New Jersey World War II memorial receives award for design

The New Jersey World War II Memorial, located across from the State House in Trenton, received its first design award – a Merit Award in the Parks Category – from the 46th New Jersey Concrete Awards Committee.

This is the second award the Department of Military and Veterans Affairs has received for its innovatively designed Memorials for New Jersey's veterans.

More than 1,200 cubic yards of concrete, which translates to more than 4.8 million pounds, was used to build the Memorial.

The $7.6 million memorial is comprised of 3,000 pieces of granite, a one-ton statue of Lady Victory and a half-ton statue of The Lone Soldier; both pieces were designed by sculptor Thomas Jay Warren, who previously sculpted the centerpiece for the New Jersey Vietnam Veterans Memorial and the New Jersey Korean War Veterans Memorial. Groundbreaking occurred on March 15, 2008, with DHM Design Firm and Neshaminy Construction Inc., responsible for construction. The dedication ceremony for the Memorial took place on Nov. 11, 2008 with more than 1,900 people in attendance. The Korean Memorial was also the recipient of an award from New Jersey Chapter American Concrete Institute.

The awards presentation will take place at the New Jersey Chapter American Concrete Institute awards dinner on May 14.

State employees have new pension counseling system

Do you want to sit down with someone and go over your benefits or just get some questions answered, but you hate leaving call back information, sitting on hold, or spending the whole day at Client Services waiting for help? Use this system get assistance with benefits such as: purchase of service credit, pre-retirement interview, retirement application, disability retirement, death claim assistance, retired health benefits and more.

You do not need to schedule appointments if you are using a quick service, such as dropping off completed forms.

Center, including DD-214's, online.

Go to <http://vetrecs.archives.gov/> and follow the four easy steps to request your records.

After you finish completing the data – information such as, name, social security number, place and date of birth, branch, component, reason for request, mailing address and a few more items – the final screen is a page that you need to print, sign and either mail or fax to the National Personnel Records Center. The center must receive your signature verification within 30 days or your request will be deactivated and removed from the system.

Request for records by people who are not veterans or the next of kin must be submitted on the Standard Form 180 (SF 180) which can be found on the Web site.

Note: The process is pretty easy. I tried it out, requesting my DD 214 for my seven years in the active component of the Army. Within a few hours, I had an e-mail confirmation from the Archives that said they received my fax. Let's see how long it takes for my records to make it to my mailbox.

Make a commercial, win some $$

Pull out your video camera, get the creative juices flowing, yell, "Lights, camera, action," and maybe you can win a prize for shooting a commercial about the benefits of shopping at AAFES.

For the second year, the Army and Air Force Exchange Service is holding a contest looking for commercials 30-60 seconds long showing what the AAFES shopping experience means to them. Prizes are shopping sprees of $1,000, $500 and $250 for the top three winners.

The film can be shot inside the stores – managers know about the contest and are set to cooperate with the future Alfred Hitchcock, Stephen Spielberg, Spike Lee or Oliver Stone, to use their PX as a backdrop.

Rules for the contest, which is open to military ID cardholders, can be found at www.aafes.com. Promoters noted that once the commercial is submitted to AAFES, it becomes their property and cannot be submitted to other venues such as Facebook or YouTube.

And the winner is....

Thanks to the FRG volunteers!

From the desk of Marie Durling, Family Programs Specialist

The end of the deployment is a few months away and you have all done a great job! I do hope that all Family Readiness Groups will continue to be active and supportive of our family members and our soldier's/airmen when they return.

FRGs are still needed during non deployment times. Our office is always available to assist you and or your FRG anytime. I am planning another state FRG Leadership training in April 2010. I hope to see everyone there and have another weekend of informative breakouts and speakers.

FRG Leaders – send me a list of all your volunteers and/or supporters and what they did for your group so I can start doing certificates of appreciation. I personally appreciate all your assistance during this deployment and for stepping "up to the plate" and going above and beyond. I have enjoyed getting to know our leaders and volunteers and it has been a pleasure. Thank you!

Space A travel benefit cuts costs for military, retirees

One benefit of military service is Space A travel. With an open calendar and no definite plans of when to be where, a military member, retiree and some others can travel the globe for pennies on the dollar for what the average traveler would pay.

Flying on large military aircraft is not for everyone – no rolling carts with flight attendants traipsing up and down the aisles, a box lunch may be the only food served, military planes are not known for great temperature control – travelers learn to be prepared for cold and heat, and the seating is not always cushioned, reclining seats. But for the adventurous traveler, Space A can get you where you want to go – or maybe nearby – for a very low price, allowing you to spend your money on hotels, food and souvenirs for your special trip.

There are drawbacks – waiting time in airports, being on standby for hours or days and more, but there are service members, family members, retirees and others who have enjoyed the privilege of their Space A benefit for years.

For more information on categories, locations, phone numbers and tips on how to make your flying time successful, visit <http://www.amc.af.mil/questions/topic.asp?id=380>. Click on the blue "here" in the paragraph on top of the buttons to get a file of information to help you.

Support for military children of deployed and injured Guard members

From the desk of retired Command Sgt. Maj. Mike Hughes, Family Assistance specialist

Our Military Kids (OMK) provides tangible support to the children of deployed and severely injured National Guard and Military Reserve personnel through grants for enrichment activities and tutoring that nurture and sustain the children during the time a parent is away in service to our country. OMK grants are made to honor the sacrifices military parents make and to ensure that the children have access to activities and support that help the children better cope with challenges arising during a parent's deployment or injury recovery. For additional information go to www.ourmilitarykids.org.

