The new Speaker delivered the following acceptance speech.

It is a great honor to be Speaker of this House of Assembly.

May I thank you all for your faith and trust in me. I want you to know I am very appreciative.

To my neighbors and fellow citizens of Hudson County who have supported me for the past eight years as a member of this great General Assembly, I want to express my sincere and humble thanks.

We enter this new decade faced with the task of assuming the leadership for a modern and progressive legislative program geared and dedicated to fulfill the pressing social and economic needs of all the citizens of our great State. We should meet the problem of the commuters, the deterioration of the urban areas, State aid for school construction and other educational problems. We should strive to raise the minimum wage rate and increase and lengthen the weekly payments for unemployment benefits, modernize our workmen's compensation laws, take a look at the present system of automobile inspections, our highway safety program and highway construction, and also the problems inherent in establishing a jet airport in New Jersey.

Governor Meyner's annual Message will highlight in more detail these problems that I speak about.

This year, the Democratic Party in the Assembly holds 34 seats, with the Republican Party holding the remaining 26 seats. This means that more than ever before an active and close spirit of co-operation between the two parties will be absolutely essential to produce an aggressive, productive legislative program beneficial to the citizens of New Jersey.

And even more, since the Senate is also so closely divided, with the Republican Party holding 11 seats and the Democratic Party holding the remaining 10 seats, close harmony of action between the leaders of this House and the Senate, will be required in order to prevent legislation from becoming hopelessly entangled in this area of our legislative process.

I intend to work closely with the leaders of the Minority Party here in the House, in order to fulfill our legislative requirements this year, and also, I will meet with the leaders of the Senate just as often as necessary to attempt to produce a harmonious program which will be compatible to both Houses, in the best interests of the citizens of our State.

I pray we may have the help of Almighty God to assist us in carrying out our duties according to the highest ideals of our American democratic way of life.

Resolution No. 1, by Assemblyman D'Aloia :

Be It Resolved, That the Speaker appoint forthwith a committee of six to wait upon the Governor and inform him that the General Assembly has organized by the election of the Honorable Maurice V. Brady of Hudson County as Speaker, and of Maurice F. Karp as Clerk of the One Hundred and Eighty-fourth Session of the General Assembly of New Jersey, and is now ready to proceed to business.

STATE OF NEW JERSEY

GENERAL ASSEMBLY

State House, Trenton, N. J.

Assembly Resolution by Assemblyman Robert J. Wegner of Passaic County :

WHEREAS, Abe J. Greene, of Paterson, has been proclaimed "Editor of the Year," by the New Jersey League of Weekly Newspapers, for being an effective and impressive Super "Goodwill Ambassador" of the "Fourth Estate" of New Jersey for his illuminating editorial analysis of the national and international problems confronting our Modern American civilization; for his adherence and loyalty to the pioneer concept of the true American way of life, with its lofty ideals of Free Speech, Free Press and Free Religion guaranteed by our Constitutional Bill of Rights; for his recognition as the foremost Boxing Commissioner of the United States; for his honored reelection for many years; and his advocacy for clean, wholesome sports. A plaque has been presented to Mr. Abe J. Greene by President M. Martin Turpanjian of New Jersey League of Weekly Newspapers on behalf of all the officers and members of the said organization. Mr. Turpanjian is also the editor of the Waldwick Jersey Parade and North Bergen Hudson Gazette. Greene forty years ago as a member of his editorial staff; and

GOVERNOR'S ANNUAL MESSAGE TO THE LEGISLATURE

January 12, 1960.

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker and Members of the Senate and General Assembly:

The opening of a new session is an occasion to review what has been done, and what remains to be done. It is inventory time. We should take stock of past achievements, of problems old and new. Then, in the coming year we must apply our imagination, ingenuity and initiative in performing our common duty.

It is the genius of the human mind that we learn by experience. We examine the results of the trial-and-error process. We avoid repeating efforts that have not achieved their purpose or are no longer suited to the needs of the day.

Although it may not be as obvious or dramatic as other forms, the most useful kind of progress consists of traveling again over the old roads, making the best improvements we can, leveling the grades, smoothing the surfaces and widening the way.

This, it must be said, is a humble attitude. It seeks to move forward by well-considered steps. Its objective is solid progress. It recognizes the imperfection of all human endeavor.

Still, what we do is important. Democracy is on trial today and the test has world-wide significance. There are many nations yet uncommitted in the struggle between democracy and communism. Some of these nations are in the control of armed forces—what we call dictatorship, but which some contend is “guided democracy.”

The period we live in is one of transition, and we cannot predict which way the pendulum will swing. If we have confidence in our form of government, if we believe it will best preserve the freedoms which we cherish, we must be able to show that democracy works.

It is vitally important that all 50 States in our Union perform their functions capably. In this display of achievement, New Jersey, as one of the original States, is in the forefront. It must be our aim to keep our State, county and local governments alert and up-to-date. They must always perform their services effectively, with minimum waste, and without dislocating or disturbing the patterns of progress.

With these guides in mind, I now turn to what lies ahead at the beginning of the sixties.

THE LEGISLATIVE PROCESS

Three aspects of the legislative process deserve particular attention. The first deals with the inexcusable caucus system in the Senate. The caucus gives one party the power of life and death over all legislation. It can kill a bill known to have the support of the Senate as a whole.

With a Senate divided 11 to 10, this means that as few as six—less than 30 per cent of the entire membership—now hold this unjustifiable power. “Government by the half-dozen” is not our idea of democracy.

This power is a sign of weakness; it reflects an unreasoning fear to stand up and be counted. Should there be any doubt of this analysis, we need only observe that in the last six years, not once has a bill been defeated on a floor vote in the Senate. This is not the kind of deliberative and representative government calculated to win and maintain public respect. It smacks more of comic opera.

This is not a partisan issue. I remind you that in his Annual Message of 1953, Governor Alfred E. Driscoll urged both Houses to adopt a rule to require “each legislative committee * * * to report out any bill upon petition of seven Senators in the Senate or twenty members in the General Assembly.” I agree completely.

If the Legislature has the courage to take this action, most of the recommendations in this message will not be brought to your attention again next year. They will have been disposed of through adoption or rejection. I could not ask for more. The people could not ask for more.

The second aspect deals with legislative procedures. The Assembly showed how the problem of identical bills can be solved. It adopted a rule to substitute a Senate bill for a pending Assembly bill. This has helped, but both Houses should enact procedural legislation under which the same bill can be printed once, with both bill numbers. When passed by each House, it will be ready for delivery to the Executive.

I have no doubt that this approach is constitutionally valid. Since it is novel, however, it should be confirmed by an early court test.

The third aspect is the importance of equipping the Legislature with a permanent staff to deal adequately with the technical side of its work. Such a staff could provide better liaison with the executive departments. Facts known to our departments are yours for the asking, but they are now rarely sought out for lack of time. A permanent staff can get this information, so that you will have all the facts and will be aware of all the consequences before you act.

CONFLICT OF INTEREST

The people have a right to expect that the person they elect to public office will not use it to advance his private interest. Legislation should be adopted to define and preclude activities which conflict with the public trust.

Such legislation also should define and preclude conflicts of interest by State employees. I have gone as far as possible in this direction by administrative action.

ASSEMBLY APPORTIONMENT

“Equitable representation of the people of our State is a key requirement of our republican form of government. While there may be some difference of opinion as to the mathematics of the question, there can be no compromise with the immediate need to reapportion the General Assembly. * * *” These are not my words—they were spoken by Governor Alfred E. Driscoll in 1953.

We are now eight years overdue, and another census will soon be taken. Its results should be available by the beginning of 1962. The Legislature should agree upon a formula to accomplish a fair reapportionment, and provide for its application upon the promulgation of the next census.

CONGRESSIONAL REDISTRICTING

The present Congressional Districts were established in 1931, more than 28 years ago. Present estimates show that some Congressional Districts have meanwhile grown to more than twice the size of others. For example, the 1st District now has 550,000 people, while the 13th and 14th each have only about 270,000.

Redistricting ordinarily occurs only when the Legislature and the Executive are of the same political persuasion and the result often reflects this affinity. The Legislature this year has an opportunity to adopt a truly bipartisan approach to this always troublesome problem. I urge you to seize this opportunity to develop an equitable proposal.

THE JUDICIARY

Justice is being delayed in our Superior Court. That Court has an unprecedented caseload. Thirty-eight judges cannot possibly handle it with dispatch.

The problem is especially severe because only 30 of these judges are available for work at the trial level. This includes those assigned to matrimonial and general equity matters. The other eight are in the Appellate Division, and they too are faced with an intolerably heavy burden. I earnestly urge that you put aside local considerations and approve the bill to increase the authorized strength of the Court to 44 judges.

A bill to provide the means for a needed revision of the law of evidence will be before you again this year. It commands general professional support and warrants your favorable consideration. It surmounts the problem of the Winberry case and preserves the legislative function in this important field.

Lastly, we have the problem of the municipal courts. There are 501 of these courts, each staffed by part-time personnel and most of them without adequate facilities. Yet, these are the courts where the greatest number of people feel the keen cutting edge of the law. Such courts cannot provide the high level of performance essential to a sound judicial system. The Legislature should seek a practical approach to improvement, perhaps on a transition basis.

PROPERTY TAX ASSESSMENTS

A group of bills to change our property assessment law passed the Senate last year by a single vote. It developed that these bills, as they stood, could not win approval of the Assembly. It was also clear that the narrow margin of Senate passage did not allow for modifications considered essential in the Assembly.

All of us must realize that any attempt to revamp our property tax methods is doomed to failure unless it commands more than bare approval. Any formula so narrowly enacted carries with it the seeds of endless controversy.

I therefore suggest that we re-examine the subject and not engage in deadlocked controversy over last year's bills. For this purpose, I submit the following eight points for your consideration:

One: Allow each county to set the assessment level for real property, to be applied uniformly in that county. One could be at 20 per cent, another at 40 per cent or whatever level is considered best. Equalization of assessment would, of course, continue for the purpose of allocating State aid and for other purposes, as at present.

If the level within each county is uniform, it makes no difference that the level might vary from county to county. Our Constitution directs that real property be assessed "according to" the same standard of value. The universal State-wide "standard of value" will always be true value or some similar standard. So long as assessments are made "according to" that same standard, different percentage levels may be used in different counties.

Two: Have the statute set the ratio between business personal property and the county level for real property. Thus, machinery and equipment could be one-quarter of the real property level, and inventory one-tenth.

Three: Eliminate the least productive types of inventory, on which the tax might be burdensome, namely raw materials, work in process, small tools and supplies. Also, the desire of farming counties to set a low ratio for farm machinery and equipment can be accommodated without adverse effect on any other county.

Four: Allow each municipality to decide for itself whether it wishes to impose the tax on household property. In practice, that has been the situation anyhow.

Five: The local press of our State should publish the municipal tax rolls over a six-month period. If the effort proved successful, as it did where it was tried, the Legislature could require such publication regularly. This would be an effective way to get the public to insist on the correction of inequity.

Six: Provide for the professional training of local assessors, for State-wide performance standards, and for competent technical assistance when needed. If this is done, there will be no need for the services of commercial firms. We can provide these services for ourselves with better results and at substantially lower cost.

Seven: Permit, on local option, the use of county assessors or the assessment of property by municipalities jointly on a consolidated basis. Some such step is needed if the suggestions already made are to produce more than a temporary victory. The key to the whole problem lies in a high quality of performance in local assessing practices.

Eight: Provide for complete assessment every two or three years, instead of every year.

PROTECTION FOR THE CONSUMER

Last year, I emphasized the importance of legislation for better protection of the consumer. Bills were introduced to regulate installment sales, on which extra charges are now unlimited. A bill was also introduced to get rid of the "bucket shop" securities salesman. This law is needed so that the State can take affirmative action before the damage is done.

Neither of these subjects received legislative attention. There is no excuse for inaction. In addition to these bills, legislation will be offered to eliminate the unregulated "debt adjuster" with his exorbitant fees, and the "loaded" home improvement project, by which storm windows, siding, fire-alarm systems and the like are offered at attractive prices but with high hidden charges, and other "con game" tricks.

Recent months have seen a growing number of complaints from persons who have been victimized by fraudulent or deceitful selling practices. This problem is not limited to misleading advertising on television. It extends to "bait" advertising in other media, high-pressure promises by door-to-door salesmen, and slick methods for adding on high extra charges.

To combat this evil, legislation is needed to crack down on consumer frauds. It should authorize the Attorney General to restrain these practices, and to subpoena witnesses so that he can get the facts. He is ready to establish a Consumer Frauds Section in his department to administer this law and co-ordinate prosecution under other statutes.

HOUSING AND URBAN RENEWAL

We must step up our efforts to eradicate blight and to meet the needs of our citizens for adequate housing. In some areas persons of moderate incomes are not able to find decent, safe and sanitary housing suitable to their needs. The problem exists in even greater measure for our senior citizens. Frequently denied an opportunity to work, and forced to live on minimal incomes, a significant number of our half-million citizens over 65 years of age cannot find adequate housing within their means. Neither private industry nor our existing housing programs are capable of fulfilling the need.

My pleas for a permissive rent control law, in areas where it is needed, have been ignored.

The slum is still a problem. Only 25 municipalities are engaged in projects under the federal urban renewal program. In many instances the projects are not of adequate scope. Many municipalities simply cannot afford to do more.

I propose a four-point program of housing and urban renewal:

One: The Local Housing Authorities Law and the Housing Co-operation Law should be amended to enable local housing authorities to build rental housing for families of moderate income.

Two: The credit of the State should be pledged for bonds of the State Public Housing and Development Authority to develop capital for moderate income housing. The proceeds would be made available in long-term loans to private industry for construction of rental housing for moderate income families.

Three: The limited-dividend housing law should be amended to authorize a more realistic dividend on investment and a greater payment in lieu of taxes. Because of the restrictions of the present law only one project has been undertaken in 10 years. The liberalization I recommend will put this law to work.

Four: A State program should be developed to encourage urban renewal efforts in our municipalities and to provide rental housing for senior citizens under Title II of the Federal Housing Act of 1959.

A NEW AID FOR CRIMINAL LAW ENFORCEMENT

Our indictment procedures are now established within the limits of county boundary lines. This system is entirely adequate for most cases, but not for all. In those cases where a network of organized crime reaches beyond county borders, we should be equipped to fight it on equal terms.

The problem of investigation is largely met by the efforts of the county prosecutors and the Attorney General, who meet regularly to discuss such matters. Together, they try to assemble the jig-saw puzzle of evidence which is distributed among the counties. And, whenever intercounty activities appear to create problems beyond the effective ability of local officials, the State Police are called in to help.

Helpful as this system is, its value is sometimes reduced by the need to break down the evidence into sections limited by county lines for the purpose of indictment and trial.

We can eliminate the problem by a simple mechanism: a grand jury with State-wide jurisdiction.

I recommend to you the enactment of legislation to establish such a grand jury capable of returning indictments against the accused on the basis of activity anywhere in the State.

Such a grand jury would be called, as needed, after the request of one or more county prosecutors when they find a situation involving multi-county activity; and if the Attorney General concurs, he would then apply to the court for an order to convene the jury.

The jury itself could be drawn from a panel containing names from every county. The panel might even consist of some of the members of each county grand jury then in session.

It would have the assistance of the county prosecutors as well as of the Attorney General and his staff. It could indict the accused for all violations of the law within the State, even though some things were done in one county and others in another county, in those cases where this cannot be done effectively by a county grand jury.

Its proceedings would be conducted with the traditional secrecy essential to proper grand jury operations, and its indictments could be scheduled for trial according to venue designations made by the court.

OTHER ENFORCEMENT MEASURES

When I took office in 1954, law enforcement was at low ebb. I took stringent measures at that time. New Jersey today enjoys an enviable record. If this record is to be preserved, it is essential that the Legislature act on numerous law enforcement measures which I have brought to your attention before.

The police training bill will be introduced again. Adequate training of new policemen before they are permanently appointed is a necessity.

A crime reporting system should be instituted without delay. Modern law enforcement requires that we have an accurate and sensitive picture of criminal activity in the State.

The immunity bill will also be resubmitted. This bill will enable a prosecutor to obtain a court order granting immunity to a witness in return for vital testimony now unavailable.

The Criminal Investigation Section's State-wide investigation of garbage collection and disposal practices has shown what kind of public controls are needed. There will be bills to require licensing of garbage collection contractors and to regulate garbage dumping practices.

The office of prosecutor is a full-time responsibility, yet our statutes provide for only a part-time official. I suggest that we put county prosecutors on a full-time basis in those counties where it is feasible. The salaries should be adequate to compensate full-time personnel. In one county the salary for two of the assistants is higher than for the prosecutor. In eight of our counties the salary of the prose-curator is less than the minimum salary authorized by last year's law for the prosecutor's chief county detective. I urge you to act promptly to give deserved recognition to the pivotal importance of the prosecutors in our law enforcement mechanism.

AMUSEMENT GAMES

At the November election, the public approved the playing of amusement games at certain restricted locations. The law provides that these games cannot be conducted until a State license, as well as a municipal license, has been obtained.

Before any State license can be issued, there must be an Amusement Games Commissioner. I have concluded that the law can be best administered by the Division of Alcoholic Beverage Control. The present Director assures me that he can integrate this assignment with the other work of the Division. In this way, no additional salary for a Commissioner will be required, and the expense for office space, staff and travel will be held to a minimum.

