 et seq., (9) the Constitutions of the United States of America and the State of New Jersey, (10) the New Jersey Law Against Discrimination, N.J.S.A. 10:5-1 et seq., (11) the Conscientious Employee Protection Act, N.J.S.A. 35:19-1 et seq., (12) the Education Laws of the State of New Jersey, N.J.S.A. 18A:1-1 et seq., including but not limited to the Tenured Employees Hearing Act, N.J.S.A. 18A:6-10 et seq., (13) the New Jersey Employer-Employee Relations Act, N.J.S.A. 34:13A-1 et seq., (14) any expressed or implied contract between the District and the Employee, whether oral or written, (15)

any collective negotiations agreement, (16) all regulations promulgated pursuant to any of the aforementioned laws, (17) any other Federal, State, County, local or District common law, statutes, ordinances, resolutions and regulations not mentioned above, and (18) any employment manual or handbook or personnel or District policies. Specifically excepted from this release are any claims or rights arising under the Workers' Compensation Act, N.J.S.A. 34:15-1 et seq., the Teachers' Pension and Annuity Fund Law, and for health insurance continuation coverage under and pursuant to Consolidated Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act (commonly referred to as "COBRA"), provided that the Employee is not entitled to have the District pay any amounts for his or his dependents' health insurance coverage under COBRA.

2) Mr. Mazzarella shall continue as an employee of the District through August 31, 2005, although Mr. Mazzarella shall not report to work for the remainder of his employment. The District agrees to provide Mr. Mazzarella with the administrative salary that he was earning as of September 1, 2004 and provide Mr. Mazzarella all the benefits and privileges that Mr. Mazzarella is contractually entitled to receive through August 31, 2005, excluding any entitlement to sick days, personal days and/or vacation days.

3) Mr. Mazzarella resigns as an employee in good standing effective August 31, 2005 subject to the Commissioner's approval of the agreement.

4) The District agrees to retroactively provide Mr. Mazzarella with the administrative salary and benefits he would have earned at the administrative salary he was earning on September 1, 2004 had he not been suspended effective October 28, 2004. The District agrees to deposit said retroactive payment into an escrow account controlled by Mr. Mazzarella's counsel, Robert M. Schwartz, with a receipt of said deposit provided to Mr. Mazzarella through Mr. Mazzarella's counsel no later than thirty (30) days from the effective date of this agreement. Mr. Schwartz shall release said retroactive payment to Mr. Mazzarella no later than five (5) days after the approval of this agreement by the Commissioner of Education.

5) To the maximum extent permissible by law, the parties agree to maintain the confidentiality of the settlement agreement.

6) The parties agree to refrain from disparagement of one another regarding any and all actions that may have occurred up to the date of this Agreement.

WHEREAS the proposed settlement agreement is subject to the approval of the Ridgefield Board of Education;

WHEREAS the Ridgefield Board of Education has determined that it is in the public interest to avoid the time, expense and disruption to all parties involved in the prolonged litigation of this matter given that the Ridgefield Board of Education has determined that such litigation is unlikely to result in a finding of sexual harassment against Mr. Mazzarella and therefore is unlikely to result in his dismissal;

WHEREAS this agreement satisfies the standards established by the State Board of Education for the settlement of a claim of tenure charges as set forth in N.J.A.C. 6A:3-5.6 and in the matter entitled In re Cardonick, State Board decision of April 6, 1983 (1990 School Law Decisions (S.L.D.) 842, 846);

NOW THEREFORE be it resolved that the Ridgefield Board of Education approves this agreement at the meeting of the Ridgefield Board of Education held on March 17, 2005, subject to approval by the Commissioner of Education.

BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE CITY OF ELIZABETH, UNION COUNTY,	:
PETITIONER,	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
V.	:	DECISION
NEW JERSEY STATE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION,	:
RESPONDENT.	:

SYNOPSIS

The petitioning Board, an Abbott District, filed a petition challenging the Department's denial of funding for certain items in their revised 2005-2006 Preschool Operational Plan, which the Board asserts are necessary to provide a well-planned, high quality early childhood program for the children of Elizabeth. Specifically, the Board challenged denial of funding for "Special Requests" to fund: 1) two additional secretaries for each of three stand-alone early childhood schools; 2) two additional custodians at each of those three schools; and 3) two additional security guards at each. These Special Requests were virtually identical in substance to requests approved in the prior three years from Elizabeth as part of previous Preschool Operational Plans.

The ALJ found that Elizabeth's justification regarding its need for two more secretaries and custodians at each of the three early childhood schools should be accepted in part and rejected in part, and that the Board's request for three security guards at each of the three stand-alone early childhood schools should be granted. In so deciding, the ALJ found that the Board presented convincing argument in support of a particularized need for three security guards, two secretaries and four custodians per school.

Upon a full and independent review of this matter, the Commissioner agreed with the ALJ's conclusions regarding the Board's Special Requests, and approved funding for three security guards, two secretaries and four custodians per school for the 2005-06 school year for the three schools at issue herein, and emphasized his fiduciary responsibility to assure that funds are both utilized efficiently and allocated in a manner that provides for quality preschool programs. Accordingly, the Initial Decision was adopted for the reasons stated therein, as amplified by the Commissioner, as the final decision in this matter.

BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE CITY OF ELIZABETH, UNION COUNTY,	:
PETITIONER,	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
V.	:	DECISION
NEW JERSEY STATE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION,	:
RESPONDENT.	:

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed. Both parties' exceptions and reply exceptions were filed in accordance with the necessarily abbreviated exception period for Early Childhood Program appeals and were considered in reaching the determination herein.

Upon a careful and independent review of the record, the Initial Decision and the parties' exception arguments, and noting that the parties' exceptions raise no new substantive arguments, but, rather, rely on those presented to the ALJ, which were comprehensively presented and evaluated in the Initial Decision, the Commissioner concurs with the Administrative Law Judge's (ALJ) conclusion that: 1) the Elizabeth Board's (Board) Special Request 4 for funding for three security guards for each of the three "stand alone" early childhood schools, for a total of nine security guards, be approved; 2) the Board's Special Request 9 for funding for three secretaries per school be approved for two secretaries for each of the three "stand alone" early childhood schools, for a total of six secretaries; and 3) the Board's Special Request 26 for funding of five custodians per school be approved for four custodians for each of the three "stand alone" early childhood schools, for a total of twelve custodians for the reasons set forth below.

With respect to the funding of three security guards for each of the three pre-schools at issue, notwithstanding the Department of Education's (Department) document entitled "District One-Year Budget Instructions and Guidance School Year 2005-2006" (Guidance) recommending one security guard per school, the Commissioner finds that the Board herein has demonstrated a particularized need for additional guards due to the size of the schools, the number of exits, the layout of the buildings, the parental traffic and the tender age of the student population. In so concluding, the Commissioner specifically rejects the Department's contention that only two guards are necessary because the guard assigned to process individuals through the metal detector at the front entrance could also monitor the camera surveillance system that covers the roaming security guard's areas. (Department's Exceptions at 4) In the event of a problem or high volume at the metal detector, the guard's attention could be diverted so as to leave the surveillance cameras untended, possibly with tragic consequences. In that assurance of student safety in this era of school violence dictates an abundance of caution in making determinations which could affect student safety, therefore, the Commissioner grants the Board's request for three security guards per facility.

Turning to the Board's request for three secretaries per school, as opposed to the one clerical staff member recommended in the Department's Guidance document for each stand-alone early childhood building, the Commissioner initially observes that the Guidance document makes no provision for differences in size of school populations. Given the absence of guidance for staffing schools with large student populations and the Board's persuasive argument that additional clerical staff are needed for the three stand-alone schools at issue, which have populations of 300-350 students, the Commissioner finds that funding for only one secretary per site is not adequate to provide the clerical support necessary to: 1) ensure a high level of accuracy in the preparation of documents and reports; 2) provide support for the administrative staff; and 3) handle the constant flow of parents and other visitors. The Commissioner is not persuaded, however, that three secretaries per school, as requested by the Board, are essential to the schools' operations. In so concluding, it is noted that the Board does not contend that the individual schools will not be able to perform any specified functions absent the approval of three secretaries per school. After a comprehensive review of the clerical duties to be performed, therefore, it can reasonably be concluded that the clerical duties can be distributed so that two secretaries per school can effectively provide the required services.

Additionally, in reviewing the number of custodians needed for the schools at issue herein, which contain 20 classrooms each, it is noted that the Guidance document recommends three custodians per facility for schools of this size. After reviewing the Board's arguments and documentation in support of its request for five custodians per school, the Commissioner finds that the Board has failed to demonstrate that it will be unable to provide the custodial services required for the efficient operation of its preschool program in these schools unless funding for five custodians per school is approved. However, given the level of cleanliness to be maintained with a school population of this age, where each classroom has an attached lavatory and students participate in multiple snack times daily in their classrooms, the Commissioner finds that three custodians are insufficient in that such staffing would necessitate a one-person shift either at night or during the day. Accordingly, the Commissioner concurs with the ALJ that funding for four custodians per school is appropriate in these circumstances.

With respect to the Board's contention that the Guidance document has all the hallmarks of administrative rules having statewide applicability and should thus be subject to the notice and procedures of the Administrative Procedures Act (APA) (see Metromedia, Inc., supra), the Commissioner notes his concurrence with the ALJ's conclusion that:

> Not every administrative agency policy, such as those contained in the Guidance, must follow the APA procedures, especially where they have been relatively quickly adopted in response to the drum roll of Abbott cases. The "moving target" analogy mentioned in Abbott v. Burke, 170 N.J. 537, 544 (2000) and the Court's reference to the fact that the factual dynamic in these cases constantly is changing, results in a need for DOE to act as quickly, albeit responsibly, as possible. Under the circumstances the DOE's adoption of the Guidance passes Metromedia muster. (Initial Decision at 15-16)

Finally, although the Board's claim that there is no empirical data to support the staffing ratios in the Guidance document is not totally without merit, the Commissioner finds that the ratios set forth in that document are simply recommended staffing levels, and the Special Request process takes into account the need for flexibility to address particularized needs.

In conclusion, the Commissioner approves funding for three security guards, two secretaries and four custodians per school for the 2005-06 school year for the three schools at issue herein. In so determining, the Commissioner emphasizes that it is his fiduciary responsibility to assure that funds are both utilized efficiently and allocated in a manner that provides for quality pre-school programs.

Accordingly, for the reasons expressed therein as amplified above, the Initial Decision is adopted as the final decision in this matter.

Record Closed: March 21, 2005 Decided: March 22, 2005

BEFORE STEPHEN G. WEISS, ALJ:

BACKGROUND AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

In a series of school funding decisions the New Jersey Supreme Court has now required public school districts in this State to provide a "high quality" preschool education beginning at age three. See Abbott v. Burke, 153 N.J. 480, 505 (1998); Abbott v. Burke, 163 N.J. 95, 120 (2000); Abbott v. Burke, 170 N.J. 537 (2002). To do so the Commissioner has promulgated regulations which govern preschool programs (N.J.A.C. 6A:10A-1 et seq.) and districts now are required, for example, to provide one teacher and one aid for every 15 children, class size is capped at 15 children and programs must be provided that meet the Department's Preschool Teaching and Learning Expectations: Standards of Quality, 2002.

Pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:10A-2.3, Elizabeth developed a three year operative plan which was approved by DOE in June 2003 (J-2). Also, Abbott districts were required to submit annual programmatic budgets for each school year as well and Elizabeth did so for the 2005-06 school year, the last year of its current three-year plan. (J-1)

Elizabeth's total projected 2005-2006 pre-school enrollment is 3024 - 2439 students enrolled in district-operated programs and 585 students enrolled in programs by private providers. Elizabeth's in-district preschool programs for 2005-2006 will be offered in several places, including temporary classroom units, 21 in-district elementary schools (which include three new pre-Kindergarten through grade 8 schools) and, most importantly for this case, three "stand alone" early childhood schools: (1) the Frances C. Smith Center for Early Childhood Education (School No. 50), School No. 51 (which opened in September 2004) and School No. 52 which is to become operational in August or September 2005.

In August 2004 the DOE's Office of Early Childhood Education provided Elizabeth, as well as all other Abbott districts with an instructional package entitled "District One-Year Budget Instructions and Guidance – School Year 2005-2006" (J-1) (hereinafter "Guidance") and the districts then had to submit an annual professional development plan, transition plan, field trip plan, finalized self assessment validation system ("SAVS"), improvement plans and updates of other Abbott program areas if there had been any significant changes.

Thus, in mid-November 2004, Elizabeth submitted its 2005-06 operational plan and in January 2005 Assistant Commissioner MacInnis issued DOE's response (J-2,-J-6) in which he denied Elizabeth's "Special Requests" to: (a) fund two additional secretaries for each of the three stand alone schools (J-4); (b) two additional custodians at each of those three schools (J-5); and (c) two additional security guards at each. The DOE did, however, approve one more security guard for each school. Elizabeth then filed the instant petition challenging the failure by DOE to approve all of the additional positions as arbitrary, capricious, unreasonable and in violation of the Abbott directives.

During the present 2004-05 school year and in the past two school years (2002-03, 2003-04) DOE approved, either initially or during an administrative appeal review process, the same number of additional number of custodians, secretaries and security guards whose approval Elizabeth sought in this case (P-1). Of course, the total number of such positions was less in 2003-04 (11) and 2004-05 (22) since only one facility was operational in 2003-2004 (School No. 50) and only two in 2004-05 when School No. 51 first was opened. The third facility (School No. 52) will, as noted, become operational beginning next August or September.

Elizabeth's Special Requests 4, 9 and 26 for 2005-06 were virtually identical in substance to the approved requests in the prior three years. Of course, for 2005-06 there will be an increase in total funding over 2004-05 of approximately $14,000 in salary and $6,000 in benefits for security guards, $16,000 in salary and $6,000 in benefits for secretaries and $23,000 in salary and $6,000 in benefits for custodians due to mandated increases required by the District's contractual obligations and the addition of the third school. Again, in response to the submissions by Elizabeth, although the DOE approved one additional security guard for each school instead of the two more requested; it denied funding for two additional secretaries and two additional custodians for each school.

Accordingly, on January 27, 2005 the District's Supervisor of Early Childhood Education, Valerie Dunn, wrote to Tonia Davis, DOE's Early Childhood liaison to Elizabeth, asking DOE to "clarify" its determination respecting five areas in which non-approvals were given, including the three in issue here (J-7).[1]

[1] Exhibit J-7 consists of Dunn's letter of January 27, 2005 and follow-up communications of February 4, February 8 and February 23, 2005 between the parties to be discussed infra.

In that letter Dunn wrote:

In a reply faxed to Dunn on February 4, 2005 Davis only asked her for more data respecting the salary for a new teacher. No mention was made of the three position categories now in issue and no additional documentation was sought. However, at about the same time (Dunn did not identify a precise date), Davis called her and asked her to "prioritize" the continuing requests for the two additional secretaries, two additional custodians and one additional security guard for the three schools.

In a reply letter dated February 8, 2005, Dunn advised Davis that Elizabeth had reviewed its request for the positions in question and again concluded that all were needed in the 2005-06 school year for proper operation of the facilities (J-7). Thus, after again providing information on the need for all 33 positions, Dunn observed: "we are unaware of any data or factual support from the Department to justify a claim that these positions are expendable or are not needed. On the other hand, we have ample support to justify the continuing need for these positions" (J-7). The DOE did not respond further to the District's assertions of need in the February 8, 2005 letter, did not ask for additional documentation to cure any deficiencies it perceived and repeated its denials in a letter sent to the Superintendent of Schools on February 23, 2005 (J-7). By then, the instant Petition had been filed.

TESTIMONY

A. For DOE

Two witnesses testified on behalf of the DOE, Davis and Eric Rodney, both of whom are Educational Program Development Specialists in the Office of Early Childhood Education. Rodney will be succeeding Davis as the liaison to Elizabeth.

Davis testified that after the Department provided Elizabeth with the "Guidance" Elizabeth submitted its plan which asked for DOE approval of the 15 additional positions in issue. Two months later, except for DOE's approval of one more security guard position at each school, the additional funding requests were rejected (J-6). Davis pointed out that since the Guidance prescribed a recommended number of security guards (one), secretaries (one) and custodians (three), the DOE: (1) reviewed the Special Requests in light of those recommended guidelines (J-1, p.8); (2) considered whether Elizabeth had demonstrated a "particularized need" (J-1, p. 21); (3) analyzed whether the District's submission demonstrated how the requests were "essential to an effective and efficient education in the preschool program"; and (4) reached the decision set forth in the January 14, 2005 MacInnes letter (P-6). She conceded on cross-examination that as far as she knew the DOE did not review its prior approvals for the higher level of funding in the same areas for 2002-03, 2003-04 or 2004-05, nor did it consider a custodian staffing calculation chart which Elizabeth presumably used in part to justify its special request No. 26 (P-2).

The DOE's second witness, Dr. Eric Rodney, also an Educational Program Development Specialist in the Early Childhood Education Office, helped develop the Guidance. He had a direct role in the area of custodial staffing and in that respect had reviewed and analyzed both national and "Abbott" district statistics which prescribed needs in terms of a ratio of square footage to numbers of custodians. To that end, he identified a cost study table developed by his office (R-1) which reported a "national median" of 169.65 square feet "maintained per student" and 24,167 square feet "maintained per full time custodial worker."[2] Applying those statistics to Elizabeth's three early childhood stand-alone schools, DOE estimated the District needed only 2.1 custodians per school even though Elizabeth had requested five. Indeed, the DOE approved three per school which itself was one more than the DOE's estimate of the actual need but comported with the Guidance suggested ratio of one custodian for each six or seven classrooms.

B. For Respondent

Four witnesses testified for Elizabeth; Valerie Dunn (Supervisor), Louis Couto (Director of Plant, Property and Equipment), Manuel Gonzalez (Acting Principal at School No. 50) and Lourdes Leon (Principal at School No. 51).

Dunn, of course, has been directly involved as Supervisor in the development and implementation of both the District's Three Year (2003-06) Operational Plan and its One Year (2005-06) program budget, including the Special Requests made in 2003-04 and 2004-05 for Security Guards, Secretaries and Custodians. In preparing those requests she consulted with the two principals and Couto, among others, to ascertain their particular requirements as previously she had done for 2002-03, 2003-04 and 2004-05 (Exs. P-4 to P-15). In those school years a full complement of three secretaries, three security guards and five custodians per school was requested and ultimately were approved without the need to pursue administrative litigation at OAL as had to be done for 2005-06 (P-1). Yet, the needs for 2005-06, she said, are "exactly the same "as in previous school years.

Dunn also commented on the most recent budget "discussion" process which took place between November 2004 and late February 2005 and compared it with prior years during which ongoing dialogue and discussions with DOE took place. This latest effort, she said, was different in that: (1) the DOE, despite being asked, never informed Elizabeth what additional information it needed; and (2) never offered to meet with appropriate Elizabeth staff members to explore any concerns. Indeed, in 2003-04 the parties met face-to-face to discuss and "negotiate" over the Special Requests for 2003-04 (P-11 to P-15) and the apparent lack of interest by DOE to engage in that process this year was disturbing.

Respecting the steps Elizabeth took for 2005-06, Dunn emphasized the work that had gone into the development of the Special Request rationales, including giving DOE a schematic diagram of School No. 50 as an exemplar of what each of the three schools looked like (J-3). Yet, no comment was received from DOE between the District's submission on November 15, 2004 and the denial letter of January 14, 2005 (J-6) pointing to where, if at all, the District's submissions were deficient this year. That is why Dunn sent her letter of January 27, 2005 to Davis (J-7) questioning the January 14, 2005 denials and reiterating the rationale for funding all 33 of the positions. To her great disappointment, the response from Davis on February 4, 2005 made no mention at all of the non-instructional staff requests, prompting Dunn to reply on February 8, 2005 with the justifications previously articulated (J-7).

Of course, as noted, at some point between January 27, 2005 and February 8, 2005, Davis called Dunn and asked her to "prioritize" the requests. The February 8, 2005 letter from Dunn did not do this. Instead, in it Dunn declared that the District was "unaware of any data or factual support from [DOE] to justify a claim that these positions are expendable or not needed" and it was the District's continuing position that DOE, not the District, "should reconsider its decision" and provide funding for all 33 positions as requested. About two weeks later and a week or so after Elizabeth's Petition had been filed, the District received an answer – although the average salaries for in-district teachers had been recalculated, there was total silence as to Special Requests 4, 9 and 26 to fund the additional positions (J-7, letter of February 23, 2005 from Assistant Commissioners Frede and MacInnes to Superintendent Thomas G. Dunn).

On cross-examination, Dunn agreed the pertinent Special Requests made in 2002-03, 2003-04 and 2004-05 (P-4 to P-10), except for salary and benefit increases mandated by the collective negotiations contract, were identical in language to the 2005-06 versions of the same requests (Exs. J-3,J-4,J-5). This similarity, she said, was to be expected since the needs had not changed.

The next District witness, Louis Couto, has been Elizabeth's Director of Plant, Property and Equipment for the past eight years and supervises the custodial and maintenance staff. He submitted data to Dunn during the preparation of Special Report 26 (J-5) which he developed, in part, from materials he obtained in 1998 at a seminar sponsored by Clemson University (P-16). The author of the data, Edwin B. Newman, had many years of private experience in the facilities management field and had written several articles and books on the subject.

Couto explained that initially he relied on the Custodial Time Standards developed by Feldman (P-16, pp. 2-39, 2-40), which are still current and provide, for example, "[m]inutes per square feet" for a custodian for both routine and project work. Couto assessed the types of areas in the three Centers (all of which essentially have the same design), calculated the square footage of each area and determined from the "Feldman standards" the "time standard per thousand square feet" in a preschool setting and the total time in minutes per day (P-2).

Based on his own experience and personal observations, Couto arrived at an estimate for the time spent by custodians on responsibilities that were not included in Feldman's Custodial Time Standards in order to adjust for the local situation. Also, he made a "per fixture" rather than a square footage calculation for the lavatory/restroom areas and a per room calculation for clean-up after meals in the rooms (P-2). Based on his calculations of the time needed to clean each Center, Couto determined there was a need for 5.2 custodians at each one, which he then "rounded down" to five.

Concerning the data upon which Rodney said he relied (R-1), Couto noted it was a general survey only, did not address Elizabeth's specific custodial duties (which may differ), or how many persons even responded to the survey. In the absence, as well, of any indication it was particularized to the preschool setting , the survey in Couto's view was "not useful"[3]

On cross-examination, Couto conceded he had never seen the DOE standards for custodial staffing and was not aware of the ratio recommendation contained in the Guidance (J-1, p. 8 – "one janitor for every six to seven classrooms in a stand-alone ECE building"). Rather, he used the data from Feldman (P-16), which he adjusted to account for Elizabeth's particular needs in schools with 300 preschoolers and 60 or so staff.

The next witness for petitioner was Manuel Gonzalez, Acting Principal at School No. 50 in the absence of its regular principal who has been on sick leave since November 2004. The Center, he said, has 20 teachers, 20 teaching assistants, nurses, facilitators, child study team personnel, three secretaries, three security guards and five custodians in addition to about 300 students. The school is located in a mall adjacent to a supermarket where there is substantial vehicular traffic.

Gonzalez identified the schematic plan of School No. 50 (P-17) and described where the children arrive each day, either on foot, by car or in 14 buses. One security guard is located at a set of doors near the main entrance where a metal detector is located and through which persons must pass after they sign in. A second security guard is located about 100 feet away (out of sight of the first guard) at the end of a corridor where there is a security door to the classroom area. The guard also can scrutinize a passageway to a loading dock and his or her major role is to make sure no unauthorized persons enter the classroom areas. A third guard "roams" the classroom area to watch for and respond to potential problems since the other two guards mainly are responsible to attend to the entry door points. Gonzalez also noted there are doors located on the side and in the back of the school which are kept locked unless there is a need to open them from the inside when, for example, deliveries are made. He periodically checks these doors himself to make sure they are locked.

[3] Rodney, who identified P-3, was unclear as to its genesis other than it was authored by one Joe Agron who apparently is Editor-in-Chief of American School and University, a trade publication in which P-3 appears in its April 2003 edition. As noted, R-1 is a table of statistics taken from P-3, p. 32.

In short, given the physical layout of School No. 50, Gonzalez insisted all three security guards are needed and the loss of even one would severely impair his ability to offer the same level of safety and protection that now exists, especially in the classroom areas.

Next, regarding the need for three secretaries rather than only one, Gonzalez said each has very distinct responsibilities (P-18) and the voluminous amount of "documentation" they must handle daily, along with their many other chores, makes the need for all three a vital one. All are kept busy all day and to lose even one, no less two, would be "devastating".

Regarding the continuing need for the five custodians which he now has, Gonzalez asserted that actually he could use a sixth and having "only" five means the crew "has to push". Given the fact the school houses about 300 three to four year olds each day, plus staff and visitors, and that every one of the 20 classrooms has its own lavatory, he claimed he would be unable to meet the minimum standards for proper hygiene without all five.

On cross-examination, the witness agreed there are nine security cameras at the school and a monitor which also are used for security purposes. However, the monitor is not in a location that can be seen by the guard stationed at the metal detector site, and no one else is available to perform that task.

The final witness for Elizabeth, Lourdes Leon, is principal of School 51, which opened in September 2004. The physical layout there is similar to that at School No. 50, except her Center has enclosed play areas (P-20). The school is located in an area of Elizabeth where there is a substantial amount of traffic and each day 11 large buses deliver and pick up students.

With respect to the need for three security guards at her school, Leon explained that due to the particular layout the guard at the front entrance area who monitors the metal detector cannot see the second guard who is posted at the entry doors to the classroom areas which can only be opened electronically by "swiping" a card (similar to School No. 50). The third guard is the "roamer" who meets the buses when they arrive, controls traffic flow and during the rest of the school day patrols the corridors in the instructional area. Thus, as far as Leon is concerned, her school's security needs are such that she could not tolerate the loss of even one guard. As she put it, the building "would not function" given the daily demands placed on it to provide safety for 300 students, 60 staff and perhaps 50-60 visitors.

As far as the secretarial need is concerned, Leon was adamant that having only one secretary is "impossible", and even two could not satisfactorily do all the work. In fact, all three are kept busy every day and she could use a fourth secretary to assist the others.

Finally, regarding the special request for five custodians, Leon said there is no question all are needed. The building cannot be kept clean on a daily basis with just three or even four custodians since 20 classrooms must be wet mopped daily, each lavatory must be sanitized and all of the myriad other requirements must be met. As she put it, the children "live in those classrooms most of the day".

On cross-examination, Leon stressed that the three to four year old age group requires a great deal more attention in terms of clean-up than older children, and although each classroom has a lunch-time assistant for two hours to relieve the teachers and aides, they are not custodians or janitors and are there to help with the children. Again, as far as the extra security guards are concerned, she stressed the need for all of them and even though there are 14 security cameras and an alarm system in the school, there are "blind spots" which cameras cannot see.

DISCUSSION

The Guidance supplied to Elizabeth and all other Abbott districts explained the purpose, inter alia, of Special Requests as follows:

> Abbott preschool programs must meet the unique educational needs of the children in each Abbott community and arrange for the necessary supports to enable every child to achieve the State's Core Curriculum Content Standards. As such, budget guidance may not identify all aspects of a quality preschool program for every district. To remedy this problem and enable districts to identify what the New Jersey Supreme Court terms "particularized needs," the Department will accept Special Requests. Special Requests are those that either exceed the recommended costs in categories defined by the budget guidance or represent categories not contained in the budget guidance or budget worksheet deemed essential to an effective and efficient program within a category of particularized need identified by the district or a provider.
> (J-1, at pp. 20-21)(emphasis added).

A Special Request requires the use of a special form (J-1, p. 22) and the directions note it is a one-year request that either: (1) does not fit within; or (2) exceeds the amounts in any of the line-item categories contained in their respective budget guidelines. The Guidance further requires that sufficient detail accompany the request since:

> Only those special requests accompanied by detailed descriptions and justifications, including documented evidence of need and/or effectiveness from studies, evaluations, needs assessments, etc. will be considered by the Department. Two separate and complete estimates must be submitted for each special request related to the item or service. Please submit only one request per form. You may attach any additional relevant information or documentation to support your request.
> (J-1, p.22)

For the reasons which follow I believe Elizabeth's justification regarding its need for two more secretaries and custodians at each school should be accepted in part and rejected in part, and that its insistence that it needs all three security guards at each Center should be sustained.

Secretaries (J-4)

The Guidance suggests a recommended ratio of one secretary per stand alone building. Elizabeth seeks funding for three secretaries at each, the same number approved since 2002-03 (Exs. J-1,J-4,P-1,P-9.) The January 14, 2005 MacInnes letter disapproved Special Request 4 to maintain all three secretaries since the Guidelines only budget for one, and there are three "district-wide clerical positions" which can be used to fill in as needed. In my view, given the assigned duties which the secretaries perform as explained by Gonzalez and Leon, providing only one secretary at each Center would be counter-productive and a second secretary to help handle the myriad assigned tasks is a must. If there is need for more support the district-wide clerical staff should be able to fill that need.

As the DOE noted, each Special Request relates to its own school year and what DOE approved in the past, while evidential, is not dispositive. With only a finite amount of funds available, and bearing in mind that preschool education is not of State Constitutional dimension, priorities must be established and what was affordable in one school year may not be affordable in the next. There is no requirement in any statute, rule, policy or Abbott decision which mandates continuation of the same staffing level given the fact that costs increase even if staffing does not. As the DOE points out, while approvals or denials of special requests are not to be "formulaic", neither are they written in stone simply because there was an approval the previous year. The Guidance provides a recommended ratio, demands an annual reassessment and explains that approval is warranted only where the request is "essential" to meet a "particularized need". That analysis was done in this case and I recommend the DOE modify its prior action and approve a total of six secretaries for the three Centers rather than only three.

Custodians (J-5)

For the 2005-06 school year, Elizabeth requested DOE approval to fund five custodians per Center. The DOE approved funding for only three (J-6) even though each school had five custodians in prior school years (P-1,P-7). Substantial testimony was offered by Rodney, Cuoto, Gonzalez and Leon on this item. Rodney, in particular, has researched and analyzed the area and relying in part on the published study (P-3,R-1) as well as other data, he believes the Guideline recommendation of one custodian for 6 to 7 classrooms was acceptable. Since each Center has 20 classrooms this resulted in a determination that three custodians are needed for each, not five (J-1, p. 8).

Cuoto, on the other hand, resorted to the Newman materials (P-16) and adjusted some of the data to what he felt, based upon his "observations", "experience" and "actual time measurement", to be the actual needs at the three Centers. For example, where the Newman data assigned only 20 minutes per 1000 square feet of classroom space (P-16), Cuoto adjusted that upward by 30 percent to 26 minutes (P-2).

On balance, given the direct observational testimony offered by Couto, Gonzalez and Leon, a "particularized need" for one more custodian at each Center is warranted given the type of demands made on them to service the school population involved. Although not dispositive, the square feet per student maintained in Elizabeth (152.865) is about 10 percent less than the national median of 169.85 reported in April 2003 in the cited cost study (P-3,R-1). Whether it actually takes 26 minutes to clean a classroom and attached lavatory rather than 24, or 20 or less may never be known with certainty. However, even given the description of the work performed by the custodians at School No. 50 (J-7,P-2,P-10,P-14,P-18) and at School No. 51 (P-19), the District has failed to demonstrate that unless funding for five custodians is approved it will not be able to provide the type of services required for an efficient preschool program. If after a year of experience with one less custodian per Center the District is able to provide detailed justification rather than generalized observations and somewhat suspect statistics regarding time management, I am sure the DOE will closely assess the new data. For 2005-06, then, I recommend approval of a total of 12 custodians for the three Centers, four at each one. Reducing the number to only nine as the DOE suggests would require a one person shift either at night or during the day. That is not workable.

Security Guards (J-3)

With respect to the security guard complement, Elizabeth contends it needs three at each school, or a total of nine (Exs. J-4,P-5,P-8), the number they have had per school since 2002-03 (P-2). The Guidance document (J-1) recommended just one per school, but the DOE approved two and rejected the third (J-6).

A quite detailed justification for three guards per school was offered by Gonzalez for School No. 50 and Leon for School No. 51, accompanied by floor plan diagrams for each (Exs. P-17,P-20). The need at School No. 51 was further articulated in Leon's memorandum of February 9, 2005 to Dunn (P-19) and, to a lesser extent by Gonzalez the previous day (P-18). Given the size of the areas to be covered, the security issues when the guards are occupied at their individual posts, the parental traffic in and out during the day, the need for extra vigilance at arrival and departure times and during fire drills and the vulnerability of students of such tender age, I believe Elizabeth has demonstrated a particularized need to continue to receive funding for three security guards per Center. An abundance of caution is required in this vital area and deleting even one guard per Center would be unacceptable, if not potentially dangerous. Thus, I recommend that funding be provided for three security guards at each Center, or a total of nine for all three sites.

A few final comments are in order. First, Elizabeth argues that the contents of the Guidance are nowhere to be found in the regulations and since they have "all the hallmarks" of administrative rules having statewide applicability, they should have been subjected to the notice and hearing procedures of the Administrative Procedure Act. See Metromedia, Inc. v. Director, Div. of Taxation, 97 N.J. 313 (1981). As a corollary, Elizabeth also argues that neither the DOE regulations nor the Guidance provide "ascertainable standards" to guide the agency in carrying out its discretionary function in determining whether a "particularized need" has been shown.

I must disagree. Not every administrative agency policy, such as those contained in the Guidance, must follow the APA procedures, especially where they have been relatively quickly adopted in response to the drum roll of Abbott cases. The "moving target" analogy mentioned in Abbott v. Burke, 170 N.J. 537,544 (2000) and the Court's reference to the fact that the factual dynamic in these cases constantly is changing, results in a need for DOE to act as quickly, albeit responsibly, as possible. Under the circumstances the DOE's adoption of the Guidance passes Metromedia muster.

Next, Elizabeth argues that there is no reliable empirical data to support the DOE's recommended staffing ratios, as witnessed by Rodney's reliance on a study which it claims is seriously flawed in terms of a scientific basis. I, too, mentioned some of these very deficiencies, as did Couto, e.g., the type and number of schools to which the surveys were sent, the number of respondents, etc. Indeed, the article cautions that the statistics are only "benchmarks, keeping in mind that all costs are greatly affected by a number of factors . . . ." (P-3, p.32). Nevertheless, the Guidance ratios, as DOE points out, are only recommended "thresholds" and the entire Special Request process takes into account the need for flexibility in terms of "particularized need". The suggested ratios are, in my view, legitimate benchmarks against which specific situations for 2005-06 are to be measured. In that light I find them to be perfectly acceptable. Indeed, in this very case even though the Guidance recommended a ratio of only one security guard to each stand alone, the DOE itself approved two guards (J-6), and I also have recommended one additional custodian and one additional secretary.

I also disagree with Elizabeth's claim that the DOE has ignored its own regulation by failing to provide specific reasons for denying a program or expenditure. See N.J.A.C. 6A:10-9.7(a)(1). While DOE could, and perhaps should have been more detailed in describing why the special requests were rejected in whole or in part, they were not "formulaic".

Finally, DOE did not "sit mute" in regard to Elizabeth's inquiries as to what additional information was needed (J-7, Letter of January 27, 2005). Soon thereafter, Davis spoke to Dunn and asked her to "prioritize" its requests – to me an open invitation to Elizabeth to enter into a bilateral dialogue over the special requests. Elizabeth's response, which is contained in Dunn's letter of February 8, 2005 (J-7), was an outright rejection of any offer to negotiate and constituted a demand that the DOE, not Elizabeth, modify its stance. Indeed, Dunn herself cited the 2003-04 process where, following DOE's initial rejection of special requests, Dunn, Davis and Frede met and entered into a discussion leading to a modification of DOE's position (P-13,P-15). There is no reason why Elizabeth did not seek to pursue the same course of action in January-February 2005, and Dunn agreed with me when I commented that Elizabeth could have initiated face-to-face discussions as well. In some way both sides sat "mute", but I cannot say that DOE in violation of its Abbott obligation thoroughly to assess the District's actual needs failed to do so.

CONCLUSION AND ORDER

Accordingly, I hereby CONCLUDE and ORDER: (a) with respect to Special Request 4 (Security Guards) that funding for three per Center (a total of nine) be approved; (b) with respect to Special Request 9 (Secretaries) that funding for two per Center (a total of six) be approved; and (c) with respect to Special Request 26 (Custodians) that funding for four per school (a total of 12) be approved.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen (13) days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

NEW JERSEY STATE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION,

COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION

DECISION

SYNOPSIS

Petitioning Abbott District Board of Education challenged the Department's denial of funding for certain items in its revised 2005-2006 Preschool Operational Plan, which the Board asserts are necessary to provide a well-planned, high quality preschool program for Vineland's children. Specifically, the Board challenged the Department's denial regarding: 1) unconditional approval of the request for matching funds for its Families and Children Early Education Services (FACES) grant; and 2) the request for a food service worker's salary and benefits.

On the first issue, the ALJ denied the Board's claim, emphasizing that the Department did not deny Vineland's request, but took the position that a commitment to fully match the FACES grant, which has not been officially funded, will not be made until the monies are actually needed, which may, if such approval occurs after final district budget approval, require the Board to review its preschool account to determine if additional funds are available or can be reallocated at the time that the grant award is approved. In so concluding, the ALJ cited the Department's obligation to scrutinize closely the spending of state monies by local school districts. On the second issue, the ALJ ordered the Department to direct Vineland to include the food service worker's salary and benefits in the preschool budget, concluding that, as a mandated preschool program expense, it is properly part of the preschool budget. The ALJ found that the Department's directive to include food services costs for the preschool program in the K-12 district budget as part of the Fund 50 ("enterprise account") line item would unnecessarily commingle expenditures, leading to accounting confusions and inaccurate reflections of the financial condition of each program. Furthermore, the ALJ found inconsistent the Department's directive to transfer the disputed employee expense into a fund run at a deficit when the Department is concurrently requiring other employee expenses to be moved out of the fund.

The Commissioner concurred with the ALJ's findings regarding issue #1 above, and adopted that portion of the Initial Decision. With respect to issue #2, however, the Commissioner set aside the Initial Decision, finding that the Department's directive to place preschool food service worker expenses in Fund 50 was appropriate given the nature of the district's food service operation and the purpose of the enterprise fund; he also found no basis on the record to conclude that the Department had ordered other food service employee expenses to be transferred out of Fund 50. The Petition of Appeal was dismissed in its entirety.

BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE CITY OF VINELAND, CUMBERLAND COUNTY,	:
PETITIONER,	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
V.	:	DECISION
NEW JERSEY STATE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION,	:
RESPONDENT.	:

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed. Pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4, timely exceptions were filed by the respondent Department of Education (Department); neither exceptions nor replies to the Department's exceptions were filed by the petitioning Board of Education (Board).

In its exceptions, the Department takes issue with the Initial Decision's conclusion that salary and benefits for an in-district food service worker should be funded as an approved miscellaneous expenditure within the Board's preschool budget, rather than accounted for within the district's overall budget through the enterprise fund ("Fund 50"). According to the Department, although there is no specific statute or rule with respect to where food service worker salary and benefits must be placed within a school budget, Fund 50 is singularly appropriate because of its unique status as an isolated auxiliary fund for programs that generate their own revenues against which to charge associated expenditures. Moreover, because Fund 50 is a district-wide fund from which the district's entire food service operation is run, it appropriately covers operations associated with all grades within the district, not only those for K-12. Countering the concerns of the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) with respect to commingling of expenditures, the Department notes that the Board presently funds its preschool food service worker through Fund 50, and that there is no evidence of confusion in accounting or inaccurate reflection of preschool or K-12 fiscal condition occurring as a result. Finally, in response to the ALJ's finding that the Department is inconsistent in requiring transfer of some food service employee expenses into a fund that is running a deficit at the same time it is requiring other such expenses to be transferred out, the Department contends that while the Board has indeed been directed to submit a corrective action plan to decrease the deficit in Fund 50, there is no evidence, either documentary or in testimony of Board and Department witnesses, of any Department directive to effectuate the plan by transferring food service employee expenses to other accounts. (Department's Exceptions at 2-4)

Upon review, the Commissioner initially concurs with the ALJ, for the reasons clearly set forth in the Initial Decision, that the Department was correct in denying unconditional approval to the Board's request for matching funds for its FACES grant. The Commissioner, like the ALJ, fully endorses the Department's position that, if the grant application is acted upon subsequent to approval of the final district budget, funding should be provided only to the extent that matching costs cannot be met through additional revenue or reallocations identified within the approved budget.

With respect to the disputed food service worker expenditure, however, the Commissioner cannot agree that the Department erred in denying the proposed expenditure and directing instead that it be placed in Fund 50 within the general budget. Rather, the Commissioner concurs with the Department that such allocation is appropriate for two reasons, both of which contrast with the situation facing private providers: 1) School district budgets include a differentiated auxiliary fund (Fund 50) expressly for those programs such as food services which generate both revenue and expenditures, with the expectation that, where a program contributes revenues, associated costs will also be handled through the fund, the goal being to reach eventual self-sufficiency; and 2) the Board's food service operations are district-wide, so that there is no practical or budgetary reason to segregate preschool food service costs from those for K-12. This view is not altered by the fact that the Board's Fund 50 is presently in deficit; that is a matter appropriately addressed, as is being done in this instance, through a corrective action plan to move the fund toward self-sufficiency within the context of the full district budget, not by allocating a cost that clearly belongs in the district-wide enterprise fund to the separate preschool budget.[1] Additionally, there is nothing on record to support the Board's suggested finding that, without approval of the disputed expenditure within the preschool budget, the Board will be unable to ensure that its preschool students receive adequate nutrition and education; the Department, as noted by the ALJ, is not arguing that the Board's preschool food service program requires no staffing, but rather that, because of the nature of the district's food service operation and

[1] There is nothing on record to support the ALJ's statement, at page 5 of the Initial Decision, that the Board's approved corrective action plan includes "the effort to move other food worker related expenses out of fund 50 to show less of a deficit;" certainly there is no evidence that the Department directed any such strategy.

existence of the enterprise fund, such staffing as it needs should be funded and assessed within the context of the district's general budget.[2]

Accordingly, the Initial Decision of the OAL is adopted for the reasons expressed therein with respect to the Department's denial of unconditional matching funds for the FACES grant, but, for the reasons expressed above, is set aside with respect to denial of funding within the preschool budget for food service worker salary and benefits. The Petition of Appeal is, therefore, dismissed in its entirety.

IT IS SO ORDERED.[3]

BEFORE JOHN SCHUSTER III, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

The City of Vineland School District (petitioner or Vineland) is an Abbott district as defined by N.J.S.A. 18A:7F-3 and N.J.A.C. 6A:24-1.2. On January 14, 2005, the New Jersey

State Department of Education (respondent or Department) notified the petitioner it had reviewed its 2005-2006 revised Preschool Operational Plan. The Department approved a total budget amount of $12,605,148. On February 8, 2005, Vineland filed a Petition of Appeal with the Commissioner disputing five items in the submitted budget that were not approved for funding. Those items were: (1) a partially-approved special request for office supplies and materials; (2) Families and Children Early Education Services (FACES) grant match; (3) a food service worker salary and benefits; (4) supplies for family workers; and (5) salary and benefits for a part-time janitor. On February 16, 2005, the Department transmitted the contested case to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL). On the same date, the Department's Answer was filed with the OAL, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:10A-9.7c. On March 10, 2005, the hearing was held before the undersigned at the OAL offices, in Mercerville, New Jersey. Prior to the record being opened on the day of hearing, counsel for the parties advised the Court that petitioner had withdrawn its request for office materials and supplies (No. 1 above) and supplies for family workers (No. 4 above). Also, the parties discussed the request for salary and benefits for a part-time janitor (no. 5 above) and that request was reexamined and granted by the respondent based on new information supplied by petitioner.

That left two remaining issues, those being the request for matching funds of the Families and Children Early Education Services (FACES) grant and the request for a food service worker's salary and benefits. The record remained open following the hearing to permit the parties to submit post-hearing briefs. By letter dated March 16, 2005, and received at the OAL on March 17, 2005, the respondent filed a written closing statement setting forth the arguments in support of its position.

DISCUSSION

A. Families and Children Early Education Services (FACES) Grant Match

The FACES grant has been issued to Vineland each year commencing with the 2002-2003 school year. This is a grant funded through the New Jersey Department of Human Services and is used to promote literacy, parent education, prenatal and health services and childcare. For the school years of 2002-2003 and 2003-2004, the Department approved the matching funds in the amount of $250,000 without any conditions. For the 2004-2005 school year, the Department approved a matching grant in the amount of $125,000 without conditions. The petitioner has requested $125,000 from the Department as a matching grant for the 2005-2006 school year. It has not been disputed that the services and programs run by Vineland and funded by the FACES grant are the same as they have been since they were instituted in the 2002-2003 school year. In this matter, petitioner is requesting an unconditional approval of matching funds from the Department in the amount of $125,000. Vineland argues that without an unconditional approval it cannot represent to the Department of Human Services that it will have sufficient funds to implement the programs designed to be funded by this grant and thereby put the entire grant in jeopardy.

Respondent's position is set forth in the documents in evidence marked as R-1. R-1 consists of four letters between Dr. Ellen Frede of the Department of Education and Dr. Clarence Hoover, the superintendent of the Vineland Public School District. R-1 consists of four letters, the first being dated February 6, 2005, and the last being March 3, 2005. The last letter, from Dr. Frede to Dr. Hoover, sets forth respondent's position in clear and concise terms. That correspondence states, in applicable part:

> This letter will serve to reaffirm that in the event that DHS funds FACES, the department will amend Vineland's preschool budget to include the $125,000 match. If the approval comes after the final district budget approval, Vineland must first review its pre-K account to determine if additional revenues are available or if funds can be reallocated. If Vineland has insufficient funds in its pre-k account, the DOE will increase the payments by $125,000.

Therefore, it is the Department's position that should DHS approve Vineland's request for a FACES grant prior to the Department approving its final district budget the Department will provide matching funds up to $125,000. If, however, the FACES grant application is not approved by DHS until after the Department approves the final district budget, then the budget will be reviewed to determine if there are any unspent funds within the pre-K account which can be applied to the Department's portion of matching funds.

Vineland makes two counter arguments. First, it states that excess funds cannot be determined until the end of the school year because there is no way of knowing what events may occur during the year to require expenditures. Therefore, until the entire year's expenses are determined, there can be no finding of excess funds. Secondly, Vineland alleges that in practicality, the Department never increases a budget amount in the middle of a budget year, even when they clearly should do so, such as in cases where enrollment increases. I find this second argument to be speculative and not worthy of further discussion.

For purposes of clarification, Vineland has no dispute with the Department with respect to payment of the $125,000 in matching funds prior to the District budget's approval. It is only if the Department of Human Services does not issue its FACES grant until later in the year, meaning post-District budget approval, where a problem may arise.

The Department is not denying Vineland's request. Its position is it will not commit to fully match the FACES grant until it confirms the funds are actually needed. The Department believes this is prudent fiscal policy as there may be unspent funds in Vineland's budget because of unrelated circumstance or unanticipated events. This is not an unreasonable stance. The Department has an obligation to closely scrutinize the spending of state monies being given to local school districts. Without that scrutiny there is a risk state monies will not be spent in accordance with their intended purpose. Therefore, it is not unreasonable for the Department to periodically review a local district's budget and spending to confirm a need continues to exist and the funds are being used to address that need. It is universally recognized the budget process is constantly evolving. Unexpected events occur during any given school year which change the need for funding. Sometimes districts have unexpected expenses and need their funding supplemented. Other times anticipated expenses do not come to fruition and a budget may show a surplus. Consequently, the Department has an obligation to confirm that funds are needed before it makes an expenditure to a local district and it would be appropriate to also confirm the district does not have excess funds before doing so because if unspent budget funds exist there is no need for a district to be granted additional funds and thereby increase its surplus.

For the reasons set forth herein I DENY Vineland's request for an order directing the Department to unconditionally approve matching funds awarded to petitioner through a FACES grant.

B. Food Service Worker Salary and Benefit

On this issue, Vineland has requested the Department fund a food service worker's salary and benefits for its preschool program. The amount requested is $24,740.00 being made up of $11,740.00 in salary and $13,000.00 in benefits. Petitioner argues a food service worker is needed because the Department requires Vineland's Preschool Program to take part in the Child and Adult Care Food Program and the National School Lunch Program in the same way its K-12 operation does. In addition, Vineland argues that it is required by regulation N.J.A.C. 6A:10A-3.6(j) that "each school shall provide an enriched balanced nutritional food program. . ." Petitioner argues without funding from the Department, it can not comply with Department mandates nor with the aforesaid regulation. Respondent's position is that the preschool food service worker should be funded through the K-12 district budget and not the preschool budget. In particular, the Department says that costs associated with food services for the preschool program should be included in the Fund 50 line item. Fund 50 is a line item in the district K-12 budget which refers to activities run by a district which generate income. Food services are included in this item as monies are received by the district through the sale of lunches to staff and students. In Vineland's case, Fund 50 operates at a deficit in the K-12 budget to a large extent because of the quantity of free and reduced cost lunches distributed to qualifying students. Vineland argues Fund 50 is only applicable to K-12 as the preschool budget is distinctly separate from the K-12 operating budget. It also argued that since its Fund 50 is operating at a deficit, and in fact, is the subject of a corrective action plan mandated by the Department because of that deficit, it is inappropriate to place an additional financial burden through that line item onto the district budget. This, Vineland argues, is especially true since its approved corrective action plan includes the effort to move other food worker related expenses out of Fund 50 to show less of a deficit. The result would be to increase the amount of deficit Fund 50 operates at currently and will further strain that line item and make the correction plan ineffective. In addition, Vineland argues they are being treated unfairly by the Department in that the Department funds 100% of the food service cost incurred by the providers who supply preschool services to the district, but the Department refuses to fund any food service to it for its district sponsored preschool program. Vineland relies, not only on the regulation which mandates it provide a nutritional food program for its students, but also relies on the Abbott Preschool Implementation Guidelines. It cites page 46 of that document (P-3) which reads "children should receive adequate nutrition and education concerning health and nutrition. "Petitioner argues without appropriate funding it can not provide that mandate to the children in its district-run preschool program.

In contrast, the Department's position is that Fund 50, the Auxiliary Enterprise Fund, is the most logical place in the budget for preschool food services. Respondent argues the Early Childhood Program is not approved for a food service worker since there is not a line item in the budget for this particular service. The Department recognizes, however, that Early Childhood Providers receive food services expenses but in-district Early Childhood Programs are not funded. The Department's position is that since there is no line item for an expenditure in the Early Childhood budget for a food service worker the most logical place, by process of elimination, is to put that expense into Fund 50. That, respondent recognizes, is commingling services among the two budgets. In addition, respondent finds no disparity in its policy to fund 100% of the food service expenses furnished by the providers to the preschool children they service as opposed to the District, wherein there is no funding for food services and some children are required to pay all or part of their nutritional expenses.

It must be emphasized the Department is not denying a food service worker is necessary for the in-district preschool program. It is also not denying the worker's position should be funded. Respondent cites no authority for where the food service worker's salary and benefits expense should appear in the budgets. The Department's argument that no line in the preschool budget fits this service is unpersuasive. First, there is a miscellaneous line in where all non-characterized expenses can be placed and second, the Department has the authority to direct this expenditure be placed anywhere it chooses. The fact there is no specific budget line enumerated for this expenditure is only because respondent has not designated one. The Department is taking the unique position that the food service worker's salary and benefits should be shown on the district K-12 budget, however, it has not committed to approve the expense when Vineland submits that proposed budget for review and approval. In weighing the arguments of the parties and applying logic and good practice I CONCLUDE a preschool food service worker's expense should be included in the preschool budget as it is a preschool program mandated expense. To move it into another budget unnecessarily commingles expenditures which may lead to accounting confusions and inaccurate reflections of the financial condition of each program. Furthermore, transferring an employee expense into a fund run at a deficit when the Department is requiring other employee expenses be moved out of the fund is totally inconsistent. I recognize it is within the discretion of the Department to fully fund services to providers but not districts.

For the reasons set forth here, I ORDER the Department to direct Vineland to include the food service worker's salary and benefits in the amount of $24,740 in the "miscellaneous" line item in its in-district preschool budget and to approve that budgetary expenditure.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. SYNOPSIS

Petitioner challenged the decision by the respondents to permanently disqualify him from employment in any position with a school or other educational institution under the supervision of the Department of Education because of petitioner's 1995 federal felony conviction for bank fraud under 18 U.S.C.A. §1344. Petitioner contended that the federal offense to which he pled guilty is not one of the criminal convictions requiring permanent disqualification under N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1. The Department moved for summary decision, contending that there were no material facts in dispute and that it was entitled to prevail as a matter of law. Petitioner opposed the motion.

The ALJ found that there were no material facts in dispute, and that the matter was ripe for summary disposition. The ALJ stated the sole issue in this matter to be the legal question of the applicability of N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1(c)2 to petitioner's conviction under 18 U.S.C.A. §1344. The ALJ determined that petitioner was convicted under a statute of the United States that is similar to N.J.S.A. 2C:20-4, for a crime substantially equivalent to theft by deception: a disqualifier as a third degree crime under N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1(c)2. The ALJ concluded that the Department properly disqualified the petitioner from employment; granted summary decision to the Department; and dismissed the Amended Petition.

Upon a full and independent review of the record in this matter, the Commissioner concurred with the findings and conclusions of the ALJ. Accordingly, the Initial Decision of the OAL was adopted for the reasons stated therein and the instant Petition of Appeal was dismissed. The record of this matter was forwarded to the State Board of Examiners for action as that body deems appropriate.

This synopsis is not part of the Commissioner's decision. It has been prepared for the convenience of the reader. It has been neither reviewed nor approved by the Commissioner.

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed. The parties filed no exceptions to the Initial Decision.

Upon his full and independent review of the record in this matter, the Commissioner agrees with the Administrative Law Judge's determination that petitioner's 1995 federal felony conviction for bank fraud under 18 U.S.C.A. §1344 is substantially equivalent to N.J.S.A. 2C:20-4, a third degree crime, thus disqualifying him from school or other educational employment pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1.

Accordingly, the Initial Decision of the OAL is adopted for the reasons clearly stated therein and the instant Petition of Appeal is hereby dismissed. The record of this matter is being forwarded to the State Board of Examiners for action as that body deems appropriate.

BEFORE JOSEPH F. FIDLER, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Petitioner John Caucino has been employed as a teacher in the Monmouth County Vocational School District. On June 11, 2004, the New Jersey Department of Education Criminal History Review Unit issued written notice to Mr. Caucino that he is permanently disqualified from employment in any position with a school or other educational institution under the supervision of the Department of Education, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1, because of his 1995 federal felony conviction for bank fraud under 18 U.S.C.A. §1344. By Amended Petition of Appeal, petitioner challenges this action, contending that the federal offense to which he pled guilty is not one of the criminal convictions that requires permanent disqualification under N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1. Respondent Department has moved for summary decision, contending that there are no material facts in dispute and that it is entitled to prevail as a matter of law. N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5. Petitioner opposes the motion.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

The Department issued its permanent disqualification notice on June 11, 2004. By letter of June 21, 2004, Petitioner's counsel responded to assert that the federal crime to which petitioner pled guilty is not enumerated in N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1 and is therefore not a disqualifying event. It was requested that the matter be reviewed in light of the differing interpretations of the applicable statute. Criminal History Review Manager Carl Carabelli replied by letter of June 30, 2004, that the statute is clear in its preclusion and he suggested that if petitioner were challenging the disqualification based on a legal issue, review of the determination could be sought by filing a formal appeal with the Commissioner of Education. A Petition of Appeal was filed on July 14, 2004, and an Amended Petition of Appeal was filed on July 19, 2004. On July 29, 2004, petitioner filed an Amended Petition for Emergent Relief, seeking to stay the Monmouth County Vocational School District Board of Education from acting to terminate him from his teacher position prior to his appeal being heard.

On July 30, 2004, the matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law for determination as a contested case. Oral argument on the emergent relief application was heard on August 12, 2004, and the application was denied by Order dated August 16, 2004. By Decision on Motion dated August 26, 2004, the Commissioner of Education adopted the Order Denying Emergent Relief and returned the matter to the Office of Administrative Law for further proceedings as may be necessary. Prior to the scheduled hearing date, the Department moved for summary decision and petitioner responded in opposition. The last of the papers on the motion were received on February 10, 2005, and the record closed on that date.

DISCUSSION

From my review of the parties' submissions, I FIND that there is no genuine dispute concerning the facts material to resolution of the motion for summary decision. Prior to his employment as a teacher in the Monmouth County Vocational School District in Freehold, New Jersey, petitioner worked for Ocean Bay Mortgage Company in Toms River, New Jersey. Between 1985 and 1989, petitioner engaged in a scheme with associates to falsify bank loan application documents and construction reports in order to improperly secure 100 percent financing for their projects. Petitioner's fraudulent activities resulted in significant financial losses for Action Savings Bank.

Petitioner pled guilty to 18 U.S.C.A. §1344, Bank Fraud, in 1995 and was sentenced in 1999. U.S. Probation Officer Kenneth Manuel wrote to Ida Graham, Director of the Office of Licensing and Credentials, Department of Education, in October 1999 to advise of petitioner's conviction and sentencing. Petitioner was ordered to pay restitution of $15,000 to the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation and to serve a five year term of probation. The letter advised that petitioner had received the benefit of $173,250 in funds of the Action Savings Bank to which he was not entitled. The letter further advised that petitioner was employed as a teacher with the Monmouth County Vocational School District and that he was complying with all areas of his conditions of probation. No action was taken against petitioner's teaching position at that time. A subsequent fingerprint search prompted issuance of the Department's permanent disqualification notice of June 11, 2004.

Petitioner does not challenge the foregoing facts. Nevertheless, he contends that summary decision is not appropriate. The ground for this contention is that there is a dispute as to whether the federal statute to which he pled guilty is encompassed by N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1. This is the statute disqualifying an individual from holding a position in education when that person has a criminal history involving certain crimes. The Department aptly responds that since the material facts are undisputed and the only issue remaining is the legal question of the applicability of N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1(c)2 to petitioner's conviction, the matter is ripe for summary decision. I agree.

Petitioner contends that his conviction for federal bank fraud is not a disqualifying conviction within the intent of N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1. He asserts that it is not an enumerated offense under N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1(c)2, and further asserts that it is not a disqualifying conviction within the meaning of N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1(c)3, which provides that such a conviction exists if the individual has at any time been convicted under the laws of this State or under any similar statutes of the United States or any other state for a substantially equivalent crime or other offense. According to petitioner there is no corresponding New Jersey statute listed in N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1 that is substantially equivalent to the federal statute to which he pled guilty. More particularly, petitioner argues that theft by deception, N.J.S.A. 2C:20-4, which is a disqualifier as a third degree crime under N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1(c)2, involves deceiving individuals and is not substantially similar to federal bank fraud under 18 U.S.C.A. §1344, which involves only financial institutions.

The more persuasive argument is the Department's contention that petitioner's conviction under the federal bank fraud statute, 18 U.S.C.A. §1344, is a disqualifying conviction within the meaning of N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1(c)3. Following the list of enumerated disqualifying convictions under New Jersey law, that section provides in part that a disqualifying conviction also exists if the individual has at any time been convicted under any similar statutes of the United States for a substantially equivalent crime or other offense. In other words, petitioner has been convicted under a statute of the United States that is similar to N.J.S.A. 2C:20-4, for a crime substantially equivalent to theft by deception.

18 U.S.C.A. §1344 states:

> Whoever knowingly executes or attempts to execute a scheme or artifice-> (1) to defraud a financial institution; or
> (2) to obtain any of the moneys, funds, credits, assets, securities, or other property owned by or under the custody or control of a financial institution, by means of false or fraudulent pretenses, representations, or promises; > shall be fined not more than $1,000,000 or imprisoned not more than 30 days, or both.

N.J.S.A. 2C:20-4 states:

> A person is guilty of theft if he purposely obtains the property of another by deception.
> A person deceives if he purposely:
> a. Creates or reinforces a false impression, including false impressions as to law, value, intention or other state of mind, and including, but not limited to, a false impression that the person is soliciting or collecting funds for a charitable purpose, but deception as to a person's intention to perform a promise shall not be inferred from the fact alone that he did not subsequently perform the promise; > b. Prevents another from acquiring information which would affect his judgment of a transaction; or > c. Fails to correct a false impression which the deceiver previously created or reinforced, or which the deceived knows to be influencing another to whom he stands in a fiduciary relationship.

Both statutes have similar language to describe the prohibited conduct. Both involve obtaining the property of another by means of false pretenses or impressions. It is true that N.J.S.A. 2C:20-4 does not specifically refer to financial institutions. However, a defendant who fraudulently induced lenders to transfer money to him in the form of loans based on the false impressions which he purposefully created has been held to have committed theft by deception as set forth in N.J.S.A. 2C:20-4. State v. Rogers, 230 N.J. Super. 593, 601 (App. Div. 1989), certif. denied, 117 N.J. 54 (1989). The misconduct described in Rogers is strikingly similar to the federal crime petitioner committed, as both involved falsification of bank documents to obtain loans and misrepresentations regarding the equity in real properties. Further, the minimum amount involved in petitioner's crime is represented by the $15,000 restitution he was required to pay. This places his offense in the category of a third degree theft pursuant to N.J.S.A. 2C:20-2, which states that theft constitutes a crime of the third degree if the amount involved exceeds $500 but is less than $75,000.

Based upon the foregoing discussion, I CONCLUDE that 18 U.S.C.A. §1344 is similar to N.J.S.A. 2C:20-4, and that petitioner's conviction in violation of 18 U.S.C.A. §1344 is substantially equivalent to a third degree crime as set forth in N.J.S.A. 2C:20-2. Thus, I further CONCLUDE that the Department properly disqualified the petitioner from employment pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1 The Department's motion for summary decision is GRANTED and the Amended Petition is DISMISSED.

I so ORDER.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen (13) days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

SYNOPSIS

This matter arose out of a decision by the Board of Trustees of Red Bank Charter School to bar further involvement on the Board by Vincent Crapelli and Darryl Hughes, who had been serving as Trustees prior to discovery that they had not been elected by majority vote in accordance with the school's bylaws. The single issue presented was whether Crapelli and Hughes were duly elected members of the Board who could not be removed by the Board's failure to pass a ratification vote.

The ALJ found that that the Board elected Crapelli and Hughes to membership by acclamation, and that the men went on to serve with the same authority enjoyed by other Trustees for several months. The ALJ acknowledged that the bylaws of the charter school require a majority vote of the Board to seat a new trustee, but asserted that functionally the acceptance by acclamation expressed the will of the Board, and, to the extent that an imperfection in the process existed, it was corrected when the Board adopted its annual report in July 2004 listing Crapelli and Hughes as Trustees. The ALJ ordered the men to be reinstated to active Board membership immediately, and emphasized that the majority of a board ought not to find refuge in a perceived technicality to carry forward its purposes. The ALJ pointed out that the Board is authorized under its bylaws to remove Trustees by majority vote, but no such vote was taken in this case.

The Commissioner concurred with the findings and conclusions of the ALJ. The Commissioner held that, under the circumstances, no ratification vote was necessary to legitimize Crapelli and Hughes' election to the Board, and that the vote taken in this instance could not be used to nullify the Board's prior action and effectively remove duly sitting Board members with whom the majority had become dissatisfied without following the process for such removal established in the charter school's bylaws. The Initial Decision was adopted as the final decision, and the Commissioner directed the Board of Trustees to ensure that future Board elections are conducted in accordance with its charter and bylaws. The Commissioner also reminded charter schools generally of the importance of compliance with their own rules of governance with respect to election of Board of Trustee members.

BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF THE RED BANK CHARTER SCHOOL, MONMOUTH COUNTY, MICHAEL STASI, GAYLE HORVATH, DARRELL JACKSON AND DEBRA LOCK,	:
RESPONDENTS.	:

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed. Pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4, respondents filed timely exceptions, to which petitioners replied.

In their exceptions, respondents object to the minimal weight accorded the November 23, 2004 letter from the Department of Education to Board President Stasi, to statements by the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) that the Board of Trustees acted hastily and arbitrarily in voting not to ratify the appointment of petitioners Crapelli and Hughes to the Board, and to the ALJ's disregard of Prickett, supra, the case law precedent cited by respondents. (Respondents' Exceptions at 1-4) In reply, petitioners object to respondents' characterization of the Department's letter and urge adoption of the ALJ's conclusions, describing respondents' actions as "[taking] the law into their own hands" by failing to conduct the necessary legal and factual review before acting.[1] (Petitioners' Reply at 1-2)

Upon review, the Commissioner concurs with the ALJ that, under the particular circumstances of this matter, it is appropriate to look beyond form to the substance of the Board's actions and to reinstate Crapelli and Hughes to Board membership on that basis. Meeting minutes plainly show Crapelli and Hughes to have been accepted as members by the Board of Trustees on May 12, 2004 and to have functioned in all respects as full, voting Board members thereafter. Most significantly, minutes of the Board's July 14, 2004 meeting show that "all members present," including respondents Stasi, Horvath and Lock, "approved" the listing of Board members to be submitted to the Department in the Charter School's 2003-04 Annual Report. The excerpt from that report incorporated into the meeting minutes not only specifically includes Crapelli and Hughes as voting Board members, but additionally explains that the Board was comprised of seven members until April, when the eighth and ninth members were approved; it further incorporates an annotation in the minutes explaining that, although the Annual Report indicates that the men were approved in April, their actual approval came in May, April being the time when interviews and tours were conducted.

Clearly, as found by the ALJ, notwithstanding the absence of a recorded majority vote specifically for the purpose of "electing" Crapelli and Hughes as required by the charter school's bylaws, the Board in effect elected them in May, with any defect in the election process corrected by the Board's recorded vote to accept the Annual Report on July 14. Under these circumstances, despite any suggestion to the contrary in the Department's November 23, 2004 letter—which, the Commissioner notes, was issued without benefit of the factual record and legal perspective developed at hearing—the Board did not need a subsequent ratification vote to legitimize Crapelli and Hughes's election, and the one taken cannot be used to nullify the Board's prior action and effectively remove duly sitting Board members with whom the majority has become dissatisfied without following the process for such removal established in the charter school's bylaws.[2] [3]

[1] Petitioners also claim that "certain factions within the Red Bank Charter School may be sending [the Commissioner] letters or a petition to influence [the Commissioner's] decision in this matter" and they object to any consideration being given to such submissions, which they have not seen and which are not submitted by parties to this matter. (Petitioners' Reply at 2) It is noted that submissions of this type are never considered by the Commissioner in deciding a contested case, since the Commissioner's decision must be made based solely on the record developed pursuant to applicable procedural rules.

Accordingly, the Initial Decision of the OAL, ordering that Vincent Crapelli and Darryl Hughes be forthwith reinstated to membership on the Board of Trustees of the Red Bank Charter School, is adopted as the final decision in this matter. The Board of Trustees is directed to ensure that future Board elections are conducted strictly in accordance with the provisions of its charter and bylaws, and charter schools generally are reminded of the importance of compliance with their own rules of governance in this regard.

IT IS SO ORDERED.[4]

COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION

Date of Decision: 4/19/05
Date of Mailing: 4/19/05

[2] In objecting to the ALJ's characterization of their actions as arbitrary and capricious, respondents note that "the seven existing Board members had six months of experience working with Crapelli and Hughes as de facto Board members on which to base their considered decisions. The vote not to elect Crapelli and Hughes was far less arbitrary than a vote six months earlier would have been." (Respondents' Exceptions at 2)

[3] The resolution of Crapelli and Hughes' status on July 14 also renders inapplicable the case law precedent cited by respondents, even granting, arguendo, that it is germane to charter school Board members as claimed.

[1] The Office of Charter Schools was named as a party to these proceedings and has now filed a motion to be dismissed from the case, as it cannot grant relief and none has been sought against it. The other parties either consent, or have voiced no opposition and the motion is hereby granted.

This matter arises out of a decision by the Red Bank Charter School and a majority of its Board of Trustees to bar further involvement on the Board by Vincent Crapelli and Darryl Hughes, who had been serving as Trustees. A petition contesting this action was filed by Barbara O'Hern, another trustee, with the Commissioner of Education pursuant to his authority under the Charter School Act, N.J.S.A. 18A:36A-1 to – 18. The matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law on application for emergent relief and for hearing. The parties agreed that the Board would defer major commitments until the conclusion of these proceedings, which allowed them to bypass the emergent relief stage and to file cross-motions for summary decision, N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5; Brill v. Guardian Life Ins. Co. of Am., 142 N.J. 520 (1995). Vincent Crapelli and Darryl Hughes were granted intervener status without objection. The single issue presented is whether Crapelli and Hughes are properly members of the Board of Trustees. The Board has fallen into disagreement over certain financial transactions, the merits of which have not been presented. New officers are to be elected in May 2005 and the parties sought to proceed on narrow grounds in the interest of expedition.

The relevant facts are undisputed. Mr. Crapelli and Mr. Hughes began meeting with Board members and the school principal in the few months prior to the May 2004 Board meeting, as part of a process aimed at assessing their interest in and suitability for Board membership. On May 12, 2004, Board President Michael Stasi, while presiding at the regular monthly meeting of the Board, welcomed Crapelli and Hughes onto the Board as members. After this meeting the two men attended Board meetings in both public and executive session, received confidential information for upcoming agenda meetings, and served on Board committees. At the school graduation in June 2004 the men walked in the academic procession. The Board secretary had them file personal financial statements with the Monmouth County Superintendent of Schools in the manner required of Board members. The July 2004 annual report of the Red Bank Charter School certifies to the Commissioner that Crapelli and Hughes were "approved" as Trustees in May 2004.

The bylaws of the Charter School require a majority vote of the Board to seat a new Trustee. On November 23, 2004, Rochelle Hendricks, the Acting Director of the Office of Vocational-Technical Career and Innovative Programs in the Department of Education, wrote to President Stasi. It had come to her attention that Crapelli and Hughes were not "properly elected" under the Red Bank Charter School bylaws, as there was no indication the Trustees actually engaged in a vote on May 12, 2004. The letter opines that the two men cannot serve if not elected and that resolutions bottomed on their votes are null and void. Ms. Hendricks directed President Stasi to address this matter immediately and to provide evidence that the Board was acting in conformity with its bylaws. A motion to ratify the May 12, 2004 election/selection failed at the December 8, 2004 meeting by a 4-3 vote. Thereafter, the Board majority barred Crapelli and Hughes from acting as Trustees. This is the substance of the record.

It is plain from the undisputed facts that the Board selected Crapelli and Hughes to membership on May 12, 2004 by some form of acclamation. There is no evidence of dissent and the two men went on to serve with the same authority enjoyed by other Trustees. The Board unanimously adopted its annual report in July 2004, which includes a page listing Crapelli and Hughes as Trustees. The November 23, 2004 letter from Ms. Hendricks called their status into question and the Board majority in effect used this letter to nullify the May 2004 decision. I am persuaded that the Board acted hastily and that it was arbitrary to simply excuse these men from further service.

Functionally the May 12, 2004 acceptance by acclamation expressed the will of the Board with close to the same certitude as would have been expressed in a viva voce vote or ballot. To the extent that an imperfection in the process existed it was corrected when the Board adopted its annual report in July 2004 and sent it forward to the Commissioner pursuant to N.J.S.A.18A:36A-16. The report lists Crapelli and Hughes as Trustees. The December 8, 2004 Board vote not to ratify the May 12, 2004 decision was therefore superfluous, as the status of these men had at the latest been resolved in July 2004. The Board is authorized under the bylaws to remove Trustees by majority vote, but no such vote was taken [2].

The precedents cited by petitioners are not squarely on point, but they do suggest that our courts will search beneath form to the substance of matters when passing on the decisions of public and private Boards, see Billig v. Buckingham Towers Condo Ass'n., 287 N.J.Super. 551 (App. Div. 1996); Woodhull v. Manahan, 85 N.J. Super. 157 (App. Div. 1964). Thus, the majority ought not to find refuge in a perceived technicality to carry its purposes forward. It may also be worth noting that the Legislature did not mandate elections for Charter School Trustees, N.J.S.A. 18A:36A-5 (c).

Respondents have cited no New Jersey authorities to support their conduct and rely on Prickett v. American Steel & Pump. Corp., 253 A.2d 86 (Del. Ch. 1969), a decision of the Delaware courts. That case stands for the proposition that a bylaw contravening a corporate charter on the question of staggered terms is void and Trustees elected in accordance with the bylaw serve de facto until a new judicially supervised election is held. I have no disagreement with the case, but see little factual correlation to our matter. Moreover, Red Bank Charter School is a public body under N.J.S.A. 18A:36A-3 and while it is early in the history of these entities, they seem closer in kind to Boards of Education than to private corporations.

Based on the foregoing, it is ORDERED that Vincent Crapelli and Darryl Hughes be reinstated to Board membership forthwith.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE BOROUGH OF ELMWOOD PARK, BERGEN COUNTY,	:
RESPONDENT.	:

The record of this matter, the Stipulation of Settlement, and the Initial Decision issued by the Office of Administrative Law pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1 have been reviewed.

Upon review, the Commissioner approves those settlement terms within his jurisdiction as the final decision in the matter of petitioner's claim for Board of Education payment of the cost of their resident student's court-ordered placement in an out-of-state private boarding school. The Commissioner expressly notes, however, that this approval does not extend to Term No. 3, stipulating that S.L. is a " 'student with a disability' within the meaning of the New Jersey State Education Law." Absent any indication that S.L. has been so determined pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:14-3.5 or 3.6* (see N.J.A.C. 6A:14-1.3), the Commissioner may not accept this term, which he notes has no bearing on the issue before him in this non-special education matter, as a simple factual statement; on the other hand, the Commissioner has no jurisdiction to approve an agreement that would itself serve to determine a student's eligibility for special education services.

* Indeed, the record of this matter suggests that he has not.

Accordingly, the Commissioner approves the settlement to the extent that it falls within his jurisdiction. The matter is hereby dismissed, subject to compliance with applicable terms of the settlement.

IT IS SO ORDERED.

Record Closed: March 9, 2005 Decided: March 9, 2005

BEFORE KEN R. SPRINGER, ALJ:

This matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law ("OAL") on August 3, 2004 for hearing as a contested case pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to –13 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to –15.

Petitioner and the Elmwood Park Board of Education have agreed to settle this matter and have prepared the attached stipulation indicating the terms of settlement.

I have reviewed the record and the settlement terms and I FIND:

1. The parties have voluntarily agreed to the settlement, as evidenced by their signatures or their representatives' signatures.

2. The settlement fully disposes of all issues in controversy and is consistent with the law.

3. Petitioner has voluntarily dismissed all claims against respondents Office of the Attorney General and the New Jersey Department of Education.

Therefore I ORDER that the parties comply with the settlement terms and that these proceedings be and are hereby concluded.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

	:	AND ~~EDS 7209-04~~ EDU 7565-04
Elmwood Park Board of Education and the Office of the Attorney General, State of New Jersey and Department of Education, Division of Finance	:	AGENCY NO. 2004-9072

IT IS HEREBY STIPULATED AND AGREED, by and between the Board of Education of the Elmwood Park School District, Bergen County (hereafter referred to as, the "School District") and Jairo Lozano and Martha Lozano (hereinafter collectively referred to as, the "Parents"), the Parents of STEVEN LOZANO (hereinafter referred to as, the "Student") that the Parents' request for payment for the School District to pay all costs and fees with respect to the Student's placement at the Family Foundation School from the date of placement (March 8, 2004) as well as any and all claims that have been or may be raised by the Parents against the School District or the State of New Jersey office of the Attorney General, as such claims have been or may be alleged or raised, shall be settled in accordance with the terms and conditions set forth below.

1. Wherever stated the term "School District" shall also include its agents, officers, employees and consultants. Wherever stated, the term "School" shall also include the School's directors, agents, employees and consultants. Wherever stated, the term "CSE" means the School District's Committee on Special Education.

