Gentlemen of the Senate and General Assembly:

In fulfillment of a duty imposed by the Constitution, I submit to you my annual message. I congratulate you upon the general obedience to law, and the good order which prevails among the people of whom you are the chosen representatives. Peace, prosperity, happiness and protection of lawful rights, the objects for which government was instituted, are here enjoyed. For these and other blessings vouchsafed to us, our thanks are due to Almighty God.

FINANCIAL.

The financial condition of the State is satisfactory. The receipts of the treasury during the last year have been greater than at any former period. Notwithstanding the payment of the very large legislative appropriations of the last session, the amount in bank to the credit of the various funds at the close of the fiscal year, was nearly two hundred and seventy-three thousand dollars.

The following will exhibit the receipts and disbursements of the several funds:

RECEIPTS.

In Agricultural College Fund,	$ 6,960 00
In Library Fund,	3,550 00
In War Fund,	283,884 55
In School Fund, including State School Tax,	1,363,547 20
In State Fund,	1,707,141 68
In bank Nov. 1, 1873,	173,043 54
Total,	$3,538,126 97

DISBURSEMENTS.

From Agricultural College Fund,	$6,960 00
From Library Fund,	1,211 37
From War Fund,	286,247 20
From School Fund, including State School Tax,	1,352,431 00
From State Fund,	1,618,416 54
Total,		$3,265,266 16
Amount in bank to credit of all the funds, Oct. 31, 1874,		$272,860 81

From the foregoing it will be seen that the receipts and disbursements of nearly all the funds varied but little from those of former years. There was an increase of revenue to the State Fund, nearly all of which has been absorbed by large special legislative appropriations.

The reports of the Comptroller and Treasurer, herewith transmitted, state in detail the items of disbursement from the State Fund. By reference thereto, it will be found that the ordinary expenses of the government, except the item of printing, are about the same in amount as heretofore. It will also be observed that the revenue from corporations exceeds the ordinary expenses of the government, and that no tax would be necessary in aid of the State Fund, if appropriations for erecting public buildings had not been made. During the year there has been paid out of this Fund to the Commissioners of the Northern Lunatic Asylum, the sum of six hundred and three thousand dollars, and for State House extension twenty thousand dollars, to reimburse the Commissioners having that work in charge for money advanced in former years. From this fund was also paid a loan of fifty thousand dollars, made last year by the Treasurer; and railroad stocks for the par value of one hundred and fifty thousand dollars, which had been sold conditionally, and the money received during the fiscal year of 1873, were redeemed and returned to the Treasury. During the last three years there has been paid from the State fund for land, the erection of buildings, and unusual permanent improvements for various institutions under legislative appropriations, about the sum of one million four hundred thousand dollars, of which amount about eleven hundred thousand dollars were expended on the Lunatic Asylum, now in course of erection, and one hundred and seventy-two thousand dollars on the State Capitol.

To meet these large demands upon the Treasury, it has been necessary, from time to time, under the law approved April 4, 1873, to make conditional sale and transfer of part of the railroad stocks belonging to the State Fund. These sales were made with privilege of redemption upon repayment to the vendees of the sums advanced by them, with interest at seven per cent., the State continuing to receive the dividends at the rate of ten per cent. The one hundred shares of stock still unredeemed will be returned to the Treasury on the first day of February next, upon payment to the holders out of the tax levy, the proceeds of which are now being paid to the State by the County Collectors.

The moneys realized from sales of stock furnished only temporary relief, and served to bridge over the period between the necessity of expenditure and the subsequent receipt of the annual taxes. In this emergency it was evident that the financial officers of the State could not continue to pay the appropriations made by the Legislature with the revenue derived from ordinary sources, and that either the rate of taxation should be largely increased, or money be realized upon some of the securities in the State Fund. It was thought best not to ask the Legislature to resort to increased taxation unless other expedients should fail, and therefore notice was given to the United Railroad and Canal Companies of New Jersey, requiring payment of their bond. This bond, conditioned for the payment of the sum of five hundred thousand dollars, was given to the State in the year 1869. It belonged to the State Fund; had been legally placed therein when first received by the then Comptroller and Treasurer, and with the approval of all the financial officers of the State and the Legislative committees, who since then have annually examined the condition of the finances, has, with the interest accruing, been continuously carried in the State account. No law has been passed which directly or by implication transferred that bond or the money due thereon to any other fund.

In my last annual message it was stated that in the year 1873 the sum of one hundred and ninety thousand dollars had been paid on the principal of said bond. The balance of principal, amounting to three hundred and ten thousand dollars, with all arrears of interest, has been paid during the last fiscal year, and has been used to meet legitimate demands on the State Treasury upon presentation. In no other way could the appropriations have been paid and the credit of the State maintained.

Having stated the present condition of the finances, the sources of revenue and some of the larger items of expenditure in the past, I now call attention to the probable requirements of the future, that the Legislature may be enabled to act intelligently upon appropriation bills that will be presented for consideration.

The estimate of revenue for the present year (excluding the State School tax) is as follows, viz:

From usual sources, - - -	$680,000 00
From taxes which go into State and War Funds	930,000 00
	$1,610,000 00

The Comptroller estimates the expenditures for the current year (excluding the two mill tax for schools) at one million four hundred thousand dollars, leaving a little over two hundred thousand dollars in the Treasury. The estimates of the Comptroller have been prepared with care, and it will be safe to be governed by them, although upon examination of details I incline to the opinion that the receipts will exceed the expenditures in about the sum of three hundred thousand dollars, and that this amount may be applied toward the payment of appropriations to be made at the present session. Considering the present condition of the structure designed for the use of the insane, and the necessity for its speedy completion, it is manifest that provision must be made to add to the revenue. There are in the State Fund 2,887 shares of stock of the United Railroad and Canal Companies of New Jersey, which can be sold and the Treasurer has the constitutional power to borrow one hundred thousand dollars, which will produce in all, according to the Comptroller's estimate, almost seven hundred thousand dollars, that may be paid on special appropriations. Every effort should be made to meet the demands on the Treasury without an increase of taxation, and this can be done if the appropriations be kept within reasonable limits.

The war debt is now about two and a half millions of dollars. The investments of the Sinking Fund amount to a little over one million three hundred thousand dollars. The war debt will be reduced to the same amount as the Sinking Fund in about twelve years, without resorting to additional taxation. In fact, the amount drawn from the taxes to pay on the war debt will diminish with each successive year. The war bonds having the longest time to run will not be due until the year 1902, but after 1887 the Sinking Fund will pay the war debt as it matures, without receiving any part of the taxes, so that at the time last mentioned the State of New Jersey will virtually be out of debt. Her debt now is only one million two hundred thousand dollars, if the amount in Sinking Fund be deducted. The tax levy for the purposes of both the State and war fund is only one and a half mills.

The items of expenditure during the last fiscal year are specifically set forth in the Comptroller's report. Your attention is especially directed to the increased cost of printing. The amount paid during the last year is one hundred and thirteen thousand eight hundred and ninety-three dollars and thirty-four cents, of which the sum of sixty-seven thousand three hundred and thirty-three dollars and sixty cents was for publication of laws in newspapers. This is an increase of about twenty per cent. a year, and as the number of newspapers is constantly growing, unless remedied by legislative action, this ratio of increase in cost will continue. The time has come for the Legislature to devise some means to reduce and limit the expense of publishing the laws.

EDUCATIONAL.

The report of the Trustees of the Normal School represents that institution in a prosperous condition. The number of pupils enrolled during the year (including the Model and Preparatory Schools) was eight hundred and seventy-three.

The College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts is steadily increasing in Educational influence. Nearly every county of the State is represented by students.

The amount expended in New Jersey during the last year for support of Public Schools, was two millions three hundred and four thousand three hundred and ninety-eight dollars and thirteen cents. Of that sum one million two hundred and twenty-five thousand five hundred and twenty-two dollars and twenty-one cents came from the two mill school tax, and the residue from the State appropriation, interest on surplus revenue, city, township and district taxes. The total value of public school property in the State exceeds six millions of dollars.

The school census proves that there are in New Jersey two hundred and ninety-eight thousand children between the ages of five and eighteen years. Nearly all the schools are made free and kept open the full time required by law from proceeds of the two mill tax, and in the few districts where the money thus derived is insufficient, the deficiency has been supplied by taxes levied under the law of March 21, 1874. The second section of that law requires that the money needed in any district to maintain free schools, if not supplied from other sources, shall be raised by district tax. This gives to New Jersey free schools not merely in name but in fact.

