Messrs. Abbett, Alcott, Bonsall, Coles, Cowperthwaite, Gray, Gurney, Harding, Hemmingway, House, Hunkele, Jarrard, Keim, Lord, Mackin, Norris, Peck, Phœnix, Price, Reeves, Sheppard, Shinn, Speer, Staats, Van Voorhies, Woolery—26.

Mr. Abbett having received a majority of votes was declared elected.

Messrs. Beesley and Vliet were appointed to conduct the Speaker elect to the Chair.

Upon taking the Chair, the Speaker addressed the House as follows:

Gentlemen of the General Assembly—For your kindness and partiality in selecting me to preside over your deliberations, accept my most grateful thanks. I shall endeavor to deserve your confidence by an impartial discharge of the duties of the position. I shall always remember that the honor and dignity of this House have been entrusted to my keeping, and I shall endeavor so to act that, when my official relation with you is ended, no member of this House or citizen of this State shall have any cause of complaint. I accept the office fully appreciating its grave responsibilities, and I ask you to aid in the discharge of its duties—without such assistance no Speaker can maintain order or enforce right. Believing that a rigid adherence to the rules will expedite business, promote harmony, maintain order and good feeling, and tend to shorten the session, I shall, without distinction or favor to any, strictly enforce all rules you may adopt, trusting that you will rightly appreciate my motives in so doing. I shall never, if I can help it, permit the rules of the House so to be used as factiously to retard business. Rules are only the instruments for the orderly ascertainment of the will of the legal majority, and in that spirit, and with that view only, I shall administer them. I am confident that every member of this House is deeply impressed with the responsibilities of his position. The people of this sovereign State have entrusted to us their political and material interests. In New Jersey the Legislature (except so far as restrained by the Constitution) is really supreme. The veto of the Executive, under our State Constitution, is less potent than in other States of the Union, where a two-thirds vote is necessary to pass a bill notwithstanding the objections of the Governor, but in New Jersey the Legislature has the power to pass a bill over the veto of the Governor by a bare majority of both Houses. Hence there is, virtually, but little restraint by the Executive upon our actions, and it the more behooves to carefully examine every bill that is brought before us, and to sanction none that does not receive the deliberate assent of our judgment, after careful consideration and investigation. We have all known instances of hasty and ill-advised legislation. This often results from an inattention to business, and sometimes from the difficulty of properly investigating the subject, by reason of bills being hurried and forced through by interested parties, with a deliberate intention of preventing inquiry which would have been fatal to their schemes. Many members have voted for bills, of the effect of which they were wholly ignorant, and have found that their action has been severely criticised; their regret afterwards will not repair the injury inflicted by their inattention. The people properly refuse to receive such a plea in extenuation of evil legislation. It is seldom accepted by those injured as true, and, if so accepted, the excuse is thought to be as bad as the deliberate act. These remarks are perhaps unnecessary so far as regards those gentlemen who have heretofore been members of the Legislature, but as so many members of this House have not had much experience, I trust these observations may not be deemed inappropriate.

After deliberate reflection, I have deemed it impolitic, at this time, to present my views upon any of the questions that may be presented to your body for action. In all matters of legislation I am but an individual member like yourselves, have neither the right nor the inclination to assume any other position, either upon political or any other subject. Whenever I deem it proper or advisable, I shall present the views and wishes of my constituents upon the floor of the House. While I am in the Chair, I shall endeavor to be only a courteous, fair and impartial presiding officer.

In the discharge of our duties I trust that we may exercise that wise economy which has hitherto rendered New Jersey the most favored and least tax-burdened of any State in the Union; and that, in view of the heavy taxes upon us by our large national debt, we may, if possible, follow the good example set us by the last Legislature in reducing our State expenditures, and may also be able to provide still further retrenchment in every department.

Relying upon Divine Providence to direct me in the discharge of my duties, and to aid us in all our efforts to advance the prosperity of our beloved Commonwealth, I again return you my heartfelt thanks for the honor you have conferred upon me.

The House then proceeded to the election of a Clerk.

Mr. Lippincott nominated Alexander M. Johnston, of Mercer.

Mr. Cowperthwaite nominated Mr. Lemuel C. Reeves, of Burlington.

The roll was then called with the following result:

Gentlemen voting for Mr. Johnston, were

Which was adopted.

A message was received from the Senate informing the House that the Senate has passed the following resolution:

Resolved, (House of Assembly concuring), That a Joint Committee of three persons from the Senate, and five from the House of Assembly be appointed to wait on the Governor elect, and to make such arrangements as may be necessary and proper for his inauguration; and that the Senate have appointed as a committee on their part: Messrs. Which was read and adopted.

Mr. Whelan presented the Report of the Water Commissioners of the City of Elizabeth.

REPORT.

To the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey:

The undersigned having been duly appointed Water Commissioners by the City Council of the City of Elizabeth, on the 1st day of May, 1868, in pursuance of the authority granted to said City Council by an act of the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, entitled "An Act for the appointment of Commissioners in relation to supplying the City of Elizabeth with pure and wholesome water," approved April 9, 1868, respectfully present this their report of their action under the authority given them by said act.

The estimates submitted are based upon a prospective population of 100,000 persons, and allowing 60 gallons to each, 6,000,000 standard gallons will be required daily.

The Board have carefully examined four different localities in the vicinity of Elizabeth which appeared best situated, and from which it seemed possible that a proper amount of pure and wholesome water could be obtained, namely: Feltville, situated on Green Brook, eleven and a half miles from the Railway Station at Elizabeth; Millburn, situated on the Rahway River, about seven miles from said Railway Station; the Elizabeth River near Kean's Upper Dam, about two and a half miles from said Station; and Cranford, situated on the Rahway River, about four and three-quarter miles from said Station.

The considerations which have governed the Board in selecting from the above mentioned places have been:

1. That the water should be pure and wholesome.

2. That the supply should be sufficient to meet the wants of a rapidly increasing city at all times during the year.

3. That the source of supply should have such an elevation as to secure a sufficient head of water in the highest parts of the city without the use of pumps or expensive machinery and reservoirs.

4. The expense of bringing the water to the city and for purchage of the privilege.

After a careful examination of the position at Feltville, it was found that the elevation was sufficient and the quality of the water good, with the additional advantage of a direct route for the main along the line of the Central Railroad of New Jersey to the center of the city. But the fact that the supply of water was irregular and insufficient during a portion of the year to meet the rapidly increasing wants of the city, taken with its distance from the center of the city, caused the Board to abandon its further consideration.

The position at Millburn was next carefully examined and surveyed by the Board, and offered the advantages of a sufficient elevation to give a good head of water, which would reach the highest point of the city without the use of pumps, and a chemical analysis of the water showed that it was of a pure and wholesome quality. (See the Report of Prof. George H. Cook, of Rutger's College, Analytical Chemist, hereto annexed, marked B.)

The Board were, however, compelled to abandon the position for the following reasons: There appeared to be grave doubts as to the sufficiency of the supply in times of drought, although it was proposed and considered that the supply might be increased by bringing a branch from Monker's Pond. Its selection would involve the extraordinary expense of purchasing the acquired rights of about twelve mill sites situated near and below the source of supply, whose privileges would be destroyed or seriously interfered with, while the only practicable route for the main passed through private property, over which it would be necessary to purchase the right of way.

The Board caused a careful survey and an estimate to be made of the expense likely to be incurred by an adoption of this position by an experienced and competent engineer, whose report is hereto annexed, marked A, by which the matters herein stated will more fully appear, and which is adopted by the Board and presented as part of their report. The estimated cost of supplying the city from Millburn is $396,755, exclusive of the amount to be paid for mill privileges, which have not been estimated.

The position near Kean's upper Dam on the Elizabeth river, and that at Cranford, on the Rahway river, were then carefully examined and compared by the Board as to their advantages and respective availability, and the preference of the Board was decidedly in favor of the source at Cranford, for the following reasons: The quality of the water, as shown by its analysis, is superior (see report hereto annexed, marked B) to that of the Elizabeth river, and the supply ample at all seasons of the year, being greater than that of any other locality examined.

Its position gives an easy, direct, and comparatively an inexpensive route for the mains to the centre of the city, along a street now being opened paralleled with the Central Railroad of New Jersey, necessarily passing through that part of the city, which, as now projected, will ultimately become one of the most densely populated parts of the city of Elizabeth.

The low situation of the sources at Kean's Ponds and Cranford involve the intervention of pumping machinery to raise the water to reservoirs of sufficient heights to supply the higher parts of the city; but the additional outlay and expense of so doing is far less than would be incurred by bringing the water from the other more distant sources at Millburn and Feltville, which give but a limited and doubtful supply, while the expense for rights of way and the purchase of privileges is comparatively small. The Board estimate the cost of supplying the city from the situation at Kean's Ponds at $323,363, and at Cranford at $338,855.

The Board would refer to the accompanying report of Mr. Peter Sours, Civil Engineer, for the estimated cost of bringing the water from Millburn, Kean's Ponds, and Cranford, the quantity of water which can be supplied by each source, the costs of dams, reservoirs, pumps, pipes, and laying the same, engines and engine houses, lands for lines and reservoirs, and for the heights of sources of supply as compared with the highest parts of the city. The report also shows the heights to which the water must be raised from the sources at Cranford and Kean's Ponds.

The Board would also refer to the accompanying map, prepared under their direction, which shows the relative positions of the several localities herein mentioned, the routes over which the mains must necessarily pass to the city, and the proposed situations of the reservoirs.

The Board have made diligent inquiry as to the actual cost of the property now owned and held by the Elizabethtown Water Company, and report that it is represented by the officers of said company to have cost one hundred and fifty thousand dollars, ($150,000), which is now represented by sixty thousand dollars ($60,000) in bonds, and ninety thousand dollars ($90,000) in the stock of said company, upon which no dividends have ever been declared.

The Board have made a careful estimate of the value of the reservoir, pump, steam power, engine house, pipes, water privileges, and real estate now possessed by said company, and do estimate the present value of said property to be one hundred and twenty-five thousand dollars ($125,000).

In conclusion, your Commissioners, for the reasons already set forth, unite in recommending that the site at Cranford be adopted as the source of supply for the city of Elizabeth, and do recommend the passage of the bill accompanying this report.

APPENDIX A.

ENGINEER'S REPORT.

To the Water Commissioners of the City of Elizabeth:

GENTLEMEN: In compliance with your instructions I have made examinations and surveys of the several sources of water indicated by you, and would respectfully submit the following report as the result of such examinations and surveys, together with a map of the districts examined and routes surveyed.

SOURCES OF SUPPLY.

Surveys of lines from three sources have been made to the city. These sources are named in the order of the surveys, and are,

FIRST,

The middle branch of the Rahway river, the water to be appropriated from a point in the river between the two ridges known as the First and Second Mountains, about one-fourth of a mile north of the village of Millburn, on the Morris and Essex Railroad, and six and seven-tenths miles from the railroad crossings in this city.

The supply obtainable from this source shows by measurement a quantity of 6,000,000 standard gallons daily.

Since the measurements were taken it has been ascertained that in 1861 Mr. George H. Bailey, the very able engineer of the Newark Water Works, examined this as a source of supply for the city of Newark, and estimated the available daily quantity at six million five hundred thousand gallons.

If, from protracted drought, this quantity should be considerably diminished, an auxiliary supply can be obtained from "Monker's Pond," on the western branch of the same river.

The water from this source rivals in quality that from the source first named; the measurements show a daily yield of three million three hundred thousand gallons, and from information relating to its average flow it is believed that three million gallons can be depended upon from this stream. Adding the above amount of six millions, and we have a total of nine millions three hundred thousand gallons.

