Have history, ready to travel

Militia Museum presents the Revolution

Joseph G. Bilby, Assistant Curator

The National Guard Militia Museum at Sea Girt is taking its rich history on the road.

In addition to its standing exhibits, the museum hosts traveling displays, including the New Jersey State Museum's recent presentation on the state's African-American Revolutionary War experience. The museum's special exhibits, include the only carriage-mounted Civil War cannon on museum display in New Jersey, a 20th century small arms collection, a photographic and narrative survey of the history of Sea Girt and its role in New Jersey and national political and military history, the story of how New Jersey World War I army musicians founded post-war American Legion drum and bugle corps and a large vehicle display room featuring jeeps, trucks, a World War II "Stuart" M-3 tank and the only surviving Union Civil War submarine.

The museum's submarine is of particular national and state interest, drawing visitors from around the country. It will soon be featured on a New Jersey Network documentary series. Partially built in Newark, it became the property of New Jersey attorney and lobbyist Oliver N. "Pet" Halstead, who proposed to sail it up the James River to Richmond in 1865. In September, 2010, the Sea Girt staff opened a new special exhibit created to celebrate the museum's 30th Anniversary and displaying part of its collection of original dress uniforms, trophies, china, artifacts and photographs of the 44th Division of the New Jersey National Guard and the New Jersey governors between World Wars I and II

The museum gift shop, like the museum, is "Jersey-centric" and features, along with special military coins, hats, and other souvenir items, a large collection of books and pamphlets on the state's military history. With a well stocked store, a full house of interesting exhibits with more planned for the near future, The National Guard Militia Museum of New Jersey, which is also celebrating its fifth year in a row of steadily rising visitor numbers.

NJ Youth ChalleNGe Class No. 32 to Graduate

The nearly 80 cadets of New Jersey Youth ChalleNGe Class 32 are expected to cross the stage of the Trenton War Memorial at 10 a.m. on Saturday, marking their graduation and taking a first step toward living their lives with a new sense of direction and purpose.

For the cadets, completion of the rigorous 22-week course at Fort Dix means they've earned a high-school diploma and acquired the skills needed to further their education or join the military.

Since its launch in 1992, more than 2,600 teen-agers have completed the program created by the National Guard to help at-risk youth turn their lives around.

Class 32 is the first class to graduate under the leadership of Director Victoria Ragucci, the first female civilian to lead New Jersey's program. Ragucci, a veteran educator, replaced retired Army National Guard brigadier general John Nunn, who retired from the civilian director position at the beginning of the summer.

Cadet First Sergeant Michael Olvera will serve as the master of ceremonies and deliver the invocation. The Adjutant General, Maj. Gen. Glenn K. Rieth, will introduce the keynote speaker, Frank Carlini, a retired Army National Guard brigadier general who serves as the DMAVA's Director for Healthcare Services.

Do you know what we “celebrated” yesterday, Sept. 22? Well, besides the birthdays of Joan Jett (50) and Tommy Lasorda (83); and Elephant Appreciation Day, Dear Diary Day and Hobbit Day; and the premiers of four television shows that gave birth to a number of future stars – Maverick (1957), Charlie’s Angels (1976), Family Ties (1982) and Friends (1994)? Probably unnoticed by many, we also had the first day of fall. Warm weather for most of us, but it is the first step towards the cooler times to come.

As we head off on the cycle going to chilly weather, I thought it might be a prime time to start thinking about how to keep warm during the next few months. Here are some hints on keeping warm with using virtually no money up front and the opportunity to save dollars.

Layer your clothing. As it cools off, add layers; don’t turn up the thermostat.

Add an extra blanket or two to snuggle under at night. Thicker, heavier blankets may be the answer. And don’t forget to throw a blanket or afghan or two on your sofa or favorite lounging chair to use when watching television.

Turn down the thermostat at night, when everyone is at work or school during the day or when you are out of the house for long periods of time. Get into the habit of turning down the temp before you head off to bed every night.

Open up the blinds and curtains during the day to let the sunlight in to heat up the house.

If you have a set of heavy curtains or drapes for the windows, put them up. When you close them in the evening to keep the warm air in, the heavy fabric will help do the job.

Here is a hint that will help keep the winter bulge down and your body warm – exercise during the commercials. Run in place, a couple trips up and down the steps, some sit-ups, a few push-ups and you will stay trim and warm at the same time.

When vacuuming, make sure to get those air registers and baseboard heaters. If they are clear, the heat gets through better.

Keep your furniture and rugs away from the heating vents. Blocking your vents keeps the warm air from coming in the rooms.

Take your window air conditioner out of the window, eliminating possible leaks. If that isn’t possible, close the fresh air vent to stop cold air from coming in your warm abode.

Change the ceiling fan direction. You don’t want the warm air to rise and stay up at the ceiling, so flip the switch and have the warm air down with you.

Go outside and trim your plants and trees from the south-facing windows. If they are blocking those warm rays from coming in the windows, why bother opening the curtains?

More tips coming next week to keep warm this year. Keep Green!

