Tribute to the Greatest Generation

On Veterans Day, Tuesday, Nov. 11, Governor Jon S Corzine and Maj. Gen. Glenn K. Rieth will be dedicating the New Jersey World War II Memorial. Veterans Day is a fitting occasion to honor the men and women of the Greatest Generation for the sacrifices they made on behalf of our country more than 60 years ago. The ceremony will take place at 2:30 p.m. at the Statehouse Plaza across from the Memorial.

Please save this date on your calendar and pass the information onto everyone who would like to join us for this momentous event. The tribute promises to be an occasion that will make every Veteran and all New Jerseyans proud.

Mindful that a great many of you are having your own parades and ceremonies to honor local veterans on Nov. 11, we have planned our ceremony for later in the day. We hope that this will allow everyone to attend the dedication.

For additional information or to RSVP please call Ms. Angela Como at 609-530-6780 or visit our website at www.nj.gov/military/veterans/wwii_memorial/index.html.

Jersey Blues accept authority

By Spc. Bill Addison, 50IBCT/PA

BAGHDAD, Iraq - Soldiers from Oklahoma and New Jersey lined the palace lounge walls at the United States Embassy (provisional) as the 45th Infantry Brigade Combat Team "Thunderbirds" turned over command of the Joint Area Support Group - Central to the 50th IBCT "Jersey Blues," in a transfer of authority ceremony, Sept. 27.

Marine Maj. Gen. Kenneth Gluek, Multi-National Force Iraq Chief of Staff presided over the ceremony.

"We are lucky to have Col. Steve Ferrari and the members of the 50th BCT," said Gluek. "Your mission is a difficult one, but I have the utmost confidence that you and your team will continue the essential work of the Joint Area Support Group."

The 50th, commanded by Ferrari, has been deployed since June of this year, and trained at Camp McGregor, N.M. in preparation for its mission in Baghdad.

"For the 50th IBCT, we stand, manned equipped and trained to assume the duties of the Joint Area Support Group Central. We look forward to the challenges that lie ahead in this complex environment as we transition the IZ back to the government of Iraq," said Ferrari.

"The Jersey Blues have the Con; mission first, people always!"

BAGHDAD, Iraq -- Soldiers of the 50th Infantry Brigade Combat Team serving in Baghdad placed the symbol of loyalty to the mission known as the combat patch on their right shoulder sleeves.

During the Oct. 15 military formation held at a chapel near the American Embassy in Baghdad, the Headquarters Company Soldiers who serve as a lead element for the Joint Area Support Group-Central (JASG-C) placed an additional brigade patch on their Army Combat Uniforms.

"It is a clear sign of your loyalty to defend freedom and your duty to fulfill your military obligation. It is a symbol of respect for Soldiers who have served in a hostile environment and it proves your commitment to face courage and danger," said Col. Steven Ferrari, brigade and JASG-C commander.

The 50th patch, approved in January for wear on military uniforms, is a seven-sided embroidered patch vertically divided and contains three stars that represent New Jersey as being the third state to sign the United States Constitution.

When worn on the Class A uniform, the tri-colors of the patch represent the brigades' armor and infantry lineage, as well as its alignment with the 42nd Infantry "Rainbow" Division. The patch's shape suggests the letter 'V' for victory.

Ferrari, of Berlin Township, N.J., said the organization already has a common bond of wearing the left shoulder patch, but Soldiers standing in the formation are among 3,000 Soldiers now eligible to wear the brigade patch on the right sleeve.

"The right shoulder patch is a reminder, all of you are operating in a hostile environment and cannot become complacent during present military operations," he said.

"It is a reminder to watch out for yourself and watch out for each other. The mission is not over until we all come home," Ferrari added.

Spc. Jamie Lowe, Sewell, N.J., said she was proud that the unit is conducting operations in Iraq.

"The patch will always be a reminder of our mission," she said.

In addition to the brigade patch, JASG-C Soldiers also have the option of wearing the Multi-National Force-Iraq (MNF-I) as their Shoulder Sleeve Insignia-Former Wartime Service (SSI_FWS) patch on the right sleeve of the uniform for the remainder of a Soldier's career. The JASG-C is a subordinate unit of MNF-I.

The MNFI-patch has a black shield with a gold border surrounding two crossed silver scimitars (swords). Behind the shield is a wreath of palm branches joined at the bottom with three loops of brown twine. In the center is a gold winged bull of Mesopotamia below a gold, seven-pointed star.

"I am extremely proud of all the Soldiers. The combat patch will always be our bond," Brigade Command Sergeant Major David Kenna, Newfield, N.J., said.

QRF Airmen ready to serve

By Tech. Sgt. Mark Olsen, 177FW/PA

Nearly 40 177th Airmen spent their drill learning "Soldiering tasks" as part of their becoming certified to serve with the Air National Guard Quick Reaction Force (ANG QRF).

The Jersey Devils spent the weekend learning and practicing the skills thousands of their fellow guardsmen used in New Orleans after Hurricane Katrina. They join a group of 100 Airmen – 50 each from the 177th and the 108th Air Refueling Wing – who received QRF training at Fort Dix in 2007.

Not only do these Airmen bring their "high-demand" AFSC's (Air Force Specialty Codes) such as Civil Engineering, Security Police and other specialties to the street, they will also have the basic knowledge of traditional Soldiering skills including the ability to conduct patrols and knowing how to clear and secure buildings.