Post-deployment drills protect Guard Soldiers

Story by Staff Sgt. Jim Greenhill, National Guard Bureau

Excusing National Guard soldiers from drills for 90 days following deployments was "a very bad idea," said the Army's deputy chief of staff of personnel. Ending the policy was the right thing to do.

"What they thought they were doing was protecting the soldier from the chain of command," said Lt. Gen. Michael D. Rochelle. "They did reverse the policy. That was the beginning of us ... protecting soldiers."

Rochelle was speaking to a suicide prevention conference at the Army National Guard Readiness Center in Arlington, Va., recently.

Soldiers need to have contact with colleagues in their unit, and NCOs and officers need to look their soldiers in the eye, Rochelle said.

The conference was held in the wake of the Army's announcement that the number of suicides in the service is on the rise. The Army Guard has the highest rate of the Army's three components. Twenty-one Guard soldiers have killed themselves since Jan. 1.

Maj. Gen. James W. Nuttall, deputy director of the Army Guard, said the suicide rate in the military now surpasses that of the general population.

"It's critical for us to get our arms around this," he said.

The Army recently completed a 30-day stand-down to do suicide prevention training. The Army Guard participated.

"Platoon sergeants, squad leaders, team leaders, company commanders and first sergeants are missing the signs," Rochelle said.

He said suicide has been a problem in the military for a long time. During World War II, the average age of a suicide victim was 22. That is the same age as an average suicide victim today.

To reduce the number of suicides, he said, the top priority is to make it socially acceptable to get help.

Helmets to Hardhats

The New Jersey State Building and Construction Trades Council's Helmets to Hardhats Program (NJ H2H) is designed to help transitioning military personnel, National Guardsmen and Reservists find the careers in the building and construction industry. The program seeks to help military members find a career in one of 15 affiliated trades, such as electrical workers, carpenters and painters.

They work in cooperation with the national Helmets to Hardhats program, adding a personal component to the program's on-line services. NJ H2H offers veterans preparation for successful application to any of New Jersey's registered apprenticeship programs in the building and construction trades. Services include career counseling, entrance test preparation and referral to supportive services.

For program registration and information, visit online at www.njbctc.org/h2h or contact at 732-499-7295 or at H2H@njbctc.org.

DMAVA Green

Spring is here – although we are still waiting for the warmer weather to hang around for longer than a day or two – but it is time to think about Spring cleaning and gardening! Here are some ideas and Web sites to assist you.

Are your clothes taking longer to dry? Clogged dryer vents are a source of home fires and slow drying clothes. Watch the video on the link and get full instructions on how to clean your dryer vent. <http://video.bobvila.com/m/21291626/how-to-clean-a-dryer-vent.htm>

Or you can save money by letting nature dry your clothes – hang them on a clothesline or a drying rack.

Check your refrigerator door seals to make sure they are airtight. Test them by closing the door over a dollar bill. If you can pull the bill out easily, the latch may need to be adjusted or the seal may need to be replaced.

When you start cleaning, stay away from harsh chemicals and save money by making your own cleaners. Check out this site for recipes and tips for eco-friendly information - <http://www.ecocycle.org/hazwaste/recipes.cfm>

When you are out in the garden doing the weeding, keep away from the chemicals that can end up in water runoff. Instead, pull the weeds by hand or saturate them with vinegar.

If you see bugs on your plants, give them a sharp spray with water. If that doesn't do the trick, use a homemade insecticide soap – one gallon water with three tablespoons of liquid dish soap and spray on both sides of the plant leaves to deter the bugs.

Information for N.J. state employees

Your pay history, now at your fingertips

Do you currently have Direct Deposit? Are you tired of the hassle of keeping track of your pay stubs? Just think; the shredding, the filing, the lack of space, the unnecessary mess. You can eliminate all of that (and save a tree or two) with New Jersey's Pay Stub on the Web!

The State of New Jersey is making payment history available to state employees with electronic funds transfer (EFT), commonly known as direct deposit, with "Pay Stub on the Web." This newest feature is an online application that enables a New Jersey state employee to access their pay stubs, beginning with 2005 payment history, via the web. Now when you want to see your pay stub, you simply view it online. You can print it out if you wish, save it to your computer, do neither or both! It's all up to you. Any time you need your pay stub, it is available for you to view, right on the web! And if you try it out and decide it's not for you, you can cancel this feature at any time and go back to receiving your paper pay stub. There's no risk, so why not try it out?

Want to know a little more about how it works and how you can benefit from Pay Stub on the Web? Check out the simple tutorial, available from Human Resources, that explains how you can use "Pay Stub on the Web" to view, print, and save your current and past pay stubs for your personal records. Remember, this feature is only available to employees with direct deposit. As we mentioned in the past, direct deposit is offered to all State employees and it is encouraged that our employees consider taking advantage of direct deposit with all that it has to offer.

To request a copy of the tutorial, contact Lisa Dandrea at 609-530-6888.

State employees who move, marry must contact HR department

From the desk of Lisa Dandrea, Human Resources, Personnel Assistant

If you are a state employee, working for DMAVA, Vets Haven, and the Cemetery, and you have an address change and/or a name change, it is extremely important that you contact Lisa Dandrea in the Human Resources Office. There have been a lot of issues with tax W2s, pension statements and pay checks being returned to our office, as well as some employees not receiving their new health cards, all due to incorrect addresses. Your address change is not automatic and it is not limited to completing a new W4. There are specific forms for employees to complete that updates their new information statewide. Your change of address or name affects your paycheck, your pension statements, W2s, loans, any information sent out by your health care provider, promotional announcements from Dept. of Personnel, etc. If you have had an address/name change and have not updated your information, please make sure you contact Lisa Dandrea in HRD-ESB at 609-530-6888 or e-mail Lisa.Dandrea@njdmava.state.nj.us.