There has been an increase in the percentage of attendance, estimated to be equal to nine months' schooling of four thousand children. The percentage of additional attendance could be quadrupled without subjecting the people to further expense. School buildings must be erected and furnished, and teachers employed on the basis of the school census. It costs no more to instruct a large than a small class of students. It is clearly the duty of the Legislature, as guardians of the public funds, to legislate so as to induce full and regular attendance of pupils, so that the money expended for public schools will accomplish the greatest possible good.

Since the passage of the act approved April 6, A. D. 1871, the proceeds of all grants and leases of lands under water made after that date, have been paid into the school fund. The constitutional provision protecting that fund has been strictly obeyed. No part of the principal has been withdrawn therefrom, nor has any part of the interest been used except for school purposes. Although it is true that while the State is engaged in constructing large public buildings the State fund needs more revenue, and that since the two mill tax has been levied, the necessity of augmenting the school fund has not been so great, yet the law of 1871, above referred to, should not be disturbed. Should the Legislature, however, think it wise to divert any of the riparian moneys hereafter to be received from permanent investment in the school fund, such moneys should be used only for educational purposes or for the establishment of institutions germain therto.

The Commissioners authorized by the last Legislature to advertise for and receive proposals for sites for buildings for the deaf and dumb, the blind and feeble-minded children of this State, and also to procure from competent experts plans for the several buildings in which these defective classes may be educated, have not made a final report. The chairman informs me that after visiting a number of sites, the commission unanimously decided to recommend to the Legislature to accept the valuable property gratuitously offered to the State by the city of New Brunswick, for the purposes of an institution for the deaf and dumb. They have also agreed to recommend that the building now belonging to the State, and known as the Soldiers' Childrens' Home, (after it shall have ceased to be used for its present purpose) be converted into an institution for the blind. It evidently will be impossible while the Lunatic Asylum is in course of construction to erect buildings for these purposes, unless the Legislature supply the money from some source not now yielding revenue to the State Fund.

THE INSANE.

There are six hundred and fifty-five insane persons in the Lunatic Asylum at Trenton. Of these, one hundred and six are private or pay patients. The whole number who have been under treatment since the organization of the institution, is four thousand five hundred and eighty-eight, of whom about three thousand were discharged as recovered or improved. Since the Asylum has been crowded, the number annually cured is less than formerly, because there are fewer admissions in consequence of a large number remaining, who for years have been considered incurable.

The maintenance of the insane in the Asylum at Trenton during the year (including salaries of officers), cost the State a little over forty-two thousand dollars. About thirty-one thousand dollars were received for private patients, and the balance of the receipts, amounting to a little less than one hundred and seventeen thousand dollars, came from the counties. The State also paid for the care of the insane, to the authorities of the three counties wherein asylums have been established, the sum of eleven thousand six hundred and twenty-four dollars and forty-one cents.

The commissioners charged with the duty of erecting the lunatic asylum near Morristown, report that the means placed at their disposal by the Legislature, at its last session, were inadequate to forward the work as rapidly as was desirable, and that they anticipated the appropriation of the present year by borrowing on their individual responsibility, and advancing the sum of two hundred and twenty-three thousand dollars. They were thus enabled to put all the buildings under roof, and do much of the interior work. They express the belief that if the necessary appropriations be made, the asylum will be ready for the reception of patients on or before the first day of January, A. D. 1876. The report does not name the sum required, but it is evident to those who comprehend the magnitude of the structure, and consider the estimate of resources of the State for the current year, that the treasury will not be able to furnish funds sufficient to complete the entire building within the time indicated. In view of this fact, and the imperative demand for more room for the insane, would it be wise to undertake this year to finish more than the centre building and as much of the wings on either side thereof as the amount of the appropriations will warrant? When this shall be done, and the group of buildings in rear of the centre completed, patients may be admitted and placed in apartments where they will not be disturbed by subsequent work on the remaining portion of the edifice.

The commissioners who, without compensation, and at much personal inconvenience, have devoted their time, their energies and their credit to this noble work, deserve the thanks of the Legislature and the people. I recommend that the appropriations to this object be as large as the condition of the treasury will admit.

REFORMATORY AND PENAL.

The number of boys in the Reform School has increased during the last year. Another family building has recently been completed and is now occupied. Special attention is given to the education of the inmates.

During the Summer, the larger boys were employed upon the farm. For want of accommodations for indoor labor, but little work can be done in winter. The institution would better answer the purpose for which it was founded, if arrangements were made to teach all the boys useful trades. When discharged, they could more readily find employment, and thus escape temptations which idleness is sure to invite.

Since the last session of the Legislature, the building then in course of erection on the farm recently purchased by the State for the Industrial School for Girls, has been finished. It will probably furnish all the accommodations needed for several years. The inmates are thoroughly instructed in various branches of female employment. The good conduct of those who have been indentured gives evidence of genuine reformation. The progress of the girls in school is satisfactory.

The notice of revocation of the contract for convict labor in the State Prison, referred to in my last annual message, was withdrawn before the appointed time arrived, and a supplemental agreement was made with the same contractors on terms more advantageous to the State. It requires the contractors to hire a greater number of men than before, and if notice of revocation be given, the State will receive ten thousand dollars.

The financial condition of the prison is very encouraging. The receipts for labor during the fiscal year amount to over one hundred thousand dollars, and the net gain over the cost of maintaining the convicts exceeds forty-five thousand dollars. Of this amount the sum of thirty thousand dollars has been paid into the State Treasury, and nearly eleven thousand dollars expended in building an additional workshop. It is gratifying to be able to state that it is probable the proceeds of prison labor will hereafter not only maintain the convicts, but also pay the salaries of the officers.

At the close of the fiscal year there were six hundred and fifty-eight prisoners. Many of the cells are occupied by two and some by three convicts. This crowded state of the building must necessarily jeopardize the health of the prisoners and interfere in a measure with discipline.

Under the present law, prisoners supposed to be insane are sent to the Lunatic Asylum for treatment. The construction of the Asylum does not furnish accommodations to separate them from other patients, and thus opportunity is given to escape. This fact is an incentive to some to feign insanity in order to get outside the prison walls. A part of the prison buildings should be prepared for the reception of convicts who become insane, where they may be treated under the superintendence of the physician in charge. An additional reason for a change in this regard is the fact that the friends of the unfortunate inmates of the asylum complain that they are subjected to the contact of criminals. I think there is justice in the complaint, and that a remedy should be applied.

PUBLIC HEALTH.

The commissioners appointed by the last Legislature to examine into the sanitary needs of the State, into deficiencies of existing laws as to the securement of vital statistics, the abatement of nuisances, or whatever concerns the prevention or mitigation of disease, have made an exhaustive report on the subjects referred to them. It has been said that the heaviest tax of a people is that which is paid to disease, in suspended labor of the sick and the consequent care which must be given them. The report contains many valuable suggestions, which I commend to your consideration. The commission will prepare a bill to be submitted to the Legislature, providing for the cognizance of great public sources of disease and the inauguration of general methods of prevention.

AGRICULTURE.

Agriculture receives but little attention in legislation. Capital too often crowds aside the interests of labor, and corporations usually engross attention, sometimes to the detriment of individual rights.

One of the few acts that directly recognizes the importance of agriculture in this State was passed by the last Legislature. An appropriation was made for the payment of premiums, to induce the development of agricultural and horticultural productions, at the annual exhibition of the State Agricultural Society.

The Premium Committee maturely considered the subject, made an intelligent classification of the premiums and general satisfaction was given by the awards. The expenses of the exhibition were defrayed by the Agricultural Society, and the appropriation made by the State was used wholly for the payment of premiums. The direct recognition of the agricultural interests of the State by the Legislature, in the award of State premiums, has had a marked effect, and infused a spirit among the tillers of the soil which cannot fail to be beneficial to the whole community.

GEOLOGY.

In consequence of the financial difficulties of the country, the iron mines in the State have not been worked to the extent they were last year. The product is about four hundred thousand tons. Several new mines have been opened.