2. The Parents and Student reside at 39 Orange Avenue, Elmwood Park, New Jersey 07404.

3. The Student is a "Student with a disability" within the meaning of the New Jersey State Education Law.

4. The School District agrees to fund the sum of TWO THOUSAND SEVEN HUNDRED TWENTY FIVE DOLLARS ($2,725.00) per month for the educational tuition costs, on a twelve month basis per school year (July 1 through June 31) for the Student at the Family Foundation School commencing on March 8, 2004 and continuing thereafter for as long as one or both of the Parents is a resident in the School District and the Student is attending the Family Foundation School. This obligation shall continue, on a year to year basis, for so long as the Student is enrolled at the Family Foundation School and up until he graduates from the same. It is anticipated that S.L. will graduate in June of 2006. The Parents will be responsible for the remainder of the costs associated with that placement, including, but not by way of limitation, room and board charges and all personal expenses for the Student, the costs to travel to the Family Foundation School and any field trip costs.

5. The School District agrees to enter into an agreement with the Family Foundation School setting forth its obligations and the form of the agreement is annexed hereto as Exhibit A.

6. If required, the Parents agree to meet with the School District on an annual basis to review the Student's status and to sign such releases as may be necessary for the School District to obtain his grades and progress reports from the Family Foundation School.

7. The School District, at its discretion, may wish to file a "Naples Application" approving the Family Foundation School, at 431 Chapel Hill Road, Hancock, New York as the educational placement of the Student effective March 8, 2004 with the Commissioner of Education. The agreement to pay for the Family Foundation School contained in paragraph 4 of this Agreement, however, is not subject to the approval of the Commissioner of Education. Should the School District proceed with an application, the Parents will sign such consents and releases as may be required by the Commissioner of Education. The School District agrees that its obligations as set forth in Paragraph 4 of this Agreement and for this school year and all succeeding school years shall not be affected by the approval or non-approval of the Naples Application by the Commissioner of Education.

8. In consideration of the other conditions agreed to by the School District, the Parents waive any and all claims that could or have been asserted against the School District for attorney's fees and full reimbursement of the cost of the placement at the Family Foundation School from the date that the Student was placed at the Family Foundation School and all legal fees regarding the placement and the preparation of this stipulation and all claims arising out of the Student's education at the School District. The Parents waive and release the Attorney General of the State of New Jersey from all claims alleged against that entities in the due process petition filed against it.

9. This Stipulation shall not constitute, be interpreted, construed or used as evidence of any admission of fact, law, responsibility, wrongdoing or liability on the part of the District or the Parents and shall not be referred to in any subsequent proceeding by any party other than to enforce the express terms of this Stipulation. In the event that this Stipulation is not fully executed and approved by all parties hereto, this Stipulation shall become null and void and shall neither constitute an admission of any party nor be referred to by any party in any subsequent legal proceeding for any purpose whatsoever.

10. The Parents acknowledge that they have consulted with legal counsel during the negotiations of this Stipulation and have had the opportunity to review this Stipulation in detail with counsel, who has discussed this stipulation with them in the presence of a Spanish speaking interpreter and they fully understand its terms and requirements. The Parents further expressly state that they are satisfied with the representation provided by their legal counsel. The Parents hereby state that they are signing this Stipulation voluntarily of their own free will and not under duress or coercion of any kind. The Parents have had this Stipulation read to them in their native language and they certify that they understand all of the terms and conditions of same.

11. This Stipulation shall be construed fairly according to the plain language of its terms and not for or against any party hereto.

12. All parties are bound by this Stipulation and each of its provisions. Anyone who succeeds to their rights and responsibilities, such as their successors and assigns are also bound. This Stipulation is made for the benefit of all the parties hereto and all who succeed to their rights and responsibilities, and expressly includes their officials, representative, employees, agents and attorneys, successors or assigns.

13. This stipulation may not be changed except by written, signed agreement between the parties.

14. This Stipulation may be signed in any number of counterparts, all of which together shall constitute one original document.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the undersigned sign this agreement as of the dates set forth below.

Exhibit A

Agreement Between Elmwood Park Board of Education and Family Foundation School Effective 2003-2004 and 2004-2005 School Years Only

Agreement for Steven Lozano: Revised 12/07/04

AGREEMENT dated this 3rd day of December 2004, between the Elmwood Park BOE, having offices at 465 Blvd., Elmwood Park, NJ 07407, (hereinafter referred to as "SENDING DISTRICT") and THE FAMILY FOUNDATION SCHOOL, an approved private school for the disabled in the County of Delaware in the State of New York (hereinafter "Contractor"):

Witnesseth

NOW, THEREFORE, in consideration of the covenants herein contained, the parties agree as follows:

1. The SENDING DISTRICT agrees to purchase the educational services described in the pupil's individualized education program for Steven Lozano, a resident pupil from the SENDING DISTRICT, from the Family Foundation School. The Family Foundation School agrees to provide the educational services described in the pupil's individualized education program to Steven Lozano in accordance with the applicable New Jersey Statutes and the rules and regulations of the State Board of Education.

2. This agreement shall be in effect for the 2004 school year. The educational service shall commence July 1st 2004 to June 30th 2005.

3. The Contractor and any personnel employed by the Contractor shall be deemed independent Contractors with respect to the services provided by this agreement.

4. The District shall provide and make available to the Contractor educational records, as required by the Contractor or the Contractor's educational coordinator.

5. The Contractor agrees:

a. To coordinate the instructional program between the Contractor (and, if applicable, the hospital) and the District;

b. To provide educational group activities for all students who are physically able to participate;

c. To be an active participant in the student's placement team;

d. To provide assistance for the student's re-entry into the District's schools;

e. To provide educational instruction in accordance with the Education Law of the State of New York, the regulations of the Commissioner of Education of the State of New York and all other statutes, laws and regulations applicable to the service being provided hereunder; and

f. To allow access to its facilities, with or without notice, by the District and it's designated representatives.

6. It is agreed that in those instances where the Contractor or the District is unable to obtain a teacher for a specific subject, an alternate method of instruction will be developed for that subject, e.g., telephone conferences, independent study, etc.

7. The District shall pay the Contractor a total of $2725.00 per month for educational services retroactive for 2003/2004 semester from March 8th 2004 thru June 30th 2004 to the present semester July 1st 2004 thru June 30th 2005. In order to be entitled to payment, the Contractor agrees to submit a bill, on a monthly basis, for the services rendered. Said bill shall contain detailed records of contact time, teacher name, student name, dates and other relevant information.

8. This agreement may be terminated by the District for any of the following events:

a. The discharge of the student(s) from the Contractor's facility or the return of the student(s) to schools within the District;

b. Termination or withdrawal of any approvals, certifications, licenses or similar of the contractor's facility or the Contractor, with respect to the services provided herein;

c. Upon a determination by the District that the Contractor's facility or teacher(s)or the Contractor is not providing an appropriate education to a student, at the sole discretion and option of the district;

d. Upon thirty days written notice to the Contractor by the District.

9. The District shall have the right to examine any and all accounts kept by the Contractor in connection with this agreement.

10. The Contractor shall maintain daily attendance records in the same form as required in public schools of the State of New Jersey. Such records shall be provided to the District on a monthly basis or as otherwise requested by the District.

11. This agreement is entered into in the State of New Jersey and shall be interpreted and construed pursuant to the laws of the State of New Jersey.

11. This agreement may not be changed or amended except by express written agreement executed by the District and the Contractor.

12. The Contractor agrees that it has, in effect, liability insurance in the minimum amount of $1,000,000 per occurrence. A certificate evidencing such insurance, which certificate shall state that it is not cancelable unless ten days prior written notice is provided to the District, shall be provided to the District prior to the commencement of the Contractor's services pursuant to this agreement. The Contractor agrees to indemnify defend and hold the District, its employees, officers, agents and Board of Education harmless from any claims, liabilities, suits, proceedings and actions, of whatever name and nature as the same may relate, in any manner, to the services provided by the Contractor and its personnel pursuant to this agreement. Said indemnification, hold harmless and defense shall apply to any claim, liability, suit, proceeding and action in which the District, its employees, officers, agents and Board of Education may be named as a party, notwithstanding that the Contractor may deem said claim, liability, suit, proceeding or action frivolous or without merit. It is intended that this paragraph be interpreted in the broadest manner possible so as to insulate the District from any liability or judgement, monetary or otherwise, as the same may relate to the personnel and services provided by the Contractor pursuant to this agreement.

CERTIFICATION OF TRANSLATOR

I, Clarissa Lozano, hereby certify that I speak fluent Spanish and that I understand and speak English well. My brother, Jairo Lozano and my sister in law, Martha Lozano, do not speak English well. I certify that I translated the Stipulation of Settlement to Jairo Lozano and Martha Lozano on February 10, 2005 from English to Spanish. I was also part of a conference call with their attorney Carole Ann Geronimo and I translated her statements to them. I further certify that I and Carole Ann Geronimo asked them if they had any questions and they did not have any and they stated to me and Carole Ann Geronimo that they understood the terms of the agreement and that they were willing to sign it. Carole Ann Geronimo explained a waiver to them and I translated for her to them. I asked them if they agreed to waive all other rights against the School District and I translated Carole Ann Geronimo's explanation to them that the agreement contained a full waiver of their rights to claim any other money from the School District. They stated to me that they understood and that they wished to sign the agreement. Martha and Jairo Lozano then signed the Stipulation of Settlement in my presence and I signed this certification.

Both Martha Lozano and Jairo Lozano are both over the age of 18, are of sound mind and under no constraint or undue influence.

SYNOPSIS

Petitioner challenged the Board's residency determination that her nieces, A.B. and A.B., were not eligible for a free education in the City of Clifton School District based on family or economic hardship. The matter was transmitted to the OAL as a contested case. Petitioner failed to appear at the hearing.

Based on the petitioner's failure to submit an affidavit from the parent or guardian of the children setting forth the circumstances which comprise a qualifying family or economic hardship, the ALJ concluded that the petitioner failed to sustain her burden of proof, and dismissed the instant petition with prejudice. With respect to a counterclaim for tuition by the respondent Board, the ALJ noted that petitioner has not disputed the claim in any way and ordered that C.M. pay respondent tuition for the period of A.B. and A.B.'s ineligible attendance.

Upon a full and independent review, the Commissioner concurs with the ALJ that petitioner's appeal was appropriately dismissed for failure to prosecute. Accordingly, the Initial Decision is adopted as the Final Decision in this matter; the petitioner is directed to compensate the Board in the amount of $14,125.32; and the Petition of Appeal is dismissed.

This synopsis is not part of the Commissioner's decision. It has been prepared for the convenience of the reader. It has been neither reviewed nor approved by the Commissioner.

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed. The parties filed no exceptions to the Initial Decision.

Upon his full and independent review, the Commissioner concurs with the Administrative Law Judge that petitioner's appeal is appropriately dismissed for failure to prosecute and the Board's counterclaim for tuition is appropriately granted.

Accordingly, the recommended decision of the OAL is adopted. Petitioner is hereby directed to compensate the Board in the amount of $14,125.32[1] for the period of A.B. and A.B.'s ineligible attendance in the Board's schools and the instant Petition of Appeal is hereby dismissed.

[1] It is noted that the Affidavit of Karen Perkins, Business Administrator, specifies that the annual per pupil cost of attendance at the Board's Clifton High School is $7,306, and that the two children in this matter attended this school for 170 days, equaling a tuition cost of $7,062.66 for each child. However, Ms. Perkins' Affidavit incorrectly totals this amount as $14,612, rather than the correct total of $14,125.32.

Record Closed: January 11, 2005 Decided: March 22, 2005

BEFORE MARIA MANCINI LA FIANDRA, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Petitioner, C.M., is challenging the Board of Education's determination regarding the residency of A.B. and A.B.

On November 22, 2002, the Department of Education transmitted the matter to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) for determination as a contested case pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to –15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to –13.

FINDINGS OF FACT

This matter was scheduled for hearing on the following dates:

1. The matter was originally scheduled on May 12, 2003 at which time Petitioner appeared; Respondent did not because counsel was appearing in Superior Court. The matter was rescheduled for August 12, 2003, when Respondent appeared but Petitioner did not.

2. Upon receiving a note explaining why Petitioner was not present on August 12, 2003, the matter was rescheduled for Monday, January 5, 2004, at which time Petitioner requested and received an adjournment in order to give her an opportunity to obtain the necessary affidavit of family or economic hardship from the children's parents.

3. The matter was rescheduled to Friday, June 11, 2004. Once again, it was adjourned due to the assignment of the undersigned to hear a case with statutory priority.

4. On the next rescheduled date, Monday, June 14, 2004, Petitioner's attorney had a court conflict and, therefore, requested and received an adjournment.

5. The matter was then rescheduled to Friday, October 1, 2004, when once again, Petitioner's attorney was unavailable.

6. On the next rescheduled date, Monday, January 4, 2005, neither Petitioner nor her attorney appeared for the hearing. There is, however, a note of a telephone call which is dated January 5 from petitioner's attorney in which he indicates he forgot about the hearing and asks what the disposition was.[1]

7. At the January 4, 2005 hearing, Respondent's attorney requested and was granted an opportunity in view of Petitioner's failure to appear, to proceed ex parte and to present an updated affidavit of tuition owed in support of the Board's counterclaim. That application was granted.

8. The record closed on January 11, 2005 and this decision was originally due no later than February 25, 2005. I requested and received an extension of time to complete the decision until April 11, 2005.

ANALYSIS AND CONCLUSIONS

In cases such as this, where a Board of Education has challenged the eligibility of a child or children to seek a free public education within the District, there are statutory requirements which must be met in order for a determination of eligibility to be made. In this case, the issue is whether there is a family or economic hardship which necessitates Petitioner taking these children into her home and having them reside with her gratis. N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1.

The burden is on Petitioner to prove by a preponderance of evidence that such is the case here. In order to demonstrate this hardship, the statute requires an affidavit from the parent or guardian of the children setting forth the circumstances which comprise the hardship. No such affidavit has been produced. I FIND, therefore, Petitioner has failed to sustain her burden of proof.

[1] Upon review of the file, I note the telephone message erroneously notes the date of hearing as 1/4/04; this is apparently an error since although there was a scheduled hearing for Monday, 1/5/04, that was adjourned at the request of Petitioner to give her an opportunity to seek legal counsel. The telephone message should read 1/4/05.

With respect to the counterclaim, Respondent Board of Education has submitted an affidavit[2] in which the Business Administrator and Board Secretary attests to the amount of tuition owed by C.M. Petitioner has not disputed the claim in any way. Accordingly, I FIND the amount of the tuition owed to the district on behalf of these two children is $14,612.00.

ORDER

I hereby ORDER this petition challenging Respondent's determination regarding residency be and hereby is DISMISSED WITH PREJUDICE; I further ORDER, pursuant to the counterclaim of Respondent, C.M. to pay to the district, on behalf of these children the sum of $14,612.00, the full amount of the tuition due and owing.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

[2] The affidavit is attached to this decision and made a part hereof.

AFFIDAVIT OF KAREN PERKINS

I, Karen Perkins, of full age, being duly sworn according to law, deposes and says:

1. I am employed by the Respondent, Clifton Board of Education and hold the offices of Business Administrator and Board Secretary.

2. I have been employed in the above capacity since January 1, 1995.

3. As part of my duties and responsibilities as Business Administrator, I am responsible for providing annual reports to the New Jersey Department of Education regarding the total annual per pupil costs for the Respondent, Clifton Board of Education.

4. In connection with this hearing, I have been requested to review the business records utilized by my office to compute the aforementioned annual per pupil costs for the local school district, including any reports which may have already been filed with the New Jersey Department of Education.

5. The minor children in this matter, Andrea and Allison Bazalar were enrolled with the Clifton school system between 9/12/02 and the present. I have confirmed the above attendance information with business records currently maintained by the Clifton Board of Education.

6. After a review of the reports and other business records on file with my office, I can state that the annual per pupil cost for each minor child for that period of time at Clifton High School (their school of attendance) was (170 days; $7,306.00/year) =$7,062.66 for each child as a total of $14,612.00.

I certify that the foregoing statements made by me are true. I am aware that if any of the foregoing statements made by me are willfully false, I am subject to punishment.

PETITIONERS,	:
V.	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE TOWNSHIP OF EGG HARBOR, ATLANTIC COUNTY, ET AL.,	:	DECISION
RESPONDENTS.	:

SYNOPSIS

This matter was initiated by a Petition of Appeal, filed on October 6, 2004, wherein Michael Giannetta, Jr., an 18-year-old student at Egg Harbor Township High School, and his parents sought: 1) to compel the Board to award Mr. Giannetta credit for subjects he passed during his junior year, which had been denied due to his 43 days of absence; 2) promotion of Mr. Giannetta to the twelfth grade; and 3) reimbursement for legal fees relating to an "unfair assault charge" the district brought against Mr. Giannetta as the result of a fight with another student. Petitioners further requested that school authorities be held accountable for the following allegations: failure to act in the best interest of a child; failure to enforce school policy in a uniform manner; and failure to respond to matters in a reasonable and timely manner. An Amended Petition addressing deficiencies was filed by petitioners, and respondent Board filed an Answer denying petitioner's claims, requesting an award of attorney fees and asserting that: 1) the Petition of Appeal was not timely filed, and 2) petitioning parents lack standing to bring these claims on their son's behalf given that their son is of majority age. Subsequently, the parties were requested to submit memoranda of law or letter briefs setting forth their legal arguments on the two threshold issues of untimeliness and lack of standing.

Upon a thorough review of the matter, the Commissioner concurred with the Board's position that the Petition of Appeal was untimely filed, and cited N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(d) which defines the 90-day period for appeal. The Commissioner addressed the mandatory nature of the 90-day time period, which has been well established by case law, and found no factual circumstances that constitute grounds for relaxation of the 90-day rule. With respect to the Board's request for legal fees, the Commissioner found no statutory authority to award such fees.

The Commissioner dismissed the petition for failure to timely file in accordance with N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(d); denied the Board's claim for legal fees; and stated that it was not necessary to reach to the issue of standing given this determination.

AGENCY DKT. NO. 357-10/04

MICHAEL GIANNETTA, SUSETTE GIANNETTA, AND MICHAEL GIANNETTA, JR.,	:
PETITIONERS,	:
V.	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE TOWNSHIP OF EGG HARBOR, ATLANTIC COUNTY, ET AL.,	:	DECISION
RESPONDENTS.	:

For Petitioners, Michael Giannetta, Susette Giannetta and Michael Giannetta, Jr., Pro Se

For Respondent, Emily A. Buonadonna, Esq. (Cooper Levenson, Attorneys at Law)

This matter was initiated by way of a Petition of Appeal, filed on October 6, 2004,[1] wherein Michael Giannetta, Jr., an 18-year-old student at Egg Harbor Township High School, and his parents seek to compel the Egg Harbor Township Board of Education (Board) to award Michael Giannetta, Jr. credit for subjects he passed during his junior year, but for which credit was denied due to his 43 days of absence. (Petition of Appeal at 1) Petitioners also seek the promotion of Mr. Giannetta to the twelfth grade and reimbursement for legal fees for the "unfair assault charge" the school district brought against Mr. Giannetta as the result of a fight with another student.[2] (Ibid.) Additionally, petitioners request that the authorities involved be held accountable for: 1) failure to act

[1] Although the petition was dated August 31, 2004, the postmark reflects that the petition was mailed on October 4 and it was received in the Bureau of Controversies and Disputes on October 6, 2004.

[2] The Commissioner notes that the 43 days of absence include Michael Giannetta, Jr's 10-day suspension for fighting. In connection with this incident, Mr. Giannetta was charged with attempting to cause bodily injury to a juvenile by punching him with a closed fist in violation of N.J.S. 2C:12-1(a)1 and purposely causing or recklessly creating the risk of public inconvenience, annoyance or alarm, by engaging in a fight with another student while attending the Egg Harbor Township High School, in violation of N.J.S. 2C:33-2(a). Petitioners claim that these charges were ultimately dismissed. (Attachment to Petition of Appeal, Complaint-Juvenile Delinquency) in the best interest of a child; 2) failure to enforce school policy in a uniform manner; and 3) failure to respond to matters in a reasonable and timely manner. (Ibid.) By letters of October 12, 2004, October 27, 2004 and November 5, 2004, petitioners were advised that they were required to correct specific deficiencies in the petition before it could move forward. An Amended Petition addressing the identified deficiencies was filed on November 3, 2004. The Board filed its Answer on December 30, 2004, denying petitioners' claims, requesting an award of attorney fees and asserting as separate defenses, inter alia, that: 1) the Petition of Appeal was not timely filed and 2) petitioning parents Michael and Susette Giannetta lack standing to bring these claims on their son's behalf given that their son is of majority age. (Answer at 1-3)

By letter of January 3, 2005, the parties were notified that respondent's affirmative defenses of untimeliness and lack of standing were threshold issues requiring a determination before any decision could be made as to what further proceedings, if any, were required in this matter. Consequently, petitioners were requested to submit a memorandum of law or letter brief setting forth their legal arguments as to why the petition should not be dismissed for failure to file the Petition of Appeal in accordance with N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(d), and their arguments with respect to the petitioning parents' standing to participate in this appeal. The Board was requested to respond to petitioners' submission within twenty days of receipt of same. When petitioners did not respond, by letter of January 31, 2005, petitioners were given a final opportunity to address the threshold issues and were advised that failure to respond would result in the dismissal of the within petition for failure to prosecute the appeal.

Petitioning parents Michael and Susette Giannetta filed a response on February 10, 2005. Petitioners claim that a lengthy letter to the school board was delivered on March 23, 2004, "concerning the harsh treatment given my son and the lenient treatment given his attacker." (Petitioners' February 10, 2005 Response at 1) Then, "[i]n June 2004, when the issue came up of my son not receiving credit for classes passed his junior year because of too many absences, I went through the proper levels of appeal, with the last request being before the school board." (Ibid.) Petitioners' claim that they were never given a hearing, but instead the school board held a private meeting and ruled against their son. (Ibid.) Subsequently, petitioners claim, their lawyer at the time sent two letters to the superintendent, Dr. Heery, regarding their son receiving credit for his classes. (Ibid.) Petitioners report that a response from Dr. Heery was received by their attorney on August 11 or 12. (Ibid.) Petitioners also claim that numerous phone calls were made to the county superintendent from April to August trying to set up a meeting with him, and in August, the county superintendent told them he could not help them and directed them to the Commissioner of Education. (Ibid.) Petitioners conclude that they are well within the 90-day limit since the last answer from Dr. Heery was received August 11 or 12 and that "[s]ince the Board has never adequately taken care of these issues, these issues remain open." (Ibid.) Moreover, petitioners assert that they are not only appealing about their son not receiving credit for last year, but also are bringing before the Commissioner the "underhanded" way they have been treated by the school district.

With respect to the parents' standing to participate in this matter, petitioners claim that they have standing because their son was "under 18 at the time all these issues were happening," noting that he turned 18 on August 31, 2004. (Id. at 2) Additionally, petitioners request that whatever the outcome of these proceedings, that they not be burdened with legal fees, submitting that they cannot even afford to hire their own lawyer and that such fees would "literally take food out of our children's mouths." (Ibid.) Finally, petitioners state that their son has since dropped out of high school, five months before he should have graduated, and that they hold the school district responsible because of the district's callous attitude and treatment of their son. (Ibid.)

In a response filed on March 2, 2005, the Board explains that Michael Giannetta, Jr. was absent for a total of 44 days or 24 % of the 2003-04 school year, which was too many absences to earn credit for all his courses for the year as set forth in the District's Attendance Policy. (Board's March 2, 2005 Submission at 1) Of these absences, 28 were excused and 16 were unexcused. (Ibid.)

The Board points out that its Attendance Policy states that, if a high school student accumulates more than 10 unexcused absences, the student will not have completed the prescribed course of study and will be placed on No Credit Status, and that the No Credit Status requires the student to present all doctor's notes to the attendance secretary within 15 days. (Id. at 1-2) Moreover, if a student acquires 20 or more unexcused absences, the student will be retained and, if a student acquires a total of 35 excused and unexcused absences, the student will be retained. (Id. at 2) The Board asserts that the Attendance Policy is included in the Student Handbook and that petitioners cannot claim that Mr. Giannetta, Jr. did not receive a copy of the Student Handbook. (Ibid.)

The Board further contends that petitioners were notified of Mr. Giannetta, Jr.'s academic standing based on his number of absences and that they exercised their rights of appeal to the Attendance Appeals Committee, the superintendent and the Board. (Ibid.) Both the Attendance Appeals Committee and the superintendent denied petitioners' appeal and, on June 29, 2004, after reviewing petitioners' appeal and supporting documentation, the Board sustained Mr. Giannetta, Jr.'s attendance record of 44 absences and determined that he would have to repeat the eleventh grade. (Ibid.) Petitioners were notified of the Board's decision by letter of June 30, 2004 and subsequently appealed to the Commissioner. (Ibid.) The Board claims that it was not served with the original petition and notes that the Amended Petition was filed on November 3, 2004, more than four months or 126 days after petitioners' receipt of the final Board action. (Ibid.) The Board points out that N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(d) specifies that a petition of appeal must be filed no later than the 90th day from receipt of the notice of a final order, ruling or other action by the district board and notes that the Supreme Court in Kaprow v. Berkeley Township Board of Education, 131 N.J. 572, 578 (1993) addressed the public policy reasons behind the rule. (Id. at 3) Thus, the Board reasons, petitioners' claims are time barred and should be dismissed. (Id. at 4)

With respect to petitioners' standing in this matter, the Board argues that petitioners lack standing to pursue this matter because Mr. Giannetta, Jr. voluntarily withdrew from school, and the Board further notes that petitioners will suffer no harm if the requested relief is not granted, e.g., awarding credit for Mr. Giannetta's eleventh grade classes and promotion to the twelfth grade, because Mr. Giannetta is no longer in school. (Ibid.) Moreover, the Board asserts, since "petitioners cannot establish some measurable amount of detrimental impact on their own son's rights, they also lack standing to seek relief on behalf of other students in the school." (Ibid.) Additionally, the Board contends that, upon reaching the age of majority, the right to appeal transferred to Michael Giannetta, Jr, who has been silent throughout the appeal process. (Id. at 6) Finally, the Board avers that petitioners' claims are moot since Michael Giannetta, Jr. voluntarily withdrew form the school district and is no longer subject to Board policy and regulations. (Ibid.)

Upon a thorough review of this matter, the Commissioner fully concurs with the Board's position that the Petition of Appeal herein was untimely filed. By letter of June 30, 2004, petitioners were notified that the Board had sustained Mr. Giannetta's suspension and his record of 43 days[3] of absence, and had thus determined that he would be required to repeat the eleventh grade in accordance with the provisions of Policy #5200. (Attachment to Amended Petition and Board's Exhibit F) Thereafter, petitioners contacted the superintendent and the county superintendent in an effort to alter the Board's decision.

Pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(d), the 90-day period for appeal to the Commissioner begins when the affected individuals have received adequate notice. In order for the notice to be adequate, the individuals must have been alerted to the existence of facts which give rise to a cause of action. Kaprow, supra at 586-587. Here, petitioners were clearly put on notice by letter of June 30, 2004 that their appeal to the Board had been denied. Pursuant to the *Rules Governing the Courts, R.*1:3-3, "[w]hen service of a notice or paper is made by ordinary mail, and a rule or court order allows the party served a period of time after the service thereof within which to take some [3] It is noted that the Board's arguments refer to 44 days of absence. However, it appears that Mr. Giannetta's absences actually totaled 43 in that this letter and the other exhibits provided by the Board reflect this number.

action, 3 days shall be added to the period." Accordingly, petitioners had 93 days from June 30, or until October 1, 2004, to appeal the Board's determination to the Commissioner. Petitioners did not file the within appeal until October 6, 2004. Petitioners' subsequent efforts to negotiate with the superintendent and meet with the county superintendent do not toll the 90-day timeline. Numerous decisions concerning the 90-day time limitation have been litigated and the courts have consistently held that the rule is mandatory and that the 90-day time period begins to run on the date that notice is received of the action taken. See Nissman v. Bd. of Educ. of the Twp. Of Long Beach Island, 272 N.J. Super. 373, 380 (App. Div. 1994), cert. denied 137 N.J. 315 (1994); Wynne v. Tillery, Camden County Superintendent of Schools et al., 96 *N.J.A.R.*2d (EDU) 995; and Portee v. Newark Board of Education, 94 *N.J.A.R.*2d (EDU) 381. As stated by the Supreme Court in the Kaprow matter, attempts to resolve a claim through negotiation with the local board do not negate the fact of receipt of adequate notice, nor do they toll the running of the time limitations. (Kaprow, supra, at 588)

Notwithstanding petitioners' assertion that they are not limited to the 90-day filing requirement because they are not only appealing the issue of their son not receiving credit for last year, but also are bringing before the Commissioner the "underhanded" way they have been treated by the school district and the failure of the Board to take care of these issues, the Commissioner finds that all the allegations raised by petitioners are related to issues determined by the Board in its June 30, 2004 determination and are, thus, subject to the same 90-day time limitation. Moreover, the Commissioner does not find that the factual circumstances set forth in petitioners' pleadings constitute grounds for relaxation of the 90-day rule. No constitutional issues are involved in the matter nor does it present issues of significant public interest beyond the parties. On the contrary, the Commissioner herein determines, as did the Commissioner in LeMee v. Board of Education of the Village of Ridgewood, 1990 S.L.D. 663, 673, that the greater public interest lies with the enforcement of the 90-day rule and the dismissal of petitioners' appeal as untimely.

With respect to the Board's request for legal fees, in the absence of express statutory authority to award counsel fees, the Commissioner may not direct such compensation. See B.B., on behalf of her son, L.C. v. Board of Education of Union County Regional High School District No.1. and Donald Merachnik, Superintendent of Schools, 1987 S.L.D. 323, 336*; Balsley v. North Hunterdon Bd. of Educ.,* 117 N.J. 434, 441 (1990*); and State, Dept. of Environ. Protect. v. Ventron Corp.,* 94 N.J. 473, 504 (1983).

Accordingly, for the reasons set forth above, the petition in this matter is dismissed for failure to timely file in accordance with N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(d), and the Board's claim for legal fees is denied. Given this determination, it is not necessary to reach to the issues of standing or whether this matter has been rendered moot by Mr. Giannetta, Jr.'s withdrawal from school.

This Release, dated. February 15, 2005 , is given

BY the Releasor (s) WILLIAM E. SHERIDAN , JR. referred to as "I".

TO STEPHEN A. LIPSKI and CREATE CHARTER SCHOOL referred to as "You".

If more than one person signs this Release, "I" shall mean each person who signs this Release.

1. Release. I release and give up any and all claims and right which I may have against you. This releases all claims, including those of which I am not aware and those not mentioned in this Release. This Release applied to claims resulting from anything which has happened up to now. I specifically release the following claims:

For any and all claims arising out of employment and for which an action was brought before the Commissioner of Education, known as Docket No. EDUOR 05992 2004N.

2. Payment. I have been paid a total of $ 7,800.00 (Seven Thousand Eight Hundred Dollars) in full payment for making this Release. I agree that I will not seek anything further including any other payment from you.

3. Who is Bound. I am bound by this Release. Anyone who succeeds my rights and responsibilities, such as my heirs or the executor of my estate, is also bound. This Release is made for your benefit and all who succeed to your rights and responsibilities, such as your heirs or the executor of your estate.

4. Signatures. I understand and agree to the terms of this Release. If this Release

BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE CITY OF ORANGE, ESSEX COUNTY,	:
RESPONDENT.	:

The record of this matter, the Settlement Agreement and Release, and the Initial Decision issued by the Office of Administrative Law pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1, have been reviewed.

Upon review, the Commissioner approves the settlement terms and adopts the settlement as the final decision in this matter, subject, however, to the understanding that the term pertaining to confidentiality (Term 3) may not be read in a manner inconsistent with the requirements of New Jersey's Open Public Records Act, N.J.S.A. 47:1A-1 et seq. Although the parties to a settlement may agree to keep its specific terms confidential between themselves, such agreement does not negate the fact that, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-14.1(a), records of all hearings shall be open for public inspection unless the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) orders the sealing of the record, or any part thereof, for good cause shown.

Additionally, it is noted that the agreement's consideration term (Term 2) appears to have been effectuated prior to approval of the settlement by the Commissioner pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1. The ALJ and parties are cautioned, in a contested matter duly transmitted to the OAL, against effectuating any term of a settlement agreement prior to its submission to, and approval by, the Commissioner.

Subject to the proviso and caution noted above, this matter is hereby dismissed, subject to compliance with the terms of the settlement.

IT IS SO ORDERED.

AGENCY DKT. NO. 8-1/02

DEBORAH A. STRANO,

Petitioner,

v.

BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE CITY OF ORANGE, ESSEX COUNTY,

Respondent.

Gail Oxfeld Kanef, Esq., for petitioner (Oxfeld Cohen, attorneys)

Melvin Randall, Esq., for respondent (Love and Randall, attorneys)

Record Closed: March 11, 2005 Decided: March 14, 2005

BEFORE EDITH KLINGER, ALJ:

This matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law on February 15, 2002, for determination as a contested case pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13.

The parties have agreed to settle this matter and have prepared the attached Settlement Agreement indicating the terms of settlement, which was received by the undersigned on March 11, 2005

I have reviewed the record and the settlement terms and I FIND:

1. The parties have voluntarily agreed to the settlement as evidenced by their signatures.

2. The settlement fully disposes of all issues in controversy and is consistent with the law.

I CONCLUDE that this agreement meets the requirements of N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1 and that the settlement should be approved. I approve the settlement and therefore ORDER that the parties comply with the settlement terms and that these proceedings be concluded.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

RELEASE

This Release, dated January , 2005 is given

BY the Releasor, Ms. Debra Strano, a person formerly employed by the Orange Board of Education as a Physical Education Teacher, referred to as "I,"

TO the Orange Board of Education, 451 Lincoln Avenue, Orange, New Jersey. This Release also extends to all of the Board's employees, successors and assignees; referred to as "You."

1. Release. I release and give up any and all claims and rights which I may have against you. This releases all claims, including those of which I am not aware and those not mentioned in this Release. This Release applies to claims resulting from anything that has happened up until now. I specifically release the following claims in addition to those previously mentioned: any and all claims related to or arising out of the course of employment with the Orange Board of Education which include, but is not limited to issues concerning having a tenured position within the district.

2. Consideration. I agree that in consideration of this Release, I will be paid the sum of ten thousand dollars ($10,000.00). I understand that the parties agree that in response to any inquiries made, no Board employee or member will make any statements with regard to the details of my employment, with the exception of dates of employment and title. I understand that under the terms of the agreement, the district shall place a memorandum in my file which will indicate to Board employees that this agreement exists and shall be followed. I agree that I will not seek anything further including but not limited to monetary payments or continued employment. In addition, I understand that neither the Board or anyone employed by the Board will make any statements with regard to the details of my employment, with the exception of dates of employment and title. I also understand that I will be precluded from instituting any and all other actions against you. I also agree to formally withdraw my Petition of Appeal (OAL Docket # EDU 01794-02N) now pending before the Commissioner of Education with prejudice.

3. Confidentiality. All terms of this Release are to remain confidential between the two parties.

4. Who is Bound. I am bound by this Release. Anyone who succeeds to my rights and responsibilities, such as my heirs or the executor of my estate, is also bound. This Release is made for your benefit and all who succeed to your rights and responsibilities.

5. No Past Practice or Precedent. I understand that with regard to this Release there is no past practice or precedent established, and that the terms herein cannot be used by any individual or group in any grievance, action or judicial proceeding.

6. Signatures. I understand and agree to the to the terms of this Release. I acknowledge same by affixing my signature hereto.

SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT

The Orange Township Board of Education, Essex (hereinafter the "District" or "Board") with its principal place of business located at 451 Lincoln Avenue, Orange, New Jersey 07050, and Ms. Debra Strano (hereinafter "Strano") represented by counsel, desiring to settle this matter in an amicable way, hereby set forth their complete agreement as follows:

WITNESSETH

Whereas, Petitioner, Debra Strano, is a former Physical Education Teacher of the Orange Board of Education; and

Whereas, the Orange Board of Education dismissed her from her position; and

Whereas, Petitioner has filed a Petition of Appeal with the Commissioner of Education (OAL Docket # EDU 01794-02N) alleging violation of her tenure rights. Specifically she alleges that her employment was terminated in violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:28-5; and

Whereas, The Board's position is that Petitioner did not achieve tenure within the intendment of N.J.S.A. 18A:28-5, and as such was properly dismissed; and

Whereas, there is a dispute with regard to the foregoing, however in light of the potential exposure, the parties have reached a settlement; and

Now Therefore, for the consideration specified below, set forth the following mutual covenants and agreements:

1. The parties agree that Strano gives up any and all claims and rights which she may have against the Board. This agreement also includes those of which Strano is not aware if and those not mentioned in this Settlement Agreement. This Settlement Agreement applies to claims resulting from anything that has happened up until now. In addition to the claims previously mentioned, the Settlement Agreement includes: any and all claims related to or arising out of the course of employment with the Orange Board of Education which include, but is not limited to issues concerning having a tenured position within the district. The parties agree that Strano gives up all of the foregoing claims.

2. The Board agrees that in consideration for Strano giving up all claims and rights which she may have against the Board, the Board will pay Strano the sum of ten thousand dollars ($10,000.00). The parties agree that in response to any inquiries made, no Board employee or member will make any statements with regard to the details of Strano's employment, with the exception of dates of employment and title. The district shall place a memorandum in Ms. Strano's file which will clearly indicate to Board employees that this agreement exists and shall be followed. The parties agree that Strano will not seek anything further including but not limited to monetary payments or continued employment. In addition, the parties agree that Strano will be precluded from instituting any and all other actions against the Board. The parties also agree to formally withdraw her Petition of Appeal now pending before the Commissioner of Education (OAL Docket # EDU 01794-02N) with prejudice.

3. The parties agree that all terms of this Settlement Agreement are to remain confidential between the two parties.

4. The parties agree that both are bound by the terms of this Settlement Agreement. Anyone who succeeds either parties' rights and responsibilities, such as heirs, successors or the executors of estates, are also bound. This Settlement Agreement is made for the parties' benefit and all who succeed the parties' rights and responsibilities.

5. The parties agree that with regard to this Settlement Agreement, there is no past practice or precedent established, and that the terms herein cannot be used by any individual or group in any grievance, action or judicial proceeding.

6. The parties understand and agree to the to the terms of this Settlement Agreement and acknowledge same by affixing signatures hereto.

JACK CORTEZ,	:
PETITIONER,	:
V.	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE CITY OF GARFIELD, BERGEN COUNTY,	:	DECISION
RESPONDENT,	:
AND	:
IN THE MATTER OF THE TENURE HEARING OF JACK CORTEZ, SCHOOL DISTRICT OF THE CITY OF GARFIELD, BERGEN COUNTY.	:

The record, Settlement Agreement and Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), issued pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1, have been reviewed.

Initially, the Commissioner observes that this matter involves tenure charges cross-filed as an Answer to the Petition of Appeal. Notwithstanding the unusual procedural posture of these charges, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-5.6(a), once they have been certified to the Commissioner, they may be settled only with his approval, and any proposed settlement, whether submitted to the Commissioner or to the Administrative Law Judge, must address the standards established by the State Board of Education in the matter entitled In re Cardonick, 1990 S.L.D. 842, 846. Under that standard, the proposed settlement must: 1) Be accompanied by documentation as to the nature of the charges; 2) Include an explanation of the circumstances justifying the settlement or withdrawal;

3) Evidence the consent of both the charged and the charging parties; 4) Indicate that the charged party entered into the agreement with a full understanding of his or her rights; 5) Demonstrate that the agreement is in the public interest; and 6) Where the charged party is a teaching staff member, indicate that he or she has been advised of the Commissioner's duty to refer tenure determinations resulting in loss of position to the State Board of Examiners for possible loss of certificate. N.J.A.C. 6A:3-5.6. In the present instance, none of the applicable standards have been met.[1]

Additionally, the Commissioner observes that the Board Secretary/Business Administrator signed the Settlement Agreement on behalf of the Board. In that neither the file nor the agreement contains a copy of the Board's resolution approving the settlement and designating this individual to sign on its behalf, and, in that the agreement is not, in the alternative, signed by the Board attorney as the Board's duly authorized representative in litigation, this, too, prevents the Commissioner's approval.

While the Commissioner does not preclude the possibility of settlement in this or any other contested matter, he stresses that in order for him to meet his own obligation to the schools and children of this State, he must be assured that any settlement of a tenure matter is consistent with appropriate standards as expressed in Cardonick, supra, and that any settlement to which a board of education is a party has been duly approved by the board.

Accordingly, the proposed settlement is rejected for the reasons expressed herein, and this matter is hereby remanded to the OAL for expansion of the record and/or revision of the settlement document consistent with the concerns set forth above. If the parties are unwilling or unable to reach accord on a modified agreement for submission to the Commissioner, the matter shall proceed to hearing on the merits.

IT IS SO ORDERED.[2]

Toni Belford Damiano, Esq., for respondent

Record Closed: March 10, 2005 Decided: March 15, 2005

BEFORE CAROL I. COHEN, ALJ:

The matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) on January 12, 2005 for determination as a contested case. A hearing was scheduled for February 1, 2005, which was adjourned because Ms. Damiano's father passed away. It was rescheduled to February 24, 2005.

On the date of the hearing the parties were able to resolve the matter. On March 1, 2005, the parties submitted the attached typewritten Settlement Agreement indicating the terms of the agreement. On March 10, 2005, court received the original handwritten signed agreement. Having reviewed the record and the settlement terms, I FIND:

1. The parties have voluntarily agreed to the settlement as evidenced by the signature of the parties and/or signatures of their representatives.

2. The settlement fully disposes of all issues in controversy and is consistent with the law.

I CONCLUDE that this agreement meets the requirements of N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1 and that the settlement should be approved. I approve the settlement and, therefore, ORDER that the parties comply with the settlement terms and that these proceedings be concluded.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT

In the matter of Jack Cortez v. Garfield Board of Education
OAL Docket No. EDU01164-05

WHEREAS, the Garfield Board of Education and Jack Cortez are parties to a matter pending before the Office of Administrative Law, Docket No. EDU-01164-05; and

WHEREAS, both parties desire to resolve this matter voluntarily and without further expense of time and money and the uncertainty of the results of this matter;

IT IS HEREBY AGREED AS FOLLOWS:

1. Jack Cortez will file a disability retirement application. Jack Cortez understands that the decision on that application is within the jurisdiction of the Pension Board and not the Garfield Board of Education. The Garfield Board of Education takes no position as to whether or nor Jack Cortez is eligible for a disability retirement. The Garfield Board of Education agrees to provide reasonable assistance to Jack Cortez in the preparation of the disability pension application.

2. Jack Cortez shall receive from the Garfield Board of Education a lump sum settlement equivalent to five and one-half (5.5) months of his present salary ($49,600.00) in return for the following release. Jack Cortez releases now and forever any and all claims, causes of action, petitions or demands against the Garfield Board of Education and its individual Board members arising out of his employment, his termination, his tenure charges, his retirement and/or the end of his employment with the Garfield Board of Education. Notwithstanding this release, Jack Cortez has the right to pursue his workers compensation claim.

3. Jack Cortez acknowledges that he has already received one and one-half (1.5) months of salary. This sum, in addition to the amount set forth in paragraph 2, shall be the total amount payable by the Garfield Board of Education to Jack Cortez for any claims. Upon receipt of the five and one-half (5.5) months as set forth in paragraph 2, Jack Cortez acknowledges that the Garfield Board of Education has completed its obligation to Jack Cortez and Jack Cortez agrees that the Garfield Board of Education will have satisfied its monetary obligations to him for any and all claims.

4. Jack Cortez directs that all necessary steps be taken to withdraw his Petition pending in this matter.

5. The Garfield Board of Education will withdraw its cross petition in this matter.

HEARING OF REGIS IDEC,	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE	:	DECISION ON REMAND BOROUGH OF ROSELLE,	:
UNION COUNTY.	:

The Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) and the record of this matter, remanded to the OAL because the previously proposed settlement agreement contained no indication of approval by the Board of Education notwithstanding that its terms on their face provided for voiding of the agreement in the absence of Board ratification, have been reviewed.

Upon such review, the Commissioner notes that this matter has been pending on remand since June 1999, that settlement monies were paid by the Board on March 16, 2001, that since that time the matter has awaited nothing more than submission of a duly executed settlement agreement by the Board, and that the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) last contacted the parties in writing in June 2002, advising that if an agreement was not received in 14 days, the matter would be dismissed or re-listed for full evidentiary hearing. Although counsel for respondent replied to the ALJ indicating that respondent had executed the agreement and had provided it to counsel for the petitioner to sign, as of the date of this decision, no duly executed agreement was ever submitted by the Board, either to the ALJ or to the Commissioner, and no evidentiary hearing was conducted.

Notwithstanding the Commissioner's reluctance to approve a settlement in the absence of either a Board resolution or signature of the Board Attorney as the Board's duly authorized representative in litigation, especially where the settlement terms on their face require ratification by the full Board, under the circumstances here present, no purpose would be served by ordering further proceedings.* The Board presumably authorized the payment made to respondent in March 2001, and subsequent correspondence on record, together with the Board's silence in response to the ALJ's communications and the Initial Decision, sufficiently demonstrates that the parties considered the matter ended at that time.

Accordingly, the Commissioner approves the settlement terms, which comport with the Cardonick standards for review of settlements in tenure matters, and he adopts the settlement as the final decision in this matter, which is hereby dismissed. (In re Cardonick, 1990 S.L.D. 842, 846, decided by the Commissioner of Education April 7, 1982, aff'd State Board April 6, 1983; and N.J.A.C. 6A:3-5.6(a)) In so doing, however, the Commissioner chastises the Board for its dilatoriness in properly concluding this matter, thereby causing substantial waste of administrative and adjudicative time by both the ALJ and the Commissioner.

IT IS SO ORDERED.

Neil M. Cohen, Esq, for respondent
(Gill & Cohen, P.C., attorney)

Record Closed: March 1, 2005 Decided: March 15, 2005

BEFORE IRENE JONES, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On June 15, 1998, petitioner, Roselle Board of Education ("Petitioner" or "Board") filed tenure charges against the respondent, Regis Idec, ("Responent" or "Idec") a custodial worker, alleging conduct unbecoming, insubordination and other just cause.

The matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) on July 23, 1998 and assigned OAL Docket No. EDU 7081-98. On February 14, 1999, the parties entered into a settlement agreement wherein Idec agreed to resign effective July 31, 1999. The Board agreed to dismiss the tenure charges and to place Idec on leave of absence with full-pay through July 31, 1999. Additionally, the Board agreed to continue to pay Idec his full salary; provide full insurance coverage through July 31, 1999; and to pay Idec for five (5) weeks of accumulated vacation days. The agreement was filed before the undersigned on March 30, 1999 and an Initial Decision issued on April 16, 1999. (Exh. A).

On July 14, 1999, the matter was remanded by the Commissioner, Department of Education for modification consistent with his June 7, 1999 decision that rejected the settlement agreement, because there was not a final ratification attached to the agreement. The matter was assigned OAL Dkt. No. EDU 7081-98.

On June 22, Idec, pursuant to the terms of the Stipulation, moved to restore the matter to the active case list. Further, he moved to compel payment of his salary and benefits. The Board filed a Cross Motion on July 7, 1999 requesting that the settlement be given full force and effect.

An Order compelling the Board to pay Idec's salary and benefits was signed on March 15, 2001. On March 16, 2001, the Board faxed copies of its payments to Idec. (Exh. B). On March 28, 2001, counsel for Idec advised that settlement monies were received on March 19, 2001 and a settlement agreement was forwarded to counsel for the Board for signature. (Ex. C).

Subsequently, numerous letters and phone calls were made to obtain the signed settlement agreement. Despite these efforts, due to Board counsel's busy schedule, the settlement agreement has not been filed.

On March 1, 2005, the undersigned, sua sponte, closed the record.

FINDINGS

Having reviewed the record in this matter, I FIND the parties now reached a settlement in this matter. I further FIND that the terms of the settlement have been complied with. Thus I FIND that this matter is not a contested case and this matter shall be and is hereby DISMISSED.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen (13) days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

PETITIONER, :

V. : COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION

BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE TOWNSHIP OF HAMILTON, MERCER COUNTY, : DECISION

RESPONDENT. :

SYNOPSIS

Petitioner filed a Pro Se Residency Appeal challenging the Board's residency determination that his children, A.A., N.A. and J.A., were not eligible for a free education in the Hamilton Township School District.

Respondent Board filed an answer to the petition, and asserted a counterclaim for payment of tuition. The matter was transmitted to the OAL as a contested case, and a hearing was scheduled for February 1, 2005. Notwithstanding Petitioner's failure to appear, testimony was taken pertaining to the minor children's domicile and the cost of their education provided by respondent Board. The Board provided certification of the district's daily per student tuition rate for school year 2002-2003 ($44.81), and school years 2003-2004 and 2004-2005 ($48.70). The ALJ concluded that the Board's proofs as to ineligibility for attendance and as to the tuition rates were convincing and satisfied its burden of proof for the counterclaim, and that J.W.A. must pay the respondent tuition calculated at the rates set forth in the Board's certification.

Upon careful review of the record in this matter and the Initial Decision, the Commissioner concurred that the petitioner's appeal must be dismissed for failure to prosecute, and that the Board's counterclaim for tuition for the 2004-2005 school year be granted. However, the Commissioner found no evidence in the record to support tuition assessment on petitioner for the 2002-2003 and 2003-2004 school years. Accordingly, the Initial Decision is adopted as modified above, and the petitioner is directed to pay the Board at the per diem rate of $48.70 per child for the period of ineligible attendance during the 2004-2005 school year.

BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE TOWNSHIP OF HAMILTON, MERCER COUNTY, : DECISION

RESPONDENT. :

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed. The parties filed no exceptions to the Initial Decision.

Upon his full and independent review,[1] the Commissioner concurs with the Administrative Law Judge that petitioner's appeal here is appropriately dismissed for failure to prosecute and the Board's counterclaim for tuition for the 2004-2005 school year is appropriately granted. However, the Commissioner finds no evidence in the record before him to support an assessment on petitioner in this matter for the 2002-2003 and 2003-2004 school years. Consequently, tuition claims for these school years are dismissed without prejudice.

Accordingly, the recommended decision of the OAL is adopted, as modified above. Petitioner is hereby directed to compensate the Board, at the per diem rate of $48.70 per child, for the period of A.A., N.A. and J.A.'s ineligible attendance in the Board's schools during the 2004-2005 school year and the instant Petition of Appeal is hereby dismissed.

J.W.A. ON BEHALF OF MINOR CHILDREN

BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE TOWNSHIP

OF HAMILTON, MERCER COUNTY,

Respondent.

No appearance by or on behalf of petitioner

Dennis M. DeSantis, Esq., for respondent (Destribats, Campbell, DeSantis, Magee & Staub, attorneys)

Record Closed: March 8, 2005 Decided: March 21, 2005

BEFORE JAMES W. FAISON, III, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1, respondent, Board of Education of Township of Hamilton (BOE), conducted a hearing and determined that A.A., N.A. and J.A., children of J.W.A., were not domiciled within the BOE's school district, although they continued to attend school therein. Consequently, BOE ordered the children be removed from their respective schools and J.W.A. pay tuition for the children.

Via appeal J.W.A. alleges that his children are domiciled within the district and claims that the BOE was and is required to provide them with a free public education. The BOE submits that J.W.A. has not met his burden of proof and counterclaims for an order requiring J.W.A. to pay tuition.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On September 22, 2004, the BOE informed J.W.A. and C.A. that they were required to withdraw A.A., N.A. and J.A. as students from the Hamilton Township School District and enroll them in the City of Trenton School District, where the BOE determined that C.A. was domiciled. (Exhibits R-8 and R-9). On October 1, 2004, petitioner, J.W.A., filed a residency appeal with the Commissioner of Education. (Exhibit C-1). By document dated November 1, 2004, the BOE filed an answer to the petition November 4, 2004, including a counterclaim for tuition. N.J.S.A. 18A:6-9, 38-1. The Department of Education transmitted the matter to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) on November 16, 2004, where it was received and filed as a contested case pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-2(b) under Docket No. EDU 10157-04. A case management conference was scheduled for February 1, 2005, however, it was revised to a plenary hearing date in order to expedite the case. As scheduled, respondent appeared, however, petitioner, J.W.A., failed to appear. Notwithstanding, testimony was taken pertaining to A.A., N.A. and J.A.'s domicile and the cost of their education provided by the BOE.

FINDINGS OF FACT

Petitioner bears the burden to prove that the children in question are domiciled in the Township of Hamilton, Mercer County. Failure to sustain that burden leaves in place and effect the findings of BOE at its hearing regarding domicile of the children. By petitioner's failure to appear at the plenary hearing, he fails to prosecute his appeal and there is no basis to consider overturning the finding of BOE.

In support of its counterclaim for tuition, BOE produced evidence in the form of testimony from Maryanne Rivera, Residency Officer for BOE for the past year and a half.. She testified regarding the results of her investigation supporting the finding that children are domiciled out-of-district, but continue to attend public schools in the school district of BOE.

BOE also provided certification that the per student tuition rate for school year 2002-2003 is $44.81 and for school years 2003-2004 and 2004-2005, the daily rate is $48.70. BOE has sustained its burden of proof with respect to its counterclaim for tuition as to each child for the number of days of attendance at the public schools of BOE.

CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(b)(2) in pertinent part reads as follows:

> The parent or guardian may contest the Board's decision before the Commissioner within 21 days of the date of the decision and shall be entitled to an expedited hearing before the Commissioner and shall have the burden of proof by a preponderance of the evidence that the child is eligible for a free education under the criteria listed in this section.

N.J.A.C. 1:1-14.4(a) requires the withholding of any action for one day "if, after appropriate notice, neither a party nor a representative appears at any proceeding scheduled by the clerk or judge." Thereafter, the matter maybe returned to the transmitting agency for appropriate disposition.

Petitioner has failed to appear and to appropriately prosecute the matter brought by him. He has also failed to advise the reason for the nonappearance. Therefore, I CONCLUDE that the findings by BOE that the children in question are not domiciled in the Township of Hamilton is undisturbed and remains in full force and effect.

N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(b)(1) reads in pertinent part as follows:

> If in the judgment of the Commissioner the evidence does not support the claim of the resident, he shall assess the resident tuition for the student prorated to the time of the student's ineligible attendance in the school district. Tuition shall be computed on the basis of 1/180 of the total annual per pupil cost to the local district multiplied by the number of days of ineligible attendance and shall be collected in the manner in which orders of the Commissioner are enforced.

BOE's proofs as to ineligibility for attendance and as to the tuition rate are convincing and satisfy its burden of proof for the counterclaim. Therefore, I CONCLUDE that J.W.A. must pay BOE a tuition calculated at the rates previously referenced for each child as to their attendance at BOE's public school during their ineligibility period.

ORDER

It is ORDERED that petitioner's appeal be DISMISSED. It is further ORDERED that petitioner pay to BOE as tuition the sum equal to the daily tuition rates per child per day of ineligibility to be calculated as set forth herein.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen (13) days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

IN THE MATTER OF BRUCE FREILICH, :

WASHINGTON TOWNSHIP BOARD OF : COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION

EDUCATION, BURLINGTON COUNTY. : DECISION

SYNOPSIS

The School Ethics Commission determined that Washington Township Board of Education member Bruce Freilich violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e) and (g) of the Code of Ethics for School Board Members when he sent an unauthorized letter to a private donor. After considering the nature of the charge, the Commission recommended that the Commissioner of Education impose a penalty of reprimand.

Upon a thorough review of the record, the Commissioner, whose decision was restricted solely to a review of the Commission's recommended penalty pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:12-29(c) and N.J.A.C. 6A:3-9.1, concurred with the Commission's recommendation. The Commissioner thus ordered that Bruce Freilich be reprimanded as a school official found to have violated the School Ethics Act.

AGENCY DKT NO. 91-4/05

IN THE MATTER OF BRUCE FREILICH, :
WASHINGTON TOWNSHIP BOARD OF : COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION

The record of this matter and the decision of the School Ethics Commission ("Commission"), finding Washington Township Board of Education member Bruce Freilich violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e) and (g) of the Code of Ethics for School Board Members when he sent an unauthorized letter to a private donor and recommending a penalty of reprimand have been reviewed. Upon issuance of the decision of the Commission, Mr. Freilich was provided thirteen days from the mailing date of the decision to file written comments on the recommended penalty for the Commissioner's consideration. No comments were filed either by Mr. Freilich or counsel on his behalf.

Initially, it must be emphasized that, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:12-29(c) and N.J.A.C. 6A:3-9.1, the determination of the Commission as to violation of the School Ethics Act is not reviewable by the Commissioner herein. Only the Commission may determine whether a violation of the School Ethics Act occurred. The Commissioner's jurisdiction is limited to reviewing the sanction to be imposed based upon a finding of a violation by the Commission. Therefore, this decision is restricted solely to a review of the Commission's recommended penalty.

Upon a thorough review of the record, the Commissioner determines to accept the Commission's recommendation that reprimand is the appropriate penalty in this matter for the reasons expressed in the Commission's decision. In so ruling, the Commissioner is satisfied that in recommending a penalty for the violations it found, the Commission fully considered the nature of the offense and weighed the effects of aggravating and mitigating circumstances. Therefore, the Commission's recommended penalty in this matter will not be disturbed.

Accordingly, IT IS hereby ORDERED that Bruce Freilich be reprimanded as a school official found to have violated the School Ethics Act.

IT IS SO ORDERED.*

WASHINGTON TOWNSHIP	:	Consolidated
BOARD OF EDUCATION	:
BURLINGTON COUNTY	:	DECISION

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

This matter arises from two complaints alleging that Bruce Freilich, a member of the Washington Township Board of Education (Board) violated the School Ethics Act (Act), N.J.S.A. 18A:12-21 et seq. Complainant Kathleen A. Phelan filed C18-04 on March 30, 2004, alleging that Mr. Freilich violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(c) when, at the December 22, 2003 Board meeting, he voted in the affirmative on a bill list that included a $375.50 reimbursement for aid in lieu of transportation for himself. She also alleges that Mr. Freilich violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e) when he asked her to deliver a letter prepared by him to a private donor, who was also her employer. She further alleges that Mr. Freilich violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(d) because no teacher, staff, parent or citizen was asked to be on the Technology Committee of which Mr. Freilich was the chair. Finally, she alleges that Mr. Freilich violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(d) when he volunteered his computer company to install and network computers and printers, and to configure Internet security for the Washington Township School District (District).

Complainant Diana Ackerman filed C19-04 on April 1, 2004, alleging that Mr. Freilich violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e) and (g) of the Code of Ethics for School Board Members in the School Ethics Act when he prepared a letter, signed it in his capacity as chair of the Technology Committee and had it delivered to a private donor. She further alleges that Mr. Freilich violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e) when he attended a meeting of the Construction Committee with the intent of disrupting the meeting.

Mr. Freilich submitted a response by way of counsel, Patrick J. Madden, Esquire wherein he admitted that he voted in the affirmative to approve the payment of over 60 warrants, one of which was a check to him in the amount of $375.50 for aid in lieu of transportation. He answered that his action was an oversight. He averred that he was not advised by the business administrator, the superintendent or the Board solicitor that the check was included with the warrants, nor was he asked to recuse himself. He further responded that, as chair of the Technology Committee, he prepared a letter to be sent to a private donor. He then provided the letter to the superintendent and asked for it to be included in the agenda for discussion at the next Board meeting. He also contends that the letter did not contain any personal promises and should not be construed as a private action that may compromise the Board. Mr. Freilich responded that the letter has not compromised the Board in violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e) since this particular donor has not provided funds to the school for three years and there has been no evidence provided regarding the donor's reaction to the letter. Furthermore, Mr. Freilich denies that the letter contained information that was inaccurate in violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(g).

Mr. Freilich also responded that his actions could not constitute a violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(d) and that Ms. Phelan did not articulate how this section had been violated. Mr. Freilich responded that he had proposed that his company provide installation and internet security services at no cost to the District. In response to Ms. Alexander's allegation that Mr. Freilich violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e) when he attended the Construction Committee meeting, he denies that he attended the meeting for the purpose of disrupting the meeting. He testified and indicated in his answer that he believed that the Construction Committee meeting was being held in violation of the Open Public Meetings Act (OPMA). He believed that the meeting violated the OPMA because at the April 2003 reorganization meeting, the Board had agreed that they would disband their existing committees and act as a "Committee of the Whole" for all matters. Mr. Freilich believed that the Construction Committee had been disbanded since it had pre-dated the April 2003 meeting. Further, he was aware that Ms. Ackerman, Board President, agreed that David West, another Board member, could attend the meeting.

The Commission invited the parties to attend its August 24, 2004 meeting to present witnesses and testimony to aid in the Commission's investigation, but did not require that they be present. Due to scheduling conflicts, the matter was rescheduled for the November 23, 2004 Commission meeting. The parties attended the meeting and presented testimony. Mr. Freilich was represented by Patrick J, Madden, Esquire. On November 23, 2004, due to lack of a quorum, the Commission could not open a meeting. At that time, the Commission's chairperson appointed a committee to take testimony on this matter and make a recommendation to the Commission for its determination at its December 21, 2004 meeting. The committee consisted of Robert Bender, Randy Beverly, Rosalind Frisch and Paul Garbarini. The parties were asked if they consented to this procedure and they all agreed.

At the December 21, 2004 meeting, the Commission voted to find probable cause to credit the allegations that Bruce Freilich violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(c) of the School Ethics Act when he voted on a bill list that included a $375.50 reimbursement for aid in lieu of transportation for himself. The Commission also voted to find probable cause to credit the allegation that respondent violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e) and (g) of the Code of Ethics for School Board Members when he sent an unauthorized letter to a private donor. However, the Commission found no probable cause to credit the allegations that respondent violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(d) or N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(d). The Commission also found no probable cause to credit the allegations that respondent violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e) when he attended the Construction Committee meeting. The reasons for this decision were set forth in the probable cause decisions dated January 6, 2005.

The Commission found that the material facts were not in dispute with respect to the issues upon which it found probable cause and, therefore, the Commission advised respondent that it would decide the matter on the basis of written submissions. Respondent was invited to provide a written submission to the Commission within 30 days of the date of the probable cause decision and set forth why the Commission should not find him in violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(c) for voting on a bill list that included a $375.50 reimbursement for aid in lieu of transportation for himself and N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e) and (g) for sending an unauthorized letter to a private donor. He was also told that his written submission should include the respondent's position on an appropriate sanction should the Commission determine that the Act was violated.

By correspondence dated February 7, 2005, Mr. Madden advised the Commission that Mr. Freilich would be responding directly to the Commission's probable cause determination. Mr. Freilich submitted a timely response on February 7, 2005 wherein he responded that he is not in conflict with N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(c) because N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(h) applies to his vote on the aid in lieu of transportation. He argued that no material or monetary gain could accrue to him or his family to any greater extent than any gain could reasonably be expected to accrue to any family from Washington Township that receives aid in lieu of transportation from the Board. He noted that N.J.S.A. 18A:39-1 created a group of families with the right to either have their children transported to the non-public school they attend or choose to accept aid in lieu of transportation, which is an amount set by that statute.

In his submission, Mr. Freilich disagreed with the Commission's determination that the materials facts were not in dispute. However, he failed to specify which material facts were in dispute. Mr. Freilich merely set forth additional facts that were not material to the Commission's determinations in this matter.

Mr. Freilich further responded that he did not violate N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e) or (g) when he sent the letter to a private donor. He maintained that the third paragraph of the letter accurately represents the plan as a "proposed plan." He noted that there is no Board policy requiring that all communications be approved by the Board and no policy addressing the procedure to follow with respect to committee communications. He argued that he did not need Board approval to send the letter to the private donor because it only thanked the donor for his donation and did not appeal to the donor for money. He also noted that he had written and sent other letters in his capacity as chair of the Technology Committee that did not need Board approval.

Mr. Freilich maintained that his sending of the letter was not a private action because it was on letterhead that included, in 14 point typeface, the words "Technology Committee," and was signed by him in his capacity as chair of the Technology Committee. He also maintained that these facts show that the letter was not written on behalf of the Board, but was written on behalf of the Technology Committee. He argued that even if his sending of the letter was a private action, it did not compromise the Board, because one month later, in March 2004, the recommendations that were included in the letter were approved unanimously by the Board for inclusion in the 2004-2005 budget and were eventually incorporated into the Long Range Technology Plan for 2004 – 2007. Mr. Freilich further submitted that if the Commission found a violation that the lowest form of penalty should be imposed because none of the alleged acts lead to any personal gain to him or his family, and, with respect to the letter, he did attempt to present same to the Board through the superintendent.

The Commission discussed Mr. Freilich's response at its February 22, 2005 meeting and tabled the matter for further discussion. The Commission discussed the matter again at its April 4, 2005 meeting and voted to find Mr. Freilich in violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e) and (g) and recommended a penalty of reprimand. It found no violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(c) and dismissed that charge.

FACTS

The Commission based its findings of probable cause on the following facts:

Mr. Freilich became a member of the Board in April 2003. Ms. Phelan is an employee of Mr. William Haines, Sr., a private donor to the District. At the December 22, 2003 Board meeting, the Board unanimously voted to approve a list of over 50 bills. Included in that list was a warrant for Bruce Freilich in the amount of $375.50 for aid in lieu of transportation. Mr. Freilich voted to approve the bill list which included a warrant with his name on it. He was not advised that the list included a warrant in his name nor was he asked to recuse himself from voting on that warrant. Mr. Freilich testified that he was aware that he would be receiving reimbursement from the District at some time for aid in lieu of transportation.

Mr. Freilich was the chair of the Technology Committee that was formed by the Board in the fall of 2003. In his role as chair, he was seeking funds to help pay for the District's technology needs. In discussions with the Superintendent, Mr. Freilich came to understand that some funds from a December 2000 donation from a private donor had not been allocated and were available for use. The Technology Committee then developed a short-range technology plan, which was based on expenditure of those unallocated funds. The short-range technology plan included the purchase of 10 new desktop computers and 50 Microsoft Certified Engineering hours offered as a donation by Mr. Freilich at the rate of $80 an hour to the District by Jersey Data, a consulting company owned by Mr. Freilich.

In his role as chair of the Technology Committee, Mr. Freilich prepared a letter to Mr. Haines. On January 20, 2004, he faxed the letter and a copy of the short-range technology plan to the superintendent asking that, "at a minimum I would like these included in the packets for the next week's meeting." He also noted that if the letter to Mr. Haines was acceptable, he would "consider hand delivering to him tomorrow at the Planning Board meeting." The Superintendent never responded to Mr. Freilich's fax.

The letter, dated January 19, 2004, with a simulated Board letterhead was prepared and signed by Bruce Freilich, Technology Committee Chair. The letter began by noting that the Board thanked Mr. Haines for his generosity. The letter continued:

> "We would like to share with you our plans to initiate a bold technology program enabling our children access to modern computer and research skills. Beginning with our Middle School (6-8th graders) we have decided to purchase (10) new desktop computers along with some necessary components and software. All installations and internet security configurations will be performed by Washington Twp. Technology Committee volunteers."

In the third paragraph, Mr. Freilich indicated that an outline of the proposed plan is attached for review. It also indicated that the donor's contribution had never been utilized and that, after the lengthy delay, "we would like to begin making a difference, giving our children every advantage." He ended the letter by asking for suggestions or directions.

The January 2004 Board meeting was cancelled. At the February 2, 2004 Board meeting, during the Board committee reports, Mr. Freilich presented the short-range technology plan. The letter and short-range technology plan that he had faxed to the Superintendent was not included in the Board agenda, as he had requested. Mr. Freilich had made some copies of the letter and short-range technology plan for the Board members to review during the discussion. No formal action was taken by the Board on the plan. After the meeting, Mr. Freilich handed the letter to Ms. Phelan and asked her to deliver it to Mr. Haines. Ms. Phelan delivered the letter to Mr. Haines. Mr. Freilich never received any response from Mr. Haines.

The Commission found probable cause to credit the allegation that Mr. Freilich violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(c) when, at the December 22, 2003 Board meeting, he voted in the affirmative on a bill list that included a $375.50 reimbursement for aid in lieu of transportation for himself. N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(c) provides:

> No school official shall act in his official capacity in any matter where he, a member of his immediate family, or a business organization in which he has an interest, has a direct or indirect financial involvement that might reasonably be expected to impair his objectivity or independence of judgment. No school official shall act in his official capacity in any matter where he or a member of his immediate family has a personal involvement that is or creates some benefit to the school official or member of his immediate family;

In its probable cause determination, the Commission found probable cause that Mr. Freilich had a direct financial involvement in voting on the bill list because the reimbursement of $375.50 was for him and the bill warrant listed that reimbursement under his name. In making its determination, the Commission noted that Mr. Freilich could have reviewed the bill list prior to the Board meeting to determine if his name was on the list since he was aware that he would be receiving reimbursement for aid in lieu of transportation.

The Commission then considered whether Mr. Freilich's direct financial involvement might reasonably be expected to impair his objectivity or independence of judgment. The Commission noted that it previously found that a sending district board member's objectivity or independence of judgment might reasonably be expected to be impaired where the board member voted on the payment of tuition to the Mercer County Vocational School where he was employed as a principal. See I/M/O Bruce White, C01-01 (July 24, 2001). In its probable cause determination, the Commission found that when a Board member has a direct financial involvement on an item listed in a lengthy bill list that is voted on in a block it is reasonable to expect that his objectivity or independence of judgment might be impaired due to the direct financial interest.

In his submission in response to the probable cause determination, Mr. Freilich argues that N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(h) applies to his vote on the aid in lieu of transportation. N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(h) provides:

> No school official shall be deemed in conflict with these provisions if, by reason of his participation in any matter required to be voted upon, no material or monetary gain accrues to him as a member of any business, profession, occupation, or group, to any greater extent than any gain could reasonably be expected to accrue to any other member of that business, profession, occupation or group;

There are two previous matters in which the Commission found N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(h) to be applicable to alleged violations of the Act. In Hoboken Education Association v. David Anthony, C11-00 (December 19, 2000), the Commission found that N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(h) applied and a board member did not violate the Act when he negotiated a lease with a charter school in which his children were enrolled. The Commission reasoned that no material gain could be said to accrue to the board member as a member of the group of charter school parents to any greater extent than any gain could reasonably be expected to accrue to any other parents of children who attend the charter school. The Commission further found "N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(h) to be particularly applicable when issues arise concerning proposals that come before a board from which a school official's child can benefit." The Commission noted the difficulty that could arise if school officials had to remove themselves from all decisions that affected their children as students in the district. The Commission further concluded that "where the policy, lease or other board decision does not benefit that school official's children more than the other students, the Commission will consider applying N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(h)."

The Commission also applied N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(h) in Advisory Opinion A01-98 (February 27, 1998). The Commission was asked whether certain board members can participate in the discussion and vote on a proposal to give greater weight to certain more rigorous academic courses when their children are enrolled in those courses without violating the Act. In applying N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(h), the Commission reasoned that the board members did not stand to gain more than other parents in deciding to weight grades, which is a matter of policy and similar to any other curriculum decision. However, the Commission found that N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(h) did not apply to the same board member's vote to make the weighted grades retroactive. The Commission noted that by voting in favor of making the policy retroactive, the board members in question would be voting to make their own children's transcripts look better for their application to college. The Commission noted that the general proposal affects every parent of a student in the district, while the retroactive application of the proposal affects those parents who have had children in more rigorous academic courses who are now college bound. The Commission advised that the board members had a personal involvement in determining whether to weight the courses retroactively that could impair their objectivity and N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(h) would not provide an exception to allow them to participate.

In this matter, Mr. Freilich notes that N.J.S.A. 18A:39-1 et seq. created a group of families with the right to either have their children transported to the non-public school they attend or to choose to accept aid in lieu of transportation, which is an amount set by that statute. Based on the fact that the aid in lieu of transportation amount is set by N.J.S.A. 18A:39-1a, he argues that no material or monetary gain could accrue to him or his family to any greater extent than any gain could reasonably be expected to accrue to any family from Washington Township which receives aid in lieu of transportation from the Board.

The Commission agrees with Mr. Freilich that N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(h) applies to the distinct facts of this case. Mr. Freilich is a member of a group created by N.J.S.A. 18A:39-1 et seq. and, as a member of that group, he receives aid in lieu of transportation the amount of which is set by N.J.S.A. 18A:39-1a. If a parent qualifies for aid in lieu of transportation, the Board has no discretion in the amount of aid that parent will be entitled to receive. Mr. Freilich testified that the district had notified him that he qualified for aid in lieu of transportation. Since the amount of aid is set by statute, Mr. Freilich could not have received aid in lieu of transportation in an amount greater than any member of the group that received such aid from the Board. Furthermore, as a board member, he had no discretion in setting the amount of the aid that he would receive.

The Commission finds the facts in I/M/O White, supra, to be distinguishable from the facts of this case, because the board member in White was not a member of a distinct group. The Commission also finds that A01-98 can be distinguished from this case in two ways. First, Mr. Freilich did not vote for a retroactive approval of aid in lieu of transportation. He had already been approved by the district to receive aid in lieu of transportation and his actual receipt of the amount of aid was perfunctory. Second, Mr. Freilich did not have the same type of personal involvement as the board members in A01-98. Mr. Freilich could not be expected to accrue monetary gain to any greater extent than could be expected to accrue to any other parent receiving aid in lieu of transportation, while the board members in A01-98 had a personal involvement whereby their children's transcripts could look better for their application to college.

The Commission finds that, in this case, where Mr. Freilich's vote did not benefit him or his child to any greater extent than the other parents or children receiving aid in lieu of transportation, it is appropriate to apply N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(h). Therefore, the Commission finds that Mr. Freilich cannot be deemed in conflict with N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(c) because of his vote in the affirmative on a bill list that included a $375.50 reimbursement for aid in lieu of transportation and it dismisses this charge.

The Commission also found probable cause that Mr. Freilich violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e) of the Code of Ethics for School Board Members for sending an unauthorized letter to a private donor. N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e) provides:

> I will recognize that authority rests with the board of education and will make no personal promises nor take any private action that may compromise the board.

In its probable cause determination, the Commission found that Mr. Freilich took private action that may compromise the Board when he sent the letter to the private donor. In determining that Mr. Freilich took private action, the Commission noted that the body of the letter gave the impression that the letter was written on behalf of the Board. The Commission disagrees with Mr. Freilich's contention that because the letterhead included, in 14 point typeface, the words "Technology Committee" and was signed by him in his capacity as chair of the Technology Committee that it shows that the letter was written on behalf of the Technology Committee and not the Board. The letter begins by noting that the Board would like to thank Mr. Haines for his generosity. In subsequent paragraphs, the term "we" is used. Since the letter begins with a reference to the Board as a whole, it is reasonable to conclude that the term "we" refers to "we" the Board, not "we" the Technology Committee.

In determining that the sending of the letter was a private action, the Commission also noted that Mr. Freilich did not have authorization to send the letter on behalf of the Board. The Board had not reviewed the letter and the Superintendent had not approved it. Furthermore, the Board had taken no action on the short-range technology plan, components of which were included in the letter. The Commission disagrees with Mr. Freilich's contention that he did not need Board authorization to send out the letter. Even though the Board may lack policy regarding the approval procedure, Mr. Freilich should have waited to send out the letter until after it had been discussed and approved by the Board. Mr. Freilich contends that the letter only thanked the donor and did not ask for money and for that reason he did not need Board authorization. However, in actuality the letter did more than thank the donor; it provided details of the short-range technology plan on which the Board had taken no formal action. Specifically, the letter referenced one component of that plan when it indicated that "...we have decided to purchase (10) new desktop computers along with some necessary components and software." The Board did not approve such a purchase. The letter also refers to the fact that installations and internet security configurations would be performed by the Technology Committee volunteers, which was also included in the short-range technology plan, that was never approved of by the Board.