By reference to Professor Cook's analysis it will be seen that the streams furnish water of extraordinary excellence.

From this source the water can be conducted through a "main" to the proposed Distributing Reservoir, to be located near "Salem Mills," by gravity, as the height (170 feet above tide) of the points from which it can be taken, affords ample head for that purpose.

The works required for its introduction to the city consist of dams and canal, reservoir, gatehouses, supply main, service main.

SECOND.

Kean's Ponds, on Elizabeth River.

The water from the Elizabeth river and its tributary branches would be taken from points near the locality called "Salem Mills," about two and three-quarter miles from the railroad crossing in this city.

These streams will yield six million standard gallons daily as a probable regular supply.

The water would be raised by steam pumping engines to a reservoir located in that vicinity, and conveyed thence through a "main" to the city.

THIRD.

Line from Cranford—Source, Rahway River.

The Rahway River in the village of Cranford, upon the line of the Central Railroad, about four and a half miles from the station in the city was also carefully examined.

The current at this place shows a daily flow of at least twenty-five million standard gallons.

As in the case of the second source, steam pumping engines would be required to raise the water to a reservoir, which should be located about one half a mile easterly from the river.

The height to which water can be elevated above tide at the city is 123 feet; highest building site in the city is 50 feet above tide; grade of railroad crossings is 26½ feet above the same level. Source of supply for the Millburn Line is 170 feet above tide; surface of Reservoir, at Salem Mills, should be 123 feet. In case Elizabeth River be resorted to for the supply, the water must be raised 76 feet to the Reservoir.

Rahway River, at Cranford, is 54 feet above tide; Reservoir at same place to be 110 feet above, which will insure the delivery of any quantity of water required to the height of 40 feet above the most elevated ground in the city.

The following table exhibits the cost and capacity of the Water Works of several cities in this country; and also, for the purpose of comparison, the estimated capacity and cost of the works proposed for this city:

The formulæ used in gauging the flow of streams, and determining the size of pipes for the discharge of the required quantity of water, are those of Prony and D'Aubuisson, which give results somewhat less than those of other authors; and the prices upon which the appended estimates are based are those at present ruling for works of like character.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,

P. SOURS, C. E.

ELIZABETH, N. J., Nov. 25, 1868.

APPENDIX B.

The following analyses of water from the sources found available was made by Professor George H. Cook, of Rutger's College, New Brunswick, and show in fifty-six thousand parts:

Source.	Location.	Inorganic Matter.	Organic Matter.
No. 1.	Millburn, . . .	2.90	0.30
No. 2.	Elizabeth River, . . .	4.70	2.
No. 3.	Rahway River, . .	3.60	0.90

The water used in the cities named below (as shown by analyses made for the Jersey City Water Commissioners in 1851 by Professor Hosford, of Harvard College, Cambridge, Mass.,) gives in the same number of parts:

Matter.	Schuylkill, Philadelphia.	Passaic, Jersey City.	Croton, New York.	Albany.	Troy.	Cochituate, Boston.
Inorganic,	4.08	4.39	6.36	8.13	5.61	1.62
Organic,	1.19	2.83	4.13	2.22	1.48	1.37

A comparison of the above analyses shows that the water from the first and third named sources excels in purity that of either of the cities named, except Boston; while that from the second compares favorably with Croton, Passaic or Albany water.

State Treasurer.

Which was accepted.

Mr. Hunt, from the Committee on Rules, reported Rules for the government of the House as follows:

RULES.

OF THE MEETING OF THE HOUSE.

1. Any member or members less than a quorum may meet and adjourn the House, from day to day, when necessary.

2. Every member shall attend in his place precisely at the hour to which the House was last adjourned; and in case of neglect he shall be subject to a reprimand from the Chair, unless excused by the House; nor shall any member absent himself from the House for more than a space of a quarter of an hour without leave previously obtained.

3. In case a less number of members than a quorum shall be present after the arrival of the hour to which the House stood adjourned, they are hereby authorized to send their Sergeant-at-Arms, or any other person or persons by them authorized, with a warrant duly executed, for any or all absent members, as the majority of such as are present may agree, and at the expense of such absent members, respectively, unless such excuse for non-attendance shall be rendered as the House, when a quorum is convened, shall judge sufficient. Immediately after the appointment of the Standing Committees, the members shall arrange among themselves their several seats appropriated to their counties; and in case of disagreement, the same shall be decided by lot.

OF THE DUTIES OF THE SPEAKER.

4. He shall take the Chair at the hour to which the House shall have adjourned, and immediately call the members to order, and, on the appearance of a quorum, shall cause the journal of the preceding day to be read, which may then be corrected by the House.

5. He shall preserve order and decorum, and in debate shall prevent personal reflections, and confine members to the question under discussion; but he shall not engage in any debate, nor propose his opinion upon any question, without first calling on some member to occupy the Chair. When two or more members rise at the same time he shall name the one entitled to the floor.

6. He shall decide questions of order, subject to an appeal to the House, when demanded by any four members, on which appeal no member shall speak more than once, unless by leave of the House.

7. All questions before the House shall be stated by the Speaker, and distinctly put in the following form, to wit: "As many as are in favor (the question) will say Aye;" and after the affirmative is expressed, "those of the contrary opinion No." If the Speaker doubts, or a division be called for, the House shall divide; those in the affirmative of the question shall first rise from their seats, and afterwards those in the negative; and in case of an equal division the Speaker shall decide.

8. All committees shall be appointed by the Speaker, unless otherwise specially directed by the House.

9. All acts, addresses and joint resolutions shall be signed by the Speaker; and all writs, warrants and subpœnas issued by order of the House shall be under his hand and seal, and attested by the Clerk. If the Speaker be absent, a less number of members than a quorum may appoint a Speaker pro tempore, who may sign any warrants or perform any act requisite to bring in absent members.

10. He shall have a general direction of the Hall, and he may name a member to perform the duties of the Chair; but such substitution shall not extend beyond a second adjournment.

OF THE ORDER OF BUSINESS.

11. After the reading of the journal, the business of the first meeting of each day shall be conducted in the following manner, to wit:

I. Letters, petitions, memorials, remonstrances and accompanying documents may be presented and disposed of.

II. Reports of Committees may be read.

III. Original resolutions may be offered and considered; items of unfinished business referred; motions to reconsider and to appoint additional members of committees made; and leave of absence, leave to withdraw documents, and leave to introduce bills asked.

LEAVE FOR BILLS AND TO INTRODUCE BILLS.

IV. Bills and joint resolutions, on a third reading, may be taken up.

V. The House shall then proceed in the order of the day, preference being always given to the unfinished business of the preceding sitting; after which bills and joint resolutions, on a second reading, shall be taken in their order; and the House, in its afternoon session, will proceed to business as though there had been no adjournment of its morning session, excepting that original resolutions, and leave to introduce bills of committees, be the first business in the afternoon sitting; and shall, on demand of the majority, proceed with the order of the day.

12. The Clerk shall make a list of all public bills and joint resolutions. He shall keep a separate calendar of private bills. No bills for granting, continuing, altering, amending, or renewing a charter for any corporation, other than a municipal corporation, shall be placed on the calendar of public bills. All bills, public and private, shall be numbered according to the time of their introduction into the House. They shall be taken up and considered in the order of time in which they were reported, or ordered to a third reading as appears by the calendar; and the calendar shall be proceeded in until all the bills thereon are called up, before the commencement of the calendar anew.

13. All messages shall be sent from this House to the Senate by the Clerk or Assistant Clerk.

OF DECORUM AND DEBATE.

14. When a member is about to speak in debate, or communicate any matter to the House, he shall rise from his seat and respectfully address himself to the Speaker, confining himself to the question under debate, and avoiding personality.

15. If any member in debate transgress the rules of the House, the Speaker shall, or any member may, call him to order; in which case the member so called to order shall immediately sit down, unless permitted to explain. The House shall, if appealed to, decide on the case, but without debate; if there be no appeal the decision of the Chair shall be submitted to. If the decision be in favor of the member called to order, he shall be at liberty to proceed; if otherwise, he shall not be permitted to proceed without leave of the House; and if the case require it, he shall be liable to the censure of the House.

16. If a member be called to order for words spoken in debate. the person calling him to order shall repeat the words excepted to, and they shall be taken down in writing at the Clerk's table; and no member shall be held to answer, or be subject to the censure of the House for words spoken in debate, if any other member has spoken, or other business has intervened after the words spoken, and before exception to them shall have been taken.

17. No member shall speak more than twice on the same question, without leave of the House.

18. While the Speaker is putting any question, or addressing the House, none shall walk out of, or across the hall; nor in such case, or when a member is speaking, shall any one entertain private discourse; nor shall any one, while a member is speaking, pass between him and the Chair.

19. No member shall vote on any question, in the event of which he is particularly interested; nor in any case where he was not within the bar of the House when the question was put.

20. Every member who shall be in the House when the question is put, shall give his vote, unless the House for special reasons shall excuse him. All motions to excuse a member from voting shall be made before the House divides, or before the call of the yeas and nays is commenced; and any member requesting to be excused from voting, may make a brief verbal statement of the reasons for making such request; and the question shall then be taken without further debate.

21. Petitions, memorials, and other papers addressed to the House, shall be presented by the Speaker, or by a member in his place; a brief statement of the contents thereof shall be made by the introducer, and if called upon he shall declare that it does not, in his opinion, contain any indecent or reproachful language, or any expressions of disrespect to the House, or any committee of the same.

22. It shall be the duty of the Sergeant-at-Arms at all times not to allow any person to smoke in the Assembly Chamber.

ON MOTIONS.

23. Every motion shall be reduced to writing, if the Speaker or any member desire it.

24. When a motion is made and seconded, it shall be stated by the Speaker; or, being in writing, it shall be handed to the Chair and read aloud by the Clerk, when it shall be deemed to be in possession of the House and open to debate; but it may be withdrawn at any time before a decision or amendment.

25. When a question is under debate, no motion shall be received, but

1. To adjourn.
2. A call of the House.
3. To lay on the table.
4. For the previous question.
5. To postpone indefinitely.
6. To postpone to a day certain.
7. To go into a Committee of the Whole on the pending subject immediately.

26. A motion to strike out the enacting clause of a bill or joint resolution shall have precedence of a motion to amend, and if carried, shall be considered equivalent to its rejection.

27. A motion to adjourn shall be always in order except when the House is voting, or while a member is addressing the House, or immediately after the question to adjourn has been negatived; that, and the motion to lay on the table shall be decided without debate.

28. Any member may call for the division of a question, which shall be divided if it comprehends questions so distinct that one being taken away the rest may stand entire for the decision of the House; a motion to strike out and insert shall be deemed indivisible; but a motion to strike out being lost, shall preclude neither amendment nor a motion to strike out and insert.

29. When any motion shall be made and seconded, the same shall, at the request of any two members, be entered on the Journal of the House.

30. When a motion has been once made and carried in the affirmative or negative, it shall be in order for any member who voted with the prevailing party, to move for the reconsideration thereof on the same day, or the next day of actual session of the House thereafter; all motions may be reconsidered by a majority of members present; but bills to be reconsidered must have the same majority that would be necessary to pass them.

31. When a blank is to be filled, the question shall first be taken on the largest sum, greatest number and remotest day.

32. The yeas and nays shall be entered on the journal on every question taken in the House, when moved for and seconded by five members; and in taking the yeas and nays the names of the members, including the Speaker, shall be called alphabetically.

