STATE OF NEW JERSEY,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
TRENTON, March 27th, 1913

To the House of Assembly

I herewith return, without my approval, Assembly Bill No. 136, entitled "A supplement to an act entitled 'An act for the assessment and collection of taxes,'" approved April eighth, one thousand nine hundred and three Should this bill become a law, I feel it would disastrously effect tax collections, for no purchaser at a tax sale could know when, if ever, he could perfect his title The dispute which the owner could urge as his failure to redeem might be based on an alleged unfairness of the original tax or upon some other cause, and certainly would not be limited to a dispute as to the costs and expenses claimed by the purchaser

Then, too, there is no limit of time fixed within which the owner must bring his proceedings in the Court of Chancery

Under section 3 of the bill he may file his petition at any time, no matter how long after the time for redemption fixed by law has expired

Respectfully,

ADDRESS OF HON WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN

Members of the Senate and House, Ladies and Gentlemen

If, in accepting this invitation, I have done anything wrong, I should be able, I think, to excuse myself on the ground that I acted without deliberation I did not know until I reached the city and was on my way here that I was expected to visit the Legislature, and I have been so interested in communicating with the gentlemen who were kind enough to meet me that I really have not had time to think about this invitation yet But I am here, and if a speech is expected of me, I am prepared to say a word, and, recognizing the importance of such opportunities, I am prepared to say the word which, to my mind, is the most important word that can be said to a representative body

I have had frequent opportunity to speak to those who were entrusted with the responsibilities that rest upon legislators, and I never come into such a body without realizing how important it is that those who are members of that body shall have a correct understanding of the duty of the representative, and so to-day I think I shall adhere to one of the rules given for public speaking—a rule that I am not always able to regard—and that is that a man making a speech ought to have one thought to present, and when he has presented it he ought to stop It is not always possible to follow this rule where one has many important subjects that he wants to present and only a limited opportunity to present those subjects In a political campaign, especially, it is not possible to confine one's self to one thought, for there are many that must be presented to the voter But I am sure that my short notice, as well as the pressure of business upon you, would justify me in presenting this one thought which I have presented on many occasions, and shall present on many occasions yet, for I know of no thought more appropriate for such an occasion as this I have found, and I am not stating it as a discovery, for I am sure you have found it also, that there are two points of view from which all questions affecting mankind are considered, one the aristocratic point of view, and the other is the democratic point of view, and so when we come to consider government we find these two points of view, and some considering government from one standpoint, and some from another, and it is true also of every form of government Even a representative form of government will find adherence among those who believe in the aristocratic idea, as well as among those who believe in the democratic idea, but it makes a great deal of difference whether a representative accepts one of these views or another, it makes a great difference to him, and it makes a great difference to those whom he has been selected to represent The aristocratic idea of representative government is that the public themselves are not intelligent enough to think, but that they are intelligent enough to select people to think for them, and those who hold this view regard the legislators as a sort of superior being selected by the masses to relieve them of the burden of thinking, and to think for them, and to do for them that which the representatives think ought to be done That is the aristocratic view The democratic view is that the people ought to think for themselves and then select representatives who will carry out what the people want done In other words, according to the democratic view, the representative is the spokesman of the people, and it is his duty to speak what the people would speak, to do what the people would do I need not tell you that I lean toward the democratic view of this subject, and I might admit to you that the fact that I hold the position which I now hold has a direct relation to the fact that I do take the democratic view of this subject, because the President of the United States looks at questions from a democratic standpaint, and he announced quite early in his work of selecting a cabinet that only those were available who were in sympathy with progressive views, and I feel quite proud of the fact that upon examination he found me sufficiently in sympathy with progressive views to be incorporated in the official house of the cabinet And whatever doubts I may have about my ability to measure up to other duties of that responsible position, I have no doubt in my mind, and hope that you will not entertain any doubt that on the subject of democracy and on its application to every department of government I am in full, complete and lasting sympathy with the Chief Executive

Now, the view that I have presented as the democratic view is the view that representatives take during the campaign, the aristocratic view is the view that they take after the election I think I have never known a man to run for office in this country who announced in advance of his election that the men who had sense enough to vote for him would not have sense enough to know what he ought to do, but after the election we do find that men become what they call "conscientious," that is, they say that they cannot conscientiously do this, that the people have asked for Now, I would be the last one to discredit conscience If I did, I am afraid I would not go as close to the President as I do, for I am sure that the President places the highest emphasis upon the conscience, and I would not admire him as I do if I did not believe that he went to the limit in believing that his conscience should control a man But this is my view of the subject A man's conscience ought to work all the time, and I cannot admire the statesman whose conscience hibernates during the campaign and then blossoms out after the election

Now, we adopt platforms because we recognize that the representative is elected to represent If the representative was elected to think for the people we would not hamper him with instructions to think When we adopt a platform we maintain that the people have a right to think, and they have a right to tell their representative what he shall do, and if a platform is not binding it is a fraud A platform that is not binding is like the written representation upon which a man obtains money, and subjects himself to prosecution for obtaining it under false pretenses A platform that is not binding ought never to be written A platform is written because it is expected to be binding, and when I say that a man ought to follow his conscience and follow his platform I am not stating contradictory truths or making statements which conflict How can the statements be reconciled? Very easily Ought a man do after election what his conscience forbids? God forbid I would not for a moment ask any man to violate his conscience, but what I do suggest is this That if a man is elected upon a platform and finds, after his election, that he cannot conscientiously carry it out, he ought to be conscientious enough to resign and let his people select some one who can conscientiously do what they want done

It may be fortunate that my power to enact law has been limited, but if I had power to enact law there is one law that I would very speedily make, and that is a law that would make it as much of a crime for man to embezzle power as to embezzle money would be I would punish a man for violating a promise made to his constituents—a promise upon which he secures the right to misrepresent them I would make it as much a crime as for a man to obtain money under false pretenses, and in this age of progress I am able to predict what might not have been accepted a few years ago before progress became so evident, and I will venture the prediction that the time will come when it will be regarded as much of a crime, when moral turpitude will be recognized and denounced if a man accepts election on a platform and then violates it, as it is to take other people's money in trust, and then use it for his own good

Now, I have mentioned this because I have found, in my journeys throughout the country, that the great fault of representative government is that it does not represent, that the great

fault of representative government is that men who are trusted by the people prove unworthy to be trusted, that those who go before the people and solicit their confidence, when they get it show their contempt for the people, and because of these flagrant violations of obligation the demand has arisen throughout this country for the initiative and referendum, in order that the people may control the men whom they elect to power It has cost hundreds of years, it has cost millions of money, and it has cost the lives of the bravest that have lived to secure to the people the right to participate in their own government, the right to make laws through those whom they elect, and all this money has been spent in vain, and all this blood has been spilt to no purpose if, when the people get representative government those whom they elect to represent them can turn against them and despise them and draw their salaries from the public treasury while they betray the people who have trusted them, and if I understand what this progressive spirit means, it means that in the nation and in every State the government is going to be brought nearer to the people, made more responsive to the people's will, and that the people will select to represent them those who will consider it a duty to truthfully represent them, and then the people, to provide against accidents and emergencies, will reserve the power to coerce those who are elected so that they can be compelled to respect the obligations that they have taken

Now, I have discussed this question because it is a most fundamental one The defects in our government are not in the people themselves, they are in those whom the people select, and if any of you entertain the aristocratic idea of government let me tell you that you have mistaken your real mission, for a representative is not an unalloyed good, he is a necessary evil The people have him because they cannot get along without him, and if you think that the representative is selected as the representative of superior virtue, let me tell you there is more virtue in the people than ever finds expression through their representatives The representative is good in proportion as he accurately reflects the intelligence and the virtue of his people, and if any of you imagine that the country would go to ruin unless a select few showed the people what to do you will find that just in proportion as you can give to the popular conscience a legal expression your laws will approach justice and your government will be built upon a foundation that will stand

