The Clerk then appointed Mr. Bleakly, of Camden; Mr. Vollmer, of Mercer; Mrs. Stelle, of Essex, to act as a committee to escort the Speaker to the bar of the House where he took and subscribed to the oath of office and was then escorted to the chair.

Upon assuming the chair, the Speaker addressed the House as follows:

In compliance with established custom, which called for an address from the Speaker at the opening session of the House, I will call attention briefly to several of the more important matters which are to come before you for consideration, even though it involves the mention of some with which many of you are more or less already familiar.

Let me first, however, express my keen appreciation of the honor that you have conferred upon me and upon the county of Passaic in selecting me to the position of Speaker. To the discharge of its duties and responsibilities, I pledge my best endeavor, but only by your indulgence and interested co-operation can I hope to contribute effectually to the success of a beneficial administration of the State's affairs to which we all aspire.

For the One hundred Fifty-third Session drastic measures were adopted and enforced, but during the last session order was maintained in a pleasing and effective manner under the fair and judicial administration of my predecessor, the Honorable William B Knight His courteous and impartial conduct of the deliberations of the House will long live in the memories of the members who served last year It is fitting that this tribute be paid to him.

ORGANIZATION AND ADMINISTRATION OF THE STATE GOVERNMENT

One of the first things to enlist your attention should be the first consideration of the bills for the reorganization of the State Department, recommended by the State Audit and Finance Commission, among which I call special attention to the Budget Act, the Executive Commission, centralized purchasing and Department of Municipal Accounts, together with supporting bills dealing with these major acts Other highly important proposals will be submitted for your consideration, and the orderly development of our State depends upon your intelligent study of their merits

The close proximity of New Jersey to New York brings with it many advantages, the full realization of which is not without perplexing problems No inconsiderable portion of our State lies within the greater metropolitan area. Increase of accessibility, cheap and rapid transportation between the city and its outlying districts upon this side of the Hudson means much, not only to the development of that portion suburban to the metropolis, but to important interests throughout the State

MIDTOWN TUNNEL

One of the means of improved communication is the midtown tunnel between New Jersey and 38th street, New York, for the construction of which, joint legislative action of New York and New Jersey will be required The completion of this tunnel will make it possible for one to travel from New Jersey to Long Island without coming to the surface, unless he wishes to, in congested New York. All of our problems in connection with intercommunication are not those of bridge and tunnel construction, but those of the distribution of traffic in congested areas

TRAFFIC

How best to provide for the tremendous and growing increase of motor vehicle traffic upon our roads is a problem which demands our most serious consideration. Changes in our motor vehicle and traffic act will be necessary from time to time, and your interested study of conditions, and support of those who have these matters in charge are urged that New Jersey may maintain the lead that it has taken among the States for forward-looking legislation in this respect.

MEADOW RECLAMATION

The continued existence, in an unusable condition, of great areas of meadowland virtually in the metropolitan area is unthinkable in this age of engineering possibilities. Their orderly development is closely related to the approaches to and the distribution of traffic from present and projected bridges and tunnels, and to our rapidly growing highway system.

Now that, by the adoption of the bond issue, the early completion of our 1927 road-building program is assured, serious consideration must be given to this area.

COURTS

Requests for legislative action designed to better conditions in our courts may be expected by the judicial counsel, along the lines recommended in their report. This report should be read and studied by every member of this House, as an efficient administration of the judicial branch of our government is of the first importance in our social life.

PENSION, SALARY INCREASE, AND TENURE OF OFFICE

Your Steering Committee has recommended that no pension, salary increase, or tenure of office bills be considered for passage this year This recommendation should be adhered to, and bills designed to these ends should be withheld from introduction, to save the expense of unnecessary printing. Realizing that there are exceptions to every rule, I suggest that any member who has a bill that he feels deals with conditions that should relieve it from this restriction, before introducing it, submit it to the chairman of the Steering Cimmittee for consideration as a special case.

We have a Pension Commission studying this question, and their report will be awaited with interest.

EXCESS CONDEMNATION

Another extremely important bill will be introduced, dealing with excess condemnation, in order to assist the State Highway Commission and to help in the reclamation of the meadows and other major development problems I recommend this bill to your earnest consideration. A similar act was passed by the House last year, but, as it involved a constitutional amendment, it was thought advisable to defer action until this year, when other constitutional amendments may be considered.

There will be other important bills introduced, but I shall not attempt to outline them in this message. No legislative body will ever get very far or make much progress if satisfied with the status quo. A healthy state of dissatisfaction is necessary to progress in any branch of human endeavor. Each member has a duty to perform, and how he will progress depends to a large extent upon the attitude and attention of the other members. With a reasonable amount of well-directed effort on the part of the individual members, it seems safe to predict good results.

Careful consideration has been given to committee appointments, and I trust that the various committees will examine the bills assigned to them and report these measures which, in their judgment should be passed, as speedily as possible.

Your Speaker will endeavor to make up the calendar as early as possible so that pending legislation may be posted several hours before the opening of the session. This should materially assist the members in the preparation of their arguments.

May I again call your attention to the importance of having measures introduced early in the session, as the policy adopted last year of setting a dead line for the introduction of bills will be submitted again this year for the first week in February. The Legislature can make the following Monday the day to receive committee reports, followed by a two weeks' recess for study and hearings.

With your help, it is the desire of your party leaders to make this session as short as possible. With full knowledge that this is the usual request of every Speaker, and with your full cooperation, I will endeavor to have the House convene on scheduled time so that we may for once have this desire realized.

In conclusion, I again thank you for electing me as your Speaker, and pledge my honest endeavor to carry out my duties to the best of my ability

The Speaker announced the appointment of Mr L Lee Stark, of Passaic, as his secretary, and Mr John W Bill, of Clifton, as assistant secretary to the Speaker

Mr. Otto offered the following resolution, which was read by the clerk and adopted:

Resolved, That the House do now proceed with the election of the Clerk of the House for the One Hundred Fifty-fifth Session of the Assembly.

The Honorable Charles A Otto, of Union County, placed in nomination the name of Frederick A Brodesser, of Union County, as Clerk of the General Assembly, which nomination was seconded by the Honorable George W Grimm, Jr, of Essex County, and further seconded by the Honorable Joseph Altman, of Atlantic County. The Speaker also recognized the Honorable Joseph Greenberg, of Hudson County, democratic minority leader, who further seconded the nomination of Mr. Brodesser for Clerk

The Speaker then called for any further nominations, and there being none, Mr Otto, of Union, moved that nominations be closed

Mr. Otto offered the following resolution, which was read by the clerk and adopted:

Be it resolved, That the message of Governor Larson to the One Hundred and Fifty-fifth Legislature, delivered in person by him in Joint Session on January 13th, 1931, be spread in full upon the Minutes of the House of Assembly

GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE

STATE OF NEW JERSEY,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
January 13, 1931.

To the Legislature:

In compliance with my duty under the Constitution, I submit the following report and recommendations to you in this my Second Annual Message, for the consideration of yourselves during the session now about to open. So many problems are pressing for solution, and conditions are so unsettled, that it behooves us all to proceed with caution, and yet with steadfastness and firmness of purpose. Approached in this way, our labors will be full of interest and promise.

STATE REORGANIZATION

In my inaugural address delivered January 15, 1929, I laid emphasis upon the fact that "in the course of years and the complexity of legislation in the creation of new functions of State, various departments are created and an overlapping of functions naturally results": That "at least every decade, therefore, there should be a survey made of our various State departments, and State activities, with a view to better classification, co-ordination, and avoidance of duplication."

Such a survey has been undertaken with the result that many bills have been proposed, and will be introduced dealing with the reorganization of the State Government. Any or all of such bills as shall have for their purpose the elimination of overlapping functions, the co-ordination of departmental activities, and the avoidance of duplication, thus insuring a well rounded properly co-ordinated, economic and effective government as a whole, will have my hearty endorsement.

On the other hand, any radical change in the State Government should be made only with the greatest care. A change in our time-honored governmental agencies that have worked so well in our State should be based upon philosophic reasons entirely, apart from that of an incompetent official. If we are going to change our form of government every time an official makes a mistake, or is unpopular, we shall certainly have a series of changes that will make confusion worse confounded.

Our critics object to what they state as 72 boards and commissions consisting in the aggregate of 500 members, and they propose to substitute for this, centralized departments with authority vested in some head, and thus change what is really a government by representative bodies into an autocratic head who may have no knowledge of the affairs he is administering. The old governmental system of guilds is one of the best forms of government ever devised. The doctors know better what is needed for medical science and health and the ethics of their profession than any layman or any officer that could be appointed by the government. So do the dentists, so do the pharmacists, so do the farmers, and so in every other of the varied functions of State life. To abolish these commissions, most of them working without compensation or pay, would be to strike a blow at self-government. Indeed, self-government cannot survive unless the interest of the citizens is stimulated and aroused, and that interest ceases to be when the citizen is not consulted about the management of his own affairs. I seriously object to the abolition, as a general principle, of these boards or commissions, professional and otherwise, the members of which take a civic interest in our affairs, and give their knowledge, their time and services for the benefit of our State. Nothing could be finer in a self-governing State. Nothing could be more destructive of our institutions than to drive men and women who officiate in these capacities out of public life and set up a bureaucratic system of control. Such a suggestion stirs the patriotic indignation of those who preach that it is the duty of the citizen to take part in the government of his State or his Nation. One might suggest with equal force the abolition of our National Guard, composed of volunteers who give us their time for our self-defense and the development of discipline and maintenance of law and order. The men and women who volunteer service on our commissions and boards of control are in the same category. They represent a spirit of citizenship that needs to be encouraged. To talk about their abolition and the substitution of a bureaucracy is an insult to their patriotism.

A good illustration is found in our fish and game laws. The man who serves on this commission without pay has a genuine interest in the development and protection of our fishes and wild animals He gives us State service for nothing that could not be purchased by the employment of any high-salaried official.

I could give many details of suggested changes in the State Government and the results which seem to me to make these changes unwise, that would be too long for just a general message to the Legislature. I have contented myself, therefore, with these general philosophic comments upon what seems to me to be a dangerous tendency in our public life; namely, the disposition to change our form of government every time something happens that does not meet with our approval. In all earnestness I suggest that the utmost consideration and carefulness be used in any modification of our governmental system, and that you adopt the time-honored caution with which we are all familiar, of "Stop," "Look" and "Listen."

AVIATION

The science of aviation, though in its infancy, is making remarkable progress all over the world, and is destined to become the most important means of rapid transit between widely separated points.

On December 16 and 17, 1930, there took place at Washington, D. C., under the auspices of the Department of Commerce, a conference of the National Council on uniform aeronautic regulatory laws within the United States. It was there clearly pointed out that the Federal Government has control only over commercial interstate flying and that the obligation, therefore, falls upon each State to see that intrastate flying within its borders is properly regulated and controlled. It was there emphasized that it is still more important that the policies adopted and put into effect by the States be as closely identified as possible with those adopted by the Federal Government and that should all the States, for example, decide to put into effect various "pet" activities of their own, such as State licensing of aeroplanes, State licensing of pilots and the adoption of local State air rules and regulations without thought to a closely knit and compactly co-ordinated national policy, nothing but chaos can possibly ensue.

I believe the time has arrived when, acting in harmony with the Federal Government, in the interests of aeronautics, in the interests of public safety, we should give thought to the adoption within the State of fundamental subjects that form the basis of a harmonious co-operation of the State of New Jersey with the Federal Government in this important science.

To this end, I recommend that the legislature give serious attention to the adoption of

1. A uniform basic regulatory State air law.
2. Adoption of Federal Air Traffic Rules by the State for purposes of local enforcement.
3. Methods of local enforcement.
4. Ample State enabling acts for airport acquisition and control.
5. Uniform airport field rules

Information with respect to the subject may be readily obtained from the Assistant Secretary of Commerce for Aeronautics, and I feel that New Jersey should put its right foot forward and adopt such measures as will be in keeping with the National Government now.

DEPARTMENT OF LABOR

It is a pleasure for me to report the progress that has been made during the past year in this important department.

One of the two outstanding accomplishments for the year in the Bureau for Women and Children is the reorganization of the home work activities in New Jersey. This was made possible by the enactment of a new Home Work Law in the 1930 session of the Legislature, which made it possible to control the distribution of home work by licensing the persons giving out such work. This precaution, added to the home worker's own license, has increased the protection afforded the public, who use the goods thus made. In the fiscal year 1929-30, 3,700 homes were licensed. Under the new law, 3,700 homes were licensed in the first five months of the current fiscal year.

The other outstanding accomplishment of this Bureau is the work of the Migratory Child Survey Commission appointed this year. This Commission, of which the Director of the Bureau is Chairman, is working toward a solution of a problem which has been vexing our Legislature for many years. An intelligent and comprehensive survey has been made, and a report to the Legislative session of 1931 is in course of preparation.

A general committee of thirty-eight prominent citizens from all sections of the State, representative of labor, commerce, industry, Chambers of Commerce, welfare organizations and both branches of the Legislature, was appointed to cope with the employment problem. Through one sub-committee, which has engaged the services of a trained investigator, the general committee is conducting a thorough survey of the Public Employment Offices, with a view to making recommendations for the betterment of the service. Another sub-committee on emergency relief, which is in direct liaison with President Hoover's Committee on Unemployment, has made a study of methods of relief by municipalities and has become a clearing house of such information. This committee through correspondence with 560 cities, towns, boroughs and villages is advocating and promoting the adoption of local measures to relieve to a great degree the unemployment situation. The morale throughout the Department is good and cordial relations have been maintained with the general groups of employees and employers.

AGRICULTURE

The world wide depression in agriculture has exerted its influence also in New Jersey. Nevertheless, the farmers and horticulturists of this State have suffered much less, in proportion, than farmers in other states. The production of specialized high quality commodities has enabled them, in large measure, to meet effectively the present economic emergency. The various agricultural organizations, including the State Agricultural College, Experiment Station, Department of Agriculture and the various State organizations of growers, are to be commended for having contributed so much toward the stability and success of our agricultural industry. It is particularly gratifying to note that the farm organizations in this State have worked so intimately with the State Department of Agriculture and the Agricultural Experiment Station and College as to have been able to derive much benefit from a technical knowledge and experience. The use of such technical knowledge has made possible the production of milk, eggs, vegetables, and fruit of the finest quality. The consumer has benefited by the savings derived from technical efficiency and, at the same time, has been given the advantage of the improved sanitary quality of the foods produced in our State. Deserved tribute should not be withheld from the Department, College and Experiment Station for having done much in behalf of the suburban and city population of the State. Research on the treatment of domestic and trade wastes, the purification of water supplies, the control of mosquitoes, the production of turf for lawns, parks and golf courses, the growing of ornamental plants, the control of bovine tuberculosis and infectious abortion, the control of Japanese beetle and other problems have done much toward making New Jersey a State of more attractive homes.