Enactment of this legislation is essential before any of these games can be played anywhere in the State.

OUR INTERSTATE RELATIONS

There are six major subjects dealing with interstate relationships which will require your careful attention at this session.

The first is the Delaware River and Bay Compact. This treaty will be the first establishing a bi-State agency with the State of Delaware. It culminates five or six years of effort by this administration, and was prepared by bipartisan conferees appointed by the Governors of both States. It will begin a period of constructive co-operation and joint effort to deal with common problems affecting the Delaware River and Bay area.

The second subject is the New York income tax. The studies and discussions over the last two years have forcefully shown the injustice of the present tax. We have been ably supported by our legislators and by the State of Connecticut. New York must now search its own conscience and make its own decision. We have presented suggestions and comments, and encouraging progress has been made. What New Jersey should do will depend upon the course which New York selects.

Similar efforts have not yet indicated that the City of Philadelphia, the Borough of Wilson and the State of Pennsylvania are ready to discuss the problem of their municipal wage tax. Their reluctance will not discourage us. Our effort will be continued.

The third interstate matter is a proposed water compact including New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania and Delaware, as well as the Federal Government. It proposes a single agency to deal comprehensively with water development and use in the Delaware River Basin. A draft for distribution has not yet been completed. When it is, you should study it so that you can evaluate its impact on our State.

Next is the suggestion that New Jersey and Pennsylvania should streamline the several fragmentary agencies now existing between them. This calls for a careful analysis of present agreements and a study group to review the matter with Pennsylvania.

Then there is the proposal of the Port of New York Authority to build a new airport. I strongly urge that you become acquainted with the essential facts. Any decision will lie with the Legislature, since the airport suggested cannot be built unless you authorize it by law. I assure you that I do not intend to give my approval unless I am convinced that it embodies a sound and sensible plan.

The sixth subject deals with air pollution. Discussions have led to a proposal that the existing Interstate Sanitation Commission take on the functions of pooled research, development of standards, and gathering of field data. Enforcement of existing law will remain with present agencies having jurisdiction over the source location.

TRANSPORTATION PROBLEMS

“Improvement of facilities for carrying the vast army of commuters to and from New York City affects not alone the comfort of those who now are dependent upon such facilities, but measures the success or failure of our future development.” These are not my words—they are the words of Governor A. Harry Moore, from his legislative message of 1928. More than 30 years have passed without significant progress on this problem.

Last year, this Administration advanced what I believe was the most effective step yet offered. It would have provided the funds without which any great improvement will be slow and difficult. Unfortunately, the public withheld its approval. Since then the Transportation Division has been engaged in the preparation of other programs. These should be ready for announcement next month.

I still maintain that the commuter problem is part of the national transportation pattern and that it must be solved, in no small degree, at the national level in much the same manner as assistance is provided to the airways and highways.

Meanwhile, since the Transportation Division and the Bi-State Transportation Agency created last year were given a short statutory life, I recommend that you extend them by an additional year. Also, there must be a supplement appropriation of $25,000 to comply with the terms of the compact with New York.

THE PUBLIC UTILITY COMMISSION

The workload of this department has increased substantially in recent years. The number of matters filed in 1959 was 52 per cent higher than in 1955. At the same time, the calendar has been so expedited that 86 per cent more cases were decided last year than in 1955. Most matters are now disposed of within 30 days.

A comprehensive revision of practice rules, administrative orders and suggested procedures, the first since 1911, was adopted last year.

In the most important part of its work, that which deals with rail commutation, the Board has been severely handicapped by the Federal Transportation Act of 1958.

The Federal Government has taken a completely inconsistent position by refusing to help solve the problem of interstate commutation, claiming that the problem is purely local, but at the same time taking sole jurisdiction to permit the reduction or discontinuance of service in certain cases. In spite of this handicap, the Board is doing all it can and is working closely with the Rail Transportation Division to develop the facts needed for the design of new plans.

A CLIMATE FOR INDUSTRIAL GROWTH

Since my First Inaugural Address, I have repeatedly asked for a State labor-management relations law. A State with an annual growth of more than 100,000 people requires a healthy industrial climate to promote an expanding base of employment opportunity and sustain that growth.

Recent federal legislation relinquishes certain areas of jurisdiction to the States. We must recognize our responsibility and accept this jurisdiction.

I have asked the Commissioner of Labor and Industry to discuss this matter with leaders of labor and management. I am hopeful that, within the Department, we can devise an inexpensive administrative method of handling a labor-management relations program which will serve the needs of management, labor and the public.

I expect to submit a specific proposal to define certain unfair practices of labor and management and to handle elections to determine proper representation.

OTHER LABOR MEASURES

New Jersey has had in the past a proud and enviable record of enlightened labor legislation. Laws regulating child labor were adopted as early as 1904. In 1911, measures were instituted to safeguard female employees and prohibit oppressive and unreasonable wages for women and children. In 1912, workmen's compensation was established, and, in 1936, an unemployment compensation program was enacted.

The foresight of our predecessors, however, cannot justify inaction. Economic conditions are not static. We have a duty to revise and expand these programs to keep pace with the changes.

Despite my repeated requests since 1954, nothing has been done on a comprehensive minimum wage law. Action must be taken to establish this essential program.

Token increases in workmen's compensation, temporary disability and unemployment compensation benefits were enacted several years ago. But the benefits still fall far short of the 50 per cent level advocated by President Eisenhower and Secretary Mitchell. In addition, these programs should be extended to include those who work for employers of fewer than four.

These are not partisan matters and should not be so treated. If the Senate majority believes that these measures do not command support of a clear majority of that House, then I ask that they defeat them on the floor of the Senate, and not in secrecy behind the Caucus Curtain. Our working people deserve better treatment than that.

OUR TRAFFIC SAFETY PROBLEM

Measured by statistical comparison with other States, our traffic safety record is an encouraging achievement. Measured in human agony, it is appalling.

It now appears that our traffic death rate for 1959 will be about 3.0 per 100 million vehicle miles. This would be a reduction of more than 6 per cent from the 3.2 rate of 1958. The accident total for 1959 is expected to be lower than in 1958, the first reduction in a decade; this, despite an increase of more than 7 per cent in vehicle mileage. These are heartening improvements. Our enforcement efforts are showing results. But administrative action alone is not sufficient.

I repeat my request for the bill establishing the office of county traffic safety co-ordinator, and I ask again for approval of the "implied consent" bill. The drinking driver still takes a deadly toll. We need the "implied consent" bill to require the suspected driver to submit to a scientific test.

Our truck safety program has been intensified. The Director of Motor Vehicles is now pressing for reciprocity agreements with neighboring States to improve highway safety. Bills to tighten standards of truck safety equipment will be submitted.

DISCRIMINATION AGAINST THE AGING

New Jersey has set up a Division of Aging in the Department of State, closely tied to all departments having an interest in this subject. The Division has suggested legislation to prohibit unreasonable discrimination because of age. This suggestion was based upon a comprehensive study which reveals that unjust discrimination does exist. While the intensive educational program now under way should help, it is not sufficient by itself. The State should also adopt a declaration of policy to aid the employment of the older person. I will submit a bill to accomplish this and to ban various discriminatory techniques.

AGRICULTURE

The enactment of several important bills last year enlarged the field of service of the Department of Agriculture and started new programs of marketing promotion among producers. The program, which included eggs, poultry and white potatoes, was enlarged to add apples and asparagus. Similar legislation for one or possibly two other commodities may be submitted this year, depending on the decision of a majority of the producers.

SOIL CONSERVATION

Some local soil conservation districts have undertaken flood control and watershed projects with the help of the State Soil Conservation Committee and the Federal Government. In most instances, the essential land grants and easements have been obtained by voluntary agreement. Several essential projects, however, have been stalled by the refusal of a local landowner to co-operate with these projects on any basis.

Legislation will be submitted to grant the power of eminent domain to the local soil conservation districts, subject to approval by the Secretary of Agriculture and the Commissioner of Conservation and Economic Development.

STATE AND LOCAL HEALTH PROGRAMS

A concerted effort is being made to prevent the recurrence of the rare encephalitis attack which we experienced last year.

The State is well equipped to deal with this problem, especially with the virus laboratory in the Department of Health. It was that unit which identified last summer's outbreak.

These facilities and services, however, are not fully effective unless local health officials do their job. The concerted effort of the Rutgers Experiment Station, the Departments of Health, Agriculture and Conservation, the State and county mosquito commissions and the United States Public Health Service will be largely wasted if we do not have competent local health officers making reports and sending in specimens at the early stages. A fast start is essential for effective prevention and control.

Instead, we find that there is not one licensed health officer in all of Ocean County. There are but five part-time officers for all of Atlantic County. This situation must be remedied promptly. If it be argued that some municipalities cannot afford a full-time official, the remedy lies in the 1951 statute which provides for local health districts on a county or consolidated basis. So far, no use has been made of this law.

This spring the Department of Agriculture will undertake to vaccinate all pheasants and horses as a part of its encephalitis control program. The State and county mosquito commissions are planning to increase direct mosquito control measures.

The Department of Health is co-operating with the various county and local authorities to get improved local control and enforcement. It will establish and maintain a broad program to get good local performance through a full-time public health co-ordinator.

I will make some further recommendations for mosquito control in my budget message.

BANKING AND INSURANCE NEEDS

A recent investigation by the Department of Banking and Insurance revealed a clear need for tighter controls over the surplus lines insurance business. An eight-point legislative program to provide these controls will be submitted to you early in the session.

I will also submit a bill to provide better balance in the representation on the Blue Cross governing board, and a bill to authorize broader public supervision of the Blue Shield plan.

EMERGENCY CIVIL GOVERNMENT

A commission was established last year to recommend means for the continuation of civil government in the event of nuclear attack.

A constitutional amendment will be needed to carry out its recommendations. In this case, we pray that our efforts will not be needed, but we must be prepared.

INSTITUTIONS AND AGENCIES PROPOSALS

Three commissions have recently reported on studies of the work of this Department.

The Commission on Public Medical Care recommends a revision of the administration of public medical assistance. It urges county administration of all existing medical assistance, and it proposes a new program of assistance to the "medically indigent." This would cover the person who, though normally self-supporting, is met with large medical expenses beyond his means.

The Alexander Commission surveyed all areas of the Department's work and called for major changes. It recommends far-reaching changes in welfare administration; equally broad changes in correction and parole; a shifting of emphasis in the care of the mentally ill and mentally retarded, and a significant reorganization of the structure of the Department.

The Commission on Mental Health has given us a preliminary report of its studies. Judging from this report, we may soon expect to receive important final proposals on the spectrum of problems involved in the hospitalization and treatment of mentally disordered persons.

The significance of the recommendations of these commissions cannot be overestimated. Of course, we cannot possibly treat every recommendation in one session. I am pleased to report that several of the proposals have already been put into operation by executive action, but the more important ones will require legislative action. Some of these will have to be carried out gradually over a period of time: adjustment in administrative structure will have to precede the effectiveness of others. But all deserve your immediate attention and careful study. They are the considered recommendations of qualified people who have devoted painstaking effort to find paths for improvement in our State Government. I believe you will find that many of them hold real promise for the advancement of the public interest.

LOCAL GOVERNMENT COSTS

The rising cost of local government is a matter of concern for all. While it is mainly a problem for local officials, the State must do all it can to help them achieve efficient operation. Laws to permit consolidated services and pooling of operations are helpful.

Savings can be realized in the cost of equipment and supplies through the State Division of Purchase and Property. That Division obtains open-end bids for many items ranging from pencils to automobiles. As a result, State agencies obtain the benefit of the low prices. This same advantage can and should be made available to counties, municipalities and school districts on an optional basis. They could then purchase from a State bid list without advertising, or reject all bids after advertising and buy through the State list when that would bring a saving. The effect would be to establish a ceiling for standard supplies and to permit local officials to reduce costs. It can be as easy as buying through a mail order catalog.

BOATING SAFETY

New Jersey is encompassed by 300 miles of navigable waterways and has more than 600 square miles of bays, harbors and lakes. This enviable natural asset has given impetus to pleasure boat activity on a large scale. Rapid development of this activity in the past decade, however, has intensified the need for some regulation.

If our citizens are to enjoy this pastime with reasonable safety, the State should establish a program for boat safety and numbering. If action is not taken by April 1st, the Federal Government will pre-empt the field. We have the ability to protect our citizens who want to enjoy the pleasures of boating; we should not shirk the responsibility. I urge the Legislature to take immediate action.

FISH AND GAME

The Division of Fish and Game has done excellent work over the last six years by assuring the protection of adequate recreational areas in all parts of the State. This task will become increasingly difficult in coming years as new subdivisions spring up to house our growing population.

Long-range planning to acquire adequate reserves for future needs is essential now. The State Fish and Game Council, whose members represent the hunters, fishermen and farmers, has recommended that there be a modest increase of license fees so that the program can be started.

Since this program is self-supporting and since those who pay the fees will receive a direct benefit, I consider this proposal sound and request your approval of a suitable bill.

THE WORLD'S FAIR

The New York metropolitan area has been selected as the site of the 1964 World's Fair. By reason of the celebration of our 300th anniversary in the same year and our proximity to the site, New Jersey should be a major participant in this event. There is much in our past and present of which we can be proud. We should have a fine exhibit.

The Legislature should prepare for this event by establishing a commission to co-operate with the Fair officials. Since the activities of such a group will have to be coordinated with the work of the New Jersey Tercentenary Commission, you might consider adding this function to the present Commission.

STATUTE REVISION

As a result of years of neglect and hodgepodge legislation, the bulk of our statutes is a jungle of confusion, unintelligible to lawyer and laymen alike. A substantial quantity of statute revision work is underway in the executive departments and in special revision commissions. This work is painstaking, slow and difficult. It deserves every aid we can provide.

The first report on the revision of Title 40 (Counties and Municipalities) will be submitted soon. It will cover the Local Bond Law, the Local Budget Law, and Fiscal Affairs. It will be of great value to local officials and should be adopted promptly.

There will also be submitted, as soon as ready, the revision of Title 18 (Education). We also hope to have the revision of Title 48 (Public Utilities). Work on the General Corporation Act, Title 14, is well along and the result should go far in demonstrating the favorable business climate in our State.

Other work of this kind has been prevented by the obstinate refusal of the Senate to provide essential research funds. Neither the Insurance Law revision nor the Uniform Commercial Code study can be completed without financial support. I urge the Senate to approve the necessary appropriations.

ELECTION LAWS

The last revision of the election laws was made in 1930. Despite my repeated requests, the Legislature has shown no interest in a thorough revision. Consideration should be given to eliminating at least the more troublesome problems.

Voting machines should be required in all counties. Thirteen counties are now using them. The well-known abuses and inconveniences of paper ballots should not be tolerated any longer.

An arrangement for registration at evening hours would be of considerable assistance to our citizens. If we are to make the ballot accessible to everyone, provision for evening registration is indispensable.

A third measure I have repeatedly urged would provide a mechanism for removal of members of county election boards. Previous bills would have granted this power to the Governor. Apparently this approach is not satisfactory. I will accept any workable solution that will close this void in our election laws.

CONCLUSION

All of the members of this Legislature will serve for the next two years. Many of you are newly elected to office.

The problems I have sketched are important and challenging. You will need to apply yourselves industriously so that when you do act, you can act with the confidence of sound understanding and reason.

I urge the two Houses to work together closely, putting aside partisanship and competition. The facilities of all the executive departments are at your disposal and you will find all of them helpful. My own office and staff will remain available for your assistance, as it has been since I first took office.

You will find that frank discussion and full communication pay good dividends. Make use of these processes. Be sure you have the facts. Be guided by your consciences and resist the pressures of special interests. You will have my full co-operation in your endeavors.

Respectfully submitted,

BUDGET MESSAGE

To the Members of the Senate and General Assembly:

This is the seventh Budget Message I have had the privilege of presenting to the Legislature. It covers operating and maintenance needs of the State through June 30, 1961. It provides for State aid funds required under present legislative formulas. It recognizes expanded needs with particular emphasis in the fields of education, welfare, health and highways. As required by the State Constitution, the Budget is balanced. No new taxes will be needed for our operations in 1960-61.

Before launching into a detailed analysis of the present fiscal picture, it might be interesting to reflect that New Jersey remains one of three States without either an income or a sales tax, despite rising pressures at every hand. A glimpse of some of the pressures that have been building up since I first took office shows that: (1) for all educational purposes, we are spending three times as much; (2) for highway construction, we are spending four times as much; (3) there are increased costs for health, welfare, employees' pensions and every other vital need.

The proposed expenditures for the coming year are higher; so are the estimated revenues. We are going steadily and prudently forward. Some points in this message should arouse our gratitude. Our motor vehicle fatality record for the past calendar year is the best in history, better than the year before and infinitely better than it was as far back as 1928. We continue a net decline of patients in mental hospitals, despite rising admissions. The State ranks sixth among the States in money spent per patient. The message shows improvement in various aspects of the State's functions.

A notable fact is that for the first time in our history, State aid for education, welfare, highways and other local purposes exceeds the cost of general operation of government. This trend, sharply accelerated in my term of office, is wholesome in that (1) it sustains government at local levels where it is closest to the people; (2) it relieves the property owner of a burden which otherwise he must be asked to carry. An appreciation of the trend toward more and more State aid is essential if the people of our State are to have a better understanding of demands made upon the State Treasury and the greater role the State is playing in their lives.