33. The previous question shall be in this form: "Shall the main question be now put?" It shall only be admitted when demanded by a majority of the members present; and its effect shall be, if decided affirmatively, to put an end to all debate and bring the House to a direct vote upon amendments reported by a committee, if any; then upon pending amendments, and then upon the main question; if decided in the negative, to leave the main question and amendments, if any, under debate for the residue of the sitting, unless sooner disposed of by taking the question, or in some other manner. All incidental questions of order arising after a motion is made for the previous question, and pending such motion, shall be decided, whether on appeal or otherwise, without debate.

Mr. Whelan presented the following Report from the committee appointed at the last session of the Legislature, to investigate the management of the State Prison, as follows:

REPORT.

The Joint Committee of the Senate and House of Assembly, appointed under a concurrent resolution of the last Legislature, passed March 1868, as follows, viz: "Resolved, (Senate concurring), That a committee of three members on the part of the House and two from the Senate, be appointed to inquire into and examine the management of the State Prison for the past year, and that said committee have power to send for persons and papers," beg leave to report—

That in pursuance of their appointment, they met in the City of Trenton to investigate certain claims preferred against the Keeper and Inspectors of the State Prison, by a shoe manufacturer then working under articles of agreement with the Governor and Inspectors, and employing the convict labor of said Prison in accordance with his contract. He claimed damages in the sum of ten thousand dollars ($10,000), for alleged losses sustained during the term of said contract, basing his claim upon certain allegations, prominent among which was the want of proper discipline, whereby the work was imperfectly performed, the hours of labor not properly adhered to and enforced, &c., &c. The Committee having power to send for persons and papers, in accordance with the terms of the resolution which created it, proceeded to take sworn testimony, and also documentary evidence bearing upon the case. After a laborious and thorough investigation, they were unanimously of the opinion that there exists no just ground for said claim of damages as preferred by the said claimant, he having failed to establish his case to the satisfaction of the committee. They therefore dismissed the complaint as unjust, and not warranted by the facts brought before them.

During the whole pendency of this investigation, your Committee was deeply and sensibly impressed with the necessity of a thorough and radical reform in our present system of Prison discipline. They are convinced that the most important aim and object of all penal discipline and restraint, the reformation of the offender, and his restoration to society as a useful member thereof, instead of a spoiler and a curse, is practically defeated by the fundamental and radical defects inherent to the vicious system that governs and controls our Prison organization. We allude more particularly to the evils consequent upon the intimate connection of the present system, with the varying ascendancy of political parties. We believe no intelligent man will deny that the evils, admitted and deplored by all, which underlie and vitiate our Prison management, are but the natural and legitimate outgrowth and consequence of that dangerous and fatal connection and control. Claiming the appointment of the Keeper and chief executive officers as the proper right and inheritance of that political party which the varying passions of the hour have placed in a temporary ascendancy, the selection of those officers upon whose vigilance, fidelity and moral fitness the whole welfare of the institution so largely depends, is but the expression of some real or fancied political necessity, the reward of some mere partizan, whose only merit may be a numerous grog-shop acquaintance, or a peculiar dexterity in the manipulation of fraudulent repeaters.

And as with the chief, so it is with the subordinates. The men who have the daily oversight and control of the Prison, whose influence, whether for evil or for good is so constant, so direct and so powerful in its every-day economy and government, are, too often, the mere annual waifs thrown up by the changing sea of political excitement, without fitness, and careless or ignorant of any moral responsibility. Now, we do not wish to be misunderstood. Your Committee, composed of members of each political organization, distinctly and emphatically deny any personality of allusion, or any animadversion upon the appointees of any political party, now or in the past.

We make no such allusion—no such charge. We charge it upon the vicious system that has so long controlled our whole Prison organization, and upon which it is, in fact, founded. Its vices and defects are radical and inherent, and in a radical and fundamental change alone can there, in our judgment, be either hope or expectation of reform.

Nor in our State alone has this unwise alliance with politics wrought out and insured its disastrous consequences. In the State of New York, and elsewhere, its evils have long been felt and deplored. In the annual report of the Prison Association of New York, an institution chartered by the State, with ample powers, constant reference is had to the baneful influence of party politics upon the whole system of penal administration and reform, and long and strenuous have been the efforts to accomplish a complete and thorough divorce.

Alluding to the great mass of testimony adduced before its Committee, regarding the effects of this great evil upon the good administration and reformatory powers of the New York State and County Prisons, the report holds the following language: "If this evidence as summed up by the Commissioners, and spread, in extenso, before the public, does not cause this abomination, for it can be regarded as nothing less, to totter to its fall, it will be either because no credit is given to the testimony and opinion of men most competent from long experience and observation to form a correct judgment as to their operation and effect, or because the community will not read what is published on the subject, however weighty and startling it may be, or because the people are indifferent to the gravest abuses in one of the most important departments of the public administration." Nor have these efforts at reform been unavailing. In many of the New York Prisons, partizan politics are wholly ignored and exercise no control in the appointment of either Inspectors, Wardens or Deputies. In the Erie County Penitentiary, containing an annual average of about three hundred convicts, since the year 1863 political considerations have entered but little into the appointments. From even that incomplete emancipation the best results have followed, and, in the language of the report it may now be classed among "the best penal institutions in the country." In the Monroe County Prison, near Rochester, with an average of 217 convicts, there is a complete freedom from political intermeddling. In the Albany Penitentiary, General Pillsbury, the present incumbent, has held the position of Warden for 23 years continuously. When he assumed its duties it was upon the distinct understanding that politics should be excluded from any influence upon the prison management and government. And the understanding has, to quote the words of the report, "been faithfully observed ever since by all the parties to it." As a proof, it may be stated that the majority of the appointing Board has been about half the time of one political party, and half the time of the other; and yet Mr. Pillsbury has been eight times chosen to the office of Superintendent, by a unanimous vote. In appointing his subordinates, the Superintendent never inquires into the party creed of any one who applies for a position in the Prison, and, of course, he never removes an officer on any such grounds. He knows nothing of politics in the administration of the Penitentiary. There are officers under him who have served eight, ten and twelve years; and he always retains a good officer just as long as he is willing to stay. He avows that, "without being a politician, he has his own political views, that he holds them firmly and acts upon them conscientiously in the sphere to which they belong, but he declares that as a prison officer he ignores the whole thing. He attributes the success of the institution, in a great measure, to this utter repudiation of party politics from its government and administration, and believes that its history would have been very different had this influence, healthy and beneficent when confined to its proper sphere, but always pestilent and often disastrous when it reaches beyond that sphere, been permitted to obtain a controlling power over its affairs." This Penitentiary is a model institution, and the great and marked success attending its administration is largely owing to the above causes. One remarkable fact may be stated here. The Prison is weak and has no walls, yet, with an average of more than 500 convicts, there have been but two or three attempts at escape in the whole history of the institution. There has never been an escape from the inside; the few instances above alluded to being from prisoners engaged on outside work.

Another serious evil resulting from partizan control as exemplified in our present system, is the want of permanence in the appointments. It is almost impossible, as now chosen, that officers can be had possessing the proper and necessary qualifications. The changes are so constant and the tenure of office so precarious that the best men will not suffer themselves to be candidates; and even though they may haply possess the requisite ability, they will lack the necessary experience to render that ability useful and availing. Indeed, the evil effects of the shortness and insecurity of the tenure by which our Prison officials hold their position, extend through every grade and class.

When the verdict of the November elections has been adverse to that political party to which they owe their appointment, the necessity of some other provision for the future becomes the immediate and constant care of each official. With their attention so naturally and inevitably engrossed by their own personal interests in the near event of their removal, the vigilance and sense of moral responsibility so indispensible to proper discipline, becomes but of secondary consideration and importance. Nor does the evil end here. The convicts themselves, aware of the coming change, become more difficult to manage, are more prone to acts of insubordination, more eager in determined efforts to escape, and the discipline, as an unavoidable consequence, becomes relaxed, demoralized and inefficient. Nor is the lowest depths of this thoroughly faulty system yet sounded. The new officers are confronted with the low morale of the institution, adding materially to the difficulties attendant upon their want of experience and the grave responsibilities of the management and moral control of more than five hundred convicts.

The question can be asked, and with great force and pertinence, why the beneficial effects that attach to the permanency of appointments in the control of the State Lunatic Asylum should be deemed as of slight account, or wholly disregarded in the management of the State Prison? Or, what would be thought of that Board of Directors who should insist upon a strict accordance with their own political views, as the one essential requisite in the qualifications of a bank president, in all other respects incompetent, and who, perchance, could with difficulty define the difference between a dividend and a discount, a coupon or a clearing house? Good behavior, and the possession of his faculties in a tolerable state of preservation, as a general rule, alone limit the permanence and continuance in office of the Superintendent and President of a Lunatic Asylum or a Bank.

Now, if ability and experience are deemed virtues to be cherished, how much more are they to be prized in those who have to deal with the souls of sinful men, than in the mere profitable investment of money, or even in the care of those unfortunates to whom God has, in His inscrutable wisdom, denied the gift of a sound reason, and from whom He, in His mercy, exacts no responsibility.

Indeed, the whole system seems to be an unalloyed purity of evil. We think it may be set down in all truth and soberness as an undeniable axiom, that politics and prisons are totally incompatible with each other. Whether regard is had to the great end of all prison discipline, the moral training and reformation of the convict, or to mere pecuniary considerations, the appointment to office of Inspectors, Keeper and subordinates, upon merely partizan grounds, and as a source of patronage to a dominant political party, will always and inevitably end in disappointment and disaster.

It is but maintaining a simple proposition to assert, that if these institutions are ever to become reformatory and self-sustaining, the management of our prisons, both as regards the welfare of society and the convict, must be entrusted to men who have the aptitude and ability for that peculiar trust, who are conscientiously alive to the moral and religious responsibilities of their position, who are to be chosen without reference to their political opinions, and who are to be placed on the firm basis of an assured permanence, above the mutations of party.

Another matter of vital importance, in the judgment of your Committee, and to which they would respectfully invite the attention of the Legislature is the limited powers of the Inspectors. As now appointed, and as their duties are now construed, they are little more than mere clerks invested with some responsibility, but without the corresponding power to meet that responsibility. Over the heavy expenditure necessary for the proper maintenance of so large an institution, they have almost no control. In many other prisons and almshouses in New York, Pennsylvania, and elsewhere, the disbursements of money for provisions, coal and other supplies are under the direct control of the Board of Inspectors. We believe that the awarding of the various contracts necessary for the maintenance of the Prison to the lowest bidder, in fair competition, upon previous public notice by the Board, would remove a fruitful source of complaint, would insure a better performance at less pecuniary cost to the State, and would also enable the Keeper to devote his time and attention more thoroughly and systematically to that close, daily, vigilant oversight and care of the institution which is his peculiar sphere and duty, and upon whose faithful discharge its successful operation so greatly depends. Under the present system the Inspectors' power and duties begin and end in the merely clerical office of seeing that the bills, incurred without their knowledge or assent, are properly receipted and correctly added up.

Your Committee would also call attention to the crowded condition of the Prison. The want of proper cell accommodations and the enforced and inevitable herding of the convicts incident to that condition, must and will prove destructive to proper reform and discipline. Men harden and grow worse by evil companionship, and young offenders, undergoing the penalty of a comparatively slight offense, become, by the very means intended for their reformation and restoration, the pupils and victims of men grown gray in every crime of the decalogue.

The necessity for prompt action is urgent, and your Committee would specially commend the consideration of increased accommodations, either by a new Prison or by enlargement of the present institution, to the serious and early attention of this Legislature.