Care should be taken that no unsound legislation designed to meet emergencies be adopted, as such would only hinder, not help. Measures already put into effect have been helpful and ample funds have been provided for the support of agricultural agencies. Such measures should be continued.

In 1929 the Legislature created the Farm Market Relief Commission for the purpose of examining the marketing and distribution of the agricultural food products, chiefly vegetables and fruits. That commission was continued by the legislature in 1930 and is likely to make its report at this session. In its investigations it has had the co-operation of the Federal Farm Bureau, State Agricultural College, Experiment Station, Newark Chamber of Commerce, New York Port Authority, New Jersey Department of Agriculture and other helpful agencies.

In a State like New Jersey where the production and consumption of food products are both so large and transportation between the sources of production and the markets is so conveniently available by either railroad or motor-truck, it seems possible by constructive and intelligent methods to co-ordinate the supply and the demand in an economic and efficient manner that will be of mutual pecuniary advantage to grower and consumer. With primary markets in the trading centers, such as Camden, Newark, Jersey City, Passaic, Paterson and perhaps other strategic points, to which produce could be hauled in relatively short intervals of time from field or orchards for distribution to local consumption centers within approximately twenty-four hours from the time the products are harvested, quick turn-overs in money, fresh products and a minimum of intermediate cost would be assured.

This is a subject of widespread interest which touches the pocket-books of every class of our people and anything that the State may properly do in aid of its promotion is, in its truest sense, the promotion of the general welfare of our people.

COURTS AND PROCEDURE

The Judicial Council, consisting of fourteen representatives of the judicial, legislative and executive departments of the State Government and of the bar of the State, was created by Chapter 254 of the Laws of 1930. It organized in the early summer and pursuant to the statute made its first report to the Governor on December 15, 1930.

The report gives ample evidence that the Judicial Council has been most diligent and painstaking in its work. I am advised that the report represents not only the unanimous opinion of the members of the Judicial Council, but that it is also the result of conference with the Judges of many courts and with the recognized leaders of the bar of the State. The report since its publication has elicited widespread commendation from the press. It may therefore reasonably be said that the recommendations of the Judicial Council fairly reflect the deliberate and considered public opinion of this State on the topics it covers. It is for this reason, as well as for the inherent soundness of the conclusions set forth in the report, that I commend to the Legislature not only the original report of December 15th, but the supplemental report later submitted to me embodying recommendations of specific legislation and rules to give effect to the conclusions stated in the original report.

The initial report of the Judicial Council is wisely confined to dealing with conditions in the civil courts which affect every citizen and every business in the State. The delay in the trial of civil cases in every court of the State from the local District Courts to the Court of Errors and Appeals, as shown by the statistics assembled in the report of the Judicial Council, if allowed to continue after the situation has been thus made manifest to the Legislature and to the courts, will be a grave and serious reflection on our State Government. Justice delayed is justice denied. I can think of no branch of the State Government that more merits the serious consideration of the Legislature at the coming session. I am convinced that in dealing with matters of justice the best that may be obtained is the most economical in the end, and that the best is not only necessary but that anything short of the best will be a disgrace to the fair name of our State. If I may be permitted to quote from the report, we must not rest and we cannot consider the problem solved until the fundamental rights of litigants as stated by the Judicial Council have been realized. These rights are:

"(1) A prompt and efficient trial of his case;
(2) At reasonable cost;

(3) Represented by competent attorneys;
(4) Before impartial, experienced and competent judges;
(5) With the privilege of a review of the trial court's determination by an appellate tribunal composed of similar judges who will render a final decision within three to four months after the appeal is initiated."

I am also impressed with the recommendation that wherever the business of the courts warrants it our judges should be put upon a full time basis with adequate salaries, and prohibited from engaging in private practice. This will not only prove economical in the long run as utilizing to their full capacity the court rooms, the court attendants and the court machinery generally, but it is the only way that I can see whereby the present congestion will ever be relieved so long as our courts are constituted as they now are.

There has been much discussion for several years past concerning proposed amendments to the State Constitution involving a reorganization of the courts by constitutional amendments. The task of undertaking the preparation of such constitutional amendments has not been attempted by the Judicial Council for the reason, as stated in their report, that the matter is under the consideration of a competent committee of the State Bar Association. The need for such a reorganization of the courts is obvious. Since the State Constitution was adopted, eighty-six years ago, New Jersey has been transformed from an agricultural State into an industrial community with a population, according to the last census, more dense than any other State in the Union with the exception of Rhode Island. Judicial machinery adopted to an agricultural era is not the best which might be devised for a community largely devoted to commerce and industry. It is to be hoped, however, that if and when such constitutional amendments are submitted to the vote of the people they will represent the consensus of ideas not only of the bench and the bar, but of the enlightened public opinion of the State generally.

INLAND WATERWAYS

Since my last annual message the proposed ship canal from Delaware River to Raritan Bay has been disapproved by the Board of Engineers of the War Department, chiefly because of objections that the proposed 12-foot project depth would be insufficient for practical purposes. In the River and Harbor Act, approved July 3, 1930, Congress authorized the War Department to make a new survey and report on the basis of a 25-foot project depth upon the condition that the State of New Jersey and local interests, either or both, shall furnish all necessary right-of-way without cost to the United States in connection with the proposed waterway. I call this to your attention that due consideration may be given to the condition to be met by appropriate legislation if deemed advisable.

In 1929 Congress authorized the deepening of the Delaware River between Philadelphia and Trenton to a project depth of 20 feet, which is now in the course of construction and will upon completion afford access for sizeable vessels to dock at Trenton and intermediate points wherever the municipalities provide suitable depth of water and docks for their accommodation.

BEACH POLLUTION

Hearings have been completed in the suit instituted by the Attorney-General against the City of New York pursuant to Joint Resolution No. 16 of the Session of 1929. Testimony was given by officials and citizens of the 29 seashore municipalities directly affected by the dumping of New York City's garbage in the Atlantic Ocean. Two hundred and ten witnesses testified on behalf of the State and over 350 exhibits were presented. The record consists of 2,117 pages. The filing of briefs and the argument of the case before Justice Edward K. Campbell, the special master, will occur in Washington on February 4, 1931. The contention of New York City that it has the right to dump its garbage on the high sea outside of the territorial jurisdiction of any State, raises a novel question of law for which there appears to be no precedent.

DELAWARE RIVER DIVERSION CASE

Pursuant to Joint Resolution No. 14 of the Session of 1929 the Attorney General instituted a suit in the United State Supreme Court against the State and City of New York to restrain the latter from diverting from the tributaries of the Delaware River in New York State 600,000,000 gallons of water a day for water supply in the City of New York. This matter was briefly referred to in my last annual message. Since then the State of Pennsylvania intervened as a party and took a position in support of the State and City of New York. Witnesses sworn for the State of New Jersey were 82 in number; 30 witnesses were presented on behalf of the States of New York and Pennsylvania and the City of New York. Seven thousand five hundred and nine pages of testimony were taken and 421 exhibits presented at hearings that occupied 43 entire days. That testimony has been reduced to an abstract of 796 printed pages and the case was argued on November 17, 18 and 19, 1930, and a brief of 597 pages was submitted, on behalf of New Jersey; 340 pages on behalf of the City of New York, and 237 pages on behalf of the State of Pennsylvania, and 25 pages on behalf of the State of New York. Proposed findings of fact and conclusions of law were submitted on behalf of all the parties.

During the trial of that case every conceivable fact relating to the resources, use and usefulness of the Delaware River and its tributaries were developed and particularly with reference to water power, navigation, sanitation, industry, oysters, fish, water supply, agriculture and recreation. New York City has taken the position that it not only has a right, without the consent of New Jersey, to take 600,000,000 gallons of water a day from the Delaware River but that it also has the right to take as much as 25 hundred million gallons a day. The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania joined in with an application to take an additional 750 million gallons a day from the tributaries in that State. If these diversions are allowed there will be little flow left in the Delaware River to serve the natural uses of a stream. This case is so comprehensive that it is impossible to discuss in this message any of the details involved. The facts developed have been condensed to a minimum in the proposed findings of fact submitted by the Attorney General and even in that form they occupy approximately 60 printed pages.

In the argument before the master, the Attorney General of New York stated that this was the most important case before the Supreme Court since the Civil War, and its importance is emphasized in his annual report which has been prepared for the coming session of the legislature in that State. The importance of this case to the State of New Jersey is beyond calculation in dollars and cents. Millions of dollars worth of damage was actually proven. The testimony discloses appalling effects upon industries that use the river water for process purposes, upon the oyster industry, upon the recreational uses of the river, and other uses, in which the actual amount of damage cannot be demonstrated before the fact of the diversion.

DELAWARE BOUNDARY CASE

The nature and extent of the controversy, albeit, not now unfriendly, between New Jersey and Delaware over the boundary line between the two States, was discussed in my last annual message. The suit which the Attorney General instituted pursuant to Joint Resolution No. 25, Session of 1929, has been brought to issue and is now ready for the commencement of hearings, the time for which will be fixed immediately after the argument of the Beach Pollution Case. Meanwhile, the preparation of this case has involved the collection of a vast amount of historical data, extending back to the year 1635, when the first Swedish settlements were made on the Delaware Bay and River. The presentation of this case will be largely historical, and will present a review of the historical development and title to lands along the Delaware River and Bay, unequalled by any existing publication or collection. At the same time it will determine the questions of territory and jurisdiction over a considerable area of valuable natural oyster beds.

THE LIGHTERAGE CASE

By Joint Resolution No. 28, the Attorney General was instructed to investigate the transportation rates, regulations and practices affecting the commerce of the State of New Jersey and with my approval to take such action as he deemed necessary to remove any unlawful or unjust discrimination or preference prejudicial to the commerce of this State. In my annual message to the legislature last year, I referred to the report of such investigation made by the Attorney General and its findings and stressed the importance of vigorous prosecution of the discrimination against New Jersey industry and commerce and in favor of New York City and other points on the east side of the Port of New York in that they receive without extra charge a costly lighterage or trucking service in addition to the regular transportation service by railroad, thus destroying the natural advantage of New Jersey's situation and depriving it of a competitive advantage which its location affords. Complaint was filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission naming 52 railroads and steamship lines as defendants. Practically 100 municipalities, chambers of commerce and other trade bodies and individuals have intervened in the case, hearings have been conducted for months and New Jersey's case has been presented.

The Attorney General, representing the State of New Jersey, called 81 witnesses, including State officials, mayors and other officials representing complaining municipalities, officers of New Jersey chambers of commerce, large numbers of representatives of firms alleging discrimination, engineers and experts presenting data supporting New Jersey's contention of an unjust discrimination.

Supporting New Jersey's witnesses, there were filed 186 exhibits, many of which contain hundreds of pages. This material was assembled by a staff of 50 or more experts working together over a year. The research work supporting such data extended into engineering, taxation, railroad traffic, railroad rates, railroad accounting, shipping, terminal operations, warehousing, trucking and many similar lines of activity. Much hope is held out for a favorable decision from the thorough manner in which the whole subject has been presented. Further hearings will be resumed in New York City on April 6th next. Probably a month will be consumed in the taking of testimony on the part of New York and the case will undoubtedly be finally submitted before the Interstate Commerce Commission by August of this year. Success in the Lighterage Case will remove the freight rate handicaps and discriminations now prevailing and secure transportation service equal to that accorded other communities. This result would unleash the full power of New Jersey's resources and would offer tremendous inducement for big business to locate in New Jersey.

CIVIL SERVICE

The general revision of the Civil Service laws for the State service was one of the major accomplishments of the 1930 Legislature. The changes made in this law are in recognition of the important place of an adequate and capable personnel in present-day government and they represent a serious effort to apply the principles of business management to the public service.

The Civil Service Commission has recently reported that approximately one-half of the cost of current public administration is represented in the public payroll and that the numbers of public employees are continually increasing. The citizens of the State are demanding more service both from the State government and from their county and municipal governments. This means that more workers are needed; but the time has come, I believe, when steps should be taken to see that every public employee is needed, that he is capable and willing to work and that he is engaged each day in full-time profitable work for the State or for the local government as the case may be. A great deal of the time and energy of legislators and administrative officials has been spent in devising new codes and new laws for the regulation of administrative functions. Adequate laws are essential; but after many years of experience in public affairs I am convinced that the people who develop and administer departmental policies and the rank and file who do the day to day work mean more to good administration than elaborate administration codes or reorganization plans. We must pay more attention to the organization, supervision and assignment of our civil employees if we hope to have better service and incidentally better government.

INSTITUTIONS AND AGENCIES

Marked progress has been made in the State care of dependent wards under the direction of the State Board of Control of the Department of Institutions and Agencies. When we consider the work of our State institutions, we must bear in mind the fact that the population of our public welfare institutions has necessarily increased, just as the general population in our communities throughout the State has increased. The work of our public institutions has been sustained on a high standard and has justified the far-sighted policy of developing these institutions for intensive treatment and for specialized training and rehabilitation of the handicapped and unfortunate. These policies have proven to be the most economical, as well as the most humane.

It has been gratifying to note the progress in the preventive activities, which have resulted from the use of the institutions as human laboratories for the better understanding of the causes of mental disease and deficiency. We have had most encouraging results through the work of the mental hygiene clinics, which are now assisting in every county of the State. We have been throwing the emphasis into the field of early diagnosis and early treatment of nervous and mentally disturbed persons, just as we have made progress in the field of tuberculosis by the extension of the clinics for the tuberculous. The results so far indicate that with the cooperation of the general medical profession and the general hospitals in our communities, we have found a most promising and significant point of attack for reducing the number of persons to be cared for in public institutions of this character. This program deserves continued support, and is one of the most important and commendable features of the preventive program that has been emphasized by the State Board and its Commissioner.

In the field of delinquency and crime, it is my hope that we can give special consideration to the possibilities of the State unifying and supporting the work of probation. By this means many beginners in crime and delinquency can be properly and safely rehabilitated through constructive work and supervision in their own communities, instead of being sent to mingle with other offenders in correctional institutions. This is another type of preventive activity which calls for the coordination of effort and for State leadership, without necessarily interfering with the local responsibility.

It is gratifying to report that a creditable record has been made in the construction of State institutional buildings, which I have checked up by frequent visits to these institutions. The buildings are substantial in character and well adapted to the purposes they are intended to serve.

The first unit of the new mental hospital is about ready for patients, and will serve to relieve the accumulated years of overcrowding at the two large State Hospitals at Trenton and Greystone Park.

A major matter requiring attention is the segregation of defective delinquents, and the plans which have been developed for this purpose are of the greatest importance, as they will serve to reduce the number of recidivists in our penitentiaries and prisons, and safeguard the communities of the State.