You know we have had various theories of government, but they are all giving way before the theory of government that our nation has presented to the world When I was in college I had three forms of government described and three forms of government defended I was told that the monarchy was the strongest, that the aristocracy was the wisest, and that the democracy was the most just, at least, these are the defences given for the different forms by those who advocated those forms, but I have had something like thirty years of experience since I left college, and I am satisfied that the democratic form of government is the most just, but I am satisfied that it is also the wisest, that the people all of them together know more than any of them, and that a government that draws its wisdom from its people is a wiser government than one that draws its wisdom from part of the people, and I am even more convinced, if possible, that a democracy is the strongest form of government, and in saying so I cannot use a language more happily than that use by the great historian Bancroft, when he said that the republic is in truth the strongest of governments because it dares to discard the implements of terror and to build its citadel in the hearts of men The strength of the government is in the love of its people, and the people will never love a government that misrepresents them, and the people will never have the devotion that they ought to have to a government unless that government is within their control and is used by them as the instrument to advance their will

But, pardon me for speaking so long I have now presented the one thought that occurred to me when this invitation came to me unexpectedly, and having presented that thought let me conclude without introducing any other thought, and if I talked all the afternoon and all the night, possibly I could not present to you a thought more important for the discharge of your duties If what I have said is but a reflection of the views of all of you, then while my talking has been to no purpose it will not be without acceptability, but if any of you entertain the aristocratic idea of government and do not agree with what I said, then I am the more glad that I took occasion to present this thought, because my object is not to say things that are pleasing, but to say things that are helpful, and if anyone in this country is under obligations to say things that will be helpful to the whole people, I certainly am under such obligations, because my chief enjoyment in life is to be found in the fact that these people, these people whom some look down upon and whose rights some have been prone to disregard, that these people are coming into their own, and I dare to mention this fact in the great State of New Jersey, for it is under the leadership of your own great citizen that the people have come into their own, and in saying what I have said to you I have only said in other words what your distinguished former Governor and now our distinguished President has not only said in words, but lived in actions, and I feel sure that in both speaking and living these democratic ideas he has put himself in harmony with the militant hosts of the nation, for when you get down to the hearts of men you will find that no matter what men think on party questions, at heart the great majority of the American people do believe in the democratic ideals of government, they do believe that the people are the source of power, they do believe that when the people elect men to represent them those men elected should represent, and when they cannot do so they should return their commissions that the will of the people may be supreme in the land I thank you

Senator Leavitt, Assemblymen Martin, McDermott and Salus recommend that a bill proposed in a Conference Committee by Assemblyman McDermott, which provides for changes in the method of drawing grand and petit juries by sheriffs, and a bill submitted in the conference by Senator Davis, providing that the drawing of grand and petit juries shall be placed in the hands of a commission appointed by Circuit Court judges shall both be introduced in the House to be passed if possible by both House and Senate, each containing a State-wide referendum, upon which the people will be asked to decide which method they desire as a law at the general election in November next

A message was received from the Governor by the hands of his Secretary, and was read as follows

STATE OF NEW JERSEY,
To the House of Assembly TRENTON, April 2d, 1913

I take the liberty of calling your attention to the unsatisfactory condition of our law relating to the distribution of the railroad taxes among our school districts The State Comptroller, through whom the distribution is made, is anxious for legislation under which this apportionment can be had, and in the meantime a large sum of money is tied up in his hands

The school districts are justly complaining because they are forced to borrow funds for school purposes, and this situation should be relieved at once by some law under which an immediate distribution can be made

Senate Bill No 165, now in your hands, will provide the necessary relief Personally, I see no objection to that bill, but if in your judgment the basis of apportionment thereby provided is not satisfactory to you, then I most earnestly request that you amend the bill to meet your views in that particular, and that you pass the same and thereby assist toward affording the school districts prompt relief

Respectfully,
JAMES F FIELDER,
Acting Governor

The message was referred to the Committee on Education, on motion of Mr Egan, and ordered spread upon the minutes

1 Immediately after the passage and approval of this act, each of the judges of the circuit court of this State who are appointed pursuant to the provisions of section thirty-nine of an act entitled "An act relative to the Supreme and Circuit Courts (Revision of 1900)," and the amendments thereof and supplements thereto, shall appoint, for each of the counties of his judicial district, three reputable persons for each county, residents therein, not attorneys-at-law, no two of whom shall have the same political affiliation, who shall be known and designated as "The Commissioners of Juries of County" The certification of appointment by the circuit judge shall be filed in the office of the county clerk, and no other commission shall be necessary At the time of appointing the first commissioners, the judge shall designate one to serve for one year, one for two years and one for three years, thereafter appointments shall be made for the full term of three years Each commissioner shall, before entering upon the discharge of his duties, take and subscribe an oath before the judge of the circuit court by whom appointed, faithfully and impartially to execute the duties of the said office, to select none as jurors except those whom he believes to be of good repute for honesty and intelligence, and to select no one who has requested or whom he has been requested to select as juror, according to the best of his skill and understanding, which oath shall be filed in the office of the clerk of the county within and for which such commissioner is appointed The commissioners of juries shall hold no other public office while so acting, and shall receive such compensation as the judge of the circuit court shall order and direct, which shall be paid monthly upon the certificate of the said judge by the county collector, provided, that such compensation shall, in counties of the first class, not exceed two thousand dollars, in counties of the second class, fifteen hundred dollars, in other counties, not to exceed one thousand dollars, to each commissioner in any one year Whenever a vacancy shall occur in the office of the commissioner of juries by reason of death, resignation, removal from the county, disqualification, as hereinafter provided, or any other cause, such vacancy shall be filled for the unexpired term, except as hereinafter provided in case of temporary disqualifica-

tion, by appointment made in the same manner as original appointments are made, and in the case of temporary absence, disability or disqualification of any commissioner, the said judge of the circuit court shall appoint some fit person to perform the duties of such commissioner during such absence, disability or disqualification The person so appointed shall take the same oath of office and be entitled to receive the emoluments of said office during the period of service

2 Any commissioner of juries may be removed at any time by the judge of the circuit court, when it shall be established to his satisfaction that such commissioner is physically or mentally unable properly to perform his duties, and is likely to so continue, or neglects to perform his duty, or improperly or unfaithfully performs the same Any commissioner of juries, or all of them, may be temporarily disqualified by the said judge of the circuit court when it shall appear to his satisfaction that such commissioner of juries or all of them is or are accused of crime, or has or have an interest (by relationship, or otherwise, in or with any person who is or may be so accused, or in any subject matter which is to be, or may be, presented to a grand or petit jury at a term of court following), to such an extent as to render uncertain the administration of justice

3 Upon entry into office, the said commissioners of juries of each county shall proceed to make a complete list, alphabetically arranged, of the names of all persons in their respective counties liable to jury duty, with their places of abode, designating their respective townships, boroughs and wards, which list, when completed, shall be certified by the said commissioners under oath to be a true and correct list of all the persons liable to jury duty in their respective counties, so far as they can ascertain, which said list shall be filed in the office of the clerk of the county, there to remain of record This list shall be revised and corrected by the said commissioners every year thereafter, adding the names of such persons who have become subject to jury duty since the last correction of such lists, and striking out the names of such persons who have died, removed, or otherwise become disqualified, and for the purpose of preparing and correcting such lists, the said commissioners shall have access to the assessment rolls and registry lists of the several wards and townships and election districts of the county for which they are appointed, and the records of the registrars of vital statistics therein

county, which may be done by an order to that effect to continue in force until modified, the said commissioners shall, in open court, in the presence of such judge, or, in his absence, in the presence of a judge of the Court of Common Pleas, select from the said lists such number of names as the judge of said circuit court may, by order, direct, from which to draw a panel of jurors to serve for the next ensuing term of court, which shall, in no case, be less than treble the number actually required for such panel, regard being had in making such selection to securing, as far as practicable, a fair and just representation from the several portions of such county, and the said commissioners shall, in like manner, select from said list the names of seventy-five persons for service as grand jurors, regard being had in making such selection to the qualifications of the persons so selected on account of ability, independence and integrity, and from the names of the persons so selected for petit jurors and grand jurors, the petit jurors and grand jurors who shall serve for the next ensuing term of the courts of such county shall be drawn as hereinafter provided