Much time has been given to a survey of the clay district of Middlesex County. A map in course of preparation will locate numerous valuable beds and aid in future investigations. It is estimated that a million dollars worth of the crude material is annually sent to market from the small district of country laid down on the map.

Your attention is directed to that part of the report of the State Geologist, which states the obstacles in the way of carrying into effect the provisions of the law in reference to the drainage of flowed lands, and to his recommendations on the subject.

In my last annual message reference was made to the fact that some of the monuments that formerly marked the line claimed to be the boundary between the States of New York and New Jersey could not be found, and that several which remained were in locations where they were liable to removal or destruction. In view of the importance of having the question of boundary—which involves the right of jurisdiction—settled, measures were taken to have the line run. This has been done under the direction of the Managers of the geological survey.

The termini of the boundary line as fixed by commissioners one hundred years ago were readily ascertained. The terminus upon the Hudson is marked by a large rock, admitted by all to be the true monument. Nor was there any difficulty in locating the tri states rock, which designates the terminus of the line at the Delaware. The work to be done was to procure a description of the boundary line, and trace it from one terminal point to the other.

The territory now called the State of New Jersey was conveyed by James, Duke of York, to Sir George Carteret and Lord Berkley, in the year A. D. 1664, and the first description of its boundaries is found in that conveyance.

The following is the description, viz: "That tract of land adjacent to New England, lying west of Long Island and Manhattan Island, and bounded on the east part by the main sea and part by Hudson's River, and hath upon the west Delaware Bay or River, and extendeth southward to the main ocean as far as Cape May, at the mouth of Delaware Bay, and to the northward as far as the northermost branch of the said Bay or River Delaware, which is in 41 degrees 40 minutes of latitude, and crosseth over thence IN A STRAIGHT LINE to Hudson's River in 41 degrees of latitude, which said tract of land is hereafter to be called Nova Cæsarea or New Jersey." From the above description it appears that the line between New York and New Jersey, from the Delaware to the Hudson, is a straight line.

At request of the Geological Board, the Superintendent of the U. S. Coast Survey detailed officers to make necessary observations and computations, in order to determine the precise latitude and longitude of the terminal monuments, the direction and length of the boundary line, and to furnish the requisite data for tracing the line. This information having been obtained, in the months of July and August last the line was run with great care and undoubted accuracy. It was found that one-third of the monuments set in 1774 are gone; that their original location is not known; that the monuments which remain mark a crooked line and are south of a straight line, some being over two thousand feet therefrom.

The line of last summer was run with the theodolite, and is described in the report as an arc of a great circle, which is the shortest distance between two points on the surface of a sphere, and therefore must be a perfectly straight line. Ancient documents prove that the boundary which the monuments originally marked was run with the compass, starting at each end and running towards the middle—that local attraction disturbed the instrument—that the variation of the needle was greater at one end than at the other—and that from these and other causes the line of 1774 was a crooked line, and did not answer the description in the grant.

In fact, if there had not been a local variation of the needle, or if the variation had been everywhere the same, a line of that length run with a compass would not (for reasons given in the report) be a straight line, and if monuments be removed, could not be again traced unless the stations used in the first running had been noted and preserved.

From the facts above stated it is manifest that the Legislatures of the respective States should take measures to have the boundary definitely determined and marked. It should answer the description in the grant. In any legislation on the subject, the title to lands on either side of the boundary would of course be confirmed to the present owners.

The line run in 1774 cannot now be accurately traced, and unless the question be settled, conflict of jurisdiction may arise.

I have communicated with His Excellency, the Governor of the State of New York, on this subject, and forwarded him a copy of the report of the State Geologist. I recommend that the authorities of the State of New York be invited to appoint commissioners to join with a commission to be authorized by this State to determine the true location of the boundary line between the States and mark it with permanent monuments.

RIGHTS UNDER AND IN TIDAL WATERS.

The Riparian Commissioners report, that during the last year they have signed grants for lands of the State under tidal waters, the purchase money for which will amount to three hundred and twenty-two thousand, nine hundred and eighty-four dollars. Of this amount, three hundred thousand dollars has been secured to the commissioners by the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey, and during the current year will be paid by them to the Treasurer.

In addition to the above, leases have been executed for lands under water, the rentals for which amount to thirteen thousand seven hundred and sixty-four dollars and eighty-three cents, which sum represents a principal of one hundred and ninety-six thousand six hundred and forty-one dollars and eighty-three cents, so that the principal money paid and to be paid for grants and leases of land under water, executed within the last year, (estimating in case of leases a principal sum that will yield interest equal to the annual rental) will reach the large sum of five hundred and nineteen thousand, six hundred and twenty-five dollars and eighty-three cents.

During last summer application was made to the Riparian Commissioners by the United States authorities for a grant of land under water in Delaware Bay, to be used as sites for light-houses. The sites desired being submerged and situated several miles from the main land, there were no riparian owners by virtue of adjacency of shore, and therefore the commissioners had no jurisdiction of the subject. Application in legal form was then made to me, as Governor of the State, setting forth that plans had been prepared for the proposed structures, advertisements issued inviting proposals for buildings; that the Light-house Board was ready to proceed with the work as soon as title to the required land could be obtained; that unless action was taken at once the work would be postponed another year, and that light-houses at the places designated were essential to the safety of commerce.

Upon examining the Act of March 26, 1873, entitled a supplement to an Act, entitled "An Act to provide building sites for Life Saving Stations on the coast of New Jersey," approved February 28, 1872, I was satisfied that the Governor had authority and power to make the desired grant, and on the fifteenth day of August, executed, under the Great Seal, in the name of the State of New Jersey, and delivered to the United States, conveyances for two tracts of submerged land, each containing less than five acres, one being part of Cross Ledge Shoal, and the other part of Ship John Shoal. I transmit herewith copies of the deeds, by which it will be seen that the lands granted are restricted to use for Light-house purposes, and if used otherwise, are to revert to the State. It will also be observed that concurrent jurisdiction in respect to process, civil or criminal, that may issue out of any of our courts is expressly reserved.

As the land granted was without value to the State, and nothing was paid to extinguish the title of private owners, conveyance to the United States was made for a nominal consideration. Should the United States authorities, for any reason, ask for confirmation of title to said lands, I reccommend that an act be passed ratifying said deeds, subject to the conditions and restrictions therein expressed.

On the 3d day of March, A. D., 1873, in response to resolutions passed by the Legislature of this State, Congress made an appropriation for the survey and examination of Crow Shoals, near Cape May, for an artificial harbor.

The examination has been made, and the United States Engineer having charge of the survey has made a favorable report. There is not now a good harbor for coasting vessels between New York and Norfolk, and it is therefore of the utmost importance that a harbor of refuge be constructed at the place above designated. I recommend the passage of resolutions requesting Congress to make an appropriation at the present session to construct a breakwater at the place and in the manner recommended in the report of the engineer. The commission named in the joint resolution of 1872, through whose instrumentality, chiefly, the appropriation was obtained, should be continued until the object be accomplished.

The report of the commissioners of pilotage states that the New Jersey pilots during the year brought into harbor fifteen hundred and sixty-four vessels, and took to sea thirteen hundred and thirteen, making a total of two thousand eight hundred and eighty-eight. The pilots are generally prospering in business, and no serious disaster has happened to them or to the property in their charge.

The commissioners appointed under an Act of the Legislature for the settlement of the territorial limits and jurisdiction of the State of New Jersey and the State of Delaware, have not made a final report. The Delaware commission having recently submitted their printed brief and argument, the New Jersey commissioners are now engaged in investigating ancient records and documents to enable them to prepare an argument in rebuttal. On account of the difficulty of access to many old documents, the labor of investigation is very great. Under the stipulation made at the first meeting of the joint commission, the New Jersey fishermen, pending the negotiations, continue to pursue their business within the so-called twelve mile circle, without molestation or objection.

The interest in fish culture continues. Salmon, salmon-trout, shad and black bass in great numbers have been placed in several of the rivers, at very little cost, through the agency and under the supervision of the Commissioners of Fisheries.

Shad entered Delaware Bay late in the season and continued in the river but a short time, yet more were taken than during the previous year and were of much larger size than for many years past. The commissioners account for the increased average weight of the shad by the fact that the fishing laws have recently been better observed. Although there are still more violations of the law, chiefly by citizens of other States, the fish have better access to their spawning grounds than formerly.