OLD AGE RELIEF

The Commission appointed under Senate Joint Resolution No. 3 of the 1930 Legislature to study and report upon the question of old age dependency and relief has held public hearings and has made a careful investigation of this question. It will, I am assured, have a report of its findings and recommendations for the consideration of the Governor and the Legislature.

It is apparent that there is a wide-spread, representative support for some appropriate form of relief for the needy aged. Let us hope that New Jersey will face this problem in a constructive way with due regard both to the relief of the needy and to the importance of a sound plan for financing such support. The studies of the Commission to date indicate that much is already being done, under existing legislation, to relieve the unfortunate aged who are in need, and we may confidently expect that the report of this Commission will suggest a practical plan for legislative action in modernizing and making more effective the provision, through public funds, for those who are old and in need of financial assistance.

CHILD HYGIENE

Many of our public welfare, medical and educational leaders took an active part, on invitation of President Hoover, in the White House Conference at Washington on Child Health and Protection. Many important advances in scientific knowledge were brought to the fore by this national gathering.

It now becomes possible to interpret the knowledge thus gathered for the benefit of the individual children of this generation, here in New Jersey. In line with the expressed wish of the President in this connection, it is my plan to call together the leaders in the fields of child health and child welfare in this State for a New Jersey Conference on Child Health and Protection, so that the people of New Jersey and the children may reap the full benefit of the best knowledge that science can offer.

RADIO

In my annual message of last year, I submitted for your consideration the question of the advisability of enacting legislation which would require a certificate of public convenience and necessity before any broadcasting transmitter could be erected within the State. I suggested, too, the advisability of designating the Board of Public Utility Commissioners as the appropriate board within the State to grant or refuse such a certificate after hearings to determine whether a proposed transmitter would cause undue and unreasonable blanketing or interference to the disadvantage of citizens in the area involved. Chapter 15 of the Laws of 1930 resulted, but is believed to be too limited. It does not, I am advised, give jurisdiction to the Board to regulate or deal with a broadcasting station while in operation. The Board should be given jurisdiction to follow up its approvals, and if necessary, jurisdiction to revoke any certificate of approval where the operators of stations do not comply with the Board's regulations. It would seem to me that jurisdiction in the Board of Public Utility Commissioners, co-extensive within the State with that of the Federal Radio Commission, would give ample authority by the State to completely supervise the situation.

STATE BUILDING PROGRAM

At no time to my knowledge has the State made a survey of its building needs or requirements. Most of the building that has taken place, particularly with reference to the housing of the Courts and various State departments, has been undertaken without any definite plan or program. Some of the departments have mapped out wise, constructive and far-sighted policies so far as their departmental activities might be concerned. Nevertheless, such planning and building has been one from year to year rather than looking to the future needs of the State.

It makes little difference to me personally what buildings are commenced or completed during my term of office. It does concern me greatly as Governor, however, that whatever buildings are undertaken or completed during my term should be necessary, adapted to the purpose for which they are intended, properly built, and representing in actual value the amount of State moneys expended for their construction.

No one will deny that both the number of State departments and their personnel have increased during the past five years. With these increases have come the need of increased housing facilities. What the need will be five years from now is problematical, but it can be ascertained to a near degree of certainty. I believe we should adopt a policy in this respect of planning for the future needs of the State.

I am personally advocating no particular building or addition at this time. As Governor I feel that the various State departments should be adequately housed in order that they may function to a maximum degree of efficiency and in the best interests of the State. It must be borne in mind that the Legislature is the final judge of the needs of the State departments and of the amount of money to be expended in providing such facilities and that whatever plans may be submitted to you are so submitted for your information and guidance and carry no direct recommendation of mine. I do feel that the time is not inopportune to ascertain the present requirements, if any there be, and the future requirements over perhaps a five year period and that some definite policy and program be adopted by the Legislature. It may be urged that one Legislature cannot bind a succeeding Legislature, and while that may be true, yet I cannot conceive of a future Legislature failing to carry out such a constructively planned program, admittedly in the best interests of the State and I strongly recommend the creation of a commission to look into this problem and report its findings to the Legislature.

PARKS AND PLAYGROUNDS

The playgrounds of New Jersey are one of its great assets. They make our State the Mecca of the highest type of citizenship of America and of the world. Our forest reserves, notably the one at High Point, are not only places of health and recreation for our people, but likewise serve as growing woodlands and replenish our forests. Our seaside shore front is unparalleled in its attractions and should be preserved at all hazards. Atlantic City and Asbury Park have shown what can be done with the beach front in dedicating such perpetually as public playgrounds. Municipally owned boardwalks, beach fronts, piers and pavilions at these two famous resorts afford recreational centers for hundreds of thousands of visitors, both transient and semi-permanent. Their marvelous growth testifies to the desire of thousands to spend their hours of rest and recreation at the seashore and their capacity is reaching the saturation point. The time has come when the State should adopt a policy of setting apart available park and playground sites along the ocean front for the children, health seekers and tourists who may enjoy the God given ozone and health furnished by the ocean breeze.

The details of such a plan or policy are matters for present study and development, to the end that available recreational playgrounds of this character for the future generations may be properly provided for and the legislature should take steps promptly to carry this public park idea into practical fruit before all our seacoast land becomes the possession of private ownership held for development at a price prohibitive for the purpose of this recommendation. Seaside parks of the character I refer to constitute a new idea and will make a new advertising feature for our State, as well as preserve these playgrounds for our people.

GRADE CROSSINGS

Marked progress had been made in the State during the last two years in providing the method and planning the elimination of dangerous grade crossings. In 1929, Chapter 88 of the laws of that session was enacted, providing a policy of equal division of cost between the railroads and the public in the elimination of State Highway grade crossings, and in 1930, under the provisions of Chapter 101 of the Laws of 1930, a further step was taken in establishing a policy to be pursued in the elimination of grade crossings on public highways other than State highways, and projects are now under way providing for the elimination of dangerous grade crossings throughout the State pursuant to the provisions of said acts. In the passage of the latter act, however, I am advised that amendments to the law, in the interest of amplifying the powers of the Board of Public Utility Commissioners to exclusively supervise and carry on the work of grade crossing elimination in conjunction with the railroads on highways other than State highways, should be enacted to make the law more effective and aid in carrying out the purpose of the statute and such amendments will be submitted for your consideration at this session of the Legislature.

GROSS RECEIPTS TAX

In my annual message of last year to the Legislature, I called attention specifically to the Gross Receipts Tax Act of 1900 taxing public utilities (other than street railway companies) using the public streets; that for nearly thirty years this system of taxation was applied to all public utilities, including the telephone companies; that after the organization of the New Jersey Bell Telephone Company in 1927, it challenged the gross receipts tax in so far as the interstate commerce over its line was included in the measure of gross receipts used for the ascertainment of the tax. It appears that although the New Jersey Bell Telephone Company is a corporation of New Jersey and conducts its business exclusively in New Jersey, nevertheless, approximately twenty-five per cent of its gross receipts are derived from interstate messages which it handles in connection with companies in the adjoining states, the gross receipts tax upon which for the year 1928 amounted to more than $250,000 and for 1929 in excess of $300,000. I further called your attention to the fact that this tax was distributed among the municipalities in proportion to the value of the line or facilities of the utility assessed within the municipalities respectively

The gross receipts tax of the New Jersey Bell Telephone Company assessed for 1928 was reviewed in our courts on the ground that the tax was unlawful to the extent that it was imposed upon the gross receipts from interstate business The New Jersey Supreme Court and the Court of Errors and Appeals sustained the tax. An appeal was taken to the United States Supreme Court and, on January 6, 1929, that court reversed the New Jersey Court of Errors and Appeals and set the assessment aside to the extent that it was levied upon gross receipts from interstate business.

Nearly all of our public utilities are now engaged in interstate business of some kind or another and if this decision of the United States Supreme Court is to be applied to all other utilities subject to that act, our municipalities will be deprived of a very large amount of revenue which they now enjoy. The Legislature should devote itself to considering some method of restoring this revenue It may be that the gross receipts tax will have to be abandoned and some other method of taxation adopted. Certainly such companies should not be permitted to escape entirely the payment of franchise tax or taxes for the use of public streets on interstate business. The State is entitled to a fair proportion of such revenue for the support of its government. No more important problem confronts you at this session of the Legislature than that above referred to. The burden of tax must be distributed equitably and if interstate commerce over these lines is to escape taxation entirely, it is obvious that other taxpayers or the local service will have to bear an additional burden on that account unless some way is found to tax the service equally.

SALARY INCREASES

Last year, I stressed the feeling that I deemed it unwise for the Legislature to indulge in any general increases of salary unless and until, after a careful survey, it has been ascertained what salary increases are necessary or advisable. The Legislature of last year is to be commended in that such policy was followed. In the light of the present economic situation confronting the State and Nation, I feel impelled to urge that this is no time to advocate increases in the salaries of public officials. I am sure I voice the sentiment of the people of the State in this respect.

DEBT LIMIT

I reiterate my annual message to the Legislature of last year with respect to this subject. Departures from the fixed policy of the State of establishing definite debt limits for municipalities and counties should be considered by the Legislature only in extreme emergencies To extend the debt limit simply means the impairing or destroying of the present borrowing power enjoyed by the municipalities of the State under definite limitations deemed to be safe for the investment world

TAXATION

One of the great problems before the American people today is taxation. Taxation is increasing and is rising at a confiscatory rate. The number of delinquent taxpayers and the number of sales of property for taxes is a matter of record and tells its own disastrous economic story.

I have already urged lower taxation for the benefit of the taxpayers. We cannot have less taxation without less expenditure. The agricultural and manufacturing interests of New Jersey are now heavily burdened and without a reduction of rates our industries may move to more favorable locations. All of the swivel chair experts advocate more sources of taxation. To that theory I do not subscribe. What we want is less, not more taxes. An income tax would simply increase the burden to our industries and commerce already in a depressed condition.

The thing that is adding to our tax burdens is the privileges that we are giving away free. Our highways are now being used as freight carriers without adequate compensation on the part of the users; especially in the interstate truck freight lines and passenger bus lines. There is no reason why the taxpayers of the State should furnish a highway free for freight carriers any more than it should furnish a railroad bed for the railroads. The one principle which I recommend in this connection is that of letting the users pay.

We have a splendid illustration in our toll bridges across the Delaware and the vehicular tunnels between New York City and this State. The cost to the individual is very moderate. The aggregate revenue has exceeded our expectations. The revenues from this source show what can be done in similar cases.

I recommend that the revenues from these sources be retained after the bonds are paid off. This would very materially help the taxpayers of the State. A similar policy could be adopted in our counties and our cities.

I call attention to the fact that the Commission on County and Municipal Taxation and Finance has presented the first section of a report on county and municipal expenditures and the remaining sections will follow shortly and will be accompanied by detailed recommendations. I am likewise advised that it proposes to report on revenue, that is, taxation, as soon as its reports and recommendations on expenditures are completed.

In view of the careful study of the field which this commission has made, it would seem more prudent to await the report than to recommend at this time any piece meal amendment to our tax system.

BOARD OF REGENTS

The Board of Regents, established by the Legislature of 1929 as a permanent State body to continue the study of the subject of public higher education in relation to the needs of the State, has been doing serious work in addressing itself to this problem and at a minimum of expense to the State. It has taken up the task at the point to which it had been developed by the Legislative Commission appointed by the Legislature of 1928, which commission recommended the creation of a Board of Regents for this purpose. The board has accepted the recommendation of the Legislative Commission that pending the working out of a complete program of public higher education for the State, it continue to utilize Rutgers University for the purpose of furnishing State aided higher education. The board, pursuant to the statute creating it, has chosen for the present to contract for this service, in behalf of the State, with that university, disbursing the funds appropriated to the board for the use of Rutgers University and its various departments, including the New Jersey College for Women, in consideration of the undertaking of Rutgers to charge a less tuition fee to residents of New Jersey than to non-resident students.

The board has also chosen the Newark College of Engineering as another institution which the State should aid, as the work done and results attained by this college are outstanding both as to grade and the economy of administration.

The board having the power of visitation, and the implied control thus given, has acquainted itself with the details of operation of those institutions which it recommends for State aid to the end that proper economy and efficiency shall be maintained in the institutions which receive financial assistance from the State.

It is to be noted that all appropriations made to this board, as recommended in my Budget Message, will come from the general funds of the State and not from the Main Stem Railroad Tax Fund as heretofore.

WATER POLICY COMMISSION

The ratification of the $7,000,000.00 bond issue, representing really a loan of the State's credit to facilitate the acquisition of lands and water rights, was indeed most gratifying to me. The importance of the task assigned to the Water Policy Commission in seeking to determine the proper allocation and development of watersheds in the State must not be underestimated. The most urgent need is, of course, in the northern metropolitan district, and the selection of a reservoir site for the next major water supply development should receive the fullest consideration. I am advised that the Water Policy Commission has been continuously studying the problem since the creation of the commission and contemplates holding public hearings in due course of time.

In connection with the acquisition of lands and water rights, it would seem advisable for the commission and the department of conservation to promote the reforestation of sites acquired for water sheds.

HIGHWAYS

The State Highway Commission is entitled to the highest praise for the admirable progress it is making in the intensive and difficult problems confronting it in carrying out a road, bridge and viaduct program of the greatest moment to the convenience, welfare and prosperity of the people throughout the State. A gradually expanding program has been taken hold of with ability, integrity and vim, and that the citizenship of this State appreciates the value of these tremendous undertakings is evidenced by the vote of confidence cast last election day in ratifying the bond issue to speed the completion of the highway program as early as possible.

New Jersey's superior highways have been and will continue to be one of its greatest investments. The added contributions to county and municipal highway development by the increase of the gasoline tax was wisely adopted. It added slightly to the road users' cost, but the increased facilities the automobilist will receive, makes this contribution on his part a profitable investment and reduces the property tax accordingly. At the same time, grade crossing elimination has been given a real impetus.

MOTOR VEHICLE ADMINISTRATION

Proper supervision of motor vehicles becomes especially important in the State of New Jersey, and the past year was marked by a number of hopeful signs in this important department of State government.

Although there has been no increase in fees, the receipts from motor vehicle registrations and the issuances of drivers' licenses on December 31st exceeded by one million three hundred and twenty-three thousand dollars the receipts for the comparable period of the preceding year.

More important, however, than this, is the fact that the actual number of automobile fatalities for the first time in many years will be appreciably decreased. The final figures have not yet been compiled, but on December 1st, 1930, it was ascertained that there had been a reduction of thirty-two in the number of persons who lost their lives in automobile accidents, from the number of fatalities for the first eleven months of the preceding year.

The detection and prosecution of motorists who are habitual violators of the law has been pursued with renewed vigilance.

Two thousand sixty-nine persons have been deprived of their right to drive motor vehicles upon the highways of our State by reason of convictions for driving while intoxicated There is every indication that the Commissioner of Motor Vehicles will not alone continue to deny leniency in such cases, but that he will direct action against police and judicial officials who fail in the fulfillment of their obligation to the public by so doing. Steps should be taken for the punishment of complaining witnesses who, through monetary or political influence, allow themselves to be persuaded to withdraw their complaints, or who fail to appear to press their charges against persons whom they know to be guilty of driving while intoxicated.