Your Committee are aware, that to insure that complete isolation and divorce from politics, which is absolutely essential in their judgment, to any practical scheme of reform, the cordial and thorough co-operation of both parties is demanded and must be accorded. The Constitution determines the mode and form of the appointment of Keeper and Inspectors. They are to be nominated and voted for by the legislature, in joint meeting assembled. If that nomination be made by the Legislature, it can hardly be hoped or expected that there can be a freedom from partizan bias, or that the usual caucus influences will fail, as they never yet have done, to exert a powerful control, and to lay their imperative obligations upon members. If, by common consent, the selection of the Keeper and five Inspectors was entrusted to the Supreme Court, with the distinct understanding that ability, aptitude for the task, and moral qualifications alone should be the governing requisites, to the total exclusion of political partizanship as an element of consideration, who can doubt we should have made most essential progress in that reformation of our present system, which can alone make it subserve the true ends of a wise and Christian penal administration.

Such a selection would in no wise clash with the provisions and letter of the Constitution. The choice of the Supreme Court would supersede that of the caucus, and the Keeper and Inspectors so selected and nominated could then be voted for by joint ballot as at present.

If it were also understood, that while in compliance with the requirements of the Constitution, the election of those officers must be annually made, as in the case of a sheriff, yet, except in the event of death, resignation, removal, neglect, incapacity or malfeasance, their term of office should be permanent, and last through good behavior or for a specified term of years, then, in the opinion of your Committee, the second and almost equally indispensable requisite in the successful management of the State Prison has been secured.

That a reformation of our present system, somewhat in the manner indicated, will commend itself to every intelligent mind, we cannot permit ourselves to doubt; nor does there exist any insuperable obstacle to its accomplishment.

All that is needed is the earnest co-operation of the good men and true, of both parties, who prefer that the penal system of our noble State shall take its stand upon the true basis of an advanced and enlightened Christian sentiment, rather than that the pernicious and demoralizing effect of mere political partizanship shall longer be permittted to mar and dwarf its fair proportions, and make that a reproach and a failure which should be among the proudest monuments of our age and civilization.

Should legislation be needed to give a legal and permanent embodiment to these or other suggestions of a kindred nature, we would respectfully ask that a proper committee of both Houses be appointed to draft such a bill as may most efficaciously carry out the desired end.

Your Committee would ask to be discharged from any further duty under the resolution creating it.

The Hon. Theodore F. Randolph then appeared, and in the presence of the Senate and General Assembly was sworn into office as Governor of the State, by the Hon. Henry S. Little, President of the Senate; after which the Governor delivered the following INAUGURAL ADDRESS.

Gentlemen of the Senate and General Assembly of New Jersey, and Fellow Citizens:

We meet under circumstances demanding my profoundest personal and political gratitude for the confiding partiality of the people of my native State.

In honoring me as they have, with their suffrages, I shall consider myself as holding the trust they have confided to me, for the common good and welfare of the whole State. No duty shall be intentionally neglected, no power wielded but in accordance with my best judgment and conscientious convictions.

Errors of decision, and mistaken or imperfect views will be rightly understood by a generous people.

You of the legislative department of the government will take a faithful and intelligent care of the interests confided to you, and it will be my pleasure, as it will be my duty, to cordially co-operate with you in such judicious measures of legislation as the public interests demand.

THE BALLOT.

In a government founded as ours is, upon the sovereignty of the people, and guided by their virtue, intelligence and integrity, it must always and necessarily, be a matter of the first importance to preserve the source of this controlling political power in the utmost health, vigor and purity.

The ballot box must be shielded from every taint of corruption. There should never be a doubt that it expresses fully and fairly the free will of the people. The privilege of suffrage is the right of self government. The legitimate exercise of the one is the fundamental principle of the other, and the ark of our safety. We cannot then, too jealously guard this sacred institution. Whilst we should deny to no one entitled to it, free access to the ballot box, we should frown indignantly upon every attempt to abuse it to base and fraudulent purposes, and punish inflexibly all concerned in such desecration. A careful revision of the election laws is earnestly suggested.

TAXATION.

With the enormous national debt we have and the almost equally pressing local requisitions, taxation to a large extent is inevitable. No matter what the causes creating debt, national or state, justice, honor, and interest require the complete fulfilment of all our obligations. All that can be done by state authority is to exercise a rigid economy in the administration of its own affairs—exacting of public servants a strict account of their stewardship—and a distribution of the burthen of taxation, so as to make it fall equitably upon all. Wealth should be reached and assessed according to its volume, and the protection given to life, liberty and labor should render its equivalent. All classes have their rights and responsibilities.

RIPARIAN MATTERS.

The rights and powers of the State, especially as to shore property, judiciously exercised, may largely serve to lessen the state debt, and give consequent relief in taxation. In obtaining this desirable result the greatest care should be had, that no private or corporate interest should be unnecessarily, and therefore unwisely, disturbed. The plan of reference to a commission, composed of our best citizens, seems to me to be most likely to procure an equitable and satisfactory result in cases where an adjustment of rights or privileges is desirable or necessary.

DEMANDS ON LEGISLATION.

The increasing legislation of the State is largely due to the facility with which corporate privileges are obtained by those who scarcely conduce to our material interests. Citizens of other States seek our legislative aid for convenience or economy. Corporations, whose capital or labor is wholly employed elsewhere occupy our Legislature and courts to the detriment and cost of our own citizens. The system in practice elsewhere, of requiring a specific tax to be paid the State upon the passage of a charter, and an annual, though small, assessment upon the profits or dividends arising from the chartered privilege would circumscribe legislation to needs, and compensate the State for its grants. Many of our corporations now render such assistance to the State, and the imposition should be made general, as it may be made equitable. The legitimate demands upon your attention, arising from the rapid increase of population in the State, and consequent necessities, will be many. The community that invites labor and capital within its borders by liberal legislation, adds to its own stability, and enriches its citizens.

PUBLIC IMPROVEMENTS.

No restricted policy in the matter of public improvements, will, in my judgment, meet with the wants and expectations of our people. Observing with scrupulous care, all the legal and equitable obligations of the State toward existing grants, it should, nevertheless, be made manifest by a broad, liberal and enduring policy, that corporations, like individuals, must find their greatest protection through adequate facilities given to their patrons, and not in class legislation or restricted competition.

However well adapted the protective system may have been to earlier periods of our State history, the demands of our time will be best met by fair competition—guarded as this may and should be, by such restrictions only, as experience has proven right and necessary.

EDUCATION.

The cause of education is interwoven to such an extent with every material interest of the State, that most careful legislation should be bestowed upon it. Our acres are cultivated, and crops secured with greater ease and profit, because, through education, mind mastering matter, has evoked in countless useful forms the implements of industry.

The mechanic arts (nowhere more fostered than in New Jersey), owe their wonderful development to the trained mind. Genius conceives, but practical intelligence executes. Liberty, in all its most cherished forms, has no more cruel, though unconscious foe, than ignorance. No protection to free institutions will ever be found more adequate than education. Considered, then, with reference to noble purpose or selfish aims, the cause of education should reckon all people among its friends and supporters.

AGRICULTURE.

I am so strongly impressed with the stability of that species of prosperity in the State, springing from or dependent upon agricultural pursuits, that at a risk of a comparison, not intended to be invidious, I solicit your special attention to those demands, arising from, or tending toward, the development of our agricultural resources. As the art pronounced "the most healthful, the most useful, and the most noble employment of man," occupying more capital, talent and persons, than all other pursuits combined, the development of which gives to government one of its most permanent, because interested, supports, it will ever repay patient and careful legislation.

Offering to agricultural enterprise and capital an equal field for employment, at least, with any of the older States, by reason of our climate, soil, fertilizers and proximity to great markets, your legislation will aim in all prudent ways to promote intelligently conducted enterprises, pointing to agricultural advancement. Society will be benefited, as the uncertainties of professional or mercantile life are understood, and agricultural and mechanical pursuits are protected, ennobled and rendered successful.

MANUFACTURES.

New Jersey stands sixteenth among the States as to population, yet ranks fifth or sixth among them in value of its manufactured products. A single collection district yield the largest revenue to the general government, save one, in the United State. I feel assured you will fully appreciate the propriety of continuing that policy which has heretofore induced manufacturing enterprise and capital to seek our protection. Employment is given to a very large and intelligent class of citizens by the manufacturers of our State, and those employed being both producers and consumers within the State, their citizenship has an especial value.

MILITIA.

The militia system of the State will require your attention to some extent. The conceded superiority of the New Jersey troops, in many a contest during the late war, next to an innate heroism, came largely from a greater or less knowledge of military law and life. This knowledge should be transmitted as part of the inheritance of a people meaning to be free.

Our State was among the first to provide for the families of those who imperilled their lives for the defence of the Union. We owe to the men who sustained our reputation upon many a hard-fought field, a lasting obligation, and to such of them as have been maimed or broken in health, and to the children of such as lost their lives and are yet of insufficient age to provide for themselves, we should, through existing hospitals and homes, afford them adequate shelter and support in their exigencies. Humanity and justice will ever demand the recognition of such claims from the State. Government cannot afford to be unjust to its defenders.

PORTS OF ENTRY.

Unless reasons exist other than those heretofore urged against the measure, our seaboard cities should be made ports of entry, and the benefits arising therefrom made to inure directly to our own State and citizens. An immense foreign tonnage already seeks our superior facilities and accommodations, and it is not hazarding too much to say that with the great and increasing railroad termini arrangements within our borders, especially in Hudson county, the tonnage of exports and imports will finally rival that of any State in the Union. All the expenses incident to the transaction of such large and valuable commercial business, fall upon the municipal and other authorities, who necessarily protect it, and justice would seem to demand that such benefits as may arise from the establishment of ports of entry be directly had by our own people.

SHORTER SESSIONS.

An evil, known and acknowledged by all experienced in legislation, will, I sincerely trust, receive your earliest attention. The Constitution plainly points to a period of forty days as sufficient, under ordinary circumstances, for the transaction of legislative business. In recent years, the earlier portion of the session has usually concluded upon little or no important business, the latter periods being unduly pressed thereby, and the total time consumed being far beyond the demands of any real necessity. The burthens of cost, and many evils and inconveniences arising from this custom are too manifest to need recapitulation at my hands. Without suggesting any method by which the evil may be remedied, I will cordially co-operate with your honorable bodies in such action as your wisdom and experience may indicate.

FEDERAL RELATIONS.

Undoubtedly a large majority of our people believe that the prompt admission of representatives in Congress from all the States, is vital to the fulfillment of the bond of union between them, necessary as a guard against the encroachment of power, and essential to the preservation of a system by which life, liberty and property are protected—the very object of government. The exclusion of a single State from the councils of the nation, gives to the heresy of secession a reality which the triumph of the Confederate arms could scarcely have made more substantial. Practically the evils of successful rebellion are entailed by the cost of guarding armies, the impoverishing of vast territories by withholding security to labor and capital that would else be prompt to enrich them, and finally, by the constant danger to the adhering States attendant upon the exercise of questionable power. A government that has demonstrated its power in the degree we have witnessed, can scorn fear, and add immeasureably to its strength by conciliation.

Among nations, as among men, the weak, timid and vacillating are usually the advocates of cruel, selfish or illegal measures. Peace to a nation, or prosperity to a people, is never born of such counsels.

Among the multitudes of men, whose birth, attachments, associations and interests are within the Southern States, there can be found many of such unquestionable fidelity, integrity and intelligence, as to render it safe to repose confidence in them, and therefore wise and just to do it. For the general welfare and prosperity, it cannot be too promptly done. No danger growing out of properly guarded representation from the Southern States, can be equal to that of conceding as right, the undue exercise of power to some States and the total deprivation of it from others.