5 The said commissioners shall, at the same time the said names are selected as herein provided, both for petit jurors and grand jurors, publicly announce the names so selected for each class of jurors, and shall cause the same to be separately written on slips of paper, of the same size, color and shape, as near as may be, which slips shall be folded so as to conceal the name thereon, and one of the said commissioners shall deposit the slips containing the names so selected for petit jurors in one box and the names so selected for grand jurors in another box and the selection of names shall so proceed until the necessary number have been selected, written down by a commissioner, and deposited in the boxes as aforesaid

for the next ensuing term of the courts thereof, the names so drawn as aforesaid, both of petit jurors and grand jurors shall be transcribed by the clerk of the court as they are read, and publicly announced by the said commissioners, and two lists of the same, certified by the said commissioners and the said judge, shall thereupon be made, one of which shall be filed in the office of the clerk of such county as a public record, and the other transmitted to the sheriff of said county, who shall thereupon cause the persons so drawn, constituting the grand jury and panel of petit jurors for such county, to be summoned to serve as such according to law, provided, that the said judge may in any case direct that a part of the panel of petit jurors so drawn may be summoned to appear at a day in term to be designated, to serve for the balance of such term, and the judge may in his discretion at any time during the term discharge such part of the panel of jurors summoned as in his judgment will not be needed for further service

7 No person included in any of the following classes shall be selected to serve or serve as grand jurors, in addition to those already disqualified by law

(1) No person who himself, or as a member of a firm or corporation, is engaged in the manufacture or sale of vinous, malt or spirituous liquors,

(3) No person who was, at any time within two years prior to the session of the grand jury then being selected, a candidate for elective office, or an election officer, or a member of a candidate's election committee

8 Before any grand jury is sworn, the members thereof shall be interrogated by the presiding judge of the court in which such grand jury is organized, to determine whether any person selected and summoned for service upon such grand jury comes within any of the classes disqualified for service upon a grand jury by this, or any other, statute of this State, reciting the causes of disqualification contained in this and the other statutes, and if it shall appear that any such person is so disqualified, he shall be excused from service before the grand jury is sworn The names of the persons so disqualified shall be struck off the list of the grand jury, and the next following names upon the list shall be called, until there are present twenty-three grand jurors against whom no disqualification exists

9 The court in which the grand jury shall be sworn in any county of this State shall select and designate one of the grand jurors so drawn and selected as aforesaid, to act as foreman thereof, who shall be sworn so to act, and shall excuse or discharge the remainder of the said jurors after twenty-three have been sworn

10 Any person having served as petit juror at a term of the courts of any county shall be ineligible to serve again as petit juror in and for the said county until two terms of the said courts shall have elapsed, and any person who shall have served as a grand juror in and for any county shall be ineligible to serve again as grand juror until two terms of the courts of such county shall have elapsed

11 All acts and parts of acts inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed, and this act shall take effect immediately, so far as the appointment of commissioners and the performance of their duties are concerned The first grand and petit juries, however, to be selected by this method shall be those selected and summoned for the terms of courts next following after the fourth day of July, nineteen hundred and thirteen

12 If any proviso, clause or section of this act shall be attacked in any court and shall be declared invalid or unconstitutional, the rest of this act shall stand, and the proviso, clause or section declared invalid or unconstitutional shall be exscinded from this act

The report of the committee to investigate the Home for Disabled Soldiers at Kearny was received and ordered printed

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE TO INVESTIGATE THE HOME FOR DISABLED SOLDIERS AT KEARNY

To the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey

The joint committee of the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, appointed to investigate the condition of accounts, etc, of the New Jersey Home for Disabled Soldiers respectfully submits the following report

The resolution under which this committee was appointed directs it "To make an immediate investigation and to make a written report on the condition of accounts of the New Jersey Home for Disabled Soldiers, and especially the matter in dispute between the Board of Managers and the Superintendent," and said committee is empowered to take evidence, administer oaths and send for persons and papers, and shall press said investigation with all speed and report to the Senate and House of Assembly at the present session

The committee has not yet fully completed its investigation It has been delayed in this respect by the serious illness of its chairman and by the continuous session of the House of Assembly from Monday evening, March 24th, until Friday afternoon,

March 28th Inasmuch, however, as the resolution directs the committee to report at this session, the following is a report of the matters disclosed by the investigation to date

The committee held public hearings at the library of the Soldiers' Home at Kearny and at the State House in Trenton

General Grubb, the superintendent of the Home was represented by Warren Dixon, Esquire, and Joseph F Farmer, Esquire, as his counsel, who freely cross-examined witnesses The committee was represented by Josiah Stryker, Esquire, of the Attorney-General's Department A large number of witnesses were examined, among them being General Grubb

The investigation of the accounts of the Home, concerning which testimony was given by the various employees of the Home, who have charge of such accounts, by the State Auditor and by the State Commissioner of Labor, shows that the receipts of the Home for the fiscal year ending October 31st, 1912, were $107,561 16, that these were made up of the State appropriation of $50,000 and of the sum received from the United States Government of $49,861 16, and the repayment of petty cash expenses of $200, and of a special appropriation for repairs amounting to $7,500, that the amount paid out of these receipts was the sum of $107,003 84 Of this, $6,962 65 was paid from the special appropriation for repairs It appears, however, from the monthly reports of expenses made to the State Auditor's Department that, while the total receipts of this institution during the fiscal year ending October 31st, 1912, were as above stated, the total expenses, including all bills incurred, were $114,301 70 This shows an excess of expenses over receipts for this year of $6,740 54 It also appears from the reports of the Comptroller that the receipts of this institution for the fiscal year ending October 31st, 1912, exceeded its receipts in any prior year by about $7 500, which is the amount of the special appropriation for repairs above mentioned

It further appears that in the years 1908, 1909, 1910 and 1911 the appropriations made for the support of this Home were not only sufficient, but that a considerable amount of these appropriations was unused in each year In the fiscal year ending October 31st, 1908, $26,401 07 were unused, the following year $5,634 93 were unused, the following year $9 150 15 were unused and in the fiscal year ending October 31st, 1911, the sum of $3,450 41 lapsed as unused It is apparent, therefore that there has been a very considerable increase in the expense of this institution during the fiscal year ending October 31st, 1912

It appears from the testimony that General E Burd Grubb became the superintendent of the Home in the month of March, nineteen hundred and eleven, and that the expenses of the Home commenced to increase shortly thereafter

A comparison of the expense of the Home for the fiscal year ending October 31st, 1912, with the fiscal year ending October 31st, 1910, and the fiscal year ending October 31st, 1909, was obtained from the State Auditor This comparison shows that the expenses of the Home for the year 1912 exceeded the expenses for the year 1909 by the sum of $27,559 03, and for the year 1910 by the sum of $26,418 95

It appears from the evidence that the expense for wages in the Home for the fiscal year ending October 31st, 1909, was $14,242 52, and for the fiscal year ending October 31st, 1910, $14,641 30, and that for the fiscal year ending October 31st, 1911, the expenses for wages were $19,927 29, and for the fiscal year ending October 31st, 1912, $22,944 76, showing an increase in this item alone, between the years 1912 and 1909, of $8,702 24, or an increase of 61 4 per cent