The present Financial Responsibility Act, under which the Commissioner of Motor Vehicles is required to demand proof of responsibility from all persons concerned in certain accidents, or who are convicted for certain motor offenses, has many apparent inequities, and does not justify the cost of administration. It has good features which should be preserved, but it should be amended in such a way that innocent motorists are not punished with motorists in the class of those who show no regard for the lives or property of others.

There should also be a provision under which the Commissioner of Motor Vehicles is empowered to revoke the driving privilege of those persons who fail to satisfy a judgment arising out of an automobile accident, thus stripping the law of its ridiculous provision under which every motorist is entitled to one crash.

Under our present Bill of Sale legislation, automobile thieves may sell and register stolen cars with impunity, thus causing suffering and economic loss to many of our citizens. It should be amended in such a way that the legitimate dealers and honest citizens may register and transfer their cars with expedition, yet in a manner that will provide for the detection and prosecution of criminals who specialize in this line.

A number of changes are essential to bring our Motor Vehicle Act and Traffic Act in line with the forward legislation of other

States, and in conformity with a number of the recommendations of the National Conference on Street and Highway Safety

Cars that are unsafe for operation should be removed from the roads, and it may be well to consider the advisability of enacting legislation requiring a periodic inspection of all automobiles, and making a certificate of such inspection a prerequisite to subsequent registration.

INTERSTATE COMMUNICATION

The Outerbridge crossing connecting Perth Amboy and Staten Island, and the Goethals Bridge connecting Elizabethport and Staten Island have now been in operation for over two years. They have proved their need and are now on a self sustaining basis The Bergen Point-Staten Island Bridge and the Hudson River Bridge at Fort Lee will be completed and placed in operation within the year. These bridges promise to meet a need for inter-communication at these two points, and it is confidently expected that each will contribute its share to the development and future prosperity of our State.

During the last year a number of conferences between the Governor of New York, legislative leaders of both States and myself were held in planning an additional vehicular tunnel to meet the ever increasing interstate flow of motor traffic. Bills were drawn and passed authorizing the Port of New York Authority to make a survey and prepare plans for the construction of the so-called Midtown Tunnel. A joint conference was recently had to receive and consider the report of the Port Authority.

The Midtown Tunnel as planned will run from Ninth Avenue in New York City to Weehawkin, and from thence, in an open cut to the westerly side of the hill as its terminus. By turning over to the Port Authority the present Holland Tunnel, it to pay to the State all obligations incurred by the State in financing this tunnel, it is confidently asserted that the Port Authority will be able to finance the Midtown Tunnel undertaking without financial assistance from either State. Holland Tunnel traffic has about reached capacity and it seems certain that by 1937, the date the new tunnel can be completed and placed in operation, there will be a pressing need for this additional outlet between New Jersey and New York City. Bills are in course of preparation intended to carry out the aforesaid program, and will be submitted to the legislatures of both States for consideration and action.

RAPID TRANSIT AT CAMDEN

The need for rapid transit communication between Philadelphia and the South Jersey district has been apparent for many years.

I favor and recommend the cooperation of New Jersey in furthering plans now in process so that these much needed facilities may be provided for as early as possible.

WASHINGTON BICENTENNIAL

I direct your attention to the approaching celebration of the Bicentennial of the birth of George Washington. Congress has established the United States George Washington Bicentennial Commission, of which the President of the United States is Chairman, to organize and direct a nation-wide observance of this great event in our history, and the Commission asks the support and co-operation of each of the States in the effort to make the occasion worthy of the man it is designed to honor, and I bespeak for it your interest and your cordial support. Our State had, perhaps, closer association with Washington than any other, except his native State of Virginia, and has more places associated with his Revolutionary services than has any other State, so that we have a particular interest in this celebration and an obligation that we cannot afford to neglect.

In furtherance thereof, I recommend that the Commission for Marking Historical Places be given power and charged with the duty, in co-operation with the Federal Commission, of arranging for the due celebration of the Bicentennial of the birth of George Washington within our State made memorable because of the military operations carried on in the State by the Revolutionary Army under the command of George Washington.

PUBLIC EDUCATION

What our citizenship will become depends upon our system of free public schools. New Jersey takes just pride in her educational system. In recent years, New Jersey not only has made significant progress in the development of her elementary, high school, and vocational education, but at the same time has developed excellent school plants. Local communities last year added to the value of school property $21,503,057.32 in new buildings and replacements. School districts which are now undertaking needed improvements are contributing to a solution of the unemployment situation in their communities. The total enrollment of 898,399 in day schools, vocational schools, evening schools, and summer schools, is an index of the importance of education in the life of the State.

The proper training of a supply of teachers is one of the most important concerns of any State. Our normal schools occupy high rank and during the past year the facilities of these schools have been improved. In my budget message of last year I called attention to these needs and the Legislature provided funds necessary to meet them. The plant of the historic normal school at Trenton is being replaced by a modern plant on a site a short distance from the City. This has been carefully planned by the State Board of Education and when completed this school will be equipped to render adequately the service required of it.

In my last annual message I called attention to the fact that I favored the retention as a part of the railroad tax for distribution to the school districts those moneys that had previously been taken from the fund for highways and the Institution Construction Fund provided such a proposal was not made retroactive. In 1929, I vetoed two bills containing retroactive clauses. I recommended last year that suitable legislation with retroactive clauses eliminated be passed. The Legislature passed such acts and they received the Governor's approval. This restores to the Railroad Tax Fund for distribution to the schools the amounts which had previously been taken out for roads and institutional construction.

Last year I recommended an increase in the distribution of the income from the permanent school fund. The Legislature provided $600,000 from the income of that fund to be distributed to the school districts on the basis of attendance which was twenty per cent more than had been distributed in the last several years.

CRIME PREVENTION

A definite step has been taken toward the prevention of crime and the apprehension of criminals by the establishment of the teletype system on October 1st.

This system was authorized by the Legislature at its last session and placed under the supervision and operation of our State Police and consists of five central or sending offices. The system is connected with the Pennsylvania state-wide teletype system and with Greater New York.

A number of our counties and several cities are already hooked up with the system. Negotiations are now pending for further county and city connections.

I believe the start already made is a step in the right direction, and I trust our county and municipal officials will cooperate to the end of having a 100% hook-up throughout our State, in order that our people will be protected by this most effective means of crime detection and prevention.

CONCLUSION

In closing may I suggest that the present Legislature has a great opportunity to serve the people of this great State. In so serving, let us lay aside all partisanship and selfish interests. I need your co-operation and frankly ask for it, as well as that of all interested citizens. I offer you the fullest executive co-operation, to the end that the labors of this session may redound to the advancement of the best interests of all.

Respectfully submitted,

(Signed) MORGAN F. LARSON,
Governor.

STATE OF NEW JERSEY

COMMISSION ON THE REVISION AND CONSOLIDATION OF THE PUBLIC STATUTES

TRENTON, N. J., January 19th, 1931.

Hon. Frederick A. Brodesser, Clerk of the House of Assembly, State House, Trenton, N. J.:

DEAR SIR—I herewith transmit to the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey a report of the Commission on Revision and Consolidation of Public Statutes, covering the period between January 29, 1930, and January 12, 1931.

This report is made in pursuance with Chapter 73 of the Laws of 1925.

Very truly yours,

FRANK TRANSUE,
Secretary.

REPORT

January 12th, 1931.

To the Members of the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey:

The Commission for the Revision and Consolidation of the Public Statutes respectfully presents this, its annual report:

Reports were presented by the Commission to the Legislatures of 1928, 1929, and 1930 showing the progress of the work of compilation and revision to the date of each report. The Commission respectfully refers to those reports for each of the periods covered thereby.

The report of 1930 mentioned two bills which were submitted therewith and which, if enacted, would repeal 843 acts and parts of acts then on the statute books. The two bills were enacted into law and the repealers therein contained, together with the repealers submitted in 1928, make a total of 1,246 acts and parts of acts which have been repealed by the Legislature on the recommendation of the Commission. The acts thus repealed were inoperative because superseded by later enactments or had been held unconstitutional by the courts, yet they remained on the statute books as so much dead wood standing in the way of proper revision and consolidation of the statute law.

As the work of revision and consolidation of the statutes continues, additional acts are found which are entirely superseded by later legislation and for that reason improper for inclusion among the acts being revised. A repealer bill is submitted with this report which, if enacted, will repeal 459 such acts and parts of acts in addition to 256 repealers attached to the two proposed general acts hereinafter described and submitted herewith, making a total of 715 repealers.

Some titles in which the legislation relating to a general subject has been classified for revision purposes contain acts which are so contradictory and so out of harmony with modern conditions that the Commission believes it impracticable and undesirable to revise such acts without changing the substance thereof, and that it should, therefore, recommend new acts to take the place of all the present statutes on the books on each of such subjects. This is in accordance with the legislative mandate contained in the act creating the Commission and defining its powers and duties (P. L. 1925, c. 73, p. 244). In conformity with this plan, the Commission submits herewith two proposed general acts, one covering the subject of "Property" and the other that of "Shellfish."

The proposed Property act, so far as it relates to real estate was referred to in the report of the Commission made in 1930. In addition to the real property provisions to which reference was then made, it has seemed advisable to the Commission to include also statutory provisions relating to personal property, and the act is therefore designated as a Property act instead of a Real Property act alone. A repealer is attached to this act which specifically repeals all the acts and parts of acts covered by the revised sections contained therein. This proposed act therefore embodies in one comprehensive statute the law on the subject of "Property," except as noted in the following paragraph. It brings together provisions from various classifications in the present compilations of the statutes. It abolishes many archaic forms and provisions of law affecting real estate transactions, which, although originating in feudal times, remain on the statute books and are confusing and dangerous.

Among the acts now on the statute books relating to property are some uniform acts in which no substantial changes are necessary. Since the inclusion of these acts in this proposed general act would add greatly to its bulk without accomplishing any good purpose, it was decided to omit them from the proposed act and also from the repealer. Such acts will therefore remain on the statute books to be combined with the material contained in this proposed general act in the final revision. Among the acts so treated are the "Conditional Sales Act," the "Sale of Goods Act," and the acts relating to sales of motor vehicles.

The proposed Shellfish act contains the suggestions of the Board of Shell Fisheries made through its director, George A. Mott, and its codifier, Walter H. Bacon, Esquire, of Bridgeton, who assisted in the preparation of the act. There were numerous acts on the books relating to this subject which were passed in connection with commissions the powers of which have since been vested in the Board of Shell Fisheries, as well as various acts relating to particular districts. All of these acts have been combined in one proposed general act, some of the provisions of which apply generally, while others are limited to the territory in which similar provisions of present statutes apply. The result of this combination has been to eliminate many conflicting provisions, clarify the whole body of the statute law on the subject, and reduce materially the bulk of the legislation. Specific repealers are attached to the proposed act which repeal all the existing statutes covered thereby.

In addition to the proposed general acts above mentioned, the Commission submits herewith two bills, both of which are approved by the Chancellor. One of these bills relates to the release or relinquishment of the dower rights of incompetent doweresses. It vests the jurisdiction of such proceedings solely in the Court of Chancery instead of in the Court of Chancery and the Ordinary of the Prerogative Court, as heretofore. It fixes the amount of the bonds and funds required for the benefit of the incompetent doweress to correspond with the extent of the dower right or interest of such doweress at the time such right or interest accrued or vested. The other of these bills repeals the act entitled "A further supplement to an act entitled 'An act for preventing the injury of illegal confinement and better securing the liberty of the people' (Revision), approved March twenty-seventh, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four," which further supplement was approved May ninth, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-nine. The supplement gave to vice-chancellors the power to issue the writ of habeas corpus. It has been decided they have the power to issue the writ only as advisers of the chancellor and to hear the same and advise him what order or decree to make. The supplement proposed to be repealed is therefore unconstitutional.

For the reasons set out in the report of last year, the actual work of revision has been increasingly centered in the office maintained by the Commission in Trenton, which is in charge of Mr. Richard E. McIntosh. In furtherance of this plan the force of revisers in that office has been increased since the filing of the last report by the employment of Mr. William W. Barron and Mr. Paul A. Bentz, both of whom have had previous experience in legal editorial and statutory work. Mr. Barron came directly from the editorial department of the West Publishing Company at St. Paul, Minnesota, where he had been employed for a number of years in addition to some time spent in the practice of law. Mr. Bentz was formerly with the West Publishing Company in legal editorial work, but has been more recently engaged in the preparation of a code of laws for the Panama Canal Zone for submission to Congress. The force of revisers in the Trenton office, therefore, working under the supervision of Mr. McIntosh, consists of Messrs. Martin S. Chandler, George F. Kneip, William W. Barron, and Paul A. Bentz, all experienced in legal editorial work, in addition to the five younger men mentioned in the report of last year, each of whom is now doing actual revision work. All of these men devote their entire time to the work. There are also the necessary number of stenographers, typists and clerks to transcribe, type, check and compare revised material constantly being prepared in the office.

Another reviser devoting the major part of his time to the work of the Commission, but not working in the Trenton office, is Mr. Herbert Boggs, of Newark, formerly assistant attorney-general and corporation counsel for the city of Newark, who, after completing his draft of the laws relating to municipalities, has undertaken revision of the laws relating to taxes and assessments.

The plan of carrying on the work now being followed is the same as that outlined in the report of last year. All revised material is carefully checked in the Trenton office. Copies are then forwarded to each member of the Commission, who considers the work separately from the other members. The material is then taken up in conference and changes suggested by the Commission are made by the reviser in his revised material.

The work of actual revision is now going forward faster than at any time since the work began. Several factors contribute to make this possible, among which are the following: The first task of compilation and classification for purposes of revision which was in itself no small undertaking has been long since completed. The task of checking the revisions of 1847, 1877, and all of the pamphlet laws since 1877 for original acts, amendments, supplements and repealers to determine what acts were properly before the Commission for revision, repeal or other proper disposition has been completed. The work of repealing obsolete, superseded and unconstitutional statutes has progressed to the point where 1,246 such statutes have been actually repealed, in addition to the recommendations accompanying this report which, if enacted, will make a total of 1,961 such statutes repealed. The work of checking the published reports of the courts from the present date back to the year 1910 for cases citing, construing or applying statutes has been completed and the citations thus obtained have been placed upon cards and arranged according to sections for use of the revisers in reading the very latest decisions upon each statute under consideration and for the use of the annotator in preparing annotations to the completed revised sections.

The completion of each step in the work has released additional men for actual revision work, so that it has been possible during the past year to complete more actual revised material than during any prior year, and more material is now in process of revision than at any previous time.