BUDGET REQUESTS

Total requests of $688,200,000 were presented to the Budget Director at the various public hearings which began during August of last year. There is recommended in this Budget toward these requests $431,365,000 for 1960-61 and $3,893,000 to supplement this and prior fiscal years appropriations.

REVENUES

Resources available for these recommended appropriations are expected to equal $436,368,000 leaving an anticipated surplus on June 30, 1961 of $1,110,000.

A STABLE TAX STRUCTURE

We are fortunate in New Jersey to be operating with a comparatively stable tax structure. With the exception of the net income portion of the corporate franchise tax, and our State inheritance tax, our tax yields are relatively insensitive to changes in the economy. While we, in times of great prosperity, do not reap the dramatic revenue benefits of those States having personal income and general sales taxes, neither do we suffer severe losses in our revenue collections when the economy is on the decline. Because of this stability, we have been able to estimate revenues with considerable accuracy.

CONSERVATIVE ESTIMATE

However, we have had but one year's experience in the collection of our revised Corporate Franchise Tax. In this Budget, it is estimated that $68,000,000 will be produced from this source in 1960-61. This estimate appears to be conservative in the light of the forecasts being made by the Nation's experts in economics. It is expected that corporate profits before taxes in 1960 will exceed those of 1958 by some 12 billions of dollars. If these predictions are realized, we should surely collect the amounts anticipated.

HISTORICAL PRECEDENT

For the first time in her history, New Jersey's budget will provide more moneys for aid to local districts than it provides for the general operation of State Government. 44.3¢ of the dollar is recommended for State aid as compared to 44.2¢ for general State operations, leaving 11½¢ of the dollar for highways and other capital improvements. As I have pointed out in previous Budget Messages, the funds provided through the operation of our State aid programs help to hold the line against ever-rising local tax rates.

INCREASES OVER THE CURRENT YEAR

The total recommendations of $431,365,000 represent an increase of approximately $24,212,000 over appropriations for the current fiscal year. This difference is made up of increases in State Aid of $12,454,000; increases in General State Operations of $8,189,000 and increases for Capital Construction of $3,569,000. A table found at the end of the text shows these increases more fully.

EDUCATION

By far, education will receive the major part of the increased funds recommended in this message. Thirty-nine per cent of the entire budget goes for education. The $168,285,000 recommended is $12,600,000 more than the amount appropriated in the current year. It includes $1,500,000 for State scholarships.

MORE STUDENTS, MORE STAFF

To meet the demand for more college training in the immediate future, our State Colleges and University are opening their doors to more students in 1960-61. Into already over-crowded classrooms and auxiliary facilities, 1,549 additional students will be squeezed next fall. New students will require additional staff. This Budget will continue to provide academic personnel at the same student-teacher ratio as was established last year. The additional cost over the current year for operating our Colleges and the University, as well as our Department of Education, will equal approximately $2,389,000.

FUTURE COSTS

Plans are under way at the present time to begin construction out of the recently sold bonds for college facilities. When these are completed and placed into use, we can expect much greater operating and maintenance costs at both the State University and the various State Colleges.

INCREASE FOR LOCAL SCHOOLS

The increase in student enrollment at the local level has had a decided impact on the State Treasury. State aid earmarked for local school districts of $97,867,000 is $6,204,000 more than was granted in the current year.

NEW EDUCATION BUILDING

For the past few years, I have recommended to the Legislature that a building be constructed for the Department of Education. Last year I proposed that the State appropriate part of its annual payment to the Teachers' Pension and Annuity Fund for such a building and repay it to the fund over a twenty-year period, with interest. This proposal was resisted and no action taken.

After consultation with the Board of Trustees of the Teachers' Pension and Annuity Fund and other interested groups, I now find that a variation of my original proposal, under which the fund will hold title to the building as an investment asset, meets with general approval. I therefore recommend that legislation already introduced as the result of such approval be enacted so that construction of this building can proceed without further delay.

THE FIGHT AGAINST ENCEPHALITIS

During the past summer, we were distressed in New Jersey with an outbreak of Eastern Viral Encephalitis. The Department of Health, in conjunction with the Agricultural Experiment Station, worked tirelessly on the problem of isolating the cause. Mosquitoes and wild birds were suspected as the culprits. Great pressure was exerted to intensify both air spraying and fogging. Many of the counties passed supplemental appropriations to aid in the fight.

After a dispassionate review of the known facts, it became clear to the State Mosquito Control Commission, the Department of Health and the Agricultural Experiment Station, that more research and surveillance activity was necessary rather than embarking on a blind approach of control. This problem is a multiple one. Excessive spraying and fogging, while killing more but not all mosquitoes, could conceivably endanger the lives of our citizens directly, and by food contamination, endanger them, indirectly.

Funds are provided in the Budget to step up the fight against mosquitoes on a sound and sane basis. In the current year, $135,000 is appropriated for the purpose. An additional $400,000 will be made available to June 30, 1961 by supplemental appropriations and sums recommended in this Budget.

Additional funds are also recommended for strengthening our program in air sanitation and radiological health.

MENTAL HEALTH PROGRESS

The State's campaign against mental disease proceeds on a number of fronts: (1) hospital care and treatment; (2) research; and (3) prevention. I am happy to report progress all along the line.

Even in the face of increasing admissions, the average population of our State hospitals has decreased. For the fiscal year 1960-61, the total estimated population is 14,140—1,361 fewer than the actual patient population in fiscal 1955, the peak year. Following my special message of March 21, 1955, the State embarked on an intensive treatment program, as against mere custodial care, and its fruits are being progressively realized. The net reduction in number of patients is beginning to correct overcrowding.

I am recommending for each mental hospital a higher per capita patient allowance to advance further the progress we are making, both in care and treatment. According to a recent Federal publication, "Mental Health Statistics," New Jersey in 1958 climbed from eighth to sixth place in one year in national ranking for expenditures per patient. As we approach the national top, more and more patients will be enabled to return to a useful life in the community, and the hospitals relieved of the burden of their care.

VALUE OF RESEARCH

There are few more fruitful fields in medicine than research into mental illness, as was set out in detail in the message of March 21, 1955, and we are continuing such research. State funds for this purpose are actually doubled by grants from other sources. We are getting dollar for dollar. It is important, though, that our own contributions be sufficient to attract these grants and to maintain the identity and integrity of the program. I am recommending a 75 per cent increase in research funds. Internal medicine and pharmacology sections will be activated and positions added to support the scientific section.

Accredited psychiatric training residency programs are now in force at all State mental hospitals.

AT THE SOURCE

The third prong of the State's attack lies in nipping mental disease at its inception, and is designed to prevent years of heart-break and hospitalization. I can report that 25 mental health facilities in 13 counties are now in operation and are sharing the State aid appropriation for community clinics. Fourteen projects are pending to add coverage in six more counties. The State's obligation to support this program in 1961 is almost one million dollars. Here, at the local level, with help from the State, is the place to detect mental disease at its onset and to use quick corrective measures.

Their value was dramatically shown in the Korean war when battlefront first-aid stations were set up for mental casualties at the point of breakdown. Of these casualties, 70 per cent were returned to duty in two weeks or less, 25 per cent after a somewhat longer period, and only 4 per cent had to be shipped home to a hospital.

WITH HIGHFIELDS AS THE MODEL

New Jersey's famous center at Highfields (the old Lindbergh home near Hopewell) is the inspiration for the recommendation in this Budget for two similar residential centers—one in Warren County for boys and one at Allaire for girls. Funds for the Allaire center were granted by trustees of the Turrell Fund. Each of the new centers will deal with an average of 20 selected youthful offenders who are admitted by the State's juvenile courts as a condition of probation. The objective is to rehabilitate them in the shortest possible time, at minimum cost, with intensive programs, including work, community contacts and group therapy sessions.

TO RELIEVE PRESSURES

It is a truism among penologists that work beyond the walls of prisons and in special camps greatly speeds the process of rehabilitation. For some years, New Jersey has followed this policy and is continuing to do so as rapidly as inmates can be chosen under proper classification procedures which, of course, are concerned with the protection of the public. Such programs have, to some extent, relieved the prison population pressures, which nevertheless have continued to mount. More will be said about the subject of prison population pressure later in this message.

FOR BETTER CARE OF CHILDREN

About one-half of the new positions recommended in the Department of Institutions and Agencies are for the Board of Child Welfare. A study has established the time required for a case worker to process a request for service or to give service to a child already under supervision. Application of these time factors to the anticipated caseload was used to find out how much staff is needed.

The present load per caseworker is 97 work units. Reduction to an average of 75 units will provide for more visits and more attention to children and foster parents than is now possible. This is necessary (1) to rehabilitate families and re-establish homes; (2) prepare children for adoption and to find suitable adoptive homes; (3) provide adequate staff to work with courts and institutions.

WELFARE AID AND CAPITAL IMPROVEMENTS

State aid accounts for the greater part of the increase to the Department of Institutions and Agencies. An additional $4,187,000 is required, including $2,344,000 for dependent children; $500,000 for general assistance (municipal aid); and $1,495,000 for the aged and disabled.

For capital improvements in Institutions and Agencies, I recommend a continuance of the program to care for existing facilities—particularly by replacing boilers and major equipment, improvement of water systems and establishment of security devices. For these and related purposes, $1,297,000 is included.

Two areas need fireproofing—one at Trenton, in which patients are now housed, and one at Greystone Park, where patients are in the near vicinity. I recommend $728,000 to protect the Trenton area from fire, and suggest that plans be undertaken to improve the Greystone Park area.

MOTOR VEHICLE PROBLEMS

This Budget recognizes the pressing problems of the Division of Motor Vehicles in its many programs for the enforcement of the motor vehicle laws and the regulation of drivers and driving practices. We have endeavored to meet these problems in the areas of workload growth, traffic safety and over-all Divisional administration.

In this State, the increase in the number of vehicles and drivers approaches 5% annually. We are in the day of the two-car and the three-driver family. During 1958, one driver in fifteen was involved in an accident, one driver in seven was involved in a violation and the license of one driver in ninety-seven was revoked. These surging workload volumes pose a challenge to the Division to develop and apply new operating techniques. More efficient utilization of personnel, a measure which yielded a substantial rise in productivity in our vehicle inspection system, is expected to produce similar results in the Division's other activities. This Budget authorizes additional staffing to develop quality control and work simplification procedures throughout the Division.

BEST SAFETY RECORD

Figures for the year 1959 show that it was the best traffic safety year in New Jersey's history, with a traffic fatality rate for the State of 3 persons per hundred million miles, in contrast to the national rate of 5.6. In human terms, this difference in fatality rate amounts to a saving of seven hundred lives per year.

We have come far since 1928, when we suffered a fatality rate of almost 20 persons per hundred million miles. This Budget is alert to the need for unremitting effort in the drive against hazards on our roads. It adds tools needed in the Division's continuous campaign for traffic safety.

LACK OF ADEQUATE QUARTERS

One of the most serious problems faced by the Division has been the lack of adequate and efficient administrative quarters. This Budget provides the rent for a Motor Vehicle Center which will house all headquarters and central operating units. Thus, the Division will have the opportunity to achieve an integration of its organization and activities that will considerably enhance its service to the public, its effective control over its operations, and its capability to prepare itself for future developments in the field of motor vehicle administration.

This Budget, recognizing the rising pressures upon the Division's physical plant in the field, includes capital funds in the amounts of $324,500 for added motor vehicle facilities in Bergen County; $435,000 for an additional three-lane vehicle inspection station in northern Hudson County to relieve conditions at Union City; and $90,000 for ventilation of existing vehicle inspection stations.

HIGHWAYS

There is recommended in this Budget out of State funds, $87,750,000 for highway purposes. Federal aid available in 1960-61 will equal $72,118,000 providing a total program of $160,000,000. 73½% of this total, or $117,266,000 will be available for new capital construction next year. When I took office in 1954, we were spending $29,000,000 for new roads. Thus our road building operations have increased more than fourfold.

Every new mile of highway must be maintained. Although the Federal Government assists us in the construction phase, we are on our own in the maintenance field. Obviously, our budgets for highway maintenance must increase. There is recommended in this Budget $20,023,000 for this purpose.

State aid to counties and municipalities for highway purposes is provided in accordance with existing legislation.

OTHER ACTIVITIES

Major and relatively sensitive areas of government activity are not the only ones that have received attention in this Budget. Other highly important government programs, not as dramatic in their appeal, have not been overlooked. Additional funds have been provided for such programs as:

The Division of State Police to expand its policing activities in South Jersey and to assume investigations of fatal accidents, stolen cars and truck overloading, all of which has been the responsibility, heretofore, of the motor vehicle inspectors.

The Division of Budget and Accounting for rent of automation equipment with which it has developed the most completely centralized electronic payroll system of any State in the Nation. This system will provide for vastly improved payroll and accounting methods.

The Department of Civil Service so that it can do a better job of investigating applicants for examinations.

The Department of Banking and Insurance to strengthen its operations in the fields of insurance examination and consumer credit.

Agriculture—to shoulder some of the obligation being relinquished by the Federal Government in brucellosis control; to make more adequate provision for soil conservation measures required by recent legislation; and to establish a research program in fruit fly and poultry diseases at the Experiment Station.

The Department of Public Utilities to provide staff for more adequate analysis and review of rate increase applications and to accommodate the vastly increased workload which has come upon it.

The Department of Labor and Industry for an improved program of safety inspection, especially in the construction industry; in its Rehabilitation Commission, for the added funds necessary to match Federal participation so that this important program can continue on a high plane; and in its Disability Insurance Service for needed medical guidance.

The Department of Conservation and Economic Development which, among its scores of programs, caters to the ever-increasing interest of New Jersey's citizenry in our park and recreational areas. I have also asked for increased funds to expand our State and Regional Planning Program so that more municipalities and regions can participate in planning for their futures.

For the development of an adequate program by which New Jersey can prepare for its tercentenary celebration in 1964.

The Judiciary where a caseload avalanche has descended and for which I have included funds for six new judges in the hope that they can be appointed to serve for at least nine months of the new year. Additionally, provision has been made for increased participation by the State in reimbursing the counties for the State's share of county judges and stenographic reporters.

STATE EMPLOYEES

Sufficient funds are provided to pay normal salary raises to our State employees next year.

In recent Budget Messages, I have recommended funds to provide medical-surgical benefits to State employees at State expense. Many government jurisdictions, including the Federal Government, have established such programs. Because the Senate has not seen fit to include this item in the appropriations acts heretofore, I have not included any amount for this program next year. However, should the Senate now decide to provide for such benefits, I will be most happy to approve it.

PENSIONS

This Budget includes recommendations in the sum of $55,232,000 for pension payments or for the State's share of pension contributions for public school teachers, local police and firemen and State employees. That amount represents 13% of the total Budget recommendations and eloquently expresses benefits, in addition to cash salary, which are frequently overlooked.

OFFICE BUILDING REQUIREMENTS

Last year $1,500,000 was appropriated as the first step toward acquiring a building for the Department of Labor and Industry. Sufficient funds are presently available to complete this long-needed facility. I urge prompt action toward providing an appropriation for this purpose.

To save ever-increasing rentals for office space occupied in the Trenton area, particularly by the Departments of Agriculture, Conservation and Economic Development and Health, I am recommending $250,000 in this Budget for initial plans, surveys and architectural services for buildings for these departments. They appear ideally suited to the lease with option-to-buy arrangement which the Attorney General has ruled is a legal method to provide capital facilities for State Departments.

OTHER CAPITAL NEEDS

The State Board of Control of the Department of Institutions and Agencies has again presented requests for additional funds for capital improvements aggregating 80 millions of dollars. The most pressing of these requests covers (1) the building of a facility for the mentally retarded which will take care of the present waiting list, and (2) a building for a medium security prison at Leesburg, to relieve the pressure felt at the State Prison in Trenton and the Reformatories at Bordentown and Annandale.

FOR THE RETARDED

We have taken many steps to ease the burden of our helpless children. Our State aid for education program contains funds for establishing special classes for the retarded. The Johnstone Training Center was established to accelerate the training of those who can adjust to community living. In spite of our efforts we are not keeping pace with the growing number of retarded to whom we have an obligation. All of you know that there is a large number of mentally retarded in our communities who are eligible for institutional care but for whom we do not have a place.

A NEW PRISON

In 1954 I resisted plans for the construction of a maximum security prison at Arneytown. Now it appears that we should have a medium security prison to provide for an increasing number of inmates who would most likely be responsive to rehabilitation. This type of prison will give us the flexibility we should have to accommodate the kind of prison commitments we are now receiving.

WHICH METHOD?

We cannot wait longer to start these badly needed facilities. Last year the State Board of Control suggested that they be financed with a bond issue or by the method of "pay-as-you-go." They also suggested that the tax on cigarettes be raised by 1¢ as the means of payment. In any event, I shall co-operate with you in any sound program to provide these facilities.

FEDERAL PROGRAM BOGS DOWN

I have pointed out that we have been forging ahead on the highway construction program. In spite of all of our efforts, we have been falling behind in building new roads and adequate safety measures on existing ones.

In 1958, the new Federal-State expanded highway program was initiated. The Federal Government has bogged down in the program due to lack of funds. Beginning with this year, New Jersey will lose (temporarily until 1963) $23,500,000 per year in Federal funds. This requires us to seriously curtail a program which is already far behind.

There are many who suggest our wholly financed highway program should be accelerated.