In conformity with a concurrent resolution passed at the last session of the Legislature of this State, I have addressed a communication to His Excellency, the Governor of the State of New York, requesting him to bring to the attention of the Legislature of that State the subject of quarantine, with a view of changing that part of the law which affects owners of vessels engaged in the coasting trade. This subject is of great importance to citizens of our State because Jerseymen are very largely interested in this trade. We have over three hundred coasting vessels, nearly all of which ply between the Chesapeake and ports in New Jersey or on New York bay. At some seasons of the year these vessels are quarantined off Staten Island by the New York authorities and compelled to pay fees before proceeding up the harbor. The fee on each trip is small, but in a year it amounts to a considerable sum for each vessel, and in the aggregate to many thousands of dollars annually. Vessels are frequently detained off quarantine, and while riding at anchor lose a favorable wind. The payment of money and the inconvenience of delay would not be so onerous if the quarantine performed answered any useful purpose. The mode in which it is done is very defective, the ceremony consisting chiefly in collecting the fees.

But the quarantining of coasting vessels coming from ports north of the Carolinas is not necessary. Numerous railroad trains carrying hundreds of passengers from the cities on Chesapeake Bay and its tributaries, arrive daily on the shore of New York harbor, and their human freight emptied into the city without detention or examination for infectious disease. Owners of coasting vessels in New York subjected to similar quarantine protest against it and desire its abolition. Aided by their influence in presenting the subject to the Legislature of that State, and relying upon the justice of the complaints against what seems to be an imposition upon a large class of hardy and industrious citizens, an effort on your part to have the quarantine laws so modified as to exempt from the aforesaid unnecessary expense and annoyance will doubtless be successful. No candid person can maintain it is right that vessels registered in this State, owned, commanded and manned by our citizens, and bound for New Jersey ports, should have the gates at the entrance of their harbor closed to them, to be opened only by paying tribute to another government.

STEVENS BATTERY.

By the act approved March 27, 1874, the Governor, Vice Chancellor and the executors of Edwin A. Stevens, deceased, were directed to make sale of the war vessel known as the "Stevens Battery," and pay the proceeds of sale into chancery, to be disposed of by a decree of that court in a suit wherein the State is a party. Soon after the passage of the act, the persons therein authorized met and after due deliberation, decided that it was impracticable to prepare and circulate properly, advertisements giving the detailed description of the vessel and its contents, as contemplated by the law, within the time specified for opening the bids. Considering the dates named in the law as only directory, and that the substantial purposes intended to be accomplished should not thereby be defeated, they fixed upon the second day of November last, at the State House, in the City of Trenton, as the time and place when and where the bids should be publicly opened. Their consulting engineer prepared, as soon as possible, a description of the vessel and all things belonging or appertaining thereto, which, with the terms of sale appended, was extensively advertised in this and other countries. The advertisement contained carefully prepared specifications of the several parts of the ship, illustrated by drawings. It also exhibited its present condition, the original plan of construction, the feasibility of converting it to other purposes, and the facilities offered for its removal or completion at the dock.

The bids were publicly opened in the Executive Chamber, at the time designated in the advertisement. There were several proposals for the vessel as an entirety, and some for separate lots. The highest bid, absolute in its terms and in conformity with the advertisement, was one hundred and five thousand dollars, which was a greater sum than the aggregate amount of a selection among the highest bids for separate lots. There was, however, a conditional proposal for the vessel as an entirety, of much larger amount. The Chief of the Bureau of Construction and Repairs of the Navy Department of the United States, by direction of the Secretary of the Navy, offered for the vessel one hundred and forty-five thousand dollars, with such further sum as would reimburse for any expense or delay occasioned by the bid, such additional sum to be fixed by agreement between the Secretary of the Navy and the vendors. This proposition was made on the further condition that it should be subject to the approval of Congress, and their appropriation to effect the purchase. It was evident that this bid could not be accepted without the consent of the gentleman who had made the highest unconditional proposal. Actuated by a desire that our national government should own the ship designed for a war vessel, and when completed destined to be a formidable instrument of attack as well as of harbor defence, he agreed, upon terms to be fulfilled by the United States, to hold his bid in abeyance and give opportunity for the Navy Department to consummate the proposed purchase. This result was promptly communicated to the Department and the proposition made, that if notified by the Secretary of the approval of the terms within a specified time, and the payment by the government of expense incident to the care of the property during the interval, the Battery would be held for a limited period, subject to the action of Congress, and subject also to approval by the State Legislature. A definite answer has not yet been received, but enough is known to render it probable that the United States will purchase the vessel at the price proposed. Should the sale to the government not be consummated, the highest unconditional bidder will take the ship at his proposal. Some additional legislation on the subject may be necessary, and if so, bills for that purpose will be presented in due time for your consideration.

MILITARY.

During the last fiscal year the sum of two hundred and eighty-three thousand eight hundred and eighty-four dollars and fifty-five cents, derived from the tax levy, was paid into the war fund. After appropriating what was required toward the liquidation of the principal and interest due on the war debt, there remained in this fund one hundred thousand dollars. Out of this money the "Home for Disabled Soldiers" and the "Soldiers' Children's Home" were supported. Other claims of a military nature were paid out of this fund, leaving in bank to its credit on the 31st day of October last, two thousand one hundred and sixty-three dollars and twenty-five cents.

At the close of the fiscal year there were one hundred and fifty-three pupils connected with the "Soldiers' Childrens Home." The expenses of this Home are much less than heretofore, and it is probable there will be a further deduction during the current year. The children are well instructed in the English branches, and several have learned the art of telegraphing. All are taught to be useful, and impressed with the conviction that upon ceasing to be wards of the State they should be self-supporting. I trust that interest in this institution will not abate, and that it will be liberally sustained.

The ninth annual report of the officers of the "Home for Disabled Soldiers" states that at the close of the fiscal year there were three hundred and seventy-one beneficiaries, and that the total number cared for during the year was thirteen hundred and sixty-five. About sixty per cent. of those who are aided are totally disabled and will so continue. There is an increasing demand for this institution. It was founded for a benevolent and patriotic purpose, and the object of its founders has been thus far attained. I recommend the necessary annual appropriation to continue its usefulness.

During this year the official register of the officers and men of New Jersey in the war of the rebellion will be completed and published by the Adjutant-General. It will be a valuable addition to the military history of the State. When it shall be completed we will have the record of all New Jersey Soldiers and Sailors who served in the French war, the American revolution, the Pennsylvania insurrection of 1794

the war of 1812, the Mexican war and the war of the rebellion, embracing the period between the years 1756 and 1866. The Adjutant-General on application, furnishes, without charge, certificates of record under official seal, which will be proof of service of men serving in either of these wars.

In the Quartermaster-General's Department much labor has been given to the re-examination and re-statement of the claim of the State against the United States Government, which early in the year was returned for additional vouchers and explanations. The claims, composed of a large number of items, is an unadjusted balance growing out of the late war, the allowance of which has been objected to and new proof requested. Most of the items will probably in the end be satisfactorily explained. At my urgent request, efforts have repeatedly been made to expedite the settlement. The final statement is now prepared for allowance and under consideration. It is believed that before your present session closes, about thirty thousand dollars will be allowed, and the money received during the year.

There has been paid into the State Treasury by the Quartermaster-General, during the last few years, over fifty thousand dollars, as proceeds of sale of unserviceable arms. This money should stand to the credit of the State Arsenal, to be used when necessary for the purchase of ordnance and ordnance stores.

Under an Act of Congress of 1808, appropriating two hundred thousand dollars annually for arming the militia, there is due New Jersey from the United States, as arrears of quota not drawn, and payable in muskets, about sixty thousand dollars, which will produce about three thousand and five hundred stand of arms, which will be sufficient to supply our whole National Guard, without any expense to the State. In settlement of this quota, altered muskets have been repeatedly offered, but the Quartermaster-General persistently refused to accept them, believing that our militia would be content for a short time with the inferior article they have been using, if by so doing, they would in the end receive an improved arm. In my last annual message it was stated that the United States Ordnance Department would probably, within a short time, furnish our quota in the new model breech-loaders. These arms are now being delivered at the State Arsenal, and will be distributed among the National Guard, according to law, as fast as received. This arm, in the opinion of military men, is superior to any heretofore used in the army, combining accuracy, range, and rapidity of fire.