State retirement system election

The Public Employees' Retirement System (PERS) is holding an election for members of the board of trustees. There are four positions opening. One state, one county and one municipal representative will be elected for a three-year term as of July 1, 2011. An additional municipal representative will be elected for a two-year remaining term, effective July 1, 2011, to fill a position that is currently vacant and expires June 30, 2013. Candidates for all positions must qualify by nomination. Nominations are now being received for these positions.

The general responsibility for the operation of the PERS is vested in the Board of Trustees under the provisions of N.J.S.A. 43:15A-17. The Board meets monthly at the Division of Pensions and Benefits in Trenton. The statute provides that no employee shall suffer loss of salary or wages because of serving on the Board. A member who wishes to be a candidate for one of the above positions must be an active member of the PERS and must be nominated by at least 500 active PERS members. Only State employees may petition for State Representative, only County employees may petition for County Representative, and only Municipal employees may petition for Municipal Representative.

Instructions for the nominating process are available upon receipt of a written request to the Secretary of the PERS Board of Trustees. Nominations must be registered on or before 4 p.m. Jan. 14, 2011. Election ballots will be mailed to employers on or about April 1, 2011 for prompt distribution to their employee members of the PERS. All qualified candidates will be invited to attend the drawing by lot for position on the ballot, if necessary, and/or the selection of term for the Municipal election on Feb. 16, 2011.

The PERS Board of Trustees has the responsibility for the proper operation of the Retirement System. The Board consists of six employee representatives, the State Treasurer, and two private citizens appointed by the Governor with the advice and consent of the Senate. The Board meets once per month. Within the limits of legislation, the PERS Board has a certain amount of discretion in the solution of problems confronting the Retirement System in cases where complications exist that legislation alone cannot properly address.

PERS BOARD RESPONSIBILITIES

- Adopt rules and regulations to provide for the payment of benefits and collection of monies as required by the statute.
- Establish rules and regulations within the limitations of statutes and opinions of the Courts and the Attorney General, designed to prevent injustices and inequities that may arise in the operation of the Retirement System.
- Resolve individual questions on the merits of each case in terms of statutes, opinions of the Attorney General, advice of the Actuary and cases cited by counsel as deliberated by the Courts.
- Review monthly and annual reports setting forth data such as assets and liabilities, income and disbursements and statistical summarization of membership as documented by the Actuary.

It's your money; come and get it

By Navy Adm. Mike Mullen, Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15, 2010 - Time is running out for those who qualify to receive their Stop Loss Special Pay. The deadline to claim it is Oct. 21, but less than half of the more than 145,000 people eligible have submitted claims.

It's not a scam. And it's not a joke. It's YOUR money, so come get it.

Just in case you had forgotten, the 2009 War Supplemental Appropriations Act authorized retroactive stop loss special pay of $500 for every month/partial month served in stop loss status.

Servicemembers, veterans, and beneficiaries of servicemembers who were involuntarily extended under stop loss between 9/11 and September 30th 2009 are eligible.

The Congress generously set aside $534.4 million to pay out those funds, but as of the end of last month only $219 million in claims have been paid.

We've used all kinds of different ways to reach out to people and let them know, including letters to homes and help from Veteran/Military Service Organizations. But there are still those who have yet to apply.

So, with the deadline fast approaching, I'm asking everyone who reads this blog to pass it on to anyone else you think needs to see it. Qualifying individuals have served — or are still serving — their country nobly and deserve to be paid the money they've earned.

The application process is simple and straightforward. No strings attached. But once the deadline passes, we cannot by law extend it. So jump online and check it out at: <http://www.defense.gov/stoploss>.

ESGR now offers award to spouses' employers for their support

During the past year, ESGR volunteers have heard a number of stories telling them about military spouses' employers providing outstanding support to families of service members, along with recommendations to include employers of military spouses for Patriot Award consideration.

ESGR has answered the call; the Outreach Subcommittee recommended and executive director, Ronald Young approved, spouses can now nominate their supervisor for the Patriot Award.

It's easy for a spouse to nominate their employer. A separate nomination form has been added to the ESGR website — www.esgr.org/PA.

For one Wichita, Kansas spouse, her supervisor shifted her nursing schedule at Wesley Medical Center. When her husband deployed, her supervisor allowed the mother of three to continue working, but also to be at home for their children during the school year. When babysitter options became too difficult to coordinate, she was granted a leave of absence with no questions asked. In Clarinda, Iowa, Teresa Johnson says Goldenrod Manor helped her with lawn care and sent care packages to her deployed husband. Teresa's supervisor is always willing to listen and work with her to accommodate her needs. This support is invaluable because not only is Teresa's husband deployed, but both of her sons are also overseas.

ESGR wants to capture more great stories like these and ask that you help spread the word that all spouses of Guard and Reserve members are now eligible to nominate their employers for the Patriot Award. To nominate their employer, they can go directly to www.esgr.org/PA and fill out the spouse nomination form. Each nominated supervisor will receive a Department of Defense Certificate of Appreciation and a Patriot lapel pin. The certificate can be provided to the spouse for presentation to his or her employer, or presented to the employer by the ESGR State Committee.