In determining that Mr. Freilich's private action was such that it may compromise the Board, the Commission noted that the letter could have compromised the Board because it included information regarding the short-range technology plan that had not been approved for implementation. Mr. Freilich maintains that it did not compromise the Board because one month later the recommendations in the letter were approved unanimously by the Board for inclusion in the 2004-2005 budget and were eventually incorporated into the Long Range Technology Plan for 2004 – 2007. However, it is immaterial whether the recommendations in the letter were eventually approved by the Board or not. The fact that the recommendations were not approved by the Board when the letter was sent to the private donor could have compromised the Board. Therefore, the Commission finds that Mr. Freilich violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e) when he prepared and sent a letter to a private donor.

The Commission also found probable cause that Mr. Freilich violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(g) of the Code of Ethics for School Board Members for sending an unauthorized letter to a private donor. N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(g) provides:

> I will hold confidential all matters pertaining to the schools which, if disclosed, would needlessly injure individuals or the schools. In all other matters, I will provide accurate information and, in concert with my fellow board members, interpret to the staff the aspirations of the community for its school.

In its probable cause determination, the Commission found the letter to be inaccurate in at least two aspects. First, the body of the letter gave the impression that the letter was written on behalf of the Board when it had not been reviewed or approved by the Board. The first paragraph thanking the donor from the Board, the use of the term "we" throughout the body of the letter, and the fact that the letterhead began with the name of the Board gave the impression that the letter was written for the Board. Second, the letter also gave the impression that the technology plan had been approved by the Board when it had not. The letter included more than one reference to the short-range technology plan as though it was an approved Board plan.

In his response, Mr. Freilich maintains that the letter did not inaccurately represent that the Board had approved the short range technology plan because the third paragraph refers to the plan as a "proposed plan attached for your review." However, the preceding paragraph references two major components of the plan, i.e. the purchase of 10 desktop computers and the installation and configuration of same by Technology Committee volunteers, as though the Board had already decided to implement those components. The subsequent reference to the "proposed plan" merely highlights the previous paragraph's indication that two components of the plan had already been decided upon. Therefore, the Commission finds that Mr. Freilich violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(g) when he prepared and sent a letter to a private donor.

DECISION

For the reasons discussed above, the Commission finds that Bruce Freilich violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e) and (g) when he prepared and sent a letter to a private donor. The Commission recommends that the Commissioner of Education impose a penalty of reprimand for because he had been a member of the Board for less than a year when he sent the letter and the Board had no policy regarding direct correspondence being sent from a Committee.

This decision has been adopted by a formal resolution of the School Ethics Commission. This matter shall now be transmitted to the Commissioner of Education for action on the Commission's recommendation for sanction only, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:12-29. Within 13 days from the date on which the Commission's decision was mailed to the parties, Mr. Freilich may file written comments on the recommended sanction with the Commissioner of Education, c/o Bureau of Controversies and Disputes, P.O. Box 500, Trenton, NJ 08625, marked "Attention: Comments on Ethics Commission Sanction." A copy of any comments filed must be sent to the School Ethics Commission and all other parties.

BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE TOWNSHIP OF EWING, MERCER COUNTY,	:	DECISION ON REMAND
RESPONDENT.	:

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision on Remand of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed. The parties did not file exceptions.

Upon a careful and independent review of the record in this matter, the Commissioner concurs with the Administrative Law Judge that petitioner, who did not appear for the hearing, has failed to carry her burden of proof that her children were entitled to a free public education in the Ewing Township School District for the 2003-04 school year. The Commissioner further agrees with the grant of the Board's counterclaim for tuition in the amount of $13,769.35 for the 127 days that K.W. and B.S. illegally attended school in the District during the 2003-04 school year.[1]

Accordingly, the Initial Decision is adopted for the reasons expressed therein.

AGENCY DKT. NO. 310-9/04

(ON REMAND FROM EDU 8380-04)

L.G. ON BEHALF OF MINOR CHILDREN,
K.W., B.S. AND TW,

Petitioner,

v.

BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE TOWNSHIP OF EWING, MERCER COUNTY,

Respondent.

L.G., petitioner, pro se

Jeffrey F. Belz, Esq., for respondent

Record Closed: March 14, 2005 Decided: March 21, 2005

BEFORE JAMES W. FAISON, III, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Respondent Board of Education of the Township of Ewing, Mercer County (BOE) conducted a hearing August 5, 2004, at which petitioner L.G.'s minor children were found not to be domiciled in the Township of Ewing and therefore not entitled to a free public education. BOE passed a resolution disenrolling the students from the school district. (R-1). Petitioner appealed (R-2) the order of removal to the Commissioner of Education who transmitted the matter as a contested case to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) where it was filed October 5, 2004, under Docket No. EDU 8380-04. BOE filed an answer to petitioner's petition and also asserted a counterclaim for the payment of tuition by petitioner to BOE for the unlawful attendance of the minor children to the public school. (R-3).

Petitioner failed to appear at a duly scheduled conference on December 2, 2004, 2:00 p.m., at the OAL facility in Mercerville, New Jersey, whose absence was informed to the Commissioner. BOE failed to submit timely certification in support of its counterclaim for tuition. Commissioner dismissed petitioner's petition for the failure to appear and remanded the counterclaim to OAL under Docket No. EDU 740-05, where it was filed February 22, 2005. BOE'S certification in support its tuition counterclaim was filed at the Office of Administrative Law, March 11, 2005. (R-4).

ISSUE

Whether petitioner's minor children were domiciled somewhere other than the Township of Ewing, County of Mercer while attending that municipality's public school system without having paid proper tuition in contravention of N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(b) which provides that the parent or guardian "shall have the burden of proving by a preponderance of the evidence before the Commissioner that the child is eligible for a free education under the criteria listed in this subsection."

DISCUSSION AND CONCLUSION OF LAW

A factual hearing was conducted before the Ewing Township Board of Education August 5, 2004, to permit petitioner the opportunity to prove her minor children are domiciled in the Township of Ewing. Petitioner and witnesses on behalf of petitioner testified before BOE. One of the findings of fact by BOE stated: "Surveillance was conducted on ten (10) occasions in this matter. All ten (10) of the surveillances clearly demonstrated that B.S. and K.W. were leaving a Trenton, New Jersey address to attend school in Ewing." At the conclusion of the hearing BOE found: "Based upon the evidence produced at the residency hearing, the Board has determined that B.S. and K.W. are domiciled on a permanent basis with their mother in Trenton, New Jersey."

Petitioner did not file an answer to the counterclaim for tuition claimed by BOE and failed to attend a conference scheduled by OAL to consider the case.

BOE has submitted a certification (R-4) authored by David Mikalauskas, the Attendance and Resident Officer for the Ewing Township Board of Education. The certification sets forth his familiarity with the facts of the case. Although the caption of the case refers to three minor children, K.W., B.S. and T.W., the certification addressed tuition claimed only with respect to K.W. and B.S. Each of the children illegally attended the school district 127 days. The per diem tuition for the Ewing School District pursuant to the New Jersey Department of Education for elementary students was $54.21 per day each. Tuition claimed as to each student is $6,884.67 for a total tuition owed by the petitioner to BOE of $13,769.34.

The certification is proper is uncontroverted.

ORDER

It is ORDERED that petitioner pay BOE the tuition sum of $13,769.34.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen (13) days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

The record of this matter and advisement of the parties' failure to appear, transmitted to the Commissioner by the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-14.4, have been reviewed. There being no explanation filed by petitioner in response to the notification sent to the parties by OAL on April 7, 2005, providing them with ten days to submit an explanation for their nonappearance, and the record showing that the respondent Board of Education believed petitioner's claim to be moot and withdrew its opposition on that basis by letter dated December 9, 2004,[1] the petition of appeal is hereby dismissed.

IN THE MATTER OF THE TENURE	:
HEARING OF BETTY HERRING,	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
SCHOOL DISTRICT OF THE CITY OF	:	DECISION
CAMDEN, CAMDEN COUNTY.	:

The record, Settlement Agreement and Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), issued pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1, have been reviewed.

Initially, the Commissioner points out that, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-5.6(a), once tenure charges are certified to him, such charges may be settled only with his approval; any proposed settlement, whether submitted to the Commissioner or to the Administrative Law Judge, must address the standards established by the State Board of Education in the matter entitled In re Cardonick, 1990 S.L.D. 842, 846. Specifically, the proposed settlement must: 1) Be accompanied by documentation as to the nature of the charges; 2) Include an explanation of the circumstances justifying the settlement or withdrawal; 3) Evidence the consent of both the charged and the charging parties; 4) Indicate that the charged party entered into the agreement with a full understanding of his or her rights; 5) Demonstrate that the agreement is in the public interest; and 6) Where the charged party is a teaching staff member, indicate that he or she has been advised of the Commissioner's duty to refer tenure determinations resulting in loss of position to the State Board of Examiners for possible loss of certificate. N.J.A.C. 6A:3-5.6.

to same, are a matter of public record. See Williams v. The Board of Educ. of the Atlantic City Public Schools et al., 329 N.J. Super. 308 (App. Div. 2000). Moreover, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-14.1(a), records of all hearings shall be open for public inspection unless, for good cause shown, the ALJ orders the sealing of the record, or any part thereof. Furthermore, the Commissioner cautions the Board that any action it may take with respect to disclosure of information regarding this tenure matter must fully comport with the requirements of New Jersey's Open Public Records Act, N.J.S.A. 47:1A-1 et seq.

Accordingly, the proposed settlement is rejected for the reasons expressed herein. The Commissioner hereby remands this matter to the OAL for further expansion of the record and revision of the Settlement Agreement, consistent with the concerns set forth above. If the parties are unwilling or unable to reach accord on a modified agreement for submission to the Commissioner, the matter shall proceed to a hearing on the merits.

IT IS SO ORDERED.[2]

COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION

Date of Decision: 5/3/05

Date of Mailing: 163-05

[2] This decision may be appealed to the State Board of Education pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-27 et seq. and N.J.A.C. 6A:4-1.1 et seq.

Because the proposed agreement does not comport with these standards, the Commissioner is compelled to reject it and remand this matter, as specified below.

First, it is noted that the parties fail to set forth the nature of the charges and the circumstances justifying the proposed settlement. It is well-established that, having once taken up the burden of tenure charges, the agency may not lay it down without spreading forth on the record a reasonably specific explanation of why such charges can no longer be pursued or why it is now in the public interest not to pursue them. (In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Kenneth Smith, School District of the City of Orange, Essex County, decided by the Commissioner March 22, 1982, decision on remand June 16, 1983, 1983 S.L.D. 420; affirmed with modification by the State Board of Education November 2, 1983, 1983 S.L.D. 489; affirmed N.J. Superior Court, Appellate Division, January 30, 1986.)

Moreover, there is no indication in the proposed agreement that the within teaching staff member was advised of the Commissioner's duty to refer tenure determinations to the State Board of Examiners for possible revocation of her certificate, where the teaching staff member has retired subsequent to the filing of tenure charges. N.J.A.C. 6A:9-17.6(a)1[1]

While the Commissioner does not preclude the possibility of settlement in this matter, he stresses that in order for him to meet his own obligation to the schools and children of this State, he must be assured that any settlement is consistent with appropriate standards for setting aside tenure matters as expressed in Cardonick, supra.

Finally, the Commissioner is compelled to comment on Term #9 of the herein proposed Settlement Agreement. Although the parties may agree between themselves to keep the specific terms of a settlement agreement confidential, it does not in any way alter the fact that the filing of tenure charges, tenure charge documents, and any record of or determination related

CAMDEN CITY BOARD OF EDUCATION

AND

BETTY JANE HERRING

AGREEMENT

This Agreement, is made and entered into this 31 day of JANUARY, 2005, by and between Betty Jane Herring, and the Camden Board of Education (hereinafter referred to as the "Board"), collectively, "the parties", and is intended to amicably resolve all pending matters related to the employment of Betty Jane Herring by the Board as follows:

1. Betty Jane Herring agrees to retire from employment with the Board effective July 1, 2005. Ms. Herring's irrevocable letter of resignation from employment with the Board effective July 1, 2005 as a result of her retirement is attached hereto as Exhibit 1. She further understands that in entering into this settlement agreement, her letter of retirement is irrevocable.

2. The Board agrees to withdraw the tenure charges which have been filed against Betty Jane Herring and to remove from her files any and all references to such charges.

3. Betty Jane Herring will continue to be paid her contractual salary and all available contractual benefits as a Board employee through June 30, 2005. Her records with the Board will reflect that she was on a paid leave of absence through June 30, 2005.

4. As a result of her retirement from the Board, the Board agrees to pay Betty Jane Herring for her unused accumulated sick leave days and her earned but unused vacation days and any other benefit to which she is entitled upon retirement, pursuant to and in accordance with the terms of the collective bargaining agreement between the Camden Board of Education and the Camden City Federation of School Administrators, Local 39.

5. The Board agrees that upon request for a reference from any prospective employer, the only information provided will be Ms. Herring's dates of employment with the Board, her titles and positions held; and salary information.

6. In consideration for the above, Ms. Herring agrees to waive any and all claims she has against the City of Camden Board of Education with regard to the subject matter of this Agreement, including any claims for pay beyond the scope of paragraphs 3 and 4, counsel fees or other monetary relief.

7. The parties agree that they have been duly represented by their respective attorneys and that they have voluntarily, without coercion, agreed to the resolution of the matters related to Ms. Herring's employment by the Board of Education as set forth above.

8. This Agreement contains all of the terms of the parties' Agreement and cannot be modified or changed unless all parties agree to do so in writing.

9. The parties agree that this Agreement shall be non-precedential and shall not be evidence of past practice or policy of the Board; shall be kept confidential, except nothing herein shall permit Herring from disclosing the terms of this agreement to her lawyer, accountant, tax adviser, and immediate family, as long as they agree to keep its terms confidential, and that the agreement has been entered into without any admission of liability or wrongdoing by either party, and shall not be used by any party in any other litigation or forum.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the parties have signed, delivered and acknowledged this Agreement.

MINUTES OF EXECUTIVE SESSION MEETING
SEPTEMBER 23, 2004

Mr. Joseph Baldino called the Executive Session Meeting of the Board of Education to order at 6:10 p.m. in the Library Media Center at Triton Regional High School, 250 Schubert Avenue, Runnemede, NJ.

Roll Call: Present—Mrs. Margaret Jackson, Mr. Thomas Concannon (6:15 p.m.), Mr. John Custodio, Mr. Carl Gross, Mr. Louis Vizoco, Mrs. Patricia Wilson (6:12 p.m.), and Mr. Joseph Baldino.

Also Present—Mr. Ralph Ross, Dr. Dennis Vespe, Ms. Kathleen Forsythe, Dr. Richard Hollinshead, Dr. Marcia Leek, and Mr. John Wade.

Item #2: The Board of Education discussed redistricting. The Board decided that this is a possibility in the future and would like to phase this in slowly, starting with awareness in the middle schools. The Board will start with the statistics of numbers in the eighth grade. The Board will keep it to themselves for now.

Item #3: The Board of Education discussed a possible referendum and Garrison Architects. Triton High School is in dire need. The Board will identify the problems in the three high schools and address and revisit the long range facility plan. A Board Member suggested that the parents can make the request at the Board Meetings so this is not initiated by the Board.

Item #1: The Board of Education discussed the medical leave for Steve Bleistine. His effective resignation would be 6-30-05. The Board will reinstate increment. He will receive full pay and benefits. If he is employed elsewhere, the letter of resignation would have to be amended. On the motion of Mrs. Jackson, seconded by Mr. Custodio, the Board move to accept the settlement agreement if the Board receives the signed agreement from Steve Bleistine by the end of the business day on October 1, 2004.

Roll Call Vote: YES—Mrs. Jackson, Mr. Concannon, Mr. Custodio, Mr. Gross, Mr. Vizoco, Mrs. Wilson, and Mr. Baldino.

CARRIED

Item #6: Dr. Vespe presented to the Board of Education the need to purchase laptop computers and the computer recycling program. He stated that this was put on hold last year.

Item #4: Dr. Leek presented to the Board of Education, the results of the survey she conducted regarding Project Graduation. The Board will have to decide by October.

Item #5: The Board of Education discussed the survey that Dr. Leek conducted regarding the School Resource Officers. She wanted to see how other Districts paid for them. Three were paid by the school district, five were paid by the municipalities, three were paid by both the municipality and school district, and three had no resource officers.

Item #7: The Board of Education received their Tri-County Conference Tickets.

OFFICE OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES

The Blackhorse Pike Regional School District, hereinafter referred to as "Board," with offices located at 580 Erial Road, Blackwood, New Jersey 08012, represented by John D. Wade Esq., at 1250 Chews Landing Road, Laurel Springs, New Jersey 08021 and Stephen J. Bleistine, hereinafter referred to as Mr. Bleistine, whose residence is located at 4 Greenbriar Road, Mullica Hill, New Jersey 08062, represented by Robert M. Schwartz, Esq. with offices located at 12 Centre Drive, Monroe Township, New Jersey 08831, by way of this Stipulation of Agreement say:

WHEREAS, on or about July 23, 2004 Mr. Bleistine initiated a contested case in the Office of Administrative Law with the filing of a Petition of Appeal challenging the Board's withholding of increment for the 2004-2005 school term, which took affect on July 1, 2004, and

WHEREAS, the outcome of this matter is uncertain, and

WHEREAS, both parties are expected to incur further extensive litigation, and

WHEREAS, both parties believe that an amicable settlement is in their respective best interests,

NOW, THEREFORE, in consideration of the agreements and covenants and conditions contained herein, the adequacy and sufficiency of which is hereby expressed and acknowledged by the parties hereto, the parties agree as follows:

1. Mr. Bleistine shall withdraw his petition of appeal contesting the Board's increment withholding for the 2004-2005 school term.

2. Mr. Bleistine shall forward to the Board a letter of resignation to be made effective at the end of the day on June 30, 2005.

3. In consideration therefore, the Board agrees to immediately reinstate Mr. Bleistine's employment and adjustment increment, consisting of $4,500.00, retroactive to July 1, 2004.

4. Commencing on September 7, 2004 Mr. Bleistine shall begin a medical leave of absence. In this regard, Mr. Bleistine shall provide to the Board a physician's note explaining the need for the medical leave of absence, and by execution of this Agreement, upon receipt of a physician's note requesting same, the Board agrees to provide Mr. Bleistine the requested medical leave of absence.

5. For the balance of the 2004-2005 school term, commencing on or about September 7th, 2004 through June 30, 2005, Mr. Bleistine shall remain on a medical leave of absence during which time he shall receive his full compensation, inclusive of the increment withheld by the Board for the 2004-2005 school term, together with all benefits and emoluments he is entitled to in accordance with his contract and collective bargaining agreement, with the exception of vacation days, sick days and personal days,

6. In the event that Mr. Bleistine obtains other employment with another school district requiring his release of employment with the Board, the Board agrees to provide such release of employment, which shall result in a commensurate modification of his termination date of June 30 with any balance of his salary compensation to be paid by the Board in no more than two installments, the last installment of which to be paid no later than August 1, 2005.

7. The Board further agrees that if any prospective employee requests a reference from the Board, or from any agent of the Board, it will provide a reference for and on behalf of Mr. Bleistine, in accordance with the central office policy which is to provide the date(s) of employment, position held, certificate required and the salary paid. In no event shall the Board, or any of its agents, transmit or communicate in any way whatsoever a negative reference of Mr. Bleistine, the commission of which shall be a material breach of this Agreement. Agents of the Board shall mean the/a person acting in an official capacity sanctioned by the Board to give references to prospective employers.

8. In consideration of the benefits and payments made pursuant to this Agreement, Mr. Bleistine, personally and for his estate and/or his heirs, and the Board, on behalf of its collective officials, agents, administrators, employees and representatives, each waive, release and give up any and all claims, demands, obligations, damages, liabilities, causes of action and rights in law or in equity, known or unknown, each may have against the, based upon any act, event or omission occurring before the execution of this stipulation, including, but not limited to any events related to, arising from or in connection with Mr. Bleistine's employment and/or association with any of the parties subject to this release. Specifically, as to the release to the Board by Mr. Bleistine it shall include the Board's agents, employees, and officers, in their official capacity and in their individual capacity.

9. It is expressly understood that neither the execution of this stipulation, nor any other action taken in connection with the release provided by both parties and this settlement agreement constitutes an admission.

10. This stipulation contains the sole and entire agreement among the parties hereto, and fully supercedes any and all prior agreements and understandings pertaining to the subject matter hereof. No other promises or agreements shall be binding, unless in writing, signed by the parties hereto and expressly stated to represent an amendment to this stipulation.

11. This stipulation shall be governed by and be construed in accordance with the laws of the State of New Jersey.

12. This stipulation may be executed in counter parts. The parties agree that any action to enforce or interpret this Stipulation shall only be brought in a court of competent jurisdiction in the State of New Jersey, which the parties hereby acknowledge and agree to be the Superior Court of New Jersey, venued in Camden County.

13. Mr. Bleistine and the Board acknowledge that they have been represented by and have consulted with counsel throughout the negotiations of the terms of this Stipulation and that they have each have reviewed the Stipulation in detail with their respective counsel and that they each fully understand its requirements and limitations.

14. Mr. Bleistine hereby states that he is signing this Stipulation voluntarily, of his own free will, and not under duress or coercion of any kind. Mr. Bleistine also states that he is satisfied with the representation provided by his counsel.

15. This Stipulation shall be construed fairly and according to the plain language of its terms.

16. If its determined that a specific clause(s) of this Stipulation is/are illegal under Federal or State Law, then the remainder of the Stipulation not affected by such a ruling shall remain in full force and effect.

17. This Stipulation and each of its provision binds the parties to this Stipulation. Anyone who succeeds to their rights and responsibilities, such as their successors and assigns also are bound. This Stipulation is made for the benefit of all parties hereto and all who may succeed to their rights and responsibilities, and expressly includes their officials, representatives, employees, agents, attorneys, successors and assigns.

18. This Stipulation must be approved by the Board by resolution prior to being effective and final.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the parties hereto set their hands to the Stipulation as follows:

TOWNSHIP OF SOUTH ORANGE VILLAGE, ESSEX COUNTY, AND BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE SOUTH ORANGE-MAPLEWOOD SCHOOL DISTRICT, ESSEX COUNTY,	:

SYNOPSIS

This matter was initiated by a Petition for Declaratory Judgment wherein petitioner requested that the provisions of N.J.S.A. 18A:22-5, relating to Boards of School Estimate in Type II districts, be construed and clarified. The dispute centers on the nature of the secondary majority requirement set forth by the Legislature at N.J.S.A. 18A:22-5, which states:

> When it is required by law that any action shall be taken by at least a majority of the full membership of the board of school estimate, such majority must include a majority of the members, representing the respective municipal governing bodies and the action shall be certified accordingly.

Pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:4-33, this matter has been delegated to the Deputy Commissioner for decision. Upon a thorough and thoughtful review, the Deputy Commissioner finds that N.J.S.A. 18A:22-5 mandates that when it is required by law that any action shall be taken by at least a majority of the full membership of the BSE, both a majority of the full membership including the Board's representatives and a majority of all of the representative members of the municipalities is required.

TOWNSHIP OF MAPLEWOOD, ESSEX COUNTY,	:
PETITIONER,	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
V.	:	DECLARATORY JUDGMENT
TOWNSHIP OF SOUTH ORANGE VILLAGE, ESSEX COUNTY, AND BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE SOUTH ORANGE-MAPLEWOOD SCHOOL DISTRICT, ESSEX COUNTY,	:
RESPONDENT.	:

For Petitioner, Roger J. Desiderio, Esq. (Bendit Weinstock)

For Respondent Township of South Orange Village, Edwin R. Matthews, Esq. (Bourne, Noll & Kenyon)[1]

For Respondent Board of Education of the South Orange-Maplewood School District, Sidney A. Sayovitz, Esq. (Schenck, Price, Smith & King, LLP)

This matter was initiated by a Petition for Declaratory Judgment, filed January 13, 2005, wherein petitioner requests that the provisions of N.J.S.A. 18A:22-5 be construed and clarified to determine whether both a majority of the municipality representatives of South Orange and a majority of the municipality representatives of the Township of Maplewood (Maplewood) are required for any resolution of the Board of School Estimate (BSE)

[1] South Orange Village (South Orange) did not submit an Answer or brief indicating its position with respect to the interpretation of the statute at issue in this matter. In its sole submission, dated March 9, 2005, counsel for South Orange states:

> ...The Board has requested that I monitor this matter and obtain copies of letter briefs filed on behalf of those two parties. The Board may then join in the position advocated by one of the parties...

to pass or whether only a majority of all of the members of the two municipalities is required to pass any resolution.

The BSE, which considers and approves the South Orange-Maplewood School Board's (Board) budget in this Type II school district, is composed of eight members, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:22-4, consisting of three representatives from each of the two municipalities and two representatives from the board of education. The parties concede that N.J.S.A. 18A:22-26 requires that a majority of the full membership of the BSE must vote affirmatively to pass a measure. The dispute centers on the nature of the secondary majority requirement the Legislature set forth at N.J.S.A. 18:22-5, which states:

> When it is required by law that any action shall be taken by at least a majority of the full membership of the board of school estimate, such majority must include a majority of the members, representing the respective municipal governing bodies and the action shall be certified accordingly.

Maplewood contends that the language of the statute dictates that not only is a majority of the full board required to pass a measure, but such "majority must consist of a majority of elected officials of each municipality" (emphasis in text) (Maplewood's Brief at 2) The Board's interpretation is that "when a majority vote by the Board of School Estimate is required, not only must a majority of the full board support a measure, but such majority must also include a majority of the members of the Board of School Estimate that are appointed by the two municipalities." (Board's Brief at 2)

In support of its position, Maplewood points to McCann v. Clerk of Jersey City, 167 N.J. 311, 321 (2001) referring to Gabin v. Skyline Cabana Club, 54 N.J. 550 (1969) in asserting that a cardinal rule of statutory construction is that full effect should be given to every word of a statute "because the legislature cannot be assumed to have used meaningless language." (Maplewood Brief at 4-5) In this regard, Maplewood notes that, in describing how the BSE is to determine the amount of money necessary to be appropriated for the use of a district's public schools, N.J.S.A. 18A:22-26 states that the BSE will "'fix and determine the amount of monies necessary by a recorded roll call majority vote of its full membership.'" (emphasis in text) (Id. at 5) Additionally, Maplewood notes that, in the same sentence when discussing how the BSE shall make a certificate of the amount, N.J.S.A. 18A:22-26 states that the signatures required for the certificate are to be "at least a majority of all members" of such board. (Ibid.) Maplewood thus concludes that the language used in N.J.S.A. 18A:22-26 regarding the signature requirement of a majority of all members is obviously different from the requirement set forth in N.J.S.A. 18A:22-25 which states that the majority of its full membership is required. (Id. at 6)

A basic reading of the statute at issue, Maplewood submits, is that "'such' majority must include a majority of the members representing the 'respective' municipal govern[ing] bodies," claiming that the word "respective" is the most essential word in the statute at issue. (Ibid.) If the Board's interpretation is correct, Maplewood argues, there would be no reason for the word "respective" to appear in the statute. (Ibid.) To underscore its point, Maplewood poses that, under the Board's view, the word "respective" would be ineffective and redundant in that the majority of the BSE could be all three members representing Maplewood, one member representing South Orange and one member representing the Board. (Id. at 6-7) Maplewood contends that this would clearly not be a majority under the statute because a majority of the representatives of the municipal body of South Orange would not have concurred in the result, and that this construction is contrary to the idea of a representative government as it would mean that either Maplewood or South Orange could be bound by a decision made by elected officials who are not accountable to such taxpayers. (Ibid.)

According to Webster's Deluxe Unabridged Dictionary, Maplewood contends, the word "respective" means "each" and the one synonym for "respective" listed in Merriam Webster's online dictionary/thesaurus is the word "several." (Ibid.) Maplewood, therefore, opines that "the word 'respective' refers to an individual or specific element which goes to make up the whole as opposed to the whole itself." (Id. at 8) In conclusion, Maplewood argues that its interpretation gives full effect and meaning to the statute, produces a system more amenable to compromise and consensus, and assures that actions which impose financial burdens on the taxpayers of a municipality are actions that have been agreed upon by the municipality's elected officials. (Ibid.)

The Board sets forth its position as follows:

> [I]n order for the Board of School Estimate to pass a measure, two majorities are required: (i) a majority of the full Board of School Estimate (at least five of eight) must vote affirmatively; and (ii) a majority of the municipal members (at least four of six) must also vote affirmatively. (Board Brief at 3)

In support of this interpretation of the statute, the Board asserts that Maplewood ignores the fact that the language of the statute refers to "a majority of the members," not to the "majorities of the municipal sub-groups." (emphasis in text) (Ibid.) The Board also takes issue with Maplewood's contention that there can only be one meaning to the word "respective" as it appears in the statute, pointing out that Webster's Dictionary also defines "respective" as "severally connected or belonging." (Id. at 4) In the Board's view, when respective is considered in the context of the statute, the use of "respective" simply provides a way to compare a majority of the municipal members with a majority of the full membership of the

BSE. (Ibid.) The Board thus contends that "respective" appears in the statute in order to emphasize that a majority of the aggregate municipal members is required in addition to a majority of the full membership. (Ibid.) Moreover, the Board points to the Legislature's Statement accompanying the laws of 1933, c. 232, the predecessor law to N.J.S.A. 18A:22-5, as providing conclusive support for the Board's interpretation:

> The purpose of this bill is to change the composition of the board of school estimate in school districts comprising more than one municipality in counties of the first class in the State and having a population in such school district of more than 30,000 inhabitants. In such school district, the board of school estimate is now composed of two members from the governing body of each municipality and two members from the Board of Education. This bill gives greater representation and voting power on the board of school estimate to the governing bodies of each of the municipalities with said district and requires that at least a majority of the representatives of the municipal governing bodies shall approve the budget. (emphasis supplied by the Board) (Id. at 4-5)

The Board points out that, although the Legislature's expressed intent is to increase the voting power of the municipal members relative to the votes of the school board members, it did not require majority approval by each sub-group from each municipality for passage of a measure, but, instead, added the requirement that "at least a majority of the representatives of the municipal governing bodies shall approve the budget." (Id. at 5) If it was the Legislature's intent to require separate majorities from each of the municipal governing bodies, the Board argues, it would have made references to such separate majorities. (Ibid.)

The Board also claims that its past practice interpretation of N.J.S.A. 18A:22-5 is entitled to substantial deference, noting that between May 1996 and April 2000, the BSE voted to approve measures that included a majority vote by four members appointed by the two municipalities, but without a majority vote by the members representing each municipality.

(Ibid.) Arguing that consistent and uniform interpretations of a statute by an agency are entitled to deference, the Board points out that, in each of these instances where the BSE was confronted with interpretation of the statute at issue, the BSE interpreted the statute as advocated herein by the Board. (Id. at 6) Additionally, the Board argues that under an interpretation that a majority of each municipality is required for passage of a measure, two members from either group of representatives from a municipality can prevent passage of the school budget even when 75 percent, or all six of the remaining members of the BSE, vote in support of the budget. (Id. at 7)

In response, Maplewood emphasizes that the statute defines "majority of the members" by including the language "representing the respective municipal governing bodies" and asserts that the Legislature had no reason to have included that phrase unless it intended the majority of the members to mean a majority of each of the respective municipal governing bodies. (emphasis in text) (Maplewood's Reply Brief at 2) Maplewood claims that no other interpretation makes sense because one municipality could be taxed even where the majority of its representatives had not concurred if interpreted otherwise. (Id. at 2-3)

With respect to the Board's reliance on the legislative history of the predecessor statute, Maplewood sets forth its position that resort to legislative intent for statutory interpretation is only necessary if the statute is ambiguous and claims that, in this case, the statute is not ambiguous, but, rather, it is the Legislature's statement that is ambiguous. (Id. at 3-5) In support thereof, Maplewood contends that the first clause of the last sentence, e.g., "[t]he bill gives greater representation and voting power on the board of school estimate to the governing bodies of each of the municipalities within said district" supports Maplewood's position, but the second clause, e.g., "and requires that at least a majority of the representatives of the municipal governing bodies shall approve the budget," supports the Board's interpretation. (Id. at 5) However, the legislative statement is not what controls the interpretation of the statute, Maplewood maintains, because there would have been no need to amend the statute to increase municipal membership from two to three members under the Board's reading. (Id. at 6)

Maplewood emphasizes its contention that the reason it was necessary to change the municipal representation from two to three was so there could always be a majority of each municipal delegation to avoid municipalities being taxed without their consent. (Id. at 5) Under the original statute, in a four member municipality BSE with a total of ten votes, Maplewood poses, the board of education, with two votes, and two of the municipalities, with two votes each, could have out-voted the other two municipalities by achieving the six votes needed for passage of a measure without the other two municipalities' consent. (Id. at 4) Under the current law, Maplewood points out, the same BSE with four municipalities would have fourteen votes. (Id. at 4-5) Maplewood contends that two municipalities could still be out-voted under the current law using the Board's interpretation if two municipalities voted three each for a measure, one member of one of the municipalities' representatives voted with the majority and one member of the school board voted in the majority. (Ibid.) Thus, two municipalities would be taxed without their consent, which, Maplewood asserts, is the situation the Legislature sought to avoid by changing the statute. Id. at 4-6)

Finally, Maplewood takes issue with the Board's claim that past practice is critical in interpreting the statute, averring, inter alia, that the cases upon which the Board relies are those involving administrative agencies, not elected governmental agencies like a BSE, and arguing that an elected body's incorrect interpretation does not change what the Legislature enacted. (Id. at 6)

N.J.S.A. 18A:22-5 and the parties' positions on the meaning of the language therein have been thoroughly and thoughtfully reviewed by the Deputy Commissioner to whom this matter has been delegated for decision, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:4-33. Initially, the Deputy Commissioner reiterates that the parties concede that N.J.S.A. 18A:22-26 requires that a majority of the full membership of the BSE must vote affirmatively to pass a measure and the only issue is the secondary majority requirement the Legislature set forth at N.J.S.A. 18A:22-5:

> When it is required by law that any action shall be taken by at least a majority of the full membership of the board of school estimate, such majority must include a majority of the members, representing the respective municipal governing bodies and the action shall be certified accordingly.

In viewing this statute's plain meaning and in light of the Legislature's Statement accompanying the laws of 1933, c. 232, the Deputy Commissioner construes N.J.S.A. 18A:22-5 as mandating that a majority of all of the representative members of the municipalities is required to pass any resolution, e.g., in this instance, at least four of the six members representing the two municipalities. In so determining, the Deputy Commissioner observes that, when N.J.S.A. 18A:22-5 was changed in 1933 to expand the number of municipal representatives from two to three for each municipality, the Legislative Statement indicated that the intent was to provide greater representation and voting power to the municipalities and to require a majority vote of the aggregate voting municipal members, specifically stating that "[t]his bill gives greater representation and voting power on the board of school estimate to the governing bodies of each of the municipalities with said district and requires that at least a majority of the representatives of the municipal governing bodies shall approve the budget." (emphasis supplied) If the Legislature had intended the revised statute to require separate majorities from each of the municipal governing bodies' representatives as petitioner contends, it is reasonably inferred that specific references to such separate majorities would have appeared in the revised statute and in the Legislature's Statement as this requirement would represent a significant departure from the previous requirement.

Moreover, the Deputy Commissioner finds that the use of the word "respective" in this statute is not definitive so as to require a separate majority requirement for each of the municipalities, but, instead, is simply used to differentiate and emphasize that a majority of the aggregate municipal members is required in addition to a majority of the full membership. Additionally, the representative scheme set forth in N.J.S.A. 18A:22-5 to assure that municipalities will not be taxed without representation is entirely consistent with that established for regional school districts where the total vote of the entire regional district is counted without regard to municipal boundaries in determining the result of an election or the passage of a school budget. See N.J.S.A. 18A:13-5.

Accordingly, the Deputy Commissioner finds that N.J.S.A. 18A:22-5 mandates that, when it is required by law that any action shall be taken by at least a majority of the full membership of the BSE, both a majority of the full membership including the Board's representatives and a majority of all of the representative members of the municipalities is required.[2]

Record Closed: March 17, 2005 Decided: March 30, 2005

BEFORE DOUGLAS H. HURD, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

This matter was remanded to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) on March 17, 2005, for further proceedings consistent with the Commissioner's March 10, 2005 Order.

The parties agreed to a settlement in the original matter (EDU 4860-04) and the undersigned rendered an Initial Decision Settlement on January 27, 2005. However, this Stipulation of Settlement and Release which was attached to the January 27, 2005 Initial Decision Settlement did not include a Board Resolution. For this reason, the mater was remanded to the undersigned.

On March 15, 2005, the undersigned received the Board's resolution, which is attached and fully incorporated herein. However, the record closed on the March 17, 2005, the date the matter was transmitted, since the March 15, 2005 receipt of the Resolution preceded OAL's receipt of the remanded case file.

I have reviewed the record and the terms of the resolution and I FIND:

1. The parties have voluntarily agreed to the settlement as evidenced by their signatures or their representatives' signatures.

2. The settlement fully disposes of all issues in controversy and is consistent with the law.

I CONCLUDE that this agreement meets the requirements of N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1 and that the settlement should be approved. I approve the settlement and therefore ORDER that the parties comply with the settlement terms and that these proceedings be concluded.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Agency Ref. No.: 144-4/04

Dear Judge Hurd:

As you know, this matter was remanded to Your Honor because we neglected to provide the Commissioner with a certified copy of the Board Resolution approving the settlement and authorizing the Board President and Interim Board Secretary/Business Administration to execute the Agreement on behalf of the Board.

Accordingly, I am enclosing herewith a certified copy of the Board Resolution. In addition, although the Commissioner's decision states that it has to be executed by the Board's attorney, I conferred with the Department of Education and they informed me that the Agreement does not have to be signed by the undersigned so long as the subject Resolution is provided.

Thank you for your consideration.

Respectfully,

XVI. PUBLIC ADDRESS

Mr. Mikorksi asked what does a Budget mean? He read Dr. Rosado's cover memos on the Budget presentation to the public and pointed out several areas of concern and areas that should have been included, such as Capital outlay, surplus usage and textbook lease.

Mr. Davis said we were aware of $900,000 budgeted for surplus, but we were not aware that we needed to use the remaining $680,000 to offset shortfalls in the Budget. He also explained the need for the district to go for five-year leases for purchases such as copy machines, busses, equipment, etc., since the cost will be too high to be paid in one year and must be spread over five years.

Civil Action

STIPULATION OF SETTLEMENT AND RELEASE

This Stipulation of Settlement is made by and between the South Plainfield Board of Education ("Board"), with administrative offices located at 125 Jackson Avenue, South Plainfield, New Jersey 07080 and Esther Baita, 3 Cooper Street, Manville, New Jersey 08835. In consideration of the mutual promises and undertakings contained in this Agreement, and for good and valuable consideration, the receipt of which is hereby acknowledged, the undersigned state:

WHEREAS, the Board has filed a Petition of Appeal with the Commissioner of Education against Ms. Baita and Mr. Natereno, jointly and severally, seeking $8,880.96 in back-tuition, plus interest, costs and counsel fees for the alleged ineligible attendance of Ms. Baita's children, B.N.H. and B.A.H., in the South Plainfield School District; and

WHEREAS, Mr. Natereno also was named as a respondent in this action for allegedly allowing his South Plainfield address to be used for the purpose of enrolling Ms. Baita's children in the District; and

WHEREAS, a hearing in this matter has been scheduled for January 26 & 27, 2005; and

WHEREAS, the parties desire amicably to resolve the matter without the necessity of further litigation;

NOW, THEREFORE, in consideration of the mutual promises and covenants contained herein, the parties agree as follows:

1. Ms. Baita will pay the Board back-tuition in the amount of $2500.00 in full and complete satisfaction of the alleged amount which is due and owing.

2. This $2500.00 tuition amount will be paid to the Board's legal counsel, Marc H. Zitomer, Esq., 10 James Street, Florham Park, New Jersey 07932, with a certified check made payable to the "South Plainfield Board of Education", by no later than June 30, 2005. If said amount is not received by the Board's legal counsel by that date, the Board will provide Ms. Baita and her legal counsel, Diane K. Smith, Esq., in writing, with a final fifteen (15) days notice period to pay the amount before the Board institutes any collection action.

3. Ms. Baita understands that if she fails to remit the agreed-upon amount by June 30, 2005, the Board will take whatever legal action is necessary to enforce this Agreement and collect the sum set forth herein.

4. Ms. Baita agrees to pay the Board's attorney's fees and costs, in addition to all collection fees, in the event that the Board must take action to collect the aforesaid sum of money.

5. Ms. Baita, in consideration of this Agreement, hereby releases the Board, individually and collectively, and its agents, servants and employees from any and all claims, causes of action, suits, actions at law and in equity, administrative proceedings, and judicial and quasi-judicial proceedings of any kind whatsoever, which have been brought, or could be brought, arising under or relating in any way to B.N.H. and B.A.H.'s attendance and subsequent removal/withdrawal from the District, now and forever, except to enforce the terms of this Settlement Agreement.

6. The Board, in consideration of this Agreement, hereby releases Ms. Baita from any and all claims, causes of action, suits, actions at law and in equity, administrative proceedings, and judicial and quasi-judicial proceedings of any kind whatsoever, which have been brought, or could be brought, arising under or relating in any way to B.N.H. and B.A.H.'s attendance and subsequent removal/withdrawal from the District, now and forever, except to enforce the terms of this Settlement Agreement.

7. Ms. Baita acknowledges that she has reviewed this agreement with independent legal counsel and that she enters into it without duress, and of her own free will and volition. She further acknowledges that she fully understands the terms of this Agreement and the duties and obligations enumerated herein.

8. The Board, in consideration of this Agreement and in full, final and complete settlement of this matter hereby withdraws, with prejudice, the above-docketed Petition of Appeal against both respondents.

9. Nothing contained in this agreement should be construed as an admission of wrongdoing by either party and neither party shall be considered a prevailing party for any reason.

10. This Agreement contains the entire Agreement between the parties, and no other representations, whether verbal or in writing shall be binding upon them.

11. All terms of this Agreement are deemed material. This document may not be altered, amended, modified or revoked except by an instrument executed in writing by the parties.

12. This Agreement is to be construed in accordance with the laws of the State of New Jersey.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the parties, or their duly authorized representatives, do set forth their hands and seal as of the date first above written.

RESPONDENT.	:

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed. Petitioners' exceptions were untimely filed and are, therefore, not considered herein.[1]

Upon review, the Commissioner concurs with the Administrative Law Judge that the consultant retained by the Board for medical review of student requests for transfer from Orchard Valley Middle School for environmental reasons was not serving as a school physician so as to require him to meet the statutory and regulatory specifications for that position. The Commissioner further concurs that petitioners have not met their burden of proving that the Board, in adopting a protocol for the handling of such requests, violated the Open Public Meetings Act, school law within the purview of the Commissioner, or its own established policies and procedures. Finally, the Commissioner concurs that he lacks jurisdiction over petitioners' claims as they relate to the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act (IDEA) and other special education law.

[1] Pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-1.4, exceptions would have been due 13 days from the April 14, 2005 mailing date of the Initial Decision. Petitioners' submission bears a face date of May 4, 2005, and was filed on May 6, 2005, with no request for extension having been made in accordance with applicable rule.

Accordingly, for the reasons expressed therein, the Initial Decision of the OAL dismissing the Petition of Appeal is adopted as the final decision in this matter.

Record Closed: March 29, 2005 Decided: April 12, 2005

BEFORE SOLOMON A. METZGER, ALJ:

This matter arises out of a petition filed with the Commissioner of Education pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-9, alleging that the Board of Education acted improperly when it adopted a certain protocol regarding student transfers, and when it hired Dr. Howard M. Sandler. The matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law as a contested case, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -12. The parties have filed cross-motions for summary decision pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5; Brill v. Guardian Life Ins. Co. of America, 142 N.J. 520 (1995).

The relevant facts are undisputed. A longstanding mold problem existed at the District's Orchard Valley Middle School, and in response to complaints the Board undertook interim remediation efforts prior to commencement of the 2004/05 school year. The District plans to replace the HVAC system in the building, which it expects will be a more permanent solution. The parties are at odds concerning the current safety of the building and a few of the parents who are petitioning here have also sought relief under the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act (IDEA), 20 USC§ 1400-87 [1]; suit has also been filed in the Superior Court.

In the spring of 2004 the Board contracted with Dr. Howard Sandler and his company, Sandler Occupational Medicine Associates, Inc. to consult regarding students seeking transfers from Orchard Valley for environmental reasons. Dr. Sandler's resume reflects an expertise in this area. On August 24, 2004, the Board adopted a protocol for evaluating such requests and Dr. Sandler was designated as the Board's consulting physician. He would review the medical records of transfer applicants, consult with their physicians, investigate student homes for air quality as necessary, and provide the Board with advice regarding the application. Dr. Sandler is not licensed in New Jersey, nor did he undergo a criminal history background check. This is the substance of the record.

Petitioners maintain initially that Dr. Sandler is serving as a school physician and as such must be licensed in New Jersey and must submit to a background check. The issue is governed by N.J.A.C. 6A:16-2.1, which outlines the role of a school physician. The regulation contemplates someone with experience in child and adolescent health that provides an array of general medical services and oversees other District health personnel. Subparagraph (b) requires a criminal history background check "on any physician before entering into an agreement for delivery of services", and subparagraph (c) requires licensure in New Jersey. It appears, however, that these restrictions are limited to school physicians and probably do not extend to consultants hired for limited purposes. Dr. Sandler, who practices in Maryland, has been given a narrow mandate, i.e., to assess students seeking transfers for environmental health reasons, largely to do with mold susceptibility. No rule has been cited that imposes like preconditions on consulting physicians.

Petitioners argue also that the Board violated the Open Public Meetings Act, N.J.S.A. 10:4-6 to -21, when it adopted the protocol in question, as it was not on the August 24, 2004 meeting agenda, citing Crifasi v. Governing Body of Oakland, 156 N.J. Super., 182 (App. Div. 1978). The holding of Crifasi, however, is that plaintiffs must establish not only the omission, but that it was intended to deceive the public. The appellate division reasoned that since no agenda is even required under the Sunshine Law, a district that happens to prepare an agenda ought not generally to be punished for omitting an item. Petitioners suggest that the Board wanted to adopt this protocol quietly on August 24, 2004. An emergent motion was to be argued the following day in Superior court on the very question of student transfers from Orchard Valley Middle School and it would be advantageous to have the protocol in place without public dissent. That the district may have wanted the protocol in place by the next day for strategic reasons is not inherently dubious and the inference sought concerning the Board's intent is largely conjecture. No transcript of the meeting was submitted.

Petitioners argue as well that adoptions customarily go through a second reading, which was not done here. However, no by-law or other governing procedure of the Board was presented, and even if second readings are typical the district may have rules governing decisions that require expedition.

Petitioners maintain finally that the protocol regarding transfers from the home school violates the IDEA, which has procedures for assessing whether a placement is appropriate. Petitioners are correct that the IDEA is centrally concerned with this theme however the protocols extend to all students in the district, not merely to classified students. Although I see no conflict on the face of it, to the extent that the protocol does not mesh with IDEA requirements, it is a matter for the pending due process proceeding.

Based on the foregoing, I CONCLUDE that the Board's August 2004 protocol adoption did not violate the Sunshine Law and that Dr. Sandler need not meet conditions established for school physicians. It is ORDERED that this petition be DISMISSED.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen (13) days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

OAL DKT. NO. EDU 6164-03
AGENCY DKT. NO. 154-5/03

RALPH McCULLOUGH,	:
PETITIONER,	:
V.	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE CITY OF TRENTON, MERCER COUNTY,	:	DECISION
RESPONDENT.	:

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed. Petitioner's exceptions and the Board's reply thereto, filed in accordance with N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4, were fully considered by the Commissioner in reaching his determination herein.

Petitioner's exceptions object, inter alia, to the Administrative Law Judge's (ALJ) interlocutory Letter Order determination of July 22, 2004 in this matter, which concluded that principles of mitigation were applicable to any back-pay award received by petitioner. Citing Goodman v. London Metals Exchange, Inc., 86 N.J. 19 (1981), he again maintains, as he did below, that because mitigation was not raised as an affirmative defense by the Board, who bears the burden of proof on this issue, or in any way addressed in any of the previous proceedings in this matter, it must be deemed waived. (Petitioner's Exceptions at pp. 1-4) Petitioner, additionally, claims entitlement to an award of interest on the monies owed him by the Board due to the protracted period of time the Board took to compensate him. (Id. at 4)

Upon his full and independent review, the Commissioner determines to adopt the Initial Decision and the ALJ's July 22, 2004 Letter Order, as modified below. Initially, the Commissioner observes that it appears that petitioner harbors a misapprehension as to how principles of mitigation affect this matter. In this regard, it is noted that petitioner claims entitlement to back-pay pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-30, which specifies:

> Any person holding office, position or employment in the public school system of the state, who shall be illegally dismissed or suspended therefrom shall be entitled to compensation for the period covered by the illegal dismissal or suspension.

The court in Mullen v. Board of Education of Jefferson Township, 81 N.J. Super. 151 (App. Div. 1963), in reviewing N.J.S.A. 18:5-49.1, the precursor to this statutory provision, found that "the Legislature must be taken as having meant that all claims made by illegally dismissed persons under [this statute] be subject to the common law rule of mitigation of damages, in light of the plain meaning carried by the word 'compensation'," such being the case because damages under this statute have been determined to be "compensatory" in nature, and, thus, an individual should not be awarded more damages than actually sustained. (at 159.) Therefore, under common law principles, petitioner here was under a duty to mitigate his damages during the period of his improper termination by making reasonable efforts to secure alternative employment, notwithstanding that he was improperly terminated from his position. See Zielenski v. Board of Education of the Town of Guttenberg, Hudson County, 1981 S.L.D. 759; White v. Township of North Bergen, 77 N.J. 538 (1978); Miele v. McGuire, 31 N.J. 339 (1960). This obligation is not predicated on any action on the part of the Board or any other individual or entity involved in adjudication of the case in chief. The record here reflects that, upon receipt of petitioner's demand for back-pay, the Board requested that he submit evidence of any and all monies he received from unemployment compensation and alternative employment during the period at issue. Such information was subsequently provided and this amount is appropriately offset from petitioner's monetary award, thereby according him the full measure of his actual damages. To find otherwise would violate public policy as petitioner would be provided compensation in excess of his economic loss at public expense. However, while it is without question that the amount of petitioner's award here must be reduced by his actual earnings during the time of his removal, Goodman, supra., at 36, it is, similarly, well settled that a charge of failure to mitigate is an affirmative defense and the burden to demonstrate that petitioner did not put forth reasonable efforts to secure employment during the period of his improper termination rests with the employer. With respect to such a contention, the Supreme Court in Goodman, supra, stated:

> The employer may establish a prima facie case [in this regard] by first showing that comparable employment opportunities were available and, if the lower sights doctrine is applicable, that there were other suitable jobs. The burden of going forward would then shift to the employee who may introduce evidence that comparable employment did not exist, that reasonable and diligent efforts on his part had not been successful, or that the circumstances did not justify acceptance of a dissimilar job. Whether the individual sought a job or not would be irrelevant in the absence of the existence of a position. So, if the proofs show that jobs were not available, if the complainant had unsuccessfully expended reasonable efforts and lowered his sights, if appropriate, no reduction in the back-pay award would be warranted. The ultimate burden of persuasion rests on the employer. (at 41)

Under the facts in this matter, the Board did not plead, nor was it required to plead, failure to mitigate as such a contention was not at issue herein.

Turning to calculation of damages actually due petitioner in this matter, the Commissioner finds that clarification is necessary here as the Initial Decision is replete with mathematical inaccuracies and inconsistencies. The instant record establishes the following:

> The contracted salary for petitioner's position during the time of his improper termination was:
>
> 1999-2000 school year - $22,698
> 2000/2001 school year - $24,100
> July 1, 2001 – January 15, 2002 - $15,801.92[1]
> For a total of $62,599.92
>
> From this amount should be deducted $30,680.58[2] for actual wages earned by petitioner during this period and $6,725 in unemployment compensation he received,[3] leaving a balance of $25,194.34. The Board previously issued a check to petitioner in the amount of $22,554.79, leaving a remaining unpaid back-pay balance of $2,639.55, minus required employment deductions.
> Additionally, petitioner was entitled to a refund, in the amount of $1,987.86 for certain out-of-pocket costs incurred ($1,537.80 medical and dental insurance, $393.06 for prescriptions and $57.00 for medical payments). The Board has previously tendered a check to petitioner in full satisfaction of his $1,987.86 out-of-pocket costs.

Finally, the Commissioner finds that the instant record provides no showing that the criteria for the award of pre and/or post-judgment interest pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.17 have been satisfied, in that there has been no showing of bad faith as a result of the Board's denial of petitioner's claims or a deliberate violation of a statute or a rule. Rather, the denial of the full extent of the back-pay award on the part of the Board was predicated at this juncture upon a dispute over what the precise amount of the award should have been.

Accordingly, the Initial Decision of the OAL and the ALJ's July 22, 2004 Interlocutory Order are adopted, as modified herein. The Board is hereby ordered to remit to

RALPH McCULLOUGH,
Petitioner,
v.
BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE CITY OF TRENTON, MERCER COUNTY,
Respondent.

Stephen E. Klausner, Esq., for petitioner (Klausner and Hunter, attorneys)
Thomas W. Sumners, Jr., Esq., for respondent (Sumners, George and Dortch, attorneys)

Record Closed: February 8, 2005 Decided: March 29, 2005

BEFORE JEFF S. MASIN, ALJ:

Ralph McCullough filed a Verified Petition with the Commissioner of Education on May 19, 2003, seeking an order directing the respondent Trenton Board of Education to pay him back-pay for a period from July 1999 through January 2002. The claim was based upon the fact that the Board had suspended Mr. McCullough in July 1999 without pay and, as a result of a decision of the Commissioner issued on January 15, 2002, which concluded that he was a tenured employee, that suspension and any attempt to terminate him from his position as a janitor in the district could only be accomplished in accordance with the requirements of the tenure statute. The Board ultimately did file tenure charges against McCullough on February 15, 2002, and the Commissioner sustained a portion of the charges and ordered that Mr. McCullough forfeit 120 days salary. This decision was affirmed by the State Board of Education on April 2, 2003. In his Petition, Mr. McCullough claimed that the Board owed him $62,599, plus lawful interest, as well as the out-of-pocket cost for medical and dental insurance, $1,537.80, $393.06 for prescriptions and $57 for medical payments. In its answer the Board claimed that the petition was untimely filed, but it later determined not to continue this objection. The Board has also asserted that Mr. McCullough had the obligation to seek to mitigate any economic damages purportedly caused by the Board's improper suspension of him. In a Letter Order dated July 22, 2004, I rejected McCullough's claim that the failure of the administrative law judge to mention mitigation in his initial decision in the tenure case, or of the Commissioner to mention mitigation in his Final Decision in that case, precluded any claim by the Board in this case that McCullough's back-pay claim was subject to a mitigation requirement. In doing so, I also determined that Mr. McCullough's motion for summary decision had to be denied. The determination of the Board's cross-motion was held, pending further discussions by counsel in light of the holding that the subject of mitigation was not precluded from the case, and, if needed, the presentation of arguments regarding the nature of any mitigation requirement that might exist in the case.

Argument and testimony was received on December 21, 2004. Following the completion of testimony, I agreed at the request of counsel to allow until January 31 for the filing of briefs. As the question had arisen whether mitigation applied, I wrote to counsel on December 22, concerning my preliminary research into that question, citing several decisions that appeared to make it entirely clear that the Commissioner has recognized that "reasonable diligence and ordinary care" are required by one seeking to recover back-pay. Further, the case law clarified that the Commissioner understands that mitigation income can include unemployment compensation benefits, of which Mr. McCullough received $6,725 during the period for which he seeks back-pay. West Orange Supplemental Instructor's Assoc. et al., v. Bd. of Ed. of the Twsp. of West Orange, 92 N.J.A.R. 2d 287, 298. I invited any further submissions, but none were received by the end of January 2005, at which time the record was closed.

Prior to the hearing date, the Board had tendered to Mr. McCullough a check for $22,554.. It determined this amount by deducting the $30,959 gross income shown on W-2's admittedly received by Mr. McCullough for work during the period in question from the $60,230 that it contended McCullough would have earned if his employment with the Board had continued uninterrupted by the improper suspension without pay, leaving a balance of $29,279. It then deducted the $6,725 unemployment compensation from this balance. The Board does not dispute that Mr. McCullough is in fact owed this $22,554.

Mr. McCullough was a twelve-month employee. According to each party, the contracted salary for his position for the school year 1999/2000 was $22,698. For school year 2000/2001, the salary was $24,100. The parties further agreed that the contracted salary for the 2001/2002 school year was $27,390. The Board believes that the total pay for the period from July 1, 2001, through the date of the Commissioner's decision on January 15, 2002, is $13,957.63; however, Mr. McCullough believes that with shift differentials the number should be $16,075.80. Thus, the Board contends that the total wages would have been $60,230, McCullough argues for a figure of $62,592.92.

Since I CONCLUDE that the principle of mitigation of damages applies, the first element to be considered as possible mitigation is the unemployment benefits received by Mr. McCullough. As the Commissioner has said in Scott and Yarnell v. Bd. of Ed. of the City of Trenton et al., and Pupalaikis, Spagnola and Schmidt v. Bd. of Ed. Of the City of Trenton, et al, EDU 10333-96 and EDU 6748-97 (consolidated), http://www.state.nj.us/njded/legal/commissioner/2002/sep /352-02.pdf, (September 30, 2002), in the instance where an employee has received unemployment compensation and is now to receive back-pay covering a period congruent with the time for which the back-pay was received, the employee should not be unjustly enriched by receiving the same sum of money twice, once from unemployment funds and once from the Board. In Scott, the Commissioner cites numerous other decisions in which both the Commissioner and the State Board have directed an offset of the amount of back-pay awarded to an employee by the amount of unemployment compensation received. Therefore, I CONCLUDE that mitigation is appropriately required, and the Board should also not be unjustly enriched. It must pay back the mitigation amount to the unemployment system. Thus, it is ORDERED that Mr. McCullough's back-pay award will be offset by $6,725, and the Board is to remit that amount to the unemployment system.

The remaining topic for discussion relates to the various jobs that Mr. McCullough held while he was suspended from his job with the respondent during the period from July 1999 through January 2002. From the record it appears that in 1999 he did not receive any income from any employment after he was suspended, receiving instead only the unemployment benefits previously addressed. In 2000 and 2001, he was employed at various jobs. In determining how these earnings should be treated for mitigation purposes, questions can arise as to how to treat monies earned in employment that occurred during the same hours as the employment from which McCullough was improperly suspended as well as monies earned in jobs that did not fully, or even partially, overlap with the hours he worked for the Trenton Board. Issues of how to mitigate earnings are fact sensitive, but a good guide to how to treat earnings appears to be set forth in the rules governing Merit System Board cases, which rule, while not binding in this education case, is nevertheless a helpful guide. That rule, N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.10(d)3, provides that

> The award of back pay shall be reduced by the amount of money which was actually earned or could have been earned during the separation. If an employee also held other employment at the time of the adverse action, the earnings from such other employment shall not be deducted from the back pay. However, if the employee increased his or her work hours at the other employment during the back pay period, earnings from such additional hours shall be subtracted from the back pay award.

In this case, the evidence does not show that Mr. McCullough was otherwise employed in 1999 when he was suspended. He later became employed in 2000. Applying the principles of N.J.A.C. 4A:2.10(d)3 to this case makes sense. The logic of its analysis of how to treat earnings is perfectly reasonable. Thus, since I FIND that all of McCullough's earnings in 2000 and 2001 constitute earnings from positions that he did not hold when suspended and since his earnings at the time just before suspension were all from his Trenton Board of Education position, all of the 2000 and 2001 earnings should be treated as mitigation income. These earnings total $30,959. This total shall be deducted from the total earnings that McCullough would have received had he remained employed with the Board from his 1999 suspension through January 2002. Combined with the unemployment benefits, the total mitigating income is $37,684.

As noted, there is a difference between the Board's conception of how much McCullough would have earned and what he thinks he would have earned. The difference between these figures, $16,75.80 versus $13,57.63, is $2,118.17. Mr. McCullough said that this difference represented shift differentials and the Board did not present anything to refute that such differentials would have applied. The proofs on this point are slender, but I FIND that McCullough's unchallenged version seems credible. Thus, deducting the mitigation total of $37,684 from the total lost earnings of $62,592 leaves a difference of $24,915. To this should be added certain out-of-pocket expenses, including $1,537.80 for medical and dental insurance, $393.06 for prescriptions and $57 for medical payments, totaling $26,902.86. The Board previously tendered checks to Mr. McCullough through his attorney, one for $22,554.79, minus appropriate employment deductions, and one for $1,987.86 for out-of-pocket expenses. The Board is therefore ORDERED to forward the remaining unpaid back-pay of $2360.21, minus required employment deductions.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen (13) days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

Re: Ralph McCullough v. Board of Education of the City of Trenton, Mercer County
OAL DKT. NO. EDU 06164-03
AGENCY DKT. NO. 154-5/03

Dear Counsel:

This matter was opened to the Office of Administrative Law following its transmission from the Commissioner of Education as a contested case. The dispute arises in connection with a petition filed by Mr. McCullough seeking payment of monies purportedly due to him from his employer, the Board of Education, for a period of time between his termination from service with the Board on June 30, 1999 through January 22, 2002, the date of an order from the Commissioner of Education which rejected an initial decision issued by an Administrative Law Judge that had determined that the petitioner had not obtained tenure. As a result of that decision, tenure charges were then filed against the petitioner. These charges led to an ultimate determination by the Commissioner, suspending the petitioner for a period of 120 days without pay.

In his motion for summary decision, Mr. McCullough argues that in neither Administrative Law Judge Martone's July 22, 2002 initial decision suspending Mr. McCullough for 90 days without pay, nor the Commissioner of Education's final decision on November 6, 2002, which extended that suspension without pay from 90 days to 120 days, nor in the State Board of Education's affirmance of the Commissioner's Final Decision, did any of those ruling upon the tenure charges ever address the issue of mitigation of damages. As such, Mr. McCullough contends that, to the extent the Board of Education seeks to limit the amount of back pay for any period of time due to Mr. McCullough, the Board has waived any claim for mitigation. Thus, he is due $62,599, plus interest.

In response to this motion, the Board filed a cross motion for summary judgment, claiming that the petitioner is only entitled to retroactive wages totaling $22,554.79. This figure purportedly represents back pay due after applying mitigation.

Counsel for Mr. McCullough is correct that in Judge Martone's Initial Decision he ordered only that "the appropriate penalty to be imposed upon respondent (McCullough) for the finding of guilty as to the tenure charge of unbecoming conduct is a 90-day suspension." It is additionally correct that neither the Commissioner's decision or the State Board of Education's decision addresses the issue of mitigation. The Commissioner's decision specifically modified Judge Martone's recommended order and provides, "accordingly, the Commissioner finds that a portion of charge V as set forth herein, is sustained and orders that respondent shall forfeit his 120 days salary already withheld pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-14." In support of his motion counsel argues that under Hackensack v. Winner, 82 N.J. 42-43 (1980), the single controversy rule is applicable to administrative proceedings and that it is therefore appropriate in some situations to apply such rule. He argues that the Board had its "chance to litigate the issue of mitigation in the prior proceeding. The issue of mitigation was part of its burden of proof. He chose not to litigate that issue." In support of his allegation regarding the burden of proof, he cites Goodman v. London Metal Exchange, 86 N.J. 19 (1981), in which the Supreme Court held that "mitigation, including the lower sights principle, is an affirmative defense and the burden of proving the appropriateness of its application rests on the wrongdoer, in this case, the employer."

Goodman was a civil rights proceeding in which the respondent was charged with violating Mr. Goodman's civil rights and was determined to have engaged in wrongdoing. In such a case, to the extent that the petitioner sought damages against the respondent for violations of his civil rights, the respondent clearly had reason to affirmatively defend against both the allegation that such violations occurred as well as the claim as to the amount of damages that should be recovered by the petitioner if the violations were proven. However, in the case of Mr. McCullough and the tenure proceeding, it is hardly fair to characterize the Board of Education as the "wrongdoer." In the tenure proceeding, the Board, as the petitioner, charged that Mr. McCullough had violated the standards that apply to a tenured employee and sought his removal. Clearly, the Board was not seeking damages against the respondent, who instead was defending against the charges, seeking to preserve his job status, and, only to the extent that he was successful in his defense, seeking to obtain any monetary recovery from the Board in respect to back pay. While it is certainly true that the Board of Education might have requested of Judge Martone that, if he were to determine that the charges against Mr.

McCullough had not been sustained, or were sustained but did not support removal of tenure as opposed to a suspension, the judge should then order that any damages be paid to Mr. McCullough be mitigated. However, it appears that the issue of mitigation was not raised, and when Judge Martone imposed a penalty upon Mr. McCullough, who surely was the wrongdoer in the case, he did not mention anything with respect to whether back pay was subject to mitigation. Indeed, when, after the completion of review proceedings, Mr. McCullough made a demand on the Board of Education for what he believed to be the full amount of money owed to him as back pay, the Board responded and discussions ensued to attempt to resolve the issues in dispute. A petition was ultimately filed with the Commissioner seeking payment for the period between McCullough's termination and the Commissioner's decision finding that Mr. McCullough had acquired tenure. In response to that claim, the Board contends that the total amount of money must be reduced by appropriate mitigation.

Under the circumstances of this case, I do not believe that the Board should be prevented from seeking mitigation simply because the decisions in the previous matter failed to identify whether damages should be mitigated. Unlike Goodman, where respondent could have raised an affirmative defense to his claim for damages by arguing for mitigation, in the tenure matter the Board, as petitioner, certainly had no obligation to identify affirmative defenses. Thus, while it might well have been appropriate for those who decided the disputes to have addressed the mitigation issue, they did not do so, but that fact does not mean that a proceeding to determine the appropriate amount of back pay in any way interferes with, or in any way overrules, the decisions entered by the judge, the Commissioner or the State Board. It is common enough in proceedings of this type, where, following the issuance of the decision on the merits of underlying disciplinary charges, disputes arise over the amount of back pay due, for there first to be negotiations between the parties and then, if such negotiation are unable to resolve the matter, for the matter to be decided either directly by the agency head upon the presentation of affidavits, or where necessary, by reference to the Office of Administrative Law.

For the reasons expressed, the motion for summary decision filed by Mr. McCullough is denied. With respect to the cross motion for summary decision, the determination on that subject will be withheld pending consultation with counsel as to whether, in light of this decision, agreement can be reached on the amount of back pay and, if not, until the presentation of such arguments as would be necessary on the exact nature of any legally mandated mitigation that may apply.

This order may be reviewed by the Commissioner of the Board of Education either upon interlocutory review pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-14.10 or at the end of the contested case, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.6.

NEW JERSEY STATE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, OFFICE OF COMPLIANCE INVESTIGATION,	:
RESPONDENT.	:

SYNOPSIS

Petitioning private school for the disabled appealed the Department's determination to disallow certain pension costs within the tuition rate charged to public school districts during the 2001-2002 and 2002-03 school years, the first as the result of an audit and the second as a prospective directive. The school contended that the costs at issue, which represented employer contributions to the pensions of certain employees over and above the level of contributions made on behalf of all others, were not a fringe benefit, but a legitimate means, acceptable under federal tax law, of compensating higher-paid employees for the proportionally smaller value of their social security payments.

The ALJ recommended dismissal of the petition, concurring with the Department that the disputed costs were properly disallowed under applicable State Board of Education rules for determining private school tuition charged to public school districts. The ALJ found retirement plans to be a fringe benefit within the meaning of the controlling rules, so that petitioner's pension plan was subject to the rule requiring "equitable distribution" and failed to meet that standard because it had the effect of favoring a few select employees over all others.

The Commissioner adopted the findings and conclusions of the Initial Decision and dismissed the Petition of Appeal.

Y.A.L.E. SCHOOL NORTH, INC.,	:
PETITIONER,	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
V.	:	DECISION
NEW JERSEY STATE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, OFFICE OF COMPLIANCE INVESTIGATION,	:
RESPONDENT.	:

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed. Pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4, petitioner filed exceptions to which respondent (the Department) duly replied.

In its exceptions, petitioner urges the Commissioner to reject the Initial Decision in its entirety. Arguments on exception primarily take issue with the Administrative Law Judge's (ALJ) conclusion that its pension plan, although permissible under the Employment Retirement Income Security Act and the Internal Revenue Code, did not reflect an "equitable standard of distribution" satisfying the requirements of N.J.A.C. 6A:23-4.5(a)23(i) because it provided for larger employer contributions to the pensions of certain highly paid employees than to the remainder. Petitioner contends that, in reaching this conclusion, the ALJ confused "equitable" with "equal," erroneously rejecting petitioner's plan because it did not treat all employees exactly alike, when he should have accepted it as a just means of compensating higher-income employees for the smaller proportional value of their employer pension contributions; according to petitioner, by effectively precluding fringe benefits that recognize the value of employees based on the nature and extent of their duties, the ALJ's interpretation of N.J.A.C. 6A:23-4.5(a)23(i) will "significantly undermine the ability of private schools for the disabled to attract and maintain capable and experienced supervisory and administrative personnel." (Petitioner's Exceptions at 2-4, quotation at 4) Additionally, petitioner asks for an explicit legal finding that its pension plan satisfies the requirements of N.J.A.C. 6A:23-4.5(a)31, a conclusion which, petitioner contends, the ALJ inferred but did not expressly state. (Id. At 2)

In reply, the Department contends that a finding with respect to N.J.A.C. 6A:23-4.5(a)31 is immaterial, since petitioner has failed to satisfy the conditions of N.J.A.C. 6A:23-4.5(a)23(i), and compliance with both is necessary in order for the disputed costs to be allowable. The Department further counters that the ALJ did not reject petitioner's pension plan because its employer contributions were not equally distributed, but because its standard of distribution effectively favored a select few employees over all others, a result that cannot be characterized as "just." Finally, the Department rejects petitioner's argument with respect to the ability of private schools for the disabled to attract and retain competent employees, noting that the rule in question is restrictive only in the sense that it limits the amount of money such schools may charge sending public school districts to those costs which are "determined in a reasonable manner." (Department's Reply Exceptions at 1-4, quotation at 4)

Upon careful and independent review, the Commissioner concurs with the analysis and conclusions of the Initial Decision.

Initially, the Commissioner concurs that, regardless of how they may be categorized in other contexts, within the context of State Board of Education rules controlling the operation of private schools for the disabled, N.J.A.C. 6A:23-4.1 et seq., pension plans are clearly considered fringe benefits, and as such are subject to the requirements of N.J.A.C. 6A:23-4.5(a)23. As it existed during the time pertinent to this matter, N.J.A.C. 6A:23-4.4(f) expressly required private schools for the disabled to establish and maintain employee handbooks containing "an outline of all employee fringe benefits that shall include: health insurance coverage, life insurance, type(s) and qualification for pension(s) and sick day benefits" (emphasis supplied). This list remains the core of the expanded list contained in the rule currently in effect, and the policy underlying N.J.A.C. 6A:23-4.4(f) has been additionally emphasized by subsequent amendment to N.J.A.C. 6A:23-4.5(a)31 specifically linking pension plans to the requirements of the fringe benefit rule. Furthermore, the Commissioner is not persuaded by petitioner's argument to the effect that, because pension plans are specifically addressed by N.J.A.C. 6A:23-4.5(a)31, the State Board did not intend them to be additionally subject to other applicable provisions of N.J.A.C. 6A:23-4.5(a): Then and now, fringe benefits addressed by specific sections of rule in addition to N.J.A.C. 6A:23-4.5(a)23 also include life insurance (N.J.A.C. 6A:23-4.5(a)22) and retiree health benefits (N.J.A.C. 6A:23-4.5(a)56).

The Commissioner further concurs that petitioner's pension plan fails to meet the "equitable standard of distribution" requirement of N.J.A.C. 6A:23-4.5(a)23(i) because of the manner in which employees of different salary levels are treated with respect to employer pension contributions. While petitioner's plan might well be acceptable in some contexts, within the sole context at issue here—implementation of State Board rules for determining the amount of tuition private schools for the disabled may charge to public school districts—the Commissioner cannot find that the Department's judgment was unsound as a matter of law or policy. Petitioner's plan clearly has the effect of favoring a small number of highly paid employees, so that the Department's determination to disallow the tuition costs resulting from that disparity falls well within both the rule's requirement for equitable distribution and its intent to ensure reasonability of charges to public school districts; moreover, it is entirely consistent with current State Board policy on this issue, as reflected in the amendment to N.J.A.C. 6A:23-4.5(a)23(i), adopted in August 2004, expressly prohibiting distribution of fringe benefits by class of employee. [1]

Accordingly, for the reasons set forth therein and above, the Commissioner adopts the Initial Decision of the OAL, dismissing the Petition of Appeal, as the final decision in this matter.

SYNOPSIS

Petitioner alleged that the Board violated N.J.S.A. 18A:42-4 when it included an article promoting the passage of the District's budget in the monthly newsletter given to students to take home. Petitioner sought an order for the Board to cease and desist distributing literature that promotes any public question to students.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: 1) there are no genuine issues of material fact; 2) the newsletter in question did contain language that violated N.J.S.A. 18A:42-4; and 3) there is a lack of proof in the record to satisfy the requirement for the issuance of a cease and desist order. The ALJ concluded that respondent Board's motion for summary decision should be granted, and that petitioner's request for a cease and desist order should be denied, and the petition dismissed.

The Commissioner adopts the findings and determination in the Initial Decision, emphasizing that the petitioner has failed to demonstrate the likelihood that the Board will violate statute and/or policy through the distribution of election materials to students. Therefore, no justification for issuance of a cease and desist order exists. Summary judgment is granted to the Board, and the petition is dismissed.

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law have been reviewed. No exceptions were filed by the parties.

Upon a careful and independent review of the record in this matter, the Commissioner concurs with the grant of the Board's motion for summary decision in that there are no material facts in dispute and the Board is entitled to prevail as a matter of law. See N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(b) and Contini, supra. In so determining, the Commissioner finds that petitioner has failed to demonstrate any likelihood that the Board will violate statute and/or policy through the distribution of election materials to students so as to justify the issuance of a cease and desist order.

Accordingly, the Initial Decision of the Administrative Law Judge, which grants the Board's motion for summary decision, denies petitioner's request for a cease and desist order and dismisses the within petition, is adopted for the reasons expressed therein.

ANDREA M. BONETTE,
Petitioner,
v.
BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE TOWNSHIP OF EAST AMWELL HUNTERDON COUNTY,
Respondent.

Andrea M. Bonette, petitioner pro se

Vittorio S. LaPira, Esq., for respondent (Fogarty & Hara, attorneys)

Record Closed: February 22, 2005 Decided: April 5, 2005

BEFORE JOSEPH F. MARTONE, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

This matter involves the question whether the remedy of a cease and desist order should issue based on petitioner's claim that respondent board of education violated N.J.S.A. 18A:42-4, which forbids such boards from distributing literature to pupils that favor or oppose, among other things, the adoption of the school budget. Petitioner filed her Verified Petition of Appeal with the Commissioner on April 29, 2004. The Board filed an Answer to the Verified Petition of Appeal on May 19, 2004. By letter dated June 10, 2004, the Director of the Bureau of Controversies and Disputes indicated to Petitioner that much of the relief she was seeking in her Verified Petition of Appeal could not be granted, and that the "sole relief obtainable from the Commissioner is . . .

an order for the Board to cease and desist distribution of literature as to candidacy, bond issues or other public questions to any school pupil." The Director requested petitioner to advise whether she wished to proceed on this limited basis. By letter dated June 17, 2004, petitioner confirmed that she wished to do so. The matter was then transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) on July 23, 2004, for hearing as a contested case. The matter was assigned to me on August 9, 2004, and I scheduled the matter for hearing to be held on May 3, 2005.