A law of this State, approved in 1871, enacts, that in lieu of the then existing provision for uniforms, armory rents and pay, the Paymaster of each regiment or batallion should receive from the treasury five hundred dollars for each company. This constitutes the largest expenditure for the militia. The amount is fixed by law, and the Commander-in-Chief has not the power to make it less or more. The sum appropriated to each company is not too much, if the organization be kept up to the legal standard numerically. In addition to loss of time, the necessary expenses not provided for by law, which individuals connected with the National Guard contribute for the good of the service, are far greater than the amount drawn from the State. Over eleven thousand dollars charged to the militia account were paid for ordnance and ordnance stores, camp and garrison equipage, equipments and accoutrements now in the arsenal, to meet the requisitions of years to come. A considerable amount has been paid during the year for claims of former years. The current expenses of the National Guard, including transportation for all parades and inspections authorized and required by law, have been less than usual.

My views as to the importance of a well disciplined militia, and the constitutional duty of each State to organize and maintain such a military force, heretofore expressed officially have been strengthened by the events of the past year. The report of the Adjutant-General refers to an occasion when property, valued at millions of dollars, awaiting shipment, was at the mercy of hundreds of misguided and turbulent men. Not until local authorities requested military aid and protection in due form of law and the danger was iminent, was any part of the National Guard put under arms, and then, with strict orders not to move from their armories until legally notified by the Sheriff of the county that the civil power had been exhausted. Fortunately, the preparations prevented more serious disorder, and doubtless saved much valuable property from damage or wanton destruction. Unless a State has sufficient power in all emergencies to protect property, capitalists will be careful to avoid it in their investments, especially in works of public improvement. So long as mankind is governed by the passions incident to human nature, must every government possess military power. If the States have no militia, or have a force that is weak and inefficient, a standing army may supply its place. A large standing army is inimical to the liberties of the country, and it is hoped that New Jersey may always have a sufficient militia force to preserve the peace within her borders without calling on the general government for troops.

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS.

Both houses of the Legislature, at the last session, agreed to several amendments to the constitution of this State, entered them upon their Journals, and have referred them to you to decide whether they shall be submitted to the people. The proposed amendments have been published as the constitution requires, and may be acted upon at any time you shall determine to consider them. It is hoped that the consideration of these proposed changes in the organic law will not be postponed to so late a day in the session, that other business shall intervene to interrupt your deliberations.

The adoption of the proposed amendments would conduce materially to the public welfare. Several of them are of the utmost importance, and the people should have the opportunity to vote upon them.

In the article upon suffrage it is proposed to strike the word "white" from the present constitution. This should be done to make it conform to one of the recent amendments of the constitution of the United States, by which our election officers are now governed.

It is right that qualified electors in the military service should be allowed to vote if necessarily absent from home on duty, but the legislation to carry into effect the provisions of this amendment, when adopted, should carefully guard the ballot box and make it impossible for returning Boards to deprive the soldier of the effect of the ballot he may cast.

Among the most important of the proposed amendments is the one which forbids special legislation, and provides for general laws on the various subjects therein specified. Should this be adopted, the general railroad law which was passed with such unanimity two years ago, will be secured, and hereafter there can be no monopoly of routes of travel in any part of the State. With this amendment in force no special law can be passed appointing commissioners to govern municipalities, and the long train of evils which follow such departure from the principle of local self-government, will hereafter be averted. Neither can corporate powers be granted except by general legislation, and the legislature would hereafter be relieved from the mass of business which now engrosses attention, the sessions would be shortened and the expenses of government diminished.

The paragraph which compels the legislature to provide for the maintenance and support of a thorough and efficient system of free public schools, for the instruction of all the children of the State of legal school age, will commend itself to the friends of education.

My views in favor of other proposed amemendments were fully stated to your predecessors, and I will not repeat them. An opportunity is now given to incorporate needed reforms in the constitution without entirely superceding an instrument with which the people of the State are in the main satisfied.

It is to be regretted that in the amendments referred for your action, there was not incorporated the paragraph recommended by the Constitutional Commission, which provided that conviction for felony or other infamous crime, should, after final judgment thereon, vacate office and that a duly authenticated record of such conviction and judgment should be conclusive evidence of such vacancy. It has been decided in this State that such offenders cannot be removed by any mode except impeachment, and as the Court of Impeachment convenes only at long intervals, the extraordinary spectacle may be presented of convicts exercising for months the privileges of office. Although this provision cannot now be incorporated in the constitution, yet it may be embodied in a statute, and considering that it has produced good results in other States, it would be wise to pass such a law.

REVISION OF LAWS.

In the multiplicity of business pressing upon the last Legislature during the closing hours of the session, a few of the acts prepared by the revisers failed to become laws. These will be introduced at the present session, and should be considered at an early day, so that the complete volume of revised statutes provided for by the act of 1874, may be printed and distributed within the year.

No provision was made by the Legislature for printing a part of the revision. The law which authorized the printing contemplated the entire volume with notes and marginal references. One of the revised acts that passed forbids their publication in the newspapers or pamphlet laws of the current year. There is a provision in the same act which caused all that received the signature of the Governor to go into effect on the first day of January, A. D., 1875. Upon recommendation of the revisers, approved by the Attorney General and Comptroller of the Treasury, I have caused all the revision which passed to be printed. To have permitted the great body of the law by which the business affairs of the State are conducted to have remained unpublished and unknown, would have caused serious difficulty and embarrassment.

Through the energy of three practical printers I was enabled to have published within the time designated for them to take effect, one thousand copies of all the revised laws which are now in operation. After forwarding a sufficient number to the officials who usually receive the laws, I deposited the remainder with a bookseller, who will apply the proceeds of sale towards the expenses of publication. In addition to the above, I had printed one thousand copies of the act for the trial of small causes, which have been forwarded to Justices of the Peace throughout the State.

The publication of these laws was an imperative necessity, and in the absence of a statute expressly authorizing it to be done, I considered it the duty of the Governor to have them printed, to inform the people what the laws are which they were expected to obey, and which protect them in the enjoyment of property, liberty and life.

The work has been well done and with remarkable expedition; the bills presented are reasonable, and I recommend the passage of an act providing for immediate payment.

Much time and labor have been given to the revision by the able jurists, to whom the important duty was entrusted, and when completed it will be found of great value.

CENTENNIAL EXHIHITION.

An act of the Legislature, approved March 5, 1874, authorized and directed the Governor, Comptroller and Treasurer, on behalf, and in the name of the State of New Jersey to subscribe for ten thousand shares of Centennial Stock, which when issued by the Centennial Board of Finance, should be held by the Treasurer for the use and benefit of the State. The second section of the act contains a proviso that no part of the subscription directed to be made, should be paid until, in the opinion of the persons named in the law, sufficient money had been subscribed or appropriated either by the National Government, the States, by corporations or individuals, or by all combined, to make the proposed exposition a national success.

The language of the act imperatively directs the subscription to be made, and the payment of the money is dependent upon the decision of the persons authorized to judge the question of success. Under the advice of the Attorney-General of the State, who was of opinion that in the spirit of the law the subscription depended upon their determination of this question, the Governor, Comptroller and Treasurer, in fulfillment of the duty imposed upon them by law, proceeded first to ascertain all the facts bearing upon the present financial condition and prospects of the Exposition, in order to decide if sufficient money had been subscribed or appropriated from any or all the sources named in the act, to make it a success. The following information was elicited from authentic and reliable sources.

The State of Pennsylvania has appropriated towards the purposes of the Exposition one million of dollars, and the city of Philadelphia one and a half millions. Two millions of dollars, now available, have been raised by individual subscriptions to stock, and arrangements have been made which will ensure the receipt of at least two millions additional, before the opening of the Exhibition. The use of four hundred and fifty acres of land in Fairmount Park, Philadelphia, admirably located for the purpose, has been donated. Contracts have been made for several of the most expensive buildings, and they are now in course of erection. The buildings, when completed, will cover forty acres. "Horticultural Hall" to occupy one and a half acres, and "Machinery Hall" to cover thirteen acres, to cost together one million of dollars, will be paid for out of the appropriation made by the city of Philadelphia. The "Art Gallery," under contract, and now being constructed of granite, designed to be the most magnificent specimen of architecture in the country, and to cost one and a half millions of dollars, will be paid for from the appropriations made by the State of Pennsylvania and the city of Philadelphia. These three buildings are to be devoted to the use of the Exposition without charge of any kind to the stockholders, the money appropriated to their construction not being represented by stock. This magnificent donation, together with the free use of the grounds, will inure greatly to the benefit of the stockholders. The main "Exhibition Building," to cover twenty acres, now under contract, and the "Agricultural Building," to cover five acres, will be constructed of cheaper materials, with the money subscribed for stock at a cost probably within the amount thus realized.

