Gov. Whitman Addresses Cato Institute

Gov. Christie Whitman today highlighted her tax cuts and successful fiscal policies when she addressed members of the Cato Institute, a nonpartisan public policy research foundation headquartered in Washington, D.C.

"The more we can do to limit government's growth, the more financial, personal, and political freedom we can maintain for the hardworking people government serves," said Gov. Whitman in her address.

"We will continue to look for ways to cut taxes for New Jersey's citizens and restrain spending," said Gov. Whitman. "We know, no matter how sunny economic forecasts are right now, we cannot afford to be extravagant. We're going to make sure there's more than a little left for New Jersey's future."
