Transcript

Governor Christie: Part of the problem with all of this is that all of us – you, me, and everybody – is now looking at this through the retrospectroscope. You're always smarter, and you always know more when you have that. We didn't have that then. And so, I think it's an unfair characterization to say that our folks didn't do anything for eight weeks. In fact, the report lays out that they went and pursued a number of avenues from that time all the way through to my December 13th press conference to challenge people, and question people about what went on here and what each individuals' role was. And so, it wasn't effective because people didn't tell us the truth, but you can't – it's not fair, in my view, to say that people didn't do their job and try to get to answers.