Without taking into account the large receipts during the Exhibition, and the immense sum that will be realized by sale of the memorial medals prepared at the United States Mint and issued by authority of Congress, all of which will benefit the stock, it is evident from the foregoing exhibit of the resources at hand, the favorable terms on which the spacious grounds and some of the most expensive buildings are secured, the advanced stage of construction of the edifices under contract with responsible parties on reasonable terms, together with the undoubted fact that the financial management of the enterprise is in the hands of gentlemen of unquestioned integrity and acknowledged business ability, proved the assured success of the proposed Exhibition; and this fact being settled by the unanimous judgment of those to whom the decision of the question was entrusted, they so decided, and under the direction of the law the subscription was made.

The facts already stated are sufficient to satisfy every candid mind that the American Centennial will be successful; but there are others which go far to prove that it will not merely be an ordinary success, but that it will be the greatest and grandest Exhibition the world has ever witnessed. It has the National sanction. Congress has enacted that the Exhibition, both national and international in its character, shall be held. The President, in obedience to law, has extended an invitation to all nations to participate, and the United States is thus solemnly pledged by every consideration of duty and national honor, to make it worthy the event it is designed to commemorate. Its affairs are managed by representatives of every State in the Union, appointed upon nomination of the Governors of the respective States. The general government is represented in a Board composed of an officer from each of the departments, and the Smithsonian Institution. More than one-third of the States have already appointed Boards of Centennial Managers, and it is probable that the others will make like appointments during the present winter. Volunteer committees, consisting of granges of agriculture and central and local boards of citizens, are at work in different sections of the country. In many localities, patriotic women, alive to the suitable commemoration of the birth of a nation in which their sex has been advanced to a higher sphere than in any other part of the globe, have collected large sums of money. Applications for space in the several departments have been received from numerous manufacturers and others in many of the States.

Local prejudice has exhausted itself; obstacles which at the beginning seemed formidable have disappeared, and there is now throughout the country a growing enthusiasm in favor of the Exhibition.

But a fact extremely encourageing to the friends of the Centennial is the unanimity with which other nations have accepted the invitation. There is now hardly a doubt that all the leading nations of the world and several minor powers will participate. The foreign nations which have thus far signified their acceptance are England, Germany, France, Spain, The Netherlands, Sweden and Norway, Belgium, Japan, Mexico, Brazil, Chili, Peru, and other South American governments, besides a number of others in all the continents and in some of the tropical islands. Extensive preparations are also being made in Austria, Australia, and the Dominion of Canada, for a large display of their industries and their formal acceptance is daily expected. The truth is, that European and Oriental nations look upon the growth and development of this country as marvellous. They cannot understand why it is, that a handful of Colonists could in a century grow to a national power and influence equal to what the most prosperous of the governments of the Old World attained in a thousand years. The people there are interested and curious to learn the causes of our remarkable career, and they will not only contribute to the Exposition, but will visit it in immense numbers.

The location of New Jersey, in close proximity to the site of the Exposition and between the two great cities of this Hemisphere destined to be the centres of attraction, causes the American Centennial to be of peculiar interest and importance to her people, and therefore I have represented its present status and prospects with some detail. In a business point of view our people will be vastly benefitted in the increased demand for products, and the circulation of money by the vast multitude of strangers from this and other countries who will sojourn within our borders, visiting our battle fields and other places of historic interest, or enjoying the healthful climate and invigorating temperature of our places of summer resort. People who hope to better their condition will see the advantages our State presents, and will colonize the large uncultivated tracts of land in some of our counties, thus adding to the population and wealth of the State. But the greatest benefit will flow to the manufacturrers. An opportunity never before presented and which probably will not be again for a hundred years, will be given them almost at their own doors, to demonstrate, not only to the people of our own widely extended country, but to the representatives of every civilized nation in the world, a fact which is well known to those who have had opportunity of observation, that no community of equal population excels the State of New Jersey in variety or quality of manufactures. She will doubtless be fully represented in all departments, and there is no doubt her reputation as a State as well as the pecuniary interests of her people will be greatly improved thereby. Now that she has subscribed for stock, probably sufficient in amount to provide the space she will occupy, her people will be better satisfied than to depend for accommodations entirely upon the contributions or subscriptions of others no more interested than themselves.

But in considering this subject we should be governed by higher motives than mere business or pecuniary advantages. We should seize the opportunity, in fitting manner to express our gratitude to the Supreme Ruler of nations, that as a people and a State we have been so remarkably blessed and have advanced so rapidly in population and wealth. A nation not possessing sufficient patriotism at the end of an hundred years, suitably to commemorate the anniversary of its birth would probably not survive another century. What so proper after sectional strife and bitterness, for people of all the States to gather at the cradle of liberty, the place where not only the Declaration of Independence was signed and promulgated, but the organic law which binds the Union was framed, there to renew ancient friendships and strengthen the bonds of national unity.

Provision should be made by law for the collection and arrangement of our minerals. An act should be passed at an early day, authorizing the appointment by the Governor or the Legislature of five "Centennial Managers" for this State, who with the present United States Commissioner and Alternate will constitute a Board charged with the duty of giving information to those who desire to exhibit, of securing a representation of different industries and of preparing and supervising the New Jersey department. Unless this be done speedily, other States, where similar boards have been organized, will be in advance of us in their arrangements for the Exposition.

FEDERAL AND STATE RIGHTS.

Whatever opinion may have been entertained as to the mode in which some of the recent amendments to the Federal constitution were submitted, and the circumstances under which they were ratified by several of the States, it is universally agreed that those amendments form part of the constitution, and as such must be respected and obeyed. The people of every section regard all questions involved in them as finally settled, and have so framed their State constitutions and local laws as to conform to their spirit and letter, by giving equal political rights to all men without regard to color. The entire acquiescence in these amendments, especially by the people of the States most affected by them, is encouraging to all who sustain the constitution in its entirety and abide by the laws of the land.

But the amendments referred to are no more binding than the original instrument. Every provision of the constitution is of equal force and should be strictly observed and obeyed, not only by the States and the people, but by the general government. Especially should the organic law be the guide and the limit of power to those who govern, and when by them its requirements are disregarded, the voice of condemnation and protest should rise all over the land, from the people in conventions, or through their representatives.

The recent violation of the Federal constitution in a sister State strikes at the very existence of State sovereignty. An unlawful blow cannot be inflicted on one State by the Federal power without all feeling its effect. When the reserved rights of one are encroached upon, the citizens of every State are interested.

Without giving in detail the unconstitutional proceedings recently had in Louisiana, to which allusion has been made, and with which you are familiar, it is sufficient to state that armed soldiers of the United States invaded the State Capitol, entered the very hall in which one branch of the Legislature was in session, and forcibly ejected members of the body from the seats to which they had been admitted by a vote of the House to which they had been elected and their right to membership referred, and that the same soldiers, surrounding the Speaker's chair in close proximity, by the intimidation of their presence in military dress and equipment, did drive the body from the legislative hall provided by law for its deliberations. At the time of this transaction, unprecedented in this country, there was no invasion, insurrection or domestic violence existing there, and the Legislature, having the right to determine upon the election and qualifications of its members, had exercised that right, and was in peaceable session engaged in its legitimate business.