Eventually, we will undertake these projects but we lose precious time. Some of the States have adopted bond issues. Others have increased their gas taxes. We are faced with a decision. Either we delay and probably lose lives, or we take steps to provide these funds on the State level. This too, must be a co-operative venture between the Executive and Legislative Branches.

AN ADDITIONAL REVENUE SOURCE

We may have an additional source of revenue later this year. Last year, the Congress provided that the present 10% Federal tax on local telephone service is to expire on July 1. Many States propose to use this as a source of revenue for State purposes.

Present estimates indicate that if this tax is released by the Federal Government to the States, New Jersey can expect to derive about $18,000,000 annually.

The important point about this subject is that under existing law the authority for the tax will end on July 1, and cannot be levied thereafter without affirmative action by the Congress. When I meet with New Jersey's Senators and Congressmen later this week, I will urge them to join with their colleagues from other States to prevent the continuance of this tax for Federal purposes, and thus assure its availability to us for our many needs.

CONCLUSION

The Budget is now in your hands. As you know, it has been in preparation by the Chief Executive and the 14 Departments since last July, and is the product of many hours of hard labor. But under our system of government, the Governor can only propose; it is for you, the members of the Legislature, to dispose. In the old English phrase, you are the Keepers of the Purse and, as such, you must share responsibility for the State's financial integrity. It is this particular kind of teamwork that distinguishes our democracy. I need hardly add that, as you ponder the questions presented by the Budget, you will have my most earnest co-operation, and the co-operation of the Executive Department. As the general outline of the Budget shows, New Jersey—a most fortunate State in many ways—may go forward calmly and confidently into the next fiscal year, certain of its excellent financial standing and with courage for the tasks that lie ahead.

Respectfully submitted,

ROBERT B. MEYNER,

Governor of New Jersey.

To the General Assembly:

I am returning herewith, without my approval, Assembly Bill No. 469 for the following reasons:

This bill would authorize 2 year extensions and renewals of a contract between a municipality and the Administrator of the Public Housing and Development Authority pertaining to emergency housing projects established under the Veterans' Emergency Housing Act of 1946, P. L. 1946, c. 323. The contract could be extended or renewed by unilateral action of the contracting municipality in the form of a finding, by resolution, that there is a continuing need for the housing. The authority for such municipal action would continue until June 1, 1962. It would extend to all projects other than those under contract of sale.

The 1946 act came in response to the pressing need for housing for veterans of World War II and other people of this State. The act met this "acute public emergency" by authorizing the Administrator to contract with municipal governing bodies to create emergency housing projects. The State and the municipalities shared the cost, the State contributing $38,800,000.00 including the proceeds of a $34,000,000.00 State bond issue. The act declared a 5-year emergency during which the program was to continue.

More than 6 years ago Governor Alfred E. Driscoll vetoed a bill closely akin to the one at hand. That bill, Assembly No. 418 of 1953, would have authorized 2 year extensions by unilateral municipal action of contracts pertaining to permanent housing projects. In his message of disapproval of August 17, 1953, Governor Driscoll explained that, while extension of a temporary housing project might be warranted to prevent demolition, there was no such need in the case of a permanent project. "[I]n the case of permanent projects, the project is sold . . . , thus in no way decreasing the number of housing accommodations within the municipality and permitting continued occupancy by veteran-occupants."

Nonetheless, I leniently approved extender bills in 1954 both for temporary housing, P. L. 1954, c. 25, and for permanent housing, P. L. 1954, c. 206. Indeed, I approved another extender bill in 1955, P. L. 1955, c. 50. I signed these measures to insure that occupants of the housing would have every opportunity to make satisfactory adjustments before the projects were terminated.

In a message delivered to the Legislature in 1956 explaining my disapproval of Assembly No. 65 of that year, I expressed the belief that we had then "reached the point when further delay is just contrary to the public interest". The war-end emergency program had fulfilled its mission. Nine years had elapsed since the declaration of the 5-year emergency in 1946. Now 9 has become 13. I see no justification for further delay.

As Governor Driscoll pointed out, termination of the permanent housing projects does not reduce the number of housing accommodations available in a municipality. The housing is transferred intact. It must be kept in mind that the 1946 program was designed simply to provide additional housing. Income level was not a factor in the admission to occupancy. We know, of course, that the difficulties experienced in attempting to adjust rents upward over the years have had the effect of subsidizing the occupants. But this, in my mind, increases the desirability of timely termination. There is little to be said for the perpetuation of an inadvertent subsidy to a fortunate group of people at the expense of all the other people in the State who are denied that good fortune.

Of the 7,773 housing units created under the 1946 act, 5,915 have been sold. The remaining 1,818 units, all of the permanent type, are distributed among 20 projects. Even as to these remaining projects, the contracts under which they were maintained are no longer in effect. All of them expired by their own terms. Indeed, only one of those contracts remained in effect beyond 1958, and even that one expired more than a year ago. As each contract expired preparations were made for sale, with the result that all of the projects are now well advanced along the way toward sale. Four of them are already under contract of sale. It is perfectly plain that the emergency housing program of 1946 is moving to an orderly, if tardy, conclusion.

It is equally plain that the State and the municipalities have been generous to the occupants in the provision of notice and opportunity for adjustment. It was well known from the beginning that the program was intended only to meet a limited emergency. Governor Driscoll's veto in 1953 was an early reminder. The 1954 and 1955 short term extender enactments reflect the general awareness at the time that the program soon was to end. My message in 1956, and the failure of Assembly No. 199 in 1958, an extender bill which I filed in the State Library, plainly reiterated the notice. In the case of the Trenton project, which I understand provided the impetus for the present measure, the standard 3-month notice of opportunity to purchase was given to the occupants on August 31, 1959. The occupants failed to purchase within the 3 months, and preparations for public sale began in December, 1959. The recent postponement of the pre-sale rent increase in the Trenton project from March 1st to June 1st is illustrative of the generous treatment accorded the occupants of all projects. It is undeniable that notice and opportunity have been provided to the occupants in abundant measure. I find no justification for a bill which would authorize further recurrent delays in returning these projects to the tax rolls.

If this bill became law it would force upon the State a disastrous postponement of the receipt of budgeted State revenue. For this reason alone I could not conscientiously approve this bill. In presenting my budget for the current fiscal year I certified to the Legislature that $2,000,000.00 was to become available for appropriation from the sales of emergency housing. I recently certified that another $2,000,000.00 was to become available from this source in the coming fiscal year. It is estimated that $750,000.00 of the $2,000,000.00 anticipated for the current fiscal year will be realized despite this bill. If this bill became law and its authority were utilized by each of the municipalities, the revenues anticipated by the State from this source in these 2 fiscal years could be postponed at least until fiscal year 1961-62 and perhaps beyond. State revenue in the current and coming fiscal year from this source would be $3,250,- 000.00 less than anticipated. Receipts from continued rentals might reduce this loss to $3,000,000.00. Under the budgets adopted by the Legislature for this fiscal year and recommended by me for the coming fiscal year, the net result would be that the projected surplus of $1,109,953 on June 30, 1961 would be supplanted by a deficit of nearly $2,000,000.00.

For all of these reasons, I believe that there is no course consistent with the public interest other than disapproval of this bill.

Respectfully,

[SEAL] ROBERT B. MEYNER,

 H. CURTIS MEANOR,

A special message from the Governor, Robert B. Meyner, to the Legislature, April 25, 1960.

SPECIAL MESSAGE, ROBERT B. MEYNER, GOVERNOR OF NEW JERSEY, TO THE LEGISLATURE, APRIL 25, 1960

April 25, 1960.

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker and Members of the Senate and General Assembly:

In this special message, I present for your consideration a proposal to make funds available on a pay-as-you-go basis toward a capital construction program primarily in the Department of Institutions and Agencies either by:

- (1) increasing the current State cigarette tax by one cent a pack to produce about $8,500,000 annually; or

- (2) enacting a tax on telephone service to become effective if the present Federal tax expires as scheduled on June 30. This simply continues an existing tax, channeling its revenue to the State instead of to the Federal Government. This tax would probably produce from $15 to $20 million annually.

In almost all my budget messages since I became Governor, I have made frequent references to the urgent capital improvements required in the Department of Institutions and Agencies. Each year the Department has requested increasing sums to build new facilities, to meet program requirements and expanding resident populations, and to renovate and modernize existing structures. These needs require action.

In recent years, only small sums have been appropriated for the more urgent, less expensive projects. In my 1961 Budget Message, delivered just two months ago, I said:

“The State Board of Control of the Department of Institutions and Agencies has again presented requests for additional funds for capital improvements aggregating 80 millions of dollars. The most pressing of these requests covers (1) the building of a facility for the mentally retarded which will take care of the present waiting list, and (2) a building for a medium security prison at Leesburg, to relieve the pressure felt at the State Prison in Trenton and the Reformatories at Bordentown and Annandale.”

“. . . In spite of our efforts we are not keeping pace with the growing number of retarded to whom we have an obligation. All of you know that there is a large number of mentally retarded in our communities who are eligible for institutional care but for whom we do not have a place.

“In 1954, I resisted plans for the construction of a maximum security prison at Arneytown. Now it appears that we should have a medium security prison to provide for an increasing number of inmates who would most likely be responsive to rehabilitation. This type of prison will give us the flexibility we should have to accommodate the kind of prison commitments we are now receiving.

“We cannot wait longer to start these badly needed facilities. Last year the State Board of Control suggested that they be financed with a bond issue or by the method of pay-as-you-go. They also suggested that the tax on cigarettes be raised by one penny as the means of payment. In any event, I shall co-operate with you in any sound program to provide these facilities.”

Only a few days ago, I was informed of two reports recently prepared for the State Board of Control by special committees it had designated to make recommendations for capital construction. These are but two of a number of evaluations to determine the varied construction needs of the State's largest department, with its innumerable service and program demands.

One committee report on the “Needs of the Mentally Retarded” recommends as the highest priority projects: (1) construction of two 1,000-bed institutions in north or north central New Jersey for the severely retarded, male and female, five years of age and over; (2) construction of a 150-bed unit for defective delinquents on the grounds of the Johnstone Training and Research Center; (3) construction at New Lisbon Colony of four 50-bed cottages per year over a four-year period; and (4) construction of an evaluation center, infirmary and research building at the Johnstone Training and Research Center. The estimated cost is $34,150,000.

The other committee report concerning the “Needs of the Adult Offender” recommends: (1) retention of the present physical plants for the housing of adult offenders; (2) construction of a 500-inmate unit for medium security at Leesburg; (3) demolition of No. 4 Wing at the Trenton State Prison and construction of a new hospital on this site; and (4) alterations at Rahway to provide maximum security housing. The estimated cost of these high priority projects is $13,500,000.

The Department has developed a capital program and has related its priorities to the foreseeable future. These plans should now be implemented by paying as we go. We should not again be drawn into “crisis” financing, meeting only a portion of this Department's capital needs while letting other needs go unattended until further crises or emergencies develop. We should plan continuously, not improvise from one bond issue to the next.

In my 1960 Budget Message, I discussed capital construction financing. I quote:

"Although selling bonds is an easy way of raising money, there is nothing easy about paying it back. At current interest rates it would cost between one and one-half to two times the amount borrowed, depending on the term of the loan. As an alternative to the bond method, I suggest the Legislature consider a pay-as-you-go method for capital improvements. Our experience with the 1949 and 1952 bond issues shows that many years are needed to carry out a prudent and well-planned construction program. To illustrate this, I need only point out that we are still spending the remainder of the funds which were raised in those years.

"By wise planning it may be possible to meet our capital needs on a pay-as-you-go basis by revenue measures . . . I urge the Legislature to give serious study to this alternate method.

"Another reason why the bond method leaves something to be desired is that the funds must be utilized for a specific function. This makes for inflexibility.

". . . The State Board of Control of Institutions and Agencies has recently presented incontrovertible evidence that funds must be provided for a new institution for mentally retarded and for a medium security prison. These needs are the inexorable result of an expanding population and if the pay-as-you-go method is not pursued, we face a further bond issue for these purposes in the very near future."

The borrowing technique wastes dollars for interest and in no time at all claims a rising portion of budget funds for repayment of principal and interest. This, then, makes it more and more difficult to meet new and recurring needs from budget resources. It was recently pointed out by a prominent New Jersey organization that bond issues do not "spare" the State budget; that "under almost any future spending assumptions, the annual budget level would soon be pushed up by debt costs to a point higher than would have been required to finance the same volume of expenditures by direct Budget appropriations in the first place."

The pay-as-you-go method offers another distinct advantage. Construction expenditures can be made available on a more orderly basis because the projects can be accommodated to changing conditions and times. The funds are more flexibly adjusted to highest priority needs through annual executive and legislative review. We eliminate the spending mandate of a bond issue and the lure of large funds in one lump sum. If, a few short years ago, when our mental hospital were bulging at the seams with patients, we had embarked upon major mental hospital construction, authorized by bond issue, we would now possess, I believe, modern monuments to outmoded methods of treatment.

The Department of Institutions and Agencies, to keep pace with progress, should evaluate its programs constantly and adjust accordingly. It can thus fix its future in relation to changing times. The pay-as-you-go method offers this opportunity.

Building projects in this way also makes it possible, upon their completion, to absorb the operating costs in the regular budget in a more orderly and systematic manner. The impact of these pay-as-you-go financing decisions on future budgets is brought more clearly into focus for the public and the Legislature.

Pay-as-you-go requires continuous planning—periodic priority rating whereby the mass of needs is combed to produce a realistic program manageable within resources and co-ordination of long-range physical planning and annual budgeting.

As long ago as my first Budget Message, I urged a review of the State's capital needs with a view to formulating a program based on long-range appraisal of our needs, sound financing and a system of priorities. "As far as possible," I said, "the State should save interest costs by a pay-as-you-go policy. . . . It is not wise to anticipate a large capital appropriation for future years without knowing where the money is coming from and without long-range capital planning."

It has not been an easy task to analyze the institutions' capital construction needs and to face the unpleasant financial facts involved. These problems and those we are bound to face in the future cannot be made to disappear by the magic of some short-range proposal. I believe that now is the time to place these facts before the people and to make this request.

If it is the feeling of the Legislature that we should have a capital construction program, at least for the Department of Institutions and Agencies—and there is considerable evidence of your feelings in this direction—then bear in mind that more money is needed to pay for it and some method of financing must be employed.

The pay-as-you-go method is one way that New Jersey can put every dollar to work—to get a one-dollar return for each one dollar invested—to do first things first—to get the most essential projects under way—to evaluate the impact of construction as it affects programs and services.

It is the constant aim of this administration to keep the State's house in order, and to use the taxpayers' money with all possible thrift and prudence. Government at all levels has been wrestling with the problems brought about by growth and change. We must work to develop the kind of understanding and co-operation that will continue to support our sound financial position.

In meeting the State's needs, a Governor must weight conflicting demands from the public—the insistent pressure for special programs and also the pressure to reduce the costs of government. We are not always willing to pay the bill for services demanded or needs to be met. Here now is an opportunity for us to meet a real need and to express a willingness to finance it in an economical and effective way.

Respectfully submitted,

ROBERT B. MEYNER,

Governor.

Attest:

H. CURTIS MEANOR,

Acting Secretary to the Governor.

ASSEMBLY BILL No. 139

To the General Assembly:

I herewith return Assembly Bill No. 139, without my approval, for the following reasons:

The "State School Aid Act of 1954", L. 1954, c. 85, provides for the payment of sums by the State to school districts for use in meeting current operating expenses. Section 14 of that act directs that the amounts due each school year be paid in 3 installments, " $\frac{1}{3}$  on October 1,  $\frac{1}{3}$  on January 1 and  $\frac{1}{3}$  on April 1". Assembly Bill No. 139 would amend Section 14 to advance the due date of the second installment from January 1st to December 15th.

I am informed that this amendment is sought by a few municipalities which have found it necessary in past years to borrow in anticipation of the January 1st payment. They believe they would not have to borrow if they were to receive the second installment of State aid in mid-December.

In effect, therefore, the bill is intended to save these few municipalities the cost of such borrowing. They would save 16 days interest on an amount no greater than the amount of their fractional shares of the second installment of the aid. But what of the cost to the State? The Legislature appropriated $81,055,517.00 to meet the State's obligation for this school aid in fiscal year 1960-61. The second installment this year will approximate $27 million. Thus, the State would lose the interest for this period on the entire $27 million, a loss in excess of $30,000.00. The advantage to these few municipalities would be negligible by comparison.

The bill assumes, of course, that the State is readily able to make the payment each December 15th. That assumption is not necessarily reliable. If the amendment had been in effect during fiscal year 1959-60, for example, the State might well have been unable to meet its current obligations in the second half of December, 1959, without liquidating long term investments.

The price of this bill is small by comparison to other bills I am returning today, but I trust it nevertheless will serve as another reminder. The Legislature must be keenly conscious of the delicate balance it has struck between our revenue and expense. If I had signed all of the bills which I am returning today, all of which the Legislature approved, our expected surplus would have been supplanted by a substantial deficit.

Respectfully,

ROBERT B. MEYNER,

Governor.

The Clerk read the following message from the Governor:

ASSEMBLY BILL No. 276

To the General Assembly:

I herewith return Assembly Bill No. 276, without my approval, for the following reasons:

This bill originated in an effort to validate a series of sheriff's sales which were defective because they were advertised in one rather than in two newspapers. As it is drawn, however, it would validate such sales even though there were other defects in the manner or time of publication, and despite "any other irregularity or defect" in such notice as may have been given.