Telephone conferences were held on September 23, 2004, October 12, 2004, and December 1, 2004, in order to discuss certain procedural issues and to explore the possibility of settlement. When settlement efforts were not successful, attorney for respondent filed a motion for summary decision with a supporting certification and brief, and petitioner responded thereto. After the receipt of a reply letter-brief, the record with respect to the motion closed on February 22, 2005.

FACTUAL DISCUSSION

Respondent submitted the Certification of Edward Stoloski, respondent's Superintendent of Schools (R-2), in support of its motion for summary decision. Petitioner did not submit a responding certification. However, in her Memorandum of Opposition to the Respondent's Motion for Summary Decision (P-1), petitioner stated her position is that while the facts presented in respondent's submissions are essentially, technically correct, there are a number of other relevant facts and clarifications which indicate the appropriateness of injunctive relief. As a result, the following factual discussion is based on Superintendent Stoloski's Certification as clarified by petitioner's Memorandum of Opposition.

Respondent is the Board of Education of the Township of East Amwell, Hunterdon County, and is a public body organized pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:10-1et seq. to govern the school district of the Township of East Amwell. (R-2, ¶1.)

The respondent publishes a monthly school newsletter entitled The Cougar Courier, which presents, among other things, news detailing student achievements, school-sponsored events, field trips, notes from board meetings, and the cafeteria menu. The Cougar Courier is distributed to all school district pupils for them to take home to their parent(s) or guardian(s). In addition, courtesy copies of The Cougar Courier are hand delivered to the Township offices and the post office. (R-2, ¶2.)

In March 2004, Jim Davidson, the President of a group named "Support Our Kids" expressed to the Superintendent a desire to write an article for The Cougar Courier in order to increase voter participation in the annual school election to be held on April 20, 2004. (R-2, ¶3.) Some time before April 1, 2004, Mr. Davidson submitted the article he wrote for inclusion in The Cougar Courier, which was ultimately included on page two in the April 1, 2004 edition thereof. (R-2, ¶4.) On April 1, 2004, school district teachers distributed approximately 300 copies of the April 1 edition of The Cougar Courier (R-2, Exhibit 1) to school district pupils, and a limited number of courtesy copies were hand delivered to the post office and the Township offices. (R-2, ¶5.)

On the evening of April 20, 2004, the date of the annual school election, the Superintendent learned that petitioner Andrea M. Bonette had complained to the Board regarding an article contained in the The Cougar Courier of April 1, 2004, that she felt was inappropriate. (R-2, ¶6.)

Petitioner asserts in her clarification that she personally complained about the article to Charles Miller, Board President, and that while she cannot recall Mr. Miller's exact response, it assuredly did not indicate any particular concern on his part, and definitely did not indicate any intention of his taking action to rectify the matter. In fact, no action was taken by the respondent until after her petition was filed on May 3, 2004. (P-1.)

In his Certification, Mr. Stoloski states that on the following day, upon further review of the article authored by Mr. Davidson, he realized that the article, which he understood was being written simply to increase voter participation in the school election, could be read as advocating the passage of the 2004-2005 school budget. The Superintendent acknowledges that it was an oversight on his part and that he regrets the error. (R-2, ¶7.)

On May 21, 2004, the respondent mailed a corrective letter to all 1,381 registered voters in the Township of East Amwell (R-2, Exhibit 2), explaining that it had inadvertently allowed the article to be published in The Cougar Courier. The Board stated that it should not have published the article, that it regretted that the content of the article was not more carefully scrutinized, and stated that the Board and the Administration would review its policies to prevent any future occurrences similar to the above. (R-2, ¶8.)

Petitioner submitted the clarification that on May 3, 2004, she filed a petition for relief against the individuals who were responsible for the inclusion of admittedly illegal literature in The Cougar Courier newsletter in order that they be held accountable for this wrongful act. The petitioner further asserts that Mr. Stoloski contacted petitioner between May 3 and May 21, 2004. On May 21, 2004, respondent mailed its own version of a corrective letter to all registered voters, not the one recommended by petitioner. (P-1.)

In her clarification, petitioner states that when Mr. Stoloski contacted petitioner, he asked if she would consider withdrawing her petition if the board sent a corrective letter, and petitioner offered to do so on the condition that the corrective letter include the statement from the article about "people who don't have children in the school." (P-1.)

In her clarification, petitioner states that she has repeatedly stated that any such corrective letter would need to go beyond that of the respondent. The article included the statement that "As parents we cannot allow people who do not have children in the school to dictate their education." This is the statement that petitioner finds particularly offensive and deleterious to the proper functioning of the democratic electoral process as a blatant attempt to disenfranchise a large segment of the voting population of East Amwell Township. Petitioner disagrees with the position of attorney for respondent that it would not be appropriate for respondent to include this information in the corrective letter, and contends that at a time in our history when property taxes are of enormous concern, it is anathema to the public interest for a public entity to express any intention of disenfranchising voters. (P-1.)

Since that time, the Superintendent has reviewed the policies and regulations governing the distribution of literature to pupils (R-2, Exhibit 3). The board has both a policy and a regulation stating that it will not distribute literature to students that advocates the passage of the school budget (R-2, ¶9).

Respondent states that since April 1, 2004, it has not distributed any literature to pupils that promotes, favors or opposes the candidacy of any candidate for reelection and an annual school election, or the adoption of any bond issue, proposal, or any public question submitted at any general, municipal or school election (R-2, ¶10).

Petitioner does not dispute that respondent has had, for some time, a policy addressing this issue. However, her objection is that even though there has been a policy, this is not the first time the Board has violated its own policy. Petitioner refers to Pursell v. East Amwell Board of Education, OAL Dkt. No. EDU 951-98 (P-1, Exhibit B), and contends that in that matter, school personnel allowed a resident, James Davidson, to mail a flier to advocate a position on a school election. The decision of the Commissioner in that matter was that the petition could not be considered because it had not been timely filed. Petitioner acknowledges that the merits of the petition in Pursell had not been adjudicated. (P-1.)

Petitioner additionally relies upon Superintendent Stoloski's response to interrogatories wherein he states that there is no official board policy specifically covering the content of The Cougar Courier, and this seems to contradict his certification in which he says the Board policy is that no such advocacy literature can be distributed. Petitioner contends that unless respondent agrees that it had a policy prohibiting distribution of the advocacy material and that it violated this policy twice, there is a question of fact regarding these issues. (P-1.)

LEGAL DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS

This matter involves the question whether the remedy of a cease and desist order should be made available based on petitioner's claim that respondent board of education has violated N.J.S.A. 18A:42-4, which forbids such boards from distributing literature to pupils that favor or oppose, among other things, the adoption of the school budget. Respondent Board of Education of the Township of East Amwell, Hunterdon County, asserts that there is no further relief that the Commissioner can or should grant to the petitioner in this matter. The respondent asserts that it has already issued a corrective letter to all of the registered voters apologizing for its inadvertent distribution of the literature in question, and that it will review its policies to prevent any future occurrences. It is the respondent's position that, in light of the steps that it has taken to remediate the problem, no further relief should be granted and that summary decision should be granted in respondent's favor.

N.J.S.A. 18A:42-4 provides:

> No literature which in any manner and in any part thereof promotes, favors or opposes the candidacy of any candidate for election at any annual school election, or the adoption of any bond issue, proposal, or any public question submitted at any general, municipal or school election shall be given to any public school pupil in any public school building or on the grounds thereof for the purpose of having such pupil take the same to his home or distribute it to any person outside of said building or grounds, nor shall any pupil be requested or directed by any official or employee of the public schools to engage in any activity which tends to promote, favor or oppose any such candidacy, bond issue, proposal, or public question. The board of education of each school district shall prescribe necessary rules to carry out the purposes of this section.

A cease and desist order is in the nature of a restraining order or injunction, and is a court or agency order prohibiting a person from continuing a particular course of conduct. See, Black's Law Dictionary (7th Ed., 1999). Respondent argues that based on the language in Options v. Lawson, 287 N.J. Super. 209, 218 (App. Div. 1996), there is no basis to issue a cease and desist order in the within matter because there are no facts that point to a cognizable danger of recurrent violations of N.J.S.A. 18A:42-4.

The Options case involved an action by an abortion facility for an injunction restricting protest activities of abortion opponents near the facility. The Appellate Division remanded the matter to the trial court for further proceedings, indicating that any such injunction must be based on findings that health and safety have been threatened because it involves balancing the restrictions against citizens' constitutional rights.

Several earlier cases give guidance with respect to the issuance of injunctions. In N.J. State Bar Assn. V. Northern N.J. Mtg. Associates, 55 N.J. Super. 230 (Ch. Div. 1959), affirmed in part, reversed in part, 32 N.J. 430, the plaintiff continued its request for injunctive relief against the defendants that had engaged in the unauthorized practice of law, despite the fact that they had been dissolved and were no longer in existence. The Court stated:

> An injunction may issue to prevent an anticipated or threatened injury, either to protect against a repetition of unlawful conduct or to guard against reasonably apprehended misconduct or infringement of legal right. With the dissolution of the original defendants, there can be no anticipated or threatened future injury, nor any repetition of the former unlawful conduct, nor need there be any apprehension of the infringement of any legal right.

The Court went on to state that such a writ [an injunction] is a preventative remedy and not punishment for past conduct, and the moving party must satisfy the court that the relief sought is needed and that there exists some cognizable danger of recurrent violation, something more than the mere possibility which serves to keep the case alive. (Id. at 249.)

In Sheahan v. Upper Greenwood Lake, etc., Assn., 36 N.J. Super. 133 (App. Div. 1955), a dock owner sought a permanent injunction to prohibit defendant's construction of a fence intended to hamper and eventually destroy the dock owner's adjudicated right to use the dock. During the pendency of the case, the defendant made a "tardy" attempt to remove the section of the fence blocking the dock owner's access. The Court stated:

> An injunction may issue to prevent an anticipated or threatened injury, either to protect against a repetition of unlawful conduct or to guard against reasonably apprehended misconduct or infringement of legal right. [Citations omitted.] . . . An appeal to the court's discretion to withhold the injunction on the plea of > cessation of illegal conduct must be predicated upon a showing of the unlikelihood of its recurrence.

> [Id. at 136.]

The Court indicated that defendant's conduct prior to as well as during the litigation is not such as to inspire any confidence in its disposition to respect plaintiff's rights, free of the sanction of an injunction. (Ibid.)

Based on the guidance given in the foregoing cases, it is clear that the moving party, in this case the petitioner, must satisfy the requirement that the cease and desist order she is seeking is needed because there exists some cognizable danger of a recurrent violation, rather than the mere possibility of such.

Petitioner contends that she personally complained about the article to Board President Charles Miller, and that Mr. Miller's response did not indicate any particular concern on his part, and definitely did not indicate any intention of his taking action to rectify the matter. She points out that, in fact, no action was taken by the respondent until after her petition was filed on May 3, 2004.

Petitioner points out that on May 3, 2004, she filed the petition in this matter, and that Mr. Stoloski contacted petitioner between May 3 and May 21, 2004. He asked petitioner if she would consider withdrawing her petition if the Board sent a corrective letter, and petitioner offered to do so on the condition that the corrective letter include the statement from the article about "people who don't have children in the school." However, N.J.A.C. 1:1-15.10 provides, "Offers of settlement, proposals of adjustment and proposed stipulations shall not constitute an admission and shall not be admissible." I FIND that the foregoing discussion amounts to an offer of settlement and is not admissible for any purpose.

Petitioner states that she has repeatedly stated that any such corrective letter would need to go beyond the corrective letter issued by the respondent. The article included the statement that "As parents we cannot allow people who do not have children in the school to dictate their education." This is the statement that petitioner finds particularly offensive and deleterious to the proper functioning of the democratic electoral process. Petitioner refers to this as "a blatant attempt to disenfranchise a large segment of the voting population of East Amwell Township." Petitioner disagrees with the position of attorney for respondent that it would not be appropriate for respondent to include this information in the corrective letter, and contends that at a time in our history when property taxes are of enormous concern, it is anathema to the public interest for a public entity to express any intention of disenfranchising voters.

The school district has acknowledged that the foregoing language could be read as advocating the passage of the 2004-2005 budget. However, to assert that this language amounts to an attempt to disenfranchise a large segment of the voting population of East Amwell Township is an overstatement. It does not espouse the prevention of voting by people without children in school. Rather, it urges people who have children in school, i.e. parents, to get out and vote. By implication, this amounts to a call to vote by parents of schoolchildren who are more likely to approve the budget. Therefore, I FIND that this language tends to favor and promote the approval of the 2004-2005 budget in violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:42-4.

Petitioner does not dispute that respondent has had, for some time, a policy complying with the directive of N.J.S.A. 18A:42-4 requiring the board of education of each school district to prescribe necessary rules to carry out the purposes of that section. However, petitioner's objection is that even though there has been a policy, this is not the first time the Board has violated its own policy. Petitioner refers to Pursell v. East Amwell Board of Education, OAL Dkt. No. EDU 951-98, and contends that in that matter, school personnel allowed a resident, James Davidson, to mail a flier to advocate a position on a school election. However, as is correctly pointed out by petitioner, the decision of the Commissioner in that matter was that the petition could not be considered because it had not been timely filed.

I have reviewed both the Initial Decision dated October 9, 1998, and the Commissioner's Final Decision dated November 17, 1998, in Pursell. As stated by petitioner, the merits of the petition in Pursell had not been adjudicated. If there had been an adjudication that there was a prior violation of this same policy in 1997, this fact may be significant in deciding whether there should be a cease and desist order to prevent recurring violations. However, the mere filing of a petition alleging a violation of the Board's policy does not establish the fact that the policy had been violated. Additionally, I do not intend to reopen the question whether the respondent violated its policy in 1997. The time for addressing this question expired in January 1998. In the absence of an administrative or judicial adjudication on that issue, I FIND that there is no basis in the record to find that the respondent previously violated Board policy in 1997.

Petitioner additionally relies upon Superintendent Stoloski's response to interrogatories when he states that there is no official board policy specifically covering the content of The Cougar Courier, and this seems to contradict his certification in which he says the Board policy is that no such advocacy literature can be distributed. Petitioner contends that unless respondent agrees that it had a policy prohibiting distribution of the advocacy material and that it violated this policy twice, there is a question of fact regarding these issues.

I believe that petitioner has misconstrued Superintendent Stoloski's response to interrogatories when he states that there is no official board policy specifically covering the content of The Cougar Courier. I interpret this to mean that there is no official board policy which specifically names The Cougar Courier and spells out a policy covering its content. The absence of such a policy specifically covering The Cougar Courier would not contradict Superintendent Stoloski's Certification in which he says the Board's policy is that no such advocacy literature can be distributed. Therefore, I FIND that Superintendent Stoloski's response to interrogatories as contrasted to the statements contained in his Certification does not raise an issue of fact.

I also disagree with petitioner's contention that unless respondent agrees that it twice violated its policy prohibiting distribution of advocacy material, there is a question of fact regarding this issue. I have previously addressed the petitioner's assertion that there was a prior violation in 1997, holding that the time to establish that prior violation has long since expired.

Finally, petitioner asserts that at this time the respondent is in long standing violation of its formally adopted policy requiring nonresident students to pay tuition. (P-1, Exhibit C.) I FIND that this assertion is irrelevant to the question whether a cease and desist order should be issued ordering the respondent to cease the violation of the statutory prohibition against the distribution of literature as to candidacy, bond issues or other public questions to any school pupil.

I have made the following FINDINGS in this matter:

1. In the April 1, 2004 issue of a monthly school newsletter, an article set forth therein contained language which tended to favor and promote the approval of the 2004-2005 budget in violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:42-4.
2. There is no basis in the record to find that the respondent previously violated Board policy in 1997.
3. Superintendent Stoloski's response to interrogatories as contrasted to the statements contained in his Certification does not raise an issue of fact.
4. Petitioner's assertion that, at this time, the respondent is in longstanding violation of its formally adopted policy requiring nonresident students to pay tuition, is irrelevant to the question whether a cease and desist order should be issued.
5. There is a lack of proofs in the record of this matter to satisfy the requirement that the cease and desist order requested by petitioner is needed because there exists some cognizable danger of a recurrent violation, rather than the mere possibility of such.

Respondent has submitted a motion for summary decision in this matter, arguing that there are no factual disputes and that respondent is entitled to prevail on the legal issues. N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(b) sets forth the standard for summary decision by providing that it "may be rendered if . . . there is no genuine issue as to any material fact challenged and that the moving party is entitled to prevail as a matter of law." The New Jersey Supreme Court sustained the validity of N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5, "noting that it is related to and, indeed, essential to the proper conduct of administrative hearings in a contested case." Contini v. Bd. of Ed. of Newark, 286 N.J. Super. 106, 116 (App. Div. 1995).

Based upon the findings set forth above, I FIND that there are no genuine issues of material facts. I have found that there is a lack of proofs in the record of this matter to satisfy the requirement for the issuance of a cease and desist order. Therefore, I CONCLUDE that respondent's motion for summary decision should be GRANTED and that petitioner's request for a cease and desist order should be DENIED.

DECISION AND ORDER

For the reasons stated above, I hereby ORDER that respondent's motion for summary decision is hereby GRANTED, that petitioner's request for a cease and desist order is hereby DENIED and the petition is hereby DISMISSED.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen (13) days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

SYNOPSIS

Petitioner filed a Pro Se Residency Appeal challenging the Board's residency determination that two of her children, E.O. and R.O., are not eligible for a free education in the Borough of Clementon School District. Petitioner contended that she has custody of her three children, all of whom are domiciled with her in Clementon. Respondent Board filed an answer to the petition, and submitted a cross petition for payment of tuition for E.O. and R.O.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: based on credible evidence and testimony presented by respondent Board, E.O. and R.O. reside with their father in Maple Shade; petitioner has failed to sustain her burden of proof in this matter; and petitioner is liable to the Board for tuition in the amount of $46.02 per day per child for the period of E.O. and R.O.'s ineligible attendance during the 2004-05 school year. Therefore, the ALJ ordered that: the petitioner's appeal be dismissed; D.O. remove her children, E.O. and R.O., from Clementon Elementary School; and D.O. shall pay tuition to respondent Board for the period of their ineligible attendance, in the amount of $6,810.96, plus $46.02 per day per child for each day E.O. and R.O. continue attendance as non-resident students beyond March 1, 2005.

Upon careful and independent review of the record, the Commissioner adopted the conclusions of the ALJ in this matter, emphasizing that, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10(c), the ALJ's credibility determinations are entitled to the Commissioner's deference. Accordingly, the Initial Decision is adopted for the reasons expressed therein.

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed. The parties did not file exceptions.

Upon a careful and independent review of the record in this matter, and mindful that the Administrative Law Judge's (ALJ) credibility determinations are entitled to the Commissioner's deference, N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10(c), the Commissioner determines to adopt the ALJ's conclusion that petitioner has failed to carry her burden of proof that her children were entitled to a free public education in the Clementon School District during the period at issue in the 2004-05 school year. The Commissioner further agrees with the grant of the Board's counterclaim for tuition in the amount of $6,810.96 for the 74 days that E.O. and R.O. illegally attended school in the District from October 26, 2004 through March 1, 2005 and $46.02 per day, per child, for each day of attendance as non-resident students after March 1, 2005.

Accordingly, the Initial Decision is adopted for the reasons expressed therein.

Record Closed: March 8, 2005 Decided: April 14, 2005

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Acting on information received, respondent Board of Education of the Borough of Clementon, Camden County (BOE) conducted an investigation to determine whether petitioner D.O.'s children resided in the Borough of Clementon. Upon completion of the investigation, BOE notified D.O. of its findings to the contrary and instructed her to remove two of her three children from the public schools. At D.O.'s request, a hearing was conducted by BOE which found that D.O.'s children were not domiciled in the Borough of Clementon. D.O. was again instructed to remove the nonresident children from the school system. D.O. appeals BOE's finding and contends that all of her children reside with her in the Borough of Clementon.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

By certified mail dated October 26, 2004, BOE notified D.O. of its conclusion that D.O.'s children, E.O. and R.O., were domiciled in Maple Shade, New Jersey. As a result, D.O. was instructed to remove her children from the public schools. By notice dated November 8, 2004, D.O. appealed BOE's finding to the Commissioner of Education. The form notice was accompanied by a two-page letter from D.O. setting forth her version of the facts of the case. BOE filed an answer to the appeal dated November 23, 2004, and also submitted a cross petition for payment of tuition for both children. The Department of Education transmitted the matter as a contested case to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) where it was filed December 9, 2004. Hearing was conducted February 28, 2005 at the OAL/Trenton facility. The presentation of evidence concluded same date, however, the record was kept open until March 8, 2005, to allow BOE to present certification with respect to its claim for tuition and D.O. to present any objection thereto.

FACTUAL DISCUSSION

Notwithstanding the burden of proof being upon D.O., BOE agreed to put forward its proofs first. Benjamin Bigelow is a field investigator for Insight Investigations, Inc. Insight Investigations' home office is located in Media, Pennsylvania. It has other offices in the Baltimore, Pittsburgh and Scranton/Wilkes Barre areas. The company was hired by BOE to conduct surveillance to ascertain whether D.O.'s children resided with her in Clementon. After Bigelow conducted the investigation he filed a report (Exhibit R-1) and submitted videotape (Exhibit R-2) regarding the conduct and result of the investigation.

Surveillance commenced Monday, October 4, 2004, and again October 7 and 8, 2004. On the first date investigators simultaneously observed the residents of 348-A White Horse Pike, Clementon, New Jersey (identified as D.O.'s residence) and 123 Frederick Avenue, Maple Shade, New Jersey (identified as D.O.'s husband's (K.O.) address). Surveillance at each location was between 5:00 and 9:30 a.m. No activity was observed, but vehicles operated by D.O. and K.O. were observed at the respective residences. Thursday, October 7, 2004, Bigelow returned to 348-A White Horse Pike, Clementon at 6:00 a.m. D.O.'s vehicle was in the driveway. Approximately 8:50 a.m., D.O. and a school-aged female exited the residence and got into D.O.'s minivan. Bigelow followed the vehicle to Clementon Elementary School where the child got out of the vehicle and entered the building. At the school, the vehicle immediately in front of D.O.'s minivan was K.O.'s red Expedition. E.O. and R.O. attended school October 7, 2004, although not transported by D.O.

Friday, October 8, 2004, surveillance was conducted between 6:00 and 10:30 a.m. commencing at 123 Frederick Road, Maple Shade. K.O., two school-aged males and one school-aged female entered the Expedition at 8:07 a.m. Due to heavy traffic continuous surveillance was not maintained. However, K.O.'s vehicle was observed departing Clementon Elementary School at 8:50 a.m.

In addition to responding to direct examination, Bigelow narrated the videotape (Exhibit R-2) of the surveillances. D.O. and K.O. (who was present at the hearing) could be identified as subjects on the videotape. Neither, however, contested that they were the ones on the videotape.

Paul Spaventa is the Superintendent of Schools in Clementon. He testified that Clementon is a one-school district and he is in front of the school as the students arrive and depart. Grades range from preschool disability through 8. Most children walk to school. Periodically, he will walk to the corner for an improved view of the students. He has known D.O., K.O. and their three children for six years. Toward the end of the 2003-2004 school year he became concerned and talked to D.O. regarding her residence. D.O. described a litany of problems and was to later meet with Spaventa to discuss the children, but the meeting did not occur. Although D.O. was no longer in the marital home, Spaventa thought the children were staying with relatives within the district. Subsequently, D.O. provided an address correction indicating that she was living in Lindenwold. However, Spaventa allowed the children to finish the school year in Clementon, with the understanding that they would be enrolled in Lindenwold school the following year.

At the beginning of the new school year, D.O.'s children were again attending Clementon schools. After some delay, D.O. provided a lease for the premises at 348 South White Horse Pike. (Exhibit R-3). Because the number of occupants on the lease was listed as two (one adult and one child), Spaventa requested D.O. to have the other children added to the lease. D.O. advised that the landlord would not add E.O. and R.O. to the lease because the apartment was only two bedrooms. The landlord had no objection to the children staying there, but did not want to note them on the lease because the apartment was too small.

Spaventa's general observations were that in the morning D.O. would bring the daughter to school and K.O. would bring the two boys. After failing to get the requested cooperation from D.O., Insight Investigations was hired.

BOE submitted a certification from Joanne Clement, School Business Administrator. (Exhibit R-4). She certified that the per diem tuition rate for the 2004-2005 school year is $46.02 per pupil as established by the Commissioner of Education. As of March 1, 2005, E.O. had attended Clementon Elementary School for 74 days for a total of $3,405.48. E.O. continues to attend Clementon Elementary School and D.O. is liable at the same rate for each school day beyond March 1, 2005. The same circumstance applies to R.O. As of March 1, 2005, D.O. is liable to BOE in the amount of $6,810.96 as tuition for E.O. and R.O. as well as an additional $46.02 per student for each school day thereafter.

D.O. testified on her own behalf. Her testimony was more vitriol, name calling and argumentative than factually enlightening. Her demeanor on the witness stand was very course, to the point that even K.O. apologized for her behavior.

D.O. testified that she has been a Clementon resident for 14 years and that her children have always attended the public schools there. She is separated from K.O. and a hearing regarding the divorce petition was scheduled for March 2, 2005.

Currently she and the three children live at the White Horse Pike address. She explained that Mondays, Tuesdays and Wednesdays the children stay with her; Thursdays and Fridays the children stay with K.O. They alternate weekends with the children and there is no joint custody agreement. D.O. referred to Spaventa as a liar regarding his testimony. When asked to explain a particular circumstance as testified on behalf of BOE, her response generally was, "I don't know how they can say that."

She offered no different explanation regarding Spaventa's testimony that he observed K.O. bring the children to school on days other than Thursday and Friday. She did not call K.O. as a witness even though he expressed an interest to testify.

FINDINGS OF FACT

Based upon the evidence received at hearing, testimony and exhibits, and having had the opportunity to hear and observe the witnesses, I make the following findings of fact. I FIND:

1. E.O., R.O. and S.O. are the children of petitioner D.O. and her husband, K.O. All children were duly enrolled into the Clementon School District initially at a time when the family resided in Clementon.
2. Toward the end of the 2003-2004 school year, D.O. and K.O. lost the Clementon home due to foreclosure. Because of marital problems, the couple separated and D.O. moved to Lindenwold with the children.
3. When BOE became aware that the children were living out of district, it permitted the children to remain in its school until the end of the school year, tuition free.
4. September, 2004, the children were again in BOE's school. D.O. was asked to provide verification that she and the children had returned to live in Clementon.
5. Subsequently, D.O. provided a lease to the premises at 348 South White Horse Pike, Clementon, New Jersey, 08021. The lease listed only two occupants.
6. Although requested, D.O. did not have the names of the children placed on the lease.
7. Superintendent of Schools for BOE observed K.O. generally deliver the boys to school and D.O. deliver the girl. BOE hired an investigative agency who followed D.O. and K.O. The investigation determined that E.O. and R.O. resided with K.O. at 123 Frederick Road, Maple Shade, New Jersey. And S.O. resided with D.O. in Clementon.

8. BOE instructed D.O. to remove the children from the school district and afforded her a hearing upon her request.

9. The hearing was conducted in conformity with New Jersey law and determined that E.O. and R.O. resided out of district and should be removed from the Clementon School.

10. During the period in question, E.O. and R.O. did not live in Clementon, New Jersey, and their attendance at Clementon Elementary School from October 26, 2004, without having paid tuition, is illegal.

11. Daily tuition for attendance at BOE's school by out-of-district students is assessed at $46.02 per day. D.O. is liable to BOE for tuition in that amount for each day of attendance per child.

CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

BOE has meticulously complied with the dictates of N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1. D.O. was notified of BOE's initial determination regarding the nonresidency of her children. She was afforded a hearing before BOE at which she was permitted to testify and call witnesses. She was further advised of her right to appeal the adverse finding by BOE to the Commissioner of Education.

The aforementioned statute places the burden of proof upon D.O., the petitioner. The evidence as presented by BOE is compelling and nothing in the presentation of D.O. casts any doubt upon the investigation or the findings.

D.O. has failed to sustain her burden of proof by preponderance of the competent, credible, relevant evidence and her petition should be dismissed.

As to BOE's counterclaim for tuition, the burden of proof there has been sustained. The evidence supports BOE's finding that E.O. and R.O. are not residents of Clementon and, therefore, do not qualify for a free public education in that school district. BOE has further proved that the Commissioner of Education has established a rate of tuition of $46.02 per day per pupil for students attending schools in Clementon who are not entitled to the free public education.

ORDER

It is ORDERED that petitioner D.O.'s appeal is DISMISSED. It is further ORDERED that D.O remove her children, E.O. and R.O., from BOE's elementary school. It is further ORDERED that D.O. shall pay as tuition to BOE the amount of $6,810.96 representing tuition for E.O. and R.O. through March 1, 2005 of the 2004-2005 school year. It is further ORDERED that D.O. shall pay as tuition to BOE an amount equal to $46.02 per day, per child for each day D.O.'s children continue in attendance at BOE's Clementon Elementary School as non-resident attendees.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen (13) days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." The record, Settlement Agreement and Initial Decision issued by the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1, have been reviewed.

Upon review, the Commissioner observes that an unidentified individual, Maureen Flaherty, signed the Settlement Agreement on behalf of the Board. In that neither the file nor the Settlement Agreement contains a copy of the Board's resolution approving the settlement and designating Ms. Flaherty to sign the agreement on its behalf, nor is the agreement signed by the Board attorney, who is the Board's duly authorized representative in litigation, the Commissioner cannot approve the within settlement.

Accordingly, the Commissioner hereby remands this matter to the OAL for revision of the Settlement Agreement to include either the Board attorney's signature or the Board resolution approving the settlement and designating Ms. Flaherty to sign on its behalf. If the parties are unwilling or unable to reach accord on a modified agreement for submission to the Commissioner, the matter shall proceed to hearing.

The matter was originally assigned to Stephen Reback, ALJ. Upon his retirement the matter was reassigned to this administrative law judge, who issued an order regarding summary decision on January 24, 2005.

The matter was scheduled for hearing on April 4 and 6, 2005. At the hearing scheduled for April 4, 2005, the parties entered into successful settlement negotiations. The parties have agreed to a settlement and have prepared a Settlement indicating the terms thereof, which is attached and fully incorporated herein. (J-1)

After being placed under oath, the parties stated that they understood agreed to all of the terms of the settlement.

I have reviewed the record and the terms of settlement and I FIND:

1. The parties have voluntarily agreed to the settlement as evidenced by their signatures or their representatives' signatures, as well as their testimony under oath.

2. The settlement fully disposes of all issues in controversy and is consistent with the law.

I CONCLUDE that this agreement meets the requirements of N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1 and that the settlement should be approved. I approve the settlement and therefore ORDER that the parties comply with the settlement terms and that these proceedings be concluded.

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

This matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law on November 21, 2003, for determination as a contested case pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F1 to -13.

A hearing was scheduled on September 12, 2003. Prior to the date of hearing the parties agreed to settle this matter. The Settlement Agreement submitted by the parties was incorporated by reference in an initial decision issued on September 12, 2003. The Commissioner of the Department of Education considered that decision and remanded the matter on October 27, 2003.

In the initial decision I found that the parties had voluntarily agreed to the settlement as evidenced by their signatures and that the settlement fully disposes of all issues and controversies and is consistent with the law. The Commissioner observed that the Settlement Agreement was signed by the Director of Human Resources of the Ridgewood Board of Education on behalf of the Board, and that neither the file nor Settlement Agreement contained a copy of a Board resolution approving the settlement and designating the Director of Human Resources to sign the agreement on behalf of the Board. The Commissioner also observed that the agreement had not been signed by the Board attorney and determined that the settlement could not be approved. The matter was accordingly remanded for revision of the Settlement Agreement consistent with the commissioner's concerns.

The remand was filed in the Office of Administrative Law on November 21, 2003 as EDU 11299-03 and was assigned to me December 18, 2003. I corresponded with counsel in this matter on December 19, 2003, seeking an original revised agreement consistent with the remand order. As the revised agreement was not forthcoming, this matter was scheduled for hearing on July 1 and July 2, 2004. On June 29, 2004, a revised Settlement Agreement with the Board attorney's signature was received, with an indication that the Board would re-ratify the agreement at its meeting of July 10, 2004 as a final resolution to the matter.

As of March 10, 2005 the Board resolution had not been received. Accordingly, correspondence was directed to counsel advising that as more than six months had elapsed and there was no indication that the Board had acted, the matter would be dismissed. On March 30, 2005, the original revised Settlement Agreement signed by the Board attorney was received, along with the excerpts from the minutes of the meeting of the Ridgewood Board of Education on July 12, 2004 ratifying the Settlement Agreement and authorizing the Board attorney to sign the agreement on its behalf.

Respondent has submitted a revised Settlement Agreement signed by the Board attorney, as well as the relevant excerpt from the minutes of the Ridgewood Board of Education meeting held Monday, July 12, 2004, approving the settlement and designating the Board attorney to sign the agreement.

Accordingly, having reviewed the record, the settlement terms and the revised agreement I FIND:

1. The parties have voluntarily agreed to the settlement as evidenced by their signatures.

2. The settlement fully disposes of all issues in controversy and is consistent with the law.

I CONCLUDE that this agreement meets the requirements of N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1 and that the settlement should be approved. I approve the settlement and therefore ORDER that the parties comply with the settlement terms and that these proceedings be concluded.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Attorneys for Respondent Mountain Lakes Board of Education

S.K. o/b/o B.M., Petitioner, v. Mountain Lakes Board of Education, Respondent.	NEW JERSEY OFFICE OF ADMINISTRATIVE LAW OAL DKT NO. EDU 1960-05 SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT AND GENERAL RELEASE

This Agreement and General Release ("Agreement") is made and entered into by and between the MOUNTAIN LAKES BOARD OF EDUCATION (hereinafter "the Board") and S.K. individually, F.K. individually, and on behalf of B.M. (collectively "Releasors"), for full settlement of all claims which could have been alleged against the Board by Releasors.

In consideration of the mutual promises contained herein, it is agreed as follows:

1. Non-Admission By Board. This Agreement shall not be construed as an admission by the Board of any of the acts or omissions which could have been alleged by Releasors, or of any acts or omissions which could have been alleged against the Board. The Board specifically denies any liability whatsoever for any damages, injuries or other claims by Releasors or which could have been claimed by Releasers relative to B.M.'s attendance at Mountain Lakes High School.

2. Educational Placement. The Board agrees to pay the tuition costs for B.M. to attend the Mount Olive High School in Mount Olive Township, New Jersey, effective April 4, 2005 and through B.M.'s scheduled graduation in June 2007. The Board shall make such payments directly to the Mount Olive Township Board of Education. B.M. shall be subject to the Mount Olive Township Board of Education and Mount Olive High School's policies, rules and procedures while enrolled at Mount Olive High School. In order for B.M. to obtain a Mountain Lakes Board of Education high school diploma, she must satisfy the graduation requirements of the Mountain Lakes Board of Education.

3. Transportation. The Board shall transport B.M., at its expense, to and from Mount Olive High School starting the afternoon of April 4, 2005 through the conclusion of the 2004-2005 school year; and during the 2005-2006 school year. The Board shall not be obligated to transport B.M. to Mount Olive High School after June 30, 2006. B.M. shall be transported and accompanied to Mount Olive High School by at least one of her parents the morning of April 4, 2005. The Board shall be permitted to procure a transportation route at the lowest available cost, which may include a route transporting one or more students other than B.M. Said students may be students receiving special education services. The transportation route shall be of a reasonable duration. The Board shall transport B.M. home at the end of the regularly scheduled school day. The Board is not responsible for transporting B.M. home from any after-school extra-curricular activities engaged in by B.M.

4. Release. Releasors release and give up any and all claims and rights they may have against the Board as to any events relating to this matter, or B.M.'s attendance at Mountain Lakes High School, that have taken place through the date of this agreement. As used in this Agreement, the term "Board" means: the Mountain Lakes Board of Education, its current or former elected or appointed officials, administrators, employees, attorneys, agents, servants, representatives, predecessors and successors, insurance carriers, and all other persons or entities for whom any of the above have been or may be legally responsible. Releasors specifically release the following claims as to the Board:

(a) Any civil, criminal or administrative claims which Releasors could assert now, or in the future, under any provision of any law, common or statutory, of the United States, New Jersey or any other state, city, county, or locality as to any events relating to this matter, or B.M.'s attendance at Mountain Lakes High School; and

(b) Any claim Releasors could assert now, or in the future under any provision of the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act; and

(c) Any claim for assault and personal injury; and

(d) Any claim for any attorney's fees and any other fees and costs; and

(e) Any claim for any act of misfeasance, malfeasance or nonfeasance by the Board as to any events relating to this matter, or B.M.'s attendance at the Mountain Lakes High School that have taken place through the date Releasors sign this agreement; and

(f) Any claim under 20 U.S.C. sec. 1681(a)(1994)(Title IX) for alleged discrimination in B.M.'s education program on the basis of sex; and

(g) Any claim for alleged bullying, verbal, sexual and physical harassment; and

(h) Any claims arising out of facts alleged in the New Jersey Tort Claims Act Notice of Claim filed on behalf of B.M. against the Board.

5. Agreement Not to Sue. Releasors agree not to file any lawsuit or claim against the Board, based on any events, whether known or unknown, relating to this matter, or B.M.'s attendance at Mountain Lakes High School, occurring prior to the date of the execution of this Agreement, in any court or tribunal of the United States, New Jersey or any other state, city, county, or locality.

6. Confidentiality. The Board and Releasors agree that neither they nor their attorneys, nor representatives shall reveal to anyone, or cause to be revealed to anyone, verbally or in writing, other than as may be mutually agreed to in writing, any of the terms of this Agreement or the events giving rise to the instant litigation. Releasors acknowledge that this confidentiality requirement is a material term to this Agreement. The Board and the Releasors shall give each other written notice, reasonable under the circumstances, of any attempt to have the particulars of this agreement revealed by any legal action.

7. No Precedent and Non-Admissibility. The Board and the Releasors agree that this Agreement may not be used to establish precedent in any future proceeding of any type whatsoever involving the Board and that it shall be inadmissible in any such proceeding, other than a proceeding to enforce same.

8. Who is Bound. Releasors and their agents are bound by this Agreement. Those who succeed to their rights and responsibilities, such as heirs, the executors of their estate, or their personal or legal representatives are also bound. B.M. will be bound to the confidentiality provisions of this Agreement.

9. Non-Domicile. The Board's obligations set forth in this Agreement shall immediately cease upon B.M. no longer being domiciled in Mountain Lakes during the term of this Agreement.

10. Withdrawal from the Mount Olive High School. Releasors shall give prior notice to the Board's Superintendent of Schools, to the extent reasonable under the circumstances, of their intention to withdraw B.M. from the Mount Olive High School. If B.M. is withdrawn from the Mount Olive High School before the June 2007 graduation, Releasors shall promptly meet with Board staff to decide B.M.'s educational placement.

11. Entire Agreement. This Agreement contains the sole and the entire agreement between Releasors and the Board, and fully supersedes any and all prior agreements and understandings between Releasors and the Board pertaining to the subject matter of this Agreement. Releasors represent and acknowledge that they have not relied upon any representation or statement by the Board, or their counsel or representatives, with regard to the subject matter of this Agreement, which is not set forth in this Agreement. No other promises or agreements shall be binding unless in writing, signed by Releasors and the Board, and expressly stated to be a modification of this Agreement.

12. Student Records. The Board will expunge B.M.'s student records to remove any reference to the incident underlying this action.

13. Severability. If any provision of this Agreement is held to be unenforceable, invalid or illegal by any court of competent jurisdiction, the State Department of Education or the New Jersey Office of Administrative Law, such unenforceable, invalid or illegal provisions shall not affect the enforceability or legality of any remaining portions of this Agreement.

WILLIAM LIBRERA, COMMISSIONER, NEW JERSEY STATE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION,	:	DECISION
RESPONDENTS.	:

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed. The Board sought and was granted, for good cause shown, a 30-day extension of time within which to file exceptions to the Initial Decision. Upon expiration of this extension period, the Board advised that it had decided not to file exceptions.

Upon his full and independent review, the Commissioner concurs with the Administrative Law Judge that petitioners have failed to satisfy their burden of establishing that they should not be required to reimburse the Department $44,000 in disallowed costs from the Whole School Reform incentive grant for fiscal year 2000, which was utilized for expenditures inconsistent with the approved grant application.

Accordingly, the Initial Decision of the OAL is adopted for the reasons well articulated therein and the instant Petition of Appeal is dismissed. The Board of Education of the City of Trenton is hereby directed to reimburse the Department of Education $44,000 in disallowed grant funds.

BEFORE ANA C. VISCOMI, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Petitioners contest respondents' determination that the BOE is required to return $44,000 in expended grant funds. The matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law, (OAL) on April 3, 2002 for a hearing as a contested case pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13 and N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15. A hearing was conducted on October 23, 2002 and the record remained open in order to allow for post-hearing submissions. The final submission was received on June 4, 2003 and upon review on July 24, 2003, the record was closed.

FACTUAL DISCUSSION

The petitioners challenge the Department of Education's (DOE) decision to request a refund of $44,000 for disallowed cost from the Cadwalader School's 1999-2000 Second Cohort Whole School Reform (WSR) Grant to the Trenton School District. The Trenton Board of Education (BOE) applied for the grant on or about May 28, 1999. The school district sought a grant of $50,000 for the purchase of laptop computers. Petitioners contend that the DOE approved the expenditure of $50,000 for computers. Respondent contends that it advised the district through communication with the school principal, who is one of the signatories to the grant application, the application had to be revised as a $50,000 expenditure for computers was inconsistent with the WSR model and thus revisions would be required such that only $6,000 could be expended on computers. Petitioners contend they were not aware of this revision and spent $50,000 toward the purchase of 25 laptop computers. The DOE requested a refund in the amount of $44,000 and petitioners filed the within appeal.

The following witnesses testified on behalf of the petitioners: Gloria Tunstall and Melvin Wyns. The following represents a summary of their respective relevant testimony and is not meant to be a transcription of the entire testimony presented at this hearing.

Gloria Tunstall is the principal of the Cadwalader School, the recipient of the grant at issue. She has been the principal for the past 14 years and was previously an assistant principal and teacher. The Cadwalader School is an Abbott School. It selected the WSR Model known as the Modern Red School House. The school applied for a grant in connection with the Modern Red School House. (J-2) She signed the grant application as the principal on May 25, 1999. The funding amount being requested was $50,000 and the school district contact listed on the application was Gail E. Dubin. (J-2) Although the witness was unsure of Ms. Dubin's exact title, she testified that Ms. Dubin was employed by the district as a Director and that part of her responsibilities included overseeing the WSRs. The Activity Plan and Budget Detail portion of the application indicated that the school district sought to purchase 25 laptops at the price of $2,000 each to facilitate the teachers' use of instruction management system. (J-2) This was the plan submitted to the Trenton BOE for its approval. It was approved by the BOE before the end of the school year. The Activity Plan and Budget Detail changed subsequent to the Board's approval of $50,000 being used for the laptops. The witness testified that Janet Sheppard, the SRI (School Review and Improvement) person from the DOE, stopped by during the summer and indicated that the district had to rewrite the plan because the school would not be able to purchase all of the laptops that they had requested under the grant. She and Janet Sheppard sat down and they "hand wrote and revised the grant at that time;" she hand wrote the first two pages and Miss Sheppard, the last page. (J-4) The bottom of the handwritten revisions reflected on each page "hard copy to follow." (J-4) After the plan was re-written, Tunstall gave it to Sheppard. Sheppard indicated that she would speak with the DOE to let them know that even though they were revising the grant application in conjunction with the WSR, she would attempt to obtain DOE approval for the 25 laptops, anyway. Twenty-five laptops were purchased by the school in January or February of the following year. That purchase was not consistent with the revised plan. When the school district purchased the laptops, the money had been put into their equipment account set up by the Trenton School District. Prior to this application for a grant, Miss Tunstall testified she had no prior experience writing grants.

Tunstall further clarified that after the Trenton BOE approved the initial grant, it was submitted to the DOE. When Sheppard came to visit her at the Cadwalader School after the close of the academic school year, she told her that the grant application had to be revised because the school district could not purchase the 25 laptops with the grant money. When she and Sheppard prepared the handwritten revisions on the Activity Plan and Budget Detail, she signed the bottom of each of the three pages. The revisions reflected the purchase of three laptop computers for a cost of $6,000. (J-4) Sheppard left and took the revised document with her. (J-4) Tunstall testified that the revised typed application was faxed from the Cadwalader School. (J-2) There were three individuals including herself who could have faxed that revised application from the Cadwalader School on August 2, 1999. (J-2) Juda Winget or Pamela Washington, who were both facilitators at the time, were shown the revised application by Tunstall when they returned from the summer break. She explained to them that she and Janet Sheppard revised the plan. The revision reflects the handwritten revisions prepared by her and Janet Sheppard. She does not remember if the revisions went back to the District BOE for approval. She testified in terms of BOE approval,

> I am involved, as far as if something has to be submitted to the Board for approval. But, I cannot remember, after the revision, exactly what happened after the revision.

She did not question the revision or the subsequent purchase of 25 laptops at the cost of $50,000 because Janet Sheppard told her when they drafted the revisions that she was going to speak with the DOE to see if the 25 laptops could still be purchased. When she then saw $50,000 as a line item in the budget, she was under the impression the DOE had approved the purchase.

She never discussed the revision with the Business Administrator. As she had never applied for a grant like that before, she worked with Janet Sheppard, who she testified was "kind of directing" although she knew at all times that Ms. Sheppard worked for the DOE and not for the Trenton BOE. She worked on the original grant application. (J-1) As a member of the Site Management Team (SMT), she knew the application had to be submitted to the Trenton BOE. While she cannot remember who typed up the revisions, it may have been her secretary.

Melvin Wyns, the Trenton BOE School Business Administrator/Board Secretary since July 2, 2001, testified on behalf of petitioner. He had been previously employed with the State DOE for 31 years in the Division of Finance. He was familiar with the Cadwalader WSR Incentive Grant based upon a review of the documents after the DOE demanded a $44,000.00 refund, but he was not the Business Administrator or Board Secretary when the grant was submitted to the DOE for approval. After the DOE requested the return of $44,000, he wrote to Sue Martz at the DOE. On May 24, 1999, the Trenton BOE passed a resolution approving the grant application's submission to the DOE. The normal Board process would encompass grant applications initially being reviewed by the Board's finance committee. The finance committee would then make a recommendation to the full BOE at its regular meeting. The district contact person listed on the first page of the application, Gail E. Dubin is the district's current Director of Grants. He does not know what her position was in 1999 when the application was prepared. (J-2) The Board received notification the grant proposal had been received. (J-5) By correspondence of August 9, 1999, the DOE advised the Trenton BOE the grant application for the program was approved and that the Grant Acceptance Certificate (GAC) must be completed by the Board Secretary. (J-5) The notification made specific reference to the fiscal year 2000

WSR incentive being approved. (J-5) The document indicates it was received "in substantially approvable form on June 3, 1999." (J-5) The August 9, 1999 notification from the DOE required that the attached GAC be completed and signed by the Board Secretary. (J-5) Charles Milewski, Board Secretary, completed the GAC and forwarded it to the DOE. (J-6)

Once Wyns became involved in this matter, he reviewed the file, which he indicated to be incomplete, and he noted that the revisions were all subsequent to the June 3, 1999 grant approval. The DOE indicated the $44,000 it was seeking reimbursement of had not been expended in accordance with the budget that was approved for the grant. The Trenton BOE did not have any records indicating that it had either received or approved revisions to the grant. In addition, he found no correspondence from the DOE indicating a revised application had been approved. The DOE advised the district the original application was rejected but that was by letter from the DOE responding to his inquiry. That letter was not received until the district had already expended the money for the laptops. In this instance, the district BOE individual who had responsibility for authorizing the expenditure of the $50,000 for the 25 laptops was Charles Milewski, the School Business Administrator/Board Secretary. Sue Martz forwarded him a copy of the application for the WSR Incentive Grant, which included instructions and forms. (J-1) She advised him the reason the DOE was seeking reimbursement of $44,000 was because the $50,000 had not been expended in accordance with the grant award and the revised budget; only $6,000 of the $50,000 in the revised budget was allowable for purchase of laptop computers and the remaining $44,000 was for teacher salaries, supplies and materials. Martz advised him the DOE was "holding" the district BOE to the revised budget. He raised the issue of how the business administrator could be responsible for maintaining a record of approved grants when a person not designated as the contact was permitted to make budgetary revisions and the BOE, who was required to approve the application, was never presented with same. His inquiry was centered on how the DOE could have even accepted the revisions from anyone other than the business administrator or without board approval. Martz advised him that it was part of the process to accept verbal revisions. At the time the laptops were purchased, the business office was under the impression that the purchase was consistent with the grant.

He is not aware of anything in the application for the WSR Incentive Grant, that would allow the district contact person the authority to make revisions without board approval. (J-1)

He sent an October 1, 2001 letter to Sue Martz relying upon N.J.A.C. 6:20-2A.2(i)2 for the proposition that the verbal request and approval process used by the DOE is not supported by this regulation. (P-1)

He conceded the grant application does not specify that revisions have to be approved by the BOE. (J-1) There is no grant instruction limiting a single contact person on behalf of the district BOE. (J-1) Additionally, there is nothing within those instructions indicating that the Business Administrator has to approve all matters with respect to the grant application. He conceded that there is nothing within the grant application instructions requiring revisions to be in writing. The handwritten revisions made by Gloria Tunstall were dated June 29, 1999.[1] The typed revisions reflected a faxed date of August 2, 1999. Typed revisions thus were faxed a week prior to the notification of the grant approval. He conceded that there is nothing to indicate from a review of the Business Administrator's file that he had seen or not seen the revisions. Additionally, there was nothing within that file to indicate the district BOE central office had not received communication from Ms. Tunstall regarding the revisions.

In attempting to reconstruct the events, Wyns testified that he spoke with Nancy Swirsky, the district's comptroller. Swirsky advised him that the business office did not have any knowledge of the revisions.

Susan B. Martz, the DOE's Director of the Office of Programs Support Services testified on behalf of respondent. Ms. Martz has been employed with the DOE since 1988 when she began working at the Office of Special Education Programs (OSEP) on grants. She became the Manager in the Office of Grants Management and then the Director in that same office from 1996 to July 2002. That was her position with the DOE at the time the grant application was submitted. She is familiar with the fiscal year 2000 WSR grant. The purpose of the grant was to assist school districts in implementing the WSR; it was envisioned as a $50,000 start-up grant. The application listed acceptable expenditures. (J-1)

As long as the schools selected expended the grant funds consistent with the application, the grant would be approved by the DOE. The grant, which the DOE termed a "formula" or [1] It should also be noted that J-8 reflected handwritten revisions being faxed on July 29, 1999.

"entitlement" grant, was linked directly to the implementation of the WSR model selected by the school and district. Applications were sent to the DOE, they were reviewed by the Office of Program Review and Improvement and the fiscal sections of the application were reviewed by the Office of Fiscal Review and Improvement. Once an application was "signed-off" by the Directors of those separate offices, the application would be forwarded to the Office of Grant Management in order for it to issue the Notification of Award and the Grant Acceptance Certificate. Revisions could occur "in a couple of different points during the review process." For example, she testified that if a person reviewing the Program section of the application had a question, that person could contact the district at that time to resolve that issue. The Fiscal section could do the same.

During this process, "people were encouraged to get their revisions to the Department as quickly as possible, so that there would not be a delay in the approvals of the applications and getting the funding to the districts." She testified that it was not unusual during the process for the DOE personnel involved to make phone calls. With regard to this particular matter, Ms. Sheppard was geographically close enough to travel to Cadwalader to "work out" the revisions. This was an acceptable procedure with regard to the "entitlement" or "formal" grant applications. The normal procedure would be to call the designated contact person listed on the grant application. Frequently the DOE would ask the district designate a contact person who would be available over the summer. In an instance when that person would not be available during the summer, the DOE would contact an administrator listed on the application. In this instance, the DOE reached out to principal Tunstall who was listed on the application. She does not know why Gail Dubin, who was listed as a contact, was not contacted in this matter.

She was involved in this particular application at two separate points. Her first involvement was as the application was being reviewed and questions arose regarding what was allowable and not allowable. While that was the responsibility of the Office of Program Review and Improvement, that office would at times request input from the Grant Office. She recalls a discussion regarding a purchase of laptops with regard to this application. The Program office indicated that purchase of all of those laptops was "absolutely not" allowable and that it wanted that changed. She testified that later, when the district submitted its final report that was inconsistent with the DOE's approved application in the file, both the Office of Program Review and Improvement and the Office of Fiscal Review and Improvement contacted the Grant Office for advice regarding the procedure to be utilized with regard to an expenditure inconsistent with the approved grant application. The revisions to the grant application came to her attention again after the Trenton school district submitted its letter contesting the DOE's indication of the non-allowable expenditure. A review of the file revealed the original Activity/Budget request that was crossed out with an indication, "revise" and then the typed inserted pages reflecting $6,000 for the purchase of laptop computers. (J-2) She verified that the handwritten revisions were exactly the same as the typed copy that was in the application. (J-2) She also reviewed the checklist for reviewing and approving the WSR applications. (J-3) The last signature on this checklist bore a date of August 9, 1999. (J-3) She testified the typed revisions were received on August 2, 1999.

The DOE does not attend the District BOE meetings and, as such, does not reach out directly to the district regarding its responsibility in the grants approval process. It was not the responsibility of the DOE to make sure the contact person was communicating with the rest of the district. Once the Office of Grants Management and Development (OGMD) completes its final review, the OGMD coordinator would generate the GAC and the Notification of Approval. (J-5, J-6) When the DOE receives the GAC, it is essentially an indication from the District Business Administrator that the BOE has accepted the approved application. (J-6) In this instance, the approved application consisted of the application with its revisions. As part of the DOE process, the district's revisions to the applications are accepted. The "secondary check" or "protection" is to have the district go back to its BOE to approve everything that has occurred. Based upon practice since 1988 when she began working at the DOE, people involved in the process complained about two Board meetings with regard to every application. The idea was that the board would approve the application being submitted and so it was left up to the district to take back to its BOE any revisions to an application. This was what the districts were told, based on her past practice and experience with the DOE.

After the GAC is submitted, the DOE initiates payment to the district. (J-6) The district then submits a final report. (J-7) While she was not part of the review team in this instance, the final report submission was denied by the Fiscal Review and Improvement team as well as the Grant Office based upon its inconsistency with the approved application in the DOE file.

Martz then became involved in the process again. Initially the DOE asked the district to either return the $44,000 or submit a revised final report if it had made errors in the final report submitted. The final approved application relied upon by the DOE was J-2. It contained both the handwritten revision faxed by Gloria Tunstall as well as the typewritten revision. The application was not approved by the DOE until it received the typewritten revision. With regard to the checklist, the Office of Program Review and Improvement "signed off" on the approval followed by the Office of Fiscal Review and Improvement. Then, the Office of Grant Management and Development Review and "signed off" on the application. A second level of review was conducted in each of the offices and then the Directors of each office reviewed the checklist and approved the application. (J-3) This was completed on August 9, 1999 after the revisions were faxed. (J-3)

Martz testified that the DOE received the completed application on June 3, 1999. (J-3). Nothing within J-3 references receipt of revisions. The second page of this internal checklist for reviewing and approving the application submitted by Cadwalader reflects that program reviewer Janet Sheppard and a PIRC (Program Review and Improvement) Manager "signed-off" on the application on June 4, 1999 and June 15, 1999, respectively. (J-3). Item 21 regarding "use of funds" indicates that use was allowable. (J-3) She could not determine, however, if that pertained to an approval based upon the original application or on the revision. She further testified that the language of Notification of Grant award dated August 9, 1999 indicating the application being received in "substantially approvable form" on June 3 does not mean that the process had been completed on that date. What it does mean however, is that revisions can occur without affecting the date that the district can begin to obligate the funds.

With regard to the applications process, the DOE provided training programs for districts.

With regard to whether a school principal had the authority to revise an application, Martz testified that principals did have that authority in the revision process as part of the WSR grant applications. This was because principals were integrally involved with their application from both the program and the fiscal aspect. The DOE would have accepted revisions that occurred prior to the approval of the application from a principal knowing the application was then going back to the district board for its approval. She had no reason to believe Gloria Tunstall did not have any authority to make the revisions. When she was a grant reviewer, she dealt with principals often. The DOE would have no reason to believe negotiated revisions were not being included by the District BOE in its budget.

That concluded the testimony in this case. [2]

LEGAL ANALYSIS

The burden of proof in this matter is upon petitioners to demonstrate by a preponderance of the competent credible evidence that they are not required to reimburse the DOE in the amount of $44,000 for disallowed costs from the Cadwalader School's 1999-2000 second cohort WSR (WSR) grant to the Trenton School District.

The resolution of this matter necessitates a discussion of the Abbott Districts' special regulations. The regulations for the time period governing the 1999-2000 WSR grant was previously codified at N.J.A.C. 6:19A-1.2 et.seq.; the Implementation of Court Decision in Abbott v. Burke, effective July 20, 1998 (hereinafter the "Implementation Regulations") and superseded by N.J.A.C. 6:19A-1.2 et.seq.; Urban Education Reform in the Abbott districts, effective September 10, 1999 (hereinafter "Urban Education Reform Regulations"). References to those regulations in effect during that time period shall be made throughout the remainder of this Initial Decision.[3]

The City of Trenton is an Abbott district as set forth in Raymond Abbott et.al. v. Fred G. Burke, et.al., 11N.J. 287 (1990) and as later codified in the Abbott Districts' special regulations.

The regulations adopted for the purposes of implementating the Supreme Court's decision in Abbott v. Burke required that the Commissioner designate the DOE staff to serve on a School Review and Improvement (SRI) teams. Implementation Regulations at N.J.A.C. 6:19A-1.3. The primary role of that team was to work with the school management team (SMT). Implementation Regulations at N.J.A.C. 6:19A-1.4(a). The SRI team was also to serve as liaison between the schools and the DOE, and as sources of technical assistance in programmatic and fiscal areas. Implementation Regulations at N.J.A.C. 6:19A-1.3. Every Abbott District elementary school implementing the WSR was required to have an SMT. The regulations required that prior to August 30, 1998, the Chief School Administrator was required to submit to the DOE for approval, with a copy to its board, a procedure for the selection and training of a building based SMT in every elementary school implementing the WSR. Implementation Regulations at N.J.A.C. 6:19A-1.4. The Cadwalader School is an elementary school in the Trenton school district that implemented WSR. The SMT was to consist of members including the building principal. Implementation Regulations at N.J.A.C. 6:19A-1.4(a)2. With regard to the schools participating in WSR, the SMT had specific duties and had the authority to prepare a school-based budget in consultation with the DOE assigned SRI team. Implementation Regulations at N.J.A.C. 6:19A-1.4(C) (4). Further, it was the responsibility of the Chief School Administrator to ensure each school was led by an effective principal. Implementation Regulations at N.J.A.C. 6:19A-1.5. Each elementary school was required to adopt the WSR model by the 2000-2001 school year. Implementation Regulations at N.J.A.C. 6:19A-3.1(a). The duties of a principal with regard to the school-based budget were further enhanced by the Urban Education Reform and the Abbott District Regulations effective September 10, 1999. For example, pursuant to those regulations, the principal was required to prepare the school-based budget in consultation with staff and SMT. Urban Education Reform Regulations at N.J.A.C. 19A-4.4(a) (1). Further, once the principal sought input from the SMT, he or she was required to submit the budget to the Chief School Administrator and Board for comments. Urban Education Reform Regulations at N.J.A.C. 6:19A-4.4(d).

[2] Petitioners had intended to call Jean Sheppard who was employed by the DOE during the relevant time frame and was the person from the DOE who worked with Tunstall on the revisions. Sheppard left the employment of the DOE and at the time of the hearing was working for the Trenton Board of Education. Respondent's counsel, during the course of the hearing, moved to bar the testimony of Jean Sheppard pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:13D-17. The parties briefed the matter post-hearing and a letter Order was issued by the undersigned on January 14, 2003, barring the testimony pursuant to that statute, as Miss Sheppard in her prior capacity with DOE was clearly directly involved with the matter that became the subject of this hearing.

[3] The current Abbott District Urban Reform regulations are codified at N.J.A.C. 6A:24-1.1 et.seq., effective July 3, 2000.

Based upon the forgoing discussion and in consideration of the testimony of the witnesses and credibility determinations made at the time thereof as well as evidence admitted at this hearing, I make the following FINDINGS OF FACT:

1. The Cadwalader school, an elementary school located in Trenton, New Jersey, is located in an Abbott School District.

2. Gloria Tunstall had been a principal at the Cadwalader School for 14 years in 2002 when she testified at this hearing. She had been involved in the Abbott WSR implementation approximately since 1998.

3. The school selected the WSR Modern Red School House model.

4. Jean Sheppard was a DOE assigned SRI staff person to the Cadwalader School for purposes of the incentive grant for fiscal year 2000 WSR/Second Cohort application.

5. School districts applying for that grant were forwarded an application, which included instructions and forms. (J-1)

6. In accordance with the instructions, the Cadwalader School submitted its application by date of May 28, 1999. (J-2)

7. The application instructions provided in part

> Finally, please be sure to include on the cover page the name of the contact person responsible for this application and available during the summer months. (J-1, p.7)

8. The Cadwalader School application listed as district contact Gail E. Dubin and provided a telephone number. (J-2) The application also listed Chief School Administrator Dr. James Lytle; Principal Gloria Tunstall; and Business Administrator Charles Milewski. (J-2)

9. On May 24, 1999, the Trenton BOE passed a resolution authorizing submission of the WSR Implementation Plans for Second Cohort Trenton schools grant application for approval by the DOE as required. (J-2, p.2)

10. As required by the instructions in the application, the statement of intent was submitted and was signed by the School Management Team (SMT) chairperson Juda Winget; the school principal and the Chief School Administrator (J-2, p.4). The Activity Plan and Budget Detail submitted at that time provided for the purchase for 25 laptops at $2,000 each to facilitate the teachers' use of Instruction Management System, for a total expenditure of $50,000. (J-2)

11. Once this completed application was submitted to the DOE, several levels of review were conducted. (J-3) Janet Sheppard as program reviewer and Dolores Riegs as PIRC manager "signed off" on the check list for reviewing and approving the application on June 4, 1999 and June 15, 1999 respectively. In addition, fiscal reviewer Tina Debrow "signed off" on the application on June 4, 1999. On July 8, 1999, Office of Grants Management and Development (OGMD) reviewer "signed off" on the application indicating that all required revisions were attached to the checklist.

12. At some point in time either after the June 1999 Fiscal Review and Program Review approvals and prior to, or contemporaneous with the second level review approvals as further discussed below, Jean Sheppard visited Gloria Tunstall at the school.

13. She indicated to her that the application as submitted did not conform with the WSR Incentive Grant: Second Cohort for Fiscal year 2000. As such, she and principal Tunstall revised the application. Those hand-written revisions indicated the following Activity Plan and Budget Detail: $10,333 towards the students standards and assessment to support the Modern Red School House WSR model; $14,555 toward training to support and enrich instructional and management of WSR; $12,000 towards supplies and materials for same: $6,000 toward the purchase of three laptop computers towards the standard driven instructional strategies of the WSR model and $7,112 for a school facilitator to serve as liaison to assist the staff in the Modern Red School House implementation and WSR. The handwritten revisions were in both Tunstall and Sheppard's handwriting. A notation on the bottom of each page indicated "Hard copy to follow" and was signed off by principal Tunstall.

14. A typed version of this document was prepared by Cadwalader staff at the direction of Tunstall and faxed to the DOE on August 2, 1999. (J-2) The handwritten version was faxed on July 29, 1999. (J-8)

15. The checklist for the review and approving of the Cadwalader application for the grant was then submitted for a second level review and was approved by the OPRI Director and the OPSI Director on August 2, 1999. (J-3, p.5)

16. The OGMD coordinator then approved the grant on August 9, 1999. (J-3, p5)

17. On the same date, the DOE forwarded to the Chief School Administrator for Cadwalader a fiscal year 2000 notification of grant award with a copy to principal Tunstall. (J-5) The notification provided, in part:

> Your Grant application for the program indicated below (WSR Incentive Grant) which was received by the New Jersey DOE in substantially approvable form on 06/03/1999 has been reviewed by the offices listed above and recommended for funding for fiscal year 2000 pending the availability of funds. (emphasis in original)

The notification also provided that the local education agency (LEA) could begin to obligate the funds the later of the Program duration start date, which was July 1, 1999, or the date the application was received in substantially approvable form, which was June 3, 1999.

18. Further, the notification provided that amendments to the WSR Incentive Grant application may be submitted during the project period by no later than May 31, 2000. (J-5)

19. On August 30, 1999 Charles Milewski as the Business Administrator submitted a completed GAC. (J-6). The completed GAC indicated that the grant award of $50,000 for the WSR Incentive program had been accepted by the Trenton BOE at its meeting of August 30, 1999. (J-6)

20. On January 24, 2000, the Trenton BOE Department of Purchases and Supplies requisitioned pursuant to purchase order 6107, 25 Dell laptop computers after receiving a quote dated January 7, 2000 and January 10, 2000 from Dell Computer Corporation. (J-7). That purchase order was signed by Charles Milewski as Secretary of the BOE. (J-7)

21. The Cadwalader School and BOE submitted to the DOE a final report of the WSR Start Up Grant indicating $50,000 being expended for the purchase of 50 computers. (J-7). The final report which was signed by Chief School Administrator Dr. Lytle on November 29, and Charles Milewski on the same date and Principal Tunstall on November 20, 2000, included the final report expenditure on an Activity Plan and Budget Detail form as well as the purchase order to Dell computers. (J-7) The final report of the expenditure indicated that the purchase of the 25 laptop computers was to facilitate the use of the instructional management system by teachers to maintain both teaching units and student grades. With regard to the accountability plan to document implementation of the activities, it was noted that "25 teachers have signed for there (sic) computers in their possession. The technology task force has begun their training in the use of the instructional management system, which they will in turn turnkey to the other teachers." (J-7)

22. The DOE then denied the grant on September 18, 2001. (J-7) The DOE then requested reimbursement of $44,000 for the disallowed cost.

Petitioners have not met the burden of proving that they are not required to reimburse the DOE for the disallowed cost. Principal Tunstall testified that she had been the principal at Cadwalader for approximately 14 years and had been involved with the Abbott district's WSR program since 1998. The Implementation Regulations required the Chief School Administrator to ensure that each school was lead by an effective principal. Further, prior to August 30, 1998, the Chief School Administrator was required to submit to the DOE, for approval, with a copy to its Board a procedure for the selection and training of a building based school management team (SMT) at every elementary school that was implementing WSR. The SMT was to consist of the building principal as well as other staff members. Not only was principal Tunstall a member of the SMT but Juda Winget, another member, signed off on the application as school management team chair person on May 25, 1999. Pursuant to the Implementation Regulations, the SMT was to be trained. In addition to the training, the Implementation Regulations required the Commissioner to designate department staff to serve on the school review and improvement team (SRI). Ms. Sheppard acted in that capacity on behalf of the DOE with the Cadwalader School. SRI teams were also to assist the SMT in the development of the 1999-2000 school year budget for schools participating in the implementation of WSR. The duties of the principal were further enhanced by the succeeding regulations; the Urban Education Reform Regulations. When Ms. Sheppard visited Cadwalader School and prepared revisions to the grant application with principal Tunstall, the responsibility to report the revisions to the Chief School Administrator and the Board rested with principal Tunstall and not the DOE. If principal Tunstall did not have the authority to revise the grant, or had questions whether it was necessary to revise the grant, she never indicated that to the DOE. Instead, she and Ms. Sheppard handled the revisions, she "signed off" on the bottom of each of the three pages and instructed her staff to type those revisions and fax them to the DOE. She discussed it with Ms. Winget, the SMT Chairperson, and neither one of them communicated with the Chief School Administrator or the BOE. The Abbott regulations in effect on September 10, 1999 required the principal to seek input from the SMT on the proposed school based budget and once that input had been provided, the principal was required to submit the budget to the Chief School Administrator and Board for comments. Urban Education Reform Regulations at N.J.A.C. 6:19A-4.4(c)

At the hearing, petitioner relied on the testimony of Mr. Wyns who was not even involved in the process but rather conducted a review after the DOE's refund request. There was significant testimony and argument that Ms. Sheppard did not rely upon the designated Cadwalader contact listed on the first page of the grant application, Gail Dubin. That is of no consequence for several reasons. The grant application instructions indicated that the contact person should be someone available during the summer. However, there was no evidence introduced at this hearing that Ms. Dubin had superior knowledge with regard to WSR start-up grants or grant writing in general or that she was the only individual authorized to make any revisions. If she was the only individual authorized to make revisions, it was the responsibility of Ms. Turnstall as principal to advise Ms. Sheppard of that. Principal Tunstall's name was listed on the application and she was clearly available to Ms. Sheppard during the summer. Ms.

Tunstall did not testify that she told Ms. Sheppard that she was not authorized to prepare revisions. In addition, the Implementation Regulations and the Urban Education Reform Regulations clearly establish the role of the school principal in the budgeting process. And although Ms. Tunstall testified that Ms. Sheppard advised her she would seek to ascertain if the original application for the purchase of 25 laptop computers could be approved instead, that is hearsay testimony not supported by the residuum rule N.J.A.C. 1:1-15.5. The school principal and SMT chairperson Juda Winget were responsible for communicating with the Chief School Administrator at all times. They did not notify him of the revisions or the possibility the DOE may still approve the purchase of 25 laptops.

Petitioner relies upon a prior regulation, N.J.A.C. 6:20-2A.2(i)2 for the premise that the verbal request and approval process utilized by the DOE did not permit the district BOE from maintaining detail budgets for state grants along with authorized revisions on file in its business office as required. However, responsibility ultimately fell upon the principal of the school who was an active participant in the revisions of the grant application as a member of the SMT and as principal to advise her chief school administrator and Board of the revisions that had been requested. The resolution of the within matter does not rest upon credibility determinations. All of the witnesses were credible. Mr. Wyns' testimony of the post-expenditure investigation on his part was not relevant. Ms. Tunstall was a credible witness. It was the first time she was involved in a grant application process and may have been overwhelmed. That, however, does not diminish her responsibility in this matter.

DECISION AND ORDER

Based upon the forgoing I FIND and CONCLUDE that the petitioners have not met the burden of proof of demonstrating why they should not be required to refund $44,000 in disallowed costs from the WSR incentive grant for fiscal year 2000. I hereby AFFIRM the DOE's request for reimbursement of $44,000 of disallowed funds, the expenditure of which was not consistent with the approved grant application. Petitioners are hereby ORDERED to reimburse the Department of Education $44,000.00.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen (13) days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

Record Closed: March 3, 2005 Decided: April 25, 2005

BEFORE JESSE H. STRAUSS, ALJ:

The matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) on August 17, 2004 for determination as a contested case. A hearing scheduled for December 23, 2004 was adjourned by the respondent due to the unavailability of essential witnesses. The record opened on February 9, 2005 and the matter was continued to March 3, 2005.

However, on March 2, 2005 the parties were able to resolve the matter. The parties submitted the attached signed Settlement Agreement on April 21, 2005. Having reviewed the record and the settlement terms, I FIND:

1. The parties have voluntarily agreed to the settlement as evidenced by their signatures and/or signatures of their representatives.

2. The settlement fully disposes of all issues in controversy and is consistent with the law.

I CONCLUDE that this agreement meets the requirements of N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1 and that the settlement should be approved. I approve the settlement and, therefore, ORDER that the parties comply with the settlement terms and that these proceedings be concluded.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. O.F on behalf of minor children, C.F., S.F. and K.F., Petitioner, v. BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE TOWNSHIP OF BELLEVILLE, ESSEX COUNTY, Respondent.	STATE OF NEW JERSEY DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION AGENCY DOCKET NO. 231-7/04 SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT

WHEREAS this matter was brought before the court by the Petitioner for review of the Respondent's determination that his children, C.F., S.F. and K.F., were not domiciled in the Township of Belleville during the 2003-2004 school year and were therefore ineligible to attend the Belleville Public Schools during the 2003-2004 school year, and the Respondent, Belleville Board of Education, having filed an Answer and Counterclaim seeking tuition reimbursement in the amount of $21,778.00 for the attendance of C.F., S.F., and K.F. in the Belleville Public Schools during the 2003-2004 school year, and the parties having reached a settlement to amicably adjust their differences;

IT IS HEREBY AGREED AS FOLLOWS:

1. O.F. shall deliver the sum of $7,500.00 as full and final payment of tuition to the Belleville Board of Education for the education of his children, C.F., S.F. and K.F., by the Belleville Public Schools during the 2003-2004 school year.

2. The settlement sum referenced in paragraph 1 shall be paid in twelve (12) equal payments of $625.00 by check made payable to the Belleville Board of Education, delivered to Mark A. Wenczel, Esq., Gaccione, Pomaco & Malanga, 524 Union Avenue, Belleville, New Jersey 07109 as follows:

A. $625.00 on or before March 11, 2005 followed by monthly payments on or before the first of each month thereafter through and including February 1, 2006, or until the settlement sum is paid in full.

3. If O.F. should fail to make any required payment as specified in this agreement, the Respondent may obtain a judgment for the entire amount of tuition claimed due in the Respondent's Answer and Counterclaim (i.e. $21,778.00, less credit for any payments made) by submitting a certification to the Court, certifying to the Petitioner's default.

4. Both parties acknowledge to having been represented by counsel of their choice in this matter and to having had the terms and significance of this Settlement Agreement explained to them prior to signing it.

ADAM DRAPCZUK,	:
PETITIONER,	:
V.	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE TOWNSHIP OF WINFIELD, UNION COUNTY,	:	DECISION
RESPONDENT.	:

SYNOPSIS

Petitioner contended that the Board violated N.J.S.A. 18A:17-15, et seq., by giving untimely notice of nonrenewal of the petitioner's employment contract as Chief School Administrator with the Winfield Township Board of Education, and maintained that, by virtue of the Board's improper non-renewal action, he was reemployed for the period from July 1, 2002 through June 30, 2006.

The ALJ identified the pivotal question in this matter to be what constitutes a "final order, ruling or other action by the district board of education" as contemplated by N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(d), and therefore whether either the respondent Board's action by letter dated April 24, 2001, or by formal board resolution on September 18, 2001, commenced the 90-day period for petitioner to appeal the Board's action to not renew his employment contract. The ALJ found that respondent Board provided adequate notice to petitioner, by letter dated April 24, 2001, that the Board intended not to renew his contract, and that the Board's resolution in September was a formality that confirmed their prior action. The ALJ concluded that: there are no disputed facts; the 90-day period for petitioner to appeal the Board's action commenced on April 24, 2001; and the petitioner's appeal exceeded the 90-day period for filing. The ALJ granted summary decision to respondent Board, and dismissed the instant petition.

Upon a thorough and independent review of the record, the Commissioner rejects the ALJ's conclusion that the petition was untimely filed, and finds that: the petitioner had no cause of action to pursue a claim in this matter prior to July 1, 2001; the 90-day appeal period must be calculated from that date; and the instant petition was timely filed. In so determining, the Commissioner emphasizes that the underlying issue is not whether the April letter constituted "sufficient notice," but whether the Board did, in fact, make a lawful determination of nonrenewal. Accordingly, the Commissioner remands the matter to the OAL for an expedited hearing to consider testimony surrounding the issuance of the April 2001 letter and the event or action which prompted the Board's ratification of the contents of that letter in September 2001, and for a legal determination as to whether the Board's actions in this matter constituted formal action in conformity with the Open Public Meetings Act, N.J.S.A. 18A:17-20.1, and other applicable education law so as to constitute a lawful determination of nonrenewal of which petitioner was duly noticed.