New Jersey, through her delegates in the Convention forming the Federal Constitution, was conspicuous for its opposition to the plans presented in that body, by which certain States, superior in power, population or wealth, should obtain an undue ascendancy in the administration of the affairs of government, or within which were to be found the seeds of a centralized form of government, and was equally conspicuous for its fidelity to every proposition that looked to the preservation of the rights of the States in all their integrity, force and energy. Equal representation in the Senate from each State was the fruit of this steadfast adherence to the principle of the equality of the States. Any plan, however well intended, or any argument, however specious, that strikes at this principle, so long contended for, is subversive of a Government founded by the States themselves, the better to preserve their union and equality.

Contending with other States, and successfully, for this equality and protection, our delegates in the Federal Convention were not unmindful of the power necessary to the Federal Government for the maintenance and protection of its dignity and authority, and, as will be recollected, submitted, by one of our own delegates, a proposition to be engrafted in the Constitution, by which, in explicit terms, the Federal Executive was to be authorized to call for the power of the Confederated or United States, if any State, or any body of men in any State, should oppose or prevent the carrying out of any act of Congress under the Constitution. The omission to engraft this explicit authority within the Federal Constitution, is not to be counted in cost now. New Jersey made a record for itself in those memorable days.

It is essential under a republican form of government to obtain in time of peace, voluntary obedience. An obedience of a people, that is compelled under such conditions, is almost as dangerous to the power as to the subject. The government that exists by force alone, carries within it the seeds of its dissolution, and by its very nature is at war with the principles of liberty.

Believing as the majority of our people do, that the almost indiscriminate exclusion of real representatives from the Southern States is violative of the spirit of the Federal Union, dangerous as a precedent, especially to the citizens of the smaller States, and unnecessary for any patriotic purpose; they also unquestionably believe that the destiny of the Southern people is, when reinstated, mainly in their own hands. Accepting the inexorable logic of events, they should ennoble labor, and turn it to their advantage, develope their own abundant resources, practice an economy beyond our example, establish and enforce law and order in their midst, render full justice to all classes in their courts, and supercede the necessity of interference on any possible pretext. This done, their future will rival in prosperity that of any of the States.

The people of New Jersey having evinced their patriotism in council and in the field through every emergency, from the foundation of the government, and in them all having been second to none in unflinching devotion to the government of their creation and choice, it is their right and privilege to counsel and advise. With every returning sign of unity and prosperity, they turn with gladdened hearts to the larger and more magnificent field of the nation. Their brethren, long estranged, are, as a whole, anxious to resume the relations of commercial, social and political intercourse. Duty and interest alike point to a cultivation of good will, confidence and sympathy between the people of all the states and without which we can never be a homogenous or a prosperous people. Let it be our endeavor to promote this blessed re-union.

Our fathers have left us a noble heritage—a state without a blot on her escutcheon—though we are small in territory, we are rich in historical associations, unvarying in the fidelity and intelligent patriotism of our people, abounding in agricultural wealth, thrift, manufacturing industry and enterprise, with a commerce that already rivals most of the larger states, teeming with the richest minerals and having the skill and science to convert them to their appropriate uses—behind but few states in the means and progress of education, with a judiciary incorrupt and incorruptible, and with a population second to no state in high-toned morals, orderly and cheerful obedience to the laws.

Under such benignant auspices, with the blessing of God, our way must be onward to the ultimate rewards of an intelligent and virtuous community.

REPORT OF THE DIRECTORS.

TRENTON, December 28, 1868.

To the Governor:

In accordance with the requirements of the act relative thereto, the Directors of the Soldiers' Children's Home beg leave to present their Fourth Annual Report.

We would most thankfully acknowledge the blessing of the "Orphan's God" which has rested on our labors and on the Home during the past year. Death has not entered our circle; no accident or serious illness has befallen our little ones.

We have at the present time one hundred and sixty-two inmates from the following counties:

Hudson,	6
Morris,	2

Warren,	19
Essex,	28
Sussex,	3
Hunterdon,	11
Middlesex,	9
Union,	6
Monmouth,	16
Mercer,	28
Burlington,	11
Ocean,	4
Gloucester,	12
Cumberland,	2
Camden,	2
Salem,	3

Ninety-two of this number are boys, and seventy girls; sixteen are entire orphans; fourteen have both parents living; one hundred and twenty-four mothers only; eight fathers only, who are disabled.

Since the organization of the Home two hundred children have been under our care. One boy was transferred to the Reform School, and one was taken by a merchant in our city into his family and store. We were obliged quite recently to expel one for running away; he ran away, not from any dissatisfaction with the rules of the Home, but apparently actuated by a roving, vagrant disposition. He has since expressed his regret for casting from him all the advantages and comforts he might have enjoyed, but his persistent disobedience, exerting an exceedingly pernicious influence on the other inmates, we could retain him no longer. While grieved to resort to such an extreme in this case, we congratulate ourselves on the kind and successful discipline which has controlled such a household with but one exception, and claim that no brighter, happier family of children can be found than in the Soldiers' Children's Home of New Jersey.

We are yet favored with Mrs. Musgrove's services as Matron; every year gives us a higher appreciation of her worth. By her energy she makes the establishment not a mere Institution where children are fed and clothed in the aggregate, but a "Home" where each individual is cared for and cherished as by a parent's love.

The Sabbath School and services are faithfully attended to; the daily school and educational advantages are excellent. From many causes the early training of most of the inmates was very imperfect. Our earnest and efficient teachers are overcoming this as rapidly as possible.

We desire not to undertake teaching much, but to instruct them thoroughly in the fundamental branches of a plain English education. Some of our children are developing rare abilities for music, drawing, arithmetic, &c. Shall we cultivate the talents that God has given these little "fatherless ones," and thus assist them in becoming useful, honorable citizens, or condemn them to ignorance, drudgery and vice, by our neglect? We think every heart will respond, "Give them all the facilities possible."

Our own State Prison, all the penal and reformatory institutions of our country, are crowded with the ignorant and the vicious; numbers of them, in age scarcely past the years of childhood, but veterans in crime. We condemn the criminal, but do we, as a people, or as is our duty, shelter and guard these little waifs from the destroying influences which surround them? Is there not wrung from the despairing heart of many an erring and homeless one the sad lament, "No one cares for my soul."

We turn, however, with devout thanksgiving, from this dark picture to the "Home," an incontrovertible evidence that in our day Republics are not ungrateful, and that whatever may have been our differences of opinion in the past, these destitute little children shall be provided for.

The building, as originally constructed, would comfortably accommodate but one hundred and fifty children; we could not turn away the sorrowful plea of others, and have admitted one hundred and sixty-two.

When the Legislature visited the Institution last winter, heard the singing and recitations of those bright eyed little ones, saw the overcrowded condition of the house, and were informed that many were waiting admission, without any application from the Directors, they appropriated twenty thousand dollars for the enlargement and increased comforts of the Home. We have between fifty and one hundred applicants anxiously waiting the completion of the new wings, which will give us additional school rooms, dormitories, hospitals, kitchen and laundry, with, we trust, improved ventilation, and enable us to receive one hundred more children.

We have procured during the past year a Secular and Sabbath School Library of about four hundred volumes; have received donations of Bibles from the Mercer, Warren and Hunterdon County Bible Societies.

The Fourth of July and Thanksgiving day were appropriately observed.

By the contributions of many friends, (collected by Mrs. Dayton,) a "merry Christmas" was enjoyed by the children—the Christmas trees were laden with gifts for each child.

To our physicians, Drs. Hodge and Rogers, for their untiring interest; to the gentlemen of the advisory committee; Mr. T. J. Stryker, who is connected with the Sabbath School; the Vice Presidents, and the numerous friends in our own vicinity, and in distant parts of the State, we would express our grateful appreciation of their favors.

The accompanying report of the Treasurer will show that the actual expenses of the institution, during the year, have exceeded the stipend allowed by the State nearly $2,000. To meet this deficiency, we have been obliged to use the fund with which we had hoped to furnish the new building. (This fund was the accumulated donations received at various times.) We are very reluctantly compelled to ask aid of the Legislature. In other public institutions a separate appropriation is given for the salaries of employees. These, and all other expenses, we have heretofore met.

Much surprise is expressed that such a Home could have been supported on the sum allowed. It has been accomplished, in the past, by strict economy, and the entirely gratuitous labor of the Directors. Of that, however, it is not for us to speak. We are happy to feel that every needful want of the children has been provided for.

We stand now upon the threshold of another year; our work in the past, the principles we have inculcated, the impressions made, cannot be recalled—eternity alone will reveal their effect. While the increased docility, conscientious discharge of duty, eager thirst for knowledge, marked improvement in many of the inmates, are sources of gratification to us, we remember that some of them will soon pass from under our care. We wish them to enter upon the duties of life with principles fixed and firm, with courage to "dare to do right and dare to be true." In order to do this, we feel the necessity of working, while the day lasts; the night cometh, when no man can work.

We most earnestly urge the early and frequent visits of the Legislature to the "Home," that they may see these little ones —become acquainted with our work—feeling confident no other means will be needed to secure their abiding interest.

Respectfully submitted,

M. E. DAYTON, President.

Attest: M. F. JOHNSTON, Secretary.

MEMORIAL.

To the Honorable the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey:

The memorial of the United Delaware and Raritan Canal Company, Camden and Amboy Railroad and Transportation

Company, and New Jersey Railroad and Transportation Company, respectfully represents:

When the Delaware and Raritan Canal and Camden and Amboy Railroad and Transportation Companies were incorporated, in 1830, in the infancy and inexperience of railroad legislation and railroad management, it was unfortunately provided that they should be taxed by transit duties on their tonnage and passengers.

Experience on canals has shown, that the high priced merchandize carried on them, would bear our rate of taxation, while low-priced articles would only bear a much lower rate. Accordingly a transit duty of eight cents per ton was imposed on the higher class, and two cents per ton on the lower. But while recognizing so clearly the distinction between two great classes on the canal, and providing for both, the intention evidently was to provide for only one of them on the railroad, or rather part of one of them, for it was not then supposed that any other than what are now called express goods, and the highest classed goods would go by rail at all. On such goods the law intended to levy a transit duty of fifteen cents per ton; the medium and low-priced articles were not contemplated, and therefore not intended to be provided for.

For many years little attention was paid to this omission, as only a comparatively small amount of low-priced articles subject to transit duties, were carried at all. In later years, however, since experience has shown that all classes of articles can be carried advantageously by rail, provided they can be taken in large trains, at slow speeds, and with regularity, low-priced property has sought this route; and the embarrassment and loss to the Companies, to the State, and to the community, arising from the omission in the law to provide for such property has become very great, and is continually increasing. The law, in terms, though not in intention, imposed a transit duty of fifteen cents per ton on such medium and low-priced property. This amount is often prohibitory, always restrictive of increase of tonnage by reduction of rates.

In former times the ordinary profit on railroads was expected to be fifty per cent. of the gross receipts; but now the rates in currency being about the same as the former rates in coin, and the cost of much of the labor and material having doubled, the expenses are from seventy per cent. and upwards of the gross receipts, the fixed transit duty out of the fifty per cent. was not so seriously felt. But when only a small per centage of profit is left, the fixed tax often takes the whole or a large part of it and thus becomes prohibitory or restrictive.

For example, coal offered for the rail route between Trenton and Amboy. But as it would bear only a very low freight for shipment to points beyond Amboy, and as the actual cost of carrying it was such that the profit was not quite half enough to pay a transit duty of fifteen cents per ton, that transit duty was of course absolutely prohibitory. The legislature wisely supplied the omission in the law, a few years ago, and fixed the transit duty at two cents per ton. The consequence is that the State has received a considerable and increasing sum annually, on the coal which would otherwise have gone over one of the competing routes, on which there is no transit duty, where the State would have got nothing.