"That weekend our mission was to support the training of the 177th's newly formed QRF," said Lt. Col. Brian D. Sharkey, Commander, 1-254th Infantry Training Battalion, based out of the National Guard Training Center at Sea Girt.

The training was born in January 2007, when Maj. Gen. Glenn K. Rieth, The Adjutant General of New Jersey, directed that the New Jersey Air National Guard stand up 100 Airmen to augment the New Jersey Army National Guard QRF.

Quotes for the Week

Men may die, but the fabric of our free institutions remains unshaken.

-Chester A. Arthur

He that lives upon hope will die fasting.

- Benjamin Franklin

One motivation is worth ten threats, two pressures, and six reminders.

- Paul Sweeney

A problem well stated is a problem well solved.

- Charles F. Kettering

A fool is his own informer.

- Yiddish proverb

This is seen as an evolution of the extensive support the Air Guard has always provided during a state of emergency. If Airmen are needed to put boots on the ground during a state emergency, they would go through a just-in-time training program at the Joint Training and Training Development Center at Fort Dix before hitting the street.

Much of the training they received is what they would need in any type of state response. Everyone remembers the pictures of National Guardsmen conducting house-to-house searches in those areas of New Orleans devastated when the levees broke.

If something of that magnitude happens in New Jersey, these Airmen all know that their team will be ready to deploy and work seamlessly with the Army Guard on those very same types of missions.

Earn up to $8,500 for officer accessions in G-RAP

From the desk of Warrant Officer Misty L. DiGangi, AMEDD Recruiter

Guard Recruiting Assistants can earn additional income assisting ARNG recruiting efforts by identifying well-qualified men and women for service in the ARNG. RAs may earn up to $8,500 for each select Officer Candidate who accepts a Commission.

As a G-RAP RA you will cultivate quality Officer Candidates from within your spheres of influence and work with an Officer Strength Manager (OSM) or Warrant Officer Strength Manager (WOSM) to process the Officer Candidate and move them towards accession.

The total amount of payment for an Officer Accession is determined by the ARNG's current critical needs and the GRAP-O payment chart. There are four categories by which RAs will receive payment for Officer Accessions. RAs can earn up to $2,000 for each new recruit who enlists and reports to Basic Training or for each prior service member.

G-RAP is available to Traditional Guard members and National Guard retirees. For more information, go to <http://www.guardrecruitingassistant.com/>.

DoD develops compensation and benefits handbook

DoD announced today it has developed a comprehensive handbook describing compensation and other benefits service members and their families would be entitled to upon separation or retirement as a result of serious injury or illness.

"The Compensation and Benefits Handbook is the one source of information that covers everything a seriously ill and injured service member will need during his or her recovery, rehabilitation and reintegration," said Ronald A. Winter, principal deputy assistant secretary of the Air Force for manpower and reserve affairs.

The handbook was compiled in cooperation with the Departments of Veterans Affairs, Labor, Health and Human Services, and Education and the Social Security Administration. Additionally; there are references to assistance provided by other governmental and non-governmental agencies and organizations.

"The handbook describes the disability eligibility process, various program qualifications, application procedures, and numerous resources with associated contact information," said Sharon Gunselman, policy and resource analyst for the Department of Defense.

Web sites and toll-free numbers are provided, and the electronic version includes hyperlinks. The electronic version of the handbook will be updated frequently and the hard copy of the compensation and benefits handbook will be updated annually.

The electronic version of the handbook can be found on the five Web sites listed below:

Army has new Web site to aid those who want to help

The U.S. Army has put up a web site to facilitate donations from the public to help soldiers and their families at <http://giftstoarmy.army.mil>. While the Army states very clearly that they are not soliciting contributions they are providing lots of information on how to make donations in areas of concern, such as Soldiers and families, Wounded Warriors and Army installations.

Joyce Morrow, the administrative assistant to the Secretary of the Army, explained: "Many individuals have asked how they can help the Army. We appreciate how generous the public is and the concern they have for the welfare of our soldiers and families. We've developed this Web site to provide information on how to contribute money, goods or services to benefit Soldiers and their Families." [Source: TREA Washington Update, Aug. 29, 2008]

Employees required to register for MBOS

From the desk of Lisa J. Dandrea, Human Resources, Personnel Assistant

MBOS is the Member Benefits Online System. Through MBOS, employees may review their pension contributions, loan status, health benefits information, update their beneficiary information, apply for retirement, as well as many other applications. It has been encouraged that all employees register for this helpful tool. However Pensions is now working on MBOS being a requirement in order for employees to make certain updates to their personal information.

Effective immediately, in all cases where an employee is eligible to become a member of the Public Employees' Retirement System (PERS), the employer will be required to submit all enrollment information to Pensions via online. Important to note is that the online PERS Enrollment Application does not include the Designation of Beneficiary page. Instead, once the member is enrolled and issued a pension number, they must register for a MBOS account at: www.state.nj.us/treasury/pensions/mbosregister.htm and complete the online Beneficiary Designation form. Until the member completes his or her Designation of Beneficiary, the member's "Estate" will be the beneficiary of record.

Current employees –note, even if you are already enrolled into PERS, if you wish to make any changes to your beneficiary information, you too will need to be registered for MBOS. Members will not be able to submit the Change in Beneficiary Designation paper form since this will no longer be acceptable through the Division of Pensions and Benefits.

Visit the link above for complete instructions to register for MBOS. If you encounter any problems with registration, you may e-mail Pensions and Benefits with your questions/concerns and they can assist you through the process. You may also obtain a tri-fold brochure with MBOS instructions from your Human Resources Office.