ADAM DRAPCZUK,	:
PETITIONER,	:
V.	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE TOWNSHIP OF WINFIELD, UNION COUNTY,	:	DECISION
RESPONDENT.	:

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed. Petitioner's exceptions and the Winfield Township Board of Education's (Board) reply thereto were submitted in accordance with N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4 and were duly considered by the Commissioner in reaching his determination.

Upon a thorough and independent review of the record in this matter, the Commissioner rejects the Administrative Law Judge's conclusion that the within appeal was untimely filed. In so concluding, the Commissioner finds that petitioner had no cause of action to pursue a claim in this matter prior to July 1, 2001 for the reasons set forth below.

Assuming, arguendo, that the April 24, 2001 letter from the president and vice-president of the Board constituted official Board action in conformity with the Open Public Meetings Act, N.J.S.A. 18A:17-20.1 and applicable education law, the sole claim which could be triggered by that letter would be one of wrongful termination on statutorily or constitutionally proscribed grounds. That, however, is not the claim which has been asserted herein. Rather, petitioner asserts that, notwithstanding the letter of April 24, 2001, no formal action was taken to determine to nonrenew his employment. As stated by petitioner in his certification:

> I was notified by letter from the Board President and Vice-President, that I should expect that my contract would not be renewed beyond its June 30, 2002 expiration date; however, I waited for the full Board to take action on this matter. On many occasions the Board President had issued directives to me, that other board members were not aware of, and had assumed authority over matters that were not authorized by the Board.  (Petitioner's Certification at 1, No. 2)

Because the Board could have acted at any time prior to and including June 30, 2001 to correct any alleged deficiencies in its notification or determination of nonrenewal, the Commissioner finds that the earliest date that petitioner could have asserted a viable claim that his contract was renewed by operation of N.J.S.A. 18A:17-20.1 was July 1, 2001.[1] In that petitioner's appeal was filed on September 28, 2001, well within the 90-day time limitation set forth in N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(d), therefore, the Commissioner concludes that the petition of appeal in this matter was timely filed. In so determining, the Commissioner emphasizes that the underlying issue in this matter is not whether the April 24, 2001 letter constituted "sufficient notice," but whether -- in the sense discussed in the Kaprow decision upon which the Board and the ALJ so heavily rely -- the Board did, in fact, make a lawful determination of nonrenewal.

Accordingly, this matter is hereby remanded to the OAL for an expedited hearing for consideration of testimony surrounding both the issuance of the April 24, 2001 letter and the event or action which prompted the Board to ratify the contents of the April 24 letter on September 18, 2001, and for a legal determination as to whether the Board's actions in this matter constituted formal action in conformity with the Open Public Meetings Act, N.J.S.A. 18A:17-20.1, and other applicable education law so as to constitute a lawful determination of nonrenewal of which petitioner was duly noticed.

IT IS SO ORDERED.[2]

OAL DKT. NO. EDU 8101-01
AGENCY DKT. NO. 133-4/03

ADAM DRAPCZUK,
Petitioner,
v.
BOARD OF EDUCATION OF WINFIELD TOWNSHIP,
UNION COUNTY,
Respondent.

Melissa Vance, Esq., for petitioner

Mark A. Tabakin, Esq., and Margaret Miller, Esq., for respondent
(Weiner Lesniak, attorneys)

Record Closed: February 23, 2005 Decided: April 6, 2005

BEFORE MUMTAZ BARI-BROWN, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Petitioner Adam Drapczuk, a chief school administrator, contends that respondent Board of Education of the Township of Winfield's action to nonrenew his employment contract occurred on September 18, 2001, more than two months beyond the deadline of June 30, 2001. Petitioner maintains that he is reemployed in this position from July 1, 2002, to June 30, 2006.

The Board argues that on April 24, 2001, it properly took action to nonrenew petitioner's contract. Therefore, petitioner's appeal on September 27, 2001, is untimely and the petition must be dismissed.

On November 16, 2001, the matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13. A hearing was scheduled for October 3 and 7, 2002. On September 30, 2002, the parties requested an adjournment to discuss settlement. The parties did not settle the matter and informed the undersigned that they intended to file cross-motions for summary decision. The record remained open to allow the parties to submit briefs on the cross-motions. Inadvertently, due to administrative oversight, the record remained open and the ruling on the motions was protracted. Upon receipt of correspondence from the parties regarding the status of the matter, the undersigned reviewed the documents and closed the record on February 23, 2005.

FACTS

The relevant facts are undisputed. I FIND:

1. Petitioner Adam E. Drapczuk and the Board of Education of the Township of Winfield, Union County, entered into a contract of employment to employ petitioner in the position of chief school administrator.

2. August 17, 1998, to June 30, 2002, was the duration of Drapczuk's employment contract.

3. Pursuant to the Open Public Meetings Act the Board informed Drapczuk that it would discuss his employment position at special Board of Education meetings on December 12, 2000, January 23, 2001, March 20, 2001, and April 16, 2001. Each notice included the following statement: "The purpose of the meeting is to discuss your evaluation of performance for the present school year. The meeting will be held in the School Library, starting at 7:30 pm. You may request in writing that you would like this issue to be discussed in public."

4. A letter to Drapczuk dated April 24, 2001, and signed by the president and vice-president of the Board states, "The Winfield Board of Education, with offices located at Gulfstream Avenue, in the Township of Winfield, will not be renewing your employment contract when your present contract expires on June 30, 2002."

5. Drapczuk received the letter dated April 24, 2001.

6. On September 18, 2001, the Board passed the following resolution:

> BE IT RESOLVED that the Winfield Board of Education hereby ratifies its earlier decision not to renew the employment contract for its Chief School Administrator, Adam Drapczuk, when said contract expires on June 30, 2002, as discussed with Mr. Drapczuk in Executive Session during April of 2001 and confirmed in writing on April 24, 2001.

ISSUE

The issue is whether the Board's action on April 24, 2001, or September 18, 2001, commenced the 90-day period for petitioner to appeal the Board's action to not renew his employment contract.

ARGUMENTS

Petitioner contends that the letter dated April 24, 2001, signed by the Board's president and vice president, absent a vote of the entire Board, does not constitute action or decision of the Board for the purposes of the 90-day rule. Rather, the Board's vote on September 18, 2001, which adopted the contents of the letter, triggered the 90-day period. Thus, petitioner maintains that he timely appealed the Board's action. Petitioner relies on several school law decisions: M.W. v. Bd. of Educ. of Freehold Reg. High Sch., 1975 S.L.D. 127, aff'd, 1975 S.L.D. 137 (State Board affirmed the hearing officer's determination that a decision, in caucus session, to expel a student was not made in public session, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:10-6); Migliaccio v. Bd. of Educ. of Paterson, 1990 S.L.D. 543 (no single board member may speak for the board); Dorrington v. North Bergen Bd. of Educ., 1982 S.L.D. 247 (an employee may not rely on the promises or actions of individual board members); Syversten v. Scotch Plains-Fanwood Bd. of Educ., 92 *N.J.A.R.*2d (EDU) 251, aff'd, 92 *N.J.A.R.*2d 393, aff'd, No. A-5928-91 (App. Div. 1993) (letter sent by the board president was not a formal board action because the full board had not ratified the contents of the letter).

Petitioner further avers that the Board never took action in "public" or "private" session "to authorize the board president to issue the written notice of nonrenewal." Petitioner's Brief at 2. Moreover, the certifications by Board members do not reference "a board meeting, private or public, at which the board members authorized, by vote, the board president to notify the petitioner of its decision." Ibid. Thus, petitioner maintains that the board took no action in April from which to apply the 90-day rule.

Respondent argues that its letter dated April 24, 2001, was sufficient to start the 90-day limitation to appeal the Board's action. Actual knowledge of the Board's intent to terminate is all that is necessary. Thus, on April 24, 2001, petitioner knew, or should have known, that his contract was not to be renewed when he received the letter. The Board relies on Kaprow v. Board of Education of Berkeley, 131 N.J. 572 (1993). In Kaprow the Court stated that hearing from a board secretary that the board had created and filled two positions in which Kaprow claimed tenure rights was adequate notice.

> That notice, although it was unofficial and informal, was sufficient to trigger the ninety-day limitations period. It is clear that Kaprow learned that the Local Board had in fact taken final and formal action. Kaprow obviously believed that his tenured status entitled him to one or both of those positions under N.J.S.A. 18A:28-12 and the notice he had received was adequate to enable him to pursue his claim.
> [131 N.J. at 588.]

Respondent further relies on the certification of Barbara Baker, Board president, which states in part:

> During the December 12, 2000 meeting, the board reviewed and discussed Drapczuk's performance evaluations and unanimously decided not to offer Drapczuk continued employment with the District. Although the Board determined at its December 12, 2000 meeting that it would not be renewing Drapczuk's contract, the Board did not immediately notify petitioner of its decision because the Board did not want to advise Drapczuk prior to the Christmas Holiday that he would not be rehired after the upcoming school year.
>
> On January 19, 2001, petitioner was forwarded a second written notice advising him that the board intended to discuss his job performance and continued employment at its regular Board of Education meeting being held on January 23, 2001.
>
> Following the January meeting of the Board, the Board began negotiating with petitioner in an attempt to effectuate a buy-out of the remainder of his contract.
>
> Drapczuk refused to accept the Board's offer of a buyout of his contract, advising the board that he wished to continue his employment for the remainder of the term of his contract.
>
> Once Drapczuk rejected the buy-out, the Board began undertaking action to non-renew Drapczuk's employment contract.
>
> On March 15, 2001, petitioner was served with a third written notice advising him that the Board again intended to discuss his performance issues and his continued employment with the Board at its regular meeting scheduled on March 20, 2001.
>
> Thereafter, on April 5, 2001, petitioner was served with another notice advising him that the Board intended to discuss his employment with the Board at its regularly scheduled meeting to be held on April 16, 2001. It was at the meeting that the Board authorized its President to issue the non-renewal letter.
> During the Executive Session of each of its meetings held on December 12, 2000, January 23, 2001, March 20, 2001 and April 16, 2001, the entire Board discussed Drapczuk's unsatisfactory job performance, and by way of consensus, unanimously agreed that it would not offer Drapczuk continued employment after his current term expired.

By letter dated April 24, 2001, Drapczuk was advised of the Board's decision to non-renew his Contract of Employment.

Prior to adopting the Resolution ratifying its previous decision to not renew Drapczuk's contract, the Board did not act in public as such discussions involved a personnel matter properly discussed in Executive Session.

Moreover, despite being advised of his right to have his employment discussed during the public sessions of the Board's meetings, Drapczuk failed to take any action to compel such discussions in public.

DISCUSSION

The "90-day rule" provides:

> The petitioner shall file a petition no later than the 90th day from the date of receipt of the notice of a final order, ruling or other action by the district board of education, individual party, or agency, which is the subject of the requested contested case hearing.
> [N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(d).]

"Adequate notice must be sufficient to inform an individual of some fact that he or she has a right to know and that the communicating party has a duty to communicate." Kaprow, supra, 131 N.J. at 587. Thus, I have carefully considered the time line of events and the facts to determine if the petition in the instant matter was filed timely in accordance with N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(d).

In Kaprow, the New Jersey Supreme Court held that the Commissioner and the State Board have the authority to establish a time limitation for the resolution of disputes arising under the school laws. The Court also addressed the public policy reasons behind the 90-day rule:

> The limitations period provides a measure of repose, an essential element in the proper and efficient administration of the school laws. It stabilizes the relationship between the teachers and the administration. Because education disputes frequently involve conflicting claims to one teaching position, the remedy is to award the prevailing party the position with back pay. The limitation period gives school districts the security of knowing that administrative decisions regarding the operation of the school cannot be challenged after 90 days. Moreover, because local school boards operate on a cash basis, claims must be filed promptly so that the local board can anticipate any back-pay requirements.

See also Nissman v. Long Beach Island Bd. of Educ., 272 N.J. Super. 373, 380 (App. Div.), certif. denied, 137 N.J. 315 (1994) ("What is important is that the Local Board had the right to know within 90 days whether its action was going to be challenged."). Thus, N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(d) represents a fair and necessary requirement for the proper and efficient resolution of disputes arising under school laws. Kaprow, supra, 131 N.J. at 582.

Petitioner acknowledges receipt of the letter dated April 24, 2001, signed by the president and vice president of the Board, which states, "The Winfield Board of Education, with offices located at Gulfstream Avenue, in the Township of Winfield, will not be renewing your employment contract when your present contract expires on June 30, 2002." However, petitioner sought a formal vote, "in public or private," by the Board to authenticate the notice of renewal dated April 24, 2001. Thus, petitioner maintains that he timely filed his petition under the 90-day rule. Moreover, his continued employment is covered under N.J.S.A. 18A:17-20.1, which provides for reappointment of superintendents and for boards declining to reappoint superintendents. Essentially, at the conclusion of the term of the contract, the superintendent shall be deemed reappointed unless either: "a. the board by contract reappoints him for a different term which term shall be not less than three nor more than five years, in which event reappointments thereafter shall be deemed for the new term unless a different term is again specified; or b. at least one year prior to the expiration of the first or any subsequent contract the board shall notify the superintendent in writing that he will not be reappointed at the end of the current term, in which event his employment shall cease at the expiration of that term."

I have reviewed the documents and the parties' certifications. Petitioner conceded in his certification, "I was notified by letter from the Board President and Vice President, that I should expect that my contract would not be renewed beyond its June 30, 2002, expiration date; however, I waited for the full Board to take action on this matter."

Board member Kathleen Dooley was present at the meetings held on December 12, 2000, January 23, 2001, March 20, 2001, and April 16, 2001. Dooley states in her certification, "The entire Board discussed Drapczuk's unsatisfactory job performance and his continued employment with the Board. As a result of these discussions, the Board unanimously agreed that it would not renew Drapczuk's employment contract." Similar statements were contained in certifications by other Board members, including Fred Viteka, Joyce Reilly, Robert Stuck, Florence Marsden, Robert Heuser, Tim Heuser, and Ronald Hade. Moreover, Board member Ryan Carter certified that at the April 12, 2001 meeting, the Board directed its president to notify petitioner that his contract would not be renewed.

Based on the undisputed facts presented in the parties' motion papers, I reject as unsupported petitioner's claims that the final act of the respondent occurred on September 18, 2001. Indeed, petitioner did not challenge the statements contained in the Board members' certifications. Consequently, after the Board discussed petitioner's performance "the Board unanimously agreed that it would not renew Drapczuk's employment contract." The pivotal question is what constitutes a "final order, ruling or other action by the district board of education" as contemplated by N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(d)? I am persuaded by the Board's argument that by letter of April 24, 2001, the Board provided adequate notice to Drapczuk that the Board intended not to renew the contract.

The public policy, which favors providing school districts with a measure of repose, must be balanced with petitioner's right to notice that the school board has taken a position adverse to his employment. For example, in Kaprow, a secretary of the respondent board of education notified the petitioner, an assistant superintendent for administrative services who had been terminated in a reduction of force, that other appointees had assumed positions for which the tenured Kaprow asserted he was qualified. The Court held that such informal notice satisfied the "notice of a final order, ruling or other action" by the respondent, as required by N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(d). 131 N.J. at 588. The Court also stated:

> Adequate notice must be sufficient to inform an individual of some fact that he or she has a right to know and that the communicating party has a duty to communicate. Moreover, adequate notice under the regulation must be sufficient to further the purpose of the ninety-day limitations period. . . .
> . . . [T]he notice requirement should effectuate concerns for individual justice by not triggering the limitations period until [the petitioner has been alerted to the existence of facts that would be adverse to him or her]. At the same time, it should further considerations of repose by establishing an objective event to trigger the limitations period in order "to enable the proper and efficient administration of the affairs of government." Borough of Park Ridge v. Salimone, 21 N.J. 28, 48, 120 *A.*2d 721 (1956).
> [Id. at 587 (citations omitted).]

Here, after discussing petitioner's performance, the Board directed Baker to write the letter to petitioner and inform him that his contract would not be renewed. Although the directive was not by formal motion or resolution, under Kaprow notice without formal action of the Board may be adequate because it was information that the petitioner had a right to know and that the Board had a duty to communicate. The Board's resolution on September 18, 2001, was a mere formality that confirmed prior action as described in the letter dated April 24, 2001. The 90-day requirement has been strictly followed and applied almost without exception. Petitioner offered no reasonable support for an exception to the rule.

Summary Decision

Pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(b), summary decision is appropriate > if the papers and discovery which have been filed, together with the affidavits, if any, show that there is no genuine issue as to any material fact challenged and that the moving party is entitled to prevail as a matter of law.

Summary decision in administrative proceedings parallels summary judgment in the courts. Summary judgment is > designed to provide a prompt, businesslike and inexpensive method of disposing of any cause which a discriminating search of the merits in the pleadings, depositions and admissions on file, together with the affidavits submitted on the motion clearly shows not to present any genuine issue of material fact requiring disposition at a trial.

> [Judson v. Peoples Bank and Trust Co. of Westfield, 17 N.J. 67, 74 (1954).]

In administrative proceedings, as in the courts, it is "the movant's burden to exclude any reasonable doubt as to the existence of any genuine issue of material fact." Id. at 74. Thus, "[a]ll inferences of doubt are drawn against the movant in favor of the opponent of the motion. The papers supporting the motion are closely scrutinized and the opposing papers indulgently treated." Id. at 75.

The New Jersey Supreme Court in Brill v. Guardian Life Insurance Co., 142 N.J. 520, 539-40 (1995), applied the summary judgment standard. Under Brill, once the movant has presented competent evidence tending to show the absence of any genuine issue of material fact requiring a trial, the party objecting to the motion must present evidence showing that there is such an issue. If the party objecting fails to show such an issue, the motion may be granted.

Based on the whole of the record, I CONCLUDE that there are no disputed facts.

Further, I CONCLUDE that the Board's action on April 24, 2001, commenced the 90-day period for petitioner to appeal the Board's action to not renew his employment contract.

Further, I CONCLUDE that petitioner's appeal exceeded the 90-day period for filing. Therefore, the petition is untimely.

ORDER

It is ORDERED that summary decision for respondent Board of Education of Winfield Township, Union County, be GRANTED.

It is ORDERED that the petition of Adam Drapczuk be DISMISSED.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen (13) days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, P.O. Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

IN THE MATTER OF THE DENIAL OF THE :

ISSUANCE OF A TEACHING CERTIFICATE : COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION

TO WILLIAM TIERNEY. : DECISION

SYNOPSIS

Petitioner appealed the decision of the respondent State Board of Examiners (SBE) to deny reinstatement of his Secondary School Teacher of Science Certificate following voluntary surrender of his certificates as part of a settlement agreement to resolve tenure charges against him, and subsequent revocation by the State Board of Examiners. Petitioner requested reinstatement of his former teaching certificate following rehabilitation pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6:11-3.6(g), the regulation in effect at the time the petitioner filed his appeal.

The ALJ denied the petitioner's motion for summary decision, for the following reasons: 1) that regulations in effect at the time of the petitioner's application govern this matter, but that such regulations permit the SBE to refuse to reinstate a certificate after affording the applicant an opportunity to be heard; 2) that the petitioner cannot apply for a new Secondary School Teacher of Science certificate because the SBE can only issue endorsements authorized under the current regulations; 3) petitioner cannot receive a new science endorsement because current regulations require that at least four years must have passed since the effective date of the revocation of the previous certificate; and 4) pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:9-17.10(c)(1), the SBE is not allowed to issue any new certificate to petitioner because he relinquished his certificates pursuant to the settlement of a tenure action against him. The ALJ granted respondent's cross motion for summary decision, and ordered the petitioner's appeal dismissed.

Upon a thorough and independent review of the record in this matter, including the Initial Decision and the parties' exception arguments, the Commissioner rejects the ALJ's analysis and conclusions and grants summary judgment to the petitioner. In so deciding, the Commissioner emphasizes that the governing regulation clearly provides for reinstatement of a revoked certificate. Moreover, there are many individuals teaching under Secondary School Teacher of Science certificates issued in the 1970's and 1980's who have not been required to update their licensing by applying for new certificates under new regulations. Therefore, the SBE's conclusion with respect to the petitioner's application for reinstatement of his certificate was inequitable and contrary to N.J.A.C. 6:11-3.6(g).

This synopsis is not part of the Commissioner's decision. It has been prepared for the convenience of the reader. It has been neither reviewed nor approved by the Commissioner.

AGENCY DKT. NO. 319-9/03

IN THE MATTER OF THE DENIAL OF THE	:
ISSUANCE OF A TEACHING CERTIFICATE	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
TO WILLIAM TIERNEY.	:	DECISION

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed. Both parties submitted exceptions in accordance with N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4, which were duly considered by the Commissioner in reaching his determination.

In his exceptions, petitioner points out that the facts in this matter are not in dispute and argues that the regulation governing reinstatement of revoked teaching certificates at the time he made his initial request for reinstatement, N.J.A.C. 6:11-3.6(g), is controlling in this matter. (Petitioner's Exceptions at 1) In support thereof, petitioner submits that N.J.A.C. 6:11-3.6(g) was in effect at the time the State Board of Examiners (SBE) issued its decision of November 25, 2002, wherein it was specifically stated that petitioner was "subject to the current certification requirements." (Id. at 1-2)

Petitioner avers that N.J.A.C. 6:11-3.6(g) states that it is the revoked certificate that is to be reinstated and that the courts have held that clear and unambiguous statutes and regulations must be given their plain meaning. (Id. at 2) However, notwithstanding the Administrative Law Judge's (ALJ) conclusion that the regulations in effect at the time of petitioner's application governed in this matter, petitioner asserts, the ALJ "construed the regulation contrary to all common sense" and found that once a petitioner has demonstrated rehabilitation, the SBE then has "the discretion to determine whether the rehabilitation is worthy of reinstatement." (Id. at 2-3) Petitioner points out that this bifurcation does not appear anywhere in the statute and contends the ALJ's interpretation that there are two types of rehabilitations, one authorizing the reinstatement of revoked certificates and another which mandates that the teacher take steps to apply for a new certificate, was not even urged by the SBE. (Id. at 3)

Petitioner submits that the only issue before the Commissioner is the construction of N.J.A.C. 6:11-3.6(g), the regulation which governed reinstatement of revoked teaching certificates at the time petitioner made his request. Citing Eastampton Center v. Planning Board of the Township of Eastampton, 354 N.J. Super. 171, 196-97 (App. Div. 2002) and Kruvant v. Mayor and Council of Cedar Grove, 82 N.J. 435, 440 (1980), petitioner asserts that the time-of-decision rule is to be narrowly construed and only applied when its modification is intended to be retroactive to pending cases and points out that the courts have stated that the equities to the parties must be balanced in applying the time-of-decision rule as the ultimate objective is fairness to both the public and the individual parties. (Id. at 4) Petitioner avers that the time-of-decision rule should not apply in this instance because, inter alia, there is nothing in the regulatory scheme which indicates that the regulation was intended to be applied retroactively and such application would be a disservice to petitioner, who submitted appropriate evidence of rehabilitation, which was accepted by the SBE as proof of his rehabilitation. (Ibid.) Petitioner thus concludes that the new regulation, which was not in effect at the time he submitted his proof of rehabilitation, should not now apply. (Ibid.) Petitioner, therefore, submits that the ALJ's determination should be rejected and that his revoked certificate should be reinstated as mandated by the regulation in effect in November 2002, and even as late as April 2003, when the SBE made its second determination in this matter. (Id. at 5)

In its exceptions, the SBE notes that the ALJ found that the SBE was not required to reinstate petitioner's revoked certificate in that the regulation in place at the time petitioner applied for certification after revocation did not require the SBE to automatically reinstate a revoked certificate once rehabilitation had been established. (SBE Exceptions at 1-2) Notwithstanding the ALJ's conclusion that the time of decision rule was inapplicable and the matter was thus subject to the regulations in place at the time of petitioner's application, the SBE points out that the ALJ then decided this matter as if governed by the current regulations. (Id. at 2) Upon analysis under the current regulations, the ALJ found that a revoked certificate cannot be reinstated, but an individual may apply for a new certificate. (Ibid.) The SBE further observes that the ALJ also determined that petitioner was not eligible for a Biological Science endorsement, the equivalent of a Secondary School Teacher of Science Certificate under the current regulations, because the requisite time since revocation had not passed, and that, moreover, petitioner is ineligible for a new certificate, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:9-17.10(c), in that his forfeiture was part of a settlement of tenure proceedings. (Id. at 2-3)

Since the conclusions in the Initial Decision were based on two different sets of regulations, the SBE states that its purpose in submitting exceptions is to clarify its position should the matter be decided upon the regulations in effect at the time petitioner applied for certification upon revocation. (Id. at 3) In this regard, the SBE argues, inter alia, that the language in N.J.A.C. 6:11-3.6(g) does not mandate reinstatement of a revoked certificate upon proof of rehabilitation, claiming that the phrase "without providing the petitioner an opportunity to be heard," simply qualifies the language "shall not refuse to reinstate a revoked certificate" and, thus, the only requirement is that the SBE provide an individual an opportunity to be heard. (Id. at 4, 6) The SBE avers that it satisfied the requirement specified in the regulation by providing petitioner an opportunity to be heard. (Id. at 7)

Additionally, the SBE claims that at the time petitioner applied for a Secondary School Teacher of Science Certificate, its policy, now codified at N.J.A.C. 6A:9-17.19(a), was that revocation is a finality and that once a teaching certificate is revoked it no longer exists.

(Ibid.) Accordingly, an individual with a revoked certificate was not applying to have the certificate reinstated, but, instead, was considered as applying for a new certificate. (Ibid.) Moreover, in this instance the SBE avers, it was not authorized to reinstate petitioner's Secondary School Teacher of Science Certificate because such certification did not exist under the regulations in effect at the time petitioner applied for certification. (Id. at 8) N.J.A.C. 6:11-6.2 (i-ii), however, authorized an Instructional Certificate with an endorsement for Biological Science, Earth Science and/or Physical Science, and since a holder of an Instructional Certificate with an endorsement for Biological Science can teach biological and general science at any level, petitioner was evaluated for an Instructional Certificate with a Biological Science endorsement. (Id. at 8-9) In conclusion, the SBE requests a finding that it properly denied petitioner's request to reinstate his Secondary School Teacher of Science Certificate after it was revoked. (Id. at 9)

Upon a thorough and independent review of the record in this matter, including the Initial Decision and the parties' exception arguments, the Commissioner rejects the ALJ's analysis and conclusions and, instead, grants petitioner's motion for summary decision for the reasons set forth below.

Initially, the Commissioner notes that, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(b) and Contini v. Bd. of Educ. of Newark, 286 N.J. Super. 106, 121-122 (App. Div. 1995) (citing Brill v. Guardian Life Ins. Co., 142 N.J. 520 (1995)), summary decision may be granted in an administrative proceeding if there is no genuine issue of material fact in dispute and the moving party is entitled to prevail as a matter of law. In the instant matter, the parties submitted cross-motions for summary decision, agreeing that there are no material facts in dispute, and the Commissioner has concluded that petitioner is entitled to prevail as a matter of law.

Petitioner herein is appealing a determination by the SBE denying the reinstatement of his Secondary School Teacher of Science Certificate. That certificate, as well as his Principal/Supervisor and Supervisor certificates, was revoked by the SBE on January 17, 2002 as a result of petitioner's voluntary surrender of his certificates as part of a settlement agreement to resolve tenure charges against him.[1] At its meeting on September 26, 2002, the SBE denied issuance of certification to petitioner, finding that insufficient time had elapsed for rehabilitation since the revocation of his certificates. The SBE subsequently vacated that decision on November 14, 2002, finding that when evaluating petitioner's conduct from the time of the conduct that resulted in tenure charges, instead of the date his certificates had been revoked, petitioner had demonstrated rehabilitation. (SBE decision of November 14, 2002, SBE Brief at 2, dated June 3, 2004 and undated memorandum to the SBE attached as Exhibit A to SBE Brief, dated June 3, 2004) By decision dated April 7, 2003, the SBE notified petitioner of its denial of petitioner's request for a Secondary School Teacher of Science Certificate, explaining that the certificate requested had not been issued since the late 1980's and that the current regulations did not include such certification. However, the SBE also indicated in that decision that petitioner could apply for certification under the current regulations.[2]

In reviewing this matter, it is noted that the threshold issue is which regulation is controlling, N.J.A.C. 6:11-3.6(g), the regulation in effect at the time petitioner applied to have his Secondary School Teacher of Science Certificate reinstated and also in effect when the SBE rejected his request to reinstate his certificate, or N.J.A.C. 6A:9-17.10, which was promulgated during the pendency of this matter with an effective date of January 20, 2004. Under the circumstances herein where the current regulations do not specify retroactive application, but, instead, indicate in two separate sections that applicants are subject to certification requirements in effect at the time of the application, and in light of the SBE decision of November 25, 2002 which specifically states that petitioner is subject to "current certification requirements," the Commissioner concludes that N.J.A.C. 6:11-3.6(g) governs this matter.

[1] Petitioner was charged with unbecoming conduct, insubordination, incapacity and abandonment of position. (Settlement Agreement at 1) In an affidavit submitted to the SBE, dated February 3, 2003, petitioner acknowledges that he is a recovering alcoholic whose alcoholism interfered with his job performance. (Petitioner's Affidavit at 2, No. 6) Petitioner also asserts that he has a "sobriety date of July 13, 1997," explaining that he has not had a drink since that date and continues to attend AA meetings and to speak publicly about intoxication. (Id. at 3, No. 11)

[2] As previously indicated, N.J.A.C. 6:11-6.2 (i-ii) authorized the holder of an Instructional Certificate with a Biological Science endorsement to teach biological science and general science at all levels.

N.J.A.C. 6:11-3.6(g) provides:

> Where an applicant for certification indicates that he or she previously held a certificate issued by the State Board of Examiners, which certificate was revoked, the Board of Examiners may require the applicant to set forth the pertinent circumstances relating to the revocation, and require the applicant to demonstrate to the Board rehabilitation which warrants reinstatement of the revoked certificate. The Board shall not refuse to reinstate a revoked certificate without providing the petitioner an opportunity to be heard. (emphasis supplied)

Notwithstanding the SBE's claim that its policy at the time of petitioner's application was that revocation is a finality and that once a teaching certificate is revoked it no longer exists, the SBE did not provide a copy of the policy to which it refers nor did it provide any explanation as to how such policy comports with N.J.A.C. 6:11-3.6(g), which, as emphasized above, clearly refers to reinstatement of the revoked certificate. In the instant matter, the SBE found petitioner to be rehabilitated, but instead of reinstating his certificate, it forwarded to him an evaluation form to apply for an Instructional Certificate with an endorsement for Biological Science. In that there are many individuals teaching under Secondary School Teacher of Science Certificates issued in the 1970's and 1980's who have not been required to update their certifications by applying for new certificates under new regulations and, given the language in the regulation clearly providing for reinstatement of a revoked certificate, the Commissioner finds the SBE's conclusion with respect to petitioner's application for reinstatement of his certificate both inequitable and contrary to N.J.A.C. 6:11-3.6(g).

With respect to the SBE's claim that finding an individual rehabilitated does not mandate the reinstatement[3] of a revoked certificate, the Commissioner finds it instructive to consider the history of N.J.A.C. 6:11-3.6(g). When N.J.A.C. 6:11-3.6(g) was proposed for amendment in 1990, it originally read:

> Where an applicant for certification indicates that he or she previously held a certificate issued by the State Board of Examiners, which certificate was revoked, the Board of Examiners may require the applicant to set forth the pertinent circumstances relating to the revocation, and require the applicant to demonstrate to the Board rehabilitation or other evidence that he or she no longer poses a threat to children that are entrusted in his or her care. (emphasis supplied) 22 N.J.R. 1879

As a result of public comment, the language highlighted above was changed prior to adoption by the State Board as noted below:

> COMMENT: Proposed N.J.A.C. 6:11-3.6(g) requires persons whose certificates have been revoked to present evidence that "he or she no longer poses a threat to children..." It is not clear that all revocations are the result of the certificate holder having posed a "threat to children."
>
> RESPONSE: The Department agrees and has made the following change upon adoption. [or other evidence that he or she no longer poses a threat to children who are entrusted to his or her care] which warrants reinstatement of the revoked certificate. The Board shall not refuse to reinstate a revoked certificate without providing the petitioner an opportunity to be heard. (emphasis in text) 22 N.J.R. 3242

Given this information with respect to the evolution of the language that appears in the final sentence of N.J.A.C. 6:11-3.6(g), whereby the State Board of Education seeks to ensure both a thorough review of an individual's application for reinstatement of a revoked certificate and protection of the applicant's rights to a review, the Commissioner concludes that N.J.A.C. 6:11-3.6(g) provides the authority for the SBE to require the applicant to set forth the circumstances related to his/her revocation and to demonstrate rehabilitation, and emphasizes that the SBE cannot refuse to reinstate a revoked certificate without providing the individual seeking reinstatement an opportunity to be heard. There is no allegation in the record that petitioner is guilty of a disqualifying offense, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1, and the SBE has not expressed any concerns arising from the circumstances related to the revocation of petitioner's certificate or his rehabilitation which would preclude the reinstatement of his teaching certification. Moreover, contrary to the SBE's assertion that it does not have the authority to reinstate a certificate that it has not issued since the late 1980's, such authority flows from N.J.A.C. 6:11-3.6(g), which was duly promulgated and adopted by the State Board of Education and authorizes the reinstatement of a revoked certificate.

Accordingly, the Commissioner finds that the SBE improperly denied petitioner's request for reinstatement of his Secondary School Teacher of Science Certificate. Summary decision is, therefore, granted to petitioner.

IT IS SO ORDERED.[4]

IN THE MATTER OF THE DENIAL OF THE ISSUANCE OF A TEACHING CERTIFICATE TO WILLIAM TIERNEY

Sanford R. Oxfeld, Esq., for petitioner
(Oxfeld, Cohen, P.C., attorneys)

Cindy Campbell, Deputy Attorney General, for respondent
(Peter C. Harvey, Attorney General of New Jersey, attorneys)

Record Closed: July 8, 2004 Decided: December 21, 2004

BEFORE: IRENE JONES, ALJ

STATEMENT OF CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Petitioner, William J. Tierney, appeals the decision of the respondent, State Board of Examiners, (respondent or Board) that denied him a Secondary School Teacher of Science Certificate.

Petitioner's appeal was filed with the respondent on April 21, 2003. On September 3, 2003, the respondent remanded the matter to the Commissioner of Education finding that the Commissioner had original jurisdiction of any appeal in this matter. On September 8, 2003, the matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law for hearing as a contested case. A prehearing conference was held and the parties agreed to file cross motions for summary decision.

FACTS

Based on the record, I FIND the following FACTS:

On January 17, 2002, the State Board of Examiners ("Board") voted to revoke the petitioner's endorsements as Secondary School Teacher of Science, Principal/Supervisor and Supervisor.[1] Prior to the revocation, the Petitioner had consented to voluntarily surrender his teaching endorsements to settle pending tenure charges filed against him by the Wayne Board of Education.

On September 26, 2002, the Board denied petitioner's request for "certification after revocation" on the grounds he could not prove rehabilitation because an insufficient amount of time had elapsed since his original endorsements were revoked. On November 14, 2002, however, the Board vacated its September 26th decision finding "that when it considered petitioner's conduct from the time of his inappropriate conduct

[1] The terms "certificate" and "endorsement" are often used synonymously in tenure law. Howley v. Ewing Township Bd. of Ed., 6 N.J.A.R. 509, 512 (1982). This, however, is a misuse of terminology and is so common it has become the rule rather than the exception. Ibid. Unfortunately, the regulations further perpetuate the confusion by misusing the terms in the text. See N.J.A.C. 6A:9. The following explains the distinctions between certificates and endorsements:

The Board of Examiners issues a "certificate" permitting an individual to serve as a teaching staff member. N.J.A.C. 6A:9-2.1. There are only three types of certificates: 1) instructional, 2) administrative and 3) educational services. N.J.A.C. 6A:9-5.2.

In addition to the three types of certificates available, the Board of Examiners also issues separate endorsements for each specific subject area a certificate holder is authorized to serve. N.J.A.C. 6A:9-2.1. For example, biological science is a teaching endorsement that attaches to an instructional certificate. N.J.A.C. 6A:9-9.2(a)(5). Endorsements are considered part of the certificate. N.J.A.C. 6A:9-2.1. An educator must hold the appropriate certificate and endorsement for a position. N.J.A.C. 6A:9-5.1–9.1.

It appears that the petitioner retains his instructional certificate, and seeks reinstatement of his science endorsement. This decision applies the correct language concerning certificates and endorsements.

that had resulted in the tenure charges, rather than from the date of revocation, petitioner proved rehabilitation."

On November 25, 2002, the Board advised petitioner that it had vacated its earlier decision, and he was now allowed to apply for teaching endorsements, subject to current requirements.

The Office of Licensure and Credentials ("Office") provided petitioner with an evaluation for a Teacher of Biological Science endorsement. However, on February 12, 2003, petitioner requested that the Board issue him a Secondary School Teacher of Science endorsement.

On April 3, 2003, the Board denied petitioner's request for a Secondary School Teacher of Science endorsement because "that particular [endorsement] had not been issued since the late 1980's, and it is not identified in the current regulations as one that the Office was authorized to issue." Thereafter, by letter dated April 7, 2003, the Board advised petitioner that it considers the revocation final and, once revoked, an education endorsement no longer exists. The letter further advised petitioner that once an endorsement is revoked, the individual is allowed to apply for a new endorsement according to the current requirements.

Petitioner appealed the Board's decision to the State Board of Education. On September 3, 2003, the State Board of Education remanded the matter to the Commissioner of Education for his consideration. The State Board of Education determined that the Commissioner of Education had original jurisdiction to hear any appeal from the Board concerning the denial of the issuance of a teaching endorsement.

ARGUMENT

In support of its motion for summary decision, petitioner argues that the matter is controlled by N.J.A.C. 6:11-3.6(g) which provides:

> Where an applicant for certification indicates that he or she previously held a certificate issued by the State Board of Examiners, which certificate was revoked, the Board of Examiners may require the applicant to set forth the pertinent circumstances relating to the revocation, and require the applicant to demonstrate to the Board rehabilitation which warrants reinstatement of the revoked certificate. The Board shall not refuse to reinstate a revoked certificate without providing the petitioner an opportunity to be heard.

Petitioner contends that N.J.A.C. 6:11-3.6(g) requires the Board to reinstate a revoked endorsement to an applicant, if one demonstrates rehabilitation. Petitioner places great emphasis on the phrase reinstatement of the revoked certificate, arguing that once rehabilitation is demonstrated, reinstatement is warranted. Petitioner contends that the word "warrant" mandates reinstatement of the revoked endorsement. Further, that reinstatement of a revoked certificate is an automatic consequence of rehabilitation. Here, the record demonstrates that the Board has accepted that petitioner's rehabilitated, and accordingly, the issue is not whether he is entitled to reinstatement, but rather which endorsement he is entitled to have reinstated.

Petitioner further construes that "the Board shall not refuse to reinstate a revoked certificate" as unequivocally mandating the Board to reinstate the endorsement previously revoked.

Finally, petitioner argues he is not required to apply for endorsements under current regulations. In support, petitioner relies on N.J.A.C. 6:11-3.6(g) which does not mandate or permit the Board to require petitioner to take a test for any endorsement being issued at the time of the reinstatement. Thus, requiring him to apply for endorsements under current regulations is directly contrary to N.J.A.C. 6:11-3.6(g), which entitles him to reinstatement of his original endorsements.

Respondent argues that this matter should not be decided pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6:11-3.6(g) because it is no longer effective. The regulations governing endorsements after revocation have been amended and, therefore, the matter is governed by the new regulation, set forth in N.J.A.C. 6A:9-17.10(a).

N.J.A.C. 6A:9-17.10(a) states a "certificate that has been revoked for any grounds set forth in this chapter shall not be reinstated." Further, N.J.A.C. 6A:9-17.11(a)(3), provides that the Board may accept the relinquishment of all certificates held by an individual without issuance of an order to show cause ... [p]ursuant to a settlement of a tenure proceeding that requires the certificate holder to relinquish his or her certificate(s)." Respondent contends therefore, petitioner cannot have his Secondary School Teacher of Science endorsement reinstated because it was revoked after he voluntarily surrendered it pursuant to the settlement of the tenure charges against him.

Further, respondent asserts that at the time petitioner applied for the Secondary School Teacher of Science endorsement, it was policy to treat revocation as final and, therefore, a revoked endorsement no longer exists. In support, respondent relies on N.J.A.C. 6A:9-17.10(a), which provides that "[a]n individual who has had a certificate revoked may file an application for a new certificate with the Board of Examiners." Accordingly, the Board provided petitioner the opportunity to apply for a new Teacher of Biological Science endorsement.

Moreover, respondent further argues that there is no authorization to reinstate the Secondary School Teacher of Science endorsement because the endorsement longer exists under the current regulations. Specifically, N.J.S.A. 18A:9-38 grants the Board authority to issue "appropriate certificates ... and such other certificates as it shall be authorized to issue by law." There is no current regulation providing for a Secondary School Teacher of Science endorsement on the Instructional Certificate. Under the present regulations an applicant can obtain a Biological Science endorsement authorizing the holder to teach "biological, environmental and general science in all public schools." Therefore, the respondent concludes that it is only authorized to issue a new Teacher of Biological Science endorsement.

FINDINGS AND CONCLUSIONS

Petitioner sought reinstatement of his revoked teaching endorsement in 2002. At the time of his request, N.J.A.C. 6:11-3.6(g) governed reinstatement of revoked teaching endorsements. While the administrative hearing was pending, however, N.J.A.C. 6:11-3.6 was revised and recodified as N.J.A.C. 6A:9-17.10, effective January 4, 2004. See 35 N.J.R. 4352(a) (Oct. 6, 2003); 36 N.J.R. 469(a) (Jan. 20, 2004). Accordingly, the threshold issue herein is whether the previous regulations apply pursuant to the presumption against retroactivity, or the current regulations apply pursuant to the "time of decision" rule.

Respondent contends that the Courts have found current law generally applicable for administrative decision-making, when the law changes while a case is pending. Ziffrin, Inc. v. United States, 318 U.S. 73, 78 (1942); see also Commissioner v. Peter A. Ladas, 2004 WL 374375 (N.J. Adm.) (holding the case must be evaluated with reference to the currently effective law because, even though the alleged insurance fraud occurred while the superceded New Jersey Insurance Producer Licensing Act was in effect, the Court issued its decision while the updated New Jersey Insurance Producer Licensing Act of 2001 was in effect.). An administrative agency must apply the law at the time of its decision, "[o]therwise the administrative body would issue orders contrary to the existing legislation." Ziffrin, supra, 318 U.S. at 78 (holding the Interstate Commerce Commission properly applied the law enacted after the administrative hearing, but before the order was issued, on an application for a permit to continue as a designated contract carrier where the permit was for future acts). An exception to the "time of decision" rule is that a current law may not be applied if it will divest a vested right a party obtained under the prior law. Riggs v. Long Beach Tp., 101 N.J. 515, 521 (1986).

In Landgraf v. USI Film Products, 511 U.S. 244 (1994), the United States Supreme Court examined the distinction between the presumption against retroactivity and the "time of decision" rule. The court found the general presumption against retroactive legislation "deeply rooted in our jurisprudence." Id. at 265. It reasoned that "[e]lementary considerations of fairness dictate that individuals should have an opportunity to know what the law is and to conform their conduct accordingly." Ibid. The Court further noted "the legal effect of conduct should ordinarily be assessed under the law that existed when the conduct took place has timeless and universal appeal." Ibid. The Court found, however, the "time of decision" rule applies when the statute either affects the propriety of prospective relief, or where it clearly states it is to be applied retroactively. Id. at 273.

Our Supreme Court described the "time of decision" rule as "a well-established principle that an appellate court on direct review will apply the statute in effect at the time of its decision, at least when the legislature intended that its modification be retroactive to pending cases." Kruvant v. Mayor & Council of Cedar Grove, 82 N.J. 435, 440 (1980); S&L Assocs., Inc. v. Washington Twp., 35 N.J. 224, 227 (1961); Borough of Little ferry v. Bergen County Sewer Auth., 9 N.J. 536 (1952). The rationale underlying the well-established principle is to effectuate the current policy declared by the legislative body. Kruvant, supra, 82 N.J. at 440.

In this matter, I FIND that the "time of decision" rule does not apply because the current regulations contain no indications of legislative intent to have them apply retroactively to pending cases. In fact, the current regulations declare in two different sections that applicants are subject to certification requirements in effect at the time of the application. See N.J.A.C. 6A:9-17.12(d) (stating an individual who voluntarily surrenders a certificate may apply for that certificate "subject to the certification requirements in effect at the time the new application is submitted"); N.J.A.C. 6A:9-17.10(b)(1) (stating an individual with a revoked certificate may not receive a new certificate unless the candidate satisfies all criteria "in effect at the time of the application"). This language clearly implies agency intent to have the previous regulations apply to reinstatement applications of certificates revoked prior to the amendments. Therefore, I CONCLUDE that the regulations in effect at the time of Petitioner's application govern this matter.

The regulation in effect at the time of petitioner's application for reinstatement of his revoked science endorsement provides:

> Where an applicant for certification indicates that he or she previously held a certificate issued by the State Board of Examiners, which certificate was revoked, the Board of Examiners may require the applicant to set forth the pertinent circumstances relating to the revocation, and require the applicant to demonstrate to the Board rehabilitation which warrants reinstatement of the revoked certificate. The Board shall not refuse to reinstate a revoked certificate without providing the petitioner an opportunity to be heard.

[N.J.A.C. 6:11-3.6(g).]

Contrary to the petitioner's assertion, I am not persuaded that the regulation requires reinstatement of the revoked endorsement once rehabilitation is demonstrated. Instead, it modifies the rehabilitation requirement. The Board may require the applicant to demonstrate the type of rehabilitation that would deserve reinstatement. In other words, a petitioner now has the burden of demonstrating rehabilitation. Once rehabilitation is demonstrated, the Board has the discretion to determine whether the rehabilitation is worthy of reinstatement.

N.J.A.C. 6:11-3.6(g) further provides that the Board "shall not refuse to reinstate a revoked certificate without providing the petitioner an opportunity to be heard." Simply put, the Board may refuse to reinstate a revoked endorsement only after the applicant has first had an opportunity to be heard. The Board cannot refuse to reinstate a revoked certification without a hearing, at which time the applicant can demonstrate that he or she has been rehabilitated.

Petitioner's interpretation of N.J.A.C. 6:11-3.6(g) would render some of the language of the regulation worthless. Construing the second sentence of the regulation as mandating reinstatement of a revoked endorsement renders the modifying phrase "without providing the petitioner an opportunity to be heard" inoperative, superfluous, void or insignificant.

Furthermore, interpreting N.J.A.C. 6:11-3.6(g) as a whole invalidates petitioner's argument that the first sentence requires the Board to reinstate a revoked endorsement to an applicant if he/she demonstrates rehabilitation. The second sentence plainly states the Board can refuse to reinstate an endorsement. Therefore, the first sentence cannot mandate reinstatement without contradicting the second sentence. Such a reading would not make sense in the context of the entire regulation.

I FIND that the first sentence allows the Board to require petitioner to satisfy the burden of demonstrating rehabilitation, and gives the Board the right to determine whether that rehabilitation is worthy of reinstatement. Even if the applicant demonstrates rehabilitation, I CONCLUDE that the regulation permits the Board to refuse to reinstate the endorsement after affording the applicant an opportunity to be heard.

I FIND that petitioner is not entitled to reinstatement even if the application were governed by the current regulations. Under the current regulations, the Board may accept the relinquishment of an individual's certificates, without issuance of an order to show cause, pursuant to the settlement of tenure charges requiring the holder to relinquish the certificates. N.J.A.C. 6A:9-17.11(a)(3). Acceptance by the Board "shall have the force and effect of a revocation." N.J.A.C. 6A:9-17.11(b). Here, the petitioner relinquished his endorsements pursuant to the settlement of a tenure action against him. Therefore, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:9-17.11(b), the Board's acceptance of the relinquishment has the force and effect of a revocation of petitioner's endorsements.

Additionally, N.J.A.C. 6A:9-17.10(a) provide that "[a] certificate that has been revoked for any grounds set forth in this chapter shall not be reinstated." An individual with a revoked certificate, however, may file an application for a new certificate with the Board. Ibid. (emphasis added).

I CONCLUDE that petitioner cannot apply for a new Secondary School Teacher of Science endorsement because the Board can only issue endorsements authorized under the current regulations. "The board shall issue appropriate certificates ... and such other certificates as it shall be authorized to issue by law." N.J.S.A. 18A:6-38. The current regulations authorize the Board to issue a Biological Science endorsement that "authorizes the holder to teach biological, environmental and general science in all public schools" for grades preschool through twelve. N.J.A.C. 6A:9-9.2(a)(5)(i). Therefore, the Board is not authorized to issue petitioner a Secondary School Teacher of Science endorsement because that endorsement no longer exists under the current regulations.

The next issue is whether petitioner is eligible for a new Teacher of Biological Science endorsement. N.J.A.C. 6A:9-17.10(b) provides that the following conditions must be met:

1. The candidate shall satisfy all criteria for the issuance of the certificate that are in effect at the time of the application for the new certificate;
2. At least four years shall have passed since the effective date of the revocation of the previous certificate;
3. The candidate shall have provided evidence demonstrating rehabilitation for the unbecoming conduct, incompetence, or other cause for the revocation;

I FIND that the petitioner fails to satisfy these requirements. While he has demonstrated rehabilitation for the cause of the revocation, it has not been four years since the effective date of the revocation of the previous endorsement. Petitioner's certificate was revoked on January 17, 2002. Therefore, petitioner is not eligible to receive a new endorsement until 2006. Accordingly, I CONCLUDE that petitioner cannot receive a new science endorsement because the required four-year period of has not yet been satisfied.

Moreover, I FIND and CONCLUDE pursuant to the N.J.A.C. 6A:9-17.10(b), the Board "shall not issue a new certificate to any candidate who is ... [o]rdered to forfeit certification as part of a settlement in a tenure or criminal proceeding. N.J.A.C. 6A:9-17.10(c)(1). Therefore, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:9-17.10(c)(1), the Board is not allowed to issue any new certificate to petitioner because he relinquished his endorsements pursuant to the settlement of a tenure action against him.

Thus, for the foregoing reasons, petitioner's motion for summary decision is hereby DENIED.

Respondent's cross motion for summary decision is hereby GRANTED.

It is therefore ORDERED that petitioner's appeal be and is hereby DISMISSED.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE CITY OF ATLANTIC CITY, ATLANTIC COUNTY,	:	DECISION
RESPONDENT.	:

SYNOPSIS

Petitioner asserted that respondent Board permitted an unsafe environment for her daughter, who was allegedly "jumped" on the playground at the Uptown School Complex by five children who received no punishment, notwithstanding Board policy.

The ALJ denied respondent Board's motion to dismiss the petition as moot based on the fact that C.J. is no longer enrolled at the Uptown School Complex, emphasizing that the complaint is viable because it deals with the safety and welfare of children attending Atlantic City Public Schools. The ALJ stated that the sole issue in this matter is whether or not the respondent Board provided a safe environment for the petitioner's daughter while she attended the Board's Uptown School, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15, which directs each school district to adopt a policy prohibiting harassment, intimidation or bullying. The ALJ found that the respondent Board's agents and representatives were in violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15 when they failed to promptly and thoroughly investigate the alleged incident of harassment and/or intimidation involving C.J. The ALJ ordered that the City of Atlantic City Board of Education comply with the provisions of N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15 by conducting staff in-service programs with respect to the requirements of the statute in order to assure that all pupils under the Board's supervision and control will be protected from harassment, intimidation or bullying in the future.

The Commissioner concurs with the ALJ that the Board must take appropriate steps to effectuate full compliance with N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15 so as to assure that the children entrusted to its care will be protected from harassment, intimidation or bullying. Accordingly, the Initial Decision is adopted as the final decision in this matter, and the petition is dismissed.

INITIAL DECISION

OAL DKT. NO. EDU 6450-04

AGENCY DKT. NO. 206-6/04

M.D.G ON BEHALF OF A MINOR CHILD, C.J.,
Petitioner,

v.

BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE CITY OF ATLANTIC CITY, ATLANTIC COUNTY,
Respondent.

M.D.G., petitioner, pro se

Samuel D. Lashman, Esquire, for respondent

Record Closed: April 18, 2005 Decided: April 27, 2005

BEFORE LILLARD E. LAW, ALJ, T/A:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Petitioner, M.D.G., filed a Petition of Appeal before the Commissioner of Education (Commissioner) wherein petitioner asserts that the Board of Education of the City of Atlantic City (Board) has permitted an unsafe environment for her custodian daughter, C.J., who was "jumped" by five pupils at the Board's Uptown School. Petitioner alleges that the five pupils who committed the offense received no punishment for their actions, in violation of the Board's policy.

The matter was transmitted by the Commissioner to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) for determination as a contested case, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to –15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to –13. The hearing was held on April 18, 2005, at the Atlantic City of the OAL. The hearing record closed on April 18, 2005.

ISSUE

The sole issue for determination by this administrative tribunal is whether or not the Board provided a safe environment for petitioner's custodial daughter, C.J., while C.J. attended the Board's Uptown School, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:37-5?

MOTION

The Board propounded a motion to dismiss the instant matter on the grounds that the matter is moot. The Board argues that C.J. was withdrawn from the Uptown School by petitioner and now attends another school under the Board's control and, therefore, there is no contested case. The Board's motion is DENIED on the theory that the complaint is viable because it deals with the safety and welfare of the children attending the Board's public schools.

FACTUAL DISCUSSION

C.J., who was ten years of age in or about April 2004, was enrolled at the Board's Uptown Complex School. On April 26, 2004, while on the school's playground during the lunch recess, C.J. asserts she was "jumped" by five pupils enrolled at the school. One of those pupils who allegedly attacked C.J. and was the leader of the group is a boy, who is C.J.'s older cousin.

C.J. testified she could not get the attention of the playground supervisor at the time of the altercation because the five children were pulling her. C.J. left the playground, crying, and went to the school's office and told Lakecia Hyman, Assistant Principal, about the attack. C.J.

asserted she had scratches on her arms and her face was red. C.J. admitted she did not go the office of the school nurse and went back to her class after her visit with Ms. Hyman.

Ms. Hyman testified, among other things, that on April 24, 2004, she talked with C.J., after the alleged incident involving C.J. and the five pupils. Ms. Hyman testified she did not observe any injuries on C.J. Ms. Hyman admitted she did not contact the adult responsible for the supervision of the playground on that day to determine whether or not the supervisor had observed the alleged incident. She did, moreover, have the five pupils in her office after C.J. reported the incident. One of the pupils admitted he wanted to intimidate C.J., however, he did not hit C.J. It was reported to Ms. Hyman that C.J. had talked about her cousin and her cousin's mother with other pupils. Ms. Hyman concluded that the incident occurred because C.J. had mentioned things about her cousin to other pupils. Ms. Hyman asserted that the other pupils involved in the incident all agreed that was the cause.

After the incident was reported to Ms. Hyman, she asserted that all of the children involved in the incident were written up, however, none of the five children were suspended from school. She filed a written report the incident with the school principal. It was also agreed that the pupils would avoid contact with C.J. and C.J. would avoid contact with the five pupils.

C.J. testified that after she talked with Ms. Hyman about the incident on April 24, 2004, Ms. Hyman telephoned petitioner and reported the incident. Subsequently, petitioner arrived at the school, very upset, and took C.J. home.

Ms. Hyman stated she would arrange to have a meeting with all of the parents of the pupils involved in the incident. She testified that petitioner did not want to meet with the parents but, rather, petitioner proceeded to file a compliant about the incident with the Atlantic City Police Department. Thereafter, a mediation conference was conducted by the Community Mediation Services, Inc., the Community Justice Institute of the Atlantic City Police Department. All of the parents of the pupils involved in the incident were in attendance.

Subsequent to the mediation conference, petitioner had C.J. removed from the Uptown Complex School and enrolled in another school under the Board's control, where C.J. remains today. Petitioner thereafter filed the herein Petition of Appeal with the Commissioner.

There is conflicting testimony with respect to the incident or incidents. There is a question as to whether the incident occurred on May 24. 2004, or April 24, 2004, to which C.J. testified. However, in her Petition of Appeal, petitioner refers to her action of May 25, 2004, where she arrived at the Atlantic City Police Station to file a complaint about the incident where petitioner alleges that five pupils "jumped" C.J. (See paragraphs # 5 and 6, Petition of Appeal).

There is also conflicting testimony concerning C.J.'s alleged injuries. Ms. Hyman testified she did not observe any injuries to C.J. on April 24, 2004. However, Vernal Vance testified on petitioner's behalf and asserted she observed C.J. with a red face on May 24, 2004, and that C.J. was very emotional and upset about a fight with other pupils. Ms. Vance testified that C.J. told her she had been jumped by the five pupils.

LEGAL ANALYSIS

There is no question that the Board is required to adopt a policy prohibiting harassment, intimidation or bullying on school property. N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15a. The law also requires, among other things, that the Board have a procedure for reporting acts of harassment, intimidation or bullying, N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15b.(5), and a procedure for a prompt investigation of violations and complaints, N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15b.(6). In the instant matter, the facts demonstrate that Ms. Hyman, the Assistant Principal, failed to conduct a prompt and thorough investigation of the alleged incident. She did not inquire of the adult supervisor of the playground where the incident is alleged to have occurred as to what, if anything, was observed. In fact, Ms. Hyman did not even inquire as to the identity of the adult supervisor on duty and admitted on the hearing record she did not know who was assigned as the playground supervisor on the day of the incident.

CONCLUSION

I CONCLUDE, therefore, that the Board's agents and representatives were in violation of the statute, N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15, when it failed to promptly and thoroughly investigate the alleged incident of harassment and/or intimidation involving pupil C.J. by five identified pupils. The preponderance of the evidence clearly demonstrates that Ms. Hyman failed to follow the statute and investigate the violence reported to her by C.J. Rather, Ms. Hyman agreed with the pupils who are alleged to have committed the acts against C.J., that it was C.J.'s fault when she talked about her cousin with other pupils. A thorough investigation would have revealed the truth.

ORDER

Although there is no immediate remedy readily available to petitioner, it is hereby ORDERED that the City of Atlantic City Board of Education comply with the provisions of N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15. This may be accomplished by conducting staff in-service programs with respect to the requirements of the statute in order to assure that all pupils under the Board's supervision and control will be protected from harassment, intimidation or bullying in the future. It is imperative that the Board provide a safe environment to all of its pupils; free of harassment, intimidation and/or bullying.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION

DECISION

SYNOPSIS

Petitioning custodian, employed by the Union City Board of Education in March 1998, appealed his disqualification from school employment and termination from his Board position as a result of a 2001 criminal history background check conducted because no record could be found of a prior check upon his initial employment with the district. Petitioner contended that since he did everything required of him and should have been checked at the time of his first employment, the check conducted in 2001 should have been evaluated under the law as it existed prior to June 30, 1998, so as to allow him to demonstrate rehabilitation from his sole disqualifying offense, committed in 1984.

The ALJ found that petitioner should be allowed under the circumstances to demonstrate rehabilitation and ordered the Union City Board of Education to conduct a hearing for this purpose. No order was recommended with respect to petitioner's entitlement to reemployment or back pay.

The Commissioner set aside the Initial Decision, noting numerous errors in the ALJ's fact-finding and conclusions of law, the latter resulting from confusion between the role of the Department and that of the local board of education. Although the Commissioner concurred that petitioner had demonstrated through administrative hearing that he should be afforded an equitable opportunity to demonstrate rehabilitation, he also determined that the ALJ had not made appropriate findings with respect to the Department, which had acted properly in all respects with regard to petitioner's application, and found that the ALJ had ordered relief contrary to law since only the Department and Commissioner, not a local board of education, may deem an applicant qualified for school employment under the criminal history record check statute. The Commissioner remanded the matter for a hearing on petitioner's rehabilitation consistent with the statutory standards in effect prior to June 30, 1998, and directed that, because petitioner had sought reemployment by the Board and back pay notwithstanding that the Board was not named as a party to this matter, if petitioner were found rehabilitated and continued to seek reemployment, the Board must be named as a respondent and further proceedings must be held on the question of petitioner's entitlement, if any, to reemployment and/or back pay under the circumstances.

AGENCY DKT. NO. 57-2/02

EDUARDO NUNEZ,

PETITIONER,

V.

NEW JERSEY STATE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION,

RESPONDENT.

COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION

DECISION

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed. Exceptions to the recommendations of the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) were filed by the respondent Department of Education (Department) and by the Union City Board of Education (Board);[1] the Department replied to the latter, while petitioner, in a single submission, replied to both.

In its exceptions, the Department contends that the ALJ erred in finding that it should have considered whether petitioner could demonstrate rehabilitation prior to disqualifying him from school employment. According to the Department, the ALJ mischaracterized the nature of the case, which was an appeal of the Department's determination of disqualification, not a challenge to the legality of petitioner's termination from his employment with the Board; in concluding that petitioner should not have been terminated from employment and directing the Board to conduct a plenary hearing on his rehabilitation, the ALJ both decided an issue not before her and ordered relief improper

[1] Although not a party in this matter, the Board was granted permission to submit exceptions in view of the Initial Decision's recommended Order directing it to hold a hearing, for purposes of assessing rehabilitation, on petitioner's disqualification from school employment.

under the law, first because the operative statute does not and never did grant such authority to local district Boards of education and second because the recommended order directs relief from an entity (the Board) not a party to this matter.[2] (Department's Exceptions at 4-6)

The Department further argues that the Initial Decision must be rejected because the controlling statute mandates automatic disqualification from school employment for persons convicted of specified crimes and makes no provision for relaxation of its effective date, which is when the record check is actually conducted, not the date of an applicant's employment. The Department stresses that, in 1998, due to the overriding need to protect New Jersey's school children from potential harm, the Legislature took the affirmative step of making the disqualification statute stricter and removing its prior provision for demonstration of rehabilitation; this purposeful, substantive change in legislative policy cannot simply be ignored, the Department urges, as it was by the ALJ. (Department's Exceptions at 6-9)

The Department also takes issue with the ALJ's finding that petitioner's criminal history record check application was properly forwarded to and received by the Department in 1998, so that the law in effect at that time—rather than the stricter statute in effect when the Department received petitioner's 2001 application—should control petitioner's disqualification determination. The Department contends that the record contains no substantive evidence whatsoever to support this stated factual finding, and

[2] The Department notes: "Several times throughout the hearing, counsel for petitioner attempted to obscure the difference between the Department of Education, a state agency, and the Union City Board of Education, a local board of education. [The manager of the Department's Criminal History Review Unit] clarified this important distinction as did the Department's post-hearing brief and supplemental letter dated November 6, 2004 (sic; actually October 22, 2004). Petitioner chose not to join Union City in this action." (Department's Exceptions at 5, citations to hearing transcript omitted)

notes in particular that petitioner's own witness—the Board administrator responsible for the hiring of non-instructional staff—could not say that he had personal knowledge of petitioner's application being forwarded to the Department, and that no witness or documentation was produced to show that such forwarding was, in fact, accomplished as claimed; whereas the Department, in contrast, produced compelling testimony that it never received a 1998 application from petitioner and that the 2001 submission was the first and only application of which it had any knowledge. Therefore, according to the Department, petitioner's criminal history record check was properly conducted in 2001 under the law applicable at that time. (Department's Exceptions at 9-12)

Finally, the Department contends that, even if, arguendo, petitioner is eligible for assessment of rehabilitation under the law in effect at the time his 1998 application was purportedly submitted, petitioner did not present clear and convincing evidence sufficient to meet the standard of the statute as it existed prior to legislative amendment, either in the documentary record or at the OAL hearing where he had the obligation to do so; indeed, petitioner did not even acknowledge the factors specified in that statute, notwithstanding the ALJ's recitation of case law where those factors were fully and carefully considered. Under these circumstances, the Department urges, petitioner is not entitled to another opportunity to demonstrate rehabilitation. (Department's Exceptions at 12-15)[3]

[3] The Department also notes certain factual errors in the Initial Decision, such as the ALJ's statement that the hearing in this matter was conducted on June 17-18, 2004, when in actuality the hearing concluded on the first day and no hearing was held on the second; her statement that petitioner was convicted of a "second degree sale of a controlled dangerous substance" when the record is clear and undisputed that the conviction was for "first degree criminal sale of a controlled dangerous substance in the State of New York;" and her various direct and indirect statements that petitioner was employed and/or terminated by the New Jersey Department of Education. (Department's Exceptions at 1, 2, and 5)

In large measure, the Board joins in the Department's exceptions,[4] additionally taking issue with three further aspects of the Initial Decision. First, the Board contends that the evidence does not support the ALJ's conclusion that petitioner was entirely forthcoming about his prior conviction, since there is no indication other than petitioner's own testimony that the papers he completed referred only to convictions within the past seven years, and the 1998 fingerprint authorization form itself, which petitioner undisputedly signed, contains no such limitation. (Board's Exceptions at 3-4, referencing Exhibit P-1) Next, the Board objects to any suggestion that it may have an obligation to rehire petitioner, rejecting the ALJ's apparent assumption that the Board's termination of petitioner was contingent upon, or temporary pending, the result of his appeal to the Commissioner; according to the Board, it made no such representation, nor did it represent that it would hold a position open for petitioner pending the results of an appeal. Indeed, the Board observes, it has no such legal obligation, and being compelled to rehire petitioner now, three years after his termination and with no position presently available, would not only create undue hardship for the district, but also force it to take on an employee who did not disclose his criminal history during the employment application process. (Id. at 4-6) Finally, the Board stresses, it is a corporate body separate and distinct from the Department, with the power to sue and be sued pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:10-1 and 18A:11-1, and it was neither made a party to the present matter nor notified of the potential for an outcome affecting its rights as clearly required by N.J.A.C. 1:1-16.4. (Id. at 7)[5] [4] The Board indicates, in a letter dated February 1, 2005, that it joins in the Department's first three exceptions; the letter is silent with respect to the Department's arguendo objection to further hearing at OAL.

[5] The Department's Reply to the Board's Exceptions "does not challenge" the Board insofar as it objects to the relief ordered against it by the ALJ. However, the Department does seek to clarify that the Board repeats the ALJ's error of describing petitioner's conviction as second degree (See note 3 above), that the record does not include evidence to support the Board's statement that petitioner submitted a complete criminal

In reply to the exceptions of the Department and the Board, petitioner objects to the suggestion that his appeal was for any reason other than to obtain reinstatement to his employment; in essence, he states, his argument from the beginning has been that he should not have been dismissed without an opportunity to demonstrate rehabilitation, since the law in effect at the time he submitted his application clearly granted him that right and he did all that was required of him when submitting the application. (Petitioner's Reply Exceptions at 1-4) He elaborates:

> Petitioner's claim in his petition is quite simple. He claims that he sent the application. He claims that he worked for almost three years before he was terminated. He believed and the Union City Board of Education believed that he was employed and as such he was paid for three years. The date on which the Department received or should have received his criminal background check application was somewhere in 1998. But there is no doubt about the fact that the petitioner was hired in February 1998. Petitioner claimed that he should have been able to demonstrate rehabilitation under the law as written at the time he began his employment. The Department refused to acknowledge such right. This is precisely what this case was about. The ALJ found correctly.There was a blunder in this case, but it certainly cannot be pinpointed to the petitioner.
> The Decision of [the ALJ] correctly found that the prior statute should apply under the ex-post facto (sic) provisions of the New Jersey Constitution and that the petitioner should be able to demonstratethat he has been rehabilitated and thus, reinstated as he sought in his appeal. This appeal was not for declaratory purposes. The petitioner has the right to seek back pay since, according to the ALJ's decision, he was wrongfully terminated." (Id. at 4-6)

Petitioner reiterates his arguments on brief and at hearing with respect to application of the prior law, but adds in response to the Department's and Board's exceptions:

> The Department wishes to blame the petitioner for the blunder of either the Department or the Board of Education in failing to process the criminal history review application in 1998 (i.e., prints and a money order in addition to the authorization form), and that any reference to the 2001 application being a *re*submission must be viewed in light of the Department's consistent contention that this submission was the only one received on behalf of petitioner. (Department's Reply Exceptions at 1-3)

background check. Such position is unfair given the facts of this case. The ALJ had a difficult time assessing blame on the petitioner for the failure of the State in running his criminal background check. Either way, despite the fact that in hindsight it is rather clear that the [Board] was negligent in failing to follow up its submission for the criminal background check, the State is ultimately responsible for the blunder. That is the way the law is written. The Department of Education instructed the [Board] to terminate the employment of the petitioner and it also has the right and the power to reinstate him. [The Board's administrator] testified that he received the application and gave it to one of his subordinates to send. [The manager of the Department's Criminal History Review Unit] testified he never received it. If the application was lost in the mails or was never sent, or was lost by the Department Unit of Criminal Background checks (sic), it was lost or never sent while already in the hands of the State.That's why the ALJ decided the matter in the fashion that she did. The ALJ's opinion is pretty clear on the issue of who was responsible for having done the right thing here. If the [Board's] witness stated that the petition was sent, the trial court found that the responsibility lied (sic) with either of the educational departments and not with the petitioner. Findings of fact cannot be tried de novo. Despite the embarrassing situation for the [Department and Board] in this case for clearly not having performed their responsibilities and obligations with reasonable care, and despite the ramifications that this case can cause to the public opinion as to the state of the governmental agencies that provide educational services to the children of this State, this case is not about the facts, which have been decided. This case is about the law and whether or not the ALJ applied the law in a fashion that was appropriate. This case presents a legal issue exclusively as to the issue of ex-post facto (sic). What is the basis and right of the Department or the [Board] to make arguments regarding the fact finding conclusions of the ALJ? The answer is simple. None other than these exceptions are taken as a matter of right. This case is about a violation of the constitutional protections against ex-post facto (sic), not about whether or not the petitioner was not forthcoming with the [Board] or whether the [Board] can be ordered to reinstate the petitioner. It can be ordered to reinstate the petitioner once petitioner demonstrates rehabilitation in the same manner that it ordered the termination of the petitioner and the [Board] had no choice but to terminate.

(Petitioner's Reply Exceptions at 8-10)

Following a brief discussion of the constitutionality of retroactive laws, petitioner continues:

In this case, there should be a presumption against retroactivity because the existing law is deemed unjust. The mess up of the Department of Education for not having processed the application pursuant to law and having given rights to the petitioner to demonstrate rehabilitation is quite > clear in this case. The Department of Education chose to apply the harsh whip to the petitioner in the hope that he would just go away. It did not happen. By the same token, the [Board] is now claiming that petitioner was not forthcoming with information regarding his criminal background and that there are no places available to him. This is also false and in contravention of the statute. A good reading of the application for employment as made by the ALJ will lead to the inevitable conclusion that all the arguments are simply made in the hopes that they will stick, but really have no substance. (Petitioner's Reply Exceptions at 11-12)

Petitioner reiterates that he did everything required of him in applying for employment, including being as forthcoming as requested given the wording of the application questionnaire; that he worked for the Board for three years without incident; that he has been an outstanding citizen since his conviction twenty years ago and has had no subsequent convictions; and that it is no fault of his that the Department did not process his application and the Board did not follow up to ascertain the outcome of his background check. While recognizing the State's interest in achieving the legislative goal of the new statute, petitioner urges that its strict application here is clearly inequitable and unconstitutional, an argument which, he contends, the Department has consistently failed to address. (Petitioner's Reply Exceptions at 12-17) Petitioner further objects to the Department's claim that he failed to demonstrate rehabilitation, since "the issue at trial was [not] whether or not he was able to demonstrate rehabilitation, but whether the dismissal, without demonstrating rehabilitation under ex post facto constitutional protections was appropriate." (Id. at 17-18)

Finally, petitioner objects to the Board's contention that it is not obliged to rehire him if he is able to demonstrate rehabilitation. He argues:

> It is rather clear by law that if an administrative termination occurs as was the case here and an appeal is made to the authority that instructed the [Board] to terminate the petitioner, such appeal is directly made to have the petitioner restored.If the petitioner ultimately prevailed as he did in his trial, the Department of Education needs to first effect an interview or any process available to determine the petitioner's rehabilitation, and once it finds that such rehabilitation existed, it must rehire the petitioner by order of the judicial tribunal that makes the ultimate decision in this case.

***

The [Board] argues that it was not part of the action and thus, no relief may be afforded against it. It flows from reason that if the Department of Education instructed the [Board] to terminate petitioner's employment when the [Board] employed the petitioner and the petitioner had been an excellent employee, and as a result the petitioner filed an appeal seeking his reinstatement, now that the petitioner has prevailed in his appeal, the [Board] must reinstate the petitioner once the rehabilitation determination is made by the Department of Education. Petitioner complied with all regulatory and procedural steps to effect his appeal. Furthermore, the [Board] was on notice of this case and its representation here that it had no knowledge is a lame excuse to avoid liability. The fact that the [Board] was never notified of the potential outcome affecting its right in this case does not hold water as far as the directive of the trial court's is concerned because 1) the [Board] was on notice and 2) it should have known that a potential decision such as the one rendered by the trial court here could have been made.The [Board] knew of this case and also had the right to intervene if it had chosen to. The rules do not state that intervention or participation is mandatory of a party whose rights may be affected.

(Petitioner's Reply Exceptions at 20-21)

Upon thorough review and consideration, the Commissioner determines to reject the Initial Decision, since, in substantial part as set forth below, it is incomplete or erroneous with respect to both its factual findings and its analysis and conclusions of law.

With respect to factual findings, based on the documentary record and testimony at hearing, and concurring with the ALJ that all witnesses were fully credible, the Commissioner finds the following as the facts of this matter pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14F-10(c), N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.1(c), and N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.6(b) and (d):[6] [7]

[6] Exhibits are referenced by their respective "Petitioner" (P-) or "Respondent" (R-) designations, while the transcript of hearing on June 17, 2004 is indicated by "T" followed by the applicable page number(s).

1. Petitioner was convicted in New York State of First Degree Criminal Sale of a Controlled Dangerous Substance on March 28, 1984. (R-2) (Cf. Initial Decision at 4, indicating Second Degree offense) He pled guilty (T27), was sentenced to "supervision or custody" (R-2), spent 4-1/2 years in jail and was released July 1988. (T27). Since that time, he has had no further trouble with the law. (T28)

2. In mid-February 1998, petitioner applied for a maintenance position with the Union City Board of Education. (T26) His employment was recommended by district administrative staff who had no knowledge of his conviction (T12-13), and on February 24, 1998, the Board approved the administration's recommendation. (P-3)

3. On February 26, 1998, upon learning of the Board's approval, petitioner completed the State background check authorization form, indicating that he had not been convicted of the various enumerated crimes and offenses, including "violations of the New Jersey Controlled Dangerous Substance Act." (P-1; T55-57) On the same date, he also completed a local district form indicating that he had not been convicted of "any crime or disorderly persons offense involving sexual offenses, child molestation or endangering the welfare of children or incompetents." (P-5; T55-57) He went to Union City Police Department to be fingerprinted, got a money order, put his package together and gave everything to the board of education. (T26, T29, T60)

4. Petitioner was officially advised of the Board's decision to hire him by letter from the Board Secretary dated February 27, 1998, indicating that on February 24, 1998, the Board took action to employ him effective March 1, 1998, pending completion of a criminal history record check. (P-3; T18, T26) (Cf. Initial Decision at 5, where this letter is characterized as advising petitioner that his six-month provisional period had ended and his employment was now permanent; there is no such document on record, nor was there any testimony to the effect that petitioner was so advised.)

5. Petitioner testified that at some point during the initial application/hiring process he filled out a "board form" asking if he had been convicted of any crimes in the past seven years, answering "no" because his conviction predated that period. (T44, T47, T57-58) Asked about his negative response to P-5, petitioner stated that he found the listed sex and child endangerment crimes not applicable in his case (T28-29); he answered all application questions truthfully because there was no need to lie. (T36)

[7] Petitioner's arguments on exception (at 9-10), to the effect that the fact-finding of the ALJ may not be challenged before or disturbed by the Commissioner, are clearly contrary to the Administrative Procedure Act and its implementing rules.