Where there is no tax on tonnage, it is the true policy of railroad companies to make the interest on their investment by moderate profit on large tonnage, rather than by large profit on small tonnage, for the increase of tonnage and consequent intercourse increases their passenger traffic. But a tax on tonnage (though short of being prohibitory) has a much greater influence than at first sight appears, in fixing the limit to which rates can be reduced.

For example, if between any two points a reduction, from one hundred cents per ton to eighty, would double the tonnage, and if the cost in the former case was sixty-cents, and in the latter the cost, including the interest on the increased capital to do the increased business, was also sixty cents, the Company would have a profit of twenty cents on each of two tons, instead of forty cents on one ton; and it would be best for them to reduce their rates, and take the two tons instead of the one. But if there is a tax of fifteen cents per ton, then they will have twenty five cents left out of the forty if they carry the one ton; but only ten cents out of the two twenties if they carry the two tons. The transit duty would be three-eighths of the profit in one case and three quarters in the other; and the Company would lose sixty per cent. of their profit by the reduction.

If the freight on some articles between Trenton and Jersey

City is three dollars per ton, and if a reduction to two dollars and fifty cents would double the tonnage, and if the actual cost of handling and carrying in each case is two dollars per ton, then the apparent profit in each case is one dollar. But the transit of twenty-seven cents now levied for one ton, leaves seventy-three cents; or for the two tons, forty-six cents, real profit to the companies. The transit duty of course prohibits low rates; and this is not an extreme case.

Or if heavy articles handled by the owners can be carried now between Trenton and Jersey City for one dollar and seventy-five cents per ton, at a cost of one dollar and twenty cents per ton, the apparent profit is fifty-five cents, and the real profit, after paying the transit duty, is twenty-eight cents. If, by reduction of freight to one dollar and twenty cents per ton, the quantity will be increased tenfold, and the cost by the introduction of a system which the increased quantity would render applicable, would be reduced to ninety-five cents, then the profit on the ten tons would be two dollars and fifty cents; but the transit duty would be two dollars and seventy cents, making a dead loss to the Company of twenty cents, with the ten tons at the low rate, instead of a gain twenty-eight cents with the one ton at the high rate. Without transit duty the gain by reduction of rates and increase of quantities, on the above supposition, would be one dollar and ninety-five cents, and of course it would then be the interest of the Company to reduce rates and increase tonnage.

It is not the amount actually paid for transit duty that creates the difficulty, but the amount that would be required to be paid under a system of low rates and heavy tonnage.

A transit duty that dams back the low-priced heavy traffic on one part of the route, seriously interferes with it on the parts where there is no transit duty. The cheap transportation system, to be successful, must be general over the whole route.

Few persons have ever suspected the magnitude of the difficulty except those who have assisted in fixing rates over this route. They meet it at every step.

By removing this restriction on the transportation of low-priced articles across the State, by substituting a moderate tax on them, the transportation of such articles would be increased many fold, and the revenues of the State would also be increased. This will further appear from the consideration of such facts as the following:

The manufacturers along the Delaware, and along the railroads leading down through Southern Jersey from Camden, get a part of their raw material from New York and New England, and send a large part of their manufactured products back to New York. But every ton brought by rail of raw material,—for example, of clay from Woodbridge, or feldspar from New England for the Trenton Potteries, of bleaching salts or paper stock for the paper mills, and of soda-ash for the glass works of Gloucester county—pays a tax of fifteen cents; and every ton of earthenware, of paper, and of glass, sent back to New York, pays another tax of fifteen cents. [See Appendices A & B.]

Large quantities of old rails from the Erie Railroad and the New York Railroads offer for re-rolling at the Trenton mills. On each ton of rails so re-rolled, a tax of thirty cents is required—fifteen cents each way—or if carried via Jersey City, of fifty-four cents. This enormous tax of course tends to drive this large business to untaxed localities, and, up to this time, outside the limits of New Jersey.

Farmers, fruit growers and truck raisers of West Jersey and along the Delaware are now obliged to submit to the effects of this heavy transit duty, not only in sending their products to the Eastern markets, but in bringing back any fertilizers coming past Amboy or New Brunswick. [See Appendix C.]

The Trenton grocers, by great enterprise, and by such integrity as has gained them the confidence of their customers, have extended their trade into the Lehigh and Wyoming Valleys and over northeastern Pennsylvania, though their freights from New York to Trenton, and thence to the point of consumption are necessarily higher than by the shorter routes that pay no tax. Were the tax made more moderate, the rates could be so fixed as to make Trenton a very important distributing point, and the increase in the amount of their traffic would more than compensate the revenues of the State for the diminished rate of taxation.

These examples and many others that might be adduced show that the system of high tax on tonnage, deprives the farmers, manufacturers, merchants and citizens of West Jersey and the line of the Delaware river, of a considerable part of the benefit of their proximity to New York.

The odium of all this has fallen mainly on the Companies. The Companies are taxed as was never intended by law; and then punished by the public for being so taxed. It is the victim of the policy that receives the punishment for the existence of the policy against which it protests.

High classed goods are carried by these Companies, at rates quite as moderate as on any road radiating from Philadelphia or New York, because the transit duties on them do not consume so very large a per centage of the profit.

The remedy sometimes suggested for high rates on heavy articles is the construction of other roads. Should such roads be untaxed, the State would lose its revenue. Should they be taxed in the same manner, the community must support a double set of railroads, and pay the interest on a great and unnecessary increase of capital.

It has been suggested that a distinction should be made between the traffic originating within the State, and that crossing the Delaware. Any such distinction would induce Congress to break through every barrier, and authorize the construction of a road across the State, yielding little or no revenue to the State. A bill authorizing such a railroad is now pending before the Senate of the United States, and is urged upon the ground that the State taxes the commerce of other States.

The following facts will show that there is some reason in this complaint, and that it is the interest of the State to supply the omission heretofore pointed out in the transit duty law, by adopting some other mode of taxation, or if that may not be, by fixing a moderate tax on medium and low-priced articles, of course including those from other States.

At the present moment it is estimated that more than one-half of all the goods carried between New York and Philadelphia, (including probably three-quarters of all the fourth class goods,) go by sea; and pay the State nothing. To take them by rail would require such reduction, that the profit, after paying transit duty, would be reduced far below what it is now on the smaller amount carried. But with a transit duty of five cents per ton on heavy groceries and goods of like class, the quantity carried would be quadrupled, and the revenue of the State increased. Very low rates between those great cities would increase quantities indefinitely.

Most of the local goods now carried between New York and Philadelphia, are high priced goods, no change in which is hoped for. The change proposed is not on what goes, to any great extent, by rail now, but on what does not go by rail, so as to get it by rail. So far as Philadelphia and New York traffic is concerned, the State is called upon to reduce, not the tax they get, but the tax they don't get.

The Western fourth class goods, going via Philadelphia and Jersey City to New York, pay twenty-seven cents per ton transit duty, leaving not more than that amount of profit to the railroad companies, (and some months no profit at all,) to pay the interest on the cost of their road. No present determination of the parties interested; no contract or arrangement anybody can make, can possibly retain the traffic on this route, with so enormous a discrimination against it. By the New York Central, the Erie, the Morris and Essex, or the New Jersey Central Railroad, it can pass without tax, and without producing revenue to the State of New Jersey. With a moderate tax the business can be retained and increased many fold, and the revenues of the State retained and increased, [See Appendix D.]

Three hundred and fifty thousand tons of live stock were carried last year from the West to New York, more than one-quarter of it by the Central Railroad of New Jersey. Except some twenty-thousand tons of it carried by the Camden and Amboy Railroad, all goes free of taxation. A large share of the business would go by way of Philadelphia, at a moderate profit. But the heavy transit duty now levied does not leave profit enough to pay the interest on the increased investment necessary to secure the business.

The great manufacturing city of Newark finds the market for a large part of its products in the South and West. Its natural outlet is by rail via Philadelphia. But branch roads now under construction connect it directly with the Erie and New Jersey Central. The discrimination in taxes against the road to Philadelphia and the route to the South and West via Philadelphia, will necessarily drive off all the coarser manufactured articles to the other routes on which there is no tax, and from the business of which the State gets no revenue. [See Appendices E, F, and G.]

The Southern fourth class goods for which there is no other direct rail route, must pay the tax or go by water, or by a circuitous route, or not go at all. In practically fixing rates, the experience is that in many cases the transit duty just turns the scale against a rate at which they will go at all by this route, or if at all without profit.

Disguise it as we may, a tax on tonnage is a tax on commerce; it practically falls directly upon the article carried, as it would not if the tax were on the profit or on the property of the carriers. If the tax were on profits, it would be alike the interest of the carriers of the State and of the community, to increase quantities at low rates; with a tax on tonnage, or what is next worst, on gross receipts, the tendency is to increase rates and diminish tonnage. The rates giving maximum gain to the carriers in the former case, are far below what they are in the latter.

The transit duty on the higher classes of goods are not so severely felt. But the tax which the letter, though not the intention of the law, imposes on low priced articles crossing the State, is so crippling to commerce, that it must either be modified, or be swept away by a power more potent than the State.

The fairest mode of taxation, and the mode most beneficial to the State, the Companies and the community, and which all parties will some day see the wisdom of adopting, is by percentage of net profits.

The necessity of equalizing the transit duties between Jersey City and Amboy, is too obvious to admit of argument, or to require extended explanation. The excessive transit duty on freight to Jersey City has always been nearly prohibitory. It surely cannot be the policy of the State to prohibit the traffic from the southwest to that flourishing city, and drive it over some other route, to the opposite side of the Hudson. It cannot be the policy of the State to forbid the creation of a great commercial depot within its own territory, on a site for the privilege of improving which the Companies have just paid the State half a million of dollars.

A reference to the laws will show that the object of imposing a transit duty on the traffic over the New Jersey Railroad was to prevent that traffic from crossing the State by some road other than the Camden and Amboy, extending from New Brunswick to the Delaware without taxation. The tax was evidently intended to be, not additional, but alternative. But it is not necessary to appeal to the intention of the law; the interest of the State and of an important portion of its citizens is too clear to admit of hesitation.

These Companies pay annually to the State for taxes on their capital and business, besides some other taxation very nearly three hundred thousand dollars. The two Companies between New York and Easton, competing with the Joint Companies for important branches of traffic, with a larger investment, and nearly as large a business, pay less than one quarter of that amount of tax.

But the hardship does not consist mainly in paying this large sum. It does consist in the practical prohibition, to reduce rates and increase tonnage to the best paying point, without paying to the State a much greater and impossible amount. It is not so much for what they pay, but a demand for what they cannot afford to pay—not the greatness of tax, but its paralyzing form.

The Companies have the best facilities for a great business, profitable to themselves and beneficial to the State and the community, and only ask permission to use those facilities.

It may be said that the Companies have agreed to these transit duties, and must abide by their contract. But as already pointed out, a large railroad tonnage of medium and low-priced articles is now carried which was not contemplated by the law, and on which the law never intended to levy a transit duty of fifteen cents per ton. The spirit of the contract requires a modification of its term; and it was certainly not the intention of the law to impose an additional transit duty over the New Jersey Railroad, on goods that had already paid one transit duty on the Camden and Amboy Railroad. And we submit that it is not wise to enforce an unintentional contract, when it is against the interest of every party concerned.

The said Companies therefore pray that, if the system of transit duties is to be continued at all, the tax on heavy agricultural and manufactured products, and on heavy groceries and articles of the like classes, may not be more than five cents per ton, and on pig iron and other raw materials and coarse articles of the like classes not more than two cents per ton; and that the tax to Jersey City and Amboy may be equalized.