A further analysis of these expenses shows that in the year 1912 there was an increase in administrative expense over the expenses for the year ending October 31st, 1909, of 77 6 per cent, and table supplies of 32 2 per cent, a decrease of six-tenths of one per cent in house supplies and a decrease of 46 2 per cent in the amount spent for clothing and clothing materials, that the net total increase of expenses of the Home was in excess of 31 per cent A comparison of the pay-rolls disclosed the fact that the number of employees in the Home was considerably increased under General Grubb's management The pay-roll for the month of February, 1912, contains the names of one hundred and twenty-two employees, of whom thirty-nine were not members of the Home, and amounted to $2,517 91, while that for January, 1911 (one month before General Grubb became superintendent of the Home), contained the names of ninety-eight employees, of whom twenty-three were not members of the Home, and the amount was $1,669 98 A further comparison of these pay-rolls shows that the salaries of some of the officers have been raised It, however, appears that between five and six hundred dollars for this monthly increase was due to the employment of extra men, that these extra men included a stenographer, who, at that time, received sixty dollars a month and maintenance, a chief clerk, who received the same pay, a pipefitter, who received sixty dollars a month, and various helpers at different rates of pay

It is apparent, therefore, from this brief statement of the accounts of the Home, not only that the expenses have very greatly increased during the fiscal year ending October 31st, 1912, but that during that year the expenses of the Home exceeded this income by a very considerable amount, as above stated

The investigation of the matter in dispute between the Board of Managers and the Superintendent of the Home resolved itself largely into a question of determining from the testimony whether or not this increased expenditure was necessary or justifiable under all the circumstances of the case

It is apparent from the minutes of the meetings of the Board of Managers and of the meetings of the Executive Committee of the Board, which committee is charged substantially with the management of the institution, subject to the control of the Board of Managers, that the Board and the Executive Committee objected not only to the amount of the expenditures, but to the character of some of them Their objections which led to the dispute between the managers and the superintendent, briefly summarized, were

First That the superintendent had unnecessarily increased the expenses of the Home by the employment of persons whose services were not necessary to the efficient and proper management of the Home

Second That the superintendent had purchased at the expense of the State various articles for his private and personal use, which should have been paid for from his personal funds, and had refused to reimburse the State for such expense when requested so to do by the Executive Committee

Third That the Home, under the present superintendent, was extravagantly managed, but that the old soldiers, for whom the Home is conducted, were not being benefited by the increased expenses

These matters were investigated at some length by the Committee The Committee has no doubt but that the large increase in the number of employees of the Home under General Grubb's management was unnecessary Officers of the Home testified that the work to be done had not substantially increased

General Grubb was unable to specify in detail the necessity for such a large number of extra employees The stenographer, who is now employed at the Home, and who at first received the compensation of sixty dollars a month and maintenance, and who now receives forty dollars a month and maintenance, testified that the chief part of his duty was to read newspapers to General Grubb, although he stated that he wrote about six letters a day and did a little other clerical work The chief clerk employed by the present superintendent was, undoubtedly, entirely unnecessary, as he has since been dispensed with by the Board of Managers without any apparent loss in the efficiency of the Home While the former superintendent of the Home was furnished by the State with one household assistant and an orderly at a cost of $23 00 a month, the household employees of the present superintendent, in the month of February, 1912, were five in number, who were employed at an expense to the State of $69 00 a month in addition to their maintenance It is useless to recite other examples of this character

During the month of June, 1912, the Executive Committee decreased the expenses for wages by reducing the number of employees and decreasing the salaries of some who were retained The saving effected by these measures amounted to $398 32 per month This is one of the actions of the Executive Committee to which the superintendent objects It is the opinion of this committee that this reduction was proper and that it is entirely possible that further reductions may be made without seriously interfering with the proper management of the Home or with the comfort of its inmates

It is also apparent from the evidence that the superintendent seems to have considered that the maintenance, allowed him as a part of his compensation, included a number of charges which should have been paid from his personal funds These include charges for the use of long distance telephone, for private and personal purposes, as well as charges for private and personal cablegrams and telegrams In the six months from February 1 1912, to July 31, in the same year, his charges for these items alone amounted to $61 95 Upon the discovery of the fact that these telephone and telegraph charges were not incurred in the transaction of State business, the Executive Committee of the Board of Managers requested the superintendent to reimburse the State therefor, which, so far as this committee is informed, has not as yet been fully done

This committee also finds as a fact from the testimony, that the superintendent purchased, at the State's expense, for his own use, three barrels of whiskey at a total cost of $421 50, which whiskey was used by him at his home on the grounds, that he supplied his table at the State's expense with the most expensive delicacies purchased at retail An analysis of expenses for extra delicacies purchased for the table of the superintendent and officers of the institution shows that the item of expense for delicacies and extra food for the superintendent and officers alone increased from $342 60 for the fiscal year ending October 31st, 1911, to $2,914 37 for the fiscal year ending October 31st, 1912 It also appears that the superintendent purchased uniforms for himself at the State's expense and, without consulting with the Board of Managers or the Executive Committee, providing curtains for his residence at an expense exceeding $300 00

When the Board of Managers discovered the purchase of the whiskey, above mentioned, for the superintendent's private use, they requested him to reimburse the State for the amount of such purchase, which he declined to do and has not as yet done

In view of the great increase in the amount expended by the superintendent and officers for delicacies purchased at retail, the Executive Committee of the Board recommended the adoption of a resolution providing that the officers of the Home, including the superintendent, should be entitled to maintenance from the food purchased for the use of the Home only, which resolution has not as yet been adopted by the Board

Without expressing an opinion as to the merits of this resolution, this committee finds that the various expenses above mentioned, incurred by the superintendent for his personal convenience, were of such a character as to justify and render necessary the adoption of restrictive measures by the Board

It appears from the testimony, so far as this committee has been able to proceed with it to date, that although there has been an increase of 32 2 per cent in the cost of table supplies for 1912 over the cost of the same supplies in 1909, there has been no noticeable improvement in the food furnished to the old soldiers who are members of the Home We have also been unable to see that the inmates of the Home have been substantially benefited by many of the other items of increased expenditure

The testimony shows that during the winter of 1911 to 1912, the inmates of the Home, and especially the patients in the hospital, suffered great inconvenience because of the failure to properly heat the Home The committee has been unable to positively fix the blame for this condition because of conflicting testimony in this respect It is significant, however, to note that although the winter of 1911 to 1912 was an unusually cold winter, the bill for coal furnished during the fiscal year ending October 31st, 1912, was $375 61 less than for the year ending October 31st, 1909 It is possible, however, that this saving in coal was caused by a change from the use of coal to the use of gas for the purpose of cooking

It further appears that during a portion of the year just past the inmates of the Home have suffered inconvenience because of a deficiency in clothing, which, in the judgment of this committee, is due primarily to the fact that other expenses exhausted the funds of the Home so that there was no money available with which to purchase clothing

It has been apparent throughout the investigation that the efficiency of the employees of the Home has been seriously decreased by reason of lack of discipline and because of a feeling of enmity which exists between some of them It is also apparent from the foregoing that the superintendent has been guilty of insubordination in refusing to comply with the orders of the Board of Managers

The matters above mentioned are the principal ones in dispute between the Board of Managers and the superintendent This dispute led to the preparation by the superintendent's attorney of Assembly Bill Number 189, which bill vacates the office of each of the members of the Board of Managers and provides that the Governor shall fill the vacancies thus created This bill, according to the superintendent's testimony, was introduced at his request

