ANNUAL REPORT

BUILDING AND LOAN ASSOCIATIONS

DEPARTMENT OF BANKING AND INSURANCE,
TRENTON, SEPTEMBER 1, 1925.

To the Honorable the Senate and General Assembly:

In compliance with the new building and loan associations' act, chapter 65, laws of 1925, I have the honor to submit the report of this department relating to such corporations. This statute requires each association to file a statement showing its financial condition on May 31st annually, and directs that a summary of every such statement shall be embodied in the department's report to the legislature. The statistics for this report have accordingly been compiled from the statements rendered by the associations for the date of May 31st last. The institutions are also required to file annual reports of their condition at the close of their respective fiscal years and transactions for the year, the same as heretofore, but there is no provision for the publication of the data. The submission of statements for the fixed date of May 31st is a new requirement.

The whole number of associations in the state is 1,427. This is a gain of 85 since June 30, 1924, the date of the preceding year's report. The new organizations are the following:

Assets, Liabilities, Etc.

The aggregate figures of the 1,410 associations from whom financial statements as of May 31st last were received are given in the following summary, this being the first time that an exhibit of condition of the institutions as a whole on one fixed date has been presented in a report of this department, the data for the corresponding tabulation in its reports for previous years having been compiled from the returns made by the societies during the preceding twelve months, setting forth their financial status at the close of their fiscal years, the dates of which vary in different associations. This also precludes the making of any fair comparison with the data as published in the department's report for June 30, 1924.

With assets as shown of over $645,500,000, a membership of over 1,000,000, shares outstanding numbering more than 11,100,000, and surplus or profits in excess of $86,000,000, the foregoing is a truly impressive exhibit of the growth and prosperity of this class of the state's institutions. It is by far the largest showing the associations have ever made, and when the benefits flowing from their operation are considered the state is to be congratulated upon this striking evidence of the very marked degree of success they have attained. Their worth to the communities in which they are established has been demonstrated beyond question. The formation of habits of thrift which inevitably results from the plan of these societies, and the assistance they render to shareholders desiring to become home-owners, are features the value of which can hardly be overestimated.

Honest management is of course essential in these as well as in every other kind of institution, and it is in accordance with the facts to state that the number of cases of failure and loss to shareholders of building-loan associations of this state through dishonest management has for many years past been extremely few, especially in comparison with the many hundreds of societies in active operation. It is therefore regrettable to record that since the preceding year's report one association was found to be seriously involved as the result, as all appearances indicated, of criminal wrongdoing on the part of some one or more of the persons in charge of its affairs. Reference is made to the case of the Industrial Building and Loan Association, of Hackensack, which was widely commented upon in the press at the time. In the amount involved, over $284,000, it is unprecedented. The greater part of the deficiency was made good by the directors and officers with the cooperation of stockholders, and the association is still doing business.

A very unfortunate aspect of the case is that responsibility for the deficiency has not been definitely fixed and punishment meted out accordingly. The officer whose duty it was to receive the dues' payments of the members was indicted and tried upon the charge of making a false statement of the condition of the society, but he was adjudged not guilty. Other charges, including one of embezzlement, were preferred against him and are still pending.

No deficiency had been disclosed on the official examinations until the one made for the date of June 30, 1924. The report on that examination showed an apparent discrepancy of some $3,000, which resulted in an audit of the pass-books and the discovery of the extent of the shortage. There is no doubt that a large deficiency had existed for a considerable length of time and that the books had been manipulated so as to deceive the examiners as to the true situation. It may be that their work was not done as thoroughly as it should have been, also that the condition of affairs could have been indicated if a more efficient audit of the filed reports of the association had been made. These are matters which have given much concern to the department's official staff, and have had their serious consideration with the view of remedying any weaknesses and providing additional safeguards against a repetition of such a catastrophe, or at least of detecting anything wrong before serious harm results.

This particular case, however, is so very exceptional that it is highly improbable it will ever be duplicated. It affords no justifiable warrant for apprehension as to the stability or integrity of the management of the other associations which, it may be safely assumed, are entitled to the confidence of their shareholders and the public.

Respectfully submitted,

EDWARD MAXSON,

Commissioner of Banking and Insurance.