But while asking for these modifications, it is not because they voluntarily consent to the continuance of a system shown by experience to be radically wrong, but because they do not suppose the State is yet prepared to change the system.

By order of the Joint Board of Directors.

ASHBEL WELCH,

General President of the United Companies.

APPENDIX.

APPENDIX A.

Trenton, and other points along the Delaware, are well situated for the manufacture of lumber. But it can hardly be carried to or beyond the Raritan, for the transit duty exceeds the profit on any rate for carriage it will ordinarily bear.

APPENDIX B.

The rolling mills, foundries and machine shops along the Delaware require pig iron from the North River. Their margins of profit are so small, in proportion to quantities handled, that this transit duty restricts the amount of their business, which seeks untaxed localities.

APPENDIX C.

The millers along the Delaware, in years when the crop at home is not sufficient, bring their grain from New York rather than direct from the West The freight that this will bear is so small, that the railroads must bring it almost without profit. The transit duties on this, sometimes prohibitory, is always restrictive and embarrassing.

APPENDIX D.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Company now bring more than a million of barrels of coal oil to Philadelphia. Four years ago a thousand barrels per day went over the Camden and Amboy Railroad from Philadelphia. The low rates and great risk left little profit, and the heavy tax so consumed that little, that what was left did not pay the interest on the rolling stock employed, and the business was discontinued. The coal oil that now goes to New York goes by routes that pay no transit duties.

APPENDIX E.

Many of the heavy productions of Eastern Pennsylvania seeking the New York market will bear a freight but little over the cost of handling and carrying. For example: three hundred thousand tons of pig iron will be produced this year in the Lehigh Valley, being probably one-fifth or one-sixth of the whole production of America. More than half of this is expected to go to New York. The profit on the freight via Trenton may be halt enough to pay the transit duty.

APPENDIX F.

The basin of Martin's Creek, the outlet of which is on the Belvidere Delaware Railroad, above Easton, is supposed to be the best slate field in the country. Proved slate lands sell for hundreds, sometimes for thousands of dollars per acre. A railroad is in contemplation from the heart of this field to the Belvidere Delaware Railroad. The production of that valley is expected very soon—perhaps this year—to reach sixty thousand tons per annum, and in a very few years several times that amount. A good deal of this is wanted on the towns on the route between the Raritan and the Hudson, and a great deal goes to New York. Though it starts on a branch of the Camden and Amboy Railroad, the transit duty of fifteen cents via Trenton to Elizabeth or Newark, and of twenty-seven cents to Jersey City or beyond, makes it necessary to allow it to leave this branch at Phillipsburg and go by other routes that pay no transit duty. The tax is prohibitory. If it were two cents per ton, the State would get some revenue from it; now they get little or none.

APPENDIX G.

Very much the same thing may be said of the lumber coming down the Lehigh Valley, from the west branch of the Susquehanna, or from the mills along the Delaware; of fire brick and clay going back to the Lehigh Valley; of the heavy products of the upper valley of the Schuylkill, such as blooms and iron in its crude state; of the hides going from New York to the tanneries on the west branch of the Susquehanna; of the products of the rolling mills and manufactories at and about Easton—the profit on the freight via Trenton, is not enough to pay the transit duty, and they go by routes that pay no transit duty, and so the State gets little or nothing.

To the Honorable the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey:

The subscribers, Agriculturists, Merchants, Manufacturers and Citizens of the State of New Jersey, respectfully represent, That the Transit Duty of fifteen cents per ton on agricultural and manufacturing products, on raw materials, on provisions, heavy groceries, and on all low priced articles carried over the Camden and Amboy Railroad, between or past the Delaware river, or towns thereon, and the Raritan river or bay; and the Transit duty of twenty-seven cents per ton between Trenton and Jersey City are found, in practice, to greatly obstruct the traffic between the southern and western parts of the State and the eastern part, and in many cases to be absolutely prohibitory, greatly to the injury of the agricultural, manufacturing and commercial interests of those portions of the State.

Your memorialists, therefore, pray your Honorable Bodies so to equalize the rates between the different routes across the State, and so to modify the taxes imposed as to remove the embarrasments under which the commerce between the eastern and western parts of the State now labors.

The undersigned, a Committee appointed at the last session of the Legislature of this State, under a Joint Resolution appropriating ten thousand dollars to purchase a bronze statue of General Philip Kearney, and a marble statue of Mr. Richard Stockton, to be placed in the National Statuary Hall at Washington, would respectfully report that we have made inquiry relative to the cost of the proposed statues, and have obtained propositions relating thereto. Under the most favorable proposal received by your Committee, the two works will cost seventeen thousand dollars. It will therefore be seen that in addition to the ten thousand dollars already appropriated, together with the sum of one thousand dollars, which has been contributed by soldiers in this State, who served under General Kearney, a further appropriation of six thousand dollars will be required to procure these works of art. The Committee respectfully submit these facts, and await the further action of the Legislature in relation thereto.

Mr. Beesley presented the following petition for the repeal of the law relative to inspection of steam boilers, as follows:

To the Honorable the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey:

The undersigned, citizens of Cape May county and its vicinity, respectfully represent, that at the last session of the Legislature a law was passed, entitled "An Act in relation to the inspection of steam boilers, and for the better protection of life and property against accidents by steam boiler explosions."

We believe the law was passed without due consideration—the members of the Legislature being imposed upon by its specious and hypocritical title, and the representations of speculators from other States, who expected to reap a golden harvest from its enactment; while on the other hand, not a single citizen of our own State, so far as we can learn, asked for its passage.

The law is worse than unnecessary. It was not originated in the public interest, nor by public demand, but merely by private individuals, who intended thus to make a compulsory market for their patented contrivances, to their own pecuniary advantage, to the amount of hundreds of thousands of dollars. We aver, and challenge proof to the contrary, that compliance with this law, which will involve an expense to the State, counties and individuals, of not less than half a million dollars, will not lessen the danger from the use of steam, in the least; but on the contrary, will actually increase the danger, by creating a false sense of security on the part of owners and attendants of boilers, by inducing them to depend on automatic instruments, constantly liable to derangement,—the worthlessness of which has been so demonstrated by experience, that their sale has nearly stopped; and now the proprietors of these instruments seek to compel their use by legislative enactment. The results of experiments ever since the application of steam to mechanical purposes, have fully demonstrated that the only reliable appliances are the simple guage cocks and safety valves in common use.

Your petitioners believe that the safety of the lives and property of those using steam, is a sufficient and most powerful inducement to exercise care to the condition and managment of boilers, and they would point to statistics, to show that a far larger per centage of boilers having certificates of inspection from United States officers, explode, than those used by our manufacturers.

We trust that your Honorable Bodies will speedily relieve the most important interests of this manufacturing State from the onerous and unnecessary requirements of this law, passed, as we believe, without sufficient consideration, at the covert instigation of parties from abroad, who have since boasted of their smartness, and the money they expected to make by the operation.

We therefore respectfully ask that the law may be repealed.

A message was received from the Governor returning to the House with his objections

Assembly bill No. 63, entitled

An act to authorize certain townships and cities in the county of Cumberland, or any other county along the line of the Vineland Railway, or through which it shall pass, to issue bonds and take stock in the Vineland Railway Company.

Which objections were read as follows:

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
February 24, 1869.

To the Senate and General Assembly:

GENTLEMEN:—I herewith return to the House of General Assembly, Assembly bill No. 63, entitled "An act to authorize certain townships and cities in the county of Cumberland, or any other county, along the line of the Vineland Railway, or through which it shall pass, or within three miles of said road, to issue bonds and take stock in the Vineland Railway Company," without my signature and with my objections to said bill.

The long settled policy of this State, as indicated by its legislation, with reference to townships, towns and boroughs, has been to limit the taxing power of such municipalities to raising money by votes of the legal voters, given at regular public elections, to be expended within the municipality, for purposes only of limited municipal government.

The bill authorizes the assessment of taxes upon the property of the townships and cities referred to in this bill, during a period of twenty-five years, at least, for the purpose of building a railroad, no part of which is required to be within the territory of the township or city upon the property in which the tax is imposed, and in the control and management of which railroad and of the concerns of the company to which the road belongs, the taxed townships and cities are secured no voice or part. It is not probable that the townships or cities will have any voice in the management of the affairs of the railroad company or of its road. If a representation in the direction of the railroad company were secured to the townships and cities which become stockholders, owing to inherent difficulties in selecting suitable and efficient representatives, the representation would be of little practical value to the townships and cities. This bill, then, enables the property of the people of a township or city to be taxed to contribute to the stock of a private railroad corporation, in the management of which private corporation the municipality can and will have no control. While the stock of the railroad company is to be paid for at par, and while the principal and interest of the municipal bonds are to be paid at par the bonds themselves may be disposed of at any rate of usury or discount that the commissioners see fit.

Before such a policy is engrafted in our system for the government of our local municipalities, I feel constrained to invite the deliberate consideration and judgment of the Legislature as to its wisdom and practical operation.

It is well worthy of consideration, whether the mischiefs and abuses sure to result from such a mode of raising funds to build the railway of a private railroad corporation, will not vastly outweigh all advantages which can accrue from it to the people of the taxed localities.

It is also to be doubted whether it will be wise, or in any respect beneficial to permit the townships, towns and cities to buy, hold and sell the stocks of private corporations. As a general rule, the effect cannot fail to be a loss to the municipality. The imposing of the tax by the consent, in writing, of a majority of the taxpayers, obtained separately, instead of having the question decided at a public township meeting or township election, where the voters all assemble at one place, and have an opportunity for conference and discussion, is a departure from the long established mode of deciding such questions in this State, and open to so many frauds and abuses, that its expediency is more than doubtful.

All of which is respectfully submitted for your consideration and action.

THEO. F. RANDOLPH, Governor.

Which was ordered to be entered at large upon the Minutes, and its further consideration postponed until to-morrow.

A message was received from the Governor as follows:

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,
TRENTON, February 24, 1869.

To the Senate and General Assembly:

GENTLEMEN:—The time has arrived, in my judgment, when a change can be safely and judiciously made in the mode of taxation as applied to corporations upon which taxation has heretofore been levied by means of transit duties.

I therefore recommend to your honorable bodies the enactment of a law, upon the acceptance of which by the companies now paying transit duties (if such acceptance be requisite), all payments by them of such duties, whether upon passengers or freight, shall cease. To adequately provide for an income to the State, equal, at least, to that at present obtained from corporations, provision should be made for the establishment of a just and uniform rate of taxation upon all railroad and canal companies, subject at all times to such changes in the rate of taxation as the Legislature may deem it necessary or expedient to make.

Provision should be made, however, for the payment of an amount per annum, by existing corporations, equal to that paid by them to the State for the year past.

In guarding the income of the State from diminution, the probably effect of the provision I have recommended would be to make, for the time being, a somewhat unequal assessment upon existing corporations. A number of reasons could be submitted, were it necessary, to show that the inequality is more apparent than real.

Great care should, nevertheless, be taken in the establishment of the new system, that no real injustice is done to the corporations whose interests are to be affected by its provisions. Many important considerations will undoubtedly suggest themselves in arranging the details of an act so important to the State, and ultimately, and not remotely, valuable to its corporations. I am convinced that the present mode of obtaining revenue by the imposition of transit duties is inconsistent with the spirit of our people, the more enlightened and just modes of taxation experience has developed, and unequal, also, in its operations upon our citizens.

The operation of the system, too, is either persistently misunderstood or wilfully misinterpreted by citizens of other States.

I belive the enactment of a law containing the general principles I have recommended, would leave the state free to pursue the most liberal policy as to public improvements, and finally tend to turn the current of legislation, as regards taxation, toward a system more just in its provisions and equitable in its operations than our tax laws of late years have seemed to be.