It is the opinion of this committee that, although the Board of Managers may have been somewhat negligent in not sooner discovering and remedying the conditions above mentioned, and although they may have been led to partially fail in their duty by not requiring prompt and absolute obedience to their orders by the superintendent, it has by no means been demonstrated that they are incapable of properly managing the Home

It is furthermore the opinion of this committee that it would be entirely improper and subversive of discipline, not only in this institution, but in other institutions throughout the State, if, at the instance of the superintendent of this Home, the Legislature were to pass a bill legislating out of office the Board of Managers because of the disputes above mentioned It is, therefore, the judgment of this committee that Assembly Bill Number 189 should not be passed

This committee desires to call attention to the fact that the present superintendent of the Kearny Home is a member of the Board of Managers These two offices appear to be inconsistent We recommend the passage of a law which shall provide that no member of the Board of Managers of any institution of this State shall be eligible to appointment as superintendent of such institution while holding his office as a member of said Board, and that no superintendent of any such institution shall be eligible to appointment as a member of the Board of Managers thereof This law should further provide that the two offices shall not, under any circumstance, be held by the same person at the same time

As has been above stated, this committee, because of circumstances not within its control, have been unable to complete this investigation, and because of that fact no more radical changes are recommended The completion of the investigation would probably require at least three additional sessions of one day each It is the opinion of the committee, however, that no useful purpose could be served by a continuance of the investigation, as the Legislature would not be in session at its conclusion and any remedial legislation which might be recommended could not be enacted until the next session of the Legislature The investigation has gone quite far enough to entirely satisfy this committee that Assembly Bill Number 189 should not be passed

It is the opinion of this committee that the Board of Managers are capable of dealing with this situation and that any measures which may be necessary to secure a proper and efficient management of the Home may be taken by them without the enactment of legislation thereon, as above recommended

In the absence of the Chairman, due to his serious illness, as above stated, this report is respectfully submitted

TRENTON, April 14th, 1913

WHEREAS, The one hundred and thirty-seventh session of the Legislature of the State of New Jersey has adjourned sine die, without passing measures providing for reform in the method of drawing grand and petit juries, or for the calling of a constitutional convention to consider changes proposed to the Constitution of our State, and

WHEREAS, These subjects are of the highest importance to the people of our State and, in my judgment, public necessity requires the convening of the Legislature to consider them at a special session, at which no other matters need be taken up and the undivided attention of the Legislature can be devoted to the proper and effective solution of such problems,

The committee appointed to wait upon the Governor returned and announced that the Governor would communicate later in writing

TRENTON, May 6th, 1913

To the Legislature

My purpose in convening you in special session was to enable you to consider certain matters which to me seem to be of special importance to the State, and which were not satisfactorily considered at your regular session

Pursuant to a joint resolution adopted last year, a legislative commission appointed to investigate our jury system, reported that our method of allowing the sheriff unrestricted power to select grand jurors, obtained in but one other State, and that the selection of petit jurors was much more guarded and restricted elsewhere than here Recognizing that under our system gross injustice frequently resulted in the proper and effective administration of our criminal and civil law, both great political parties of our State pledged themselves to change the method of selecting grand and petit jurors The impression conveyed and intended to be conveyed by these ante-election promises was that candidates for the Senate and General Assembly would, if elected, enact some law which would effectually prevent any official from exercising his own choice in the selection of jurors from a small body of men, and which would provide for drawing them by lot from the whole county, and I feel that the adjournment of the Legislature without enacting some legislation in line with party promises was a breach of faith The time has passed when platform pledges can be made for effect only, and with no intention of keeping them Since the adjournment of your regular session you have had ample opportunity to ascertain the sentiment of the people of your respective counties, and you should now be prepared to act on your information and knowledge of their desires without finding it necessary to refer any bill to them for their ratification or disapproval, and I most earnestly ask you to settle this matter definitely and finally

The progressive people of our State are deeply interested in a convention which will provide the opportunity for discussion and consideration of suggested alterations in and additions to our Constitution This Constitution was adopted in 1844, and the changes in social, economic and political conditions wrought in seventy years must be met by changes in our organic law What alterations are wise and what unwise can be properly determined in a convention through general discussion, and from which the ideas and arguments of the delegates can be disseminated by the press to the people, thus providing our citizens complete information on subjects of such vital interest to them The hope and expectation of all fair-minded persons is that a legally constituted forum for such discussions shall be provided, and that the representatives of the subdivisions of our State, who shall sit in this body, shall be chosen with reference to the numbers whom they shall represent An opportunity is presented to you to rise above sectional feeling, and to act as sincere and patriotic men, guided solely by a desire to serve the best interests of the State as a whole

The government of our counties by large boards of freeholders is archaic Through many members, responsibility is divided and can be shifted from one group to another, until the average citizen grows weary in attempting to locate the blame for county misgovernment Hasty or misguided legislation, designed to permit the adoption of the small board government has resulted in defective laws, and the expressed desire of several counties to govern themselves by a small board has been defeated, and their affairs are left in an unsettled condition This subject directly affects many thousands of our citizens, and can and should be remedied

May I express my belief that there is no necessity for a prolonged session The matters to which I have referred have been widely discussed, and it is entirely possible to promptly translate the public desire into legislative acts

President of the Senate, Acting Governor

AN ACT authorizing the appointment of jury commissioners for each of the counties of this State, and regulating the selection of grand and petit jurors by such commissioners

1 Immediately after the passage and approval of this act, each of the judges of the Circuit Court of this State who are appointed pursuant to the provisions of section thirty-nine of an act entitled "An act relative to the Supreme and Circuit Courts (Revision of 1900)," and the amendments thereof and supplements thereto, shall appoint, for each of the counties of his judicial district, two reputable persons for each county, residents therein not attorneys-at-law, no two of whom shall have the same political affiliation, who shall be known and designated as "The Commissioners of Juries of County" The certification of appointment by the circuit judge shall be filed in the office of the county clerk, and no other commission shall be necessary At the time of appointing the first commissioners, the judge shall designate one to serve for one year and one for two years, thereafter appointments shall be made for the full term of two years Each commissioner shall, before entering upon the discharge of his duties, take and subscribe an oath before the judge of the Circuit Court by whom appointed, faithfully and impartially to execute the duties of the said office, to select none as jurors except those whom he believes to be of good repute for honesty and intelligence, and to select no one who had requested or whom he has been requested to select as juror, according to the best of his skill and understanding, which oath shall be filed in the office of the clerk of the county within and for which such commissioner is appointed The commissioners of juries shall hold no other public office while so acting, and shall receive such compensation as the judge of the Circuit Court shall order and direct, which shall be paid monthly upon the certificate of the said judge by the county collector, provided, that such compensation shall, in counties of the first class, not exceeding six hundred dollars, in counties of the second class not exceeding four hundred dollars, in other counties, not exceeding three hundred dollars, to each commissioner in any one year Whenever a vacancy shall occur in the office of the commissioner of juries by reason of death, resignation, removal from the county, disqualification, as hereinafter provided, or any other cause, such vacancy shall be filled for the unexpired term, except as hereinafter provided in case of temporary disqualification, by appointment made in the same manner as original appointments are made, and in the case of temporary absence, disability or disqualification of any commissioner, the said judge of the Circuit Court shall appoint some fit person to perform the duties of such commissioner during such absence, disability or disqualification The person so appointed shall take the same oath of office and be entitled to receive the emoluments of said office during the period of service

2 Any commissioner of juries may be removed at any time by the judge of the Circuit Court, when it shall be established to his satisfaction that such commissioner is physically or mentally unable properly to perform his duties, and is likely so to continue, or neglects to perform his duty, or improperly or unfaithfully performs the same Any commissioner of juries or all of them may be temporarily disqualified by the said judge of the Circuit Court when it shall appear to his satisfaction that such commissioner of juries or all of them is or are accused of crime, or has or have an interest (by relationship or otherwise, in or with any person who is or may be so accused, or in any subject matter which is to be, or may be, presented to a grand or petit jury at a term of court following), to such an extent as to render uncertain the administration of justice