Respectfully submitted,

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION urging the Congress of the United States of America to authorize the United States Shipping Board to sell to the Port of New York Authority the properties in the city of Hoboken, New Jersey, commonly known as the Hoboken pier properties.

WHEREAS, Shortly after the declaration of war against the Imperial German Government on April 6th, 1917, the United States of America seized as enemy owned properties certain docks, piers, warhouses, wharves, and terminal equipment and facilities, located in the city of Hoboken, State of New Jersey, and belonging to the North German Lloyd Dock Company and the Hamburg-American Line Terminal and Navigation Company, and has expropriated title thereto, and

WHEREAS, The said properties have since been operated by various agencies of the United States Government and are now being operated by the United States Shipping Board, and

WHEREAS, By Public Resolution No. 146, Seventy-first Congress, authorizing the United States Shipping Board to sell the said properties to citizens of the United States, the Congress of the United States has adopted a policy that the properties shall no longer be operated by the United States, but shall not pass into the control of aliens, and

WHEREAS, Pursuant to the aforesaid Joint Resolution of Congress, the United States Shipping Board has advertised for bids upon the said properties, and has received only one bid, which said bid was in the amount of $4,282,000 and was from a private operator, who is now unwilling to proceed with the acquisition of said properties, and

REPORT OF THE

PENSION SURVEY COMMISSION

LETTER OF TRANSMITTAL

To the Honorable Morgan F. Larson, Governor of the State of New Jersey, and to the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey:

The Pension Survey Commission, established under Joint Resolution No 5, Laws of 1930, respectfully submits herewith a report on the plan of its investigations and the progress to date, together with certain recommendations on the establishment of county welfare boards and on State aid for the relief of old age dependency

The Commission was appointed June 23, 1930, and met for organization on July 15th Several meetings followed for the purpose of conferring with persons most familiar with the problems assigned to the Commission for investigation As a result of these conferences, it was decided to conduct the studies of problems of municipal, county and State pensions and of public agencies for the relief of dependency as parallel projects, and to employ a staff of competent experienced persons to carry forward these inquiries as outlined by the Commission. Hon. Henry A. Williams was retained as Counsel. A research director, Dr. Emma A. Winslow, was employed, beginning September 1st, and a staff of research and office assistants organized. Headquarters were established in the Industrial Office Building at 1060 Broad Street, Newark.

Nine meetings of the Commission have been held and two public hearings conducted. The individual members have given much intensive study to the projects under review While progress has been made, the widely varied types of inquiries assigned and the highly complicated legal problems involved make it doubtful if the Commission will be able to complete its investigations and prepare its final report for consideration at this session of the Legislature

Continuation of the Commission with its present membership and responsibilities is requested, with an appropriation of $50,000 for expenses during the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1931

Respectfully submitted,

ROY T. YATES,
Chairman

PART I

PLAN OF COMMISSION INVESTIGATIONS AND PROGRESS TO DATE

A Studies of Problems of Municipal, County, School and State Pensions.

All State laws authorizing the payment of pensions to individuals or the establishment of pension funds affecting municipal, county and State employees, have been reviewed and summarized

A complete list of pension funds affecting county and municipal employees and also of pensions to individuals has been secured through correspondence with the chief executives in all counties and municipalities in the State

Detailed information on the administrative organization, members and pensioners in nearly all county and municipal funds has been obtained by correspondence and special interviews with fund officials. Actuarial valuation of this material is now in progress.

Data on State pensions being paid to individuals have been assembled, and plans are in preparation for certain studies of administrative policies in the New Jersey Teachers' Pension and Annuity Fund, the State Employees' Retirement System, and the State Police Pension Fund.

An early report on findings in these inquiries is being planned, but the complexity of the legal problems involved will necessitate a considerable period of study before definite recommendations on legislation can be formulated by the Commission.

B. Studies of Public Agencies for the Relief of Dependency.

Questionnaires have been sent to the chief executives of all municipalities, with reference to the local method of handling the administration of dependency relief.

Detailed study has been made of the provisions of the State Act for the Settlement and Relief of the Poor (Chapter 132, Laws of 1924), which would require revision under a plan of dependency relief administration by a County Welfare Board, and a draft of a revised act prepared for presentation at the present session of the Legislature.

In cooperation with the staff of the State Department of Institutions and Agencies, detailed investigations have been made of the work of the overseers of the poor in Montclair and in Newark, and reports on findings presented to local officials. Field studies have also been made by the Commission staff in certain municipalities in Essex, Monmouth and Passaic counties, and plans for further development of such studies are being formulated as the basis for definite recommendations on policies to be followed in a local change from a municipal to a county plan of dependency relief administration.

C. Inquiries into Needed Relief for Old Age Dependency

Information on old age dependency legislation enacted and proposed in other states has been collected and given critical review in relation to the drafting of legislation especially adapted to the needs of New Jersey.

Two public hearings have been held, one for North Jersey residents at Newark City Hall, November 14th, and one for South Jersey residents at the State House in Trenton, December 16th. Included among the speakers appearing at these hearings were representatives of the following organizations:

New Jersey Commission on Old Age Insurance and Pension, New Jersey Council on Old Age Pensions, New York State Department of Public Welfare, State Federation of Labor of New Jersey, Consumer's League of New Jersey, New Jersey League of Women Voters, Employers' Association of Northern New Jersey, Manufacturers' Association of New Jersey, Fraternal Order of Eagles, Foresters of America, Essex County Women's Democratic Organization, Fourth Ward Republican League of Atlantic City, State Socialist Party, Newark Conference of Jewish Charities, Associated Catholic Charities of the Newark Diocese, Board of Social Service of the New Jersey Diocese of the Episcopal Church, Young Women's Christian Association of Camden, State Nurses Association, New Jersey College for Women, Union Printers League of Camden, Atlantic County Building Trades, Central Labor Union of Trenton Detailed information concerning the age, citizenship, physical condition, etc , of inmates of welfare-houses and almshouses has been obtained, as the basis for estimates of the number who could be cared for outside an institution under a plan of old age relief. As part of the studies of the work of overseers of the poor described above, special attention has been given to securing as much data as possible on the types and amounts of assistance being given to aged persons.

Statistics compiled in various studies on the extent of old age dependency in other states have been given critical review, and estimates prepared of the probable number of persons who would be in need of old age relief in the various counties of New Jersey during the year 1932, and the probable cost of such relief.

Definite recommendations have been formulated with reference to plans for State reimbursement of expenditures by county welfare boards for grants to aged dependents meeting certain standards as to eligibility, and a special bill drafted for consideration at the present session of the Legislature.

PART II

RECOMMENDATIONS ON THE ESTABLISHMENT OF COUNTY WELFARE BOARDS

In New Jersey, the municipality is the administrative unit in the granting of poor relief. Relief funds are provided by the municipality, administered by a municipal official, and used primarily for the relief of persons with a legal settlement in the municipality.

The Commission, therefore, has given considerable attention to a review of existing practices in the administration of dependency relief by municipalities and to the study of methods of securing correction of the obvious inefficiencies found

The picture consistently painted in the questionnaire and field investigations is one of wide variation in the way in which dependency relief is being administered.

In many small municipalities, there is no officially designated overseer of the poor, and frequently no appropriation for poor relief which can be drawn upon in case of necessity Where there is an overseer of the poor, such appointment is on a part-time basis except in the large cities Many of these part-time overseers are also carrying other important responsibilities, such as town clerk, treasurer, tax collector, chief of police, etc. Others are privately engaged, often as grocer, coal dealer or in other selling activity closely related to providing relief to needy families. Retired public officials and business men seem to be popular choices for appointment as overseers A considerable number of public spirited women are also serving in this capacity

In a few places, a special arrangement has been made with a private social agency, so that their trained staff takes responsibility for the investigation and supervision of cases receiving public relief Usually, the exceedingly difficult job of straightening out a family's dependency relief problem is handled, under the present system, by municipal officials, with only a part-time interest in their relief work and without special training in the technique of its successful accomplishment

Most of this part-time service of overseers is given free or at a nominal salary of a few hundred dollars a year. Full-time service is at a salary rate of between $2,000 and $3,000, although in a few instances more is paid.

As the result of its investigations, the Commission is firmly convinced that the only way in which high standards in poor relief administration can be maintained consistently and uniformly throughout the State is to transfer to county welfare boards the present responsibilities of municipal overseers of the poor, and to make the establishment of such county boards mandatory.

The county plan of administering welfare activities is in operation in a number of states, and is being advocated in many more. The recent reports of the New Jersey Commission to Investigate County and Municipal Taxation and Expenditure include welfare activities among those which it recommends should be shifted from a municipal to a county or regional plan of financing and administration.

The legal basis for a county welfare plan has already been established for New Jersey by the State Act for the Relief and Settlement of the Poor (Chapter 132, Laws of 1924). A county welfare board with important administrative responsibilities can now be established in any county or group of adjoining counties, where a welfare-house is to be constructed or is already in operation. In any municipality within a county where no overseer is appointed, the superintendent of the welfare-house can act in his place. All such service is under the direction of the welfare board, but the cost of any relief provided is met from the funds of the municipality for which the service is rendered.

However, any attempt to develop a state-wide plan of county welfare boards in New Jersey under the present law is immediately blocked by certain of its provisions. The appointment of a county welfare board is optional with the Board of Chosen Freeholders, and the assumption by the welfare superintendent of the duties of the overseer of the poor in a municipality within a county is dependent upon the willingness of the municipality to make no appointment in this official position. Unless there is a county or district welfare-house, a welfare board cannot be legally appointed, and eight of the twenty-one counties in New Jersey have no county welfare-house.

Many complicated problems in the administration of a county plan also arise because of the requirement that all expenditures for poor relief come from municipal funds and in relation to a legal settlement determined by five years' residence in a municipality.

In the closely populated sections of the State, families move frequently from municipality to municipality. Residence may be in one municipality, and employment or property ownership in another Municipalities with a large proportion of dependency cases are often those in which the greatest difficulty is encountered in connection with the securing of sufficient income through taxation for necessary public expenditures While these difficulties are present also in a plan of county financing and settlement, they are far less significant than in the present municipal system.

In many municipalities, the number of persons is too small and their needs for public relief too infrequent to justify the full-time employment of a relief administrator. To change to a county plan of organization would make possible the easy availability of trained personnel for the handling of any dependency problems which may arise in a particular municipality. It would also insure uniformity in such service throughout all parts of a county.

An unsalaried advisory board to whom the administrative staff would be responsible, is a plan which has been found advantageous in connection with various governmental functions where important matters of social and technical policy are involved, as, for example, boards of education and of public health The establishment of such a board as the administrative head of county welfare work is recommended by the Commission as an essential part of the reorganization of dependency relief administration in New Jersey, and one which should be put in operation before any plan of State aid for old age relief is inaugurated along the lines described in the following section of this report

In order to make legal provision for the change to a State-wide plan of county welfare boards, a revision of the State Law for the Relief and Settlement of the Poor (Chapter 132, Laws of 1924) has been drafted for consideration at the present session of the Legislature. In summary, the recommended revisions are as follows:

A That there be set up in each county a county welfare board of outstanding citizens, unsalaried, to be appointed by the Board of Chosen Freeholders, to consist of not less than five or more than seven members, and to have as ex-officio members a designated member of the Board of Chosen Freeholders and the County Adjuster.

B That this county welfare board take over the duties of the overseers of the poor (including almshouses) in the municipalities of the county

C That a director of welfare be appointed by each county welfare board, who is a technically trained and qualified expert in the field of social service and has had special executive experience

D. That deputies and assistants be appointed as necessary to serve the various geographic districts in the county, and that all such appointments be made through Civil Service on the basis of a background of technical training of social work.

PART III

RECOMMENDATIONS ON STATE AID FOR THE RELIEF OF OLD AGE DEPENDENCY

In the State Act for the Settlement and Relief of the Poor (Chapter 132, Laws of 1924), a poor person is defined as "one who is unable to maintain himself or those dependent upon him." The overseer of the poor is authorized "to render such aid and material relief as he may in his discretion, deem necessary to the end that such person may not suffer unnecessarily from cold or hunger, or be deprived of shelter."

Experience in various states indicates, however, that such general provisions in a poor law are insufficient to insure necessary assistance from public funds for persons too old to work and without means of support. Special legislation for the relief of aged dependents has been enacted in thirteen states, and the inclusion of this phase of inquiry among the investigation responsibilities of this Commission was the result of much agitation for the enactment of old age pension legislation in New Jersey.

As described in the preceding section of this report, the investigations of the Commission have brought out clearly the lack of uniformity and the inadequacy of the present system of municipal administration of dependency relief. Testimony as to the insufficiency of public relief provision for the aged was unanimous at the Commission hearings. A number of personal and written applications for relief have also been received at Commission headquarters.

Special emphasis has been placed in the Commission investigations upon the determination of the number of aged persons receiving various types of relief at the present time in New Jersey, in relation to the number who would probably receive public assistance under a state-wide plan of old age relief. Expenditures by municipalities for relief to aged persons have also been studied in much detail in relation to the probable difference in the total cost from public funds if the responsibility for old age relief were shifted from municipalities to a joint plan of State and county financing.

The Commission's questionnaire and field investigations indicate that a considerable number of aged dependents are receiving continued relief of varied types from the overseers of the poor in the municipalities. For instance, the study of the Town Poor Department in Montclair shows that among the 93 cases under care in October, 1930, there were 23 cases of persons 65 years of age and over. Nine of these aged dependents were receiving partial or complete support in homes of their own. Eight were being cared for in boarding homes. Two were being assisted while living with relatives. The remaining four were being boarded in institutions, two in a privately operated institution and two in the almshouse of a neighboring municipality. Relief grants varied from $10.00 per month to $67 50, with the average at $29 60. The total amount spent for these cases was about one-fourth of the total relief expenditure for the month.

In a group of 40 municipalities of varying size and representative of different sections of the State, there were found to be 197 cases of persons 65 years of age among the 876 cases receiving relief, or 22 5 per cent of the total

The Commission's investigations of relief expenditures by municipalities indicate a total of about $5,000,000 expended in 1930, exclusive of amounts used for the maintenance and operation of municipal almshouses. From the information already secured on the number of aged persons among those aided, it would seem likely that at least $1,000,000 was being used by municipalities in 1930 for assistance to aged persons similar in type to that which would be provided under a special plan of old age relief

In a considerable number of municipalities, however, there is little provision of public relief to persons of any age, except as an emergency measure, and any State-wide plan of old age relief would have to take into account the fact that many persons resident in those municipalities would for the first time have a means of securing public assistance in their homes in case of proven need for continued relief.