That such action was a clear violation of the constitution needs no argument. A mere statement of a few fundamental principles which lie at the foundation of our system of government, and which are so plain as to have become axioms, is all that is necessary. The first great truth bearing upon the question is, that the United States government is the creation of the States; that it has no power except that which was bestowed upon it by the States, and that all powers not delegated are reserved to the States and the people thereof. The delegated powers given to the general government are expressed in the constitution. Another important fact is that the sovereignty of a State is complete and real in its proper sphere, and from this it follows that it is the duty of the several States as well as of the United States, to assert and maintain, in a constitutional manner, their several rights. The student of the constitution will also observe that its framers, fearing the encroachments of the central government on the rights of the States, were jealous of its military power, and hence threw around its exercise such guards and restrictions as made it subordinate to the civil power. Before the army of the United States can lawfully be used in any of the States when there is no invasion, there must be insurrection or domestic violence; and also application for troops from the proper civil authority of the State. The right of such application is in the Legislature. If the Legislature is not in session, the Governor cannot apply, unless he first call upon the Legislature to convene. If upon being summoned the Legislature cannot convene, then, and not until then, has a Governor the right to call federal soldiers into his State.

The Legislature could have been convened. In fact, on that day it was in session; and the extraordinary spectacle was presented of the United States Army dispersing by force the very body without whose application not a single soldier had the right to be there. There was no insurrection or domestic violence; there was no riot; it was not a mob that was dispersed and driven out by the bayonet, but it was the Legislative Assembly of a sovereign State. That was no ordinary invasion of constitutional rights, but a stab at local self-government in a vital part. It was a direct violation of the Constitution in its most important feature, imperiling the rights of the States and the liberties of the citizen.

Nearly forty years ago, in addressing the people of this country upon its voluntary retirement from the Presidency and from public life, the great soldier and statesman, whose name stands next to that of Washington on the roll of American heroes, used the following language, every sentence of which should be engraved on the minds of all who desire the preservation of our form of government: "The legitimate authority of the general government is abundantly sufficient for all the purposes for which it was created; and its powers being expressly enumerated, there can be no justification for claiming anything beyond them. Every attempt to exercise power beyond these limits should be promptly and firmly opposed. One evil example will lead to others still more mischievous; and if the principle of constructive powers, or supposed advantages, or temporary circumstances shall ever be permitted to justify the assumption of power not given by the constitution, the general government will before long absorb all the powers of legislation, and you will have in effect but one consolidated government. Every friend of our free institutions should be always prepared to maintain, unimpaired, and in full vigor, the rights and sovereignty of the States, and to confine the action of the general government strictly to the sphere of its appropriate duties."

I recommend that, in the name of New Jersey, a State which has ever been loyal to the constitution and the laws, and which has on all occasions sustained the national government in the exercise of legitimate powers, you do promptly and in firm and decided language, protest against the recent unlawful action of the federal authorities in using the military power of the United States to invade the constitutional rights of the sister State of Louisiana.

CONCLUSION.

In concluding this, my last communication to the Legislature, I cannot refrain from referring to the kind feeling and courtesy which have constantly been extended to me by all who fill the various departments of the State government in our personal and official relations.

Conscious of having discharged the arduous and responsible duties which have devolved upon me, to the best of my ability, I leave the executive office in the hands of one whose well known character is a guarantee of good government.

May God, in his infinite wisdom, so direct, that our beloved commonwealth may continue to prosper in all things which conduce to the welfare and happiness of the people.

Mr. Hill offered the following concurrent resolution:

WHEREAS, During the closing hours of the forty-third congress, while the sundry civil appropriation bill was under consideration, an amendment was offered and agreed to as follows:

"That section eight of the act approved June twenty-third, eighteen hundred and seventy-four, 'making appropriations for the service of the post office department for the fiscal year ending June thirtieth, eighteen hundred and seventy-five, and for other purposes,' be, and the same is hereby amended as follows: Insert the word 'ounce' in lieu of the words 'two ounces;'" and

WHEREAS, the effect of this amendment is to increase the postage on transient newspapers, periodicals, packages and other matter sent through the mails, included in third class, double the rate of postage of the law of June twenty-third, eighteen hundred and seventy-four, notwithstanding it was offered on the plea to "replenish the United States treasury;" and

WHEREAS, by the enacting of this law, it compels all citizens of this country to pay double postage on transient newspapers and periodicals—two, three and four cents, instead of one and two cents under the old law—therefore, it bears hard on the people, especially the humble poor; and in these times, when business is depressed, work is scarce, and labor low and poorly paid, and all are striving to economize in living, it seems ill-timed for the imposition of additional taxes as created by this amendment. It was distinctly said, by those who advocated the enacting of this law, that it was for the purpose of "replenishing the treasury," which implies increase of taxes. No department of the National government comes so near the people as the post office department, and where they are more willing to have a debt incurred if they receive corresponding benefit for the same, and the object of the post office department should be to give accommodation and good mail facilities to the people. It is not expected that this dempartment can be one of profit and revenue to the government, but by strict economy and good management it can give cheap and low rates of postage, which will necessarily create correspondence, scatter intelligence among the people by newspapers and periodicals, promote education, and good generally be accomplished; and

WHEREAS, The mailing of small packages at a moderate rate of postage is a very great accommodation to the people, especially in remote towns and villages, not located on express routes; the new law doubles the rate of postage, which, in our opinion, is too high ; and

WHEREAS, while Congress has imposed on the people of the country additional high rates of postage it is to be regretted that they have also in part re-enacted the Franking Privilege," thus granting free use of the mails and privileges to a favored few at the expense of the many, therefore

Be it Resolved, (House of Assembly concurring), That postage reforms ought not to go backward, as is the case in the enacting of this new law; justice and equity alike demand that the law of June twenty-third, eighteen hundred and seventy-four, regulating the postage on transient newspapers, periodicals, packages, &c., be restored by repealing the amendment to the Sundry Civil Appropriation Bill, adopted March third, eighteen hundred and seventy-five, increasing double rates of postage, and that, on the assembling of Congress in December next, we do recommend and respectfully ask that this be done.

Resolved, That our Senators and Representatives in Congress, be requested to use their influence for the repeal of the law enacted March 3, 1875.

Resolved, That a copy of these Resolutions, singned by the Governor, be sent to each of our Senators and Represenatives in Congress, to be presented to their respective bodies.

Which were agreed to and ordered to be printed.

reports bonds of the several counties of the State, for the surplus revenue of the United States, seven hundred and sixty-four thousand six hundred and seventy dollars and forty-four cents, which stand on his books as a loan to the counties and due the State, and the United States Treasurer holds certificates against the State of New Jersey for the same, which stands charged on the books of the United States Treasurer with that amount, showing an indebtedness of this State to the United States for the amount named above, and the Treasurer of this State has reported annually, for nearly forty years, these securities, showing no interest paid by the counties to the State, neither has there been any interest paid by the State to the United States on the same; and

WHEREAS, the said securities due by the counties to the State are for the amount of surplus revenue deposited with the State of New Jersey, under an act of Congress of June twenty-third, eighteen hundred and thirty-six, ordering "That the money which shall be in the treasury of the United States on the first day January, eighteen hundred and thirty-seven, reserving the sum of five million dollars, shall be deposited with the several States, in proportion to their respective representation in the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States;" and

Was taken up. The objections of the Governor to said bill were read as follows:

STATE OF NEW JERSEY,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
TRENTON, March 29, 1875.

To the Senate:—

I am obliged to return without approval, Senate Bill, No. 74, entitled "An act to incorporate the Port Oram Rolling Mill Company," for the reasons stated in a message to the House of Assembly, returning a bill to incorporate the Peters and Calhoun Company, a copy of which is herewith sent. Bill No. 74, is intended to confer the usual corporate powers in any ordinary business, and these in my judgment should be sought under general laws.

Respectfully,
J. D. BEDLE
Governor.

STATE OF NEW JERSEY,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
TRENTON, February 9, 1875.

To the General Assembly:—

I am constrained to return without approval, Assembly Bill, No. 65, entitled "An act to incorporate the Peters and Calhoun Company." It is intended by this bill to incorporate a manufacturing and trading company in the saddlery and harness business. Its provisions are not peculiar, nor objectionable, in themselves, but it belongs to a class of special legislation by which corporate privileges in an ordinary business are conferred, and which privileges in my judgment should be obtained only through general laws. We have now an act under which a corporation may be organized for the purpose of carrying on any lawful business whatever, except banking. If some of its clauses may be regarded as too exacting, a change could readily be made, so as to make it conform to the usual scope of such bills as this. In common business matters corporate powers should be procured without discrimination and under general laws. The waste of public time and money in special legislation like this and of a kindred character, is so great, and the true policy of the State is so decidedly against it, as to induce me in this way, and at the first suitable opportunity to call attention to it, so that now the evil may be corrected, and the principle of general laws for corporate privileges in ordinary business be acted upon, if thought wise by the Legislature.