3 Upon entry into office, the said commissioners of juries of each county shall proceed to make a list, alphabetically arranged, of the names of persons in their respective counties liable to jury duty, with their places of abode, designating their respective townships, boroughs and wards, which list, when completed, shall contain not less than fifteen hundred names in counties of the first class, one thousand names in counties of the second class, and seven hundred names in all other counties, and which list shall be certified by the said commissioners under oath to be a true and correct list of the persons liable to jury duty in their respective counties for that year, and which said list shall be filed in the office of the clerk of the county, there to remain of record A new list shall be made by the said commissioners every year thereafter, and for the purpose of preparing such list, the said commissioner shall have access to the assessment rolls and registry lists of the several wards, boroughs and townships and election districts of the county for which they are appointed, and the records of the registrars of vital statistics therein

court, in the presence of such judge, or, in his absence, in the presence of a judge of the Court of Common Pleas, select from the said lists such number of names as the judge of said Circuit Court may, by order, direct, from which to draw a panel of jurors to serve for the next ensuing term of court, which shall, in no case, be less than treble the number actually required for such panel, regard being had in making such selection to securing, as far as practicable, a fair and just representation from the several portions of such county, and the said commissioners shall, in like manner, select from the said list the names of seventy-five persons for service as grand jurors, regard being had in making such selection to the qualifications of the persons so selected on account of ability, independence and integrity, and from the names of the persons so selected for petit jurors and grand jurors, the petit jurors and grand jurors who shall serve for the next ensuing term of the courts of such county shall be drawn as hereinafter provided

5 The said commissioners shall, at the same time the said names are selected as herein provided, both for petit jurors and grand jurors, publicly announce the names so selected for each class of jurors, and shall cause the same to be separately written on slips of paper, of the same size, color and shape, as near as may be, which slips shall be folded so as to conceal the name thereon, and one of the said commissioners shall deposit the slips containing the names so selected for petit jurors in one box and the names so selected for grand jurors in another box, and the selection of names shall so proceed until the necessary number have been selected, written down by a commissioner, and deposited in the boxes as aforesaid

jurors and grand jurors, shall be transcribed by the clerk of the court as they are read, and publicly announced by the said commissioners, and two lists of the same, certified by the said commissioners and the said judge shall thereupon be made, one of which shall be filed in the office of the clerk of such county as a public record, and the other transmitted to the sheriff of said county, who shall thereupon cause the persons so drawn, constituting the grand jury and panel of petit jurors for such county, to be summoned to serve as such according to law, provided, that the said judge may in any case direct that a part of the panel of petit jurors so drawn may be summoned to appear at a day in term to be designated, to serve for the balance of such term, and the judge may in his discretion at any time during the term discharge such part of the panel of jurors summoned as in his judgment will not be needed for further service

7 Before any grand jury is sworn, the members thereof shall be interrogated by the presiding judge of the court in which such grand jury is organized, to determine whether any person selected and summoned for service upon such grand jury comes within any of the classes disqualified or ineligible for service upon a grand jury by this, or any other, statute of this State, reciting the causes of disqualification or ineligibility contained in this and the other statutes, and if it shall appear that any such person is so disqualified or ineligible, he shall be excused from service before the grand jury is sworn The names of the persons so disqualified shall be struck off the list of the grand jury, and the next following names upon the list shall be called, until there are present twenty-three grand jurors against whom no disqualifications or ineligibility exists

9 Any person having served as grand or petit juror at a term of the courts of any county shall be ineligible to serve again as grand or petit juror in and for the said county until two terms of the said courts shall have elapsed, exclusive of the term during which he served

10 All acts and parts of acts inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed, and this act shall take effect immediately, so far as the appointment of commissioners and the performance of their duties is concerned The first grand and petit juries, however,

to be selected by this method shall be those selected and summoned for the terms of courts next following after the fourth day of July, nineteen hundred and thirteen

A FURTHER SUPPLEMENT to an act entitled "An act concerning juries" (Revision), approved March twenty-seventh, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four

PART ONE

1 The sheriff of every county shall keep a book to be known as the "grand jury list" which shall be an official record, and shall be open to public inspection at all suitable times, and which shall contain the names of two hundred persons, to be selected by him, who are qualified to serve as grand jurors in his county, together with their residence and occupation, and he shall certify and send, thirty days before the opening of each term of the Circuit Court, ten printed copies of the said list to the justice of the Supreme Court assigned to hold the Circuit Court in his county, provided, that if, in the case of the first list so certified and sent, there shall be insufficient time between the time when this act takes effect and the opening of the next term of the Circuit Court in the county, then the said list shall be so certified and sent fifteen days before the opening of such term The book containing the said list shall be kept according to the terms of court so that the names so certified before the opening of each term shall all appear in immediate sequence therein under the heading of the appropriate term without the presence of any names not certified at the same time Whenever a juror whose name is on the grand jury list shall serve as a grand juror, the term wherein he serves shall be noted opposite his name in the list, and he shall be ineligible to serve as a grand juror, petit juror or struck juror for one year from the closing of the said term Whenever the number of jurors in the said list eligible for service shall be diminished by the selection of grand jurors or otherwise the sheriff shall make additions thereto so that the said list shall never contain less than the names of two hundred eligible jurors when certified and sent to such Supreme Court justice as hereinbefore required

2 All grand juries shall be drawn from the names appearing in the grand jury list, in the presence of such justice of the Supreme Court, or, in case of his death or absence, in the presence of the president judge of the Court of Common Pleas for the county in manner following The names of the persons in the grand jury list eligible for service shall be written on separate papers of the same size and color, which shall be so folded as to conceal the writing and to appear as nearly alike in size and shape as may be, the papers so folded shall be placed in a box by the sheriff in the presence of such justice or judge in open court and shall be thoroughly shaken and distributed, and thereupon the sheriff shall, in open and public manner, in the presence of the court and of such persons as may choose to be present, draw separately from the box twenty-four papers, and the persons whose names are thereon written shall be summoned as grand jurors The clerk of the court shall transcribe the names as they are announced, and shall make two lists thereof, one of which shall be certified by the sheriff as true and correct and filed in the office of the county clerk and the other of which shall be certified by the justice or judge as true and correct and shall be filed by the sheriff as a record of his office, and he shall cause the persons named in said list to be summoned to serve as grand jurors according to law Whenever for any proper cause it shall be necessary to draw one or more grand jurors to take the place of any other grand jurors drawn as aforesaid, the drawing shall be made in the manner hereinabove prescribed