A claim frequently made is that any plan of old age relief in the home would eliminate the almshouse This is not substantiated by the Commission's investigations with reference to the situation in New Jersey In the 24 county and municipal almshouses (See Table I), there are at the present time only 1,754 persons 65 years of age and over among the 3,061 inmates. Nearly all these are in definite need of institutional care because of mental or physical condition, and it is doubtful if more than a very few would be able to leave the welfare-houses or almshouses under a plan of non-institutional old age relief

New Jersey, an accurate estimate of the probable number of dependents under various methods of defining eligibility for relief grants becomes exceedingly difficult The method of calculating finally adopted by the Commission, was to apply to the estimated number of persons 70 years of age and over in the various counties of New Jersey, the percentage of persons of similar age in the State of New York who, according to the recent estimates of the State Department of Public Welfare, would be in receipt of old age relief by the end of the first year of operation of the New York Law.

For the age group 65 years of age and over, an adjustment was made in the New York State Commission's previous estimate of the proportion of dependents, to correspond with their revised estimate of the proportion of persons needing relief at 70 years of age or over. This method of estimating gave a percentage of 9.9 for non-institutional dependents among persons 65 years of age and over, and of 11.4 among persons 70 years of age and over.

As shown in Table II, the application of these percentages to the estimated number of persons in these age groups in the New Jersey population, gives a total of 18,400 persons 65 years of age and over, who would probably be in need of partial or complete support from public funds during the year 1932, if a State-wide plan for old age relief were put into operation. Of these about one-third would be between 65 and 70, and two-thirds, 70 years and over.

Assuming an average yearly expenditure of $300 per year per aged dependent, we find that the total cost for such relief would be $5,520,000 (Table III). If State aid were given to the counties in the form of one-half the amount of their relief grants to persons 65 years of age and over, the cost to the State would be $2,760,000. If State aid were given in the form of reimbursement for relief grants to persons 70 years of age and over, the cost to the State would be only $1,837,500, but there would be a corresponding increased burden to the counties because of the necessity of bearing the full expense of any relief grants to persons under 70 years of age, who were no longer able to support themselves

The principle of State aid in connection with the care of child dependency has already been established in New Jersey, and the Commission believes that a similar policy of State aid should be followed in connection with the care of aged dependents

As discussed in the preceding section of the report, the Commission believes that the present plan of municipal administration of dependency relief by overseers of the poor should be abolished, and that all such relief work should be under the administration of county welfare boards. The draft of the proposed legislation on old age relief assumes that county welfare boards will be in operation in all counties of the State by January, 1932, and that necessary arrangements can be made for handling applications for old age relief by these boards April 1, 1932. Payments under a joint plan of State and county financing are recommended to start July 1, 1932.

The proportion of total relief grants to the aged which should come from State and county funds is a matter for careful consideration. The judgment of the Commission is that the State should reimburse the counties for one-half of all relief grants where the amount given to an individual does not exceed one dollar per day If more is required it is recommended that the extra should be provided from county funds

The Commission further recommends that State funds be used for reimbursement of counties only in connection with relief grants to a person meeting the following qualifications·

A. Has attained the age of six-five years;

B Is unable to maintain himself, either in whole or in part, and has no children or other persons able to support him or responsible under the laws of this State for his support;

Report of New Jersey Commission on Old Age Insurance and Pensions

To His Excellency Morgan F. Larson, Governor of the State of New Jersey and the Legislature of the State of New Jersey.

The New Jersey Commission on Old Age Insurance and Pensions, created under an act of the Legislature to advise with industrial concerns as to the establishment of pensions for employees, and also delegated with authority to study and recommend old age pensions in our State, respectfully submits this its annual report.

The longer duration of human life, the mechanization of the industrial world leading to unemployment, the tremendous growth of industrial combinations with the resulting increase in the so-called "white collar" unemployment, the decrease in the birth rate, thus reducing the support of the superannuated, all are reasons for keeping this subject in the arena of public discussion.

Industrial pension plans have been adopted to induce employees to remain with corporations until their old age. These plans in the main are generally based upon the necessity of being continuously employed with a given concern for from twenty to thirty years and the retirement age either at sixty-five or seventy. The one most in vogue at present is to take the average salary for the last five years, take two per cent of this amount and multiply it by the length of years of service. Thus an employee receiving $3,000 per annum for the last five years and having arrived at the retirement age of sixty-five, having been employed for thirty years, would receive a pension of $1,800, or 60 per cent of his wage. There is a tendency of course not to recognize any obligation towards the old age workers who have not been with the concern the required period of service. The result is that human beings who have reached the age of forty or forty-five find it difficult to secure employment.

Then again group insurance introduced in American industry is another factor which makes it difficult for the worker who has reached the age of forty or forty-five to secure employment This form of insurance on the part of employers is to protect dependents of deceased employees by insuring the lives of the workers. Premium rates on this type of insurance is based in accordance with the average group age of the employees insured. Rates for older persons are naturally higher than for younger ones and of course the tendency by industry is to keep down the average age of their employees.

Private pension systems are for the most part confined to large corporations. In the city of Newark, of thirty industrial concerns interviewed, only one had a pension plan in operation, the other twenty-nine concerns representing various manufacturing trades, employing on the average from thirty to fifty employees, had no form of pension system in operation. The one that did was a large and prosperous corporation.

In the city of Jersey City, of fifteen staple industrial concerns visited, only one had any plan of insurance. The fourteen others, employing from twenty to thirty employees, had none.

In the Amboys, of ten plants visited, only two had any form of pension in operation, and the rest, employing from thirty to forty employees, had none.

In Camden, of eight plants visited, only one had a pension plan in operation Practically the same ratio existed in Rahway, New Brunswick and Trenton. The industries visited were those that we would index as staple. By that is meant that the probability of their remaining in active business was most likely. It must be borne in mind that statistics show that less than four per cent of the male workers in industry remain with the same employer for twenty years or over and with women this percentage is less. As most pension plans make as a condition precedent service for twenty or twenty-five years, it is at once seen that pension plans will not materially reduce the indigent aged of our State. Opposed to the pension plans as inaugurated by industry are the labor unions who charge that pension plans have for their purpose the alienating of workers away from the unions, and are used as a sword of Damocles in case of strikes. This argument cannot be used, however, in the case of the "white collar" worker, such as the bookkeeper, stenographer and clerical worker They are not unionized and their demands are not mass demands. The small industrial concern is at first fearful that it cannot stand the drain of any pension system. Contributory type of industrial pension where the employee shares with the employer the cost of a pension system, has met with some success in that it is being adopted. Insurance companies are now offering plans of pensions. These plans are advantageous from the employer's viewpoint, but they are not and cannot be considered by the small employer of labor, and this employee is a human being precisely like the employee of a large and successful corporation.

When it is possible we have recommended a pension plan for industrial concerns It is a step that is in the right direction It has for its main object the caring of a faithful employee when he has arrived at that time in life when work is a physical hardship.

A few concerns which established pension plans or contemplated their adoption, had not set aside funds to meet pensions as they mature They expected to meet these liabilities out of operating expenses Of course this is a most unscientific way of approaching the subject They simply trusted that business would warrant their doing something for their employees. The spirit to help was generally manifest, but that spirit must be translated into a workable and operable plan. Industrial pension plans for employees in a word are limited to the larger and more prosperous business organizations. The smaller industries cannot maintain individual pension plans, financial costs making it prohibitive. Of course where they can be adopted, it is a step in the direction of providing for the faithful employee and this is especially true of the so-called "white collar" worker. It can be readily perceived that the adoption of a pension plan by industry in no way warrants the assumption that the indigent aged who have no visible means of support should not be cared for. They are with us and their care is a duty of an enlightened and Christian community. Some leaders of industry and heads of corporations have an entirely erroneous idea of old age pensions They seem to think that if the State is to care for the indigent aged who have reached the age of sixty-five or seventy, that then industry is to be relieved of the necessity of caring for their employees To state but briefly the general plan of old age pensions as adopted in the various States, refutes any such conception The old age pension plans inaugurated by the States generally provide the maximum sum to be received for the indigent aged as $1 a day The age to receive such relief as sixty-five or seventy and that the applicant must have no visible means of support, nor relatives who are able to support the indigent. It is a mere pittance given to one who has reached the required age in order to keep them from starvation and the poorhouse It is argued that by the State giving such assistance that the indigent aged maintain their self-respect. The State's assistance plus what little they may earn in seasonal occupations, may be the means of keeping their homes intact In the case of married people, it will tend to permit of their maintaining a home and live out the balance of their lives in the society of each other and not as at present, have the husband an inmate of one institution and the wife an inmate of another, thus adding to their misery by being separated In what way this can conflict with industrial pensions inaugurated by private industry, is difficult to reconcile As an example, private industry, as stated before, gives to an employee who has received as a salary for the last five years of his employment $3,000 and who has been with the business organization twenty-five or thirty years, a pension of $1,800.

What has this to do with the unfortunate who has been unable to be employed by a successful industry which has established a pension system, or the unfortunate who has not remained for the required number of years? What about the unfortunate who has toiled for some concern who has no pension system? As we have pointed out, most small concerns have no pension systems. They cannot adopt them as the cost precludes it, and then, does any leader of industry for a moment think that the maximum allowable by the State of $1 a day, is a sum that would permit of one living in but the most frugile and modest way The old age pension by the State is simply to keep the unfortunate from the border line, which once crossed, means starvation or that relic of medievalism, the poorhouse, which unfortunately, is still with us.

Since our last report wherein we gave in detail the workings of old age pension laws as adopted in various States, such as Colorado, Kentucky, Maryland, Montana, Nevada, Wisconsin, California, Minnesota, Wyoming, Utah and the territory of Alaska, old age pension laws have been enacted in New York and Delaware The New York law divides the cost between the counties and the State The California law, which is considered a model statute, is a mandatory law The maximum pension is $30 a month. Its administration is handled by the county and city boards of supervisors with a State bureau in the department of welfare, created for the purpose of providing uniform and adequate supervision. The California law specifies that the State department of welfare "shall follow the policy of giving the aid provided for under the act to each and every applicant in his own, or some other suitable home, in preference to placing him in an institution."

We shall continue to use our efforts to have established and recommend where it is feasible, industrial insurance. We believe this insurance to be of especial benefit and help to the clerical worker. We are glad to report that many industries have adopted pension plans, but we stress the fact that all industry cannot inaugurate pension plans for employees.

As has been pointed out in previous reports, there is no warrant to say that the worker should have saved and laid by for the rainy day. Conditions might have made it impossible for him so to do It is a fact that wages since 1914 have been higher, but so have living standards been higher. If our working classes were to cease being purchasers of those things that make for a higher standard of living, it would bring on a business cataclysm that would arouse industry and the whole country, and the proponent of saving for old age would be the first to reverse his position and implore the masses not to change their standards of living. The county almshouses are not the places to send our indigent aged. A large percentage of the inmates of our almshouses are subjects for medical aid It is criminal to mix indiscriminately the mental defective, the diseased, with old people who are not physically afflicted, but whose only misfortune is that they have not the wherewithal to maintain themselves Dumb animals are better provided for. The small sum of $1 a day for our indigent aged who have no income is, according to present-day costs, inadequate, but it is a fact that the assistance of a small pension added to wages from part-time employment, would allow men and women to remain producers instead of nonproducers as they are in poorhouses More than that, they would retain their self-respect which vanishes when the door of the almshouse opens

A State survey to ascertain the exact number of indigent poor who have reached the age of seventy, is of no value. The number varies from year to year and at best a survey is speculative as to actual figures The subject should not be approached from the viewpoint of how many indigent and helpless aged exist Suppose for an example, that there were 25,000 of this class and a later year would show that this had been increased by a few hundred; this increase would not diminish the State's moral responsibility to care and help those unfortunates. A survey of the kind gets nowhere and is simply a means of spending State money and delaying humanitarian legislation. The cold facts are that we have with us these poor unfortunates. An old age assistance law with proper safeguards as to investigation of applicants, the rigorous investigation as to the validity of their claims, etc , is a more practical way of determining the number of indigent poor entitled to a pension.

In New York State it is understood that the pension law there in effect has proven of inestimable value from every point of view.

In New Jersey several pension plans have been introduced in the last five years. Some of these bills have passed one of the houses of the Legislature. The 1930 bill provided that the expense be borne by both State and county. This seems a fair and reasonable way of financing the project There is at present a great deal of unrest We have just gone through and are still going through a business depression of vast proportions. The emissaries of Communist Russia are endeavoring to foment further discontent and unrest, and one of the indictments that they continually point to, is the utter disregard that America has shown for her helpless aged In all other civilized countries they are helped. In America today, many States have enacted remedial legislation. Our sister State New York has adopted an old age pension law New Jersey unquestionably will heed the moral responsibility that is hers

We respectfully urge upon the Legislature the necessity that exists to have upon our statute books, a law that will bring succor and aid to those old persons of our State who, in the evening of their lives, find themselves alone and without relatives, friends, or other means of assistance to keep them from degradation, privation and misery.

REPORT OF THE MORTGAGE LAWS COMMISSION

To the Legislature of New Jersey:

The Mortgage Laws Commission, originally created by Joint Resolution in 1928 for the purpose of modifying and revising the present laws with respect to mortgages and mortgage investments in this State and to devise some satisfactory method of facilitating the foreclosure of mortgages, begs leave to submit herewith a brief report of its findings and activities.

Incidentally, this commission recommends and strongly urges that no action be taken at this time on any proposed measure to facilitate or speed up the processes of foreclosure until after the expiration of the present year. The existing financial conditions, due to the late economic upheaval, have, most unfortunately, occasioned an almost complete withdrawal of mortgage money from the market, and as a consequence, real estate owners and investors have suffered and will continue for some months to suffer, very severe losses and set-backs because of their inability to refinance their holdings.

The collapse of the financial markets of the world and the scarcity of any available capital, has, on the other hand, necessitated the turning of most securities into cash.

The result, as we all know, has been a desire on the part of most holders of mortgage securities to call in their holdings. Home owners, real estate investors and developers, finding it practically impossible to raise funds from other sources, have been rather hard hit and our courts and sheriffs offices are clogged up to the limit with foreclosure actions and execution sales.

Banking institutions in this State, in order to meet any possible emergencies, have adopted and consistently pursued a course of refusing to tie up their assets in long term investments They must at all times have on hand a large percentage of their assets in ready cash Building and Loan Associations have been sorely strained since the fall of 1929 by heavy withdrawals, and what with the tightening up of regulatory legislation, such as the requirement of a "reserve fund," etc and the necessity for meeting maturing series of shareholdings, they have practically no moneys to lend on bond and mortgage Besides, both banks and building loan associations, have been compelled, as a result of these same conditions, to themselves take over innumerable parcels of real estate, at greatly reduced values, and with severe losses

In our opinion, it would be most unwise, at present, to speed up or facilitate the processes of foreclosure since the inevitable result of such legislation would be to simply add to what is already a most unfortunate and oppressive condition

It may be said, however, that the hesitancy to invest in mortgage securities is largely due to the fear that such investments in New Jersey at least, are and have been considered as "frozen assets," and that the difficulties which attend the realization on such securities, such as time and expense, obsolete and archaic foreclosure proceedings, etc, in themselves are a bar to any possible assistance in this respect. Be that as it may, this commission feels that for the next few months at least, the situation in the main, will not be eased to any considerable extent, even in those States where foreclosure proceedings are more modernized and less subject to delay Besides, the home-owner and unfortunate investor must, in these unprecedented days, be given a little more time within which to search around for other sources of funds to preserve their equities and rights of redemption

Then again, we feel that these conditions have conspicuously illustrated to the people some examples and situations from which we will profit by proper analyzation, during the next few months, and incorporate in the revision we will propose to your Honorable Bodies at the 1932 Session.