Respectfully,
JOSEPH D. BEDLE,
Governor.

Upon the question "Shall this bill pass the Governor's objections thereto notwithstanding?" it was decided by the following vote:

In the negative, were

Mr. Hopkins offered the following resolution:

Resolved, That the usual number of copies of the report of the Committee on the Lunatic Asylum be printed for the use of the Legislature, and that the report be spread upon the Journal of the Senate.

Which was agreed to.

Said report is as follows:

To the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey:

The Joint Committee, to whom was referred so much of the Governor's message as relates to the State Lunatic Asylum, beg leave to report as follows:

Your Committee have made the customary visit to the institution and examined into the condition of the inmates, who appeared to be as well and comfortably provided for as is practicable, in the present crowded state of the building.

The presence of nearly two hundred patients in excess of the number for which the building was intended, makes it necessary to use many of the sitting rooms as associated bedrooms and to duplicate beds in small rooms intended only for one.

Great embarrassment is also created from the inability of the officers to maintain the requisite classification when each and all the departments are so much crowded.

Fortunately the system of warming the house by steam and of changing the air frequently, both day and night, by the union of a forced and exhaust ventilation, contributes to maintain the health of the inmates at a high standard, notwithstanding the presence of excessive numbers.

The general appearance of the building internal and external, also the outbuildings and fixtures, such as the carpenter's and machine shops for wood and iron; the boiler and engine houses, containing fans for forcing air to and exhausting it from the building; the mechanical bakery, where bread, crackers, cakes, &c., are made for this large family; the laundry for washing, dyeing, and ironing wearing apparel and bed clothes; the slaughter house where all meats are dressed and prepared for use; the water works for supplying the building, &c., &c., indicates an extent of facilities and system in managing necessary details rarely equaled, perhaps nowhere surpassed in an institution of this kind.

During the last few years the work of renovation, repairs and improvements has been going on in the building and various working fixtures, made necessary by the lapse of time since the institution was opened in 1848, and also by the increasing demands made upon it by the increasing number of inmates. These improvements appear to have been judiciously and economically made under the direction of the officers of the institution, if we may judge by the facts of their successful working and that they have been made without extra appropriations from the State Treasury.

By reference to the Treasurer's and Steward's statements of accounts in the annual reports, we infer that the financial affairs of the institution are prosperous and well managed, also, that the institution under the present administration of its affairs, is in an eminent degree fulfilling the benevolent purposes of the State, and the just expectations of its friends.

Arrangements are now being made, by direction of the Board of Managers, for utilizing the valuable water power on the English property, so called, the purchase of which was authorized by the Legislature at its last session. When these are completed a considerable economy and great convenience in procuring important supplies, is confidently expected.

Your committee was especially impressed by remarks in the Managers' report, in regard to the subject of change in the provision for insane convicts from the State Prison, and who, during the last few years, have been committed to the Asylum for care and treatment.

The Managers say that "among the patients in the Asylum, are included twenty-one insane convicts, who have been transferred to the institution from the State Prison by virtue of the twelfth section of the act for the government and regulation of the State Prison," approved March 26, 1869.

While all must admit that the plainest dictates of humanity demand, on the part of the State, the provision of means for the merciful care and skillful treatment of insane convicts, yet there would seem to be a natural repugnance to placing these persons in contact with the other insane of the State. The affliction of insanity is sufficiently deplorable without causing to the relatives and friends of the sufferers the added grief of knowing that those to whom they are bound by the tenderest ties, may be forced to mingle with common convicts. We feel this to be a grievous wrong that calls for prompt and adequate remedy.

"This evil, not easy to endure when the law was first enacted, and there were but few insane convicts, has grown in magnitude with the increase of the number of cases, and ought to be no longer tolerated. We earnestly urge that provision be made by law for this class of cases, in some suitable place separate from other insane of the State. We believe that this could be best done in the State Prison property. There those who have only occasional attacks of lunacy, in the interval, could be provided with such useful employment as might be deemed compatible with their condition. Such an arrangement would also leave no inducement on the part of prisoners to feign insanity, in order to accomplish a removal from the prison."

In the sentiments thus expressed by the managers, as well as in similar expressions on the sbject, in the late message of Governor Parker, your committee fully concur, and in order to effect the desired change in the care and management of this class of insane persons, present a bill for repealing section twelfth of the act referred to, and urge its passage.

SAMUEL HOPKINS,
JOHN HILL,
SAMUEL T. SMITH.

Report of the Committee on the Protest to the Legislature of the State, against the passage of the "Catholic Protectory Bill:"

Your Committee recommend the passage of the following protest, to be presented to the Legislature:

To the Honorable the Legislature of the State of New Jersey:—

The Newark Annual Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church desire to present to your honorable body their earnest protest against the passage of the bill known as the Catholic Protectory bill.

First—We believe the passage of the bill will be a dangerous step in the direction of Church interference with civil affairs, and we protest against any action of the Legislature looking in this direction.

Second—We protest against any penal or disciplinary sentences of the civil authorities being handed over to denominational and sectarian organizations for execution. Such an abdication of its functions by the State, in favor of any religious organization, is essentially wrong and exceedingly dangerous to the public welfare.

Third—We protest against the State accepting at the hands of any church, the maintenance of its wards as the price paid to it for the privilege of training them up in the faith of that particular church.

Fourth—We earnestly protest against invoking the aid of the State to compel our youth, under pains and penalties, to accept the training which priests and parents may endeavor to force upon them. Such an abuse of State power is abhorrent to the genius of our free institutions.

Fifth—We regard any act of the State by which it puts the care and training of its wards beyond its own control as essentially wrong and unwise.

Sixth—We object to invoking the special aid of the State for carrying out the benevolent enterprises of any church. The Roman Catholic Church already possesses the same facilities for its benevolent work that are accorded to other Christian organizations, and therefore we object to its being granted any special and unusual privileges by the Legislature.

J. S. PORTER, Chairman,
C. N. SIMS, Secretary,
LEWIS R. DUNN,
J. K. BURR,
J. T. CRANE,
COMMITTEE.

The above was regularly adopted by the Newark Conference, on the first day of April, 1875, and Rev's L. R. Dunn and J. D. Blain were duly appointed to bear the same in the name of the Conference to the State Senate before which the bill referred to is now pending.

Upon the retirement of the House of Assembly from the Senate Chamber, the members of the Senate were called to order by Hon. F. A. Potts, upon whose motion Hon. John Hopper was appointed Chairman.

Hon. Leon Abbett offered the following resolution:

WHEREAS, Hon. John W. Taylor now terminates a period of service of three years as presiding officer, and of six years services in the Senate:

Resolved, That this Senate desires to express its high appreciation of the courteous and conscientious manner in which Mr. Taylor has performed the duties devolving upon him as presiding officer of this body, and his prompt and accurate despatch of business, and also our high personal regard and esteem for his courtesy and kindness.

Mr. Abbett said in moving this resolution he was actuated by a sense of duty we owed to a gentleman who in the important duties devolving upon him had been uniformly courteous, fair and impartial. In the despatch of business he had been prompt. Our work had been kept up owing principally to his earnest devotion to the business of the State. Although differing with him in some matters he was prepared to say with great pleasure that he was a good presiding officer and an ornament to the State.

The resolution was adopted unanimously.

Mr. Smith offered the following:

Resolved, That the thanks of the Senate are due and are hereby tendered to N. W. Voorhees, Secretary; Wm. Cloke, Assistant Secretary; Augustus S. Barber, Jr., Journal Clerk; Benjamin F. Wood, Engrossing Clerk; Thomas Starr, Assistant Clerk; A. C. B. Havens, Thomas Palmer, and M. H.

Courtney, John Goodin, Henry Schenck, and Silas P. Genung, Doorkeepers, for the uniform courtesy and efficiency with which they have discharged the duties of their respective positions.

After a few remarks by Mr. Smith, the resolution was unanimously adopted.

President Taylor extended to each member his entire and sincere thanks for the flattering manner in which they had spoken of the discharge of his duties. It was too late now to make remarks, but he hoped the friendly associations formed here would long be remembered by us, as he should certainly remember them with great pleasure.