This is an undesirably broad scope for a validating act. Fortunately, the broad scope was also unnecessary, and so arrangements were made to draw and introduce a new bill limited to the problem at hand. This was done and the new bill, Assembly Bill No. 11, was passed by both houses and signed into law as L. 1960, c. 23.

Respectfully,

ROBERT B. MEYNER,
Governor.

ASSEMBLY BILL No. 471

To the General Assembly:

I herewith return Assembly Bill No. 471, without my approval, for the following reasons:

This is a private, special or local bill which would authorize the Township of Bernards in Somerset County to provide a pension of $1,800.00 per year to one Louis A. Allen. Mr. Allen used to be a truck driver for the Township and later served as its supervisor of roads.

Except for the amount of the pension, this bill is identical to Senate Bill No. 340 of the 1956 session. I refused to approve that bill in 1956, and I cannot approve this one in 1960. My reasons for not approving the 1956 measure were given in a statement which I filed in the State Library:

“The General Non-contributory Pension Act (P. L. 1955, c. 263) was adopted to authorize counties, municipalities and school districts to grant non-contributory pensions in certain cases. In order to be eligible thereunder, an employee must be at least 65 years old or have been employed for at least 40 years, or be permanently and totally disabled.

“The recitals in Senate Bill No. 340 do not indicate whether or not the individual affected would be eligible under the General Non-contributory Pension Act. If he is eligible, the purpose of the special treatment afforded by this proposal is not apparent. If he is not eligible under that act, there does not appear to be any justification for singling out for special treatment this individual.

“It is well recognized that non-contributory pensions are disadvantageous to the general public, its citizens and taxpayers when compared to pensions paid under an actuarially sound contributory pension system. The legislative commission which made a comprehensive study of the problem, recommended the repeal of a large number of special non-contributory pension acts and the proposal resulted in the adoption of P. L. 1955, c. 263. Senate Bill No. 340 appears to be an attempt to override the announced policy of the Legislature and the Governor and is contrary to the report and recommendations of the legislative commission which made an exhaustive study of this field.”

I am now informed that Mr. Allen is not eligible under the General Non-contributory Pension Act. If this be so, as I noted in the 1956 statement, it would be unjust to accord to this man benefits which are denied to everyone else in like circumstances.

ASSEMBLY BILL No. 25

To the General Assembly:

Pursuant to Article V, Section I, paragraph 14(b) of the Constitution, I herewith return Assembly Bill No. 25, with my objections, for reconsideration.

R. S. 48:12-75 now imposes upon a railroad company the expense of upkeep of a structure carrying its railroad over a highway. This bill would amend the section to transfer that burden from the railroad company to the State in the case of a railroad overpass hereafter erected.

I concur in this bill insofar as it relates to a railroad overpass which is necessitated by the construction of a new State highway intersecting an existing railroad right of way. R. S. 48:12-75 places the burden of upkeep of the grade separation structure upon the State when a highway is constructed so as to pass over a railroad. There is no reason to burden a railroad company with the upkeep simply because the State chooses to put its highway under rather than over the tracks.

But this bill would go much farther. Not only would it shift the burden of upkeep to the State concerning any railroad overpass erected to eliminate an existing crossing at grade, regardless whether the railroad or the highway was there first, but it would also make the State responsible for upkeep of a railroad overpass erected where, theretofore, there had been no railroad at all. If a railroad company establishes a new line so as to intersect an existing highway, it is clear in my mind that the company should be prepared to maintain the railroad overpass which is then or thereafter necessitated by the new crossing.

The bill is also deficient in form. It deletes paragraph "b" of the section, which now imposes the burden of upkeep on the railroad respecting present and future railroad overpasses. Yet, in its amendment of paragraph "c", it assigns this burden only for future railroad overpasses. It leaves no one with the responsibility for upkeep of existing railroad overpasses. I am informed that this was an inadvertent omission, and that it was intended to leave this responsibility with the railroad companies. In the recommendations which follow I include one which would effectuate this intent.

One thing remains to be said. If the State is to be responsible for upkeep of new railroad overpasses at intersections where the railroad line antedates the highway, it follows that the State ought to be responsible also for that portion of upkeep which is attributable to the lengthening of an existing railroad overpass necessitated by future improvements to a State highway. Accordingly, I recommend that the bill be expanded by the addition of provisions covering this contingency.

For these reasons, I herewith return Assembly Bill No. 25 for reconsideration and recommend that it be amended as follows:

On page 1, section 1, following line 6, insert "b. Each railroad company shall own and maintain, repair and renew structures within its right of way carrying the railroad over the highway, except as otherwise provided herein;”.

On page 1, section 1, line 9, delete “b.” and insert in lieu thereof “c. (1)”.

On page 1, section 1, lines 11, 12, 13 and 14, delete “the State shall bear the cost of maintenance, repair and renewal of structures hereafter erected within the rights of way of railroad companies carrying railroads over highways, but this shall not relieve any railroad company from liability for damage caused to the” and insert in lieu thereof “(2) the State shall bear the cost of maintenance, repair and renewal of structures constructed after the effective date of this act within the rights of way of railroad companies carrying railroads over highways constructed after the effective date of this act and after the acquisition by the railroad of such right of way, and (3) where the State is not liable for cost under (2), above, and the railroad structure is enlarged or replaced by reason of improvements made in a highway after the effective date of this act, the State shall bear the cost of maintenance, repair and renewal of the new or enlarged structure other than such proportion of that cost as the length of the span of the pre-existing railroad structure bears to the length of the span of the enlarged or new railroad structure. For the purpose of the foregoing provisions of this subsection, a structure shall be deemed constructed on the date the contract therefor is awarded by the Commissioner, and a highway shall be deemed constructed or improved on the date the contract is awarded by the Commissioner for the construction of the section of the highway or improvement, as the case may be, passing under the railroad structure in question. None of the foregoing provisions of this subsection shall relieve any railroad company from responsibility for damage caused to any highway or railroad”.

ROBERT B. MEYNER,

ASSEMBLY BILL No. 91

To the General Assembly:

Pursuant to Article V, Section I, paragraph 14(b) of the Constitution, I herewith return Assembly Bill No. 91, with my objections, for reconsideration.

This bill is intended to change a portion of the common boundary of the City of Englewood and the Borough of Englewood Cliffs in Bergen County. A residential street which extends into both municipalities is intersected by the existing boundary at such an acute angle that, for a distance of approximately 1,000 feet from the intersection in each direction, the lots on one side of the street are intersected at a depth of less than 60 feet. The municipalities wish to have the boundary realigned so that each fronting lot will be wholly within one municipality or the other. This bill is intended to accomplish that by altering the troublesome portion of the boundary line so that it runs along the center of the street.

I have no objection to the purpose of the bill. I find, however, that the bill does not accomplish its purpose because of an inadvertent transposition of the names of the two municipalities. There are also minor technical omissions.

For these reasons, I herewith return Assembly Bill No. 91 for reconsideration and recommend that it be amended as follows:

On page 2, section 1, line 1, delete "city of Englewood" and insert in lieu thereof "borough of Englewood Cliffs".

On page 2, section 1, lines 2 and 3, delete "borough of Englewood Cliffs" and insert in lieu thereof "city of Englewood".

On page 2, section 1, line 5, delete "city of Englewood" and insert in lieu thereof "borough of Englewood Cliffs".

On page 2, section 1, line 12, before "along" insert "W.".

On page 2, section 2, lines 1 and 2, delete "borough of Englewood Cliffs" and insert in lieu thereof "city of Englewood".

On page 2, section 2, line 3, delete "city of Englewood" and insert in lieu thereof "borough of Englewood Cliffs".

ASSEMBLY BILL No. 489

To the General Assembly:

Pursuant to Article V, Section I, paragraph 14 (b) of the Constitution, I herewith return Assembly Bill No. 489, with my objections, for reconsideration.

Section 69 of the Banking Act of 1948 establishes a limit on the aggregate amount which a bank may invest in mortgage loans. The aggregate may not exceed 60% of the bank's time deposits or 100% of the total of its unimpaired capital stock and its surplus, whichever percentage yields the higher figure. However, not all mortgage loans are included in full in determining a bank's aggregate mortgage loan investment for the purpose of this section. One such class is mortgage loans fully insured by the Federal Housing Commissioner. Only 66 $\frac{2}{3}$ % of the principal balances owing to a bank on these loans is included in computing its aggregate mortgage loan investment.

Assembly Bill No. 489 would amend that section to provide that F. H. A. mortgage loans on 1, 2, 3 or 4-family dwellings shall be entirely excluded from the computation of the aggregate of a bank's mortgage loans for the purpose of determining whether the bank's mortgage loan investments are within the percentage limits established by Section 69. The rule of 66 $\frac{2}{3}$ % inclusion would be supplanted by a rule of no inclusion.

The statement which appears on the bill says that the purpose of the bill "is to put State chartered banks on a par with national banks" in making such F. H. A. insured loans. The present inequality between State and national banks in this area has been urged as the reason which requires enactment of this bill. I do not see that this argument has such force. Equality in this field is a conditional virtue. It becomes desirable only if the level at which the powers are to be equalized is first found to be a desirable one. There is no point in worsening one's position in order to be equally bad. In this case, I am not satisfied that the law governing national banks is worthy of emulation.

The amendment is sought, of course, so that our banks can have a greater mortgage lending capacity. If F. H. A. insured loans on 1, 2, 3 or 4-family dwellings are not counted, then (1) other mortgage loans can be increased to the point where they alone absorb the aggregate allowance, and (2) there can be an unlimited concentration of assets in these F. H. A. loans.

The desire for increased lending capacity must be weighed against the implications which the resulting investment practice may have for the condition of our banks. The balance sheets of our banks would not suffer. The security provided by the F. H. A. insurance coupled with the security of the mortgage is unquestionably adequate to insure the long range stability of the bank. I am concerned, however, with the current positions of the lenders. If our banks are to serve our needs they must have a resilient ability to respond to the demands of the economy. Among other things, this requires an investment policy which recognizes the need to be ready for rapid conversion of substantial amounts of assets into liquid form.

I am not persuaded that investment of unlimited amounts in F. H. A. mortgage loans is consistent with that facet of sound investment policy. I am informed that F. H. A. insured obligations are now readily marketable, but we have no assurance that this will always be so. If the time comes when a bank heavily laden with such long term obligations wishes to convert them into cash, it is likely that the time will also have come when others will not wish to convert their cash into such obligations. The secondary market maintained for F. H. A. mortgages by the Federal National Mortgage Association is not an adequate answer. It is heavily restricted, as, for instance, by the rule that the Association will purchase a mortgage only within 4 months from the effective date of the insurance. The insurance feature also fails to insure liquidity. Even when the obligation is processed to a default, the Federal Housing Administration does not pay in cash. The lender receives long term, low interest government bonds. If defaults became the pattern and these bonds were issued in great numbers, it is fair to say they would do little to improve the current position of the bank.

I am informed by the Commissioner of Banking and Insurance that very few of our banks have invested so heavily in mortgage loans as to be affected by the present restriction. On the whole, ample funds are available for the mortgage borrower. A few banks which do a mortgage origination business, however, do feel burdened by the present restriction. While I cannot possibly approve Assembly Bill No. 489 in its present form, for the reasons I have given, I am satisfied that a moderate decrease can be made in the percentage of principal balances of F. H. A. insured mortgage loans which must be counted for the purpose of the computation under Section 69, without impairing the position of our banks. Accordingly, I will accept a reduction from 66 $\frac{2}{3}$ % to 50%.

For these reasons, I herewith return Assembly Bill No. 489 for reconsideration and recommend that it be amended as follows:

On page 2, section 1, lines 20 and 21, delete "not be included in whole or in part" and insert in lieu thereof", only to the extent of 50% of such balances owing to the bank, be included".

ASSEMBLY BILL No. 502

To the General Assembly:

Pursuant to Article V, Section I, paragraph 14(b) of the Constitution, I herewith return Assembly Bill No. 502, with my objections, for reconsideration.

This bill would amend R. S. 18:7-93, which governs the sale of bonds by boards of education. That section establishes the standards by which bids for the purchase of bonds at public sale are to be evaluated to determine which bid may be accepted by the board. It fails, however, to provide express authority for the acceptance of any bid where 2 or more bids prove equally and most acceptable as a result of the evaluation. This bill is intended to correct that omission by giving the board discretionary authority to accept any one of the tied bids.

The purpose of the bill is worthy. A board of education should not be precluded from taking advantage of a favorable offer simply because another offer is equally favorable. This bill would not compel the board to select one of the tied bids. It simply would authorize the board to make the selection if it believes that step is preferable to the rejection of all bids and re-advertisement.

It is possible that authority to select from among tied bids may be inferred from the present language of R. S. 18:7-93. But in this sensitive area of the law the necessity of inference is ample reason in itself for legislative action.

I believe, however, that the amendatory language used in the bill should be improved. It appears to assume the general applicability of 2, alternate, standards for the evaluation of bids. Those 2 standards are expressed as the "lowest" amount and the "most advantageous" character of the bids. In the first place, these are not alternate standards, and neither one is of general applicability. They are complementary standards, and each is intended to be used only for evaluation of a distinct type of bid.

Secondly, the language chosen to describe the first standard is different from the language now in the text. The present text refers to the "least amount of bonds" to be purchased for a given price and the "highest additional price" to be paid where there is no difference in the amount of bonds to be purchased. This language can be reconciled with the "lowest amount" standard of the amendment if we assume that "lowest amount" means the lowest amount of true interest, but I see no reason to require the reader to assume and reconcile his way to the legislative intent.

Finally, the language incorporates two separate standards in a single sentence which logically does not lend itself to the separation. Thus, for instance, it would authorize acceptance of one of 2 bids of "equal amount" if those two are the "most advantageous" even though the one not accepted might somehow be more advantageous.

These problems are avoidable. There is no need to risk confusion by restating the standards for evaluation. We only need find a simple means of describing the problem situation, that of 2 or more bids being equally and most acceptable under the existing standards, and then authorize the board to award the bonds despite the tie. I believe this authority can be conferred clearly and concisely if we employ the understandable concept of "tied bids" and simply refer to the result of evaluation under the present standards, rather than risk shorthand restatement of these standards.

The amendatory language has been inserted at a point in the section considerably removed from the existing provisions on the acceptance of bids. The section would be improved if these related provisions were brought together.

For these reasons, I herewith return Assembly Bill No. 502 for reconsideration and recommend that it be amended as follows:

On page 2, section 1, following line 35, insert a new paragraph as follows:

“If the bids of 2 or more bidders for any issue, combination of issues or lot of bonds offered at a public sale are tied, any 1 of which would be entitled to be accepted but for the existence of the other bid or bids with which it is tied, then the board in its discretion may sell the bonds so bid for to any 1 of such bidders.”

On page 3, section 1, delete lines 52, 53, 54, 55 and 56.

ASSEMBLY BILL No. 596

To the General Assembly:

Pursuant to Article V, Section I, paragraph 14(b) of the Constitution, I herewith return Assembly Bill No. 596, with my objections, for reconsideration.

This bill provides that a municipal ordinance adopted for the purpose of establishing a municipal planning board shall not be invalid because it refers to an enabling statute which was repealed prior to the adoption of the ordinance, provided the ordinance was authorized by other law in effect at the time of its adoption.

I have no objection to a bill which would validate an ordinance in these circumstances if this step is deemed necessary. I do object, however, to a formal feature of the bill. It is drawn so as to have a prospective application as well. If such an effect is desired, it should be accomplished by amendment of the basic statute on the subject, not by a separate validating act.

For this reason I herewith return Assembly Bill No. 596 for reconsideration and recommend that it be amended as follows:

On page 1, section 1, line 1, after the word "enacted" insert "prior to the effective date of this act".

On page 1, section 1, line 6, after the word "taken" insert "prior to the effective date of this act".

The Clerk read the following message from the Governor:

STATE OF NEW JERSEY,    }
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,   }
September 12, 1960.    ]

ASSEMBLY BILL No. 332

To the General Assembly:

Pursuant to Article V, Section I, paragraph 14(b) of the Constitution, I herewith return Assembly Bill No. 332, with my objections, for reconsideration.

Assembly Bill No. 332 would amend section 68 of the Teachers' Pension and Annuity Fund-Social Security Integration Act of 1955 which governs the computation of eligibility to old age insurance benefits for offset purposes. Under this bill such eligibility would be computed in accordance with the provisions of the Social Security Act in effect on December 31, 1959.

In the years preceding 1955 we weighed alternative means of improving our teachers' retirement benefits. Until 1955 the teachers did not have the advantage of social security, and it was generally agreed that a new law should be designed which in some way would take advantage of social security benefits. On the one hand, it was known that these benefits alone would not be sufficient to meet all the requirements of a pension plan. On the other hand, it was known that the cost of social security in addition to a State pension would be too great a burden for the majority of the teachers and for the State. As a result, a plan of "integration" was agreed upon. Under this plan the State bears a portion of the social security taxes and the State pension is reduced by the amount of the newly acquired social security. The effect is that the total amount payable is not reduced, but part of it is made up of social security benefits paid for in part by the State through social security taxes. This arrangement enables the teachers to obtain the important incidental advantages of social security, such as survivors' benefits, and it enables the State to provide substantially greater benefits than it had been able to provide before. These generous benefits are discussed in detail in my message concerning Senate Bill No. 33 of 1957.

