TRENTON, NJ – Today, Rich Bagger, Co-Chair of Governor-Elect Chris Christie's Budget and Tax Taskforce, released the following statement regarding news of additional budget cuts:

"It is belated, but good news that the Corzine Administration has come forward with spending cuts that Governor-Elect Christie and others have called for. However, there continues to be real risk of a further revenue shortfall in this year's budget. The fact that the Corzine Administration plans to push through last minute discretionary spending is cause for significant concern."