For these reasons, I urge your attention to the recommendations I have the honor to transmit to your honorable bodies.

Respectfully submitted,

THEO. F. RANDOLPH, Governor.

To the Senate and General Assembly:

GENTLEMEN:—

I feel constrained to return to the House of General Assembly,

Assembly bill No. 106, entitled

An act to incorporate Champion Base Ball Club, of Jersey City, Hudson county, Without my approval.

The fourth section of the bill authorizes the Club to give "exhibitions of feats of strength and all games requiring skill and science." I respectfully submit that, with the existing diversity of opinion as to what constitutes "skillful and scientific" games, this section of the bill may indirectly sanction and legalize that which the long-established laws of the State have made illegal.

The tenth section of the bill gives authority to the "Club to appoint, from time to time, one or more fit persons" who, upon certain prescribed and easily performed conditions, are invested with constabulary powers, which may be exceeded upon the grounds of the Club and in the immediate vicinity thereof.

I cannot sanction, by any act of mine, the delegation of so important a power as that of the arrest of citizens to persons who may be appointed without sufficient care, or at the caprice of a private corporation of the State. The evils growing out of the unduly-guarded exercise of such a power—always to be most carefully exercised—are too manifest to need further reference at my hands.

Were it proper to confer upon a corporation of the State such discretionary power, it will hardly be urged that the minor corporations should be given that which the greater could scarcely obtain—or, if obtained, then guarded as to the number of appointees, their fitness for the service required, and their more direct responsibility to the municipal or other authority for acts performed.

If your honorable bodies, upon reflection, deem the incorporation of base ball clubs and similar societies (beneficial, no doubt, when properly conducted) of sufficient importance to engage your deliberation and thought, I hope you may concur with me in the propriety of confining such organizations to the exercise of the simplest powers consistent with corporate existence.

Respectfully submitted.

THEO. F. RANDOLPH, Governor.

Which was read and accepted, and was directed to be entered at large upon the minutes, and under the rule its further consideration was postponed until to-morrow.

A message was received from the Governor as follows:

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
TRENTON, March 3, 1869.

To the Senate and General Assembly:

GENTLEMEN:

I have delivered to the Secretary of State, with my signature of approval,

Assembly bill No. 120, entitled

An act to incorporate the American Eagle Steam Gauge Company.

The eighth section of the bill provides: "That the real and personal property of the said corporation shall be subject to taxation in like manner as the property of individuals, and that the said corporation shall not be subject to any other tax whatever; and its stockholders shall not be subject to any tax on any stock of said corporation, held or owned by them or any of them."

This provision withdraws this company from the operation of the general tax law of this State relative to corporations. In the fifteenth section of the general tax law, approved April 11, 1866, (laws of 1866, page 1084), it is provided: "That all private corporations of this State, except banking institutions, and except those which, by virtue of any contract in their charters or other contracts with this State, are expressly exempted from taxation; and except Mutual Life Insurance Companies specially taxed, shall be, and hereby are required to be respectively assessed and taxed at the full amount of their capital stock paid in, and accumulated surplus; but any real estate which such corporations lawfully own in any other State than this State, shall not be liable to be estimated in such accumulated surplus, and the persons holding the capital stock of such corporations shall not be assessed therefor; and such corporations as have no capital stock other than those above excepted, shall be assessed for the full amount of their property and valuable assets without any deduction for debts and liabilities."

I have been unable to discover any sufficient reason for exempting the corporation created by the bill under notice, from the general rule of taxation applicable to private corporations. But, inasmuch as sufficient reasons for making that exception may have been known to the Legislature, and, as a similar exception may have been inserted in other charters of private corporations, granted since the enactment of the general law above referred to, and passed unchallenged, and as it is open to amendment or repeal, I have concluded that, without a veto of this bill, my duty will be discharged by inviting your attention to, and consideration of, the principle of taxation, which should be applied to all similar private corporations chartered and to be chartered.

At all times, as a general rule, justice and sound policy require that the property of private corporations, as to taxation, should be no more favored or relieved than the property of animated persons, and that the rule of taxation should be uniform and general. Now, when taxes are numerous and burdensome, it would seem wise and just for the Legislature to give the most deliberate attention to the application and enforcement of these principles.

The Steam Guage Company now incorporated, may expand its capital to one million of dollars. When this is done, the only tax it will be liable to under its charter will be: "That the real and personal property of the said corporation shall be subject to taxation in like manner as the property of individuals."

The real and personal property of the corporation which can be reached by an assessor, may, even when the capital is large, be small and comparatively insignificant. In all such cases the corporations exempted from the general law, as this is, will pay an inconsiderable amount of tax, while those subject to the general law will pay tax on "the full amount of their capital stock paid in, and accumulated surplus." Are not such discriminations invidious and unjust? Is it not detrimental to the public revenues, and unequal in operation towards those who are taxed according to the general tax law?

Where the public burdens are great, nothing is more likely to engender and promote popular discontent than discrimination in the imposition of taxes.

The rule taxing private corporations "at the full amount of their capital stock paid in, and accumulated surplus," was adopted in 1862, and has been maintained as a general law ever since. The rule seems to me to be convenient, just and salutary. Every private corporation should, and may be well assumed to, have property to the full amount of their capital stock paid in and their accumulated surplus. Besides that, this rule of taxation has a most salutary influence in restraining private corporations from issuing stock founded upon fictitious or inflated values.

I therefore respectfully invite you to consider whether the private corporations of this State should not be assessed and taxed at the full amount of their capital stock paid in and accumulated surplus, and whether, when the property of the corporation has been acquired by the issue of bonds, the amount of the funded debt should not be added to the capital stock paid in? With rare exceptions the application of such a principle would operate justly and beneficially. Should this principle be adopted, provision would need to be made to properly distribute the tax thus raised between the State, counties and smaller municipalities.

Much of the confusion and inequality as to taxes upon the property of private corporations would be avoided if the Legislature should see fit to refuse to create a private corporation by special charter in every case where the legitimate purposes of the proposed corporation can be attained by organizing the corporation under the general law "to authorize the establishment and to prescribe the duties of companies for manufacturing and other purposes." That law, by a supplement thereto, approved April 6, 1865, is "extended so as to embrace within it all persons exceeding four, who shall associate themselves together for the purpose of carrying on any lawful business whatever." Were this course adopted, there is reason to believe that, with very few exceptions, every legitimate object of a corporation could be attained, and the rights of the public be better protected and promoted than by special charters.

The length of the sessions and the labors of the Legislature would be greatly reduced, should such action be concluded upon as to future applications. To this important subject I also invite your prompt and careful consideration.

Respectfully,

THEO. F. RANDOLPH, Governor.

In which the concurrence of the House of Assembly is requested.

Also,

A message was received from the Governor as follows:

STATE OF NEW JERSEY,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
TRENTON, March 23, 1869.

To the Legislature:

In the report submitted some weeks since to the Legislature, the commissioners to investigate State Prison affairs expressed their strong conviction of the necessity of further provisions for the proper treatment of those criminals who, through the operation of our laws, are under the care of the State. The able report of the Joint Committee of last session, appointed to inquire into the management of the State Prison, entirely harmonizes with the conclusions at which the commissioners arrived, as to the evils arising from short official terms and of partizan appointments in the Prison. Its forcible statement of them renders needless any further observation. The wisdom of the Legislature will doubtless find an appropriate mode of relief.

The crowded condition of the Prison also demands immediate attention. It has rendered the liberation of prisoners before the completion of their terms of sentence in many cases necessary and inevitable. They are not only crowded, but herded together in an enforced idleness, there not being shop room enough for more than about three hundred and fifty men. The State, therefore, loses the benefit of the productive industry of more than two hundred prisoners—a condition injurious alike to the convict and to the State. Honest labor should not be taxed to support idle convicts.

As the Prison yard is too small for a proper extension of the buildings, it is recommended that the plot of ground three hundred and ten feet by two hundred and sixty-three feet in extent, lying between the south wall of the Prison and the north wall of the State Arsenal, be enclosed by walls similar to those now standing, as early as practicable, and that any needless portion of the south wall of the present yard be removed, except the portion enclosing the female department. New work shops might then be erected, either for carrying on again some branch of blacksmithing, an extension of shoemaking, or such other labor as the officers may deem best suited to the institution. Another block of cells could be erected similar to that now called "the new wing," with the exception that the cells should be of larger size. In this work the prisoners now idle could be profitably employed.

I also recommend to the Legislature the erection of a chapel, either in connection with a mess-room or in an added story over the proposed work shops. I have no doubt that it will prove of great value, not only as a much needed place of social worship, but also for the improvement of the prisoners by instructive lectures. With active minds, cut off from the ordinary interests of life, many of the convicts accept with gratitude, and profit by opportunities for mental improvement. If the instruction has to be separately communicated to each prisoner in his cell, it will be seen how tedious must be the labor. Deprivation of the privileges of the chapel and the lecture room to those guilty of any violation of the rules in them would no doubt secure more correct deportment.

The attention of the Legislature is also called to the necessity of more care in the proper treatment of habitual vagrants and drunkards and persons who are but commencing a career of crime.

The indiscriminate mingling of the prisoners in our county jails without employment is felt by the community to be so demoralizing that many offences which ought to be noticed go unpunished. At the same time many persons are sent to the State Prison who do not deserve such a penalty. The courts are often in a dilemma, hesitating to sentence persons to the State Prison for a comparatively venial offence, but in the absence of other provision they must pursue this course or suffer the offenders to escape imprisonment. The State Prison is, therefore, crowded, though Grand Juries often refuse to indict because there is no proper place of confinement. It is in view of these facts that I suggest the establishment of a House of Correction in the eastern part of the State. I do not know on what terms Hudson county would convey her prison and part of the grounds at Snake Hill to the State, but I presume that, for the purposes stated, the freeholders would make the sale on reasonable terms. A commission to ascertain on what terms a suitable site can be obtained, and to digest a proper plan for its establishment and government, would probably be the best immediate disposition of the subject.

I therefore request of the Legislature the appointment of a suitable commission to carry out the view expressed herein as to the House of Correction, or so much as they may concur in, such commission reporting their recommendations to the next Legislature, or, if more prompt action is deemed expedient, to recommend a plan and expenditure, limited in amount, which shall be considered as authorized by the State whenever the Chancellor, Chief Justice, Treasurer and Comptroller, or a majority of them, shall agree thereto.

Immediate action is necessary as to one or the other of the plans I have suggested, to enable the State to properly confine the large and rapidly increasing number of prisoners sentenced by the courts, and ultimately at least both plans must be adopted, or others of like character.

Respectfully,

THEO. F. RANDOLPH, Governor.

Which was read and ordered to be printed for the use of the House.

The subscribers, members of the Joint Committee on the Reform School, beg leave to report:

That in the discharge of the duties imposed upon them, the Committee visited the School, and made a thorough examination of the building, furniture and general condition of the scholars.

There are seventy-one boys (sixty-six white and five colored), and as the accommodations are insufficient, three boys are compelled to occupy one bed. There is an imperative necessity for some change, whereby the inmates can be placed in more favorable positions, and the colored boys be fed and lodged separately from the whites.

The rooms, and indeed every part of the building were found to be scrupulously neat and clean, and so far as we can judge, every means which human zeal can prompt, is brought into requisition by the officers of the Institution to enforce the morals and restore to society the unfortunate youths commited to their care.

We take pleasure in recommending this Institution to the favorable consideration of the Legislature, believing that it merits the improvements above mentioned, and the fostering care of the State, and if properly sustained, is destined to contribute largely toward the decrease of crime within our borders.

April 1, 1869.