6. At the time of his initial hiring, petitioner was not aware that the criminal history record check law provided for demonstration of rehabilitation, learning of this from his lawyer only when asked for new prints in 2001. Although he knew his crime would be revealed by the background check, he was unconcerned because he relied on the "7-year" provision purportedly in the Board application. (T36-37) The "board application" referenced by petitioner is not a part of the record in this matter, nor does any document on record contain such a provision. (Cf. Initial Decision at 4, where the ALJ references P-5 in support of petitioner's "7-year" statement.)

7. During the period in question, the process for effectuating criminal history background checks was as follows: An applicant would complete the authorization form, fingerprint card and money order and return it to the employing school district, which would then forward it to the Department's Office of Criminal History Review. (T65) There, mail was opened, applicant information was entered into a database, money was deposited, and prints were forwarded to the NJ State Police and the FBI (T65). All steps were accomplished through an elaborate system of manual cross-checks, continuing through receipt of results and billing for the State and federal records, and designed to ensure that everything matched: the number of deposit slips, counts to State Police vs. number of searches, amounts of billings from the State Police and FBI, etc. (T 96-97, T101-03). With this system, complete loss of an application was a virtual impossibility, and there is no known instance of the Department ever having lost an application once received. (T102-03) If an application was lost without a trace, it must have been at the district level or in the mail (T126, T128), since any application received by the Department would at the very least have remained in the office database. (T108-10)

8. Once received and processed, if an applicant's check came back with a disqualifying conviction, both the applicant and school district were notified. (T68, T73) If it came back without disqualifying conviction, a letter was sent to the applicant's home address and the applicant's name was added to a computer printout, generated weekly, listing all the approvals by school district since the prior week. The weekly printouts were sent to local school districts through the offices of the county superintendents, so that there would be "a complete circle" and boards of education could meet their responsibility under the statute to ensure that anyone hired by them had undergone a completed background check. (T66, T104, T111-15, T122, T124-25) On a regular basis, district administrators did not even wait for the printout, instead calling, writing or faxing the Department to confirm receipt or check the status of submitted applications. (T147)

9. At the time of petitioner's initial employment, Mr. Carl Johnson was the administrative supervisor who oversaw Union City's hiring process for maintenance workers and whose office staff was responsible for processing applicant paperwork. (T12-13) With respect to petitioner's background check materials, Johnson testified that he did not mail them personally, but his staff was responsible for mailing. (T18) Because he had never had a problem with an employee background check package not being sent to Trenton, he assumed all records were mailed. (T18, T21) No documentation of mailing can be produced because the district's practice was to send background check packages by regular mail. (T21) (Cf. Initial Decision at 4, where Johnson is said specifically to have testified that petitioner's application was complete and that he, Johnson, gave it to his office personnel for mailing; this statement is unsupported by the transcript.)

10. Johnson testified that the Board got no formal notification from the Department when an employee was approved, only when disapproved; therefore, if he heard nothing, he assumed a person was qualified for indefinite employment. (T14-15) His office did not follow up with the Department in checking on applications, since he believed there were no State procedures or guidelines for doing so and he was never told by the Department that it was necessary to follow up when submitting an applicant for a background check. (T22-23)

11. Petitioner understood that he was hired pending the results of a criminal history record check, but because he heard nothing to the contrary while he continued working for 3-1/2 – 4 years, he assumed everything was fine. (T31, T41-42, T49-50, T58-59) During this time, he never received anything from the Department, either qualifying or disqualifying him with respect to school employment. (T51)

12. The Department never received the application purportedly sent by the Board on petitioner's behalf in February 1998, nor was it aware of petitioner, or contacted with respect to him, at any time prior to 2001.

13. Sometime in 2001, the Department received information from an "outside source" indicating that petitioner was working in a school district without having undergone a background check. This is one of the two ways (the other being a State compliance investigation) that the Department is typically made aware of an unchecked employee. (T74)

14. As it routinely does in such cases, the Department contacted the district Superintendent's office once it ascertained that it had no record of petitioner's fingerprints ever having been submitted for check or any other record of contact with respect to petitioner. (T73, T75, T107-08, T148) The absence of any record could not be simply a question of lost paperwork, because, even if every single paper had been lost, petitioner would still have appeared in the Department's database. (T108-10, T148)

15. Since the district could not produce any evidence that petitioner had, in fact, undergone a completed background check, in accordance with the Department's consistent practice in situations of this type, the district was told to submit a new application on petitioner's behalf. (T128, T147-48).

16. Petitioner was asked for new prints, and he went "again" to the police department to get them. (T40) Petitioner had no idea why the prints were requested; he "figured" they were lost and "didn't question" giving them "again." (T42) On September 9, 2001, petitioner signed a new State background check authorization form, wherein he attested that he had not been convicted of "drug offenses" among other listed crimes and offenses. (R-1) The Board sent the new authorization, prints and payment to the Department (T75), and petitioner was removed from contact with children pending the results of his background check. (T16)

17. Upon its receipt of petitioner's application, the Department conducted the required check, which revealed petitioner's 1984 conviction. (R-5) Because petitioner had not been previously approved for school employment and did not meet the statutory requirement for application of the prior law, the Department applied the current statute rather than the one in effect at the time of petitioner's hiring by the district, reasoning that the plain language of the statute left it no other choice. (T132, T137, T139)

18. By separate letters dated December 7, 2001, the Department notified both petitioner (R-2) and the Board (R-4) that petitioner was disqualified from school employment as a result of a conviction revealed by his criminal history record check.

19. By letter dated December 12, 2001, petitioner was notified by the Board that his employment with the district was terminated effective July 13, 2001 (sic); the intended, and actual, effective date of termination was December 13, 2001. (R-3; T53) Petitioner characterized his termination as "fired pending appeal on the case" (T40); however, the Board's letter makes no reference to any such contingency.

20. By letter dated December 21, 2001, counsel for petitioner wrote to the Department seeking to vacate petitioner's disqualification. (Letter not part of record; description based on R-6, infra) The Department responded by letter dated January 16, 2002 (R-6), summarizing the provisions of the current statute and noting in particular that showings of rehabilitation were no longer permitted and that employment in the public schools for any person found convicted of an enumerated crime was precluded by law. The Department further advised that petitioner could seek the Commissioner's review of its determination by filing an appeal pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3.

21. On February 28, 2002, counsel for petitioner filed the instant appeal, seeking reinstatement to employment and back pay for the period of termination. (Petition of Appeal at 6-7) No request for stay of the Department's determination of disqualification was made, either upon filing of the appeal or subsequently.

Although pled as a single claim against the Department, this matter, in fact, presents two separate and distinct issues: 1) whether, when petitioner's prints were submitted to the Department in 2001, they should have been evaluated under the criminal history record check law as it existed prior to June 1998, so as to accord petitioner the opportunity to demonstrate rehabilitation under the standards then in effect, and 2) whether petitioner is entitled to reinstatement to his employment with the Union City Board of Education and to back pay for the period between his termination and reinstatement.

With respect to the question of the appropriate statute to be applied to petitioner's record check, the Commissioner initially finds that the Department's actions in this matter were in all respects proper and in accordance with law. N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1 states on its face that the provisions of P.L. 1998, c. 31 shall apply to criminal history record checks conducted on or after the effective date of that act (June 30, 1998), except in the case of an individual employed by a board of education who is required to undergo a check upon employment with another board of education.[8] In petitioner's case, no record check application was received by the Department, and consequently no check was conducted, prior to 2001;[9] petitioner's application at that time did not fall within the [8] The Initial Decision's summation (at 7-8) of the 1998 criminal history record check statute and its June 1998 legislative amendment is essentially accurate and need not be repeated herein.

[9] The Initial Decision (at 9) states that, "In this instance, there is no indication as to whether or not the 1998 background check [was] completed; however, what is for certain is that all of the facts and the testimony reveal that Petitioner fully completed his responsibilities and turned all documents for the background check over to the Respondent. Respondent acknowledges receipt of all documents and confirms that the documents were turned over for a criminal background check." As the Commissioner's factual findings demonstrate, statutory exception provision since he was not being checked in conjunction with changing his employment from one school district to another.[10] The Department, therefore, acted correctly—indeed, in the only manner permitted to it by law—in applying current standards to the results of petitioner's 2001 record check, and then advising petitioner, in response to his protest of such application, of his right to present proofs and argument to the Commissioner through the administrative hearing process. The Commissioner rejects as entirely without merit petitioner's contention that the Department did not perform its responsibilities and duties with reasonable care, either in 1998 or in 2001: In the first instance, it could not possibly have acted on an applicant of whom it had no knowledge, and it had general procedures in place to provide local districts with a means of checking on submitted applications; in the latter, it applied the law correctly under the circumstances and diligently followed all established practices and procedures, including directing petitioner's legal counsel to the appropriate process for administrative hearing so that he could fully present his claim for exception to the plain language of the law.[11]

Concluding that the Department's actions were proper, however, does not end the inquiry with respect to petitioner. Through this proceeding—the very purpose of which is to permit development of a factual record and legal argument that may justify however, no check was conducted in 1998, and, notwithstanding that petitioner apparently gave the requisite materials to the Board for submission to the Department, the Department did not receive an application or other information on behalf of petitioner until 2001, let alone acknowledge receipt of such documents.

[10] The Commissioner is unpersuaded by petitioner's "grandfathering" argument as raised at hearing (T140-46), which is based on a reading of statute that truncates the critical sentence at midpoint ("except in the case of a person employed by a board of education"), completely ignoring the qualifying clause that follows. (T146) The Commissioner likewise discounts petitioner's inferences at hearing that the Criminal History Review Unit did not have the expertise to make decisions about application of the statute under which it operates. (T80-87, T119-22, T124, T132-37, T142, 144-45)

[11] The Commissioner rejects petitioner's suggestion that the Department is culpable no matter what because the statute places on it the ultimate responsibility for the conduct of background checks and there is no requirement in statute or rule for district boards to check on the results of applications submitted. (T115-24)

under the circumstances a result different from an otherwise appropriate agency determination[12]—petitioner has established that the delay occurring between his initial application to the Board in February 1998 and the actual conduct of his criminal history record check was in no way due to fault, omission or bad faith on his part. Indeed, the record shows that petitioner did all that was asked of him in order to enable the check to be conducted, that he answered the questions asked of him truthfully based on the language of the forms he was given, and that he reasonably relied on the Board's acceptance of his application pending completion of the check and its subsequent continuation of his employment without further comment, as evidence that the check had occurred and that his prior conviction did not disqualify him under the law. In this regard, the Commissioner notes in particular that petitioner accurately completed his State application form (P-1), since he had not, in fact, been convicted of any violation of the New Jersey Controlled Dangerous Substance Act (NJCDSA) and no provision was made on the form at that time for disclosure of other drug offenses, and that he likewise responded truthfully to the additional district form regarding criminal history (P-5), which reflects the law as it was originally enacted in 1986, never having been updated to reflect the Legislature's 1989 amendment adding drug offenses to sexual and child endangerment crimes as disqualifying convictions. Under these circumstances, and where the Board's witness admits that it received petitioner's application materials in February 1998 and believed them to be sufficient for conditional employment in the district and submission to the Department for record check, petitioner did all he was required or could reasonably have been expected to do, so that the interests of justice favor according him the opportunity to demonstrate—as [12] In this regard, petitioner errs in his contention that his case is "not about the facts;" to the contrary, precisely the type of fact-finding contemplated by the contested case process is a necessary prerequisite for the Commissioner to be able to consider granting of equitable relief.

he would have been able to do in 1998 had his application not in some manner failed to reach the Department for processing—that he is rehabilitated under the standard of the statute so as not to pose a threat to the school children with whom he comes into contact as a custodian.[13] [14]

On the question of petitioner's entitlement to reinstatement to his employment with the Union City Board of Education and to back pay for the period between his termination and reinstatement, however, no determination can be made on the present record or at this juncture in proceedings. First, petitioner cannot even claim such entitlement unless he successfully demonstrates rehabilitation so as to be qualified for school employment pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1, which he has not yet done. Moreover, even if petitioner prevails in his demonstration of rehabilitation so as to be found qualified for school employment, it is not a foregone conclusion, as Petitioner claims, that the Board must then re-employ him and award him back pay; no statutory or decisional authority for such contention is cited by petitioner, nor is any readily apparent. Finally, the entity [13] The Commissioner rejects the Board's argument that petitioner should not be given an opportunity to demonstrate rehabilitation because he was less than forthright about his criminal history. As indicated, petitioner answered all questions accurately in 1998, and, although the "no convictions" attestation on the State form he completed when asked for reprints in 2001 (R-1) does refer to "drug offenses" and no longer to only violations of the NJCDSA, given the preceding events and petitioner's lack of knowledge as to why he was being asked to fill out a second criminal history form after several years of uneventful employment, the Commissioner cannot find, based on the present record, that this one fact alone should foreclose petitioner from the opportunity to demonstrate rehabilitation.

[14] The Commissioner also rejects the Department's argument that, even if the Commissioner finds it appropriate to apply the pre-June 1998 law to petitioner, petitioner failed to demonstrate rehabilitation at hearing and is not entitled to a further opportunity to do so. The Commissioner finds that, while petitioner testified at some length on his work history and current family background and the Initial Decision includes some discussion of decisional law regarding rehabilitation, the issue of rehabilitation is not mentioned in the prehearing order, the ALJ prefaces her discussion of applicable statutory criteria with the qualifying phrase "should petitioner be able to present a rehabilitation argument, he must discuss..." (Initial Decision at 5), and the ALJ's stated belief that all necessary testimony had been taken (T151-52) clearly arises from the (mis)understanding, reflected in the Initial Decision, that a rehabilitation hearing, if ordered, would be conducted by the Board. Under these circumstances, the Commissioner cannot find that petitioner has already had an opportunity to demonstrate rehabilitation on appeal.

against which the relief of reemployment and back pay must be sought, the Union City Board of Education, has not been named as a respondent in this matter and, as such, has had no opportunity to counter petitioner's factual and legal claims or present its own position with respect to pertinent facts and law; indeed, petitioner's claim in this regard should not even have been allowed to proceed without the Board being named as an "indispensable party" pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3;[15] that it did so is primarily the result of petitioner's and the ALJ's continual confusion and conflation of 1) the State Department of Education with the Union City Board of Education, and 2) petitioner's disqualification from school employment with the termination of his employment with the district.

This difficulty pervades the Initial Decision from the outset, as well as petitioner's papers and arguments: The petitioner regularly refers to the Department and Board as one amorphous entity entitled "the State," and both the petitioner and the ALJ confuse the respective roles and authority of the Department versus those of the local board of education. Notwithstanding the Department's repeated efforts to clarify the requisite distinctions,[16] throughout the ALJ's discussion, reference is made to petitioner's employment and/or termination by the Department, when, in fact, the extent of the Department's role and authority in matters of this type is to: conduct the criminal history record checks required by law; determine employee qualification or disqualification based upon the results; and notify the employing school district of the outcome so that it can [15] While the Board had a right to intervene or participate pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-16.1 et seq., it did not have the obligation to do so; the obligation to name the Board, as the entity against which the relief of reinstatement/back pay would be ordered if petitioner prevailed in his claim for reemployment, rested with petitioner pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3. Because the Petition of Appeal (at 7-8) clearly identifies reinstatement and back pay as the relief sought by petitioner, and that claim is plainly inferred by Issue 5 in the Prehearing Order, petitioner should have been required to name the Board as a party. Moreover, although the Board was far more than merely "affected" by petitioner's claim, as is the standard for intervention or participation, there is no evidence on record that the Board was notified of even this potential as provided by N.J.A.C. 1:1-16.4.

comply with the law. The Department neither employs nor terminates local district staff members; these functions are expressly reserved to district boards of education subject to compliance with statutes prohibiting employment of disqualified persons. Conversely, the criminal history record check law does not give, and has never given, any authority to district boards to make determinations of qualification for school employment, a function reserved solely to the Commissioner and State Department of Education. Thus, while only the Commissioner or Department can find petitioner qualified for school employment under statute, only the Board can re-employ him, either on its own initiative or by order of the Commissioner. The Commissioner's authority to issue such an order, however, is appropriately exercised only upon the conduct of a contested case hearing with the Board being given a full and fair opportunity to defend against petitioner's claim, and not until petitioner has successfully demonstrated rehabilitation under the criminal history record check law in effect at the time of his application.

The Commissioner, therefore, directs that this matter be remanded to the OAL, initially for a hearing on whether petitioner meets the standard for rehabilitation set forth in N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1 as it existed prior to amendment effective June 30, 1998, and then, if petitioner is found qualified[17] and takes appropriate steps to pursue his claim, for determination as to whether the circumstances of this matter may entitle him to reemployment and/or back pay. Because the disqualification hearing is to be conducted on a nunc pro tunc basis, petitioner shall be limited in the evidence he may present to demonstrate rehabilitation to that which would have been available to him at the time of his 1998 application and a few months thereafter, since any disqualification hearing resulting from a February 1998 application would ordinarily have been concluded before the end of that year. If petitioner wishes to pursue his claim for reemployment and back pay, he must forthwith submit to the ALJ, and serve on the Board, an amended petition naming the Board as a respondent. Moreover, any proceeding on reemployment or back pay must recognize from the outset that the Department properly applied the 2001 law at the time of petitioner's "second" application, and that only through the present proceeding has petitioner established an equitable right to have his qualification re-determined under prior standards; further, it must recognize that the Board had no choice under State statute but to terminate petitioner's employment once he was disqualified from school employment and he neither requested nor obtained a stay of such disqualification pending appeal pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3. (N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6) Finally, if petitioner is found to have any entitlement to back pay, the question of mitigation must also be taken into account.

Accordingly, for the reasons set forth herein, the Initial Decision of the OAL is rejected, and this matter is remanded for further proceedings consistent with the Commissioner's directives above.

IT IS SO ORDERED.[18]

OFFICE OF ADMINISTRATIVE LAW

INITIAL DECISION
OAL DKT. NO. EDU 03689-02
AGENCY DKT. NO. 57-2/02

EDUARDO NUNEZ,
Petitioner,
v.
DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION,
Respondent.

Gilberto M. Garcia, Esq. representing Petitioner

Kathleen Asher, Deputy Attorney General (Peter C. Harvey, Attorney General State of New Jersey, representing Respondent)

Record Closed: November 10, 2004 Decided: January 5, 2005

BEFORE SANDRA ANN ROBINSON, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Eduardo Nunez, (Petitioner/Nunez) contends that his removal as a maintenance worker by the State of New Jersey Department of Education (Respondent) on December 7, 2001, was a result of a second criminal history review which was unlawful, since he had undergone an initial criminal history review in 1998 and was hired and worked for the Union City School District from March 1, 1998 until his dismissal on December 13, 2001. On or about November 29, 2001, a second criminal history review of Petitioner was conducted because no criminal review records were found in his personnel file. The second check revealed the existence of a criminal history, for first degree criminal sale of a controlled dangerous substance in New York State, pursuant to *N.J.S.A.*18A: 6-7.1, for which Petitioner served a four and one-half year jail term during 1984 through 1988. Petitioner argues that he met all the requirements of the application process and was hired prior to the June 30, 1998 effectuation of a deletion in the New Jersey Statutes, allowing rehabilitation to be demonstrated.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On April 29, 2002, the Department of Education Bureau of Controversies and Disputes transmitted this matter to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) where it was filed as a contested case pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-2(b). A July 2002 settlement conference was scheduled by the ALJ initially assigned to the case, but an adjournment was granted pending the substitution of the Deputy Attorney General handling the case. On July 25, 2002 another Deputy Attorney General was assigned and the matter was scheduled for an in-person settlement conference on November 2, 2002. The November 2nd conference was rescheduled due to a case scheduling conflict by Petitioner's counsel. On February 4, 2003 this matter was reassigned to another ALJ and then reassigned on February 10, 2003 to the undersigned. Another settlement conference date was set for April 25, 2003 and Petitioner's counsel did not appear due to his inability to obtain an air-flight back to New Jersey; the case disposition was treated as a Failure To Appear. On May 1, 2003, Petitioner's counsel requested a reinstatement of the matter because of the circumstances for his non-appearance. The case was reinstated and an in-person pre-hearing was completed on August 29, 2003; a Pre-hearing Order was signed on September 5, 2003. De novo hearing dates were scheduled for December 4 - 5, 2003 and June 17-18, 2004. At the close of testimony on June 18, 2004, the exhibits appearing in the Appendix were entered into evidence; and a Briefing Schedule Order was signed which included time for the acquisition of tapes and transcripts. Post-hearing briefs were due to the undersigned by September 24, 2004. An extension of time for submission was granted to the parties. On October 28, 2004, the undersigned received a reply to Petitioner's initial post hearing submission from the Attorney General's office. A telephonic conference was scheduled for November 9, 2004 for the purpose of determining a deadline date for reply responses, should Petitioner choose to respond to the Attorney General's second submission. Petitioner advised the undersigned by letter that no reply would be forthcoming and the case was closed on November 10, 2004. Due to the volume of the caseload, the undersigned was granted an extension for the submission of the decision in this matter, until January 7, 2005.

ISSUE

Is Petitioner's termination from employment with the Union County Board of Education for a criminal conviction on March 28, 1984, lawful pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A: 6-7, where:

(1) the version of the statute in force at the time of hire on March 1, 1998 allowed for a showing of rehabilitation to effectuate an exception to employment with the public school system;

(2) a legislative amendment N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1 effective June 30, 1998, after the date of hire in 1998, eliminated the provision to demonstrate rehabilitation as a consideration in disqualification cases and prohibited employment of any person in the public school system with a conviction for certain offenses who did not previously have the criminal record expunged.

SUMMARY OF FACTS AND TESTIMONY

On March 28, 1984, Petitioner Nunez was convicted of a second-degree sale of a controlled dangerous substance in New York State. On March 1, 1998, the Petitioner was hired as a maintenance worker by the Union City Board of Education. At that time of hire, Petitioner was fingerprinted, submitted completed application forms, which included the necessary information for a criminal background investigation. (Exhibits P-1, P-2). Respondent's witness, Carl Johnson, Secretary to the Union City Board of Education and Supervisor of non-instructional staff acknowledged during testimony that Petitioner had submitted all documents requested of him at the time of hire. Mr. Johnson testified that he gave Petitioner's application to his office personnel for forwarding to the Criminal History Review Unit in Trenton (via regular mail), but he did not receive the results of a criminal background check. Carl Johnson had no idea that Petitioner had a criminal record when he recommended him to the Board for hiring. The Board of Education approved the hiring and awaited a sign-off by the Department of Education, which reviews of the package submitted. (Exhibits P-3, P-4, P-5). Carl Johnson explained that if the criminal background check is clear the applicant becomes a permanent hire, and the Board of Education would not receive a formal letter of approval (only the new hire would get a formal letter). Petitioner said on February 27, 1998 he received a letter of approval for provisional hire to commence work in March 1998. Mr. Carl Johnson said that in 1998 the Board of Education only received disqualification letters. When questioned about why there was no disclosure by Petitioner of his criminal background, he responded that he answered the question asked of him on the application:

> Have you been convicted of a crime within the last seven (7) years?
> He answered: NO. (because he was convicted on March 28, 1984; the amendment to the New Jersey Administrative Code became effective June 30, 1998; and he was completing the application in February 1998).
> See Exhibit P-5.

Petitioner advanced his request of the OAL Court to arrive at a finding which would recommend an opportunity to allow his presentation of arguments and evidence regarding Rehabilitation, by way of: summarizing his work experiences after release from jail explaining that he worked for two plumbing companies (2 years); for Kraft Foods (3 years); Goya Foods (1 year); that he moved to Florida from 1994 to 1998 and purchased a home while working for Parmalatt, Liberia Foods and A.C. Refrigerator Company. When he vacationed in New Jersey in 1998, he stayed and searched for employment because his family had always found life to be better in New Jersey. He has purchased a home in Wayne, New Jersey for his wife of twenty-three years and their two sons, ages 13 and 23. From 1998 through the date of this hearing Petitioner professed to be an outstanding citizen with no convictions or arrests. He earned $36,000.00 per year without overtime, from the Union City Board of Education; medical and dental benefits were included in his employment package. He was assigned to all schools in the district to assist with carpentry, painting and plumbing. His wife works for Hilton Corporation. His parents, father 86 years old and mother 80 years old live in Union City. He has two brothers and one sister. Petitioner said he was unaware of the rehabilitation waivers until his disqualification was explained to him in 2001. His belief was that his provisional hire was completed after six months on the job, and his permanent position commenced when he received a letter from the Board of Education at the end of the six-month period. (Exhibit P-3). He said he had no reason to believe there was any concern about his employment since he had provided truthful response to all the questions asked of him on the application and had completed the fingerprinting requirement for the criminal background check. Petitioner has been terminated without pay, pending the appeal of this matter.

Petitioner discloses information which would be used as evidence of rehabilitation in a plenary hearing before the Board of Education. It is noted that should Petitioner be able to present a rehabilitation argument that he must discuss the circumstances under which the offense occurred; explain whether the offense was an isolated or repeated incident; explain the asocial conditions which may have contributed to the offense; provide evidence of rehabilitation, including good conduct in prison or in the community, counseling or psychiatric treatment received, acquisition of additional academic or vocation schooling, successful participation in correctional work-release, or the recommendation of persons who have had the individual under their supervision (while incarcerated and after).

On November 29, 2001, approximately 45-months after Petitioner began working, the Criminal History Review Unit within the Department of Education conducted a criminal history background check on him because documentation regarding his 1998 submission was not found in his personnel file. (Exhibits R-1, R-2). It was during this investigation that the Petitioner's 1984 criminal conviction was revealed. (Exhibits R-4, R-5).

Carl Carabelli, Manager New Jersey Department of Education Criminal History Review Unit (Unit) has been with the Unit for sixteen years and prior to becoming Manager he worked for and retired from the New Jersey State Police Criminal Investigations Section. Mr. Carabelli said that prior to the change of law in 1998 an applicant for employment with the Department of Education could be hired for a six-month provisional period, because the response from the FBI on the criminal background checks usually took six months. The procedures for applicant processing and the system for criminal investigation checks have been revised. Currently, the Office of Compliance monitors school employee records (as of July 1, 2002 there was a fully automated system); there was no monitoring in 1998, all procedures were done manually, so there were times when files were not reconciled because of the volume of work to complete. Also, Mr. Carabelli noted that criminal background application documents received by the State prior to 1998 were kept for one year and after 1998 they were kept three years. In 1998, according to Mr. Carabelli, it was the school district's responsibility pursuant to State Statute to "make sure a criminal background check occurred, and the school district had to assume responsibility for compliance". Mr. Carabelli's search of computer data records indicated that Petitioner was not in the database prior to 2001. Carabelli said that had he received Petitioner's application package prior to June 30, 1998 that a disqualification letter would have been mailed to Petitioner allowing a thirty-day response to appeal the decision and include proof of rehabilitation.

On December 12, 2001, Petitioner's employment with the New Jersey Department of Education was terminated due to his felony conviction in New York State and the fact that the New Jersey Statues changed in 1998 and disqualification (employment in public education sector) was automatic, for any felon. (Exhibit R-3). No argument was offered to refute the criminal conviction or application pursuant to the current version of N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1 (d):

> "for purposes of this section, a conviction exists if the individual has at any time been convicted under the laws of this state or under any similar statues of the United States or any other state for a substantially equivalent crime."

Petitioner argues that because of the unique circumstance of the case, he should be allowed to demonstrate rehabilitation pursuant to the prior, no longer effective, version of the statute. (Exhibit R-6).

School employees and applicants are subject to a check of their criminal record. N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1. This statute enumerates a list of crimes that permanently disqualify an applicant or employee from employment in a facility, center, school, or school system under the supervision of the Department of Education and the Board of Education. N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1(a)-(c). Among the enumerated offenses is the sale of a "controlled dangerous substance," the substantive offense which the Petitioner was convicted of on March 28, 1984. N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1(b).

Prior to its June 1998 amendment, N.J.S.A. 18A: 6-7.1 permitted an employee to potentially mitigate a disqualifying criminal offense conviction by affirmatively demonstrating his or her rehabilitation by clear and convincing evidence. See: L. 1986, c. 116, § 1. As amended, the current version of N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1, does not allow evidence of rehabilitation to be presented to mitigate past offenses, but instead provides that any individual convicted of a disqualifying offense "shall be permanently disqualified from employment or service." In repealing the provision that had allowed the individual the opportunity to show rehabilitation, the Legislature limited the individual to the opportunity to challenge only the accuracy of the disqualifying criminal history record. N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1(e).

The June 30, 1998 amendments to the statute expressly provided that it "shall take effect immediately." Moreover, it provided that the new law "shall first apply to criminal record checks conducted on or after the effective date of [the act.]" N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1(g) (emphasis added). The statute does not speak to when the investigation should or must be conducted, only the law to be followed when it is done.

The key issue in this matter is which version of the statute should be applied to Petitioner's disqualification. Petitioner contends his employment was conditioned upon the successful completion of a background check and therefore the investigation should have occurred under the authority of the prior version of the statute. However, the statute's plain-language does not provide that the applicable law must be that of the date of hire, but instead provides that the date of the background check should control.

In addition, N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.2, which governs the authority of the Commissioner of Education in regard to the criminal history investigations of workers in educational institutions, makes no reference to when the background check must be done. It only authorizes the Commissioner of Education to conduct such checks. Whereas, the plain-language of the statute makes no clear reference to when the criminal investigation must be conducted, the statute does state however, that an individual who has been convicted of any of the enumerated offenses, "shall be permanently disqualified from employment or service . . ." making no reference to prospective application only. N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1. Generally, courts favor interpretations of statutes that afford prospective application only. Nobrega v. Edison Glen Associates, 167 N.J. 520, 536 (2001).

In Garvin v. N.J. State Bd. of Examiners, EDU 7455-00, Initial Decision, (March 27, 2002), adopted, Commissioner of Education (May 20, 2002), the Petitioner was found ineligible for a teaching certificate under the current version of the statute due to prior convictions which are enumerated as disqualifications from employment under N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1. In Garvin, the Petitioner had submitted to a background investigation after he had been granted a position and was teaching pursuant to a conditional teaching certificate. His background check found felony convictions similar to those of Petitioner Nunez, and he was accordingly found to be disqualified from the position of substitute teacher. Garvin contended that he should be allowed to present evidence of rehabilitation under the old statute due to his holding of conditional licenses during the transition from the old to the current version of the statute. In denying Garvin the opportunity to proffer mitigating evidence of rehabilitation, the Administrative Law Judge held that the conditional permit and the full permit were not equivalent, and his prior position as an emergency-substitute did not provide reasoning to grandfather the prior law to the current standard. Similar facts are currently at bar, except that Petitioner Nunez had been working for the school district for two and one-half years and had fulfilled all requirements of the application process: and had received a letter indicating permanent employment. Petitioner Nunez's situation does warrant the application of the prior version of the statute, since the plain language of the statute provides the applicable date to be the date of the criminal history record check. N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1(g). In this instance there is no indication as to whether or not the 1998 background check completed; however what is for certain is that all of the facts and the testimony reveal that Petitioner fully completed his responsibilities and turned all documents for the background check over to Respondent. Respondent acknowledges receipt of all documents and confirms that the documents were turned over for a criminal background check.

Under these circumstances, Petitioner should be allowed his due process rights and the Board of Education should entertain a plenary hearing. Unlike Garvin who submitted an application for a standard teaching certificate two months after the June 30, 1998 effective date of the act, Petitioner Nunez had been submitted documents prior to the effective date, and if fact in February 1998 prior to the application of the new law. Absent any indication that Petitioner was the cause for no criminal history record in his personnel file, the opportunity to demonstrate affirmatively his rehabilitation by clear and convincing evidence should be granted.

In Wolffbrandt v. New Jersey State Department of Education 92 NJAR .2d (EDU) 457 (1991), there was a finding that a paroled school custodian worker, who had been arrested for distribution of a controlled dangerous substance, possession of marijuana and armed robbery, demonstrated rehabilitation where he had completed drug treatment, counseling and had actively pursued academic and vocational training and was supported by good recommendations from persons who knew him in various environments. In State Department of Education v. Skwarek, 92 NJAR .2d (EDU) 1 (1991), there was a finding of rehabilitation for a teacher convicted of possession of marijuana, use of cocaine, possession of hypodermic needle and drug paraphernalia, were there was proof of success in a twelve step program, completion of counseling, subsequent training, community service and received strong recommendation from persons who supervised her.

In this matter, Petitioner Nunez was convicted of "possession" of a controlled dangerous substance, which is a disqualifying offense under both versions of the statute; but the first version allowed for a demonstration of rehabilitation. Petitioner's application for employment and submission of documents and fingerprints for the criminal background check occurred during the first version of the statute and his right to due process should be permitted at advance, as per the terms of pre 1998 statute. The denial of a demonstration of rehabilitation would be improper, according to the circumstances of this case.

CONCLUSION

Based on all of the foregoing, I CONCLUDE that the Petitioner may not be permanently disqualified from his position due to his past conviction and in light of the current law. The old version of the statute allows a demonstration of rehabilitation to mitigate his prior conviction, and because of the circumstances of this case, an exemption not to use the plain-language of the current version should apply. The Board of Education should have the power to terminate Petitioner if there is no affirmative demonstration of his rehabilitation by clear and convincing evidence. I therefore CONCLUDE that the circumstances of the case provide a basis for allowing Petitioner to proffer evidence of his rehabilitation, as per the language of the Statute in effect in February 1998.

ORDER

Based on the above, and for good cause shown, I ORDER that the Petition in this matter be and is hereby GRANTED, and that Petitioner be allowed a Plenary Hearing before the Union City Board of Education.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen (13) days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

SYNOPSIS

Petitioner disputed the respondent Board's authority to recoup any or all of a salary overpayment resulting from a purported error in calculating her salary increment for the 1994-95 school year; such mistake was carried forward, effecting salary calculations through the 2001-02 school year. Respondent Board discovered the error in March 2003, and sought to recover the alleged overpayments by freezing petitioner's salary at the then current level until the full amount of the overpayment is recovered.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that the parties incorporated the salary mistake in a subsequent negotiated agreement, and that tenure law prevents a board from reducing a tenured teacher's salary where both parties have "undertaken performance of the contract" and the teacher has already started to work. The ALJ concluded that: there was an overpayment totaling $2,500 for school years 1994-95 and 1995-96; all salary calculations flowing from the base year 1996-97 forward were properly grounded in a duly negotiated agreement; and that by the time respondent Board sought to recover the overpayments in March 2003, the petitioner's negotiated salary for that year exceeded the salary level at which the salary was frozen. The ALJ ordered the Board to restore the petitioner to the salary of $60,204 for the 2004-05 school year, and to reimburse the petitioner amounts improperly withheld for the 2002-03 and 2003-04 school years.

Upon a full and independent review of the record in this matter, the Commissioner initially rejects the ALJ's conclusion with respect to whether the Board may recoup $2,500 in overpayments to petitioner for the 1994-96 school years, and emphasizes that there is no allegation that the Board delayed in acting to correct a salary overpayment once it was discovered, and no evidence that petitioner was prejudiced in pursuing her claim. The Commissioner finds that the equities lie with the Board's fiduciary responsibility to recoup the 1994-95 and 1995-96 salary overpayments in the amount of $2,500. With respect to the issue of the effect of the contracted agreement incorporating the salary levels erroneously fixed in 1994-95 and 1995-96, the Commissioner finds that this issue does not fall within the scope of his jurisdiction. Accordingly, the Commissioner sustains the Board's action to recoup $2,500 in overpayments to petitioner for the 1994-95 and 1995-96 school years and dismisses petitioner's contractual claims for lack of jurisdiction. This matter is hereby forwarded to the PERC for action as that agency deems appropriate.

BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE TOWN OF HACKETTSTOWN, WARREN COUNTY,	:	DECISION
RESPONDENT.	:

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed. The Hackettstown Board of Education's (Board) exceptions and petitioner's reply thereto were submitted in accordance with N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4 and were duly considered by the Commissioner in reaching his determination. To the extent these submissions essentially reiterate arguments raised before the ALJ, they are not recounted herein.

In its exceptions, the Board avers, inter alia, that the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) failed to consider the applicable case law on recoupment and asserts that the older cases relied on by the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) are no longer "good law." (Board's Exceptions at 7) The Board claims that the decision which should control in this case is the State Board determination in Carol DeLyon v. Board of Education of the Borough of Old Tappan, Bergen County, decided by the State Board, February 2, 2000, in that the facts in DeLyon are analogous to those herein, noting that the Board in that matter had erroneously placed Ms. DeLyon on the wrong step of the salary guide and did not discover the error until some 15 months after the error had been made. (Id. at 8) The Board contends that the State Board decision in DeLyon "permits a board of education that made a mistake with respect to the salary payment for a tenured teacher to rectify that mistake by freezing the teacher's salary, so as to recoup the prior salary overpayment  until the teacher's salary is at the level it would have been absent a mistake." The Board further complains that the DeLyon decision was ignored by the ALJ, notwithstanding its prevailing precedent and the extensive analysis provided in the parties' briefs. (Id. at 10)

Moreover, the Board reasons, it appears that there were two factors relied on by the ALJ in denying it relief. (Id. at 11) One factor was the span of time between the mistake and the Board's freezing of petitioner's salary to rectify the mistake. (Ibid.) The Board observes that nothing was submitted to the ALJ for the proposition that the mistake was anything other than a good faith error and the Board can only guess at the ALJ's reasoning, adding that there is no support in case law that rectification of a salary mistake cannot occur if there is too long a gap between the mistake and the attempted rectification. (Id. at 11-12) Additionally, the Board notes its agreement that a teacher's salary may not be reduced to rectify a mistake and states that it can only assume that the ALJ mistakenly equates the freezing of an employee's salary with a reduction in salary. (Id. at 12) The Board further asserts that "[r]eduction of salary in this context, of course, means actually paying the teacher less than the teacher had been making the year before," which is prohibited by Harris, supra; DeLyon, supra; and Stockton, supra. (Id. at 12-13) However, the Board contends, these same cases also state that "freezing a salary is not reducing one's salary in violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:28-5 when it is done in order to rectify an agreed-upon mistake." (emphasis in text) (Ibid.)

The second factor relied on by the ALJ in denying it relief, the Board submits, was the finding that the mistake in the salary figure was ratified in the 1996-99 collective bargaining agreement and, thus, no correction of this mistake was permitted. (Id. at 13) The Board argues that the Commissioner does not have jurisdiction to decide this matter in that jurisdiction on this issue rests with the Public Employment Relations Commission (PERC), a fact the Board claims was acknowledged by petitioner when she filed the Unfair Practice Charge with PERC, which has been held in abeyance pending the resolution of petitioner's appeal under the education laws. (Ibid.) The Board notes that petitioner addresses the rescission argument concerning the collective bargaining agreement in her initial brief and refers to it as being resolved "in the appropriate forum." (Ibid.) The Board also takes issue with the ALJ's ruling on what it contends is a labor relations issue arising under PERC law, contending that -- notwithstanding the ALJ's ruling on the labor relations question of the Board's 2003 freezing of petitioner's salary, which found that it represented a reduction or rescission of her salary as fixed in the 1996-1999 collective bargaining agreement -- this question is not before the Commissioner. (Id. at 15)

Additionally, the Board questions, "even if the Court were jurisdictionally correct in holding that Respondent could not fix the salary mistake because the mistake had been memorialized in a 1996-1999 collective bargaining agreement, why does that conclusion preclude the Board from remedying a mistake before and after that agreement?" (Ibid.) The Board argues that "the ALJ provided no legal support for his conclusion that, even if petitioner's salary were fixed at the contractual amount for the 1998-1999 school year, that amount was immutable and the mistake represented therein could never be remedied" and asserts that this conclusion is not only beyond the jurisdictional authority of the ALJ, but also completely unsupported in the Initial Decision. (Id. at 15-16)

In her exceptions, petitioner contends, inter alia, that the ALJ's determination is entirely consistent with the State Board's decision in DeLyon, arguing that under no theory of the case can she be deemed to have been overpaid in terms of her placement on the salary guide because she was paid precisely what the .5 school psychologist was to be paid between 1996 and 1999. (Petitioner's Exceptions at 4) Petitioner further points out that she was paid according to the amounts established in the 1996-99 collective bargaining agreement and, if the 1996-97 salary is used as the base, all the salaries subsequent to 1999 are also correct. (Id. at 4-5)

With respect to the Board's rescission argument, petitioner notes that the Board has not moved for reformation or rescission of the 1996-1999 collective bargaining agreement and claims that there are only two bases for reformation of the contact: mistake or fraud. (Id. at 6) Petitioner points out that there has been no claim of fraud and there was no "mutuality of mistake" because the mistake was the product of an allegedly erroneous calculation that was never specifically agreed upon in any prior negotiations or written agreement. (Ibid.)

Upon a thorough and independent review of the record in this matter, the Commissioner rejects the Administrative Law Judge's conclusion with respect to whether the Board may recoup the $2,500 in overpayments to petitioner for the 1994-95 and 1995-96 school years. As found by the State Board in DeLyon, supra,

> When a district board makes an error in the placement of a tenured staff member on the negotiated salary guide or incorrectly establishes such employer's salary under the terms of that guide, action by the board to freeze the staff member's salary until such time as the overpayment is recouped does not constitute an impermissible reduction in compensation under the tenure laws. (citations omitted) (slip op. at 4)

As noted by the ALJ, "[i]t is clear from the testimony and documentary evidence adduced, that there was a miscalculation of the base salary, caused by the addition of the full off-guide amount of $2,500 rather than the .5 amount of $1,250." (Initial Decision at 6) As a result, the additional amount of $1,250 was included for each subsequent year. (Ibid.) Accordingly, for each of the school years of 1994-95 and 1995-96, petitioner received an overpayment of $1,250, for a total of $2,500. Although petitioner argues that it is fundamentally unfair to permit the Board to recoup these overpayments in that "there is no case which allows recovery for nine years" (Petitioner's Initial Brief at 37-38), petitioner has presented no evidence that the Board unreasonably delayed or was negligent in pursuing its claim nor has petitioner established that her defense was disadvantaged by her reliance on the Board's conduct. At the hearing, the board secretary testified that the salary error was discovered in the 2002-03 school year during contract negotiations (Tr. at 110), and by letter of February 27, 2003, petitioner was advised of the overpayment. (Petition of Appeal at 2-3, No. 5) On March 31, 2003, the Board passed a resolution freezing petitioner's salary until the salary overpayments were recouped. (Id. at 3, No. 6)

Black's Law Dictionary, seventh edition, at 879, defines laches as an "unreasonable delay or negligence in pursuing a right or claim – almost always an equitable one – in a way that prejudices the party against whom relief is sought." See, also, Enfield v. FWL, Inc., 256 N.J. Super. 502, 520-522 (Ch. Div. 1991). Given the specific facts in this matter where there is no allegation that the Board delayed in acting to correct a salary overpayment once it was discovered, albeit nine years later, and no evidence that petitioner was prejudiced by the Board's negligence in pursuing it claim, the Commissioner declines to apply laches and finds, instead, that the equities lie with the Board's fiduciary responsibility in its management of public funds to recoup the 1994-95 and 1995-96 salary overpayments in the amount of $2,500.

With respect to the issue of the effect of the contracted agreement incorporating the salary levels erroneously fixed in 1994-95 and 1995-96, the Commissioner finds that this issue does not fall within the scope of his jurisdiction. Therefore, this decision, and the full record herein, shall be transmitted to the PERC, where the issue is currently pending.

Accordingly, as set forth above, the Commissioner sustains the Board's action to recoup $2,500 in overpayments to petitioner for the 1994-95 and 1995-96 school years and dismisses petitioner's contractual claims for lack of jurisdiction. This matter is hereby forwarded to the PERC for action as that agency deems appropriate.

Before ROBERT J. GIORDANO, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Petitioner Gail Sarcone is employed by the respondent Hackettstown Board of Education as a tenured School Psychologist. In the years since 1989-1990, she has been paid off-guide to determine her salary for the next school year. Her salary was calculated by using the prior year base salary, and adding the off-guide amounts. After taking maternity leave for the 1992-1993 school year, she returned as a part-time School Psychologist, designated at the time as a .5 employee. Starting in the 1998-1999 school year, the petitioner was considered a .8 salaried teacher. From that point on, her salary was pro-rated on a .8 basis. During the years from 1996-1997 to 1998-1999, the petitioner was paid a salary based on the Agreement ratified by the respondent and the Education Association.

In or about March 26, 2003, the respondent passed a resolution asserting that a salary error had been made in the 1994-1995 school year; that the petitioner had been overpaid that year and each succeeding year since. The respondent undertook to recover the alleged overpayments by freezing the petitioner's salary at the then current level of $55,140 "until the full amount of the overpayment... is recovered."

The respondent asserted the overpayment occurred as a result of her receiving a full off-guide increment in the amount of $2,500 for the 1994-1995 school year, rather than .5 of that amount, or $1,250. This overpayment was thereafter included in all subsequent salary calculations for the petitioner. The respondent further asserts that this error was included in the negotiated Agreement for the years 1996-1997 to 1998-1999. Through the 2001-2002 school year, the alleged overpayments amounted to a total of $13,001. That was the year the petitioner's salary reached the amount of $55,140. Thereafter, the respondent "froze" the salary at that amount through the 2004-2005 school year in an effort to recover those overpayments.

The petitioner filed a Petition of Appeal with the Department of Education on May 23, 2003. The petitioner averred that the respondent violated her tenure rights by withholding her increments and freezing her salary. She requested the Commissioner to direct the respondent to return monies lost as a result of the action by the respondent in freezing her salary at the level of $55,140 until the alleged overpayment of $15,003[1] is recovered.

[1] The parties stipulated during the hearing that the actual amount in dispute as of the 2001-2002 school year was $13,002. Thereafter, the petitioner's salary has been frozen at the amount of $55,140 through the 2004-2005 school year.

Thereafter, the respondent filed an answer to the Petition of Appeal on June 12, 2003. The respondent asserted that the action to recover the alleged overpayments was in accordance with its legal authority under the Education laws of the state. The respondent requested that the Commissioner of Education dismiss the petitioner's appeal with prejudice.

The matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) as a contested case on July 11, 2003. The hearing on the matter was conducted on January 27, 2004. Thereafter, the parties submitted post-hearings submissions. Prior to the entry of an initial decision in the matter, a question arose as to the method of calculating the off-guide salaries of teachers in the District. A further hearing was scheduled to supplement the record. The hearing was continued on January 5, 2005. Thereafter, the record was closed.

STATEMENT OF THE ISSUES

Whether the respondent may recover alleged overpayments made to petitioner by freezing her salary at the time the alleged overpayment was discovered until the amount is fully recovered.

What is the impact of a contract agreement incorporating the salary levels allegedly erroneously fixed in prior years?

FACTUAL DISCUSSION

Testimony

Michael Simonetta

The witness is employed by the Hackettstown Board of Education as the school business administrator and board secretary. He has been employed in that position since March of 1995. The duties of the board secretary are to handle payroll, personnel, review salaries, and check on contracts for staff members.

He identified the various negotiated agreements including the contracts from 1989-1991 to the present. (P-1 to P-6). He also identified the Board resolution dated March 26, 2003, freezing the petitioner's salary at $55,140 until the overpayments were recovered. (P-7). Simonetta testified that the overpayments first occurred in the 1994-1995 school year. These overpayments were first discovered during the 2002-2003 school year.

Simonetta went through the history of salary increases fore the petitioner, through the 2002-2003 school year. He acknowledged that although the resolution reflected an overpayment of $15,002, the actual amount of overpayment through the 2002-2003 school year was $13,002. He further acknowledged that there was no formal agreement as to the manner by which stipends would be pro-rated for part-time employees. The method used here was always used by the District. Stipends would be pro-rated according to the percentage part-time. Longevity was always at 100% however. To calculate the salary for off-guide teachers, the previous base is used, adding the off-guide amount plus stipend and longevity. Starting the 1994-1995 school year, the petitioner should have received .5 of the off-guide amount. For that year, she actually received the full off-guide amount of $2,500. Starting the next year, she received the correct off-guide pro-rata amount, but the additional $1,250 continued to be included. Starting the 1998-1999 school year, that amount was increased to an overpayment of $2,000 per year, because the petitioner was from that time considered a .8 salaried teacher. The total of overpayments from 1994-1995 to 2001-2002 was $13,002.

Michael James Carroll

The witness is a field representative for the NJEA, Region 28. This includes the areas of Warren and Sussex Counties. He assists the local bargaining units in contract negotiations. He is the NJEA field representative for the Hackettstown Association. He was involved in negotiating the current contract on behalf of the Hackettstown Association, in effect for the contract period 2002 to 2005. (P-6).

He explained that the collective agreement includes a 16 step salary guide. The following years are off-guide. The salaries are calculated by using the final salary on the guide, and adding the off-guide amount to the prior year base salary. This applies to all off-guide salary calculations. He acknowledged that the petitioner was paid a salary for her first year as a .5 teacher, 1994-1995, using the full off-guide amount of $2,500. Generally, the off-guide amounts are pro-rated for part-time employees.

Gail Sarcone

The witness testified that she received a salary notification each year from the respondent. She signed and returned the notification, keeping a copy in her files. These notifications were identified by her. (P-8 to P-22).

She testified that she did not independently calculate her annual; salary. She generally just signed the notification, assuming the calculation was correct. She further testified that she did not calculate the salary amount for the year she became a part-time employee. She first became aware of a mistake or miscalculation in the salary amount, was in February 2003. The Board brought it to her attention. She acknowledged that she now understands that there was a mistake in the calculation of her salary for the 1994-1995 school year.

Michael James Carroll

The witness was recalled at a subsequent hearing date to explain the method for calculating salaries under the Hackettstown agreements. Specifically, as it relates to the salary calculations for the petitioner, there was a chart prepared that outlined that calculation method. There was a chart prepared on behalf of the petitioner moved into evidence as C-2. There was also a chart prepared on behalf of the respondent moved into evidence as C-3. The first chart started with the salary calculation from the year 1990-1991. (C-2). The witness explained that the petitioner was at step 16 on the salary guide in the school year 1989-1990. For every year thereafter, the salary is calculated by using the previous year salary plus the off-guide amount.

Analysis

There is no dispute as to the amounts actually paid to the petitioner during the years in question. The parties agreed that the salary calculations and the figures reflected in both C-2 and C-3 were accurate calculations. The parties disagree as to whether the amounts actually paid were overpayments, and whether in any event, those amounts can be recovered by the respondent. Specifically in dispute are whether the amount paid starting the school year 1994-1995 was an overpaid amount, and whether that overpayment can be recouped. It is clear from the testimony and the documentary evidence adduced, that there was a miscalculation of the base salary caused by the addition of the full off-guide amount of $2,500, rather than the .5 amount of $1,250. The petitioner herself acknowledged that the off-guide amount was miscalculated in the 1994-1995 school year. And since the agreement for that year did not include reference to part-time employees, the explanation that the stipend should have been pro-rated is a reasonable one. From that point forward, the parties once again used the correct amounts of stipend, off-guide amounts, and longevity. However, the additional amount of $1,250 was included for each subsequent year as a result. When the petitioner began being compensated at the .8 rate in the 1998-1999 school year, that amount of alleged overpayment increased to an amount of $2,000 per year. It is noted that the parties agree that the longevity payment should not be pro-rated, but paid in full amount regardless of the part-time status of the employee.

In an effort to abolish the stipend for the Learning Disabilities Teacher Consultant, Psychologist and Social Worker, the parties agreed to fixed salaries for the school years 1996-1997, 1997-1998, and 1998-1999, in an agreement entered between the Hackettstown Board of Education and the Hackettstown Education Association, (P-4). The salary for the .5 part-time psychologists was established in the agreement for each of the three years of the agreement. The salary was fixed at $28,996 for 1996-1997, $29,750 for 1997-1998, and $31,050 for 1998-1999. The agreement did not provide for a separate amount for off-guide payment for the psychologist. From the evidence adduced, it is clear that the parties started from the previous year base as had been used for the 1995-1996 school year. Off-guide amounts were included in the salary established for those three contract years.

The miscalculation from 1994-1995 carried over into the written agreement between the Hackettstown Board of Education and the Hackettstown Education Association for 1996-1999. In addition to whether the respondent may recover the overpayments made due to the miscalculation in 1994-1995, there is the additional issue regarding the effect of ratification of the salary amount for the part-time employee in the agreement, albeit based on a previous miscalculation.

FINDINGS OF FACT

Based on the testimonial and documentary evidence presented, and having had the opportunity to observe the demeanor of the witnesses and to assess their credibility, I make the following FINDINGS of FACT:

1. Petitioner is employed by the respondent as a tenured school psychologist.

2. For the 1989-1990 school year, the petitioner was paid a salary at the 16th and final step of the salary guide in effect for the Hackettstown Board of Education. Her base salary was $37,650, calculated based on a Master's degree plus 30 credits. She also received a stipend amount of $2,071. The total salary paid to the petitioner for the 1989-1990 school year was $39,721.

3. For the 1990-1991 school year, the petitioner received a salary calculated at the previous year base salary of $37,650, plus the off-guide amount of $3,600. The 1990-1991 base salary was therefore $41,250. To that amount was added a stipend of $2,257. The total salary paid to the petitioner for the 1990-1991 school year was $43,507.

4. For the 1991-1992 school year, the petitioner received a salary calculated at the previous year base salary of $41,250, plus the off-guide amount of $3,100. The 1991-1992 base salary was therefore $44,350. To that amount was added a stipend in the amount of $2,449, plus a longevity payment in the amount of $100. The total salary paid to the petitioner for the 1991-1992 school year was $46,899.

5. For the 1992-1993 school year, the petitioner was on maternity leave.

6. Upon the return of the petitioner for the 1993-1994 school year, she was a part-time school psychologist, designated as a .5 employee. The agreement in effect at the time did not reference any part-time position. The petitioner received a salary calculated at .5 of the previous year base salary of $44,350, or $22,175; .5 of the off-guide amount of $2,350, or $1,175; a longevity payment in the amount of $100; and a stipend of .5 of the stipend amount of $2,790 or $1,395. The total salary paid to the petitioner for the 1993-1994 school year was $24,845.

7. For the 1994-1995 school year, the petitioner received a salary calculated at .5 of the previous year base salary of $46,700, or $23, 350; the full off-guide amount of $2,500; a longevity payment of $100; and a stipend of .5 of the stipend amount of $2,930 or $1,465. The base salary paid to the petitioner for 1994-1995 using the full off-guide amount was $25,850. The total salary paid to the petitioner for the 1994-1995 school year was $27,415.

8. The base salary using the .5 off-guide amount would have been $24,600. The total salary would have been $26,165. The overpayment was $1,250.

9. For the 1995-1996 school year, the petitioner received a salary based on the previous year base of $25,850; .5 of the off-guide amount of $2,800, or $1,400; and a longevity payment of $200. The total salary paid was $28,996.

10. Using the off-guide amount of .5, or $1,400, the previous base salary would have been $24,600. Adding .5 of the full off-guide amount of $2,800, or $1,400 in the 1994-1995 school year, plus the longevity payment of $200, the salary would have been calculated to be $27,746.

11. The amount of overpayment for the two years, 1994-1995 and 1995-1996 amounted to $2,500,

12. For the 1996-1997 school year, the petitioner received a salary set forth in the agreement between the Hackettstown Board of Education and the Hackettstown Education Association for July 1, 1996 to June 30, 1999. The agreement reflected a base salary of $28,350 for a .5 psychologist; a stipend of $446; and a longevity payment of $200. The total salary paid to the petitioner for the 1996-1997 school year was $28,996. There was no separate adjustment for off-guide amounts, as the salary increments for the .5 psychologist were set over the three year period. The respondent asserts the correct salary should have been $27,746.

13. For the 1997-1998 school year, the petitioner received a salary set forth in the agreement between the Hackettstown Board of Education and the Hackettstown Education Association for July 1, 1996 to June 30, 1999. The agreement reflected a base salary of $29,550 for a .5 psychologist; no stipend; and a longevity payment of $200. The total salary paid to the petitioner for the 1997-1998 school year was $29,750. There was no separate adjustment for off-guide amount, as the salary increments for the .5 psychologist were set over the three year period. The respondent asserts the correct salary should have been $28,500.

14. For the 1998-1999 school year, the petitioner received a salary set forth in the agreement between the Hackettstown Board of Education and the Hackettstown Education Association for July 1, 1996 to June 30, 1999. The agreement reflected a base salary of $30,850 for a .5 psychologist; no stipend; and a longevity payment of $200. There was no separate adjustment for off-guide amounts, as the salary increments for the .5 psychologist were fixed over the three year period. However, the petitioner was designated a .8 psychologist for the year. Pro-rating her salary at .8 increases the salary to a base salary of $49,360. With the longevity payment in the amount of $200, the total salary paid to the petitioner for the 1998-1999 school year was $49,560. The respondent asserts the correct salary should have been $47,560.

15. For the 1999-2000 school year, the agreement between the Hackettstown Board of Education and the Hackettstown Education Association for July 1, 1999 to June 30, 2002 included the psychologist within the salary guide for all teachers. The petitioner received a salary established using the previous year base salary of $49,360; the off-guide amount calculated at .8 of the full off-guide amount of $2,152, or $1,722; and a longevity payment of $200. The base salary for the 1999-2000 school year was $51,082. The total salary paid to the petitioner for the 1999-2000 school year was $51,282. The respondent asserts the correct salary should have been $49,282.

16. For the 2000-2001 school year, the agreement between the Hackettstown Board of Education and the Hackettstown Education Association for July 1, 1999 to June 30, 2002 included the psychologist within the salary guide for all teachers. The petitioner received a salary established using the previous year base salary of $51,082; the off-guide amount calculated at .8 of the full off-guide amount of $2,286, or $1,892; and a longevity payment of $300. The base salary for the 2000-2001 school year was $52,911. The total salary paid to the petitioner for the 2000-2001 school year was $53,211. The respondent asserts the correct salary should have been $51,210.

17. For the 2001-2002 school year, the agreement between the Hackettstown Board of Education and the Hackettstown Education Association for July 1, 1999 to June 30, 2002 included the psychologist within the salary guide for all teachers. The petitioner received a salary established using the previous year base salary of $52,911; the off-guide amount calculated at .8 of the full off-guide amount of $2,411, or $1,929; and a longevity payment of $300. The base salary for the 2001-2002 school year was $54,840. The total salary paid to the petitioner for the 2001-2002 school year was $55,140. The respondent asserts the correct salary should have been $53,139.

18. For the 2002-2003 school year, the agreement between the Hackettstown Board of Education and the Hackettstown Education Association for July 1, 2002 to June 30, 2005 included the psychologist within the salary guide for all teachers. The base salary calculated using the previous year base salary of $54,840 and the off-guide amount calculated at .8 of the full off-guide amount of $2,100, or $1,680 would have been $56,520 for the 2002-2003 school year. Including the longevity payment of $300, the total salary would have been $56,820. The respondent undertook to freeze the petitioner's salary at $55,140 until recovering the alleged overpayments. The total salary paid to the petitioner for the 2002-2003 school year was $55,140. The respondent asserts the correct salary should have been $54,819.

19. For the 2003-2004 school year, the agreement between the Hackettstown Board of Education and the Hackettstown Education Association for July 1, 2002 to June 30, 2005 included the psychologist within the salary guide for all teachers. The base salary calculated using the previous year base salary of $56,520 and the off-guide amount calculated at .8 of the full off-guide amount of $2,100, or $1,680 would have been $58,200 for the 2003-2004 school year. Including the longevity payment of $300, the total salary would have been $58,500. The respondent froze the petitioner's salary at $55,140 until recovering the alleged overpayments. The total salary paid to the petitioner for the 2003-2004 school year was $55,140. The respondent asserts the correct salary should have been $56,499.

20. For the 2004-2005 school year, the agreement between the Hackettstown Board of Education and the Hackettstown Education Association for July 1, 2002 to June 30, 2005 included the psychologist within the salary guide for all teachers. The base salary calculated using the previous year base salary of $58,200 and the off-guide amount calculated at .8 of the full off-guide amount of $2,130, or $1,704 would have been $59,904 for the 2003-2004 school year. Including the longevity payment of $300, the total salary would have been $60,204. The respondent froze the petitioner's salary at $55,140 until recovering the alleged overpayments. The total salary paid to the petitioner for the 2004-2005 school year was $55,140. The respondent asserts the correct salary should have been $58,203.

21. For the school years 1994-1995, 1995-1996, and 1999-2000, 2000-2001, 2002-2003, 2003-2004, 2004-2005, the agreement between the Hackettstown Board of Education and the Hackettstown Education Association contained no written agreement for calculating salaries for the part-time psychologist in the Hackettstown School District.

22. For the school years 1996-1997, 1997-1998, and 1998-1999, the agreement between the Hackettstown Board of Education and the Hackettstown Education Association contained provisions for the salary of the part-time psychologist based on .5 employment.

LEGAL DISCUSSION

New Jersey state law provides at N.J.S.A. 18A:28-5 that any teacher who has acquired tenure "shall not be ...reduced in compensation except for inefficiency, incapacity or conduct unbecoming such a teaching staff member or other just cause..." A long line of school law decisions has interpreted this reduction-in-compensation language as prohibiting a local board from reducing a tenured employee's salary, unless the board successfully brings tenure charges or the employee is laid off or demoted as the result of a reduction in force. See, e.g., Stockton v. Board of Educ. of City of Trenton, 210 N.J. Super. 150,(App. Div. 1986) (unilateral decision to reduce teacher to lower step of salary guide violated Teachers' Tenure Act); Kalapos v. Trenton Bd. of Educ., 93 N.J.A.R.2d (EDU) 430 (Comm'r June 2, 1993) (overpayment due to clerical error); Galop v. Hanover Twp. Bd. of Educ., 1975 S.L.D. 358 (Comm'r May 16) (inadvertent placement on wrong step of salary guide); Anson v. Bridgeton Bd. of Educ., 1972 S.L.D. 638 (Comm'r Dec. 5) (administrative error in placement on salary guide); Docherty v. West Paterson Bd. of Educ., 1967 S.L.D. 297 (Comm'r Oct. 23) (miscalculation of graduate credits).

The Appellate Court in Stockton held that:

> The unilateral decision of someone (apparently not the official act of the Board) to correct an error allegedly made in September 1981, by reducing petitioner to step 14, appears to us to violate the Teachers' Tenure Act by reducing his compensation in violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:6-10, notwithstanding that the adoption of the new contract in October 1983 resulted in a small increase in petitioner's salary because he was reduced from step 15 to step 14.
> [supra at 157]

The matter of Kalapos v. Trenton Bd. Of Educ, supra, involves the recoupment of an alleged salary overpayment by the Trenton Board of Education. The Honorable Bea Tylutki, ALJ, concluded in Kalapos that:

> ...the case law has clearly established that a board of education cannot require the reimbursement of monies paid in error through no fault of the employee, Trenton Educ. Ass'n v. Trenton Bd. of Educ., 1986 S.L.D. 2415, Galop v. Hanover Bd. of Educ., 1975 S.L.D. 358, Honaker v. Hillsdale Bd. of Educ., 1980 S.L.D. 898, and Conti v. Montgomery Bd. of Educ., OAL DOCKET NO. EDU 7118-84 (April 25, 1985), rev'd, Comm'r of Educ. (June 10, 1985), rev'd, State Bd. (July 2, 1986).

In Anson v. Bridgeton Bd. of Educ., supra, three teachers' salaries were set at a higher level than that to which each was entitled, and the commissioner ruled that the teachers had acquired vested rights to the salaries established for them by the board's adoption of their salary placement, saying:

> If there had been a mistake in the placement of petitioners on the salary guide, it was not of their making and they cannot, as teachers under tenure, be deprived of a right they had acquired by the action of the board in fixing their salaries for the 1970-71 school year.

On the other hand, there are a line of cases that appear to support the proposition that a School board may freeze a teacher's salary erroneously fixed, until the negotiated salary reaches the point where the salary level had been frozen. Markot v. East Brunswick Bd. of Educ., 1988 S.L.D. 10 (Comm'r May 9), rev'd on other grounds, Dkt. No. 26-88 (St. Bd. Aug. 2, 1989); Trenton Educ. Ass'n v. Trenton Bd. of Educ., 1986 S.L.D. 2415, 2434 (Comm'r Oct. 6). According to the holding of the Commissioner in Markot, the proper procedure "is to hold the salary level in place, not to reduce it through deductions." Markot, 1988 S.L.D. at 11. Thus, the goal "is not to allow the board to recoup every penny erroneously paid out," but to preserve existing salary until the employee's training and experience catches up with his place on the guide. Id. Some decisions have held that the excessive salary may continue for only the balance of the current school year or possibly until expiration of a multi-year contract. An example is in Galop, where the Commissioner did not allow the district to recover the prior overpayment of a staff member placed on the wrong step of the guide for the 1973-74 school year, but added that "petitioner has no residual entitlement to such a favored position beyond the end of her 1973-74 contract." Galop, at 364.

CONCLUSIONS

The instant case presents a unique set of facts that is somewhat distinct from the line of cases regarding the issue of recoupment of alleged overpayments made to teaching staff members. The clear evidence leads to the conclusion that the accepted practice in the District for calculating salaries for part-time employees was to pro rate the stipend and off-guide amounts where applicable. In the 1994-1995 school year, the petitioner was paid a salary for part-time employment using the full off-guide amount in the contract. This led to an overpayment of salary in the amount of $1,250. The initial "overpayment" can certainly be properly characterized as a mistake. Thus, the respondent maintains that the erroneous overpayment is properly subject to recoupment. However, the matter turns not on the expeditious discovery of such mistake, but discovery delayed for approximately nine years, during which time the petitioner had enjoyed the benefit of incremental increases in salary otherwise consistent with the negotiated agreements and past practice. Additionally, the parties incorporated the "mistake" in a subsequent negotiated agreement. While the respondent may assert that a mistake may be rectified by freezing a salary in excess of the negotiated amount, the tenure law prevents a board from reducing a tenured teacher's salary where both parties have "undertaken performance of the contract" and the teacher has already started to work. Stockton v. Trenton Bd. of Educ., supra at 157. To allow a rescission of the agreement incorporating the salary guide for the .5 psychologist for the school years 1996-1997 to 1998-1999, would require a showing of original invalidity, fraud, failure of consideration or a material breach or default. Hilton Hotels, Corp. v. Piper Co., 214 N.J. Super. 328, 336 (Ch. Div. 1986). Based on the evidence adduced, I CONCLUDE there was no such showing extant. There was no evidence to show that the agreement was anything other than an arms-length negotiated agreement. Clearly, the Board sought to eliminate the stipend previously paid to certain teaching staff members. Not only was the elimination of the stipend incorporated in the agreement, but so too was the removal of the off-guide amount for those employees during the three-year contract period. Salary calculations for the specific staff members were based on the base salary, plus stipend (in year one only) and longevity, if applicable.

Clearly, there was evidence sufficient to establish that there was an overpayment in the 1994-1995 and 1995-1996 school years, totaling $2,500. Had the Board taken steps to recover those overpayments at the time, the result might differ. However, thereafter, by way of ratification of a negotiated agreement, the parties established a new salary guide for the petitioner for the 1996-1997 to 1998-1999 school years. I CONCLUDE that all salary calculations flowing from the base year 1996-1997 forward were properly grounded in a duly negotiated agreement. By the time the respondent sought to recover the "overpayments" in 2002-2003, the petitioner's negotiated salary exceeded the salary level at which the salary was being "frozen".

There was sufficient evidence to find that the proper salary for the petitioner for the school year 2002-2003 (the initial year salary was frozen at $55,140) was $56,820. Since the respondent paid the petitioner the salary of $55,140, I CONCLUDE that the petitioner was underpaid in the amount of $1,680 for the school year 2002-2003.

The evidence establishes that the proper salary for the petitioner for the school year 2003-2004 was $58,500. Since the respondent paid the petitioner the salary of $55,140, I CONCLUDE that the petitioner was underpaid in the amount of $3,360 for the school year 2003-2004. It is noted that even by the calculations of the respondent, the petitioner was due a salary of $56,499 ($1,359 more than actually paid) for the 2003-2004 school year.

The evidence further establishes that the proper salary for the petitioner for the school year 2004-2005 should be $60,204. Since the respondent is paying the petitioner the current salary based on $55,140 per year, I CONCLUDE that the petitioner is entitled to an increase of $5,064 for the school year. It is noted that even by the calculations of the respondent, the petitioner is due a salary of $58,203 ($3,063 more than actually paid) for the 2004-2005 school year.

ORDER

Based on the foregoing, I hereby ORDER that the respondent restore the petitioner to the proper salary level for the 2004-2005 school year, in the amount of $60,204. Amounts withheld from the commencement of the school year are to be paid in a lump sum. The remaining amounts shall be included in the weekly salary going forward.

It is further ORDERED that the respondent reimburse the petitioner amounts improperly withheld from the petitioner for the 2002-2003 school year in the amount of $1,680, and for the 2003-2004 school year in the amount of $3,360. These amounts are to be paid in a lump sum.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen (13) days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER

OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE BOROUGH OF MILFORD, HUNTERDON COUNTY,	:
PETITIONER,	:
V.	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
NEW JERSEY STATE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION,	:	DECISION ON REMAND
RESPONDENT.	:

SYNOPSIS

The petitioning Board requested that the Department recalculate the district's core curriculum standards aid (CCSA) for the years 2002-2003, 2003-2004, and 2004-2005, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:7F-15, claiming that the Department had erroneously combined the population of Milford with sections of Holland and/or Alexandria Township, to the effect that the local share formula used in the calculation did not accurately reflect the district's income wealth and resulted in an underestimate of the Board's State Aid entitlement for the above years.

The ALJ found that there were no material facts in dispute, stating that the material issues the petitioning Board argues are disputed facts actually concern interpretations of relevant statutes—including CEIFA and the FY05 Appropriations Act—and do not bar a conclusion that summary decision is appropriate in this matter. Further, the ALJ found that the petitioner failed to appeal the 2002-2003 and 2003-2004 aid calculations within 90 days as required by N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(d), and found that the petitioner's reliance on a statutory provision which permits a district to appeal the amount of it's CCSA on the basis of the calculation of income within the local formula is misplaced. The ALJ concluded that: the Department is not authorized to recalculate State aid pursuant to CEIFA provisions which have been suspended by the Legislature for the duration of FY 2005; and the FY 2003 and FY 2004 calculations cannot be appealed because they are beyond the 90-day time limitation and there is no overriding public interest that justifies a relaxation of the rule. The ALJ granted respondent Department's motion for dismissal, and ordered the petition dismissed.

Upon a full and independent review of this matter, the Deputy Commissioner, to whom this matter has been delegated for decision pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:4-33, identified two threshold issues: whether the challenge to the Department's calculations of the CCSA entitlement for school years 2002-2004 was timely filed, and whether the FY05 Appropriations Act precludes the Department from applying the provisions established in N.J.S.A. 18A:7F-15. The Deputy Commissioner held that: the greater public interest lies with the enforcement of the 90-day rule and the dismissal of the Board's claims with respect to its appeal of its CCSA award for the 2002-2004 school years; and the effect of the FY05 Appropriations Act was the suspension of the aid calculation under CEIFA and the challenges thereto based on N.J.S.A. 18A:7F-15. The Department's motion for summary decision was granted and the petition dismissed.

BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE BOROUGH OF MILFORD, HUNTERDON COUNTY,	:
PETITIONER,	:
V.	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
NEW JERSEY STATE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION,	:	DECISION ON REMAND
RESPONDENT.	:

The record and the Initial Decision on Remand issued by the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed. The Milford Board's (Board) exceptions and the Department of Education's (Department) reply thereto were submitted in accordance with N.J.A.C. 1:1-18 and were considered by the Deputy Commissioner to whom this matter has been delegated for decision, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:4-33, in making his determination.[1]

In its exceptions, the Board argues that the Initial Decision on Remand fails to fulfill the remand directive to cure the deficiencies identified by the Deputy Commissioner. (Board Exceptions at 3) The Board further asserts that the revised decision remains inadequately grounded in fact or law to justify the granting of summary decision. (Ibid.) Specifically, the Board alleges that the revised decision does not acknowledge that there are material facts in dispute which would preclude the granting of summary decision in this matter and claims that the revised decision still improperly disregards the nature of the relief sought. (Id. at 3, 5)

[1] Both parties attached a copy of the exceptions each filed in response to the previous Initial Decision in this matter, OAL DKT. NO. EDU 6012-04, dated December 15, 2004. Although not summarized in this determination, the Deputy Commissioner emphasizes that these previously submitted exception arguments were thoroughly reviewed and considered in the course of the Deputy Commissioner's review of the complete record in this matter.

With respect to its claim that material facts in this matter are in dispute, the Board points out that there is clearly a dispute as to whether its Core Curriculum Standards Aid (CCSA) was calculated correctly and that this factual issue is relevant because this petition was filed under N.J.S.A. 18A:7F-15, which permits a district to challenge the calculation of its CCSA if the calculation of income within the local share formula does not accurately reflect a district's income wealth. (Id. at 4) The Board notes that it included voluminous statistical and documentary records, calculations and arguments (attached to its previous exceptions as Exhibit A) in support of its contention that the Department utilized inaccurate factual data in calculating its local share for the 2001-02 school year, but that it did not -- and could not -- submit a record of the data and methods actually used by the Department. (Id. at 4-5) The Board points out that, whether the Department's calculation was erroneous or not, the calculation for 2001-02 has been relied upon every year since. (Id. at 5) In that the submission of records to support the Department's assertion that the local share was not miscalculated is in the purview of the Department and it has not submitted these records, the Board contends, further discovery is necessary to resolve this dispute and other factual disputes. (Ibid.)

The Board also avers that the revised decision does not accurately address the relief sought in this matter, claiming that "(a) correcting the Department's calculation, if found to be factually inaccurate, and (b) restoring funds improperly withheld as a result, are two distinct forms of relief, both of which operate independently of the Appropriations Act." (Id. at 5-6) The Board contends that the funds appropriated by the Legislature for the current and most recent prior fiscal years are irrelevant to ensuring that any mistake previously made in calculating the District's CCSA entitlement is not compounded going forward. (Id. at 6) Moreover, the Board argues that its CCSA calculation can be reviewed and corrected independently of the Appropriations Act in that the Appropriations Act may only be deemed to have superseded other funding statutes for the duration of that Act, and only upon a clear showing that the two legislative measures are repugnant or inconsistent. (Ibid.) Thus, the Board asserts, the Administrative Law Judge's (ALJ) finding that the ability to correct a CCSA calculation cannot coexist with the language in the FY05 Appropriations Act is unsupportable. (Ibid.) Moreover, the Board maintains, the FY05 Appropriations Act does not contain language affirmatively prohibiting the Department from investigating and correcting a mistake. (Ibid.) Additionally, the Board claims that the ALJ's conclusion that the Department does not have any authority to transfer revenue between or among State revenue funds is directly contrary to the express legislative provision of the FY05 Appropriations Act, which authorizes the Director of the Department's Division of Budget and Accounting to transfer revenues from the General Fund into the Property Tax Relief Fund -- the fund from which the aid in question is drawn -- if appropriations in that fund should exceed available revenues. (Id. at 7)

The Board further contends that the ALJ erred in rendering his revised decision because he based his findings on the parties' exceptions, rather than the underlying pleadings and exhibits. (Id. at 7-8) In support thereof, the Board points out that the ALJ found in his revised decision that the Board had alleged three disputed facts, whereas the Board actually raised a panoply of pertinent facts in its petition; the disputed facts raised in its exceptions were only examples of disputed facts that would prevent the granting of summary judgment. (Id. at 8) As examples of facts that have not yet been addressed, the Board claims that it "has alleged a series of facts to show that the Divisions of Taxation and School Finance have improperly combined portions of the populations of the Townships of Holland and Alexandria, both of which share Milford's zip code, and both of which are wealthier than Milford, and that, as a result, the relative CCSA entitlements allotted to each of these three municipalities are vastly disproportionate to what they should be, given their relative population and socioeconomic status." (Ibid.)