3 The sheriff of every county shall keep a book to be known as the "petit jury list" which shall be an official record, and shall be open to public inspection at all suitable times and which shall contain the names of all persons, with their residence and occupation, who are qualified to serve as petit jurors in his county, except as hereinafter provided No person whose name does not appear on said petit jury list shall serve as a petit juror in any court of the county, and no juror shall be required to serve or to attend in court ready to serve for more than one day in any period of twelve consecutive months, except as hereinafter provided For service on each day in term on which the business of the courts shall require it, a separate panel of petit jurors shall be selected and drawn by the sheriff ten days before the day on which the jurors thereon are to serve The selecting and drawing of petit jurors for service in the court shall be done in manner following The sheriff shall select from the petit jury list the names of at least twice as many persons as the Court of Common Pleas, or a judge thereof, shall deem necessary for service on the day for which the panel may be required, the names selected by the sheriff shall be written on separate papers, which shall be folded so as to conceal the writing and to be the same size, color and shape, as nearly as may be, the sheriff shall then, before the Court of Common Pleas, or any judge thereof, in open court, place the said papers in a box and shake them thoroughly, and thereupon the sheriff or under-sheriff, or the sheriff's clerk, shall, under the direction of the court or a judge thereof, and in an open and public manner, in the presence of the court and of such other persons as may choose to be present, draw from the box separately as many papers as shall equal the number of jurors that the court, or a judge thereof, shall deem necessary for service on the day for which the panel is drawn, the names appearing on the papers so drawn shall not be announced or made public in any way, except as hereinafter provided, but the sheriff or under-sheriff, or the sheriff's clerk, shall open the papers as soon as they are drawn from the box, and the names appearing thereon shall be written down in consecutive order as the papers are drawn on a duplicate panel or list, and as soon as the name appearing on each paper is written down, the paper shall be delivered to the court or a judge thereof for inspection When the duplicate panels have been compared and found correct by reference to the papers drawn as aforesaid, the judge and the sheriff or under-sheriff shall certify under their hands, at the foot of each duplicate, the day on which the panel is drawn and the day for which the jurors named therein are to be summoned, the judge shall retain one panel in his custody until the jurors therein have appeared in court for service, or have been excused from appearing, and shall then file it with the county clerk The sheriff shall retain in his custody until the return day thereof the other panel and shall then file it in his office as a permanent record, the papers drawn from the box shall be destroyed in open court immediately after the certification of the duplicate panels as aforesaid The persons named on the papers so drawn as aforesaid shall constitute the panel of petit jurors to be summoned by the sheriff to serve as petit jurors on and for the tenth day following the date of such selection and drawing It shall be the duty of the sheriff to summon the petit jurors at least five days before the day for which they are to serve Each juror appearing in court at the time for which he is summoned, and who, unless excused by the court, shall remain in service or attendance in court from the opening until the adjournment of court on said day, shall be exempt from service as a grand juror and as a petit juror in any of the courts of said county, and in any District Court, police court, or recorder's court of any municipality of said county for one year next ensuing the termination of his service or attendance as a juror in the courts of the county as aforesaid, and the date of his service or attendance shall be noted opposite his name on the petit jury list, and he may obtain from the sheriff a certificate of service or attendance as aforesaid, provided, however, that in case any juror shall be actually serving in the trial of any cause or proceeding that is not finished

during the day for which he has been summoned, the term of service of such juror shall be extended until a verdict shall have been rendered in such cause or until the jury therein shall be discharged by the court

4 It shall be unlawful for the court or for any judge thereof, or for the sheriff or any other officer or person, to divulge, or in any way make public the name of any petit juror, summoned to serve for any day as aforesaid, before the day for which he is summoned to serve

5 The sheriff may appoint and employ, at a compensation not exceeding three dollars and fifty cents a day and actual traveling expenses, such constables or other persons as he may select to make service of summonses upon jurors

6 If any juror shall fail to appear according to the tenor of his summons, it shall be the duty of the court to impose upon such delinquent juror a fine of fifty dollars, and to enforce the payment thereof by proceeding as for a contempt, unless such juror shall for good and sufficient reason be excused from so appearing

7 In counties of this State having a population in excess of two hundred and fifty thousand persons, no petit juror or struck juror shall hereafter receive, or be entitled to any compensation, except mileage, for or on account of his service or attendance at court, unless he shall reside more than twelve miles from the place of holding court or unless he shall be required to serve more than two days as a juror, in which case he shall receive the lawful compensation of a juror for every day exceeding two days of such service, provided, however, that if, for any reason, the provisions of this paragraph shall be held to be unconstitutional then the rest of this act shall not be affected thereby, but shall be and remain in full force and effect, as though this paragraph were not contained herein

8 The sheriff of every county shall place upon his petit jury list the name of every voter appearing upon the registry list of his county at the last preceding election for members of the General Assembly, with the exception of those who are exempt from service or disqualified for service, and of those who, in the opinion of the sheriff may suffer a loss of wages or employment by reason of such service, and of those who because of bodily or mental infirmity may, in his opinion, be unfitted for service, and he shall complete such list within six months from the date upon which this act takes effect, and shall thereafter revise and add thereto from the names on the registry lists in each succeeding election for members of the General Assembly, provided, that if the justice of the Supreme Court aforesaid is satisfied that the sheriff cannot reasonably complete such lists with the exercise of due diligence within said period, he may extend the time therefor at his discretion, and such justice shall have full power and authority to require the sheriff to complete said list and to revise and add thereto as hereinbefore required, and to enforce compliance with any order which he may make to that end by proceeding as for a contempt

9 Any duty imposed by this act upon the sheriff may, by his direction, be performed by his under-sheriff In the event of the death or disability of the sheriff the duties imposed upon him by this act shall be performed by the coroners of the county, or by one or more of them, as such justice of the Supreme Court may direct

10 Such justice of the Supreme Court may, in his discretion, from time to time, strike names from the grand or petit jury list, and the sheriff shall forthwith add as many names to such list as have been struck, and shall forthwith certify such added names to such justice, and such justice may continue to strike names from such lists, and the sheriff shall continue forthwith to add names thereto and certify the same to such justice until the drawing of juries is actually begun

11 Nothing in this act contained shall be construed to affect the right of the defendant in any indictment to have a list of the jurors delivered to him before his trial

12 All acts and parts of acts inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed

PART TWO

3 The said judge may, at any time, remove either or both of the commissioners, and in case of a vacancy occurring by such removal, or by death, resignation, or removal from the county, he shall appoint a successor for the balance of the term The certificate of removal and of appointment to fill such vacancy shall be filed in the office of the clerk of such county

4 The commissioners of juries shall, at least thirty days prior to the commencement of each term of the Circuit Court in their county, make two lists alphabetically arranged, of persons liable to jury duty, with their occupations, places of abode and designating their respective municipalities and wards (if any) in municipalities, which lists shall be designated respectively "grand jury list" and "petit jury list" The number of persons named on the grand jury list shall at no time be less than two hundred, and the number of persons named on the petit jury list shall at no time be less than five hundred The commissioners shall cause two copies to be made of each of said lists and shall certify the same under their hands as true and correct, and shall cause one copy of each to be filed in the office of the clerk of such county, there to remain a record, and shall cause the other copy to be delivered to the said Circuit Court judge holding the Circuit Court in such county Said commissioners may from time to time, before certifying such lists, revise, strike off and add thereto, and the said judge may at any time order said commissioners to revise, correct and certify a new jury list or lists Said commissioners shall have access to and may copy the assessment rolls and registry lists of the several municipalities and election districts of their county, and they may, before certifying any list, send notices to all persons whose names they may propose placing on such lists, requesting such persons to present to the commissioners any claim they may have to exemption from jury duty

5 On a day and time to be fixed by the said Circuit Court judge, not more than thirty days before the commencement of each term of the Circuit Court, the said commissioners shall in open court, in the presence of said judge or, in his absence, in the presence of the president judge of the Court of Common Pleas of such county, select by lot from the grand jury list, certified for such term as aforesaid, the names of seventy-five persons, from which to draw a grand jury to serve for the next ensuing term of the courts of such county, and said commissioners shall, at the same time and in like manner, select by lot from the petit jury list such number of names as the said judge may direct from which to draw a panel of petit jurors to serve for the next ensuing term of the courts of such county, which number shall in no case be less than treble the number required for such panel In making such selections for grand and petit jurors, regard shall be had to securing, so far as practicable, a fair and just representation to the various wards and municipalities of such county

6 Said commissioners, at said time and place, shall publicly announce the names and the place of abode of the persons so selected for grand and petit jurors, and shall forthwith cause each name and place of abode to be written on separate slips of paper of the same size, color and shape, as near as may be, and shall hand the same to said judge who shall examine them, and, if correct as to their legal qualifications, return them to said commissioners The commissioners shall thereupon fold the said papers so as to conceal the writing thereon and shall deposit the slips containing the names for grand jurors in one box and the slips containing the names for petit jurors in another box