The effect of the merger of social security old age insurance benefits and State pension benefits is called the "offset". In short, it means that the State pays the difference between the amount of the social security benefits receivable by the retired teacher and the amount of the pension provided for under our law. If the retired teacher is not entitled to social security benefits, then the State pays the full amount of the pension. The teacher gets the same amount in any case, the difference is only in the source of the funds. (Regardless of this, the teacher receives an annuity which is the equivalent of his contributions during service, thereby assuring the retired teacher that he will get the full benefit of his own contributions. This is never subject to offset.)

But a question arose when the pension law was planned concerning the source of social security eligibility. Eligibility is determined by the number of quarters (3 month periods) a person has worked in employment which is covered by social security law. The question was, should a distinction be made between the person who earns the necessary quarters of coverage in public employment alone, and the person who earns some quarters in public employment but attains eligibility only because he also has earned some quarters in private employment? Of course, both persons are eligible for social security, but should both be subject to the offset? The generous answer written into the law was that the State would apply the offset only if the teacher became eligible for social security by virtue of earning the requisite quarters of coverage in public employment alone. This was deemed a fair rule because many teachers had either become fully covered or had acquired substantial numbers of quarters of coverage in private employment prior to 1956, and it was felt that the State should not obtain any advantage from that backlog of private coverage. It was recognized, of course, that some teachers who would be retiring in the decade following the pension act, the older teachers, might retire before having earned the requisite quarters in teaching, and that these teachers might in some cases acquire social security by adding subsequent quarters in private employment. It was known that this would be a transitory situation, because before many years anyone retiring would have been teaching long enough after 1955 to have acquired the requisite quarters in teaching alone.

What was not anticipated at that time was that many members who ordinarily would have earned sufficient quarters of coverage in public employment would deliberately retire to avoid the offset just before obtaining the number of quarters required for eligibility, and then make up the shortage by subsequent private employment. In this manner they avoid the offset at the last minute and get the "double benefit" of social security plus the State pension.

While this type of action was not anticipated in full, it is within the letter of the law and the State has recognized any legal rights which the teachers have acquired by this means. Indeed, the State has felt obligated to assist the teacher in determining his "avoidance" date, the date by which he must retire to avoid the offset. Obviously, however, this last minute retirement and avoidance has been very costly to the State.

With this background in mind one more factor must be added for an understanding of the essentials of the problem. The required number of quarters of social security coverage is determined by federal law, and federal law can be changed to reduce this number. An example of the effect of such a change in federal law may be helpful. Suppose an imaginary teacher named Smith retires from teaching in March of a hypothetical year with 17 quarters of coverage in public employment. The law at that time requires 18 quarters. Smith then works 1 quarter in private employment and attains the total of 18 quarters required for social security eligibility. He therefore will be eligible for social security benefits when he reaches 65, but he expects to avoid the offset because he did not become eligible solely because of public employment. After Smith had made the irrevocable decision and retired in reliance on the offset, however, the federal law is changed to require only 15 quarters of coverage. Smith had 17 quarters in public employment, and so he automatically becomes subject to the offset.

The federal law was amended in 1956 in this manner so as to reduce the quarters of coverage. Now, in 1960, there is a bill before the President which would again reduce the required number of quarters of coverage. Smith's case exemplifies the real problem which resulted in 1956, and which is threatened again in 1960.

I believe that the class of cases exemplified by Smith requires legislative attention. The offset, of course, is the basic principle of our pension law. It has enabled us to have a generous pension system. Premature retirement and avoidance of the offset, with the resulting "double benefit" of social security plus pension, was never intended as the pattern under the law. It was a limited exception, a "loophole" existing during the transition period because we tried to protect the teacher who has acquired quarters of coverage in private employment before 1956. It is, of course, a very expensive loophole for the State. Nevertheless, in case like that of Smith, there is a factor of equity which cannot be overlooked. Smith irrevocably committed himself to premature retirement on an assumed income in reliance on the federal law as it was when he retired, he gave up the opportunity to continue teaching, he waived his right to continue to draw his salary and to build up his eventual retirement allowance. Then, to his surprise, Congress destroyed the foundation on which he relied. I believe we are obliged to act in this class of cases even though it means giving to persons like Smith a double benefit which we cannot possibly afford as a general rule.

For this reason, I signed a bill in 1956, L. 1956, c. 218, which protected persons who had been affected by the 1956 federal amendments in essentially the same way as the hypothetical Smith. But, upon the same analysis, I disapproved Senate Bill No. 35 of 1957. That bill dealt essentially with the people, who, unlike Smith, were still teaching when the federal law was amended in 1956. Those people had not committed themselves as Smith had, the change had been made in federal law while they were still teaching; they had the right to continue teaching, to receive their salaries and to build up their eventual pension rights. The big factor of equity was missing. I found no justification for according double benefits to teachers in those circumstances. To have done so would have been to expand the loophole to the point where the entire pension system could slip through.

Senate Bill No. 69 of the current session is essentially the same as Senate Bill No. 33 of 1957, and the same reasoning applies. Indeed, in the intervening years, many of the persons affected by the bill have had the benefit of rising salaries and increased pension rights which were lost to persons like Smith. Many of these people have become entitled to more in increased State retirement allowance than they would have gained had they retired to avoid as Smith did. For these reasons, and for the further compelling reason that Senate Bill No. 69 would cost the State $1,226,000.00 each year for the next 20 years, I cannot possibly approve this bill.

All the foregoing relates to the federal amendment of 1956 and bills arising therefrom, but the underlying principles are no different in 1960 under the amendment of the social security law recently passed by Congress.

Assembly Bill No. 332, the bill now before me, is designed to accomplish in one bill what, in effect, was sought to be accomplished by the two types of measures which arose out of the 1956 amendment. It would protect those who, like Smith, have irrevocably committed themselves to retirement and then have been disastrously surprised by the pending federal amendment. But it also seeks to give the same generous treatment to those who like the group affected by Senate Bill No. 69, are still employed, and who have the right to continue to draw salary and build up their retirement allowance. After our action set the pattern in 1956 and 1957, these people have no right whatever to anticipate that they will be given double benefits.

For this reason I cannot approve Assembly Bill No. 332 in its entirety. I believe our position arising from the 1956 amendments is a sound and fair one, and accordingly I am recommending an amendment to this bill which will make it comparable to the bill approved in 1956. Thus, it will protect those who, like Smith, have retired and put themselves in the position such that they are helpless to cope with the amendment now before the President.

What I have said concerning teachers applies equally to other public employees. I approved comparable legislation for them in 1956 (L. 1956, c. 219) and I disapproved legislation in 1957 (Senate Bill No. 34) comparable to that which I disapproved for teachers in 1957. By the same token, I am today returning Senate Bill No. 126 which is the counterpart of Senate Bill No. 69. To insure that other public employees receive the same benefits which will accrue to teachers by reason of my recommended amendment of Assembly Bill No. 332, I have arranged for submission of a bill to the Legislature today which parallels the amendments I hereafter recommend for the protection of teachers. I trust that you will give it the same attention.

For these reasons, I herewith return Assembly Bill No. 332 and recommend that it be amended as follows:

On page 1, title, line 1, delete "amend" and insert "supplement".

On pages 1, 2 and 3, section 1, lines 1 through 53, delete section 1 in its entirety and insert in lieu thereof:

"1. The reduction provided in Section 68 of the act to which this act is a supplement shall not be made in the case of retired members who retired after August 1, 1956, and on or before October 1, 1960, and who at the time of their retirement had not attained a fully insured status under the provisions of the Social Security Act as those provisions obtained on December 31, 1959, provided such retired members had filed their applications for retirement prior to September 1, 1960, and further provided such retired members do not earn additional quarters of social security coverage from public employment in New Jersey after the date of retirement and before reaching age 65. Whenever a reduction in retirement allowance has been made prior to the effective date of this act and with respect to any retired member covered by this act, an amount equal to the total of all such reductions shall be paid to such retired member.”

STATE OF NEW JERSEY,	}
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
November 28, 1960.

ASSEMBLY BILL No. 214

To the General Assembly:

Pursuant to Article V, Section I, paragraph 14(b) of the Constitution, I herewith return Assembly Bill No. 214, with my objections, for reconsideration.

This bill would make three significant changes in the Raffles Licensing Law of 1954, L. 1954, c. 5.

The third of these changes is extraordinary. It would authorize cooperatives composed of two or more licensees to hold joint raffles in which prizes could be given without reference to the $5,000.00 prize limit now applicable to each licensee acting separately. By means of the cooperative, the participating licensees would acquire authorization for $50,000.00 in additional prizes each year. Moreover, the $50,000.00 would be authorized for each cooperative. Thus, licensee A could conduct a $50,000.00 series of raffles each year with licensee B., another series with C, another with D and so on without limit.

This third amendment also would authorize joint raffles by "a parent organization and affiliated organizations". These, too, would be exempted from the individual prize limits. From the fact that the joint venture of parent and affiliate is separately authorized in the language of the amendment, however, it appears that it is conceived to be different from a cooperative. Yet the amendment would apply the new $50,000.00 limit only to "cooperatives". It is open, therefore, to the extraordinary consequence that raffles jointly conducted by a parent and affiliate would not be subject to any prize limit whatever.

I believe this amendment would be undesirable even if the parent and affiliate acting together were meant to be a "cooperative" subject to the $50,000.00 limit. Cooperatives could be formed in unlimited numbers. They could be state-wide in scope, and each one would have a $50,000.00 prize authorization independent of the limit applicable to the participants acting separately. The intent of the law to restrict raffles to moderate, community efforts would be frustrated. The productiveness of small raffles by unaffiliated organizations would be seriously impaired.

The first alteration proposed by the bill would amend section 12 to authorize a licensee to make an award to the seller of the winning raffle ticket. The award would be a duplicate of the prize awarded to the purchaser of the winning ticket. The bill does not indicate clearly whether the duplicate award would be chargeable to the prize limit or allowed as an additional expense, but in either case, of course, the value of the award would be deducted in determining the net proceeds to be applied to the charitable object. This may be within the letter of the Constitution, but I question whether it observes the spirit.

The raffles law and the constitutional provision which authorizes it, Art. IV, Sec. VII, par. 2B, are intended to provide a closely circumscribed and carefully supervised outlet so that the propensity to "take a chance" can be vented benevolently for the advancement of charity. From the point of view of the members of the sponsoring organization, however, the raffle is not an end in itself. It is only a means to advance the charitable object of the organization. The existing language of Section 12 says:

“ . . . no commission, salary, compensation, reward or recompense whatever shall be paid or given, directly or indirectly, to any person holding, operating or conducting, or assisting in the holding, operation or conduct of, any game of chance . . . ”

Thus, with the exception of limited compensation for book-keeping and accounting services, persons participating in the operation of the game may not profit. They must serve as volunteers.

Many people, though well disposed, are reluctant to lend their efforts to worthy causes because the relationship between the effort and the advancement of the cause is often only vaguely discernible. The raffles law provides the necessary incentive, a recognizable relation between the effort and the yield. The yield, however, is not private profit, but the prosperity of the cause. I believe this is sufficient. I see no evidence that worthwhile causes will fail if the sponsoring participants are not given the opportunity to profit privately. Indeed, if this were necessary, if raffles had to become ends in themselves for those who conduct them rather than means to the end of charity, then perhaps raffles themselves ought to come to an end.

The second part of the bill proposes an increase in the limit on the annual aggregate value of retail prizes authorized for a single licensee. It is now $5,000.00. This bill would make it $50,000.00. The statement following the text of the bill says the amendments were recommended “in part” by the Legalized Games of Chance Control Commission in its 1958 report. I presume “in part” refers to the second part, for this is the only one which comes even close to the recommendations of the Commission.

The Commission believed then as it does now that it would not be unsound to raise the annual prize limit, but only if the higher limit were to be the aggregate ceiling for all raffles conducted in a year by the licensed organizations within a family of licensees. It has found that many organizations circumvent the present $5,000.00 limitation by holding a series of raffles, some conducted by the parent and some by its subsidiaries and affiliated organizations. This benefits the organization which is subdivided or affiliated to the detriment of the single unit, or the one with fewer subdivisions.

This bill, however, would simply raise the limit to $50,000.00 for each licensed organization. It would do nothing to equalize the law as between the subdivided and unsubdivided organization. On the contrary, it would magnify the disparity. Under the language, each licensed parent and subsidiary could give prizes worth ten times as much as at present. The group of ten affiliated organizations which now can give $50,000.00 worth of prizes, could give $500,000.00 worth of prizes if this bill were enacted.

Ideally, the limit might fluctuate with the membership of a licensee or family of licensees, but the practicability of that standard is questionable. Accordingly, I will approve the second amendment if it is rewritten to make the higher ceiling the aggregate limit for all organizations within a family of licensees. As so applied it will enable affiliated organizations to have a greater number of their members participate in the conduct of the raffles, and it will put the single unit organization on a par with the one which happens to be subdivided.

Typically, the family of licensees consists of a parent organization, subsidiary subdivisions each composed of a portion of the members of the parent and affiliated to each other by common parentage, and auxiliaries and other affiliates having a common or supporting purpose and often composed of persons related by function or personal tie to the members of the parent. The terms to describe these bodies in the regulations and practice of the Commission are "parent," "subsidiary," "affiliate" and "auxiliary."

These terms are familiar to the persons affected by the law. I recommend they be used in the amendment.

For the foregoing reasons, I herewith return Assembly Bill No. 214 for reconsideration. I recommend that the first and third amendments be stricken and that the second amendment be altered as stated, all as follows:

On pages 1 and 2, section 1, lines 1 through 43, delete section 1 in its entirety.

On page 2, section 2, line 1, delete the figure "2" and insert in lieu thereof the figure "1".

On page 3, section 2, line 6, delete "under any license issued under this act" and insert in lieu thereof "under this act by any qualified licensee or its parent, subsidiary, auxiliary or affiliate organizations".

On page 3, section 2, line 7, after "$50,000.00" insert a period.

On page 3, section 2, lines 19 through 24, delete lines 19 through 24 in their entirety.

On page 3, section 3, line 1, delete the figure "3" and insert in lieu thereof the figure "2".

Respectfully,

STATE OF NEW JERSEY,	}
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
November 28, 1960.

ASSEMBLY BILL No. 582

To the General Assembly:

Pursuant to Article V, Section I, paragraph 14(b) of the Constitution, I herewith return Assembly Bill No. 582, with my objections, for reconsideration.

This bill would grant tenure in office to municipal magistrates in certain circumstances and provide a procedure for removal from office of those under tenure.

I believe tenure is a desirable incident of the office of municipal magistrate under appropriate conditions. The impartial administration of justice requires a certain detachment from the pitch and sway of everyday life. Among all our Courts, the Municipal Court is least conducive to this. The magistrate ordinarily serves part-time. The salary he receives does not often sustain him. He must play other parts in the community. When he sits, he administers justice among his community neighbors. These may be people he sees in his other capacities. Sometimes they are people who think they know the appointing authorities.

Tenure will not solve all these problems. I don't believe they can be solved within the present framework of the Municipal Court system. But given that framework, tenure will be an improvement. At least it will insulate the magistrate from the unpleasant pressures which are sometimes felt where continuity in office depends upon the will of another.

A procedure for removal is desirable, of course, with or without tenure.

For these reasons I approve the general purpose of the bill. I find, however, that the proposed conditions of tenure, the nature and scope of the removal procedure and certain other features of this bill are undesirable. I therefore recommend that the bill be amended. Specifically, my reasons are as follows:

First, the major provision of this bill would confer tenure automatically at its enactment upon persons who have held the office for 10 consecutive years. This may be an acceptable course in some instances, but I do not believe it is desirable here. The vast majority of our magistrates, both lawyers and the remaining laymen, are competent and dedicated men. As in many large bodies of men, however, there are some who do injustice to the standing of the group. I believe the appointing authorities should be given at least one opportunity to reconsider the qualifications of present incumbents before tenure is conferred. The present bill gives this opportunity in the case of persons who have served for 7 but less than 10 consecutive years. I believe this should be the rule in all cases. Accordingly, I recommend a uniform rule that tenure begin only upon reappointment hereafter in the seventh or later year of continuous service.

Second, the bill contains a puzzling provision concerning magistrates who have served under tenure until 70 years of age. It says a magistrate who meets the qualifications for tenure “. . . shall continue to hold such office, position or employment during good behavior and efficiency and thereafter he shall continue to hold such office, position or employment until he shall attain the age of 70 years . . .”. I assume “thereafter” does not mean after he has ceased to behave himself. The problem runs deeper than that.

This provision can mean either that the magistrate cannot serve after 70 years of age, or that he shall not have tenure after 70 years of age but may nevertheless be appointed for 3-year terms. If the former is intended, magistrates who acquire tenure would be subject to mandatory retirement at 70, but others would not. The novice, or the magistrate who never performed well enough for sustained periods to acquire tenure, could be appointed or reappointed and serve under successive reappointments without regard to age. On the other hand, if the provision means only to terminate tenure at 70 years of age, it is inadequate. Judges and Justices of our State courts are subject to retirement at age 70. I believe the same rule should apply to magistrates. The desirability of the rule is obvious when tenure is conferred, but for the reasons stated I believe the rule should be applied with an even hand. Accordingly, I propose a uniform rule requiring retirement at 70 years of age, though permitting incumbents to serve out their current terms despite age.