Turning to whether the 90-day time limit for the filing of an appeal to the Commissioner should be strictly construed in light of the Board's claims of a continuing violation of public rights, the Board avers that the cases relied upon by the ALJ, i.e.: Portee, supra, and Kaprow, supra, involve claims brought by individuals, not claims brought -- as in this case -- on behalf of the public. (Id. at 9) Citing Brunetti v. Borough of New Milford, 68 N.J. 576, 586 (1975), the Board submits that "the State Supreme Court specifically found that exceptions to a procedural limitations period are warranted where the matter involves 'important public rather than private interests which require adjudication or clarification.'" (emphasis supplied in text) (Ibid.) In further support of its argument, the Board quotes the Supreme Court in Reilly v. Brice, 109 N.J. 555, 558 (1988) wherein the Court found that "one of the well-recognized exceptions warranting relief from [a] statute of limitations is based on consideration of public rather than private interests." (emphasis supplied in text) (Id. at 10)

Additionally, the Board points to Ironbound Committee Against Toxic Waste v. Board of Chosen Freeholders, 230 N.J. Super. 133 (App. Div. 1989) and Bernstein v. Krom, 111 N.J. Super. 559 (App. Div. 1970) in support of its contention that a waiver of procedural limitations is appropriate in disputes that involve or implicate the expenditure of pubic funds, and specifically points out that neither of these require or suggest that the doctrine is contingent upon an explanation for the delay in filing from the one seeking vindication of a public right. (Ibid.) Moreover, the Board argues, the ALJ's finding that it has not set forth the harm, if any, the taxpayers, students or administration faced due to the State aid awards in FY03 and FY04 is irrelevant and inaccurate as this claim involves an allegation, brought under N.J.S.A. 18A: 7F-15, that the calculation of income used to determine the Board's local share under the statutory formula does not accurately reflect the District's income and that a portion of the CCSA State Aid to which the District was rightfully entitled was erroneously attributed to the Holland Township and Alexandra Township school districts. (Id. at 11)

Finally, the Board submits that the ALJ failed to grant all legitimate inferences in favor of the Board in determining to grant the Department's motion to dismiss, which would include that: 1) the CCSA was miscalculated; 2) the District was harmed as a result; 3) the Department was authorized to revisit and redo the calculation notwithstanding the particular amount of aid the State Legislature appropriated to a particular fund in the annual budgets for the years in question; 4) the Department was authorized under the Appropriations Act to transfer funds, if necessary to rectify the insufficient award; and 5) it would be possible in this or future budget years to provide prospective and/or retroactive relief. (Ibid.) The Board, therefore, concludes that the ALJ failed to justify an award of summary decision to the Department, pursuant to Brill, supra, and contends that the ALJ's determination is still insupportable in fact or at law, was reached in error, and must be rejected. (Id. at 12)

In response, the Department contends, inter alia, that the ALJ properly determined that there are no material facts in dispute, noting that the crux of the parties' dispute concerns the interpretation of relevant statutes, including the Comprehensive Education Improvement and Financing Act (CEIFA), N.J.S.A. 18A:7F-1 et seq. and the FY05 Appropriations Act. (Department's Exceptions at 1-2) The Department asserts that "the Legislature intended to suspend State aid calculations pursuant to CEIFA for the 2002-2003, 2003-2004, and 2004-2005 school years," and that, because of these Legislative mandates, the Department was obligated to limit school districts to the same CCSA they received in the prior year. (Id. at 4) The Department concludes that, because the Board does not contest that it was provided the same CCSA aid in 2002-2003, 2003-2004 and 2004-2005, the ALJ correctly determined that there are no material facts in dispute. (Ibid.)

With respect to the Board's assertion that the ALJ erred by failing to accept as true its contentions that the income and/or property values used by the Department in the calculation of CCSA are wrong and, therefore, are material facts in dispute, the Department points out that the ALJ was only required to view the evidence in the light most favorable to the non-moving party, which does not mean that he was required to dispense with his ability to review the facts and law relevant to the dispute. (Id. at 4-5) Even giving the Board every inference, the Department argues, it is unreasonable to believe that the Board would wait three years to file a claim against the State if it believed that its CCSA calculation was incorrect and its taxpayers were being unfairly burdened. (Id. at 5) Moreover, the Department asserts, even if the ALJ had accepted the Board's claim that the income and property values utilized in calculating the State aid in 2001-2002 were erroneous, that claim is time-barred. (Ibid.) Thus, the Department reasons, the income and property values utilized for the 2001-2002 CEIFA calculation which forms the basis of the CCSA award for the 2002-2003, 2003-2004 and 2004-2005 school years are not material facts in dispute. (Ibid.)

Additionally, the Department avers that there is no need for discovery in that the Board does not dispute that it received the amounts of CCSA indicated in the Initial Decision and it is time-barred from challenging the CEIFA calculation for the 2001-2002 school year which formed the basis for CCSA funding in subsequent years. (Id. at 5-6) The Department claims that it is clear that the Board's dissatisfaction is not with some purported miscalculation of CCSA, but is a dispute involving legal issues concerning the suspension of CEIFA and the inability of the Department to provide any additional aid to Milford. (Id. at 6) Thus, the Department contends, there are no material facts in dispute, the Board is not entitled to the relief it seeks and its petition must be dismissed. (Ibid.)

In support of the ALJ's determination that the Board's appeal of the 2002-2003 and 2003-2004 CCSA awards were time barred pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(d), the Department cites numerous cases in support of its contention that the 90-day time limitation for filing an appeal has been strictly applied by the Commissioner, the State Board and the courts, and is only relaxed, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.16, in instances where there is a compelling reason, where judicial review of an informal administrative determination is sought, where there is a substantial constitutional issue or where there is an issue of fundamental public interest beyond the parties themselves. (Id. at 6-8) Citing Sloan v. Klagholz, 342 N.J. Super. 385, 394 (App. Div. 2001), "holding that the imposition of a greater tax burden upon local property owners does not implicate the Thorough and Efficient Education Clause of the New Jersey Constitution," the Department avers that the Board's challenge of its State aid award does not implicate any constitutional issues nor dispute an informal administrative determination. (Id. at 8) Moreover, the Department argues, the Board's claims do not raise any issues of substantial public interest beyond the parties themselves that would warrant the relaxation of the 90-day time limitation. (Ibid.)

The Department points out that the Board does not dispute that it was provided adequate notice of the CCSA awards for the 2002-2003 and 2003-2004 school years and it has failed to provide any explanation as to why it was unable to file its appeal within 90 days of its receipt of notice of the awards for each of those years. (Id. at 8-9) The Department also points out that there has been no allegation by the Board that its students failed to receive a thorough and efficient education. (Id. at 9) Moreover, the Department submits that, although the District taxpayers understandably have a concern to ensure that they are not paying more than necessary for education, their interest is not paramount to the State's other taxpayers who have a right to have issues of school funding and State aid resolved in a timely fashion so that they can finalize their own communities' budgets from year to year. (Ibid.)

The Department also asserts that the cases cited by the Board in support of its argument that this dispute concerns public issues, are not germane to the issues on appeal because all of the cases cited concern limitations applicable to actions in lieu of prerogative writs. (Id. at 9-10) In explanation, the Department contends that the rules for the filing of prerogative writs have no bearing upon the regulatory process governing disputes arising under the school laws and "actions in lieu of prerogative writs only apply to municipal actions, as all challenges to State agency actions or regulations must be made to the Appellate Division." (Id. at 10) Citing Sloan, supra; Board of Education of the Township of East Brunswick, Middlesex County v. New Jersey State Department of Education, decided by the Commissioner August 10, 2001; and Board of Education of the City of New Brunswick, Middlesex County v. New Jersey State Department of Education the Department, decided by the Commissioner August 31, 2004, the Department additionally submits that the ALJ's determination that the Board's appeal of its 2002-2003 and 2003-2004 CCSA awards was time barred should be upheld because that determination is consistent with other determinations by the Commissioner involving school funding. (Id. at 10-11)

With respect to the Board's challenge to the 2004-2005 calculation of the CCSA, the Department sets forth its position that the FY2005 Appropriations Act clearly suspended CEIFA for the 2004-2005 school years and that funding statutes are subject to the allocations allowed for by the annual Appropriations Act in that, as found in Hammonton Board of Educ. v. New Jersey Dep't of Educ. et al, (App. Div. 2003) (A-3836-01T5), slip op. at 16, where "statutes which require State funding for mandated programs are irreconcilable with the annual Appropriations Act, an 'implied suspension' of the funding statutes occurs for the life of the fiscal year covered by the Appropriations Act." (Id. at 11-12) Additionally, the Department notes that the "implied suspension" reasoning in Hammonton, supra, was applied by the Commissioner in his determination dismissing the challenge to the amount of aid awarded under CEIFA for the 2003-2004 school year in Board of Education of the City of Woodbury, Gloucester County v. New Jersey Department of Education, et al, decided by the Commissioner April 28, 2004. (Id. at 13)

The Department also argues that the FY05 Appropriations Act has the full effect of law and expresses the Legislature's intent and points out that the language in the FY05 Appropriations Act stating that each district shall receive no less of a total State aid amount payable than it received in the 2002-2003 school is identical to the language at issue in Hammonton, with the exception of the school year. (Id. at 12) The Department thus concludes that the Legislature intended to limit CCSA and other aid to each district to the amount of aid received the previous year. (Ibid.) Since the Legislature appropriated the same amount of CCSA in FY05 that it had appropriated in FY04 and FY03, respectively, the Department claims that it cannot increase the award of aid in one district without lowering the amount of aid to another district, which is strictly prohibited by the Legislature. (Id. at 12-13)

Moreover, the Department claims the Board's reliance on N.J.S.A. 18A:7F-15 to support its assertion that the Department can review and recalculate the income figure used in the State aid award for FY05 is misplaced in that: 1) since the Department's position is that it cannot change the amount of CCSA awarded for the FY05 school year, and the Department did not calculate the income within the local share formula for the FY05 school year, the provision under N.J.S.A. 18A:7F-15 which permits a district to challenge its district income figures must also be deemed suspended; and 2) since the Department's position is that the Board's challenge of the State-aid awards for the FY01 and FY02 school years is time barred, it follows that the income and property values utilized in the 2001-2002 school year, which was the last time State aid was based upon a CEIFA calculation, can not be reviewed. (Id. at 14)

Finally, with respect to the Department's ability to transfer funds between the General Fund and the Property Tax Fund, the Department contends that it is the Department of Treasury that is responsible for the oversight of the State budget, and the Office of Management and Budget within that Department, that may make transfers between appropriation and revenue accounts in the General Fund for the entire State budget. (Ibid.) The Department avers that "the Appropriations Act has not granted any authority to, nor is there any statutory authorization for, the Department to transfer funds between or among State revenue funds." (Id. at 15)

Upon a thorough and independent review of the record in this matter, the Deputy Commissioner concludes that there are two threshold issues which must initially be determined, i.e.: 1) whether the challenge to the Department's calculations of the Board's CCSA entitlement for the 2002-2003 and 2003-2004 school years was timely filed; and 2) whether the FY05 Appropriations Act precludes the Department from applying the provisions established in N.J.S.A. 18A:7F-15.

On May 14, 2004, the Board filed a Verified Petition of Appeal, claiming that, possibly as a result of identical zip codes, the Department had erroneously combined the population of Milford with more prosperous sections of Holland and/or Alexandria Township resulting in an underestimate of the Board's State Aid entitlement for the 2002-2003, 2003-2004 and 2004-2005 school years. (Board's Brief in Opposition to Motion to Dismiss at 10) The parties concur that the last time the Department conducted CCSA calculations was the 2001-2002 school year and that in the Appropriations Acts for the subsequent years, FY03, FY04 and FY05, the Legislature limited the CCSA funding for each school district to that which had been received in the prior year.

The Board does not dispute that its appeal of its CCSA award for the 2002-2003 and 2003-2004 school years was not filed within the 90-day limitation set forth at N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(d). Instead, the Board argues that the alleged CCSA calculation error for the 2001-2002 school year has been perpetuated each year since and is thus a "continuing violation of public rights." (Id. at 20) The Deputy Commissioner rejects this argument in that there has been no claim that the District's students were deprived of a thorough and efficient education, nor has it identified the violation of any protected right.

Rather, the within matter is analogous to North Plainfield Educ. Ass'n v. Bd. of Educ., 96 N.J. 587 (1984), wherein teachers challenged their placement on a salary guide and argued that their failure to file within the 90-day limitation period from notification of such placement should not preclude them from actions for relief in the subsequent years because the withholding of the increment constituted a continuing violation. The Supreme Court in that case found:

> The teachers' asserted right to advance an additional step on the 1980-81 salary guide depends on the propriety of the Board's action in not advancing them on the 1979-80 guide. The time bar of the original action also precludes the dependent action for relief in future years.
> Nor does the withholding of the increment constitute a continuing violation. Such a claim, which is associated with the assertion of discrimination in employment, has no relevance to this case. Furthermore, the fact that the teachers will always lag one step behind is not attributable to a new violation each year, but to the effect of an earlier employment decision, one that is protected by the regulatory period of limitations. North Plainfield Educ. Ass'n at 595.

Numerous decisions concerning the 90-day time limitation have been litigated and the courts have consistently held that the rule is mandatory and that the 90-day time period begins to run on the date that notice is received of the action taken. See Nissman v. Bd. of Educ. of the Twp. of Long Beach Island, 272 N.J. Super. 373, 380 (App. Div. 1994), cert. denied 137 N.J. 315 (1994); Wynne v. Tillery, Camden County Superintendent of Schools et al., 96 *N.J.A.R.*2d (EDU) 995; and Portee v. Newark Board of Education, 94 *N.J.A.R.*2d (EDU) 381. Moreover, the 90-day limitation period has been strictly applied in other determinations by the Commissioner involving school funding. See Sloan, supra; Board of Education of the Township of East Brunswick, supra; and Board of Education of the City of New Brunswick, supra. Moreover, the Deputy Commissioner does not find that the factual circumstances set forth in the Board's pleadings constitute grounds for relaxation of the 90-day rule. No constitutional issues are involved in the matter, nor does it present issues of significant public interest beyond the parties. On the contrary, the Deputy Commissioner herein determines, as did the Commissioner in LeMee v. Board of Education of the Village of Ridgewood, 1990 S.L.D. 663, 673, that the greater public interest lies with the enforcement of the 90-day rule and the dismissal of the Board's claims with respect to its appeal of its CCSA award for the 2002-2003 and 2003-2004 school years.

Turning to the Board's appeal of its CCSA State aid for the 2004-2005 school year, the Deputy Commissioner notes that the amount appropriated by the Legislature for State aid to school districts for the 2004-2005 school year was the same as the amounts appropriated for the three previous years, and the FY05 Appropriations Act specifically states:

> Notwithstanding any other law or regulation to the contrary, each district shall receive no less of a total State aid amount payable for the 2004-2005 school year than the sum of the district's total State aid amount payable for the 2003-2004 school year for the following aid categories: Core Curriculum Standards Aid  (P.L. 2004, c. 71 at 105)

Given that the State aid appropriated to school districts for the 2004-2005 school year was the same as the amounts appropriated for the previous three years and the language in the FY05 Appropriations Act requires that no district receive less CCSA than the previous year, the Deputy Commissioner finds that the effect of the FY05 Appropriations Act was the suspension of the aid calculation under CEIFA and the challenges thereto based on N.J.S.A. 18A:7F-15.

As the Court found with respect to a challenge of the funding provided to the Hammonton School District by the FY03 Appropriations Act in Hammonton, supra:

> The principle is also well established that statutes which rely on State funding are not "self-executing." City of Camden, 82 N.J. at 147. Thus, even where "the Legislature has mandated a particular program, it is subject, insofar as it requires appropriations, to the Annual Appropriations Act." Franklin, 225 N.J. Super. at 516. Accordingly, "the judiciary is unable to compel a requested appropriation even where a statutorily defined substantive right to the monies is established." City of Camden, 82 N.J. at 148.
>
> The current appropriations act at issue in this case, the FY03 Appropriations Act, L. 2002, c. 38 (FY03), has the full effect of law and expresses a "definite legislative intent." City of Camden, 82 N.J. at 142. To the extent that the two enactments – CEIFA and FY03 – are irreconcilable, they cannot coexist. Our courts, consistent with federal statutory interpretation, have declined to apply the doctrine of "implied repeal."  Because appropriations acts have "a life limited to its fiscal year," our courts have been sensitive to the impact of appropriations laws upon existing laws, choosing to characterize the effect of appropriations on standing legislation as an implied "suspension rather than an implied repeal"; however, for practical purposes, the effect is the same. (Hammonton, supra at 15-17)

Notwithstanding the Board's argument that the matter herein is distinguishable from Hammonton, supra, because the Legislature's definitive budgetary action affected all school districts alike, and Hammonton did not dispute that the Commissioner had fulfilled his own respective duties by certifying Hammonton's aid in accordance with CEIFA's provisions, the Deputy Commissioner finds Hammonton, supra to be precisely on point with respect to the effect that the Appropriations Act has on the suspension of CEIFA State aid calculations and the ability to challenge those calculations under N.J.S.A. 18A:7F-15. Moreover, the Deputy Commissioner points out that, even assuming arguendo, that the Department did make an error in its CCSA calculation of aid for the 2001-2002 school year that has implicated funding in the 2004-2005 school year, there is no provision in the FY05 Appropriations Act whereby a correction can be made at this late date. If it were found that the Department had erroneously combined the population of Milford with more prosperous sections of Holland and/or Alexandria Township resulting in an underestimate of the Board's CCSA entitlement as claimed by the Board and State aid was increased on this basis, then there would need to be a proportionate decrease in aid to the school districts of Holland and/or Alexandria Township, which is specifically prohibited by the FY05 Appropriations Act. As noted above, the amount appropriated for CCSA aid for school districts for FY05 was the same amount appropriated for the previous year, and the FY05 Appropriations Act specifically states that no school district shall receive less CCSA aid than it received in the previous year.

Additionally, contrary to the Board's contention that the FY05 Appropriations Act authorizes the Director of the Department's "Division of Budget and Accounting" to transfer revenues from the General Fund into the Property Tax Relief Fund, such authorization is -- in point of fact -- given to the "Director of the Division of Budget and Accounting," which is, as the opening section of the Appropriations Act makes abundantly clear, a Division within the Treasury Department.[2] P.L. 2004, *c.*71 at 106. Neither the Department of Education nor the Commissioner is authorized by the FY05 Appropriations Act to make such transfers of funds.

Accordingly, after an exhaustive review of the arguments submitted in this matter, the Deputy Commissioner has determined that grant of summary decision to the Department is appropriate in this instance. Pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(b) and Contini v. Bd. of Educ. of Newark, 286 N.J. Super. 106, 121-122 (App. Div. 1995) (citing Brill v. Guardian Life Ins. Co., 142 N.J. 520 (1995)), summary decision may be granted in an administrative proceeding if there is no genuine issue of material fact in dispute and the moving party is entitled to prevail as a matter of law. In this regard, notwithstanding the Board's assertion to the contrary, there are no "material facts" in dispute in this matter. Black's Law Dictionary, seventh edition, at 610-611, defines "fact" as "[a]n actual or alleged event or circumstance, as distinguished from its legal effect, consequence, or interpretation" and a "material fact" as "[a] fact that is significant or essential to the issue or matter at hand." All the issues characterized by the Board as "genuine issues of material fact" are facts related to whether its CCSA was calculated correctly. However, the instant dispute centers on whether the challenge to the Department's calculations of the Board's CCSA entitlement for the 2002-2003 and 2003-2004 school years was timely filed and what the effect is of the FY05 Appropriations Act on the implementing provisions of CEIFA and N.J.S.A. 18A:7F-1 et seq., which are questions of law, not disputed "material facts."

"It is well-established that where no disputed issues of material fact exist, an administrative agency need not hold an evidential hearing in a contested case." Frank v. Ivy Club, 120 N.J. 73, 98 (1990), citing Cunningham v. Dept. of Civil Service, 69 N.J. 13, 24-25

[2] The Appropriations Act is additionally replete with references to the Division of Budget and Accounting in sections pertaining to appropriations in various departments. See, for example, pages 18, 19, 20, 21, 25, 29, 30, 58, 60, etc. It is also noted that the Department of Education's Office of Budget and Accounting is in the Division of Finance.

(1975). "Moreover, disputes as to the conclusions to be drawn from the facts, as opposed to the facts themselves, will not defeat a motion for summary judgment." Contini v. Board of Education of Newark, 96 N.J.A.R. 2d (EDU) 196, 215, citing Lima & Sons, Inc. v. Borough of Ramsey, 269 N.J. Super. 469, 478 (App. Div. 1994); In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Andrew Phillips, School District of the Borough of Roselle, Union County, Commissioner's Decision No. 129-97, decided March 20, 1997; and In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Neal A. Ercolano, Board of Education of Branchburg Township, Somerset County, Commissioner's Decision No. 140-00, decided May 1, 2000. Additionally, the Deputy Commissioner agrees that the Department is entitled to prevail as a matter of law for the reasons set forth above.

Accordingly, the Department's motion for summary judgment is granted and the petition is hereby dismissed.

IT IS SO ORDERED.[3]

BEFORE DOUGLAS H. HURD, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On May 13, 2004, Petitioner, the Milford Borough Board of Education, filed a Verified Petition of Appeal to recalculate State aid pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:7F-15. On June 4, 2004,

Respondent, the State Department of Education, filed a motion to dismiss. The Bureau of Controversies and Disputes in the Department of Education transmitted the matter to the Office of Administrative Law, where it was filed on July 14, 2004.

On October 7, 2004, the Petitioner filed a brief in opposition to Respondent's Motion to Dismiss. Respondent's reply brief was filed on November 15, 2004. An Initial Decision, dated December 15, 2004, was issued granting Respondent's motion to dismiss. A Final Decision, dated January 31, 2005, was issued remanding the matter to the Office of Administrative Law for revision of the Initial Decision and/or further proceedings as necessary, consistent with the concerns set forth therein.

Summary decision may be granted "if the papers and discovery which have been filed, together with the affidavits, if any, show that there is no genuine issue as to any material fact challenged and that the moving party is entitled to prevail as a matter of law." N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(b). The standard for granting summary judgment (decision) is found in Brill v. Guardian Life Insurance Co. of America, 142 N.J. 520 (1995). The Court stated that under the new standard:

> A determination whether there exists a "genuine issue" of material fact that precludes summary judgment requires the motion judge to consider whether the competent evidential materials presented, when viewed in the light most favorable to the non-moving party, are sufficient to permit a rational fact-finder to resolve the alleged disputed issue in favor of the non-moving party. The "judge's function is not himself [or herself] to weigh the evidence and determine the truth of the matter but to determine whether there is a genuine issue for trial."
> Id. at 541.

The Brill standard contemplates that the analysis performed by the trial judge in determining whether to grant summary judgment should comprehend the evidentiary standard to be applied to the case or issue if it went to trial. "To send a case to trial, knowing that a rational jury can reach but one conclusion, is indeed 'worthless' and will 'serve no useful purpose." Id. at

541. In addressing whether the Brill standard has been met in this case, further guidance is found in Rule 4:46-2:

> An issue of fact is genuine only if, considering the burden of persuasion at trial, the evidence submitted by the parties on the motion, together with all legitimate inferences therefore favoring the non-moving party, would require submission of the issues to the trier of fact.

Petitioner challenges the calculation of the Core Curriculum Standards Aid component of its Comprehensive Education Improvement and Financing Act aid for the years 2002-2003, 2003-2004 and 2004-2005. Petitioner in its exceptions contends that the Initial Decision violated the Brill mandate because there are genuine issues in dispute with respect to material facts. Petitioner in its exceptions alleges three material issues are in dispute.

First, Petitioner claims that the dispute regarding whether the CEIFA aid was calculated properly is material fact in dispute. Second, Petitioner claims a material fact is in dispute regarding whether the provisions of the Appropriations Act provide a remedy to the alleged miscalculation or whether the Act allows monies to be transferred from Fund to Fund. Third, Petitioner contends a material fact is in dispute regarding whether CEIFA has been suspended.

I FIND and CONCLUDE that the three disputed facts alleged above do not bar a finding and conclusion that summary decision is appropriate. The three issues raised by Petitioner are disputes about the law and interpretations of statutes, not disputes about facts. Each issue can be resolved simply by reviewing the appropriate statutes, and exhibits accompanying the parties' briefs.

There are simply no material facts in dispute which warrant discovery or a hearing in this matter. The disputes in this matter concern interpretations of relevant statutes, including CEIFA and the FY05 Appropriations Act. The basic facts of this matter are as follows:

The amount of Core Curriculum Standards Aid appropriated by the Legislature for the 2002-2003 school year was $3,080,318.00. The amount of CCSA appropriated by the Legislature for the 2003-2004 and 2004-2005 school years was likewise $3,080,318.00 for each year. The last time the Department of Education calculated State aid pursuant to CEIFA was during the 2001-2002 school year.

1. 2002-2003 and 2003-2004 Calculations:

The only material facts on this issue concern the Petitioner's failure to appeal the 2002-2003 and 2003-2004 aid calculations within 90 days as required by N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(d). From the briefs and attached exhibits, I find that there is no question that Petitioner filed its appeal of the FY03 and FY04 calculations long after the 90-day time period expired.

With respect to the challenge to the 2002-2003 and 2003-2004 calculation, the Department contends that the Petitioner's claim is time barred because the petition was not filed within ninety days of the date it received notice of its State aid awards. N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(d). In my Initial Decision, I agreed with the Respondent that the 90-day time limitation should not be relaxed. After reviewing the exceptions to the Initial Decision and relevant law, I continue to FIND and CONCLUDE that the 90-limitation applies and should not be relaxed.

The 90-day limitations rule has been strictly construed by the Commissioner. John Portee v. Bd. Of Educ. of the City of Newark, 94 N.J.A.R. 2d (EDU) 381 (Apr. 14 1994). Time limitations will be relaxed "only where there is some compelling reason for the same, such as the presence of substantial constitutional or other issue of fundamental interest beyond that of concern only to the parties themselves." Kaprow v. Bd. Of Educ. of Berkley Twp., 131 N.J. 572, 587 (1993). In the instant matter, Milford's petition raises no constitutional issue, nor does it provide any rationale or justification for the delay.

Petitioner contends that the 90-day limitation should be relaxed since the issue concerns taxpayer money, which is an issue of public interest. I continue to disagree with Petitioner's contention that the time limitation should be relaxed in the public interest. Although the public has an interest in assuring that taxpayer funds are appropriately spent, the public also has an interest in the prompt resolution of disputes arising under school laws. See Morris-Union Juncture Commission, 92 N.J.A.R. 3d (EDU) 453 (Jul. 22, 1992). Further, Milford has not set forth what, if any, harm taxpayers, students or the administration faced due to the State aid awards in the FY03 and FY04 school years. Moreover, retroactive relief is not going to alter the quality of education provided during those school years.

In summary, Petitioner has failed to justify a relaxation of the 90-day time limitations provided for in N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(d).

2. 2004-2005 Calculation:

For FY05, the Legislature appropriated $3,080,318.00 for CCSA. This is the same amount that the Legislature appropriated for the FY 04 and FY03 school years respectively. The legislative language in the FY05 Appropriations Act provides that each district shall receive no less of a total State aid amount payable for the FY 05 school year than the district's total State aid amount payable for the FY04 school year. The legislative language does not state that a district could not receive more in FY05 than in the prior year. However, what is important is that the actual amount of funds appropriated by the Legislature was the same amount as in prior years. Since the CCSA funds actually appropriated in FY05 are the same as those appropriated in the prior year, the Department could not provide any additional CCSA to a district in FY05. If it did, it would clearly contravene the Legislature's clear directive that each district receive no less than the prior year. Thus, the appropriation language, when viewed together with the amount actually appropriated for FY05, evidences a clear Legislative intent to suspend CEIFA.

It is clear that the Legislature suspended the provisions of CEIFA, which cannot coexist with the language in the FY05 Appropriations Act. The holdings in Hammonton Board of Educ. v. Department of Educ., et al., slip op. at 15 (App. Div. 2003) (A-38356-01T5) and in Board of Educ of the City of Woodbury v. Department of Educ., et. al., OAL Dkt. No. EDU 8072-03 make it clear that the Legislature has limited the amount of CCSA to that amount that was provided in the FY04 and FY03 years and, thus, suspended certain provisions of CEIFA.

Petitioner's reliance on N.J.S.A. 18A:7F-15, which permits a district to appeal the amount of its CCSA on the basis that the calculation of income within the local share formula is misplaced. This provision is misplaced because this formula is suspended since it is irreconcilable with the fact that the Department was unable to calculate CEIFA and, thus, had no control or ability to change the calculation of income in the local share formula. Moreover, the Department does not have any authority to transfer revenue between or among State revenue funds, and has not been authorized by the Legislature to provide any additional CCSA other than that which has been specifically appropriated.

CONCLUSION

In conclusion, it is overwhelmingly clear that there is no legal or factual basis upon which relief could be granted to Milford. Any disagreements concerns interpretations of statutes and relevant law, not facts. This matter is ripe for disposition and the law clearly supports Respondent's motion to dismiss. Simply put, the Department is not authorized to recalculate State aid pursuant to the CEIFA provisions which have been suspended by the Legislature for the duration of the FY05 fiscal year. The FY 03 and FY04 calculations cannot be appealed because they are far beyond the 90-day time limitation and there is no overriding public interest that justifies a relaxation of the rule.

ORDER

For the foregoing reasons, I hereby GRANT Respondent's Motion to Dismiss and ORDER that Petitioner's Verified Petition of Appeal be DISMISSED.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen (13) days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

Record Closed: March 3, 2005 Decided: March 3, 2005

BEFORE DOUGLAS H. HURD, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On May 13, 2004, Petitioner, the Milford Borough Board of Education, filed a Verified Petition of Appeal to recalculate State aid pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:7F-15. On June 4, 2004,

Respondent, the State Department of Education, filed a motion to dismiss. The Bureau of Controversies and Disputes in the Department of Education transmitted the matter to the Office of Administrative Law, where it was filed on July 14, 2004.

On October 7, 2004, the Petitioner filed a brief in opposition to Respondent's Motion to Dismiss. Respondent's reply brief was filed on November 15, 2004. An Initial Decision, dated December 15, 2004, was issued granting Respondent's motion to dismiss. A Final Decision, dated January 31, 2005, was issued remanding the matter to the Office of Administrative Law for revision of the Initial Decision and/or further proceedings as necessary, consistent with the concerns set forth therein.

Summary decision may be granted "if the papers and discovery which have been filed, together with the affidavits, if any, show that there is no genuine issue as to any material fact challenged and that the moving party is entitled to prevail as a matter of law." N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(b). The standard for granting summary judgment (decision) is found in Brill v. Guardian Life Insurance Co. of America, 142 N.J. 520 (1995). The Court stated that under the new standard:

> A determination whether there exists a "genuine issue" of material fact that precludes summary judgment requires the motion judge to consider whether the competent evidential materials presented, when viewed in the light most favorable to the non-moving party, are sufficient to permit a rational fact-finder to resolve the alleged disputed issue in favor of the non-moving party. The "judge's function is not himself [or herself] to weigh the evidence and determine the truth of the matter but to determine whether there is a genuine issue for trial."
> Id. at 541.

The Brill standard contemplates that the analysis performed by the trial judge in determining whether to grant summary judgment should comprehend the evidentiary standard to be applied to the case or issue if it went to trial. "To send a case to trial, knowing that a rational jury can reach but one conclusion, is indeed 'worthless' and will 'serve no useful purpose." Id. at

541. In addressing whether the Brill standard has been met in this case, further guidance is found in Rule 4:46-2:

> An issue of fact is genuine only if, considering the burden of persuasion at trial, the evidence submitted by the parties on the motion, together with all legitimate inferences therefore favoring the non-moving party, would require submission of the issues to the trier of fact.

Petitioner challenges the calculation of the Core Curriculum Standards Aid component of its Comprehensive Education Improvement and Financing Act aid for the years 2002-2003, 2003-2004 and 2004-2005. Petitioner in its exceptions contends that the Initial Decision violated the Brill mandate because there are genuine issues in dispute with respect to material facts. Petitioner in its exceptions alleges three material issues are in dispute.

First, Petitioner claims that the dispute regarding whether the CEIFA aid was calculated properly is material fact in dispute. Second, Petitioner claims a material fact is in dispute regarding whether the provisions of the Appropriations Act provide a remedy to the alleged miscalculation or whether the Act allows monies to be transferred from Fund to Fund. Third, Petitioner contends a material fact is in dispute regarding whether CEIFA has been suspended.

I FIND and CONCLUDE that the three disputed facts alleged above do not bar a finding and conclusion that summary decision is appropriate. The three issues raised by Petitioner are disputes about the law and interpretations of statutes, not disputes about facts. Each issue can be resolved simply by reviewing the appropriate statutes, and exhibits accompanying the parties' briefs.

There are simply no material facts in dispute which warrant discovery or a hearing in this matter. The disputes in this matter concern interpretations of relevant statutes, including CEIFA and the FY05 Appropriations Act. The basic facts of this matter are as follows:

The amount of Core Curriculum Standards Aid appropriated by the Legislature for the 2002-2003 school year was $3,080,318.00. The amount of CCSA appropriated by the Legislature for the 2003-2004 and 2004-2005 school years was likewise $3,080,318.00 for each year. The last time the Department of Education calculated State aid pursuant to CEIFA was during the 2001-2002 school year.

1. 2002-2003 and 2003-2004 Calculations:

The only material facts on this issue concern the Petitioner's failure to appeal the 2002-2003 and 2003-2004 aid calculations within 90 days as required by N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(d). From the briefs and attached exhibits, I find that there is no question that Petitioner filed its appeal of the FY03 and FY04 calculations long after the 90-day time period expired.

With respect to the challenge to the 2002-2003 and 2003-2004 calculation, the Department contends that the Petitioner's claim is time barred because the petition was not filed within ninety days of the date it received notice of its State aid awards. N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(d). In my Initial Decision, I agreed with the Respondent that the 90-day time limitation should not be relaxed. After reviewing the exceptions to the Initial Decision and relevant law, I continue to FIND and CONCLUDE that the 90-limitation applies and should not be relaxed.

The 90-day limitations rule has been strictly construed by the Commissioner. John Portee v. Bd. Of Educ. of the City of Newark, 94 N.J.A.R. 2d (EDU) 381 (Apr. 14 1994). Time limitations will be relaxed "only where there is some compelling reason for the same, such as the presence of substantial constitutional or other issue of fundamental interest beyond that of concern only to the parties themselves." Kaprow v. Bd. Of Educ. of Berkley Twp., 131 N.J. 572, 587 (1993). In the instant matter, Milford's petition raises no constitutional issue, nor does it provide any rationale or justification for the delay.

Petitioner contends that the 90-day limitation should be relaxed since the issue concerns taxpayer money, which is an issue of public interest. I continue to disagree with Petitioner's contention that the time limitation should be relaxed in the public interest. Although the public has an interest in assuring that taxpayer funds are appropriately spent, the public also has an interest in the prompt resolution of disputes arising under school laws. See Morris-Union Juncture Commission, 92 N.J.A.R. 3d (EDU) 453 (Jul. 22, 1992). Further, Milford has not set forth what, if any, harm taxpayers, students or the administration faced due to the State aid awards in the FY03 and FY04 school years. Moreover, retroactive relief is not going to alter the quality of education provided during those school years.

In summary, Petitioner has failed to justify a relaxation of the 90-day time limitations provided for in N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(d).

2. 2004-2005 Calculation:

For FY05, the Legislature appropriated $3,080,318.00 for CCSA. This is the same amount that the Legislature appropriated for the FY 04 and FY03 school years respectively. The legislative language in the FY05 Appropriations Act provides that each district shall receive no less of a total State aid amount payable for the FY 05 school year than the district's total State aid amount payable for the FY04 school year. The legislative language does not state that a district could not receive more in FY05 than in the prior year. However, what is important is that the actual amount of funds appropriated by the Legislature was the same amount as in prior years. Since the CCSA funds actually appropriated in FY05 are the same as those appropriated in the prior year, the Department could not provide any additional CCSA to a district in FY05. If it did, it would clearly contravene the Legislature's clear directive that each district receive no less than the prior year. Thus, the appropriation language, when viewed together with the amount actually appropriated for FY05, evidences a clear Legislative intent to suspend CEIFA.

It is clear that the Legislature suspended the provisions of CEIFA, which cannot coexist with the language in the FY05 Appropriations Act. The holdings in Hammonton Board of Educ. v. Department of Educ., et al., slip op. at 15 (App. Div. 2003) (A-38356-01T5) and in Board of Educ of the City of Woodbury v. Department of Educ., et. al., OAL Dkt. No. EDU 8072-03 make it clear that the Legislature has limited the amount of CCSA to that amount that was provided in the FY04 and FY03 years and, thus, suspended certain provisions of CEIFA.

Petitioner's reliance on N.J.S.A. 18A:7F-15, which permits a district to appeal the amount of its CCSA on the basis that the calculation of income within the local share formula is misplaced. This provision is misplaced because this formula is suspended since it is irreconcilable with the fact that the Department was unable to calculate CEIFA and, thus, had no control or ability to change the calculation of income in the local share formula. Moreover, the Department does not have any authority to transfer revenue between or among State revenue funds, and has not been authorized by the Legislature to provide any additional CCSA other than that which has been specifically appropriated.

CONCLUSION

In conclusion, it is overwhelmingly clear that there is no legal or factual basis upon which relief could be granted to Milford. Any disagreements concerns interpretations of statutes and relevant law, not facts. This matter is ripe for disposition and the law clearly supports Respondent's motion to dismiss. Simply put, the Department is not authorized to recalculate State aid pursuant to the CEIFA provisions which have been suspended by the Legislature for the duration of the FY05 fiscal year. The FY 03 and FY04 calculations cannot be appealed because they are far beyond the 90-day time limitation and there is no overriding public interest that justifies a relaxation of the rule.

ORDER

For the foregoing reasons, I hereby GRANT Respondent's Motion to Dismiss and ORDER that Petitioner's Verified Petition of Appeal be DISMISSED.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. Record Closed: April 22, 2005 Decided: May 3, 2005

BEFORE ELINOR R. REINER, ALJ:

On or about October 20, 2003, petitioner, Daisy Lazo, filed a verified petition of appeal with the Commissioner of Education, alleging that she gained tenure pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:28-5 and thus was entitled to a one-year maternity/child rearing leave of absence. On October 29, 2003, respondent Board of Education of the City of Englewood (Board) filed its answer requesting dismissal of the petition. On December 2, 2003, the Department of Education, Bureau of Controversies and Disputes, transmitted this matter to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) for hearing as a contested case pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to –15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to –13.

The matter was assigned to the undersigned judge on December 18, 2003, and a telephone prehearing conference scheduled for January 27, 2004. It should be noted that on or about November 17, 2003, respondent filed a motion for summary decision in the above-referenced matter. During the telephone prehearing on January 27, 2004, the issues were isolated and, in light of the pending motion, a hearing was not scheduled. Counsel were advised to file a joint stipulation of facts on or before February 20, 2004.

Subsequent to the receipt of the stipulation of facts, oral argument on the pending motion was scheduled for April 21, 2004. However, settlement conferences held on that date and continued on July 2, 2004 resulted in a tentative settlement, which required the approval of the Board. On or about November 3, 2004, the undersigned was advised that the Board had approved the settlement, and a signed settlement agreement would be filed. The signed Settlement Agreement was received on December 30, 2004.

Subsequent to the receipt of the Settlement Agreement, the undersigned issued an Initial Decision approving the settlement and ordering that the proceedings be concluded. By decision dated March 2, 2005, the Commissioner found: (1) an unidentified individual had signed the Settlement Agreement and General Release on behalf of the Board; (2) neither the file nor the Settlement Agreement contained a copy of the Board's resolution approving the settlement and designating that individual to sign the agreement on its behalf; and (3) the agreement was not signed by the Board attorney, the Board's duly authorized representative in litigation. Thus, the Commissioner did not approve the settlement and remanded the matter on April 4, 2005 to the OAL for revision of the Settlement Agreement. The remand was received by the undersigned judge on April 14, 2005, at which time the parties were contacted in an effort to conform the settlement to address the Commissioner's concerns.

On April 22, 2005, the undersigned received an original signed Settlement Agreement and Certified Board Resolution approving the settlement. It is noted that this Settlement Agreement is signed by Board attorney, Mark Tabakin, as well as David Matthews, President of the Board of Education. Further, the Board Resolution authorizes the Board President and Board Secretary to execute the Settlement Agreement.

Thus, I CONCLUDE that the Commissioner's objections have been addressed and that the agreement meets the requirements of N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1 and should be approved. I, therefore, approve the settlement and ORDER that the parties comply with the settlement terms and that these proceedings be concluded.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT AND GENERAL RELEASE

This Settlement Agreement and General Release ("Agreement") is made and entered into between the Englewood Board of Education ("Board") and Daisy Lazo ("Lazo"). This Agreement is made pursuant to the following terms and conditions.

RECITALS

WHEREAS, on or about October 17, 2003, Lazo filed a Verified Petition of Appeal with the Commissioner of Education alleging that she acquired tenure on or about September 1, 2003, and that the Board improperly concluded that she did not acquire tenure pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:28-5, thereby depriving her of a maternity/child rearing leave of absence in accordance with the parties' collective negotiations agreement; and

WHEREAS, the parties elect to settle all outstanding matters and allegations in dispute in lieu of continuing to litigate the matter, so as to avoid expending further resources and to eliminate the uncertainties of litigation; and

WHEREAS, the Board and Lazo deem it to be in their best interests to set forth in a formal written agreement their respective rights, duties and obligations regarding Lazo's position with the Board; and

WHEREAS, the Board and Lazo are now mutually desirous of settling the matters and allegations in dispute; and

WHEREAS, all parties have been afforded the opportunity to consider the terms of this Agreement with advice of counsel and/or representative of their choice.

NOW, THEREFORE, in consideration of the promises and the mutual covenants herein contained, and for other good and valuable considerations, the parties hereby agree as follows:

1. The "Board" as used herein, shall at all times mean the Englewood Board of Education, its subsidiaries, affiliates, predecessors, successors and assigns of any and all of them, their present and former directors, officials, officers, representatives, associates, partners, servants, employees, agents, attorneys, successors, executors and administrators whether in their individual or official capacities, and all other persons, firms, corporations, associations, partnerships or any other entity connected therewith.

2. "Lazo," as used herein, shall mean Daisy Lazo, her heirs, representatives, privies, executors, administrators, assigns, successors-in-interest and predecessors-in-interest.

3. The Board and Lazo agree that, on or about November 26, 2003, Lazo fulfilled the employment service and certification requirements of N.J.S.A. 18A:28-5 and acquired tenure.

4. In consideration of the Board's covenant set forth in Paragraph 3, Lazo agrees that her attendance record will reflect an unpaid leave of absence from November 27, 2003 until June 30, 2005.

5. Lazo agrees that during her unpaid leave of absence, she waives any entitlement she may have for paid health benefits as provided in any collective negotiation agreement, past practice, Board Resolution, policy or applicable statutes and regulations. Therefore, Lazo is responsible to arrange and pay for health benefits during her unpaid leave of absence. Lazo may pay the Board the full amount of the cost to the Board of providing her health benefits in order to maintain her health benefit coverage during this time.

6. Lazo shall forfeit any right she may have to accrue benefits during her unpaid leave as provided in any collective negotiations agreement, past practice, Board Resolution, policy or applicable statutes and regulations. Benefits includes, but is not limited to, seniority, vacation time, sick days, personal days, compensatory days, holidays and the like. Lazo acknowledges that any and all benefits that she may have been entitled to accrue during her unpaid leave are forfeited and she will not receive any monetary payments or credits of any kind for any benefits during her unpaid leave.

7. Lazo releases, acquits, gives up and forever discharges any and all claims and rights which she may have against the Board up to the time of the execution of this Agreement. This Agreement releases all claims, including those of which Lazo is aware or not aware and those not mentioned in this Agreement. Lazo specifically acknowledges and agrees that this is a full and complete settlement of any and all claims that had been asserted or can be asserted or may be asserted or could be asserted by Lazo for compensatory damages, pain, suffering, emotional distress, stress, humiliation, embarrassment, mental anguish, medical expenses, punitive damages, interests, attorneys fees, costs of suit, loss of sick time, loss of vacation time, loss of benefits, consequential damage, reputation damage, breach of express or implied contract, interference in any contract, economic opportunity or prospective economic advantage which arose out of or could arise out of Lazo's employment with the Board, for, but not limited to, violation of her civil rights, privileges and immunities secured by the Civil Rights Act of 1871, 42 U.S.C. §§1981, 1983, 1985, 1986, and 1988, the New Jersey Tort Claims Act N.J.S.A. Title 59, the Fourth and Fourteenth Amendments to the United States Constitution and any and all other federal, state and local constitutional, statutory, regulatory or administrative laws, ordinances or common law duties, whether enumerated herein specifically or not.

8. Lazo agrees that in consideration of the promises set forth above, neither party shall: (a) file an appeal with the Commissioner of Education seeking any type of relief whatsoever from the Board; (b) file a grievance or seek arbitration over the unpaid leave, or forfeiture of health care coverage or Benefits or any other issue whatsoever relative to Lazo's unpaid leave or the underlying facts; and (c) initiate any type of judicial or administrative action of any type or nature in connection with Lazo's unpaid leave or the underlying facts. The parties further agree and understand that this Agreement is a full and final waiver and release between them covering any and all claims between the parties.

9. The parties further agree and understand that this Agreement is a compromise settlement of all claims asserted and unasserted in connection with Lazo's unpaid leave of absence. By entering into this Agreement, neither party admits that it has violated any contractual provisions of the collective negotiation agreement or statutory provision. Thus, the furnishing of the consideration for this Agreement by the parties shall not be deemed or construed as an admission of liability or responsibility by either party at any time for any purpose. The parties hereto expressly agree that the terms of this Agreement shall be non-precedential for any purpose whatsoever.

10. Lazo expressly agrees and understands that the promises and conditions set forth herein are premised and conditioned upon her forfeiture health benefits and other benefits as provided in Paragraphs 5 and 6.

11. This Agreement shall be irrevocable, fully binding and shall inure to the benefit of the parties hereto and their respective heirs, executors, administrators, successors and assigns.

12. In the event that any one or more of the provisions of this Agreement is held to be invalid, illegal or unenforceable, the validity, legality and enforceability of the remaining provisions will not in any way be affected or impaired thereby.

13. This Agreement may be modified or amended only by a written instrument duly signed by each of the parties or their respective successors or assigns.

14. This Agreement supersedes all prior written and/or oral agreements and understandings between the parties; it contains the full understanding of the parties with respect to this subject matter; and there are no representations, warranties, agreements or undertakings other than those expressly contained in this Agreement.

15. The waiver by Lazo and/or the Board of a breach of any provision hereof shall not operate or be construed as a waiver of that breach by the other or as a waiver of any subsequent breach by the other.

16. This Agreement shall not be executed in counterparts and shall be enforceable only if executed by Lazo and the Board.

17. This Agreement shall become irrevocable and effective immediately following execution by Lazo and the Board. However, both parties acknowledge that this Agreement is subject to the approval of the Office of Administrative Law and the Commissioner of Education. If such approval is not given, this Agreement and all of the stipulations, releases and acknowledgments shall be rendered null and void and the parties shall be returned to the status quo existing prior to this Agreement.

18. This Agreement shall be construed in accordance with and governed by the laws of the State of New Jersey.

19. This Agreement contains a settlement and stipulated dismissal of claims. By signing this Agreement the parties affirm that they have read this Agreement carefully and that they fully understood the terms and the provisions of this Agreement before signing. Lazo expressly states that she has had the opportunity to consult with an attorney with respect to the terms of this Agreement and knowingly, freely and without coercion enters into the Agreement by affixing her signature hereto.

NOW, THEREFORE, the parties, by their designated representative do set forth their signatures in confirmation of the above recitals and agreements to be effective on July __, 2004.

(Appruzzese, McDermott, Mastro & Murphy, attorneys)

Record Closed: May 5, 2005 Decided: May 10, 2005

BEFORE ELINOR R. REINER, ALJ:

On or about December 22, 2004, petitioner, A.M. on behalf of her minor children, filed a petition of appeal with the Commissioner of Education, alleging that her children were improperly removed from the Union Township school district on the incorrect assumption that they resided in Newark, and that respondent should be directed to enroll the children in the Union Township school district until this matter was heard. On or about December 29, 2004, respondent moved for emergent relief, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:4-2.4 and N.J.A.C. 6A:4-1.8, from the requirement to reenroll these students in Union for the school year 2004-2005 during the pendency of this second residence appeal filed by petitioner.[1] Petitioner filed a letter response on April 4, 2005. On March 17, 2005, the Department of Education, Bureau of Controversies and Disputes, transmitted this matter to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) for hearing as a contested case pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to –15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to –13.

The matter was assigned to the undersigned on March 28, 2005, and conference calls were held with counsel in an effort to resolve this case, as well as the prior matter which involved the residency of petitioner's children for the school year 2003-2004. As a result of settlement conferences held between the parties, a settlement was reached which resolved the above-referenced matter, and petitioner's residency appeal for the school year 2003-2004, decided by the undersigned judge and adopted by the Commissioner (see footnote 1).

I have reviewed the record and the settlement terms and FIND:

1. The parties have voluntarily agreed to the settlement, as evidenced by their signatures or their representatives' signatures.

---

[1] Petitioner previously filed a residency appeal regarding the school year 2003-2004. That appeal (OAL Dkt. No. 3805-04, Agency Dkt. No. 50-2/04) was heard by the undersigned on August 27, 2004. The Initial Decision signed on October 8, 2004 found that petitioner and her children were not domiciled in Union and ineligible for attendance in the Union School District. Tuition costs for the period of A.MC. and J.MC.'s ineligible attendance in school year 2003-2004 were assessed against petitioner. The Initial Decision was adopted by the Commissioner of Education on November 17, 2004. By letter dated December 23, 2004, the Commissioner determined not to grant petitioner's motion for a stay, pending appeal to the State Board, or reconsider his decision.

2. The settlement fully disposes of all issues in controversy and is consistent with the law.

I CONCLUDE that this agreement meets the requirements of N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1 and that the settlement should be approved. I APPROVE the settlement and, therefore, ORDER that the parties comply with the settlement terms and that these proceedings be concluded.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

The record, Settlement Agreement, and Initial Decision issued by the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1, have been reviewed.

Upon such review, the Commissioner observes that the Superintendent of Schools of Irvington Township signed the Settlement Agreement on behalf of the Board. In that neither the file nor the settlement agreement contains a copy of the Board's resolution approving the settlement and designating the Superintendent of Schools to sign the agreement on its behalf, nor, in the alternative, is the agreement signed by the Board attorney, who is the Board's duly authorized representative in litigation, the Commissioner cannot approve the within settlement agreement.

Accordingly, the Commissioner hereby remands this matter to the OAL for revision of the Settlement Agreement consistent with the concerns set forth above. If the parties are unwilling or unable to reach accord on a modified agreement for submission to the Commissioner, the matter shall proceed to hearing.

This matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) from the Department of Education on January 31, 2003, for hearing as a contested case, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13 and assigned to Administrative Law Assignment Judge Thomas E. Clancy. Petitioner asserted that the Board failed to pay full salary without loss of sick time for injury sustained in the course of employment.

On February 28, 2003, Judge Clancy placed this matter on OAL's inactive list for six months pending the outcome of a companion Worker's Compensation petition. On May 19, 2003, this office was advised by Petitioner's counsel that the Worker's Compensation matter had been resolved and requested the case be restored to active status. Subsequently, the case was assigned to the undersigned.

A telephone prehearing conference was scheduled for July 23, 2003; however, it was adjourned to September 17, 2003. During the conference, the parties agreed to file a motion for summary judgment and a briefing schedule was set. After the submission of all documents, on March 23, 2004, I issued an Order denying the application in its entirety. A hearing was scheduled on October 18, 2004; however, the hearing adjourned due to incomplete discovery. On December 14, 2004, a telephone status conference was held and the parties agreed to settle the case.

On May 11, 2005, the parties submitted a Settlement Agreement indicating the terms thereof, which is attached and fully incorporated herein.

I have reviewed the record and the terms of settlement and I FIND:

BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE BOROUGH OF PALMYRA, BURLINGTON COUNTY,	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
PETITIONER,	:	DECISION
V.	:
ROBERT MARINNIE,	:
RESPONDENT.	:

SYNOPSIS

The Board of Education of the Borough of Palmyra filed a Petition of Appeal with request for emergent relief, seeking removal of Board member Robert Marinnie for alleged conflict of interest, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:12-2, as the result of a Tort Claim Notice against the Board filed by respondent's adult son, who resides with his parents. Oral argument and limited testimony were presented at an emergent relief hearing.

The ALJ ordered the respondent disqualified from holding office as a member of the Palmyra Board of Education, finding, inter alia, that respondent had a direct interest in the Tort Claim Notice brought by his son against the Board and had consequently engaged in a number of actions inappropriate to his position on the Board.

The Commissioner adopted the recommended order of the ALJ as the final decision in this matter, rendering his own decision on a summary basis. The Commissioner did not adopt the ALJ's conclusions regarding respondent's alleged misconduct, finding them to be immaterial to a determination under N.J.S.A. 18A:12-2, but found instead that the specific factual circumstances of respondent's relationship to his immediate family placed him in a situation where his interest in the lawsuit being pursued by his son was inherently incompatible with board membership. Accordingly, the Commissioner ordered respondent removed as a member of the Palmyra Board of Education as of the date of this decision, and directed the County Superintendent to fill the resulting vacancy pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:12-15a.

BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE BOROUGH OF PALMYRA, BURLINGTON COUNTY,	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
PETITIONER,	:	DECISION
V.	:
ROBERT MARINNIE,	:
RESPONDENT.	:

The record of this matter, including the audiotape of hearing, and the Order Granting Emergent Relief issued by the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed. In accordance with the Department's notice of April 29, 2005, proposing to consider the OAL Order as an Initial Decision resolving this matter in its entirety, respondent submitted objections to which the Board of Education (Board) duly replied.[1]

In his objections, respondent contends that concluding the matter at this point would deny him his due process rights and violate the standards for issuance of summary decision, which is what the Order would effectively become if it is considered an Initial Decision as proposed. Respondent claims that material facts are in dispute, including but not limited to: 1) whether there was a "conspiracy" between respondent and other board members to discover information to help in respondent's son's litigation; 2) whether respondent was seeking information to the detriment of the Board; 3) the type of seminar attended by respondent and the purpose of his attendance; 4) why other Board members discussed the issue underlying respondent's son's Tort Claim Notice while respondent remained silent; and 5) whether respondent was provided with confidential information or provided such to his son. (Respondent's Objections at 1-3) Respondent contends that the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) made erroneous conclusions regarding the first four of these issues, which can only be proven by the testimony of witnesses not present at the emergent hearing, and that respondent was not asked, nor did anyone testify, as to whether confidential information was ever discussed with or provided to him. Respondent further claims that his due process rights were violated because, although it was not the intent of the ALJ to make a final determination in this matter, the ALJ nonetheless reached definite conclusions regarding respondent's conduct and that of other Board members based on unsworn statements by the Board attorney—whom respondent had no opportunity to cross-examine—and on testimony by respondent that was clearly understood to be limited in nature. (Id. at 4-5)

[1] Respondent objected to the Board's reply on grounds of lateness, but, as correctly pointed out by the Board in a subsequent communication, the requisite filing period was five working days, not five calendar days. Accordingly, the Board's submission was timely filed. See also N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.2.

In reply, the Board proffers that respondent suffered no denial of due process, vigorously opposing respondent's claim that the ALJ reached conclusions based on the Board attorney's unsworn and unchallenged statements. To the contrary, the Board contends, the ALJ's decision is based entirely on the Board's complaint as verified by the Board Secretary; the statements of respondent's attorney regarding her own involvement in the tort claim and ethics matters under discussion; and, above all, respondent's sworn testimony, which was freely offered in opposition to the verified complaint, with no objection to the Board's cross-examination and no attempt on re-direct to clarify or rehabilitate respondent's previous statements. The Board further argues, in reply to respondent's claim regarding the interim nature of the ALJ's order, that the ALJ was "very clear in her decision that respondent shall be removed as a board member based on the record presented, especially the testimony of respondent himself." (Board's Reply at 1-2, quotation at 2)[2]

Upon careful review and consideration, the Commissioner determines to adopt as the final decision in this matter the recommended order of the ALJ that respondent be removed as a member of the Palmyra Board of Education. However, he does so for the reasons set forth below rather than those stated by the ALJ.

In the Initial Decision, the ALJ concludes, for purposes of emergent analysis, that respondent engaged in a number of inappropriate actions, conclusions to which respondent takes exception because the ALJ reached them in the absence of a plenary hearing. The Commissioner, however, finds that none of these conclusions are necessary for an analysis of inconsistent interests under N.J.S.A. 18A:12-2, which hinges not on a board member's conduct, as it would if similar allegations were made pursuant to the School Ethics Act, but on personal circumstances which may place him or her in a situation that is inherently incompatible with board membership regardless of any actions taken—or not—in response to them. The Commissioner, therefore, does not adopt the ALJ's factual findings as set forth in the Initial Decision at 8-10, and, indeed, makes no findings of any kind with respect to respondent's conduct as a Board member, as opposed to his status.[3]

[2] The Board objects to any consideration of the affidavit included with respondent's exceptions, arguing that such submission is precluded by N.J.A.C. 1-1:18.4(c) and that it represents, at most, "a futile attempt to recant damaging testimony that was offered at the hearing on April 25." (Board's Reply Exceptions at 1)

[3] Even if the School Ethics Act had been invoked in this matter, the Commissioner's jurisdiction would not extend to determining whether violations of the Act had occurred. N.J.S.A. 18A:12-21 et seq.

N.J.S.A. 18A:12-2 requires the Commissioner to ascertain whether respondent has a direct or indirect interest in a claim against the board of education so as to disqualify him as a board member while the claim is pending.[4] Upon review of the record in the present instance, the Commissioner finds that respondent's own testimony provides ample evidence to conclude that, under the particular circumstances operative herein, respondent has at the very least an indirect interest in his adult son's tort claim against the district.

The record reflects that respondent's son (Robert) graduated from the district's high school in June 2004 and entered Cheyney State College in Pennsylvania that fall. He did not return to college following Thanksgiving break, having filed a Tort Claim Notice dated November 19, 2004, that states in substantive part:

> On or about August 23, 2004 I was advised that I may be ineligible to participate in the NCAA Division II athletics because of the method in which the Clearinghouse received my transcript and SAT scores [reference to attachment]. Shortly thereafter and upon proper receipt of the documents, I was advised that I was ineligible to play because I was not given the proper courses in high school such as a foreign language and because my SAT score was low.
>
> Because I was a special education student with an IEP. (sic) During my attendance at Palmyra High School I was eligible for time consideration on the SAT, however the school failed to assist me or at a minimum provide me with this information. I have subsequently learned that the Palmyra Board of Education did not have a curriculum as required by New Jersey law and this along with the failure to provide an appropriate IEP with the necessary courses caused my lack of proper prerequisites in order to qualify for the NCAA Clearinghouse.
>
> As a direct result of Palmyra Board of Education's failure to provide an appropriate education, I am currently ineligible to play any collegiate sports. I am required to take college remedial courses in order to bring me to a freshman level, and I am precluded from any possibility for professional scouting.

[4] It is well established, and the parties do not attempt to argue otherwise, that a notice of tort claim constitutes a "claim against the board" pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:12-2. Board of Education of the Borough of Berlin, Camden County v. Charlotte Lee, decided by the Commissioner June 14, 2002 (#238-02), slip opinion at 7-8.

Witnesses include all school administration, all school board members during the years Robert (sic) attended school, parents, guidance and teaching faculty, prior students during the year Robert (sic) attended school. Addresses of all these witnesses is (sic) in the possession of the school.

Individuals responsible include all school administration, board members, and staff that are responsible for curriculum, guidance and special education during the time I attended Palmyra High School.

Insurance is not applicable to this matter.

To the best of my knowledge there have been no statements or admissions made with regards to this matter except that it has come to my attention that the Palmyra Board of Education does not have an adopted curriculum.

The damages for the above matter include tuition, books and fees for courses required to complete the high school education not provided by the Board as well as the value of a loss year in participating in sports and be scouted by professionals (sic). The necessary attendance of extra school time in order to complete the college education due to having to complete the high school courses first. The delay in the ability to work full time or play sports professionally. The value requires professional computation, but I estimate the amount to exceed $1,000,000.00 based upon salaries of professional athletes.

The record further reflects that: Robert is 19 years old, single, and living at home with respondent and his wife, Robert's mother. After leaving school, Robert worked part-time at a seasonal job, which ended after the holidays, and started working full-time in early April 2005. He is presently employed at S&T Lubrication, Inc., working approximately 35 hours per week at the rate of $7.50 per hour, based on the pay stubs submitted by respondent.

Neither respondent nor his son owns a car. The household has two cars, one driven by Robert and his mother, the other by respondent; both are titled to respondent's wife, and she is the insurance policyholder for both, with Robert and respondent as covered drivers. Robert gives his mother money toward the loan on their jointly driven car, as well as for room and board; respondent has no knowledge of how much. Robert buys his own clothes; respondent's wife gives him money. Family medical insurance is provided through respondent's wife's employer; Robert has ceased to be eligible for his prior coverage because he is no longer a full-time student, and respondent does not know what new arrangements, if any, have now been made.

Respondent earns "some money" as a self-employed handyman. His wife is employed in the billing department of a medical center and earned approximately $34,000 in 2003 and $35,000 in 2004 based on her income tax returns. Respondent and his wife are "totally separate" financially; they have held nothing jointly since "before 2000." They do not file joint income tax returns. Respondent did not file income tax returns for 2002, 2003 or 2004; he has no knowledge of his tax returns, which are done by his sister on a "five-year plan." Robert was claimed as a dependent on his mother's tax returns for 2003 and 2004; respondent does not provide support for his son.

Respondent does not know what his son earns or how many hours he works, or how much money he gives his mother toward loans and expenses. He does not know what colleges his son applied to, what courses he took, how much college cost, how it was paid for (except that he didn't sign for any loans), what remedial education courses Robert took and at what cost, etc.; all of this was or is handled by his wife. Respondent has no checking account; all checks are signed by his wife from her account. Respondent and his wife rent their home.

These constitute the facts material to the pertinent inquiry in this matter. Although respondent may dispute the conclusions to be drawn from them, the facts themselves are based entirely on respondent's own documents and testimony; even granting respondent every inference, therefore, the matter is amenable to summary disposition on the present record.[5] Contini v. Board of Education of Newark, 96 N.J.A.R. 2d (EDU) 196, 215, citing Lima & Sons, Inc. v. Borough of Ramsey, 269 N.J. Super. 469, 478 (App. Div. 1994); In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Andrew Phillips, School District of the Borough of Roselle, Union County, Commissioner's Decision No. 129-97, decided March 20, 1997; and In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Neal A. Ercolano, Board of Education of Branchburg Township, Somerset County, Commissioner's Decision No. 140-00, decided May 1, 2000.

What these uncontroverted facts demonstrate is that respondent and his son are two fully integrated members of a family of three adults that functions as a single household unit. In such a situation, the fact that it is respondent's wife rather than respondent who is the principal breadwinner and who handles the family's financial and administrative affairs, owns the family assets and has all the direct dealings with Robert in these regards cannot serve to insulate respondent from the obvious interest and benefit that would accrue to any member of this household by virtue of a lawsuit brought by one or both of the others; indeed, respondent himself conceded on the record that the entire family would likely benefit if Robert wins his case against the Board.

Contrary to respondent's contention that this matter is about "the Board member, not his family," because of the manner in which respondent's household is constituted, this case cannot be reasonably viewed as being solely about respondent. The Commissioner finds it disingenuous to argue, as respondent does, that Robert's situation

[5] The Commissioner reiterates that the facts in dispute between the parties substantially relate to respondent's conduct as a Board member and to the conduct of other Board members, and, as such, are not material to the determination herein.

is irrelevant because he is "emancipated"—that is, because he is 19, now working full-time, and in control of his own lawsuit[6]—and there is no proof of direct financial benefit to respondent individually. Although a Board member's interest need not be financial to be disqualifying under N.J.S.A. 18A:12-2,[7] the circumstances in this matter are such that respondent would clearly benefit "in a substantial and material way" (Holmdel, supra, at 680) if his son—who presently lives with respondent and his wife, has had and continues to have his educational and/or living expenses subsidized by them,[8] and claims to have been prevented by the Board's tortious conduct from attaining his anticipated educational and career advancement[9]—were to prevail in a lawsuit seeking in excess of one million dollars in compensation for educational costs and lost wages.[10] Under facts of this matter, Robert need not be considered "dependent" in the legal sense argued by respondent in order for respondent to have an interest in his son's claim against the Board; indeed, the situation presented here is more analogous to that of a Board member disqualified because a spouse who is employed and stands as a legal equal has a claim of

[6] Respondent argues: "An emancipated child [is one who] is self-supporting and who has moved beyond the sphere of influence and responsibility exercised by a parent and obtains an independent status of his or her own. (citation omitted) Robert is emancipated. He works fill time and supports himself. Respondent is unable to change his son's position with regards to the Tort Claim Notice that was filed by his son. Robert is no different than the adult in Board of Education of the Township of Brick, Ocean County v. Edward Mercer, 96 *N.J.A.R.*2d (EDU) 5 (citation corrected) who lived at home but supported himself. The Commissioner in Brick determined the son was emancipated." (Response to Petitioner's Brief for Summary Disposition at 2)

[7] "The interest which disqualifies is not necessarily a direct pecuniary interest, nor is the amount of such an interest of paramount importance; it is based on the moral rule that no man can serve two masters whose interests conflict." Lee, supra, at 9, citing Aldom v. Borough of Roseland, 42 N.J. Super 495, 502 (App. Div. 1956).

[8] Again, under the particular facts of this matter, it is immaterial that respondent's wife rather than respondent actually earns and handles the money and writes the checks.

[9] Robert's present hourly wages translate into an estimated annual gross salary of approximately $13,000 per 50-week work year, based on a 35-hour work week.

[10] Although the waivers and/or releases respondent's papers indicate he and his wife have signed or would sign are not on record, under the particular facts of this matter, the Commissioner would not conclude differently even if they were.

his or her own against the district, from which the Board member has been shown to be likely to benefit materially and substantially. See, for example, Taliaferro vs. Hawthorne Board of Education, 94 *N.J.A.R.*2d (EDU) 197.[11]

With respect to the situation in which respondent would be placed if he were to remain on the Board, regardless of any efforts on his part to avoid misconduct, the Commissioner finds that—particularly given the broad scope of Robert's claim and list of responsible parties—it would be virtually impossible for respondent to function as a Board member in the Palmyra School District and not see and hear things which would inevitably bear upon his son's lawsuit. To the contrary, respondent would routinely be privy to matters relating to curriculum, guidance and special education,[12] as well as to personnel decisions pertaining to the broad array of district staff named as responsible parties in the Tort Claim Notice.

For example, although respondent clearly did not seek Board membership to further his son's lawsuit—the timing of events would have made this impossible—during the course of respondent's term, one of the suit's central issues became a matter of discussion in the district, "something that was unfolding before the Board," in the words of respondent's attorney. Even if respondent did not collude, once he was on the Board, to bring issues of interest to his son to the Board's attention, he undisputedly heard the [11] There are a number of factual differences between the situation in Brick, supra, and the situation here, including that in the Brick matter, the son was fully self-supporting (earning $20,000 per year in 1994) and, despite living at home, had since the age of 18 received no support whatsoever from his parents for education, automobile, insurance, medical or living expenses. Notwithstanding, to the extent that the Brick decision's focus on "emancipation" may be read as inconsistent with the decision herein, the Commissioner is not bound by—and here repudiates—such interpretation. (See In re Masiello, 25 N.J. 590, 598-99 (1958) and N.L.R.B. v. J. Weingarten, Inc., 420 U.S. 251 (1975), concerning the role of precedents in administrative proceedings.)

[12] Respondent himself stated that he could not remember the timing of certain discussions because special education issues come up "all the time." He also stated that the district's curriculum, and its lack of approval, was a matter of ongoing discussion.

discussions on these points once they were raised. Even if respondent did not travel to the Board's insurance office for the purpose of dropping off his son's Tort Claim Notice, but to drop off papers related to a Board matter of his own at the administration's request, respondent himself indicates that he had the notice with him in his personal "Board file" and gave it to the Board's insurance office when staff noticed it in the file respondent was showing them; indeed, the potential for legal pursuit of Robert's situation was first raised in a conversation between respondent and the attorney with whom he was conferring on a school ethics matter, even if that attorney did not ultimately represent Robert beyond meeting with him to discuss the possibility of a tort claim and then filing the notice of claim on his behalf so as not to risk violating the statute of limitations.[13] Even if the information respondent obtained at the district's special education in-service program could have been obtained elsewhere by any parent or member of the public, and even if respondent was not the only Board member in attendance and had legitimate reasons to attend the program, it was respondent's status as a Board member that placed him in a situation where he could hear information pertinent to his son's lawsuit in a context directly related to the Palmyra School District and its staff.[14]

For the Commissioner to find that respondent's dual interests as a Board member and Robert's father conflict in a manner that violates N.J.S.A. 18A:12-2, as well as its concomitant moral rule that "no man can serve two masters whose interests conflict" (Lee, supra, at 9, citing Aldom v. Borough of Roseland, 42 N.J. Super 495, 502

[13] This statement is based on respondent's attorney's explanation at hearing with regard to her involvement in Robert's tort claim, in addition to respondent's testimony and documents.

[14] Notwithstanding that he disputes the statement on exception, Respondent admitted on cross-examination that he likely decided to attend the specific session on special education because of his son's situation; however, as indicated above, it is the opportunity for such access, not the motivation for taking advantage of it, that is determinative herein.

(App. Div. 1956)), the Commissioner need not conclude that respondent actively shared privileged information with his son, or as the Board puts it, that he "aided and abetted" his son's legal action to such an extent that his "fingerprints" are "all over" the Tort Claim Notice. Rather, it is enough that the respondent, simply by virtue of his membership on the Board, is regularly in position to be placed in "a situation of temptation to serve his own purpose to the prejudice of those for whom the law authorized him to act as a public official"— precisely the evil sought to be avoided by the statute.[15] Holmdel, supra, at 676, quoting S&L Associates, Inc. v. Washington Township, 61 N.J. Super. 312, 329 (App. Div. 1960) Although respondent suggests that the allegations against him may be in retaliation for views he has expressed as a Board member, or because of the importance of his vote on a divided Board, the Commissioner stresses that the outcome of this matter is controlled by the determination of whether respondent has a conflict of interest in violation of law, and not on the motivation for submitting the matter for adjudication.

Accordingly, for the reasons expressed herein, respondent Robert Marinnie is found to have a conflict of interest in violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-2 and is, therefore, removed as a member of the Palmyra Board of Education as of the filing date of this decision. Pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:12-15a, the Burlington County Superintendent of Schools is directed to fill the resulting vacancy for the remaining length of respondent's term, which is due to expire upon the Board's reorganization following the April 2006 annual school election. Because the Commissioner's decision resolves this matter without need for further proceedings, the Clerk of the OAL is requested to return the file to the agency pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-3.3(a).

[15] Although respondent testified that he "never" talks to his son about "what goes on at the school board," respondent's attorney herself recognized that it was virtually impossible for some communication not to occur, even inadvertently. As she stated: "Do I say that they don't talk to each other? That would be ridiculous – they live together."

BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE BOROUGH OF PALMYRA, BURLINGTON COUNTY,
Petitioner,

v.

ROBERT MARINNIE,
Respondent.

Joseph F. Betley, Esq., for petitioner (Capehart & Scatchard, attorneys)
Carol Rogers Cobb, Esq., for respondent (Giansante & Cobb, attorneys)

Record Closed: April 25, 2005 Decided: April 26, 2005

BEFORE ANA C. VISCOMI, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

In this matter, the petitioner Board seeks removal of Board member, Robert Marinnie, alleging a conflict of interested pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:2-2 due to his son having filed a Notice of Tort Claim against the Board. The Board seeks emergent relief as a re-organization meeting is scheduled for April 26, 2005. The sole issue presented is whether respondent, Robert Marinnie may hold office as a member of the petitioner, Board of Education of the Borough of Palmyra (hereinafter "BOE"). Petitioner filed a verified petition and request for emergent relief requesting the Commissioner of Education take original and immediate jurisdiction pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.6(c) on April 21, 2005. The matter was then transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) on April 22, 2005 and scheduled for an emergent relief hearing on April 25, 2005. Oral argument and limited testimony of the respondent was presented that day along with pleadings filed in connection with this matter previously and the record on the emergent relief application then closed.

FACTUAL DISCUSSION

The BOE is a Public School Board of Education organized under Title 18A of the New Jersey Statutes. Respondent is a duly elected member of the Board. His initial three year term on the Board will expire upon the re-organization scheduled to take place in April 2006.

Respondent's son, Robert Marinnie, Jr., is a 2004 graduate of the high school and is 19 years old. He was enrolled to attend Cheyney State College in Pennsylvania in the Fall of 2004. According to the limited testimony of his father, the respondent, Robert Marinnie, Jr., did not return to school after Thanksgiving break in late November, early December 2004. On or about December 22, 2004, a Notice Tort Claim was hand delivered by respondent to the business office of the New Jersey School Board Association Insurance Group ("NJSBAIG"), the insurance provider for the Board. Ms. Cobb advised that she had forwarded the Notice of Tort Claim by certified mail and that the green card was returned to Robert Marinnie, Jr. She does not represent Robert Marinnie, Jr., but he indicated to her that he wanted to sue his school and asked her how he could accomplish that. She indicated to him that he was required to file a Notice of Tort Claim. She also indicated to him that her law firm does not ordinarily handle that type of legal work, but because the time period to file the Notice of Tort Claim was about to expire, she filed the Notice of Tort Claim on his behalf as was the standard practice of her office in order to avoid a potential malpractice concern. While she filed that Notice of Tort Claim, she does not represent Robert Marinnie, Jr. Prior to filing the Notice of Tort Claim, she contacted the Palmyra BOE Business office to inquire whether it utilized a particular form. She ultimately was retained by Robert Marinnie, Sr. in connection with an unrelated ethics litigation filed by another Board of Education member against him. Mr. Marinnie, Sr. retained her in January or February of 2005. He had contacted her originally with regard to the ethics complaint and also indicated to her during the course of the conversation that he was concerned about his son.

The Notice of Tort Claim indicates that Robert Marinnie, Jr. lives with his parents at 212 West Broad Street, in Palmyra and that he is not married. It also indicates that Mr. Marinnie, Jr. has been ruled ineligible to participate in inter-collegiate athletics because he did not complete a foreign language course while in high school and because of a low SAT score. The Tort Claim Notice further provides that as Robert Marinnie, Jr. was a special education student while enrolled at the Palmyra School District, he would have been eligible for time consideration on the SAT and that this was not provided to him. The Tort Claim Notice also alleges that the BOE did not have a curriculum as required by New Jersey law and that this failure caused him to lack the proper prerequisite courses for NCAA eligibility. As a result, he had to take college remedial courses in order to become a freshman and he was not eligible to participate in athletics. He seeks approximately one million dollars in damages.

It is the Board's contention that pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:12-2 respondent, Robert Marinnie, Sr., has a direct conflict and therefore should be removed from the Board prior to the reorganization meeting. In addition, it is the BOE's contention that Robert Marinnie, Jr. is not an emancipated adult.