7 Immediately after the names so selected have been so deposited, the boxes shall be shaken and the slips deposited therein, thoroughly mixed together, and the commissioners, or one of them, shall forthwith, in the presence of said judge proceed to draw from the box containing the names of persons for grand jurors, the names of twenty-four persons, who shall be summoned to serve as grand jurors in and for such county for the next ensuing term of the courts thereof, and shall in like manner draw from the box containing the names of persons for petit jurors such number of names as the said judge shall direct, who shall constitute the panel of petit jurors to serve in and for such county for the next ensuing term of the courts thereof

8 The names and place of abode both of grand jurors and petit jurors shall, as they are drawn, be publicly announced by the commissioners, and the clerk of the county shall transcribe the same as they are announced, and shall make two lists thereof, both of which shall be certified by the said judge as true and correct, one of which said clerk shall file in his office and the other he shall forthwith transmit to the sheriff of the county, who shall thereupon cause the persons so drawn, constituting the grand jurors and panel of petit jurors for such county, to be summoned to serve as such according to law

9 The said Circuit Court judge may direct that the panel of petit jurors so drawn shall serve for a designated portion of the next ensuing term only, and in such event they shall be so summoned and the said justice may direct said commissioners to draw a new panel or panels of petit jurors to serve for another designated part of such term, and such new panel or panels shall be drawn from the list certified by the commissioners prior to the commencement of such term and summoned in the same manner as hereinabove provided crime, or has or have an interest (by relationship, or otherwise, in or with any person who is or may be so accused, or in any subject matter which is to be, or may be, presented to a grand or petit jury at a term of court following), to such an extent as to render uncertain the administration of justice

3 Upon entry into office, the said commissioners of juries of each county shall proceed to make a list, alphabetically arranged, of the names of the persons in their respective counties liable to jury duty, with their places of abode, designating their respective townships, boroughs and wards, which list, when completed, shall contain not less than fifteen hundred names in counties of the first class, one thousand names in counties of the second class, and seven hundred names in all other counties, and which list shall be certified by the said commissioners under oath to be a true and correct list of the persons liable to jury duty in their respective counties for that year, and which said list shall be filed in the office of the clerk of the county, there to remain of record A new list shall be made by the said commissioners every year thereafter, and for the purpose of preparing such list, the said commissioner shall have access to the assessment rolls and registry lists of the several wards, boroughs and townships and election districts of the county for which they are appointed, and the records of the registrars of vital statistics therein

for the next ensuing term of the courts of such county shall be drawn as hereinafter provided

5 The said commissioners shall, at the same time the said names are selected as herein provided, both for petit jurors and grand jurors, publicly announce the names so selected for each class of jurors, and shall cause the same to be separately written on slips of paper, of the same size, color and shape, as near as may be, which slips shall be folded so as to conceal the name thereon, and one of the said commissioners shall deposit the slips containing the names so selected for petit jurors in one box and the names so selected for grand jurors in another box, and the selection of names shall so proceed until the necessary number have been selected, written down by a commissioner, and deposited in the boxes as aforesaid

7 Before any grand jury is sworn, the members thereof shall be interrogated by the presiding judge of the court in which such grand jury is organized, to determine whether any person selected and summoned for service upon such grand jury comes within any of the classes disqualified or ineligible for service upon a grand jury by this, or any other, statute of this State, reciting the causes of disqualification or ineligibility contained in this and the other statutes, and if it shall appear that any such person is so disqualified or ineligible, he shall be excused from service before the grand jury is sworn The names of the persons so disqualified shall be struck off the list of the grand jury, and the next following names upon the list shall be called until there are present twenty-three grand jurors against whom no disqualifications or ineligibility exists

8 The court in which the grand jury shall be sworn in any county of this State shall select and designate one of the grand jurors so drawn and selected as aforesaid to act as foreman thereof, who shall be sworn so to act, and shall excuse or discharge the remainder of the said jurors after twenty-three have been sworn

A message was received from the Governor as follows

August 5th, 1913

To the Legislature

The "Walsh Commission Government Act" was submitted to the voters of Jersey City for adoption, at an election held April 15th, 1913 Out of 18,500 votes, a majority of over 4,300 votes were cast in its favor and the Commissioners subsequently elected have taken office and are now administering the affairs of the city The act requires that the vote in favor of its adoption shall equal thirty per centum of the votes cast for members of Assembly at the election held last November The ballots cast at the Assembly election have been destroyed and the returns made by many of the election boards at that election are so incomplete that it is impossible to tell what vote was actually cast The title to office of the Commissioners elected in April is now attacked by suit, upon the ground that the required thirty per centum vote was not cast in favor of the adoption of the act and in this suit, I am advised, that the burden of proving the legal adoption of the act is upon the Commissioners The ballots cast at the November election having been destroyed, it is impossible to prove what vote was cast at that election and should the Commissioners, for this reason, be ousted from the office to which they have been elected, the title of the Commissioners in every other commission government municipality, where the Assembly ballots have been destroyed, might also be successfully attacked and this result would produce confusion in municipal affairs, not only in Jersey City, but in such other cities

I have, therefore, felt it my duty to call you into special session and lay the facts before you, to the end that you take such action as will prevent the possibility of such a deplorable condition occuring

President of the Senate

Attest

Communications.

Proclamation—WHEREAS, A dispute has arisen as to the adoption by the city of Jersey City of an act entitled "An act relating to, regulating and providing for the government of cities, towns, boroughs and other municipalities within this State," approved April twenty-fifth, nineteen hundred and eleven, and the acts supplementary and amendatory thereto, which may result in confusion in municipal affairs, not only in said city, but in other municipalities where said act is assumed to have been adopted, and the situation thus presented is, in my judgment, of sufficient public importance to require submission to the Legislature for its consideration, Therefore, I, James F Fielder, President of the Senate, Acting Governor of the State of New Jersey, by virtue of the power vested in me by the Constitution, do convene the Legislature of this State, hereby requiring the Senate and the Members of the House of Assembly to meet in their respective chambers at the State House, in the city of Trenton, on Tuesday, the fifth day of August next, at eleven o'clock in the forenoon In Testimony Whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State to be affixed at Trenton, this twenty-ninth day of July, nineteen hundred and thirteen JAMES F FIELDER, President of the Senate and Acting Governor—2083

Communication from the Governor—The "Walsh Commission Government Act" was submitted to the voters of Jersey City for adoption, at an election held April 15th, 1913 Out of 18,500 votes, a majority of over 4,300 votes were cast in its favor, and the commissioners subsequently elected have taken office and are now administering the affairs of the city The act requires that the vote in favor of its adoption shall equal thirty per centum of the votes cast for members of Assembly at the election held last November The ballots cast at the Assembly election have been destroyed and the returns made by many of the election boards at that election are so incomplete that it is impossible to tell what vote was actually cast The title to office of the commissioners elected in April is now attacked by suit, upon the ground that the required thirty per centum vote was not cast in favor of the adoption of the act and in this suit, I am advised, that the burden of proving the legal adoption of the act is upon the commissioners The ballots cast at the November election having been destroyed, it is impossible to prove what vote was cast at that election and should the commissioners, for this reason, be ousted from the office to which they have been elected, the title of the commissioners in every other commission government municipality, where the Assembly ballots have been destroyed, might also be successfully attacked and this result would produce confusion in municipal affairs not only in Jersey City, but in such other cities I have, therefore, felt it my duty to call you into special session and lay the facts before you, to the end that you take such action as will prevent the possibility of such a deplorable condition occurring JAMES F FIELDER, President of the Senate Acting Governor—2093