Third, this bill provides for removal for “good cause” after hearing by the governing body of the municipality. The magistrate could appeal to the County Court which would try the matter de novo. The complainant evidently would not be permitted to appeal.

I question whether the removal power should be vested in the body from which tenure is designed to insulate the magistrate. I question, too, whether the county judge should be given the responsibility to pass upon the conduct of another judicial officer of the county. The Constitution, Art. VI, Sec. VI, para. 4, provides that County and Superior Court Judges may be removed in a proceeding before the Supreme Court. It would be fitting to follow the same pattern for the judges of our municipal courts.

Notably, the removal provision of the bill would apply only to a magistrate under tenure. Existing law does not provide for removal of a magistrate serving for a term of years. If a removal provision is to be enacted I believe it should be applied generally to include those who have not yet earned tenure as well as those who have.

Fourth, though this bill limits tenure to those with specified years of consecutive service, it would apply even where the consecutive service arises partly from years in a court of a single municipality and partly from later service in a joint municipal court encompassing that municipality. I believe this is unsound. A magistrate might have to serve but one term on the later court before acquiring tenure. I believe the Governor and the people of the municipalities in question other than the one previously served by the magistrate should have an opportunity to observe the new magistrate for a period equal to that to be provided for the people governed by a single municipality court. Tenure should be an incident of the office, not a privilege of the office holder to be transported about with him from place to place.

I assume it is the purpose of the proponents of this measure to recognize consecutive service only where it continues to the commencement of tenure. Tenure certainly should not be conferred where the trial period was served in the distant past. It is not clear, however, that the language of the bill excludes this possibility. I recommend that language be selected to make it clear that tenure begins only upon reappointment during a continuation of the requisite consecutive service.

This bill makes no reference to the sections of the existing law relating to appointment and qualifications of magistrates. The statutes on these subjects will be easier to understand if the proposed changes are integrated with the existing sections. With this in mind, I herewith return Assembly Bill No. 582 for reconsideration and recommend that it be amended in the following manner to accomplish the purposes discussed in this message:

On page 1, amend the title by deleting “, position or employment”.

On page 1, amend the title by inserting after “magistrates” the words “, amending sections 5 and 7 of chapter 8 of Title 2A of the New Jersey Statutes, and supplementing Article 2 of said chapter”.

On pages 1 and 2, section 1, lines 1 through 28, delete section 1 in its entirety and insert in lieu thereof the following:

“1. Section 2A:8-5 of the New Jersey Statutes is amended to read as follows:

“2A:8-5. Each municipal court shall have a judge who shall be known as the municipal magistrate. He shall serve for a term of 3 years from the date of his appointment and until his successor is appointed and qualified; except that, if he is reappointed to office after the effective date of this act and during his seventh or later year of continuous service in the office, he shall serve for a term ending on the date he attains 70 years of age. Each magistrate of a municipal court of a single municipality shall be appointed as follows:

“In municipalities governed by a mayor-council form of government, by the mayor with the advice and consent of council; provided, that in municipalities governed under the borough law (Chapters 86 to 94 of Title 40 of the Revised Statutes), if the mayor fails to nominate a magistrate within 30 days after the office becomes vacant, or the council fails to confirm any nomination made by the mayor within 30 days after the same is made, then the council shall appoint the magistrate; and

“In all other municipalities, by the governing body of the municipality.

“Each magistrate of a municipal court of 2 or more municipalities shall be nominated and appointed by the governor with the advice and consent of the senate.

“2. Section 2A:8-7 of the New Jersey Statutes is amended to read as follows:

“2A:8-7. Every municipal court magistrate shall be a resident, and attorney at law, of this state, or a person holding on January 1, 1952 the office of municipal court magistrate, recorder, police judge or justice of the peace. A magistrate who is an attorney at law need not be a resident of the municipality or municipalities to which the jurisdiction of the court extends, but a magistrate not an attorney shall be a resident thereof.

“No person may be a municipal magistrate after the date he attains 70 years of age, except that a municipal magistrate may complete a term which remains unexpired on the effective date of this act notwithstanding his age.

“3. The Supreme Court may remove a municipal magistrate from office for incompetence, neglect of duty, conduct unbecoming one holding the office or other good cause, after notice and hearing in such manner as the Supreme Court prescribes. A person so removed may not thereafter hold judicial office unless otherwise ordered by the Supreme Court.”

ASSEMBLY BILL No. 39

To the General Assembly:

I herewith return Assembly Bill No. 39, without my approval, for the following reasons:

The appropriations act for this year, L. 1960, c. 46, provided a substantial increase in the compensation of faculty members at State institutions of higher learning. It appropriated $297,000.00 additional to provide a higher salary range for each faculty position at these institutions and $100,000.00 additional to finance a special program of extra compensation to retain and recruit outstanding faculty members. These programs took effect at the beginning of this fiscal year.

Assembly Bill No. 39 would rewrite those provisions of the appropriations act. Among the changes, it would establish a still higher salary range for 1960-61 and then increase the range again for 1961-62. The following table gives the ranges in question.

Title	1959-60		Appropriations Act 1960-61		A-39 1960-61		A-39 1961-62
	Min.	Max.	Min.	Max.	Min.	Max.	Min.	Max.
Instructor .....	$4,750-	$6,178	$4,988-	$6,482	$5,237-	$6,809	$6,063-	$7,881
Assistant Professor	5,774-	7,508	6,063-	7,881	6,366-	8,274	7,018-	9,124
Associate Professor	6,684-	8,688	7,018-	9,124	7,369-	9,577	8,530-	11,092
Professor .....	8,124-	10,560	8,957-	11,645	8,957-	11,645	10,369-	13,477
Distinguished Professor .....	None		10,369-	13,477	None		None

In addition to these salary range increases, the present bill would advance each faculty member in each of the two years to the same relative position in the new range as he held in the preceding range. For example, a professor receiving the maximum of $10,560.00 in 1959-60 would be advanced to $11,645.00 in 1960-61 and to $13,477.00 in 1961-62. Obviously, these would be extraordinary increases in a very short period.

The bill proposes to pay for the upward revisions by re-directing amounts already appropriated and by making an additional appropriation. The $297,000.00 allotted by the appropriations act for salary range revision, plus the $100,000.00 appropriated and now being used to compensate outstanding personnel, would be shifted to the new program. Another $100,000.00 would be newly appropriated. The total, $497,000.00, would pay for the program only for a portion of the current fiscal year. The bill therefore provides that the program would become effective January 1, 1961 for 12 month employees and a month later for academic year employees.

This poses the question whether we can responsibly reduce the State's dubious surplus this year by $100,000.00. Unfortunately, however, the problem is of far greater proportions. By the end of the coming fiscal year, the program proposed by this bill would have cost more than $2,600,000.00. Since only $497,000.00 would be appropriated this year, some $2,100,000.00 would have to be added to the next budget. Needless to say, this cannot be done without new revenue.

When the present bill was introduced it was accompanied by a measure to increase inheritance tax rates. That measure was designed to produce $1,500,000.00 annually to pay for the salary increases proposed by Assembly Bill No. 39. Both bills were passed in the Assembly, but the Senate neglected to pass the one to raise the funds. It approved only the spending bill. I cannot responsibly take the same course.

No one can deny the nation-wide shortage of competent faculty for higher education. New Jersey must be attentive to the need to maintain its competitive position to attract and hold qualified personnel in this field. I believe the appropriations act of this year strengthened our position significantly in this area. But we must also recognize that State government faces comparable problems respecting its physicians, nurses, engineers and other highly skilled persons. We cannot responsibly undertake a huge program for some employees and overlook others similarly situated. I intend to re-examine this problem as it affects all such personnel in the preparation of my recommendations for expenditures in 1961-62. I trust the Legislature will do the same in reaching its decision on the budget for that year.

ASSEMBLY BILL No. 61

To the General Assembly:

I herewith return Assembly Bill No. 61, without my approval, for the following reasons:

This bill would increase certain retirement allowances paid by a pension fund of a city of the first class. It would affect only an employee who retired prior to January 1, 1942, on an allowance equal to one-half of his salary at the time of retirement. If that allowance is now less than $200.00 per month, it would be increased by this bill to a minimum of $250.00 per month. The city would have to furnish the necessary money to its pension fund.

The only pension fund affected by this bill is the Municipal Employees' Pension Fund of Jersey City. That fund is now paying allowances of less than $200.00 per month to more than 600 persons. I am informed, however, that only some 15 of those 600 persons would benefit by this bill. The officials of the fund have indicated that they could not, in good conscience, recommend approval of this bill because of its selective application.

The bill states that its purpose is to provide increases in pension payments commensurate with increases in the cost of living, but it obviously fails to accomplish the purpose. It would increase the benefits to some who retired before 1942 by a substantial amount, yet it makes no provision for an increase for those who retired in or after 1942. It is discriminatory even among those who retired before 1942. One now receiving $190.00 a month, for instance, would be raised at least to $250.00 per month, yet the pension of one who now receives between $200.00 and $250.00 per month would remain unchanged. The bill is transparently unfair.

I am sensitive to the hardships of retired public employees who must meet growing costs from a fixed pension. We have made extensive efforts to solve this problem in the State pension systems according to fair and consistent standards. I would be completely sympathetic with any reasonable effort to achieve the same objectives for the pension system affected by this bill. It is plain from a mere reading of this bill, however, that it falls woefully short of the standards which must be observed if any such effort is to be successful.

Respectfully,

ASSEMBLY BILL No. 188

To the General Assembly:

I herewith return Assembly Bill No. 188, without my approval, for the following reasons:

This bill would amend the statute governing the Prison Officers' Pension Fund to increase the maximum annual pension payable to survivors of deceased members of the fund from $1,000.00 to $1,200.00. It would raise from 16 to 18 the age under which surviving children could benefit, and it would add non-dependent parents to the class of eligible survivors. The bill also would abolish the statutory formula governing payments to surviving children.

The benefits provided by our pension funds have received extensive attention in recent years. Substantial improvements were made in the retirement benefits of State employees by the enactment of L. 1954, c. 84, which established the Public Employees' Retirement System and gained for employees the advantage of the social security program. Similar improvements were made in teachers' benefits by the enactment of the Teachers' Pension and Annuity Fund-Social Security Integration Act. L. 1955, c. 37. In 1958 we enacted a comprehensive program of pension increases for former employees whose benefits had grown inadequate as the cost of living increased. L. 1958, c. 143. These exemplify the continuing concern for the adequacy of State pensions. The benefits payable to survivors of members of the Prison Officers' Pension Fund also need attention, but the situation cannot be corrected merely by directing greater payments from the present Fund.

This Fund is actuarially unsound even under the present benefit schedule. An increase in its obligations would aggravate its insolvency and hasten the day of financial reckoning. A valuation of the Fund made as of July 1, 1954, indicated an actuarial deficit of $8,154,000.00. A valuation made as of July 1, 1959, showed that the deficit had increased to $10,719,000.00 in the five year period. The deficit is disturbing, and its growth is ominous. This bill, I am advised, would increase the liability of the Fund by $300,000.00, yet it does not provide any money to meet the cost. It is plain that this bill should not be enacted.

Improved and better balanced benefits were offered to the members of the Prison Officers' Pension Fund in December, 1959. The members were given an opportunity to acquire social security coverage and participate in the Public Employees' Retirement System with the option of selecting the law enforcement officer membership category. This step would have improved the benefits for these employees and their survivors on a realistic financial basis, but it was rejected at the referendum.

The rejection of the proposal in December, 1959, requires that other means be sought to solve this difficult problem. It is clear, however, that the further strain on the present fund which this bill proposes is wholly unacceptable as a solution.

Respectfully,

ROBERT B. MEYNER,

ASSEMBLY BILL No. 291

To the General Assembly:

I herewith return Assembly Bill No. 291, without my approval, for the following reasons:

This bill would amend the Teachers' Pension and Annuity Fund-Social Security Integration Act of 1955, L. 1955, c. 37, to require the fund to pay out to each veteran member the amount which his public employer contributed to the fund on his behalf, prior to January 1, 1955, to cover the period of the veteran's military service in time of war.

Under the 1955 Pension Act a teacher, as a general rule, is required to make regular contributions to the pension fund. These contributions, together with the amounts contributed by the State, provide the money to pay the teacher's retirement allowance.

For the period prior to 1955 during which a teacher served in the armed forces, however, he received full retirement credits without any cost to him. The State paid its share for this period, and the serviceman's share was paid by his local board of education or other public employer. L. 1942, c. 252.

This bill would direct the pension system to withdraw from the fund the money it received from the employer in payment of the serviceman's obligation for this period, and pay it to the veteran in cash. The employer or the State then would have to pay an equivalent amount into the pension fund in order to make up the deficiency and restore the retirement credits. The result is that the public would pay for the veteran's retirement credits twice, and the veteran would receive not only the intended retirement credits, but their cash equivalent as well. This was not intended by the 1955 law, and it would not be justified now.

It is true that the "accumulated deductions" of a veteran were returned to him for the years prior to 1955 under the provisions of the pension act. But this represented money the veteran had paid from his own pocket. Deductions from the veteran teacher's pay were made only during the years he was actually working in public employment before and after his military service. It was necessary to return these accumulated deductions to the veteran for the years prior to 1955, and replace them by equivalent contributions from the employer on the veteran's behalf in order to provide the free retirement credits which the law intended. In the case of his years of military service, however, the retirement credits have already been provided without cost to the veteran. None of the veteran's money is in the pension fund for his years of military service, because he paid none. Accordingly, there is none to be returned.

In 1957 I disapproved a bill which had the same object as the present one. In my message concerning that bill, Assembly Bill No. 199, I said:

"If Assembly Bill No. 199 were to become law, this amount that has been prepaid by the employer for the time spent by the veteran in the military service would be given to the veteran in addition to his own accumulated deductions. As a result, the employer would be charged not only for the prior employment time of the veteran but also for the military service time which it has prepaid. In effect, the veteran would receive a pure windfall at the expense of his employer who would be compelled to pay twice for the time that he spent in the military service."

MONDAY, DECEMBER 19, 1960

In 1958, the Supreme Court held that our law does not warrant the double payments proposed by this bill. Bruder v. Teachers' Pension and Annuity Fund, 27 N. J. 266 (1958).

I believe a departure from the law as determined by the Supreme Court, such as this bill proposes, is unjustified now just as it was in 1957.

The statement attached to this bill says the cost would be $340,000.00, payable in annual installments of $17,000.00. It argues that this would be a liability of the local boards of education rather than the State. It is worth noting that the pension act provides that the liability of the local boards of education shall not exceed the amount certified for the fiscal year commencing January 1, 1958. R. S. 18:13-112.35. It is quite possible, therefore, that the State would have to bear the cost. Even if this were not so, however, the bill should not be enacted. An unsound bill does not become sound simply because someone else might have to pay for it.

ASSEMBLY BILL No. 454

To the General Assembly:

I herewith return Assembly Bill No. 454, without my approval, for the following reasons:

One of the major purposes of the 1955 revision of the law governing teachers' pensions was to gain for teachers the advantages of the social security system. As government employees, teachers had not been covered by the social security program under the preceding pension system. They paid no social security taxes and received no social security benefits.

The 1955 act, L. 1955, c. 37, integrated the State pension system with social security. This helped to provide many major improvements in teachers' benefits. Social security gave the teachers the advantage of survivors' benefits and new protection in case of disability. In addition, it assisted the State to provide a higher retirement income for teachers and, of particular significance, it helped make it possible for the State to guarantee the amount of the teachers' retirement allowance.

An extraordinary feature of the change to the new pension system was that the teachers acquired all these and other advantages with, as a general rule, no additional cost to them. The typical teacher's contribution rate remained unchanged. A portion of the teacher's contribution to the pension fund was shifted to pay the social security employee tax, but the important consideration is that this did not increase the teacher's rate of contribution. The teacher paid no more than before. The new cost of the employee tax, therefore, fell upon the State, because it agreed to pay to the pension fund each year whatever additional sum was necessary to replace the diverted portion of the teacher's contribution. In addition to the burden of the employee tax, the State also incurred the burden of the employer tax. And in addition to all of this, the State assumed the heavy, open-end responsibility to pay to the pension fund each year whatever amount was required to assure that the fund would be able to pay the teachers' benefits in the guaranteed amount.

All of this has been extremely costly to the State in the years since 1955. For the six fiscal years from 1955-56 through 1960-61, the State appropriations for this purpose total more than $157,000,000.00. But even more significant is the year by year growth of the State's contribution. In 1953-54, under the former pension system, the State appropriated $13,751,989.00. By 1957-58, under the new system, the figure had grown to $22,179,782.00. For the current fiscal year, the figure is $37,726,931.00. By next year, the annual cost undoubtedly will have grown to nearly 300% of what it was just seven years ago.

Assembly Bill No. 454 would impose even greater obligations on the State. In order to understand the inequitable design of this bill, it is helpful to consider some phases of the original integrated system in operation.

As a result of integration, the teacher typically receives part of his enhanced retirement income in the form of the social security retirement benefits purchased by the social security taxes sustained by the State. Since the federal government sends the social security payments directly to the retired teacher, rather than through the pension fund, the pension system in proper cases must take those payments into account. It must do so in order to compute how much is to be paid to the teacher directly out of the pension fund to assure that the teacher receives the full amount of the retirement allowance guaranteed to him. This is done by crediting the fund with the amount of the retirement payment received by the retired teacher directly from the social security administration. This is the "offset" computation. Then the pension fund sends to the teacher a check for the difference between that amount and the total amount to which the teacher is entitled. In this way, the same effect is achieved as if the social security retirement benefit purchased by the State were channeled to the teacher through the pension fund. The difference is that the guaranteed retirement benefit produced by integration is received by the retired teacher in two parts, one directly from the pension fund and the other by way of the social security office. The teacher gets the total in two checks rather than one.