PREPARATORY INVESTIGATION

For the better part of two years after the creation of the mortgage laws commission, our members have made a study of the Mortgage Laws of the various States of the Union. Conferences have been held with accredited committees of the New Jersey Title Association, N. J. Bankers Association, N. J. Building and Loan League and the Association of Real Estate Boards. In addition, we have conferred with the Mortgage Departments of Insurance Companies and had some considerable correspondence with Mortgage Investment Institutions both in and out of this State, including some Federal Land Banks

Criticisms and suggestions were carefully considered and analyzed, but always with a view toward properly safeguarding the rights of the property owner as well as the investor.

It became increasingly obvious that mortgage funds would be far less expensive and more easily available if the very nature of the investment were made more fluid. This could be accomplished only by a radical change in the foreclosure processes. Instead of a period of protracted litigation of from six to nine months, this should be cut down to not more than ten weeks including four weeks for advertising the proposed sale.

Our commission held numerous public hearings in various parts of the State, and we were exceedingly surprised to find such wide variance in the practice and procedure which presently obtains in foreclosure cases in the various counties of North and South Jersey. Proceedings on bond and warrant are virtually unheard of in the northern part of New Jersey. Foreclosures in the Circuit Courts of Salem, Burlington, Cumberland, Camden and Hunterdon Counties are quite common, but in the more populated sections of our State, are rarely, if ever, resorted to.

We found that almost uniformly, the larger mortgage institutions, including insurance companies and even Federal Land Banks have refused to enter the field in New Jersey until this change in procedure was effected.

At the 1929 Session of the Legislature, we caused to be introduced a series of measures which were designed to temporarily relieve the situation These were all approved by the State Bar Associations (see Year Book 1929-1930, N. J. State Bar Association) and all passed in the House of Assembly. It was urged upon us when these measures were in the Senate to withhold them all until our complete revision would be adopted.

Accordingly, we extended our studies and investigations and incorporated these measures in our completed bill which was submitted in 1930 and became known as "Senate No. 92."

This bill, among numerous other items, treated with a decentralization of the courts having jurisdiction in foreclosure cases, cutting down the time to file answers or appearances by defendants, lessened the costs, provided for absent defendants, lis pendens, appointment of rent receivers and the procedure thereon, deficiency suits, rights of redemption, payment of accrued taxes or other municipal liens, insurance premium, and interest on underlying or prior mortgages, estoppels, piecemeal foreclosures, cancellation and recording, and adopted a new short form of mortgage.

Numerous conferences were held with representatives of interested parties before the bill was drafted and its contents and purposes were unanimously approved. Members of the commission addressed various Bar Associations and Real Estate Boards of the State on the matters contained in this proposed legislation and were enthusiastically ratified with occasional new suggestions which were later embodied therein

After its submission to the 1930 Legislature, Senate Bill No. 92 was, at the special request of this commission, subjected to a public hearing.

The measure met with general approval from all sources with the exception of one, and this single objection was not so much directed against the entire bill, since it was conceded that the proposed legislation had some very excellent features; the objection mainly was directed against the policy of vesting in the Circuit Courts, coequal jurisdiction with Chancery in foreclosure cases.

As a result, the measure was recommitted to our Mortgage Laws Commission and its passage was not pressed further during the 1930 Legislative Session.

Since then, the radical changes in our economic structure hereinabove referred to, have occurred, and in our opinion, the failure of the provisions of Senate Bill No. 92 to become a part of the law of our State, was a rather fortunate coincidence.

PENDING LEGISLATION

This Commisison feels itself obliged to respectfully advert to a series of bills now pending in the Senate, obviously designed to cut down the period of foreclosure proceedings to sixty days.

Not only is this measure deficient in many respects, but, we feel, that its approval will bring about a condition nothing short of calamitous It provides, as the penalty for speed in foreclosure suits, that no suits for deficiencies on bonds can be maintained. The effect of this provision would be to repulse outside capital from coming into New Jersey rather than attract it.

Our investigation has shown, and practical experience has proved, that the granting of almost every mortgage loan in New Jersey as well as elsewhere, is largely induced by the financial stability of the person who, or corporation which, executes the bond accompanying the mortgage. Without the bond, or any similar obligation, there can be no mortgage loan. Should Senate Bill No. 71 (1931) become a law, and foreclosure suits be instituted thereunder, even existing bonds will be absolutely nullified. We feel this would be entirely too radical a change, and should be discouraged.

Considering that this bill would wipe out the right of redemption in all cases, and considering also the present financial condition and scarcity of mortgage funds, it will virtually be saying to home owners whose properties are encumbered by maturing or defaulted mortgage liens, "We will make it possible to take your property away from you within eight weeks from now, and even though you might be able thereafter to borrow sufficient cash to extinguish your mortgage debt, yet you cannot have your property back."

FUTURE ACTION

As stated above, the members of this Commission have studied their work with great care. Having obtained and carefully considered the views of all the important bodies and factors whose interest are centered in realty mortgages, we feel that the results of our labor should be before the Legislature at this time.

Moreover, there is now pending before you a Revision of the Property Law (Senate No. 53) as submitted by the Commission on Revision and Consolidation of Public Statutes. While dealing with the law of property and mortgages generally, the framers of that bill have purposely omitted all provisions with respect to "Actions and Remedies" This was properly left for our Commission and the proper contacts have already been made for collaborations during the present year, to the end that we will, at your next annual session, be ready with our legislation in this respect.

Meanwhile we approve of Senate Bill No. 73 (by Senator Leap) cutting down Sheriffs' fees and would further suggest that Senate Bill No. 74 (also by the Senator from Salem) respecting deficiency suits, be held in abeyance until the coming in of our revision.

Respectfully submitted,

MORTGAGE LAWS COMMISSION,
EDWARD WEST, Chairman,
ATWOOD C. WOLF, Secretary,
ALFRED S. MARCH,
WILLIAM J. BLAIR,
JOHN R. SIRACUSA,
WILLIAM J. EGAN.

A message was received from the Governor by the hands of his secretary as follows:

STATE OF NEW JERSEY,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
March 2d, 1931.

To the Legislature:

Senate Bills Nos 113 and 114 are now before you for your consideration

Senate Bill No. 113 provides for the establishment and maintenance of a reserve fund to support all Port Authority bonds which have been or may hereafter be made legal for investment.

Senate Bill No. 114 declares the policy of the States of New York and New Jersey in respect to certain vehicular bridges and tunnels within the Port of New York district; vests the control and operation of the Holland Tunnel in the Port of New York Authority; authorizes the Port Authority to construct an additional interstate vehicular tunnel, and regulates the construction and operation of bridges and tunnels by the Port Authority.

Similar bills have been introduced in the New York Legislature, and have passed both Houses. The Governor of New York, in a message to the Legislature, requested the immediate passage thereof, and I am assured that the bills will receive his approval. I consider these measures of sufficient importance to request their immediate passage. They are the result of joint conferences between the Governors and the members of the Legislatures of both States, and, in my opinion, are a forward and progressive step in the solution of interstate traffic problems.

I have given both bills careful consideration, and feel that the interests of the State of New Jersey are amply protected.

A brief summary of the settlement basis for the transfer of the Holland Tunnel shows that the State of New Jersey will receive from the Port of New York Authority approximately $23,000,000, in addition to an excess payment of $2,793,800 to bring the sinking fund to par, and a further allowance of $1,567,500, equal to one year's interest on $36,000,000, as a guarantee of sinking fund performance.

This settlement frees the sinking fund lien on Camden Bridge tolls, but does not settle the Camden Bridge account with the State of New Jersey for advances made for its construction.

I am convinced that the financing scheme is sound, and is decidedly for the best interests of the State

I therefore recommend immediate passage of the above measures.

Respectfully submitted,

[SEAL] MORGAN F. LARSON,
Governor.

Attest:
THOMAS L. HANSON,
Secretary to the Governor.

Mr. Otto moved that the message be received and spread in full in the minutes.

Which motion was adopted.

STATE OF NEW JERSEY
DEPARTMENT OF STATE
TRENTON, February 25th, 1931.

Hon. Frederick Brodesser, Clerk of the House of Assembly, Trenton, New Jersey.

DEAR SIR—I am herewith enclosing a copy of Senate Resolution C, Twenty-second Legislative Assembly of the State of North Dakota. This copy of Senate Resolution is sent to you at the request of the Secretary of State of the State of North Dakota.

Very truly yours,

JOSEPH B. FITZPATRICK,
Secretary of State.

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
DEPARTMENT OF STATE
STATE OF NORTH DAKOTA

To All to Whom these Presents Shall Come

I, Robert Byrne, Secretary of State of the State of North Dakota and keeper of the Great Seal thereof, do hereby certify that the following copy of

SENATE RESOLUTION C
TWENTY-SECOND LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY, STATE OF NORTH DAKOTA

has been compared by me with the original Resolution on file in this Department, and that the same is a true copy thereof, and of the whole of such Resolution.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and affixed the Great Seal of the State at the Capitol in the City of Bismarck, this 18th day of February, A D. 1931.

Secretary of State
By CHARLES LIESSMAN,
Deputy

(SENATE RESOLUTION C—HAMILTON AND ATKINS)

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION FOR MEMORIAL TO CONGRESS

BE IT RESOLVED by the Senate of the State of North Dakota, the House of Representatives Concurring; that

WHEREAS, During the World War and at the time that the price fixing act of Congress became effective and was put in operation No 1 Northern wheat was selling as high as $3.49 per bushel at Minneapolis, and other agricultural products were selling accordingly; and

WHEREAS, The minimum price of $2.17 per bushel for No. 1 Northern wheat at Minneapolis fixed by Congress, was in fact made the maximum price; and

WHEREAS, During this time No. 1 Northern wheat was selling at an average price of $4.41 per bushel in the allied governments; and

WHEREAS, During the War the price on all other commodities used by the farmer in connection with agriculture, together with freight and transportation rates, were increased by leaps and bounds, and these prices were for a long time, and many of them still are maintained on such commodities, and especially is it true of freight and transportation rates, and

WHEREAS, A large part of the agricultural indebtedness was created during the time that the price of agricultural products was considerably higher than at present, and then during the period of inflation of our currency; and

WHEREAS, The farmer during the period of deflation was made the shock-absorber, so that now it takes approximately 6,220 bushels of wheat to pay an indebtedness that could have been paid with 1,000 bushels prior to the price fixing and the deflation periods; and

WHEREAS, As a result of these conditions thousands and hundreds of thousands of once prosperous farmers in this State and nation have lost their homes and their all by mortgage foreclosures; and

WHEREAS, The price of agricultural products during the present year have in fact been below the cost of production; and

WHEREAS, There is no adequate way of refinancing existing agricultural indebtedness and the farmers are at the mercy of their mortgagees and creditors throughout this State and nation; and

WHEREAS, Unless immediate relief is given thousands and hundreds of thousands additional farmers will lose their farms and their homes and millions more will be forced into our cities and villages, and the army of unemployed will necessarily increase to alarming proportions;

NOW THEREFORE, The Legislative Assembly of the State of North Dakota respectfully petitions the Congress of the United States of America to pass Senate Bill 5109 known as the "Farmers Farm Relief Bill" in order that the agricultural indebtedness of this State and nation may be speedily liquidated and refinanced and agriculture saved from utter ruin and destruction.

The farmers ask for no charity—they simply ask "that American Agriculture be placed on a basis of equality with other industries." They ask that the Federal Reserve system be made to function for them, as it is functioning for other industries.

Since the Federal Reserve Bank is now loaning Federal Reserve notes to New York banks at 2% interest—and since our government refinanced the foreign nations to the extent of fifteen billion dollars at less than 2% interest—we feel that this bill asks nothing but simply justice and a square deal for Agriculture. As a nation we have protected industries by tariff laws for generations, and we feel that the farmer is now entitled to first consideration at the hands of Congress.

Be it Further Resolved, That sufficient copies of this resolution be printed and the Secretary of the State requested to mail a copy to the President of the United States and the President of the Senate of the United States, with the request that the resolution be read from the desk, and a copy to the Speaker of the House of Representatives of the United States, with the request that the resolution be read from the desk; and a copy to the Governor of all the States in this Union, and a copy to the President of the Senate of all of the States in the Union, with the request that it be read from the desk, also a copy to be mailed to the Speaker of the House of Representatives of all of the States in this Union, with the request that it be read from the desk.

C. VERNON FREEMAN,
Speaker of the House.

JNO. W CARR,
President of the Senate.

A message was received from the Governor by the hands of his secretary as follows:

Which was read by the Clerk,

STATE OF NEW JERSEY,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
March 10, 1931

To the Legislature:

The Federal census of 1930 makes necessary certain changes in the structure of our government, so as to fix and determine the classification of counties, and the adjusting of compensation of State and county officials.

To date fifteen measures have been presented to the Senate and House of Assembly designed to change and reclassify counties and to adjust salaries of the various State and county officials.

The enactment of any or all of these measures will inevitably result in confusion. I would earnestly recommend, in order that uniformity in legislation may be promoted, that two or three general laws be enacted, so as to prevent duplication and avoid a conflict of statutes. In the past laws which have been enacted, under the guise of general legislation, but in effect applying to local situations only, have resulted, in many instances, in vexatious litigation.

By reason of the increase in population a general statute should be enacted whereby counties should be generally reclassified, and thereafter a uniform schedule of salaries, general in nature, be enacted, applying to State officers, such as judges, assistant prosecutors and District Court judges; and the salaries of county officials, notably county clerks, registers of deeds and mortgages, surrogates and sheriffs follow this general plan.

I earnestly recommend this plan to your consideration. Simplicity in government is much to be desired, and the enactment of statutes, based on the census, and along the lines indicated, will aid materially in securing this result

Respectfully submitted,

(Signed) MORGAN F. LARSON,
Governor.

THOMAS L. HANSON,

of the State's share of the old age relief reimbursement together with any deficiencies, if any, incurred in any previous year. The Legislature shall include the amount so determined and stated in the annual Appropriation Bill. For the payment of said amount there is hereby dedicated annually so much of the monies received under the provisions of an act entitled "An act to tax the transfer of property of residents and non-resident decedents, by demise, bequest, descent, distribution by statute, gift, deed, grant, bargain and sale, in certain cases, and approved April 20, 1909" and the several supplements and amendments thereto hereinafter collectively referred to as the Inheritance Tax.