Robert Marinnie, Sr. testified on his behalf on issues limited to a potential conflict of interest as well as whether his son is emancipated. His son lives at home and is not currently attending school. He did not return to school after the Thanksgiving break in 2004. He is not currently registered at school and he is working. After leaving school, he obtained a part-time job at the Marketplace in Cinnaminson. This was seasonal work and he was let go after the end of the holiday season. He is presently working at a place his father described as "like Jiffy Lube, but not Jiffy Lube." He does not know the nature of this son's work at that establishment. Exhibits to the Answer and Response to the Petition for Emergent Relief filed by the respondent indicate that Robert Marinnie, Jr. is employed at S & T Lubrication, Inc. He earns $7.50 an hour. He began working there recently.

Robert Marinnie, Sr. does not own a car. There are two cars in the household and both of them are owned by his wife. Robert Jr. and his wife drive the 2002 Mazda Protégé and he drives the 2000 Plymouth Neon. There is no loan on that car. He is listed as an additional insured on his wife's Allstate policy. There is a car loan on the 2002 Protégé driven by his wife and his son. His son uses the car to drive to work. He also gives his mother money to pay toward the loan but he is not aware of that amount. In addition, Robert Marinnie, Jr. gives his mother money each week for room and board. Robert Marinnie, Sr. is not involved in that arrangement.

As part of the proofs submitted by the respondent regarding his son's alleged emancipation, respondent submitted Individual Tax Returns for the years 2003 and 2004 filed by his wife, Eloise, residing at the same address and listing their son, Robert Marinnie, Jr., as a dependent. Mr. Marinnie testified that he does not claim his son Robert as a dependent on his tax returns and that he has not filed tax return for the last three years. He did not file an extension this year and he testified that he is on a "four to five year plan" and that his tax return filings are taken care of by his sister. He did have income for the last three years. He is a handy-man by trade.

When he became a Board member in 2003, he was not aware of a conflict within the Board relating to the curriculum at the District's schools. He first became aware of it when he attended "Boot Camp" in Princeton.

Mr. Marinnie, Sr. attended a special education seminar in September of 2004 given by counsel for the Board, Mr. Joseph Betley and his partner. He testified on direct examination that he probably found out about the seminar during a Board meeting and that he attended maybe half of it. He doesn't really recall the discussion, but generally it was about special education law. He recalls asking Mr. Betley for a copy of written materials.

With regard to the BOE's contention that he hand-delivered the Notice of Tort Claim on behalf of his son, Mr. Marinnie, Sr. testified that he received a call from Business Administrator Moore indicating that she needed "paper work" from him that day as the insurance carrier needed that information that day. He testified that he told her he could not get to her office that day but that he "happened to be going to Burlington" anyway, and as this was where the insurance carrier's office was located, he could bring the materials with him. He testified that he brought an entire file with him which included materials regarding the ethics suit pending against him as well as his son's Notice of Tort Claim. Mr. McCabe asked him about a particular document in his file. He responded that it was a Notice of Tort Claim filed by his son. Mr. McCabe then took a copy of the Notice of Tort Claim.

In late August, early September, 2004, he attended a BOE meeting. During this meeting, Board members Rich Brooks and Bob Bostock brought up the issue of the curriculum for special education students and MCAA eligibility. He was not aware that topic would be brought up that evening.[1]

He testified that the Board could be evenly split with the new members and that his vote could "definitely" make a difference.

He testified he has no control over what his son does and does not know whether this son would give up his claim.

He testified that he imagines his family would benefit if his son was meritorious on the claim filed against the Board.[2]

On cross-examination, he testified that while his son was enrolled as a full-time student at Cheyney State, he was covered under his mother's medical insurance. His wife is employed at Lady of Lourdes Hospital in the billing department. He has medical insurance through his wife's employer. His son is not presently covered under his wife's plan because he is no longer a full-time student. He does not know whether his son has medical coverage at this time.

He testified he has no knowledge of any financial transactions that take place between his son and his wife.

[1] The specific topic raised by either Mr. Brooks and/or Mr. Bostock was special education students who graduated in 2004 and the requirements for NCAA athletic eligibility. See exhibit B to the verified petition.

[2] Respondent' brief indicates he and his wife have executed waivers of any claims. Same have not been provided. Respondent's brief also indicates he and his wife are willing to sign releases to the Board.

His son was enrolled as a full-time student at Cheyney State in September of 2004. He does not know what tuition, room and board cost. His son lived on campus for the brief period of time that he was enrolled. He testified that his son received grants and loans. His wife paid tuition. His son signed loan papers but he doesn't know whether his wife co-signed on the loan or not. He did not sign on the loan. He does not know anything with regard to any other financial aid his son might have received. He does know that his son did not pay tuition on his own. He doesn't know who paid for the textbooks but his wife probably did. He did not complete a student aid application form on behalf of his son and he does not know if his wife did. He doesn't know whether his son applied to other schools.

He testified that there was an interest from a neighboring school district coach with regard to his son playing football and track at Cheyney State. His son was actually interested in playing those sports in addition to basketball, but he could not play because of the low SAT score as well as not having taken a foreign language course. He does not know who paid for the remedial courses that his son was required to take as a freshman at Cheyney State. He testified that his wife handled most of that.

When he became a duly elected member of the Board in 2003, Mr. Brooks and Mr. Bostock also came on the Board at the same time. He testified that they generally voted as a bloc. He never criticized the Administration for lack of an approved curriculum, but Messrs. Bostock and Brooks did.

He testified that his son did not learn of the "lack of adopted curriculum" at Palmyra from him, but rather from reading the Newsweekly newspaper. He never discussed the matter with his son. The newspaper is at his home everyday and his son reads the newspaper everyday.

He testified that he "might have" spoken with Mr. Brooks regarding his son's inability to participate in collegiate sports, but he is "not exactly sure when it took place." When Mr. Brooks raised the issue at a Board of Education meeting, he did not say anything because he "felt it might have been a conflict of interest if (he) said anything." He was then more emphatic in his response by indicating that it "would be a conflict of interest for (him) to say anything." After Mr. Brooks' inquiry on this issue at the Board of Education meeting, Vice-Principal Mr. Mitchell researched the matter and made a presentation on that issue. He does not recall whether he received any written information with regard to this issue.[3] He testified that he recalled thinking during the meeting that since his son had a problem, it was "not advisable" for him to say anything. He felt that he might have a conflict with regard to that information. However, he never thought that he should let other Board members know that this information had a direct impact on his son's situation.

He testified that the special education seminar given by Mr. Betley was also attended by another Board of Education member, Mary Holloway. He testified that he was the only Board of Education member at that meeting who had a special education student that graduated from the school in the year 2004. At the time he attended that meeting, he was aware that his son was ineligible to participate in sports at the Cheyney. At the time that he attended the seminar, he believed his son's IEP while an in-district student was inappropriate. However, he did not say anything to Mr. Betley regarding his son's IEP. He did say something to Mr. Betley regarding his nephew's IEP. His nephew, Andre Harris, graduated from the school in 2003. He testified that he did not choose to attend the seminar on Special Education. He went to the school for the orientation program. He did not know that Mr. Betley was going to be there. He then testified that he knew Mr. Betley's law firm would be there to speak on special education rights. He also testified that he attended the seminar because he knew of his son's situation.

He and his wife do not have a joint checking account. He has no checking account. He and his wife have not held joint finances since before the year 2000. They do not own their home; they pay rent.

LEGAL ANALYSIS

N.J.S.A. 18A:12-2 provides

> No member of any Board of Education shall be interested directly or indirectly in any contract with or claim against the Board, nor, in the case of local and regional school districts, shall he hold office > as mayor or as member of the governing body of municipality, nor, in the case of county special services school districts and county vocational school districts shall he hold office as a member of the governing body of a county.

[3] Principal Mitchell issued two confidential memoranda distributed to BOE members on September 20, 2004 and October 15, 2004, respectively. See exhibit B to verified petition.

The standard for the granting of emergent relief is set forth at N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6(b), > motion for a stay or emergent relief shall be accompanied by a letter memorandum or brief which shall address the following standards to be met for granting such relief pursuant to Crowe v. DeGioia, 90 N.J. 126 (1982): 1. the petitioner will suffer irreparable harm if the requested relief is not granted; 2. the legal right underlying petitioner's claim is settled; 3. the petitioner has a likelihood of prevailing on the merits of the underlying claim; and 4. when the equities and interest of the parties are balanced, the petitioner will suffer greater harm that the respondent will suffer if the requested relief is not granted.

I find that the petitioner has met the standards for the granting of the emergent relief requested and hereby GRANT such relief. I FIND the petitioner has demonstrated through Mr. Marinnie, Sr.'s own limited testimony that he has a direct interest in the claim against the Board filed by his son. The issue of whether his son is truly emancipated from his father or not is not reached as part of this application for emergent relief. It need not be decided; however, in order to award emergent relief in this instance as I FIND that it is not the dispositive issue in this matter. Mr. Marinnie, Sr. testified that he and Board members Brooks and Bostock generally voted as a bloc. At the time that Mr. Brooks and/or Bostock raised the precise issue of concern to his son, he was aware that his son was ineligible to participate in the collegiate athletics program at Cheyney State College. He choose to remain silent on the issue knowing that he had a conflict of interest. At the time that he attended the special education seminar provided by Mr. Betley and his partner in September of 2004, he knew that his son was ineligible to participate in the Athletic Program at Cheyney State and that is why he attended the seminar. At that time that he contacted his attorney to discuss an unrelated matter pending against him, he apprised her of his son's situation. His son then met with her with the intention of suing the school district and a Notice of Tort Claim was filed on his behalf on or about November 19, 2004. The meeting between Mr. Marinnie, Jr. and Ms. Cobb must have taken place on or by November 12, 2004 because that is the date by which he indicates in the Notice of Tort Claim that the administrative office for Palmyra was contacted to inquire as the whether or not the Board had adopted an official form for the filing of claims. This was after the September seminar that Mr. Marinnie, Sr. attended and after the meeting attended by Mr. Marinnie, Sr. for which he remained silent during Mr. Bostock and/or Brooks inquiry regarding the precise issue relevant to his son that is now the subject to a pending law suit. He remained silent knowing he had a conflict of interest when Mr. Mitchell addressed the issue after engaging in an investigation on the matter. And he remained silent when he received two separate confidential communications as a Board member on that issue. Interestingly the issue was raised by Messrs. Brooks and/or Bostock shortly after the August 23, 2004 letter directed to Robert Marinnie, Jr. regarding his SAT results.

Respondent asserts that the second and third prong of the Crowe v. DeGioia standard has been met as the mere filing of the Notice of Tort Claim triggers the disqualification mandated by N.J.S.A. 18A:12-2. Mr. Marinnie cannot be disqualified on a piece mail basis on issues dealing with his son's law suit. Pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:12-2, Mr. Marinnie, Jr. must either abandon his law suit, or his father must forfeit his seat on the Board. Mr. Marinnie, Sr. testified that he has no control of whether his son abandons the law suit. Petitioner cites to the Commissioner of Education's decision in Board of Education of the Township of Holmdel v. O'Connell in which the Commissioner, in analyzing the statute, discussed conflict of interest thusly

> Case law has further established that any such claim must be examined on a case-by-case basis in arriving at a determination as to whether the circumstances in the matter demonstrate that the Board member would benefit in substantial and material way from said claim. If so, the statute should be applied and the Board member be disqualified from serving on said Board. ... The rule applies not only to a pecuniary interest, but also to a psychological or personal interest as well. ... The interest which disqualifies is not necessarily a direct pecuniary one, nor is the amount of such an interest of paramount importance. It may be indirect; it is such an interest as is covered by the moral rule: no man can serve two masters whose interest conflict. Basically, the question is whether the officer, by reason of a personal interest in the matter, is placed in a situation of temptation to serve his own purpose to the prejudice of those for whom the law authorized him to act as a public official. And in the determination of the issue, too much refinement should not be engaged in by the courts in an effort to uphold the municipal action on the ground that his interest is so little or so indirect.

It is clear that respondent herein recognized the conflict himself when he sat silently while two other members of the Board whom he testified vote as a bloc generally along with him, raised the issue that became the basis for his son's Notice of Tort Claim filed a few months thereafter. His son received a letter questioning his ability to be eligible sometime after August 23, 2004.[4] He remained silent after the fact inquiry was completed and discussed by Mr. Mitchell at another meeting and he received two confidential memorandum on the issue. By his own admission, he attended Mr. Betley's seminar for this reason. The petitioner contends that this conflict of interests is of a material and substantial degree because in his capacity as Board member, he is providing information to his son in pursuit of litigation. Petitioner asserts that the inquiry on the issue can not reasonably be considered a coincidental event. The petitioner further asserts that it would suffer irreparable harm if Mr. Marinnie were permitted to continue on the Board as every vote would then come into question, particularly with a closely divided Board, if a Final Decision ultimately found that he was disqualified from the Board due to a conflict of interest, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:12-2. Finally, the petitioner argues that in balancing the equities, the harm to the Board and the public interest is greater than allowing respondent to serve on the Board for the reasons previously mentioned. Mr. Marinnie cannot meet his fiduciary responsibilities to the Board and the public due to the conflict of interest.

Respondent asserts that Mr. Marinnie, Jr. is emancipated from his father and that respondent has not demonstrated that a conflict of interest exists as there is no proof that Mr. Marinnie, Sr. would derive any financial benefit should his son be meritorious on his claim.

ORDER

Based on the foregoing, emergent relief is hereby GRANTED to the petitioner. I hereby ORDER the respondent disqualified from holding office as a member of the Board of Education and I refer to the County Superintendent of Schools the decision relative to the filling of the membership of the Board of Education pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:12-15.

[4] It should be noted that the NCAA Initial Eligibility correspondence produced merely indicates that the June 2003 SAT test result was received from an unacceptable source, See exhibit A to verified petition. The actual ineligibility letter has not been produced.

This order on application for emergent relief may be adopted, modified or rejected by COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. The Final Decision shall be issued without undue delay, but no later than forty-five (45) days following the entry of this order. If COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION does not adopt, modify or reject this order within forty-five (45) days, this recommended order shall become a Final Decision on the issue of emergent relief in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

IN THE MATTER OF THE TENURE :

HEARING OF JEANNE COOK, : COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION

SCHOOL DISTRICT OF THE TOWNSHIP : DECISION

OF OLD BRIDGE, MIDDLESEX :

COUNTY. :

SYNOPSIS

On November 15, 2002, the Board certified tenure charges of excessive absenteeism, tardiness, insubordination, and unbecoming conduct against respondent special education teacher. Respondent denied the charges and alleged the Board failed to provide her with a reasonable accommodation for a disability as required by the New Jersey Law Against Discrimination (LAD), N.J.S.A. 10:5-1 et seq. Respondent had filed a related LAD claim in Superior Court prior to the Board's certification of tenure charges in the instant case.

Subsequent to the transmittal of this matter to the OAL, a request to stay the case for the outcome of the civil suit brought by respondent against the Board was denied; a ruling was issued granting summary decision to respondent for back pay and pay for the duration of this action; and the Board's motion for summary decision on the four tenure charges was denied as to the issues of insubordination, tardiness and conduct unbecoming. The ALJ, however, found the matter to be ripe for disposition by summary decision on the issue of excessive absenteeism, and concluded that the conduct of the respondent amounted to chronic and excessive absenteeism, resulting in an adverse effect on the school children of the District. The ALJ granted the Board's motion for summary decision that the respondent was chronically and excessively absent, and ordered her removed from her position as a teacher in Old Bridge School District. Subsequently, the order of the Superior Court, based on the jury verdict in the related LAD matter, directed respondent's reinstatement; ordered the parties to engage in the interactive process to provide respondent with a reasonable accommodation for her disability; dismissed the tenure charges; and barred the aforementioned findings of the ALJ based on the principles of res judicata and collateral estoppel.

The Commissioner considered this matter in light of the Superior Court's Decision and Orders, and initially pointed out that it is well established by case law that the dismissal of tenure charges falls within the exclusive jurisdiction of the Commissioner. Accordingly, upon exhaustive review of the record, the Initial Decision, the parties' exceptions and additional submissions, and the Superior Court's determinations in the related LAD matter, the Commissioner found that there is no basis on which to conclude that respondent is guilty of chronic and excessive absenteeism or that tenure proceedings on the other charges in this matter may continue in light of the court's determination that the Board failed to accommodate respondent's handicap and that the tenure charges herein were filed in retaliation for the filing of respondent's LAD claim in Superior Court. The Commissioner therefore denied the Board's motion for summary decision and dismissed the tenure charges.

IN THE MATTER OF THE TENURE	:
HEARING OF JEANNE COOK,	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
SCHOOL DISTRICT OF THE TOWNSHIP	:	DECISION
OF OLD BRIDGE, MIDDLESEX	:
COUNTY.	:

Respondent's exceptions and the Old Bridge Township Board of Education's (Board) reply thereto were submitted in accordance with N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4. In her exceptions, respondent reported that a related New Jersey Law Against Discrimination (LAD) claim in Superior Court had been decided in her favor by a jury on or about December 20, 2004 and that she had filed a motion seeking an order requiring the Board to return her to the work place and to provide a reasonable accommodation for her handicap. (Respondent's Exceptions at 3)

Subsequently, by letter of February 24, 2005, respondent forwarded the Decision and Order of Judge Edward J. Ryan of the Superior Court, Law Division, Civil Part, dated February 18, 2005, wherein, based upon the jury verdict, the Board was found to be in violation of the LAD because it had failed to provide respondent with a reasonable accommodation for her handicap and the tenure charges filed by the Board herein were found to be retaliatory in nature. As a result, Judge Ryan ordered, inter alia, that: 1) respondent was to be reinstated with salary and step increases corresponding to those she would have received absent the Board's LAD violations; 2) the parties were to engage in a full interactive process in order to provide respondent a reasonable accommodation upon her reinstatement; and 3) the tenure charges were to be dismissed.

By letter of March 1, 2005, the Director of the Bureau of Controversies requested that the parties submit letter briefs or memoranda of law addressing what effect, if any, the February 18 Superior Court decision had on the unadjudicated tenure charges against respondent. Both the Board's Letter Brief and respondent's Memorandum of Law were filed on March 14, 2005 and respondent filed a reply brief on March 21, 2005. In the interim, under cover letter, dated March 15, 2005, respondent submitted Judge Ryan's March 11, 2005 Order for Reinstatement and Additional Equitable Relief, in which he directed respondent's reinstatement, ordered the parties to engage in the interactive process to provide respondent with a reasonable accommodation for her disability, dismissed the tenure charges and concluded that the Administrative Law Judge's decision was barred by the principles of res judicata and collateral estoppel.

In considering this matter in light of the Superior Court's Decision and Orders, the Commissioner initially points out that the dismissal of tenure charges falls within the exclusive jurisdiction of the Commissioner. As set forth by the State Board in In re Cardonick, decided by the Commissioner April 7, 1982, aff'd State Board April 6, 1983, 1990 S.L.D. 842, 849:

> What constitutes grounds for a tenure dismissal is a question of fact and within the exclusive jurisdiction of the Commissioner of Education, who has the duty to conduct the hearing and render a decision. In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of David Fulcomer, 93 N.J. Super. 404, 412 (App. Div. 1967).
> The Commissioner's exclusive authority to decide these cases necessarily entails the determination of any and all matters pertinent thereto in order to make a complete disposition of the case.

Accordingly, the Commission has conducted an exhaustive review of the record, the Initial Decision, the parties' exceptions and additional submissions and the court's determinations in the related LAD matter. Upon such review, the Commissioner finds that there is no basis on which he may conclude that respondent is guilty of chronic and excessive absenteeism or that tenure proceedings on the other charges in this matter may continue in light of the court's determination that the Board failed to accommodate respondent's handicap and that the tenure charges herein were filed in retaliation for the filing of respondent's LAD claim in Superior Court.

Given this conclusion, the Commissioner has determined to deny the Board's motion for summary decision and dismiss the tenure charges in this matter.

IT IS SO ORDERED.*

INITIAL DECISION
SUMMARY DECISION
OAL DKT. NO. EDU 8568-02
AGENCY DKT. NO. 374-11/02

IN THE MATTER OF THE TENURE HEARING OF JEANNE COOK, SCHOOL DISTRICT OF THE TOWNSHIP OF OLD BRIDGE, MIDDLESEX COUNTY.

Philip E. Stern, Esq., for petitioner, Old Bridge Township (Sills, Cummis, Radin, Tischman, Epstein & Gross, attorneys)

Michael T. Barrett, Esq., for respondent, Jeanne Cook (Bergman & Barrett, attorneys)

Record Closed: January 24, 2005 Decided: January 26, 2005

BEFORE DONALD J. STEIN, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On November 15, 2002, petitioner, Old Bridge Township Board of Education (hereinafter BOE), certified tenure charges against the respondent, Jeanne Cook, alleging that she is guilty of excessive absenteeism, tardiness, unbecoming conduct, and insubordination. On December 3, 2002, respondent filed a petition of appeal (Answer) with the Commissioner of Education denying the charges and alleging that the BOE failed to provide respondent with a reasonable accommodation as required by the New Jersey Law Against Discrimination, N.J.S.A. 10:5-1 et seq. The matter was transmitted to the OAL on December 18, 2002, and assigned to ALJ Reback. On March 27, 2003, ALJ Reback denied a request to stay the present case for the outcome of a civil suit brought by Cook against the Old Bridge Township Board of Education. On June 20, 2003, ALJ Reback issued a ruling granting summary decision to respondent for back pay and pay for the duration of this action. The hearing date of August 22, 2003, was adjourned at the request of both parties to submit briefs for summary decision. On June 17, 2004, the matter was reassigned to me to conduct a conference call on the same day. On that date a briefing schedule was agreed upon and briefs were received from both parties.

On July 30, 2004, the BOE filed a motion for summary decision alleging that the Old Bridge Board of Education properly issued tenure charges against respondent for excessive absenteeism, tardiness, conduct unbecoming and insubordination. After numerous requests, the parties submitted a joint stipulation of facts on October 12, 2004. Oral argument was scheduled for December 8, 2004. At the conclusion of oral argument, the parties requested ten days to submit briefs. Briefs were received on December 18, 2004. Attorney for the respondent requested either a stay of the proceedings, or additional time for the record to remain open, because the respondent had prevailed in the civil case involving discrimination. The parties were given thirty additional days to supply me any documentation, that the jury award in the discrimination action would have any binding effect before this tribunal. Since no documentation was received, a conference call was conducted on January 24, 2005. During that conference, respondent again requested a stay. Since had no additional documentation regarding the civil case had been produced, and since the failure to provide reasonable accommodations is not a defense to the charge of excessive absenteeism, the request was denied, and the record closed.

STATEMENT OF FACTS

Respondent was initially employed by the Old Bridge Township Board of Education as a substitute special education teacher from January 1987 through June 1987. Beginning in September 1987 respondent was employed on a permanent full-time basis teaching special education at Madison Central High School. Respondent was a special education teacher from September 1987 until June 1997, during which time she taught grades nine through twelve in the area of special education, including language arts, reading, study skills and math. Respondent worked at Madison from September 1987 until June 1992. In September 1992 respondent took a maternity leave, and returned in February 1993. Upon her return she was assigned to Cedar Ridge High School until June 1993. She returned to Madison in September 1993 teaching ninth to twelfth grades special education. Respondent gave birth to another child in March 1994 and went out on maternity leave for the rest of the school year. She returned to work in September 1994. Respondent taught at Jonas Salk Middle School from 1994 until 2002, when the tenure charges were certified against her.

EXCESSIVE ABSENTEEISM AND TARDINESS

The parties entered into a Joint Stipulation of Facts (J-1), which is summarized below.

1. In school year 1997-1998 respondent's evaluations noted that attendance and tardiness were problems.

2. In the 1998-1999 school year respondent was absent 13 days in the beginning of the school year and then was absent for the entire period between October 7, 1998, and March 22, 1999, totaling 118 school days. During that year, respondent requested and was granted a disability leave due to a medical condition resulting from a 1996 injury.

3. In the 1999-2000 school year respondent was absent 46 days. Of those 46 days, 22 were related to worker's compensation leave.

4. In the 2000-2001 school year respondent was absent 56 full days and 7 half days and was tardy 18 times. Of the 56 absences, 36 were related to a paid suspension directed by the Board of Education.

5. In the 2001-2002 school year respondent was absent 63 full days and 11.5 half days and was tardy 22 times.

The preceding information is undisputed and is thus FOUND AS FACT.

Respondent received numerous warnings to improve her attendance:

SCHOOL YEAR	DATES OF WARNINGS
1998-1999	June 4, 1999 (P-5)
1999-2000	November 30, 1999 (P-6), June 15, 2000 (P-7), January 19, 2001 (P-13)
2000-2001	December 12, 2000 (P-17), June 19, 2001 (P-24)
2001-2002	November 29, 2001 (P-34), November 30, 2001 (P-33), February 8, 2002 (P-34), April 23, 2002 (P-28), May 31, 2002 (P-30)

In addition to the warnings for excessive absences, respondent received separate warnings for tardiness on October 23, 2000 (P-11), January 19, 2001 (P-12), May 18, 2001 (P-21), and May 25, 2001 (P-32).

The BOE alleges that the absences had a significant impact on the students and respondent's classes. For example, on April 16, 2002, grades were due in the guidance office by 9:00 a.m. Respondent failed to report to work, and the guidance clerk was left to contact respondent at home to secure her grades by telephone and scan them. On that day, respondent also failed to leave substitute plans in the main office and the plans could not be located in respondent's desk or teaching classrooms. The students were thus deprived of their regular instructor that day, as well as any benefit that could have been derived from a substitute implementing that day's lesson. Respondent also failed to report to work on the following day and was scheduled to attend an IEP meeting on April 18, 2002. The Child Study Team was left to secure student information from other staff members.

Petitioner asserted that during the 2001-2002 school year, respondent's attendance record had a negative impact on the overall instruction of students:

> Your health and attendance remains a concern for us at Salk School. You need to improve attendance so the continuity of instruction does not become an issue to the special needs students you teach.
>

Respondent's salary adjustment increment was withheld for the 2002-2003 school year (P-31). Her increment had also been withheld for the 2001-2002 school year (P-23).

In March 1999 respondent returned to work from a leave of absence. She was provided with a schedule accommodation in which she was permitted to arrive at school during first period. Because of her medical condition and related pain, early mornings were extremely difficult and so a free first period would help her start her teaching day in less pain and be more effective as a teacher. For the balance of that school year, respondent taught five classes but was not scheduled for first period (R-7). In late October or early November 1999, respondent requested a $^{4}/_{5}$ position or some other accommodation, such as a transfer to an elementary or middle school that had a later start time (R-9). No such accommodations were made. Respondent alleges that she is a protected individual under the Law Against Discrimination (LAD), and that petitioner has failed to make a reasonable accommodation for her disability. She further alleges that a reasonable accommodation was made to schedule her day with no first-period classes and allow her to arrive at a time later than other teachers are scheduled to arrive. However, that accommodation was later withdrawn and the BOE made no further efforts to accommodate her.

Respondent further argues that she has been praised for her work. She received positive evaluations for her job performance, exclusive of the attendance issues for the 1996-1997 school year (R-2), the 1997-1998 school year (R-3), the 1998-1999 school year (R-8), and the 1999-2000 school year (R-14).

UNBECOMING CONDUCT

The BOE alleges that respondent has committed unbecoming conduct because of improper relationships with her students.

The BOE alleges that in February 2001 a special needs student told the respondent that she feared abuse at home by her mother and her mother's boyfriend, that her mother refused to provide her with shelter, and refused to take her to a physician for a respiratory ailment. Respondent allowed the student to stay in her home for several days and sought medical treatment for the student, but did not immediately contact the student's parent, the school administration, or the Division of Youth and Family Services (DYFS). During this investigation, petitioner alleged that the respondent provided District students with her home telephone number; invited District students into her home for matters unrelated to school; failed to report to the District an incident when a student entered her home without invitation one evening; entertained conversations with her students about personal events; solicited gifts from her students over the holidays; and accepted gold earrings as a gift from a student and returning them only after several weeks passed. She was directed to refrain from such unprofessional conduct and to exercise better judgment (P-34).

Respondent has denied these allegations. She stated that her telephone number was accessible for students as well as teachers. She denied inviting students to her home. She admitted having conversations with students about day-to-day things. She stated that she never accepted gifts from students, except during the holidays or the end of the school year. She did receive a wrapped box containing gold earrings, but after seeing what the gift was, she thought the gift too personal and returned it.

Respondent also denies any improper conduct concerning allowing the student to stay at her house over the weekend. She stated that she brought the situation to the attention of the school upon her return to school on a Monday.

On another occasion, respondent brought her own children to a parent-teacher conference. Prior to the conference, letters were circulated stating that children were not to attend the evening conferences. Despite this, respondent brought her children and was reprimanded. She was told:

> It was inappropriate for parents to bring their children to our parent conference night. Your choice of bringing your children showed a complete disregard to my memo of November 15, 2001. Your example undermines the objective of the parent conferences. It becomes very difficult to run programs when staff and administration do not work together.

Respondent indicated that she thought the letter directed parents not to bring any children who would be discussed to the conference. She lost her baby sitter at the last minute and had to bring the children with her that evening. The children were older and occupied themselves while respondent's conference took place.

Another incident involved a student appearing at her home. Respondent had a conversation with the student and told him to leave and he did. The student alleged some improper contact on the part of respondent, which was later unsubstantiated. Respondent was placed on administrative leave without any statements being made to her. The police were contacted but concluded the charges were without merit and respondent was suspended for two months. The investigation concluded that the charges were unsubstantiated.

INSUBORDINATION

The BOE alleges that respondent refused the directives of her supervisor to improve her attendance and instances of lateness. As indicated in the excessive absenteeism section, respondent received at least fifteen written warnings between June 4, 1999, and May 31, 2002.

Despite these warnings, her attendance and tardiness did not improve. Prior to the 2001-2002 school year, respondent was issued at least seven written warnings. Despite these warnings, she was absent 63 full days and 11.5 half days and was tardy 22 times (J-1).

CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

SUMMARY DECISION

The facts involving this motion are not in dispute. Therefore, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:12.5(b) and Brill v. Guardian Life Insurance Co. of America, 142 N.J. 520, 523 (1995), I FIND that there are no genuine issues of material fact and that this matter is ripe for Summary Decision.

This action is based upon four allegations: excessive absenteeism, tardiness, insubordination, and conduct unbecoming. With respect to the tardiness allegation, respondent has alleged that she had called in and was only a few minutes late on several occasions. She has also raised the question of whether petitioner has made reasonable accommodations for her disability. Respondent also has denied that she has engaged in conduct unbecoming. She alleges that she acted properly with respect to taking care of the special needs student and called the proper authorities at the first available time. She also admitted that she received a gift from a student, but said that she returned the gift after opening it. Insubordination is defined as the willful and intentional disregard of the lawful and reasonable directives of an employee's duly authorized supervisor. In re the Tenure Hearing of Motley, State-Operated Sch. Dist. of Newark, EDU 7421-97, Initial Decision (May 5, 1999), aff'd as modified, Comm'r (August 4, 1999), aff'd, State Bd. of Educ. (December 1, 1999) <http://lawlibrary.rutgers.edu/oal/search.html>. Respondent also denies that she was insubordinate, because she did not intentionally deny any directives from the petitioner. Clearly, there are factual issues with respect to these allegations, and summary decision is DENIED as to the issues of insubordination, tardiness, and conduct unbecoming.

However, there does not appear to be any dispute as to facts involving excessive absenteeism. In the 1998-1999 school year respondent was absent 131 days. In the 1999-2000 school year respondent was absent 46 days. In the 2000-2001 school year respondent was absent 56 full days and 7 half days. Of the 56 absences, 36 were related to a paid suspension directed by the Board of Education. In the 2001-2002-school year respondent was absent 63 full days and 11.5 half days. J-1. Therefore, I FIND that there are no genuine issues of material fact and that the matter is appropriate for disposition by summary decision.

EXCESSIVE ABSENTEEISM

The Commissioner of Education has sustained tenure charges and ordered dismissal when an employee has committed excessive tardiness and absenteeism. This is true even where the absences are for legitimate medical or health reasons. In re the Tenure Hearing of Meade-Stephens, 92 *N.J.A.R.*2d (EDU) 550, aff'd, 93 *N.J.A.R.*2d (EDU) 134, aff'd, No. A-3076-92 (App. Div. Jan. 10, 1994), certif. denied, 137 N.J. 167, cert. denied, 513 U.S. 991, 115 S. Ct. 491, 130 L. Ed. 2d 403 (1994).

Even if a teacher's performance in the classroom is sufficient and even if the absences were approved leave or sick days to which the teacher was entitled, the absences may nevertheless be considered as material to the issue and can justify removal of the teacher. Trautwein v. Bd. of Educ. of Bound Brook, 1980 S.L.D. 1539, certif. denied, 84 N.J. 469 (1980); In re the Tenure Hearing of Sheets, 1979 S.L.D. 790, 798, adopted, State Bd. of Educ., 1980 S.L.D. 1536. The point at which the absenteeism is judged to be excessive falls within the reasonable judgment and discretion of the local school district. Trautwein, supra, 1980 S.L.D. 1539. Thus, excessive or chronic absenteeism of a tenured employee, even if related to legitimate medical or health problems, has been held to constitute "incapacity," "unbecoming conduct," and/or "just cause," within the meaning of N.J.S.A. 18A:6-10, to warrant dismissal from employment. In re the Tenure Hearing of Hernandez, EDU 3126-01, Initial Decision (August 24, 2001), adopted, Comm'r (October 15, 2001) <http://lawlibrary.rutgers.edu/oal/search.html>.

In Meade-Stephens, supra, 92 *N.J.A.R.*2d (EDU) 550, the Commissioner terminated a tenured teacher for chronic absenteeism and tardiness. In 1985-1986 Meade-Stephens had 37 absences and 16 instances of tardiness, in 1986-1987 she had 69.5 absences, in 1988-1989 she had 45.4 absences, and in 1989-1990 she had 16.5 absences and 44 instances of tardiness. Some of these absences resulted from board-approved leaves of absence. The administration warned the teacher that her attendance needed to improve and the board withheld her increment, but she failed to change her attendance patterns. This pattern of attendance resulted in a pronounced and inexcusable deficit in the education of Meade-Stephens's students. In the present case, respondent's absence pattern was even more pronounced. She was absent 131 days in the 1998-1999 school year, 46 days in the 1999-2000 school year, 56 full days and 7 half days in the 2000-2001, and 63 full days and 11.5 half days in the 2001-2002 school year (J-1). Respondent was given eleven warnings regarding her excessive absences.

In order for a board of education to terminate a tenured employee for excessive absenteeism, the board must demonstrate:

> (1) the particular circumstances of the absences and not merely the number of absences; (2) the impact that the absences had on the > continuity of instruction during the period of time the absences occurred, not merely after the fact; and (3) that there be some warning given to the employee that his or her supervisors were dissatisfied with the pattern of absences.

>
> [In re the Tenure Hearing of White, 92 *N.J.A.R.*2d (EDU) 157, 161 (quoting Kelsey v. Bd. of Educ. of Trenton, EDU 5773-88, Comm'r Decision (May 11, 1989)).]

Clearly, the absences in this matter are excessive and respondent received several warnings. At issue is the impact of the absences on the continuity of instruction.

There appears to be no Appellate Division case directly on point, however In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Kacprowicz, 93 *N.J.A.R.*2d (EDU) 147, 153, aff'd, State Board of Educ., 93 *N.J.A.R.*2d (EDU) 604, aff'd, 95 *N.J.A.R.*2d (EDU) 105, was affirmed by both the Commissioner and the Appellate Division (C-1). In that case, a teacher was absent, on average, approximately 28 days per year over an eight-year period. There was no question that the teacher's absences over the years were for legitimate reasons. Thus, the central issue to be determined in that case was the effect of the absences on the children of the school district. ALJ Martone concluded:

> Common sense dictates that a teacher's continued absences ranging from 46 days in school year 1985-86 to 13 days (plus 39 days for a school accident) in school year 1989-90 must have had a negative impact upon [the teacher's] pupils. The pattern of absences shown in [Mr. Kacprowicz's] attendance records show frequent absences which necessarily disrupted the required continuity of instruction necessary to provide the opportunity for a pupil's maximum educational progress. Accordingly, in this case, I FIND that the [school district's] responsibility to [a teacher] who is plagued with illness and medical problems is far outweighed by the excessive number of absences of [Mr. Kacprowicz].
> [Kacprowicz, supra, 93 *N.J.A.R.*2d (EDU) at 152.]

In the present case, respondent's absences were more excessive. She was absent approximately 296 days over a four-year period, which averages to more than 74 days per year. The impact was even more pronounced in this case, where respondent taught special education students, who needed additional continuity and consistency.

State-Operated School District of Jersey City v. Pellecchio, 92 *N.J.A.R.*2d (EDU) 267, aff'd, 93 *N.J.A.R.*2d (EDU) 30, also addressed this issue. In that case, the teacher was absent approximately 242 times over a nine-year period, which averages to approximately 26 absences per year, which is considerably less than the present case. In reaching her decision, ALJ Reiner stated:

> The rationale underlying the principle that chronic or excessive absenteeism is conduct, which warrants dismissal, has been articulated in various ways. The ALJ in Trenton Bd. of Ed. v. Williamson [EDU 7335-85, Initial Decision (Apr. 14, 1986), aff'd, Comm'r (May 28, 1986)], in rather conclusive fashion, held that "there is no question that repeated and excessive absenteeism of regular teachers poses a threat to the integrity of the educational process." Williamson at 4, citing Angelucci v. West Orange Bd. of Educ., 1980 S.L.D. 1066.
>
> In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Reilly, 1977 S.L.D. 403, the rationale was more fully set forth by the Commissioner. "Frequent absences of teachers from regular classroom activity disrupt the continuity of the instructional process. The benefit of regular classroom instruction is lost and cannot be entirely regained, even by extra effort, when the regular teacher returns to the classroom. Consequently, many pupils who don't have the benefit of their regular classroom teacher frequently experience great difficulty in achieving the maximum benefit of schooling. The regular contact of pupils with their assigned teachers is vital to this process." Reilly, 1977 S.L.D. at 414.
> [Pellecchio, supra, 92 *N.J.A.R.*2d (EDU) at 270.]

The ALJ in Pellecchio concluded that Pellecchio could not rely on the fact that most of his absences were due to a physiological ailment as an argument in mitigation of the penalty of dismissal.

It has also been held that once a board of education shows excessive absenteeism, the burden shifts to the teacher to show that performance is unaffected by continued absences, notwithstanding the legitimacy of excuse. Smith v. Bd. of Educ. of Trenton, OAL Dkt. No. EDU 5255-88, Commissioner's Decision (April 18, 1989).

In applying the analysis set forth in White, supra, 92 *N.J.A.R.*2d (EDU) 151, to the present case, the BOE has satisfied the three-prong test. First, respondent averaged 74 absences per year over a four-year period while teaching a special education class, which requires even more continuity than a regular class.

Second, pursuant to Kacprowicz and Pellecchio, the BOE has shown an impact on the continuity of instruction. Both Kacprowicz and Pellecchio had similar fact patterns to the present case, except the absences in the present case are far more excessive. Kacprowicz was absent, on average, approximately 28 days per year over an eight-year period. Pellecchio was absent approximately 242 times over a nine-year period. In the present case, respondent was absent approximately 296 times in a four-year period. The ALJs in both Kacprowicz and Pellecchio found the teacher's conduct to be chronic and excessive absenteeism and to have a significant adverse effect on the students of the school district. Since the absenteeism in the present situation is far more pronounced, I FIND that there was a significant adverse impact on the continuity of instruction.

Third, it is clear that respondent received numerous warnings with respect to her attendance problems. She received 11 written warnings between 1999 and 2002. I therefore FIND that respondent received adequate warnings, as well as the denial of pay-raise increments.

Respondent has asserted that petitioner has failed to make reasonable accommodations for her, which has contributed to her absenteeism. Although the Law Against Discrimination may require the petitioner to modify respondent's work schedule to accommodate her tardiness, petitioner is not required to accommodate her absenteeism. In Svarnas v. AT&T Communications, 326 N.J. Super. 59 (App. Div. 1999), Svarnas suffered injuries in an automobile accident and missed more than 600 days over a twenty-two-year period. If she was calculated to work 5 days a week with 3 weeks' vacation, 15 holidays and 10 sick days, she was absent approximately 13 percent of her required work schedule. The court concluded that even if the accommodations were made, it would not have solved the problem because "the fact remains that neither of those accommodations would have solved the underlying problem that led to plaintiff's dismissal her inability to show up for work on a consistent and reliable basis over a prolonged period of time." 326 N.J. Super. at 81. The court agreed with the trial judge, who had concluded that "no accommodation was required in this case because plaintiff was not otherwise qualified to do her work. That is, she could not be so qualified because she was not there." Id. at 72.

The court further concluded that "[t]he authorities recognize that reasonably regular, reliable, and predictable attendance is a necessary element of most jobs." Id. at 78. "An employee who demonstrates an inability to attend work with any degree of predictability and reliability cannot be reasonably accommodated." Id. at 78 (citing Santiago v. Temple Univ., 739 F. Supp. 974 (E.D. Pa. 1990), aff'd, 928 *F.*2d 396 (3d Cir. 1991)).

In the present case, petitioner does not have an obligation to accommodate respondent for her excessive absenteeism. Teachers must be present to interact with students. Education must occur over a regular period of time with continuous interaction. Respondent has not shown an ability to regularly participate in that process.

Based on the foregoing, I CONCLUDE that the conduct of the respondent amounts to chronic and excessive absenteeism, resulting in a significant adverse effect on the school children of the school district, and I CONCLUDE that respondent should be removed from her position of teacher in the Township of Old Bridge School District.

ORDER

It is hereby ORDERED that petitioner's motion for summary decision that respondent was chronically and excessively absent is hereby GRANTED. It is further ORDERED that respondent, Jeanne Cook be REMOVED from her position as a teacher in the State-Operated School District of the City of Old Bridge, Middlesex County.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen (13) days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, P.O. Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

DECISION

SYNOPSIS

Petitioners, tenured school social workers, allege respondent Board reduced their full-time employment while retaining non-tenured and less senior employees in violation of their tenure and seniority rights.

The ALJ found: 1) that the Board's Reduction In Force (RIF) was invalid; 2) that the respondent Board did not act in bad faith regarding the RIF; and 3) that the reduction of the social worker position and contracting out of related services violated the tenure rights of the petitioners. The ALJ ordered: that petitioners be reinstated to their positions as social workers with back pay, appropriate salary adjustments and emoluments; that petitioners submit affidavits setting forth any income earned or unemployment compensation from other sources received subsequent to the RIF; and that petitioners are entitled to retroactive seniority credit from the date of termination or reduction to the date of reinstatement.

Upon a thorough and independent review of the record in this matter, including the parties' exception arguments, the Commissioner concurs with the ALJ that the Board's RIF was invalid as a matter of law; therefore it is unnecessary to reach to the issue of bad faith. The Commissioner concludes that petitioner Stock is to be reinstated to her position as social worker with back pay and emoluments as set forth in the Initial Decision; however, he is unable to determine relief in respect to petitioner Parise given the pending tenure charges against her and her apparent retirement on a disability pension. This matter is therefore remanded to OAL for supplementation of the record and a revised Order with respect to appropriate relief regarding petitioner Parise.

This synopsis is not part of the Commissioner's decision. It has been prepared for the convenience of the reader. It has been neither reviewed nor approved by the Commissioner.

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed. The Board's exceptions, as well as the replies of each petitioner, were timely filed in accordance with N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4, and were considered by the Commissioner in reaching his decision.[1] To the extent these submissions essentially reiterate arguments raised before the ALJ, they are not recounted herein.

[1] In addition to her exceptions and her reply to the Board's exceptions, petitioner Parise submitted: 1) a copy of her letter to the Board's attorney, dated May 13, 2005; 2) a copy of her letter to the Board's attorney, dated May 16, 2005; 3) a copy of her letter to the school superintendent, dated May 25, 2005; and 4) a copy of "research done by Mr. Edward Dragan, Ed.D.," which she requests to be attached to his Case Review and Consultant Report already contained in the record. Counsel for the Board also provided a copy of its letter to petitioner, dated May 16, 2005. These additional documents submitted by petitioner Parise and the Board were not before the ALJ and not previously made a part of the record. In accordance with N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4(c), these additional submissions were, therefore, not considered by the Commissioner in rendering his decision. Further, N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4 does not provide for submissions other than exceptions and replies thereto. Accordingly, the Board's reply to petitioner Stock's reply, filed on May 18, 2005 was not considered.

In its exceptions, the Board claims, inter alia, that its situation is distinguishable from Vicenzino, supra, in that in Vicenzino, the Board eliminated the only social work position, although it did maintain the other Child Study Team (CST) positions in-house. (Board's Exceptions Regarding Parise at 2-3)[2] In this case, the Board points out, there was at least a .1 social work job in-house at all times and what the Board did was to use the Educational Services Commission on an emergent basis to deal with students whose first language was not English, and to finish up work left undone when tenure charges were filed against Ms. Parise. (Id. at 3) The Board argues that the intent of Vicenzino was to forbid school districts from dividing their CST obligation between district employees and outside arrangements on any routine basis. (Id. at 4) Even before the RIF, the Board contends, some social histories had been farmed out in emergency situations when the in-house staff could not keep up with required deadlines, asserting that such action merely supplemented, but did not replace, district employees. (Ibid.)

The Board also takes exception to the Order restoring Ms. Parise to her position, noting that Ms. Parise was offered and rejected a .1 position and argues that the Board cannot be ordered to recreate a full-time position it does not need. (Ibid.) Moreover, the Board notes that Ms. Parise was suspended, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-10 et seq., while tenure charges are pending against her. (Id. at 5) In this regard, the Board sets forth its argument that Ms. Parise cannot be restored to active employment with the Board while tenure charges are pending against her. (Ibid.) Additionally, the Board claims that Ms. Parise has received a disability retirement.[3] (Ibid.)

In its exceptions with respect to petitioner Stock, the Board claims that none of the services that were previously performed by Ms. Stock were assigned to outside agencies and [3] The Commissioner observes that this is the first mention of petitioner's retirement. There is nothing in the record before the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) regarding this issue.

it takes exception with the ALJ's conclusion that she be restored to her former position. (Board's Exceptions Regarding Stock at 2-3) The Board submits that it cannot be ordered to recreate a full-time position it does not need and asserts that there has been no determination that the amount of work for which the ESC was utilized amounted to a .6 position. (Id. at 3) The Board also points out that, when it determined that it needed a .4 position rather than a .1 position, the .4 position was provided to Ms. Stock. (Ibid.)

In reply to the two sets of Board exceptions, petitioner Parise points out that the consultant report from Management Consulting, LLC, concluded that a social worker could not fulfill her responsibilities in a four-hour-a-week job. (Parise's Exceptions, dated May 12, 2005 at 1-2) Additionally, petitioner emphasizes that she did not resign her position, but, in fact -- in a letter dated May 27, 2003 -- noted her intentions of resuming her position once a [full-time] position was recreated. (Id. at 2) Petitioner claims that "not offering her the part time position was in fact a violation of her rights." (Ibid.) Additionally, petitioner asserts that the Board is incorrect in that she "may resume active employment as per the Disability Pension regulations." (Ibid.) Moreover, petitioner claims that she is entitled to pay after the suspension, dated August 27, 2003, until January 2005 "when Disability Pension was mailed." (Ibid.)

Replying to the second set of exceptions filed by the Board, petitioner Parise argues, inter alia, that with respect to the social histories that the Board claims were left undone by her, that the social histories, were, in fact, completed and were being put on audio tape when the Board suspended the full time position on April 10, 2003 and then again from April 28, 2003 until August 27, 2003. (Parise's Exceptions, dated May 13, 2005 at 1-2) Petitioner also claims that the business administrator "misspoke" when she stated that social histories were sometimes done by outside contractors when district employees could not meet deadlines. (Id. at 2) Petitioner claims that it was the learning disabilities teacher consultants (LDTCs) and school psychologists, not the social workers, who were allowed to use contracted help for the last 17 years. (Ibid.)

In her reply to the Board's exceptions, petitioner Stock points out that N.J.S.A. 18A:46-5.1 establishes the mechanism by which the Board may provide basic CST services, noting that the Board may either have its own CST or it may join with another board or agency to provide such services. (Petitioner Stock Reply at 2) What it cannot do, petitioner asserts, is to determine to use its own staff for CST services, while reducing part of the staff and using outside contractors to provide basic CST services. (Id. at 2) Petitioner Stock contends that her time commitment of only four hours on one day per week as a .1 staff member was not a sufficient time period for the provision of social worker services in light of the use of two full-time school psychologists and two full-time LDTCs. (Id. at 3) Moreover, petitioner points out that N.J.A.C. 6A:14-3.1(b) provides that CST members "shall be available during the hours when students are in attendance," with no exception for social workers. (Ibid.) Yet, in this case, the social worker member of the district's two CSTs was rarely available when students were in attendance, even when petitioner's schedule was modified to a .4 staff member. (Id. 3-4)

Moreover, petitioner asserts that there is nothing in the record to indicate that the need for social worker services was reduced during the 2003-2004 school year. (Id. at 4) Petitioner claims that the evidence, in fact, leads to a contrary conclusion in that the number of students requiring CST services only changed by one from the 2002-2003 school years and that, when focused on the number of children needing the services of a school social worker, the number significantly increased from 19 to 28. (Ibid.) The Board's action was, thus, not a RIF in the true sense of the term -- and contrary to the holdings in Viemeister, supra, and Cochran, supra, petitioner contends -- because additional work was either transferred to other individuals in the District or assigned to outside contractors as a means of circumventing tenure rights. (Id. at 5-6)

Upon a thorough and independent review of the record and the arguments of the parties in this matter, the Commissioner rejects the Board's argument that the within matter is distinguishable from the Vicenzino case and concurs, for the reasons expressed in the Initial Decision, that the Board's Reduction in Force (RIF) was invalid because it eliminated a district employee's CST position of social worker and contracted out for those services, while continuing to maintain its own CST. In that the RIF has been determined to be invalid as a matter of law, it is not necessary to reach to whether the Board acted in bad faith.

The Commissioner, therefore, concludes that petitioner Stock is to be reinstated to her position as social worker with all back pay and emoluments as set forth in the Initial Decision. With respect to petitioner Parise, the Commissioner is unable to determine the relief to which she is entitled on this record given the pending tenure charges against her and her apparent retirement on a disability pension. Accordingly, this matter is hereby remanded to the OAL for supplementation of the record and a revised Order with respect to the appropriate relief to be accorded to petitioner Parise.

IT IS SO ORDERED.[4]

PROCEDURAL HISTORY AND STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Petitioners, Maria Parise (Parise) and Iris Stock (Stock) contests the action of the respondent, Board of Education of the Borough of Butler, Morris County that eliminated their positions as tenured members of the District's Child Study Team (CST), due to reduction in force (RIF). Parise filed a petition of appeal with the Department of Education (DOE) on June 9, 2003. Stock filed a petition with the DOE on July 10, 2003. Answers were filed on behalf of the respondent on June 16th and July 17, 2003.

The matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law on July 11, 2003 and August 15, 2003 for hearing as a contested case. Prehearing conferences were held on January 20, 2004 and June 30, 2004 wherein procedural schedules were established. An Order of Consolidation was entered on March 4, 2004. Thereafter, hearings were held on November 8 and 9, 2004. The parties filed written submissions on December 10, 2004 at which time the record closed. At the request of the undersigned, the time for filing of initial decision was extended by Order of the Commissioner of Education until April14, 2005.

STATEMENT OF FACTS

Petitioners were school social workers employed by the Butler Board of Education ("Respondent" or "District"). Petitioner, Maria Parise began employment with the respondent in September 1989, as a full-time (1.0) social worker. Petitioner, Iris Stock began employment for the respondent as a part-time social worker in 1991. Prior to the 2003-2004 school year, Stock had been employed on a .495 part-time basis, which amounted to a 19-1/2 hour workweek. Parise and Stock were members of the respondent's Child Study Team ("CST"). Further, both were tenured, but Parise had seniority. The two positions combined equaled 1.49 positions, which comprised the total amount of time allotted for social workers by the district.

The respondent's business administrator, Debra Naley-Minenna (Naley-Minenna), testified that the District's prepared budget for the 2003-2004 school year was too high. Consequently, she was directed by the respondent's Finance Committee to reduce the budget. Ms. Naley-Minenna testified that after all other possible budget cuts had been made there was still a $100,000 excess over the budget cap. Since staffing and benefits accounted for 65-75% of the budget, a reduction in force ("RIF") was necessary.

The Board determined that social work was an appropriate area where cuts could be made. In support of this decision, Witnesses Naley-Minenna and the Superintendent of Schools, James Smith, testified that the number of annual social evaluations being done in the district had decreased significantly. A few years prior to the RIF, the number of social evaluations had been around 40 per year. From 2001-2002, however, that number dropped to 19 per year. Petitioners disputed this assertion, contending that during the past five years, total student enrollment in the district increased, as well as the number of students with disabilities.

Further, respondent contends that the primary duty of a District social worker is the preparation of social evaluations. The other functions listed in the social worker job description were discretionary or done on as needed basis. In any event, the respondent determined the District was overstaffed with 1.49 social worker positions, and estimated that a .1 position would suffice. Accordingly, it conducted a RIF, eliminating both social worker positions, and creating a new .1 social worker position.

In an April 28, 2003 letter to Parise, the District notified her that it would eliminate all but .1 of the school social worker positions pursuant to a RIF, effective for the 2003-2004 school year. The District initially offered the remaining .1 position to Parise based on her seniority. She declined the position, however she did not waive her seniority rights or preferred reemployment rights and reserved her rights to any future full-time position. Thereafter, the District informed Parise that it would treat her rejection of the .1 position as a formal resignation from her position.

Subsequently, the District offered the .1 position to Stock, who accepted. Four months into the school year, the District discovered that the .1 position was not enough, and increased the position to a .4 position. This .4 position was offered directly to Stock, who currently holds that position.

After the RIF, the District then contracted with outside agencies for services previously performed by the school social workers. Indeed, even prior to the RIF, the respondent had sub-contracted some of the social evaluations out to the Educational Service Commission ("ESC") when special circumstances existed, such as non English-speaking students. Parise claims that while she was actively employed in the District, the social assessments or evaluations were not performed by outside contractors or agencies. Additionally, Stock testified that she would have performed these duties had the respondent asked.

The respondent asserts that the RIF saved the district approximately $70,000 in salary for Parise, and $30,000 in salary to Stock. The district saved a total of $100,000 in salary, plus another $10,000 in benefits for Parise.[1] Stock began the 2003-2004 school year as a .1 school social worker with a salary of $6,361 per year. She received $2,544.40 for the four months from September 2003 to December 2003. She received $14,789.32 for the remainder of the school year.

DISCUSSION, FINDINGS AND CONCLUSIONS

The first issue is whether the reduction in force is valid if it affects tenured positions. It is undisputed that a local board of education may conduct a RIF, even where tenured positions are affected, if done for reasons of economy. Klinger v. Cranbury Bd. of Educ., 190 N.J. Super. 354, 357 (App. Div. 1982), certif. denied, 93 N.J. 277 (1983); Trigani v. Monmouth Beach Bd. of Educ., 2002 WL 31628724 (N.J. Admin.). The controlling statute, N.J.S.A. 18A:28-9 provides:

[1] The net district savings would be $110,000 less the cost to contract out for the supplemental social worker position services. There is nothing in the record, however, indicating the district's expense for contracting with the ESC for those services.

> Nothing in this title or any other law relating to tenure of service shall be held to limit the right of any board of education to reduce the number of teaching staff members, employed in the district whenever, in the judgment of the board, it is advisable to abolish any such positions for reasons of economy or because of reduction in the number of pupils or of change in the administrative or supervisory organization of the district or for other good cause upon compliance with the provisions of this article.
> [N.J.S.A. 18A:28-9.]

Thus, a local board of education has the authority to reduce its teaching staff so long as it "is genuinely for reasons of economy." Impey v. Shrewsbury Bd. of Educ., 142 N.J. 388, 398 (1995). Accordingly, courts have consistently recognized that a RIF, "whether of tenured or nontenured teachers, if done for reasons of economy, is entirely within the authority of the board." Maywood Bd. of Educ. v. Maywood Educ. Assoc., 168 N.J. Super. 45, 55 (App. Div. 1979); Jamison v. Morris School Dist. Bd. of Educ., 198 N.J. Super. 411, 414-415 (App. Div. 1985); Klinger, supra, 190 N.J. Super. at 357.

Further, a RIF abolishing positions may still be valid even if the services related to those positions are not eliminated. Impey, supra, 142 N.J. at 399; see also Klinger, supra, 190 N.J. Super. at 357 (concluding that a local school board may alter the full-time status of a tenured employee in order to restructure a department to meet financial constraints while continuing to provide identical services). A RIF, however, is subject to review to determine whether any positions have been eliminated or merely transferred in violation of tenure statutes. Viemeister v. Prospect Park Bd. of Educ., 5 N.J. Super. 215 (App. Div. 1949). A petitioner has the burden of proving, by a preponderance of the credible evidence, that the RIF was undertaken in bad faith, or was arbitrary and capricious, or was in any other fashion contrary to the dictates of N.J.S.A. 18A:28-9. Dearden v. Trenton Bd. of Educ., 96 N.J.A.R.2d (EDU) 321, 323; Wollman v. Trenton Bd. of Educ., 96 N.J.A.R.2d (EDU) 20, 22, aff'd, Comm'r, Id. at 27.

Having established that the respondent could eliminate the position for reasons of economy, the next issue is whether the District violated its obligations under N.J.S.A. 18A:46-5.1 and N.J.A.C. 6A:14-3.1 (b).

N.J.S.A. 18A:46-5.1 provides that [e]ach board of education and State operated program shall separately or jointly with one or more boards of education or State agencies provide for basic child study team services. Further, the CST must consist of a school psychologist, a learning disability teacher consultant and a school social worker. Ibid. N.J.A.C. 6A:14-3.1(b).

Further, special education regulations require that "[a]ll child study teams members shall be employees of a district board of education have an identifiable, apportioned time commitment to the local school district and shall be available during the hours students are in attendance." N.J.A.C. 6A:14-3.1(b). Ordinarily, CST members are to be employees of the board of education pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:14-3.1, however, the legislature has authorized arrangements where a board of education can contract with an ESC to replace the lost services of a CST terminated during a RIF. Trigani, supra, 2002 WL 31628724.

In Trigani, the petitioners were tenured part-time CST members. The local board of education terminated their positions and contracted with an ESC to provide replacement services for those previously performed by the petitioners. On appeal, it was found that the board is authorized to engage in a RIF, even if the positions of tenured employees are eliminated. Ibid.

Further, it has been recognized that a local board of education has "considerable latitude in providing essential educational services." Impey, supra 142 N.J. at 392. Thus, board may discharge its responsibility to provide facilities and programs of special education in a myriad of different ways. Ibid. Specifically, the special education regulations governing the provision of educational and related services explicitly sanction agreements between a local board of education and a jointure commission for CST services:

> (a) Each district board of education, independently or through joint agreements, shall employ child study teams, speech correctionists or speech-language specialists and other > school personnel in numbers sufficient to ensure provision of required programs and services pursuant to this chapter.

[N.J.A.C. 6A:14-5.1(a)1 (emphasis added).]

Petitioners rely upon Cochran v. Watchung Hills Reg'l High Sch. Bd. of Educ., 1985 S.L.D. 1878, for support that the respondent cannot reduce the CST while using outside contractors to provide basic CST services. In Cochran, the local board reduced its full-time CST positions to half-time positions. The board then supplemented the CST by entering into outside contracts for services previously performed by the CST. It was found that the District had "simply reorganized and transferred functions to a less-expensive provider, which violated tenure rights and the requirements that core CST functions be carried out by school employees." Relying on the requirements then codified in N.J.A.C. 6:28-1.3(a)[2], it was noted that the basic CST was "expected to be employees of the local board of education." Id. at 1880. Further, N.J.A.C. 6:28-1.3(f) authorized outside contractors "in limited circumstances" with prior approval of the County Superintendent and "only for the purpose of supplementing existing team members." Id. at 1880-1881. Finding that the board's "intention was not an actual abolishment of positions, but a mere reorganization and transfer of duties to a less expensive provider," the RIF was voided for violating tenure rights. Id. at 1881.

More recently, in Vicenzino v. Bedminster Twp. Bd. of Educ., 312 N.J. Super. 243 (App. Div. 1998), the Appellate Division affirmed the Commissioner's order to reinstate a tenured social worker, holding that the district could not eliminate a social worker position and contract with an ESC to provide services undertaken by the former employee while maintaining a CST. Specifically, the court stated, "where a school district elects to maintain its own Child Study Team (CST), the school social worker must be an employee of the district." Id. at 244. The court went on to conclude that where a board establishes a CST with employees of the district, it may not eliminate one of those positions and contract out for those services. Id. at 250. "[I]f the Board were in good faith to eliminate the CST for reasons of economy and instead, 'join with one or more boards of education or State agencies [to] provide for basic [CST] services,' under N.J.S.A. 18A:46-5.1, ... the board of education would have complied with N.J.S.A. 18A:46-5.1 and N.J.S.A. 18A:28-9." Ibid. In sum, a board may either maintain its own CST or contract out for those services.

Subsequently, Anders v. Lakewood Twp. Bd. of Educ. and Monmouth-Ocean Educ. Servs. Comm., 2001 WL 34609280 (N.J. Adm.), it was held that:

> Educational service commissions are established specifically for the purpose of providing to public school districts "such educational and administrative services as may be authorized pursuant to rules of the State Board of Education." N.J.S.A. 18A:6-51. If there had been any question concerning the authorization of boards of education to provide basic child study team services through an educational services commission, that question was definitively resolved with the adoption in 1998 of the State Board Rule N.J.A.C. 6A:14-5.1
>
> [Ibid.]

Thus, a board of education complies with N.J.S.A. 18A:46-5.1 if it, in good faith, eliminates its CST for reasons of economy and instead, joins with an ESC to provide for basic CST services.

Here, the petitioners assert that the need for the services of a school social worker did not decrease. Instead, the work was merely transferred to others employees of the respondent and outside contractors. In support of their contention that the respondent may not transfer such duties, petitioners rely on Viemeister, supra. In that case, the board of education abolished the position of principal, terminated the existing tenured principal and assigned the related duties to a teacher was appointed "teaching principal."

On appeal, the Appellate Division found "the formal resolutions adopted by the Board speak in terms of abolition of the position of principal and creation of a new position of 'teaching principal.'" Viemeister, supra, 5 N.J. Super. at 218. The court found insignificant the fact that such action finds no recognition in the tenure statutes, and instead, relied on "the substance rather than the form" of the RIF. Ibid. The court held that, in substance, the position of principal continued, and was merely transferred to a newly appointed "teaching principal" position. Ibid. Accordingly, it affirmed the decision of the State Board upholding the principal's reinstatement.

Petitioners further argue that Viemeister and Cochran, supra, suggest the respondent's RIF was arbitrary and capricious because the work and responsibilities of the school social workers were neither eliminated nor diminished. In Impey, however, the Appellate Division distinguished Viemeister on the grounds that Viemeister involved "the re-titling of a position in order to remove a tenured incumbent, while [Impey] involves a statutorily authorized administrative change in the method of providing an educational service for the sole purpose of saving money." Impey v. Shrewsbury Bd. of Educ., 273 N.J. Super 429, 435 (App. Div. 1994), aff'd, 142 N.J. 388 (1995). The court held that "a local board has the authority both to contract with an ESC to provide educational services for the handicapped and to abolish a teaching position 'for reasons of economy.'" Ibid. Notably, the position in Impey was that of a speech correction, not a member of the basic CST referred to in N.J.A.C. 6:28-3.1

In Elson v. Hudson County Area Vocational-Technical Schs. Bd. of Educ., 96 N.J.A.R.2d (EDU) 229 the Commissioner agreed with the ALJ that the local board violated the tenure rights of a school psychologist on the CST when it terminated his services as a result of a RIF, and contracted those services to an outside private CST. Predicated on the then provisions of N.J.A.C. 6:28-5.1(c), the ALJ observed that "[o]nly specified services may be contracted." Elson, supra, 96 N.J.A.R.2d (EDU) at 234. Further, it was held that "[a] local board cannot subcontract the services of its child study team to outside individuals" and, while "[a] board may supplement such services..., this situation presupposes an existing team with members who are employed by the district." Ibid. The contracted services were determined not to constitute supplemental independent CST evaluations and/or CST diagnostic services contrary to N.J.A.C. 6:28-5.1(c)(1)(i). Id. at 236. The ALJ further reasoned that the facts were akin to those presented in Cochran and distinguishable from Impey. Id. at 235.

The Elson finding is supported by the Vicenzino holding that if the district chooses to maintain its own CST, a school social worker must be an employee of the district. Id. at 244. Vicenzino further declared that a board cannot eliminate a district employee's CST position and contract out for those services. Vicenzino, supra, 312 N.J. Super. at 250. In Anders, supra, the court dismissed the petitioner's claim that the board violated his tenure rights. It held that the board may act in good faith to eliminate its CST for reasons of economy and join an ESC to provide basic CST services. 2001 WL 34609280. The Commissioner found that all tenured CST positions were eliminated, and no employee of the board was performing the duties previously performed by the tenured CST members. Ibid. The court noted that, should the board again provide basic CST services with board employees, the tenured petitioners would be entitled to their tenured protections from the employment list. Ibid.

In Becton Educ. Ass'n v. Carlstadt-East Rutherford Reg'l Sch. Dist., EDU 7061-01, Initial Decision, (November 3, 2004), <http://lawlibrary.rutgers.edu/oal/search.html>, the board elected to eliminate the entire CST and contract out the CST services. The ALJ found that "a district board of education may not eliminate the position of one CST member while maintaining its own CST." The board may, however, abolish its entire CST and contract out for those services. Ibid.

Here, the respondent did not eliminate its entire CST before contracting out for those services. Instead, the respondent reduced the CST social worker position and contracted out for those services, while continuing to maintain its own CST. Accordingly, I FIND that the RIF is invalid because the respondent eliminated a social worker's CST position and contracted out for those services, while continuing to maintain its own CST.

The next issue is whether the District acted in bad faith.

Petitioners assert that the respondent's decision to eliminate the school social worker positions and replace them with a .1 position constitutes bad faith. Petitioners contend that the RIF was related to the respondent's desire to remove a tenured employee, whom it deemed unsatisfactory. Specifically, during 1999-2000 school year, the respondent had concerns about Parise's performance. She was criticized and "written up every day" by her supervisors. On April 10, 2003, the respondent brought Parise up on tenure charges and suspended her with pay. On April 28, 2003, the respondent abolished both Parise's and Stock's positions pursuant to the RIF. Thus, the RIF was a guise to eliminate Parise. Stock's position was eliminated out of necessity because Parise had seniority and could not be eliminated before Stock. Petitioners claim the RIF was based on illegitimate motives, unrelated to any reduction in services or needs of the children.

The respondent asserts the RIF was conducted genuinely for reasons of economy, offering testimony that all other possible budget cuts were first attempted, but still there was a $100,000 excess over the budget cap. The district saved a total of $110,000 due to the reduction of social worker positions from 1.49 to a .1 position. Respondent further brings attention to the absence of evidence offered by petitioners that the budgetary concerns were not legitimate.

I FIND and CONCLUDE that the respondent recognized a savings of approximately $110,000 by reducing the social worker position to a .1 position. This offers strong support that the respondent acted in good faith for reasons of economy. Parise's position was full-time, while Stock's was a .495 position. After the respondent abolished both positions, it created a .1 position and offered the position to Parise which she declined. Four months later, Stock's .1 position was increased to a .4 position. Given the facts herein, I am not persuaded that the respondent acted in bad faith.

CONCLUSION

I FIND and CONCLUDE that the RIF is invalid because the respondent eliminated a district employee's CST position and contracted out for those services, while continuing to maintain its own CST. A board may only contract out for CST services if it abolishes its entire CST. Here, the respondent eliminated the CST position of social worker, while leaving the rest of the CST intact, unaffected by the RIF. Thereafter, respondent then engaged outside services of the CST social workers, while continuing to maintain a district CST. Consequently, the RIF is invalid because the reduction of the social worker position and contracting out of those services violates the tenure rights of the petitioners.

ORDER

It is therefore ORDERED that the petitioners be reinstated to their positions as Social Workers.

It is further ORDERED that the petitioners be awarded back pay and any salary adjustment and any and all emoluments for period of time that the position was eliminated and or reduced.

It is further ORDERED that the Petitioners shall submit an affidavit to the respondent setting forth any income earned or unemployment compensation received during said period.

It is further ORDERED that petitioners be and are entitled to retroactive seniority credit from the date of termination reduction to the date of full reinstatement.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen (13) days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

CHARLOTTE KLUMB,	:
PETITIONER,	:
V.	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE MANALAPAN-ENGLISHTOWN REGIONAL SCHOOL DISTRICT, MONMOUTH COUNTY,	:	DECISION
RESPONDENT.	:

SYNOPSIS

Petitioner, a tenured teacher, claims entitlement to reemployment by the Board of Education of the Manalapan-Englishtown Regional High School District pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:66-40, following a TPAF finding that she no longer suffers from alcoholism, the cause of her disability retirement in 1988. Cross motions for summary judgment were filed in this matter.

The Initial Decision enumerated 24 paragraphs of "undisputed facts" which were based on a statement of procedural and factual history prepared by the respondent Board; the ALJ found all 24 paragraphs to be pertinent facts in this matter. Based upon these pertinent facts, the ALJ concluded that the Board had the right to deny Klumb's request that she be rehired to her former position as teacher, and affirmed the Board's determination not to rehire Klumb. In so concluding, the ALJ emphasized that: the applicable statute, N.J.S.A. 18A:66-40a, provides for re-hiring by the former employer when a person recovers from a qualifying disability, but does not mandate that a former employer rehire the person; the Board offered petitioner an opportunity to show that she had the necessary qualifications to resume her teaching position; and the Board acted reasonably when it determined not to offer her a position after she failed to meet its qualifications for employment as a teacher.

Upon a thorough and independent review of the record and arguments in this matter, the Commissioner rejects the ALJ's findings and conclusions, and grants summary decision to petitioner. In accord with relevant court determinations in DiMuzio, supra, and Allen, supra, and the Commissioner's 1994 and 1996 determinations in Bublin, the Commissioner concludes that petitioner is entitled to be reinstated to her former tenured position of elementary teacher and orders the Board to reinstate her as of March 1, 1999 -- the date on which petitioner was interviewed for an existing elementary teacher vacancy -- with emoluments, back pay, and any support necessary to assure petitioner's seamless re-acclimation to her teaching duties.

CHARLOTTE KLUMB,	:
PETITIONER,	:
V.	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE MANALAPAN-ENGLISHTOWN REGIONAL SCHOOL DISTRICT, MONMOUTH COUNTY,	:	DECISION
RESPONDENT.	:

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed. Petitioner's exceptions were submitted in accordance with N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4[1] and were duly considered by the Commissioner in reaching his determination.

In her exceptions, petitioner initially contends that the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) decided this case contrary to Sellers v. Schonfeld, 270 N.J. Super. 424, 427-429 (App. Div. 1993), arguing that summary judgment cannot be granted where the attorney seeking summary judgment attaches exhibits to a certification by counsel which contain no indication that counsel had any firsthand knowledge concerning the exhibits and facts contained therein. (Petitioner's Exceptions at 1) This is particularly important in this matter, petitioner claims, because the ALJ "practically accepted exclusively as undisputed facts the attachments and facts contained in the brief of the respondent  and itemized 24 paragraphs accepting items contained therein as 'undisputed.'" (Ibid.) Notwithstanding petitioner's cross-motion for summary judgment in this matter, therefore, the petitioner disputes all of the facts listed by the [1] Petitioner's attorney requested and was granted two extensions for the filing of exceptions due to health problems.

ALJ as "Undisputed Facts," with the exception of facts numbered 14, 22, 23 and 24. (Id. at 1-10)

Moreover, petitioner argues, inter alia, that the ALJ disregarded the holding in Allen, supra, wherein the court construed N.J.S.A. 43:16A-8(2) as mandating that an employee who retires on a disability who regains the ability to perform his or her duties be returned to his or her former position. (Id. at 11-12) Petitioner submits that N.J.S.A. 43:16A-8(2) is not only similar to N.J.S.A. 18A:66-40a as noted by the ALJ, but that the two are the same. (Id. at 12) Petitioner also points out that both Allen, supra, and DiMuzio, supra, were cited and approved by the Commissioner in Bublin, supra, (Bublin II)[2] wherein he ruled that Bublin did not have to be rehired as a media specialist, but that she had to be rehired in the position she formerly held -- that of teacher. (Id. at 12-13) Additionally, petitioner claims the ALJ misapplied the holding in Canavera, supra, when he noted that the court stated therein that N.J.S.A. 43:16A-8(2) does not "expressly compel" the former employer to restore a previously disabled person. (Id. at 13) Petitioner points out that the facts in Canavera were entirely different from Bublin II or Allen because Canavera's police officer's certification had lapsed and he had to be completely retrained before returning to active service. (Id. at 14) Unlike Canavera, petitioner submits, she has both the proper teaching certification and 18 years tenure. (Id. at 15)

Petitioner also contends that the Board never properly appealed the Teacher's Pension and Annuity Fund (TPAF) determination of October 2, 1998[3] and, thus, the original TPAF determination should stand. (Ibid.) Moreover, petitioner asserts that the ALJ's reliance on Laing, supra, is misplaced because the Laing determination, made before Bublin II, Allen,

[2] This reference to Bublin is to the Bublin decision cited in the Initial Decision, Bublin v. Board of Education of the Borough of Point Pleasant, 96 *N.J.A.R.*2d (EDU) 768, affirmed State Board December 4, 1996, a Commissioner's Decision on Remand. In that the determination herein makes references to both this decision and the earlier Commissioner's Decision remanding the case to the Office of Administrative Law, this decision on remand will be referred to as Bublin II.

[3] The Commissioner notes that the TPAF determination to which petitioner refers ordered the Board to reinstate petitioner to her former position.

DiMuzio and Canavera, is no longer the rule of law. (Id. at 17) Additionally, petitioner contends that the Board's failure to rehire her conflicts with its New Jersey Education Association contract and is an unfair labor practice. (Id. at 19) Finally, petitioner avers that in the damages sought in the Superior Court Complaint she not only asked for her return to active service, but also asked for "comparative" and punitive damages, interest, attorney's fees and costs of suit and that these claims were overlooked by the ALJ. (Id. at 18)

Upon a thorough and independent review of the record in this matter and the arguments raised, the Commissioner has determined to reject the ALJ's findings and conclusions of law and grant summary decision to petitioner for the reasons that follow. Initially, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(b) and Contini v. Bd. of Educ. of Newark, 286 N.J. Super. 106, 121-122 (App. Div. 1995) (citing Brill v. Guardian Life Ins. Co., 142 N.J. 520 (1995)), summary decision may be granted in an administrative proceeding if there is no genuine issue of material fact in dispute and the moving party is entitled to prevail as a matter of law. In this regard, notwithstanding petitioner's assertions to the contrary, there are no "material facts" in dispute in this matter. Black's Law Dictionary, seventh edition, at 610-611, defines "fact" as "[a]n actual or alleged event or circumstance, as distinguished from its legal effect, consequence, or interpretation" and a "material fact" as "[a] fact that is significant or essential to the issue or matter at hand." The central issue in this matter is the question of a disabled employee's entitlement to reemployment under N.J.S.A. 18A:66-40, which is a question of law. Notwithstanding petitioner's dispute of the facts surrounding the Board's decision to initiate tenure charges against her and the events leading up to her disability retirement, therefore, these facts are not "material facts" to the question at hand.

"It is well-established that where no disputed issues of material fact exist, an administrative agency need not hold an evidential hearing in a contested case." Frank v. Ivy Club, 120 N.J. 73, 98 (1990), citing Cunningham v. Dept. of Civil Service, 69 N.J. 13, 24-25