In some cases a retired teacher does not receive a social security check. This occurs in the years between retirement and the time the teacher becomes eligible to receive the social security retirement check, and it also occurs in the case of a retired teacher who had not worked long enough under the new system or other employment to acquire social security coverage. Since the State has guaranteed the retirement benefit, however, the teacher gets the total amount even in these cases. The full amount is paid in one check directly from the pension fund. Indeed, the State pays the total amount directly even in many cases where teachers do receive full social security payments. This can occur in the case of retired women teachers between 62 and 65 years of age, and it occurs generally in the case of any teacher whose social security coverage was acquired partly through work outside of government. The pension system takes account of the social security retirement benefit—that is, the offset is made—only in the case of a retirant who acquired social security coverage entirely as a result of his teaching time under the integrated system or his other public employment. Even here, the offset does not affect the annuity portion of the retirement allowance. That portion is paid by the pension fund regardless of the size of the teacher's social security check.

It is plain that this offset, even though restricted in this manner, is a fundamental necessity of our liberal pension system. If the State were to bear the burden of employee and employer social security taxes, and yet pay the total retirement allowance directly from the pension fund over and above the resulting social security retirement benefits, the pension system would soon be bankrupt.

The 1955 pension law provides for a modification of this integrated system as of December 31, 1959. It says, in effect, that the obligation of the State to bear the cost of the social security employee tax after that date shall be measured by the tax in effect on that date. In 1960 and thereafter, the State will continue to pay the full employer tax, but it will pay the employee tax only as it existed on December 31, 1959. Amounts due because of increases in the employee tax effective after that date are the responsibility of the employee in the form of an increased contribution rate.

Correspondingly, the 1955 law provides that the amount of the social security retirement benefit which the pension fund may offset shall be measured by the schedule of benefits effective on December 31, 1959. The pension fund receives credit for any increases in the scheduled benefit effective on or before December 31, 1959, but increases in 1960 and after become extra benefits to the teacher.

Thus, except for the employer tax which the State will continue to pay in full, the State has the burden and benefit of increases in tax and benefit schedules effective on or before December 31, 1959, and the teacher has the burden and benefit of all subsequent increases.

This bill would move back the December 31, 1959 cutoff date, but it would do so only with respect to increases in benefits. It would change the date just one year, to December 31, 1958, but since 1959 was the only year in which an increase in the schedule of social security benefits occurred in the years since the beginning of the integrated pension system, the effect would be the same as if the date were changed back to the time of the beginning of the system in 1955. That effect, the actuary says, is to increase the cost to the State by $2,950,560.00 each year. Yet, while costing this sum by depriving the pension fund of the right to credit increases in the social security benefit schedule prior to 1960, it would leave the State with the whole burden of increases prior to 1960 in social security costs. This includes not just increases in the employer tax, but increases in the employee share of the tax as well. The increases in employer taxes prior to 1960, with two rate raises and an enlargement of the tax base, will have cost the State more than $7,000,000.00 by the end of this calendar year. The parallel increases in the employee taxes prior to 1960 will have cost the State another comparable amount by the end of this calendar year.

Even if this bill made like changes for social security taxes as well as benefits, it would still be costly to the State. This is inherent in the nature of the present social security system. But the failure of the bill to propose even a superficially balanced change clearly bespeaks its grossly inequitable design.

It is apparent that the purpose of the bill is not to bring about an intrinsically better pension law, but simply to have the State pay more money to the pension fund. The issue to be decided, therefore, should be whether the State is now shouldering a fair share of the pension costs. I would welcome a study and determination on this issue. I believe the enormous size and growth of State contributions to the pension system, now standing at more than $37,000,000.00 annually and soon to be tripled since 1953, bear compelling witness to an unquestionably generous concern for the well being of our teachers in their retirement years. Unfortunately, however, it would be fruitless to engage in that study in connection with this bill, for even if it were decided that more is required of the State and that this bill deserved approval on that ground, the bill still could not be approved. The Legislature has made the issue just that simple. It was a nice gesture to pass this bill to pay $3,000,000.00 more into the pension fund each year. Unfortunately, however, it was also an idle gesture. The Legislature has not provided the money.

1150 MINUTES OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY

If this bill were enacted, fairness would require that the State give equal treatment to the Public Employees' Retirement System. The total cost, I am informed, would then be $3,430,612.00 each year. On the other hand, our estimated surplus for the current fiscal year, an optimistic figure it seems, is less than one quarter of that amount. And what of years to come? Until the Legislature provides new revenue, it would be the height of fiscal irresponsibility to let a bill of this kind become law.

ASSEMBLY BILL No. 465

To the General Assembly:

I herewith return Assembly Bill No. 465, without my approval, for the following reasons:

This bill would authorize a municipal governing body to grant tenure in office to a building inspector who has served continuously for 20 years. It makes no distinction between municipalities which have adopted civil service and those which have not.

The rules of the Department of Civil Service provide that building inspectors in municipalities operating under civil service shall be in the classified service except where the law directs appointment for a fixed term. As a result, most building inspectors in civil service municipalities must meet civil service standards. If they meet those standards, they acquire the job protection which civil service affords. Inspectors in these municipalities who receive appointments for fixed terms are necessarily placed in the unclassified service. They do not have to prove themselves under civil service standards, and, as a consequence, they do not enjoy civil service tenure.

This bill would authorize tenure for building inspectors in the unclassified service as well as for those in the classified service. The effect would be that job protection, heretofore earned by classified inspectors only through demonstrated merit, could be handed to unclassified inspectors as a gift without the safeguards of recognized competitive processes.

If tenure is desirable for the office of building inspector it ought to be made an incident of the office under uniform standards, not an advantage which may be reserved for a favored few and denied to other equally qualified inspectors. In the case of municipalities having civil service, this could be accomplished by abolishing fixed term appointments so that all inspectors could be brought within the classified service. By this means, job security would be made equally available to all qualified inspectors according to uniform civil service standards.

It is notable that the bill would provide indefinite tenure regardless of age. Where tenure is granted, it seems elementary that provision should be made for retirement, or the expiration of tenure, at an appropriate age. It is also notable that the bill would authorize tenure only after 20 years service. Surely, if tenure is desirable here, a man should not have to serve nearly half his working life in order to become eligible for it.

ROBERT B. MEYNER,

ASSEMBLY BILL NO. 488

To the General Assembly:

I herewith return Assembly Bill No. 488, without my approval, for the following reasons:

This bill would amend section 27 of the Migrant Labor Act of 1945. L. 1945, c. 71. That section now reads as follows: "Convenient and suitable bathing facilities of a reasonable nature to suit conditions, kept clean and sanitary, shall be provided for every (migrant labor) camp." This bill would add a sentence to the section as follows: "Except where existing facilities so provide, it shall not be required that such facilities be connected to provide hot and cold running water."

The Migrant Labor Act authorizes the Commissioner of Labor and Industry, with the approval of the Migrant Labor Board, to make regulations to implement the act. A regulation adopted under this authority with respect to bathing facilities reads in part as follows:

"Effective November 30, 1959, sanitary facilities for bathing, handwashing and laundry, connected to both cold and hot water in sufficient quantity, shall be provided in the following ratio:

- 1 Shower head for every .....20 persons or
- 1 Stationary or portable tub for every. 5 persons
- 1 Lavatory for every .....15 persons
or
- 1 Wash Basin for every ..... 6 persons
- 1 Laundry tray or wash tub for every .20 persons"

This requirement, sometimes known as the "piped hot water" rule, applies only to camps capable of housing 8 or more persons.

The present bill is designed to divest the Commissioner of the authority to require compliance with this regulation hereafter in cases where facilities do not presently comply. Facilities which now comply could be required to remain in compliance despite the bill.

The arguments for and against this bill were forcefully presented in the Legislature and at a public hearing which I held after passage of the bill. After full consideration of these arguments and observation of the progress toward full compliance, I have determined that this bill should not be signed.

New Jersey farmers for years were unable to attract sufficient migrant laborers to assist them. The problem became acute each year when the time came to harvest late crops. The farmers regularly appealed to the state government for assistance in procuring migrant labor for the fall season. It became apparent from this that our farmers would continue to have difficulty attracting responsible migrant laborers if adequate living facilities were not provided. This was one of the major considerations underlying the adoption of the piped hot water regulation.

The state government has made particular efforts to cooperate with the farmers in achieving compliance with the regulation. Before the regulation was promulgated in February, 1959, it was deliberately redrawn to make it inoperative until November 30, 1959. Because of the seasonal nature of migrant work, this had the effect of postponing the impact of the regulation in most cases until the opening of the season in the spring of 1960. The farmers thereby were given more than a year to make the necessary installations. In November, 1959, provision was made for further extensions of time in cases where farmers were making substantial progress toward compliance, but where total compliance by the deadline would have imposed a hardship. Many extensions were granted under this provision during the past season. In addition to this, the staff of the Migrant Labor Board has been visiting farmers regularly to assist them in determining the simplest and least costly means of making the necessary installations.

The farmers affected by the bill have reciprocated with commendable cooperation. Of the 826 migrant worker camps in New Jersey which house 8 or more persons, 97% are now either in full compliance or sufficiently advanced toward early compliance to satisfy the requirements of the Commissioner and the Board.

This bill would not void the piped hot water regulation. Instead, it would merely exempt camps which do not now comply. Those which now comply would be required to remain in compliance. If the bill were signed, therefore, it would reward the few farmers who have refused to comply and, by contrast, penalize the vast majority who have acted responsibly. This would be unfair.

While piped hot and cold water is not universally available in the homes in this State, it is not, after all, an ostentatious frill. The regulation in question can be satisfied by the installation of one shower head and one wash tub for every 20 persons, and one lavatory for every 15 persons. In the case of migrant men and women who labor for long hours in the hot sun, and who must live with their children in remote migrant camps in order to be available for their work, it does not seem unreasonable to require these facilities.

New Jersey farmers have often distinguished themselves. In yield per acre, for instance, they rank first among all the states. Their skills and products are renowned. I believe their record of achievement in providing decent facilities for their migrant workers adds further distinction.

Automation, growing demands for competent labor, the need to provide for increasing numbers of people from decreasing acres of land, these and many other factors will present difficult problems to our farmers in years to come. I believe these problems can be solved if the farmer and his government cooperate in seeking the solutions. The installation of facilities for hot and cold running water illustrates the point. I am convinced that this joint effort will materially improve the ability of New Jersey farmers to attract responsible migrant labor.

With the resourcefulness of our farmers, and a continuation of the wholesome relationship between the farmer and his government which we have seen in this instance, I am confident that New Jersey agriculture can meet the challenges of years to come.

Respectfully,

ROBERT B. MEYNER,

ASSEMBLY BILL No. 516

To the General Assembly:

I herewith return Assembly Bill No. 516, without my approval, for the following reasons:

This bill would authorize the governing body of a municipality, during the six months following the enactment of the bill, to validate the appointment to the police department of a person who was over 30 years of age at the time of appointment. It would apply only in the case of an individual who has served continuously and for at least 12 years from the time of his appointment to the date of enactment of the bill. The bill provides that, upon validation, the appointee would have "pension, tenure or service rights" from the date of appointment.

In my message concerning Assembly Bill No. 678, which I am returning to you today, I point out that our general law prohibits appointment as a police officer of a person over 30 years of age. I also point out that the Police and Firemen's Retirement System has consistently rejected applications for membership by persons over that age.

Assembly Bill No. 678 would make a special exception from these requirements for one man. The present bill purports to be general, but the effect is not substantially different. Both bills would create preferential exceptions from the general rule.

The provision in the present bill concerning pension rights is open to serious question. Although the bill does not say that it amends Title 43, it provides that a person whose appointment is validated "shall have pension . . . rights" from the date of his original, defective appointment. Someone would have to pay for the 12 or more years of prior service credit in order to effectuate this provision except in a case where, through some oversight, the person may have been allowed to participate as a member of the retirement system during those earlier years. This financial burden ought to be borne by the officer or his employer, but the bill fails to provide for an assessment against them. As a result, it appears that the cost might well have to be paid from the funds collected by the system from others. This would certainly not be fair either to the other members of the system or to the participating employers.

It is also important to note that this bill would authorize validation of an appointment even where it was secured by misrepresentation of an applicant's age. The overage applicant who was truthful ordinarily would have been denied appointment. The one who misrepresented his age may have gained an appointment. This bill would reward the wrong by perpetuating the wrongful advantage, punish the candid applicant by comparison, and establish a legislative precedent which could invite fraudulent applications by others in the future. Some cases affected by the bill may have merit, but the injustice inherent in the impact of the bill on other cases and its undesirable potential as a legislative precedent dictate disapproval of the bill in its entirety.

ASSEMBLY BILL No. 520

To the General Assembly:

I herewith return Assembly Bill No. 520, without my approval, for the following reasons:

The law governing the Public Employees' Retirement System includes a general rule which requires retirement at 70 years of age. L. 1954, c. 84. This bill would make a special exception from that rule for employees who have been awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor, the Distinguished Service Cross or the Navy Cross. A member who received one of those awards would be permitted to continue in employment for as long as he is capable of performing the duties of the employment.

The type of exception to our retirement law which is proposed by this bill is not logically sound. In the first place, it would apply without regard to the manpower needs of the employer. Secondly, while the group affected by the bill has a special claim to distinction, I am sure it does not lay a special claim to lively longevity.

An existing provision of the section to be amended by this bill empowers department heads to retain capable employees beyond retirement age where retention is necessary and appropriate. This provides adequate authority for the retention of persons affected by this bill as well as others for whom exceptions reasonably should be made in all the circumstances.

ASSEMBLY BILL No. 678

To the General Assembly:

I herewith return Assembly Bill No. 678, without my approval, for the following reasons:

This is a local bill which would authorize the Borough of Bound Brook to appoint one John F. Sari to the regular police department of the Borough. It provides that Mr. Sari would become eligible for membership in the Police and Firemen's Retirement System upon the appointment. The bill would become operative upon adoption by ordinance.

Our general law provides that a person cannot become a regular policeman if he is over 30 years of age. R. S. 40:47-4. The Police and Firemen's Retirement System, moreover, has consistently rejected the membership applications of persons over the maximum age.

I am informed that Mr. Sari is now 51 years of age. Many younger men have been denied what is now sought for him. In these circumstances I cannot approve a measure which singles out this man for preferential treatment. It would not be fair.

If the age limitation is sound, it should be applied equally to everyone. If it is not sound, it should be changed equally for everyone.

	STATE OF NEW JERSEY,	}
	SENATE CHAMBER,
	December 19, 1960.	}

Mr. Speaker:

I am directed by the Senate to inform the General Assembly that the Senate has passed the following bill:

Assembly Bill No. 701, entitled "An act to amend 'An act to incorporate 'The Children's Seashore House at Atlantic City for Invalid Children,' approved February 25, 1873 (P. L. 1873, c. 96),"

HENRY H. PATTERSON,
Secretary of the Senate.

	STATE OF NEW JERSEY,	}
	SENATE CHAMBER,
	December 19, 1960.	}

Mr. Speaker:

I am directed by the Senate to inform the General Assembly that the Senate has passed the following bills:

Assembly Bill No. 17, entitled "An act concerning death by wrongful act and amending section 2A:31-4 of the New Jersey Statutes," Assembly Bill No. 84, entitled "An act relating to county bridge commissions and providing for the appointment of policemen and prescribing the powers of such policemen, there, he would be permitted to vote for electors for President and Vice President of the United States by absentee ballot in the county of former residence.

A sizeable group of citizens lose the opportunity to vote under present law because of a change of residence shortly before election. I respect the desire of these people to participate in the selection of our national leaders. This is a desire common to all responsible citizens, and it is unfortunate that some are unable to fulfill it. New Jersey took a significant step toward solution of this problem in 1957 with the adoption of the constitutional amendment reducing the residence requirement from one year in the State and five months in the county, to six months in the State and 60 days in the county. I believe it would be desirable to reduce the requirements still further for certain types of voting, but this must be done with due regard to the constitutional directive, and with deliberate care to assure that we do not invite fraudulent ballots. I am satisfied that this bill fails to measure up on either score.

Our Constitution says:

“Every citizen of the United States, of the age of 21 years, who shall have been a resident of this State 6 months, and of the county in which he claims his vote 60 days, next before the election, shall be entitled to vote for all officers that now are or hereafter may be elective by the people, and upon all questions which may be submitted to a vote of the people.” Art. II, par. 3.

Our Supreme Court has held that this type provision is exclusive. The Legislature cannot expand the general class of voters beyond its terms. Gangemi v. Berry, 25 N. J. 1 (1957). “Resident,” moreover, means one who is domiciled in New Jersey. State v. Benny, 20 N. J. 238 (1955). Thus, our Constitution gives the Legislature no power to extend the vote to persons who are not domiciled in New Jersey and in the county for the requisite periods. It is plain that this bill cannot be sustained under the State Constitution.

It is possible that authority for the bill can be found in the provision of the United States Constitution which says that presidential electors shall be appointed “in such manner as the Legislature” of the State shall direct. Art.