14. For the payment of the State's share of old age relief as herein provided, there is hereby further dedicated all monies hereafter received by the State Treasurer pursuant to the aforesaid Inheritance Tax after deducting therefrom annually (1) the amount annually determined and stated by the Governor as aforesaid and (2) the sum of Twelve Million Dollars per annum which is hereby reserved for the general Treasury Funds of the State. The surplus, if any, then remaining and thus dedicated shall constitute a separate fund which shall be invested and reinvested from time to time by the State House Commission in such securities as are lawful for investment by trustees. The custody of said fund and the income thereof shall be entrusted to the State Treasurer. The income from said fund shall be available for and devoted to the payment of the State old age relief as provided in this act and shall, to the extent thereof, be used for the payment of such relief in lieu of the monies to be annually determined and stated by the Governor as aforesaid. For this purpose the Governor shall include in his budget message such a statement of income and the same shall be deducted from mandatory appropriation by the Legislature as aforesaid; provided, however, that if the income from the said fund hereby created shall be sufficient to wholly defray the State's share of old age relief then such income shall be used for that purpose in the first instance and any excess thereof shall become a part of the corpus of said fund.

15. It is the intent of the Legislature that the State's share of old age relief, as provided in this act, shall be provided from the revenue produced by the Inheritance Tax and that the first monies received in any one year from that source shall be dedicated to that purpose and that after sufficient funds have been so accumulated, then the sum of Twelve Million Dollars, if so much further shall be received, shall be available for appropriations to general

State purposes and that any surplus of Inheritance Tax revenue then remaining shall become a Capital Fund to be invested as herein provided, the income from which shall be used in the first instance to pay the State's share of old age relief pensions and that such Capital Fund be accumulated until such fund alone will yield sufficient income to pay all of the State's share of such old age relief."

Mr. Frederick A. Brodesser,

Elizabeth, N. J.

HONORABLE SIR —I am pleased to transmit herewith Resolution passed by the New Jersey Industrial Traffic League, calling for an impartial investigation by an expert commission under the direction of the State of New Jersey of the rates and practices of transportation agencies such as railroads and motor vehicle common carriers.

It is the thought of the League that a fact-finding commission could produce the required data to ascertain whether or not legislation is desirable, in order to stabilize the present chaotic transportation situation.

Yours very truly,

M. P BAUMAN,
Secretary.

RESOLUTION

WHEREAS, The State of New Jersey by reason of enormous expenditure of public moneys has created an opportunity for various forms of transportation to unfairly compete with one another for patronage; and

WHEREAS, Those carriers which keep accurate cost account records and know what rates are properly chargeable are being jeopardized and their capital investments threatened.

Be it Resolved, That the New Jersey Industrial Traffic League go on record as favoring accurate and exhaustive study being made by an expert, non-political State commission to the end that responsible, reputable and well managed transportation agencies will be safeguarded against the invasion of irresponsible improperly financed and itinerant competitors.

Be it Further Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be sent to the Governor of the State of New Jersey, members of the Board of Public Utilities of the State of New Jersey, Commissioner of Motor Vehicles for the State of New Jersey, and members of the Senate and House of Assembly of the State of New Jersey.

STATE OF NEW JERSEY
NEW JERSEY TRAFFIC COMMISSION

TRENTON, June 29, 1931.

Hon. Russell S. Wise,
Speaker of the House of Assembly,
State House, Trenton, New Jersey.

DEAR MR. SPEAKER—I am directed by Chairman Russell S. Wise of the New Jersey Traffic Commission to transmit to you, for your information, the attached copy of a report regarding a study of interstate commercial motor vehicle traffic entering and leaving the State of New Jersey made by the Traffic Commission from June 10th to 17th.

Very truly yours,

J. FRED MARGERUM,
Secretary N. J. Traffic Commission.

REPORT

To the New Jersey Traffic Commission:

GENTLEMEN.—In compliance with your instructions I wish to advise that a survey has been made of interstate commercial truck traffic to and from the State of New Jersey at the major crossings over the Hudson River, Arthur Kill and Kill Van Kull and the Delaware River.

Because of the limited moneys set aside for this survey only 26 of the 44 crossings either ferry, bridge or tunnel used by motor vehicle traffic to enter or leave the State of New Jersey, were included in the survey. Although the number of crossings studied approximates only 60 per cent of the total crossings, it has been estimated that more than 90 per cent of the total commercial truck traffic entering or leaving the State of New Jersey travel via those facilities included in the survey. Also, the lack of sufficient moneys and time did not permit surveys to be made determining the origin and destination of the vehicles clocked, their ownership nor the number of trips made back and forth, to and from New Jersey within any limited period.

The report attached hereto, therefore, includes merely a record of the volume of commercial vehicles entering or leaving the State of New Jersey during the period of the survey, June 10th to June 17th, inclusive, separated into those vehicles carrying New Jersey, New York, and Pennsylvania license plates. Also, those carrying double license plates, one of which was a New Jersey plate, and those carrying license plates of other States.

Respectfully submitted,

ARNOLD H. VEY,
Traffic Engineer.

INTERSTATE COMMERCIAL TRAFFIC STUDY

A survey of commercial motor vehicular traffic, including all types of trucks and delivery motor vehicles used to transport merchandise, crossing the major crossings of the Hudson, Arthur Kill, Kill Van Kull and Delaware Rivers to and from the State of New Jersey showed a total volume of 32,855 commercial motor vehicles entering or leaving New Jersey either from or to the States of New York or Pennsylvania during an average week-day in June. On a Saturday the volume of commercial vehicles over the same crossings decreased to 24,307 and on a Sunday to 8,249.

Substantially, in the case of the average week-day, of the Saturday or of the Sunday volumes, approximately 60 per cent of the total commercial traffic crossed over crossings located along the Hudson River, 37 per cent over crossings along the Delaware River and 3 per cent over crossings along the Arthur Kill and Kill Van Kull.

To determine the volume of commercial motor vehicles using the various crossings, registered in the States of New Jersey, New York and Pennsylvania, the enumerators classified those vehicles carrying New Jersey license plates, those carrying New York license plates and those carrying Pennsylvania license plates. This classification showed the following percentage distribution:

	Week-day	Saturday	Sunday
New Jersey Plates	44.4%	42.4%	42 0%
New York Plates	24 6%	25.2%	27.9%
Pennsylvania Plates	12 7%	16 4%	17.7%
N Y and N J Plates	6 9%	5 4%	2 9%
N. J. and Pa Plates	9 2%	8.5%	4.8%
All other Plates	2.2%	2.1%	4.7%

From the above tabulation it will be noted that for every commercial vehicle carrying a New York State license plate entering or leaving the State of New Jersey there was approximately 1.7 vehicles carrying New Jersey license plates entering or leaving New Jersey In the case of commercial vehicles registered in Pennsylvania entering or leaving New Jersey the ratio is about one Pennsylvania vehicle to 3 4 New Jersey Vehicles

In other words, there are considerably more New Jersey commercial vehicles entering the two adjoining States than there are commercial vehicles of those states entering New Jersey. This, of course, substantiates a natural supposition as two of the great markets of the east are located in New York City and in Philadelphia.

The percentage of commercial vehicles carrying New Jersey, New York and Pennsylvania license plates varied considerably at the different crossings. The volumes of commercial vehicles separated into the various classifications, crossing over the different crossings investigated, is shown in the tabulations attached to the appendix of this report.

In order to give an estimated annual volume of commercial traffic using the various crossings surveyed, divided into the different groups, factors were obtained from the Port of New York Authority. These factors were used to raise the actual clockings of the average week-day in June, 1931, to that of an estimated annual total for the year 1931. The factors are based upon experience gained by the officials of the Port Authority from actual clockings made both in summer and winter months properly weighted to include seasonal fluctuations.

The estimated annual totals classified by those vehicles displaying license plates of New Jersey, New York and Pennsylvania are shown in figure 1 on page 4 of this report. This chart clearly demonstrates the use of the river crossings over the Hudson, Arthur Kill and Kill Van Kull and Delaware Rivers together with a comparison of the volume of vehicles carrying New Jersey plates with those carrying New York and Pennsylvania plates.

NEWARK, N. J., October 7th, 1931.

Hon. Russell S. Wise,
Speaker, House of Assembly,
Trenton, N. J.:

MY DEAR SIR—I have just learned that two resolutions have been prepared; one by Mr. Greenberg, a Democrat, and one by Mr. Siracusa, a Republican; the former a joint resolution calling upon the President of the United States to convene a special session of Congress for the purpose of legalizing beer, the latter a concurrent resolution calling upon Congress to legalize both wine and beer.

Believing as I do that this is the first step towards the breaking down or nullification of the 18th Amendment and the laws for its enforcement, I am making this urgent request that before the passage of such a resolution the Assembly go into a committee of the whole and permit those citizens outside of the Assembly, including myself, who are deeply opposed to the passage of such a resolution, to be heard before action is taken.

Very respectfully yours,

SENATE CHAMBER,
October 9th, 1931.

Mr. Speaker:

I am directed by the Senate to inform the House of Assembly that the Senate has passed the following Second Special Session Senate Joint Resolution:

Second Special Session Senate Joint Resolution entitled "A Joint Resolution of respect to the memory of United States Senator Dwight W. Morrow."

As follows:

A Joint Resolution of respect to the memory of United States Senator Dwight W. Morrow:

New Jersey mourns the passing of Senator Dwight W. Morrow, distinguished citizen, diplomat and statesman. His friendliness, his tolerance and his faith in men marked the measure of his humanity. At the zenith of his outstanding service he remained a neighbor and friend. Absorbed in great affairs he was gentle and unaffected. He walked the way of truth and duty. He served in all places with distinction. He taught the people by his example. He practiced his own philosophy of life. Honest, gentle, humble, men loved and trusted him. In the heart of the people it was known that "The American nation had once again bred a public figure of the first magnitude—a statesman who by the integrity of his spirit, the wisdom of his judgment, and the sympathy of his mind, was destined to play a central role in the life of his people." Saddened by our loss, but humble before the Infinite, we bow to this tragic decree. And now

Be It Resolved by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That we hereby record this expression of our admiration and affection, our acknowledgment of the distinguished service which Senator Morrow rendered to his State, his Country and the World, and our sorrow at the loss of his brilliant leadership; and

Be It Further Resolved, That we respectfully extend to the bereaved family of our distinguished citizen our sincere sympathy in their overwhelming loss; and

Be It Further Resolved, That this resolution be spread upon the official minutes of the Senate and the House of Assembly of the State of New Jersey and that an engrossed copy of this resolution, signed by his Excellency the Governor, the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House, be presented to the bereaved family.

In which the concurrence of the House of Assembly is requested.

The following statement was sent to the desk and read by the Clerk.

STATEMENT BY THE HONORABLE CHARLES A. OTTO, JR., OF UNION COUNTY,

While I would not favor amending the election laws just before a general election under ordinary circumstances, I feel that this legislation is absolutely necessary. Paragraph 4 of Article 1, Section 2, of the United States Constitution reads as follows:

> "When vacancies happen in the representation of any State, the executive authority thereof shall issue writs of election to fill such vacancies."

Under this section it is absolutely compulsory that the vacancy be filled and that a writ of election be issued therefor. Another section of the Constitution permits the filling of vacancies in the United States Senate by appointment but no such provision is made for the filling of vacancies in the House of Representatives. Under the foregoing provision it is not within the province of this Legislature to deny to the people of any congressional district representation in Congress at the next session which will be one of utmost importance. Since under the Constitution the issuance of a writ of election is mandatory, I feel that this bill should be enacted into law so that the Fifth Congressional District may have its proper representation in the next Congress.

Mr. Otto moved that the statement be received and spread in full in the minutes,

Which motion was adopted.

Mr. Otto offered the following resolution, which was read by the Clerk and adopted.

WHEREAS, It has pleased the Great Creator of us all, in His Infinite wisdom, to remove from our midst Honorable Ernest R Ackerman, a Congressman from Union County; and

WHEREAS, The said Honorable Ernest R. Ackerman had served the State of New Jersey in various capacities of public trust and responsibility with credit and distinction; yet his outstanding service to the people of our beloved State, one that will endear his name to the future generations, was the introduction and passage of the first Civil Service Law in this State. In view of his life of earnest devotion to the welfare of the people of New Jersey; now, therefore,

Be It Resolved, That this House of Assembly do hereby extend to the family of the deceased our heartfelt sympathy in this their hour of bereavement, and commend his memory to the citizens of New Jersey, both to the present and the future; and

Be It Further Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be spread in full upon the minutes of the House of Assembly, and a copy suitably engrossed be signed by the Speaker of the House, and attested to by the Clerk of the House, and that the same be forwarded to the members of the family of the late Honorable Ernest R. Ackerman.

Mr. Otto offered the following resolution, which was read by the Clerk and adopted.

Resolved, That the Speaker of the House appoint a Committee of three to wait upon the Governor and inform him that the House of Assembly is ready to adjourn sine die and request whether he has any further business for the House of Assembly.

In accordance with the resolution the Speaker appointed Messrs. Otto, Greenberg and Stelle a committee of three to wait on the Governor.

The committee returned and informed the Speaker the Governor had no further business for the House.

Mr. Litwin offered the following resolution, which was read by the Clerk and adopted.

WHEREAS, Almighty God in His wisdom has removed from our midst Thomas A. Edison, one of the outstanding citizens of the State of New Jersey; and

WHEREAS, Not only the State of New Jersey, but the whole world has sustained an irreparable loss; and

WHEREAS, It is proper that the House of Assembly of the State of New Jersey take notice of his decease; therefore

Be It Resolved, That the Speaker of the House of Assembly forthwith appoint a committee of three members to draw suitable resolutions to express the sentiments of this body.

In accordance with the resolution the Speaker appointed a committee of three, composed of Messrs. Otto, Litwin and Stelle, to draft suitable resolution in behalf of the late Thomas A. Edison.

In accordance with the direction of the Speaker the Clerk carried the following bills to the Senate and informed it that the House has passed the same without amendments: Third Special Session Senate Bill No. 1, Third Special Session Senate Bill No. 2, Third Special Session Senate Bill No. 3, Third Special Session Senate Bill No. 4.

The Speaker announced that the hour fixed by concurrent resolution for final adjournment of both Houses of the One Hundred and Fifty-fifth Legislature of the Third Special Session having arrived, he declared the House of Assembly adjourned without day.

The members of the House of Assembly, preceded by the Speaker and Clerk, then proceeded to the Senate Chamber, and, after announcement by the Speaker that, in accordance with his duties, he had adjourned the House of Assembly without day, The President of the Senate declared the Third Special Session of the One Hundred and Fifty-fifth Legislature of New Jersey adjourned sine die.
